My name is Alastair Knowles, I strongly object to the new build at Blackwell farm, as this will impact on the failing infrastructure we have in place at the moment. The roads and volume traffic cannot cope now, so by adding to this will cause

More gridlocks up and down the A3, backing up into Guildford.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

1. The Save Hogs Back response to the June 2016 Pre-Submission Consultation (Regulation 19) provided a comprehensive set of reasons why the Blackwell Farm strategic development allocation was so unacceptable that the Council should not proceed with it. Apart from the serious environmental damage it would do, we questioned whether it was practicable. The June 2017 Consultation indicates both the determination of the Council to press ahead with this extraordinarily inappropriate scheme and also that it is trying to deny the implausibility of the development proceeding, if at all, without appalling consequences. Modest amendments have been made to various policies in the Plan, but collectively they demonstrate that after another 12 months of searching the Council has still found no solutions to the problems we identified.

2. The unresolved problems centre on access and egress. Although pitched as an urban extension to Guildford (in the Spatial Vision, in Policy A26 and in paragraphs 4.1.8 and 4.6.24), Blackwell Farm has proved impractical to integrate into the town despite its physical proximity. There are many facets to this, the main ones being:

- the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without the capacity of the A3 trunk road being increased to bolster the strategic route in and out of Guildford, and the possibility of this happening is unknown;
- movement between the development area and Guildford, which is already extremely congested, would be substantially more impeded by the development;
- alternative means of access to the development area would have both significant practical problems and significant adverse consequences for the highway network;
- the ‘Sustainable Movement Corridor’ to tackle that congestion is most unlikely to be effective on the scale necessary to resolve access issues and will fail in its key role of reducing congestion;
- the combined effect of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening through Guildford (itself needed in part because of Blackwell Farm) would be to raise substantially the Nitrogen Dioxide levels in Compton on the B3000 still further above legal limits at the most polluted point in the Borough.

In each case the Proposed Submission Local Plan has wholly failed to show that the Blackwell Farm development is practicable. We examine these in more detail below, after showing that the pressure on the road network in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm will be discernibly greater than forecast only one year ago.

Traffic generation in relation to road capacity

3. Mouchel have pointed out, in advice submitted by Highways England in response to the Proposed Local Plan 2016, that there are significant limitations in the evidence presented in the Strategic Highways Assessment Report (SHAR) accompanying the Proposed Submission Plan in June 2016 which affect Blackwell Farm:

- the traffic generation model used in the Local Plan allows no merge delay at junctions: this is clearly not the case at present and is not claimed by GBC to be the case even after new road infrastructure has been built. As Mouchel point out, the effect of the model is to make the A3 and A31 particularly attractive roads because they are assumed to be readily accessible and to draw traffic towards them, whereas in reality there will be less ready access and greater use of the local road network;
- the model uses average peak period traffic movement figures across the three hour period 07.00-10.00, which will tend to understate movements in the true peak hour (circa 08.00-09.00). That will have a significant impact on congestion during periods when the network is most heavily used and, in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, overloaded.

4. The SHAR indicated that the total vehicle generation anticipated by the whole Blackwell Farm development would be 717 vehicles leaving in the weekday average morning peak hour (Table 3.3, zone 576). How these vehicles would get out of Blackwell Farm has still not been properly resolved. Policy 26 includes a Plan showing an access to the development site (indeed the only access to the development site) from the A31 at its junction with the very minor road called Down Place. In June 2016 the Local Plan stated that this would be the “Primary vehicular access to the site allocation”. This would “provide a new route to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

5. The Local Plan 2016 identified that a “Secondary vehicular access is required from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue”. The word ‘preferably’ is instructive because it indicates that it was unclear in June 2016 how Blackwell Farm would be connected into Guildford. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. On the assumption that a means of direct access would be found, the SHAR identified distribution of Blackwell Farm traffic to the network of 342 trips eastbound towards Guildford and 375 trips southbound to the A31 in the morning weekday peak hour.

6. Figure 4.3 of the SHAR estimates traffic on the principal arms of the local network with Blackwell Farm development in place including the link to the A31. This Figure shows that 1,803 vehicles would attempt to enter the Egerton Road/ Gill Avenue crossroads by the Hospital in the peak morning weekday hour (one every two seconds). The 342 eastbound vehicles generated by the Blackwell Farm development would account for 19% of the post-scheme traffic on the junction (23% growth on pre-scheme traffic), neglecting the impact of any rat-running traffic. Users of the road would consider this scale of traffic growth implausible and unacceptable given the high level of congestion there at present. The SHAR confirms that the level of congestion on Egerton Road in the morning peak will be substantially worse than at present and will exceed its capacity with the development and its access roads in place (Scenario 3). Table 4.4 (Row 25) shows that Egerton Road eastbound will have a ratio of flow to capacity (RFC) of 0.92 resulting in a level of service with ‘unstable flow operating at capacity’. Table 4.12 (Row 8) shows that Egerton Road westbound will have a RFC of 1.21 (compared with about 1.04 now) resulting in the worst possible level of service with ‘forced or breakdown of flow’. In other words, it simply won’t work. The figures already smooth the morning peak hour figures over a three hour average, as Mouchel noted, so actual congestion in the peak would be worse than these indicators, even assuming zero rat-running traffic.

7. The network effects described in Figure 4.3 of the SHAR omit potential rat-running in the morning peak hour from the A31 through Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road. Drivers passing through Guildford northbound might try to miss the existing substantial queues on the A3 by leaving the A31 just before its junction with the A3 and taking the new link road which allowed them to join the A3 at the Tesco roundabout. Other drivers eastbound on the A31 aiming for Guildford could try to avoid the existing substantial queues both on the A31 and on the A3, as the new road would give them a new means of entry into Guildford from the west. The pressure for rat-running could be considerable if the link was built. Figure 4.7 in the SHAR shows that even after the A3 has been widened there will still be overcapacity and congestion on the A31 close to the A3 junction (and on the A3 through Guildford): this is likely to encourage significant numbers of drivers to dodge the queues on these roads through the Blackwell Farm development. The issue is reviewed in paragraphs 30-35 below, which show that the constraint on rat-running is most unlikely to be effective.
8. In the 12 months since the 2016 Proposed Submission Consultation by the Borough Council (working with Surrey County Council as Highways Authority and Highways England responsible for the A3), the prospect of adequate network road access to Blackwell Farm has not only made no progress but deteriorated. There are some indications of this in the alterations in the June 2017 Proposed Submission:

- the proposed link with the A31 has been downgraded from its ‘primary’ status and by default the link with Guildford is now presented as of equal significance (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 1); there are various reasons for this, explored below, but fundamentally the Council has been unable to find a way of making the link with the A31 work as it wanted;
- a major new secondary school with six form entry must now be provided on the Blackwell Farm site, which was previously sited elsewhere (Policy A26 Allocation item 9): a school of this size (circa 900 students comprising 180 students in each year group for five school years) would generate a very substantial amount of additional traffic, bringing in about 600 students daily from outside Blackwell Farm, much of it attracted from Guildford, but there have been no changes at all to the proposed capacity of the road network to accommodate this, which can only mean still worse congestion on Egerton Road and the surrounding network than inevitable anyway;
- proposals in principle are now included for limiting the road users on the new route linking to the A31 (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 3), but these are deliberately left vague as the Council has been unable to find a way of achieving this despite trying to do so for the last year;
- the developer of Blackwell Farm (ultimately University of Surrey) must contribute to funding improvements to the local road network necessitated by the scheme, but this must now have “regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document”: as this SPD has not yet been published even in draft, the policy change demonstrates a remarkable lack of clarity about the role of the SMC in relation to Blackwell Farm (where it will go, how it will be built, who pays for it and how it links into the wider network) and creates an open-ended commitment which could affect the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm;
- the new Policy A59 has given a clearer specification of the need for a new railway station at Park Barn near the northern end of Blackwell Farm, with access from both the north and south sides: the access from the south will generate additional traffic affecting the roads to Blackwell Farm, especially in peak periods, which has been neglected in the calculation of traffic generation and the modelling of its distribution to the road network, again placing additional stress on already massively overloaded roads in peak periods.

These changes are additional to the increased traffic on Egerton Road and the surrounding network arising in any event from development planned or under construction at Manor Park and at the existing Research Park.

Traffic on the A3

9. Guildford Borough Council has adopted conflicting positions regarding its intentions for traffic on the A3 through Guildford.

10. The Council has endorsed a study commissioned in 2014 from Arup Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050. This is the basis for the Sustainable Movement Corridor now promoted through the Local Plan by the Council (see paragraphs 51-53 below). However, the Arup study was clear that the purpose of the A3 should be to concentrate through-Guildford movements on this road, assisted by inhibiting its use for local movements. The study recommended:

“Interventions in this strategy that reduce roadspace in the town centre should serve to deter through traffic in the town; they should also reduce short journeys on the A3 within the town (for example, trips from the Surrey Research Park to the town centre via the A3) that will free up capacity for longer distance trips on the A3 trunk road”.

11. The Arup study was clear that there should be no capacity increase on the A3 trunk road through the town:

“In the appraisal of interventions undertaken for this study, all potential interventions that increased road capacity, including A3 interventions (widening, northern bypass, tunnel) and additional road links in the town centre, resulted in increased traffic levels in the long term over and above business-as-usual changes (i.e. in 2031 compared to the 2031 Business-As-Usual). Vehicle mileage increased by up to 2% across the borough and highway delay increased by up to 16%, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. These interventions are therefore not included in the strategy as they do not strongly support the multi-faceted headline vision for sustainable mobility in the town of Guildford identified to guide the development of the strategy.”

12. However, this study is increasingly being compromised. Arup’s limitation on using the A3 is wholly at odds with the approach which Guildford BC is taking in practice. The Council has decided that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without substantially increased capacity on the A3. The last sentence of the 2017 Local Plan’s ‘Spatial Vision’ states: “The delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon major improvement to the A3 through Guildford”. This is due to existing major peak hour congestion on the A3 (Local Plan paragraph 2.14a). The June 2016 Strategic Highway Assessment Report concluded that “the results of this assessment indicate that should the [DfT’s] Road Investment Strategy schemes [which include major A3 capacity increases through Guildford] not be forthcoming then the residual cumulative impact of the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the highway network could be considered severe…. To avoid this occurring in such circumstances of the RIS schemes not being forthcoming, then the quantum and location of development as proposed may have to be amended” (page 63, emphasis added). This was confirmed in the 2017 Addendum for the revised Proposed Submission Local Plan (Conclusion, page 2).

13. The Local Plan therefore aspires to a very substantial increase in the capacity of the A3, not least to facilitate car-borne travel to and from the major developments planned at Blackwell Farm (and Gosden Hill Farm). The Spatial Vision states:

“The Department for Transport’s Road Investment Strategy includes schemes for the A3 Guildford and the M25 Junction 10/A3 Wisley interchange. Early, targeted improvement schemes to deliver road safety and some congestion relief on the A3 in Guildford will be delivered within the plan period.”

Paragraph 4.6.14 specifically explains the intention of Policy ID2 ‘Supporting the DfT’s “Road Investment Strategy”’ as including the identified:

“Scheme with construction anticipated to commence in Road Period 2 (2020/21 to 2024/25):
• A3 Guildford – improving the A3 in Guildford from the A320 to the Hogs Back junction with the A31, with associated safety improvements.”

14. In the last twelve months, the likelihood of any of this happening has been slipping away. The Local Plan has now been altered with the deletion from paragraph 4.6.18 of the option of a tunnel under Guildford, so that a road widening scheme is now the most likely option (even if a tunnel remains the Borough Council’s preferred option – see Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.101). Exactly what is intended is still hugely unclear: the Infrastructure Schedule for this project in Appendix 3 shows that what is proposed is so vague that it may cost anything between £100m and £250m (project SRN5). Only a brief examination of the A3 through Guildford will in any event show just how difficult, costly and enormously environmentally damaging would be any attempt to add significant extra capacity in each direction to the A3.

15. Also deleted is paragraph 4.6.17 which had stated “Guildford Borough Council and Highways England are in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground which sets out assumptions regarding both the performance and safety outcomes that the RIS schemes can be expected to realise”. This is said to be because an SoCG is likely to be agreed closer to the Examination (Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.14), but we would not be surprised if Highways England is unable to make the commitment the Borough Council seeks.

16. Highways England itself is doubtful about how much can be achieved on the A3 and by when. Its response to the Proposed Submission LP on 18 July 2016 stated: “There is still a level of uncertainty on precisely what improvements on the A3 can be delivered and the quantum of growth any potential improvements will facilitate during the Local Plan period.” A Technical Note supporting that submission, prepared by Mouchel, was more precise:

“It should be noted that the A3 RIS 2 scheme is not a committed scheme and no funding has been allocated at present. The details of the RIS 2 A3 Guildford scheme itself are not yet known and so the modelling and testing of an A3 scheme at this stage is considered premature. As such Highways England's view is that this scheme cannot be relied upon by Local Plans to form mitigation for the development proposals.”
17. So far as we are aware, this remains the position in July 2017. The response subsequently advised that the inadequate evidence base meant that the Plan was considered unsound.

18. Guildford BC found this response hugely inconvenient and persuaded Highways England to withdraw this statement after a meeting on 1 September 2016. Highways England’s letter on 5 October 2016 doing this stated instead (with our emphasis added):

“You will be aware that Highways England is currently developing options for a potential scheme on the A3 in Guildford, capable of being delivered in the next roads period (2020-2025), subject to the normal value for money being applied. The scheme proposes widening the existing carriageway to provide additional capacity and safety improvements between the A31 Farnham Road and the A3/A320 Stoke Road. The design of such a scheme is complex and needs to consider a number of potential options, a process which takes time to complete. We will continue close working with Guildford Borough Council and Surrey County Council to progress the development of the potential scheme.

We note that the delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon a major improvement to the A3 through Guildford. It is essential that the Local Plan provides the planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward in advance of critical infrastructure. As a result of clarification received at our recent meeting, it is now understood how the Local Plan intends to do this. Therefore we wish to formally withdraw our representation to this policy.”

19. While Highways England is urging caution, Guildford’s Local Plan continues to make highly questionable assumptions. On timing, Appendix C claims that the A3 capacity increase will be ‘delivered’ between 2023 and 2027. This conflicts with paragraph 4.6.14 of the Plan (above) which expects construction to begin three years earlier. Delivery in 2023-27 is itself barely consistent with the Council’s own Topic Paper: Transport at paragraph 5.88, which reports that “Highways England has advised that, if a scheme is approved with funding agreed, construction is unlikely to be start[ed] until 2024 at the earliest, with construction taking 2½ years.” This would mean that the capacity would only become available in 2027 at the earliest, in effect postponing by some years the Plan’s aspiration for A3 widening.

20. On funding, there is no clarity where the money for A3 widening would come from, even if it did surprisingly pass the value-for-money test. The proposed submission Local Plan has been amended from one year ago in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C to give the impression that developers are now expected to foot more of the bill, further adversely affecting the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm. The change states the funding source will be ‘Highways England and developer funded’ instead of ‘Highways England and developer contributions’.

21. Finally, the exorbitantly expensive, damaging and disruptive widening of the A3 cannot be expected to achieve its objective of alleviating traffic flows sufficiently to accommodate effectively traffic from Blackwell Farm. Congestion will, remarkably, be worse with the A3 widened than without it. The SHAR reports in paragraphs 4.8.4-6:

“4.8.4 Table 4.1b shows in the PM peak that while the network performs better in Scenario 5 [i.e. with the A3 widening in place] compared with Scenario 3, it is still worse than in Scenario 1 with vehicle hours higher and vehicle speeds lower by 12% and 2% respectively.

4.8.5 As noted above in Section 4.5, the capacity increases on the M25 and A3 result in some high flow increases as trips re-route to make use of the improvements. In turn, this affects roads approaching the A3, such as the A320, A31, A25 and B3000. These also see high flow increases with some, such as the A320, experiencing a significant deterioration in the Level of Service.

4.8.6 It should be noted that despite these improvements, Figure 4.7 shows the A3 is still operating overcapacity with resulting impacts on congestion.”

22. The Borough Council’s own evidence in both the SHAR and Arup report is that widening the A3 will increase congestion in the town rather than relieve it, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. Blackwell Farm would damage the whole of Guildford. The likelihood of the A3 capacity being increased is less now than it was one year ago. So far as we can see, the ‘do nothing’ option for the A3 remains squarely on the table and is an increasingly likely outcome.
23. In summary, the evidence on the A3 consolidated during the last year shows that it is currently simply not known:

- if a suitable widening scheme can be designed and if so how much it would cost;
- whether the scheme would meet ‘value for money’ tests;
- whether the money for it could be found;
- whether the A3 capacity could be increased in time to assist the development of Blackwell Farm during the Plan period, as the earliest provision date would be 2027 (and probably later).

Finally, even if built, the widening of the A3 would generate congestion in Guildford rather than relieve it and would itself be even more over-capacity than it is now. The Borough Council’s reliance on the A3 capacity improvement is foolhardy in the extreme. Not proceeding with the Blackwell Farm development would be a far superior option.

24. The Council recognises that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, but realises that this cannot be achieved until, at best, near the end of the Plan period. As a result of the lack of progress in agreeing A3 capacity increases, the rate of provision of houses in Policy S2, which was back-end loaded in the 2016 Proposed Submission, is now in the 2017 Proposed Submission still more heavily skewed towards the end of the plan period. The 2019-20 provision has been dropped from 500 to 450, while the annual provision in the last three years of the Plan has been raised from 790 to 850. There is insufficient evidence to show that 850 dwellings per annum could be constructed and sold in the Borough in those last three years: the numbers reflect not how the housing market works, but the contortions which the Council has gone through to square its housing provision numbers with the aspirational timetable for the widening of the A3. A far superior option in both housing and transport terms would be to abandon both the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening (which in part is justified by Blackwell Farm as well as facilitating it).

Junction with the A31

25. The principle of a new signalised junction on the A31 to facilitate access to Blackwell Farm is project LRN3 in the Infrastructure Schedule. The Plan accompanying Policy A26 Blackwell Farm is unchanged from June 2016. It continues to show a road access at a widened junction of Down Place with the A31, passing over the A31 slip road onto the A3 northbound. Our response to the June 2016 Consultation demonstrated, in a commissioned report from transport specialists, that the proposed signalised junction at Down Place with the A31 would be most unlikely to function effectively. Furthermore, Surrey County Council’s Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 shows that the new junction would cause all users on average a 35 second delay compared with no junction (Table 4.11). In the last twelve months the Borough Council has been forced by a Freedom of Information request to release a sketch map provided by the University of Surrey showing the latest proposals for this access. This involves a junction slightly west of the site originally intended but shows no distance measurements. It shows too an extra westbound lane for traffic on the A3 over-bridge but no bridge widening. Further proposals exist for this junction but have been denied to Save Hogs Back on weak excuses. Also, there appears to be no proposal to co-ordinate this junction with improvements to the Down Lane junction on the opposite side of the A31 slightly to the east, even though the creation of the Down Place access could ordinarily be expected to generate significant additional use of Down Lane.

26. The lack of transparency by the Council is significant: unless demonstrated otherwise, we consider that the proposed access at Down Place is likely to remain impractical for the following reasons.

- There does not appear to be sufficient road width for the proposed junction.
- A signalled junction is likely to be over-capacity at peak periods.
- Travellers leaving Blackwell Farm this way in the morning peak will suffer major tailbacks due to the overloaded A31 eastbound inhibiting left turns (the peak flow direction).
- Widening of the A3 over-bridge may well still be necessary at vast cost.
- Only a very environmentally damaging roundabout in the AONB on the top of the Hog’s Back (previously opposed by Borough Councillors) could be sure of accommodating likely flows.

Access road between the A31 and Blackwell Farm

27. Project LRN4 in the Infrastructure Schedule is an access road at Blackwell Farm with a through link to Egerton Road. The Plan continues to give the misleading impression that “The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV” (Infrastructure Requirements item 2). A significant road connecting to the A31 could not possibly be achieved by an ‘improved Down Place access road’, the route of which is narrow, lined by mature trees on both sides, and includes a significant sharp bend, while any alternative could not possibly be sympathetic to the AONB and AGLV. The construction of an access road through an AONB to a new urban extension would be major development in its own right. This could only be justified in AONB policy terms if there were exceptional circumstances. There are none of these and none are claimed or demonstrated.

28. The principal difficulty which has arisen in the last year regarding the new link road is that the Council has been unable to find a workable solution for the local road network. The Council wants residents of Blackwell Farm and employees at the Research Park and its proposed extension to be able to enter and leave either in the Guildford direction or the A31 direction, but it does not want most other drivers to use the same roads if they don’t really need to be there. There appear to be two intentions: to constrain drivers who are just passing through – so as to avoid rat-running (especially necessary if a direct through route can be found south of Manor Copse) – and to avoid attracting drivers who currently use Egerton Road. In both cases the intention is to avoid causing adverse network effects if drivers divert onto the new link, e.g. rat-runners overloading Egerton Road still further, or the new access prompting more traffic on the A31.

29. Policy A26 in the June 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out its solution: to provide a new route “between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road” for “employees and emergency vehicles” (only) to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We address in this section the practicability of selecting users for the public highway. However, the matter is also linked to the separate issue of how to link Blackwell Farm into Egerton Road, the main road into Guildford (see paragraphs 47-50).

30. We have tried for the last year to obtain from Guildford BC and the County Highways Authority an understanding of exactly how users of the proposed new road network would be restricted to those people deemed suitable, with everyone else barred. No credible explanation has been provided. The matter is completely ignored in the Borough Council’s Topic Paper: Transport (June 2017) and Strategic Highway Assessment Report Addendum (June 2017), and is restated but not explained in Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (June 2017). This is an issue which cannot be brushed under the carpet because it lies at the heart of the credibility of the link to the A31.

31. The local authorities have been thinking about the issues raised but failed to find an answer after another year of investigating. Surrey County Council has indicated that its preferred option is the use of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) coupled with a permit system. However, there is a general right of public access on the public highway without the State snooping on who uses it by means of cameras, so the legality and practicality of any control system remains to be resolved. For this method to function, therefore, we anticipate that cameras would have to monitor passage on private roads, raising the prospect that Blackwell Farm might not be fully accessible on the public road network. It remains unclear what would happen to drivers whose number plates were not ‘authorised’ to use the road, or how they could be discouraged from arriving in the first place. If there was a system of fines for unauthorised use of the road link, this would require the co-operation of public authorities in perpetuity (which would need to have ongoing funding from the development). With private roads, control of the network would be lost to a private interest whose priorities might not always be the same as those of a public authority. Rights of access to the private roads could at any time be changed by the landowner by reference to which vehicles were allowed passage, when, at what cost, or in other ways. We would expect an urban extension to Guildford reliant on access and egress by private roads to be fundamentally unacceptable.

32. It is unclear whether Guildford BC appreciates the impracticability of the proposed differentiation between acceptable and banned users of the road. There will be thousands of ‘legitimate’ drivers resident in the Blackwell Farm housing development. There will be many hundreds of employees in the Research Park and its proposed extension. There will be hundreds of staff on the Manor Park campus and at the Hospital. Identifying these individuals and, specifically, the cars they will be driving would be a nightmare, made worse by staff turnover and churn in the occupancy of the housing development. Legitimate individuals may have good cause to use alternative cars. The newly introduced secondary school would be largely (two thirds) for the benefit of non-residents of the Blackwell Farm development, so large numbers of drivers can be expected to arrive from elsewhere using the link road, and would need to be registered. Many others will claim legitimate cause for registration on the ANPR system, such as staff at the Nuffield Hospital as well as the County Hospital, employees of shops and services in the area, taxi drivers and so on. The system of registration would become very large and unwieldy, requiring continual (and rapid) update, at real cost. A reliable and effective appeal system would be needed, but the frustrations of both registered and especially non-registered users of the road are still entirely foreseeable.

33. As the transport consultant to Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils notes, the inevitable complexity of an ANPR process raises a series of questions related to site deliverability such as:

1. Will the developer provide for the financial enforcement costs of the link road restrictions in perpetuity? Is this included within the £20million cost for LRN4?
2. Will Surrey Police provide the enforcement of the ANPR in perpetuity?
3. How will all of the people who will be granted access to use the road be differentiated from through traffic?

34. Answers to these questions and resolving other practical concerns are fundamental to the successful deliverability of the vehicular link road and the urban extension as a whole. The road must not attract unwanted road users, but must still achieve the aim of serving all of the desired users. So far the Council has offered no commentary at all on how these awkward issues might be resolved, or on how the use of private roadspace to achieve a public purpose can be made to function without unacceptable risks of unilateral action by the landowner.

35. The outcome seems to us clearly inevitable if a link road is built. It will not be workable. Instead of a costly system of registration, fines, appeals, etc., the greater likelihood is that the foreseeable cacophony of opposition to a system which appears indiscriminate, unfair and ineffective will cause the system of ANPR and registration to be abandoned in a short order of time. All the disadvantages of the link road to the wider network would then be realised.

Impact of the link road on air quality in Compton

36. New information on air quality has become available since the consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan in 2016. In particular, Guildford Borough Council has issued an admirably brief and clear 2016 Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. This shows that a specific area of the B3000 road through the village of Compton (in whose parish Blackwell Farm partially lies) has one air quality monitoring position which consistently reveals concentrations of Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) well in excess of the legal limit adjacent to a dwelling (and the highest figure in the Borough). This is the only location in the Borough where this combination arises. (There were two other places with lesser exceedance of the legal limit, but one was located well away from dwellings and the other was unreliable having only 33% data capture rather than the 75% required.) Other monitoring positions nearby in Compton had NO2 pollution approaching the legal limit.
37. There is no doubt whatever about the cause of the pollution problem: through traffic passing through the village. Large numbers of cars pass through and lorries on the relatively narrow road can cause additional congestion. Further monitoring and modelling is taking place to ascertain whether any further action is required, notably using Advanced Dispersion Modelling Software (since June 2016). The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 reports that in respect of Compton “The Council is considering whether to declare an Air Quality Management Area and, working with Surrey County Council, will use the results of an ongoing study looking at the pattern of daily exposure to design and implement appropriate mitigating measures” (page 19). The Council has proposed no means of achieving in the short term a permanent reduction in traffic volumes through Compton. On the face of it, an AQMA may well therefore already be needed: under its legal duties the Council must designate one if it is unlikely that the objective values (i.e. less than 40g/m³) will be met in a given timescale, and the Council must then prepare an Air Quality Action Plan (AQAP) with the aim of achieving value objectives.

38. The vehicle count through Compton will rise alarmingly if the Blackwell Farm development and the associated A3 widening are built, inevitably necessitating an AQMA and with little or no prospect of an AQAP being effective. For vehicle impacts, the SHAR treats development of Blackwell Farm and accesses to it as a two-stage process: ‘Scenario 3’ involves the construction of key highway schemes providing access to large development sites (incl. Blackwell Farm) and local highway schemes, while ‘Scenario 5’ involves the widening of the A3 at Guildford (A320 Stoke interchange junction to A31 Hog’s Back junction). The traffic consequences of each are modelled separately. In practice, as established in paragraph 12 above, there is common ground between the Borough Council, County Council and Highways England that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, so in practice the highways impacts of the site access road and A3 widening are additional if Blackwell Farm is to proceed.

39. The SHAR shows in Figure 4.3 for the morning peak hour that 275 vehicles will leave the A31 at Down Place (for Blackwell Farm, the Surrey Research Park and County Hospital). Paragraph 4.7.5 suggests that these are trips which primarily have their origin in the west, (though the likelihood is that many of them will have actually their origin in the south: traffic from Godalming and Farncombe, for example, could access the A31 at the Puttenham junction and then head for the Research Park or Hospital while avoiding Guildford.) In short, a proportion of the 275 vehicles using the Down Place junction under Scenario 3 will have passed through Compton. Unfortunately, the network effects diagram shown in Figure 4.3 does not extend southwards to Compton to identify an indicative number.

40. The SHAR then indicates the impact of Scenario 5 compared with Scenario 3. This is reported for Compton in Table 4.5, showing that the B3000 through Compton will have one of the highest absolute increases in flow arising from the widening of the A3, with an additional 145 vehicles per hour in the morning peak, representing a further 16% increase in traffic through Compton. The Table notes that both under Scenario 3 (even without the A3 widening) and under Scenario 5 the Level Of Service on the road would be category E: ‘Unstable flow operating at capacity’. The outcome could be even worse: the SHAR notes at paragraph 4.7.5 that potentially the number of drivers attracted to use the new Down Place to Blackwell Farm link could be somewhat higher as the model cannot accurately reflect the queuing that occurs on the nearside lane of the A31 as it approaches the merge with the A3. If so, the numbers passing through Compton could be expected to increase proportionately.

41. The evidence is clear that the combined effect of the Local Plan’s proposals for the Down Place link road to Blackwell Farm and the A3 will greatly increase traffic through Compton which in turn will have an inevitable and appalling impact on air quality (which already exceeds legal limits at one location). Despite this, the Council is in denial about the air quality impacts of its Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017. Aecom have prepared for the Borough Council an Air Quality Review of Guildford Borough proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites “June 2017”, but this completely fails to appreciate the relationship between the Blackwell Farm development, the proposed road infrastructure developments and air quality at Compton. It provides a series of unwise statements:

(i) “it is predicted that if little development takes place within the area and vehicles emissions are reduced by technological advances these objective exceedance should reduce to below the objective in to the future, without additional measures being required locally” (section 2.3). The reference to little development in the area is absurd: a major urban extension is proposed in the Parish. The suggestion that technological advances in emissions will solve the problem is fanciful in anything other than the long term, whereas there is an immediate need for action to reduce vehicle passage through Compton.
(ii) “The assessment identified a risk of exceedance if traffic flows, primarily on the B3000, increased. The area was not declared as an AQMA as the assessment noted that emissions from traffic were expected to decrease into the future which should lead to a decrease in NO2 concentrations measured in the area” (section 4.1). This finding is simply wrong: Table 4.5 of the SHAR anticipates a 16% increase in traffic in Compton from the A3 widening, not counting any increase generated along the Down Place link road.

(iii) A review of Policy A26 Blackwell Farm (section 5.2.2.1) recognises that “A large development such as this is likely to have an impact on local air quality as there are likely to be large changes to traffic flows on nearby roads and thus impacts on pollutant concentrations”, but failed to realise the consequences for Compton, even though this is nearby and clearly the place with the worst NO2 pollution recording in the Borough (which should obviously be one of the first places to examine for air quality consequences).

(iv) A review of the air quality impact of the Local Plan on Compton (section 5.2.4) similarly fails to appreciate the evidence. This states in full: “There is one large land allocation within the parish of Compton, A26 Blackwell Farm, discussed above. The additional traffic flows predicted to be generated by this development are not predicted to have a significant adverse effect on air quality in the area of the village of Compton. There are no other large allocations local to Compton Village. As a result the implementation of the GBC Draft Local Plan should have little effect on future traffic flows through the area and thus negligible impact on local air quality.”

(v) Rather than address the air quality consequences of Blackwell Farm at the Local Plan stage, when decisions can still affect air quality in Compton, Aecom choose to defer any consideration of the issue until a time when little can be done about it. On four occasions in the Executive Summary the issue is recommended as a matter which can be dealt with ‘through the planning application process’. Once allocations of land are made for development, strategic reasons for resisting them (e.g. on air quality grounds) are typically overruled as matters which should have been resolved at the plan-making stage. Leaving air pollution consequences of proposed development until the planning application stage is an exercise in trying to sweep the issue under the carpet.

42. Aecom’s recommendations in section 5.4 recognise that “The increase in traffic flows associated with the implementation of the Draft Local Plan are predicted to be in the region of 12,500-17,000 vehicles per day on the Guildford Bypass [A3]”, but seem to assume – extraordinarily – that no extra vehicles will pass through Compton (despite the evidence in the SHAR). In our view, the Aecom report and its recommendations represent a significant failure to respond to clear evidence of the air quality damage that the Blackwell Farm development as a whole and the associated A3 widening would inflict upon Compton, about which little could then be done in the short term. We wholly disagree with its approach, which could threaten life-expectancy in Compton.

43. It is hardly surprising that air quality is barely mentioned in the Sustainability Appraisal and treated as a minor issue, as Aecom also prepared this for the Borough Council: paragraph 10.7.1 final indent merely recommends that ‘detailed modelling’ is undertaken close to where very large increases in traffic flows are expected. Paragraph 10.7.7 concludes “Proposed changes to the spatial strategy have little or no implications for health, whilst proposed changes to site specific policy (particularly regarding air quality; see discussion above), responding to the Air Quality Review (2017), are supportive of good health.” Again key decisions are to be left until too late until the planning application stage, with both the SA (at paragraph 10.7.1) and the Air Quality Review (at page 5) recommending that ‘potential air quality issues’ should be added to the list of ‘key considerations’ at the end of the main urban development allocation policies, including Policy A26 Blackwell Farm. This has been taken up by the Borough Council. However, the SA fails to address the key issue that needs resolution now: how to stop additional traffic being attracted through Compton or reduce it.

\section*{Connection to Guildford}

\textit{Linking the Research Park Extension to the road network}

44. The expansion of the Surrey Research Park and the creation of the Blackwell Farm estate are treated as part of the same development in Policy A26. In access terms it is more sensible to consider them separately. The Research Park proposal is for an Extension of 10-11ha, which would be to the north-west of the current Research Park. Access would be straight-forward from Guildford: via Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, via the roundabout serving the Research Park by the Occam Road/Priestley Road loop, and by making an extension to Stephenson Way. A road serving the Extension could be taken through the mature hedgerow separating the existing Research Park from Blackwell Farm at a point close to and parallel to the railway line. Stephenson Way has been constructed to allow further extension of the roadway in this location (also giving access to some of the last remaining large vacant sites on the current Research Park). Proposals for the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the June 2016 ‘Progress update’ as part of the evidence base for the Proposed Submission Local Plan at that time were consistent with this. They showed in Figure 5 a schematic route for the SMC. This is reproduced on page 16 of the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017. At its western end this turns north from Gill Avenue, apparently to follow Occam Road and Priestley Road, before making a westward thrust into the Research Park extension area (though whether north or south of Surrey Satellite Technology is difficult to say from the scale of the plan provided). So far as the Research Park Extension is concerned, that would seem to be an understandable direction in which to take the Sustainable Movement Corridor.

45. However, this arrangement would introduce development into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm, breach the excellent existing screening of development from the west, add substantial additional traffic to the heavily congested Egerton Road, and in all likelihood be opposed by existing users of the Research Park who would be unlikely to want a significant thoroughfare in their midst. We therefore consider this proposal unacceptable. We note, too, that the proposed SMC may now stop short of the Research Park Extension (at the roundabout on Gill Avenue at the top of the hill), as indicated in the Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update 20 February 2017 in Figure 4. How or whether the SMC would link into Blackwell Farm or the Research Park Extension has become a mystery.

46. We do not accept that the sensibilities of existing staff in the current Research Park should dictate the most appropriate access route to a Research Park Extension. However, if the intention (and this is unstated in the Local Plan) is that the Research Park Extension could only proceed if a new road link was made to it from the A31, to avoid access only through the existing Research Park, there would be even less justification for the development going ahead. Not only would the scheme still intrude into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm. It would also be partly responsible for requiring major development of a road in the AONB and so could only be justified in ‘exceptional circumstances’ (which it has neither claimed nor demonstrated). Given that the Extension would now be physically separate from the existing Research Park, it would be unable to claim Blackwell Farm as an essential location. So far as we can see, the Extension does not need to be in this location at all, and a more fundamental review of its future location would be in order. That would also help avoid traffic growth on Egerton Road.

Linking Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road and the Tesco roundabout

47. How the Borough Council and the County Highways Authority propose to link the Blackwell Farm development into Egerton Road preferably via Gill Avenue, in accordance with the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 Policy A26, remains unclear. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. One option has recently been lost by the construction of the substantial School of Veterinary Medicine on the line of one possible access road. We consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be derelict in its duty to demonstrate how such a major urban development on the edge of Guildford can in reality be linked into the fabric of the town. The Borough Council is plainly having great difficulty finding a suitable access route. We strongly recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination unless this route can be clearly identified first.

Impact of Blackwell Farm and the Research Park development on the local road network

48. Egerton Road is one of the worst congestion hotspots in Guildford and the wider area. Egerton Road provides the main access to the Surrey Royal County Hospital and a superstore, and the only access to Surrey University’s Manor Park student village, Surrey Sports Park and the entirety of Surrey Research Park. The demand for access to all these destinations is growing, notably with building programmes at Manor Park and the Research Park. The high level of existing congestion will therefore get worse, even before Blackwell Farm is contemplated. Egerton Road is accessed principally from Guildford to the east but its capacity is fundamentally constrained by the pinch-point of the A3 underpass, which is a single-carriageway road capable of providing for two lanes of cars each way (but not wider vehicles). Overloading of the roundabouts at either end of the underpass, which both have links to the A3 and other destinations, also act as pinch-points for traffic from numerous sources and cause traffic to back up onto the roads into them (even onto the A3). The likely additional traffic generation at the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads, immediately west of the Tesco Roundabout, was noted in paragraph 6 above.
49. The concept of adding the major Blackwell Farm estate and a 10–11ha Research Park extension, both accessed from Egerton Road, without any significant vehicle capacity increase on Egerton Road itself, seems astonishing to the point of being hardly believable. The Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 accompanying the Proposed Submission Local Plan a year ago states of the Blackwell Farm development: “in Scenario 2, without either new highway schemes or specific access arrangements, trips from Blackwell Farm load onto the A31. But with the access arrangements modelled together with an access road through the development to the Surrey Research Park, this assessment indicates that significant pressure could be placed on Gill Avenue, the Hospital junction and other parts of the network in that area” (paragraph 4.5.4). Paragraph 4.9.5 of the SHAR specifically identifies that “the additional access to and from the Blackwell Farm development via Gill Avenue results in a significant increase in trips on this part of the network. This is, in turn, impacting on junctions for which there are no schemes proposed at the moment, highlighting where additional improvements may be necessary. An example of this is the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction adjacent to the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

50. In addition to this, in the last twelve months, the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 has upgraded the importance of Egerton Road to the purpose of providing access to Blackwell Farm, compared with the 2016 Plan, in that the alternative proposed access to Blackwell Farm via the A31 is no longer designated as the ‘primary’ access and Egerton Road is no longer designated the ‘secondary’ access. They now have equal status. Whereas this properly reflects the implausibility of an acceptable link to the A31, no change whatever has been proposed to Egerton Road to accommodate such extra traffic as may now be expected to take this route (which is unspecified). In our view, the additional traffic congestion impacts on an already overloaded local network are so foreseeably dire that we strongly recommend the Blackwell Farm development should not be taken forward.

Sustainable Movement Corridor

51. Back in 2014 Arup prepared a report Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study for the Borough Council, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050, which included a very broad indicative route at a scale that was difficult to apply on the ground. This has been endorsed by the Council. The purpose was to facilitate sustainable movement, strongly emphasising public transport, walking, cycling and demand management at the expense of travel by private car. The centrepiece of the scheme was a corridor segregated to be available to fast buses (and possibly trams), cyclists and pedestrians, linking the key existing areas of the town that are drivers of growth. There would be new bridges over the railway (in the town centre) and over the River Wey (across the floodplain near Stoke Lock). The estimated total cost was broadly £75-100 million though clearly not costed in detail. Cars would be banned from the Corridor which, because it would be based on using existing roads, some of them major roads, would represent a highly significant congestion impact on an already overloaded local network. There would be new bridges over the railway (in the town centre) and over the River Wey (across the floodplain near Stoke Lock). The estimated total cost was broadly £75-100 million though clearly not costed in detail. Cars would be banned from the Corridor which, because it would be based on using existing roads, some of them major roads, would represent a highly significant congestion impact on an already overloaded local network.

52. The 2016 Consultation proposed a Sustainable Movement Corridor, included in the Plan at the last moment (Spatial Vision, Policy I3 and paragraph 4.6.24). Various land allocation policies required co-ordination with the Corridor. Paragraph 4.6.24 explained that the Sustainable Movement Corridor would link major developments to Park-and-Rides, including Blackwell Farm (at its western end), and stated that the Corridor would be ‘largely on existing roads’. ‘Route sections’ were listed in the Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) with six itemised segments with some broad cost figures suggested (£80-90m in total). No route for the Corridor was included in the Plan, but instead the evidence base included a Progress Update on the Sustainable Movement Corridor scheme (GBC, June 2016). This showed a revised figurative route and possible road layouts at some key junctions and sections. It showed variations from the Arup study, notably with: a spur to Slyfield based on the existing A320 rather than a river crossing further east and also a lengthy new corridor up the A3100 to Gosden Hill Farm. The Arup Corridor would be downgraded in many lengths to shared roadspace with existing traffic (i.e. normal roads) but with bus priority measures. A land bridge over the A3 to provide a connection to the Research Park was downgraded to using the existing Egerton Road underpass: the recommendation was “to consider further the potential for tidal bus lane on Egerton Road as it passes under the A3 trunk road, with signalised control at either end controlling its use by buses, whilst retaining two working lanes of general traffic. It would be anticipated that the tidal bus lane would be used westbound in the morning peak period and eastbound in the evening peak period.” Changes to the Tesco roundabout would also be needed. Development would begin in the town centre and be phased later for other sections (to 2033).
53. The 2017 Consultation has made little progress on the Sustainable Movement Corridor. Policy ID3 now mentions a Supplementary Planning Document on the topic, but there is no sign of this even in first draft despite the passage of another year. This is an unacceptably inadequate basis upon which to plan for major urban development at Blackwell Farm. However, a further report Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update published in February 2017 does for the first time include a published small-scale street map on which the Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) is superimposed and clearer proposals for an initial western section. However, the Council clearly have insufficient confidence in this to include it in the Local Plan. The 2017 Update shows changes from the 2016 Update, notably with an additional crossing of the railway beside Yorkie’s Bridge and an additional north-south corridor along Woodbridge Road and Onslow Street between the A25 and the gyratory.

54. The Sustainable Movement Corridor will measure its effectiveness by a substantial degree of modal shift away from cars and towards sustainable transport modes. The starting point for analysis is that the Strategic Highway Assessment Report 2016 assumes no modal shift to sustainable modes, and so is a ‘worst case’ in respect of cars (paragraph 4.1.8). Paragraph 4.6.28 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 now states that “the site allocations and proposals in this Plan – including the significant programme of schemes to provide and improve opportunities to use active modes, bus and rail – are intended to result in a modest modal shift over the period to 2034”. However, the Council has accepted that this is unlikely to be enormously effective: the same sentence continues “we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes.” Instead the paragraph proposes to ‘increase highway capacity’. This is a downgrading from the intentions just a year ago, when paragraph 4.1.8 of the SHAR stated “The impact of these sustainable transport schemes is expected to be significant”. What, therefore, is the Council’s objective?

55. The key section of the SMC for Blackwell Farm is the western section. At the key pinch-point of the A3 underpass, the Sustainable Movement Corridor can only function if the existing four lanes for vehicles are reduced to three, with one of these lanes taken up as a bus lane based on tidal flow routing. Space for other vehicles would be halved. The Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 together with the main transport documents supporting it (the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 and Topic Paper: Transport, June 2017) are silent on whether this will be implemented, but as it is a key feature of the SMC, which could not function without it, we assume that this is what is proposed. Furthermore, the Tesco roundabout diagram in the 2017 Update document shows no roadspace at all reallocated to the Corridor west of this point.

56. The Council does not appear to have modelled the network consequences of creating the western section of the SMC (or any other section). With the Blackwell Farm development completed, the SHAR forecasts (Figure 4.3) that, in the morning peak hour, there would be 837 movements westbound and 636 movements eastbound along Egerton Road through the underpass (one vehicle about every 4 seconds and 6 seconds respectively). The underpass is highly unlikely to have the capacity to accept this level of traffic on a single lane each way. That would still be the case after modest modal shift had reduced the vehicle counts somewhat. It seems to us unrealistic to believe that all traffic inhibited by denial of road space will divert to sustainable modes. The more likely effect is that the SMC will simply add greatly to the predicted overcapacity on Egerton Road, with knock-on effects through the network. The principal effect of the SMC in the Blackwell Farm area is therefore likely to be to make traffic congestion worse rather than better if the development is built.

57. The footpath and cycleway on the north side of Egerton Road, segregated from traffic but not from each other, would be maintained under the proposals in the 2017 Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update, though the current design is cramped and mostly unattractive. The footpath and cycleway cease east of the Tesco roundabout, so walkers and cyclists have to fend for themselves when crossing the Ashenden Road arm of the Tesco roundabout. No improvement even to this basic problem is proposed in the Plan. The Plan needs to be clearer about what if anything it is actually proposing in order to encourage walking and cycling to and from the Blackwell Farm development.

58. If the modal shift fails to happen, the level of congestion in Guildford will become significantly worse. Modal shift is the only means by which the Council can find any practical means of moving additional people at scale into and out of Blackwell Farm (and the associated 10-11ha expansion of the Research Park). Even so, given the existing very high levels of congestion and over-capacity on Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, especially in peak periods, there is no certainty that there will be sufficient roadspace for vehicles, people and goods to reach the Blackwell Farm development even after the Sustainable Movement Corridor has taken a proportion of travellers (itself taking up roadspace).
59. The Council has not demonstrated a credible strategy for actually achieving modal shift in practice, notably by removing both roadspace for cars and destination car parking spaces. Modal shift is not mentioned in Policy A26, despite its imperative importance to the delivery of Blackwell Farm. The strong impression given by the Plan is that the SMC has been greatly downgraded from the original proposals by Arup to which the Council subscribed, and is therefore unlikely to deliver the modal shift which is essential for the development proposals in the Plan to be feasible. It seems to us that the likelihood is that the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the Blackwell Farm area will be massively inadequate. As the Council’s heart does not appear to be in modal shift, we consider that the Blackwell Farm proposal will be undeliverable and we recommend that the proposed allocation in Policy A26 is withdrawn.

60. The purpose of the SMC can only be achieved by upsetting car drivers. However, the Plan strongly emphasises accommodating traffic generation from proposed development with figures apparently incorporating: no modal shift at all; a sustained aspiration for a major increase in capacity on the A3; and continued investment in local road capacity improvements. We conclude that the Sustainable Movement Corridor has already been compromised, will fail to make discernible impacts on existing congestion, and will therefore not have anything like enough impact on travel patterns to accommodate the people and goods movements arising from 1,800 houses at Blackwell Farm. We recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination without deletion of the Blackwell Farm proposal in Policy A26.

Funding the transport infrastructure necessary for Blackwell Farm

61. We pointed out in our submission a year ago that the scale of financial support expected from the developers of the Blackwell Farm site for the delivery of road infrastructure alone was far above the amounts normally expected. In the last year the obligations upon them have increased. The Proposed Submission Local Plan has now been amended in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C. Proposals affecting the A3 were noted in paragraph 20 above, to which Blackwell Farm developers will be a party. Other new financial commitments specific to Blackwell Farm are:

- Project BT6 ‘Significant bus network serving the Blackwell Farm site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre to be provided’ is a new requirement in 2017, which must be entirely funded and delivered by the developer, at a price which is still to be confirmed, and therefore an open-ended commitment at present;
- Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which must be entirely funded by the developer, has seen its cost increase from £5m to £10m;
- The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN3 ‘New signalised junction from Blackwell Farm site to A31 Farnham Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
- The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN4 ‘Access road at Blackwell Farm site with through link to Egerton Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
- The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
- A “Necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station” towards the estimated £10m cost of Project NR2 will still be required from the Blackwell Farm developer (the only named developer required to contribute) in accordance with Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirement (7): this assumes greater importance now that the station merits its own Policy A59 (see paragraphs 63-64 below);
- The funding arrangements for SMC1 Sustainable Movement Corridor: West have been amended slightly. The change states the funding source will be ‘Developer funded and Local Growth Fund’ instead of ‘Developer contributions and Local Growth Fund’, suggesting that the developers will have to fund somewhat more than previously expected. The Blackwell Farm development will be the principal contributor to this section of the SMC.

62. Transport consultants advising Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils calculate that the transport infrastructure alone for the Blackwell Farm development will cost about £60million, most of it up-front. This is around £35,000 per dwelling. There will be other major costs which the developer will be required to fund, including new primary and secondary schools and affordable housing (none of which were included in our previous costings), all of which can be very expensive, and numerous other mitigation costs from such a major development. There is, therefore, a real risk that the proposed development will not be viable and deliverable. If still included, the Local Plan would need to ensure that the Blackwell Farm development complies with paragraph 173 of the NPPF on this point. In reality, in the absence of other funding sources to provide money which the developers may be unable or unwilling to provide, the Blackwell Farm scheme would have to fail and be deleted from the Plan.

Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford – Notwithstanding and without prejudice to our previous comments in respect of this site, we broadly acknowledge the amendments made. We do not accept, however, the provisions for access to the A31, a signalised junction within the AONB and any enlargement to the existing lane, Down Place access road. The developers should bring forward ideas to improve the existing strategic local road network to accommodate the development, including working with Highways England and Surrey County Council to reconfigure both the Farnham Road slip road and Beechcroft Drive into an improved junction on the A3 – only an ‘Aspiration’ in the infrastructure schedule.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Attached documents:
I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new...
junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to... congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.

- Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in “Guildford urban area” and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

Inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9]:

1) disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

2) directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E

– and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas

3) ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]

4) adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for nitrogen oxides [Policy A26].

Policy A26: Blackwell Farm has been amended and now the proposed development includes a secondary school with up to six form entry. This will add to morning peak hour traffic which was not included in the 2016 modelling. The SHAR findings indicate that there will be congestion in peak periods on the network that will serve this development. The A3 will be at or over capacity which means that the network will lack resilience, as it does today. The roads connecting to the town centre will continue to be under pressure. The SMC concept is more advanced on this section than elsewhere, but the effect on capacity has yet to be established. There will be queuing on the A31 on the approach to the new signalised junction that will give access to the Blackwell Farm site. The A31 is regarded as a key route by the LEP and LA partners.

I fully endorse all the comments made by Richard Bate of Green Balance in the response he produced for Compton Parish Council and include this as annex 13.

Site A26 Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford

162. I object to this site being included. It is Green Belt and there are no exceptional circumstances. It will put further pressure on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and other remaining areas of high biodiversity such as Broadstreet Common.

163. The proposed development would ruin the setting of the AONB at this end of the Hog's Back and create major traffic problems.
164. The Strategic Highway Assessment Report indicates that the issue of traffic using the site as an alternative route to locations in Guildford, and to avoid congestion on the main road, has been recognised along with the serious problems it will generate in the vicinity of the hospital including increased use of the dangerous slip onto the A3 near the Tesco. I understand that possible solutions might be to use a discouraging winding route through the site or a number plate recognition system (ANPR).

165. A winding route will add to all legitimate users' journey times, carbon emissions and air pollution. Access and journey times for emergency vehicles will be impaired. Legitimate users include delivery vehicles that may want to continue on a route into and through the site for efficiency reasons.

166. An ANPR solution sounds like a bright idea that has not been thought through. It would be a "Big Brother" solution fraught with difficulties - legal and administrative. Consider visitors choosing to leave by the opposite route and delivery vehicles continuing through the site and out the other side. Keeping up with changes in residents' and other legitimate users' vehicles would be difficult and create problems. Who would profit from fines or bear the cost?

167. Additional traffic congestion in the vicinity of the Accident and Emergency access is highly undesirable for Guildford residents due to the increased time it will take to receive emergency treatment - it is a life-threatening issue.

A26: Blackwell Farm

I note and appreciate major representations from others as to Green belt and AONB. Interestingly, while there are major landscape considerations, the site is visible but not very visible from the A3 at that point, nor from a number of other likely viewpoints. It has been observed that the most significant external viewpoint is the upper wards of the RSCH.

Policy A26: Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back

I have previously objected to the inclusion of this site in the local plan and now object to the addition of a secondary school (Allocation 9) on the grounds that there is already overprovision by in excess of 700 places at the secondary schools serving the western parishes and I fail to see why land should be taken out of green belt to add to this over provision.

I also object to the additional proposed access to the site via Egerton Road (Requirements 1). The existing infrastructure in the A3, Egerton Road and Gill Avenue area cannot cope with existing peak time traffic flows with delays and long queues frequently forming in all three roads, the queues off the east bound A3 carriageway are particularly worrying given the potential for accidents, similarly the access slip road to the A3 is wholly inadequate with those joining the east bound carriageway often having to risk life and limb to join the main carriageway from a very short slip road which severely limits the time available to check for a suitable gap in traffic. I also note that the access is stated to be "preferably via Gill Avenue". This statement lacks the precision required for an objective comment. If not Gill Avenue how else?
I object to this development. The number of houses has been reduced by 300 for this plan period, but the same amount of land has been allocated and further development is indicated. A sixth form secondary school is now proposed and this will increase peak hour traffic on already over-full roads. The addition of a school is a circular argument. Without the development the school would not be needed on Blackwell Farm and school places for the wider area could be provided within existing schools or on urban sites within Guildford.

An independent study shows that a part of Blackwell Farm site is equivalent in status to an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and may well be upgraded after Natural England’s boundary review has taken place.

Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back – Mixed use 1,800 homes, 6 Traveller pitches, employment, Local Centre, school etc. OBJECT the majority of this land should be designated AONB

- Most of Blackwell Farm and the land in its vicinity is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition that should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.
- The landscape is critical to the setting of the Hog’s Back ridge and in the conservation of rural views to the north of equal, if not greater importance, than land to the west of Down Place, which has been included in the boundary proposed by the Surrey Hills AONB Board.
- the existing AONB and the loss of landscape which is of a character and quality which merits inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water run-off would affect Wood Street Village (particularly Pound Lane/Baird Drive) and Fairlands. The proposed accesses from the A31 and Gill Avenue would be inadequate to support such a development. Indeed access onto the A31 would be in the AONB. In addition there would be an adverse impact on the following Ancient Woodland, Strawberry Grove, Dean Bottom, Manor Copse and a strip of Ancient woodland at Wildfield Copse. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

POLICY A26

1. I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm (A26) in the local plan. The site is within the Green Belt and all constraints have been ignored. The site is owned by Surrey University which has permission to build 2000+ units of accommodation on campus but has failed to do so. Building on Blackwell Farm would be detrimental to the Surrey Hills AONB and adjoining AGLV. Given existing congestion in the locality on the A31/A3 the additional 200+ homes would make congestion/commuting intolerable and impact on Air Quality. (I have objected elsewhere to the Wisley (A35) Development. Blackwell Farm and Wisley are similar in need of protection from any development).

Policy A26 – Blackwell Farm - Serious consideration needs to be given to the engineering solutions necessary to maintain the fragile balance of water in the area. If this is not addressed, it will have a damaging impact as far away as Whitmoor Common.

I draw the Council’s attention in particular to the very useful work by Worplesdon Parish Council which they will have submitted separately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to Policy A26: Blackwell Farm.

Unmet housing need is not a reason for building on the Green Belt. Exceptionality has not been shown. (NPPF 87-89)

This site is currently farmed and an AGLV. NPPF states that good agricultural land should be retained for food production. In the light of the Brexit decision GBC should be even more slow to use this valuable farming land for development (NPPF 112)

Blackwell Farm is home to a wide variety of animal and plant species. Building here will harm Biodiversity. (NPPF 123 point 4 refers)

The Surrey Hills AONB will be damaged by a proposed new road. (NPPF 115)

SPC believe the infrastructure and network will not be able to cope with the sheer scale of the proposed development (as independent traffic reports confirm).

Shackleford, Puttenham and Compton in particular already suffer with peak time traffic problems as people access the A3 and A31 or divert from those routes when there is the inevitable daily congestion. Introducing more schools, offices and homes to that area will lead to more 'rat-running' through these little villages, whose roads are unsuitable and cannot deal with the congestion. Air pollution in the area is already above safe EU limits and this is due to the volume of traffic and because it is frequently at a standstill.

The site of the proposed development lies within the Green Belt and in an AONB. There are no exceptional circumstances that have been shown to demonstrate the benefits outweigh the harm of the development; therefore there is no exception to the presumption against development in the Green Belt and AONB.

Policy A26 - Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford
We note that the Normandy and Flexford site, which included provision for housing and a new secondary school to serve the west of the borough has been removed from the draft Local Plan. Consequently, we welcome the amendment to Policy A26 which provides for a secondary school within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm. The school is required to meet the county council’s forecasted future need, on the assumption that the development proposed in the Local Plan comes forward. We would like additionally to see it specified that the school is required to be located in the northern part of the site. This is considered to be the most sustainable location in accessibility terms and it would be in accordance with the amendment to SED3.

CPRE OBJECTION TO POLICY A26
BLACKWELL FARM, HOGS BACK, GUILDFORD

We fully endorse and support the comprehensive objection to this site by Green Balance which has been made jointly on behalf of CPRE Surrey and the Save Hogs Back campaign.
1. Description

CPRE objects to this site being described as within the “Guildford Urban Area”. It is in fact within Green Belt countryside in Shalford to the single track driveway to Downs Place with its attractive avenue of trees. This development has been objected to by a wide range of Parish Councils including Artington, Compton, Puttenham, Wanborough, and Worplesdon.

1. Ownership

CPRE does not agree with the categorization of this land as “Private” when it is in fact owned by the University of Surrey, a semi public body.

1. Research Park

The Research Park is owned by the University. It still has room to expand on its existing area which was originally allocated as open space so new offices or other buildings could be built similar in design to the WWF HQ in Woking with parking at ground floor level and offices over.

1. Housing

The amount of housing for this site is 1,800 homes and 6 Traveller pitches, together with a primary school. Added to this is provision for a further primary school at the hospital site which will further complicate matters in terms of access and sustainability. It is our opinion that heavy existing congestion at the Egerton Road A3 Roundabout will exacerbate this and a requirement could be achieved by the building of a retirement care home. For some unexplained reason this has been omitted from the draft Local Plan.

1. Infrastructure

Access to this site from the Egerton Road A3 Roundabout via Gill Avenue will become even more congested were the proposed new road to and from the A31 and maybe the building of a new railway station at Guildford West in Park Barn.

A technical report by RGP has been prepared concerning this proposed new road link to and from the A31 which questions the viability of a new road with a possible extra bridge would of course be very unsightly. There are also safety considerations that need to be taken into account.

CPRE questions whether the proposals for this junction is a realistic proposition. RGP indicates that the preferred highways solution would make the proposal unsound.
We do not consider that either of these possible alternatives will provide a practical solution to the traffic congestion that already exists at the A31/A3 junction and that it will be used by a very large quantity of traffic which will stretch back from the A31/A3 junction and the traffic lights at the A31

1. Countryside Harm and Urban Sprawl

From this policy presentation, it is hard to believe that the countryside at stake has been seriously considered. We are talking about an area of outstanding natural beauty Hogs Back countryside which is recognised by everyone who knows it as a unique landscape location. Its magnificent views stretching away to the North. It would surely be unforgivable if this were not conserved for the future rather than irretrievably harmed.

The Pegasus Report on Green Belt and the Countryside has taken the totally arbitrary position that this site should be considered only Green Belt site fulfils these two very important purposes. We concur that the site cannot serve the function of preventing coalescence object to the categorization of this Green Belt countryside as of only “medium sensitivity”, and request that the Inspector walk through have a serious adverse effect on this beautiful natural landscape and protected countryside. This harm will be made even worse at the “exceptional circumstances” required for a Green Belt boundary review which would justify the harm it will cause to this very unii

1. Landscape Evaluation

In 2007 GBC and Land Use Consultants published its Guildford Landscape Character Assessment & Guidance which includes in sector segregation created by the A31 trunk road along the ridgeline with the visibility of moving vehicles and associated noise. This document Preliminary work in this context has already been undertaken by Hankinson-Duckett for Natural England. The Parish Councils of Con inclusion within a revised Natural England boundary for the Surrey Hills AONB.

Accordingly, we believe that it would be illogical to proceed further with the proposal for Blackwell Farm in the light of so much protection in the Local Plan because of its impact on the AONB and the setting of this very special landscape. CPRE OBJECTION.

The CPRE Surrey response to the June 2016 Pre-submission Consultation (Regulation 19) provided a comprehensive objection to this proposal. This appears on pages 17 to 20 of the earlier submission made over a year ago. It featured in particular the serious environmental damage that would be done to the nationally important countryside of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty at the Hogs Back and the major erosion of the Metropolitan Green Belt in the immediate vicinity of Guildford to the West of the town. CPRE considers the outline proposal incomplete and impracticable and therefore unsound.
CPRE Surrey has worked closely from the outset with Save Hogs Back and Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils. We fully endorse the additional submission now made by them which concentrates in particular on the questions relating to road infrastructure and traffic congestion. This has been prepared by Green Balance. It is apparent that the Council has not been able to find a convincing solution to these problems. The CPRE objections to the draft local plan in this context have not been in any way overcome. No input of any kind has as yet been supplied from Highways England who are concentrating their main attention exclusively on the M25/A3 junction rather than the A3 connection to Guildford and beyond where it joins the A31 at the Hogs Back. The proposals put forward by the Council for the link road to the A31 through Blackwell Farm are in our view wholly unconvincing.

CPRE is conscious of the already unacceptable degree of congestion on the A31 and A3 at Guildford. The development of any additional traffic on these major roads is likely to promote severe infrastructure difficulties. The continued mention of a possible tunnel solution is only an “aspiration” and therefore outside the current plan consideration, which depends in any case on Highways England assessing what is practicable, and this will be linked to cost viability. CPRE nevertheless were involved in the Hindhead Tunnel decision, which took years to achieve because it was thought too expensive for consideration. The success of this development is generally accepted now and the countryside was saved as a result. No doubt this is still a possible outcome at Blackwell Farm which should not be ruled out entirely.

In the meantime the concern of Compton inhabitants is well justified at their experience of air pollution from slow moving diesel traffic of all kinds. CPRE understands that the levels of Nitrogen Dioxide pollution are consistently well above EU legal limits on the main street in Compton (B3000) and that this problem has been recorded over a period of two years. No wonder then that the community is concerned and has objected so strongly to the proposed Blackwell Farm link road to the A31 which it is anticipated will seriously add to the unacceptable traffic and pollution already being experienced by this community. It is surprising that Guildford itself appears not to have in addition more pollution measurement evidence that can be relied on for evaluation of its crowded road system.

CPRE has also seen the report submitted by Worplesdon Parish Council with regard to Surface Water Flood Risk Assessment which was prepared by JBA Consulting. This was needed to review the impact of the proposed development at Blackwell Farm on the downstream communities of Wood Street Village, Fairlands, and parts of Park Barn which have all previously experienced surface water flooding problems. The JBA conclusion is that past experience suggests that development at Blackwell Farm will represent an additional obstacle in terms of flood water control.

The CPRE Surrey objection to Policy A26 and paragraph 4.1.9 therefore remains. In summary it is based on the following additional points:

- It disregards an expert independent landscape study which demonstrates that part of the of the site merits AONB status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review (4.3.8)
- It directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4) which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- It ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.14a)
- It will add to air pollution in neighbouring areas such as Compton, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrogen Dioxide.

CPRE Surrey should like to add that the London Green Belt Council has become an active partner with CPRE Guildford in defending the Metropolitan Green Belt against the threat to Blackwell Farm. Their support for CPRE Guildford’s defence of this nationally important countryside reflects the fact that the Green Belt was established on a permanent basis to prevent urban sprawl and protect openness around London and the Home Counties. This reflects too the fact that the Green Belt should act as the lungs of our capital city, where town dwellers can come to breathe fresh air, and that its defence is part of the responsibility of us all including Guildford residents who will benefit from its better protection and enhancement.

The critical importance attached to saving Blackwell Farm and the Hog’s Back is reflected in a short video prepared by CPRE’s National Office that forms an integral element of a national campaign covering different parts of the country.
We stand by the following letter written by Karen Stevens which appeared in the Surrey Advertiser on 30th June 2017:

“The proposed Blackwell Farm development will change the shape and character of the western side of Guildford forever, transforming it from a beautiful (and historic) rural landscape to a suburban housing estate and low-density business park which will be visible along the Hog’s Back. This site, surrounding one of the former manors of Compton (and later the residence of Lord Dennis) is currently high-grade arable farmland. It is criss-crossed with ancient hedgerows and bounded by ancient woodland to its east, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) to the south, a Site of Nature Conservation Interest (Broadstreet Common) to the north, and open countryside to the west.” CPRE Surrey wishes to see this recognized by the Local Plan which at the present time is unsound.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9]. The proposed Blackwell Farm development will change the shape and character of the western side of Guildford forever, transforming it from a beautiful (and historic) rural landscape to a suburban housing estate and low-density business park, which will be visible along the Hog’s Back.

This site, surrounding one of the former manors of Compton (and later the residence of Lord Dennis), is currently high-grade arable farmland. It is criss-crossed with ancient hedgerows and bounded by ancient woodland to its east, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) to the south, a Site of Nature Conservation Interest (Broadstreet Common) to the north and open countryside to the west.

Blackwell Farm was supposed to be opened up by the University of Surrey to provide greater public access to the countryside at the 2003 Local Plan when the “permanent” green belt boundary shifted and part of the former Royal Park was swallowed up to allow expansion of the University.

Instead of doing this, the University now has plans to spread Guildford 4km to the west and to build a 3,250-home estate along the Hog’s Back. As part of this, Guildford Borough Council has put forward the site for 1,800 homes in its latest draft Local Plan and has taken the unprecedented step of planning to move the permanent green belt boundary twice in less than 15 years. These plans will be to the detriment of Guildford and should be resisted for the following reasons:

● More roads, but even more traffic:
  ○ The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road).
  ○ An independent traffic study commissioned by Compton Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington would see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000 and B3100.
  ○ There would also be more congestion at the Egerton Road (Tesco) roundabout, which would impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit and cause increased rat running through Onslow Village and Park Barn - This problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.
The Local Plan directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas.

- More pollution - Levels of nitrogen oxides that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the past two years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016). Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

- Loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension to the Research Park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The Local Plan disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

- More flooding - The Hog’s Back acts as a soak-away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will flow north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (an EU protected habitat).

More reasons to protect Blackwell Farm are set out in a document/brochure produced by Save Hogs Back in 2014 (see Annex B).

The provision of low-density executive homes across green fields is an inefficient and highly destructive way to meet housing needs. With more than 10% of Guildford’s population comprising students, I believe that the University should do much more to provide dedicated, purpose-built and safe accommodation for those wanting to study and enjoy living in Guildford. This would free up much needed space for key workers and families in existing homes closer to the town centre, helping to regenerate these areas and avoiding problems with student homes identified by GBC.

Whilst the University of Surrey seeks to improve its standing in the rankings of universities in the UK (it currently stands around 270 worldwide) so it would do well to emulate those at the top of the world league tables, which provide dedicated residences to over 95% of their students. The University of Surrey provides around half of this.

Traffic

My overall thoughts on traffic were spelt out in a presentation to Guildford Borough Councillors in the council chamber at Millmead in 2014. My comments made at the time are summarised below:

"Traffic disruption and road congestion is a problem in Guildford and the A3 and the A31 get most of the blame. However congestion on these roads is mostly the symptom of infrastructure problems elsewhere, for example:

- the lack of alternative routes west to east across Surrey, means that most journeys pass through the centre of Guildford,
- cars travelling west to east through Guildford can take one of only 3 routes across the A3 and one of only two routes across the river, and
- the roads and junctions through Guildford itself don’t have sufficient capacity at peak times.

These problems cause congestion and tailbacks onto the A3 and A31. This is a particular issue at the Tesco roundabout - the very point where the proposed entrance for the new Blackwell Farm development will emerge and where ambulance access to A&E is vital."
Extra traffic from this massive development built to the west of Guildford (and on the wrong side of the A3) would make the A3 and the A31 grind to a halt. The whole of Guildford would come to a standstill along with any aspirations for economic growth.

The planning inspector recognised this problem more than 10 years ago when Manor Farm was removed from Green Belt. He stipulated that traffic growth generated on University land should be limited to 5%. Today, there is a general perception that traffic is worse than ever and the proposed new development will add many extra cars - adding to the traffic misery throughout the day.

Unfortunately the proposed road through Blackwell Farm from the A31, won’t help either. It will just allow cars from the west to jump the queue to join the Tesco roundabout and then continue on the same route into Guildford (but now joined by hundreds of more cars).

And if this link is intended to simply make life easier for users of the Research Park then, wouldn’t measures to reduce the reliance on cars be better (as the planning inspector’s 5% threshold was trying to achieve)?

We need links to connect between the west and the east of Guildford, but any major scheme (such as a tunneled southern bypass to the A3) would take many years to materialise. Properties built at a reasonable density above the University’s vast surface car parks would provide extra homes in places which are genuinely walkable. Walkable to the existing train station, to the University, to the Research Park and the town. This would allow the University to provide all the benefits it wants to provide to Guildford - without the loss of beautiful countryside and without as much disruption on the roads.

Building hundreds of new homes on Blackwell Farm simply isn’t the answer.”

None of these fundamental issues has been addressed in different drafts of the Local Plan. Despite more evidence being presented by Save Hog’s Back and Compton Parish Council (including the RGP reports), the Local Plan ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the adverse impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]. The scheme also adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for nitrogen oxides [Policy A26].

Wanborough Parish Council has reviewed the proposed revisions to the Local Plan. In general we are supportive of the revisions made, many of which appear to have taken into account the comments and suggestions submitted in respect of previous Local Plan consultations, by local organisations and residents.

In particular we welcome the additional focus on Guildford town centre residential development, the objective of greater containment of student accommodation on Surrey University Campus land (thus reducing pressure on lower cost residential property elsewhere) and a clearer acknowledgement in the Local Plan of the severe existing traffic congestion and road infrastructure and access problems associated with the A3 and A31. Unfortunately however, there appears to be no regional solution or funding in sight to resolve this infrastructure issue.

We believe the A3 / A31 road infrastructure problem is so severe, as evidenced by the daily rush hour traffic jams and local road gridlock in the event of the smallest of accidents on the A3 (or any of its slip roads), that we remain firmly against the proposed Blackwell Farm residential development (Policy A26). For this reason, Wanborough Parish Council is supporting the submission of Compton Parish Council against the development of this specific site.

A26 Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back – Mixed use 1,800 homes, 6 Traveller pitches, employment, Local Centre, school etc.

OBJECT the majority of this land should be designated AONB

• Most of Blackwell Farm and the land in its vicinity is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition that should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.
• The landscape is critical to the setting of the Hog’s Back ridge and in the conservation of rural views to the north of equal, if not greater importance, than land to the west of Down Place, which has been included in the boundary proposed by the Surrey Hills AONB Board.
• Two fields at the very eastern edge of the Blackwell Farm/Manor Farm site did not meet the AONB criteria. However, these were acknowledged to be important in providing the setting to Guildford and an important transitional landscape.

• The boundary put forward by Surrey Hills AONB Board between Misley Copse and Down Place and between Down Place and the current AONB boundary does not follow any defined landscape features (such as a ridge line, woodland edges, or prominent field boundary) or reflect a decline in landscape and scenic quality or changes in landscape character that might justify exclusion.

• The proposed AONB boundary should be reviewed at this location and realigned according to the recommendations made by Land Management Services Ltd – As per their report entitled “Hogs Back Natural Beauty Evaluation” dated May 2016, as attached.

• Failure to realign the boundary according to Land Management Services Ltd.’s recommendations could enable opportunities for development which would result in significant harm to the setting of the existing AONB and the loss of landscape which is of a character and quality which merits inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water run-off would affect Wood Street Village (particularly Pound Lane/Baird Drive) and Fairlands. The proposed accesses from the A31 and Gill Avenue would be inadequate to support such a development. Indeed access onto the A31 would be in the AONB. In addition there would be an adverse impact on the following Ancient woodland, Strawberry Grove, Dean Bottom, Manor Copse and a strip of Ancient woodland at Wildfield Copse. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

1. Introduction

Land Management Services Ltd was commissioned by Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils to undertake a Natural Beauty Evaluation of land to the east of Flexford, in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, Down Place and Homestead Farm to the north of the Hog’s Back. This evaluation is linked to the ongoing Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) and Surrey County Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV) boundary review. A report prepared by HDA titled Surrey County Council LCA Phase 2, Surrey Hills AONB Areas of Search, Natural Beauty Evaluation (October 2013) included a natural beauty evaluation of land to the north of the Hog’s Back, as part of the County wide AONB/AGLV boundary review. This review describes Areas of Search extending to the full AGLV boundary with recommended areas for inclusion within a revised AONB boundary based on the findings of the evaluation. The evaluation was undertaken in accordance with ‘Guidance for assessing landscapes for designation as National Park or area of Outstanding Natural Beauty in England (Natural England 2 March 2011).
The HDA report recommends extension of the AONB boundary to the north of the Hog’s Back to include an area described as ‘Area of Wooded Rolling Claylands extending down from the chalk ridge’ (Area 12-1). A copy of the relevant extract from the HDA report including the Natural Beauty Evaluation for Area 12-1 against the Natural England criteria and mapping showing the original Area of Search and recommended area for inclusion within the AONB as part of the boundary review, are included in Appendix 1 to this report.

The 2013 HDA report recommends inclusion of land to the north of the Hog’s Back chalk ridge with a northern boundary broadly defined by West Flexford Lane between the village of Flexford and land on the western edge of Guildford. The conclusions to the evaluation for Area 12-1 state:

‘There is a gently sloping transition northwards from the top of the dip slope, but vegetated roadsides, hedged/treed field boundaries and woodland blocks form a relatively robust east-west northern boundary, beyond which urban influence increase(s) in places’

This evaluation prepared by Land Management Services Ltd has been prepared on behalf of Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils (with additional support from Wanborough) in order to:

• Provide a more detailed Natural Beauty Evaluation of the areas excluded from Area 12-1 in the HDA October 2013 Report
• Assess the degree to which the excluded areas contribute to the natural beauty and setting of the Hog’s Back
• Provide a comparative assessment of the areas within the original Area of Search included and excluded in Area 12-1

This evaluation has been carried out in accordance with the ‘Guidance for assessing landscapes for designation as National Park or Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty in England’ (Natural England, 2 March 2011). Appendix 1 of the Guidance provides an Evaluation Framework for Natural Beauty Criterion. This describes six criterion or factors with associated sub-factors and example indicators to inform a Natural Beauty Evaluation. The six ‘Factors’ or criteria are:

• Landscape Quality
• Scenic Beauty
• Relative wildness
• Relative tranquillity
• Natural heritage features
• Cultural heritage

The October 2013 HDA evaluation was carried out in accordance with the Natural England methodology and also includes a brief concluding section titled ‘Specific Issues addressed when identifying extent of Area 12-1’.

For ease of comparison the study area evaluation covered by this report is set out to an identical layout to the Study Area sheets within the HDA report (see Appendix 1).

Preparation of this report has involved the following:

• Desk top review of the HDA report, and other earlier landscape assessment reports which have contributed to the boundary review, principally:
  ◦ Review of Landscape Assessments within the AONB (Alison Farmer Associates, March 2012)
  ◦ Surrey Hills AGLV Review (Chris Burnett Associates, 2007)
• Desk top review of County and Borough Landscape Character Assessments:
  ◦ Guildford Landscape Character Assessment and Guidance (Land Use Consultants January 2007)
  ◦ Surrey Landscape Character Assessment – Guildford Borough (HDA April 2015)
• Desk top review of other relevant documentation, principally:
  ◦ Surrey Hills AONB Management Plan 2014-2019
  ◦ Guildford Borough Core Strategy and Local Plan documentation
• Site visit on 28th April 2016
We have also reviewed the Surrey History Centre Historical Maps for the evaluation area, principally the Ordnance Survey 1897 and 1934 editions.

This report is set out as follows:

1. Baseline Landscape Character Assessments
2. Landscape Policy Context
3. The Surrey Hills AONB
4. Evaluation against Natural Beauty Criterion
5. Conclusions and Recommendations

2. Baseline Landscape Character Assessments

Full descriptions and key characteristics for each of the character areas are given in the respective 2007 Guildford and 2015 Surrey LCAs. The Guildford Assessment also includes an Evaluation and overall Landscape Strategy together with Landscape and Built Development Guidance. The recently published Surrey LCA largely adopts the same two principal landscape character areas as described in the Guildford LCA for the land covered by this evaluation. These are:

- Wanborough Wooded Rolling Clayland(s)
- Hog’s Back Chalk Ridge

The Guildford LCA also includes a Rural-Urban Fringe Assessment which describes two sub character areas on the western edge of Guildford:

- Wanborough Wooded Clay Lowlands: Rydeshill-Fairlands Rural-Urban Fringe
- Hog’s Back Rural-Urban Fringe

2.1 Wanborough Wooded Rolling Clayland(s)

The majority of the land covered by this evaluation is located within the Wanborough Wooded Rolling Claylands Character Area. The description of the character area in the Guildford LCA includes this reference to the land in the vicinity of Down Place:

‘There are many mature hedgerow trees and occasional field trees, often oaks, the remnants of former hedgerows and woodlands or of 18th century parkland for instance at … Down Place to the far south east of the area’

The Guildford LCA also references the twelfth century deer park including the remnant features of ‘Strawberry Grove and hedgerow boundaries representing the former extent of the park’, on the western edge of Guildford. The Surrey LCA references ‘historic landscape patterns’ as a key characteristic.

The Guildford LCA also highlights the importance of ‘Views to the unsettled chalk ridge of the Hog’s Back form a rural backdrop to the area’.

This attribute is also identified in the Surrey LCA

These aspects combined with a ‘peaceful rural character’ are identified as some of the key attributes of the Wanborough Wooded Rolling Claylands Character Area.

The Rydeshill-Fairlands Rural-Urban Fringe assessment (described in the Guildford LCA) identifies the importance of the land on the western edges of Guildford in ‘containing residential sprawl and creating the sense of a quick transition from the town to rural landscape.

The southern-most section of the area covered by this evaluation falls just within the Hog’s Back Chalk Ridge.

2.2 Hog’s Back Chalk Ridge
Both the Guildford and Surrey LCAs identify the drama of the chalk ridge and the panoramic views, north and south as defining characteristics of the Hog’s Back. Both the Surrey and Guildford LCAs identify the significance of views to and from the ridge. The more regular field pattern associated with the chalk downland is identified in both assessments. The Guildford LCA also references the importance of the historic parkland, with remnant parkland trees associated with Down Place, Flexford House and Poyle Park. Both assessments identify the noise and visual impacts associated with the A31 as detracting features.

The Guildford LCA Hog’s Back Rural Urban Fringe assessment references the importance of the land in providing ‘the setting to and views from Guildford’ and the desire to maintain the ‘essentially undeveloped rural character’ of the land. The assessment notes that:

The setting of Guildford and the AONB are both highly sensitive to any small scale incremental change.

3. Landscape Policy Context

Paragraph 115 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states:

> Great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty in National Parks, the Broads and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, which have the highest status of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty.

This principle is taken forward in planning policy at a local level in the Guildford Local Development Framework and Local Plan. The Guildford Planning documents also reference the relative importance and weight to be attached to land within the AGLV, subject to the AONB boundary review.

4. Surrey Hills AONB

The Surrey Hills AONB is described in the AONB Management Plan as ‘an intriguingly diverse landscape characterised by hills and valleys, traditional mixed farming, a patchwork of chalk grassland and heathland, sunken lanes, picturesque villages and market towns’. The AONB encompasses both the North Downs and Greensand Hills with intervening lowlands and valleys. It is a landscape with a diverse underlying geology and as, a consequence, enormous diversity in the features which define and characterise the AONB. The definition of Natural Beauty as referenced in the AONB Management Plan also recognises the influence of human intervention and management on the beauty of the AONB:

> ‘Natural Beauty is not just the look of the landscape but includes landform and geology, plants and animals, landscape features and the rich history of human settlement over the centuries’

Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty: A Guide for AONB Partnership Members, Countryside Agency, 2001 (CA 24) These are important considerations in this Natural Beauty Evaluation, since in assessing whether land within the AGLV merits inclusion within the AONB, this should be evaluated against all landscape typologies or characteristics associated with the whole of the AONB, not just the landscape feature immediately adjoining the land, in this case the chalk ridge of the Hog’s Back.

5. Evaluation against Natural Beauty Criterion

The HDA recommended area for inclusion within the AONB (Area 12-1), as described in the HDA October 2013 report, is shown on the extract from the supporting plan to the report below (Figure 1). The full Area of Search and proposed area for inclusion within the revised AONB boundary are shown on the drawing included with Appendix 1. Figure 2 (overleaf) shows the current AONB Boundary, Area 12-1 and the five sub character areas identified as part of this evaluation. The remainder of this section includes a Natural Beauty Evaluation of a series sub character areas identified as part of this evaluation, against the Natural England Criteria, together with photographs illustrating the character and condition of the landscape. These are presented in the form of a table consistent with the HDA evaluation. The final section of each table includes an assessment of the key qualities of each sub character area and an assessment of the relationship between the sub character area with the adjoining areas within Area 12-1. This section also assesses the natural and scenic beauty of the landscape in the context of key characteristics associated with the whole of the Surrey Hills AONB and concludes whether each sub character area should have been included as part of Area 12-1. Representative viewpoint locations included in the evaluation are shown on Figure 4 (Appendix 2).

| Location/Sub Character Area |  |
|-----------------------------|--
| Area 1 Land to the east of Flexford |  |

Landscape Quality

Stronger urban influence on fringes of Flexford. Planted woodlands and field boundaries in variable but mainly good condition. Landscape pattern typical of smaller field pattern around Flexford and Wanborough. Few large woodland blocks. No ancient woodland.

Scenic Quality

Less distinct character than land south of West Flexford Lane which has strong visual and physical relationship with chalk ridge of the Hog’s Back. Lane provides physical and visual separation. Properties influence rural character on the edge of the settlement and along the lane.

Relative Wildness

Settlement edge and traffic noise. Managed arable landscape.

Relative Tranquility

Traffic noise from A31 evident but not intrusive. Other influences associated with settlement edge.

Natural Heritage Features

Relatively indistinct natural landscape pattern or irregular fields bordered by hedges with few strong or defining landscape features. No larger woodland blocks of ancient woodland.

Cultural Heritage

No known major cultural heritage associations.

Relationship with Area 12-1 and Conclusions
This sub character area is visually and physically distinct from Area 12-1. The landscape lacks a strong or defining character and bears little relationship with Area 12-1 and is not significant in views to and from the Hog’s Back.

Agree with the boundary to Area 12-1 as shown. Area does not merit inclusion within the AONB.

Location/Sub Character Area

Area 2 Land to the east of Pond Hill

Landscape Quality

Declining influence of settlement on landscape character. A few isolated properties on west Flexford Lane. Landscape of larger fields with broad views to both the north and south. Landscape character and pattern and land use very similar north and south of the lane. No ancient woodland.

Scenic Quality

Large field pattern, but with wide expansive views to the, mainly to the south. Few significant landscape features or defining characteristics.

Relative Wildness

Managed arable landscape, but declining influence of settlement edge. Broad views with few visual detractors such as pylons or incongruous built development.

Relative Tranquillity

Traffic noise from A31 evident but not intrusive.

Natural Heritage Features

Large fields with indistinct field pattern. Woodland fringes to east associated with Wildfield Copse.

Cultural Heritage

No known major cultural heritage associations.
Relationship with Area 12-1 and Conclusions

The character, condition and quality of the landscape are very similar south of the lane (within Area 12-1) and north (outside Area 12-1). The landscape north and south of the lane is, however, assessed of being of relatively indistinct landscape character and of relatively low landscape and scenic quality. Land south of the lane is, however, of significantly greater importance in forming the lower areas of the dip slope to the Hog’s Back and is highly visible from the crest of the ridge, and therefore merits inclusion within the AONB, as currently proposed.

Agree with the boundary to Area 12-1 as shown. Area does not merit inclusion within the AONB.

Viewpoint 2: View north of West Flexford Lane (outside Area 12-1)

Viewpoint 3: View south of West Flexford Lane towards the Hog’s back showing land within Area 12-1

Location/Sub Character Area

Area 3 Land to the east of Wildfield Copse and north of Down Place

Landscape Quality

Distinctive rural parkland character with strong landscape pattern defined by managed hedges with mature oak hedgerow trees together with a number of woodland blocks and copses including areas of ancient woodland (see Viewpoints 4 and 5). In many respects this landscape has a more distinct character and enhanced quality when compared with much of the land to the west included within Area 12-1.

Scenic Quality

Strong sense of place with distinct landscape pattern with many defining elements, in particular the mature parkland trees, woodland blocks and managed hedgerows. Glimpsed views of Down Place and Blackwell Farm add to distinctive local character.

Relative Wildness

Managed arable landscape, but with little or no urbanising influences. Impact of A31 is reduced as road is not visible and noise impacts seem reduced.

Relative Tranquillity

Greater sense of tranquillity relative to land to the east and south east due to the declining influence of the A31.

Natural Heritage Features
Strong landscape pattern with origins dating back largely to 18th century parkland associated with Down Place. A number of substantial woodland blocks including smaller areas of Ancient Woodland associated with Wildfield Copse.

Cultural Heritage

Former parkland associated with Down Place.

Relationship with Area 12-1 and Conclusions

The landscape has a distinct parkland character with high landscape and scenic qualities. In many respects the relative wildness and tranquillity are assessed as being greater than adjacent land within Area 12-1. The landscape shares many defining characteristics and attributes associated with lowland estates elsewhere within the Surrey Hills AONB. The boundary to Area 12-1 cuts across this landscape and does not seem to follow any clear landscape features or reflect a defining change in landscape character, quality and scenic quality.

Area does merit inclusion within the AONB on the basis of distinctive landscape character and scenic qualities. It is recommended that the boundary to Area 12-1 be reviewed to follow the southern edge of Wildfield Copse.

Viewpoint 4: View south east from public footpath to the south of Wildfield Copse. The parkland landscape shown in this view currently lies outside Area 12-1

Viewpoint 5: View north from the southern edge of sub character Area 3. The proposed boundary to area 12-1 runs through the centre of the field

Location/Sub Character Area

Area 4: Land to the east of Down Place and in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm

Landscape Quality

There is a strong visual and physical relationship between this sub character area and the chalk ridge of the Hog’s Back, which extends to the woodland bordering the railway line. Viewpoint 6 shows the southernmost section of this character which forms the lower sections of the dip slope to the Hog’s Back and the boundary with the AONB. This is a classic downland landscape of comparable landscape quality to the areas to the west which have been included in Area 12-1. The land further north maintains this distinctive character (see Viewpoint 7) and as illustrated in Viewpoint 11 is critical to the landscape setting of the Hog’s Back chalk ridge. This character area also includes one of the largest blocks of Ancient Woodland associated with the Hog’s Back in the form of Strawberry Copse and Manor Copse.

Scenic Quality

A distinctive downland landscape of comparable landscape and scenic quality to land within the existing AONB boundary. The northern areas are critical to the landscape setting of the chalk ridge and are therefore considered integral to the character and scenic quality of the AONB.
Relative Wildness

Characteristic managed arable landscape. The impact of the A31 is more significant in the southerly sections on the fringes of the existing AONB boundary. The relative wildness of this area increase further north as the influence of the A31 declines. There are limited visual, noise and landscape character impacts associated with the western edge of Guildford, despite the relatively close proximity of development and the size of the settlement (see also Sub Character Area 5).

Relative Tranquility

Greater sense of tranquillity to the north as a consequence of the declining influence of the A31.

Natural Heritage Features

The southern sections provide a typical downland landscape. To the north the landscape patterns reflects origins dating back to 18th century parkland associated with Down Place. This sub character area also includes significant areas of Ancient Woodland.

Cultural Heritage

In addition to the former parkland associated with Down Place, the land lies on the western fringes of the former medieval deer park.

Relationship with Area 12-1 and Conclusions

The landscape has a strong physical and visual relationship with the existing AONB and is considered critical in maintaining the rural character and quality of views from the Hog’s Back (see Viewpoint 11). Much of the landscape is typical of downland on the dip slope to the Hog’s Back of comparable landscape and scenic quality to much of the land included within Area 12-1 further west(see Viewpoint 10). The landscape shares many defining characteristics and attributes associated with chalk downland within the Surrey Hills AONB.

This area merits inclusion within the AONB on the basis of distinctive landscape character and scenic qualities and the strong visual relationship with land within the existing AONB. It is recommended that the boundary to Area 12-1 be reviewed to follow the western edge of Wildfield Copse and the narrow woodland screen bordering the railway line to the north.

The existing AONB boundary is located just below the wooded ridge line (the dashed line shows the approximate line of the existing AONB boundary). The lower slopes are not proposed for inclusion within Area 12-1.

Image 10

Viewpoint 7: View south from the southern edge of sub character area 4 towards the Hog’s Back

Location/Sub Character Area
Area 5: Guildford Settlement Edge

Landscape Quality

The landscape, in particular to the north (see Viewpoint 8), retains a strong rural character despite the proximity of urban development on the western edge of Guildford. Urban development and influence of the A31 are more significant to the south (see Viewpoint 9), although this area is assessed as being of particular importance to the setting of the AONB with dramatic views to and from the chalk ridge (see Viewpoints 6 and 11). The distinctive character and rural qualities diminish in the eastern sections of this sub character area, but this forms an important buffer and transitional area on the western edge of Guildford.

Scenic Quality

The principal scenic qualities associated with this sub character area lie in the outward views towards the Hog’s Back and rural land to the east. The northern sections retain something of a rural downland character, but this is not considered a landscape of high scenic quality.

Relative Wildness

Despite the proximity of the settlement edge, the northern sections retain a degree of wildness which is comparable with the more rural areas further west.

Relative Tranquillity

Similar to the assessment of relative wildness, there is a greater sense of tranquillity to the north as a consequence of the declining influence of the A31. There are surprisingly limited effects on tranquillity as a result of the proximity to Guildford, with much of the built development largely screened and limited associated noise impacts. There is some evidence of fly tipping and other activities which detract from rural character and sense of place.

Natural Heritage Features

The principal natural heritage features of interest are associated with the ancient woodland at Strawberry and manor copses.

Cultural Heritage

The land lies within the area covered by the former deer park and features such as deer leaps can be observed.

Relationship with Area 12-1 and Conclusions

The landscape forms an important buffer and transitional area on the western edge of Guildford. Although the overall landscape and scenic quality would not necessarily merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary, the landform and woodland cover significantly reduce the potential impact of Guildford on the land further west, including views from the eastern end of the Hog’s Back.
This area does not merit inclusion within the AONB, but provides an important buffer and transitional landscape on the western edge of Guildford. It is recommended that the boundary to Area 12-1 follows the western edge of this sub character area but includes Strawberry and Manor Copses. The semi-rural transitional character of this landscape should be retained in order to conserve the currently limited impact of Guildford on the AONB and other rural land to the west.

Viewpoint 9: View west towards Guildford from land in the southern part of sub character area 5

1. Conclusions and Recommendations

This Natural Beauty Evaluation has been carried out in accordance with the guidance produced by Natural England. Five landscape sub character areas have been identified as part of this study, based on an assessment of existing landscape character. These five sub character areas have been evaluated against the Natural England criteria and compared against the qualities and character of the adjoining land, in particular those areas proposed for inclusion within the revised AONB boundary as Area 12-1. The section below provides an overview of the Natural Beauty Evaluation for the study area and includes recommendations for revisions to the current proposed AONB boundary in the eastern part of the study area, in the vicinity of Down Place and Blackwell Farm. The current AONB boundary, proposed Area 12-1 and the recommended AONB boundary extension as part of this evaluation are shown on Figure 3 (above).

This report agrees with the conclusions of the HDA evaluation with regard to the proposed revised AONB boundary to the east of Flexford (sub character areas 1 and 2), although it is noted that land within sub character area 2 is broadly similar in terms of quality, character, condition and appearance to land south of West Flexford Lane (included within Area 12-1). This evaluation concludes that the landscape quality of the land north of the lane does not, however, merit AONB designation and is not of particular significance to the setting of the Hog’s Back, in terms of both landscape character and views to and from the chalk ridge.

This evaluation does, however, conclude that land to the south and east of Wildfield Copse, in the vicinity of Down Place and Blackwell Farm (sub character areas 3 and 4), is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition which should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary. The landscape represents many of the defining characteristics of landscapes within the Surrey Hills AONB. These two sub character areas include land on the upper slopes of the Hog’s Back ridge which is representative of classic chalk downland and areas on the lower slopes typical of former parkland estates, with field patterns and mature trees and large blocks of ancient woodland providing strong evidence of the landscape and cultural heritage of the local area. This landscape is therefore considered integral to the AONB and critical to the conservation of rural views to the north of equal if not greater importance to land to the west of Down Place included in Area 12-1 (see comparative Viewpoints 10 and 11).

The proposed boundary to Area 12-1 between Misley Copse and Down Place and between Down Place and the current AONB boundary and does not follow any defined landscape features (such as a ridge line, woodland edges, or prominent field boundary) or reflect a decline in landscape and scenic quality or changes in landscape character (for instance increased urban influences) which might justify exclusion. This evaluation recommends that the proposed AONB boundary should be reviewed in this location and re-aligned as recommended in this report (see Figure 3). Failure to do so could enable opportunities for development which would result in significant harm to the setting of the existing AONB and the loss of landscape which is of a character and quality which merits inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

Although not recommended for inclusion in the revised AONB boundary this evaluation notes the importance of the eastern most sections (sub character area 5) in providing the setting to Guildford and an important transitional landscape.
Viewpoint 10: View north west from Footpath 480 from just below the crest of the Hog’s Back ridge. The existing AONB boundary runs east to west approximately through the centre of this field at the base of the steeper areas of the dip slope. The area proposed for inclusion within the AONB as part of the HDA evaluation (Area 12-1) extends beyond the lower field boundary to include substantial areas further north (shown approximately by the dashed lines).

Viewpoint 11: View north east from Footpath 480 from just below the crest of the Hog’s Back Ridge. The existing AONB boundary runs east to west approximately through the centre of this field at the base of the steeper areas of the dip slope (the small clump of pines lies within the existing AONB). The area proposed for inclusion within the AONB as part of the HDA evaluation (Area 12-1) extends this to include the land around Down Place. The proposed areas for inclusion within the AONB as part of this report would include the fields beyond Down Place, enclosed by woodland and land further east (see Viewpoint 6). The dashed lines indicate the approximate boundaries of the existing AONB, Area 12-1 and the LMS recommended AONB extension.

Appendix 1: Extracts from Surrey County Council LCA Phase 2 Surrey Hills AONB Areas of Search Natural Beauty Evaluation (HDA October 2013)

6.1.11 Chalk Ridge and Wooded Rolling Claylands RECOMMENDED ADDITIONAL AREA 12-1

Area of Wooded Rolling Claylands extending down from the Chalk Ridge.

LANDSCAPE TYPE: E – Wooded Rolling Claylands

CHARACTER AREA: E1 – Wanborough Wooded Rolling Claylands

NATURAL BEAUTY CRITERIA

Landscape Quality

Includes large blocks of ancient woodland, such as Wanborough Wood. Field sizes are relatively large and continuous, following gentle slopes down from the Hog’s Back. Occasional glimpses of traffic on the A31 along the Hog’s Back, but no significant incongruous elements present in the vicinity.

Scenic Quality

Patchwork of fields and woodland rising gently up the dip slope towards the ridge, form an appealing pattern which can be appreciated as one travels through the landscape, either from the Hog’s Back, or from footpaths, tracks and roads to the north.

Relative Wildness

There are few roads, very limited settlement and large areas where access is limited to tracks. This lack of activity, combined with a number of woodland blocks results in a sense of remoteness in most parts. Filtered urban influence from Flexford and Ash Green reduce remoteness slightly to the north.

Relative Tranquillity

Contributors to tranquillity such as birdsong, peace and quiet, and natural-looking woodland dominate minor detractors such as glimpses of vehicles on the A31, to result in a substantially tranquil area.
Natural Heritage Features

Woodland on the gently rising dip slope contributes to the scenic quality of the area.

Cultural Heritage

Historic vernacular buildings at Wanborough Manor.

SPECIFIC ISSUES ADDRESSED WHEN IDENTIFYING EXTENT OF AREA 12-1

Largely unsettled (with the exception of Wanborough Manor area), sloping dip slope of the chalk ridge to the south. There is a gently sloping transition northwards from the top of the dip slope, but vegetated roadsides, hedged/treed field boundaries, and woodland blocks form a relatively robust east-west northern boundary, beyond which urban influence increase in places.

OBJECT the majority of this land should be designated AONB

- Most of Blackwell Farm and the land in its vicinity is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition that should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

- The landscape is critical to the setting of the Hog’s Back ridge and in the conservation of rural views to the north of equal, if not greater importance, than land to the west of Down Place, which has been included in the boundary proposed by the Surrey Hills AONB Board.

- Two fields at the very eastern edge of the Blackwell Farm/Manor Farm site did not meet the AONB criteria. However, these were acknowledged to be important in providing the setting to Guildford and an important transitional landscape.
The boundary put forward by Surrey Hills AONB Board between Misley Copse and Down Place and between Down Place and the current AONB boundary does not follow any defined landscape features (such as a ridge line, woodland edges, or prominent field boundary) or reflect a decline in landscape and scenic quality or changes in landscape character that might justify exclusion.

The proposed AONB boundary should be reviewed at this location and realigned according to the recommendations made by Land Management Services Ltd – As per their report entitled “Hogs Back Natural Beauty Evaluation” dated May 2016, as attached.

Failure to realign the boundary according to Land Management Services Ltd.’s recommendations could enable opportunities for development which would result in significant harm to the setting of the existing AONB and the loss of landscape which is of a character and quality which merits inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water run-off would affect Wood Street Village (particularly Pound Lane/Baird Drive) and Fairlands. The proposed accesses from the A31 and Gill Avenue would be inadequate to support such a development. Indeed access onto the A31 would be in the AONB. In addition there would be an adverse impact on the following Ancient Woodland, Strawberry Grove, Dean Bottom, Manor Copse and a strip of Ancient woodland at Wildfield Copse. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

The Parish Council wishes to express concern about how the link road will be controlled and how access and egress will be managed and refer to RGP’s Technical Note Ref: SHBL/16/3174/TN02 dated June 2017, which was jointly commissioned by Compton Parish Council and Worplesdon Parish Council, as attached. Additional accesses are required despite the number of dwellings being reduced.

For any Research Park development the surface water drainage needs to be fully attenuated within the proposed development area to protect existing communities. In addition any changes that will affect the hydrology of Whitmoor Common SPA/SSSI need to be carefully assessed.

Also submitted is a Surface Water Flood Risk Assessment from JBA Consulting dated July 2017 which concludes that risk from surface water run-off as a result of the proposed change from agricultural to urban use WILL increase in Wood Street Village, Fairlands, The Research Park and Park Barn area of Guildford in the event this site is taken forward within the Draft Local Plan. Policies P4 and P5 refer.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. 1.1.1 Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. 1.1.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. 1.1.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. We question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will add additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” We consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads
- Add to Guildford’s pollution

I, the undersigned am in complete objection to the land at Blackwell Farm being built upon. We have a young family, and we regularly go to walk and play in the land and woods adjacent to the Research Park and enjoy the skylarks singing and the views where all but the cathedral tower is blocked by the mature woodland.

We are dismayed that this proposal is still on the Guildford plan and ask for it to be rejected on the following grounds.

True boundaries of Area Outstanding Natural Beauty

To build on Blackwell Farm and the Hogs Back would blight the views of the wonderful Surrey landscape for miles and miles. The beauty of the land should not be overruled by developers.

This also includes the land up to the current Research Park boundary, as if these are built upon, this will be seen from the Hogs Back and ruin the views from the top. And therefore undermine the designation as an AONB.

Surrey University's proposal to build properties to high environmental standards that would be sympathetic to the locality is completely unachievable, as any building on that land would be to the detriment of the AONB.

There is already a recycling centre on the southern side of the Hogs Back which is an eye-sore and can be seen from the ridge, surely Surrey County Council is not going to do the same on the northern face of the ridge.

All of the land earmarked is either an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Area of Great Landscape Value or Greenbelt and should be protected by law.

Building on Greenbelt

Originally defined to stop Urban sprawl, I feel that it is illegal and immoral to keep changing the boundaries of the Greenbelt, and this proposal should not be included.
Risk of flooding to local area

The Hogs Back, one of the highest points in the area, naturally drains onto Blackwell Farm, this then drains in to Park Barn. Currently there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

This is a huge concern to us as if our house were ever flooded it would affect our insurance premiums and make our house price fall considerably. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

Surrey University's poor use of the land that they have already developed

A brief walk through the Research Park, or University Campus will soon show you that the University does not build things to high enough environmental standards. A lot of the buildings are uncomfortable with poor ventilation.

To allow a further 10 – 11ha extension to the Research Park when they have made such poor use of the land they have already built upon will be a huge disappointment.

Their history so far does not show any evidence that they will make any environmental considerations, it will purely be financial.

Proposed railway station

This will be to the detriment of the local residents in Park Barn despite what the Local plan says. Firstly due to the added noise and light from this, and the train station will be a blight on the area for many of this.

It is also proposed that it will serve existing housing developments. This is unnecessary as there are two extremely good bus routes from Park Barn to Guildford.

Traffic

To build the road that will provide access to the proposed development on an already busy junction of the A3 and A31 is ludicrous. The road will also be on the ridge of the Hogs Back, therefore visible for miles around and a blight to the local area.

To provide access from Gill Avenue will only add to the traffic on the west of Guildford around Park Barn, the Hospital and Research Park.

Services

There are already not enough school places on the proposed development side of Guildford, short-sighted planning by previous councillors...
Pollution

I have already mentioned the noise and light pollution that comes from the Research Park, added to the additional light and noise pollution from the proposed development, this again would be to the detriment of the current AONB.

Wildlife Habitat

The land proposed to be built upon has a huge selection of natural flora and fauna: nesting skylarks, deer, kites, ancient woodland, nightjar, orchids, to name a few.

Ancient Roman Road and Settlement

The land to the rear of the Research Park has huge historic value, and is a scheduled ancient monument, this area should not be developed on.

Unable to afford rural house prices

We chose our house because although it is in a town, it is right next to an area of natural beauty, and fields that you can walk through.

Green spaces

We do not believe that the University will provide enough green spaces - certainly how could they provide such long vistas as are already there.

True green spaces, and not manufactured ones are vitally important for the emotional and physical health of people. Anything that was there when we moved to the area is now disused and barely maintained.

If this Policy is adopted provision should be made at the developer's expense for improved public right of way crossing of the A31 so that those walkers denied access to the Blackwell Farm site are able more easily to access the south side of the Hog's Back. At present one has to take ones life in one hands every time one tries to cross it on foot.

The proposal to build on Blakewell Farm is not justified as the farm is in the Greenbelt and is an area of natural beauty visible from one of Guildford's major landmarks, The Hogs Back. With developments being proposed for Normandy and Tongham development at Blackwell Farm will lead to the urbanisation of Guildford westwards to eventually join up with Aldershot with very little green space in between.

There would be no need for a development of this size if the University had by now met its obligations in building a student village for 7000 or so students at Manor Farm which was originally planned when that land was taken out of the Greenbelt a number of years ago. I understand that the University has still some way to go to meet the original planned numbers and if these had been met or exceeded then some 1200 to 1500 houses in the borough would have been available by now for the town's residents to buy or rent.

The proposals for a development of this size would mean that the infrastructure west of Guildford which is now at breaking point will seize up completely even with the new link roads that have been proposed as they will eventually lead onto the existing road system somewhere in the borough.

I OBJECT strongly to the University’s planning application in this Local Plan to build 1800 homes on Blackwell Farm along with businesses, offices, supermarket, school and Traveller accommodation.

- Blackwell Farm site is located partly within the Surrey Hills AONB which the NPPF states “should be afforded the highest level of protection.”
- This is a major swathe of Green Belt land comprising 139 hectares of Green Belt land. Statistics show that 139 hectares is more land than was taken out of the Green Belt across the whole of England in the 12 months to March 2012.
- The Green Belt boundary was established 11 years ago when Manor Farm was taken out of the Green Belt and gifted to the University so that they could build student accommodation.

Blackwell Farm fulfils all 5 functions of the Green Belt: (NPPF para 80)

- To prevent urban sprawl from London.
- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas.
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another.
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns. (Guildford is an historic town)

NPPF para 79 states that:

“The Government attaches great importance to the Green Belt. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of the Green belt are their openness and their permanence.”

NPPF 83 states that:
• “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in “exceptional circumstances”
• “Inappropriate development is by definition harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstance”

The NPPF (section 9 para 83) states that “boundaries should be defensible and permanent and capable of enduring beyond the Plan period.

• Part of this area to be built on is registered as an AONB.

GBC would have to show “exceptional circumstances” in order to build on an AONB in the Green Belt.

• It would have a devastating impact on the AONB from an aesthetic and environmental perspective.

The panoramic views from the Hogs Back form an important part of Guildford’s landscape heritage – you can see the cathedral from here.

• It has an ancient woodland which the University promised to protect in 2003 when it was given Manor Farm along with the ancient monument and Hazel Farm.
• Blackwell Farm has many public footpaths and bridleways which offer extensive walking, horse riding and bicycling to local residents and visitors to Guildford.
• ENDANGERED SPECIES: The Hogs Back is the only steep, north-facing chalk ridge in the southeast and is home to some rare plant species and many protected animals and birds.
• There are a number of endangered species which inhabit the Hogs Back – skylarks, little owls, yellow hammers and curlews – all in decline.
• FARMING: Blackwell Farm is a working farm. It is good quality agricultural land. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there will be greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country in the future years. Statistics show that 40% of food consumed in Britain is imported and this figure will be rising.
• FLOODING: This land is formed of chalk and currently soaks up a significant amount of surface water. If it is developed and concreted over, this surface water run off would exacerbate existing flooding problems in Wood Street Village and Fairlands.
• INFRASTRUCTURE: The A31 is already a congested road onto the A3 Guildford bound and an extra 4-5000 cars generated will bring it to a standstill.
• It would be controversial to build roads across an AONB and an exit road through to the Research Park / Tesco roundabout would add enormously to the traffic congestion already experienced at this junction – the ambulances would not be able to get through to the RSCH.

Thames water does not have sewerage capacity to cope with a development of this scale.

Once again this shows greed by our University who were given this land for safe keeping. They have already broken many promises made for Manor Farm in 2003. If this development goes ahead they are likely to make hundreds of millions of pounds on housing which will be worth 1bn – a lucrative business deal for them which is not going to benefit the residents of Guildford and the loss of some very beautiful AONB Green Belt land.

Hogs Back development
I strongly disagree with this proposed development as it is violating green belt and an A.O.N.B. and will remove from the environment of the town one of its major attractions in the form of its rural character. Furthermore the local infrastructure, especially of roads and water drainage is insufficient to support the development. If implemented it will increase the water-logging problems on Broad Street Common, Pound Lane and the area of Wood Street Village, and exacerbate the already acute traffic congestion on that side of Guildford.

Object

This area is Greenbelt. Despite suspect evident, Greenbelt Study evidence, it does meet all purposes of the Greenbelt and should be rejected on this basis alone.

As a result of a recent study (June 2016) by Land Management Services Ltd, we now know that most of Blackwell Farm and the land in its vicinity is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition that should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

The landscape is critical to the setting of the Hog’s Back ridge and in the conservation of rural views to the north of equal, if not greater importance, than land to the west of Down Place, which has been included in the boundary proposed by the Surrey Hills AONB Board.

Two fields at the very eastern edge of the Blackwell Farm/Manor Farm site did not meet the AONB criteria. However, these were acknowledged to be important in providing the setting to Guildford and an important transitional landscape.

The boundary put forward by Surrey Hills AONB Board between Misley Copse and Down Place and between Down Place and the current AONB boundary does not follow any defined landscape features (such as a ridge line, woodland edges, or prominent field boundary) or reflect a decline in landscape and scenic quality or changes in landscape character that might justify exclusion.

The proposed AONB boundary should be reviewed at this location and realigned according to the recommendations made by Land Management Services Ltd – As per their report entitled “Hogs Back Natural Beauty Evaluation” dated June 2016, as attached.

Failure to realign the boundary according to Land Management Services Ltd’s recommendations could enable opportunities for development which would result in significant harm to the setting of the existing AONB and the loss of landscape which is of a character and quality which merits inclusion within a revised AONB boundary.

Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water run-off would affect Wood Street Village (particularly Pound Lane/Baird Drive) and Fairlands.

A development in this location would have a significant negative effect on the wonderful biodiversity of the region. We note that dormouse and insect monitors for study were placed around 2014 (date not recorded) and within 2 weeks of being placed in hedgerows and on field boarders, the hedges and grass areas were cut. We are therefore will be surprised if there are studies showing poor bio diversity.

The proposed accesses from the A31 and Gill Avenue would be inadequate to support such a development. Indeed access onto the A31 would be in the AONB. In addition there would be an adverse impact on the following: Ancient Woodland, Strawberry Grove, Dean Bottom, Manor Copse and a strip of Ancient woodland at Wildfield Copse. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

Object - Mixed use 1,800 homes (1500 in plan period), 6 Traveller pitches, employment, Local Centre, school etc.

All original objections remain - Additional comments.

(Allocation 9) Adding a secondary school will exaggerate the already unacceptable traffic situation. The RGB technical note produced for Compton and Worplesdon parish councils dated June 2017. Highlighted this and access to this site is along existing congested roads. The 20% uplift on the A3 in 2011 was never addressed, and this will have a similar impact on the A31, and feed roads. This will exaggerate the already unacceptable traffic situation.

Also noted, is that the two areas proposed are through points

- Southern access is through a protected AONB per policy
- Eastern Access is through/next to Ancient Woodland

(Infrastructure 3 ) Control of through traffic (turning the new estate in to a run like Park Barn and Wood Street already are) will be unenforceable.

Surface water run of will be uncontrollable.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

This response focuses on the proposed allocation of Blackwell Farm as a major development area in Policy A26, together with associate Save Hogs Back and Campaign to Protect Rural England (Surrey) object to the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the following grounds:

Legal compliance:

1. Failure to have regard to national policies and advice contained in guidance issued by the Secretary of State, in respect of policy on Green Belt and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, s19(2)(a)); and
2. Failure to have regard to the resources likely to be available for implementing the proposals in the document, in respect of the infrastructure requirements needed to allow the Blackwell Farm development (Policy A26) to proceed (Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, s19(2)(i)).

Soundness:

1. The proposals to remove land from the Green Belt at Blackwell Farm and to promote development there within and in the setting of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty are not consistent with Government policy;
2. The proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm is not justified as this is not the most appropriate strategy when considered against its reasonable alternatives;
3. The proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to the impracticability of access and high infrastructure.

This submission sets out the grounds on which Save Hogs Back and Campaign to Protect Rural England (Surrey) support these challenges to the Plan. We ask that:

1. Policy A26 Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford be deleted;
2. The Blackwell Farm site remains in the Green Belt;
3. The housing provision in the Plan be reduced by 1,800 dwellings;
4. The infrastructure provision associated with Blackwell Farm be dropped.

Access to Blackwell Farm and traffic

2.1 Policy A26 allocating Blackwell Farm for urban development is entirely clear (under 'Requirements: Infrastructure' that "The principal vehicular access to the site will be via the existing or a realigned junction of the A31 and the Down Place access road, which will be signalised". This is impractical. It is also so costly as to be undeliverable. The highways works are also highly undesirable on environmental grounds, which are addressed in section 3 below.

Impracticality of access from the Hogs Back

2.2 Compton Parish Council commissioned RGP - Transport Planning and Infrastructure Design Consultants to advise on the transport and highway implications of the proposed Blackwell Farm development. This report is in draft and available from Karen Stevens. It demonstrates that there is insufficient space on the A31 to construct the minimum necessary road space and associated infrastructure to allow the proposed signalised junction to be built. At least 20m total highway width is required, but the existing highway is just 14m at this point due to the road being contained within the A31 overbridge structure. This could only be remedied by hugely expensive highways improvements on the top of the Hogs Back, including widening the A31 bridge over the A3 and acquiring and demolishing dwellings on the north side of the A31. These have been omitted from the estimate of costs for enabling the Blackwell Farm development to proceed.

2.3 The report also shows that the anticipated traffic volumes on the roads meeting at the top of the Hogs Back are easily sufficient to warrant the construction of a roundabout at this Guildford Borough Council has not proposed a roundabout, presumably because there is wholly insufficient space for this to be built, and there is a likelihood of significant danger to highways users from attempting to insert a roundabout in immediate proximity to the split-level A31/A3 junction. Whether a signalised junction could work remains unproven.

2.4 The road layout at the eastern end of the Hogs Back is the proposed access off the A31 into Blackwell Farm would be at the existing Down Place junction. This is a very small junction which would need major improvement including left and right egress lanes onto the A31 which extend well back to absorb the substantial volume of vehicles expected to queue at the signalled junction. The road layout would need amendment to overcome the sharp dog-leg bend in Down Place close to the A31 junction. It is not certain that the existing bridge over the A31 exit slip-road (onto the A3 northbound) is wide enough given the need for bus, pedestrian and cycle access. There are also existing traffic restrictions in place to limit bridge loading.

2.5 Even if all these upgrades to the highways were achieved, the road layout would frustrate many drivers. First, modelling suggests (Surrey CC SINTRAM model - see RGP Figure 3.1) that two thirds of Blackwell Farm residents exiting Down Place onto the A31 in the morning peak would expect to turn left towards Guildford. The road is already heavily congested at this point at this time, so exit would be limited to a few vehicles that could find some exit space at each phase of the proposed traffic lights. There would be substantial queues back towards Blackwell Farm. Second, the road layout also seriously impedes access to or from the A3 north-east of the site around Guildford city centre. Drivers southbound on the A3 aiming at Blackwell Farm would take the A31 diverge to join the A31 westbound, but this would find themselves west of the Down Place junction to Blackwell Farm. Drivers would therefore be obliged either to effect a U-turn through a point in the central reservation of the A31 or continue to the Puttenham junction with the B3000 where they could turn around. Either would be frustrating and time-consuming. Both would be dangerous, as accident statistics presented by RGP demonstrate. Correspondingly, any drivers leaving Blackwell Farm from Down Place and aiming for the A3 northbound would similarly need to turn right and begin their journey by travelling in the wrong direction: they too would need to effect a U-turn through a point in the central reservation of the A31 or continue to the Puttenham junction with the B3000. Then they would return eastbound on the A31 joi ning the morning peak queue, and take the slip-road to the A3 under the new Down Place bridge in order to travel north on the A3. The numbers of vehicles needing to make these awkward manoeuvres would increase the danger to themselves and to other road users. The alternative would be turn left out of Down Place into queue of traffic during peak hours before cutting through residential streets in Onslow Village and joining the A3 at the Tesco roundabout.

2.6 There is no certainty that the third party land required for the highways improvements would be available: the Borough Council has not demonstrated that it will be. There has been no indication that Highways England would agree to the widening of the A31 overbridge.

Alternative access to Blackwell Farm from Guildford

2.7 Proposed Submission Policy A26 states that "Secondary vehicular access is required from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue."

2.8 Without this access, the Blackwell Farm site would not be an urban extension but a free-standing urban development which happened to be located close to the edge of Guildford. The likely reason Guildford BC views this as a secondary access rather than the primary one is because it will be very difficult to achieve in a way which significantly increases highway capacity. The starting point for considering the Blackwell Farm site is that access into Guildford and to the A3 would all be via the 'Tesco' roundabout on Egerton Road, which is already highly congested. The Inspector's Report into the Guildford Borough Local Plan Review, in September 2001, reported on the (then) proposed development of Manor Park on Manor Farm:

"The principal access to the site from the A3 and the Stag Hill Campus is the roundabout immediately to the west of the A3 (the Tesco roundabout). This roundabout and other elements of the local road network are likely to be operating above their normal capacity before the development of Manor Farm is commenced" (paragraph 16.9.5). "...the Council and the highway authorities were satisfied that a sustainable solution to the movement implications of the [Manor Farm] Proposal could be found and that to this end the University would, and could, if need be in conjunction with the authorities, confine the increase in traffic generation from the Manor Farm site to no more than 5%..." (paragraph 16.9.7). "...it is implicit in the agreement that if the 5% ceiling can not be achieved, the scale of the development will also need to be limited" (paragraph 16.9.9).

With that development and much of the Manor Park scheme now implemented, the congestion locally is even worse. We are aware of no efforts to enforce a 5% limit on the increase in vehicles associated with University of Surrey development. Efforts to alleviate this congestion may help, but fundamentally the scale of congestion in the peak periods reflects problems across the local network. If capacity were to be created on the Tesco roundabout, the likelihood is that this would immediately be taken up by the generation of additional trips, currently frustrated.
2.9 Gill Avenue, which passes the Royal Surrey County Hospital and leads directly to Egerton Road, will be difficult to join to Blackwell Farm (to its west). This is because a road would need to follow an awkward route either north or south of the Ancient Woodlands of Strawberry Grove and Manor Copse which shield the whole of the western side of the Research. We strongly oppose any access through the Ancient Woodland as this would be environmentally entirely unacceptable. Road access north of the Ancient Woodland would funnel Blackwell Farm traffic through the Research Park. Road access south of the Manor Copse Ancient Woodland would funnel traffic through the Manor Park student village and ruin the setting of a Scheduled Ancient Monument (a moat at Manor Farm). It would also isolate newly constructed Veterinary School buildings from their paddocks. The road would therefore introduce pollution into a series of sensitive receptors (Ancient Woodland, the Veterinary School, student accommodation and horse paddocks) and pose a clear danger to students and other existing users of the area.

2.10 The problem appears to be that Guildford BC decided some years ago to allocate Blackwell Farm for development on the assumption that access problems could be resolved, but now finds that this is not practicable. The Issues and Options consultation in October 2013 proposed the site for urban development, but noted "There are however constraints in terms of access to the site from the A3, particularly given that where access would likely be required is in the AONB or very close to it. The site as a whole is very close to the AONB, which would require sensitive development and careful consideration." Following this, the Council tried to secure access direct from Guildford, via the 'Tesco' roundabout and Egerton Road. The heavy existing congestion on this side of Guildford turned out to make this problematic and little apparent progress has been made. Internal correspondence within Guildford BC on 12 June 2015 obtained only by Freedom of Information request illustrates this:

"Tesco Roundabout (Egerton Road/A3 northbound slips)

GBC has been developing a junction improvement scheme for Tesco roundabout which could offer a substantial capacity improvement and may significantly reduce peak hour queuing. The improvement is subject to funding and to the existing hotel access being closed to vehicular traffic with a new access from the Sports Park access road. The layout is also subject to Safety Audit and technical approval. However, we thought it would be beneficial to share this layout with you on a confidential basis so that you can be informed of the likely scale of improvement required.

The next stage is for GBC to discuss this layout in more detail with SCC in order to get some idea of the technical aspects of the proposal agreed. For your information, the layout has been presented at the Surrey CC/Guildford BC Joint Infrastructure Group meeting which is also attended by Highways England." (Email from [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998], Transport Consultant (Policy) to [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] (Interim Head of Planning))

Little appears to have come of this initiative so far.

2.11 Meanwhile, Surrey County Council as Highways Authority is concerned about introducing additional traffic into this congested area from the A31. The extraordinary outcome of these difficulties is that the Proposed Submission Local Plan proposes the primary access for Blackwell Farm should be from the A31 at Down Place, whereas Surrey County Council has specifically advised that the primary access should be via Egerton Road.

2.12 Surrey County Council has advised a member of Save Hogs Back that a signalised junction at Down Place would not be adequate for the volume of traffic likely to want to use it, and has therefore been keen to discourage use of that access point. The methods proposed were making the route through Blackwell Farm tortuous and restricting access by means of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR). This is made clear in the exchange of correspondence between Karen Stevens (Save Hogs Back) and [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] (Transport Development Planning Manager West, Surrey CC) (see email exchange 3-7 June 2016 'Re: Access to Blackwell The Surrey CC response was after consultation began on the Proposed Submission Plan, demonstrating the gulf in approach between the two arms of local government at this critical stage. Surrey CC advised that:
"were ANPR to be implemented, it could be on a private section that formed the ultimate short link between the new development and the existing UniS activities in West Guildford. This section of the route would therefore not be adopted. ANPR is used on motorways/other routes (including the A3 between Boundless Road and the A333 where it is in a tunnel) where there are average speed restrictions in place. Clearly these are not used to control access on the public highway, and I recognise that this would be a quantum leap to use this technology on the public highway for these purposes.

2.13 Surrey County Council's position now is that "All of the principles behind the access strategy would need to be justified through the production of a Transport Assessment, which.... would not come about until the planning application / pre-planning process " The effect of the impasse is therefore that Guildford BC is seeking to allocate a site which Surrey CC is far from certain of being capable of delivery, with the County Council requesting that matters be left for sorting out at the planning application stage. Guildford Borough Council has been unhelpful in addressing the concerns raised by Save Hogs Back, with a failure to answer emails properly or at all (see 'RE: Down Place junction {UNC}' 12-19 May 2016 and 'Fwd: Blackwell access' 23 June 2016) and no engagement in the access difficulties raised by their own proposals. Our experiences illustrate the reticence of the parties to accept the lack of feasibility of access to the Blackwell Farm site. In our view it would be irresponsible for the forwarding planning process to allocate Blackwell Farm without absolutely clear understandings of how access to it would be achieved, what the network effects would be, how congestion would be avoided, and who would pay for the necessary infrastructure. It is clear that there are currently no answers to these questions.

Through access between the A31 and west Guildford via Blackwell Farm

2.14 The Proposed Submission Plan is clear in Policy A26 that "A through vehicular link is required via the above accesses between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road to provide a new route to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey's Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. This will provide relief to the A31/A3 junction,in advance of the delivery of Highways England's A3 Guildford scheme." In other words, the intention is to attract additional traffic off the A31 and A3 through the Blackwell Farm site in a 'Sustainable Movement Corridor'. We consider there is nothing sustainable in a glorified rat-run.

2.15 Guildford Borough Council is explicitly trying to promote what Surrey County Council is trying to avoid. Given that both ends of the route have proved impractical just to meet the impacts of the Blackwell Farm development, we consider a further increase in their capacity is wholly unrealistic. This confusion is wholly We consider the Plan is unsound on the ground that it is not deliverable. In addition to the practicability, we notice that Policy A26 in the Plan expects the Blackwell Farm development to pay for this additional infrastructure for other users attracted to the area:"Developer to provide the western route section of the Sustainable Movement Corridor on the site and make a necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering the western route section on the Local Road Network."

2.16 There are practical problems in putting a through route into position between Gill Avenue and the A31 at Down Place while serving the Blackwell Farm Connecting the 'Sustainable Movement Corridor' to Gill Road will be problematic. The routes noted in paragraph 2.9 above would be tortuous if north of the Ancient Woodland, while a link south of the Ancient Woodland would barely serve the Blackwell Farm development at all (which would all be to its north). Both routes would send through traffic to the hospital and elsewhere through residential areas (Blackwell Farm or Manor Park campus).

2.17 Not only are the access routes in the Proposed Submission Plan inadequate for the task, but Surrey County Council and Guildford Borough Council have played down the traffic volumes which will need to use them at peak periods:

- the data from SCC's Strategic Highways Assessment Report are the average for the morning peak three hours (not the average for the morning peak one hour, which would be 16% higher);
- no allowance has been made for the impacts of promoting a through vehicular link, but the SHAR is forced to acknowledge that, with this, "then flows through the development may be higher still" (paragraph 4.7.S).

The higher real traffic volumes in the peak may necessitate still larger works at the accesses, with associated practical problems and also additional costs.
2.18 The effect of these numerous deficiencies and confusions is that there is wholly insufficient evidence to demonstrate that the access arrangements in the Proposed Submission Plan to and through the Blackwell Farm site are actually deliverable. This is in breach of Government policy:

it is the intention in DfT Circular 02/2013 The strategic road network and the delivery of sustainable development on capacity enhancements that "Capacity enhancements and infrastructure requirements to deliver strategic growth should be identified at the Local Plan stage, which provides the best opportunity to consider development aspirations alongside the associated strategic infrastructure needs."

Paragraph 158 of the NPPF similarly requires that "Each local planning authority should ensure that the Local Plan is based on adequate, up-to-date and relevant evidence about the economic, social and environmental characteristics and prospects of the area" (emphasis added).

The proposals have therefore failed to have adequate regard to national policies and advice. The Plan is unsound because the proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective, as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to the impracticability of access.

Cost of access to Blackwell Farm

2.19 The transport costs of the proposed works to give access to Blackwell Farm have been understated in the Proposed Submission Plan. Some of the costs are listed in Appendix C of the Plan. The need to resolve consequential highways infrastructure requirements is identified in Policy A26 but not costed. Further requirements have been identified by RGP but not costed. The table below lists the main transport-related items.

2.20 The need for interventions to address highway network performance issues which could otherwise result from the development is especially acute in the case of Blackwell Farm. Surrey County Council's Options Growth Scenarios Transport Assessment Report, January 2014, (to some extent overtaken by the Strategic Highway Assessment Report in June 2016) explains the likely highways effects of the various major urban developments proposed by Guildford BC (though the size of the Blackwell Farm scheme has been reduced since then from 2,250 to 1,800 dwellings). Blackwell Farm was 'Scenario 3', the sum of Scenario 2 - development of all permitted sites and three large developments just beyond the Borough's boundaries - and the south-west Guildford urban development at Blackwell Farm itself. The Options study concluded that "When comparing scenarios 3 (south-west urban extension), 4 (north-east urban extension) and 5 (Wisley airfield development) to scenario 2, scenario 3 has the largest impact on general borough wide network statistics and scenario 4 the least" (paragraph 5.1.7). The 2016 SHAR did not conclude on the relative impacts of each major urban development.

2.21 The table above shows that the stated costs purely for access to the Blackwell Farm development (and associated through movement) amount to £60m. This is over £33,000 per dwelling. In addition, there would be very serious additional highways costs to resolve the consequences of Blackwell Farm in the wider network beyond the site and to achieve the junction improvements with signalised lights around the Down Place access. Those are just the transport costs.
costs attributable to the development; in addition, Policy A26 refers to other supporting infrastructure including a two-form entry primary school, local retail centre, GP surgery, open space, playing fields and allotments. Secondary education is only not mentioned because a secondary school at the nearby proposed urban development at Flexford/ Normandy is expected to serve the Blackwell Farm development. Furthermore, 40% of the dwellings built will need to be affordable (Policy H2), largely cross-subsidised from the private open market housing for sale. All the usual gas, water, electricity and sewerage services would be needed, and typical contributions to local government services. The transport-related costs alone are far more than a development of 1,800 houses and 31,000m² of employment could realistically bear. Together with all the other infrastructure necessary to allow a new community to proceed, the scheme is undeliverable financially.

2.22 We conclude that Policy A26 on Blackwell Farm is not legally compliant because it has failed to have adequate regard to the resources likely to be available for implementing the proposals in the document, in respect of the infrastructure requirements needed for the development to proceed; no regard at all has been had to a range of substantial impacts. The policy is also unsound because the proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective, as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to very high infrastructure costs.

2.23 We recommend that the Blackwell Farm urban development proposal in Policy A26 is deleted on highways grounds.

Impact on the Surrey Hills AONB and landscape

Direct impact on the AONB

3.1 The proposed development at Blackwell Farm is the only major scheme in the Proposed Submission Plan which would directly affect the Surrey Hills. The built-up urban development is proposed in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back, but the principal access road is proposed to cross the AONB in a highly intrusive manner, and the greatly expanded access at the A31/Down Place junction would also adversely affect the AONB.

3.2 The principal impact of the development within the AONB would be the construction of a major access road up and down the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. The ridge of the AONB is at nearly 50m and the northern AONB boundary at 0m (on the contour through Down Place Stables, below the bend in the existing Down Place access road). The national landscape designation therefore includes the whole of the steepest part of the slope through a vertical elevation of 40 metres. A road on this slope at this point would be highly damaging to the AONB, and its construction would also have further very serious impacts.

3.3 The construction of 500m of major access road on the slope down from the AONB ridge is in our view major develop As such it must pass the tests in paragraph 116 of the NPPF if it is to be acceptable. We consider it fails to do this. The proposal at Blackwell Farm is not of such overriding importance that the access to it through the AONB meets the "exceptional circumstances" required, nor can it be demonstrated to be in the public interest in view of the adverse effects. The need for the main development is predicated on an Objectively Assessed Need for housing which we consider far too high. Whether or not the Secretary of State agrees with us (either that this is major development in the AONB or that the OAN is too high), the AONB is a key consideration in its own right. The NPPF makes clear at paragraph 14 that 'sustainable development' involves reflecting policies from the NPPF where these indicate that development should be restricted, and AONB is one such policy. There is no policy presumption that housing needs should override AONB interests: the reverse applies. In view of the damage which would be done to the AONB by the proposed allocation, and this being the only major allocation to do that, we consider that Blackwell Farm should be the primary candidate of all the major sites for deletion from the Plan.

3.4 The Proposed Submission Plan states as a requirement that "Primary vehicular access to the site allocation will be via the existing or realigned junction of the A31 and the Down Place access road, which will be signalised. The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV". The comment on the design of the road is as foolish as it is undeliverable. The existing access road is a beautiful country lane flanked by mature trees which is entirely typical of the AONB landscape. The first option, of improving this 'sympathetically' to the standards needed by an access road for a new settlement (let alone to provide a Sustainable Movement Corridor to serve the Research Park, Hospital and other facilities), is impossible. The road is too narrow to be widened sufficiently and has a sharp bend near the bottom. This option could only be effected by the large scale removal of mature trees on one or both sides of the route, plus further damage on the lower slope to overcome the bend. Taking the substantial adjacent land beyond the paved highway itself, used in highway construction, would cause further major damage to the heavily treed landscape of the AONB in this location. This could not be 'sympathetic' to the AONB.

3.5 The second option, of a 'new adjacent parallel access road', would introduce an appalling scar onto the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. It would irreparably damage this nationally known iconic landscape, and it is absurd for the Plan to suggest that this also could be designed 'sympathetically' to the AONB (and AGLV). An inevitable consequence of forcing a wide road down a steep slope at the angle proposed would be to require a near vertical wall of chalk on the ridge-side and other earthworks. This would be part of the unavoidable degradation to the AONB associated with the road, which will be visible and intrusive from miles around. There is also a real possibility that the access road would be accompanied by street lighting under either option, introducing a damaging night-time impact into this dark AONB landscape.

3.6 The Highways Authority has indicated to us that it will require street lighting at and around the new signalised junction on the top of the Hogs Back on the A31 in the vicinity of Down Place and Down. This would be damaging to the current night-time experience: lighting currently stops east of the A3/A31 interchange, with the A31 and the AONB to the west of this largely unlit. The change would give the clear impression that Guildford had spread outwards to the west and upwards to the highest point around the city.

3.7 The proposed road down the AONB scarp would damage views to the AONB from public rights of way to the north and north east as well as from Manor Park and from more distant viewpoints in and around the AONB. The construction of the road would itself greatly increase the damage to the experience of the AONB by introducing thousands of vehicle movements daily: this would force drivers and passengers to see and experience the visual damage done to this nationally important landscape, by the road they would be using.

3.8 In each of these respects, the proposed allocation at Blackwell Farm would run counter to the statement in the Plan's 'Spatial Vision' that 'Areas of high environmental value such as Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Sites of Special Scientific Interest will be retained and afforded great New development on the edges of urban areas will be required to treat the transition from urban to rural character in a sympathetic way.'

Impact on the setting of the AONB

3.9 The proposed urban development would be in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back (and also north of but abutting the Area of Great Landscape Value). Only the access road to the A31 would be permitted on land to the south of this development. If, however, the secondary access road was aligned south of Manor Copse, then this too would pass through the AGLV.

3.10 Regard must be had to the setting of AONBs. Section 85(1) of the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 states: "In exercising or performing any functions in relation to, or so as to affect, land in an area of outstanding natural beauty, a relevant authority shall have regard to the purpose of conserving or enhancing the natural beauty of the area of outstanding natural beauty" (emphasis added). The Government's Planning Practice Guidance draws attention to this obligation and specifically mentions proposals "which might have an impact on the setting of AONBs (Natural Environment paragraph reference ID 8-003-20140306). The setting of AONBs is not protected as rigorously as land within AONBs, but various appeal decisions before and since the NPPF - which have rejected intrusive developments in the settings of AONBs - show that it continues to be relevant to decisions. In the absence of policy guidance, the formal position is that the weight to be given to setting is a matter for the decision-taker's discretion. NPPF paragraph 115 requires that in any decision "great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty" in AONBs. In the context of paragraph 85 of the Act noted above, this applies not only to developments proposed within an AONB but if proposed in its setting such that the AONB would be affected. This should be taken into account in plan preparation.

3.11 Both Guildford Borough Council's and Surrey County Council's Landscape Character Assessments (LCAs) identify the drama of the chalk ridge and the panoramic views, north and south, as defining characteristics of the Hogs Back. Both these LCAs also identify the significance of views to and from the ridge. The Guildford BC LCA Rural Urban Fringe Assessment of the Hogs Back references the importance of the land in providing "the setting to and views from Guildford" and the desire to maintain the "essentially undeveloped rural character" of the land. The assessment notes that: "The setting of Guildford and the AONB are both highly sensitive to any small scale incremental change".

3.12 In the circumstances at Blackwell Farm, we would expect considerable weight to be given to protection of land from inappropriate change in the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB: this is the setting of the Hogs Back, a nationally known and revered part of an AONB; the steep slope to the north from the Hogs Back ridge opens up a wonderful vista which contributes enormously to the enjoyment of the AONB, and should be protected from inappropriate change; the setting has been relatively little-damaged to date (though development by the University of Surrey is creeping out of Guildford into it), and this achievement should be continued.

3.13 The proposed development would damage the setting of the AONB, causing Guildford to sprawl yet further into the rural vista that can be enjoyed from the AONB on the Hogs Back. We appreciate that urban built development is no longer proposed on land south of Down Place and Manor Farm (contrast the Issues & Options and Consultation Draft stages of the Plan), though there would continue to be visual intrusion into the AONB's setting. Moreover, the continued presence of the primary access road to the site passing through the immediate setting of the AONB (and the AONB itself) remains a very seriously damaging aspect of the proposal by bringing noise and pollution into the setting, as well as visual damage from the road and the eye-catching effect of moving vehicles upon it. Furthermore, the thousands of northbound users of the primary access road daily would themselves experience comprehensive views into the setting of the AONB; their appreciation of this setting would be significantly marred by the Blackwell Farm development. We conclude that the allocation would conflict with Policy PI: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty not least because it would fail "to conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB". The impact of the urban development allocation on the setting of the AONB is not considered in Policy A26 and has therefore been neglected in the Proposed Submission Plan.

The future boundary of the AONB

3.14 Natural England has announced its intention to review the boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB. It commissioned a report in 2012, from Alison Farmer Associates, which identified areas of search for possible extensions to the This included the whole of the Blackwell Farm allocation area. A further report was commissioned by Surrey County Council on behalf of the Surrey Planning Officers Association and the Surrey Hills AONB Board in 2013 from Hankinson Duckett Associates to further evaluate the natural beauty of those areas of search (and other Landscape Character Assessment work). This proposed extensions to the existing AONB boundary on the north side of the Hogs Back (and elsewhere), but just omitted the Blackwell Farm allocation area.

3.15 The Hankinson Duckett evaluation was not carried out in detail, so in 2016 Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils commissioned another firm of landscape architects, Land Management Services (LMS), to undertake a more detailed natural beauty evaluation in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, Down Place and Homestead Farm to the north of the Hogs Back. The LMS report (the final report is available from Karen Stevens) agreed that the area identified by Hankinson Duckett Associates should be included within a revised AONB boundary north of the Hogs Back, but also proposed a north-eastward extension of the AONB boundary to include Down Place and Blackwell Farm. No further land at Homestead Farm was proposed for inclusion.

3.16 The LMS evaluation identified small scale character areas, one of which covered the eastern-most parts of the study area, adjacent to the built-up area of There were two parcels: one on Manor Farm (south and east of Manor Copse Ancient Woodland) and one north of Strawberry Grove Ancient Woodland. The latter comprises the north-east corner of the Policy A26 development allocation at Blackwell Farm. LMS recommended that both these parcels should not be included within the revised AONB boundary, but recommended that they remain open as the setting of Guildford and the AONB. LMS concluded here: "This area does not merit inclusion within the AONB, but provides an important buffer and transitional landscape on the western edge of Guildford. It is recommended that the boundary to [the AONB here] follows the western edge of this sub character area but includes Strawberry and Manor Copses. The semi-rural transitional character of this landscape should be retained in order to conserve the currently limited impact of Guildford on the AONB and other rural land to the west."

3.17 We consider it vitally important that decisions on the Guildford Local Plan in the near future do not prejudice the outcome of the review of a nationally important landscape designation. The most detailed natural beauty evaluation north of the Hogs Back to date (against Natural England's criteria for designating AONBs) shows that most of the Policy A26
Blackwell Farm allocation area should be included within a revised AONB boundary. The principal remaining area, in the north-east corner of the allocation, should remain open as the setting of the AONB and of Guildford.

3.18 The Blackwell Farm allocation should therefore be withdrawn so that, with a high probability, most of the land can be included within the AONB in future after the boundary review has been completed. The LMS interpretation of natural beauty confirms our own local perception that the land identified does merit AONB designation. Its high landscape quality - in the setting of the current AONB - is a major consideration for the Local Plan in any event. This would be a highly damaging location for a major urban development in landscape terms.

Impact on the Surrey Hills AONB and landscape

Direct impact on the AONB

3.1 The proposed development at Blackwell Farm is the only major scheme in the Proposed Submission Plan which would directly affect the Surrey Hills AONB. The built-up urban development is proposed in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back, but the principal access road is proposed to cross the AONB in a highly intrusive manner, and the greatly expanded access at the A31/Down Place junction would also adversely affect the AONB.

3.2 The principal impact of the development within the AONB would be the construction of a major access road up and down the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. The ridge of the AONB is at nearly 150m and the northern AONB boundary in the area at 110m (on the contour through Down Place Stables, below the bend in the existing Down Place access road). The national landscape designation therefore includes the whole of the steepest part of the slope through a vertical elevation of 40 metres. A road on this slope at this point would be highly damaging to the AONB, and its construction would also have further very serious impacts.

3.3 The construction of 500m of major access road on the slope down from the AONB ridge is in our view major development. As such it must pass the tests in paragraph 116 of the NPPF if it is to be acceptable. We consider it fails to do this. The proposal at Blackwell Farm is not of such overriding importance that the access to it through the AONB meets the “exceptional circumstances” required, nor can it be demonstrated to be in the public interest in view of the adverse effects. The need for the main development is predicated on an Objectively Assessed Need for housing which we consider far too high. Whether or not the Secretary of State agrees with us (either that this is major development in the AONB or that the OAN is too high), the AONB is a key consideration in its own right. The NPPF makes clear at paragraph 14 that ‘sustainable development’ involves reflecting policies from the NPPF where these indicate that development should be restricted, and AONB is one such policy. There is no policy presumption that housing needs should override AONB interests: the reverse applies. In view of the damage which would be done to the AONB by the proposed allocation, and this being the only major allocation to do that, we consider that Blackwell Farm should be the primary candidate of all the major sites for deletion from the Plan.

3.4 The Proposed Submission Plan states as a requirement that “Primary vehicular access to the site allocation will be via the existing or realigned junction of the A31 and the Down Place access road, which will be signalised. The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV”. The comment on the design of the road is as foolish as it is undeliverable. The existing access road is a beautiful country lane flanked by mature trees which is entirely typical of the AONB landscape. The first option, of ‘improving’ this ‘sympathetically’ to the standards needed by an access road for a new settlement (let alone to provide a Sustainable Movement Corridor to serve the Research Park, Hospital and other facilities), is impossible. The road is too narrow to be widened sufficiently and has a sharp bend near the bottom. This option could only be effected by the large scale removal of mature trees on one or both sides of the route, plus further damage on the lower slope to overcome the bend. Taking the substantial adjacent land beyond the paved highway itself, used in highway construction, would cause further major damage to the heavily treed landscape of the AONB in this location. This could not be ‘sympathetic’ to the AONB.

3.5 The second option, of a ‘new adjacent parallel access road’, would introduce an appalling scar onto the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. It would irreparably damage this nationally known iconic landscape, and it is absurd for the Plan to suggest that this also could be designed ‘sympathetically’ to the AONB (and AGLV). An inevitable consequence of forcing a wide road down a steep slope at the angle proposed would be to require a near-vertical wall of chalk on the ridge-side and other earthworks. This would be part of the unavoidable degradation to the AONB associated with the road, which will be visible and intrusive from miles around. There is also a real possibility that the access road would be accompanied by street lighting under either option, introducing a damaging night-time impact into this dark AONB landscape.

3.6 The Highways Authority has indicated to us that it will require street lighting at and around the new signalised junction on the top of the Hogs Back on the A31 in the vicinity of Down Place and Down Lane. This would be damaging to the current night-time experience: lighting currently stops east of the A3/A31 interchange, with the A31 and the AONB to the west of this largely unlit. The change would give the clear impression that Guildford had spread outwards to the west and upwards to the highest point around the city.

3.7 The proposed road down the AONB scarp would damage views to the AONB from public rights of way to the north and north east as well as from Manor Park and from more distant viewpoints in and around the city. The construction of the road would itself greatly increase the damage to the experience of the AONB by introducing thousands of vehicle movements daily: this would force drivers and passengers to see and experience the visual damage done to this nationally important landscape, by the road they would be using.

‘Spatial Vision’ that “Areas of high environmental value such as Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Sites of Special Scientific Interest will be retained and afforded great protection. New development on the edges of urban areas will be required to treat the transition from urban to rural character in a sympathetic way.”

Impact on the setting of the AONB

3.9 The proposed urban development would be in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back (and also north of but abutting the Area of Great Landscape Value). Only the access road to the A31 would be permitted on land to the south of this development. If, however, the secondary access road was aligned south of Manor Copse, then this too would pass through the AGLV.

3.10 Regard must be had to the setting of AONBs. Section 85(1) of the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 states:
“In exercising or performing any functions in relation to, or so as to affect, land in an area of outstanding natural beauty, a relevant authority shall have regard to the purpose of conserving or enhancing the natural beauty of the area of outstanding natural beauty” (emphasis added). The Government’s Planning Practice Guidance draws attention to this obligation and specifically mentions proposals “which might have an impact on the setting of” AONBs (Natural Environment paragraph reference ID 8-003-20140306). The setting of AONBs is not protected as rigorously as land within AONBs, but various appeal decisions before and since the NPPF – which have rejected intrusive developments in the settings of AONBs – show that it continues to be relevant to decisions. In the absence of policy guidance, the formal position is that the weight to be given to setting is a matter for the decision-taker’s discretion. NPPF paragraph 115 requires that in any decision “great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty” in AONBs. In the context of paragraph 85 of the Act noted above, this applies not only to developments proposed within an AONB but if proposed in its setting such that the AONB would be affected. This should be taken into account in plan preparation.
3.11 Both Guildford Borough Council’s and Surrey County Council’s Landscape Character Assessments (LCAs) identify the drama of the chalk ridge and the panoramic views, north and south, as defining characteristics of the Hog’s Back. Both these LCAs also identify the significance of views to and from the ridge. The Guildford BC LCA Rural Urban Fringe Assessment of the Hogs Back references the importance of the land in providing “the setting to and views from Guildford” and the desire to maintain the “essentially undeveloped rural character” of the land. The assessment notes that: “The setting of Guildford and the AONB are both highly sensitive to any small scale incremental change”.

3.12 In the circumstances at Blackwell Farm, we would expect considerable weight to be given to protection of land from inappropriate change in the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB:

- this is the setting of the Hogs Back, a nationally known and revered part of an AONB;
- the steep slope to the north from the Hogs Back ridge opens up a wonderful vista which contributes enormously to the enjoyment of the AONB, and should be protected from inappropriate change;
- the setting has been relatively little-damaged to date (though development by the University of Surrey is creeping out of Guildford into it), and this achievement should be continued.

3.13 The proposed development would damage the setting of the AONB, causing Guildford to sprawl yet further into the rural vista that can be enjoyed from the AONB on the Hogs Back. We appreciate that urban built development is no longer proposed on land south of Down Place and Manor Farm (contrast the Issues & Options and Consultation Draft stages of the Plan), though there would continue to be visual intrusion into the AONB’s setting. Moreover, the continued presence of the primary access road to the site passing through the immediate setting of the AONB (and the AONB itself) remains a very seriously damaging aspect of the proposal by bringing noise and pollution into the setting, as well as visual damage from the road and the eye-catching effect of moving vehicles upon it. Furthermore, the thousands of northbound users of the primary access road daily would themselves experience comprehensive views into the setting of the AONB; their appreciation of this setting would be significantly marred by the Blackwell Farm development. We conclude that the allocation would conflict with Policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty not least because it would fail “to conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. The impact of the urban development allocation on the setting of the AONB is not considered in Policy A26 and has therefore been neglected in the Proposed Submission Plan.

The future boundary of the AONB

3.14 Natural England has announced its intention to review the boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB. It commissioned a report in 2012, from Alison Farmer Associates, which identified areas of search for possible extensions to the AONB. This included the whole of the Blackwell Farm allocation area. A further report was commissioned by Surrey County Council on behalf of the Surrey Planning Officers Association and the Surrey Hills AONB Board in 2013 from Hankinson Duckett Associates to further evaluate the natural beauty of those areas of search (and other Landscape Character Assessment work). This proposed extensions to the existing AONB boundary on the north side of the Hogs Back (and elsewhere), but just omitted the Blackwell Farm allocation area.

3.15 The Hankinson Duckett evaluation was not carried out in detail, so in 2016 Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils commissioned another firm of landscape architects, Land Management Services (LMS), to undertake a more detailed natural beauty evaluation in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, Down Place and Homestead Farm to the north of the Hogs Back. The LMS report (Appendix 4) agreed that the area identified by Hankinson Duckett Associates should be included within a revised AONB boundary north of the Hogs Back, but also proposed a north-eastward extension of the AONB boundary to include Down Place and Blackwell Farm. No further land at Homestead Farm was proposed for inclusion.

3.16 The LMS evaluation identified small scale character areas, one of which covered the eastern-most parts of the study area, adjacent to the built-up area of Guildford. There were two parcels: one on Manor Farm (south and east of Manor Copse Ancient Woodland) and one north of Strawberry Grove Ancient Woodland. The latter comprises the north-east corner of the Policy A26 development allocation at Blackwell Farm. LMS recommended that both these parcels should not be included within the revised AONB boundary, but recommended that they remain open as the setting of Guildford and the AONB. LMS concluded here: “This area does not merit inclusion within the AONB, but provides an important buffer and transitional landscape on the western edge of Guildford. It is recommended that the boundary to [the AONB here] follows the western edge of this sub character area but includes Strawberry and Manor Copses. The semi-rural... transitional character of this landscape should be retained in order to conserve the currently limited impact of Guildford on the AONB and other rural land to the west.”

3.17 We consider it vitally important that decisions on the Guildford Local Plan in the near future do not prejudice the outcome of the review of a nationally important landscape designation. The most detailed natural beauty evaluation north of the Hogs Back to date (against Natural England’s criteria for designating AONBs) shows that most of the Policy A26 Blackwell Farm allocation area should be included within a revised AONB boundary. The principal remaining area, in the north-east corner of the allocation, should remain open as the setting of the AONB and of Guildford.

3.18 The Blackwell Farm allocation should therefore be withdrawn so that, with a high probability, most of the land can be included within the AONB in future after the boundary review has been completed. The LMS interpretation of natural beauty confirms our own local perception that the land identified does merit AONB designation. Its high landscape quality – in the setting of the current AONB – is a major consideration for the Local Plan in any event. This would be a highly damaging location for a major urban development in landscape terms.

Conclusions

3.19 We consider that the Blackwell Farm development allocation should be removed by deleting Policy A26 because of its impact on the AONB:

- there would be a significant direct impact of the primary access road on the AONB;
- the primary access road through the AONB would be major development in its own right, and the proposals do not fulfil the criteria for allowing such development;
- the proposed built development and part of the primary access road would have a significant adverse effect on the setting of the AONB;
- the signalled junction to the primary access road, where Down Place joins the A31 on the top of the Hogs Back, would be lit at night, which would damage the appreciation of the rural qualities of the AONB at night and emphasise the sprawl of Guildford into it;
- the primary access road from the Blackwell Farm development to the Hogs Back ridge would probably be lit at night, which would also damage the appreciation of the rural qualities of the AONB and emphasise the sprawl of Guildford into it;
- most of the proposed development site should be included within a revised boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB, while its north-east corner (north of Strawberry Grove Ancient Woodland) would be in the immediate setting of the AONB and should be kept free of development as a buffer between urban Guildford (the research park) and the AONB.

3.20 We conclude that the Plan is unsound because the proposal to promote development at Blackwell Farm in the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and within its setting is not consistent with Government policy. Insufficient regard has been had to the impact of the primary access road on the AONB (and which we also regard as major development). Insufficient regard has also been had to the primary access road on the setting of the AONB none at all to the impact of the urban development area on the setting of the AONB. In that last respect we consider there has been a legal failure to comply with the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, s19(2)(a).

Green Belt at Blackwell Farm

4.1 Paragraph 83 of the NPPF states that “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.” This is a continuation in principle of previous Green Belt policy (from PPG2, paragraph 2.9).

4.2 In the most recent review of the Guildford Local Plan, following the report of the Inspector in September 2001, there was just one change to the Green Belt boundary. This was to allow the expansion of the University of Surrey (and two minor adjacent plots) into Manor Farm (the Manor Park development). It is a further withdrawal of the Green Belt boundary to allow more development immediately beyond the last land release that is proposed now. The Local Plan Inspector in 2001 was alert to the risk of nibbling away at the Green Belt and responded as follows to objectors who sought a more limited release of land from the Green Belt: “the guidance suggests that in reviewing Green Belt boundaries a longer time scale should be used than for other aspects of the Plan. If the normal period suggested for a local plan is ten years, it is not unreasonable to look at defining the Green Belt boundary with two local plan periods in mind. A cushion of undesignated land for future requirements, where they are reasonably foreseeable, can be accepted where it can avoid a succession of bites at the Green Belt” (paragraph 16.4.3).

4.3 The Borough Council and the University of Surrey are attempting to undermine this intention. The Local Plan was adopted in 2003, yet even when the Issues and Options report for the current Local Plan was issued in 2013, they were trying to release further land from the Green Belt in precisely the way the Inspector had been trying to prevent. Save Hogs Back and CPRE Surrey are appalled at this attempt to abuse and undermine Green Belt policy and principles. The proposal reflects a remarkably casual approach to the Green Belt which should not be tolerated. Further removal of land from the Green Belt at a location where Green Belt land has only recently been released is contrary to the expectations of Government planning policy and the Plan therefore unsound.

4.4 There should be no illusion about the University of Surrey’s desire to develop a huge swathe of land west of Manor Park at the foot of the Hogs Back. In November 2013 the University released its proposals for a ‘Garden Neighbourhood’ stretching as far west as Flexford House and occupying the whole area between the AONB and the railway beside Wood Street Village. An illustrative page from the proposals is attached as Appendix 1. This shows comprehensive development of the area, a new junction on the A31 and a road straight down the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. The development of Blackwell Farm would only be a stepping stone in this expansionist thinking of the University which shows a serious lack of appreciation of the role of Green Belt, the Hogs Back and the Surrey Hills AONB. Releasing Blackwell Farm is highly undesirable in its own terms and would only fuel the desire of the University to press the Council for yet more land releases in future.

4.5 The Proposed Submission Local Plan has adopted “a controlled realignment of the Green Belt boundary and development of a small number of strategic sites, which will allow us to provide for mixed and inclusive communities supported by new infrastructure” (paragraph 2.28). The Plan is a coy as it possibly can be about the remarkable scale of Green Belt land release for housing which it proposes. Large urban developments are proposed in the Green Belt at Blackwell Farm (1,800 houses), Gosden Hill Farm (2,000 houses), former Wisley Airfield (2,000 houses) and between Normandy and Flexford (1,100 houses). Various Green Belt sites offering over 100 houses each are also proposed.

4.6 The Government policy on Green Belt in the NPPF begins with a statement of great clarity, but one which the Proposed Submission Plan appears to have neglected or sidelined: “The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence” (paragraph 79). The NPPF does of course also provide considerable encouragement to the provision of the housing which the nation needs. It explains how the conflict is to be dealt with between the pressure of housing and the constraint of Green Belt (and other nationally important designations) at paragraph 14: “Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change, unless…. specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted”. One such policy (footnote 9) is Green Belt.

4.7 For the avoidance of doubt, the Government has issued various statements confirming its commitment to Green Belt and reiterating how the pressure to release Green Belt land should be addressed in Local Plans. For example, Brandon Lewis MP, Minister for Housing and Planning told a Westminster Hall debate on 15 March 2016:

“…we have regularly made the point that the green belt is a legitimate constraint. It is an important part of the country’s infrastructure and the Government attach the highest importance to its protection. In fact, over the past few years we have increased it. The NPPF makes it clear that green belt boundaries should be established in local plans and can be altered only in exceptional circumstances, using the local plan’s process of consultation and independent examination. The Government do not specify what constitutes exceptional circumstances, as it is for each local authority to determine that and how much weight to attach to those circumstances” (Hansard column 307WH).

On 11 January 2016 Mr Lewis gave a written answer to a Parliamentary Question by Mr Laurence Robertson MP (Tewkesbury), as follows:
Green Belt
Question 21089
To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, what his policy is on the priority that should be given to maintaining Green Belt land in Local Plans in areas where there is unmet housing need.

Answer Green Belt is protected by local authorities in line with national policy set out in the National Planning Policy Framework. The Framework states that permanence is an essential characteristic of Green Belt, and that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances, using the Local Plan. Our supporting Guidance reminds local authorities that, in planning to meet their objectively assessed local housing needs, they must have due regard to national policies (including Green Belt policy) which indicate that development should be restricted and which may restrain the ability of an authority to meet all its needs. This applies even where there is no up-to-date Plan. It is for the Planning Inspector examining a revised Local Plan to determine whether it is based on sound evidence and in line with national policy.

A statement to Planning from DCLG reported on 25th April (attached as Appendix 2) said:

“There are no plans or policy to relax the strong protections that prevent inappropriate development on the green belt. Ministers have repeatedly been clear that demand for housing alone will not justify changing green belt boundaries.”

4.8 In our view, the statements from the Government clarify that releasing land from the Green Belt to meet housing needs is an option but is only to be undertaken in exceptional circumstances rather than lightly. Guildford Borough Council, in contrast, has chosen to meet all its Objectively Assessed Need for housing, taking whatever land is necessary from the Green Belt to secure this. Furthermore, the Proposed Submission Plan has made no real effort at all to justify the release of land from the Green Belt in the terms set by the NPPF. Paragraph 4.3.16 of the Plan simply states:

“National planning policy requires that Green Belt boundaries are only amended in exceptional circumstances and that this must be undertaken as part of the Local Plan process. We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and promote sustainable patterns of development.”

Claiming ‘exceptional circumstances’ is easy. However, there is no review of the arguments needed to demonstrate that exceptional circumstances might apply at any location in the Borough. In our view, this means that the Plan is unsound by virtue of not being consistent with Government policy, and also unlawful because it has failed to have regard to national policies and advice on Green Belt contained in guidance issued by the Secretary of State.

4.9 The purposes of Green Belt have played remarkably little part in the selection of areas for urban development in the Proposed Submission Plan. Pegasus Group for the Borough Council divided all non-urban land in the Borough into a series of large plots for analysis. Their most up-to-date analysis is given in their Green Belt and Countryside Study, Volume II Addendum Appendix 1, April 2014. This assumes that the Green Belt purpose of encouraging urban land recycling applies equally to all plots, but the other four purposes are assessed for each plot. If none or one purpose is served by the plot it is ranked as low sensitivity, two purposes are ranked as medium sensitivity and three or four purposes is ranked as high sensitivity. 41 plots in the Green Belt are identified as having low sensitivity, 67 as having medium sensitivity and 91 as having high sensitivity. Of the four major proposed urban developments noted in paragraph 4.1 above, three have medium sensitivity and one (Flexford/Normandy) has high sensitivity. It is striking that none of the plots having low sensitivity was chosen for development. The choice of sites for development was clearly not significantly influenced by suitability of sites in Green Belt terms.

4.10 Pegasus Group explains its approach to recommending ‘Potential Development Areas’ (PDAs) in its Volume II Addendum at paragraph 3.7:

“Volume II of the Study has focussed upon those parcels which directly adjoin the urban edge as they are likely to offer a more appropriate relationship with the main urban area than those parcels which are separate from it. It is recognised that if the Council do identify urban edge parcels as appropriate for development and removal from the Green Belt, this may offer the potential for some adjoining land parcels which do not currently connect with the urban edge to come forward in a more appropriate manner. However, such decisions will be best informed by the Council’s chosen spatial strategy, and choices upon the recommended PDAs around the urban edge set out in Volume II and this Addendum.”
In practice, the Borough Council did not accept this approach: two of the four main areas proposed for major development are essentially free-standing urban areas in the countryside, at Wisley Airfield and Flexford/Normandy. If these sites were considered suitable by the Council, then it should also have revisited the 41 plots previously identified as low sensitivity in Green Belt terms before deciding which to allocate.

4.11 We are not arguing that the choice of major development sites was random, but that Green Belt policy played hardly any part in the selection process. On not a single occasion is a Green Belt plot retained free of development ‘because it significantly fulfils Green Belt purposes’. Nor is a Green Belt plot proposed for release ‘because it has little benefit in fulfilling Green Belt purposes’. We consider that the Borough Council has fallen far short of being able to demonstrate exceptional circumstances to justify any of its choices of major development area in Green Belt terms. That is a major failure of policy implementation and, in our view, makes the selection of sites unsound as (i) contrary to national planning policy and (ii) not the most appropriate strategy when considered against its reasonable alternatives.

4.12 In reality, Pegasus Group has emphasised a range of non-Green Belt planning issues which it considers important, including a highly selective ‘sustainability assessment scoring’ system which is dominated by walking distances. No doubt informed by this, there are important deficiencies in the Borough Council’s approach when considering the possibility of releasing Blackwell Farm for development. Policy A26 refers to ‘key considerations’ merely as “AONB, AGLV, Access, Surface water flood risk”. There is much else at stake, and no justification for changing the existing Green Belt boundary to the newly proposed one.

(i) The protection of Ancient Woodland has been given little attention by Pegasus Group or the Council. Although there is no formal proposal to fell Ancient Woodland at Blackwell Farm, the presence of Strawberry Grove, Manor Copse and Wildfield Copse immediately adjacent to the proposed development area will compromise these irreplaceable natural assets as the residents of 1,800 houses seek nearby leisure and recreation. It appears that zero weight has been given to the real impact on Ancient Woodlands and ancient hedgerows. The proposed allocation can be expected to cause the degradation of the Ancient Woodlands to the extent that over a period of time they lose much of their biological and historic interest.

(ii) The Pegasus Group study refers to development within landscape designations but omits review of the impact of development on the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB. This is a major omission which we have attempted to rectify in paragraphs 3.9-13 above. Reference is made to landscape character but not to visual impact: the latter is an important consideration in close proximity to the Hogs Back and therefore an important omission in relation to Blackwell Farm.

(iii) The Pegasus Group study assumed that Purpose 5 of the Green Belt “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” (NPPF paragraph 80) applied equally everywhere. We think not. The Blackwell Farm site is capable of achieving far more by way of concentration of land uses than most other sites. This is because the whole of the Blackwell Farm site is owned by the University of Surrey, as is all the land to the east. One effect of stopping development on Blackwell Farm would be to oblige the University to pay more attention to the efficient use of its land. At present the University takes a relaxed approach to land supply:

- the University has devoted large areas to inefficient surface-level car parks (view this on Google Earth, for example);
- the Research Park is specifically advertised as a ‘low density rural location’ (see the video spool on www.surrey-research-park.com/), and provides just 65,000m2 of office space across 28.33 hectares;
- the Guildford Local Plan Inspector’s Report in 2001 agreed to remove over 60 hectares of land from the Green Belt at Manor Park for University purposes, immediately east of Blackwell Farm, which has given the University an impression that land supply is not an issue; the Inspector commented “It may be that, as many Objectors felt, the Proposal is being overgenerous in the amount of land that is being taken out of the Green Belt and that this could be cut back. I have sympathy with that view” – though he still released the land for the reasons he gave in paragraph 16.10.2.

(iv) There is no Green Belt boundary available on Blackwell Farm which would be reliably permanent. The NPPF states that when Local Plans review Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should “define boundaries clearly, using physical features which are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent” (paragraph 85). The Council’s proposed western boundary to the site – the new Green Belt boundary – would follow a hedge in a dip in the landscape. The existing Green Belt boundary is superior and there is a clear risk from the proposals that Guildford could in future sprawl further west of Blackwell Farm on the basis that the boundary proposed now is indefensible.

4.13 On all these grounds the existing Green Belt boundary has superior merit to the one now proposed further west.

Introduction

I object to Blackwell Farm (site allocation A26) being removed from the green belt and put forward as a Potential Development Area (PDA). I do not believe that the decision is justifiable or sound for three key reasons:

1. Inclusion of the site does not comply with national government policy on the adjustment of green belt boundaries. Furthermore there has been no proper review of this site and other sites across the borough in terms of their suit-ability for development from a green belt point of view. The Green Belt and Countryside Study by Pegasus is a flawed document, and in any case does not appear to have informed Guild-ford Borough Council’s selection of PDAs.

2. Inclusion of the site does not follow national government policy on development within Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) or national planning guidelines for the setting to AONBs. No exceptional circumstances have been put forward which demonstrate that the benefits of developing Blackwell Farm outweigh the harm to the AONB/AONB setting as is required by the NPPF for major developments (Section 11; Para 115-116).

3. The proposed vehicular access to the site is not viable, which means that the site is not “de-velopable”, it is not in a “suitable location for housing development” and there is no “reason-able prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged” as is required by the NPPF (Section 6; para 47).

I fully support the detailed joint submission by Save Hog’s Back and CPRE Surrey which outlines objections on the grounds of legal compliance and soundness. In this, my personal response, I outline further reasons for my objection under the head-ings of Green Belt, AONB and Viability.

Green Belt Background

The proposed Blackwell Farm development is described in the draft Local Plan as an “urban extension”, and its location is described as “Guildford urban area”, both these descriptions are misleading and inaccurate (and are likely to skew public responses to the consultation). Blackwell Farm is in a rural location, completely dislocated from the town both geographically and in terms of its infrastruc-ture.
If you look at a map of the proposed development area, only the very far north-eastern corner of the site comes anywhere close to an urban area (Park Barn) and this is separated from it by a railway line and a belt of trees. The eastern edge is separated from the Surrey Research Park/University campus by ancient woodland and by an area of safeguarded agricultural land. The single row of houses at Beechcroft Drive at the southern end of Strawberry Meadow is part of Onslow Garden Village – not itself an “urban” area. Building a second “garden village” or “garden neighbourhood” within a few miles of an existing separated by an area of green belt and ancient wood-land would appear to make the term “urban extension” nonsense. Separating two “garden villages” by an area of green belt and an area of ancient woodland, would also effectively make this become an island within the urban area and would be gradually eroded by urban influence - just as has happened with the vet school being recently built on an area set aside as a buffer zone on the eastern side of Manor copse. The large areas of farmland within this green belt “island”, will be made redundant, just as the grade 2 farmland on Manor Park was made redundant in 2004 (and is now being levelled at the southern boundary to form new playing fields).

In terms of infrastructure too, Blackwell Farm is com-pletely disconnected from the town and cannot be inte-grated into the existing urban fabric. There are no existing public roads or sewerage systems or gas pipes connect-ing the site to the town, which brings into question the economic viability and the deliverability of the proposals. This site could be anywhere outside the urban boundary of Guildford and should be treated as such within the Local Plan.

Satellite image shows that the site is dislocated from the rest of Guild-ford and therefore doesn’t form a true urban extension as claimed. Should the site connect through by road to the Tesco roundabout then there would be transport chaos rendering the proposals impractical and the plan unsound.

Openness and permanence of the green belt

Blackwell Farm lies entirely within the green belt and the pro-posal to develop this site overlooks the two fundamental prin-ciples of the green belt: its openness and permanence (NPPF Section 9, Para 79).

Openness

The central objective of Green Belt is to protect the openness of land. Blackwell Farm is very open, not concealed discernibly from any direction, except perhaps from behind the railway to the north, and is visible from surrounding areas – notably from the Hog’s Back ridge to the west and to the east (at the Mount – a popular public recreation area). The site therefore performs a significant function in keeping land open.

Permanence

Green belt boundaries should be realigned with regard to their permanence. The boundary on this western side of Guildford was moved at the last local plan and to move it again would not be in line with the NPPF (Section 9, para 83).

Following the Public Inquiry into the 2003 Local Plan, the green belt boundary at Manor Farm was rolled back to allow the University of Surrey’s ex-pansion. A sizable area (63.3 hectares) was removed from the green belt and the new boundary (the belt of ancient woodland at Manor Copse and Strawber-ry Grove) was seen to be “a logical and defensible boundary well related to physical features on the ground and the land form, and it provides for the University’s long term requirements thereby avoiding pressure for further green belt releases in the future.” [Simon Birch, Director of Environmental and Plan-ning Services for Guildford Borough Council, in his evidence to the Public Local Enquiry, para 16.]

The Planning Inspector’s report at the time con-firmed this and made clear that this boundary review was for the long term (beyond the plan period):

“As to the Green Belt, the guidance suggests that in reviewing Green Belt boundaries a longer time scale should be used than for other aspects of the Plan. If the normal period suggested for a local plan is ten years, it is not unreasonable to look at defining the Green Belt boundary with two local plan periods in mind. A cushion of un-designated land for future requirements, where they are reasonably foreseeable, can be accepted where it would avoid a succession of bites at the Green Belt.” (16.4.3.)

A firm and justified boundary was therefore laid down with a firm statement that it would not be moved again. This substantially reinforces the NPPF ruling that boundaries need to be defensible and permanent [NPPF 9. 85]
Furthermore, the University accepted this:

“The CPRE rightly quotes ... that ‘there should be a presumption against frequent changes affecting the approved Green Belt.

“UniS does not advocate ‘frequent changes’ and fully supports the Borough Council’s proposal in 99U1 to exclude all of the land it requires for its long term expansion. [Tim Hancock, of Terence O’Rourke plc for the University (2.9 of his Supplementary proof in response to CPRE].

Of all the Green Belt boundaries in Guildford, this one at Manor/Blackwell Farm is unique in having been altered in 2003 after lengthy and detailed examination over two local plan periods. The boundary selected in 2003 was recognised to be defensible – it followed a belt of ancient woodland and a prominent field boundary/ancient hedgerow. It also follows the deer leap, which bounded the 12th century Royal Hunting Ground and has formed the boundary to Guildford since medieval times. This existing boundary, is on raised ground and so provides a natural screen to Guildford town. The new boundary being proposed – a hedgerow further west – lies within a dip. It is therefore not at all defensible and would provide no screening; the development would be clearly visible for miles along the Hog’s Back ridge, blighting views from the AONB. Furthermore, the arbitrary nature of this new boundary means there is a clear risk from the proposals of sprawl further west.

The statements made in 2003 about the permanence of the new boundary have been completely ignored by GBC. This is unacceptable and cannot be passed off as new circumstances or previously unforeseeable needs now arising. It is clear that the University has been developing its own plans as if the green belt was not an impediment to its expansion aspirations, contrary to the commitments it gave at the time. Furthermore, its own proposals for future development west of Blackwell Farm at Chalk Pit and Wildfield Farms show quite clearly its casual approach to the impediment of green belt.

Urban sprawl on the western edge of Guildford

Over the last 100 years, extensive development on the west side of Guildford on the northern slopes of the Hog’s Back has made a large impact on the character of this area from what was formerly farmland and parkland. The planned low-density garden village “Onslow Garden Village” (now known as “Onslow Village”) on the site of the medieval Royal Hunting Park was started in the 1920s. The building of the A3 Guildford and Godalming Bypass, which opened to traffic in June 1934, effectively formed the western extent of this development for many years. (Mount Farm, on the higher slopes of the Hog’s Back above Onslow Village was separately acquired to protect the views of the ridge, which formed the southern bound to development.)

Piecemeal development had taken place on the western side of the A3 following the gift of land to the UniS, with the construction of the Royal Surrey Hospital and then the Holiday Inn Hotel alongside the A3 on land that was leased by the University to help finance the construction of the low-density Research Park, which began in the 1980s on the lower slopes.

The Manor Park campus and sports park were given permission in 2003, which was followed by the recently built surface car parks of the Onslow Park and Ride. This low-density expansion of Guildford is bounded on the west by the ancient woodlands at Manor Copse, Strawbery-ry Grove and Dean Bottom. The 90m contour also forms the extent of the Manor Park development, which helps form a boundary to development and goes some way to protecting the rural views from the AONB and Blackwell Farm.

A further low-density expansion of Guildford, which “leapfrogs” the ancient woodland and rises above the 90m contour, as now proposed, would be an example of urban sprawl on a massive scale - rather than what is described as “urban extension” in the draft local plan.

Blackwell Farm meets 4 out of 5 purposes of green belt

The Green Belt and Countryside Study carried out by Pegasus is unsound and cannot be relied on as evidence. Although the worst aspects of it were rectified after a Guildford BC Scrutiny Committee meeting with public inputs, it is still a flawed document and does not address the problems highlighted in the report submitted by Tom Stevens, The purpose of Green Belt – Blackwell Farm, in September 2014 in response to the draft Local Plan (see Annex 1). A key problem with the revised Pegasus study is its “green belt sensitivity test”. It amounts to nothing more than a ‘tick-box’ exercise to see how many of the green belt purposes a particular site meets. No consideration is given to how effectively the site meets.... each function, and no weight is given to any one function above another. In the case of Blackwell Farm, the scoring was incorrect as the site meets all five green belt purposes, and yet is only considered by the Pegasus test to have met three.

Green Belt

- Purpose 1 - to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas
- Purpose 2 - to prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- Purpose 3 - to assist with safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- Purpose 4 - to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- Purpose 5 - assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict or other urban land

(Please note that the purposes of Green Belt in this paper have been referred to, and numbered, according to the order they appear in within the NPPF, rather than the numbering adopted by Pegasus.)

Green belt purposes:

Purpose 1. The Blackwell Farm site fulfils the purpose of “checking the unrestricted sprawl of a large urban area” (Clearly the Metropolitan Green Belt refers to the sprawl of London, but the sprawl of Guildford is a significant consideration within that designated area.) Because Blackwell Farm is in the front line of Guildford’s sprawl, it is achieving this purpose very strongly. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings (265 hectares), stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. The green belt was created to protect this kind of sprawl (ie to prevent Guildford from moving ever westward) and should be allowed to do its job, rather than cave in at the first opportunity to the pressure it was designed to resist.

Purpose 2. To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another

The Pegasus study considered the merging of communities rather than towns in its study. If we were to assume that Blackwell Farm is an urban extension (as GBC contests), which is joined with Park Barn in the north western corner and with Onslow Village (via Beechcroft Drive) on the south west, then the development would form a bridge between these communities. Furthermore communities at Down Place and Pinks Hill would also be linked up. The extension of the development site westward to bring in Wildfield Farm (just 5 minutes walk from the Wood Street Village Green) also forms coalescence with this community. If the University continues to push for its stated key strategic aim of developing further west to build across its entire landholdings, then communities at Chalkpit Farm and Flexford would also merge within the urban boundary.

Purpose 3. The Blackwell Farm site assists strongly with “safeguarding the Countryside from encroachment” The proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland, including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop its entire landholding on this western edge of Guildford (including Chalkpit and Wildfield Farms), leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 4. Blackwell Farm helps to preserve the setting and special character of the historic town of Guildford

It forms the views from the Hog’s Back ridge, which is acknowledged to be an important setting to the town, particularly through sightlines to the Cathedral. The site itself is visible along the ridge, both from the west and the east (the north-eastern corner of the site being visible from The Mount – a popular recreation area and viewing platform). Guildford Borough Council’s Landscape Character Assessment makes it clear that the Hog’s Back forms and important setting to the town:

“The steep slopes rising from the River Wey and distinctive elevated ridge landform provides a natural containment for, and backdrop to, the lower lying town centre and allows panoramic views across Guildford, to the Cathedral… To the north the arable slopes north of the A3/A31 provide an important open backdrop to the emerging Manor Park site.” (Landscape Character Assessment, Vol II, Rural Urban Fringe, p37, Jan 2007)
A Landscape Evaluation Study, by landscape architect, Land Management Services, commissioned by three parish councils – Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough (Annex 2) – confirms that land parcel H2 is “critical to the landscape setting of the chalk ridge” (Hog’s Back Natural Beauty Evaluation, June 2016, p16)

Henry II’s Royal Hunting Park also forms a major feature of Guildford and the historic setting for the town. The deer leap alongside the edge of the hunting park is still visible within the woods that separate Blackwell Farm from the Surrey Research Park as well as the Scheduled Ancient Monument (remains of the Royal Hunting Lodge), which also sit alongside the existing green belt boundary between Manor Park and Blackwell Farm. The field patterns are also influenced by this park and features such as Strawberry Grove on the north east corner of the PDA are clearly marked in historic maps of the town, which date back to when the Royal Park was still in existence.

Purpose 5.
The more effective that parcels of Green Belt are at restricting development, the more likely they are to have an effect in assisting urban regeneration. As Blackwell Farm is close to the urban edge, it has a significant inhibiting effect on development, and because both Blackwell Farm and the land adjacent to it at Manor Park (formerly Man-or Farm) are under the control of the University of Surrey, not allowing building at Blackwell Farm would help to discourage the profligate use of land shown recently by the University. The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats across its estate. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (including grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm).

How the green belt analysis has been used

Considering the urban-edge parcels identified by Pegasus in Guildford Borough around Guildford and Tongham, there is just one considered ‘low sensitivity’ (K6) supporting just one of four green belt purposes. There are 11 parcels considered ‘medium sensitivity’ with two purposes supported, and 26 considered ‘high sensitivity’ with three or four purposes supported. Overall, there are 42 parcels around the borough identified as of ‘low sensitivity’, but Pegasus proposed a PDA on only one of them. It proposed PDAs on all or part of six urban edge parcels of ‘medium sensitivity’ and nine of ‘high sensitivity’. The evidence therefore clearly shows that the number of green belt purposes served by parcels has had hardly any effect on the selection of sites around the borough for development. The choice of land for development around Guildford has therefore not been guided by green belt. The whole exercise of looking for plots to release which are least sensitive in green belt terms has been a sham.

Instead, the choice of sites for release has been informed only by traditional planning issues (eg AONB, flood risk, protected wildlife areas, Registered Common Land, MoD land etc) and, to a lesser extent, by environmental capacity.

Although the environmental capacity assessments have considered some relevant issues, they have ignored other important ones, such as development in the setting of the AONB and visual impact. The conclusions of GBC’s Landscape Character Assessment (LCA), which forms part of the evidence base, have been largely ignored, and this is evident in relation to Blackwell Farm, where the LCA is very clear that the views from the Hog’s Back ridge should be conserved:

“The Hog’s Back Chalk Ridge landscape should be conserved, in particular the open nature of the landscape which forms a backdrop to the surrounding rural areas and Guildford, the wide and far ranging views from the many viewpoints along the ridge line and the sparse settlement pattern of traditional style and local materials. The intact large scale geometric field pattern and hedgerow boundaries and hedgerow trees should be conserved while there is potential to enhance and reinforce some of the hedgerows.” [Landscape Character Assessment (Chalk Ridge), 2007 p41]

In putting forward PDAs, GBC considers only landscape value (which is not the same thing as landscape character) and this is addressed only in terms of landscape designations. Furthermore, the protection of ancient woodland has been given little weight in that, even though such woodlands are not proposed to be removed, they would in some cases be severely compromised by development around them. The ancient woodland at Strawberry Grove/Manor Copse, for example, would be completely encircled should the proposed Blackwell Farm development go ahead, and a large road would pass through, or very close, to it. The ancient woodland at Wildfield Copse would also be harmed. The weight that is given to the various environmental capacity elements other than the absolute constraints is unclear, but appears to be only slightly above zero.

An additional round of evaluation has taken place in the form of a ‘sustainability assessment’. This scores urban edge sites that come through the environmental capacity assessment free of absolute constraints. This last assessment is purely on grounds of walking distance to a selection of nine facilities. There are some oddities in this: the most obvious point of ‘walking distance to a bus stop’ has been omitted on the dubious grounds that everywhere will be served by buses, but the nearly-pointless ‘walking distance to an A-road’ remains in the mix. The 16 sites assessed are rated from zero to 3 according to distances to be walked to nine facilities. The distances at which cut-offs between the rating-points occurs varies from one facility to another, so there is some ranking of importance in this part of the process. The scores are then added up (i.e. each of the nine facilities has equal weight in this part of the exercise), with the highest number the most sustainable. The scores are then listed in descending order. Parcel H2 (Blackwell Farm) is ranked 14 overall, in other words it is one of the least sustainable sites, yet it has been put forward for development. Despite the work which went into the sustainability assessment, no use appears to have been made of it in the selection of PDAs. It is therefore unclear what the purpose was of the whole exercise.

Conclusion
The treatment of green belt in the choice of allocation sites is unacceptable. Despite going through the motions of carrying out a green belt review, the Council has selected sites for allocation for development irrespective of green belt constraints. Urban-edge sites have been chosen as if the green belt constraint did not exist at all. On not a single occasion is a green belt site retained free of development ‘because it significantly fulfils green belt purposes’. Nor is a green belt site released ‘because it has little benefit in fulfilling green belt purposes’. The green belt analysis has therefore been entirely misleading. Site selection has instead been on the basis of the Council’s selected planning preferences. The absence of actual attention to green belt constraint has played down the highly significant contribution of sites, such as H2 (Blackwell Farm), to green belt purposes, even though this should have been a fundamental consideration shaping the town’s development.

AONB

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the setting of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the AONB itself.

Harm to the AONB setting
Blackwell Farm forms part of the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge, which is an iconic landscape feature well known in the region. The ridge is located on the northern edge of the Surrey Hills AONB and, because of its elevated position, provides dramatic views over a long distance. The proposed large-scale development at Blackwell Farm would be clearly visible from many points along the ridge, thereby blighting the setting of the AONB.

In addition to the ridge itself, there would be an impact at the very least on two footpaths, one bridleway and three further access roads (unclassified), all of which come off the A31 on the north side of the Hogs Back in, or adjacent to, the AONB, from which the setting would be a con-sideration. There would also be an impact on views from the train on the North Downs Line between Reading and Gatwick.

The setting today for the AONB at Blackwell Farm in-cludes a locally designated Area of Great Landscape Value and is arguably more beautiful than other areas within the AONB because the topography results in panoramic views over a great distance. If the planned development goes ahead, then the AONB will be seen by thousands of people in cars entering and leaving the housing estate – but the setting and views of the AONB that they would experience would be in marked contrast to those enjoyed by people today. It seems perverse to argue that developing a site would cause only slight harm because the AONB is not visible from a wide number of public locations, and then to open it up to much wider viewing by the public (through road and house building), but to destroy the beauty of the landscape in the process.

It is worth noting that the Government has, in its March 2014 National Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment – Landscape, emphasised the importance of protecting the setting of AONBs and National Parks. This affects proposals on land outside an AONB that might adversely affect its setting.
It states that under Section 85 of the Countryside and Rights of Way (CROW) Act 2000, “relevant authorities” are required in “exercising or performing any functions in relation to, or so as to affect land “ in an AONB to “have regard” to their purposes. It goes on to state:

“The duty is relevant in considering development pro-posals that are situated outside National Park or Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty boundaries, but which have an impact on the setting of, and implementation of, the statutory purposes of these protected areas.”

Harm to potential future AONB
Natural England has identified the Surrey Hills as one of only two AONBs in the country where a boundary review will be considered, and has agreed to support the process of evidence gathering to inform this process.

A new piece of evidence related to this review - an independent Landscape Evaluation Study by Land Management Services – was published in June 2016 and puts forward a strong case for including most of Blackwell Farm and its surrounding area within the revised AONB boundary. (See Annex 2.)

The study was commissioned by Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough Parish Councils when it was realised that Surrey County Council’s evaluation of the land on the northern slopes of the Hog’s Back (by consultant Hankinson and Duckett), had omitted Blackwell Farm from consideration and assessment. The Hankinson and Duckett evaluation had been funded by the Surrey Hills AONB Board as part of the AONB review process. This omission was despite a study by Alison Farmer Associates just a year earlier (in Jan 2012), which had recommended the area as meritng assessment. The Alison Farmer study, also commissioned by SCC, used up-to-date criteria, based on boundary reviews of the New Forest and South Downs National Parks. This map shows the area identified by Alison Farmer Associates for assessment.

It seems remarkable that Blackwell Farm should have been excluded from the Hankinson and Duckett evaluation, particularly given the strength of the arguments for including the area in the AONB that Land Management Services (LMS) has put forward in its report. LMS concludes:

“Land to the south and east of Wildfield Copse, in the vicinity of Down Place and Blackwell Farm (sub character areas 3 and 4) is of a landscape and scenic quality, character and condition which should merit inclusion within a revised AONB boundary… This landscape is therefore considered integral to the AONB and critical to the conservation of rural views to the north of equal, if not greater importance, to land to the west of Down Place included in Area 12- 1.” (Section 6, p23.)

The fact that the H2 included an AGLV and that Surrey County Council’s and Guildford Borough Council’s own landscape character assessments also highlighted the scenic quality of this area, makes the omission even more striking:

“The Hog’s Back has a vital role in providing a dramatic landscape setting to Guildford” [Landscape Character Assessment, Vol II, Rural Urban Fringe, p37, Jan 2007]

It is also strange that the AONB boundary selected by SCC/Surrey Hills AONB Board for Area 12-1 follows a rather arbitrary line. As the LMS Study states:

“The proposed boundary to Area 12-1 between Misley Copse and Down Place and between Down Place and the current AONB boundary does not follow any defined landscape features (such as a ridge line, wood-land edges, or prominent field boundary) or reflect a decline in landscape and scenic quality or changes in landscape character (for instance increased urban influences) which might justify exclusion.” (Section 6, p23)

The Surrey Hills AONB Planning Advisor Clive Smith, in writing to the Surrey Hills AONB Board on 25th June 2013, appears to have made the same observation. He states, “the proposed boundaries do appear in places tortuous and perhaps pedantic and the consideration of scale of landscape perhaps should be consid-ered.” Mr Smith also highlighted that Natural England had advised “that boundaries should follow clear physical features such as settlement boundaries and roads”. (See Annex 3.)

Perhaps a clue as why Surrey CC/Surrey Hills AONB Board did not opt for a more robust boundary (instead selecting one which in plac-es runs through the middle of a field) and why there was no AONB evaluation of the land at Blackwell Farm lies in this extract from a report by Surrey Hills AONB Board Director Rob Fairbanks:
“The Surrey Hills Board has established that there is a high level of support for a boundary modification among local authorities, including parish councils, although concerns have been raised by Waverley and Guildford regarding the potential implication that the evaluation process and areas identified for evaluation may have on their emerging Core Strategies. As a result, it is important that all the local authorities on the AONB Board will be involved on any project steering group and the AONB partners will be made aware of the sensitive nature of the work.” – item 7 (Annex 4).

This begs the question: why do the local authorities need to be on the steering group for this project? – determining whether landscape is of AONB quality should be a purely technical exercise.

As most of land parcel H2 has been identified as an evaluation area for the forthcoming AONB boundary review, it is reasonable that GBC should treat it as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The field in the north eastern corner, adjacent to Chapel House Farm, which was not considered in the LMS Study to meet the criteria for AONB, should be retained, as an “important buffer and transitional landscape on the west-ern edge of Guildford” as recommended by LMS (Hogs Back Natural Beauty Evaluation, June 2016, p19.)

Harm to the AONB
The proposed access road to the new development, linking the site to the A31 in the south and to Gill Avenue in the north, would pass through the existing AONB, creating a large scar across the northern slopes of the ridge, and bisecting a tree-tunnelled, 18th century parkland drive – an attractive feature of the AONB. The road would carry two lanes of traffic and would involve a complex junction on the ridge, with substantial environmental consequences (and cost). The lighting associated with such an junction would also have an impact on the AONB for miles around.

The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and ad-jacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest (Section 1, Para 116).

Guildford Borough Council has not demonstrated that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. It would also impede commuter traffic travelling to the Hospital and Research Park (to major centres of employment) from the east.

Exceptional circumstances
Although the Council does not cite any exceptional circumstances that would offset harm to the AONB within the Local Plan or its supporting evidence, Council Leader Paul Spooner has put forward a number of benefits that he considers the development would deliver. These were outlined in his answer to my question to the Council Executive Committee on May 11, 2016 (See http://www2.guildford.gov.uk/councilmeetings/documents/b1616/Supplementary%20Information%20Sheet%2011th-May-2016%20Executive.pdf?T=9) and include:
1. Provision of the access road through the site, which will provide an alternative route into Surrey Research Park and the Royal Surrey County Hospital from the west via the A31 and relieve pressure on the A3 and Egerton Road.

2. Provision of on-site infrastructure, including traveller pitches, a new local centre with associated community and retail uses, a primary school, part of the Sustainable Movement Corridor linking the site to the town centre and beyond, Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG) and other open space.

3. A significant expansion of the Surrey Research Park, which will enable Guildford to build on its knowledge-based industry, which is of regional significance.

4. Provide enhanced justification to Government for a new Guildford West railway station as there will be a better business case with the additional employment and residential demand.

I have outlined below why I do not believe that any of these “benefits”, either alone or collectively, can be considered “exceptional” enough to justify:

- taking 78 Ha out of green belt
- harming the AONB and its setting
- threatening further areas of green belt and AONB in future years.

Provision of an alternative route to the Surrey Research Park and Hospital

See Section 3 (Viability)

Provision of on-site infrastructure,

Cllr Spooner cites the provision of a range of infrastructure as a benefit to the site and the existing community. This includes:

- traveller pitches,
- a new local centre with associated community and retail uses,
- a primary school,
- part of the Sustainable Movement Corridor linking the site to the town centre and beyond,
- Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG) and other open space.

Traveller pitches

From an infrastructure point of view, this site offers no particular benefit as a location for traveller pitches. As stated earlier, Blackwell Farm is in a rural location, disconnected from the fabric of the town, and has no sewerage or gas infrastructure, no schools etc. Furthermore, the requirement for traveller pitches can be met in other locations, which

- are not performing the functions of green belt so strongly
- do not form the setting to the AONB
- have not been identified as a potential candidate area for inclusion within the revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary
- do not require a new road and 4-way junction to be built in the AONB.

The provision of traveller pitches, therefore, does not form an “exceptional” circumstance

New local centre with associated community and retail uses

Any new local centre at this location would be of benefit only to those people living in the proposed new Blackwell Farm housing development (not the existing community). If 1,800 houses were not located at Blackwell Farm, then there would be no need for this facility. It is therefore, not, in itself, an “exceptional circumstance” for building in the green belt and developing the AONB.

Primary school

A new primary school, like the local centre, would be provided largely to serve the proposed new community at Blackwell Farm. There are already four junior schools serving this west side of Guildford, three of which are within a two-mile radius of Blackwell Farm – Guildford Grove School (1.1 miles away), Queen Eleanor’s C of E (aided) School, (1.3 miles away), St Joseph’s Catholic Primary School (1.7 miles away). If there is a need for additional school places to serve the existing community, these could be provided as part of Guildford Grove School on the existing King’s College School campus. King’s College is currently 57% undersubscribed.
Although King’s College is a high school, it is adjacent to the Grove School and could easily offer additional class-rooms to its neighbouring junior school if these were needed. Even if the under-utilised classrooms at King’s College were not deemed suitable, the campus itself is very large (see image above right) and there is plenty of space for Grove School to expand. There would be no signiﬁcant loss of playing fields, and in any case the University-owned Surrey Sports Park, with its many playing fields, is only a 13 minute walk from the school, and a 3 minute drive away (without traffic). GBC does not seem to have explored these alternatives at all, and instead has chosen to site a new school at Blackwell Farm in the green belt (within the setting to the AONB).

The provision of a school is not an “exceptional circumstance” for building in this environmentally sensitive area. There are other, more appropriate, locations for a new school – locations that are not served as well by existing schools, and which would result in fewer peak-hour traffic movements (as children would be travelling shorter distances to go to school). This would be a more sensible option than bringing more peak-hour traffic into this already congested area.

Sustainable Movement Corridor

The Sustainable Movement Corridor is described in the draft Local Plan as “providing a priority route for buses, pedestrians and cyclists through the Guildford Urban area and serving new communities at Blackwell Farm, Gosden Hill Farm and Slyﬁeld Area Regeneration Project”. Beyond this, no further detail is given, other than that the Corridor is estimated to cost between £80-90 million and that this cost would be shared between the developer and the Local Growth Fund (via the Local Enterprise Partnership). No economic viability assessment for the scheme is provided, and there is no account of how the road net-work would be used or how proposed bus service would be funded going forwards (especially relevant in a climate where Surrey County Council is cutting back on its public transport budget).

Aside from the question of its economic viability, the provision of the Sustainable Movement Corridor is not dependent on the Blackwell Farm development going ahead in any way other than, perhaps, through the funding that would be provided by the University. Allowing development in exchange for funding for infrastructure does not form an “exceptional circumstance” for building in the green belt and in the AONB setting. If this were to be the case, a developer need only offer to pay for a school or road, and it would be given carte blanche to build anywhere.

SANG and other open space

The final on-site beneﬁt Cllr Spooner cites is the provision of SANG and other open space.

SANG - The University has conﬁrmed at a stakeholder meeting held in March 2015 that it would only provide SANG to mitigate against development on its own land-holdings; it would not offer SANG to unlock housing elsewhere. It seems perverse to argue that SANG is a beneﬁt to the wider community because it enables land in the green belt and AONB to be developed.

The submission draft of the Local Plan does not identify which area of Blackwell Farm will be allocated as SANG on Blackwell Farm. In a previous (Regulation 18) draft of the Local Plan, the ancient woodland at Manor Copse/Strawberry Grove was allocated for this purpose. Natural England has stated that the identiﬁcation of SANGs should “seek to avoid sites of high nature conservation value”, such as ancient woodland, which are likely to be damaged by increased visitor numbers. [Natural England Guidelines for the creation of Suitable Accessible Natural Green Space (SANGS) Introduction 12-06-08]

Open space - The land at Blackwell Farm is already enjoyed by the residents of the surrounding communities of Park Barn, Wood Street Village, Onslow Village, Down Place and Flexford, who walk along the public/permissive footpaths and bridleway that cross the site. [Footnote 1] It is diﬃcult to see what beneﬁt developing 78 hectares of this farmland would bring to these residents.

Furthermore, the University has already promised to open up Blackwell Farm for “informal recreation”. In the run-up to the 2003 Local Plan, in order to allay fears at the time that the boundary review at Manor Farm signalled further loss of green belt at the adjacent Blackwell Farm, the University stated:

“The University has no plans for the development of its adjoining land at Blackwell Farm. In partnership with the Borough Council, the University intends to explore how the woodland and adjoining land at Blackwell Farm could be opened up to the public for informal recreation and link to existing areas of open space. Access would be gained via... existing public footpaths crossing the site.” [Surrey Matters (University of Surrey newsletter), published in January 1998]

This intention was also included in GBC’s Local Plan 2003:

“The University has indicated that they...would like to explore how best appropriate parts of its Blackwell Farm lands might be further opened up to the com-munity (including the possibility of a country park).” (16.26)

The University has done nothing to honour this commit-ment - erecting signs that discouraged use of Blackwell Farm and allowing the rides through the ancient wood-land to become impassable. These signs remained in place until June 2015, when new signs appeared.

Given that the University has already committed to pro-vide this informal recreation space at Blackwell Farm (and reneged on it), there can be little benefit to the community receiving the same (potentially empty) promise again.

[Note. A study by the University’s consultant into why members of the public uses this land and what changes they would like to see, appears to have been kept under wraps.(See Annex 5)]

The research park is a low density development and there is great potential to increase capacity on this site - without having to expand onto Blackwell Farm next door

Expansion of the Research Park

Cllr Spooner writes in response to my formal question to the Council Executive:

“A particular benefit of allocating Blackwell Farm is that it enables an extension to the Surrey Research Park, which is key to meeting our objectively assessed need. It is also a unique opportunity that enables us to build on knowledge-based employment that is of re-gional significance. This type of specialist employment could not be provided elsewhere in the borough.” [Sup-plementary Information Sheet, Guildford Borough Council Exec Meeting, May 11, 2016]

This “particular benefit” of allocating Blackwell Farm therefore seems to hinge on two arguments:

- Extension to the Surrey Research Park is key to meet-ing GBC’s objectively assessed need
- The opportunity to build on Guildford’s knowl-edge-based employment is unique to the Research Park and cannot be provided elsewhere in the borough

Both these arguments can be challenged, firstly:

- There is no need to extend the Research Park in order to meet GBC’s objectively assessed need because there is enough space on the existing footprint of the Research Park to meet the likely growth in the research and development (R&D) sector.
- There is already granted consent to expand by a further 9,000 square metres (14%). This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker. It would appear from GBC’s own analysis that this would be sufficient to meet the demand for floor space in this sector. Guildford Borough’s Econom-ic Land Needs Assessment (ELNA 2015), gives an annual floor space demand of 0.7% for office/research and development (Table 6-4 PMA Floorspace Growth Forecast CAGR). The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 12% (17 years x 0.7%), which is less than the current expansion space of 14%.
- Even if growth in the R&D sector were to exceed that forecast in the ELNA, the existing Research Park has been built at a very low density. It provides just 65,000m2 of office space on 27 hectares of land. There is scope to use this land more efficiently by building additional office space above the surface car parks, and by introducing mixed-use development across the site (so the area can be used for 24 hours a day, rather than just during office hours). Building at the same plot-ratio as the approved Master Plan for Manor Park would provide six times the office accommodation on the Research Park than exists at present. With better design on its existing brownfield estate, the University has the room to grow for the next 100 years without taking more greenfield land out of green belt.

Secondly, it is not true that the Surrey Research Park is unique in providing knowledge-based employment and that this type of employment cannot be provided else-where in the borough:
Policy E4 states: “The existing 28 hectare Surrey Research Park and the proposed extension will be protected for business use comprising offices, research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, falling within Use Classes B1 (a), (b) and (c) of the Town and Country Planning (use Classes) Order 1987 (as amended), that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey.”

The inclusion of B1c uses (light industrial) will mean that the Surrey Research Park would lose its status as a “research park” and become no different to any business park across the borough; it certainly would not be “unique” as a centre for knowledge-based industry.

Knowledge-based businesses are already located in other areas of the borough, for example EA Games is situated in the town centre (Onslow Street), and advertises itself as “a 5 minute walk from the main train station and only minutes away from the town’s main shops, restaurants and bars”.

There is no evidence to suggest that businesses prefer out-of-town locations, in fact the ELNA suggests that the opposite is the case:

“Where sites are available the Council could seek to encourage office/R&D development in town centres. The town centre is a more sustainable location and there is evidence of demand from potential occupiers which currently do not necessarily have town centre offices that match their needs.” (ELNA, 7.3.2)

The University has argued that an important factor in attracting knowledge-based businesses to the Research Park is the proximity to, and contacts with, the University.

However, a survey conducted by the University in 2002 showed that less than half of the companies on the site (27 out of 46) believed this factor was of “weak or no influence”, and only 6 cited it as the “most important” factor.

The same survey also showed that links with other tenants on the Research Park was of even less importance (39 out of 46 said it was of “weak or no influence” and none felt it was the “most important” location factor). [See Annex 6 “A Vision of the future of Science Parks” para 28, by Dr Malcolm Parry, Managing Director, Surrey Research Park and University Planning Officer, 2002]. Based on this survey, it would appear that the Research Park offers little additional benefit to knowledge-based companies over other locations. In fact, the survey showed that the most influential factor attracting businesses was Guildford’s close proximity to international airports, road and rail links, which is applicable to locations almost anywhere in the borough.

Even if proximity to the University were considered essential to the growth of this business sector, Blackwell Farm would not be the best location to offer this. There are many sites in the urban centre much nearer to the University campus at Stag Hill, than this one. Manor Park is home only to the recently built Vet School.

Provide enhanced justification to Government for a new Guildford West railway station

As Cllr Spooner acknowledges, the business case for the new Guildford West station has not been proven. It also does not appear that the traffic impact of the new station has been looked at in any detail, as a rail halt at this location might bring more commuter traffic to this heavily congested area. Certainly the proposed station has not yet been assessed by Network Rail from an engineering or economic point of view, as a Freedom of Information request reveals:

“We understand that the Council has engaged a consultant to produce a GRIP 2 study to further investigate the feasibility of a station called Guildford West (previously known as Park Barn). We intend to review the study once it has finished and provide feedback from a railway perspective.”

Even if the new rail halt were to be considered viable from an engineering point of view (and GBC planners have acknowledged that there are likely to be problems with gradients at this location), it does not seem right that GBC should be ‘manufacturing’ an economic case for the station by proposing more housing and employment land in the vicinity. This certainly does not seem to be an ‘exceptional circumstance’ for building in the green belt within the AONB setting.

Conclusion

Blackwell Farm is the only major development being put forward in the Local Plan that will impact on the AONB and the setting of the AONB. In law, AONBs should be given the “highest level of protection”. We do not believe that GBC has given due consideration to the AONB; but rather has ignored this constraint entirely, and so the Plan is unsound in this regard.
Viability

The provision of an alternative route to the Surrey Research Park and Hospital, which Cllr Spooner has described as the “main benefit” to the community of developing Blackwell Farm, is not outlined in any detail. Whilst this alternative route might be a benefit to the owner of the Research Park (through its ability to charge higher rates for the office space) and to some businesses on the Park (by attracting more staff from the west), the greatest community benefits would be to those staff members who might be living on the west of the borough who would use the new route to access their place of work - without having to join the increased queues at Gill Avenue and the Tesco roundabout. However the net benefit does not appear to have been assessed (which needs to consider increased journey time for any workers who would be accessing the site from other parts of Guildford (via Gill Avenue/Tesco roundabout) from the east and the net community benefit could easily be negative as a result of this new development.

Furthermore, from information provided in the Plan and in the supporting Transport Assessment, and from communications with Surrey County Council’s Transport Development Planning Manager West, Mike Green (see Annex 7), it seems that the new road depends on the following 4 schemes:

1. A new signalised all-ways junction on the A31
2. A tortuous road through the new development (to deter rat running) and possibly a secondary route with restricted access, possibly controlled by automatic number plate recognition (ANPR)
3. Changes to the Tesco roundabout on Gill Avenue
4. Widening of the A3

The viability of implementing these 4 schemes is covered in the Technical Note prepared by traffic consultant RGP and commissioned jointly by Compton PC and Compton Village Association (Annex 8). However, at least three of these schemes are fraught with difficulties that make it questionable, from a highways point of view, whether they could be delivered at all.

1. It is not certain that a signalised all-ways junction would be adequate to cope with the volume of traffic that would use the new route. This is the conclusion reached in RGP’s Technical Note. Surrey County Council acknowledges that a roundabout on the A31 further west would be a better option in highways terms, and indeed a roundabout further west was the option of choice put forward by the University when it first outlined its plans for Blackwell Farm to the Guildford Society on February 18, 2014. Guildford Borough Council has since stated that a roundabout would be unacceptable in terms of impact on the AONB and traffic. The Council has failed to provide any details of route options studies taken for this access, despite repeated requests (see Annex 9) and despite Surrey County Council stating that such studies were undertaken by Guildford Borough Council and are in the public domain. Even if a signalised junction were to prove adequate, RGP points out that this would require four lanes of traffic, and that in order to accommodate this, the bridge over the A3 would need to be widened, adding significantly to the overall cost of the scheme and casting doubt on its economic viability.

2. Taking traffic on a tortuous route through a residential estate simply to deter rat running is neither sustainable nor safe, and such a route would not be suitable for use by emergency vehicles from the hospital, which often need to travel at speed. The roads through the Manor Park Campus and the Research Park were not designed for a large volume of traffic. Indeed, Manor Park was promised by the University as a “world class car-free campus” so putting a major highway through it would mean another broken commitment.

The Manor Farm Master Plan (2003) also makes it clear that this was to be “a sustainable and predominantly car-free campus, with the objective of restricting net increase in car travel to less than 5% of the University’s current and committed traffic generation (including the Surrey Research Park) measured at peak times.” (Section 5.1)
The road would also have to pass through, or very close to, a belt of ancient woodland. Given that commuters to Guildford from the west would be feeding into the existing bottleneck at Egerton Road/Gill Avenue, traffic is likely to be at a standstill during peak hours and this will create further problems for residents, students and the ancient woodland in terms of pollution.

ANPR would be fraught with difficulties – legal and administrative. What about visitors choosing to leave by the opposite route or delivery vehicles continuing through the site and out the other side? How would GBC keep up with changes in residents’/employees’ vehicles and who profits from fines or bears any losses? This whole idea smacks of “clutching at straws” and does not appear to have been thought through.

1. The Strategic Highway Assessment (June 2016) mentions “improvements to the Tesco and Cathedral junction” (3.2.1), but no further illustration or explanation of these improvements is given. Again, GBC has ignored repeated requests to have these modifications explained. What is made clear, however, is that these “improvements”, whilst they might alleviate traffic on the A3, would not mitigate against the volume of traffic generated by the new development at Blackwell Farm, and that this would impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction.

“although there is a proposal to improve it [Tesco Junction], the additional access to and from the Blackwell Farm development via Gill Avenue results in a significant increase in trips on this part of the network. This is, in turn, impacting on junctions for which there are no schemes proposed at the moment, highlighting where additional improvements may be necessary. An example of this is the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction adjacent to the Royal Surrey County Hospital.” (14.9.5)

It is not clear what improvement could be made to increase capacity at this junction: Gill Avenue has already been widened and widening Egerton Road would involve widening the road bridge over the railway line, for which no funding has been allocated.

Additional traffic at this junction could potentially impede access/egress from the A&E unit, which was identified as a problem by the Inspector at the 2003 Local Plan Inquiry. He recommended a cap of 5% on traffic generated by the Manor Farm site.

The Inspector’s Report states, “As a safeguard, it is implicit in the agreement that if the 5% ceiling cannot be achieved, the scale of development would also need to be limited.” The University’s latest survey shows that overall traffic with permissions already granted would exceed the 5% cap. The University consultant (PBA) has fudged the figures by removing buses and construction vehicles. Even had the cap not been breached, it would certainly be once the cars from 1,800 homes, an extended business park, a school, a supermarket and a new station are added to the mix. Furthermore, the change from B1a (offices) to B1c (light industrial) may mean that more HGVs use this route, which could add to problems at this junction as well as on the business park and student campus – neither of which were designed for this type of traffic.

The Blackwell Farm development is dependent on Highways England committing to widening of the A3 between the A31 and A320. To date, HE has not told Guildford Borough Council what it plans to do, and adding a lane along this stretch is not straightforward because, as Neil Taylor (Director of Development at Guildford Borough Council) has pointed out, it is a “tight squeeze”. Putting forward a site without any tangible commitment from HE to provide the infrastructure necessary for sustainable delivery goes against Government policy (NPPF Section 6; para 47).

In addition to the difficulties in providing access to this proposed site from a highways point of view, it would appear that the new access road is unlikely to be economically viable either. The Technical Note produced by RGP indicates that the costs involved (£50-60m) have been grossly underestimated, and that they would not justify a 1,800 home development. In addition to the cost of road infrastructure, there are other infrastructure costs, eg:

- Suds (or reservoirs) to prevent surface water run-off flooding residential areas further north, eg at Wood Street Village. During heavy rainfall there would be 3.89 million gallons of water running off the Hog’s Back (based on one inch per hour, and one inch on one acre = 22,000 gallons). This would require at least two sudus to release flows at a controlled rate, one of which would ideally need to be located in the area allocated for the Research Park extension (due to topography)
• A primary school
• Sewerage - 1,800 homes would produce 300,000 gallons of sewage per day. It is not explained in the Plan where this sewage would be treated. If it were directed to the Hockford sewage treatment works at Pirbright, this would mean building new trunk sewers across Broadstreet Common, as the existing sewers are already overloaded. Similarly, directing the sewage to the relocated treatment works in Slyfield would involve building new trunk sewers. Both options would likely require a new pumping station on the site
• Construction costs. These are likely to be unusually high - Blackwell Farm is situated where clay is next to chalk and this can lead to instability and subsidence. The whole area already suffers subsidence problems – it was the reason the former Vice Chancellor Professor Snowden cited for vacating his official residence at Blackwell Farm. It may also have been the reason why UniS demolished the halls of residence (Stag Hill is also on clay). To mitigate against this, deeper foundations would be required, adding to building costs. The whole area is also subject to high levels of radon and houses located here may require remedial ventilation, again pushing up the costs

Given all the above factors, it seems highly unlikely that the developer would be able to provide a significant proportion of affordable houses on the Blackwell Farm site.

Conclusion
Aside from environmental and landscape considerations – ie the loss of important and effective green belt and harm to the AONB and its setting – there are clearly significant infrastructure problems to be overcome before this site could be allocated in the Local Plan. The site infrastructure is not deliverable within the budget outlined in the Plan, which is already well above what would be expected for a development of this size. More worrying, perhaps, is that development here would exacerbate existing problems on the road network, and at the north east end of the site it would impede access to the hospital’s A&E department and a major incident unit. There is a sense that this site has been thrown into the mix simply to keep the University happy, with the intention of resolving the infrastructure/access problems down the line (at the planning application stage). This approach to plan making is far from sound, and proposals mentioned by Surrey County Highways and the University to introduce tortuous routes and Automatic Number Plate Recognition are unsustainable and unrealistic. If GBC has to resort to such measures to try to make the access work, then clearly a large-scale development at Blackwell Farm is in the wrong location.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

- KJS response (rev c2).pdf (2.6 MB)
Rather than conducting this consultation in the spirit of openness and fairness, GBC appears to be bending the facts to meet its own agenda, which includes plans to develop Blackwell Farm. Most notable examples of this are:

- The description of Blackwell Farm as within the “Guildford Urban Area” when it clearly is not
- The description of Blackwell Farm as an “urban extension” and the doctoring of maps to remove belts of woodland to make the site look as though it is adjacent to the Research Park.
- Telling the public that the Plan has no development within the AGLV and AONB, when the Blackwell Farm development and associated infrastructure falls within both these land designations.
- The video, which appears prominently on the Local Plan web page, originally purporting to reflect “the views of local people” (later changed to “some local people”). This video is unbalanced and unrepresentative. More than 7,000 people responded to the last consultation on the draft Local Plan and it was widely accepted that the vast majority of these objected to it. Yet we did not hear a single voice of dissent in this video.
- Questions from some Councillors to public speakers in the chamber have shown a clear bias towards development of Blackwell Farm.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

My overall objections to development on Blackwell Farm were spelt out last year in Local Plan Consultation – Objection to site selection Blackwell Farm (A26) – July 2016. Issues raised in this document apply to the amended proposals in the latest Local Plan document. I have therefore commented on the following specific changes in policy A26 (Blackwell Farm) made in the latest iteration of the Local Plan:

- The phased delivery of housing, with a minimum of 1,500 delivered during the Plan period (Allocation (1))
- The addition of a new secondary school on the site (up to six form entry, of which two forms are needed for the housing on the site, and the remainder for the wider area) (Allocation (9))
- Changes to vehicular access (Infrastructure requirement (1))
- The proposal to “control” a through-vehicular link (Infrastructure requirement (3))
- The requirement for the developer to “have regard to” the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document
- The addition of a significant bus network to serve the site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre (Infrastructure Requirement (5))

I have outlined the reason for my objections to these changes below.

The phased delivery of housing, with a minimum of 1,500 delivered during the Plan period (Allocation (1))

I object to the delivery of a minimum of 1,500 homes on Blackwell Farm in this iteration of the Local Plan. There is an oversupply of housing built into this Plan, even with the inflated OAN of 12,426 homes (3.2), and therefore it is not acceptable to put forward an area of high environmental sensitivity that is not needed in this Local Plan period. Any buffer required by the plan could be provided by building more densely. The objectively assessed housing need has reduced from 13,860 to 12,426 (3.2). Blackwell Farm should not have been selected as a proposed development area due to:

- Its impact of the development on the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)
- Its role in effectively fulfilling the purposes of the green belt
- Its access problems, which render the site undeliverable
The impact on the AONB was spelt out in detail in my response to the consultation of July 2016 and in the Hog’s Back Natural Beauty Evaluation by Landscape Architects Land Management Services (Annex 2).

The role of Blackwell Farm in fulfilling the purposes of Green Belt was covered in my July 2016 response and also in the report titled: The Purpose of Green Belt – Blackwell Farm, (Annex 6).

Proposed access arrangements have changed in this latest draft of the Local Plan, and my comments/objections are set out on pages 32 to 39.

The addition of a new secondary school on the site

The addition of a secondary school at Blackwell Farm would exacerbate traffic problems on the adjacent road network (local and strategic), particularly as this latest version of the Plan states that the school is to be sited “to the north of the site” (Infrastructure schedule SED3). The inclusion of a six-form entry school, which would attract significant peak-time traffic through a highly congested area, has not been considered in the traffic model.

Changes to vehicular access

I object to the changes to vehicular access to the A26 (Blackwell Farm) PDA. Instead of citing the A31 as the primary access to the development, the latest version of the Plan does not determine where the primary access will be. Similarly, the access/egress to Egerton Road is only ‘preferably’ via Gill Avenue. Other options for the access to Egerton Road are not given. This suggests that the routes into and out of the site have not yet been established or properly thought through.

[Figure 13] – Tailbacks from the Tesco roundabout onto the A3 and back to the A31 mean that ambulances are delayed in responding to emergencies and it causes particular inefficiency to the ambulance service in non-emergency situations as ambulances queue up alongside other road users.

Any change that gives greater priority to the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue access/egress will result in:

- increased traffic flows across the Cathedral and Egerton Road (Tesco) roundabouts. The SHAR shows that, despite the upgrade to the Egerton Road roundabout, the junction would be over capacity (and this excludes traffic generated by the new secondary school and new “Guildford West” station);
- increased rat-running through residential roads in Onslow Village, Park Barn, and Westborough – queues already form back to Queen Eleanor’s Primary School on Queen Eleanor’s Road at morning peak times and this problem will be exacerbated as drivers rat-run through Onslow Village to avoid delays on the A31 approach into Guildford;
- increased traffic backing up onto the A3. Even if the A3 widening goes ahead (which is uncertain) the A3 will remain over capacity between the Cathedral roundabout and the A31 (see SHAR Figure 4.7 and Table 4.5); and
- delays to ambulances heading to the A&E department from the town, which lies adjacent to the roundabout. Ambulances already struggle to cross this roundabout at peak hours (Figure 13).

The proposal to control a through-vehicular link (Infrastructure requirement (3))

I object to the proposal to “control” a section of the through-vehicular link from the A31 to Gill Avenue (policy A26 Infrastructure requirement (3)). The Plan does not state how this control is to be implemented, although officers at Guildford Borough Council and Surrey County Council have suggested that automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) cameras might be used. If the access road becomes an adopted highway, the highway authority would need to agree to ANPR being used, and this is not certain (Annexes 7 and 8), which means that the controlled section of the A31- Egerton Road link may well have to remain a private road.

A private road is not a practical option as its upkeep/policing would be the responsibility of a private organisation, which would be less reliable than if it rested with the local authority. Furthermore, if the Blackwell Farm site were sold off in parcels to developers, as the University stated at its Bite Size Briefing on 12 December 2013, then responsibility for the road would be divided and it would be even more difficult to guarantee its ongoing maintenance/policing.

There is a strong risk that trying to control a section of this new road would not work in practice, and that this proposed link from the A31 to Egerton Road would become a rat run through the AONB for all the traffic heading into Guildford from the west. As discussed above and in my earlier response document, neither the local road network nor the strategic... network (A3) would be able to cope with this influx of vehicles crossing the Egerton Road roundabout, even if the junction is upgraded.

In addition, the impracticality of controlling a section of this new access road would have an adverse impact at the southern (A31) end of the link. Without controls in place, the new road would attract traffic from the wider network to the south, for example from Godalming, Farncombe, and Shalford. This traffic would head north-west along the B3000 (through The Street in Compton) and north up Down Lane. Down Lane has recently been designated a “Quiet Lane” by Surrey County Council and the B3000 already experiences high volumes of traffic. High levels of nitrogen oxides, which are well above the EU legal limit, have been consistently recorded over three years at one residential location on the B3000 in Compton.

The Air Quality Review of Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites, June 2017 states: “In 2016 a detailed air quality assessment of emissions from traffic passing through the area along the B3000 (The Street) was carried out. The results of this assessment show that there are residential receptors at which the NO2 concentration is above the associated objective. However, it is predicted that if little development takes place within the area and vehicles emissions are reduced by technological advances these objective exceedance should reduce to below the objective into the future, without additional measures being required locally.” (2.3)

Clearly any new road traffic scheme which would increase flows through Compton (such as an uncontrolled link road through Blackwell Farm) would adversely impact air quality and mean that measures need to be implemented.

Requirement for the developer to “have regard to” the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document

There is no published Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning document accompanying this version of the Local Plan and therefore I object to the inclusion of a requirement that is not fully explained within this policy (A26).

The most recent proposals for the SMC involve reducing road capacity along some of the busiest sections of Guildford’s road network in order to create bus and cycle lanes. However, this is not feasible in a town that is regularly gridlocked, and which is ranked sixth among Britain’s most congested towns/cities. Furthermore, it unlikely that the SMC would encourage any kind of “modal shift” as many of the routes proposed for cyclists would be unattractive, unsafe and probably polluted.

The addition of a significant bus network to serve the site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre (Infrastructure Requirement (5))

Whilst I support sustainable transport, I have been advised by Gordon Adam, a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Highways and Transportation[13] that Guildford town’s population is too small to sustain a viable passenger transport system and therefore I object to this proposal, and any reliance within the Plan on modal shift.

Furthermore, the infrastructure schedule does not confirm how this new bus service (BT6) is to be funded, although the suggestion is that the developer would be expected to contribute upfront towards its costs. This would add to the already unacceptable infrastructure burden placed on the developer of Blackwell Farm and raises questions of economic viability (contrary to NPPF Para 173).

Access problems, which render the site undeliverable

This latest draft of the Local Plan has still not satisfactorily addressed the access problems to the site and it is therefore unsound. The site is dependent on two infrastructure requirements: 1) widening of the A3 between the A31 and Stoke Roundabout; and 2) a “controlled” link from the A31 to Gill Avenue/Egerton Road Roundabout. The former is uncertain, and the latter is impractical.

The only way that the strategic road network could cope with the cumulative impact of growth on the scale proposed in the Local Plan, would be if the A3 widening RIS2 scheme went ahead[14], but any reliance on this road scheme would be misplaced as there is no certainty that it would be delivered either within the Plan period or beyond. Patrick Blake, HE Area 3 Spatial Planning Manager, writes of the scheme:

“This is not a committed scheme and we are currently at the early stages of developing a business case which will include how proposals will achieve value for money. We anticipate any decisions of schemes to be funded for the next Roads Investment Strategy to be taken in 2019. This would be a Ministerial decision (facilitated by the Department for Transport) not Highways England and timing of decisions could change.

[13] Gordon Adam is Principal Development Engineer at Wokingham Borough Council with 25 years’ experience in strategic modelling, transport planning and policy, travel planning and development control. He is a member of the Chartered Institute of Logistics, a fellow of the Chartered Institute of Highways and Transportation and a member of the Transport Planners Society

On this basis, it is accepted that there is a level of uncertainty on the delivery of critical infrastructure necessary to facilitate growth on allocated strategic sites identified in Guildford’s Local Plan. We have been working with Guildford and Surrey County Council to ensure that the Local Plan provides a planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward ahead of critical infrastructure to mitigate any potential adverse impacts to the A3 and M25.”

(Email from Patrick Blake to Karen Stevens, April 13, 2017 [Emphasis mine.] – Annex 3)

It is unsound for GBC to be basing its plan-making on the uncertain delivery of the A3 widening scheme.)

Furthermore, Table 4.5 of the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR), shows that if the A3 were to be widened, this would result in a 16% increase in traffic volumes northbound on the A31 through Compton – an area where levels of NO2 exceeding EU legal limits have consistently been recorded. The Air Quality Review accompanying the Local Plan states that this location “was not declared as an AQMA as the assessment noted that emissions from traffic were expected to decrease into the future which should lead to a decrease in NO2 concentrations measured in the area.” (4.1)[15] (emphasis mine). It is difficult to see how GBC is going to achieve this decrease with more than 1,000 vehicles per hour passing through the area in just one direction for three hours every weekday morning.

Despite HE making it clear in its original response[16] to the Reg 19 draft of the Local Plan that “There is still a level of uncertainty on precisely what improvements on the A3 can be delivered and the quantum of growth any potential improvements will facilitate during the Local Plan period, and despite the known problems of air pollution in Compton that would be exacerbated if the A3 widening went ahead, GBC is pushing ahead with its development proposals, and trying to pressurise HE into changing its position and deferring strategic highways issues until the planning application stage (Annex 9 and 10 ). GBC also appears to be trying to brush Compton’s air pollution problem under the carpet challenging the NO2 readings on spurious grounds (Annex 9).

“Controlled” link - A31 to Gill Avenue/Egerton Road Roundabout

Rights of way

The Council’s Deputy Leader has stated that delivery of the Blackwell Farm development is dependent on a new “western link” road from the A31 to Egerton Road, and under this new plan, it is confirmed that this new road requires a section to be controlled. (Policy A21 - Infrastructure requirements (3)).

New signalised junction on A31 - impact on SRN (A3)

Although controlling the access would reduce usage of this new link, introducing a new signalised junction on the A31 would add to queues on the strategic road network (A3). This problem was identified in Highways England’s response to the 2016 Local Plan, which was subsequently withdrawn following a meeting with GBC on September 1.
This HE response stated:

"Whilst the new access is proposed just off the A3 on the adjoining A31, the traffic impacts of these proposals could potentially lead to significant detrimental impacts on the A3. Whilst Highways England has a number of significant concerns with the Strategic Highway Assessment modelling evidence base underpinning the Local Plan, it does suggest that Scenario 3, which includes the new Blackwell Farm access onto the A31, leads to a worsening of traffic impacts on the SAN.” [Emphasis mine.]

HE also adds:

"To date neither the Local Plan nor its transport evidence base has confirmed that the new access is essential for the delivery of the Blackwell Farm site in line with Circular 02/2013 or that the new junction can be delivered safely without compromising traffic flow along the A3. The proposed ‘relief to the A31/A3 junction’ has not been evidenced. The proposed new access and link road associated with the Blackwell Farm development is therefore not considered Justified, Effective, or “sound” in line with the NPPF.”

The original plan for access to the Blackwell Farm site, described by the UniS was to construct “a massive piece of kit[17]” comprising of a lit, grade-separated junction on the top of the A31 ridge. This proposal followed an analysis by the University[18] for access to and from the site. The proposal to provide access along the Down Place driveway was originally dismissed as being impractical by representatives of the University. It is clear from studies undertaken by RGP and from observations of tailbacks out of Guildford (along the A31) and past the Down Place entrance that this solution is not viable.

Despite requests to look at the analysis of options for access to the site by the University and a follow up FOI request to GBC, it has not been possible to obtain a copy of the document, which originally dismissed the Down Place junction as impractical. The reason given by GBC was that this information is commercially confidential, presumably as it shows that access issues demonstrate the Blackwell Farm site development is not viable.

New signalised junction on A31 - impact on LRN (A3)

Although this version of the Plan no longer identifies the proposed new A31 junction as the main access to the Blackwell Farm site (Policy A26, Infrastructure Requirement (1)), this change is insufficient to address the traffic problems that would occur on the local road network to the south of Guildford should a new junction be installed on the A31.

Almost every weekday morning, peak-hour traffic heading east towards Guildford is backed up beyond the proposed site of the junction and also beyond the A3 slip road (Figure 16). GBC’s traffic model does not appear to accurately reflect this problem, and this gap in the traffic modelling data is pointed out by HE in its response:

“The journey time validation meets DMRB criteria within the borough of Guildford. However, it is noted that the A31 journey time routes five and six do not extend west of the junction with the A3. Therefore it is not known if the model is accurately reflecting peak delays on the A31 at its junction with the A3 during the average AM peak hour.” [Emphasis mine.]

If the new signalised junction goes ahead, there will be even more queuing on the A31 (Hog’s Back), especially if the A3 is also widened, as this will lead to a 9% increase in traffic on the eastbound carriageway (SHAR Table 4.5). Any hold-ups on the A31 result in increased traffic through the villages of Puttenham, Compton, Farncombe and Artington as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route. The Puttenham interchange, in particular, is an accident “hot spot”, and as discussed above, high levels of nitrogen oxides, which are well above the EU legal limit, have been consistently recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 in Compton.

[17] Presentation by Terence O’Rourke, representing University proposal at Guildford Society, February 13, 2014
[18] This position was confirmed in a discussion between UniS and a resident of Down Place.
Figure 16 - Eastbound traffic on the A31 backing up to beyond the proposed access to the Blackwell Farm development (Morning peak, May 23, 2017)

Figure 17 (taken from Google maps) indicate levels of traffic along the A31 on the approach to Guildford on a typical weekday morning in the rush hour (during the University term). They demonstrate that when congestion occurs along the A31, vehicles will take alternative routes into Guildford, through Compton, and through the section which is experiencing air quality problems. This is contrary to the NPPF (para 171) and is therefore unsound.

Figure 17, shows that the shortest route (A) from Puttenham to Guildford Station Car Park on 08 March 2017, takes the longest journey time (31 mins). Route (B) shows that time can be saved by rat-running down Wodeland Avenue and cutting over the Mount (29 mins).

When the A31 (Hog’s Back) is congested, the longest route (in journey miles) through Compton, Binscombe, Farncombe and Artington is the quickest (23 mins). This is the route that Sat Nav systems will direct drivers to take (route (D)). Route (C) shows it is also quicker to divert onto A3 rather than take the shortest route along the A31 (25 mins). The other option (Route (E)) also shows it might be quicker to divert off the A31, travel to Compton and cut up Down Lane to rejoin the A31 just to the east of the proposed access to the Blackwell Farm development.

Egerton Road/Gill Avenue access - impact on SRN

Any change that gives greater priority to the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue access/egress will add to traffic in this congested corner of Guildford and result in traffic backing up onto the A3. Even if more capacity is added to the A3 through the proposed widening scheme (which is uncertain), the A3 would remain over capacity between the Cathedral roundabout and the A31 (see SHAR Figure 4.7 and Table 4.5). In fact, the impact could be even more severe as traffic flows across the two roundabouts reported in the SHAR do not include additional traffic generated by the secondary school and the new railway station at Park Barn (Annex 12).

The problem of additional traffic from Manor Park impacting on the A3 (and on emergency vehicles to the nearby hospital A&E unit) was a concern for the Planning Inspector at the 2003 Local Plan examination when the University sought permission to move back the green belt boundary in 2005. His report stated that the University must “confine the increase in traffic generation from the Manor Farm site to no more than 5%.” However, the traffic figures put forward by the University in 2003, which were accepted by the Inspector (and which showed the University development would put almost no new traffic demands on the local community) did not include projections for the park and ride.

The University has not demonstrated that this 5% cap on traffic hasn’t been breached. The conclusions of the traffic assessment carried out by PBA in June 2013 (accompanying a planning application for a car park at Manor Park) are not valid as:

1. The traffic assessment was carried out outside term time
2. The decision was made to disregard certain journeys from the final figures.

Egerton Road/Gill Avenue access - impact on LRN

Any change that gives greater priority to the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue access/egress will have an impact on the surrounding road network on the west of Guildford, adding to existing peak hour congestion on Egerton Road, Gill Avenue, the A323 and on residential roads throughout Onslow Village, Park Barn, and Westborough.

Recent proposals to upgrade the Egerton Road roundabout and to introduce a rail halt at Park Barn (Policy A59) would offer some relief, but this is unlikely to be sufficient to mitigate against the impact on the road network from up to 1,800 homes, two schools, a local centre, an extended business park, a new railway station, and potentially all the additional traffic accessing the University and hospital from the west. Furthermore, under the Plan’s proposals, the capacity of the road network itself will be reduced by the need for a new bus lane/cycle lane (which would have to share road space through pinch points such as the A3 underpass).

It is evident that the Egerton Road junction would not be able to cope with traffic volumes from the Blackwell Farm development unless:
1. A link to the A31 was provided,
2. Rat-running along this link was discouraged through the introduction of some kind of “control” (A26 Infrastructure Requirement (3)), and
3. The A3 was widened.

Details of how GBC plans to control this link are not provided, but it questionable whether SCC would introduce any control on a public road. It is probable, therefore, that the proposed “controlled section” would remain in private hands, and its ongoing maintenance and policing would rest with the developer(s). This is a far from reliable solution and there is a strong risk that measures to control the route would be subsequently abandoned due to its impracticality or due to funding not being forthcoming. This would have serious consequences for users of the road network on the west of Guildford and particularly for the emergency vehicles trying to reach the adjacent Royal Surrey County Hospital. Ambulances already struggle to cross this roundabout at peak hours (Figure 18).

[Figures 18 (a), (b) and (c)] - Blue light ambulance impeded by traffic at Egerton Road roundabout during morning rush hour on April 26, 2017. Traffic crossing this roundabout will increase as a result of the Blackwell Farm development.

Conclusion

The deliverability of the Blackwell Farm PDA depends on the provision of significant road infrastructure: the widening of a section of the A3 from the A31 to Stoke Roundabout; and a new access road from the west.

No business case has yet been proven for the widening of the A3 and HE has made it clear that the scheme is uncertain. It would therefore seem that the site is both “undeliverable” and “undevelopable” and runs counter to the NPPF (para 47, footnotes 11, 12).

“To be considered deliverable, sites should be available now, offer a suitable location for development now, and be achievable with a realistic prospect that housing will be delivered on the site within five years and in particular that development of the site is viable.” (Footnote 11)

“To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” (Footnote 12).

The new western link road, upon which the site also depends, will slice through the Surrey Hills AONB and an Area of Great Landscape Value (which comprises historic parkland). It will also pass through, or very close to, a belt of ancient woodland (now acknowledged as a key consideration (Policy A26 key consideration (3))) and a scheduled ancient monument. In order to justify this level of environmental and landscape harm, GBC would need to demonstrate that the need for this new road outweighs this damage and that the road itself was practical (in terms of its impact on the surrounding road networks) and economically viable (NPPF para 173). GBC has demonstrated neither in this version of the Local Plan.

Resorting to untried and potentially unworkable measures, such as controlling part of what would become a major route into Guildford (A26 – Infrastructure requirement (3)) in order to take land out of green belt and force through development would be questionable in any circumstance, but to adopt these measures in order to force through development in the setting to an AONB, in an area that is also an AONB candidate area, is bad planning and suggests that decisions are being made based on who owns the land rather than its suitability for development.

Overall the proposals are unsound as the road will plough through AONB to the South and road 2 will cut up existing Ancient Woodland.

Greenbelt and Countryside study flawed and made to fit as per developer wishes. Ditto SHMA figures.

No cooperation with Rushmoor or Hart District Council ref traffic impacts from the West.

OBJECT- AONB setting. also new assessment commissioned by Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough Parish Councils says the whole of this area should be reclassified AONB. Surrey Hills AONB and Natural England for some strange reason did not include Blackwell Farm in their own AONB review, they chose to exclude it.

OBJECT- All Land currently classified Greenbelt and AGLV.

OBJECT. More cars along Egerton Rd /Gill Avenue which is already gridlocked. A&E dept access problems for ambulances.

OBJECT- Road and housing destroying Ancient Woodland.

OBJECT, Surface water will increase flooding at Wood Street Village and Fairlands (who already have an issue with rising sewerage when it rains heavy)

OBJECT, protected species both animal and plant will be destroyed. Skylarks, Newts, Kites, Orchids etc etc

OBJECT, Working Arable Farmland should be protected so we can feed ourselves.

OBJECT, Historical importance of Henry 8 Deer Park, features still visable.

OBJECT, Surrey Research Park isn't full now, has empty units and acres and acres of unused space. Other office facilities in the area are also vacant.

OBJECT to the increase in Air pollution in the area. Destroying the plants that currently help to clean our air and then building 1800 houses with all the emmissions AND car pollution is a doble whammy for the West of Guildford. We already have high air pollution in this area.

OBJECT to urban sprawl

OBJECT to merge of Guildford Urban area with Wood Street Village

OBJECT to sacrifice of Arable land for SANG.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( No ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( No )

I object to any building on this Greenbelt, AGLV and AONB.

Residents and the wider community have not been listened to and most of the objections to this site have not be addressed, primarily the protection of our designated greenbelt, AGLV and AONB.

An independent assessment of the whole site, commissioned by Worplesdon and Compton Parish Councils shows that the site warrants inclusion into the AONB. This has been completely ignored. (strangely, the council excluded these particular fields from the AONB review list to be assessed by their own chosen consultant last year).

3, I object to further expansion of the Surrey Research Park when the current business park is not being fully utilised. There are still 'plots' which haven't even been built on yet, while other units are still vacant. The existing park is covered in surface car parks which could be built over. The lack of efficiency with the current Research Park with large unused space is criminal. There is huge traffic congestion throughout the local area impacting the Hospital, A3, Park Barn-tailing back to Worplesdon, Tesco roundabout and of course, the business park itself. Doubling the traffic from a whole new business park would double the congestion and severely impact our Hospital. The only access road would have to be cut through a section of Ancient Woodland (they've already started the road access). A joint traffic study commissioned by Worplesdon and Compton Parish Councils has shown an increase in traffic queues and congestion along the A31 and A3 which currently are gridlocked in rush hour.

9, Surrey County Council have already stated that there is no need for a further secondary school in this area. The nearby 'Kings College' is historically under subscribed and has ample room for expansion should it be required.

I object to another major road, serving 1800 homes and a new business park being added to The Egerton Road/ Gill Avenue area. It is currently one of the worst congested road networks in Guilford, always at a stand still every morning and evening with people trying to access the Research Park, University, Hospital, Tesco and the A3, the road has no further capacity. In particular, I am concerned about Hospital ambulance access, rising pollution levels and road accidents. I am also concerned that the this new road will serve as a cut through from everything North and West trying to bypass Guildford itself (which is a nightmare any day of the week or weekend).

I also strongly object to the impact on the current Ancient Woodland and adjoining SNCI Commons, this road will cut a gaping hole through a very important wildlife corridor.
Furthermore, I object to the proposed route coming off the A31 into Blackwell Farm as it will significantly impact the beauty of the Nationally protected AONB and have a detrimental affect on the arable land, large native trees and wildlife in the area.

I object to the University and GBC statement here. The proposal of 'controlled access' to the Blackwell farm site is completely unworkable. Aside from the fact that no working model of a large scale housing estate with ANPR or similar can be found (because it doesn't work), how can we possibly police this type of situation? Will the taxpayer have to pay to monitor this site?

The sustainable Movement corridor does not work on this site as it is very hilly, the average person will be unlikely to want to either cycle or walk up this steep hill. I object to Green Belt land being used for this purpose.

Who is providing this bus network? Has Surrey County Council agreed to provide these services? We have recently seen our local bus network in Worplesdon being shrunk as it is not profitable for the bus companies to run the services. Buses do not work, people like to drive!

Note 10. Primary provision is available in Park Barn and I therefore object to the building of a new school on this site.

Note 11, SCC has no need for extra school capacity in West Guildford. I object to this clause being added at this point to try and 'sweeten' the development, it is irrelevant for this Local Plan document.

Note 22. I object to this. As already stated, the current Business Park has empty units, unbuilt plots and acres of unused land (which was taken from the greenbelt in 2003). There is no supporting evidence to warrant a further Research Park.

In Addition, these issues are missing from the proposal, have not been addressed and should be noted;

There is no statement of special or exceptional circumstances to warrant taking this land out of its protection and this should be divulged ASAP so we can make informed decisions.

Air pollution is very high in this area as shown by recent Guildford reports, I am very concerned about the current levels and I object to this development as it will dangerously increase that pollution and subsequent health of our communities. I already have a friend that was forced to move from the area to Scotland to avoid air pollution!

This farmland includes some of the best arable land at grade 2 and 3 and should be preserved for farming.

There is no mention of protected species, skylarks, bats, badgers etc and I object to their destruction.

Flooding is a serious problem in Worplesdon, this development will increase those problems.

This document is not Legally Compliant as disregards various policies of the NPPF, which include but are not limited to, the protection of the views to and from an AONB, the protection of our best and most versatile Agricultural land, Greenbelt protection etc etc.
This plan is not Sound as this site A26 has so many environmental, traffic, flooding and financial issues it is unlikely to be built within the plan period or at all. It is unlikely with all the mitigation required that the site will offer any form of affordable housing after a viability calculation.

This plan fails the Duty to Cooperate as it has not considered our neighbours in Rushmoor who have a huge development proposal for thousands of houses, most of which will rely on the A31 and A3 as their major transport links. Furthermore, Waverley sites such as Dunsfold which also have a huge impact on the A31/A3 junction have not been assessed for their additional impact.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Hi Neville. My computer is playing up—I hope that you can decipher my objections to Blackwell farm being built on. Apart from having a town being built on attractive countryside—there is absolutely no sense in increasing traffic to Guildford’s roads. As everybody knows the roads here cannot take any more traffic as they are at standstill much of the time. Why does Guildford need 1800 new houses? Just to satisfy The University’s greedy ambitions attracting more and more foreign students. The more foreign students we train—the better their work force will be in the future—to the detriment of our work force. So should we be keen to attract too many foreign students here?

Object to the choice of this site.

It is a green belt site, close to areas of AONB and GLV, and new roads would cut through these areas. This area should have been incorporated in its entirety into the AONB or at least into the AGLV. The views across this land down into Guildford Town and from Guildford centre to the AONB are among the most iconic in the borough. to destroy them would be municipal vandalism on an enormous scale. This site includes high quality agricultural land that should not be developed.

Building on this area would cause great harm to the green belt and this is considered in more detail in the attachment, as is sustainability.

I am writing to object to the development of a 1800 home development and a new business Park on the beautiful Blackwell Farm. Apart from the stunning views that the Hogs Back provides, the area is classified as the Surrey Hills, which I believe is a ANOB and should be protected. The wildlife of which there is many would be destroyed and the additional traffic would be a nightmare. The area does not have the infrastructure for this development. It should be on brownfield land and it would destroy tourism who like to walk in the area. I totally object to this development.

I would also point out, with relation to Site Allocation A26, that the objection comments made in my 16/9/14 submission in relation to Site 60 are still relevant even if the details of the proposal have been somewhat amended.

SUBMISSION dated 16/9/14:

All points listed should be treated as Objections to the Plan

1. In the Foreword to the Plan, page 7, Monika Juneja states that “We have sought to select sites carefully and in a way which does not over burden any single area of our borough and ensure that the right infrastructure is in place”

I am a resident of Worplesdon parish in which I therefore take a particular interest. Worplesdon currently has 3577 dwellings. The proposed housing developments in Worplesdon are Blackwell farm, of which at least 1000 houses will fall within the parish, Fairlands (safeguarded) 773 houses, Liddington Hall 625 houses and Keens Lane 140 homes. This totals 2538 homes which would be an increase of 71% to housing in the parish. In a Green Belt area with only minor roads this is in direct contradiction to Ms Juneja’s statement and is without a thought for the local infrastructure which is already overburdened before a single new house is built.

1. Site 60 Blackwell Farm. 106 hectares of farming land to be used for 2,250 houses, offices, 8 Traveller pitches, school, shops, railway station and community facilities.

The land at Blackwell Farm fulfils all 5 functions of the Green Belt: (NPPF para 80)

• To prevent urban sprawl from London.
• To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas.
• To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another.
• To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.
• To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns.

Therefore for the above reasons and those below the development should be refused.

NPPF para 79 states that:

“The Government attaches great importance to the Green Belt. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of the Green belt are their openness and their permanence.”

NPPF para 83 states that:

• “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in “exceptional circumstances”
• “Inappropriate development is by definition harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstance”

Part of this area to be built on is registered as an AONB. GBC would have to show “exceptional circumstances” in order to build on an AONB in the Green Belt. It would have a devastating impact on the AONB from an aesthetic and environmental perspective.

The site is located within 5km of Whitmoor Common - an SPA and SSSI - and forms part of a vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common with the Hogs Back via Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside Commons (SNCI)

The panoramic views from the Hogs Back form an important part of Guildford’s landscape heritage – you can see the cathedral from here.

There is an ancient woodland that would be affected by these proposals.

Blackwell Farm has many public footpaths and bridleways which offer extensive walking, horse riding and bicycling to local residents and visitors to Guildford.

The Hogs Back is the only steep, north-facing chalk ridge in the southeast and is home to some rare plant species and many protected animals and birds. There are a number of endangered (red list) species which inhabit the Hogs Back, including skylarks, little owls, yellow hammers and curlews.

Blackwell Farm is a working farm. It is good quality agricultural land. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there will be greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country in the future years.

This land is formed of chalk and currently soaks up a significant amount of surface water. If it is developed and concreted over, this surface water run off would exacerbate existing flooding problems in Wood Street Village and Fairlands.

The A31 is already a congested road where it joins the A3 and an extra 5,000+ cars generated will make the problem worse.

It would be controversial to build roads across an AONB and an exit road through to the Research Park / Tesco roundabout would add enormously to the traffic congestion already experienced at this junction – the ambulances would not be able to get through to the RSCH.

Thames water does not have sewerage capacity to cope with a development of this scale.

In addition to all the above, no further development should be allowed by the University when they have not met their 2003 commitments relating to Manor Farm. They promised to have built 4,700 homes by 2011, yet even now they... have only built 1,665 – that is a shortfall of 3,125. If those houses were built it would reduce your already inflated requirement of 13,040 homes down to 9,915. It would be a scandal should they be permitted to undertake further Green Belt destruction when existing permissions have not been taken up.

Blackwell Farm is a working farm. It is good quality agricultural land. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there will be greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country in the coming years.

The land is ancient woodland and should not be disturbed.

The land abuts Broadstreet and Backside Common and therefore is an inappropriate and unnecessary place to site a SANG. We do not want artificially contrived SANGs when we already have natural common land nearby.

The public already has access to this land because of existing footpaths and bridleways.

OBJECT. This is an appalling desecration of the AONB and its surroundings. It is good Green Belt (see Q3). The University should get on with the planning permissions it already has. However, the Surrey Science Park and the University expansion together with the re-positioning of the University playing fields (with any future floodlighting) and the proposed new university accommodation blocks on the present playing fields has already wrecked the view of Guildford from the Hog's Back. I am not sure the Blackwell Farm development could spoil the AONB more than it has already.

Attached documents:
In light of this LCA it would seem to be prudent for any continued site allocation of this land to be qualified in the policy and supporting text to ensure that any development does not commence until completion of Natural England’s AONB Boundary Review and provided no part of the site is included within the AONB. The Plan should also provide for the development site allocation to be reviewed should the Boundary Review include any part of the site within the AONB.

Currently, no information is available for an AONB assessment to be made as to whether the proposed road access works and landscape changes proposed within the AONB would conserve its landscape and scenic beauty in accordance with Government policy. It would appear the works could damage the AONB significantly. If no sufficiently detailed drawings are available before the Local Plan EIP and an opportunity is given for a proper assessment to be made of the landscape implications, the Plan should make the allocation subject to the Council being satisfied, after taking advice, that no harm would be caused to the AONB, that no feasible alternatives are available or that any harm would be outweighed by the planning benefits arising from the proposed development of the site.

4. Objection 3 - Blackwell Farm site allocation

The Borough Council has reduced the extent of the site allocation for development of Blackwell Farm with the best of landscape intentions. The proposed vehicular access has moved from a high position on the Hogs Back that would have entailed significant engineering and road works and lighting within the heart of the AONB to a location on the edge of Guildford’s built up area and AONB. These changes are welcome but the revised proposed access creates new AONB implications.

At the time of writing no information is available as to the physical works within the AONB necessary to meet the substantial traffic flows to be the main access to serve the proposed development and provide an additional access for the Research Park and Hospital. It would seem that within the AONB there would be a new signals junction, new bridge over the A31 slip road onto the A3 and a new road running parallel and on higher land to the private driveway before crossing the drive to run parallel to it on the other and eastern side. The width of the bridge over the A3 would limit the scope for queuing lanes into the traffic signals junction and thereby its capacity. A roundabout might be better in highway terms but room does not appear to be available.

The works would involve substantial tree clearance and earthworks together with lighting at a high level visible in the wider landscape to the north. It would have the effect of extending the built up area of Guildford westwards. They would also open up to public view the proposed development from the A31 and those passing along the proposed new road having a degree of impact upon the setting of the AONB.

Government Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment – Landscape at paragraph 3 deals with proposals outside the boundaries of an AONB that might impact upon its setting. It refers to Section 85 of the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 requiring councils, amongst other public bodies and persons to “have regard” to the purposes of AONBs. It goes on to state the following:

“This duty (to have regard) is particularly important to the delivery of the statutory purposes of protected areas. The duty applies to all local planning authorities, not just national park authorities. The duty is relevant in considering development proposals that are situated outside National Park or Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty boundaries, but which have an impact on the setting of, and implementation of, the statutory purposes of these protected areas.”
The Surrey Hills AONB Management Plan 2014-2019 contains a similar policy as follows:

“Policy LU5 - Development that would spoil the setting of the AONB, by harming public views into or from the AONB, will be resisted.”

The Landscape Character Assessment carried out by Hankinson Duckett Associates in connection with Natural England’s (NE) proposed Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review recommended a candidate area for possible AONB designation adjacent to the south west corner of the Blackwell Farm allocated site and west of the proposed access road. That would not only include landscape that they as specialist landscape consultants considered would meet NE’s latest criteria of natural beauty for inclusion within an AONB but in so doing would avoid the lack of any physical features the existing northern boundary line follows. That same latter thinking did not extend to the large rectangular field on the eastern side of the proposed access road north of the existing AONB boundary passing through the middle of an open field and abutting the southern boundary of the Blackwell Farm allocated site. Every prospect therefore exists that the inclusion of this northern part of the field would be included within the AONB in the Boundary Review. If that were to happen the whole of the southern boundary of the Blackwell Farm would abut the AONB and its allocation would further have to be considered against paragraph 3 of the Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment – Landscape, regarding not harming the setting of AONBs.

Since this draft plan was prepared the affected Parish Councils have commissioned a Landscape Character Assessment (LCA) of the area covered by the site allocation. Their consultant landscape architects assessed the allocated development site on the same basis that Hankinson Duckett Associates did in informing Natural England (NE) in preparation for the Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. They used NE’s latest criteria of “natural beauty” for inclusion in an AONB or National Park. The LCA concluded that much of the site should be included within the AONB in Natural England’s Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. Being published in May 2016 the LCA was unavailable to the Council in preparing this Local Plan and therefore is a change of circumstances that now needs to be addressed.

In light of this LCA it would seem to be prudent for any continued site allocation of this land to be qualified in the policy and supporting text to provide for any development not to commence until and provided NE do not include any part of the site within the AONB in its final Boundary Review. The Plan should also provide for the development site allocation to be reviewed should the Boundary Review include any part of the site within the AONB.

Notwithstanding the concern expressed above about the excessively high level of development growth, the plan has a built in buffer for some allocated sites, possibly including Blackwell Farm, to be later deleted if included within the AONB or at least not come forward for development during the plan period.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.
- Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in ‘Guildford urban area’ and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

Purpose 1 - ‘checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas’. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

Purpose 3 ‘assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment’ - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - ‘assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’.

Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest.

The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion ‘hot spots’: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.
The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should ‘identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15’. In a footnote to this, it further adds, ‘To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.’ I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be ‘viably developed’.

8) I OBJECT to Policy A26 Blackwell Farm

I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane. Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat).

- Destroy views form the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object.

It's a huge new development being proposed within 5km of the Thames Basin Heaths SPA, and therefore it is subject to EU/UK legislation (NPPF 119). The impact cannot be mitigated with SANGs because there is no evidence base to support SANGs as required by NRM6 viii, NPPF 158 and 166.

It's partly within an Area Of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Area Of Great Landscape Value (NPPF 116).

It's largely agricultural land, which is an important national resource for food provision, and will become increasingly so, the loss of which the government is supposedly keen to minimize (NPPF 112).

It's Green Belt (NPPF 89). What are the exceptional circumstances that require this site to be developed?

It houses endangered species.

It has huge amenity value.

I object to the hiding of development by "deferment" (A24, A25, A26, A43)
This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by "deferring" it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:
I) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 - total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!) , and
ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 - 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

Greenbelt - This is an urban extension and is an inappropriate use of green belt land which is designed to prevent urban sprawl. It is also part of the ANOB and AGLV. It is an important view in this part of Surrey which should be preserved as a having important local amenity and historical value.

It is the Hogs Back, an ancient track way which joins another ancient route, the Harrow Way around this point.
It includes an area of ancient woodland, an area of ancient trees and endangered flora and fauna including reptiles and red and amber list birds including red kites and little owls. The ecology of this area will be irrevocably changed and damaged by increased numbers of people and buildings.

This is prime farmland which could be used for food production for our increasing population without the need for importation.

Traffic Issues - The current access points from the A31 are not suitable for a new development. New junctions would destroy part of the AONB and ancient trees which are part of the Down Place park land. Additional traffic on the A31 would make the road even more dangerous; there were 59 accidents here between January 2011 and April 2013.

I object to the development at Blackwell Farm. 1800 houses is again Urban Sprawl. These houses would sprawl Guildford to the very edges of Wood Street Village.

Greenbelt destruction should not be allowed when there are other viable options.

These options include:

Brownfield sites:

Town centre development:

Student accommodation on campus; not as they do now destroying homes in the town but freeing them up for families.

High rise student accommodation on campus. Much more effective and suitable for students.

Medium rise town centre development with affordable apartments.

Constraining the housing number with regard to lack of Infrastructure, retention of all Greenbelt, Pollution.

Reviewing the Housing Number. Brexit must reduce the number, potential reduction in Growth must reduce the number.

Going back and establishing a realistic, sustainable Housing Number based on what is achievable within constraints. i.e. 250 houses / year.

If there was a high demand currently, why haven't all the sites with planning gone ahead?. Lack of resources to build or lack of demand, or perceived risk by the Industry ?

I believe that setting a high Housing Number is very dangerous. When that number isn't met due to lack of resources or willingness to build by the industry, how will GBC deal with planning applications from sites outside the plan from other developers.? It is better to set a realistic Housing Number now rather than one based on fiction.
I objected to the previous plan in some detail. The new plan seems to have completely ignored my comments and I believe the comments of a vast section of the community.

- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt increase tail backs on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Blackwell Farm incorporates some of the most outstanding and beautiful countryside and ancient woodland, hedgerows and copses including the iconic view of the Cathedral rising from the countryside. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.
• Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

• Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

• Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”

Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge and the Iconic view of Guildford with the Cathedral rising out of the countryside). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.
The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The University in their submission to the old South East Development Agency in 2006 -2009 stated that a road linking the A31 to the A3 through Blackwell Farm would not relieve traffic but generate more traffic and bottlenecks and congestion. The University said such a road without the housing on Blackwell Farm would not work and with the added traffic of housing on Blackwell Farm would just cause Gridlock.

The University at that time stated no development except perhaps some minor extension of the Research Park and additional student accommodation and limited housing adjacent to the railway line to the north of the site could be considered. The University itself pointed to the AONB, The AGLV, the iconic views including that of the funeral and that nothing could be planned till the A3 was diverted or substantially improved.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

- This site comprises good agricultural land and is used for high grade farming to provide much needed food produce and is extensively used by local people for walking, jogging, rambling, cycling, horse riding and dog walking.
- I walk three times a day and often meet 20 or so dog walker 1, 2 and sometimes a line of many horse riders, cyclists, joggers and people walking having been advised by their doctors to do so and finding peace and comfort in the setting of Blackwell Farm. All comment on the beauty, tranquility and nature of Blackwell Farm and especially the abundance of wildlife and the scenic beauty. There are an abundance of permissive footpaths, old traditional paths some of which were public footpaths, as well as the Bridle path and Public Footpath and the grass strips around the fields.
- The University wildlife and environment study was greatly flawed and seriously affected by the farmer cutting the hedges and grass around the fields so destroying many of the boxes in the hedgerows and roofing felt squares that had been laid. The University census of users was flawed due to the census operatives expressing an aversion to dogs so not stopping most dog walkers and I myself despite walking 3 times a day on Blackwell Farm never having come across the interviewers. Strangely their report is unavailable from the University who claim, despite commissioning it, they have not received it!
- I was present 10-13 years ago when the University consultants Terence O’Rourke stated at the GBC Council moving the Greenbelt boundary allowing the University to build on Manor Farm meant the new boundary at Blackwell Farm would be permanent giving a minimum guaranteed 25 years. The same consultant speaking of the University new plans for Blackwell Farm in 2015 to the Guildford Society repeated this claim for a new Greenbelt boundary to allow development on Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back stating such new boundary would be permanent for at least the next 25 years. Quite hypocritical.
- The amount of run off of surface water from the Hogs Back fills the chalk pits making them unsuitable and dangerous as SANG. The risk of flooding and the need for provision of tanks and other measures to cope with the extensive surface water which creates streams through the fields and will be worse with roads and building on the land.
• The site is home to an abundance of wild life not used to roads, these include badgers, deer, owls, red kite, kestrel, yellowhammer, buzzards and even what people who have seen it can only assume is a racoon.
• The site lacks access and the plan to utilise a private road which does not have the approval of the main rights of way and stake holders in the road is a last resort after all other options failed to be realisable despite the University attempt to utilise bridle paths or a roundabout on the top of the Hogs Back which had too steep access and would have required 24 hour lighting unacceptable to the Surrey Hills Board. So a road with a single vehicle at a time, weight restricted bridge or possibly one parallel requiring a new bridge and cutting up through the AONB is now proposed. This would come out onto the A31 just after the kink as the dual carriageway becomes single lane two way traffic. This creates a blind spot both for cars leaving the site and cars driving into Guildford. The A31 and the bridge over the A3 would need to be widened. It just is not feasible.

Traffic is queuing down the A31 into Guildford most days from 7.00 to 9.30 so residents would find access restrictive with the proposed road network for the development. The proposed road would be steep and at times of the year be unpassable unless by 4x4 due snow and ice as we find with our existing road 3 or 4 times a year.

POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

20.1 - I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. I further object to the additional 300 houses for construction later on.

20.2 - There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

20.3 - Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

20.4 - The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane.

20.5 - Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

20.6 - The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension of the Research Park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

20.7- The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,500 increasing to 1,800 homes, two schools, shops, medical centre and an extended business park.

20.8 -The new road proposed would be inadequate for the volume of traffic and the University do not have the approval of those holding the rights of way on this road, and once the development has been built out it wouldn’t be long before new roads were required to serve the new population, which would inevitably pass through Wood Street Village (adding to the congestion in Worplesdon and potentially ruining Wood Street Village Green) and/or through Flexford/Wanborough, potentially ruining the conservation area of Wanborough, with its 13th century church and 14th century barns.

20.9- The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat)

20.10- The proposed development will have an adverse effect on the wildlife, rare and protected birds and mammals etc.

20.11- Blackwell Farm and the Manor Farm land not already approved for development, is an area of significant landscape character (comprising AONB, AGLV, Green Belt land and ancient woodland) and development should not be allowed on any part of this land
- The parcel of land includes AONB and AGLV, and therefore has to be built upon only as a very last resort (and only in special circumstances)
- The strategy put forward in GBC’s own Landscape Character Assessment (2007) supports this view, yet little is made of the AONB/AGLV designation in the Green Belt and Countryside (Pegasus) Study.
- The fields within the site that are not AONB/AGLV-designated form the remarkable open views that can be seen from the AONB and therefore make the AONB what it is. They form the views in and out of the AONB and should also be protected as per NPPF.
- The whole site forms the panoramic vista from the top of the Hogs Back – a historical and geological feature which contributes to Guildford’s special character. This, too, is recognised in the Landscape Character Assessment, which describes the Hogs Back as the ‘iconic spine to the borough’.
- The Hogs Back forms important part of Guildford’s landscape heritage and the views from the top of the ridge are fundamental to the character of Guildford
- The site in question forms the views from the Hogs Back – an important part of Guildford’s landscape heritage. This is recognised in Guildford’s Landscape Character Assessment (2007), which describes the Hogs Back as the “the iconic ‘spine’ to the borough and rural backdrop to Guildford”.
- The Hogs Back is the road with the longest history in England – carrying tradesmen and pilgrims for centuries. It was used by worshippers travelling to Stonehenge; Phoenician, Greek and Gaul traders; Julius Caesar on his way to London; William the Conqueror on his way to Winchester; and thousands of pilgrims, including Henry II, who made their way along, and beside, the ridge towards Canterbury.
- Writers such as Daniel Defoe and Jane Austen, among others, have marvelled at the beauty of the landscape that can be seen for miles in all directions from the Hogs Back.
- The whole area is rich in history, Blackwell Farm was one of the very earliest model farms and Down Place is believed to have been landscaped by Capability Brown.

20.12- Development of Blackwell Farm and Manor Farm will be at a huge cost to the environment
The site is great amenity for the people of Guildford – it is used by walkers, joggers and cyclists, as well as by microlite and acrobatic-aircraft enthusiasts.
There are beautiful hedgerows with a variety of plants, old trees, ponds supporting all forms of wildlife. There are rare species of wild flowers, including pyramid orchids. There are deer, foxes, rabbits and snakes (adders, grass snakes and slow worms). There are badgers, stoats and weasels, and field mice. There are buzzards, kestrels, owls, pheasants and woodpeckers. There are also skylarks, yellow hammers and little owls, which are all endangered.

The ancient woodland, which won’t be built on under the proposals, will be completely surrounded on all sides by development and will change in character as the inhabitants of 1,800 homes will cut through the woods as a shortcut to Tesco. Blackwell Farm is prime farmland – the UK is placing ever more reliance on imported food and every field concreted over will be another field of food to be imported at greater environmental cost.

20.13 -Inadequate Infrastructure
Infrastructure is inadequate to support the development Infrastructure changes should come before, or at least alongside, plans for new housing developments. There should be a master plan for the phased development of infrastructure (ideally including an A3 tunnel through Guildford, which would also help to alleviate the housing shortage as houses could be built over it). The west side of Guildford is already plagued by traffic problems and a 1,800-home development would exacerbate these. The existing road network would not be able to accommodate a further 3,000 vehicles entering/leaving Guildford from/to such a development either along the Hogs Back or via Manor Park. Peak-hour congestion on the A3 itself is set to get worse, and sending traffic through Manor Park would potentially impede ambulances travelling into, and out of, the Royal Surrey County Hospital. There is no gas pipeline to the area, and no mains drainage either. There are also reports that Thames Water does not have the capacity to provide water to 1,800 new homes in the area. Any development on Blackwell Farm and Manor Farm is on the wrong side of the A3, which forms a physical divide between the existing town and any new development. Any journey from the new development to the nearest school (in Park Barn) involves crossing over the A3 twice. Firstly over the bridge on the A31 (top of Farnham Road) and secondly back under at the Surrey Research Park. A 1,800-home development would put pressure on existing public services (schools, as well as medical and dental practices) and it is unlikely that the revenue raised from the additional council taxes would be enough to pay for another school.

20.14 -I strongly object to development at Blackwell Farm as when the University were granted permission to build on Manor Farm at the last Local Plan in 2003, it was agreed by the University and GBC that Blackwell Farm would be made into a Country Park for the residents of Guildford with a Nature Trail for School Children. The University and their Planning Consultants stressed that with the Green Belt Boundary change in 2003 no further development and movement of this new boundary would take place for at least 25 years.

I'm writing to express my strong objection to site allocation A26 (Blackwell Farm). My main concerns are for the effect that a development will have on the AONB and the effect that the development would have on an already extremely congested area of Guildford.

I'm sure you are aware that an independent landscape evaluation study for Blackwell Farm has identified most of the development site as meeting the criteria for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). For this reason alone, the land should be left untouched by the Local Plan.

Guildford is already extremely congested and the 3000 or so additional cars that would come with an out of town development has not been considered and would bring Guildford to a standstill.

This site was strongly objected to in the last round of consultation yet it still remains in this plan. I urge you to reconsider and withdraw this area from the plan. The Green Belt was eroded by the last Local Plan, it cannot be eroded further this time.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy views form the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads
- Add to Guildford’s pollution

Policy A26 (Page 182) – Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford.

I object: the majority of this land should be designated AONB. Most of Blackwell Farm and the land in its vicinity is of a landscape and scenic quality.

Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water run-off would affect Wood Street Village, particularly Pound Lane, which already has flooding issues at its junction with Oak Hill/Wood Street Green and Baird Drive.

The current infrastructure would not cope with the additional traffic caused by additional traffic.

We are grateful for all the work that has been put into providing the draft Local Plan. We consider it to have been undertaken thoroughly and commendably well, in the face of many different pressures – and including the unsuccessful efforts for a Local Plan in and around 2014.

We are also glad of this opportunity to comment on the draft. We ask that this response is taken fully into account as the draft Local Plan is considered further.

We are concentrating on the Blackwell Farm/Hog’s Back proposals, which also inevitably affect other parts of the Borough. We have lived in Manor Way, Onslow Village, since 1972.

We recognise the need for much more housing in the Borough, and especially small and affordable types of housing.

Regarding Policy A26, we fully acknowledge the restrictions proposed, particularly those proposed to limit the number of homes. We are especially pleased about the exclusion of the southern part of the site from the Proposed Submission Local Plan (except for the new access road). In our view, 1,800 homes is significantly more acceptable than figures like 2,000, 2,250 and even 3,000 plus -- which have been mentioned or proposed in recent years by certain parties.
Even so, we oppose such a large number as 1,800 houses and other properties being built on such a site. It is a site which has a major effect upon an AONB, and which is widely recognised for its beauty. It is highly visible, from many directions and to a great number of people walking and driving nearby, with the best views (from a long way off) towards the Cathedral. Some of the views from the Hog’s Back ridge would be seriously spoilt.

The whole site provides views into, and out of, the AONB; National Policy lays down that it therefore needs the protection afforded to the AONB itself. Additionally, Blackwell Farm should itself be included within the AONB, as demonstrated by the expert land evaluation study published last month.

We are also still disturbed at the proposal to take land out of the Green Belt. This would involve permanent loss of irreplaceable Green Belt land. It would also spoil an area of Great Landscape Value.

We fear that there would be a real danger of increased pressure for further development, in the area between the new road and development, on one side, and Manor Farm, on the other side.

If these proposals, and those at the Normandy/Flexford area, go ahead, we also have a concern that it would lead to Normandy in due course being joined to Guildford.

We are extremely concerned about the traffic access. Neither proposed access route is really adequate for the likely number of vehicles for the new village and for the already heavily trafficked locations. The tailbacks on the A31 would increase. Local roads, including several in Onslow Village, would be used as rat-runs. There would also be significant through traffic from the Hog’s Back to the Research Park and RSCH, spoiling the new village. These traffic problems are unlikely to be met by avoidance work. There are serious traffic problems in the area already, as is well-known.

One additionally fears that such a large building programme would affect low-lying areas a little to the North – especially bearing in mind likely climate change effects.

Such a large development on land, which has long been mainly farmed, would remove land which will really be needed for food production for long into the future. There are also concerns about the impact on wildlife, especially birds – as regular walkers in the area can confirm.

We also fear that over-development there would be likely to do harm to Guildford’s character.

Thank you for your consideration. If we can try to assist further, please let us know.

We recognise the need for much more housing in the Borough, and especially small and affordable types of housing.

Regarding Policy A26, we fully acknowledge the restrictions proposed, particularly those proposed to limit the number of homes. We are very pleased that the number of houses proposed for that area has been considerably reduced from previous figures. We are especially pleased about the exclusion of the southern part of the site from the Proposed Submission Local Plan (except for the new access road). In our view, 1,800 homes is significantly more acceptable than the much higher figures which have been mentioned or proposed in recent years by certain parties.

Even so, we oppose such a large number as 1,800 houses and other properties – including a school (or two schools) – being built on such a site. Even with the reduced number, it would fundamentally alter that side of Guildford, from a lovely rural countryside into a suburban housing estate, sometimes causing (and having) severe traffic problems.

At present the area has good quality farmland, bounded by an AONB to its South, a Site of Nature Conservation Interest to its North, with an ancient woodland on its East and countryside to its West. The whole site provides views into, and out of, the AONB; National Policy lays down that it therefore needs the protection afforded to the AONB itself. Additionally, Blackwell Farm should itself be included within the AONB, as demonstrated by the expert land evaluation study published a year ago.

It is a site which has a major effect upon an AONB, and which is widely recognised for its beauty. It is highly visible, from many directions and to a great number of people walking and driving nearby, with the best views (from a long way off) towards the Cathedral. Some of the views from the Hog’s Back ridge would be seriously spoilt.

It would involve moving the permanent Green Belt boundary for the second time in under 15 years. We are also disturbed at the proposal to take land out of the Green Belt. This would involve permanent loss of irreplaceable Green Belt land. It would also spoil an area of Great Landscape Value.

Regarding traffic: the plan would require a new access road. Bearing in mind both the current considerable amount of traffic in most of the area covered, but also the new traffic created under the Plan, the new road would be inadequate – leading to demands for a wider road or another road. It would also endanger Wanborough and Wood Street Village. It could easily slow down emergency transport to the RSCH. It would have a knock-on effect on alternative routes around Artington and Compton, and Onslow Village. The new road would also go through the AONB and through an area of Great Landscape Value.

It is significant that the previous Local Plan included a 5% cap on traffic increases in the area – which has long since been broken. On outcome would be increased air pollution in neighbouring areas – which is already over the safe EU limits.

We are extremely concerned about the traffic access. Neither proposed access route is really adequate for the likely number of vehicles for the new village and for the already heavily trafficked locations. The tailbacks on the A31 would increase. Local roads, including several in Onslow Village, would be used as rat-runs. There would also be significant through traffic from the Hog’s Back to the Research Park and RSCH, spoiling the new village. These traffic problems are unlikely to be met by avoidance work. There are serious traffic problems in the area already, as is well-known.

One additionally fears that such a large building programme would affect low-lying areas a little to the North – especially bearing in mind likely climate change effects.

Regarding Policy E4, we consider that extending the Business Park would do further damage to existing traffic and environmental problems.

General: Such a large development on land, which has long been mainly farmed, would remove land which will really be needed for food production for long into the future. There are also concerns about the impact on wildlife, especially birds – as regular walkers in the area can confirm.

We fear that there would be a real danger of increased pressure for further development, in the area between the new road and development, on one side, and Manor Farm, on the other side.

We also fear that over-development there would be likely to do harm to Guildford’s character.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I also object very strongly to Policy A26 Blackwell farm being built upon. This is designated AONB and should remain the beautiful place it is. Lack of infrastructure and increased surface water would have an affect upon the area in which I live the Parish of Worplesdon.

1.1 We object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. 1.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. 1.3 Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. 1.3.1 Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. 1.3.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. 1.3.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”. 1.4 Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. 1.5 Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more... sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.1.6 The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.1.7 The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.1.8 GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.1.9 The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.1.10 The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.1.11 The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

On the one hand at a national level the Government is saying that the Green Belt is being protected but the evidence at local level gives a lie to that. I swear that that if the Lake District or the Cornish Coast fell within the boundaries of Guildford Borough Council you would see it as nothing more than a suitable place to locate loads of houses. It's nothing more than vandalism - once it's gone it's gone and then you move onto the next site that you previously wouldn't have considered. Where does it stop? conurbation? Proof positive that politicians whether national or local know the price of everything and the value of nothing.

And this from a Conservative administration - the clue is in the name - aren't you supposed to "conserve"!

It it goes ahead at a level of 1500 to 1800 houses you can double the amount of cars it will attract as households nowadays are invariably two car. You obviously think that this part of Guildford is not sufficiently gridlocked as it is in which case I suggest you try travelling in along the A31 between 7.30 and 9.30 of a weekday morning.

In addition, how can you be so sure of the figures as to the number of houses required? I note that the Government's Infrastructure tsar, Lord Adonis (a misnomer if there was one) once stated that Guildford is one of the towns that should double in size. When in Tony Blair's government he was also one of the leading advocates for the introduction & scope of tuition fees - a policy that he has now gone back on. If he can be wrong about that, then he can be wrong about other things, in this case the scale of development required locally.

I therefore urge you to think again.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I would like to object to Guildford Borough Council's changes to the draft local plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & para 4.1.9), which,

1) disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review (para. 4.3.8)

2) directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion, mainly around the hospital and will encourage rat-running through residential areas.

3) ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.14a)

4) adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I further object to Blackwell Farm being included in this Plan as a development site (Policy A26 & Paragraph 4.1.9) which:-

Disregard an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review (para. 4.3.8)

Directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion, particularly around the hospital and A&E which would only add to the current serious congestion of traffic in the area of the A3 and A31 and will affect existing residential areas. Currently in the morning peak traffic period there is severe congestion. This hospital is a Major Incident hospital and fast access must be maintained at all times.

Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.1.4a)

Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Another aspect that must not be overlooked is the fact that this is farm land. In 2015 the National Farmers Union expressed alarm that our ability to produce our own food and be self-sufficient had dropped from 80% in 1980 to 62%. This will drop to 53% by 2040. As world population grows there is no way that we should be building on good quality farm land. A recipe for disaster. Again you must listen to us.

We suggest the following changes:

- Amend the boundaries of the proposed development site to exclude areas of Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty identified in the landscape study.
- Reduce the amount of office space allocated to ensure it does not exacerbate congestion around the hospital and A&E.
- Update the traffic studies to reflect the impact of proposed development and consider alternative sites for the business park.
- Explore measures to mitigate air pollution in nearby areas.

As part of the Local Plan consultation, I would like to strongly object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm (site allocation A26) as a potential development area.

This area is very beautiful and forms the views from an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty on the Hogs Back.

If the harm to the landscape were not enough to prevent this development going ahead (and it should be) then the queues of traffic on the A31 in the morning certainly are.

I grew up on the Hog's Back and the whole time I attended Guildford County School, I had to sit in traffic every morning.

The whole idea of adding traffic from 1,800 homes to this queue and to the queues at the tesco roundabout is crazy.

Blackwell Farm

I strongly object to any development on the Hogsback an AONB.

For very questionable reasons, a landscape assessment commissioned by Surrey County Council as part of the Surrey Hills AONB boundary review had omitted Blackwell Farm. However an independent study commissioned by Compton, Warnborough and Worplesdon Parish Councils concluded that indeed Blackwell Farm was very deserving of protection.

The land evaluation study, carried out by Land Management Services, an established firm of landscape architects, assessed the area using Natural England’s latest AONB criteria and found that nearly the whole of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary. The study also recommended that adjoining semi-rural areas on the western edge of Guildford, which did not meet AONB criteria, should remain undeveloped as they provided an important views into and out of the AONB.

Objection - There will be too many homes (approx. 1,800). Too much land will be taken from the Green Belt for housing. Also, housing density will be too high. There may be exceptional circumstances associated with building on this Green Belt land (eg research facilities near to the University). However, the number of houses planned suggests that the Blackwell Farm site will be overdeveloped (in relation to its position between the Urban area of Guildford and the open countryside of the Green Belt).

I simply cannot support a plan that will destroy acres of biodiverse green space. As I walked along the bridleway yesterday, I watched three species of birds that depend on this habitat for local breeding and survival. It is not acceptable to damage these populations, they require protection.

There is a balance to providing a sustainable community for growth and protecting natural resources. In this case I firmly believe the plan is wrong and reiterate that I DO NOT support the plan and the Blackwell Farm development.

Please find this email as an objection to potential development at Blackwell Farm, under the Guildford Local Plan. As a local resident and passionate conservationist and educator I cannot support this proposed development at all.

Inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9]:

1) It is home to a breeding population of nationally conservation sensitive bird species, including breeding populations of yellowhammers and skylarks. They are in decline and require protection LOCALLY.

2) It disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8].

3) It directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas.

4) It ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a].

I strongly object to Guildford Borough Council's draft local plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial estate and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, for the following reasons:

  • Developing this site will destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
  • GBC have refused to undertake full due diligence on how the housing number has been generated by the SHMA. It is apparent that this has been generated in order to support central government housing policy. This therefore cannot be considered to be a plan that meets local needs.
  • The proposed housing number is based upon a certain percentage net migration, given that the UK proposes to leave Europe, this calculation methodology must be considered unsafe and should be recalculated.
  • The University will not deliver 40% affordable housing they will utilise the “economic viability” get out clause.
  • Development of this site will remove 72 hectares of scenic parkland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
  • Even with the proposed widening of the A3, the current road network cannot sustain the additional traffic that this development will generate.
  • The University development of Manor Park was subject to a 5% traffic cap, this development will exceed this cap significantly
  • Even with the addition of an additional school, Guildford’s existing schools cannot accommodate the influx of children that this development will generate, they are already at 100% capacity.

Surrey University has still to build the amount of student accommodation on its Manor Park Farm site that was agreed when planning permission was given in 2004. The site is big enough to create accommodation for some 7000 students and possibly many of its staff. This would free up something like 2000 dwellings and reduce the need to build more. I object to their request to build anything at all on the Blackwell Farm site - an AONB. Any planning application they submit should be denied until they have honoured their current obligations relating to the Manor Park Farm site.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution

I strongly object to site A26 Blackwell Farm being included in the strategy and sites consultation because it goes against both the National and Guildford Borough Council's own policies as follows:

- Policy D1: P93 Design - Making better places
  - In matching words to reality, this policy has a hollow ring especially in the creation of the proposed Garden Neighbourhood at Blackwell Farm. The harsh reality is that site 60 is not close to the centre of Guildford and transport is ESSENTIAL. Public transport in the area is always being cut back due to lack of funding or is unreliable. Therefore use of the car is the order of the day, as has been found on the envisioned car free campus of Manor Park, now covered in acres of car parking.
  - Development on the Hogs Back will destroy the local character of Guildford.
- Policy P1: P45 Protecting - Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

- Policy P1: P45 Protecting - Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
Forming part of the Hogs Back ridge Blackwell Farm is very scenic. By law Blackwell Farm should be given the highest level of protection. See NPPF

- Policy P2: P48 Green Belt
  - Located on the outskirts of Guildford on the slopes of the Hogs Back in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Area of Great Landscape Value, Blackwell Farm is GREEN BELT.
  - Guildford has already lost too much Green Belt already. It is our legacy not only for our future, but our children’s future.
  - Access to the Countryside
  - Nature conservation
  - This land is high grade agricultural land.
  - Growing our food locally is sustainable and with climate change, this will prove to be even more so.
  - See NPPF
  - Chalk Down is rare in Great Britain and needs special protection.

- Policy D3: P103 Historic environment,
  - Blackwell Farm contains many ancient hedgerows, some of which date back to Medieval times.
  - Most of the hedgerows are well over 200 years old.
  - The Hogs Back is part of one of the oldest roads in Britain.
  - It is high a quality environment
  - Development of Blackwell Farm will not contribute to local character and distinctiveness

Policy E6: P79 Leisure and visitor experience

- The visual impact as seen from the Hogs Back and the Down will be disastrous. This visual amenity will be destroyed forever as has already happened under ‘exceptional circumstances’ with the development of Manor Park.
- The Hogs Back is iconic and Guildford’s heritage.

- Policy E7: P83 Guildford Town Centre
  - As it nestles into the North Downs, Guildford already suffers from pollution levels in excess of acceptable levels. It is a perfect trap for pollution. Located in such close proximity, Blackwell Farm provides much needed oxygen for the town centre.
  - This tract of land is the lungs of Guildford. The loss of Blackwell Farm will have an impact on health on it’s citizens.

- Policy 13: P113 Sustainable transport for new developments
  - The development of Blackwell Farm with housing and an extension of the Research Park, which is a “nationally significant business cluster”, will bring a huge increase in traffic to an area which is already over- burdened with chronic traffic jams.

- Policy 14: P116 Green and blue infrastructure
  - See NPPF Paras 7, 99, 117, 156 with regards to Biodiversity, Wildlife corridors and Climate change
  - The area supports a great deal of wildlife which include deer, skylarks, and badger’s setts. It is one of the few sites remaining in the Borough of Guildford where badgers have been able to survive in the area.
  - It was always considered to be safe as it was Green Belt in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.
  - There has been a dramatic reduction in wildlife since the Manor Park development.
  - Blackwell Farm is home for many endangered species.
  - It is well used by walkers, runners, dog walkers, and bicyclists

There are many areas in Guildford which need regeneration such as Walnut Tree Close and the Station instead of taking our precious Green Belt which is our heritage for the future. Vast areas of land are taken up with car parking especially at the University. With masterful town planning, students on campus and proper use of brown field sites, it could provide all the affordable homes required and a sustainable expansion of Guildford.
Furthermore in the light of Brexit, housing figures need to be reviewed and constraints put in place due to the Green Belt. Guildford is a gap town with a very poor road infrastructure.

The loss of Blackwell Farm will be detrimental to the quality of life for all who live in the Guildford area.

I STRONGLY OBJECT TO POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM HOGS BACK, GUILDFORD BEING INCLUDED IN THE STRATEGY AND SITES. This goes against both the National and Guildford Borough Councils own policies as illustrated in my 2016 submission. The changes to the 2016 Draft Local Plan do not reflect this and I am disappointed that the Borough Council has not heeded the voice of the majority who are intimate with the area and have had to deal with the problems often on a daily basis.

The University supports the allocation of land at Blackwell Farm for mixed use development. The site is an exceptional opportunity to deliver a mixed use sustainable new community, taking advantage of its location on the western edge of the town of Guildford to deliver new homes next to both existing and new employment opportunities and with excellent non-car movement links. It has characteristics that are well suited to a high quality residential environment that integrates with the existing town and makes best use of the natural features on and around the site. The University firmly believes this is an opportunity not to be missed to plan positively and creatively, to make a place that the town and the University can be proud of.

The University supports the principle of providing urban extensions to Guildford as part of a sustainable development strategy. The level of the objectively assessed need in the borough is such that it cannot be accommodated only by using previously developed sites and sites within the existing urban areas. The strategy must include extensions to the main urban area in the borough so that homes are provided close to the existing employment, services and facilities in the town. There are no reasonable alternatives to meeting the local plan’s development strategy that do not involve extending settlements, and hence altering the green belt boundary. This is the basis for the exceptional circumstances that underpin the alterations to the green belt boundary through the local plan.

In this context the University firmly believes that the allocation of land at Blackwell Farm provides a significant sustainability benefit. It is large enough to provide a significant number of new homes and associated services and facilities, as well as to fund new infrastructure and improvements to existing infrastructure that will benefit the town.

In particular it lies adjacent to the existing large cluster of employment, services and facilities on the western side of the town leading to a strong likelihood that sustainable modes of travel will be used by new residents to access the existing employment opportunities, services and facilities as well as those to be provided on site.

The Blackwell Farm site is integrated with the western end of the town’s proposed sustainable movement corridor which further emphasises the ability of the site to provide new residents with realistic opportunities to walk, cycle or use public transport to go about their daily lives.

The successful Surrey Research Park is a major asset to Guildford’s economy but is now almost full as the last available development plots are being developed. The Blackwell Farm site provides potential for an extension to the Park to build on its economic success, which has been and continues to be an important element of the growth and prosperity that Guildford enjoys and will continue to enjoy with this extension. The ability to extend the Park is an important factor in support of the allocation of the site through Policy A26.
In addition, the University itself is a major asset to the town and borough, not just educationally and economically but also through the cultural, sporting and social opportunities and facilities it provides.

The University brings a wide range of benefits to individual students and to society as a whole through the quality of the education it offers and of the graduates and postgraduates it produces, as well as through the dissemination and practical application of its research.

However, like all modern universities in the UK, it is expected to provide more than just high quality higher education and research. The University is also an important and powerful engine of economic growth. It is involved in social change, and provides numerous opportunities for cultural enhancement. It is a leading institution in the local community, and its students and staff use many types of local services and businesses and add to the diversity of the area.

The University’s people, both staff and students, have a significant presence in volunteer work in the town and borough, supporting many parts of the community and being active in a range of community groups. Many graduates of the University bring their skills to the local job market (and indeed many more would also do so if the housing market was more affordable to young graduates).

Of course the University itself is one of the largest employers in Surrey. When combined with the Surrey Research Park, and looking at direct and indirect contributions together, the University and the Park contribute about £1.7 billion to the UK economy and support over 17,000 UK jobs (over 10,600 of which are in Guildford).

Many of the University’s facilities in the town are used by and valued by the local community for the educational, sporting, social and cultural opportunities they provide.

Given that Blackwell Farm is owned outright by the University, there is an opportunity to generate returns for the University, which will allow the University to reinvest receipts in its facilities, and hence in the town. There is currently and will be for the foreseeable future a constrained funding environment. The returns from development at Blackwell Farm therefore provide real potential to help the University to maintain its position and realise its future plans.

These plans include the potential for the University to:

- Replace and/or refurbish building stock. The University has about 73,500 sq m of non-residential space and about 1,700 bed spaces designed and constructed between 1965 and 1972 that require replacement or refurbishment over the next 20 year period
- Plan and build a new conference centre for the University and the wider community on land already with outline planning permission for academic and supporting development at Manor Park
- Accelerate the building programme for student residences at Manor Park. There is outline planning permission for about 2,000 bed spaces at Manor Park (subject to detailed planning) that are dependent on funding to bring them forward. The University currently has a live planning application for the next 900 beds, and is expecting the determination of the application at any point, although funding is needed to bring these forward and indeed for the next tranche up to the limit allowed by the existing outline permission
- Plan and build academic buildings on land already with outline planning permission for academic and supporting development at Manor Park. The University considers that this would help to elevate its international position and assist in positioning the University to join the Russell Group of leading UK universities, which are committed to maintaining the very best research, an outstanding teaching and learning experience and unrivalled links with business and the public sector.
- Plan and build academic buildings for satellite engineering, communications system engineering, a business school or school for Hospitality and Tourism, and a potential Medical School and other investment in biomedical sciences, to enhance core areas of the University’s strengths and further enhance its position internationally and in relation to Russell Group membership. Whilst Government policy is that higher education is a key priority for growth and there is Government support for universities and the encouragement of innovation, Government funding for this type of investment is declining and funding arrangements generally have become more complex. Revenue from academic fees and other sources is not guaranteed to meet the level of investment required to achieve the University’s aims in the areas outlined above. Alternative streams of funding are therefore important to securing the future of the University.
The University’s sole ownership of the site is also an advantage in bringing the site forward for delivery of homes. This sole ownership provides greater confidence of delivery. The fact that the University is also a world class Guildford institution, rooted in the town and the borough, with a significant stake in the future of Guildford, is very relevant.

It is important and significant that the University intends to retain control over the development and the land, providing long term stewardship, and acting as a trusted custodian of the land and the homes it will deliver, to control quality and future management of the site. This is in marked contrast to the usual developer-led housing model where the same level of control and long term stewardship could not be achieved.

Above all the University has three key delivery goals that reflect its place as an important part of Guildford now and in the future:

- Firstly, to create a place to be proud of, so that in the future, looking back, it can be seen to have been the right thing to do and matches the aspirations of the local plan
- Secondly, to create a place of high quality on the land neighbouring its campus and research park, so that it protects and enhances what has already been achieved
- Thirdly, to create a place of lasting value to the fabric and community of the town.

- A new access to the A31 will allow access to and from the Surrey Research Park and the Royal Surrey County Hospital directly from the A31 without joining the A3 and passing through the congested local highway network around the Tesco roundabout and Egerton Road junction. Indeed by diverting some of the A31 traffic it will help to control this congestion.

Good permeability for pedestrians, cyclists and public transport will further provide opportunities for reducing congestion as the new homes on the site can be expected to be particularly attractive to those who work at the University, the Surrey Research Park and the hospital, who will all be within walking and cycling distance of these workplaces, and on an excellent public transport route.

Occupants of the affordable housing in particular can be expected to be local people with local workplaces, particularly so if it is possible to secure some of the affordable housing quota specifically for University, SRP and RSCH key workers through the use of eligibility criteria based on a formula linking rent to salary.

This means that the development of Blackwell Farm offers the University the opportunity to provide tied accommodation for rent to young staff that come to Guildford on short contracts. The benefits are manifold; firstly it makes it easier to recruit the best staff to carry out research and teaching to the benefit of all, by providing housing that is affordable to these staff in a market that is generally not affordable to them. Secondly, it means these staff will not be competing in the open private rental market in the town, so reducing the pressure on this market arising from the University. Thirdly it means these staff will have their homes close to their place of work and thereby reduce commuting time and costs.

Some have argued that the University can achieve this through its existing outline permission for Manor Park. However, initial attempts to provide staff housing have not been successful as staff generally, and understandably, prefer to live away from the campus and the student residences, in more traditional family housing areas. Units built to date for staff at Manor Park are therefore generally lived in by students as staff have declined to take them up. This does mean of course that any staff beds at Manor Park have been reassigned to students so making full use of the accommodation available.

The details of the potential ‘tied’ accommodation scheme have yet to be worked out in full. This will need to consider matters such as the numbers of staff likely to be involved, the eligibility criteria and levels of rent, and the relationship of this tied housing to the affordable housing quota. However, what is clear is that it is unlikely to be possible to achieve this on a site not owned by the University, so it is a unique opportunity for this site.

All of the above means that Blackwell Farm therefore provides a significant opportunity to provide a truly sustainable extension to the town. For this reason Blackwell Farm should be the first site on the list of urban extensions around the town, to reflect its superior ability to provide sustainable development when compared with other sites.

The University has reservations about the methodology and conduct of the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS), that has been used in the identification of sites for the plan. Leaving aside these reservations, the allocation of Blackwell Farm is sound for good reasons relating to its lack of environmental constraints, highly sustainable location, availability and deliverability. However, should the study be debated at the public examination of the plan, the University would like to be present to put forward its views.

The University has additional land at Blackwell Farm that can provide additional capacity for development that should be allocated as safeguarded land to provide longer term flexibility and help meet future needs beyond the plan period without needing to alter green belt boundaries again. This lies immediately to the west of the draft allocation and will provide another 800 homes plus other facilities and services. This includes potential for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford.

The University believes that the allocation of sites outside the existing urban areas should be predicated on their suitability to provide sustainable development opportunities to help meet the development strategy of the plan, rather than over-reliance of green belt scoring used in the analysis in the GBCS.

However, the University notes that its additional land is part of parcels H3 and H4 of the GBCS, which are adjacent to, and scored similarly to or better than (in terms of green belt sensitivity) parcel H2 that forms the basis of the draft allocation. Hence insofar as it is relevant, the GBCS scoring would support the potential of the land as safeguarded land.

This land, being adjacent to the new urban edge of the Policy A26 site, would be preferable to less sustainable sites in locations away from the town. It would also:

- Provide additional development in general that would increase the ability to contribute to funding of infrastructure improvements.
- Provide additional land that could be used to provide a new secondary school to serve the western part of town.
- Provide additional SANG.
- Provide additional biodiversity and public recreation access benefits,
- Provide additional local centre facilities, including a second primary school if needed.

The University attaches a map at Annex 1 that identifies the additional area (51.5 ha) to comprise the safeguarded land.

The University notes the requirements listed in bullet points associated with Policy A26. These are acknowledged and are being addressed in a masterplan being prepared for the site. Given the continuing evolution of the concept, a draft illustrative master plan has been submitted, in support of the University’s comments in this document. This shows the concept for the draft allocation. See Annex 2 to these comments.

POLICY A26: Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford

Allocation

1): The University notes the change to the text to refer to a minimum of 1500 homes being delivered in the plan period. We understand that this is not a constraint as it does not prevent the whole 1800 homes from coming forward in the plan period if the market and infrastructure provision allows. The University suggests this additional wording to clarify this:

“The total of 1800 homes may come forward in the plan period if the market and infrastructure provision allows”.

The University considers that there is potential for delivery to start from 2020 onwards. A revised illustrative masterplan is attached to these comments to show how the site might be developed.

3): The University supports the change from 31,000 to 30,000 sq m of employment provision. This is shown on the illustrative masterplan framework provided.

4): The University supports the change from 550 to 500 sq m of comparison retail, to be located in the local centre shown on the illustrative masterplan.

9): The University supports the addition of secondary school (6 forms of entry) of which 2 forms are needed for the site, the rest for the wider area. An indicative location for the secondary school buildings is included on the illustrative masterplan framework.

Requirements; infrastructure

1. & 2): The University supports the removal of references to ‘primary’ and ‘secondary’ access (so no access has primacy). The two access points and indicative routes into the site are shown on the illustrative framework masterplan submitted with these comments.

The University notes that the allocation boundary provides a narrow corridor for the access from the A31 but considers that at this stage this should be less definitive given that the detailed plans for the access have yet to be drawn up. The plan should provide for flexibility in the alignment of the access road and the new junction. The plan should show a broad zone through which the access will pass, subject to detailed design.

3): The University notes the addition of reference to the through vehicular access ‘which will be controlled’ for employees and emergency services. The University is content in principle to see a controlled access, but thought needs to be given to the nature of the controls being sought, and the mechanism. Without this the policy may not be effective. The proposed controlled through route is included on the illustrative masterplan framework accompanying these comments and is shown on the access and movement plan showing the key routes through the site.

The University notes the addition of a reference to a choice of vehicular access for new residents/occupiers. This needs to be considered in association with the ‘controlled’ access above.

The University notes that the through link is no longer to ‘provide relief’ on the A31/A3 junction, it is instead to ‘reduce impact’ on it. This change is supported and its benefit is acknowledged.

4): The University notes the reference inserted to a Sustainable Movement Corridor SPD, and that this document does not yet exist. The University looks forward to reading and commenting on a consultation draft of this SPD. The University supports the principle of this investment proposal.

5): The University notes the addition of text to require a significant bus network to serve the site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre. The University already provides/subsidises a number of bus services in connection with its campus, and this will be extended in an appropriate manner to the Blackwell site, in discussion with the bus operator and SCC/GBC. However, the words ‘significant bus network’ and encompassing ‘existing western suburbs’ seem to imply something far wider. The University therefore suggests that the wording be changed to say:

“extension of existing bus services to serve the site and to link it to key destinations and the town centre”.

The University considers that the key destinations include the Surrey Research Park, the Royal Surrey County Hospital, the University (including Manor Park, the Surrey Sports Park and Stag Hill), Guildford railway station, and the town centre.

6): The University supports the new text that seeks to provide permeability for pedestrians and cyclists into and from the development, especially from the urban area of Guildford. The revised illustrative masterplan (submitted with these comments) includes permeability proposals, comprising links between the site and the urban area as well as to the wider countryside.

10): The University supports the new text that adds a community building and playgrounds to list of supporting infrastructure. The revised illustrative masterplan (submitted with these comments) includes this provision.

The University supports the deletion of playing fields from the list of other supporting infrastructure to be provided on site, as this helps to make the best use of the allocated land for new homes. The revised illustrative masterplan (submitted with these comments) includes playing field provision off site adjacent to the development.

11): The University notes that secondary educational need will be re-assessed at the time a planning application is determined at which time any recent new secondary school provision will be taken into account. The secondary school will, however, be no larger than six forms of entry, as referenced in point 9 of the allocation part of policy A26.

This should be reflected in the text of this part of the policy, by addition of the words ‘The size of the school at this site will not exceed six forms of entry’.

The University supports that the associated ‘off site’ school playing fields must be dual use and secured through planning application. The attached illustrative masterplan shows the school playing fields off site adjacent to the development.

Requirements; other issues

22): The University supports the deletion of text that splits the employment floorspace over 2 parts of the site. The illustrative masterplan provides for this in one part of the site as an extension to the adjacent Surrey Research Park.

The University supports in principle the new text that states that both the existing Surrey Research Park and the new extension will be together treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site. However, it would seem unnecessary to include this in the policy text, which is already lengthy. Surrey Research Park (extended) is already in the list in policy E1, so this repetition in A26 is duplication and could be removed.

Opportunities

The three opportunities listed in this part of the policy do exist, and the University agrees with the principle of them. However it would seem unnecessary to include them in the policy text, which is already lengthy, given that some of these points are already covered in effect by policy D4 and elsewhere (including other parts of this policy A26 regarding links to the town).

Description

This section appears as supporting text to Policy A26 (it is not in the blue box). It adds ancient woodland, Policy E4 and potential air quality issues to the list of ‘key considerations’, and the University agrees that these are considerations to be addressed in bringing forward the new development required by Policy A26.

The illustrative masterplan framework takes account of ancient woodland, providing a 15metre buffer alongside it. The through road link to the existing Surrey Research Park, to enable access Egerton Road via Gill Avenue, will be designed to minimise potential impacts on the ancient woodland. The ancient woodland will be used to provide Suitable Accessible Natural Greenspace, and the provision and management of this is compatible with, and will take account of, the ancient woodland characteristics of the woodland.

Policy E4 is provided for by making provision for the Surrey Research Park extension.

A full assessment of air quality issues will be made at the planning application stage.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

CPRE OBJECTION TO POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM, HOGS BACK, GUILDFORD
We fully endorse and support the comprehensive objection to this site by Green Balance which has been made jointly on behalf of CPRE Surrey and the Save Hogs Back campaign.

1. Description
CPRE objects to this site being described as within the "Guildford Urban Area". It is in fact within Green Belt countryside in Shalford and Worplesdon wards and forms part of the Hogs Back to the South which is within the Surrey Hills AONB and AGLV. It is a mixture of farmland and ancient woodland and is criss-crossed with footpaths. Across its agricultural fields, there is a long distance view of the Guildford Cathedral tower from the single track driveway to Downs Place with its attractive avenue of trees. This development has been objected to by a wide range of Parish Councils including Arlington, Compton, Puttenham, Wanborough, and Worplesdon.

1. Ownership

CPRE does not agree with the categorization of this land as "Private" when it is in fact owned by the University of Surrey, a semi public body. In our opinion it would be better for this to be stated. Ownership needs to be clarified, especially as the Vice Chancellor's official house is located there, with an adjacent illuminated car park, a number of semi derelict farm buildings and a few cottages.

1. Research Park

The Research Park is owned by the University. It still has room to expand on its existing area which was originally allocated as open green fields. However, this land has not been used efficiently. It has a very low density building layout and a large amount of surface parking for cars which take up a great deal of space. CPRE maintains that the provision of a multi storey or underground car park would free up more space or alternatively new offices or other buildings could be built similar in design to the WWF HQ in Woking with parking at ground floor level and office accommodation above. CPRE does not accept that Green Belt land from Blackwell Farm should be taken for further development of the Research Park since the University already has spare space to accommodate expansion there.

1. Housing

The amount of housing for this site is 1,800 homes and 6 Traveller pitches, together with a primary school. Added to this is provision for convenience retail land a new Local Centre for community services and uses. We assume that delivery vehicles will be required for these facilities. We estimate that the new development would add 3,000 extra cars to the existing traffic congestion in the vicinity. The proximity of the hospital site would further complicate matters in terms of access and sustainability. It is our opinion that heavy existing congestion at the Egerton Road A3 roundabout would be substantially increased by this development.

CPRE understands that the University has made an undertaking to provide extra housing accommodation at Hazel Farm which has still to be met. Because of its proximity to the Thames Basin Heaths SPA, it is suggested that this requirement could be achieved by the building of a retirement care home. For some unexplained reason this has been omitted from the draft Local Plan.

1. Infrastructure

Access to this site from the Egerton Road A3 Roundabout via Gill Avenue will become even more congested were the proposed new development of 1,800 houses to be built.

Sustainability therefore is said to depend as a result on the provision of a new road to and from the A31 and maybe the building of a new railway station at Guildford West in Park Barn.

A technical report by RGP has been prepared concerning this proposed new road link to and from the A31 which questions the viability of this proposal. It appears that a range of technical and financial challenges would have to be overcome. These include whether the width of the existing roads is adequate to handle the anticipated traffic load and the existing bridge able to take the weight of the vehicles using it. The provision of an extra new road with a possible extra bridge would of course be very unsightly. There are also safety considerations that need to be taken into account in view of the history of personal injury accidents near the proposed new 4-way traffic light junction where the Down Place access road joins the A31.

CPRE questions whether the proposals for this junction is a realistic proposition. RGP indicates that the preferred highways solution would be best served by a roundabout. It is very likely that whether traffic lights or a roundabout was bui t, there would be a requirement for street lighting which would be harmful to the AONB and be visible from a long distance to the North. In our opinion this is sufficient ground in itself to make this proposal unsound.

We do not consider that either of these possible alternatives will provide a practical solution to the traffic congestion that already exists at this point of the A31's approach to Guildford. The prospect of vehicles (including ambulances for the hospital) using this road to avoid congestion at the A3 Egerton roundabout is daunting, particularly at peak periods of the day. Should the proposed access road to the A31 be built, we would anticipate that it will be used by a very large quantity of traffic which will stretch back from the A31/A3 junction and the traffic lights at the A31/Downs Place cross roads. The whole proposal would have to be assessed for viability by Highways England. We believe that it is premature to submit such an uncertain plan until a better assessment is available of cost and viability.

1. Countryside Harm and Urban Sprawl

From this policy presentation, it is hard to believe that the countryside at stake has been seriously considered. We are talking about an urban sprawl encroachment of 1,800 houses on the edge of the town which will make the existing congestion there worse rather than better. The new development will therefore depend on its sustainability on a yet unbuilt road adding congestion to the already difficult A31 traffic situation and undermining beautiful Hogs Back countryside which is recognised by everyone who knows it as a unique landscape location. Its magnificent views should be protected and enhanced rather than undermined in the way proposed. We are also talking about Green Belt land, which would be classified as highly sensitive by impartial observers, that borders the nationally important Surrey Hills AONB and AGLV with its views of the adjoining countryside stretching away to the North. It would surely be unforgivable if this were not conserved for the future rather than irretrievably harmed to meet local priorities for growth which are unsustainable.

The Pegasus Report on Green Belt and the Countryside has taken the totally arbitrary position that this site should be considered only of "medium sensitivity" as it fulfils just 2 of the 4 purposes of the Green Belt, which are in this case checking urban sprawl and protecting the countryside from encroachment. It does not take account of the site's historic setting. This far too simple approach totally fails to recognise how well this attractive Green Belt site fulfils these two very important purposes. We concur that the site cannot serve the function of preventing coalescence as there are large distances to the next settlement but this surely cannot lessen the importance of the roles it does perform. It is an unique location adjacent to both AONB and AGLV land which are also within the Green Belt. It is in fact one of the most important sites in the Guildford area. We therefore object to the categorization of this Green Belt countryside as of only "medium sensitivity", and request that the Inspector walk through this landscape so that he can see for himself and make his own judgement as to the importance of this location. Even though, after widespread public objection, the site has been reduced in scale to 1,800 houses, to lessen to some extent its impact on the Hog's Back, the access road required to the A31 will have a serious adverse effect on this beautiful natural landscape and protected countryside. This harm will be made even worse at the A31 junction if street lighting has to be installed. We do not agree that just because the Green Belt site has only passed 2 elements of the Pegasus test it can be said to have "failed" and therefore be considered for development. We further do not agree that the "benefits" for the allocation of this site add up to the "exceptional circumstances" required for a Green Belt boundary review which would justify the harm it will cause to this very unique countryside.

1. Landscape Evaluation

In 2007 GBC and Land Use Consultants published its Guildford Landscape Character Assessment & Guidance which includes in section B1a study of the Hog's Back Chalk Ridge. This refers to its panoramic and far ranging views, its pastoral area, and its large-scale geometric fields that dominate the north facing slopes. It refers to the sparse settlement in a unified restrained and rural landscape except for the visual and physical segregation created by the A31 trunk road along the ridgeline with the visibility of moving vehicles and associated noise. This document was made available to Natural England who are committed to carrying out a boundary review of the Surrey Hills AONB and AGLV in this area with a view to rural protection being extended more widely to cover this high quality countryside which is seen to be of potential national importance. Preliminary work in this context has already been undertaken by Hankinson-Duckett for Natural England. The Parish Councils of Compton, Wanborough and Worplestone have now commissioned a new study report for the draft GBC.
Local Plan which has been carried out by Landscape Management Services. This indicates that nearly the whole of the 265 hectare Blackwell Farm was of a landscape scenery quality that could merit inclusion within a revised Natural England boundary for the Surrey Hills AONB. Accordingly, we believe that it would be illogical to proceed further with the proposal for Blackwell Farm in the light of so much professional opinion, especially as the new access road to the A31 would be very damaging to a widely extended area of rural countryside and agricultural land, both by day and by night, from extra noise disturbance and light pollution. We believe that this proposal has to be deleted as unsound from the draft Local Plan because of its impact on the AONB and the setting of this very special landscape.

CPRE OBJECTION.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Having lived in Guildford almost all my life, I am very concerned that the infrastructure of the roads into Guildford, especially from the Hogs Back, would not cope with the extra traffic generated by this proposed very large development. Currently, the A3 through Guildford is busy and, with existing junctions and traffic volume, can quickly become a huge bottleneck during the rush hour, especially if there is a breakdown or accident anywhere in the vicinity. The large housing development proposed, with resultant extra cars, delivery vehicles etc. would inevitably substantially increase the traffic volume, thereby further slowing the traffic flow for everyone using these already congested roads for commuting to and from work especially.
The planned access to the new development from the A31 is supposedly partly to relieve pressure on the existing A3 junction at Tesco’s, but with the scale of the planned housing development and extension of the business park, I can only foresee that the proposed junction with the A31 will create another unpleasant traffic bottleneck in addition to the existing one.

I therefore believe that development of this particular site can only be detrimental to the already overstretched road network of our borough and I am strongly opposed to it.

I am writing to express my opposition to this proposed development on environmental and aesthetic grounds. As nature lovers and walkers, my wife and I regularly walk from the back of our house in Applegarth Avenue and within 5/10 minutes, we are walking around the fields which have been earmarked for this proposed development, admiring the extensive views up towards the Hogs Back. Apart from the fantastic sense of open space, far-reaching views in all directions, and peace and quiet, the area is home to a large variety of birds (some on the endangered list – yellowhammers, little owls, curlews and skylarks) and other wildlife.

It seems madness to me to destroy this rare downland wildlife habitat and beautiful environment in the Green Belt (and Hogs Back AONB) which is free for all to enjoy, so please seriously consider this in your appraisal of options for housing development in our borough.

I am writing to object to the proposal to build a new railway station as part of the larger development plan for the Blackwell Farm site. If a station were built, it seems likely that the footpath running along the back of our properties in Applegarth Avenue would become a very busy station access walkway leading under the existing railway bridge. One of the things which attracted us to move to Applegarth Avenue 15 years ago was the easy, unrestricted on-road parking. Is there any possibility of keeping things that way if we have a new railway station in the immediate vicinity? Nobody in Applegarth Avenue or the surrounding streets wants to see their neighbourhood turned into an extended station carpark.

I strongly object to the proposal to develop site A26 Blackwell Farm. This area is greenbelt, boarders and frames the setting for the AONB. Comment ID: PSLPS16/5960  Respondent: 8999361 / William May  Agent:
I, the undersigned am in complete objection to the land at Blackwell Farm being built upon as part of the Guildford Plan.

I have a young family, and we regularly go to walk and play in the land and woods adjacent to the Research Park and through Blackwell Farm: we walk up to the Hogs Back and enjoy the view: we forage throughout the year to provide food for our family: we enjoy the skylarks singing and the views where all but the cathedral tower is blocked by the mature woodland.

We are dismayed that this proposal is still on the Guildford plan and ask for it to be rejected on the following grounds.

True boundaries of Area Outstanding Natural Beauty

To build on Blackwell Farm and the Hogs Back would blight the views of the wonderful Surrey landscape for miles and miles. The beautiful ridge can be seen from the ranges on the next ridge and beyond, and to have buildings on it would be to the detriment of our county. I ask that the recent study by Land Management Services be honoured which showed that Blackwell Farm and the Hogs Back meet all of the criteria for being an area of outstanding beauty (AONB) and should therefore be recategorised accordingly.

This also includes the land up to the current Research Park boundary, as if these are built upon, this will be seen from the Hogs Back and ruin the views from the top. And therefore undermine the designation as an AONB.

Surrey University's proposal to build properties to high environmental standards that would be sympathetic to the locality is completely unachievable, as any building on that land would be to the detriment of the AONB.

There is already a recycling centre on the southern side of the Hogs Back which is an eye-sore and can be seen from the ridge, surely Surrey County Council is not going to do the same on the northern face of the ridge.

All of the land earmarked is either an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Area of Great Landscape Value or Greenbelt and should be protected by law.

Building on Greenbelt

Originally defined to stop Urban sprawl, I feel that it is illegal and immoral to keep changing the boundaries of the Greenbelt, and this area should remain Greenbelt so that there is a clear rural area between developments.

Risk of flooding to local area

The Hogs Back, one of the highest points in the area, naturally drains onto Blackwell Farm, this then drains in to Park Barn. Currently the farm land becomes waterlogged each winter, and slowly releases the water into the ditches and culverts to the back of the properties on Applegarth Avenue. These are currently just able to cope with the rain, however, as soon as the land is covered with tarmac and houses, it is a huge concern that the properties will be regularly flooded. The Infrastructure Study para 3.10 states there is insufficient waste water infrastructure for this site.

This is a huge concern to us as if our house were ever flooded it would affect our insurance premiums and make our house price fall considerably. We know from the experience of a family member that flooding protection often fails, and we do not trust the developers to make sufficient provision in this matter.

Surrey University's poor use of the land that they have already developed

A brief walk through the Research Park, or University Campus will soon show you that the University does not build things to high environmental standards. They have a sprawling campus, covered with ground level car parks: street lighting that is left on permanently adding light pollution to the local area: they have felled dozens of mature oaks in the building of the car parks and buildings: they have air conditioning units for large office buildings that are left on all night adding noise pollution to the local area.

To allow a further 10 – 11ha extension to the Research Park when they have made such poor use of the land they have already built upon would be a poor decision by planners.

Their history so far does not show any evidence that they will make any environmental considerations, it will purely be financial.

Proposed railway station

This will be to the detriment of the local residents in Park Barn despite what the Local plan says. Firstly due to the added noise and light pollution for the residents that back on to the railway line. Secondly, people will start to use the local estate as a car park for the railway stations. Obviously the council will then place parking restrictions on the roads, but then there will not be enough parking for the local residents and their visitors. We already have students for the University and hospital staff parking on the estate, it cannot take much more of this.

It is also proposed that it will serve existing housing developments. This is unnecessary as there are two extremely good bus routes for the local people in to Guildford town centre and the railway station. This will be purely for the Research Park, and if they were prepared to use public transport already, there is sufficient.

Traffic

To build the road that will provide access to the proposed development on an already busy junction of the A3 and A31 is ludicrous. There have already been fatalities on this stretch of the road which is getting busier each year, but to add another 3 – 4000 cars to that area of road can only cause more problems. We know that SCC are making plans for that stretch of road, but they are not listening to local people and councillors who have been asking for speed cameras on that stretch, so we do not trust their judgement.
The junction for the new road will also be on the ridge of the Hogs Back, therefore visible for miles around and a blight throughout the AONB, even with the landscaping proposed by the developers there will be noise and light pollution. As cars accelerate and decelerate, the noise pollution is worse, so this will be to the detriment of the local area.

To provide access from Gill Avenue will only add to the traffic on the west of Guildford around Park Barn, the Hospital and Research Park. This area cannot cope with any more traffic, especially as any light sequences are always swayed in favour of the Research Park, and not the local people.

Services

There are already not enough school places on the proposed development side of Guildford, short-sighted planning by previous councils has led to this. Our hospital and GP practices are also unable to cope with Guildford's requirements. Although provision has been made for a two form primary school, there is nothing for a secondary school, so all children once that age would have to go along the A31 and A3 to get to school, or go through the heavily congested Research Park. This is ill-advised and not at all safe.

Pollution

I have already mentioned the noise and light pollution that comes from the Research Park, added to the additional light and noise pollution from the proposed development, this again would be to the detriment of the current AONB.

Wildlife Habitat

The land proposed to be built upon has a huge selection of natural flora and fauna: nesting skylarks, deer, kites, ancient woodland, nightjar, orchids, to name a few.

Ancient Roman Road and Settlement

The land to the rear of the Research Park has huge historic value, and is a scheduled ancient monument, this area should not be developed upon.

Unable to afford rural house prices

We chose our house because although it is in a town, it is right next to an area of natural beauty, and fields that you can walk through in all seasons. We are unable to afford a house in a village and this was the next best thing for us as a family. No doubt, so as to make the most money from this development, the plan would be to put the less profitable houses nearer the railway line, and those which the premium could be charged for will be in the higher locations.

Green spaces

We do not believe that the University will provide enough green spaces - certainly how could they provide such long vistas as are already in the AONB and AGLV. Anything that they do provide will be a mere shadow of what once was, and this cannot be allowed to be. We know that there is already a meadow near to the Sports Park, but this is not advertised. We stumbled upon it once by chance and although nice in part, is artificial and tiny compared to the site planned for development.

True green spaces, and not manufactured ones are vitally important for the emotional and physical health of people. Anything that was created would no doubt mean a car journey for us to get to, and nothing in comparison to the beauty that Blackwell Farm and the Hogs Back currently proffer.

We are all "Objection" to the Policy A26 (Blackwell Farm) under the Guildford Borough Council's Proposed Submission Local Plan (2017).

Under the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & paragraph 4.1.9).
1.) It destroy the Outstanding Natural Beauty and the Natural Landscape of historic parkland.
2.) Impact on the local traffic network and increasing congestion in the area of A31 and surrounding road traffic network and hospital and all around local area.
3.) Impact on the local traffic network and increasing congestion in the area of A31 and surrounding road traffic network and hospital and all around local area.
4.) Impact on public health and safety as air pollution in the neighbouring area which has already shown exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

With all the negative impact on the daily life and health of each individual in the neighbouring area. WE ARE ALL OBECTION TO THE POLICY A26 (BLACKWELL FARM) UNDER THE PROPOSAL.

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas

I also object to the proposed Blackwell Farm development on purely practical grounds. It is hard to see how another 3 or 4 thousand cars could possibly be fed into the already highly congested area where the A31 and A3 meet. Even with the proposed traffic light at the top of the proposed new road up through the A.O.N.B om Down place, How many cars are you going to be able to feed in to the stationary queue of traffic on the A31 at peak times, with each change of the lights? Four or five? How long will it take to feed in a thousand or more? Meanwhile, they will be queuing up on the steep slope, which is going to seriously exacerbate the air pollution, which I believe is already as bad in parts of Guildford, as in central London. Then there is the question of how ambulances are going to get through all this extra congestion, to reach the hospital. The other proposed access road through Gill Ave, is already seriously congested at peak times, without adding another 1,000 odd cars to the situation, even if government funding is forthcoming to widen the A3. The argument that most of the people in the new estate will work locally is pure wishful thinking, as houses will be sold to the highest bidder i.e. the London market.

I particularly want to strongly object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site[Policy A26 & para.4.1.9.], as this disregards an independent expert landscape study, which shows that part of the site merits A.O.N.B. status, following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review[para4.3.8.] Even without that, the new road running right across the existing AONB will reduce it to a narrow strip of land, with a dual carriageway on one side, and 1800 houses on the other. Will it still meet the criteria to be called an AONB? I doubt it.

It also proposes more office space to an extended business park [policyE4] which will increase peak time congestion, particularly around the hospital and A&E, and will encourage rat-running through residential areas.

This proposal also ignores independent traffic studies, which show the impact of the Blackwell Farm development on the local network, and question the viability of the scheme[2.14a].

This proposed development will add to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for nitrous oxide.

I object strongly to building on the Blackwell Farm site, where numerous NPPF instructions would be contravened, and also National and International commitments on protecting Biodiversity. It would make a mockery of these 'instructions'. Surrey University should be forced to honour their commitment to building on the Green Belt land they were given, in good faith, in 2004. As the Green Belt was pushed back for the University in 2004, they are not entitled to apply to push it back further until at least 2024.

I wish to lodge my objection to any further development of Blackwell Farm and surrounding area (Manor Farm etc).

Living in Onslow Village we already get trapped when the A3 and A31 (Farnham Rd) get gridlocked due to minor incidents from the M25 down to Hindhead.

The road infrastructure is not in place to be able to cope with the extra traffic, people etc that this development will bring.

The A3 through Guildford already struggles to cope with the amount of traffic now and as soon as a car breaks down the whole town and Onslow Village become completely blocked. People use Onslow Village as a cut through and race through the streets already this will only get worse as they try to dodge the queues.

This development will also cause a beautiful green area to be totally ruined, this will affect the wildlife, the flowers and fauna as well as cause increased pollution and traffic noise.

The schools cannot cope Guildford County School is already having to build an extension in order to add 20 more pupils.

The university is gradually getting bigger and bigger with more and more student accommodation appearing.

This would just be one development too much.

Stop this nonsense now - refuse this planning proposal.

- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. As for Gosden Hill, the deferral is not a genuine reduction but merely a presentational exercise.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane.

Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

The new road proposed would be inadequate for the volume of traffic, and once the development has been built out it wouldn’t be long before new roads were required to serve the new population, which would inevitably pass through Wood Street Village (adding to the congestion in Worplesdon and potentially ruining Wood Street Village Green) and/or through Flexford/Wanborough, potentially ruining the conservation area of Wanborough, with its 13th century church and 14th century barns.

The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat)

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

I strongly object to the GBC draft local plan proposal to build 1,800 houses, industrial park and highway on the slopes of the Hogs Back at Blackwell Farm. I object to this development on the following grounds:

1. Destroy views from the Hogs Back ridge which has Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status
2. Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and ancient woodland from the green belt
3. The development will have a significant impact on traffic on the A31 a route which already has major congestion.

This response focuses on the proposed allocation of Blackwell Farm as a major development area in Policy A26, together with associate Save Hogs Back and Campaign to Protect Rural England (Surrey) object to the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the following grounds:

Legal compliance:

1. Failure to have regard to national policies and advice contained in guidance issued by the Secretary of State, in respect of policy on Green Belt and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004,s19(2)(a));and
2. Failure to have regard to the resources likely to be available for implementing the proposals in the document, in respect of the infrastructure requirements needed to allow the Blackwell Farm development (Policy A26) to proceed (Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004,s19(2)(i)).

Soundness:

1. The proposals to remove land from the Green Belt at Blackwell Farm and to promote development there within and in the setting of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty are not consistent with Government policy;
2. The proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm is not justified as this is not the most appropriate strategy when considered against its reasonable alternatives;
3. The proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to the impracticability of access and high infrastructure

This submission sets out the grounds on which Save Hogs Back and Campaign to Protect Rural England (Surrey) support these challenges to the Plan. We ask that:

1. Policy A26 Blackwell Farm,Hogs Back, Guildford be deleted;
2. The Blackwell Farm site remains in the Green Belt;
3. The housing provision in the Plan be reduced by 1,800 dwellings;
4. The infrastructure provision associated with Blackwell Farm be dropped

Access to Blackwell Farm and traffic

2.1 Policy A26 allocating Blackwell Farm for urban development is entirely clear (under 'Requirements: Infrastructure' that "The principal vehicular access to the site will be via the existing or a realigned junction of the A31 and the Down Place access road, which will be signalised". This is impractical. It is also so costly as to be undeliverable. The highways works are also highly undesirable on environmental grounds, which are addressed in section 3 below.

Impracticality of access from the Hogs Back

2.2 Compton Parish Council commissioned RGP - Transport Planning and Infrastructure Design Consultants to advise on the transport and highway implications of the proposed Blackwell Farm development. This report is in draft and available from Karen Stevens. It demonstrates that there is insufficient space on the A31 to construct the minimum necessary road space and associated infrastructure to allow the proposed signalised junction to be built. At least 20m total highway width is required, but the existing highway is just 14m at this point due to the road being contained within the A31 overbridge structure. This could only be remedied by hugely expensive highways improvements on the top of the Hogs Back, including widening the A31 bridge over the A3 and acquiring and demolishing dwellings on the north side of the A31. These have been omitted from the estimate of costs for enabling the Blackwell Farm development to proceed.

2.3 The report also shows that the anticipated traffic volumes on the roads meeting at the top of the Hogs Back are easily sufficient to warrant the construction of a roundabout at this Guildford Borough Council has not proposed a roundabout, presumably because there is wholly insufficient space for this to be built, and there is a likelihood of significant danger to highways users from attempting to insert a roundabout in immediate proximity to the split-level A31/A3 junction. Whether a signalised junction could work remains unproven.

2.4 The road layout at the eastern end of the Hogs Back is the proposed access off the A31 into Blackwell Farm would be at the existing Down Place junction. This is a very small junction which would need major improvement including left and right egress lanes onto the A31 which extend well back to absorb the substantial volume of vehicles expected to queue at the signalised junction. The road layout would need amendment to overcome the sharp dog-leg bend in Down Place close to the A31 junction. It is not certain that the existing bridge over the A31 exit slip-road (onto the A3 northbound) is wide enough given the need for bus, pedestrian and cycle access. There are also existing traffic restrictions in place to limit bridge loading.

2.5 Even if all these upgrades to the highways were achieved, the road layout would frustrate many drivers. First, modelling suggests (Surrey CC SNTRAM model - see RGP Figure 3.1) that two thirds of Blackwell Farm residents exiting Down Place onto the A31 in the morning peak would expect to turn left towards Guildford. The road is already heavily congested at this point at this time, so exit would be limited to a few vehicles that could find some exit space at each phase of the proposed traffic lights. There would be substantial queues back towards Blackwell Farm. Second, the road layout also seriously impedes access to or from the A3 north-east of the site around Guildford city centre. Drivers southbound on the A3 aiming at Blackwell Farm would take the A31 diverge to join the A31 westbound, but this would find themselves west of the Down Place junction to Blackwell Farm. Drivers would therefore be obliged either to effect a U-turn through a point in the central reservation of the A31 or continue to the Puttenham junction with the B3000 where they could turn around. Either would be frustrating and time-consuming. Both would be dangerous, as accident statistics presented by RGP demonstrate. Correspondingly, any drivers leaving Blackwell Farm from Down Place and aiming for the A3 northbound would similarly need to turn right and begin their journey by travelling in the wrong direction: they too would need to effect a U-turn through a point in the central reservation of the A31 or continue to the Puttenham junction with the B3000. Then they would return eastbound on the A31 join the morning peak queue, and take the slip-road to the A3 under the new Down Place bridge in order to travel north on the A3. The numbers of vehicles needing to make these awkward manoeuvres would increase the danger to themselves and to other road users. The alternative would be turn left out of Down Place into queue of traffic during peak hours before cutting through residential streets in Onslow Village and joining the A3 at the Tesco roundabout.
2.6 There is no certainty that the third party land required for the highways improvements would be available: the Borough Council has not demonstrated that it will be. There has been no indication that Highways England would agree to the widening of the A31 overbridge.

Alternative access to Blackwell Farm from Guildford

2.7 Proposed Submission Policy A26 states that "Secondary vehicular access is required from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue."

2.8 Without this access, the Blackwell Farm site would not be an urban extension but a free-standing urban development which happened to be located close to the edge of Guildford. The likely reason Guildford BC views this as a secondary access rather than the primary one is because it will be very difficult to achieve in a way which significantly increases highway capacity. The starting point for considering the Blackwell Farm site is that access into Guildford and to the A3 would all be via the 'Tesco' roundabout on Egerton Road, which is already highly congested. The Inspector's Report into the Guildford Borough Local Plan Review, in September 2001, reported on the (then) proposed development of Manor Park on Manor Farm:

"The principal access to the site from the A3 and the Stag Hill Campus is the roundabout immediately to the west of the A3 (the Tesco roundabout). This roundabout and other elements of the local road network are likely to be operating above their normal capacity before the development of Manor Farm is commenced" (paragraph 16.9.5).

"...the Council and the highway authorities were satisfied that a sustainable solution to the movement implications of the [Manor Farm] Proposal could be found and that to this end the University would, and could, if need be in conjunction with the authorities, confine the increase in traffic generation from the Manor Farm site to no more than 5%..." (paragraph 16.9.7). "...it is implicit in the agreement that if the 5% ceiling can not be achieved, the scale of the development will also need to be limited" (paragraph 16.9.9).

With that development and much of the Manor Park scheme now implemented, the congestion locally is even worse. We are aware of no efforts to enforce a 5% limit on the increase in vehicles associated with University of Surrey development. Efforts to alleviate this congestion may help, but fundamentally the scale of congestion in the peak periods reflects problems across the local network. If capacity were to be created on the Tesco roundabout, the likelihood is that this would immediately be taken up by the generation of additional trips, currently frustrated.

2.9 Gill Avenue, which passes the Royal Surrey County Hospital and leads directly to Egerton Road, will be difficult to join to Blackwell Farm (to its west). This is because a road would need to follow an awkward route either north or south of the Ancient Woodlands of Strawberry Grove and Manor Copse which shield the whole of the western side of the Research We strongly oppose any access through the Ancient Woodland as this would be environmentally entirely unacceptable. Road access north of the Ancient Woodland would funnel Blackwell Farm traffic through the Research Park. Road access south of the Manor Copse Ancient Woodland would funnel traffic through the Manor Park student village and ruin the setting of a Scheduled Ancient Monument (a moat at Manor Farm). It would also isolate newly constructed Veterinary School buildings from their paddocks. The road would therefore introduce pollution into a series of sensitive receptors (Ancient Woodland, the Veterinary School, student accommodation and horse paddocks) and pose a clear danger to students and other existing users of the area.

2.10 The problem appears to be that Guildford BC decided some years ago to allocate Blackwell Farm for development on the assumption that access problems could be resolved, but now finds that this is not practicable. The Issues and Options consultation in October 2013 proposed the site for urban development, but noted "There are however constraints in terms of access to the site from the A3, particularly given that where access would likely be required is in the AONB or very close to it. The site as a whole is very close to the AONB, which would require sensitive development and careful consideration." Following this, the Council tried to secure access direct from Guildford, via the 'Tesco' roundabout and Egerton Road. The heavy existing congestion on this side of Guildford turned out to make this problematic and little apparent progress has been made. Internal correspondence within Guildford BC on 12 June 2015 obtained only by Freedom of Information request illustrates this:

"Tesco Roundabout (Egerton Road/A3 northbound slips)"
GBC has been developing a junction improvement scheme for Tesco roundabout which could offer a substantial capacity improvement and may significantly reduce peak hour queuing. The improvement is subject to funding and to the existing hotel access being closed to vehicular traffic with a new access from the Sports Park access road. The layout is also subject to Safety Audit and technical approval. However, we thought it would be beneficial to share this layout with you on a confidential basis so that you can be informed of the likely scale of improvement required.

The next stage is for GBC to discuss this layout in more detail with SCC in order to get some idea of the technical aspects of the proposal agreed. For your information, the layout has been presented at the Surrey CC/Guildford BC Joint Infrastructure Group meeting which is also attended by Highways England. (Email from [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998], Transport Consultant (Policy) to [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] (Interim Head of Planning))

Little appears to have come of this initiative so far.

2.11 Meanwhile, Surrey County Council as Highways Authority is concerned about introducing additional traffic into this congested area from the A31. The extraordinary outcome of these difficulties is that the Proposed Submission Local Plan proposes the primary access for Blackwell Farm should be from the A31 at Down Place, whereas Surrey County Council has specifically advised that the primary access should be via Egerton Road.

2.12 Surrey County Council has advised a member of Save Hogs Back that a signalised junction at Down Place would not be adequate for the volume of traffic likely to want to use it, and has therefore been keen to discourage use of that access point. The methods proposed were making the route through Blackwell Farm tortuous and restricting access by means of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR). This is made clear in the exchange of correspondence between Karen Stevens (Save Hogs Back) and [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] (Transport Development Planning Manager West, Surrey CC) (see email exchange 3-7 June 2016 ‘Re: Access to Blackwell’ The Surrey CC response was after consultation began on the Proposed Submission Plan, demonstrating the gulf in approach between the two arms of local government at this critical stage. Surrey CC advised that:

"were ANPR to be implemented, it could be on a private section that formed the ultimate short link between the new development and the existing UniS activities in West Guildford. This section of the route would therefore not be adopted. ANPR is used on motorways/other routes (including the A3 between Boundless Road and the A333 where it is in a tunnel) where there are average speed restrictions in place. Clearly these are not used to control access on the public highway, and I recognise that this would be a quantum leap to use this technology on the public highway for these purposes.

2.13 Surrey County Council's position now is that "All of the principles behind the access strategy would need to be justified through the production of a Transport Assessment, which... would not come about until the planning application/pre-planning process." The effect of the impasse is therefore that Guildford BC is seeking to allocate a site which Surrey CC is far from certain of being capable of delivery, with the County Council requesting that matters be left for sorting out at the planning application stage. Guildford Borough Council has been unhelpful in addressing the concerns raised by Save Hogs Back, with a failure to answer emails properly or at all (see 'RE: Down Place junction (UNC)’ 12-19 May 2016 and 'Fwd: Blackwell access’ 23 June 2016) and no engagement in the access difficulties raised by their own proposals. Our experiences illustrate the reticence of the parties to accept the lack of feasibility of access to the Blackwell Farm site. In our view it would be irresponsible for the forwarding planning process to allocate Blackwell Farm without absolutely clear understandings of how access to it would be achieved, what the network effects would be, how congestion would be avoided, and who would pay for the necessary infrastructure. It is clear that there are currently no answers to these questions.

Through access between the A31 and west Guildford via Blackwell Farm

2.14 The Proposed Submission Plan is clear in Policy A26 that "A through vehicular link is required via the above accesses between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road to provide a new route to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey's Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. This will provide relief to the A31/A3 t Junction, in advance of the delivery of Highways England's A3 Guildford scheme." In other words, the intention is to attract additional traffic off the A31 and A3 through the Blackwell Farm site in a 'Sustainable Movement Corridor'. We consider there is nothing sustainable in a glorified rat-run.

2.15 Guildford Borough Council is explicitly trying to promote what Surrey County Council is trying to avoid. Given that both ends of the route have proved impractical just to meet the impacts of the Blackwell Farm development, we consider a further increase in their capacity is wholly unrealistic. This confusion is wholly We consider the Plan is unsound on the ground that it is not deliverable. In addition to the practicability, we notice that Policy A26 in the Plan expects the Blackwell Farm development to pay for this additional infrastructure for other users attracted to the area: "Developer to provide the western route section of the Sustainable Movement Corridor on the site and make a necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering the western route section on the Local Road Network."

2.16 There are practical problems in putting a through route into position between Gill Avenue and the A31 at Down Place while serving the Blackwell Farm Connecting the 'Sustainable Movement Corridor' to Gill Road will be problematic. The routes noted in paragraph 2.9 above would be tortuous if north of the Ancient Woodland, while a link south of the Ancient Woodland would barely serve the Blackwell Farm development at all (which would all be to its north). Both routes would send through traffic to the hospital and elsewhere through residential areas (Blackwell Farm or Manor Park campus).

2.17 Not only are the access routes in the Proposed Submission Plan inadequate for the task, but Surrey County Council and Guildford Borough Council have played down the traffic volumes which will need to use them at peak periods:

- the data from SCC's Strategic Highways Assessment Report are the average for the morning peak three hours (not the average for the morning peak one hour, which would be 16% higher);

- no allowance has been made for the impacts of promoting a through vehicular link, but the SHAR is forced to acknowledge that, with this, "then flows through the development may be higher still" (paragraph 4.7.S).

The higher real traffic volumes in the peak may necessitate still larger works at the accesses, with associated practical problems and also additional costs.

2.18 The effect of these numerous deficiencies and confusions is that there is wholly insufficient evidence to demonstrate that the access arrangements in the Proposed Submission Plan to and through the Blackwell Farm site are actually deliverable. This is in breach of Government policy:

- it is the intention in DfT Circular 02/2013 The strategic road network and the delivery of sustainable development on capacity enhancements that "Capacity enhancements and infrastructure requirements to deliver strategic growth should be identified at the Local Plan stage, which provides the best opportunity to consider development aspirations alongside the associated strategic infrastructure needs."

Paragraph 158 of the NPPF similarly requires that "Each local planning authority should ensure that the Local Plan is based on adequate, up-to-date and relevant evidence about the economic, social and environmental characteristics and prospects of the area" (emphasis added).

The proposals have therefore failed to have adequate regard to national policies and advice. The Plan is unsound because the proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective, as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to the impracticability of access.

Cost of access to Blackwell Farm

2.19 The transport costs of the proposed works to give access to Blackwell Farm have been understated in the Proposed Submission Plan. Some of the costs are listed in Appendix C of the Plan. The need to resolve consequential highways infrastructure requirements is identified in Policy A26 but not costed. Further requirements have been identified by RGP but not costed. The table below lists the main transport-related items.

2.20 The need for interventions to address highway network performance issues which could otherwise result from the development is especially acute in the case of Blackwell Farm. Surrey County Council's Options Growth Scenarios Transport Assessment Report, January 2014,(to some extent overtaken by the Strategic Highway Assessment Report in June 2016) explains the likely highways effects of the various major urban developments proposed by Guildford BC (though the size of the Blackwell Farm scheme has been reduced since then from 2,250 to 1,800 dwellings). Blackwell Farm was 'Scenario 3', the sum of Scenario 2 - development of all permitted sites and three large developments just beyond the Borough's boundaries - and the south-west Guildford urban development at Blackwell Farm itself. The Options study concluded that "When comparing scenarios 3 (south-west urban extension), 4 (north-east urban extension) and 5 (Wisley airfield development) to scenario 2, scenario 3 has the largest impact on general borough wide network statistics and scenario 4 the least" (paragraph 5.1.7). The 2016 SHAR did not conclude on the relative impacts of each major urban development.

2.21 The table above shows that the stated costs purely for access to the Blackwell Farm development (and associated through movement) amount to £60m. This is over £33,000 per dwelling In addition, there would be very serious additional highways costs to resolve the consequences of Blackwell Farm in the wider network beyond the site and to achieve the junction improvements with signalised lights around the Down Place access. Those are just the transport costs attributable to the development; in addition, Policy A26 refers to other supporting infrastructure including a two-form entry primary school, local retail centre, GP surgery, open space, playing fields and allotments. Secondary education is only not mentioned because a secondary school at the nearby proposed urban development at Flexford/ Normandy is expected to serve the Blackwell Farm development. Furthermore, 40% of the dwellings built will need to be affordable (Policy H2), largely cross-subsidised from the private open market housing for sale. All the usual gas, water, electricity and sewerage services would be needed, and typical contributions to local government services. The transport-related costs alone are far more than a development of 1,800 houses and 31,000m2 of employment could realistically bear. Together with all the other infrastructure necessary to allow a new community to proceed, the scheme is undeliverable financially.

2.22 We conclude that Policy A26 on Blackwell Farm is not legally compliant because it has failed to have adequate regard to the resources likely to be available for implementing the proposals in the document, in respect of the infrastructure requirements needed for the development to proceed; no regard at all has been had to a range of substantial The policy is also unsound because the proposal to develop land at Blackwell Farm would not be effective, as it is not deliverable over the Plan period due to very high infrastructure costs.

2.23 We recommend that the Blackwell Farm urban development proposal in Policy A26 is deleted on highways grounds.

Impact on the Surrey Hills AONB and landscape

Direct impact on the AONB
3.1 The proposed development at Blackwell Farm is the only major scheme in the Proposed Submission Plan which would directly affect the Surrey Hills. The built-up urban development is proposed in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back, but the principal access road is proposed to cross the AONB in a highly intrusive manner, and the greatly expanded access at the A31/Down Place junction would also adversely affect the AONB.

3.2 The principal impact of the development within the AONB would be the construction of a major access road up and down the steep northern slope of the Hogs. The ridge of the AONB is at nearly 500m and the northern AONB boundary in the area at Om (on the contour through Down Place Stables, below the bend in the existing Down Place access road). The national landscape designation therefore includes the whole of the steepest part of the slope through a vertical elevation of 40 metres. A road on this slope at this point would be highly damaging to the AONB, and its construction would also have further very serious impacts.

3.3 The construction of 500m of major access road on the slope down from the AONB ridge is in our view major development. As such it must pass the tests in paragraph 116 of the NPPF if it is to be acceptable. We consider it fails to do this. The proposal at Blackwell Farm is not of such overriding importance that the access to it through the AONB meets the "exceptional circumstances" required, nor can it be demonstrated to be in the public interest in view of the adverse effects. The need for the main development is predicated on an Objectively Assessed Need for housing which we consider far too high. Whether or not the Secretary of State agrees with us (either that this is major development in the AONB or that the OAN is too high), the AONB is a key consideration in its own right. The NPPF makes clear at paragraph 14 that 'sustainable development' involves reflecting policies from the NPPF where these indicate that development should be restricted, and AONB is one such policy. There is no policy presumption that housing needs should override AONB interests: the reverse applies. In view of the damage which would be done to the AONB by the proposed allocation and this being the only major allocation to do that, we consider that Blackwell Farm should be the primary candidate of all the major sites for deletion from the Plan.

3.4 The Proposed Submission Plan states as a requirement that "Primary vehicular access to the site allocation will be via the existing or realigned junction of the A31 and the Down Place access road, which will be signalised. The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV". The comment on the design of the road is as foolish as it is undeliverable. The existing access road is a beautiful country lane flanked by mature trees which is entirely typical of the AONB landscape. The first option, of 'improving' this 'sympathetically' to the standards needed by an access road for a new settlement (let alone to provide a Sustainable Movement Corridor to serve the Research Park, Hospital and other facilities), is impossible. The road is too narrow to be widened sufficiently and has a sharp bend near the bottom. This option could only be effected by the large scale removal of mature trees on one or both sides of the route, plus further damage on the lower slope to overcome the bend. Taking the substantial adjacent land beyond the paved highway itself, used in highway construction, would cause further major damage to the heavily wooded landscape of the AONB in this location. This could not be 'sympathetic' to the AONB.

3.5 The second option, of a 'new adjacent parallel access road', would introduce an appalling scar onto the steep northern slope of the Hogs. It would irreparably damage this nationally known iconic landscape, and it is absurd for the Plan to suggest that this also could be designed 'sympathetically' to the AONB (and AGLV). An inevitable consequence of forcing a wide road down a steep slope at the angle proposed would be to require a near vertical wall of chalk on the ridge-side and other earthworks. This would be part of the unavoidable degradation to the AONB associated with the road, which will be visible and intrusive from miles around. There is also a real possibility that the access road would be accompanied by street lighting under either option, introducing a damaging night-time impact into this dark AONB landscape.

3.6 The Highways Authority has indicated to us that it will require street lighting at and around the new signalised junction on the top of the Hogs Back on the A31 in the vicinity of Down Place and Down. This would be damaging to the current night-time experience: lighting currently stops east of the A31/A31 interchange, with the A31 and the AONB to the west of this largely unlit. The change would give the clear impression that Guildford had spread outwards to the west and upwards to the highest point around the city.

3.7 The proposed road down the AONB scarp would damage views to the AONB from public rights of way to the north and north east as well as from Manor Park and from more distant viewpoints in and around the The construction of the road would itself greatly increase the damage to the experience of the AONB by introducing thousands of vehicle movements daily: this would force drivers and passengers to see and experience the visual damage done to this nationally important landscape, by the road they would be using.

3.8 In each of these respects, the proposed allocation at Blackwell Farm would run counter to the statement in the Plan's 'Spatial Vision' that "Areas of high environmental value such as Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Sites of Special Scientific Interest will be retained and afforded great New development on the edges of urban areas will be required to treat the transition from urban to rural character in a sympathetic way."

Impact on the setting of the AONB

3.9 The proposed urban development would be in the setting of the AONB to the north of the Hogs Back (and also north of but abutting the Area of Great Landscape Value). Only the access road to the A31 would be permitted on land to the south of this development. If, however, the secondary access road was aligned south of Manor Copse, then this too would pass through the AGLV.

3.10 Regard must be had to the setting of AONBs. Section 85(1) of the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 states: "In exercising or performing any functions in relation to, or so as to affect, land in an area of outstanding natural beauty, a relevant authority shall have regard to the purpose of conserving or enhancing the natural beauty of the area of outstanding natural beauty" (emphasis added). The Government's Planning Practice Guidance draws attention to this obligation and specifically mentions proposals "which might have an impact on the setting of AONBs (Natural Environment paragraph reference ID 8-003-20140306). The setting of AONBs is not protected as rigorously as land within AONBs, but various appeal decisions before and since the NPPF - which have rejected intrusive developments in the settings of AONBs - show that it continues to be relevant to decisions. In the absence of policy guidance, the formal position is that the weight to be given to setting is a matter for the decision-taker's discretion. NPPF paragraph 115 requires that in any decision "great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty" in AONBs. In the context of paragraph 85 of the Act noted above, this applies not only to developments proposed within an AONB but if proposed in its setting such that the AONB would be affected. This should be taken into account in plan preparation.

3.11 Both Guildford Borough Council's and Surrey County Council's Landscape Character Assessments (LCAs) identify the drama of the chalk ridge and the panoramic views, north and south, as defining characteristics of the Hogs Back. Both these LCAs also identify the significance of views to and from the ridge. The Guildford BC LCA Rural Urban Fringe Assessment of the Hogs Back references the importance of the land in providing "the setting to and views from Guildford" and the desire to maintain the "essentially undeveloped rural character" of the land. The assessment notes that: "The setting of Guildford and the AONB are both highly sensitive to any small scale incremental change".

3.12 In the circumstances at Blackwell Farm, we would expect considerable weight to be given to protection of land from inappropriate change in the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB: this is the setting of the Hogs Back, a nationally known and revered part of an AONB; the steep slope to the north from the Hogs Back ridge opens up a wonderful vista which contributes enormously to the enjoyment of the AONB, and should be protected from inappropriate change; the setting has been relatively little-damaged to date (though development by the University of Surrey is creeping out of Guildford into it), and this achievement should be continued.

3.13 The proposed development would damage the setting of the AONB, causing Guildford to sprawl yet further into the rural vista that can be enjoyed from the AONB on the Hogs. We appreciate that urban built development is no longer proposed on land south of Down Place and Manor Farm (contrast the Issues & Options and Consultation Draft stages of the Plan), though there would continue to be visual intrusion into the AONB's setting. Moreover, the continued presence of the primary access road to the site passing through the immediate setting of the AONB (and the AONB itself) remains a very seriously damaging aspect of the proposal by bringing noise and pollution into the setting, as well as visual damage from the road and the eye-catching effect of moving vehicles upon it. Furthermore, the thousands of northbound users of the primary access road daily would themselves experience comprehensive views into the setting of the AONB; their appreciation of this setting would be significantly marred by the Blackwell Farm development. We conclude that the allocation would conflict with Policy PI: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty not least because it would fail "to conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB". The impact of the urban development allocation on the setting of the AONB is not considered in Policy A26 and has therefore been neglected in the Proposed Submission Plan.
The future boundary of the AONB

3.14 Natural England has announced its intention to review the boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB. It commissioned a report in 2012 from Alison Farmer Associates, which identified areas of search for possible extensions to the This included the whole of the Blackwell Farm allocation area. A further report was commissioned by Surrey County Council on behalf of the Surrey Planning Officers Association and the Surrey Hills AONB Board in 2013 from Hankinson Duckett Associates to further evaluate the natural beauty of those areas of search (and other Landscape Character Assessment work). This proposed extensions to the existing AONB boundary on the north side of the Hogs Back (and elsewhere), but just omitted the Blackwell Farm allocation area.

3.15 The Hankinson Duckett evaluation was not carried out in detail, so in 2016 Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils commissioned another firm of landscape architects, Land Management Services (LMS), to undertake a more detailed natural beauty evaluation in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, Down Place and Homestead Farm to the north of the Hogs Back. The LMS report (the final report is available from Karen Stevens) agreed that the area identified by Hankinson Duckett Associates should be included within a revised AONB boundary north of the Hogs Back, but also proposed a north-eastward extension of the AONB boundary to include Down Place and Blackwell Farm. No further land at Homestead Farm was proposed for inclusion.

3.16 The LMS evaluation identified small scale character areas, one of which covered the eastern-most parts of the study area, adjacent to the built-up area of There were two parcels: one on Manor Farm (south and east of Manor Copse Ancient Woodland) and one north of Strawberry Grove Ancient Woodland. The latter comprises the north-east corner of the Policy A26 development allocation at Blackwell Farm. LMS recommended that both these parcels should not be included within the revised AONB boundary, but recommended that they remain open as the setting of Guildford and the AONB. LMS concluded here: "This area does not merit inclusion within the AONB, but provides an important buffer and transitional landscape on the western edge of Guildford. It is recommended that the boundary to [the AONB here] follows the western edge of this sub character area but includes Strawberry and Manor Copse. The semi-rural transitional character of this landscape should be retained in order to conserve the currently limited impact of Guildford on the AONB and other rural land to the west."

3.17 We consider it vitally important that decisions on the Guildford Local Plan in the near future do not prejudice the outcome of the review of a nationally important landscape designation. The most detailed natural beauty evaluation north of the Hogs Back to date (against Natural England's criteria for designating AONBs) shows that most of the Policy A26 Blackwell Farm allocation area should be included within a revised AONB boundary. The principal remaining area, in the north-east corner of the allocation, should remain open as the setting of the AONB and of Guildford.

3.18 The Blackwell Farm allocation should therefore be withdrawn so that, with a high probability, most of the land can be included within the AONB in future after the boundary review has been completed. The LMS interpretation of natural beauty confirms our own local perception that the land identified does merit AONB designation. Its high landscape quality - in the setting of the current AONB - is a major consideration for the Local Plan in any event. This would be a highly damaging location for a major urban development in landscape terms.

Conclusions

3.19 We consider that the Blackwell Farm development allocation should be removed by deleting Policy A26 because of its impact on the AONB:

- there would be a significant direct impact of the primary access road on the AONB;
- the primary access road through the AONB would be major development in its own right, and the proposals do not fulfil the criteria for allowing such development;
- the proposed built development and part of the primary access road would have a significant adverse effect on the setting of the AONB;
- the signalled junction to the primary access road, where Down Place joins the A31 on the top of the Hogs Back, would be lit at night, which would damage the appreciation of the rural qualities of the AONB at night and emphasise the sprawl of Guildford into it;
- the primary access road from the Blackwell Farm development to the Hogs Back ridge would probably be lit at night, which would also damage the appreciation of the rural qualities of the AONB and emphasise the sprawl of Guildford into it; most of the proposed development site should be included within a revised boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB, while its north-east corner (north of Strawberry Grove Ancient Woodland) would be in the immediate setting of the AONB and should be kept free of development as a buffer between urban Guildford (the research park) and the AONB.

3.20 We conclude that the Plan is unsound because the proposal to promote development at Blackwell Farm in the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and within its setting is not consistent with Government policy. Insufficient regard has been had to the impact of the primary access road on the AONB (and which we also regard as major development). Insufficient regard has also been had to the primary access road on the setting of the AONB none at all to the impact of the urban development area on the setting of the AONB. In that last respect we consider there has been a legal failure to comply with the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, s19(2)(a).

Green Belt at Blackwell Farm

4.1 Paragraph 83 of the NPPF states that "Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period." This is a continuation in principle of previous Green Belt policy (from PPG2, paragraph 9).

4.2 In the most recent review of the Guildford Local Plan, following the report of the Inspector in September 2001, there was just one change to the Green Belt. This was to allow the expansion of the University of Surrey (and two minor adjacent plots) into Manor Farm (the Manor Park development). It is a further withdrawal of the Green Belt boundary to allow more development immediately beyond the last land release that is proposed now. The Local Plan Inspector in 2001 was alert to the risk of nibbling away at the Green Belt and responded as follows to objectors who sought a more limited release of land from the Green Belt: "the guidance suggests that in reviewing Green Belt boundaries a longer time scale should be used than for other aspects of the Plan. If the normal period suggested for a local plan is ten years, it is not unreasonable to look at defining the Green Belt boundary with two local plan periods in mind. A cushion of undesignated land for future requirements, where they are reasonably foreseeable, can be accepted where it can avoid a succession of bites at the Green Belt" (paragraph 16.4.3).

4.3 The Borough Council and the University of Surrey are attempting to undermine this intention. The Local Plan was adopted in 2003, yet even when the Issues and Options report for the current Local Plan was issued in 2013, they were trying to release further land from the Green Belt in precisely the way the Inspector had been trying to save Hogs Back and CPRE Surrey are appalled at this attempt to abuse and undermine Green Belt policy and principles. The proposal reflects a remarkably casual approach to the Green Belt which should not be tolerated. Further removal of land from the Green Belt at a location where Green Belt land has only recently been released is contrary to the expectations of Government planning policy and the Plan therefore unsound.

4.4 There should be no illusion about the University of Surrey's desire to develop a huge swathe of land west of Manor Park at the foot of the Hogs Back. In November 2013 the University released its proposals for a 'Garden
Neighbourhood' stretching as far west as Flexford House and occupying the whole area between the AONB and the railway beside Wood Street Village. An illustrative page from the proposals is attached as Appendix 1. This shows comprehensive development of the area, a new junction on the A31 and a road straight down the steep northern slope of the Hogs Back. The development of Blackwell Farm would only be a stepping stone in this expansionist thinking of the University which shows a serious lack of appreciation of the role of Green Belt, the Hogs Back and the Surrey Hills AONB. Releasing Blackwell Farm is highly undesirable in its own terms and would only fuel the desire of the University to press the Council for yet more land releases in future.

4.5 The Proposed Submission Local Plan has adopted "a controlled realignment of the Green Belt boundary and development of a small number of strategic sites, which will allow us to provide for mixed and inclusive communities supported by new infrastructure" (paragraph 28). The Plan is a coy as it possibly can be about the remarkable scale of Green Belt land release for housing which it proposes. Large urban developments are proposed in the Green Belt at Blackwell Farm (1,800 houses), Gosden Hill Farm (2,000 houses), former Wisley Airfield (2,000 houses) and between Normandy and Flexford (1,100 houses). Various Green Belt sites offering over 100 houses each are also proposed.

4.6 The Government policy on Green Belt in the NPPF begins with a statement of great clarity, but one which the Proposed Submission Plan appears to have neglected or sidelined: "The Government attaches great importance to Green Belt. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence" (paragraph 79). The NPPF does of course also provide considerable encouragement to the provision of the housing which the nation needs. It explains how the conflict is to be dealt with between the pressure of housing and the constraint of Green Belt (and other nationally important designations) at paragraph 14: "Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change, unless.... specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted". One such policy (footnote 9) is Green Belt.

4.7 For the avoidance of doubt, the Government has issued various statements confirming its commitment to Green Belt and reiterating how the pressure to release Green Belt land should be addressed in local Plans. For example, Brandon Lewis MP, Minister for Housing and Planning, told a Westminster Hall debate on 15 March 2016:

"...we have regularly made the point that the green belt is a legitimate constraint. It is an important part of the country's infrastructure and the Government attach the highest importance to its protection. In fact, over the past few years we have increased it. The NPPF makes it clear that green belt boundaries should be established in local plans and can be altered only in exceptional circumstances, using the local plan's process of consultation and independent examination. The Government do not specify what constitutes exceptional circumstances, as it is for each local authority to determine that and how much weight to attach to those circumstances" (Hansard column 307WH).

Green Belt Question 21089

To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, what his policy is on the priority that should be given to maintaining Green Belt land in Local Plans in areas where there is unmet housing need.

Answer Green Belt is protected by local authorities in line with national policy set out in the National Planning Policy Framework. The Framework states that permanence is an essential characteristic of Green Belt, and that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances, using the Local Plan. Our supporting Guidance reminds local authorities that, in planning to meet their objectively assessed local housing needs, they must have due regard to national policies (including Green Belt policy) which indicate that development should be restricted and which may restrain the ability of an authority to meet all its needs. This applies even where there is no up-to-date Plan. It is for the Planning Inspector examining a revised local Plan to determine whether it is based on sound evidence and in line with national policy.

A statement to Planning from OCLG reported on 25th April (attached as Appendix 2) said:
"There are no plans or policy to relax the strong protections that prevent inappropriate development on the green belt. Ministers have repeatedly been clear that demand for housing alone will not justify changing green belt boundaries."

4.8 In our view, the statements from the Government clarify that releasing land from the Green Belt to meet housing needs is an option but is only to be undertaken in exceptional circumstances rather than lightly. Guildford Borough Council, in contrast, has chosen to meet all its Objectively Assessed Need for housing, taking whatever land is necessary from the Green Belt to secure this. Furthermore, the Proposed Submission Plan has made no real effort at all to justify the release of land from the Green Belt in the terms set by the NPPF. Paragraph 4.3.16 of the Plan simply states:

"National planning policy requires that Green Belt boundaries are only amended in exceptional circumstances and that this must be undertaken as part of the Local Plan process. We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and promote sustainable patterns of development."

Claiming 'exceptional circumstances' is easy. However, there is no review of the arguments needed to demonstrate that exceptional circumstances might apply at any location in the Borough. In our view, this means that the Plan is unsound by virtue of not being consistent with Government policy, and also unlawful because it has failed to have regard to national policies and advice on Green Belt contained in guidance issued by the Secretary of State.

4.9 The purposes of Green Belt have played remarkably little part in the selection of areas for urban development in the Proposed Submission Plan. Pegasus Group for the Borough Council divided all non-urban land in the Borough into a series of large plots for analysis. Their most up-to-date analysis is given in their Green Belt and Countryside Study, Volume II Addendum Appendix 1, April 2014. This assumes that the Green Belt purpose of encouraging urban land recycling applies equally to all plots, but the other four purposes are assessed for each plot. If none or one purpose is served by the plot it is ranked as low sensitivity, two purposes are ranked as medium sensitivity and three or four purposes is ranked as high sensitivity. 41 plots in the Green Belt are identified as having low sensitivity, 67 as having medium sensitivity and 91 as having high sensitivity. Of the four major proposed urban developments noted in paragraph 4.1 above, three have medium sensitivity and one (Flexford/Normandy) has high sensitivity. It is striking that none of the plots having low sensitivity was chosen for development. The choice of sites for development was clearly not significantly influenced by suitability of sites in Green Belt terms.

4.10 Pegasus Group explains its approach to recommending 'Potential Development Areas' (PDAs) in its Volume II Addendum at paragraph 3.7:

"Volume II of the Study has focussed upon those parcels which directly adjoin the urban edge as they are likely to offer a more appropriate relationship with the main urban area than those parcels which are separate from it. It is recognised that if the Council do identify urban edge parcels as appropriate for development and removal from the Green Belt, this may offer the potential for some adjoining land parcels which do not currently connect with the urban edge to come forward in a more appropriate manner. However, such decisions will be best informed by the Council's chosen spatial strategy, and choices upon the recommended PDAs around the urban edge set out in Volume II and this Addendum."

In practice, the Borough Council did not accept this approach: two of the four main areas proposed for major development are essentially free-standing urban areas in the countryside, at Wisley Airfield and Flexford/Normandy. If these sites were considered suitable by the Council, then it should also have revisited the 41 plots previously identified as low sensitivity in Green Belt terms before deciding which to allocate.

4.11 We are not arguing that the choice of major development sites was random, but that Green Belt policy played hardly any part in the selection. On not a single occasion is a Green Belt plot retained free of development 'because it significantly fulfils Green Belt purposes'. Nor is a Green Belt plot proposed for release 'because it has little benefit in fulfilling Green Belt purposes'. We consider that the Borough Council has fallen far short of being able to demonstrate exceptional circumstances to justify any of its choices of major development area in Green Belt terms. That is a major failure of policy implementation and, in our view, makes the selection of sites unsound as (i) contrary to national planning policy and (ii) not the most appropriate strategy when considered against its reasonable alternatives.
4.12 In reality, Pegasus Group has emphasised a range of non-Green Belt planning issues which it considers important, including a highly selective 'sustainability assessment scoring' system which is dominated by walking distances. No doubt informed by this, there are important deficiencies in the Borough Council's approach when considering the possibility of releasing Blackwell Farm for development. Policy A26 refers to 'key considerations' merely as "AONB, AGLV, Access, Surface water flood risk". There is much else at stake, and no justification for changing the existing Green Belt boundary to the newly proposed one.

1. The protection of Ancient Woodland has been given little attention by Pegasus Group or the Although there is no formal proposal to fell Ancient Woodland at Blackwell Farm, the presence of Strawberry Grove, Manor Copse and Wildfield Copse immediately adjacent to the proposed development area will compromise these irreplaceable natural assets as the residents of 1,800 houses seek nearby leisure and recreation. It appears that zero weight has been given to the real impact on Ancient Woodlands and ancient hedgerows. The proposed allocation can be expected to cause the degradation of the Ancient Woodlands to the extent that over a period of time they lose much of their biological and historic interest.

2. The Pegasus Group study refers to development within landscape designations but omits review of the impact of development on the setting of the Surrey Hills. This is a major omission which we have attempted to rectify in paragraphs 3.9-13 above. Reference is made to landscape character but not to visual impact: the latter is an important consideration in close proximity to the Hogs Back and therefore an important omission in relation to Blackwell Farm.

3. The Pegasus Group study assumed that Purpose 5 of the Green Belt "to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land" (NPPF paragraph 80) applied equally everywhere. We think not. The Blackwell Farm site is capable of achieving far more by way of concentration of land uses than most other sites. This is because the whole of the Blackwell Farm site is owned by the University of Surrey, as is all the land to the east. One effect of stopping development on Blackwell Farm would be to oblige the University to pay more attention to the efficient use of its land. At present the University takes a relaxed approach to land supply:

   the University has devoted large areas to inefficient surface-level car parks (view this on Google Earth, for example);

   the Research Park is specifically advertised as a 'low density rural location' (see the video spool on www.surrey-research-park.com), and provides just 65,000m2 of office space across 28.33 hectares;

   the Guildford Local Plan Inspector's Report in 2001 agreed to remove over 60 hectares of land from the Green Belt at Manor Park for University purposes, immediately east of Blackwell Farm, which has given the University an impression that land supply is not an issue; the Inspector commented "It may be that, as many Objectors felt, the Proposal is being overgenerous in the amount of land that is being taken out of the Green Belt and that this could be cut back. I have sympathy with that view" - though he still released the land for the reasons he gave in paragraph 16.10.2.

(iv) There is no Green Belt boundary available on Blackwell Farm which would be reliably permanent. The NPPF states that when Local Plans review Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should "define boundaries clearly, using physical features which are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent" (paragraph 85). The Council's proposed western boundary to the site - the new Green Belt boundary - would follow a hedge in a dip in the landscape. The existing Green Belt boundary is superior and there is a clear risk from the proposals that Guildford could in future sprawl further west of Blackwell Farm on the basis that the boundary proposed now is indefensible.

4.13 On all these grounds the existing Green Belt boundary has superior merit to the one now proposed further west.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A26
1. The Save Hogs Back response to the June 2016 Pre-Submission Consultation (Regulation 19) provided a comprehensive set of reasons why the Blackwell Farm strategic development allocation was so unacceptable that the Council should not proceed with it. Apart from the serious environmental damage it would do, we questioned whether it was practicable. The June 2017 Consultation indicates both the determination of the Council to press ahead with this extraordinarily inappropriate scheme and also that it is trying to deny the implausibility of the development proceeding, if at all, without appalling consequences. Modest amendments have been made to various policies in the Plan, but collectively they demonstrate that after another 12 months of searching the Council has still found no solutions to the problems we identified.

2. The unresolved problems centre on access and egress. Although pitched as an urban extension to Guildford (in the Spatial Vision, in Policy A26 and in paragraphs 4.1.8 and 4.6.24), Blackwell Farm has proved impractical to integrate into the town despite its physical proximity. There are many facets to this, the main ones being:

- the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without the capacity of the A3 trunk road being increased to bolster the strategic route in and out of Guildford, and the possibility of this happening is unknown;
- movement between the development area and Guildford, which is already extremely congested, would be substantially more impeded by the development;
- alternative means of access to the development area would have both significant practical problems and significant adverse consequences for the highway network;
- the ‘Sustainable Movement Corridor’ to tackle that congestion is most unlikely to be effective on the scale necessary to resolve access issues and will fail in its key role of reducing congestion;
- the combined effect of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening through Guildford (itself needed in part because of Blackwell Farm) would be to raise substantially the Nitrogen Dioxide levels in Compton on the B3000 still further above legal limits at the most polluted point in the Borough.

In each case the Proposed Submission Local Plan has wholly failed to show that the Blackwell Farm development is practicable. We examine these in more detail below, after showing that the pressure on the road network in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm will be discernibly greater than forecast only one year ago.

Traffic generation in relation to road capacity

3. Mouchel have pointed out, in advice submitted by Highways England in response to the Proposed Local Plan 2016, that there are significant limitations in the evidence presented in the Strategic Highways Assessment Report (SHAR) accompanying the Proposed Submission Plan in June 2016 which affect Blackwell Farm:

- the traffic generation model used in the Local Plan allows no merge delay at junctions: this is clearly not the case at present and is not claimed by GBC to be the case even after new road infrastructure has been built. As Mouchel point out, the effect of the model is to make the A3 and A31 particularly attractive roads because they are assumed to be readily accessible and to draw traffic towards them, whereas in reality there will be less ready access and greater use of the local road network;
- the model uses average peak period traffic movement figures across the three hour period 07.00-10.00, which will tend to understate movements in the true peak hour (circa 08.00-09.00). That will have a significant impact on congestion during periods when the network is most heavily used and, in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, overloaded.

4. The SHAR indicated that the total vehicle generation anticipated by the whole Blackwell Farm development would be 717 vehicles leaving in the weekday average morning peak hour (Table 3.3, zone 576). How these vehicles would get out of Blackwell Farm has still not been properly resolved. Policy 26 includes a Plan showing an access to the development site (indeed the only access to the development site) from the A31 at its junction with the very minor road called Down Place. In June 2016 the Local Plan stated that this would be the “Primary vehicular access to the site allocation”. This would “provide a new route to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

5. The Local Plan 2016 identified that a “Secondary vehicular access is required from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue”. The word ‘preferably’ is instructive because it indicates that it was unclear in June 2016 how Blackwell Farm would be connected into Guildford. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. On the assumption that a means of direct access would be found, the SHAR identified distribution of Blackwell Farm traffic to the network of 342 trips eastbound towards Guildford and 375 trips southbound to the A31 in the morning weekday peak hour.

6. Figure 4.3 of the SHAR estimates traffic on the principal arms of the local network with Blackwell Farm development in place including the link to the A31. This Figure shows that 1,803 vehicles would attempt to enter the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads by the Hospital in the peak morning weekday hour (one every two seconds). The 342 eastbound vehicles generated by the Blackwell Farm development would account for 19% of the post-scheme traffic on the junction (23% growth on pre-scheme traffic), neglecting the impact of any rat-running traffic. Users of the road would consider this scale of traffic growth implausible and unacceptable given the high level of congestion there at present. The SHAR confirms that the level of congestion on Egerton Road in the morning peak will be substantially worse than at present and will exceed its capacity with the development and its access roads in place (Scenario 3). Table 4.4 (Row 25) shows that Egerton Road eastbound will have a ratio of flow to capacity (RFC) of 0.92 resulting in a level of service with ‘unstable flow operating at capacity’. Table 4.12 (Row 8) shows that Egerton Road westbound will have a RFC of 1.21 (compared with about 1.04 now) resulting in the worst possible level of service with ‘forced or breakdown of flow’. In other words, it simply won’t work. The figures already smooth the morning peak hour figures over a three hour average, as Mouchel noted, so actual congestion in the peak would be worse than these indicators, even assuming zero rat-running traffic.

7. The network effects described in Figure 4.3 of the SHAR omit potential rat-running in the morning peak hour from the A31 through Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road. Drivers passing through Guildford northbound might try to miss the existing substantial queues on the A3 by leaving the A31 just before its junction with the A3 and taking the new link road which allowed them to join the A3 at the Tesco roundabout. Other drivers eastbound on the A31 aiming for Guildford could try to avoid the existing substantial queues both on the A31 and on the A3, as the new road would give them a new means of entry into Guildford from the west. The pressure for rat-running could be considerable if the link was built. Figure 4.7 in the SHAR shows that even after the A3 has been widened there will still be overcapacity and congestion on the A31 close to the A3 junction (and on the A3 through Guildford): this is likely to encourage significant numbers of drivers to dodge the queues on these roads through the Blackwell Farm development. The issue is reviewed in paragraphs 30-35 below, which show that the constraint on rat-running is most unlikely to be effective.

8. In the 12 months since the 2016 Proposed Submission Consultation by the Borough Council (working with Surrey County Council as Highways Authority and Highways England responsible for the A3), the prospect of adequate network road access to Blackwell Farm has not only made no progress but deteriorated. There are some indications of this in the alterations in the June 2017 Proposed Submission:

- the proposed link with the A31 has been downgraded from its ‘primary’ status and by default the link with Guildford is now presented as of equal significance (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 1); there are various reasons for this, explored below, but fundamentally the Council has been unable to find a way of making the link with the A31 work as it wanted;
- a major new secondary school with six form entry must now be provided on the Blackwell Farm site, which was previously sited elsewhere (Policy A26 Allocation item 9): a school of this size (circa 900 students comprising 180 students in each year group for five school years) would generate a very substantial amount of additional traffic, bringing in about 600 students daily from outside Blackwell Farm, much of it attracted from Guildford, but there have been no changes at all to the proposed capacity of the road network to accommodate this, which can only mean still worse congestion on Egerton Road and the surrounding network than inevitable anyway;
- proposals in principle are now included for limiting the road users on the new route linking to the A31 (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 3), but these are deliberately left vague as the Council has been unable to find a way of achieving this despite trying to do so for the last year;
• the developer of Blackwell Farm (ultimately University of Surrey) must contribute to funding improvements to the local road network necessitated by the scheme, but this must now have “regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document”: as this SPD has not yet been published even in draft, the policy change demonstrates a remarkable lack of clarity about the role of the SMC in relation to Blackwell Farm (where it will go, how it will be built, who pays for it and how it links into the wider network) and creates an open-ended commitment which could affect the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm;
• the new Policy A59 has given a clearer specification of the need for a new railway station at Park Barn near the northern end of Blackwell Farm, with access from both the north and south sides: the access from the south will generate additional traffic affecting the roads to Blackwell Farm, especially in peak periods, which has been neglected in the calculation of traffic generation and the modelling of its distribution to the road network, again placing additional stress on already massively overloaded roads in peak periods.

These changes are additional to the increased traffic on Egerton Road and the surrounding network arising in any event from development planned or under construction at Manor Park and at the existing Research Park.

Traffic on the A3

9. Guildford Borough Council has adopted conflicting positions regarding its intentions for traffic on the A3 through Guildford.

10. The Council has endorsed a study commissioned in 2014 from Arup Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050. This is the basis for the Sustainable Movement Corridor now promoted through the Local Plan by the Council (see paragraphs 51-53 below). However, the Arup study was clear that the purpose of the A3 should be to concentrate through-Guildford movements on this road, assisted by inhibiting its use for local movements. The study recommended:

“Interventions in this strategy that reduce roadspace in the town centre should serve to deter through traffic in the town; they should also reduce short journeys on the A3 within the town (for example, trips from the Surrey Research Park to the town centre via the A3) that will free up capacity for longer distance trips on the A3 trunk road”.

11. The Arup study was clear that there should be no capacity increase on the A3 trunk road through the town:

“In the appraisal of interventions undertaken for this study, all potential interventions that increased road capacity, including A3 interventions (widening, northern bypass, tunnel) and additional road links in the town centre, resulted in increased traffic levels in the long term over and above business-as-usual changes (i.e. in 2031 compared to the 2031 Business-As-Usual). Vehicle mileage increased by up to 2% across the borough and highway delay increased by up to 16%, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. These interventions are therefore not included in the strategy as they do not strongly support the multi-faceted headline vision for sustainable mobility in the town of Guildford identified to guide the development of the strategy.”

12. However, this study is increasingly being compromised. Arup’s limitation on using the A3 is wholly at odds with the approach which Guildford BC is taking in practice. The Council has decided that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without substantially increased capacity on the A3. The last sentence of the 2017 Local Plan’s ‘Spatial Vision’ states: “The delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon major improvement to the A3 through Guildford”. This is due to existing major peak hour congestion on the A3 (Local Plan paragraph 2.14a). The June 2016 Strategic Highway Assessment Report concluded that “the results of this assessment indicate that should the [DoT’s] Road Investment Strategy schemes [which include major A3 capacity increases through Guildford] not be forthcoming then the residual cumulative impact of the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the highway network could be considered severe…. To avoid this occurring in such circumstances of the RIS schemes not being forthcoming, then the quantum and location of development as proposed may have to be amended” (page 63, emphasis added). This was confirmed in the 2017 Addendum for the revised Proposed Submission Local Plan (Conclusion, page 2).

13. The Local Plan therefore aspires to a very substantial increase in the capacity of the A3, not least to facilitate car-borne travel to and from the major developments planned at Blackwell Farm (and Gosden Hill Farm). The Spatial Vision states:
“The Department for Transport’s Road Investment Strategy includes schemes for the A3 Guildford and the M25 Junction 10/A3 Wisley interchange. Early, targeted improvement schemes to deliver road safety and some congestion relief on the A3 in Guildford will be delivered within the plan period.”

Paragraph 4.6.14 specifically explains the intention of Policy ID2 “Supporting the DfT’s “Road Investment Strategy”” as including the identified:

“Scheme with construction anticipated to commence in Road Period 2 (2020/21 to 2024/25):
• A3 Guildford – improving the A3 in Guildford from the A320 to the Hogs Back junction with the A31, with associated safety improvements.”

14. In the last twelve months, the likelihood of any of this happening has been slipping away. The Local Plan has now been altered with the deletion from paragraph 4.6.18 of the option of a tunnel under Guildford, so that a road widening scheme is now the most likely option (even if a tunnel remains the Borough Council’s preferred option – see Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.101). Exactly what is intended is still hugely unclear: the Infrastructure Schedule for this project in Appendix 3 shows that what is proposed is so vague that it may cost anything between £100m and £250m (project SRN5). Only a brief examination of the A3 through Guildford will in any event show just how difficult, costly and enormously environmentally damaging would be any attempt to add significant extra capacity in each direction to the A3.

15. Also deleted is paragraph 4.6.17 which had stated “Guildford Borough Council and Highways England are in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground which sets out assumptions regarding both the performance and safety outcomes that the RIS schemes can be expected to realise”. This is said to be because an SoCG is likely to be agreed closer to the Examination (Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.14), but we would not be surprised if Highways England is unable to make the commitment the Borough Council seeks.

16. Highways England itself is doubtful about how much can be achieved on the A3 and by when. Its response to the Proposed Submission LP on 18 July 2016 stated: “There is still a level of uncertainty on precisely what improvements on the A3 can be delivered and the quantum of growth any potential improvements will facilitate during the Local Plan period.” A Technical Note supporting that submission, prepared by Mouchel, was more precise:

“It should be noted that the A3 RIS 2 scheme is not a committed scheme and no funding has been allocated at present. The details of the RIS 2 A3 Guildford scheme itself are not yet known and so the modelling and testing of an A3 scheme at this stage is considered premature. As such Highways England's view is that this scheme cannot be relied upon by Local Plans to form mitigation for the development proposals.”

17. So far as we are aware, this remains the position in July 2017. The response subsequently advised that the inadequate evidence base meant that the Plan was considered unsound.

18. Guildford BC found this response hugely inconvenient and persuaded Highways England to withdraw this statement after a meeting on 1 September 2016. Highways England’s letter on 5 October 2016 doing this stated instead (with our emphasis added):

“You will be aware that Highways England is currently developing options for a potential scheme on the A3 in Guildford, capable of being delivered in the next roads period (2020-2025), subject to the normal value for money being applied. The scheme proposes widening the existing carriageway to provide additional capacity and safety improvements between the A31 Farnham Road and the A3/A320 Stoke Road. The design of such a scheme is complex and needs to consider a number of potential options, a process which takes time to complete. We will continue close working with Guildford Borough Council and Surrey County Council to progress the development of the potential scheme.

We note that the delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon a major improvement to the A3 through Guildford. It is essential that the Local Plan provides the planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward in advance of critical infrastructure. As a result of clarification received at our recent meeting, it is now understood how the Local Plan intends to do this. Therefore we wish to formally withdraw our representation to this policy.”
19. While Highways England is urging caution, Guildford’s Local Plan continues to make highly questionable assumptions. On timing, Appendix C claims that the A3 capacity increase will be ‘delivered’ between 2023 and 2027. This conflicts with paragraph 4.6.14 of the Plan (above) which expects construction to begin three years earlier. Delivery in 2023-27 is itself barely consistent with the Council’s own Topic Paper: Transport at paragraph 5.88, which reports that “Highways England has advised that, if a scheme is approved with funding agreed, construction is unlikely to be start[ed] until 2024 at the earliest, with construction taking 2½ years.” This would mean that the capacity would only become available in 2027 at the earliest, in effect postponing by some years the Plan’s aspiration for A3 widening.

20. On funding, there is no clarity where the money for A3 widening would come from, even if it did surprisingly pass the value-for-money test. The proposed submission Local Plan has been amended from one year ago in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C to give the impression that developers are now expected to foot more of the bill, further adversely affecting the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm. The change states the funding source will be ‘Highways England and developer funded’ instead of ‘Highways England and developer contributions’.

21. Finally, the exorbitantly expensive, damaging and disruptive widening of the A3 cannot be expected to achieve its objective of alleviating traffic flows sufficiently to accommodate effectively traffic from Blackwell Farm. Congestion will, remarkably, be worse with the A3 widened than without it. The SHAR reports in paragraphs 4.8.4-6:

“4.8.4 Table 4.1b shows in the PM peak that while the network performs better in Scenario 5 [i.e. with the A3 widening in place] compared with Scenario 3, it is still worse than in Scenario 1 with vehicle hours higher and vehicle speeds lower by 12% and 2% respectively.

4.8.5 As noted above in Section 4.5, the capacity increases on the M25 and A3 result in some high flow increases as trips re-route to make use of the improvements. In turn, this affects roads approaching the A3, such as the A320, A31, A25 and B3000. These also see high flow increases with some, such as the A320, experiencing a significant deterioration in the Level of Service.

4.8.6 It should be noted that despite these improvements, Figure 4.7 shows the A3 is still operating overcapacity with resulting impacts on congestion.”

22. The Borough Council’s own evidence in both the SHAR and Arup report is that widening the A3 will increase congestion in the town rather than relieve it, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. Blackwell Farm would damage the whole of Guildford. The likelihood of the A3 capacity being increased is less now than it was one year ago. So far as we can see, the ‘do nothing’ option for the A3 remains squarely on the table and is an increasingly likely outcome.

23. In summary, the evidence on the A3 consolidated during the last year shows that it is currently simply not known:

- if a suitable widening scheme can be designed and if so how much it would cost;
- whether the scheme would meet ‘value for money’ tests;
- whether the money for it could be found;
- whether the A3 capacity could be increased in time to assist the development of Blackwell Farm during the Plan period, as the earliest provision date would be 2027 (and probably later).

Finally, even if built, the widening of the A3 would generate congestion in Guildford rather than relieve it and would itself be even more over-capacity than it is now. The Borough Council’s reliance on the A3 capacity improvement is foolhardy in the extreme. Not proceeding with the Blackwell Farm development would be a far superior option.

24. The Council recognises that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, but realises that this cannot be achieved until, at best, near the end of the Plan period. As a result of the lack of progress in agreeing A3 capacity increases, the rate of provision of houses in Policy S2, which was back-end loaded in the 2016 Proposed Submission, is now in the 2017 Proposed Submission still more heavily skewed towards the end of the plan period. The 2019-20 provision has been dropped from 500 to 450, while the annual provision in the last three years of the Plan has been raised from 790 to 850. There is insufficient evidence to show that 850 dwellings per annum could be constructed and sold in the Borough in those last three years: the numbers reflect not how the housing market works, but the contortions which the Council has gone through to square its housing provision numbers with the aspirational timetable for the widening of the A3. A far superior option in both housing and transport terms would be to abandon both the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening (which in part is justified by Blackwell Farm as well as facilitating it).

Junction with the A31

25. The principle of a new signalised junction on the A31 to facilitate access to Blackwell Farm is project LRN3 in the Infrastructure Schedule. The Plan accompanying Policy A26 Blackwell Farm is unchanged from June 2016. It continues to show a road access at a widened junction of Down Place with the A31, passing over the A31 slip road onto the A3 northbound. Our response to the June 2016 Consultation demonstrated, in a commissioned report from transport specialists, that the proposed signalised junction at Down Place with the A31 would be most unlikely to function effectively. Furthermore, Surrey County Council’s Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 shows that the new junction would cause all users on average a 35 second delay compared with no junction (Table 4.11). In the last twelve months the Borough Council has been forced by a Freedom of Information request to release a sketch map provided by the University of Surrey showing the latest proposals for this access. This involves a junction slightly west of the site originally intended but shows no distance measurements. It shows too an extra westbound lane for traffic on the A3 over-bridge but no bridge widening. Further proposals exist for this junction but have been denied to Save Hogs Back on weak excuses. Also, there appears to be no proposal to co-ordinate this junction with improvements to the Down Lane junction on the opposite side of the A31 slightly to the east, even though the creation of the Down Place access could ordinarily be expected to generate significant additional use of Down Lane.

26. The lack of transparency by the Council is significant: unless demonstrated otherwise, we consider that the proposed access at Down Place is likely to remain impractical for the following reasons.

- There does not appear to be sufficient road width for the proposed junction.
- A signalised junction is likely to be over-capacity at peak periods.
- Travellers leaving Blackwell Farm this way in the morning peak will suffer major tailbacks due to the overloaded A31 eastbound inhibiting left turns (the peak flow direction).
- Widening of the A3 over-bridge may well still be necessary at vast cost.
- Only a very environmentally damaging roundabout in the AONB on the top of the Hog’s Back (previously opposed by Borough Councillors) could be sure of accommodating likely flows.

Access road between the A31 and Blackwell Farm

27. Project LRN4 in the Infrastructure Schedule is an access road at Blackwell Farm with a through link to Egerton Road. The Plan continues to give the misleading impression that “The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV” (Infrastructure Requirements item 2). A significant road connecting to the A31 could not possibly be achieved by an ‘improved Down Place access road’, the route of which is narrow, lined by mature trees on both sides, and includes a significant sharp bend, while any alternative could not possibly be sympathetic to the AONB and AGLV. The construction of an access road through an AONB to a new urban extension would be major development in its own right. This could only be justified in AONB policy terms if there were exceptional circumstances. There are none of these and none are claimed or demonstrated.

28. The principal difficulty which has arisen in the last year regarding the new link road is that the Council has been unable to find a workable solution for the local road network. The Council wants residents of Blackwell Farm and employees at the Research Park and its proposed extension to be able to enter and leave either in the Guildford direction or the A31 direction, but it does not want most other drivers to use the same roads if they don’t really need to be there. There appear to be two intentions: to constrain drivers who are just passing through – so as to avoid rat-running (especially necessary if a direct through route can be found south of Manor Copse) – and to avoid attracting drivers who currently use Egerton Road. In both cases the intention is to avoid causing adverse network effects if drivers divert onto the new link, e.g. rat-runners overloading Egerton Road still further, or the new access prompting more traffic on the A31.

29. Policy A26 in the June 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out its solution: to provide a new route “between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road” for “employees and emergency vehicles” (only) to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We address in this section the practicability of selecting users for the public highway. However, the matter is also linked to the separate issue of how to link Blackwell Farm into Egerton Road, the main road into Guildford (see paragraphs 47-50).

30. We have tried for the last year to obtain from Guildford BC and the County Highways Authority an understanding of exactly how users of the proposed new road network would be restricted to those people deemed suitable, with everyone else barred. No credible explanation has been provided. The matter is completely ignored in the Borough Council’s Topic Paper: Transport (June 2017) and Strategic Highway Assessment Report Addendum (June 2017), and is restated but not explained in Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (June 2017). This is an issue which cannot be brushed under the carpet because it lies at the heart of the credibility of the link to the A31.

31. The local authorities have been thinking about the issues raised but failed to find an answer after another year of investigating. Surrey County Council has indicated that its preferred option is the use of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) coupled with a permit system. However, there is a general right of public access on the public highway without the State snooping on who uses it by means of cameras, so the legality and practicality of any control system remains to be resolved. For this method to function, therefore, we anticipate that cameras would have to monitor passage on private roads, raising the prospect that Blackwell Farm might not be fully accessible on the public road network. It remains unclear what would happen to drivers whose number plates were not ‘authorised’ to use the road, or how they could be discouraged from arriving in the first place. If there was a system of fines for unauthorised use of the road link, this would require the co-operation of public authorities in perpetuity (which would need to have ongoing funding from the development). With private roads, control of the network would be lost to a private interest whose priorities might not always be the same as those of a public authority. Rights of access to the private roads could at any time be changed by the landowner by reference to which vehicles were allowed passage, when, at what cost, or in other ways. We would expect an urban extension to Guildford reliant on access and egress by private roads to be fundamentally unacceptable.

32. It is unclear whether Guildford BC appreciates the impracticability of the proposed differentiation between acceptable and banned users of the road. There will be thousands of ‘legitimate’ drivers resident in the Blackwell Farm housing development. There will be many hundreds of employees in the Research Park and its proposed extension. There will be hundreds of staff on the Manor Park campus and at the Hospital. Identifying these individuals and, specifically, the cars they will be driving would be a nightmare, made worse by staff turnover and churn in the occupancy of the housing development. Legitimate individuals may have good cause to use alternative cars. The newly introduced secondary school would be largely (two thirds) for the benefit of non-residents of the Blackwell Farm development, so large numbers of drivers can be expected to arrive from elsewhere using the link road, and would need to be registered. Many others will claim legitimate cause for registration on the ANPR system, such as staff at the Nuffield Hospital as well as the County Hospital, employees of shops and services in the area, taxi drivers and so on. The system of registration would become very large and unwieldy, requiring continual (and rapid) update, at real cost. A reliable and effective appeal system would be needed, but the frustrations of both registered and especially non-registered users of the road are still entirely foreseeable.

33. As the transport consultant to Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils notes, the inevitable complexity of an ANPR process raises a series of questions related to site deliverability such as:

1. Will the developer provide for the financial enforcement costs of the link road restrictions in perpetuity? Is this included within the £20million cost for LRN4?
2. Will Surrey Police provide the enforcement of the ANPR in perpetuity?
3. How will all of the people who will be granted access to use the road be differentiated from through traffic?

34. Answers to these questions and resolving other practical concerns are fundamental to the successful deliverability of the vehicular link road and the urban extension as a whole. The road must not attract unwanted road users, but must still achieve the aim of serving all of the desired users. So far the Council has offered no commentary at all on how these awkward issues might be resolved, or on how the use of private roads to achieve a public purpose can be made to function without unacceptable risks of unilateral action by the landowner.

35. The outcome seems to us clearly inevitable if a link road is built. It will not be workable. Instead of a costly system of registration, fines, appeals, etc., the greater likelihood is that the foreseeable cacophony of opposition to a system which appears indiscriminate, unfair and ineffective will cause the system of ANPR and registration to be abandoned in a short order of time. All the disadvantages of the link road to the wider network would then be realised.

Impact of the link road on air quality in Compton

36. New information on air quality has become available since the consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan in 2016. In particular, Guildford Borough Council has issued an admirably brief and clear 2016 Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. This shows that a specific area of the B3000 road through the village of Compton (in whose parish Blackwell Farm partially lies) has one air quality monitoring position which consistently reveals concentrations of Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) well in excess of the legal limit adjacent to a dwelling (and the highest figure in the Borough). This is the only location in the Borough where this combination arises. (There were two other places with lesser exceedance of the legal limit, but one was located well away from dwellings and the other was unreliable having only 33% data capture rather than the 75% required.) Other monitoring positions nearby in Compton had NO2 pollution approaching the legal limit.

37. There is no doubt whatever about the cause of the pollution problem: through traffic passing through the village. Large numbers of cars pass through and lorries on the relatively narrow road can cause additional congestion. Further monitoring and modelling is taking place to ascertain whether any further action is required, notably using Advanced Dispersion Modelling Software (since June 2016). The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 reports that in respect of Compton “The Council is considering whether to declare an Air Quality Management Area and, working with Surrey County Council, will use the results of an ongoing study looking at the pattern of daily exposure to design and implement appropriate mitigating measures” (page 19). The Council has proposed no means of achieving in the short term a permanent reduction in traffic volumes through Compton. On the face of it, an AQMA may well therefore already be needed: under its legal duties the Council must designate one if it is unlikely that the objective values (i.e. less than 40g/m3) will be met in a given timescale, and the Council must then prepare an Air Quality Action Plan (AQAP) with the aim of achieving value objectives.

38. The vehicle count through Compton will rise alarmingly if the Blackwell Farm development and the associated A3 widening are built, inevitably necessitating an AQMA and with little or no prospect of an AQAP being effective. For vehicle impacts, the SHAR treats development of Blackwell Farm and accesses to it as a two-stage process: ‘Scenario 3’ involves the construction of key highway schemes providing access to large development sites (incl. Blackwell Farm) and local highway schemes, while ‘Scenario 5’ involves the widening of the A3 at Guildford (A320 Stoke interchange junction to A31 Hog’s Back junction). The traffic consequences of each are modelled separately. In practice, as established in paragraph 12 above, there is common ground between the Borough Council, County Council and Highways England that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, so in practice the highways impacts of the site access road and A3 widening are additional if Blackwell Farm is to proceed.
39. The SHAR shows in Figure 4.3 for the morning peak hour that 275 vehicles will leave the A31 at Down Place (for Blackwell Farm, the Surrey Research Park and County Hospital). Paragraph 4.7.5 suggests that these are trips which primarily have their origin in the west, (though the likelihood is that many of them will have actually their origin in the south: traffic from Godalming and Farncombe, for example, could access the A31 at the Puttenham junction and then head for the Research Park or Hospital while avoiding Guildford.) In short, a proportion of the 275 vehicles using the Down Place junction under Scenario 3 will have passed through Compton. Unfortunately, the network effects diagram shown in Figure 4.3 does not extend southwards to Compton to identify an indicative number.

40. The SHAR then indicates the impact of Scenario 5 compared with Scenario 3. This is reported for Compton in Table 4.5, showing that the B3000 through Compton will have one of the highest absolute increases in flow arising from the widening of the A3, with an additional 145 vehicles per hour in the morning peak, representing a further 16% increase in traffic through Compton. The Table notes that both under Scenario 3 (even without the A3 widening) and under Scenario 5 the Level Of Service on the road would be category E: ‘Unstable flow operating at capacity’. The outcome could be even worse: the SHAR notes at paragraph 4.7.5 that potentially the number of drivers attracted to use the new Down Place to Blackwell Farm link could be somewhat higher as the model cannot accurately reflect the queuing that occurs on the nearside lane of the A31 as it approaches the merge with the A3. If so, the numbers passing through Compton could be expected to increase proportionately.

41. The evidence is clear that the combined effect of the Local Plan’s proposals for the Down Place link road to Blackwell Farm and the A3 will greatly increase traffic through Compton which in turn will have an inevitable and appalling impact on air quality (which already exceeds legal limits at one location). Despite this, the Council is in denial about the air quality impacts of its Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017. Aecom have prepared for the Borough Council an Air Quality Review of Guildford Borough proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites “June 2017”; but this completely fails to appreciate the relationship between the Blackwell Farm development, the proposed road infrastructure developments and air quality at Compton. It provides a series of unwise statements:

(i) “it is predicted that if little development takes place within the area and vehicles emissions are reduced by technological advances these objective exceedance should reduce to below the objective in to the future, without additional measures being required locally” (section 2.3). The reference to little development in the area is absurd: a major urban extension is proposed in the Parish. The suggestion that technological advances in emissions will solve the problem is fanciful in anything other than the long term, whereas there is an immediate need for action to reduce vehicle passage through Compton.

(ii) “The assessment identified a risk of exceedance if traffic flows, primarily on the B3000, increased. The area was not declared as an AQMA as the assessment noted that emissions from traffic were expected to decrease into the future which should lead to a decrease in NO2 concentrations measured in the area” (section 4.1). This finding is simply wrong: Table 4.5 of the SHAR anticipates a 16% increase in traffic in Compton from the A3 widening, not counting any increase generated along the Down Place link road.

(iii) A review of Policy A26 Blackwell Farm (section 5.2.2.1) recognises that “A large development such as this is likely to have an impact on local air quality as there are likely to be large changes to traffic flows on nearby roads and thus impacts on pollutant concentrations”, but failed to realise the consequences for Compton, even though this is nearby and clearly the place with the worst NO2 pollution recording in the Borough (which should obviously be one of the first places to examine for air quality consequences).

(iv) A review of the air quality impact of the Local Plan on Compton (section 5.2.4) similarly fails to appreciate the evidence. This states in full: “There is one large land allocation within the parish of Compton, A26 Blackwell Farm, discussed above. The additional traffic flows predicted to be generated by this development are not predicted to have a significant adverse effect on air quality in the area of the village of Compton. There are no other large allocations local to Compton Village. As a result the implementation of the GBC Draft Local Plan should have little effect on future traffic flows through the area and thus negligible impact on local air quality.”

(v) Rather than address the air quality consequences of Blackwell Farm at the Local Plan stage, when decisions can still affect air quality in Compton, Aecom choose to defer any consideration of the issue until a time when little can be done about it. On four occasions in the Executive Summary the issue is recommended as a matter which can be dealt with ‘through the planning application process’. Once allocations of land are made for development, strategic reasons for... resisting them (e.g. on air quality grounds) are typically overruled as matters which should have been resolved at the plan-making stage. Leaving air pollution consequences of proposed development until the planning application stage is an exercise in trying to sweep the issue under the carpet.

42. Aecom’s recommendations in section 5.4 recognise that “The increase in traffic flows associated with the implementation of the Draft Local Plan are predicted to be in the region of 12,500-17,000 vehicles per day on the Guildford Bypass [A3]”, but seem to assume – extraordinarily – that no extra vehicles will pass through Compton (despite the evidence in the SHAR). In our view, the Aecom report and its recommendations represent a significant failure to respond to clear evidence of the air quality damage that the Blackwell Farm development as a whole and the associated A3 widening would inflict upon Compton, about which little could then be done in the short term. We wholly disagree with its approach, which could threaten life-expectancy in Compton.

43. It is hardly surprising that air quality is barely mentioned in the Sustainability Appraisal and treated as a minor issue, as Aecom also prepared this for the Borough Council: paragraph 10.7.1 final indent merely recommends that ‘detailed modelling’ is undertaken close to where very large increases in traffic flows are expected. Paragraph 10.7.7 concludes “Proposed changes to the spatial strategy have little or no implications for health, whilst proposed changes to site specific policy (particularly regarding air quality; see discussion above), responding to the Air Quality Review (2017), are supportive of good health.” Again key decisions are to be left until too late until the planning application stage, with both the SA (at paragraph 10.7.1) and the Air Quality Review (at page 5) recommending that ‘potential air quality issues’ should be added to the list of ‘key considerations’ at the end of the main urban development allocation policies, including Policy A26 Blackwell Farm. This has been taken up by the Borough Council. However, the SA fails to address the key issue that needs resolution now: how to stop additional traffic being attracted through Compton or reduce it.

Connection to Guildford

Linking the Research Park Extension to the road network

44. The expansion of the Surrey Research Park and the creation of the Blackwell Farm estate are treated as part of the same development in Policy A26. In access terms it is more sensible to consider them separately. The Research Park proposal is for an Extension of 10-11ha, which would be to the north-west of the current Research Park. Access would be straight-forward from Guildford: via Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, via the roundabout serving the Research Park by the Occam Road/Priestley Road loop, and by making an extension to Stephenson Way. A road serving the Extension could be taken through the mature hedgerow separating the existing Research Park from Blackwell Farm at a point close to and parallel to the railway line. Stephenson Way has been constructed to allow further extension of the roadway in this location (also giving access to some of the last remaining large vacant sites on the current Research Park). Proposals for the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the June 2016 ‘Progress update’ as part of the evidence base for the Proposed Submission Local Plan at that time were consistent with this. They showed in Figure 5 a schematic route for the SMC. This is reproduced on page 16 of the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017. At its western end this turns north from Gill Avenue, apparently to follow Occam Road and Priestley Road, before making a westward thrust into the Research Park extension area (though whether north or south of Surrey Satellite Technology is difficult to say from the scale of the plan provided). So far as the Research Park Extension is concerned, that would seem to be an understandable direction in which to take the Sustainable Movement Corridor.

45. However, this arrangement would introduce development into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm, breach the excellent existing screening of development from the west, add substantial additional traffic to the heavily congested Egerton Road, and in all likelihood be opposed by existing users of the Research Park who would be unlikely to want a significant thoroughfare in their midst. We therefore consider this proposal unacceptable. We note, too, that the proposed SMC may now stop short of the Research Park Extension (at the roundabout on Gill Avenue at the top of the hill), as indicated in the Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update 20 February 2017 in Figure 4. How or whether the SMC would link into Blackwell Farm or the Research Park Extension has become a mystery.

46. We do not accept that the sensibilities of existing staff in the current Research Park should dictate the most appropriate access route to a Research Park Extension. However, if the intention (and this is unstated in the Local Plan) is that the Research Park Extension could only proceed if a new road link was made to it from the A31, to avoid access only through the existing Research Park, there would be even less justification for the development going ahead. Not only would the scheme still intrude into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm. It would also be partly responsible for requiring major development of a road in the AONB and so could only be justified in ‘exceptional circumstances’ (which it has neither claimed nor demonstrated). Given that the Extension would now be physically separate from the existing Research Park, it would be unable to claim Blackwell Farm as an essential location. So far as we can see, the Extension does not need to be in this location at all, and a more fundamental review of its future location would be in order. That would also help avoid traffic growth on Egerton Road.

Linking Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road and the Tesco roundabout

47. How the Borough Council and the County Highways Authority propose to link the Blackwell Farm development into Egerton Road preferably via Gill Avenue, in accordance with the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 Policy A26, remains unclear. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. One option has recently been lost by the construction of the substantial School of Veterinary Medicine on the line of one possible access road. We consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be derelict in its duty to demonstrate how such a major urban development on the edge of Guildford can in reality be linked into the fabric of the town. The Borough Council is plainly having great difficulty finding a suitable access route. We strongly recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination unless this route can be clearly identified first.

Impact of Blackwell Farm and the Research Park development on the local road network

48. Egerton Road is one of the worst congestion hotspots in Guildford and the wider area. Egerton Road provides the main access to the Surrey Royal County Hospital and a superstore, and the only access to Surrey University’s Manor Park student village, Surrey Sports Park and the entirety of Surrey Research Park. The demand for access to all these destinations is growing, notably with building programmes at Manor Park and the Research Park. The high level of existing congestion will therefore get worse, even before Blackwell Farm is contemplated. Egerton Road is accessed principally from Guildford to the east but its capacity is fundamentally constrained by the pinch-point of the A3 underpass, which is a single-carriageway road capable of providing for two lanes of cars each way (but not wider vehicles). Overloading of the roundabouts at either end of the underpass, which both have links to the A3 and other destinations, also act as pinch-points for traffic from numerous sources and cause traffic to back up onto the roads into them (even onto the A3). The likely additional traffic generation at the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads, immediately west of the Tesco Roundabout, was noted in paragraph 6 above.

49. The concept of adding the major Blackwell Farm estate and a 10-11ha Research Park extension, both accessed from Egerton Road, without any significant vehicle capacity increase on Egerton Road itself, seems astonishing to the point of being hardly believable. The Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 accompanying the Proposed Submission Local Plan a year ago states of the Blackwell Farm development: “in Scenario 2, without either new highway schemes or specific access arrangements, trips from Blackwell Farm load onto the A31. But with the access arrangements modelled together with an access road through the development to the Surrey Research Park, this assessment indicates that significant pressure could be placed on Gill Avenue, the Hospital junction and other parts of the network in that area” (paragraph 4.5.4). Paragraph 4.9.5 of the SHAR specifically identifies that “the additional access to and from the Blackwell Farm development via Gill Avenue results in a significant increase in trips on this part of the network. This is, in turn, impacting on junctions for which there are no schemes proposed at the moment, highlighting where additional improvements may be necessary. An example of this is the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction adjacent to the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

50. In addition to this, in the last twelve months, the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 has upgraded the importance of Egerton Road to the purpose of providing access to Blackwell Farm, compared with the 2016 Plan, in that the alternative proposed access to Blackwell Farm via the A31 is no longer designated as the ‘primary’ access and Egerton Road is no longer designated the ‘secondary’ access. They now have equal status. Whereas this properly reflects the implausibility of an acceptable link to the A31, no change whatever has been proposed to Egerton Road to accommodate such extra traffic as may now be expected to take this route (which is unspecified). In our view, the additional traffic congestion impacts on an already overloaded local network are so foreseeably dire that we strongly recommend the Blackwell Farm development should not be taken forward.

Sustainable Movement Corridor
51. Back in 2014 Arup prepared a report Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study for the Borough Council, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050, which included a very broad indicative route at a scale that was difficult to apply on the ground. This has been endorsed by the Council. The purpose was to facilitate sustainable movement, strongly emphasising public transport, walking, cycling and demand management at the expense of travel by private car. The centrepiece of the scheme was a corridor segregated to be available to fast buses (and possibly trams), cyclists and pedestrians, linking the key existing areas of the town that are drivers of growth. There would be new bridges over the railway (in the town centre) and over the River Wey (across the floodplain near Stoke Lock). The estimated total cost was broadly £75-100 million though clearly not costed in detail. Cars would be banned from the Corridor which, because it would be based on using existing roads, some of them major roads, would represent a highly significant reallocation of space away from cars to buses, cycles and walkers, with consequent impediments to car usage. Car parking charges would be increased, 20mph zones introduced, some roads be closed to through traffic and others pedestrianised. The Proposed Submission Local Plan supports this kind of corridor but, strikingly, none of these intentions and assumptions is made clear in the 2016 or 2017 Consultations.

52. The 2016 Consultation proposed a Sustainable Movement Corridor, included in the Plan at the last moment (Spatial Vision, Policy I3 and paragraph 4.6.24). Various land allocation policies required co-ordination with the Corridor. Paragraph 4.6.24 explained that the Sustainable Movement Corridor would link major developments to Park-and-Rides, including Blackwell Farm (at its western end), and stated that the Corridor would be ‘largely on existing roads’.’ ‘Route sections’ were listed in the Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) with six itemised segments with some broad cost figures suggested (£80-90m in total). No route for the Corridor was included in the Plan, but instead the evidence base included a Progress Update on the Sustainable Movement Corridor scheme (GBC, June 2016). This showed a revised figurative route and possible road layouts at some key junctions and sections. It showed variations from the Arup study, notably with: a spur to Slyfield based on the existing A320 rather than a river crossing further east and also a lengthy new corridor up the A3100 to Gosden Hill Farm. The Arup Corridor would be downgraded in many lengths to shared roadspace with existing traffic (i.e. normal roads) but with bus priority measures. A land bridge over the A3 to provide a connection to the Research Park was downgraded to using the existing Egerton Road underpass: the recommendation was “to consider further the potential for tidal bus lane on Egerton Road as it passes under the A3 trunk road, with signalised control at either end controlling its use by buses, whilst retaining two working lanes of general traffic. It would be anticipated that the tidal bus lane would be used westbound in the morning peak period and eastbound in the evening peak period.” Changes to the Tesco roundabout would also be needed. Development would begin in the town centre and be phased later for other sections (to 2033).

53. The 2017 Consultation has made little progress on the Sustainable Movement Corridor. Policy ID3 now mentions a Supplementary Planning Document on the topic, but there is no sign of this even in first draft despite the passage of another year. This is an unacceptably inadequate basis upon which to plan for major urban development at Blackwell Farm. However, a further report Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update published in February 2017 does for the first time include a published small-scale street map on which the Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) is superimposed and clearer proposals for an initial western section. However, the Council clearly have insufficient confidence in this to include it in the Local Plan. The 2017 Update shows changes from the 2016 Update, notably with an additional crossing of the railway beside Yorkie’s Bridge and an additional north-south corridor along Woodbridge Road and Onslow Street between the A25 and the gyratory.

54. The Sustainable Movement Corridor will measure its effectiveness by a substantial degree of modal shift away from cars and towards sustainable transport modes. The starting point for analysis is that the Strategic Highway Assessment Report 2016 assumes no modal shift to sustainable modes, and so is a ‘worst case’ in respect of cars (paragraph 4.1.8). Paragraph 4.6.28 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 now states that “the site allocations and proposals in this Plan – including the significant programme of schemes to provide and improve opportunities to use active modes, bus and rail – are intended to result in a modest modal shift over the period to 2034”. However, the Council has accepted that this is unlikely to be enormously effective: the same sentence continues “we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes.” Instead the paragraph proposes to ‘increase highway capacity’. This is a downgrading from the intentions just a year ago, when paragraph 4.1.8 of the SHAR stated “The impact of these sustainable transport schemes is expected to be significant”. What, therefore, is the Council’s objective?

55. The key section of the SMC for Blackwell Farm is the western section. At the key pinch-point of the A3 underpass, the Sustainable Movement Corridor can only function if the existing four lanes for vehicles are reduced to three, with one of these lanes taken up as a bus lane based on tidal flow routing. Space for other vehicles would be halved. The Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 together with the main transport documents supporting it (the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 and Topic Paper: Transport, June 2017) are silent on whether this will be implemented, but as it is a key feature of the SMC, which could not function without it, we assume that this is what is proposed. Furthermore, the Tesco roundabout diagram in the 2017 Update document shows no roadspace at all reallocated to the Corridor west of this point.

56. The Council does not appear to have modelled the network consequences of creating the western section of the SMC (or any other section). With the Blackwell Farm development completed, the SHAR forecasts (Figure 4.3) that, in the morning peak hour, there would be 837 movements westbound and 636 movements eastbound along Egerton Road through the underpass (one vehicle about every 4 seconds and 6 seconds respectively). The underpass is highly unlikely to have the capacity to accept this level of traffic on a single lane each way. That would still be the case after modest modal shift had reduced the vehicle counts somewhat. It seems to us unrealistic to believe that all traffic inhibited by denial of road space will divert to sustainable modes. The more likely effect is that the SMC will simply add greatly to the predicted overcapacity on Egerton Road, with knock-on effects through the network. The principal effect of the SMC in the Blackwell Farm area is therefore likely to be to make traffic congestion worse rather than better if the development is built.

57. The footpath and cycleway on the north side of Egerton Road, segregated from traffic but not from each other, would be maintained under the proposals in the 2017 Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update, though the current design is cramped and mostly unattractive. The footpath and cycleway cease east of the Tesco roundabout, so walkers and cyclists have to fend for themselves when crossing the Ashenden Road arm of the Tesco roundabout. No improvement even to this basic problem is proposed in the Plan. The Plan needs to be clearer about what if anything it is actually proposing in order to encourage walking and cycling to and from the Blackwell Farm development.

58. If the modal shift fails to happen, the level of congestion in Guildford will become significantly worse. Modal shift is the only means by which the Council can find any practical means of moving additional people at scale into and out of Blackwell Farm (and the associated 10-11ha expansion of the Research Park). Even so, given the existing very high levels of congestion and over-capacity on Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, especially in peak periods, there is no certainty that there will be sufficient roadspace for vehicles, people and goods to reach the Blackwell Farm development even after the Sustainable Movement Corridor has taken a proportion of travellers (itself taking up roadspace).

59. The Council has not demonstrated a credible strategy for actually achieving modal shift in practice, notably by removing both roadspace for cars and destination car parking spaces. Modal shift is not mentioned in Policy A26, despite its imperative importance to the delivery of Blackwell Farm. The strong impression given by the Plan is that the SMC has been greatly downgraded from the original proposals by Arup to which the Council subscribed, and is therefore unlikely to deliver the modal shift which is essential for the development proposals in the Plan to be feasible. It seems to us that the likelihood is that the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the Blackwell Farm area will be massively inadequate. As the Council’s heart does not appear to be in modal shift, we consider that the Blackwell Farm proposal will be undeliverable and we recommend that the proposed allocation in Policy A26 is withdrawn.

60. The purpose of the SMC can only be achieved by upsetting car drivers. However, the Plan strongly emphasises accommodating traffic generation from proposed development with figures apparently incorporating: no modal shift at all; a sustained aspiration for a major increase in capacity on the A3; and continued investment in local road capacity improvements. We conclude that the Sustainable Movement Corridor has already been compromised, will fail to make discernible impacts on existing congestion, and will therefore not have anything like enough impact on travel patterns to accommodate the people and goods movements arising from 1,800 houses at Blackwell Farm. We recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination without deletion of the Blackwell Farm proposal in Policy A26.

Funding the transport infrastructure necessary for Blackwell Farm

61. We pointed out in our submission a year ago that the scale of financial support expected from the developers of the Blackwell Farm site for the delivery of road infrastructure alone was far above the amounts normally expected. In the last year the obligations upon them have increased. The Proposed Submission Local Plan has now been amended in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C. Proposals affecting the A3 were noted in paragraph 20 above, to which Blackwell Farm developers will be a party. Other new financial commitments specific to Blackwell Farm are:
• Project BT6 ‘Significant bus network serving the Blackwell Farm site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre to be provided’ is a new requirement in 2017, which must be entirely funded and delivered by the developer, at a price which is still to be confirmed, and therefore an open-ended commitment at present;
• Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which must be entirely funded by the developer, has seen its cost increase from £5m to £10m;
• The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN3 ‘New signalised junction from Blackwell Farm site to A31 Farnham Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
• The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN4 ‘Access road at Blackwell Farm site with through link to Egerton Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
• The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
• A “Necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station” towards the estimated £10m cost of Project NR2 will still be required from the Blackwell Farm developer (the only named developer required to contribute) in accordance with Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirement (7): this assumes greater importance now that the station merits its own Policy A59 (see paragraphs 63-64 below);
• The funding arrangements for SMC1 Sustainable Movement Corridor: West have been amended slightly. The change states the funding source will be ‘Developer funded and Local Growth Fund’ instead of ‘Developer contributions and Local Growth Fund’, suggesting that the developers will have to fund somewhat more than previously expected. The Blackwell Farm development will be the principal contributor to this section of the SMC.

62. Transport consultants advising Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils calculate that the transport infrastructure alone for the Blackwell Farm development will cost about £60million, most of it up-front. This is around £35,000 per dwelling. There will be other major costs which the developer will be required to fund, including new primary and secondary schools and affordable housing (none of which were included in our previous costings), all of which can be very expensive, and numerous other mitigation costs from such a major development. There is, therefore, a real risk that the proposed development will not be viable and deliverable. If still included, the Local Plan would need to ensure that the Blackwell Farm development complies with paragraph 173 of the NPPF on this point. In reality, in the absence of other funding sources to provide money which the developers may be unable or unwilling to provide, the Blackwell Farm scheme would have to fail and be deleted from the Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

I would like to make my objections to the latest draft of the Local Plan based on the following points. The Local Plan:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]. The scale of the development planned would necessitate sewage trenches, water pipes and gas lines being laid, presumably across existing areas of common land, especially Broad Street Common, which would further damage the fragile balance of the ecology of the area, disrupting wildlife habitats and inevitably forcing some fauna to find alternative sites. Additionally the need for access roads into the area, as well as the cementing and tarmacking of the housing and school site would further impact the drainage of the run-off water from the Hogs Back, increasing flooding risks both into Broad Street village and more immediately into Applegarth Avenue, homes which have been flooded even in recent years due to surface water drainage being inadequate during times of exceptional rainfall.

I would also like to make the point that by creating a housing development on the site of Blackwell Farm (which was vacated by the UniS Vice-Chancellor on the grounds of the subsidence problems of the area, the ground being a mixture of clay and the edge of the chalk ridge) which is currently in the Green Belt, there must be ‘exceptional circumstances’ to use this site in preference to other non-Green Belt sites.

Only this week, I read that the Rokers site, at Fairlands Farm, Holly Lane, was rejected by councillors on the grounds that it was an “inappropriate development” within the green belt and because the development failed to mitigate its impact on infrastructure. According to the report, planning officers also warned of the potential adverse impact on the habitats, flora and fauna withing the Broad Street and Backside Common Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI) – both of which equally form a very important and ancient wildlife corridor with the Blackwell Farm site under consideration. It was also stated that councillors consider it important to look whether ‘inappropriate development’ of a green belt site can be justified by exceptional circumstances. It was seen that this was not the case – yet the development of the Blackwell Farm site is massively greater and will impact not only the immediate community, the character of the landscape, the protected species – yellowhammer, skylark among others – but will furthermore have the following detrimental outcomes:

- It will direct more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas. This will directly negatively affect the emergency service response from the hospital
- It ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- It will add to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits.

I object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

I also am entirely opposed to the University Plan to build a vast number of houses on land at Blackwell Farm. I did query the building of the Sports Centre and although it is very nice, is it really used to the full potential by the University and local area? If houses or student flats had been built instead we would not be in such a crisis situation now with lack of available accommodation. I certainly do not agree with vast swaths of the Hog's Back being turned into a housing estate. However, a few three story flats at the lower end would not have such an impact and as there is such a need I would agree with that idea.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Supportive of public tenure pitches as it is easier and provides a level of control.

Support that GBC allocate and manage the pitches as it ensures fairness and tenure security. Support inclusion of garden provision and softer landscaping.

Utility blocks are necessary as no one will want to live somewhere without a utility block and the site will end up being a transit site No facilities of space within a mobile home for washing facilities. If a family could afford a unit with wash facilities, it is likely they would be on a private site anyway.

Strongly support the need for inclusion and breaking down of barriers, particularly for the children.
Agree with softer landscaping to resist isolation.

If outhouses or utility blocks are not including, outbuildings will be built anyway.

Support phasing of the sites.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park ad a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads
- Add to Guildford’s pollution

I object to the proposal for 1850 houses at the Blackwell Farm site for reasons similar to Wisley Airfield and Gosden Hill. There can be no justification for any of these three sites. There is no demonstrable need, no exceptional circumstances and, even if there were, brownfield land should be built on rather than the Green Belt.

We object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

1.1.1 Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development

1.1.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

1.1.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities.

The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. WE question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils.

Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance, and to make this the main access to the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

WE question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” WE consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Representation against A26: Land adjacent to Blackwell Farm, at Wellington House, Hogs back.

1.0: INTRODUCTION:

1.1 Vail Williams have been appointed as planning agents for Mr David Brandon as landowner of Wellington House, Hogs Back GU3 1DE. This representation is our clients response to the Guildford Borough Council Regulation 19 Submission Local Plan, June 2016 which will guide development until 2033.

1.2 This representation builds on the submission at the Regulation 18 stage of the Local Plan in September 2014, reference DLPSA/3565, and relates to a 4.2 hectare residential site to the west of Policy A26 (site 60 as identified in site assessment documents) as allocated in Guildford Borough Council Local Plan Submission Plan (GBCLP). For site boundaries of the allocation and the proposed site see Appendix One.

1.3 This representation seeks to demonstrate that our clients’ site, is deliverable, suitable and achievable for residential development in line with para 47 of the NPPF and the opportunity to allocate the site for additional residential development, would enhance the existing allocation, and provides a unique opportunity to enhance housing delivery without detriment to the surrounding area.

2.0 SITE CONTEXT AND OPPORTUNITY:

2.1 The site comprises of one large U-shaped 2 storey residential property with access road and is surrounded by residential garden. To the west is a significant mature treeescape that forms the boundary of the site, and a robust means of enclosure and natural boundary with the land to west, identified as greenbelt. The site has one owner and is available and suitable for residential development.

2.2 This site is adjacent to the Blackwell Farm allocation, a 78 hectare site which is approximately 500m from the settlement boundaries of Guildford town. To the South of the site is the A31 which forms the main access to the house, and is the primary access to the allocation to the north. There is a separate 2 storey residential property “The Gardens” immediately to the North.

2.3 This representation seeks to demonstrate that approx. 100-120 additional dwellings can be provided on the land adjacent to the primary access road at Wellington House, through the use of the residential house and its garden only. In this regard, a small scale extension to the proposed urban extension would result in only a 5.3% increase in site area, however the opportunity to deliver a more comprehensive development without undermining the context or character of the surrounding area can be achieved.
2.4 With a presumption in favour of sustainable development, this representation seeks to demonstrate how the objectives of the national policy framework (NPPF) and local planning policies (GBLP) can be consistent with the inclusion of the site into the strategic extension site under policy A26 at Blackwell Farm.

3.0 PREVIOUS POLICY CONSIDERATIONS & REPRESENTATIONS IN RELATION TO REGULATION 18

3.1 The site was previously proposed at the Regulation 18 stage on behalf of the landowner, Mr Brandon by planning consultants D&M Planning. The site is defined within the Guildford Borough Local Plan Proposal Map 2003 as being within the Metropolitan Green Belt and in an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV).

3.2 The site was proposed at Regulation 18 stage by the landowner with potential for residential development, in a sustainable location and adjacent to the strategic development site proposed by Guildford Borough Council. The site was identified as open countryside and abuts the proposed allocation. Despite numerous concerns raised by objectors regarding the impact on protection policies including the AONB and AGLV, including objections from Natural England, the site immediate adjacent to Wellington House at Blackwell Farm has been allocated as an extension to the settlement boundary and significant development was justified over and above greenbelt, character, agricultural, and access concerns.

3.3 At the Regulation 18 stage, 13,040 dwellings were required (652 per annum) as identified in the 2014 SHMA. The previous representation for Wellington House confirmed that this figure did not reflect the objectively assessed need for housing (OAN) and the housing figures were therefore too low. This then considered alternative scenarios regarding higher growth need, including DCLG figures that proposed a much higher rate of 704 dwellings per annum.

3.4 It is considered that despite the previous representation, the site has not been adequately assessed as part of the land supply assessments, and the proximity to the allocated site and redefined settlement boundary warrants the additional 4.2 hectares, with a clear defensible boundary, to be added to the existing 78 hectare allocation under policy A26.

4.0 CONSIDERATIONS FROM THE EVIDENCE BASE FOR ALLOCATION AT PROPOSED SUBMISSION STAGE (REGULATION 19)

4.1 The Local Plan polices contained within the GBLP submission document, need to comply with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The plan must demonstrate that it is positively prepared, justified, effective, and consistent with national policy. It is agreed that these tests, relating to the evidence base are sound. However, there are a number of issues raised in regard to the specific assessment of the land supply available for residential development, given that the site at Wellington House has not been included in the site assessments or those housing supply figures cited in the Local Plan.

4.2 Since the Regulation 18 stage, the site allocated at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from circa 2000, to 1800 homes, and the site has been reduced from 106.2 hec to 78 hectare through the loss of land to the west of the access road. For original Regulation 18 Map, see Appendix Two.

4.3 The Local Plan in Policy S2 identifies 13,860 new homes over the plan period (equated to approx. 693 per annum over 20 year plan period). Historically delivery has been low for Guildford and whilst the plan identifies phased delivery from 2018/19-2022/2 with an increasing annual housing target, it is considered that based on delivery rates, the most effective method of ensuring housing targets are met would be to maximise the allocation and identification of sites. Wellington House ensures that this can be dovetailed with the delivery of key infrastructure, which is central to effective planning, and as identified in the Councils own Infrastructure Delivery Plan (June 2016).

4.3 Based on a Land Availability Assessment (LAA) and the study on the June 2016 West Surrey Shared Housing Market Area (SHMA), the requirement for housing based on demographic led projections requires 517 dwellings per annum, (table 76 SHMA). The fully considered OAN highlights the significant need in the Guildford and its dominance in the wider West Surrey housing market area.

4.4 The Land Availability assessment (Feb 2016) shows that the Blackwell Farm site is due for delivery years 4-15 for 1800 homes, with highest delivery per annum at 230 for years 11-15. It also identifies in the housing trajectory a deficit up to 2028.

4.5 Whilst the SHLAA, and SHMA and Local Plan seem to identify adequate land supply over the plan period, the historic delivery rates, and need to plan positively and flexibly to consider all opportunities for development, in line with para 47 of the NPPF, requires the council to consider and assess all sites. These should be available, achievable (with realistic prospect that housing will be delivered on the site within 5 years) and be viable. On this basis, it is argued that the site at Wellington House should be included as part of the site allocated in Policy A26, on the following grounds:

4.6 Achievable and Deliverable:

The site has only one owner, who has proactively proposed the site as both Regulation 18 and 19 stages of the local plan process, demonstrating positive engagement and consideration of the relevant policy considerations. It is therefore achievable and deliverable.

4.7 Suitable:

The constraints in regard to greenbelt have been removed for the site abutting Wellington House at Blackwell Farm on the basis that the scale and opportunity warrants exceptional circumstances. The additional 4.2 hectare site could increase this opportunity, and indeed already abuts the primary access road for the site, and therefore both the existing mature landscaping and access arrangements are established. Within the LAA, the allocated site at Blackwell Farm (page 428) site reference 311, acknowledges that although the site is in the greenbelt, it partially adjoins the urban area. The small scale extension (approx. 5% increase) could warrant an additional 120 dwellings.

4.8 Again mature trees create a sense of enclosure as with the adjacent site proposed at Wellington House, providing a clear and defensible boundary with mature greenspace. The partial inclusion of the site in AONB and AGLV is acknowledged, however as the site is in a Low flood risk (Zone 1) and as a residential house and garden has no Agricultural land classification, unlike the allocated site, the allocation of the house and its curtilage do not warrant such additional constraints.

4.9 The Sustainability Appraisal (June 2016) states in Box 6.5 the following:

• Blackwell Farm to the south-west performs relatively well as a site option when considered in isolation, relative to other strategic site options, as there is the potential to facilitate delivery of new strategic infrastructure (including a rail station) and enable an extension to the Surrey Research Park; and development would mostly avoid the loss of Green Belt identified as most sensitive (‘red-rated’) by the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS; see Figure 6.4). 31. As such, an urban extension here was identified as a ‘given’ for the purposes of developing spatial strategy alternatives. With regards to site capacity a figure of 1,800 (o.e. a figure lower than that proposed in 2014, reflecting a reduction in the overall site size to avoid red-related Green Belt and AONB, and minimise development on Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV)) 32 was identified as a given, for the purposes of developing spatial strategy alternatives.

4.10 The Sustainability Appraisal therefore acknowledges that the location and principle of residential development in this location, and the scale of development is consistent with the principles of sustainable development. Para 6.4 of the SA identifies that the site at Blackwell Farm has medium green belt sensitivity. It is therefore considered appropriate in regard to the presumption of sustainable development that the same conclusions could be drawn against increasing the allocation to include Wellington House.

4.11 The Landscape Character Assessment that supports the Regulation 19 Local Plan identifies the site within the Hogs Back Chalk Ridge area B1- where development should have a positive benefit to landscape and have regard to the landscape area. It is considered that this can be addressed through sympathetic design, and use of the site as a blend and transition from the adjacent greenbelt to the site allocation at Blackwell Farm.
4.12 The principle of the assessment of the strategic site, the appropriateness of the development in regards to housing supply and the contribution to the wider priority in the provision of new homes, supports the allocation at Blackwell Farm being extended. The evidence base supports that the site is available, suitable and deliverable, and due to the single ownership of the site it should be considered that there is potential for development to be phased in line with policy approach from the larger strategic site, whilst enhancing housing supply within the early stages of the Local Plan.

5.0 CONSIDERATIONS FROM THE EVIDENCE BASE FOR ALLOCATION AT PROPOSED SUBMISSION STAGE (REGULATION 19)

5.1 The Spatial vision of the Local Plan looks to maintain the extent and function of the green belt in such a way to protect the character of the Borough. The vision then continues to explain that as not all of the development needs can be met within the urban areas, that it is proposed to “focus some development on large greenfield sites, which brings significant infrastructure, it help make it sustainable. In the context of Wellington House, the site would have additionality to this objective, and support the principal of maintaining the greenbelt whilst providing essential infrastructure in a sustainable location.

5.2 The vision also confirms that new development on the edges of existing urban areas will be required to treat the transition from urban to rural character in a sympathetic way, whilst affording great protection to the AONB and AGLV. Careful and considered design can ensure that the redevelopment of the additional 4.2 hectares, can assist in the transition between the allocation and the defined settlement boundary.

5.3 Policy S1 states that the Borough Council will work proactively with applicants jointly to find solutions so that proposals can be approved wherever possible. In this regard, Wellington House is suitable, and achievable fulling sustainable design objectives of the plan and aligning with the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

5.4 Policy S2 confirms the provision of 13,860 new homes, but accepts that “the housing target...is not a ceiling”. Table 1 shows delivery of Blackwell Farm as an urban extension spread across years 1-15, and the policy highlights the annual housing target rising from 500-790 per annum with a total delivery of 10,395. It has already been argued that Wellington House can ensure that as the site is within one ownership, the site can be brought forward in advance of the strategic site, ensuring a more flexible approach to delivery, whilst ensuring delivery throughout the plan period can address an early years deficit. (SHLAA p20)

5.5 Policy P1: Surrey Hills AONB is to be conserved and enhanced, whilst proposals in the AGLV will be required to demonstrate that they would not result in harm. It is proposed that careful design and layout, and containment within the defined boundaries of the site, that align with the western boundaries of the adjacent allocation, would ensure that there any development would not undermine any further the AONB or AGLV but would merely square off the site and allow the transition to be more consistent with the approach taken in Policy A26.

5.6 Policy P2 relates to the greenbelt. The NPPF which states that greenbelt boundaries should only be amended in exceptional circumstances, and given the significant requirement for housing, and the strategic nature of the site for additional employment and infrastructure provision, the Council has considered it appropriate to propose the urban extension site at Blackwell Farm. However, the additional land at Wellington House could also contribute additionality to the housing provision and therefore the same exception can be applied to the site.

5.7 Whilst the council intend to provide an SPD to amplify Policy P2, it is considered that the close relationship with the access to Blackwell Farm and the irregular shape of the existing allocation, is justification for the site to be included in the urban extension. Indeed, the site could be a buffer in regard to design and scale due to its character and typography, and this could then blend with the adjacent green belt. Careful and considered design can easily address this. As the site already has a large residential property within the site, the site has to a degree been previously developed and used, therefore there is a significant difference between the land and its residential curtilage and that of the adjacent open areas that more formally contribute to the green belt and its open character.

5.8 Policy P2 also argues that development on a site, within the green belt, for replacement buildings will look at the scale and proximity to existing buildings. Given the significant scale of the proposals at Blackwell Farm, it is considered that well designed additional residential dwellings on the adjacent site at Blackwell Farm can be justified in relation to the overall visual impact, and that the integrity of the greenbelt would not be undermined by “square-ing off” the urban extensions allocation in Policy A26. The additional land is therefore consistent with the council reasoned justification in para 4.3.26 which states that infill development should not have an adverse impact on the character of the countryside or the local environment.

5.9 Policy D1 of the submission Local Plan relates to design polices and making better places, and the need to create a harmonious integrated mix of uses. The unique opportunity to expand the scale of the urban extension allows the proposals for the new local centre, employment floorspace, SANG and housing to be enhanced. The site also contributes to the ability to further improve the opportunity for sustainable movement, whilst enhancing housing land supply figures in an already justified location.

5.10 The site at Wellington House would allow any residential development to “respond meaningfully and sensitively to the site, its characteristics and constraints”, whilst being laid out to make the best use of the natural features of the site. In regard to the proposed site, this relates to the opportunity to utilise the topography and natural landscape of the trees and existing mature boundary treatments, which are appropriate to their setting.

5.11 Policy A26 sets out the details of the allocation at Blackwell Farm for 1800 homes, 31,000sqm of employment space, 6 travellers pitches, comparison and convenience retail, community uses and a 2FE primary school. This significant development site abuts the Wellington House site and the shared access road is illustrated to as a primary vehicular access to serve the development. The allocation as it stands will significantly alter the character and setting of Wellington House and not including the site within the allocation ignores an opportunity to further enhance the objectives of sustainable development.

5.12 Other local plan policies:

The site does not have any other constraints that would preclude it from development potential. A planned development has the ability to address the raft of specific policies in relation to sustainable construction, open space provision, energy efficiency and all other local plan requirements through careful and considered design. The site should therefore be considered to be consistent with the NPPF and Local Plan policies.

6.0 Justification of including Wellington House, in line with the National planning context NPPF:

6.1 The NPPF (paragraph 14) states:

“At the heart of the National Planning Policy Framework is a presumption in favour of sustainable development, which should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking. For plan-making this means that:

- local planning authorities should positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area;
- Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change, unless:

any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole.”

The inclusion of wellington house seeks the opportunity to meet development needs, gives flexibility to the housing land supply whilst the benefits outweigh any harm, that has already been mitigated through the allocation at Blackwell Farm.

6.2 Para 15 states that “development which is sustainable should be permitted without delay.” The site is available and can be delivered without delay as issues relating to access, suitability and sustainability have been established in principle as part of the adjacent strategic land allocation.
6.3 Para 17 of the NNP requires Local Planning Authorities to empower local people to shape their surroundings whilst allowing Local Plans to be “a creative exercise in finding ways to enhance and improve the places in which people live”. It states that every effort should be made to objectively identify and meet development needs.” responding positively to opportunities for growth”.

6.4 It continues, that planning should “take account of the different roles and characters of different areas”. In regards to the Guildford Local Plan, if this has been adequately considered for Site A26, then the approach can be applied to Wellington House to further respect the character of the locality whilst allowing every effort to identify development opportunities.

6.5 The NPPF also encourages the use of previously developed land, whilst actively managing growth to make the fullest use of sustainable transport, and focusing development that can be made sustainable. Paragraph 30 encourages patterns of development that facilitate sustainable modes of transport. Focusing additional growth on the boundaries of the allocation would meet all of the Core Planning Principles of the NNPF, whilst opportunities for sustainable design and construction can be amplified in a larger scale scheme.

6.6 Paragraph 47 of the NPPF requires local authorities to “boost significantly the supply of housing”. and that developable sites should be identified. Through the identification of the Blackwell Farm as a key site, critical to the delivery of housing development over the plan period, Guildford Borough Council has accepted the principle of development in this location, and has justified that this overrides the previous green belt allocation. It does not however identify Wellington House as developable.

6.7 The NPPF requires delivery to be realistic whilst Paragraph 50 also requires policies to be flexible over time. It is considered that due to historical levels of under delivery the inclusion of the additional 4.2 hectares will allow a flexible, realistic and achievable site to come forward, that can be self sufficient, or developed as part of the wider strategic allocation.

6.8 Paragraph 52 states that “the supply of housing can sometimes be best achieved through planning for larger scale development, such as new extensions to settlements.” Whilst the authority has illustrated this in Site 26 at Blackwell Farm it has not done this far enough, and the potential to include Wellington House, ensures that the opportunity “provides the best way of achieving sustainable development”.

6.9 Whilst paragraph 53 resists the use of residential gardens, when it is harmful. Given the scale of the curtilage of Wellington House, of 4.2 hectares and the close proximity to the large 78 hectare site at Blackwell Farm, it is consistent that the supply of additional dwelling houses within the residential curtilage would not cause harm, indeed it could be positively planned to ensure a more consistent approach to the setting and context of the wider site.

6.10 Paragraph 55 requires residential development to be innovative in design, raise design standards, significantly enhance its setting and be sensitive to the defining characteristics of the local area. Due to the defensible boundaries of the site, the unusual shape and form of the allocation at Blackwell Farm and the precedent given to the use of the access road leading to both Wellington House and Blackwell Farm, the opportunity to allow the residential house site to be developed as a buffer to the strategic allocation to the north, can ensure that this is achieved through careful design and layout, respecting the local character and context. This will ensure that the development complies with Paragraph 56 which requires development to establish a strong sense of place, and optimise the potential of the site to accommodate development, responding to local character.

6.11 Four of the five objectives related to greenbelt policy cited in para 80, are to protect the sprawl of built up areas, prevent towns merging, assist in the safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, and preserve historic towns. The principle of the allocation at Blackwell Farm ensures that these have been considered and assessed, against the overriding need for land for housing for period of the Local Plan.
6.12 The extension of the site to include Wellington House can therefore be agreed that the principles of adding an additional 4.2 hectares on a 78 hectare site (5.4% increase) would not undermine the gap between built up areas, nor create the merger of towns. The scale of the site, adjacent to the larger allocation does not result in any additional encroachment eastwards into the countryside, but merely squares off the site, along the already allocated access road that is the primary access to the allocated site A26. Given that the Council argues that the strategic allocation is consistent with para 83: “Greenbelt can develop in exceptional circumstances” it is considered that the same can apply to extending the boundary to include the additional 4.2 hectares.

6.13 The inclusion of this site would ensure “consistency with the Local Plan Strategy in meeting identified requirements (para 85). This also requires that boundaries are “defined clearly using physical features that are permanent and readily recognisable”. The heavily tree lined eastern boundary, and the access road to the west, as well as the allocation to the south ensure that this site can be consistent with para 80 and “would not have to be altered within the local plan period”.

6.14 Para 89 requires any development not to have “greater impact on the openness of the greenbelt”. Given the site allocation to the south and the significant green boundaries to the site, it is unclear how any development within the residential curtilage can be adversely impacting on the openness of the greenbelt, over that already proposed by the large allocation at Blackwell Farm.

7.0 CONCLUSION:

7.1 The opportunity to expand the allocated site at Blackwell Farm will be consistent with the ethos and vision of the Submission Guildford Borough Plan and assist the Council in achieving its objectives without any detriment to the significant constraints in the Borough regarding impact on the open countryside and greenbelt. In line with the NPPF the site can contribute to sustainable development and the three dimensions of social economic and environmental roles. It complies with Para 7 by providing housing supply that meets the needs of present and future generations, within a high quality environment, with accessible local services. Economically it will allow the co-ordinated provision of necessary infrastructure when considered alongside the urban extension allocation A26, and environmentally, it can ensure a strengthened boundary and blend between the Blackwell Farm strategic site and the adjacent green belt, contributing to the protection and enhancement of the natural and built environment.

7.2 The benefits to the inclusion of the site at Wellington House into the Strategic urban extension can be summarised as:

- The opportunity to bring forward a site that is available, deliverable and viable in line with NPPF.
- It is appropriate, and available for development.
- Its inclusion would comply with the overriding ethos of a presumption in favour of sustainable development in line with the NPPF.
- Increased housing provision from approx 100-120 residential units (depending on design and infrastructure requirements), and associated CIL receipts.
- Increased land supply to provide additional residential dwellings in line with the LAA and at an early stage of the local plan.
- To provide additional residential units in a sustainable location that is in close proximity to both proposed and existing local centres and the urban boundary.
- To utilise a site that has already been deemed sustainable in regards to sustainable transport.
- To enhance a site that has already been released as an exceptional circumstance from the greenbelt.
- The opportunity to design the residential layout that can sufficiently blend with adjacent greenbelt and ensure a more successful transition between the new strategic scale development within the urban extension.
- Utilise the natural landscape of the site and its treescape to enhance the A31 frontage and regularise the form and shape of the existing allocation, without detriment to the integrity of the greenbelt.

7.3 It is therefore recommended that the site at Wellington House be included in the strategic allocation under Policy A26, in line with objectives and principles at both National level and local level and, when considered against the “whole plan approach”, can contribute towards achieving the objectives of a sound local plan, which can guide successful development in Guildford until 2033.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Vail Williams have been appointed by Mr David Brandon, as landowner to make representations on Guildford Borough Council Regulation 19 Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017).

This representation builds on the preceding representations made in June 2016 to the previous Reg. 19 stage of the proposed Local Plan 2015-2034.

There have been a number of changes and alterations to the proposed plan particularly in terms of decreasing overall housing numbers, by approximately 1,400 dwellings overall to 12,462 from 13,860, in the most recent version of the proposed local plan reg. 19 (June 2017). The plan states in paragraph 4.1.9a that this total annual housing target is lower than what is set out in the LAA 2016 “as having potential to be delivered over the plan period” so that there is flexibility in the plan and it is demonstrable that the “strategy is capable of delivering the target”. However, given the total housing target the Council should be increasing these numbers to ensure that their OAN, along with the unmet need across the Housing Market Area (HMA), are met.

According to a recent HBF response to the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission: Strategy and Sites 2017 Consultation “the Plan is unsound as the Council have failed to plan positively in relation to meeting the needs of the neighbouring authorities”. For example, Woking continue to plan using their currently adopted Core Strategy which sets figures at 225 units below the OAN set out in the 2015 West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment. Guildford, similar to Waverley, therefore has a duty to cooperate to aid Woking in meeting their unmet need.

The same issue was also discussed recently at Waverley Borough Council’s Examination in Public (EIP) where the Inspector determined that Waverley, and Guildford, should be increasing their housing targets to accommodate Woking given that they are all in the same HMA.

This representation focuses on Policy A26: Land adjacent to Blackwell Farm, and the full statement attached below seeks to demonstrate that our clients’ site, is deliverable, suitable and achievable for residential development in line with paragraph 47 of the NPPF.

It is considered that the residential property, and its curtilage, provides an opportunity to allocate the site for additional residential development, and would enhance the existing allocation whilst providing a unique opportunity to enhance housing delivery without detriment to the surrounding area.

In addition, the most recent changes to the proposed local plan has seen the overall plan period being decreased to 19 years, from 2013-2033, to 2015-2034; there has been a loss of overall strategic sites with the removal of the Normandy and Flexford site from the plan which was set to deliver some 1,100 new homes across the plan period. These changes in reducing housing numbers, reducing the overall time period of the plan and reducing the number of strategic sites, while the need for housing has not decreased but may, in fact, have increased due to the Borough’s duty to cooperate to help the overall HMA and Woking specifically to help meet their need, illustrate that further sites will need to come forward in order to deliver enough houses to meet the needs of the overall area within the plan period.

Despite the Guildford Borough Topic Paper 2017 on Housing Delivery which sets out the reasons for reducing their housing targets due to the allowance of the NPPF and NPPG for the Borough to lower their targets where adverse impacts of providing housing on constraints such as the AONB, Green Belt and Infrastructure Capacity would “significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits” of providing new housing (pg.8-9).

The demand for the additional housing need still exists and can be accommodated in sites such as Wellington House which will, overall, have a less harmful impact on the surrounding area and Borough due to its location adjacent to the Blackwell Farm strategic site, than other stand alone sites which may come forward, as it fits in and creates a stronger defensible boundary between the built up area and the open countryside, does not decrease the open gap between Guildford and Ash/Tongham any more than already proposed, and will not have infrastructural transport issues as these have already been mitigated within the Blackwell Farm proposal.

Within this most recent Regulation 19 plan proposal, further weight appears to be put on defensible boundaries with the Green Belt, seeing multiple sites allocated for development in the plan changing to amend their boundaries to make them more defensible. The inclusion of the Wellington House site into Policy A26 would “square-off” the strategic site and create a more natural boundary to the site which would be a hard line edge between the built up area and the Green Belt.
The site at Wellington House is currently developed as a residential site, being a large house and garden, and therefore constitutes as a Brownfield site on which development would be more suited to than those green field sites that are also being put forward. Therefore, the inclusion of this site would create less of an overall impact on the Borough and surrounding area than an undeveloped Green Belt site.

While it is acknowledged that this site is currently designated as Green Belt and there were large numbers of comments and objections (some 3,313) to the Green Belt policy in the local plan, the removal of this site and inclusion into policy A26, would “square-off” the site and create that defensible boundary which would be more suitable for development in the area than alternative stand-alone sites, as aforementioned.

The proposed transport infrastructure plans outlined in document T13 show that major improvements are to be made to the A31 along the Hogs Back in conjunction with policy A26. Given that Wellington House and Blackwell Farm share an access point, it makes further sense that Wellington House be included in this allocation rather than the additional housing provision be found elsewhere as the necessary infrastructure provisions associated with this type of development have already been planned for and will not need to be provided as they would on a different site.

In summary our representation is as follows:

- The site is owned by a single landowner who has had a consistent approach to putting this site, which, in line with the NPPF, is available, deliverable and viable, forward for consideration since 2014.
- The Landowner has been fully engaged in the process of promoting this site from the beginning.
- The site is fully suitable, appropriate, and available for development immediately or in the future.
- If this site at Wellington House is not allocated for development under Policy A26, it may come to be a vacant and unused site in the future due the impacts such a large strategic site will have on the amenity use of the dwelling.
- There is an increased need to deliver housing numbers for the adjacent LPAs in line with the HMA and the determination by a planning inspector that Waverley take on half of Woking’s unmet need and suggestion that Guildford share the burden of providing some of this remaining need also.
- The number of houses delivered by the Borough is historically poor and Guildford Borough Council need to recognise the need to be flexible and release additional sites which will not create a negative impact on the surrounding environment or Green Belt, such as this Wellington House site.

With this, the benefits to the inclusion of the site at Wellington House into the strategic urban extension of policy A26 can be summarised as:

- The opportunity to bring forward a site that is available, deliverable and viable in line with NPPF.
- It is appropriate, and available for development.
- Its inclusion would comply with the overriding ethos of a presumption in favour of sustainable development in line with the NPPF.
- Increased housing provision from approx. 100-120 residential units (depending on design and infrastructure requirements), and associated CIL receipts.
- Increased land supply to provide additional residential dwellings in line with the LAA and at an early stage of the local plan.
- To provide additional residential units in a sustainable location that is in close proximity to both proposed and existing local centres and the urban boundary.
- To utilise a site that has already been deemed sustainable in regards to sustainable transport.
- To enhance a site that has already been released as an exceptional circumstance from the Green Belt.
- The opportunity to design the residential layout that can sufficiently blend with adjacent Green Belt and ensure a more successful transition between the new strategic scale developments within the urban extension.
- Utilise the natural landscape of the site and its treescape to enhance the A31 frontage and regularise the form and shape of the existing allocation, without detriment to the integrity of the Green Belt.

Based on a new and updated evidence base, it is therefore recommended that the site at Wellington House be included in the strategic allocation under Policy A26, in line with objectives and principles at both National level and local level and, when considered against the “whole plan approach”, can contribute towards achieving the objectives of a sound local plan, which can guide successful development in Guildford until 2034.
Examination

The site is considered to be deliverable, suitable and achievable. As Blackwell Farm can assist the delivery of housing, in a sustainable location, we would like to register our interest in participating at the Examination and attend any pre-examination meetings.

Please see covering statement for additional justification in regard to National and Local plan policies.

1 Introduction

1.1. Vail Williams have been appointed as planning agents for Mr David Brandon as landowner of Wellington House, Hogs Back GU3 1DE. This representation is our clients’ response to the Guildford Borough Council Regulation 19 Submission Local Plan, July 2017 which will guide development until 2034.

1.2. This representation builds on previous submissions for the site as part of the submission at the Regulation 18 stage of the Local Plan in September 2014, reference DLPSA/3565, and the 2016 representation to the Regulation 19 stage previously submitted.

1.3. This site relates to a 4.2 hectare residential site to the west of Policy A26 (site 60 as identified in site assessment documents as allocated in Guildford Borough Council Local Plan Submission Plan (GBCLP). For site boundaries of the allocation and the proposed site see Appendix One.

1.4. This representation seeks to demonstrate that our clients’ site, remains deliverable, suitable and achievable for residential development in line with para 47 of the NPPF. It provides Guildford Borough Council with the opportunity to allocate the site for additional residential development, enhancing the existing adjacent allocation at Blackwell Farm, whilst providing a unique opportunity to improve housing delivery without detriment to the surrounding area.

2 Site Context and Opportunity

2.1. There is a large U-shaped 2 storey residential property, an access road, and a large residential garden within this site, along with significant mature treescape which bounds the site and forms a natural boundary with the Green Belt land to the west. The site has one owner and is available and suitable for residential development.

2.2. This site is adjacent to Blackwell Farm, the strategic housing allocation (policy A26), which is a 78ha site located approximately 500m from the Guildford town settlement boundary. The A31 lies to the south of the site and acts the main access to the house, along with being the primary access to the Blackwell Farm allocation to the north. There is also a separate 2 storey residential property “The Gardens” which lies immediately to the North of the site.

2.3. This representation seeks to demonstrate that approximately 100-120 additional dwellings could be provided on the land, adjacent to the primary access road at Wellington House, through the use of only the residential house and its garden. In this regard, a small scale alteration to the proposed urban extension would result in only a 5.3% increase in site area. We propose that the opportunity to deliver a more comprehensive development which does not undermine the context or the character of the surrounding area could be achieved at this site with minimal impact to the surrounding area.

2.4. With a presumption in favour of sustainable development, this representation seeks to demonstrate how the objectives of the national policy framework (NPPF) and proposed local planning policies (GBLP) could be consistent with the inclusion of this site into the strategic extension site of Blackwell Farm under policy A26, and that the Borough Council should amend the Policy A26 boundary.

3 Previous Considerations & Representations in relation to regulation 18

3.1. This site was previously proposed at the 2014 Regulation 18 stage and the 2016 Regulation 19 stage on behalf of the landowner, Mr Brandon, by planning consultants D&M Planning and Vail Williams respectively. Within the Guildford Borough Local Plan Proposal Map 2003 the site is designated as Metropolitan Green Belt and is in an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV).

3.2. As outlined in the previous representation, the site was proposed at Regulation 18 stage by the landowner with the potential for residential development, in a sustainable location and adjacent to the strategic development site proposed by Guildford Borough Council. The site was, at that stage, identified as open countryside and abuts the proposed allocation. Despite numerous concerns raised by objectors regarding the impact on protection policies including the AONB and AGLV, including objections from Natural England, the site immediate adjacent to Wellington House was allocated as an extension to the settlement boundary and significant development was justified over and above greenbelt, character, agricultural, and access concerns.

3.3. At the Regulation 18 stage, 13,040 dwellings were identified as required (652 per annum) as set out in the 2014 SHMA. The first representation for Wellington House confirmed that this figure did not reflect the objectively assessed need for housing (OAN) and that the housing figures were therefore considered too low. This then considered alternative scenarios regarding higher growth need, including DCLG figures that proposed a much higher rate of 704 dwellings per annum.

3.4. It is considered that despite this previous representation, and the subsequent 2016 representation, this site at Wellington House has not been adequately assessed or considered as part of the land supply assessments. With this, the proximity to the allocated site and redefined settlement boundary warrants the additional 4.2 hectares, with a clear defensible boundary, to be added to the existing 78 hectare allocation under policy A26.

4 Updated Comments as a result of the evolving Evidence Base and the Regulation 19 Proposed Plan.

4.1. In line with the NPPF, the plan must demonstrate that it is positively prepared, justified, effective, and consistent with national policy. Whilst our previous representations reiterated that it is agreed that these tests relating to the evidence base are sound, there are a number of issues raised in regard to the specific assessment of the land supply available for residential development, given that the site at Wellington House has not been included in the site assessments nor those housing supply figures as now amended, that have been cited in the July 2017 version of the Regulation 19 stage Local Plan.

4.2. Since the Regulation 18 stage in 2014, the site allocated at Blackwell Farm has been reduced to 1,500 homes being delivered within the plan period, from approximately 2,000 homes. With this, the site has been reduced from 106.2 to 78 ha through the loss of land west of the access road. For original Regulation 18 map, see Appendix Two.

4.3. The July 2017 update of the Local Plan shows that Policy S2 relating to housing supply, now identifies a decreased figure of 12,426 new homes over the plan period (a level of 654 per annum, which has been reduced from 693 per annum, according to the 2017 SHMA addendum). Historically, the delivery of housing has been low for Guildford and whilst the plan identifies phased delivery from 2019/20-2023/4 with an increasing annual housing target, it is considered that based on delivery rates, the most effective method of ensuring housing targets are met is through maximising the allocation and identification of sites.

4.4. The inclusion of Wellington House would ensure that this can be dovetailed with the delivery of key infrastructure, which is central to effective planning, and is identified in the Councils own Infrastructure Delivery Plan (June 2016).
4.5. Based on the Land Availability Assessment 2016 (LAA) and the study on the 2015 West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), the requirement for housing based on demographic led projections meant that 517 dwellings would be needed per annum (Table 76 - SHMA). The fully considered OAN of 693 homes per annum equated to a total of 10,985 new dwellings over the period of the plan. This highlighted the significant need for new housing in Guildford and the dominance it has within the wider West Surrey HMA.

4.6. Since this, a 2017 Addendum to the SHMA has been released which indicates that due to economic circumstances the housing need for the Borough should be reduced from the original 693 dwellings per annum to 654 dwellings per annum on the basis that the new housing target has been reduced to what has been deemed a suitable figure for the Borough when standing alone, apart from the rest of the West Surrey HMA.

4.7. Given the issues of delivery, as a member of the HBF, we have seen sight of their representations responding to this proposed submission, which also states that the housing requirement reductions are unjustified and would cause the plan to become unsound. They also note that this 2017 SHMA addendum has been commissioned by Guildford Borough Council only and solely looking at their needs, without taking into account the wider needs of the West Surrey HMA. Vail Williams LLP are therefore concerned that the plan does not reflect an adequate duty to cooperate.

4.8. The Land Availability Assessment Addendum (June 2017) shows that the Blackwell Farm site is due for delivery years 4-15 for 1500 homes within the plan period, with highest delivery per annum being 170 new dwellings per annum across years 11-15. The housing trajectory also identifies a deficit in development up until the year 2025 (p8).

4.9. However, whilst the original and amended SHLAAs, SHMAs and Local Plans seem to identify adequate land supply over the plan period, this is only for Guildford itself with the housing trajectory figures having been decreased overall to provide flexibility for the Council within their LAA allocations. This does not take into account the need for the wider area, particularly Woking’s unmet need. However, the historic delivery rates, and need to plan positively and flexibly to consider all opportunities for development, in line with para 47 of the NPPF, requires the council to consider and assess all sites. These should be available, achievable (with realistic prospect that housing will be delivered on the site within 5 years) and be viable.

4.10. On this basis, it is argued that Wellington House should be included as part of the site allocated in Policy A26, on the following grounds:

Achievable and Deliverable:

4.11. The proposed site remains in single ownership, who has proactively proposed the site at both Regulation 18 and, the prior, 19 stages of the local plan process demonstrating positive engagement and consideration of the relevant policy in order to show that this site is both achievable and deliverable.

Suitable:

4.12. While the Green Belt constraints remain across this site, it has been removed for the immediately adjacent Blackwell Farm site on the scale and opportunity of its development warrants exceptional circumstances.

4.13. Therefore the additional 4.2 hectare Wellington House site could increase this opportunity for much needed development. With this, the site already abuts the primary access road for the Blackwell Farm, and therefore both the existing mature landscaping and access arrangements are established. Within the LAA 2016, the allocated site at Blackwell Farm (page 428, ref. 311), acknowledges that although the site is in the Green Belt, it partially adjoins the urban area.

4.14. Additionally, the existing mature trees create a sense of enclosure as with the adjacent site proposed at Wellington House. This provides a clear and defensible boundary with mature greenspace which would fit into the Blackwell Farm allocation and would make the defensible boundary stronger. With this, other sites such as Ripley and Burnt Common have had their boundaries amended in this July 2017 Local Plan to ensure they are more defensible in the Green Belt. This is not consistent with Wellington House and Blackwell Farm.

4.15. The partial inclusion of the site in the AGLV is acknowledged, however as the site is in a Low flood risk (Zone1) and as a residential house and garden has no Agricultural land classification, unlike the allocated Blackwell Farm site, the allocation of Wellington House and its curtilage do not warrant such additional constraints. It is also considered that as PDL land with existing buildings, the land should be considered over and above other loss of green belt sites proposed.

4.16. The Sustainability Appraisal (June 2016) states in Box 6.5 the following:

'Blackwell Farm to the south-west performs relatively well as a sit option when considered in isolation, relative to other strategic site options, as there is the potential to facilitate delivery of new strategic infrastructure (including a rail station) and enable an extension to the Surrey Research Park; and development would mostly avoid the loss of Green Belt identified as most sensitive (red-rated) by the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS; see Figure 6.4). As Such, as urban extension here was identified as a given for the purposes of developing spatial strategy alternatives. With regards to site capacity a figure of 1,800 (i.e. a figure lower than that proposed in 2014, reflecting a reduction in the overall site size to avoid red-rated Green Belt and AONB, and minimise development on Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV)) was identified as a given, for the purpose of developing spatial strategy alternatives.'

4.17. As discussed in the previous Regulation 19 submission representation, the Sustainability Appraisal acknowledges that the location and principle of residential development in this location, along with the scale of development, are consistent with the principles of sustainable development. Paragraph 6.4 of this appraisal also identifies that the Blackwell Farm site’s Green Belt sensitivity is at a medium scale. Therefore, in regard to the presumption of sustainable development, it is considered appropriate that the same conclusions could be drawn against increasing the Blackwell Farm allocation to include Wellington House.

4.18. While this site is located within the Metropolitan Green Belt and there have been a large array of comments on Policy P2 relating to the Green Belt and its protection, no significant changes are proposed to be made to Policy P2. However, Wellington House’s removal from the Green Belt and inclusion into the policy A26 would further consolidate the defensible boundary of this urban extension and would provide a stronger boundary between the urban area and the Metropolitan Green Belt while providing a suitable site for additional housing supply to meet the overall need for Guildford and the HMA, and not creating additional harm to the character of the area or the infrastructure available.

4.19. As the site is ideally located adjacent to a proposed strategic site and the appropriateness of the development in regards to housing supply and its rich contribution to the provision of new homes, Guildford Borough Council should therefore support the allocation at Blackwell Farm being extended to include Wellington House.

4.20. The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (ref. T13) associated with the Regulation 19 proposed Local Plan shows plans to update the A31 at the entrance to the Blackwell Farm strategic site. These plans include a “new signalised junction from Blackwell Farm site to A31 Farnham Road” (ref. LNR3), an “access road at Blackwell Farm site with link to Egerton Road” (ref. LNR4), and “Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site” (ref. LNR5), along with significant bus networks being introduced to serve the site (ref. pg.16). These vital upgrades to the infrastructure serving the Blackwell Farm strategic site provide further reason for the Wellington House site to be included, as it will mean that Wellington House will not need significant additional infrastructural upgrades in order to be viable and sustainable. This again should be considered in context with other proposed sites that will need further infrastructure investment.

4.21. The evidence base and the recent addendums to the LAA (ref. T11a), SHMA (ref. T26a) and Transport Strategy (ref. T13) all support that the site is available, suitable and deliverable, and due to the single ownership of the site it should be considered that there is potential for development to be phased in line with policy approach from the larger strategic site, whilst enhancing housing supply within the early stages of the Local Plan.

5 Wider Policy Compliance with Regulation 19

5.1. As iterated in the June 2016 Representations, the Spatial vision of the Local Plan looks to maintain the extent and function of the green belt in such a way to protect the character of the Borough. The vision then continues to explain that as not all of the development needs can be met within the urban areas, that it is proposed to “focus some development on large greenfield sites, which brings with it significant infrastructure, (and) helps to make it sustainable”.

5.2. In the context of Wellington House, the site would have additioanal to this objective, and support the principal of maintaining the Green Belt whilst providing essential infrastructure in a sustainable location. The loss of Green Belt is a highly contentious issue with some 3,313 comments and objections received last year relating to Policy P2, as aforementioned. The consolidation of extra, well needed, sites such as Wellington House joining with Blackwell Farm in Policy A26, would allow the Green Belt to be saved elsewhere and remain as robust as it is intended to be.

5.3. The vision of the proposed Local Plan also confirms that new development on the edges of existing urban areas will be required to treat the transition from urban to rural character in a sympathetic way, whilst affording great protection to the AONB and AGLV. It is therefore suggested that Wellington House, through careful and considered design would ensure that the redevelopment of the additional 4.2 hectares would help to more appropriately address the transition to the newly defined settlement boundary and will “not compromise the overall character of the Borough”.

5.4. Policy S1 relating to the Presumption in favour of sustainable development, states that the Borough Council will “work proactively with applicants jointly to find solutions that mean that proposals can be approved wherever possible”. In this regard, Wellington House is suitable and achievable, as it fills sustainable design objectives of the plan and aligns with the presumption in favour of sustainable development given its location in relation to the Blackwell Farm strategic site and proposed access.

5.5. While paragraph 4.1.4 has added in that “when implementing Policy S1, local circumstances will be taken into account to respond to different opportunities for achieving sustainable development” which includes the presumption of sustainable development not automatically applying to policies relating to Local Green Belt, AONB, designated heritage assets, etc. However, the location of Wellington House in relation to the urban area extension for Blackwell Farm (Policy A26) should be presumed to be sustainable despite its designations, given that the nature and reasons for sustainability being applied to Blackwell Farm should also apply to Wellington House. Should Blackwell Farm allocation progress without Wellington House, then the circumstances and relationship of the existing residential development adjacent to the new allocation will also be significantly altered.

5.6. Policy S2 confirms the new lower provision of 12,426 new homes from the previous 13,860 homes, but accepts that “the housing target…is not a ceiling”. The Reasoned Justification for this lower number is stated in the Regulation 19 plan to be “lower than the total supply of homes identified in the Land Availability Assessment [2016] as having potential to be delivered over the plan period” so that there is flexibility in the plan and so that it is demonstrable that the Council’s “strategy is capable of delivering the target” (paragraph 4.1.9a of Regulation 19 Plan). However, in doing this, the OAN for the entirety of the West Surrey HMA along with Woking’s unmet need have not been considered, meaning the Guildford Borough Council are in fact failing their Duty to Cooperate and therefore making this plan unsound.

5.7. To confirm that the recent HBF representation (July 2017) to the Local Plan, “policy S2 could be considered out of date from the point at which the plan is adopted” as the 2017 LAA Addendum identifies 881 new dwellings fewer than required to meet the housing target, including the potential backlog of dwellings between 2019/20 and 2023/24, based on the trajectory set out in policy S2.

5.8. It has already been argued that Wellington House can ensure that as the site is within one ownership, it can be brought forward in advance of the strategic site, ensuring a more flexible approach to delivery, whilst ensuring delivery throughout the plan period can address an early years deficit until 2023 (LAA 2016, p20).

5.9. Policy P1 states that the Surrey Hills AONB is to be conserved and enhanced, whilst proposals in the AGLV will be required to demonstrate that they would not result in harm.

5.10. It is proposed that careful design and layout, due to the defined boundaries of the site (aligning with the western boundaries of the adjacent allocation) that the proposed site would not undermine any further the AONB or AGLV but would merely “square-off” the site and allow the transition to be more consistent with the approach taken in Policy A26.

5.11. Policy P2, which has not changed in the most recent update of the plan, relates to the Green Belt. It is stated in the NPPF that Green Belt boundaries should only be amended in exceptional circumstances. Given that there is a significant requirement for housing within the Borough, and that the site is strategic in nature for additional employment and infrastructure provision, the Council has considered it appropriate to propose the urban extension site at Blackwell Farm.
However, it is maintained that the inclusion of land at Wellington House could also contribute additionally to the housing provision and, therefore, the same exception should be applied to the Wellington House site.
5.12. The Council states in the proposed plan that they intend to provide a Green Belt SPD which will amplify Policy P2. With this, it is considered that the close relationship with the access to Blackwell Farm, along with the irregular shape of the existing allocation, is justification for the site to be included in the proposed urban extension in Policy A26, and that whilst the site could be a buffer in regard to design and scale due to its blend with the adjacent Green Belt, careful design could easily address this.

5.13. As stated in the June 2016 representations, as Wellington House already has a large residential property within the site, the nature of the site is previously developed and therefore there is a significant difference between the land and its residential curtilage and that of the adjacent open areas that more formally contribute to the Green Belt and its open character.

5.14. Policy P2 also argues that development on a site in terms of replacement buildings, within the green belt, will take the scale and proximity to existing buildings into account. Given the significant scale of the proposals at Blackwell Farm, it is considered that well designed additional residential dwellings on the adjacent site at Wellington House can be justified in relation to the overall visual impact, and that the integrity of the Green Belt would not be undermined by “square-ing off” and infilling the urban extensions allocation in Policy A26. Therefore, this additional land is consistent with the reasoned justification provided by the Council in paragraph 4.3.26 which sets out that infill development “is considered to be the development of a small gap in an otherwise continuous built-up frontage”, “should be appropriate to the scale of the locality”, and should “not have an adverse impact on the character of the countryside or the local environment”.

5.15. The proposed plan appears to put weight on defensible boundaries and appear to have amended the boundaries of some strategic sites in order to be more defensible between the built up area and the surrounding Green Belt land. This can be seen with sites such in Ash (Policy A28), the Former Wisley Airfield (Policy A35), and the Garlick’s Arch, Send/ Burnt Common site (Policy A43) to name a few. These were all amended in order to make the Green Belt boundary more defensible according to the reasons for change within the 2017 Key Summary Changes document.

5.16. Given these amendments, it could also be shown that the boundary of the strategic Blackwell Farm site policy A26 could be amended to include Wellington House and, as aforementioned, “square-off” the allocation which would create a more natural, harder, and more defensible boundary between the site and the Green Belt without causing additional harm to the Green Belt and the character of the area, while increasing the number of suitable, available and achievable sites required to meet the OAN for the entire HMA.

5.17. As stated in the previous representations, Policy D1 of the submission Local Plan relates to design polices and place shaping and the need to create a harmonious integrated mix of uses. The unique opportunity to expand the scale of the urban extension allows the proposals for the new local centre, employment floorspace, SANG and housing to be enhanced, and the ability to enhance further the opportunity for sustainable movement whilst enhancing housing land supply figures can be achieved in an already justified location.

5.18. The inclusion of the Wellington House site would allow any residential development to “provide a harmonious, integrated mix of uses, where appropriate, that fosters a sense of community and contributes to inclusive communities that provide the facilities and services needed by them” (Policy D1). Despite part of this policy being deleted since 2016, the site at Wellington House would respond meaningfully and sensitively to the site, its characteristics and constraints, whilst being laid out to make the best use of the natural features of the site. This relates to the opportunity to utilise the topography and natural landscape of the trees and existing mature boundary treatments of the proposed site, which are appropriate to their setting.

5.19. Policy A26 sets out the details of the allocation at Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes, 30,000sqm of employment space,

5.20. Gypsy and Traveller pitches, comparison and convenience retail, community uses, a 2FE primary school, and a new secondary school. This significant development site abuts the wellington house site and the shared access road is illustrated to as a primary vehicular access to serve the development. The allocation as it stands will significantly alter the character and setting of Wellington House and not including the site within the allocation ignores an opportunity to further enhance the objectives of sustainable development.
5.21. With this, there has been an addition of bus schemes (BT6) which will provide “significant bus networks” for Blackwell Farm “to match additional requirements for their site allocation policies” and a requirement for a secondary school which has been moved from the Normandy and Flexford site to Blackwell Farm, both of which could serve Wellington House also, making it an even more sustainable and suitable site to be allocated alongside Blackwell Farm.

5.22. The inclusion of Wellington House under the A26 strategic site allocation, contrary to design, would have a great impact on the overall wider local plan given its suitable, achievable, available and sustainable location which would create a stronger defensible boundary with the Green Belt, provide significant aid in terms of meeting additional housing need, and create minimal additional impact to the overall character of the town and Borough.

Other local plan policies:

5.23. Other key documents which form an integral part of the evidence base to this proposed local plan include the LAA Addendum (2017), the SHMA Addendum (2017) and the Strategic Highways Assessment Report (2017).

5.24. The LAA Addendum 2017 (ref. T11a) outlines that Blackwell Farm was reduced in capacity due to a revised understanding of the site’s potential capacity. This is sited within reasons for many of the LAA site amendments, and overall has decreased the number of proposed houses in the plan period despite their need remaining. This site at Wellington House has the potential to provide additional housing which would help meet the need across the Borough as well as the wider HMA, particularly Woking’s unmet need, which the Waverley EIP inspector has advised Waverley and Guildford share.

5.25. The five year housing land supply as of the 1st April 2017 set out in this document is also stated to be 2.36years. This is not sufficient and does not meet the requirements set out by the NPPF for each Council to demonstrate that they can provide. Further to this, the inclusion of this site would aid in the increasing of this housing land supply figure and meeting the Council’s duty to adhere to national policy.

5.26. The SHMA Addendum 2017 (ref. T26a) seeks to provide an updated assessment of the Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) in the Guildford Borough. The decrease in housing need for the Borough from 693dpa to 654dpa due to changing economic figures, according to the recent HBF representation, should not necessarily mean that the Council should have reduced their housing numbers as employment forecasts are uncertain and consideration needs to be given for hob growth in other areas within the HMA. This addendum takes Guildford into account as a standalone Borough, which in reality, does not produce realistic housing need figures, as the HMA needs to be assessed together as a whole. Wellington House is a site which is ready and available to come forward to take some of the housing numbers outstanding in the plan with as minimal impact to the character of the surrounding Green Belt as possible.

5.27. The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (ref. T13) sets out a programme of schemes for transport related infrastructure required and planned in relation to proposed schemes and site allocations throughout the plan period. It is noted that there are significant improvements to be made to the A31 around the Blackwell Farm and Wellington House site entrance. These include new signalised junctions (LRN3), links to Egerton Road (LRN4), interventions to prevent potential highway performance issues resulting from development of the site (LRN5), and significant bus network improvements and additions (BT6). These are all planned improvements to the transport infrastructure associated with the Blackwell Farm site and the inclusion of the Wellington House site allocation would further increase the suitability and achievability of the site as these essential infrastructure improvements are already planned for provision.

5.28. There are no other constraints on this site that would preclude it from development potential. A planned development would be able to address the raft of specific policies in relation to sustainable construction, open space provision, energy efficiency and all other local plan requirements through careful and considered design. The site should therefore be considered to be consistent with the NPPF and Local Plan policies.

6 Justification of including Wellington House, in line with the National Planning Context NPPF

As stated in the previous local plan representations;

6.1. The NPPF (paragraph 14) states:
“At the heart of the National Planning Policy Framework is a presumption in favour of sustainable development, which should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking. For plan-making this means that:

- Local planning authorities should positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area;
- Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change, unless: any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole.”

The inclusion of Wellington House seeks the opportunity to meet development needs, gives flexibility to the housing land supply whilst the benefits outweigh any harm that has already been mitigated through the allocation at Blackwell Farm.

6.2. Paragraph 15 states that “development which is sustainable should be permitted without delay.” The site is available and can be delivered without delay as issues relating to access, suitability and sustainability have been established in principle as part of the adjacent strategic land allocation.

6.3. Paragraph 17 of the NNP requires Local Planning Authorities to empower local people to shape their surroundings whilst allowing Local Plans to be “a creative exercise in finding ways to enhance and improve the places in which people live”. It states that every effort should be made to objectively identify and meet development needs “responding positively to opportunities for growth”.

6.4. It continues, that planning should “take account of the different roles and characters of different areas”. In regards to the Guildford Local Plan, if this has been adequately considered for Site A26, then the approach can be applied to Wellington House to further respect the character of the locality whilst allowing every effort to identify development opportunities.

6.5. The NPPF also encourages the use of previously developed land, whilst actively managing growth to make the fullest use of sustainable transport, and focusing development that can be made sustainable. Paragraph 30 encourages patterns of development that facilitate sustainable modes of transport. Focusing additional growth on the boundaries of the allocation would meet all of the Core Planning Principles of the NNPF, whilst opportunities for sustainable design and construction can be amplified in a larger scale scheme.

6.6. Paragraph 47 of the NPPF requires local authorities to “boost significantly the supply of housing” and that developable sites should be identified. Through the identification of the Blackwell Farm as a key site, critical to the delivery of housing development over the plan period, Guildford Borough Council has accepted the principle of development in this location, and has justified that this overrides the previous green belt allocation. It does not however identify Wellington House as developable.

6.7. The NPPF requires delivery to be realistic whilst Paragraph 50 also requires policies to be flexible over time. It is considered that due to historical levels of under delivery the inclusion of the additional 4.2 hectares will allow a flexible, realistic and achievable site to come forward, that can be self sufficient, or developed as part of the wider strategic allocation.

6.8. Paragraph 52 states that “the supply of housing can sometimes be best achieved through planning for larger scale development, such as new extensions to settlements.” Whilst the authority has illustrated this in Site 26 at Blackwell Farm it has not done this far enough, and the potential to include Wellington House, ensures that the opportunity “provides the best way of achieving sustainable development”.

6.9. Whilst paragraph 53 resists the use of residential gardens, when it is harmful. Given the scale of the curtilage of Wellington House, of 4.2 hectares and the close proximity to the large 78 hectare site at Blackwell Farm, it is consistent that the supply of additional dwelling houses within the residential curtilage would not cause harm, indeed it could be positively planned to ensure a more consistent approach to the setting and context of the wider site.

6.10. Paragraph 55 requires residential development to be innovative in design, raise design standards, significantly enhance its setting and be sensitive to the defining characteristics of the local area. Due to the defensible boundaries of the site, the unusual shape and form of the allocation at Blackwell Farm and the precedent given to the use of the access road leading to both Wellington House and Blackwell Farm, the opportunity to allow the residential house site to be developed as a buffer to the strategic allocation to the north, can ensure that this is achieved through careful design and layout, respecting the local character and context. This will ensure that the development complies with Paragraph 56 which requires development to establish a strong sense of place, and optimise the potential of the site to accommodate development, responding to local character.

6.11. Four of the five objectives related to greenbelt policy cited in para 80, are to protect the sprawl of built up areas, prevent towns merging, assist in the safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, and preserve historic towns. The principle of the allocation at Blackwell Farm ensures that these have been considered and assessed, against the overriding need for land for housing for period of the Local Plan.

6.12. The extension of the site to include Wellington House can therefore be agreed that the principles of adding an additional 4.2 hectares on a 78 hectare site (5.4% increase) would not undermine the gap between built up areas, nor create the merger of towns. The scale of the site, adjacent to the larger allocation does not result in any additional encroachment eastwards into the countryside, but merely “squares-off” the site, along the already allocated access road that is the primary access to the allocated site, A26. Given that the Council argues that the strategic allocation is consistent with paragraph 83: “Green Belt can be developed in exceptional circumstances” it is considered that the same can apply to extending the boundary to include the additional 4.2 hectares.

6.13. The inclusion of this site would ensure “consistency with the Local Plan Strategy in meeting identified requirements (paragraph 85). This also requires that boundaries are “defined clearly using physical features that are permanent and readily recognisable”. The heavily tree lined eastern boundary, and the access road to the west, along with the allocation to the south, ensure that this site would be consistent with paragraph 80 and “would not have to be altered within the local plan period”.

6.14. Paragraph 89 requires any development not to have “greater impact on the openness of the Green Belt”. Given the site allocation to the south and the significant green boundaries of the site, it is unclear how any development within the residential curtilage of this site could be adversely impacting on the openness of the Green Belt, over that already proposed by the large allocation at Blackwell Farm.

7 Conclusion

7.1. As previously iterated in the preceding representations, the opportunity to expand the allocated site at Blackwell Farm will be consistent with the ethos and vision of the proposed Guildford Borough Local Plan and will assist the Council in achieving its objectives without any detriment to the significant constraints in the Borough regarding impact on the open countryside and Green Belt.

7.2. In line with the NPPF, the site can demonstrate sustainable development along with the three dimensions of social, economic and environmental roles. It complies with Paragraph 7 by providing housing supply that meets the needs of both present and future generations, within a high quality environment, with accessible local services. Economically, the site will allow the coordinated provision of necessary infrastructure when considered alongside the urban extension allocation A26, and environmentally, it can ensure a strengthened boundary and blend between the Blackwell Farm strategic site and the adjacent Green Belt, contributing to the protection and enhancement of the natural and built environment.

1. The site is owned by a single landowner who has had a consistent approach to putting this site, which, in line with the NPPF, is available, deliverable and viable, forward for consideration since 2014.
2. The Landowner has been fully engaged in the process of promoting this site from the beginning.
3. The site is fully suitable, appropriate, and available for development immediately or in the future.
4. If this site at Wellington House is not allocated for development under Policy A26, the site will be significantly impacted, through the adjacent large strategic site and this will have a detrimental impact on the amenity use of the dwelling.
5. There is an increased need to deliver housing numbers for the adjacent LPAs in line with the HMA and the determination by a planning inspector that Waverley take on half of Woking’s unmet need and suggestion that Guildford share the burden of providing some of this remaining need also. This is not met in this current plan.
6. The number of houses delivered by the Borough is historically poor and Guildford Borough Council need to recognise the need to be flexible and release additional sites which will not create a negative impact on the surrounding environment or Green Belt, such as this Wellington House site.

7.3. With this, the benefits to the inclusion of the site at Wellington House into the strategic urban extension of policy A26 can be summarised as:

- The opportunity to bring forward a site that is available, deliverable and viable in line with NPPF.
- It is appropriate, and available for development.
- Its inclusion would comply with the overriding ethos of a presumption in favour of sustainable development in line with the NPPF.
- Increased housing provision from approx. 100-120 residential units (depending on design and infrastructure requirements), and associated CIL receipts.
- Increased land supply to provide additional residential dwellings in line with the LAA and at an early stage of the local plan.
- To provide additional residential units in a sustainable location that is in close proximity to both proposed and existing local centres and the urban boundary.
- To utilise a site that has already been deemed sustainable in regards to sustainable transport.
- To enhance a site that has already been released as an exceptional circumstance from the Green Belt.
- The opportunity to design the residential layout that can sufficiently blend with adjacent Green Belt and ensure a more successful transition between the new strategic scale developments within the urban extension.
- Utilise the natural landscape of the site and its treescape to enhance the A31 frontage and regularise the form and shape of the existing allocation, without detriment to the integrity of the Green Belt.

7.4. Based on a new and updated evidence base, it is therefore recommended that the site at Wellington House be included in the strategic allocation under Policy A26, in line with objectives and principles at both National level and local level and, when considered against the “whole plan approach”, can contribute towards achieving the objectives of a sound local plan, which can guide successful development in Guildford until 2034.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I would like to object strongly to the development of Blackwell Farm and the Hogs Back. I believe building 1,500 houses, a supermarket and shops, 6 travellers' sites, at least one school and to extend the University Research Park onto Blackwell Farm at this end of The Hog's Back, or indeed at any part of the Hogs Back, would overwhelm an already very congested road system.

The University, Cathedral and A3 bypass cannot cope as it is with the amount of traffic and this development is entirely unsustainable environmentally. This part of Guildford already experiences high levels of pollution and congestion and I don’t feel that we can expose our children in Onslow to any more pollution which is inevitable with such a large scale development.

I understand that new houses are needed but does the University really have to extend any further than it already has? As it is the University has built continuously on the Manor Farm and Blackwell Farm area over many many years. Why should this part of Guildford, where is there is barely any green belt still in existence, have to yet again bear the brunt of both the University overdeveloping everything in sight (once the campus was set in a green oasis and Manor Farm was a small green sports area, now all covered in concrete and buildings) or to a massive area of house building to house employees or students from the University. As the Prime Minister recently said, Enough is Enough. Please consider leaving SOME open space for our children and grandchildren to enjoy.

I understand that legally you have to put your plans out to consultation and equally realise that you never take a blind bit of notice of objections but why not, just for a change, prove that Guildford Borough Council really does listen to their residents? It would be so refreshing.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy views form the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads
- Add to Guildford’s pollution

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The proposed development of Blackwell Farm some 72 hectares of farmland and ancient woodland although reduced number of homes will still require major infrastructure investment. The area is regarded as farmland and in Green Belt. The Surrey Sports Park has expanded greatly in recent years encroaching on open spaces result of which is a dramatic increase in traffic on limited highways although the junction has had a major improvement the roads leading from Guildford and Park Barn have not increased in size or flow to meet volume of use.

Surrey University received permission for student accommodation in 2004, this has not been developed, there are also other areas within the Campus areas which could provide student accommodation such as the large open air car parks used during the day and empty evenings weekends and out of term times. The University could develop these areas on a similar to the recent planning application made by Guildford Borough Council for the open air car park and bus depot. There would be with the unused planning sufficient accommodation to house the vast majority of students which should release local housing to rent and reduce the calculated demand not to mention cut in CO2 emissions, road traffic as majority of students would be living on campus. Council Tax should also be charged an additional revenue stream to help develop the Borough amenities and road improvements.

I can see why Surrey University are not keen to explore this option as it would involve them providing commercial finance for the infrastructure, design, planning and development. Whereas by selling Blackwell Farm to developers the University would benefit from a substantial investment.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We object to GBC changes to the draft local plan and inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & Para 4.1.9) as stated in the postcard which came through our door from save hogs back, which:

Disregards an independent expert landscape study which demonstrates that part of the site merits AONB status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review (para 4.3.8)

Directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion - particularly around the hospital and A &E - and will also encourage rat running through residential areas.
Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]

Adds air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I write to say yet again how greatly I object to the above Policy which in my view will [illegible word] the whole part of the Hog’s Back, take even more Green Belt land (which was always supposed to be protected throughout the country) reduce further the production of crops on excellent farmland, caused even more traffic congestion and air pollution.

In September 2014 when This project was first suggested, I wrote (and reiterate my comment then) to say The University is surrounded with plenty of land which could provide extensive student accommodation. I see from the report in the Surrey Advertiser of 30/6/17 I was not alone in This suggestion. Also there is other land not yet used, so again use that already available.

As to the Research Park, I suggested they and the do as in other areas – build up or below ground. There is so much space allocated for car parking which could be put to better use if the cars were able to use a carpark underground leaving extensive space to build at least two storey facilities covering the same area.

Regarding the 1800 not affordable housing plan – are these really necessary? Usually the constraint refrain is for affordable housing. If you get approval for this plan and use more of Blackwell Farm how long will it be before another Plan is suggested and the whole farm will be completely concreted over plus where will other “sites” be earmarked for housing and offices/car parking. Nowhere will be safe from proposed “developments” regardless of traffic congestion, air pollution etc.

Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

1.1 I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much.

1.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

1.3 Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

1.4 The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane.

1.5 Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

1.6 The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

1.7 The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital’s A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that... construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

1.8 The new road proposed would be inadequate for the volume of traffic, and once the development has been built out it wouldn’t be long before new roads were required to serve the new population, which would inevitably pass through Wood Street Village (adding to the congestion in Worpleson and potentially ruining Wood Street Village Green) and/or through Flexford/Wanborough, potentially ruining the conservation area of Wanborough, with its 13th century church and 14th century barns.

1.9 The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat).

I wish to object to the proposal in the Local Plan to build a significant development at Blackwell Farm on the Hogs Back.

Despite the proposed additions to infrastructure, I feel this would simply be adding to the existing problem of too many people needing to travel into Guildford or along the A3 from that area. The road system cannot cope with the current level of traffic, let alone with an additional 4,000 homes, some of which will no doubt have 2 cars rather than one.

We have seen from previous developments that many people won’t use public transport even if more buses or trains are available – they prefer the convenience and greater reliability of driving. They are even less likely to walk or cycle – as anyone who has been passing a primary school at about 3.30pm will tell you.

The beautiful view of the Hogs Back from the A31 is one of the most attractive routes into Guildford and appreciated by visitors and regular commuters alike. Sadly this will be lost if there is a massive new development of housing, offices, a school and various other buildings. This does not fit well with our policy of protecting Guildford’s character as a Surrey Hills market town surrounded by countryside and of promoting tourism.

Such a scale of building on countryside will also inevitably have a detrimental impact on wildlife. Once destroyed the natural environment cannot be recovered.

The loss of the fields and paths of Blackwell Farm will also reduce the green space available for dog walkers, ramblers and other people enjoying the outdoors. The government are constantly promoting exercise and interaction with nature as being good for our health, but to support that we need to maintain access to suitable places to walk rather than build on them.

There were so many objections to this proposal at the initial stage and I am disappointed to see that it remains in the Local Plan despite widespread concerns.

I would also like to object to the plan to build 100 homes next to the cathedral on Alresford Road. This is currently an important wildlife corridor with a wide stretch of established hedge and open land, packed with birds and other native wildlife. If this becomes pavement, flats and parking as proposed, wildlife will inevitably be affected.
Alresford Road and Ridgemount also form a well-used safe walking route from the university and Onslow Village into town, which avoids the busy main road with all its traffic fumes. We want to encourage people to walk into town where possible rather than drive, and changing this route into another busy road by adding 100 additional homes will deter people from doing this. Currently it is quiet enough and safe enough for people to walk in the road, avoiding the narrow pot-holed pavement, but this will not be possible with a huge increase in traffic.

Having the cathedral positioned in the middle of a housing estate is also not great for tourism. It is attractively set amongst green fields at the moment, making it a popular venue for all sorts of activities.

I appreciate that the council is under pressure from the government to squeeze a huge number of extra homes into the borough, and the Planning team have my sympathy with their difficult task, but we residents are relying on you to protect our town from over-development and to prevent the loss of important areas of green space. If we continue to build more and more, Guildford will expand further and further until it loses its character and becomes a sprawling metropolis.

I hope you will reconsider the plans.

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”

Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of... protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.

The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

1. The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
2. Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
3. The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
4. Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
5. Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
6. More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
7. The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.
8. Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in “Guildford urban area” and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I would like to officially log that I object to Policy A26 and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm and surrounding green belt land as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9]

1) Disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]. This has been ignored by the council and the local plan.

2) Directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas. This additional office space is not required and will add additional unnecessary burden on local housing needs.

3) Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]. Traffic is already a major problem in Guilford and this development will make travel down the A3 and Hogs Back and surrounding areas unbearable.

4) Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We do not have the Transport infrastructure to accommodate 1800 extra houses on the Blackwell Farm site. At peak times the area around the University/Hospital/A3 is totally congested and the A31 is often gridlocked for miles towards Farnham. As people try to access other routes towards this area, the main road through Wood Street Village can get totally congested. I strongly object to the development at Blackwell Farm taking place.

I strongly object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposal to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hogs Back at Blackwell Farm.

I have lived in Wood Street Village all my life, from 1945, and have chosen to stay here, as have my three married children and their families, because it IS a true village - in the sense that it is separated from the suburbs of Guildford by beautiful common land and therefore retains its own identity. Building at Blackwell farm and surrounding areas will only create a ‘joining up’ of the present gap.

The Hogs Back ridge is known for its wonderful views of surrounding countryside and is a designated Area of Outstanding Beauty - this would be destroyed along with many acres of scenic farmland and ancient woodland.

I remember when Blackwell Farm WAS a farm in the true sense, owned by Mr Brock and wish that it had never been sold to the University, who seem to have a complete disregard for anything other than their own needs.

The University of Surrey - I OBJECT

Every university has a basic duty to provide as much accommodation for its students as possible. Surrey University already has planning permission for a thousand or more housing units for student accommodation and has other land in its campus which could be used to house its students. If the University implemented its permission and built further accommodation, it would release thousands of housing units in the town for ordinary residents. Its proposal for building on Blackwell Farm is opportunistic and profit-seeking, destroying Green Belt land on Hog’s Back, a well-known scenic attraction. A recent independent survey has concluded that the Blackwell Farm site should be included in the AONB: I agree.

I still object to the proposals for site A26 Blackwell Farm as a whole despite the small reduction in house numbers. This site should never be developed. It is an integral part of the beauty and special landscape around the Hogs Back. There has already been too much encroachment onto this area, and any further development should take place within the parts already built up. There is plenty of scope for the University to make greater use of the land already occupied eg building above and below car parks etc. The land is actively farmed and is also extremely well used by local families and individuals for walking, running, cycling, horse riding, bird watching, observing flora and fauna, etc, and elimination of this lovely open space will send more people to the Thames Basin Special Protection Area. The infrastructure changes that would be required for a development of this scale, in particular the roads and junctions, would add further destruction to the AONB, AGLV and Green Belt. I also specifically object to the new proposal for a huge secondary school on this site. The evidence collected and submitted last summer showed that that there is absolutely no need for an additional secondary school in the area. The neighbouring secondary schools are currently under-subscribed.

Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion, particularly around the hospital and A&E which would only add to the current serious congestion of traffic in the area of the A3 and A31 and will affect existing residential areas. Currently in the morning peak traffic period there is severe congestion. This hospital is a Major Incident hospital and fast access must be maintained at all times.

I object to Blackwell Farm being included in this Plan as a development site (Policy A26 & Paragraph 4.1.9) which:-

Disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review (para. 4.3.8)

Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.1.4a)

In 2015 the National Farmers' Union expressed alarm that our ability to produce our own food and be self-sufficient had dripped from 80% in 1980 to 62%. This will drop to 53% by 2040. As world population grows there is no way that we should be building on good quality farm land. Especially commercial property. A recipe for disaster. Again you must listen to us.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:
• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I would like to record my strong disapproval for any development of the former Wisley airfield on the scale proposed. There are any number of reasons for this I listed three.

The destruction of the green belt and the devastating effect on local flora and fauna

The negative impact on traffic, the local road system could not support a project of the scale proposed both during the construction phase and when the works were complete.

pollution...noise and light pollution.

We object to the proposal to build 1,800 houses, and industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm. This will:

- Destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge, a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of farmland and ancient woodland from the greenbelt
- Threaten protected wildlife such as skylarks, orchids and deer.
- Increase tailback on the A31 which are already a problem
- Further increase traffic in Guildford, which is already in gridlock almost every day of the week, which in turn will cause further problems for emergency vehicles especially in the area around the RSCH.
- Add to Guildford’s air pollution
- Result in rat-running through residential streets, and additional parking in these same streets
- Result in flooding of homes at the bottom of the slopes due to reduced absorption of the land

In addition, the new land evaluation study, carried out by Land Management Services, an established firm of landscape architects, assessed the area using Natural England’s latest AONB criteria and found that nearly the whole of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

The study also recommended that adjoining “semi rural” areas on the western edge of Guildford, which did not meet AONB criteria, should remain undeveloped as they provided an important setting to the AONB.

Why are the results of this study being blatantly ignored?

Please listen to those of us who have lived in Guildford for many years and who love our area; stop the urban sprawl and keep our naturally beautiful countryside.

I am glad to see that this is the area now targeted for the new secondary school as it make much more sense to have the secondary school within the area that it was going to serve when it was part of the development within A46. However, it seems the point I raised last June (in response to the 2016 release of the draft plan) about school capacity within the area are still valid and therefore I still question whether there is the actual need for an additional secondary school.

I have concerns though with the accessibility to the site:

In terms of vehicle accessibility to/from the site, the plan only shows access in the vicinity of the A3/A31 junction but the dialogue talks about the desire for a secondary ingress/egress point through the research park. My concern is that both the A3/A31 junction and the Research Park/Hospital/Egerton Road are busy already and therefore whether 2 ingress/egress points are enough for the size of development?

In terms of the connection to the proposed Guildford West railway station (A59) there does not seem to be a clear commitment that there will be pedestrian and/or bicycle access to the new railway station from the area of development. I suggest a dedicated pedestrian/bicycle access provision should be made avoiding the roads on the Research Park.

I object specifically to any building on Blackwell Farm of the surrounding area on the hogs back for the following reasons:

This area is designated as AONB and Green Belt and should not be built on!

• Any development would destroy existing wildlife that occupies and relies on this land – deer, birds, etc.
• The impact on traffic on hogs back which is already at a standstill every day coming into Guildford. The road and infrastructure around Guildford cannot take additional housing near the hogs back, Blackwell farm and University.
• The housing proposed at Blackwell farm area which is owned by the University is not ‘affordable housing’ or housing that would be used by students. There is already buildings in Park Barn and around the hospital area that needs major investment which could also address housing needs whilst regenerating the area.
• We do not need any more office building and expansion of the Research park.
• We should not make any provision for ‘Travellers’ [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it]. There are other cheaper more appropriate sites in the country that could be used.

The connection between Guildford Council and the University is unhealthy and should be investigated for corruption/collusion. They were allowed to buy the land near Blackwell farm under condition that the land would not be developed and would remain green belt – this is being ignored. The University have land which is already approved for housing which has not been developed.

I object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- Disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

- Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits.
- Further residential houses in this area will continue to swell the already overloaded peak time traffic on many major roads in the area.
- Trains to London from Guildford station are already very over-crowded as peak-time, many times you cannot even get onto the train service never mind trying to get a seat. More people living in the area and using these facilities will further compound the problem.
- Public facilities such as schools & leisure centres are currently very busy and over-crowded, significant population rises in the local area will create an overwhelming burden on their resources & facilities.

I cannot emphasise enough the traffic problem that already exists around Guildford in general, many locals have to spend hours stuck in this traffic whilst they attempt to go about their daily lives.
In my opinion, there should be no further significant increase in housing in the area until all roads are upgraded to cope with the existing levels of traffic and then a sound-plan put in place and delivered in order to cope with the expected increase in traffic. This must be Prior-To building any significant further housing, not agreed to on a promise with a developer and then not delivered.

I object to the proposed additional housing outlined in the Local Plan for the following reasons:

- The area along the bottom of the Hogs Back behind the University land is Green Belt land of considerable quality and should not be built on. If this development goes ahead it is likely to set a precedent for more development in the future, almost certainly resulting in an urban sprawl from Guildford to Ash and eventually to Aldershot. A whole swathe of high quality countryside, with all the associated wildlife habitats, will then be lost forever with a detrimental impact on all the communities in the area.
- The current infrastructure of the area is totally inadequate to cope with potential increase of upwards of 1000+ vehicle movements a day on an already overloaded road, bus and rail system. The A3 is regularly congested at peak times, as is the Aldershot and Worplesdon Roads. A major new road network will be necessary to connect such a development into the existing road system with the resultant loss of more valuable land.
- Any identified housing requirements in the Guildford area should located on existing brownfield sites in the first instance, where connectivity to local services is already in place. Only once such sites have been utilised should any additional land around the town be considered. To my knowledge there has never been any serious consultation with the local population to explain and try to justify why the area suddenly requires nearly 700 houses, and if there is a requirement why they should be provided in one vast estate.
- A development of this size will require a new water and sewerage system to cope with all the properties, as the local system will not be able to cope, again requiring additional land for these facilities.

To summarise, this proposed development appears to have no justification, is in the wrong place, would ruin the local countryside, and have a negative impact on all the communities of the area.

I am writing to register my strong objection to the plans to develop the above site. This will add to the traffic chaos which already exists and destroy areas of Green Belt and AONB. This project has been driven by the University of Surrey who should be made to carry out the already existing planning they have been granted to provide student and staff accommodation, thus relieving the housing situation in the town. There is absolutely no reason why they should be allowed to pursue these plans which is clearly for monetary gain and will cause irreparable damage and destruction to the beautiful landscape of this area.

Please catalogue my objection to devleoping this area of green belt, outstanding national beauty and area of great landscape value.

I feel that this would be a wholy inappropriate development within the green belt. Primarily because it would it be visable from and adjoin protected AONB and area of great landscape value. As soon as that happens the AONB is blighted. The character of the area, totally rural and picturesque, would be significantly harmed.

The local infrastructure could also not cope with it, despite the Highways Agencys plans to improve the A3 and A31 junction. There is so much traffic along that stretch of the A31 and A3 that when just one thing is altered tremendous tail backs are created. For example this week the Surrey Sports Park diverted traffic slightly, and the queue to get to the hospital, research park, A3 and Park Barn was queued back nearly into town. It also took half an hour to leave Park Barn. This side of Guildford is already unable to cope with the volume of cars on the roads and could not cope with any more.
I also object on the grounds how it will negatively affect the flora, fauna and habitat within the local woodland, common land and farmland. For example there are nesting Skylarks each year in the land proposed to be developed, as well as many other species of animals and flora.

There has also not been a significant study in to how this will affect the areas of Park Barn where there has already been some localised flooding over the years. Currently the fields act as a run off for the Hogs Back, and where these to be developed there is concern about the risk of flooding among residents.

The harm to the local area far outweighs any special circumstances that the local council may deem fit and I urge the planners to reject plans at this site, despite the five year plan for house building.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I am writing to object to the proposed Guildford Local Plan. This follows my prior letters – which do not appear to have been adequately addressed.

The points below are of general applicability to the plan AND I also specifically reiterate them in relation to the proposed development of the Blackwell Farm area [a26 and 4.1.9]:

1. The development does not address the needs of Guildford, it is excessively heavy and will largely be targeted at encouraging new residents to move to Guildford rather than addressing the housing needs of existing residents
2. The infrastructure within Guildford will not be able to cope [2.14a]:
3. The plan will materially increase the population, rail access to London and the A3 already cannot cope and will be subject to significant further increases in stress as a consequence
4. The Blackwell Farm site will increase traffic at an existing pinch point near the hospital, an unworkable situation AND potentially life threatening if it slows emergency access. I understand the existing traffic levels in this area are already in excess of requirements by local planning inspectors, a matter which will significantly worsen
5. The proposed additional rail stations do not address the major constraint on rail – access to London and indeed the development will make this worse by encouraging Guildford Town Centre station as a hub.
6. The plan does not make adequate provision for already over-burdened schools, doctors and the hospital to cope with the additional population.

7. The consequence of the above is that the town will see increased pollution, both in the town centre, as population increases generally, and specifically around the hospital and Blackwell Farm from a combination of increased traffic on the A3, access to the Hospitals, university, sports park and business park. This may well reduce health around Guildford and will likely reduce the health benefits young people see associated with use of the sports park – which directly neighbours both the farm site and the A3. It will also have knock on implications for Compton, which will see traffic and pollution both from traffic on the A3 and from vehicles using it as a shortcut [a26 key considerations 7].

8. The area around Blackwell Farm and across to Compton on the south side of the downs provides much needed greenbelt, and has significant natural resources / wildlife. The development would irreparably damage the greenbelt around Guildford generally and specifically remove this rare and treasured resource from Blackwell Farm. Additionally it does not specifically set out the rationale / costs and benefits of alternative options for development [P1 para 4.3.8 and S2 para 4.1.9].

Many thanks – for the avoidance of doubt I find it ridiculous that I am being asked to comment for the third time on what is at its core the same plan – I would be surprised if the Council’s decision to continually reissue a relatively unamended plan were not subject to judicial review given it is clearly a tactic to wear down individual respondents.

I have lived on the Hog's Back since 1936 in three different properties. My father used to farm Blackwell Farm and other local farms. I strongly object to the proposals for the development of Blackwell Farm, the construction of houses and the attendant creation of major road junctions, widening of the bridge over the A3, alterations to the alignment of the A31. Not only will all this create complete traffic chaos in the area but will also destroy an existing area of Green Belt and AONB.

I have objected to the scheme throughout the planning process.

1. I do not agree that the plan proposed actually meets the needs of the population needing housing and without sight of the study upon which the Council believe they need to do this it is difficult to make specific comment. The failure by the Council to release the report is a grave act against democracy.

2. Building a lot of houses with gardens is the most extravagant use of valuable land. There should be greater consideration to using land already in use to create viable accommodation and work by the use of apartments for single and double occupancy of which there is very little in the area. These facilitate the young getting on to the housing ladder and the old opening up the market of family properties.

3. The area is already over capacity with road congestion causing regular grid lock and pressure on schools and health care is at a premium level. Encouraging more people to the area is not practical.

4. Using valuable and viable farming land for houses is quite ridiculous. The Council should be looking to see how to assist the environment by reducing food miles and therefore keeping good farming land for the purpose it is intended for. This becomes more apparent following the EU Referendum result as it seems likely that even more of our food will now be brought in from the American and African countries thus increasing food miles and pollution.

5. We have seen in recent years the effect of war and how Great Britain had to struggle to survive. Every inch of land that could be cultivated was cultivated otherwise the nation would have starved. We are now living in very volatile times, war is not quite the ridiculous idea it may have once seemed and to give up food growing land to tarmac and bricks and mortar is short sighted.

6. Guildford is already at risk of flooding. Where will the water go with even more building around the town. The loss of trees to take up water, the loss of land to absorb water means the heavy rainfall we now experience is more likely to create flash floods.

5. I object to pushing farmers out of work and losing employment opportunities for those wishing to work on the land.
6. If the objections are not taken on board and the scheme goes ahead then the Council need to scrutinise to the utmost degree of detail the builders financial position. This is an area already severely hit by the EU Referendum and to start a scheme that the builder cannot then complete due to lack of finance would make the Council look very silly indeed.

I hope that the Council will reconsider all schemes for building more houses in this area and stand up to those in central government making such demands of the South East.

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - "checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas". There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 "assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment" - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - "assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land". Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, "The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB". I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worpleston and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

Policy A26, Blackwells Farm, Hogs Back:

I object to the proposals in Policy A26, Blackwells Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford. The area is of high landscape and environmental value and lies entirely within the Metropolitan Green Belt. This site lies on the edge of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), indeed the parcel of land includes part of the AONB as well as part of an Area of Great Landscape Value and an area of Ancient Woodland.

The roads in this locality cannot support the traffic from an additional 1800 homes, plus the commercial, retail and community uses proposed in the policy. The addition of so much traffic associated with this development will in no way “provide relief to the A31/A3 junction, in advance of delivery of the Highways England A3 scheme”. It is not known what the Highways England scheme might be, whether there is indeed a scheme at all, and when any such scheme might be delivered. Meanwhile, the existing roads will be overwhelmed by yet more traffic.

The area is on part of the Hogs Back Ridge, topographically higher than the Cathedral. The road junctions at the very least would require night time street lighting as the traffic densities are already high, and this would destroy the rural aspect of the locality. The whole site forms the panoramic vista from the top of the Hogs Back – a historical and geological feature which contributes to Guildford’s special character. This, too, is recognised in the Landscape Character Assessment, which describes the Hogs Back as the ‘iconic spine to the borough’

I wish to add this further objection to my response of Thursday 14th July 2016 to the Local Plan.

Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - "checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas". There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worpleston and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact.
and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

Policy A26 outlines extensive development and expansion but does not provide an adequate increase in infrastructure to support it.

Also, this area is currently used for recreational purposes by SRP employees and nearby residents - the allocation does not specifically include recreational space (e.g. parks) to replace the land that is being allocated for development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Regarding policy A26, you have added a secondary school to the allocation, yet I do not believe there is sufficient access to make this sensible.

You have now stated that Gill Avenue is to be a primary access route - this road is already heavily congested due poor access management by the hospital (vehicles for the front and rear of the hospital entering and exiting via different roads instead of one main road).

You have also stated that the link road from the A31 will be access controlled. Assuming people attending the secondary school will not just be living in this area (you have stated this in allocation (9)), how are they supposed to get in? Again you are assuming that all traffic will enter via the already congested Gill Avenue. I can see the link road being of benefit to SRP (I work there by the way) but not to anyone else. There is still no provision for a road joining Aldershot Road to this area without going through Park Barn and Broad Street - you only state "Developer to provide the western route". This should be set out in the plan and not subject to a developer making a mess of it later.

I would also have expected the Park Barn railway station (A59) to have been placed within the A26 area, and to include park & ride via the railway. Buses get stuck in traffic as well and therefore are not suitable for P&R unless the roads are significantly improved.

I am at least glad that you've added a point about pedestrian and cycle access. I expect the access to the north-west of SRP (via the footpath and tunnel under the railway) to be maintained during any work in this area as it is now frequently used.

Further regarding A59, direct pedestrian access to SRP should be added as a requirement (i.e. don't assume access via RSCH). It should also be stated that pedestrian access from SRP / RSCH to Park Barn should be mandatory and available at all times (i.e. not restricted by being "station property" and "not a public right of way").

Re: Strong Objection to Blackwell Farm development A26

Dear Sir, Madam,

Beechcroft Drive is located close to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As a Residents Association, we have come to the conclusion that we strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

- The traffic associated with 1800 houses simply cannot be supported by the local road network and will lead to:
  1. Larger congestion around the Royal Surrey County Hospital - ultimately threatening accessibility for emergency
  2. Traffic trying to avoid cathedral roundabout will be diverting to Onslow Village and Park Barn- thus affecting safety, pollution levels, and liveability for residents in a much larger
  3. Further gridlocking of A31, A3 and Farnham Road on daily basis, leading to reduced accessibility of Guildford from the South and West as a whole, with all economic and social Adapting local roads, the A31, A3 and cathedral roundabout to cope with this traffic will be extremely expensive and arguably make the A26 (Blackwell Farm) development financially unviable. This is supported by the Technical Note by the Traffic Consultant RGP as presented by Compton PC.

- Furthermore, infrastructure should be improved prior to any construction; this includes enhancing hospital capacity – which is not planned at the moment - and secondary school Both are known to be under pressure at the moment.
- The Blackwell Farm area is very visible from the Hog’s Back and as such will destroy the views from the Hog’s Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Removing greenbelt and AONB has detrimental impact on setting of the town, availability for future generations and removal of valuable farming land - which is very scarce already in the South-East, seems inappropriate.
- The ancient woodlands (last remainder of Medieval royal deer park of Henry

1. II) play an essential part in the local eco-system of the larger Hog’s Back area. The railway line and building to the North, and the proposed large scale developments in the West, would mean that migration to and from this essential habitat is limited to the The proposed road from the Blackwell Farm to the A31 effectively completes the isolation and cuts natural migration patterns to the woodlands completely. From ecological point, this removes (one of) the largest forests west of Guildford from the greenbelt and places it within the urban area (Figure 1):

- We further support the Guildford Residents Association in its observation (Report Neil McDonald) that the housing needs as per the local plan are overestimated, and as such development plans are over designed (even excluding consequences of Brexit)
- The Blackwell Farm site includes 6 Travellers pitches, which we believe should be sited in more sustainable locations (not within greenbelt). In addition, counting them towards the developer’s quota of affordable housing is a ludicrous method to try to fulfil the obligation of providing affordable We therefore object to them, as well as the rest of the large-scale development being included within site A26.

Policy A26 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified, Effective or Consistent with National Policy:

The Council’s proposed allocation of land at Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford cannot be considered as a sound land release for the following primary reasons:

- Development Scale and Sustainability: The Council is suggesting that this proposal as a site allocation will create a sustainable development however including 1,800 dwellings. Although the site is within the vicinity of the city of Guildford it is both physically and visually isolated from the urban area and firmly within the Green Belt.
- The scale of development proposed will dominate this located created a clear and harmful extension of the settlement divorced from the main urban area.
- The site will have little or no relationship with the existing urban area and its relative isolation results in an inherently unsustainable form and scale of development.
- Delivery of Essential Infrastructure: The Council identifies in the policy that ‘interventions will be required to address potential highway performance issues’. Furthermore the Council identifies additional infrastructure that will be required for the scheme to be viable and sustainable.
- Appendix C of the Plan sets out the key infrastructure required to deliver the Plan as a whole and in specific relation to Blackwell Farm confirms the following requirements:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Infrastructure Required</th>
<th>Cost to Development</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>New rail station at Guildford West (Park Barn) (NR2)</td>
<td>£10m developer funded with proportionate contribution from Blackwell Farm scheme</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Improvement works to the local road network (LRN3, LRN4 and, LRN5) | LRN3 - £5m
LRN4 - £20m
LRN5 - £5m |
| Upgrades to electricity supply network | Development to fund (not yet costed) |
| Upgrades to Foul Sewer network | Developer to fund (not yet costed) |
| Flood risk and compensation works | Developer to fund (not yet costed) |
| Provision of bespoke SANG | Developer to fund (not yet costed) |
| Open Space including playing fields | Developer to fund (not yet costed) |
| A new 2FE primary school with pre-school provision | Developer to provide serviced land and build costs at estimate of £8m |
| Community meeting hall | Developer to fund (not yet costed) |

- Even taking into account those items where the Council has attributed a cost it is apparent that a development of some 1,800 dwellings cannot afford to deliver all of the infrastructure that the Council state is required to make it acceptable in planning terms as a sustainable development. The fact that the Council has not been able to quantify the majority of the works that are required also represents a failing in terms of demonstrating that the Plan will be effective in the delivery of those obligations.
- It is therefore hard to see how a scheme for 1,800 dwellings can come forward with the weight of such a heavy burden of Planning Obligations to enable its delivery.
- Impact on Green Belt: The Green Belt study undertaken to inform the preparation of the Plan confirms that this site will result in the loss of ‘yellow and red rated’ Green Belt land i.e. land that is of the medium to highest value in terms of the contribution that it makes to the objectives of the Green Belt.
• The justification for the release of such high quality Green Belt land set out in the SA (Page 27 of the main SA document refers) is that the proposal will deliver new facilities, a railway station and an extension to the Surrey Research Park. This does not amount to an appropriate justification for the release of land from the Green Belt, particularly where other more suitable locations exist that have not even been tested by the Council through its Green Belt study.

• Additionally and as set out above the level of new facilities that the Council require from the scheme is likely to render the development unviable and therefore the benefits identified as the sole justification for the release of the site will not be delivered.

• The Council’s position in promoting this site as a land allocation is therefore, in Bewley Homes’ view, completely untenable.

• The Council’s proposed allocation should therefore be deleted and further land allocated to make up the shortfall in supply.

As set out above, the National Trust is an important landowner within the Surrey Hills AONB and as an organisation we nationally support the ongoing protection and enhancement of the Country’s protected landscapes be they National Parks or AONBs.

We are therefore concerned about the proposed site allocation at Blackwell Farm which we understand was recommended in a recent Landscape Character Assessment to be included within the AONB in Natural England’s Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review.

The site allocation will effectively extend the built of area of Guildford, highly visible from the A31 and new access road, having an impact on the setting of the AONB. We believe this allocation should be removed from the draft Local Plan until such time as the Natural England Boundary Review process has been concluded.

I wish to object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft local plan and the continued inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & para 4.1.9) in the draft local plan.

Policy A26 offers the opportunity for developers to make profit through delivering new houses but does not require them to sufficiently fund and/or develop and/or maintain the necessary and sufficient infrastructure that would be needed to properly connect the Blackwell farm development with the rest of Guildford and ensure its success. Without such an infrastructure requirement and funding from the housing developers, current local residents of Onslow Village and Compton will be severely impacted, both during the build/development phase and afterwards once the new houses are occupied. The current infrastructure is already inadequate for the current residents and users on the western side of Guildford – adding 1,800 more homes will have a severe impact; developers should not be allowed to benefit at all at the expense of the current community on to which the Blackwell Farm estate will join.

I object to the planned access from the A31 to Blackwell Farm for a number of reasons, and not least because it is situated in an AONB, including the following:

- It is neither funded nor planned in sufficient detail to prevent even more congestion on the A31 and the A31 Down’s Lane Junction which is now severely dangerous during morning and evening rush hour
- the A31 into Guildford from the proposed junction is not capable of handling an increase in heavy lorries, nor is the city centre gyratory For this to be one of only 2 access points, the A31 from the City Centre should be upgraded, or current traffic re-routed off it
- LRN3 (Signalized junction on A31) as defined in Guildford Borough’s 2016 Transport Strategy does not have confirmed funding and is not planned for delivery until Policy A26 has not specified the junction to be complete before the housing development starts which will create a massive impact for current commuters and road users on the A31 as developer lorries and vehicles seek access to the site for the next 10 years. Without a controlled junction, it will be dangerous to access from the west bound carriageway of the A31 and cause even more traffic congestion and pollution than is currently experienced
- LRN3 should not be installed until the A3 development programme has a clear plan and funding, including how any interchange between the A3 and A31 will There is a major lack of both detail and contingency planning on this in the Guildford Borough 2016 Transport Strategy; there is only the un-funded and un-defined A3 widening (SRN2) scheme and the aspirational A3 tunnel (SRN10) scheme and nothing in between.

The creation of homes alone will not help the current or future community in this part of Guildford:

- The retail and community allocations described in Policy A26 are miniscule compared to the need of the planned residents, who will want access to better transport, shopping and community facilities (cinemas, restaurants etc) e. all those facilities located in the centre of Guildford
- 1,800 homes will add an additional 2,000 cars1* to already congested and under-funded roads
• The Council’s suggestion that the new residents of Blackwell farm will not have need to travel outside the area is misguided and ill-informed
• Hence the need to thoroughly define and fund sustainable roads and transport infrastructure in advance of any housing strategy to develop the land

No detail is present in the draft local plan and policy A26 into the way today’s communities will exist in the future, nor are there requirements in Policy A26 to deliver infrastructure that will be suitable for future living. The addition of an “opportunities” paragraph in the latest version of the policy A26 are not requirements and will therefore not be delivered by any developer or involved party:

• where are the specific requirements for cycle lanes and cycle paths to help people commute locally in safety, without having to compete with traffic on the over-congested roads?: the A31 from the top of the Hogs Back into Guildford is a “death-trap” for The current defined “cycle way” from the Mount to the Hogs Back is a potholed, dirt track which is un-navigable to all normal road and hybrid bikes during winter
• where are the specific requirements to maintain footpaths for pedestrians to walk into Guildford? The current footpath on the A31 is too narrow, in bad disrepair and too dangerous for pedestrians to use to walk from High View Road into the City Centre
• the growth in internet shopping and home deliveries This creates more need for better roads and access for online suppliers/delivery firms as well as better/faster online access
• where is the requirement and commitment/investment to install super-fast broadband (100Mbps+)? The western side of Onslow village stretching up the A31 to Compton currently only gets 1Mbps connection, which frequently fails during peak The OpenReach projects to install superfast broadband for 450 current homes2* are all underfunded and behind their planned project delivery timescales

The draft local plan and the various other Council strategy documents and policies governing road-use and transportation in and around Guildford are not joined-up. This is a problem throughout the whole governance/government of the areas development.

• The key strategic road is the A3 (and with it trouble-free access in/out of Guildford), although suggested improvements are neither planned nor funded; they are merely wish-list items, and Highways Agency are Without a properly functioning multi-lane highway connecting Guildford to the rest of the South East and UK, Guildford’s inner roads will become more congested than they currently are now, increasing journey times and polluting the environment. The current access on and off the A3 at the western side of Guildford is inadequate and very dangerous in places. Adding more houses will just compound the problem
• The plan to improve traffic flows through Guildford city centre is not yet agreed or Without such plans, the traffic on the A31 will become more congested than current and the pollution levels will not be brought below the necessary standards

Policy A26 is not sufficiently funded and not adequately specified to prevent profit taking by land-owners and builders at the expense of the local community and Guildford Council itself. A strategy to build 1,800 homes on a single plot next to Guildford where all infrastructure is already under severe pressure will not work unless all interested parties have their goals aligned.

If such large housing developments are needed – and that is debatable - then I strongly suggest that it is a requirement that no profit should be allowed to be created/distributed from Policy A26 until the impact of the new homes has been experienced and the necessary investment in infrastructure to at least maintain, and ideally improve the whole of the area is secured and delivered. This should be about developing an expanding community for current and future residents, not just about building houses to meet some statistical need.

I wish to object to Guildford Borough Council's changes to the draft local plan and the continued inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & p 4.1.9) in the draft local plan.

Policy A26 offers the opportunity for developers to make profit through delivering new houses but does not require them to sufficiently fund and/or develop the necessary and sufficient infrastructure that would be needed to properly connect the Blackwell farm development with the rest of Guildford and ensure its success. 39  POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

39.2  There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

39.3  Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

39.3.1  Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.
39.3.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

39.3.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”

39.4 Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

39.5 Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

39.6 The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

39.7 The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

39.8 GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.

39.9 The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill...
Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

39.10 The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

39.11 The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

1.1 I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much.

1.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

1.3 Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

1.4 The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane.

1.5 Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

1.6 The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

1.7 The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

1.8 The new road proposed would be inadequate for the volume of traffic, and once the development has been built out it wouldn’t be long before new roads were required to serve the new population, which would inevitably pass through Wood Street Village (adding to the congestion in Worplesdon and potentially ruining Wood Street Village Green) and/or through Flexford/Wanborough, potentially ruining the conservation area of Wanborough, with its 13th century church and 14th century barns.

1.9 The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat)

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:
- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt increase tail back son the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

As a lifelong bird enthusiast and nature lover, member of the RSPB and member of the Guildford Group of the RSPB since 2001, the aspects of moving to Guildford that have brought me the most pleasure are the proximity to areas of natural beauty and the abundance of wildlife.

On regular walks across the fields around Blackwell Farm earmarked for development in Site A26 we have watched large flocks of migrating redwing and fieldfare, heard owls, cuckoos, and skylarks in abundance, and often glimpsed linnets, yellowhammers and families of deer, disappearing in and out of the cornfield. In summer, the incessant skylark song accompanied by glimpses of deer amongst the golden corn and rape fields is truly spectacular -- and at times we have also been amazed at the abundance of butterflies.

As skylarks and yellowhammers are both on the endangered (red list) species, and places for them to breed safely are becoming increasingly rare, to rob the wildlife of yet another zone of perfect habitat, as well as outstanding natural beauty, seems at the very least short-sighted and lacking in environmental wisdom. The proposed use would have a devastating impact on the Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) from an aesthetic and environmental perspective. There are a number of endangered (red list) species which inhabit the Hogs Back including skylarks, little owls, yellow hammers and curlews.

Having recently (2012) conducted a survey for the BTO to assess the current population of nightingales breeding in the area around Broadstreet/Backside Common and bordering the proposed development site, it was immensely disappointing to find that where for many years they had been sighted and heard, nightingales were not in evidence that summer. To remove a further section of the vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common SPA, SSSI, Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside commons (SNCI) to the Hogs Back AONB, would only exacerbate the increasing problem of urbanisation destroying habitats vital to retaining the diversity of species in our area.

It was encouraging however on a late evening walk last night (17 July 2016) to hear spectacularly beautiful and haunting song from a song thrush, in a thicket immediately adjoining the development site. We have recorded it, should it be of interest to the panel. Will these increasingly uncommon birds still be wishing to inhabit an area taken over by building contractors, diggers and machinery? Once lost from our area, will they then return when so much of their habitat has been destroyed?

I cannot emphasise strongly enough my opposition to this development on environmental and aesthetic grounds. The Hogs Back AONB has taken millenia to be formed, vegetated and inhabited by the current wildlife population. Would this current Borough Council wish to be remembered for destroying a section of this beautiful area and the wide-reaching views that have been so precious to countless generations of Guildfordians and those travelling through our county?

Please will you once again reconsider this development – it cannot be in the best interest of our town and its future inhabitants.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:
- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt increase tail backs on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

I object to the large proposed development 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm (A26)

It will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Ripley & Send.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet the requirement of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities.

I object to the proposed designation of the site at Blackwell Farm for the building of 1,800 houses, an industrial park, supermarket and travellers' pitches. This is likely to destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge, a designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty; remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and ancient woodland from the green belt; increase tailbacks on the already very busy A31 and traffic congestion on this side of Guildford generally; result in rat-running through local residential roads causing both a nuisance and a danger to local residents as well as adding to pollution of the local area.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object strongly to the proposals for a massive increase of new houses along the Hogs Back. We have lived in Onslow Village for over 38 years and in that time we have seen an enormous increase in traffic congestion and pollution. This proposed development is going to create a catastrophic effect in the area already blighted with severe traffic congestion. My wife and I have been retired now for the past 10 years and can only assume that our quality of life is going to change for the worse as a result of these proposals.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the proposed plan to build on Blackwell Farm. Save our green fields and trees for us and the wild life. There is enough traffic clogging up Guildford now.... We live in a beautiful part of the country please dont ruin this precious land.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:
- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt increase tail backs on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

I object to this proposed development. It is in an exceptionally beautiful area of Green Belt land and is entirely inappropriate for development. There has already been significant encroachment by sequential development over the years and there has to come a time when a line is drawn. The remaining ancient woodland appears to be excluded from the proposed development, but this woodland and its important wildlife would inevitably be adversely affected by being enclosed by new and existing development. The traffic issues in the area are already severe, and these should be addressed before consideration is given to increasing the load on the A31 and A3. I know from personal observation and work in collecting evidence for a Rights of Way application, that all the fields included in the proposed site are currently used extensively by walkers (with and without dogs), cyclists and horse riders living in the Wood Street, Onslow Village, Fairlands, Normandy and Wanborough areas, and these fields are therefore a really important part of the amenity of the area. Many of the people I have spoken to also visit the Ranges, part of the Thames Basin Special Protection Area, and they would undoubtedly frequent the latter more if these fields are taken from us. I hope that development on this site will not proceed, but please see my comments above re an addition to the infrastructure requirements under Policy I1 and Appendix C in the event that our objections do not prevail.

I still object to the proposals for site A26 Blackwell Farm as a whole despite the small reduction in house numbers. This site should never be developed. It is an integral part of the beauty and special landscape around the Hogs Back. There has already been too much encroachment onto this area, and any further development should take place within the parts already built up. There is plenty of scope for the University to make greater use of the land already occupied eg building above and below car parks etc. The land is actively farmed and is also extremely well used by local families and individuals for walking, running, cycling, horse riding, bird watching, observing flora and fauna, etc, and elimination of this lovely open space will send more people to the Thames Basin Special Protection Area. The infrastructure changes that would be required for a development of this scale, in particular the roads and junctions, would add further destruction to the AONB, AGLV and Green Belt. I also specifically object to the new proposal for a huge secondary school on this site. The evidence collected and submitted last summer showed that there is absolutely no need for an additional secondary school in the area. The neighbouring secondary schools are currently under-subscribed, King’s College by as much as 57%. The New Guildford University Technical College will open in 2018, and both King’s College and Ash Manor have scope to increase their capacity if they reach 100% of their current capacities. Christ’s College also has space, capacity and willingness to expand its intake, and other schools in Ash and Woking can also offer places to Guildford residents. There are thus many ways of meeting Guildford’s needs without going to the expense of building a new school at all.

We have been receiving flyers from the save the hogs back campaign encouraging us to object to the local plan, but no obvious way of showing our support for the plan. We agree that increasing affordable housing in Guildford is a priority and will benefit the whole community. If necessary, this might mean having to relax the protection of some of the beautiful land around Guildford. Whilst we value, love and enjoy the green areas around Guildford and think that planning has an important role in maintaining this, we understand there is a balance between this and the housing needs of the local population and think the plan strikes the balance well.

We agree with the reduction of the site size threshold and increase in the % of affordable housing required, and strongly agree with the removal of the "subject to viability" clause for developers.

[Text of representation below]

Re: Strong Objection to Blackwell Farm development A26

Dear Sir, Madam,

Beechcroft Drive is located close to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As a Residents Association, we have come to the conclusion that we strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

1) The traffic associated with 1800 houses simply cannot be supported by the local road network and will lead to:
   a. Larger congestion around the Royal Surrey County Hospital - ultimately threatening accessibilty for emergency services.
   b. Traffic trying to avoid cathedral roundabout will be diverting to Onslow Village and Park Barn – thus affecting safety, pollution levels, and liveability for residents in a much larger area.
   c. Further gridlocking of A31, A3 and Farnham Road on daily basis, leading to reduced accessibility of Guildford from the South and West as a whole, with all economic and social implications.
Adapting local roads, the A31, A3 and cathedral roundabout to cope with this traffic will be extremely expensive and arguably make the A26 (Blackwell Farm) development financially unviable. This is supported by the Technical Note by the Traffic Consultant RGP as presented by Compton PC.

2) Furthermore, infrastructure should be improved prior to any construction; this includes enhancing hospital capacity – which is not planned at the moment -and secondary school capacity. Both are known to be under pressure at the moment.

3) The Blackwell Farm area is very visible from the Hog’s Back and as such will destroy the views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Removing greenbelt and AONB has detrimental impact on setting of the town, availability for future generations and removal of valuable farming land - which is very scarce already in the South-East, seems inappropriate.

4) The ancient woodlands (last remainder of Medieval royal deer park of Henry II) play an essential part in the local ecosystem of the larger Hog’s Back area. The railway line and building to the North, and the proposed large scale developments in the West, would mean that migration to and from this essential habitat is limited to the South. The proposed road from the Blackwell Farm to the A31 effectively completes the isolation and cuts natural migration patterns to the woodlands completely. From ecological point, this removes (one of) the largest forests west of Guildford from the greenbelt and places it within the urban area (Figure 1):

5) We further support the Guildford Residents Association in its observation (Report Neil McDonald) that the housing needs as per the local plan are overestimated, and as such development plans are over designed (even excluding consequences of Brexit)

6) The Blackwell Farm site includes 6 Travellers pitches, which we believe should be sited in more sustainable locations (not within greenbelt). In addition, counting them towards the developer’s quota of affordable housing is a ludicrous method to try to fulfil the obligation of providing affordable housing. We therefore object to them, as well as the rest of the large-scale development being included within site A26.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
As Beechcroft Drive is the nearest residential street to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As Residents Association we have come to the conclusion to strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

1) The change of accepting vehicular access and from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue does not regard the safety and impedes access to the Hospital’s A&E unit and cause increased rat running through Onslow Village and Park Barn.

2) Though much welcomed, the Park Barn train station will not be sufficient to avoid significant traffic increase due to Blackwell farm development. In addition, the planning of Park Barn does not include essential cycling access in its design.

3) An independent traffic study commissioned by Compton Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington would see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000 and B3100.

4) The added clause in P1 “In accordance with national planning policy, there will be a presumption against major development in the AONB except in exceptional circumstances and where it can be demonstrated to be in the public interest, is much welcomed. However, holding A26 and the damage to the AONB against that very clause we remain unconvinced that a) exceptional circumstances exist (as growth figures are not extreme and arguably over-estimated) and b) that the construction is in the public interest (taking into account the considerable resistance against this scheme).

Correction of error in urban boundary – ancient woodlands

The previous revision included corrections in urban boundaries. However, one error near site A26 was overlooked and we use this consultation to bring it to your attention.

In the proposed plan, the forest comprising of Strawberry Grove and Manor Corpse have been added to Guildford Urban area. We are convinced this is an error or oversight, otherwise we strongly object:

- Taking any area out of the green belt and adding into the urban area is strongly contested, and only to take place under exceptional circumstances (see Policy P1). Removing forested area from the Greenbelt and adding into urban area is clearly not justifiable and as such can only be considered an error and need to be corrected
- The possible argument that it is all part of the same Parcel, does not make sense, as urban boundaries are made disregarding the parcel boundaries – see the suggested urban boundary around the much debated road from site A26 to the A31.
- Removing ancient woodlands and including it in the urban area is mistaken on both sides 1) rural area and green belt is reduced and 2) land is added to the urban area that has no development option now or in the future and as such cannot and should be considered urban.

As such, we strongly recommend you to correct this error to the following outline:

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( No )

1. I do not believe this section to be legally compliant without consideration of the impact of the A3 widening and all additional infrastructure implied. This plan is essentially incomplete and does not include all the mitigations required in the form of additional roads or their impact. Also
   ◦ The plan does not include any analysis of how the junction with the A31 is to be designed, what that impact of signalising will be in terms of backing traffic up onto the A3.
   ◦ The plan requires that a link road is made between the A31 and Egerton road, which will be essential to relieve load on the A31 junction and provide alternative access to Guildford centre, the hospital and services, but provides no plan for how to do this and no analysis of whether this can be made sufficient to mitigate traffic impacts

2. I do not believe this section to be sound
   ◦ I object to such a large development (1800 homes) encroaching into countryside and destroying rural views from the Hogs Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). To maintain the character of an AONB it is not sufficient simply to avoid development on the site itself. What makes it an AONB are the uninterrupted views both north and south.
   ◦ I object to this plan for Blackwell Farm being proposed separately to the A3 widening scheme. The viability of the plan depends upon sufficient A3 capacity being delivered and the whole environmental and traffic impact must be considered together. It must be very likely that the A3 widening is not built, or is only built after many years or in a different way to that envisaged. The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2016 acknowledges that the topography is very challenging
   ◦ However I also object to the widening of the A3 that is implied and required by the Blackwell Farm development. The noise levels and pollution from the current A3 are already very substantial for residents of Onslow Village. Much of the Arboretum is spoilt by the level of existing noise. The New Local Plan contains no details on how to mitigate the additional noise and pollution caused by widening and is not sound in this respect
   ◦ I object to the plan for adding a signalised junction serving the Blackwell Farm development on the A31. The location of this junction will cause traffic to back up on to the A3 and therefore cause tailbacks all through Guildford southbound, which are already very large. The A31 slip road from the A3 can only be enlarged by rebuilding the bridge over the A3 which is not part of this plan. Therefore the plan does not manage the impact of this junction.
   ◦ The location of the new A31 junction does not appear to allow traffic easily to turn right southbound. There is no coherent plan for this junction congestion caused is likely to cause people to seek alternative routes to the A31 and that means going through the Village.

I do not believe this section to be legally compliant as it does not take into account the widening of the A3 which is required to make it viable.

I do not think this part of the plan is sound as

- the impact of the loss of views from the Hog's back is not assessed, in that this damages its character as an AONB
- it will generate additional need for transport capacity that is cannot meet
- it requires a link to be established between the A31 and Egerton Road but does not give any details as to how this can be achieved
- the new A31 junction design will cause traffic to back up to the A3 and traffic to be displaced into Onslow Village. Signalisation will cause significant delays to traffic
- additional traffic generated by 1800 homes will put a major strain on a single point of exit
- location of the junction does not make sense in terms of the local topography for westbound traffic to enter the new development
- no contingency for the A3 widening not being completed is made
- no impact assessment for the A3 widening is included

In general terms:

1. I object to such a large development (1800 homes) encroaching into countryside and destroying rural views from the Hogs Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). To maintain the character of an AONB it is not sufficient simply to avoid development on the site itself. What makes it an AONB are the uninterrupted views both north and south.
2. I object to this plan for Blackwell Farm being proposed separately to the A3 widening scheme. The viability of the plan depends upon sufficient A3 capacity being delivered and the whole environmental and traffic impact must be considered together.
3. I object to the widening of the A3 that is implied and required by the Blackwell Farm development. The noise levels and pollution from the current A3 are already very substantial for residents of Onslow Village. Much of the Arboretum is spoilt by the level of existing noise. The New Local Plan contains no details on how to mitigate the additional noise and pollution caused by widening.
4. I object to the plan for adding a signalised junction serving the Blackwell Farm development on the A31. The location of this junction will cause traffic to back up on to the A3 and therefore cause tailbacks all through Guildford southbound, which are already very large. The A31 slip road from the A3 can only be enlarged by rebuilding the bridge over the A3 which is not part of this plan. Therefore the plan does not manage the impact of this junction.
5. I object to the likely impact of the Blackwell Farm development in encouraging rat-running through Onslow Village, which is already highly congested in rush hour due to this practise. The A3 congestion caused is likely to cause people to seek alternative routes to the A31 and that means going through the Village.

We object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel. See annex 4.
- Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in “Guildford urban area” and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )
We object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. See annex 3. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill...
Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”.
In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”. See annex 4

Policy A26: Blackwell Farm

1. The Save Hogs Back response to the June 2016 Pre-Submission Consultation (Regulation 19) provided a comprehensive set of reasons why the Blackwell Farm strategic development allocation was so unacceptable that the Council should not proceed with it. Apart from the serious environmental damage it would do, we questioned whether it was practicable. The June 2017 Consultation indicates both the determination of the Council to press ahead with this extraordinarily inappropriate scheme and also that it is trying to deny the implausibility of the development proceeding, if at all, without appalling consequences. Modest amendments have been made to various policies in the Plan, but collectively they demonstrate that after another 12 months of searching the Council has still found no solutions to the problems we identified.

2. The unresolved problems centre on access and egress. Although pitched as an urban extension to Guildford (in the Spatial Vision, in Policy A26 and in paragraphs 4.1.8 and 4.6.24), Blackwell Farm has proved impractical to integrate into the town despite its physical proximity. There are many facets to this, the main ones being:
– the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without the capacity of the A3 trunk road being increased to bolster the strategic route in and out of Guildford, and the possibility of this happening is unknown;
– movement between the development area and Guildford, which is already extremely congested, would be substantially more impeded by the development;
– alternative means of access to the development area would have both significant practical problems and significant adverse consequences for the highway network;
– the “Sustainable Movement Corridor” to tackle that congestion is most unlikely to be effective on the scale necessary to resolve access issues and will fail in its key role of reducing congestion;
– the combined effect of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening through Guildford (itself needed in part because of Blackwell Farm) would be to raise substantially the Nitrogen Dioxide levels in Compton on the B3000 still further above legal limits at the most polluted point in the Borough.
In each case the Proposed Submission Local Plan has wholly failed to show that the Blackwell Farm development is practicable. We examine these in more detail below, after showing that the pressure on the road network in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm will be discernibly greater than forecast only one year ago.

Traffic generation in relation to road capacity

3. Mouchel have pointed out, in advice submitted by Highways England in response to the Proposed Local Plan 2016, that there are significant limitations in the evidence presented in the Strategic Highways Assessment Report (SHAR) accompanying the Proposed Submission Plan in June 2016 which affect Blackwell Farm:

- the traffic generation model used in the Local Plan allows no merge delay at junctions: this is clearly not the case at present and is not claimed by GBC to be the case even after new road infrastructure has been built. As Mouchel point out, the effect of the model is to make the A3 and A31 particularly attractive roads because they are assumed to be readily accessible and to draw traffic towards them, whereas in reality there will be less ready access and greater use of the local road network;
- the model uses average peak period traffic movement figures across the three hour period 07.00-10.00, which will tend to understate movements in the true peak hour (circa 08.00-09.00). That will have a significant impact on congestion during periods when the network is most heavily used and, in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, overloaded.

4. The SHAR indicated that the total vehicle generation anticipated by the Blackwell Farm development would be 717 vehicles leaving in the weekday average morning peak hour (Table 3.3, zone 576). How these vehicles would get out of Blackwell Farm has still not been properly resolved. Policy 26 includes a Plan showing an access to the development site (indeed the only access to the development site) from the A31 at its junction with the very minor road called Down Place. In June 2016 the Local Plan stated that this would be the “Primary vehicular access to the site allocation”. This would “provide a new route to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

5. The Local Plan 2016 identified that a “Secondary vehicular access is required from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue”. The word ‘preferably’ is instructive because it indicates that it was unclear in June 2016 how Blackwell Farm would be connected into Guildford. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. On the assumption that a means of direct access would be found, the SHAR identified distribution of Blackwell Farm traffic to the network of 342 trips eastbound towards Guildford and 375 trips southbound to the A31 in the morning weekday peak hour.

6. Figure 4.3 of the SHAR estimates traffic on the principal arms of the local network with Blackwell Farm development in place including the link to the A31. This Figure shows that 1,803 vehicles would attempt to enter the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads by the Hospital in the peak morning weekday hour (one every two seconds). The 342 eastbound vehicles generated by the Blackwell Farm development would account for 19% of the post-scheme traffic on the junction (23% growth on pre-scheme traffic), neglecting the impact of any rat-running traffic. Users of the road would consider this scale of traffic growth implausible and unacceptable given the high level of congestion there at present. The SHAR confirms that the level of congestion on Egerton Road in the morning peak will be substantially worse than at present and will exceed its capacity with the development and its access roads in place (Scenario 3). Table 4.4 (Row 25) shows that Egerton Road eastbound will have a ratio of flow to capacity (RFC) of 0.92 resulting in a level of service with ‘unstable flow operating at capacity’. Table 4.12 (Row 8) shows that Egerton Road westbound will have a RFC of 1.21 (compared with about 1.04 now) resulting in the worst possible level of service with ‘forced or breakdown of flow’. In other words, it simply won’t work. The figures already smooth the morning peak hour figures over a three hour average, as Mouchel noted, so actual congestion in the peak would be worse than these indicators, even assuming zero rat-running traffic.

7. The network effects described in Figure 4.3 of the SHAR omit potential rat-running in the morning peak hour from the A31 through Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road. Drivers passing through Guildford northbound might try to miss the existing substantial queues on the A3 by leaving the A31 just before its junction with the A3 and taking the new link road which allowed them to join the A3 at the Tesco roundabout. Other drivers eastbound on the A31 aiming for Guildford could try to avoid the existing substantial queues both on the A31 and on the A3, as the new road would give them a new means of entry into Guildford from the west. The pressure for rat-running could be considerable if the link was built. Figure 4.7 in the SHAR shows that even after the A3 has been widened there will still be overcapacity and congestion on the A31 close to the A3 junction (and on the A3 through Guildford): this is likely to encourage significant numbers of drivers to dodge the queues on these roads through the Blackwell Farm development. The issue is reviewed in paragraphs 30-35 below, which show that the constraint on rat-running is most unlikely to be effective.
In the 12 months since the 2016 Proposed Submission Consultation by the Borough Council (working with Surrey County Council as Highways Authority and Highways England responsible for the A3), the prospect of adequate network road access to Blackwell Farm has not only made no progress but deteriorated. There are some indications of this in the alterations in the June 2017 Proposed Submission:

- the proposed link with the A31 has been downgraded from its ‘primary’ status and by default the link with Guildford is now presented as of equal significance (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 1); there are various reasons for this, explored below, but fundamentally the Council has been unable to find a way of making the link with the A31 work as it wanted;
- a major new secondary school with six form entry must now be provided on the Blackwell Farm site, which was previously sited elsewhere (Policy A26 Allocation item 9): a school of this size (circa 900 students comprising 180 students in each year group for five school years) would generate a very substantial amount of additional traffic, bringing in about 600 students daily from outside Blackwell Farm, much of it attracted from Guildford, but there have been no changes at all to the proposed capacity of the road network to accommodate this, which can only mean still worse congestion on Egerton Road and the surrounding network than inevitable anyway;
- proposals in principle are now included for limiting the road users on the new route linking to the A31 (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 3), but these are deliberately left vague as the Council has been unable to find a way of achieving this despite trying to do so for the last year;

- the developer of Blackwell Farm (ultimately University of Surrey) must contribute to funding improvements to the local road network necessitated by the scheme, but this must now have “regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document”: as this SPD has not yet been published even in draft, the policy change demonstrates a remarkable lack of clarity about the role of the SMC in relation to Blackwell Farm (where it will go, how it will be built, who pays for it and how it links into the wider network) and creates an open-ended commitment which could affect the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm;
- the new Policy A59 has given a clearer specification of the need for a new railway station at Park Barn near the northern end of Blackwell Farm, with access from both the north and south sides: the access from the south will generate additional traffic affecting the roads to Blackwell Farm, especially in peak periods, which has been neglected in the calculation of traffic generation and the modelling of its distribution to the road network, again placing additional stress on already massively overloaded roads in peak periods.

These changes are additional to the increased traffic on Egerton Road and the surrounding network arising in any event from development planned or under construction at Manor Park and at the existing Research Park.

Traffic on the A3

9. Guildford Borough Council has adopted conflicting positions regarding its intentions for traffic on the A3 through Guildford.

10. The Council has endorsed a study commissioned in 2014 from Arup Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050. This is the basis for the Sustainable Movement Corridor now promoted through the Local Plan by the Council (see paragraphs 51-53 below). However, the Arup study was clear that the purpose of the A3 should be to concentrate through-Guildford movements on this road, assisted by inhibiting its use for local movements. The study recommended: “Interventions in this strategy that reduce roadspace in the town centre should serve to deter through traffic in the town; they should also reduce short journeys on the A3 within the town (for example, trips from the Surrey Research Park to the town centre via the A3) that will free up capacity for longer distance trips on the A3 trunk road”.

11. The Arup study was clear that there should be no capacity increase on the A3 trunk road through the town: “In the appraisal of interventions undertaken for this study, all potential interventions that increased road capacity, including A3 interventions (widening, northern bypass, tunnel) and additional road links in the town centre, resulted in increased traffic levels in the long term over and above business-as-usual changes (i.e. in 2031 compared to the 2031 Business-As-Usual). Vehicle mileage increased by up to 2% across the borough and highway delay increased by up to 16%, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and Save Hogs Back & Compton PC 5 by Green Balance severance. These interventions are therefore not included in the strategy as they do not strongly support the multi-faceted headline vision for sustainable mobility in the town of Guildford identified to guide the development of the strategy.”
12. However, this study is increasingly being compromised. Arup’s limitation on using the A3 is wholly at odds with the approach which Guildford BC is taking in practice. The Council has decided that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without substantially increased capacity on the A3. The last sentence of the 2017 Local Plan’s ‘Spatial Vision’ states: “The delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon major improvement to the A3 through Guildford”. This is due to existing major peak hour congestion on the A3 (Local Plan paragraph 2.14a). The June 2016 Strategic Highway Assessment Report concluded that “the results of this assessment indicate that should the [DfT’s] Road Investment Strategy schemes [which include major A3 capacity increases through Guildford] not be forthcoming then the residual cumulative impact of the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the highway network could be considered severe… To avoid this occurring in such circumstances of the RIS schemes not being forthcoming, then the quantum and location of development as proposed may have to be amended” (page 63, emphasis added). This was confirmed in the 2017 Addendum for the revised Proposed Submission Local Plan (Conclusion, page 2).

13. The Local Plan therefore aspires to a very substantial increase in the capacity of the A3, not least to facilitate car-borne travel to and from the major developments planned at Blackwell Farm (and Gosden Hill Farm). The Spatial Vision states:

“The Department for Transport’s Road Investment Strategy includes schemes for the A3 Guildford and the M25 Junction 10/A3 Wisley interchange. Early, targeted improvement schemes to deliver road safety and some congestion relief on the A3 in Guildford will be delivered within the plan period.”

Paragraph 4.6.14 specifically explains the intention of Policy ID2 ‘Supporting the DfT’s “Road Investment Strategy”’ as including the identified:

“Scheme with construction anticipated to commence in Road Period 2 (2020/21 to 2024/25):

• A3 Guildford – improving the A3 in Guildford from the A320 to the Hogs Back junction with the A31, with associated safety improvements.”

14. In the last twelve months, the likelihood of any of this happening has been slipping away. The Local Plan has now been altered with the deletion from paragraph 4.6.18 of the option of a tunnel under Guildford, so that a road widening scheme is now the most likely option (even if a tunnel remains the Borough Council’s preferred option – see Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.101). Exactly what is intended is still hugely unclear: the Infrastructure Schedule for this project in Appendix 3 shows that what is proposed is so vague that it may cost anything between £100m and £250m (project SRN5). Only a brief examination of the A3 through Guildford will in any event show just how difficult, costly and enormously environmentally damaging would be any attempt to add significant extra capacity in each direction to the A3.

15. Also deleted is paragraph 4.6.17 which had stated “Guildford Borough Council and Highways England are in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground which sets out assumptions regarding both the performance and safety outcomes that the RIS schemes can be expected to realise”. This is said to be because an SoCG is likely to be agreed closer to the Examination (Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.14), but we would not be surprised if Highways England is unable to make the commitment the Borough Council seeks.

16. Highways England itself is doubtful about how much can be achieved on the A3 and by when. Its response to the Proposed Submission LP on 18 July 2016 stated: “There is still a level of uncertainty on precisely what improvements on the A3 can be delivered and the quantum of growth any potential improvements will facilitate during the Local Plan period.” A Technical Note supporting that submission, prepared by Mouchel, was more precise:

“It should be noted that the A3 RIS 2 scheme is not a committed scheme and no funding has been allocated at present. The details of the RIS 2 A3 Guildford scheme itself are not yet known and so the modelling and testing of an A3 scheme at this stage is considered premature. As such Highways England’s view is that this scheme cannot be relied upon by Local Plans to form mitigation for the development proposals.”

17. So far as we are aware, this remains the position in July 2017. The response subsequently advised that the inadequate evidence base meant that the Plan was considered unsound.

18. Guildford BC found this response hugely inconvenient and persuaded Highways England to withdraw this statement after a meeting on 1 September 2016. Highways England’s letter on 5 October 2016 doing this stated instead (with our emphasis added):

“You will be aware that Highways England is currently developing options for a potential scheme on the A3 in Guildford, capable of being delivered in the next roads period (2020-2025), subject to the normal value for money being applied. The scheme proposes widening the existing carriageway to provide additional capacity and safety improvements between the A31 Farnham Road and the A3/A320 Stoke Road. The design of such a scheme is complex and needs to consider a number of potential options, a process which takes time to complete. We will continue close working with Guildford Borough Council and Surrey County Council to progress the development of the potential scheme. We note that the delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon a major improvement to the A3 through Guildford. It is essential that the Local Plan provides the planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward in advance of critical infrastructure. As a result of clarification received at our recent meeting, it is now understood how the Local Plan intends to do this. Therefore we wish to formally withdraw our representation to this policy.”

19. While Highways England is urging caution, Guildford’s Local Plan continues to make highly questionable assumptions. On timing, Appendix C claims that the A3 capacity increase will be ‘delivered’ between 2023 and 2027. This conflicts with paragraph 4.6.14 of the Plan (above) which expects construction to begin three years earlier. Delivery in 2023-27 is itself barely consistent with the Council’s own Topic Paper: Transport at paragraph 5.88, which reports that “Highways England has advised that, if a scheme is approved with funding agreed, construction is unlikely to be start(ing) until 2024 at the earliest, with construction taking 2½ years.” This would mean that the capacity would only become available in 2027 at the earliest, in effect postponing by some years the Plan’s aspiration for A3 widening.

20. On funding, there is no clarity where the money for A3 widening would come from, even if it did surprisingly pass the value-for-money test. The proposed submission Local Plan has been amended from one year ago in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C to give the impression that developers are now expected to foot more of the bill, further adversely affecting the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm. The change states the funding source will be ‘Highways England and developer funded’ instead of ‘Highways England and developer contributions’.

21. Finally, the exorbitantly expensive, damaging and disruptive widening of the A3 cannot be expected to achieve its objective of alleviating traffic flows sufficiently to accommodate effectively traffic from Blackwell Farm. Congestion will, remarkably, be worse with the A3 widened than without it. The SHAR reports in paragraphs 4.8.4-6:

> “4.8.4 Table 4.1b shows in the PM peak that while the network performs better in Scenario 5 [i.e. with the A3 widening in place] compared with Scenario 3, it is still worse than in Scenario 1 with vehicle hours higher and vehicle speeds lower by 12% and 2% respectively.

> 4.8.5 As noted above in Section 4.5, the capacity increases on the M25 and A3 result in some high flow increases as trips re-route to make use of the improvements. In turn, this affects roads approaching the A3, such as the A320, A31, A25 and B3000. These also see high flow increases with some, such as the A320, experiencing a significant deterioration in the Level of Service.

> 4.8.6 It should be noted that despite these improvements, Figure 4.7 shows the A3 is still operating overcapacity with resulting impacts on congestion.”
22. The Borough Council’s own evidence in both the SHAR and Arup report is that widening the A3 will increase congestion in the town rather than relieve it, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. Blackwell Farm would damage the whole of Guildford. The likelihood of the A3 capacity being increased is less now than it was one year ago. So far as we can see, the ‘do nothing’ option for the A3 remains squarely on the table and is an increasingly likely outcome.

23. In summary, the evidence on the A3 consolidated during the last year shows that it is currently simply not known:
– if a suitable widening scheme can be designed and if so how much it would cost;
– whether the scheme would meet ‘value for money’ tests;
– whether the money for it could be found;
– whether the A3 capacity could be increased in time to assist the development of Blackwell Farm during the Plan period, as the earliest provision date would be 2027 (and probably later). Finally, even if built, the widening of the A3 would generate congestion in Guildford rather than relieve it and would itself be even more over-capacity than it is now. The Borough Council’s reliance on the A3 capacity improvement is foolhardy in the extreme. Not proceeding with the Blackwell Farm development would be a far superior option.

24. The Council recognises that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, but realises that this cannot be achieved until, at best, near the end of the Plan period. As a result of the lack of progress in agreeing A3 capacity increases, the rate of provision of houses in Policy S2, which was back-end loaded in the 2016 Proposed Submission, is now in the 2017 Proposed Submission still more heavily skewed towards the end of the plan period. The 2019-20 provision has been dropped from 500 to 450, while the annual provision in the last three years of the Plan has been raised from 790 to 850. There is insufficient evidence to show that 850 dwellings per annum could be constructed and sold in the Borough in those last three years: the numbers reflect not how the housing market works, but the contortions which the Council has gone through to square its housing provision numbers with the aspirational timetable for the widening of the A3. A far superior option in both housing and transport terms would be to abandon both the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening (which in part is justified by Blackwell Farm as well as facilitating it).

Access from the A31 Hogs Back

Junction with the A31

25. The principle of a new signalised junction on the A31 to facilitate access to Blackwell Farm is project LRN3 in the Infrastructure Schedule. The Plan accompanying Policy A26 Blackwell Farm is unchanged from June 2016. It continues to show a road access at a widened junction of Down Place with the A31, passing over the A31 slip road onto the A3 northbound. Our response to the June 2016 Consultation demonstrated, in a commissioned report from transport specialists, that the proposed signalised junction at Down Place with the A31 would be most unlikely to function effectively. Furthermore, Surrey County Council’s Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 shows that the new junction would cause all users on average a 35 second delay compared with no junction (Table 4.11). In the last twelve months the Borough Council has been forced by a Freedom of Information request to release a sketch map provided by the University of Surrey showing the latest proposals for this access. This involves a junction slightly west of the site originally intended but shows no distance measurements. Also it shows an extra westbound lane for traffic on the A3 over-bridge but no bridge widening. There appears to be no proposal to co-ordinate this junction with improvements to the Down Lane junction on the opposite side of the A31 slightly to the east, even though the creation of the Down Place access could ordinarily be expected to generate significant additional use of Down Lane.

26. The lack of transparency by the Council is significant: unless demonstrated otherwise, we consider that the proposed access at Down Place is likely to remain impractical for the following reasons.
– There does not appear to be sufficient road width for the proposed junction.
– A signalled junction is likely to be over-capacity at peak periods.
– Travellers leaving Blackwell Farm this way in the morning peak will suffer major tailbacks due to the overloaded A31 eastbound inhibiting left turns (the peak flow direction).
– Widening of the A3 over-bridge may well still be necessary at vast cost.
Access road between the A31 and Blackwell Farm

27. Project LRN4 in the Infrastructure Schedule is an access road at Blackwell Farm with a through link to Egerton Road. The Plan continues to give the misleading impression that “The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV” (Infrastructure Requirements item 2). A significant road connecting to the A31 could not possibly be achieved by an ‘improved Down Place access road’, the route of which is narrow, lined by mature trees on both sides, and includes a significant sharp bend, while any alternative could not possibly be sympathetic to the AONB and AGLV. The construction of an access road through an AONB to a new urban extension would be major development in its own right. This could only be justified in AONB policy terms if there were exceptional circumstances. There are none of these and none are claimed or demonstrated.

28. The principal difficulty which has arisen in the last year regarding the new link road is that the Council has been unable to find a workable solution for the local road network. The Council wants residents of Blackwell Farm and employees at the Research Park to be able to enter and leave either in the Guildford direction or the A31 direction, but it does not want most other drivers to use the same roads if they don’t really need to be there. There appear to be two intentions: to constrain drivers who are just passing through - so as to avoid rat-running (especially necessary if a direct through route can be found south of Manor Copse) - and to avoid attracting drivers who currently use Egerton Road. In both cases the intention is to avoid causing adverse network effects if drivers divert onto the new link, e.g. rat-runners overloading Egerton Road still further, or the new access prompting more traffic on the A31.

29. Policy A26 in the June 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out its solution: to provide a new route “between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road” for “employees and emergency vehicles” (only) to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We address in this section the practicability of selecting users for the public highway. However, the matter is also linked to the separate issue of how to link Blackwell Farm into Egerton Road, the main road into Guildford (see paragraphs 47-50).

30. We have tried for the last year to obtain from Guildford BC and the County Highways Authority an understanding of exactly how users of the proposed new road network would be restricted to those people deemed suitable, with everyone else barred. No credible explanation has been provided. The matter is completely ignored in the Borough Council’s Topic Paper: Transport (June 2017) and Strategic Highway Assessment Report Addendum (June 2017), and is restated but not explained in Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (June 2017). This is an issue which cannot be brushed under the carpet because it lies at the heart of the credibility of the link to the A31.

31. The local authorities have been thinking about the issues raised but failed to find an answer after another year of investigating. Surrey County Council has indicated that its preferred option is the use of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) coupled with a permit system. However, there is a general right of public access on the public highway without the State snooping on who uses it by means of cameras, so the legality and practicality of any control system remains to be resolved. For this method to function, therefore, we anticipate that cameras would have to monitor passage on private roads, raising the prospect that Blackwell Farm might not be fully accessible on the public road network. It remains unclear what would happen to drivers whose number plates were not ‘authorised’ to use the road, or how they could be discouraged from arriving in the first place. If there was a system of fines for unauthorised use of the road link, this would require the co-operation of public authorities in perpetuity (which would need to have ongoing funding from the development). With private roads, control of the network would be lost to a private interest whose priorities might not always be the same as those of a public authority. Rights of access to the private roads could at any time be changed by the landowner by reference to which vehicles were allowed passage, when, at what cost, or in other ways. We would expect an urban extension to Guildford reliant on access and egress by private roads to be fundamentally unacceptable.

32. It is unclear whether Guildford BC appreciates the impracticability of the proposed differentiation between acceptable and banned users of the road. There will be thousands of ‘legitimate’ drivers resident in the Blackwell Farm housing development. There will be many hundreds of employees in the Research Park and its proposed extension. There will be hundreds of staff on the Manor Park campus and at the Hospital. Identifying these individuals and, specifically, the cars they will be driving would be a nightmare, made worse by staff turnover and churn in the occupancy of the housing development. Legitimate individuals may have good cause to use alternative cars. The newly introduced secondary school would be largely (two thirds) for the benefit of non-residents of the Blackwell Farm development, so large numbers of drivers can be expected to arrive from elsewhere using the link road, and would need to be registered. Many others will claim legitimate cause for registration on the ANPR system, such as staff at the Nuffield Hospital as well as the County Hospital, employees of shops and services in the area, taxi drivers and so on. The system of registration would become very large and unwieldy, requiring continual (and rapid) update, at real cost. A reliable and effective appeal system would be needed, but the frustrations of both registered and especially non-registered users of the road are still entirely foreseeable.

33. As the transport consultant to Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils notes, the inevitable complexity of an ANPR process raises a series of questions related to site deliverability such as:

i) Will the developer provide for the financial enforcement costs of the link road restrictions in perpetuity? Is this included within the £20million cost for LRN4?

ii) Will Surrey Police provide the enforcement of the ANPR in perpetuity?

iii) How will all of the people who will be granted access to use the road be differentiated from through traffic?

34. Answers to these questions and resolving other practical concerns are fundamental to the successful deliverability of the vehicular link road and the urban extension as a whole. The road must not attract unwanted road users, but must still achieve the aim of serving all of the desired users. So far the Council has offered no commentary at all on how these awkward issues might be resolved, or on how the use of private roads to achieve a public purpose can be made to function without unacceptable risks of unilateral action by the landowner.

35. The outcome seems to us clearly inevitable if a link road is built. It will not be workable. Instead of a costly system of registration, fines, appeals, etc., the greater likelihood is that the foreseeable cacophony of opposition to a system which appears indiscriminate, unfair and ineffective will cause the system of ANPR and registration to be abandoned in a short order of time. All the disadvantages of the link road to the wider network would then be realised.

Impact of the link road on air quality in Compton

36. New information on air quality has become available since the consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan in 2016. In particular, Guildford Borough Council has issued an admirably brief and clear 2016 Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. This shows that a specific area of the B3000 road through the village of Compton (in whose parish Blackwell Farm partially lies) has one air quality monitoring position which consistently reveals concentrations of Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) well in excess of the legal limit adjacent to a dwelling (and the highest figure in the Borough). This is the only location in the Borough where this combination arises. (There were two other places with lesser exceedance of the legal limit, but one was located well away from dwellings and the other was unreliable having only 33% data capture rather than the 75% required.) Other monitoring positions nearby in Compton had NO2 pollution approaching the legal limit.

37. There is no doubt whatever about the cause of the pollution problem: through traffic passing through the village. Large numbers of cars pass through and lorries on the relatively narrow road can cause additional congestion. Further monitoring and modelling is taking place to ascertain whether any further action is required, notably using Advanced Dispersion Modelling Software (since June 2016). The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 reports that in respect of Compton “The Council is considering whether to declare an Air Quality Management Area and, working with Surrey County Council, will use the results of an ongoing study looking at the pattern of daily exposure to design and implement appropriate mitigating measures” (page 19). The Council has proposed no means of achieving in the short term a permanent reduction in traffic volumes through Compton. On the face of it, an AQMA may well therefore already be needed: under its legal duties the Council must designate one if it is unlikely that the objective values (i.e. less than 40g/μm3) will be met in a given timescale, and the Council must then prepare an Air Quality Action Plan (AQAP) with the aim of achieving value objectives.

38. The vehicle count through Compton will rise alarmingly if the Blackwell Farm development and the associated A3 widening are built, inevitably necessitating an AQMA and with little or no prospect of an AQAP being effective. For vehicle impacts, the SHAR treats development of Blackwell Farm and accesses to it as a two-stage process: ‘Scenario 3’ involves the construction of key highway schemes providing access to large development sites (incl. Blackwell Farm) and local highway schemes, while ‘Scenario 5’ involves the widening of the A3 at Guildford (A320 Stoke interchange junction to A31 Hog’s Back junction). The traffic consequences of each are modelled separately. In practice, as established in paragraph 12 above, there is common ground between the Borough Council, County Council and Highways England that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, so in practice the highways impacts of the site access road and A3 widening are additional if Blackwell Farm is to proceed.

39. The SHAR shows in Figure 4.3 for the morning peak hour that 275 vehicles will leave the A31 at Down Place (for Blackwell Farm, the Surrey Research Park and County Hospital). Paragraph 4.7.5 suggests that these are trips which primarily have their origin in the west, (though the likelihood is that many of them will have actually their origin in the south: traffic from Godalming and Farncombe, for example, could access the A31 at the Puttenham junction and then head for the Research Park or Hospital while avoiding Guildford.) In short, a proportion of the 275 vehicles using the Down Place junction under Scenario 3 will have passed through Compton. Unfortunately, the network effects diagram shown in Figure 4.3 does not extend southwards to Compton to identify an indicative number.

40. The SHAR then indicates the impact of Scenario 5 compared with Scenario 3. This is reported for Compton in Table 4.5, showing that the B3000 through Compton will have one of the highest absolute increases in flow arising from the widening of the A3, with an additional 145 vehicles per hour in the morning peak, representing a further 16% increase in traffic through Compton. The Table notes that both under Scenario 3 (even without the A3 widening) and under Scenario 5 the Level Of Service on the road would be category E: ‘Unstable flow operating at capacity’. The outcome could be even worse: the SHAR notes at paragraph 4.7.5 that potentially the number of drivers attracted to use the new Down Place to Blackwell Farm link could be somewhat higher as the model cannot accurately reflect the queuing that occurs on the nearside lane of the A31 as it approaches the merge with the A3. If so, the numbers passing through Compton could be expected to increase proportionately.

41. The evidence is clear that the combined effect of the Local Plan’s proposals for the Down Place link road to Blackwell Farm and the A3 will greatly increase traffic through Compton which in turn will have an inevitable and appalling impact on air quality (which already exceeds legal limits at one location). Despite this, the Council is in denial about the air quality impacts of its Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017. Aecom have prepared for the Borough Council an Air Quality Review of Guildford Borough proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites “June 2017”, but this completely fails to appreciate the relationship between the Blackwell Farm development, the proposed road infrastructure developments and air quality at Compton. It provides a series of unwise statements:

(i) “it is predicted that if little development takes place within the area and vehicles emissions are reduced by technological advances these objective exceedance should reduce to below the objective in to the future, without additional measures being required locally” (section 2.3). The reference to little development in the area is absurd: a major urban extension is proposed in the Parish. The suggestion that technological advances in emissions will solve the problem is fanciful in anything other than the long term, whereas there is an immediate need for action to reduce vehicle passage through Compton.

(ii) “The assessment identified a risk of exceedance if traffic flows, primarily on the B3000, increased. The area was not declared as an AQMA as the assessment noted that emissions from traffic were expected to decrease into the future which should lead to a decrease in NO2 concentrations measured in the area” (section 4.1). This finding is simply wrong: Table 4.5 of the SHAR anticipates a 16% increase in traffic in Compton from the A3 widening, not counting any increase generated along the Down Place link road.

(iii) A review of Policy A26 Blackwell Farm (section 5.2.2.1) recognises that “A large development such as this is likely to have an impact on local air quality as there are likely to be large changes to traffic flows on nearby roads and thus impacts on pollutant concentrations”, but failed to realise the consequences for Compton, even though this is nearby and clearly the place with the worst NO2 pollution recording in the Borough (which should obviously be one of the first places to examine for air quality consequences).

(iv) A review of the air quality impact of the Local Plan on Compton (section 5.2.4) similarly fails to appreciate the evidence. This states in full: “There is one large land allocation within the parish of Compton, A26 Blackwell Farm, discussed above. The additional traffic flows predicted to be generated by this development are not predicted to have a significant adverse effect on air quality in the area of the village of Compton. There are no other large allocations local to Compton Village. As a result the implementation of the GBC Draft Local Plan should have little effect on future traffic flows through the area and thus negligible impact on local air quality.”

(v) Rather than address the air quality consequences of Blackwell Farm at the Local Plan stage, when decisions can still affect air quality in Compton, Aecom choose to defer any consideration of the issue until a time when little can be done about it. On four occasions in the Executive Summary the issue is recommended as a matter which can be dealt with ‘through the planning application process’. Once allocations of land are made for development, strategic reasons for resisting them (e.g. on air quality grounds) are typically overruled as matters which should have been resolved at the plan-making stage. Leaving air pollution consequences of proposed development until the planning application stage is an exercise in trying to sweep the issue under the carpet.

42. Aecom’s recommendations in section 5.4 recognise that “The increase in traffic flows associated with the implementation of the Draft Local Plan are predicted to be in the region of 12,500-17,000 vehicles per day on the Guildford Bypass [A3]”, but seem to assume – extraordinarily – that no extra vehicles will pass through Compton (despite the evidence in the SHAR). In our view, the Aecom report and its recommendations represent a significant failure to respond to clear evidence of the air quality damage that the Blackwell Farm development as a whole and the associated A3 widening would inflict upon Compton, about which little could then be done in the short term. We wholly disagree with its approach, which could threaten life-expectancy in Compton.

43. It is hardly surprising that air quality is barely mentioned in the Sustainability Appraisal and treated as a minor issue, as Aecom also prepared this for the Borough Council: paragraph 10.7.1 final indent merely recommends that ‘detailed modelling’ is undertaken close to where very large increases in traffic flows are expected. Paragraph 10.7.7 concludes “Proposed changes to the spatial strategy have little or no implications for health, whilst proposed changes to site specific policy (particularly regarding air quality; see discussion above), responding to the Air Quality Review (2017), are supportive of good health.” Again key decisions are to be left until too late until the planning application stage, with both the SA (at paragraph 10.7.1) and the Air Quality Review (at page 5) recommending that ‘potential air quality issues’ should be added to the list of ‘key considerations’ at the end of the main urban development allocation policies, including Policy A26 Blackwell Farm. This has been taken up by the Borough Council. However, the SA fails to address the key issue that needs resolution now: how to stop additional traffic being attracted through Compton or reduce it.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Linking the Research Park Extension to the road network

44. The expansion of the Surrey Research Park and the creation of the Blackwell Farm estate are treated as part of the same development in Policy A26. In access terms it is more sensible to consider them separately. The Research Park proposal is for an Extension of 10-11ha, which would be to the north-west of the current Research Park. Access would be straight-forward from Guildford: via Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, via the roundabout serving the Research Park by the Occam Road/Priestley Road loop, and by making an extension to Stephenson Way. A road serving the Extension could be taken through the mature hedgerow separating the existing Research Park from Blackwell Farm at a point close to and parallel to the railway line. Stephenson Way has been constructed to allow further extension of the roadway in this location (also giving access to some of the last remaining large vacant sites on the current Research Park). Proposals for the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the June 2016 ‘Progress update’ as part of the evidence base for the Proposed Submission Local Plan at that time were consistent with this. They showed in Figure 5 a schematic route for the SMC. This is reproduced on page 16 of the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017. At its western end this turns north from Gill Avenue, apparently to follow Occam Road and Priestley Road, before making a westward thrust into the Research Park extension area (though whether north or south of Surrey Satellite Technology is difficult to say from the scale of the plan provided). So far as the Research Park Extension is concerned, that would seem to be an understandable direction in which to take the Sustainable Movement Corridor.

45. However, this arrangement would introduce development into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm, breach the excellent existing screening of development from the west, add substantial additional traffic to the heavily congested Egerton Road, and in all likelihood be opposed by existing users of the Research Park who would be unlikely to want a significant thoroughfare in their midst. We therefore consider this proposal unacceptable. We note, too, that the proposed SMC may now stop short of the Research Park Extension (at the roundabout on Gill Avenue at the top of the hill), as indicated in the Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update 20 February 2017 in Figure 4. How or whether the SMC would link into Blackwell Farm or the Research Park Extension has become a mystery.

46. We do not accept that the sensibilities of existing staff in the current Research Park should dictate the most appropriate access route to a Research Park Extension. However, if the intention (and this is unstated in the Local Plan) is that the Research Park Extension could only proceed if a new road link was made to it from the A31, to avoid access only through the existing Research Park, there would be even less justification for the development going ahead. Not only would the scheme still intrude into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm. It would also be partly responsible for requiring major development of a road in the AONB and so could only be justified in “exceptional circumstances” (which it has neither claimed nor demonstrated). Given that the Extension would now be physically separate from the existing Research Park, it would be unable to claim Blackwell Farm as an essential location. So far as we can see, the Extension does not need to be in this location at all, and a more fundamental review of its future location would be in order. That would also help avoid traffic growth on Egerton Road.

Linking Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road and the Tesco roundabout

47. How the Borough Council and the County Highways Authority propose to link the Blackwell Farm development into Egerton Road preferably via Gill Avenue, in accordance with the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 Policy A26, remains unclear. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. One option has recently been lost by the construction of the substantial School of Veterinary Medicine on the line of one possible access road. We consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be delerious in its duty to demonstrate how such a major urban development on the edge of Guildford can in reality be linked into the fabric of the town. The Borough Council is plainly having great difficulty finding a suitable access route. We strongly recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination unless this route can be clearly identified first.

Impact of Blackwell Farm and the Research Park development on the local road network

48. Egerton Road is one of the worst congestion hotspots in Guildford and the wider area. Egerton Road provides the main access to the Surrey Royal County Hospital and a superstore, and the only access to Surrey University’s Manor Park student village, Surrey Sports Park and the entirety of Surrey Research Park. The demand for access to all these destinations is growing, notably with building programmes at Manor Park and the Research Park. The high level of existing congestion will therefore get worse, even before Blackwell Farm is contemplated. Egerton Road is accessed principally from Guildford to the east but its capacity is fundamentally constrained by the pinch-point of the A3 underpass, which is a single-carriageway road capable of providing for two lanes of cars each way (but not wider vehicles). Overloading of the roundabouts at either end of the underpass, which both have links to the A3 and other destinations, also act as pinch-points for traffic from numerous sources and cause traffic to back up onto the roads into them (even onto the A3). The likely additional traffic generation at the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads, immediately west of the Tesco Roundabout, was noted in paragraph 6 above.

49. The concept of adding the major Blackwell Farm estate and a 10-11ha Research Park extension, both accessed from Egerton Road, without any significant vehicle capacity increase on Egerton Road itself, seems astonishing to the point of being hardly believable. The Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 accompanying the Proposed Submission Local Plan a year ago stated of the Blackwell Farm development: “in Scenario 2, without either new highway schemes or specific access arrangements, trips from Blackwell Farm load onto the A31. But with the access arrangements modelled together with an access road through the development to the Surrey Research Park, this assessment indicates that significant pressure could be placed on Gill Avenue, the Hospital junction and other parts of the network in that area” (paragraph 4.5.4). Paragraph 4.9.5 of the SHAR specifically identifies that “the additional access to and from the Blackwell Farm development via Gill Avenue results in a significant increase in trips on this part of the network. This is, in turn, impacting on junctions for which there are no schemes proposed at the moment, highlighting where additional improvements may be necessary. An example of this is the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction adjacent to the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

50. In addition to this, in the last twelve months, the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 has upgraded the importance of Egerton Road to the purpose of providing access to Blackwell Farm, compared with the 2016 Plan, in that the alternative proposed access to Blackwell Farm via the A31 is no longer designated as the ‘primary’ access and Egerton Road is no longer designated the ‘secondary’ access. They now have equal status. Whereas this properly reflects the implausibility of an acceptable link to the A31, no change whatever has been proposed to Egerton Road to accommodate such extra traffic as may now be expected to take this route (which is unspecified). In our view, the additional traffic congestion impacts on an already overloaded local network are so foreseeable dire that we strongly recommend the Blackwell Farm development should not be taken forward.

Sustainable Movement Corridor

51. Back in 2014 Arup prepared a report Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study for the Borough Council, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050, which included a very broad indicative route at a scale that was difficult to apply on the ground. This has been endorsed by the Council. The purpose was to facilitate sustainable movement, strongly emphasising public transport, walking, cycling and demand management at the expense of travel by private car. The centrepiece of the scheme was a corridor segregated to be available to fast buses (and possibly trams), cyclists and pedestrians, linking the key existing areas of the town that are drivers of growth. There would be new bridges over the railway (in the town centre) and over the River Wey (across the floodplain near Stoke Lock). The estimated total cost was broadly £75-100 million though clearly not costed in detail. Cars would be banned from the Corridor which, because it would be based on using existing roads, some of them major roads, would represent a highly significant reallocation of space away from cars to buses, cycles and walkers, with consequent impediments to car usage. Car parking charges would be increased, 20mph zones introduced, some roads be closed to through traffic and others pedestrianised. The Proposed Submission Local Plan supports this kind of corridor but, strikingly, none of these intentions and assumptions is made clear in the 2016 or 2017 Consultations.

52. The 2016 Consultation proposed a Sustainable Movement Corridor, included in the Plan at the last moment (Spatial Vision, Policy I3 and paragraph 4.6.24). Various land allocation policies required co-ordination with the Corridor. Paragraph 4.6.24 explained that the Sustainable Movement Corridor would link major developments to Park-and-Rides, including Blackwell Farm (at its western end), and stated that the Corridor would be ‘largely on existing roads’. ‘Route sections’ were listed in the Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) with six itemised segments with some broad cost figures suggested (£80-90m in total). No route for the Corridor was included in the Plan, but instead the evidence base included a Progress Update on the Sustainable Movement Corridor scheme (GBC, June 2016). This showed a revised figurative route and possible road layouts at some key junctions and sections. It showed variations from the Arup study, notably with: a spur to Slyfield based on the existing A320 rather than a river crossing further east and also a lengthy new corridor up the A3100 to Gosden Hill Farm. The Arup Corridor would be downgraded in many lengths to shared roadspace with existing traffic (i.e. normal roads) but with bus priority measures. A land bridge over the A3 to provide a connection to the Research Park was downgraded to using the existing Egerton Road underpass: the recommendation was “to consider further the potential for tidal bus lane on Egerton Road as it passes under the A3 trunk road, with signalised control at either end controlling its use by buses, whilst retaining two working lanes of general traffic. It would be anticipated that the tidal bus lane would be used westbound in the morning peak period and eastbound in the evening peak period.” Changes to the Tesco roundabout would also be needed. Development would begin in the town centre and be phased later for other sections (to 2033).

53. The 2017 Consultation has made little progress on the Sustainable Movement Corridor. Policy ID3 now mentions a Supplementary Planning Document on the topic, but there is no sign of this even in first draft despite the passage of another year. This is an unacceptably inadequate basis upon which to plan for major urban development at Blackwell Farm. However, a further report Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update published in February 2017 does for the first time include a published small-scale street map on which the Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) is superimposed and clearer proposals for an initial western section. However, the Council clearly have insufficient confidence in this to include it in the Local Plan. The 2017 Update shows changes from the 2016 Update, notably with an additional crossing of the railway beside Yorkie’s Bridge and an additional north-south corridor along Woodbridge Road and Onslow Street between the A25 and the gyratory.

54. The Sustainable Movement Corridor will measure its effectiveness by a substantial degree of modal shift away from cars and towards sustainable transport modes. The starting point for analysis is that the Strategic Highway Assessment Report 2016 assumes no modal shift to sustainable modes, and so is a ‘worst case’ in respect of cars (paragraph 4.1.8). Paragraph 4.6.28 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 now states that “the site allocations and proposals in this Plan – including the significant programme of schemes to provide and improve opportunities to use active modes, bus and rail – are intended to result in a modest modal shift over the period to 2034”. However, the Council has accepted that this is unlikely to be enormously effective: the same sentence continues “we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes.” Instead the paragraph proposes to ‘increase highway capacity’. This is a downgrading from the intentions just a year ago, when paragraph 4.1.8 of the SHAR stated “The impact of these sustainable transport schemes is expected to be significant”. What, therefore, is the Council’s objective?

55. The key section of the SMC for Blackwell Farm is the western section. At the key pinch-point of the A3 underpass, the Sustainable Movement Corridor can only function if the existing four lanes for vehicles are reduced to three, with one of these lanes taken up as a bus lane based on tidal flow routing. Space for other vehicles would be halved. The Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 together with the main transport documents supporting it (the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 and Topic Paper: Transport, June 2017) are silent on whether this will be implemented, but as it is a key feature of the SMC, which could not function without it, we assume that this is what is proposed. Furthermore, the Tesco roundabout diagram in the 2017 Update document shows no roadspace at all reallocated to the Corridor west of this point.

56. The Council does not appear to have modelled the network consequences of creating the western section of the SMC (or any other section). With the Blackwell Farm development completed, the SHAR forecasts (Figure 4.3) that, in the morning peak hour, there would be 837 movements westbound and 636 movements eastbound along Egerton Road through the underpass (one vehicle about every 4 seconds and 6 seconds respectively). The underpass is highly unlikely to have the capacity to accept this level of traffic on a single lane each way. That would still be the case after modest modal shift had reduced the vehicle counts somewhat. It seems to us unrealistic to believe that all traffic inhibited by denial of road space will divert to sustainable modes. The more likely effect is that the SMC will simply add greatly to the predicted overcapacity on Egerton Road, with knock-on effects through the network. The principal effect of the SMC in the Blackwell Farm area is therefore likely to be to make traffic congestion worse rather than better if the development is built.

57. The footpath and cycleway on the north side of Egerton Road, segregated from traffic but not from each other, would be maintained under the proposals in the 2017 Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update, though the current design is cramped and mostly unattractive. The footpath and cycleway cease east of the Tesco roundabout, so walkers and cyclists have to fend for themselves when crossing the Ashenden Road arm of the Tesco roundabout. No improvement even to this basic problem is proposed in the Plan. The Plan needs to be clearer about what if anything it is actually proposing in order to encourage walking and cycling to and from the Blackwell Farm development.

58. If the modal shift fails to happen, the level of congestion in Guildford will become significantly worse. Modal shift is the only means by which the Council can find any practical means of moving additional people at scale into and out of Blackwell Farm (and the associated 10-11ha expansion of the Research Park). Even so, given the existing very high levels of congestion and over-capacity on Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, especially in peak periods, there is no certainty that there will be sufficient roadway for vehicles, people and goods to reach the Blackwell Farm development even after the Sustainable Movement Corridor has taken a proportion of travellers (itself taking up roadway).

59. The Council has not demonstrated a credible strategy for actually achieving modal shift in practice, notably by removing both roadway for cars and destination car parking spaces. Modal shift is not mentioned in Policy A26, despite its imperative importance to the delivery of Blackwell Farm. The strong impression given by the Plan is that the SMC has been greatly downgraded from the original proposals by Arup to which the Council subscribed, and is therefore unlikely to deliver the modal shift which is essential for the development proposals in the Plan to be feasible. It seems to us that the likelihood is that the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the Blackwell Farm area will be massively inadequate. As the Council’s heart does not appear to be in modal shift, we consider that the Blackwell Farm proposal will be undeliverable and we recommend that the proposed allocation in Policy A26 is withdrawn.

60. The purpose of the SMC can only be achieved by upsetting car drivers. However, the Plan strongly emphasises accommodating traffic generation from proposed development with figures apparently incorporating: no modal shift at all; a sustained aspiration for a major increase in capacity on the A3; and continued investment in local road capacity improvements. We conclude that the Sustainable Movement Corridor has already been compromised, will fail to make discernible impacts on existing congestion, and will therefore not have anything like enough impact on travel patterns to accommodate the people and goods movements arising from 1,800 houses at Blackwell Farm. We recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination without deletion of the Blackwell Farm proposal in Policy A26.

Funding the transport infrastructure necessary for Blackwell Farm

61. We pointed out in our submission a year ago that the scale of financial support expected from the developers of the Blackwell Farm site for the delivery of road infrastructure alone was far above the amounts normally expected. In the last year the obligations upon them have increased. The Proposed Submission Local Plan has now been amended in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C. Proposals affecting the A3 were noted in paragraph 20 above, to which Blackwell Farm developers will be a party. Other new financial commitments specific to Blackwell Farm are:
– Project BT6 ‘Significant bus network serving the Blackwell Farm site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre to be provided’ is a new requirement in 2017, which must be entirely funded and delivered by the developer, at a price which is still to be confirmed, and therefore an open-ended commitment at present;
– Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which must be entirely funded by the developer, has seen its cost increase from £5m to £10m;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN3 ‘New signalised junction from Blackwell Farm site to A31 Farnham Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN4 ‘Access road at Blackwell Farm site with through link to Egerton Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– A “Necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station” towards the estimated £10m cost of Project NR2 will still be required from the Blackwell Farm developer (the only named developer required to contribute) in accordance with Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirement (7): this assumes greater importance now that the station merits its own Policy A59 (see paragraphs 63-64 below);
– The funding arrangements for SMC1 Sustainable Movement Corridor: West have been amended slightly. The change states the funding source will be ‘Developer funded and Local Growth Fund’ instead of ‘Developer contributions and Local Growth Fund’, suggesting that the developers will have to fund somewhat more than previously expected. The Blackwell Farm development will be the principal contributor to this section of the SMC.

62. Transport consultants advising Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils calculate that the transport infrastructure alone for the Blackwell Farm development will cost about £60million, most of it up-front. This is around £35,000 per dwelling. There will be other major costs which the developer will be required to fund, including new primary and secondary schools and affordable housing (none of which were included in our previous costings), all of which can be very expensive, and numerous other mitigation costs from such a major development. There is, therefore, a real risk that the proposed development will not be viable and deliverable. If still included, the Local Plan would need to ensure that the Blackwell Farm development complies with paragraph 173 of the NPPF on this point. In reality, in the absence of other funding sources to provide money which the developers may be unable or unwilling to provide, the Blackwell Farm scheme would have to fail and be deleted from the Plan.

The access on to the A31 and the A3 with signals will jam two roads that are currently only rarely running freely during rush hour. It will make a questionable route almost impossible during those times. Astonished to read that this is deemed a viable way to 'drain' traffic generated from this site, a site which is truly not viable regarding the current proposed access to it, and is most unwelcome locally anyway. Air quality concerns aren't trivial either - they are of huge significance and alone reason to halt this plan.

The northern part of this site allocation is considered to be an area of medium sensitivity in Green Belt terms with the southern part of the site (adjacent to the A3) considered to be of High Sensitivity. Whilst the main part of the site might only satisfy two of the ‘four purposes’ that support the inclusion of land within the Green Belt such an assessment ignores the very significant contribution the site makes to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt and the fact that this area defines the rural boundary to the west of Guildford. In addition, the site is clearly visible from the higher ground to the south and west which forms part of the Surrey Hills AONB and acts as a buffer between the built up area and this nationally designated landscape. Miller would argue therefore, that the site’s Green Belt sensitivity is in fact far greater that the restricted assessment undertaken in the GBCS suggests.

Indeed, it is noted that a recent independent landscape assessment of the site, undertaken on behalf of the local Parish Councils, suggests that the landscape satisfies the criteria that would justify it inclusion within the AONB. Miller would suggest that the importance of the landscape needs to be determined prior to the confirmation of this allocation; in circumstances where the AONB is national designation where development should only be allowed in ‘exceptional circumstances’.
In addition to the above, Miller is concerned that the site lacks any significant infrastructure and suffers from extremely poor highway access. In particular, Miller would question the suitability of the proposed Down Place access off the A31, which would need to be signalised on an important section of the A31 that already suffers congestion at peak times. However, Miller is of the view that there does not seem to be any other access point from the A31 or A3 due to environmental and physical constraints.

Miller is concerned also about the potential for a ‘secondary’ through route from the A31 via Gill Avenue, to Egerton Road, to be created to avoid the existing A3/A31 southbound junction. It is considered that this proposed route, which already serves the Science Park, the University Campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital is already at capacity and would not be able to accommodate any further traffic associated with the additional housing/employment allocation and the new two-form entry primary school.; all of which would generate a significant number of peak hour trips.

Miller would question whether the necessary mitigation needed to reduce the impact of the increase in traffic on the local network could be provided in circumstances where over recent years significant improvements have been implemented to the junction of Gill Avenue/Egerton Road yet the network still lack adequate capacity. Furthermore, the constraints in the physical capacity of the local highway network do not seem compatible with the proposed SMC which seeks, in particular to prioritise bus movements.

As with the other major housing allocations Miller considers that the highway infrastructure improvements are a prerequisite of development and that in circumstances where the RIS improvements to the Guildford section of the A3 are not scheduled until late in the plan period very serious doubt remains about not only the suitability of this allocation but about its viability and deliverability.

While visiting Compton yesterday I found a rather emotive flyer tucked under my car windscreen and wish to respond.

The development appears well planned and aimed at providing affordable housing and facilities for real working people who are the backbone of our society. They deserve somewhere to live, too.

I have recently spent quite a bit of time in the Royal Surrey Hospital and people such as nurses deserve to have affordable, attractive and convenient housing. They may be having long commutes from out of the area to work at the hospital now and so their cars are already causing pollution which would be lessened if they were able to live and work locally.

The university is a vast contributor to the economy of Guildford as well as having a growing international importance and there should be suitable housing for its employees too.

I object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposal to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:-

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in ra-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution

In summary and to reiterate, I object to the above plans.

POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARMI object to policy A26 Blackwell FarmThere is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly, Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.
Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development.
All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

As a detailed point connected to 3) above, we strongly object to the proposed development of Blackwell Farm would exacerbate the pre-existing congestion at peak times of the A31 and the A3, and would place unbearable pressure upon the B3000, which is already over-used for a B road.

1. Blackwell distinguishes itself through powerful exceptional circumstances, much more so than the other strategic sites
2. Blackwell provides the opportunity to address a critical existing infrastructure deficit: access to the West
3. The University notes the recent Strategic Highways Assessment and points out that Blackwell offers an exceptional opportunity for sustainable transport based on a design focusing on “live here, work here” (with in excess of 10,000 people working between Blackwell and Guildford Town centre)
4. The University regards Policy E2 relating to the location of new employment space and the sequential test to be flawed and recommends that the Research Park be treated in the same way as the Town Centre
5. The University believes that Blackwell provides unique long term potential and recommends that those parcels not released under this local plan be safeguarded. This would allow the Borough to better satisfy NPPF guidelines.

I am objecting to the proposed Blackwell Farm Estate Planning on several grounds. Besides the obvious ones of blighting the exceptionally beautiful countryside where Blackwell Farm is situated, it is also on a flood plane that becomes obvious after periods of heavy rain. The rain goes down the slopes of the Hogs Back and ends up on the fields in front of Blackwell House. Completely unsuitable for construction.

Guildford has very high employment so the Government and Council would be better of investing money in the areas where emplyment was low and growth needed. Guildford has become very much a town where the University is taking over from the residence and the town itself in its attempts for ever further expansion and the vast profit this will give them. The wishes of its residence are of no importance to them. It is only about their profits.

The Council recived over 20,000 objections from the residence of Guildford, nearly one-third of the residence of Guildford. Just how many objections does it take for the Council to bother to listen to its residence? It is clear that the influence of the University over-rides the wishes and common sence of its residence.

However, the most serious problem is the roadways. Farnham Road and the Hogs back is at a standstill every morning and most evenings. The traffic down to the A31 is always extremely heavy. The thought of many hundreds, or thousands more vehicles on the Farnham Road is obsured. The road into Guildford is just one lane in each direction and more vehicles would not be pratical. With Guildford town centre reducing its access at Bridge Street, Walnut Tree Close possibly restricting access, everything would result in gridlock. Any access into the Blackwell Farm Estate should be taken from the A31 near the hospital roundabout and at Wood Street. The Hogs Back and Farnham Road cannot take even more vehicles.

This is to let you know that I am seriously worried and concerned as regards GBC’s draft Local Plan proposals to build new houses on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm. This is to express my objection to the proposal which would remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and woodland and which would increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford’s pollution.

I have been a Guildford resident for almost thirty years, some of those in Ripley which I loved, and the remainder in Merrow and I am horrified at the revised plans to merge the villages along the A3 and the Hogs Back into one large housing estate. Apart from anything else, the A3 is already often gridlocked and any loss of the greenbelt would completely destroy the land surrounding Guildford forever.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

As a resident in this area I am greatly concerned over the impact not only here on our green belt, but on the constant traffic congestion that we experience on the A31 one which is a through road leading to the A281.

The A3 also experiences not only congestion but seems to have a frequency of RTAs.

We do not have the infrastructure to support this proposal which certainly not solve our need to provide “affordable” housing.

- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy view from the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat running through local roads
- Add to Guildford’s pollution

I object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, on the following grounds:

• It will destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
• It will remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the Green Belt – a protected area
• It will undoubtedly increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
• It will result in rat-running through local roads and increase traffic flows through local villages
Please accept this email as my signed objection to the proposals.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

• Destroy views form the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
• Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
• Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
• Result in rat-running through local roads
• Add to Guildford’s pollution

I object to Blackwell Farm being included in the Plan (Policy A26) because:

- it is situated entirely within the Green Belt
- more people objected at the previous consultation to the inclusion of this site than any other and the Council has clearly failed to listen
- an independent consultant has very recently declared the site as being “of AONB quality”. On this basis, it should be excluded.
- traffic problems resulting from this development would be detrimental to the whole area.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

• Destroy views form the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
• Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
• Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
• Result in rat-running through local roads
• Add to Guildford’s pollution

I am writing to you to OBJECT to policy A26 (Blackwell Farm) for the following reasons -

Inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9]:

1) disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]

2) directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas

3) ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]

4) adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide [Policy A26].

Please understand and the strong feeling in the surrounding communities that this development is not wanted nor needed.

Policy A26 (Blackwell Farm)
I am writing to object strongly to the above policy in the Guildford Local Plan. There are many reasons why this Policy is unsuitable (pollution, loss of countryside and many more) and these have been discussed over many years but my main objections are as follows.

Land was removed from the Green Belt 15 years ago at Manor Park to allow expansion of the University but the University has failed to build on this land with only one third of the planned university residences being built since then. The University states that it is playing its part in addressing the housing need in Guildford but the 1,800 houses being planned for the site at Blackwell Farm will not provide the affordable housing Guildford needs.

There are no grounds for yet more Green Belt land being taken under "exceptional circumstances" with this obligation of the University still outstanding. I agree with the CPRE who have stated that by delivering more student housing on its existing campuses, the University would free up more than 1,000 affordable homes in the town centre for key workers and their families. The University should also increase the density of buildings and offices on its neighbouring Surrey Research Park, rather than seek to harm some of the best countryside in the area.
Equally important is the proposed access road from the A31 Hogs Back to the hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a large junction with roundabout and signal lights at the entrance to Down Place, at the top of Down Lane. It is a fact that the traffic along this stretch of the A31 westbound before it joins the A3 is already at breaking point. Queues build up throughout the day and the slightest incident on the A3 or in Guildford itself causes total chaos. The thought of another 1,800 home owners, with probably twice that number of cars, accessing this major artery at all times of the day and night does not bear thinking about. The development at Blackwell Farm is entirely inappropriate, unnecessary, harmful and will cause untold damage and disruption not just while it is being built but will only get worse in the future.

I urge you to listen to the valid points being made by everyone who has an interest in preserving our countryside and who has access to the road network which will be affected, becoming increasingly worse in the years to come.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas

adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

<td>I object on so many levels, all have been well documented by others, but most particularly on the scant regard given by both Unis and SCC Highways in mitigating the impact of traffic increase on both A31 Hogs Back and the A3 by-pass. The University have consistently falsified their own projections on traffic increase and will continue to do so if this development goes ahead. Since the initial development of Manor Farm they have denied any increase in traffic above some minimal and notional percentage to Egerton Road, despite the recent vast redesign of the junction with Manor Farm and continuing increase in traffic volume since. With the addition of the Sports Centre, The Park and Ride and now the Veterinary Centre, Unis claim there has been no increase in traffic volume, how can they be believed on any future</td> projections supporting their own development. Any future increases to this road system will have profound implications on the RSCH access and represents a significant danger in emergencies, all of which appear to be given scant regard in the pursuit of their own and GBC's financial gain. Why cannot they fulfil their own quota of accommodation build for which they already have planning consent? Or are they a special case to be treated differently from individuals or less influential bodies? I thought we lived in a democratic society.

A26 BLACKWELL FARM

Transport and environmental issues:

- Traffic: Significant traffic issues which bring into question the timing of commencement of development
- Rail: Requirement to contribute to network rail. I sense this can take many years to agree and implement
- *location: The location is not bordering to the town
- There are flooding issues
- Boundaries require sensitive design and are not consistent with government policy of ensuring that any boundary changes to the green belt will have a degree of permanency.

We object to Guildford Borough Councils draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hogs Back at Blackwell Farm which will:

- destroy views from the Hogs Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

I wish to object about the draft plans to develop a huge number of houses plus an industrial park on the site of Blackwell Farm on the Hogs Back. Views from the Hogs Back, an AONB, will be destroyed and a large area of farmland will be lost. In addition, extra traffic that such a development would be bound to create, would cause increased traffic queues on the A31, a road already blighted with very lengthy tailbacks especially at peak times.

Sirs, I beg you to reconsider, and reject, this truly unacceptable development.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

I object in the strongest possible terms to the expansion of Guildford as represented by this local plan.

I object to development within the green belt and in sight of the AONB.

I object to the proposed development at site A26 Blackwell farm where an independent landscape evaluation study (funded by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough Parish Councils) has identified most of the development site as meeting the criteria for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). The study will now be forwarded to Surrey CC/ Natural England with a request that Blackwell Farm is included as a candidate area in the forthcoming AONB boundary review. The PCs were prompted to do this when it was brought to their attention that Blackwell Farm had been omitted from Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation on behalf of Surrey Hills AONB Board (despite a previous study suggesting that it was likely to meet AONB criteria and merited assessment)

Transport survey for A26 Blackwell Farm.

Compton PC and Compton Village Association have jointly commissioned a Technical Note by traffic consultant RGP to look at the implications of the Blackwell Farm development, and the proposed new link road from the A31. The results show:

- The road infrastructure costs associated with providing a new route into Guildford from the west (linking the A31 to the Tesco roundabout) are far in excess of what has been estimated in the Local Plan and would not justify a development of this size. The scheme is therefore economically unviable.
- The new 4-way junction proposed at Down Place on the A31 would require more land-take than the Local Plan has suggested - it would involve widening the A31 bridge over the A3. No money has been allocated for this bridge-widening scheme and there is no indication that Highways England has approved it. Given the traffic flows, it is more likely that a large roundabout would be needed at this junction and this would severely impact the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.
- The new highway scheme, which provides access to Blackwell Farm, will increase congestion on the A31, B3000, and at the Gill Avenue/Egerton Road junction, which serves the A&E unit at the Royal Surrey County Hospital.
- All the options for vehicles coming from the A3 north into the site would result in an increase of traffic manoeuvring through junctions that have poor accident records (e.g. Puttenham Interchange). No transport infrastructure requirements for the site have been identified to address the u-turning problem on the A31 (although we know SCC is trying to close the East Flexford gap).

I object to the proposed development at Slyfield which omits to show improved road systems and would lead to traffic gridlock.

The full consequences of the proposed local plan are enormous and are only now emerging. For example, even if all the proposed highway improvements in the Plan were built, congestion would not improve. We would just have a lot more... people stuck in traffic and traffic would get a very great deal worse to start with. In our area, Stoke next Guildford changes we would be likely to experience include:

° the expansion of Guildford along the A3. Development of 2000 homes on Gosden Hill, by Burpham, is a particular local concern
° more traffic from the major development sites coming in on the Stoke Intersection and London Roads
° roads near us, such as Stoke Rd, and York Road, being even busier due to other more central routes being closed to through traffic, pedestrianised or used for development
° pressure for high density development eroding character in our area

It is a matter of choice by our Council that Guildford would expand on this scale. Many residents were prepared to support our Council in the need for some sensitive, measured expansion. However the scale of what is proposed is far from this.

Other Councils are applying “constraints” to their overall housing number. This is allowed. By contrast, Guildford is proposing to release so much land for development that we could end up being asked to meet housing need for neighbouring towns. We find ourselves in the bizarre situation where it is suggested we sacrifice our countryside in order to protect countryside around Woking.

28. Policy A26 Blackwell Farm

The addition of a six form entry secondary school will add to morning peak hour traffic demand on a road system that will be under pressure.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

I object in the strongest possible terms to the expansion of Guildford as represented by this local plan.

I object to development within the green belt and in sight of the area of outstanding beauty.

I object to the proposed development at site A26 Blackwell farm where an independent landscape evaluation study (funded by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough Parish Councils) has identified most of the development site as meeting the criteria for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). The study will now be forwarded to Surrey CC/Natural England with a request that Blackwell Farm is included as a candidate area in the forthcoming AONB boundary review. The PCs were prompted to do this when it was brought to their attention that Blackwell Farm had been omitted from Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation on behalf of Surrey Hills AONB Board (despite a previous study suggesting that it was likely to meet AONB criteria and merited assessment)

Transport survey for A26 Blackwell Farm.

Compton PC and Compton Village Association have jointly commissioned a Technical Note by traffic consultant RGP to look at the implications of the Blackwell Farm development, and the proposed new link road from the A31. The results show:

- The road infrastructure costs associated with providing a new route into Guildford from the west (linking the A31 to the Tesco roundabout) are far in excess of what has been estimated in the Local Plan and would not justify a development of this size. The scheme is therefore economically unviable.
- The new 4-way junction proposed at Down Place on the A31 would require more land-take than the Local Plan has suggested - it would involve widening the A31 bridge over the A3. No money has been allocated for this bridge-widening scheme and there is no indication that Highways England has approved it. Given the traffic flows, it is more likely that a large roundabout would be needed at this junction and this would severely impact the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.
- The new highway scheme, which provides access to Blackwell Farm, will increase congestion on the A31, B3000, and at the Gill Avenue/Egerton Road junction, which serves the A&E unit at the Royal Surrey County Hospital
- All the options for vehicles coming from the A3 north into the site would result in an increase of traffic manoeuvring through junctions that have poor accident records (eg Puttenham Interchange). No transport infrastructure requirements for the site have been identified to address the u-turning problem on the A31 (although we know SCC is trying to close the East Flexford gap).
I object to the proposed development at Slyfield which omits to show improved road systems and would lead to traffic gridlock.

The full consequences of the proposed local plan are enormous and are only now emerging. For example, even if all the proposed highway improvements in the Plan were built, congestion would not improve. We would just have a lot more people stuck in traffic and traffic would get a very great deal worse to start with. In our area, Stoke next Guildford changes we would be likely to experience include:

- the expansion of Guildford along the A3. Development of 2000 homes on Gosden Hill, by Burpham, is a particular local concern
- more traffic from the major development sites coming in on the Stoke Intersection and London Roads
- roads near us, such as Stoke Rd, and York Road, being even busier due to other more central routes being closed to through traffic, pedestrianised or used for development
- pressure for high density development eroding character in our area

It is a matter of choice by our Council that Guildford would expand on this scale. Many residents were prepared to support our Council in the need for some sensitive, measured expansion. However the scale of what is proposed is far from this.

Other Councils are applying “constraints” to their overall housing number. This is allowed. By contrast, Guildford is proposing to release so much land for development that we could end up being asked to meet housing need for neighbouring towns. We find ourselves in the bizarre situation where it is suggested we sacrifice our countryside in order to protect countryside around Woking.

I strongly object to the proposals for site A26 (Blackwell Farm).

For the following reasons:

1. an independent landscape evaluation study for Blackwell Farm has identified most of the development site as meeting the criteria for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). This is being ignored in the local plan
2. The effect of the proposed development on the surrounding areas.
• The road infrastructure has not been considered properly. The costs associated with providing a new route into Guildford from the west (linking the A31 to the Tesco roundabout) can not justify a development of this size. The scheme would therefore be economically unviable.

• The new 4-way junction proposed at Down Place on the A31 would severely impact the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

• The new highway scheme, which provides access to Blackwell Farm, will increase congestion on the A31, B3000, and at the Gill Avenue/Egerton Road junction, which serves the A&E unit at the Royal Surrey County Hospital. No consideration has been given for the effects of this on the surrounding area and the villages to the west of the site.

• All the options for vehicles coming from the A3 north into the site would result in an increase of traffic manoeuvring through junctions that have poor accident records (for example Puttenham Interchange).

• No consideration has been given for the effect of this development along with others at flexford/Normandy, Ash/Tongham and the aldershot area on the existing congestion along the A31/A3 with traffic approaching from the west.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the proposals for Blackwell farm development (policy no A26) and the proposal to build a road from the A31 to the Tesco roundabout.

The A31 is already a disaster due to its inability to cope with the traffic generated by local use, long distance use and the inability of the planners and authorities to build an adequate by-pass of Guildford. It has become a totally unsafe Road especially at the Eastern end of the Hogs Back due (not to its crossing points) but due to the static traffic at many times of the day backing up, due to inadequate signage, due to poor surfaces and due to the high speed drivers when it should have a 50mph limit or even less. The plans are also ignoring the likely increase of traffic from the proposed additional housing in Normandy, Ash and Aldershot. The planners are creating a situation that is turning a disaster into a nightmare by failing to consider the bigger picture. Many more lives will be lost and people injured unless plans are amended and designed to incorporate all the needs of both the local communities and the long distance travellers.

As a local resident and member of the Hogs Back residents association I write to register my strong objection to Guildford's local plan site allocation A26 (Blackwell Farm). Whilst I accept the need for additional housing around Guildford I object on 3 counts:

First the new junction that will connect the site to the A31 will increase the congestion on an already very busy road. East bound traffic along the eastern end of the Hogs Back is frequently stationary for miles in the peak morning periods and any junction will only exacerbate the situation.

Secondly, having worked on the Research Park for 15 years, despite the recent work on the Egerton Road junction, the site cannot handle the volume of traffic at peak times and frequently becomes gridlocked. Further expansion will only make this worse and more frequent.

Thirdly, the site is adjacent to an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, and I understand it may be re-designated as part of it. As such any development will be very detrimental to the area.

1. The University of Surrey has already desecrated Manor Farm by building on land originally designated as Green Belt. The Green Belt status was removed due to the University advancing the argument their "Special Circumstances" as an educational organisation needing more accommodation for its students, etc. It has not built accommodation for 1,500 students for which it has planning permission but instead pursued its "for profit" ventures on the site.

After building an under-used Park & Ride, an International Sports Centre and Veterinary School the University has still not built 1,500 student houses on Manor Park for which it has planning permission. Instead students occupy over 1500 houses in the area and in Guildford town which could be available for local residents, students add to traffic and parking issues for local residents.
Instead of fulfilling the already approved planning for student houses on Manor Farm, more student houses were built on the former Unigate Dairiesite which is close to Guildford Station. This provision for students has denied local residents who work in Guildford town or further afield the opportunity of walking to work or to the train or bus station thus reducing pollution from vehicle emissions and reducing vehicle movements. This property alone could have provided housing for several local residents and their families.

The University's proposed development on Blackwell Farm will further erode Green Belt and affect the visual amenity of the Hog's Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. A ministerial statement is clear that constraints such as Green Belt, AONB, etc. must be considered. The following Government on Green Belt Guidance announcement stated:

“The framework is clear that local planning authorities should, through their Local Plans, meet objectively assessed needs unless any adverse Impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole, or specific policies in the Framework indicate development should be restricted. Such policies include those relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, and or designated as sites of special scientific interest; land designated as greenbelt, local green space, an area of outstanding natural beauty, heritage coast or with a national park or the Broads; designated heritage assets; and locations at risk of flooding or coastal erosion”.

The adverse impacts of the University building such a large development on Blackwell Farm in terms of harm to the Green Belt and AONB demonstrably outweighs the benefits of providing land for housing and employment. Much of the Blackwell Farm development is a profit making exercise, like Manor Farm where the Farm was purchased by the University with Green Belt restrictions; the University then used its might and influence to have that restriction removed.

In addition:

- Blackwell Farm is still an agricultural farm providing valuable crops without the need to incur costs of importing this food e.g. 1 acre of land can produce up to 2.5 tonnes of wheat, etc.;

- The University has already made plans to develop Blackwell Farm by restricting public access to recreation on their land of the public footpaths and bridleways. What action has been taken to reinstate access when the University is breaking the law?

- If the University is allowed to build on Blackwell Farm we will all lose the visual amenity of this Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Green Belt forever; the setting will be urbanised.

- The development will create intense areas of light pollution, not only from the numbers of houses but from the University's security for the additional Research Park units they Intend to build.

- The retail units they intend to build will further affect small local shops.

- The development will be in an area totally disassociated from Guildford Town, and any new residents on Blackwell Park will naturally travel into Guildford household needs, adding to any already congested traffic system.

- There will be extra demands on public services, including the Royal Surrey County Hospital; increased traffic congestion will impede safe passage and increase and affect response times for ambulances attending the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

- Pollution from vehicles and central heating systems will affect the environment around the proposed Blackwell Farm development.

1. Included in the major significant factors to OPPOSE the University's plan to develop on Blackwell Farm. Is the lack of immediate improvements to the Infrastructure. Before any large developments are considered, infrastructure must come first; it is already overstretched.

The traffic along the A31 Hog's Back is already at stand still at peak hours.
The University's plan for Blackwell Farm is to include new schools in the development. This will further increase the volume of traffic at peak times.

No provision has been made for cycle tracks along the A31 which could provide a safe Route for environmentally minded members of the public to cycle to the Surrey Research Park/Hospital, etc. from Farnham to Guildford and Guildford to Farnham.

There are plans to build more houses between Normandy and Flexford and in Frog Grove lane at the proposed SANG site. Additional traffic from these developments from the West is likely to add to the congestion on the A31 and the A3 and rat runs through local roads and lanes.

There is no mention of the provision of slip roads for safe access for house holders living on each side of the Hog's Back. How are we supposed to safely enter/exit this highway during the hours when traffic is moving at motorway speeds? With the additional traffic volumes that will be generated, it will be untenable.

There is no mention of provision of safe access for pedestrians who cross the A31 to the bus stop and walkers using the public footpaths which cross the A31 Hog's Back.

We note that an air pollution survey was carried out at the top of East Flexford lane/A31 earlier this year (presumably at the University's behest). If the statistics are used to countermand complaints about in increase of air pollution they should be taken in the context of the increase in traffic that a development at Blackwell Farm will generate; also in the winter we see and smell the emissions from vehicles in the "A31 Car Park" in the mornings rolling off the Hog's Back into the fields, into Blackwell Farm and surrounding properties along the Hog's Back. Building on this Green Belt area will remove Green lungs which counteract the effects of traffic pollution.

There is frequent badger roadkill on the Hog's Back.

The additional traffic will create even more noise disturbance from the Hog's Back for wildlife.

The proposed traffic light system at the top of the Farnham Road/Down Place will create more of a back-log along the A31; queues at peak times already extend westwards beyond the B3000. How is the traffic joining from new housing in Normandy/Flexford and the SANG at Frog Grove lane going to join the A31?

Drivers impatient to reach the A3 already drive along the fast lane and "cut in" just before the slip road onto the A3. This is the cause of accidents and "shunts" which have inappropriately been attributed to the gap in the central reservation in the A31 at the East Flexford lane and Monks Hatch junction. The sec Highways state, as a safety measure, "Queues Ahead" signs have been erected before the A3 sliproad on the A31. However, these are only just beyond the Junction at East Flexford lane, just before the A3 sliproad. By the time drivers reach these signs, they are already IN the queue at peak times.

Should the University's plans for Blackwell Farm be approved the benefits of income from Community infrastructure Levy contributions are likely to be absorbed by making provision of another SANG instead of improving the already overloaded and congested infrastructure around Guildford.

The appalling congestion around and into and out of Guildford must cost businesses dearly.

Approving planning for this huge development on Blackwell Farm is ill-conceived and only serves to put more money into the University's and others coffers and not benefit Guildford in the many respects I have referred to in this letter.

I am writing to voice my objection to the proposed building of homes on Blackwell Farm, Guildford on land that has always been an area of outstanding natural beauty. How come it has suddenly been reclassified just because you want homes built on it?

The resultant extra traffic and pollution in the area would be appalling. Medical evidence is clear on the effect of car pollution on the human body. Each home would have at least two cars - you do the maths. The area is a nightmare now, imagine what it would be like after the homes are built!

Leave the green fields as they are, we need green spaces. You cannot build over every bit of our countryside.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designate Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the Green Belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

I object strongly to the above proposed development. I do not believe that it is for the good of Guildford in any shape or form. We do not have the necessary infrastructure to support it nor is anything satisfactory proposed. With the current levels of traffic on the hogs back, the level of accidents along this section of the A3 with no safe place for emergency vehicles and close proximity to the hospital thus endangering the lives of many people with gridlocked traffic, the whole proposal is pure madness. I am shocked that it has got as far as it has. Not to mention this is an area of outstanding beauty and greenbelt!!

I object to the above proposed development for the following reasons:

Policy A26-para 4.1.9:

1) This has been classed as an Area of Outstanding Beauty in the past but this has been conveniently disregarded in order to allow developments to take place on this land. I'm not sure what's changed?

2) Office space proposed in the current development will further increase traffic on the A3 at peak times.
3) Ignores current infrastructure problems as highlighted by independent study on the traffic and seems to want to add further to them. This could prove very dangerous around the Royal Surrey Hospital. Also due to the fact there is no hard shoulder the police/ emergency service have no where to pull over resulting in the A3 having to come to a complete halt causing gridlock chaos.

4) Air pollution already exceeds EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

As a resident of Beechcroft Drive already struggling to enter and exit via the A3 due to increased traffic with a young baby and after also suffering a stroke 2 weeks after giving birth, I'm appalled that we are being left until there is a serious accident on this junction before anything is done. I can assure you that if anything happens to me and my child on this junction I will ensure that my family make sure it is on the front on every national newspaper. This proposed development is going to make a difficult junction even harder. Drivers do not keep to the 50mph limit and it's just a matter of time before there is a fatality. Please don't add to an already dangerous situation.

With the widening of the A3 a real possibility from 2020, we need to address the infrastructure before we gridlock Guildford with new developments in this section of Guildford.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I am writing to express my extreme concern over the plans for development on site A26 (Blackwell Farm).

Having lived in the area my whole life, I cannot stress enough the strength of my objection to these plans.

This area of outstanding natural beauty deserves to be protected.

The increase in traffic this would cause, resulting in a huge increase in both noise and air pollution, along with the excess land required to sustain the new road infrastructure are just some of the immensely damaging and irreversible consequences of this poorly thought out plan.

I hope you understand the importance of what is at stake here, and I stress again my sincere objection to these plans.

As a local resident and member of the Hogs Back residents association I write to register my strong objection to Guildford’s local plan site allocation A26 (Blackwell Farm). Whilst I accept the need for additional housing around Guildford I object on 2 counts:

First the new junction that will connect the site to the A31 will increase the congestion on an already very busy road. East bound traffic along the eastern end of the Hogs Back is frequently stationary for miles in the peak morning periods and any junction will only exacerbate the situation.

Second, the site is adjacent to an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, and I understand it may be re-designated as part of it. As such any development will be very detrimental to the area.

I object to the building of thousands of homes and the business park on Blackwell Farm in particular.

Reasons stated below:

Guildford can't cope with the current traffic. To add more vehicles to the congested and often gridlocked roads is ridiculous. It's not just at rush hour - it's bad at the weekends too.

The South East does not have enough water. How are we going to supply an extra 2000 homes?

I don't believe the sewerage infrastructure will cope well either. The climate is changing. There will be more flooding. Fields soak rainwater up. Housing estates don't.

I live in Guildford and I've just had to wait 21 days to see a GP. Who's going to look after the thousands of new residents?

No one wants more pollution - air quality will get worse leading to more health problems. More noise from all the additional traffic and more light pollution.

I walk past Blackwell Farm everyday. I see deer, skylarks, buzzards, kites, shrews and butterflies everyday. Where will they go if we destroy their habitat? There are orchids too, and a myriad of plants and insects.

I also walk the ancient woodland? It's beautiful and peaceful. The new proposed road from the Surrey Research Park, Gill Avenue to the new estate will cut through the important Woodland which was the original, defensible Green Belt boundary.

I object to the Surrey Research Park expansion. There are empty office blocks all over Guildford. More traffic. More lorries. No thanks.

All of the land earmarked is either an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Area of Great Landscape Value or Greenbelt and should be protected by law. Lose it and it's gone forever. Unimportant to the greedy developers. Devastating to Guildford residents.

Guildford was lovely when I moved here 10 years ago. It's not so nice now. I won't stay if this plan goes ahead.

landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF?

Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

We object to the new local plan which will destroy extensive AONB by invading greenfield sites.

In particular we have doubts about the sustainability of of the proposed development off the Hogs Back at Blackwell Farm.

This would destroy views from the Hogs Back ridge, Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and ancient woodland, Add 1800 houses, an Industrial Park, traveller's pitches, and a new highway, Increase traffic congestion along the A31, A3, and the B3000 through Compton village, And add to Guildford's pollution.

Don't let this happen.

5) The proposed link road from the A31 to the new site passes through historic & AONB land, this traffic route seems unviable.

6) The housing need seems unsubstantiated, A review of the Strategic Housing Market Assessment commissioned by Guildford Residents Association has identified a flaw in the way that the housing need figure has been calculated, this needs to be reviewed prior to any sites being allocated.

Furthermore I wish to object to the removal of SRN6 offering a safe access to Beechcroft Drive, currently studies show this as a dangerous junction and offering no resolution to the residents in the local plan is unacceptable.

SETsquared's Surrey Centre in is based on the Surrey Research Park as a branch of an organisation owned by a consortium of universities. It is supported by the Department of Business Innovation Science and the Higher Education Innovation Fund.

Its role is to contribute towards the formation and development of technology based start-up companies. It has been benchmarked globally and recognised as one of the world's leading university based business incubator by the UBI Global Index which reviewed 1200 such incubators.

I am writing to you as the CEO of SETsquared in the context of the Guildford Local Plan which is out for consultation.

We have around 70 members under incubation. They benefit from being on the Surrey Research Park because of the opportunity for physical growth, on-site proximity to the university and the opportunity for recruitment and retention of talented staff to build their companies with.

I understand that the consultation draft of the local plan includes policies to support the development of housing, it includes provision for investment in infrastructure and it has an allocation for extending the Surrey Research Park.

Given the role of SETsquared in supporting economic growth I am writing to support the policies in the Draft Local Plan that include alteration to the green belt boundary that will provide for the policies that meet these ambitions.

I wish to state that I strongly object to the site allocation A26, Blackwell Farm being put forward for housing development.

As of an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and a green belt it is madness that such a plot should be put forward for development when there are numerous brown field sites, derelict buildings and wastelands to build upon in the area. Until these options are exhausted, building on green field sites should not even be an option.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in the plan and would like to attend the examination.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.
- Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in ‘Guildford urban area’ and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

Purpose 1 - ‘checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas’. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

Purpose 3 ‘assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment’ - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - ‘assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’.

Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, ‘The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB’. I question how the
The proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF?

Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a 'candidate area' for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worpleston and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion ‘hot spots’: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.

The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should ‘identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15’. In a footnote to this, it further adds, ‘To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.’ I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be ‘viably developed’.

4. I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)
This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:
i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and
ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

I am writing to object, in the strongest terms possible, to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm. I live on High View Road, and chose to live in this location in Guildford in order to be close to natural beauty, which will be destroyed if these plans are agreed.

I believe that if this Plan is agreed, the cost to the environment and ancient woodland will be extremely high, destroying natural habitats. The beautiful scenery and the area’s history will be destroyed. Another major concern is the increase in traffic problems that this will cause. The A3 and A31 are regularly overloaded as it is, with long traffic jams occurring every day. To add the traffic associated with 1,800 houses and an industrial park to this area will be catastrophic, and the increase in pollution will be very damaging to the whole town.

My husband and I chose to move to Guildford because we love it. We love the town centre, and the beautiful green areas surrounding it; for us, Guildford has the perfect balance – particularly the Hogs Back area where we live, which has been designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. If this plan is agreed, sadly, we will definitely look to move out of Guildford. We sincerely hope it will not come to this. Please listen to the views of the people who live in Guildford and love the town, and please put the beauty of the town, and the importance of the environment, before profit. I believe that the University has other options they could pursue, instead of encroaching on green belt land.

I object to the proposal to develop site A26. This seems to be an extensive development planned for an entirely inappropriate place (next to AONB). Such a location should only be considered as a last resort, not as a large, new centre.

It seems unbelievable that the site could be managed without causing significant additional congestion to current roads, as a site “on the edge” of Guildford would obviously create more traffic to the centre. Extra infrastructure through this area would damage the environment further.

Encroaching on the AONB and AGLV is not a good plan for the future.

Objection to Blackwell Farm Development/Normandy

The impact on Wanborough from such a large numbers of houses, commercial, retail and community uses such as schools etc. is cause for concern as to how the surrounding area will cope. The current infrastructure around Wanborough is creaking and this would introduce a high level of new traffic into probably the most congested part of the county. The current drawings do not give details of any major transport improvements but it is identified within the local plan that this will be an issue. It would be reassuring to have some clear plan as to what this might look like but at this stage it is no more than speculation.

The requirement for this amount of homes is based on the SHMA which assess the housing need going forwards and these figures are disputed, however if we assume that the numbers are correct the plan to provide such large numbers of homes in one place will put a heavy burden on a small area, though the two sites are not directly connected the large housing increase suggested for Normandy village would presumably see a very marked increase in traffic traveling through Wanborough to get to the main trunk routes of the A31 and A3.. Development within villages in the Green Belt is supposed to be limited to small scale infilling, which Normandy is definitely not.

In the local plan there are some clear statements as to the type and mix of houses to be provided, on any development of 5 or more homes, or sites of 0.17 ha regardless of number of homes, 40% of all homes on the sites must be affordable homes and developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value.

It is stated that permission will not be granted for developments that would result in net loss of any affordable homes that were secured by planning obligation or condition. This provision is based on the fact that it has been assessed that 50% of all households over the plan period will not be able to buy or rent homes without assistance.
Developers will be required to meet the costs of affordable housing and are expected to take this into account when agreeing the price paid for the site. This will mean that the 60% of houses built for Market Homes will need to cover this cost making them ever more expensive and out of reach of many local people.

Blackwell Farm Type and Mix

No indication is given for the what will actually be built, however the council has given an assessment of the demographic between affordable and market homes which fall into two categories:-

Affordable homes - there is a need for 40% one bed, 30% two bed, 25% three bed and 5% 4 bed. This would lead you to believe that the affordable need is not in family homes with 70% of the housing being one and two bed.

Market Homes - there is a need for 10% one bed, 30% two bed, 40% three bed and 20% four bed. This would lead you to believe that there is greater need for family homes with 60% of the housing being three and four bed

Blackwell Farm - mixed used development 1800 homes (Based on the split above)

Affordable 720 – 288 one bed, 216 two bed, 180 three bed, 36 four bed.

Market Homes 1080 – 108 one bed, 324 two bed, 432 three bed, 216 four bed

Total 1800 – 396 one bed, 540 two bed, 612 three bed, 252 four bed

The very high levels of one and two bed within the affordable sector could be due to the projected high levels of student accommodation that will be needed if the university continues to grow, Surrey University should be responsible for housing any increase in student numbers on its own campus. It should not be taking away lower cost accommodation stock from local people.

The increase in housing at both the ends of the parish boundary will have an effect on the people living within Wanborough. How detrimental this will actually be depends on how well thought out the infrastructure plan is, GBC/SCC/Highways record in this area over the last few years has been poor.

I am at a loss to understand why this Planning Application has not been dismissed out of hand for several reasons.

As a local resident trying to get into Guildford on a daily basis along the A31 and A3, the traffic we experience already makes what should be a 10 minute journey into one that can take as long as 45 minutes, the road infrastructure will not cope with the additional 3k-4k cars that this development will engender.

The new proposed road from the Research Park to the new estate will cut through important Ancient Woodland which has, to date, acted as the original boundary to defensible Green Belt and this together with the wider area is an important wildlife habitat for numerous animals, plants and insects.

This area that is under threat comprises an AONB, Area of Great Landscape and Greenbelt which should be protected by law, so again, a development of this size (or any size to be honest) should not be contemplated on this site particularly given the fact that there are already empty premises that could be utilised and there is room on the Research Park to build more large commercial buildings if required.

Also the infrastructure we have currently will not cope with the additional requirements of the development which will mean that more will need to be done possibly affecting a larger area than currently proposed and given the additional pollution this will cause means the the health of current residents is likely to suffer in the short, medium and longer term.

This is not something that should be considered just because the University needs to add to its coffers. It already has outstanding Planning Consent to build student accommodation on Moor Park and this should be enforced before any further Planning is even considered.

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

The reference to the A31/Down Place access as being the Primary Access should be changed in the column headed “Allocation”, final bullet point, and in the column headed “Requirements,” first and third bullet points. Further assessment work needs to be undertaken to determine the appropriate access strategy. Within a sustainable urban extension, we would want to encourage Guildford town bound movements to be by non-car modes. Whilst the Down Place access provides for vehicular access to the West, towards Winchester, southbound on the A3, to Portsmouth via Down Lane, and eastwards into Guildford town, we would expect A3 London/M25/ east Guildford/Woking traffic, to use the A3 Egerton Road access.

We would further suggest that the Site Allocation plan on page 185 should include the land necessary to provide the access link to the east (i.e. into Egerton Road). According to the current plan, the site is isolated from the east, especially given that the Ancient Woodland provides a barrier between the site and the urban fabric of West Guildford.

Under “Requirements,” fourth bullet point, reference to the need to manage this through-link should also be included in the text.
Under “Requirements,” a bullet point should be considered for inclusion under the heading, “Infrastructure,” requiring the provision for extended/new bus services to provide seamless connectivity between the site; the existing western suburbs of Guildford; the town centre and also any through journeys that can be provided in the future to the eastern fringes of the town. Whilst the provision of the Sustainable Movement Corridor might be considered sufficient, other bus services and routes into the development might also be needed.

Also under “Requirements,” it might be appropriate to refer to the need to provide permeability for pedestrians and cyclists into and from the development, especially from the urban area of Guildford.

We are writing to record our objection to your proposed development of this site.

Our objection is made for the following reasons:

- The removal of farmland,
- The consequent traffic increase and delays on the A31,
- The increased pollution this will cause to Guildford
- The removal of an area of natural beauty.
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Sites – in addition, we note that the A26 site (Blackwell Farm), to the west of Guildford, has been retained with a total yield of 1,800 homes, but that only 1,500 of these dwellings are expected to come forward in the plan period. Compton Parish Council has expressed concerns over the allocation in terms of potential highways impacts on local communities, including Binscombe and Farncombe within Waverley. Again, it would be important for any cross boundary impacts from the development on these communities to be identified and addressed.

Thames Water would welcome the opportunity to work closely with the Local Planning Authority and the developer to better understand and effectively plan for the water treatment infrastructure needs required to serve this development. It is important not to underestimate the time required to deliver necessary infrastructure. For example: Water Treatment Works upgrades can take 18 months to 3 years to design and build.

We have significant concerns regarding Wastewater Services in relation to this site. Specifically, the wastewater treatment capacity in this area is highly unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from this development. Significant infrastructure upgrades are likely to be required to ensure sufficient treatment capacity is available to serve this development. It is important not to underestimate the time required to deliver necessary infrastructure. For example: Sewage Treatment Works upgrades can take 18 months to 3 years to design and build. Implementing new technologies and the construction of a major treatment works extension or new treatment works could take up to ten years. At the time planning permission is sought for development at this site we are also highly likely to request an appropriately worded planning condition to ensure the infrastructure is in place ahead of occupation of the development. Significant drainage infrastructure is likely to be required to ensure sufficient capacity is brought forward ahead of the development. Where there is a capacity constraint the Local Planning Authority should require the developer to provide a detailed drainage strategy informing what infrastructure is required, where, when and how it will be delivered. At the time planning permission is sought for development at this site we are also highly likely to request an appropriately worded planning condition to ensure the recommendations of the strategy are implemented ahead of occupation of the development. It is important not to underestimate the time required to deliver necessary infrastructure. For example: local network upgrades can take around 18 months to 3 years to design and deliver.

The proposed 1800 dwellings and other development exceed the capacity trigger levels for available network. The site would drain to Hockford STW which has a current Population Equivalent of 15,400. The scale of development proposed is significant for a STW of this size so a developer funded impact study required to understand implications of development.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

• The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
• Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
• The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
• Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
• Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
• More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
• The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.
• Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in “Guildford urban area” and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object in the strongest possible terms to the expansion of Guildford as represented by this local plan.

I object to development within the green belt and in sight of the AONB.

I object to the proposed development at site A26 Blackwell farm where an independent landscape evaluation study (funded by Compton, Worpleston and Wanborough Parish Councils) has identified most of the development site as meeting the criteria for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). The study will now be forwarded to Surrey CC/Natural England with a request that Blackwell Farm is included as a candidate area in the forthcoming AONB boundary review. The PCs were prompted to do this when it was brought to their attention that Blackwell Farm had been omitted from Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation on behalf of Surrey Hills AONB Board (despite a previous study suggesting that it was likely to meet AONB criteria and merited assessment).

Transport survey for A26 Blackwell Farm.

Compton PC and Compton Village Association have jointly commissioned a Technical Note by traffic consultant RGP to look at the implications of the Blackwell Farm development, and the proposed new link road from the A31. The results show:

- The road infrastructure costs associated with providing a new route into Guildford from the west (linking the A31 to the Tesco roundabout) are far in excess of what has been estimated in the Local Plan and would not justify a development of this size. The scheme is therefore economically unviable.
- The new 4-way junction proposed at Down Place on the A31 would require more land-take than the Local Plan has suggested - it would involve widening the A31 bridge over the A3. No money has been allocated for this bridge-widening scheme and there is no indication that Highways England has approved it. Given the traffic flows, it is more likely that a large roundabout would be needed at this junction and this would severely impact the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.
- The new highway scheme, which provides access to Blackwell Farm, will increase congestion on the A31, B3000, and at the Gill Avenue/Egerton Road junction, which serves the A&E unit at the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

All the options for vehicles coming from the A3 north into the site would result in an increase of traffic manoeuvring through junctions that have poor accident records (eg Puttenham Interchange). No transport infrastructure requirements for the site have been identified to address the u-turning problem on the A31 (although we know SCC is trying to close the East Flexford gap).

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
• add to Guildford's pollution
• treasure with pride the natural beauty of the Hog's Back

POLICY A26: BLACKWELL FARM, HOGS BACK

Highways England notes the proposed reduction in the number of dwellings to be delivered during the plan period.

Highways England also notes that it is proposed that a through vehicular link between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road will now be controlled to provide a new route for employees, residents and emergency services. It is noted that this is now said to “reduce impact on the A31/A3 junction, in advance of the delivery of Highways England’s A3 Guildford scheme”. We are keen to work with GBC and/or the site promoter to understand the degree of impact reduction on the A31/A3 junction ahead of a potential A3 scheme. Further it is unclear at this stage what level of growth can be delivered in advance of a potential A3 improvement and the consequences for growth at the site if there is no A3 improvement.

We object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. As for Gosden Hill, the deferral is not a genuine reduction but merely a presentational exercise.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildfordbound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane.

Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.
The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

The new road proposed would be inadequate for the volume of traffic, and once the development has been built out it wouldn’t be long before new roads were required to serve the new population, which would inevitably pass through Wood Street Village (adding to the congestion in Worplesdon and potentially ruining Wood Street Village Green) and/or through Flexford/Wanborough, potentially ruining the conservation area of Wanborough, with its 13th century church and 14th century barns. The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat)

Policy A26: Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford
This site is within the setting of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. We advise the LPA to take into account the relevant Management Plan for the area and should seek the views of the AONB Partnership. Development proposals brought forward through the plan should avoid significant impacts on protected landscapes, including those outside the plan’s area and early consideration should be given to the major development tests set out in paragraph 116 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF).

This site is adjacent to ancient woodland. Any direct or indirect impacts on this site should be avoided or mitigated.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (policy A26 & para. 4.1.9) which:

Directs more office space to an extended Business Park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion—particularly around the Hospital and A&E—and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas.

Disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8].

Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a].

Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Policy A26 (Blackwell Farm)

As a resident of Compton I strongly object to the proposal to build 1,800 homes on the Blackwell Farm site as it will have a very negative on the environment in the surrounding area.

MORE TRAFFIC. The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 Hog's Back to the hospital roundabout at Egerton Road. with a new signalised junction on the A31 at the entrance to Down Place, at the top of Down Lane. An independent traffic study commissioned by Compton Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the I-log’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour. In fact, the queue builds up all through the day, not just during rush hour. As a result, Compton will see a surge in traffic as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and drive along the B3000 or Down Lane. The recent chaos caused by the closure of the A31 westbound because the surface melted in the heat demonstrated what could happen and the probability of vastly increased numbers of vehicles using the roads will multiply the problem a thousandfold.
MORE POLLUTION. Levels of Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of 'The Street in Compton over the last two years. The Parish Council is expecting that this section of the 133000 will he made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any increase in traffic levels through Compton, such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm, will make this situation worse.

LOSS OF NATIONALLY IMPORTANT COUNTRYSIDE. The new access road would cut through the Surrey hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the I-log's Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The development site includes high-grade farmland and lorms 20% of Compton's green belt.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A26

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I am writing to raise my serious concerns over the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm. As a long term tenant of the Surrey Research Park and local employer I have seen a steady and continuous increase in traffic onto and off the Research Park resulting in a serious bottleneck on and off the A3 and significant delays for my staff.

I recognise that the council will be under significant pressure to build more housing however and whilst I support such development I do have concerns if it is going to cause significant further congestion without the necessary access infrastructure spending. My understanding is that independent traffic studies echo these concerns and therefore urge an immediate re-think on providing sufficient access to not only address traffic requirements to this new development but the current requirements of both the hospital and research park.

Further congestion and delays with access is likely to result in Futura's relocation from the Research Park and subsequent loss of jobs in the vicinity of Guildford.

We would like to raise our concerns over the increased amount of traffic that would be added to the already horrendous traffic situation in the area…. we already have all the traffic for Tesco’s, The Royal Surrey, The University, The Surrey Sports Park, Park N Ride and the Surrey Research Park. It has taken me personally an hour to travel just 0.4 miles on several occasions in the past couple of years purely down to the volume of traffic that already exists on Gill Avenue and Egerton Road and the surrounding areas at peak hours and adding thousands more cars to everyone’s rush-hour journey will be detrimental to businesses in the area and the staff who work there. I can honestly say I would strongly advise anyone looking for Office space on the Surrey Research Park to think again, purely down to the already horrendous traffic situation.

We object to Guildford Borough Councils changes to to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (policy A26 and para 4.1.9.), which:

Dear Sir/Madam,

As an employee on the Surrey Research Park, I write to voice my objections regards Guildford Borough Councils changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (policy A26 and para 4.1.9.) which:

• Creates more office space on an extended Business Park (Policy E4), which will increase peak-time congestion, particularly around the Hospital and A&E (public safety must be of paramount concern), and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas. Traffic is already incredibly congested in this area and often causes knock on effects backing up onto the A3.

• Disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review. (Para 4.3.8.). I strongly believe as someone who works on the business park that a major attraction of being here is the stunning surroundings which would inevitably be eroded by this additional development.

• Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development. The road network is not setup to cope with this additional traffic and the plans in place seem wholly inadequate (2.14a).

• Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide (A26, Key considerations (7)).

- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.
