1. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
   1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
   2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
3. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

1. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
   1. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
   2. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
2. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 1

4. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foulsewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

5. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
   1. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and believe it overstates housing. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
      1. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including the Green Belt and road. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
      2. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a "nil" basis.
      3. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured
6. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy, a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

My comment relates to Policy A25: Gosden Hill Farm, Merrow Lane, Guildford and in particular to the second stated infrastructure requirement that:

"Any proposals for the development of the site should have regard to the potential opportunity to provide an all movements junction of the A3 trunk road with the A3100 London Road, the B2215 London Road and the A247 Clandon Road."

It is unsound that this hugely significant aspect is simply referred to and presented in aspirational terms as a "potential opportunity". The proposed development at Gosden Hill Farm should be contingent upon the timely provision of a new four-way road junction with the A3 during the very early stages of the site development. This would be a junction.
providing on and off vehicular access to both the south bound and the north bound carriageways of the A3. Though Policy A25 makes it an infrastructure requirement that a new A3 southbound on-slip is provided together with a relocated southbound off-slip there is no such infrastructure requirement for any new access to or from the A3 north bound carriageway. I find this omission to be extraordinary and fundamentally unsound, particularly as I raised this aspect in my previous comment on the Draft Local Plan (see my email dated 22 September 2014). It is unsound that there is no clarification, definition or explanation in Policy A25 of how access to and from the northbound A3 carriageway will be achieved for the eventual residents, visitors and workers of the hugely significant Gosden Hill Farm development.

I write to set our my objections to the local plan which seem to me to be based on unsound analysis and which is riddled with errors.

Of particular concern are the assessment of the increase in housing in the borough over the plan period which is too high and appears based on wrong figures. I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS. This is not helped by policy S2 where it states “the figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426” yet the figures in the table add up to 9,810 – what is the significance of the missing 2,616? This is one of a number of glaring examples of why the plan is not sound.

I believe that new housing should be built near existing infrastructure, in particular railway lines, and not be placed in rural areas where reliance on an already overcrowded road network is required.

It is therefore of concern that the quantity of space allocated for retail in the town centre is so high. This could be much better used for residential development. I particularly object to the reliance on the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes “demand” for retail space from companies already in administration.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness
Answer: ()

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:
1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer's business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: ()

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Generally, this plan is still fundamentally unsound, unsustainable, and contains either data that is erroneous and misleading or simply missing. It does not provide a considered proposal for sustainable development.

The Gosden Hill development specifically, is ill conceived and its location has been chosen for reasons of ownership rather than suitability. It is a ill informed ‘knee-jerk’ solution with no serious consideration of alternatives.

The basis on which this plan is conceived is far from robust. No genuine assessment can be achieved from these nonspecific proposals. There has been little accurate assessment any of the relevant criteria; traffic, utilities, pollution and the environment.

This revised Draft Local Plan should be totally rejected. Its unimaginative solutions are unworkable and not fit for the twenty first century. New holistic solutions need to be addressed, accurate assessments made new and innovative options explored.

I believe the proposed plan will be to the detriment of both an AONB and the green belt.

It will substantially impact upon Guildford as being a desirable area to live in, focussing primarily on economic concerns not qualitative considerations.

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.
Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant ‘yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.
The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included ‘significant changes’ according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Answer: (No)

I Object to the above new Local plan and its amendments because the evidence and assessments Guildford Borough Council(GBC) has used are unsound, policies and proposals for development in the borough conflict and do not make sense. Also it does not take account or heed the many(32,000) objections to the previous 2016 draft plan. Much of the proposed sites for development, which are the subject of the majority of objections by residents are within Greenbelt. This is because Guildford and its villages are situated within and constrained by the Surrey Hills and Greenbelt area. The proposals for these sites are ridiculous and unrealistic with regard to sustainability and infrastructure. The size and extent of them would cause harm and destruction and contrary to any benefit to local people.

GBC has not taken a balanced approach to housing need between the town and country areas, preferring to focus on and sacrifice Green Belt and countryside instead of proposing more houses in the urban area(towns outside the Green Belt/AONB), which is against government policy. Why is this? Guildford residents including myself have objected to this approach since 2014 and this has been ignored. We are still being ignored. GBC has ignored the National Policy guidelines. Government policy urges development on brownfield sites and the protection of Green Belt and special sites to be paramount. This is laid down in the NPPF(National Planning Policy Framework 2012). There has to be exceptional circumstances for any Green Belt land to be built on or boundaries changed. The fact they have included the ‘Proposed Sites for development ’ means that any wording about protecting Green Belt is a sham. They have included policies which have effectively weakened protections of the NPF, planning 70% new housing in the countryside, 58% in Green Belt and allowing more development in AONB without scrutiny. By definition this is not an exception and there is no attempt to show exceptional circumstances to justify any of either the housing or giving proper weight to protecting Surrey Hills from inappropriate development.

The extent of the housing in Green Belt and the effect of insetting/removal from Green Belt goes contrary to NPPF paras. 87-89. If they are true to their promise (manifesto to be guardians of the Green Belt) GBC should follow the NPPF guidelines. There is unsubstantiated opinion in the plan that there is need for more retail, office and industrial space. The low percentage of residential development in the town centre on the other hand would not work to support the so called demand for office expansion. Are they expecting London and other areas to provide the workforce? This would push up the congestion on our roads and create a demand for more 'countryside housing' which the borough does not actually need. The local plan should be planning for the local needs of Guildford not Londoners/commuters to Guildford. The fact is many offices are not being filled and our towns’ shops are constantly changing/leaving. The town needs a proper plan to regenerate the community (not offices/shops) so people can live and work in the town.

I do not agree that the Plan is sound for the following reasons:

- "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
- The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
- The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB’s and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
- The draft Plan does not accord with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB’s and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified, together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites - which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

- Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the BREXIT referendum.
- The housing number is at least double the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last several years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
- Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag behind development and lead to much higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
- The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

Soundness of the Plan – Objection

In my view the Local Plan is not sound. The NPPF states (para 155): “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

- The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness on the part of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and will bring increasing traffic congestion, pressure on other infrastructure, noise and pollution and a reduction in the quality of life of our residents.
- The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s (SCC) business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.
- The Plan does not consider the Waverley Borough Council’s approval for the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold. This has the potential to feed traffic, which is trying to avoid congestion around Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. 10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it is or is not sound and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the Green Belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. 13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

"Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer: ()

Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it is or is not sound and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

1. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopte

2. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

1. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitment. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

Answer: (No)

The Local Plan is not sound.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

- The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness on the part of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and will bring increasing traffic congestion, pressure on other infrastructure, noise and pollution and a reduction in the quality of life of residents.
- The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s (SCC) business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the already over-burdened A247 through West Clandon.
- The Plan does not consider the Waverley Borough Council’s approval for the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold. This has the potential to feed traffic, which is trying to avoid congestion around Guildford, onto the over-burdened A247 to access the A3.
- Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over, i.e. without a height restriction, the Guildford to Waterloo railway, north east of Guildford, which doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre and for this reason it is already busy.
- The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous side-entrances giving access to residential dwellings, commercial properties, and side roads. The changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate, and have likely cumulatively increased traffic on the A247, and hence difficulties that will be caused to residents and visitors to West Clandon and its businesses as they seek to turn on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road. If traffic on the A247 was to increase substantially, which seems to be the intention behind the Plan, then this has the potential to create serious difficulties for people accessing the A247 from these side-entrances, whether in a vehicle or on foot. The effect of increased traffic both for pedestrians and people in cars wishing to access the A247 from side entrances along the street would be particularly severe in the section of the A247 from Clandon railway station to the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction, because this is a narrow and winding part of the road accessed by many public and private properties with poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station – all of which have exits with extremely poor sight lines (due to humped back bridge, buildings on the edge of the road and entrances being on the crown of a bend). Numerous other properties along the street have similar issues. This is a problem arising from volume of traffic and insufficient gaps to allow safe egress onto the A247.
• The Plan does not address the difficulties of pedestrians either walking on narrow parts of the A247 where lorries habitually mount the pavement, or for pedestrians wishing to cross the A247 in the village of West Clandon. Since there is no room for a footpath on both sides of the road along a significant portion of the length of the A247 through West Clandon, it is not feasible to address the issue of pedestrians wishing to cross the road by providing pedestrian crossings, which would in any case hold up traffic flow. The narrow and winding nature of the road and poor sight lines particularly in the section of the A247 between Clandon railway station and the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction provide particular difficulties for pedestrians needing to cross the road in this section of the A247. Elderly and disabled residents would become increasingly cut-off and isolated by increasing traffic. In addition to the numerous residential properties that would face increasing difficulties for pedestrian access during longer periods of the day, this would also affect the Onslow Arms pub, Ashley Park care home, West Clandon Church car park and Clandon railway station (when accessed from the south) – all of which are at parts of the A247 with a pavement only on the opposite side of the road. To access these places on foot (the railway station from the south) it is necessary to cross the A247. Again, the village of West Clandon does not and cannot have a footpath on both sides of the street in all sections. There are bends, buildings and a humped back bridge which create poor sight lines in several areas. For these reasons, the additional problems that increased traffic promoted by the amended Plan would cause for pedestrians cannot be addressed by pedestrian crossings, even if multiple crossings were deemed acceptable on an A road. This would leave some residents unable to leave their homes for increasingly long periods during the day.

• The A247 through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

• The arithmetic behind the housing numbers in the SHMA remains a complete mystery and can’t be tested by either the public or the government because the council refuses to reveal it. The mistakes in the SHMA have been amply explained in at least 2 independent studies which the inspector will have seen, but the SHMA methodology is still taken by the council with a “objective” housing number assessment. This has been lifted wholesale into the plan as a policy proposal, when it is merely part of the evidence base and should be assessed and debated critically and transparently. I suspect this would produce a target about 60% lower than the 12,000+ proposed and would immediately solve a lot of objections about building on the green belt etc. I also don’t think the inspector should trust the figures as a fixed target, given the council’s contradictory noises about how development will be phased and infrastructure and other constraints applied. This leaves the final housing number so up in the air as to render this part of the plan useless as a practical policy tool for officers responsible for day-to-day planning. No-one knows for sure what number the council is heading towards or how this aligns with public opinion or government policy. This cannot be deemed “sound”.

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

Having properly calculated a housing needs number, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt and AONB. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be considered on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.
Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

The Local Plan is not sound.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”
1. The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness on the part of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and will bring increasing traffic congestion, pressure on other infrastructure, noise and pollution and a reduction in the quality of life of residents.

2. The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s (SCC) business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the already over-burdened A247 through West Clandon.

3. The Plan does not consider the Waverley Borough Council’s approval for the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold. This has the potential to feed traffic, which is trying to avoid congestion around Guildford, onto the over-burdened A247 to access the A3.

4. Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over, i.e. without a height restriction, the Guildford to Waterloo railway, north east of Guildford, which doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre and for this reason it is already busy.

5. The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate, and the cumulative effects have likely increased, traffic on the A247. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

6. Difficulties will be caused to residents and visitors to West Clandon and its businesses as they seek to turn on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road. If traffic on the A247 was to increase substantially, which seems to be the intention behind the Plan, then this has the potential to create serious difficulties for people accessing the A247 from these side-entrances, whether in a vehicle or on foot. Between Clandon railway station and the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction there are many public and private properties with poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station (poor sight lines due to humped back bridge, buildings on the edge of the road and entrances being close to bends). This is a problem arising from volume of traffic and insufficient gaps to allow safe egress onto the A247.

7. The Plan does not address the difficulties of pedestrians either walking on narrow parts of the A247 where lorries habitually mount the pavement, or for pedestrians wishing to cross the A247 in the village of West Clandon. Elderly and disabled residents would become increasingly cut-off and isolated by increasing traffic. There would be increased difficulties for pedestrians accessing the Onslow Arms pub, Ashley Park care home, West Clandon Church car park and Clandon railway station (when accessed from the south) – all of which are at parts of the A247 with a pavement only on the opposite side of the road. To access these places on foot (the railway station from the south) it is necessary to cross the A247. The village of West Clandon does not and cannot have a footpath on both sides of the street in all sections. There are bends, buildings and a humped back bridge which create poor sight lines in several areas. For these reasons, the increased problems for pedestrians cannot be addressed by pedestrian crossings, which would in any case slow down traffic.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: (No)
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

MODIFICATIONS SOUGHT TO THE PLAN

The Plan is not considered to be either positively prepared or justified. Neither is it considered to be effective in terms of delivering sufficient new homes to meet the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough. Accordingly the Plan is currently considered to be unsound and the following amendments are sought:

i) The delivery of housing should be reinstated to at least the level set out in the 2016 draft Plan i.e. ‘at least 693 dpa’ but with a further allowance to cover the current shortfall in housing land supply (881 units) plus a 10% buffer to secure flexibility and resilience across the Plan period.

ii) Site Allocations:
Land at Treetops Boarding Kennels and Loxhill Nursery, Old Portsmouth Road should be added to the list of sites in the Previously Developed Land in the Green Belt category of Site Allocations as follows: New Site A34, Treetops Boarding Kennels and Loxhill Nursery, Shalford, Homes (C3), 39

iii) Policy P2: Green Belt

Policy P2 should be amended to recognise the potential that previously developed sites within the Green Belt can make to housing delivery. As such an additional section should be added as follows: ‘Use of Previously Developed Land (7) The redevelopment of previously developed land within the Green Belt is considered to be appropriate provided that it is appropriate to the scale of the locality and has a beneficial impact on the character of the countryside or the local environment in terms of improving the local built fabric.’

Answer: ()

The NPPF sets out the principal components to be included in local plans. Paragraph 182 requires that in order to be “sound” a DPD should be positively prepared, justified, effective and consistent with national policy.

In order to be justified the DPD must be founded upon a robust and credible evidence base and represent the most appropriate strategy when considered against the reasonable alternatives.

Effective means the document must be deliverable, flexible and be able to be monitored.

The positive preparation test also requires plans to objectively assess development and infrastructure requirements from neighbouring authorities.

For the reasons set out below there are a number of shortcomings with the plan, as currently drafted, that result in the need for amendment. These amendments relate to the need to increase the level of housing provision; a need to meet existing housing needs in the earlier part of the plan period and acknowledgement that the existing supply of housing commitments are insufficient in both quantum and nature to meet these more immediate needs. These concerns require the need to reconsider the proposed spatial strategy and identify additional allocations within the plan.

As mentioned above, our clients have a controlling interest in land between Normandy and Flexford. The site is available, suitable and deliverable to meet important housing needs in the immediate period of the Local Plan. We remain committed to further engagement with the Council to explore the option of a deliverable allocation on this site, such that it can be incorporated into the final version of the Local Plan.

Attached documents:
4.0 Changes Sought to Plan and Conclusions

4.1 In order for the Plan to be sound the following key changes are required:

1. Revision to the SHMA and the Plan to correct the OAN to 821 dpa reflecting the calculation set out in Section 2 of these representations;

2. Allocation of further smaller sites to address shortfall in provision in the early and middle years of the Plan period arising from the over reliance on a small number of strategic allocations;

3. Removal of stepped trajectory and replacement with a uniform trajectory across the Plan period;

4. Increase in Ash and Tongham allocation to properly reflect its capacity and status as a sustainable location outside of the Green Belt;

5. Removal of proposal for Bridge over the railway at Ash and Tongham;

6. Amendments to other draft allocations as recommendation in Section 2 of these representations; and,

7. Update to SA to properly consider all of the above matters.

4.2 Without the above changes to the Plan the Council has not only created a document that is unsound but also fails in the duty to cooperate and the legal obligations in relation to the SA. The Plan in its current form cannot proceed to Examination.

Lack off evidence for housing need numbers which is more than double the previous figure from in 2012.

there is also a disproportionate level of development in one area of the Borough and there is a real lack of detail regarding the specific details of the essential infrastructure. This includes the need to decision regarding the A3 (widening, extra 4 way intersection, tunnel etc) as well as sewage before, for example Gosden Hill can be ear marked for development

Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is sound?

No.

To meet the Test of soundness, the independent Planning Inspector is required to consider if the local plan has been positively prepared, is justified and effective and is consistent with national policy. These points are considered below.

Has the plan been positively prepared?

In respect of the policy concerning the Custom and Self Builder we do not feel that the plan has been positively prepared for the following reasons;

It would seem that proposing to allocate some plots solely on the four large strategic sites is restrictive to the Custom Builders’ choice and therefore cannot be considered positive. Many custom builders would like an alternative setting to the plots on offer within the large strategic sites and making these available through a variety of smaller sites would comply with national policy through the NPPF to secure housing choice and would be a positive policy.

The Government is very keen to promote the Custom-build route for the aspiring house owner as it is hoped it will contribute greatly to housing numbers as well as employing many of the smaller builders. The Government have been working closely with a handful of councils (known as vanguard councils) to promote the Custom-build market and it is felt that many of their initiatives will be rolled out across the UK. Many Councils across the country have allocated whole dedicated sites for the Custom-build market.

We therefore do not feel that the draft plan has taken into account the Governments’ clear policy on custom and self-build housing as set required in the Housing and Planning Act 2016, Practice Guidance and the Housing Strategy for England. Chapter 59 of the NPPF states that the SHMA should assess the need for all types of housing for the different groups in the community including people wishing to build their own homes.

The West Surrey Joint SHMAA of Sept 2015 did consider the issue of Custom-build Homes on page 157 however the findings were contradictory and inconclusive and using the information from this source must now be considered out of date when compared to the Councils own Custom and Self Build Register. It is this relatively new register that should be used to inform the Plan through to its final stages.

The Reg. 19 Local Plan Strategy and Sites document now specifically identifies some self-build plots within the strategic development sites but as noted, makes no reference to quantum, monitoring indicator or target leaving it to be resolved at a later date through the strategic sites. This is not considered adequate.

Justified

Again in relation to Custom and Self-build, it is not considered that the Plan represents the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives. As referenced above, we consider that the Plan relies too heavily on the four strategic sites, which in turn rely heavily on central Government infrastructure funding to move forward. The strategic sites will start to come forward towards the end of the Plan period and therefore suitable provision should be made for Custom and Self-build which can be delivered earlier in the Plan period through smaller bespoke sites. A reasonable alternative would be to consider smaller/medium sites as a more appropriate deliverable strategy.

The Greenbelt and Countryside study (GBCS) identified many smaller/medium potential development sites and assessed these against environmental constraints and sustainability criteria The Study scored potential sites and gave them a sustainability ranking intended to assist in reducing the number of traffic movements and is considered the most justified approach in line with the NPPF’s approach to sustainable development.

Parish Councils could understand the logic and when consulted on The Vineyard site (site 41) in Tannery Lane, Send (Site 41) the parish council stated; ‘it is the most sustainably located near to existing shops, schools and public transport.
Sites 56, 57 and 58 are not within easy walking distance of shops and schools in either Send or Ripley and would be certain to generate significant traffic movements.

The Green Belt and Countryside Study also carried out a Green Belt sensitivity analysis on all land parcels across the Borough. This study is considered to be a more subjective study and has come in for considerable criticism in relation to its methodology and conclusions. It is a very broad brush approach which rejects our clients potential development area PDA B16-A village infill site of 5 acres on the basis that the 500acre land parcel it sits in has been subjectively assessed as being highly sensitive. This approach unnecessarily sterilises much of the Borough’s small/medium village infill sites for the length of the plan quite often depending on which side of the road they are.

We consider that the final selection of sites for allocation has given too much weight to the classification of large land parcels to the determinant of sustainability criteria. This has resulted in many of the most sustainably located village extension sites being replaced by sites much further away from local facilities and which will, as a consequence, result in increased traffic congestion which could be otherwise avoided. This could be easily remedied by assessing the most sustainably located village extension sites as to how they perform against the main purposes of the Green Belt.

Effective

In relation to the delivery of Custom and Self-build housing, we do not consider the Plan will be effective due to over-reliance for provision through the four main strategic sites which are likely to be delivered towards the end of the Plan period. In order for the plan to be effective in relation to the Duty to meet the demand for Custom and Self-build housing, smaller bespoke sites should be identified and allocated.

Consistent with national policy

For the reasons set out above regarding the delivery and sustainability of Custom and Self-build housing, we do not consider the Plan to be consistent with national policy.

Attached documents:
Green Belt and Spatial Development Strategy have not been based on giving sufficient weight to meeting the full objectively-assessed need for housing throughout the life of the plan.

Answer: (No)

The Guildford Vision Group understands that the council propose an Area Action Plan (AAP) for the town centre once the Local Plan is adopted. We are concerned that the AAP will be subject to challenge if its aims are not foreshadowed in the Local Plan. We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

Sadly the Guildford Vision Group therefore finds the Local Plan unsound, inadequate and unambitious in respect of the town centre.

No, not consistent with national policy - interpretation of the NPPF to allow removal (inset) of land from the green belt is highly questionable and will have permanently damaging consequences for the Surrey countryside.

No, not justified - as commented in question 1, this level of proposed development is inconsistent with the low-side housing demand estimates and encourages excessive development.

<td>I don't believe many parts of the new Local Plan are Sound especially all the last minute amendments. I object to the development at Garlick's Arch for many reasons not the least of which this is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which should prevent the merging of settlements. There is no need for 7000sq m of industrial development based on the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 where a reduction was shown. If there is a need logic would say add it to Slyfield. The A3, Send and Ripley could not cope with additional traffic generated from 400 + homes plus industrial traffic in this area, it is already congested in rush hour leaving my home on the Send Marsh Estate to drive through Ripley and join the M25. The Portsmouth Road is still used as a &quot;rat run&quot; by A3 traffic leaving the A3 at Burnt Common only to rejoin after Ripley if the A3 is busy. This development can only turn this into a bigger nightmare.</td>

The other land around Send being considered for homes and travellers pitches again were last minute amendments and again are on permanent Green Belt status. I moved from Guildford to this area as I wanted a Country feel to what may well be my final home and Send Marsh was a perfect location between Woking and Guildford where I am close enough for access to both but is still a beautiful countryside location. I object to this being spoilt by building on precious greenbelt!

4 WHY THE PLAN IS UNSOUND

4.1 Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach.

4.2 The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. I believe it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 13,860 new homes by 2033. I submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. I am concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

4.3 In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 500 homes per annum and the housing target after the application of constraints should be in the range of 250 homes per annum and kept under regular review.

4.4 The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation.
4.5 The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.”

4.6 The specific policies described include several of particular relevance to Guildford including sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, Sites of Special Scientific Interest, Green Belt, Local Green Space, Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations at risk of flooding. In this situation, is it appropriate for the Appraisal to rule out not meeting needs in full from a sustainability perspective?

4.7 Notwithstanding that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements.

4.8 GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

4.9 GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

4.10 GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which is unsound.

4.11 Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. This is too late!

1.1 Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach.

1.2 The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. I believe it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 12,426 new homes by 2034. I submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. I am concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

1.3 In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 400 homes per annum and the housing target after the application of constraints should be in the range of 200 homes per annum and kept under regular review.

1.4 The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation.

1.5 Policy in relation to sustainable development has been changed in a way that runs counter to GBC’s previous predetermined agenda for building on the Green Belt.

1.6 Under newly amended para 4.1.4 It is stated that "Local Planning Authorities are encouraged to include a policy within their Local Plan that embraces the presumption in favour of sustainable development. Policy S1 meets this requirement and adopts the model wording suggested. When implementing Policy S1, local circumstances will be taken into account to respond to different opportunities for achieving sustainable development. In accordance with the NPPF, the PRESUMPTION WILL NOT AUTOMATICALLY APPLY to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding. The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.”

1.7 Under this amended policy it is clear that the OAN should be constrained.

1.8 The specific amended policy described above is of particular relevance to Guildford including sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, Sites of Special Scientific Interest, Green Belt, Local Green Space, Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations at risk of flooding. In this situation, is it appropriate for the Appraisal to rule out not meeting needs in full from a sustainability perspective?

1.9 Notwithstanding that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements.

1.10 The plan fails to produce a coherent development strategy for Guildford Town. GBC has deleted its independently commissioned Town Centre Master Plan by the well renowned firm of architects and master planners Allies and Morrison as a source document from the plan even though this master plan was previously well publicised and enthusiastically adopted by the Council.

1.11 Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2020. This is too late!

Answer: (Yes)

This entire plan seems ill-thought out as it applies to the local population. It will fundamentally destroy the nature of the environment, community culture, and quality of life of those who currently live there, and those who you believe will move in.

It's clear that no realistic thought has been invested into how practical it is to bring in so many people. There are simply not enough schools, roads, medical facilities, and land. Firstly, building more schools/roads/hospitals is more easily said than done. Secondly, this will take years to complete. For anyone who has lived next to a single house undergoing renovation for a period of 3-6 months, this will pale into insignificance to a 2-5 year project (and that is just the houses).
That doesn't reflect the traffic, degradation of roads/services, and increase in crime. Assuming that a supposed increase in resources were also provided, this would be an additional 5-10 year project, which would need funding and complete commitment from the existing community. The prevalence of flooding across the country shows that building on flood planes is unsound, and has knock-on consequences across the board. We already experience flooding here (every few years), but it is likely to be exacerbated as a direct result of this project.

From every so-called consultation I have seen, there is a clear demand from the population to avoid this taking place. We seem to be in a position where no matter how much we object, we are asked again and again until we simply tire of it, or miss out on an opportunity to respond in a timely fashion. This is undemocratic, and a terrible reflection of the contempt being shown to the community and due process.

I understand that there is a need for more residential properties in the UK, but this location is far from ideal, and the cost paid by each resident here far outweighs the benefit achieved by new houses. Success for those moving in, is not having a place to stay, but a viable residential and familial experience. Those being promised houses here, are not going to experience what the village currently does. That community will no longer be. This is a false promise, a false economy and disingenuously being used to drive a financial agenda, not a social one.

The additional fact that green belt land is being used to support this suggests that there are now few boundaries being respected. This doesn't bode well for any organisation that is expected to honour rules and regulations in the future. What hope do we have when we've already stretched the definition of compliance? Destroying large areas of protected land will impact on wild-life, air quality, and psychological health. It also impacts on the council’s ability to represent themselves with any sense of credibility. Despite every comment being made, there seems to be a polite nod, but no respecting the opinions and demands offered.

This whole process has little credibility and seems highly indefensible

Answer: ()

My question is, "Why does your own planning committee not adhere to the aims of your own plan?" I refer specifically to a previous planning application 10/P/01451 whereby the planning committee agreed that it was important to retain existing employment land and furthermore to maintain distance between employment land and residential areas. Of course local residents thought that this was the right decision. However, later on, planning applications 14/P/01028 and 14/P/01029 called for two detached houses to be built within two metres of an industrial workshop and courtyard area. The planning committee saw fit to pass these applications and thereby go against their previous decision and against numerous points raised in your own local plan: 1/ Loss of existing employment land. 2/ Failure to provide land for new start-up businesses 3/ Your own plan states that it is important to retain land for manufacturing. The land that has been lost in this planning application has never been residential. It has been industrial since the second world war.

So, what is the point of having a local plan if your planning committee follows their own agenda?

I do not consider the strategy as a whole to be sound. GBC have failed to provide sound evidence of the employment land needs assessment 2015 which showed a reduction in employment space. This means that the number of houses required has been exaggerated.

I write in reference to the above to register my strongest possible objection to it, on two grounds.

In the first instance the plan is fundamentally undemocratic with respect to something as significant as changes to boundaries. The ability of the local area to influence its own affairs, particularly regards decisions that would affect residents, will be much reduced.

I would like to object to planned building of 700 homes per year, the area of Send does not have sufficient infrastructure to support this type of expansion. There are insufficient schools, road and transport system. Will destroy the village and its uniqueness, turn the whole are into a massive Conurbation.

The process which this has been proposed contravenes not only planning commitment and guidance as laid down by the government for green belt, but also has ignored due process.

I object to further development for the following reasons. With advent of the UK exit from the EU, the prediction for the requirement for housing and development of commercial units will need to be revised downwards. As the 3 million EU citizens currently in the UK, will be affected by this current event, and their ability to stay in this country will also be affected. So your estimates for further development of housing are wildly exaggerated and need to be revised downwards.

In addition to the potential down grade in the economy due to Brexit, your estimation for commercial and housing development is wildly exaggerated and unnecessary. Given you have allowed development of send marina; I really don’t understand how you can commit to further commercial developments. So therefore this development is folly this area does not need.

In particular, I want to object to all the following points:

I object to Garlicks Arch development of green belt land which contravenes government guide lines and that due process was not followed in the introduction of this development into this plan, and did not follow this process. Its inclusion in this plan was included at the last stage and did not follow process. So for that reason should be excluded.

I object to the council changing the enclosure of green belt land round the Ripley and Send villages, changing of village boundaries to allow for future development.

I object to the wholesale destruction of green belt land in this area (including development of 2000 homes at Gosden hill farm, Merrow, and also Send and Ripley), which contravenes directly the government stated commitment to preservation to green belt land.

I object to the creation of new north and South Bounds slips ways from the A3 to the A247clandon Road (policy A243) at Burnt common, as in light of the wholly unnecessary due to planned expansion which unlikely be needed within the 10 years.

Attached documents:
For the Plan to comply with the test of soundness it must be:

- Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.

We do not consider the Plan will be effective in delivering the required housing growth in line with the needs of the Borough. This is because:

- There is over reliance of a few very large strategic sites;
- Effective joint working has not been demonstrated with neighbouring authorities on cross boundary strategic priorities including the need for Guildford to deliver additional housing where those authorities are more heavily constrained;

I object to the lack of detailed consideration given to consequences of the effect on the flood meadows next to Clay Lane. By building close it will cause immediate water run-off to the meadows and the flood risk is increased dramatically. The meadows already flood during summer months and in winter the water floods across Clay Lane causing traffic build up. If large vehicles require direct access the Slyfield Industrial Estate then additional and closer on and off roads must be provided to the A3 without disturbing the already congested local roads.

I object to the proposal on the basis that it is not sound. It does not make sense to have a plan that effectively merges all villages along the A3 from Wisley to Blackwell Farm. In order to make it sound, very significant infrastructure improvements would need to be made, including, but not restricted to, completely rebuilding the A3/M25 intersection to make it more free flowing and an additional lane to be added to the M25 in either direction. The A3 through Guildford would need to become 3 lane, and, the intersection with the Hogs Back A31 significantly improved.

<td>For those reasons set out previously we do not believe that the plan as proposed is sound. Whilst the concept within A30 of a road bridge, is a sound one, it is obvious that the evidence base supporting both its identification and indeed location are fundamentally flawed.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A more appropriate approach would see the complete delivery of land east of Foreman Road for residential development, with land being safeguarded for the delivery of a pedestrian crossing. The road bridge could then be delivered more appropriately within the major development area. This would allow units to be delivered early within the plan period, which as has been shown previously is much needed and more importantly, will allow the delivery of a new bridge, which has been designed properly, is deliverable, appropriate and capable of serving not only existing residents, but also future ones.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It is not considered that the new rail bridge is required at this time, as the vehicle queues at the existing level crossing clear between the time that the barriers are down and as already determined by SCC the crossing would still operate within capacity even in 2031 with the addition of the LP sites.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It is however considered reasonable that there is a long-term desire to close the level crossing and provide a bridge over the railway line. It is indeed Network Rail policy to close level crossings wherever possible, in order to improve pedestrian safety and reduce rail related accidents.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If it is accepted that the level crossing should be closed and an overbridge provided in the long-term, it is considered that there is a more suitable location for the new bridge. It is considered that the bridge should be located further southeast. This would then sit across the land between the A323 and the Policy A29 land boundary and within the latter itself.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This has a number of benefits, most notably there would be more land for the road alignment to be designed to allow for sufficient forward visibility, both in the vertical and horizontal planes.</td>

There is also the potential for a new comprehensive link road to be established between the A323 Guildford Road, through the ‘Land to South and East of Ash and Tongham’ site, to South Lane. This link road would then continue through the ‘Land South of Ash Lodge Drive’ site, as per their planning permission, to Manor Road.

The northern end of the link road could realign Guildford Road into the ‘Land to South and East of Ash and Tongham’ site, which could then provide the new bridge within land under this site’s control. This could also have the benefit of enabling the parcel of land to the north of the railway line (and west of the new road) to realise a car park or drop-off area for Ash Railway Station.

The new bridge over the railway line could also be designed to have less environmental impact, than the current proposed alignment, as it could be fully designed into the proposed 1,200 residential unit development. The spine road, south of the railway line, would connect south to South Lane and also connect to Foreman Road thus giving alternative routeing options for both development and through traffic.

The principle of a new railway bridge to come forward in the long-term alongside the closing of the level crossing is accepted; however, it has been demonstrated that this is not required in the short-term.

Furthermore, it is considered that in order to realise a suitable design, and thus implementation, a revised alignment would be needed. A more suitable and achievable location for the bridge, and the alignment of the A323 either side of the bridge, would be for it to align through the Policy A29 site. This could enable the bridge to be designed in accordance with DMRB standards with suitable forward visibility achieved.

Plan Making – Tests of Soundness

3.14 The four tests of soundness against which a Local Plan will be examined by an Inspector are set out in paragraph 182 of the NPPF.

3.15 In order to be considered sound, a Local Plan should be;

- ‘Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic properties; and
- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.’

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 3: Soundness
The up-to-date evidence in relation to Objectively Assessed Need for housing within the Borough suggests that the annual requirement for dwelling provision (adjusted to reflect constraints and policy considerations) is 654 dwellings per annum. This has been reduced from 693 dwellings per annum in the previous iteration of the plan. There is some concern that the previous record of under-delivery in the Borough (reflected in the latest completion rates of 381 and 297 dwellings per annum in 2015/16 and 2016/17 respectively), will not be addressed by planning for a lower number of dwellings per annum. This would exacerbate the well-documented issues of housing affordability and the ability to deliver key areas of the overall strategy.

Furthermore, the use of the lower figure does not take into account the duty to plan for meeting unmet housing need in adjoining Boroughs or Districts. This is illustrated by the shortfall of 225 dwellings per annum in Woking between the level of housing being planned for (292 dwellings per annum), and the OAN for the Borough. It is therefore considered that the position set out in submissions to the current Waverley Local Plan (Part 1) Examination by the Home Builders Federation1 (HBF), that more land needs to be released in Waverley and Guildford in order to accommodate the unmet need in Woking.

While the general upward revision of the capacity of key development sites in Guildford is supported, we are concerned that planning for a lower level of dwelling provision in the Borough than was previously (as recently as June 2016), considered a suitable basis for strategic planning, would cause the document as a whole to be considered unsound. It is therefore considered that the Council should revert to the target rate of dwelling provision set out in the Strategy and Sites Local Plan (2016), which equated to a rate of 693 dwellings per annum. Rather than seeking to allocate additional land, further critical examination of the capacity of sites considered suitable for development would be able to account for a substantial increase in dwelling provision.

We consider the current spatial distribution of housing is over-reliant on major strategic sites and that some additional smaller sites in the locations identified would improve delivery and avoid under-supply in the event that the strategic sites do not come forward on time, or, are proved to be not viable.

I do not consider the sites and strategy is sound. I do not believe Guildford and the surrounding villages need any more loss of green field sites, in fact I would argue that some of the existing developments should never have happened. In my view Fairlands estate should not have been built, because it has created a seemingly overwhelming need amongst planners to infill the green space between Fairlands and the rest of Guildford with more development. This pattern has happened around the large Sainsburys at Burpham, and is happening around the royal surrey hospital/university. What starts as a remote development gets infilled and the conurbation expands. We have to decide on a point where we say Guildford is big enough, I believe we have already passed that point. You only have to try driving around Guildford at rush hour to realize that. Unfortunately I don't foresee us bulldozing large areas of housing and returning it to countryside. I like the semi rural nature of the villages surrounding Guildford I don't want them made bigger and eventually absorbed into one big town. I believe the Green belt should be kept and adhered to.

Another aspect of the strategy I don't agree with is the inclusion of traveller pitches alongside virtually every development. [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it]

The plan is not sound as it does not consider the full impact on residents of Onslow Village of the combination of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening.

It is also not sound as it does not consider the impact of the Blackwell farm development on the character of the Hog's Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. It is also not sound because it makes insufficient, inadequate and inappropriate provision for traffic and will worsen the A3 issues identified in the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2016.

No, I do not consider the plan to be sound. It appears to be a statement of desperation to meet wholly unrealistic imposed from central government that are wholly unsuited to the Guildford area. I am a Surrey resident who is a frequent visitor for leisure and recreational purposes to many of the areas that will be affected by this plan I walk on Ockham and Wisley heaths and enjoy the scenery and wildlife, I go birdwatching on Papercourt meadows and on Bookham Common, I go for country walks around Send, Ripley, Wisley and Ockham. I have been on Surrey Wildlife Trust evening walks on Ockham heath. With my family we visit Ripley, Wisley and Ockham for shopping, eating and drinking and regularly frequent many of the National Trust properties such as Hatchlands and country pubs such as the Queens Head in East Clandon and the Black Swan in Ockham and restaurants and pubs in Ripley. I therefore spend a lot of money in this area and support local businesses and employment. To me this area has a special rural character that must be preserved when so much in Surrey has been lost. I want my children to enjoy this too.

I am staggered by the scale of many of these proposed housing developments on what are wholly inappropriate rural and Green Belt sites. Even a small number of these developments would completely destroy the character of these villages and surrounding countryside. I am talking particularly about the proposed developments for Ripley, Send, West Horsley, Clandon Ockham and Wisley. The Green Belt and Countryside Study seems to take as a fait accompli that much of the green belt should be built on without proper consideration of alternatives. The draft plan fails properly to consider how brownfield sites could be developed. It fails to realise that the rural character of areas like Ripley, Send and Ockham are an asset to the county that will be destroyed by the developments it is prepared to sanction. The council is failing also to take account of its responsibilities to protect wildlife. Surrey has a large proportion of the UK's remaining lowland heathland, 80% of which has already been lost. The council should be working to preserve this, not destroy it, and to restore what has been destroyed. It should be seeking to place housing developments in areas with strong train and bus links: yet 2000 homes could be built at Wisley far from train stations and bus routes. This matters for the quality of life of residents and visitors, not for wildlife. On the fringes of London there is huge demand for quality, attractive green space that benefits humans and wildlife.

In particular, I urge the Council to remove the following sites from the strategic plan as wholly inappropriate in scale and siting given the Green Belt and rural character of the following areas which I visit regularly:

- Site A35 - the former Wisley airfield. To put this development here would be a wanton and inexcusable act of destruction, unjustifiable on social, economic or environmental grounds.
- Sites A37, A38, A39, A40, A41, A42 and A43

Yet this draft plan does not present a vision of a sustainable future that will preserve the quality of life of Guildford residents or visitors. It appears a forced exercise to comply with national targets, spurred by greedy developers working for short term financial gain. I urge the borough council to stand above this and amend the plan to remove Green Belt and rural areas from development that we would all come to regret. This plan is not a forward-looking, sustainable vision but a blueprint for local desecration driven by national targets that fail to take heed of what matters on the ground to local people. I am disappointed that the council does not appear to recognise that the rural character of Send, Ripley, Horsley, Clandon and Ockham is special, worth protecting and important to many local residents and visitors. There are also important wildlife sites in these areas that would be adversely impacted by this developments that would be nails in the coffin for Surrey countryside. But it is not too late to make important amendments. I urge the council to have the courage to stand up for what is right, resist pressure from Westminster and make significant amendments to remove many of these rural housing developments from the draft plan. This is essential to protect our future quality of life and to protect the Surrey countryside and wildlife.

We object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. We do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

We believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Green Belt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worpleston, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford's need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.
Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.
GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

We understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. We consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. We ask why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

70. The Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites June 2017 is unsound for the following reasons, which are additional to those we reported in July 2016:

(1) The Plan is not consistent with national policy, in the following respect:
  – Policies ID2 and A26 particularly would cause substantial deterioration in air quality in Compton, where air quality monitoring shows that NO2 pollution is already (and has persistently been) in breach of legal limits, by attracting additional vehicular traffic through the village to access both the A3 and Blackwell Farm/Surrey Research Park via a new road link from the A31: this is in breach of NPPF paragraph 109 policy for “preventing both new and existing development from contributing to…. unacceptable levels of…. air…. pollution”.

(2) The Plan will not be effective, in the following respects:
  – Policy ID2 is unlikely to be deliverable within the Plan period in respect of widening the A3 through Guildford, which is a precondition for implementing Policy A26. Even if it was, it would not meet its own objective of providing appropriate access to the strategic road network to accommodate future planned growth in the form of the Blackwell Farm development – by virtue of generating congestion rather than alleviating it.
  – Policy A26 will not be effective because the volume of traffic the proposed Blackwell Farm development would generate on Egerton Road (even if a link road to the A31 is also in place) would cause levels of congestion so high that the network flow would break down in this area, and the Plan proposes no remedy for this.
  – Policy A26 will not be effective because the Plan has failed to identify a means of access from Blackwell Farm onto Egerton Road (Infrastructure Requirement (1)), even though this access has been upgraded in the Plan and is no longer ‘secondary’ to the link to the A31; the 1:10,000 plan accompanying the Policy shows no link at all into Guildford.
  – Policy A26 will not be effective because Infrastructure Requirement (3) for a controlled road link through the Blackwell Farm development to limit the users of the road will not be implementable in practice.
  – Policy A26 will not be effective because the additional road capacity needed to serve the newly proposed secondary school (Allocation item (9)) within the development has not been provided in the Plan and the road network in the area is already modelled to be well over-capacity when Blackwell Farm is developed.
  – Policy ID3(3) on developments having regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor will not be effective in its western section, because either the modal shift will not be pursued vigorously enough to make a significant difference (which appears to be the Local Plan’s preferred strategy), or, if applied with determination (such as by reducing private vehicle lanes in the A3 underpass from four lanes to two) could not be expected by itself to change driver behaviour significantly; in either case the result would be greater congestion on the local road network than it could take after the development of Blackwell Farm.

(3) The Plan is not justified, in the following respects:
  – Policy S2 relies on the completion of the widening of the A3 in sufficient time for the proposed numbers of dwellings to be constructed before the end of the Plan period, but this cannot be a justified proposal because there is no certainty at all that the A3 widening will be completed by 2027, if ever; given the difficulty of finding alternative locations likely not to be dependent on capacity increases on the A3, the most appropriate strategy would be to abandon Policy A26.
  – Policy A26 would cause the generation of so much traffic (both by itself and by the construction of the A3 without which Policy A26 cannot be implemented) that the local road network could not possibly cope with it, and documents supporting the Plan acknowledge that local roads would be put seriously over-capacity: such an arrangement cannot reasonably be the most appropriate strategy and the Plan is therefore not justified.

This site is not required, it is GREENBELT and you can not build on it.

An assessment carried out by the ELNA show that industrial space is not needed.

You have exaggerated (lied) regarding population growth these houses are not needed, not wanted. See comments in attached report. The Plan is not sound. It is fundamentally flawed in the scale and distribution of housing land. It does not provide a basis for sustainable development to meet the key requirement of the Guildford Borough Plan area. It is likely that significant parts of the Plan will not be deliverable. It overprovides for housing delivery and as a result would lead to permanent environmental degradation, intensification of traffic and use of infrastructure, and irreversible damage to the rural landscape and heritage assets and social isolation.

Answer: ()

8. The meaning of the term “sound” is explained in the National Planning Policy Framework at paragraph 182:

“182 The Local Plan will be examined by an independent inspector whose role is to assess whether the plan has been prepared in accordance with the Duty to Cooperate, legal and procedural requirements, and whether it is sound. A local planning authority should submit a plan for examination which it considers is “sound” – namely that it is:

- Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
• Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
• Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
• Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.”

9. RPC has concluded that, without modification, the Plan cannot be considered “sound” within the meaning of Section 20 of the 2004 Act and paragraph 182 of the NPPF.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: (No)

The test of soundness requires the plan to be:

1. Positively prepared - in so far as it should be based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is practical to do so consistently with the presumption in favour of development;
2. Justified - in that it should present the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
3. Effective - it should be deliverable over the plan period (in this case by 2033) and be based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
4. Consistent with national policy - in that the policies should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies that comprise the development plan framework.

These representations question the housing and infrastructure strategy in circumstances where the two are interlinked. Indeed, paragraph 4.6.16 of the plan confirms:

The implementation of the three RIS (Road Infrastructure Strategy) schemes during the Plan period, alongside other critical infrastructure, is required in order to be able to accommodate future planned growth both outside and within the borough. It is therefore important that the developers of proposal sites adjacent to the A3 and M25 and other large sites work closely with Highways England to ensure that their layout and access arrangement(s) are consistent with Highways England’s emerging schemes.

Miller consider the plan is NOT sound in so far as:

1. The housing numbers for the plan period are at the lower end of the OAN.
2. The housing strategy is overly dependent upon the Strategic Housing sites with no realistic fall back should they fail to be delivered.
3. The plan is back-loaded in that the greater proportion of the planned housing will come forward toward the end of the plan period.
4. The strategic sites are 'critically' dependent upon infrastructure improvements, notably highways, for which the Borough Council, the County Council and Highways England have yet to agree. In this regard the Plan:
   1. fails to identify what improvements are necessary.
   2. fails to demonstrate whether strategic highway improvements can deal with the cumulative impact of the strategic sites.
   3. fails to satisfactorily demonstrate how the local highways network can cope in advance and during the construction of the strategic highway improvements and
4. has not demonstrated that the improvements are deliverable in the timescales identified for the delivery of housing.

5. The proposals for the planned 'Strategic Movements Corridor' are at best in their infancy. Whilst they nod to sustainability in prioritising bus, cycle and pedestrian priority, the routes are already heavily congested and would need significant widening if the stated objectives are to be achieved.

   1. The programming of these works and the delivery of the Road Infrastructure Improvements has not been confirmed. It is not known how, or whether, the existing demands on the strategic and local highway network can be accommodated whilst these major improvements are undertaken.

In light of the above, Miller is of the opinion that the Council is extremely unlikely to deliver the OAN, and that in reality delivery will slip into the next plan period.

Furthermore, given the significant costs associated with the critical infrastructure improvements (not just highways) required to bring forward the principal strategic sites it is considered that their viability will be under extreme pressure which in turn will affect their ability to deliver the target of 40% affordable homes.

For the above reasons, in relation to housing and infrastructure provision, the Plan is considered to lack clarity and the evidence required to demonstrate that the strategy will be able to meet the needs of the Borough. It is therefore the conclusion of Miller that the Plan fundamentally fails the tests of soundness identified above.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: (No)

Despite our previous objections as to the over reliance on the Council’s proposed strategic allocations we note that GBC has maintained this strategy albeit reduced the capacity of each of these large allocations to reflect its reduced housing target. We note also that the Council has indicated that the delivery of these sites is to be phased to come forward during the latter period of the plan to coincide with the infrastructure improvements (mainly highways) that will be necessary to facilitate the development of these sites. Whilst the Council has now indicated the likely improvements that will be necessary along the A3 corridor it has failed to indicate satisfactorily whether these improvements will provide the necessary highway capacity and how this will be funded. They have also not detailed how these various improvements would affect the functioning of this strategic road which remains one of the principal arterial routes to the south coast. Prolonged improvements to the operation of the A3 will also severely hamper the economic performance of Guildford town centre which will also be affected by other road improvements that are targeted at bus and cycle priority. There is every likelihood that these various infrastructure improvements will be delayed due to phasing requirements or a potential lack of funding (central funding or through developer funding).

We therefore remain concerned therefore that the Council’s ability to deliver its strategic allocations (even though these have been reduced in scale) will result in the abject failure of the Council to meet its 'Objectively Assessed Need', in particular we consider the Council has adopted a very short term approach to the future economic performance of the Borough which appear to be; based on judgements that appear specific to Guildford and do not appear to be consistent with any national advice as to a sustained downturn in performance over the whole of the Plan period.

We are, as a consequence of the above, concerned that the Council will fall further and further behind its housing delivery target in circumstances where it has consistently been unable to identify a five year housing land supply. Currently the Council is only able to identify just over two years' supply with its own estimates suggest that it will be many years into the Plan period before historic shortfalls can be made up. This is to be achieved with limited reliance on the strategic allocations which are not expected to contribute until 2022/23 at the earliest. In reality, no sooner than the Council has addressed historic shortfalls the strategic allocations will stall and supply will again fall off.

In summary, we believe the plan to be unsound because the Council has:
1. Failed to adequately justify its revised economic projections.
2. Failed to justify it revised housing figure which we do not consider have been objectively assessed.
3. Not consulted adequately with the neighbouring authorities and in particular has not updated its projections in light of the Inspector's finding in relation to the Waverley Plan nor has it responded to the recent changes to the Woking Plan which is relying on a site at New Zealand Golf Course to meet a significant proposition of it needs (this site is considered unavailable by the site owners).
4. Not adequately demonstrated it can identify a five year housing land supply. Whilst it is suggested that any shortfall in this regard can be addressed by the middle of the plan period this does not satisfy current housing needs (which are supposed to be objectively assessed and addressed). Furthermore, there is a real concern that the current shortfalls will be repeated when the strategic allocations fail to come forward as planned.
5. Failed to provide a detailed explanation as to the impact of the strategic and local highway improvements and how these will be funded; in circumstances where these are needed to be delivered in advance of houses being brought forward.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness
Answer: (Yes)

The proposals in the plan are flawed as they do not take sufficient account of the need for new local infrastructure to support the massive building programme planned for West Horsley, wisely and the surrounding villages. To shoehorn huge numbers of people into an area that lacks sufficient transport infrastructure, schools and health facilities to cope is to severely damage quality of life both for existing residents and those hoping to move to the area. Worse, it gives rise to serious safety concerns. There are already many very dangerous roads and crossings throughout the Horsleys, Effingham, and Ockham, such as the junction between Old Lane and Forest Road where pedestrians cross to reach Effingham Station, plus many narrow lanes which are frequented by many cyclists and walkers reaching paintball facilities (I saw women with prams walking in the carriageway on the section of Forest Road road without a pavement last week, dodging traffic). The plan as outlined will put thousands more cars, walkers and cyclists on these roads, which will beyond doubt result in serious injuries and deaths. The road network linking these developments with shops, town centres and transport hubs is inadequate and options for increasing its safety and capacity are limited: certainly the measures in this plan are derisory and cannot conceivably cope with the additional numbers involved. There will also be a significant impact on air pollution in high traffic areas near the M25 and A3 where pollution levels are already either breaching legal limits, or are in danger of doing so: this is a growing concern throughout London and the South East, with airport expansion likely to increase the problem, and I can't see evidence that rigorous studies have been carried out to assess the additional impact of the new planned developments on areas where there are potential air quality issues. Currently, monitoring seems limited at best. As a local resident, I speak for many when I urge the council to focus on fixing existing problems before it charges headlong to create new ones. I am not opposed to development: I want to see affordable homes here for my children and for others who want to enjoy all that the area can offer, but a plan which threatens the health, well-being and quality of life of all those who live here, benefits neither today's residents nor those who might like to leave here in future. The names of those who forced through such a plan should be preserved, so that future generations do not forget the vandals who destroyed the safe, green and pleasant environment that they might otherwise have inherited.

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.
A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford's need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot buy into this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.
GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.
The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt

   Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

13. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.
14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.
15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Glandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.
16. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
17. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer. - why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. 5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

1. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

2. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

3. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

4. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

5. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

6. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

7. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

8. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

9. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

10. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

11. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

12. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
13. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
14. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. QUESTION 3: Soundness

We do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 to be sound as it relates to site A46 and the need for a secondary school to be located at that site. Our reasoning is given above, and furthermore we do not believe it conforms to the National Policy Planning Framework guidance for soundness. We make our comments below the guidance notes of the NPPF (which are in italics).

To be sound, a plan should be:

- Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;

Our comment: The strategy to justify a secondary school at site A46 has not been objectively assessed. The justification made in the LR:ER, SED3 and Evidence Base is subjective and does not draw in specifically from the SCC and other neighbouring county councils that provision education. The siting of an 8FE new school in a development that only directly feeds in 1FE and is in a sparsely populated area of the Borough is not sustainable according to SCC education guidelines. Therefore the site A46 plan is not positively prepared.

- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;

Our comment: The evidence base presented for siting of a new secondary school on a red area of greenbelt shows that the plan is not the most appropriate strategy, and in fact shows that a secondary school at A46 is not required. It is the least appropriate strategy from a site selection basis. If the housing and school provisioning requirements ultimately show need for new secondary schools the more reasonable alternatives would be to provide any new schools at Wisley and Gosden Hill as 6FE schools to meet SCC sustainability guidelines.

- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and

Our comment: The evidence base does not even show how the school at site A46 is deliverable. It makes an estimated capital cost of £22m with no justification of the cost or how it is to be funded apart from a comment of “developer contributions”. Similarly the designs and costs for associated infrastructure are mere “thumb sucks” and vague “funded by developer” comments. There is no evidence within the draft Local Plan of effective joint working on cross-border strategic priorities with regards to this matter. Therefore the plan is not effective.

- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.

Our Comment: The plan does not enable the delivery of sustainable development from the perspective of education (which is not even considered in the SA), infrastructure, road transport, environment and habitats and most importantly the conflicts with the wishes of the communities at Normandy and Flexford.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness
Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it is or is not sound and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it is or is not sound and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:
1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it is or is not sound and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

No evidence is given how to integrate a large influx of new houses and residents within the local village area. Within the available infrastructure road/rail/parking/school capacities are insufficient also part of our Ockham road North/South road spaces are too narrow for the safe passage of trucks/busses also the arch of the railway bridge is too narrow to allow 2 large trucks to pass at the same time. Furthermore it will knock out a large part of our green belt spaces.

Answer: ()

Question 3: Soundness. I do not agree that the Plan is sound for the following reasons:
The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. The housing number has been used to justify removing numerous sites from the Green Belt amounting to 65% of the proposed housing number. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown site by site to justify removing them from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statement.

The assumptions made in calculating the OAN are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

There is no evidence in the Plan to show that the proposed rate of building is achievable and sustainable. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years.

The Infrastructure Plan is very weak. Much of the desired provision is not committed and/or is outwith the Council’s control. It seems very clear that infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

The NPPF states that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

1. The many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land have been ignored in the main. There is no evidence of a collective vision on green belt. In my area more land is being taken from the green belt.

2. There is no hard information available on any future plans for alleviating congestion on the A3 between the M25 and the town in spite of this being acknowledged as one of the major causes of public discontent. Residents are not able to know what the future holds.

3. There is no recognition of the cumulative impacts of the concentration of development in the north east of the town centre all of which will generate traffic on the A247:

- Gosden Hill
- Slyfield
- Garlick’s Arch
- Burnt Common

- Wisley
- 4-way junction near Send/Burnt Common
- slip roads to the A3 off the A247
- diverting traffic from the south to go around and not through Guildford

1. The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites - which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for.

15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy.

16. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
11. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

12. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

1. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

2. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

3. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

I object to this policy as it is unsound since it contains no town centre masterplan and because too much space has been allocated for retail use that could be used for housing.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: ()

GRA Comment: It is unsound and unsustainable to develop on the scale proposed. The overall housing target (13,860 new homes) and 40% increase in retail space should be reduced to take account of the constraints of our gap town and growth in online retailing. Opportunities to provide greater accommodation on campus for university students, to provide more homes as part of the North Street development, to plan the river corridor achieving flood risk betterment, to promote sustainable commuting and to open up access across the railway for our physically divided town have not been considered positively.

We do not consider that the proposed housing target of 693 homes a year is soundly based, notwithstanding the intention that this should be skewed to later in the Plan period or the aspiration that this should be linked to timely delivery of infrastructure. We are also concerned that a target of “about 695” homes a year and a focus on strategic sites in the Green Belt were suggested very early in the Plan-making process and we would be concerned if the Plan had been prepared around these working assumptions.

Green Belt and Sustainability

The Council’s case set out in the Green Belt and Countryside Topic Paper paragraph 4,62, is as follows: “We consider that in general terms there are exceptional circumstances that justify the amending of Green Belt boundaries in accordance with the NPPF, paragraph 83. Our evidence base identifies a high level of need for market and affordable housing (including traveller accommodation) and employment. Given the extent of Green Belt across the borough (89 per cent) and the lack of sufficient suitable and deliverable sites located outside the Green Belt, to not amend boundaries would lead to a significant undersupply of homes compared to the identified needs – approximately half. The consequences of this within Guildford would be to exacerbate the existing affordability issues and have an adverse impact on economic growth in the area, which would lead to unsustainable commuting patterns. Each addition or removal to the Green Belt is also separately considered above and in the Housing Delivery topic paper.”

We do not accept this assessment.

- The NMSS SHMA review indicates that the evidence base exaggerates the level of housing need and that the employment housing need assessment is flawed. Increasing housing supply beyond the level suggested by the demographic OAN would not have a discernible effect on affordability but simply mean more people who can afford high prices moving to the area.
- We submit that the economic need should be tested on a sector by sector basis and that the priority given to retail expansion should be questioned.
- Suitable deliverable alternatives, such as significantly increasing campus accommodation, thereby freeing up homes in the town, and provision of more homes on North Street in lieu of a 40% increase in retail, have not been pursued.
- Options for meeting revised need in larger settlements beyond the outer Green Belt boundary linked to sustainable transport have not been fully explored.
- The option of not fully meeting needs in recognition of constraints, including Green Belt, has not been balanced against the positive and negative consequences of fully meeting need (as revised) as should happen in a meaningful Sustainability Appraisal that takes account of environmental capacity.
- Commuting by sustainable means, especially in the context of the current high levels of inward- and outward-commuting, should not be dismissed as an unsustainable option in all the circumstances.
• It would be irresponsible and unsustainable to use up all potential least-worst, last resort Green Belt sites within one plan period.
• High-added-value, knowledge-based businesses and homes should be given priority over expansion in retail land.

Constraints

Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and sewer flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach. High rise buildings would be inappropriate due to the important contribution views and the rise and fall of the land make to both urban and rural character, including the nationally significant Surrey Hills AONB. The river and railway divide the town and there are too few crossing points; a further constraint. Air quality and traffic noise are not insignificant considerations in some locations.

The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GRA considers it would be harmful to rural, suburban and urban character, quality of life and the economy of Guildford not to reduce the new housing units delivered by 2033 to a number significantly below 13,860. We submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. We are concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

Transport infrastructure is also a constraint. Current congestion is severe by any meaningful definition and there is a backlog of infrastructure investment. Assessment of the very late and incomplete transport evidence by expert, Richard Jarvis, using the information made available to date, indicates that the overall effect of completing the proposed schemes and development in the Plan would be congestion to a level that makes it hard to conclude that the test in paragraph 32 of the NPPF is passed. See extract below and Appendix 2. Any notion that building 13,860 homes is going to deliver infrastructure that will overcome Guildford’s traffic problems seems misguided.

“The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF.”

“The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the proposed submission local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic (47% more than in 2009), for which they are unsuitable. “

In view of the extent of physical constraints, protective designations and congestion, it is likely that even a more accurate, lower OAN housing target would need to be constrained.

We submit that Guildford BC should:

• revise the SHMA to make corrections and to better account for student need
• undertake a proper assessment of constraints, informed by a strategic Green Belt review and a Sustainability Appraisal that tests environmental capacity and considers meaningful alternatives to establish an appropriate balance between adverse effects and fully meeting (revised) need
• test the transport evidence that should inform the plan and which points to congestion.
Any housing figure adopted in the context of considerable uncertainty would need to be kept under regular review.

If any land releases were deemed necessary following a rigorous, strategic and accountable approach to Green Belt review, these should be measured and paced, arising from a robust assessment of the balance between benefits and adverse effects, taking full account of environmental capacity.

Guildford has not currently provided the evidence to derive a housing figure arising from such a process. It is notable that Woking has proposed constraining its OAN by 50%.

In Guildford, if one uses a revised OAN of 10,200 over 20 years (510pa) and assumes no Green Belt development and that 50% of need can be met through positive initiatives in the town, this results in a target of 255 [check] homes pa which would be below the previous target of 322pa. This reinforces the extent to which Guildford is constrained. This would be broadly consistent with the urban capacity assessment undertaken for the last Surrey Structure Plan and with the concern about the risk of town cramming in Guildford identified in the SE Plan.

If one uses a revised OAN of 10,200 over 20 years (510pa) and assumes 20% of all last-resort Green Belt land is released to development in each of the next three Plan periods, this results in a target of 340pa [check] for the current 20 year Plan period.

More strategic solutions, such as development beyond the Green Belt linked to sustainable commuting or a tunnel for the A3, are required now. They cannot be left until the next Plan period as proposed.

Neglected Opportunities

A more sound and sustainable approach to planning positively in Guildford should include greater emphasis on the following:

- Campus accommodation:

  Higher priority should be given to providing attractive campus accommodation so a very high proportion of university students will want to live on campus thereby freeing up affordable homes in the town. Significantly, this could deliver homes within the challenging first five year period of the Plan.

  There has been some late progress towards meeting the modest 60% student accommodation target agreed in the previous Plan as a result of residents expressing concern at the lack of progress in meeting the undertakings in the previous 2003 Plan. However, the opportunity to increase significantly the proportion of university students attracted to live on campus has not been pursued. Neither nostalgia by decision makers for student days spent living in shared houses in the town, nor eagerness by the University to support a case for development on Blackwell Farm, should deflect attention from the opportunity to free up homes in the town for use by others. Nor is it adequate to reject the possibility of increasing campus accommodation by saying the percentage is at the higher end compared with other tertiary institutions or to be sceptical about uptake and funding. We need to plan positively to find sustainable ways to sustain a thriving university in a constrained, commuter belt gap town.

  Appendix 3 provides more information on the opportunity.

- Flood risk:

  Higher priority should be given to work on integrating flood risk management and development in the town centre. The 2014 Draft Local Plan failed to include a Flood Risk policy and was not informed by a flood risk sequential test or Level 2 Strategic Flood risk Assessment. Subsequent application of the necessary tests has resulted in some residential allocations being removed and some zone 3 non-residential allocation proposed under the exception test.

  Overall, progress has been painfully slow in planning positively along the river corridor in a way that achieves flood risk betterment and also enhances the natural and built environment. Time was lost with a first iteration Town Centre Master Plan that paid insufficient attention to the significant flood risk. The margin required for climate change reinforces the importance of factoring in flood risk and moving away from the old approach of seeking to justify development in even the functional zone 3 floodplain.

- Sustainable commuting:

Far more attention should be given to the potential for enabling sustainable commuting recognising that Guildford has a high-value-added economy in a constrained gap town. Rather than destroying the qualities that underpin the town’s economic success by overdeveloping, the scope for making it easy and affordable to commute by sustainable means from less constrained settlements should be pursued as a priority, both for the short and long term.

The context is that levels of both inward and outward commuting are extremely high. Almost half the working population commutes out to work and almost half of the workforce commutes in. In many households, occupants work in different locations and people do not necessarily move when they change jobs. In 2001, more people commuted out to Rushmoor than vice versa and more commuted by from Waverley than vice versa.

In a Guildford context, the aspiration that more people should live where they work needs to be balanced with other sustainability considerations.

- All-direction, central bus interchange:

Failure to identify a central location, and to allocate appropriate land, for an attractive all-direction bus interchange in the town is a grave failing that undermines the soundness of the Plan and should be addressed as a matter of urgency. A central interchange is needed to view levels of congestion, the gradients involved in town centre journeys, the limited options for crossing the railway and river, and the need to provide sustainable transport options to support complex commuting and travel patterns.

- Town centre plan:

Better progress, and a more joined up approach, in town centre planning is required. The slow pace has meant opportunities for coordinated brownfield development are not available as part of this Plan. The need to have brought forward town centre options in a timely way should have been foreseen. Guildford had already used up its green field sites within its Green Belt boundary by the time of the 2003 Local Plan.

It is a problem that Guildford BC has chosen to tackle the town centre after the Plan via an Area Action Plan in which it intends to incorporate Scenario 2 from the A&MI/Arup proposals that will reduce highway capacity in the centre. This prevents joined up planning. For example, the Plan should face up to implications of constraints being applied to roads such as the A281, A31 and A322.

- New cross-town road bridge:

An additional bridge over the river and railway is required to improve connections across the railways and river for our physically divided town. We want to see the townscape improved, with better use of the river. Achieving this, while maintaining accessibility, will be much easier with a new crossing.

Sustainable Choices

Given the scarcity of land arising from being a constrained gap town, the Plan should consider a wider range of sustainable strategies than simply expanding across the board.

- Balance between retail expansion and town centre homes

The Plan should weigh the case for a 40% increase in retail space, especially given trends in internet shopping, with the opportunity to provide accessible and sustainable town centre homes. Increased town centre housing provision for the elderly could also have the beneficial knock-on effect of freeing up existing family homes. All types of town centre housing would help support the evening economy.
The wisdom of such massive retail expansion, on top of already generous retail provision, needs to be challenged in view of the fate of the High Street in many places. The mix of homes and retail, with its relatively low added-value, in the North Street development should be reconsidered. Residents were dismayed that the Bellerby theatre site was used for yet another supermarket rather than primarily homes.

- Balance between high-value-added, knowledge-based economy and retail expansion

Similarly, the mix between land allocated to the high-value-added, knowledge-based economy in the town and to retail expansion should be carefully reviewed. Knowledge-based enterprises yield returns between 3 and 4 times greater than retail.

Planning ahead

In order to deliver sustainable development, it is important to plan ahead. Sites for entrances and, in the shorter term construction areas, for an A3 tunnel through Guildford should be safeguarded.

Answer: (No)

Q3 Soundness

1. In terms of its transport aspects the Plan cannot be regarded as sound. GBC has provided vivid descriptions of the conditions on the network today and the evidence is that these will be as poor, and in some cases worse, at the end of the plan period, even with the mitigation measures. Growth and infrastructure have to be better aligned. While the level of growth in homes in this latest draft plan is somewhat lower than that in the 2016 version, it is still substantial and growth is also planned outside the borough. The evidence provided indicates that congestion will be widespread on much of the highway network in peak periods, even with the proposed highway schemes and with the measures to encourage the use of public transport in place.

20.A. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case

ANSWER
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page
   1. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
1. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
2. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
3. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
4. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18
5. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involving These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
6. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
7. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
8. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

1. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

1. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured
2. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

Answer: (No)

We consider the plan to be unsound, non-compliant with National policy and it will not be effective in meeting the needs of Gypsies and Travellers.

Some of the allocated sites are only temporary and some limited to particular occupants. These cannot therefore be regarded as fulfilling the long term need for Traveller sites.

There is a complete absence of any policy guidance to deal with applications which are received for new Traveller pitches. PPTS requires that Local Plans must provide policy guidance to deal with applications which come forward where there is no identified need.

I am writing to object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan on the grounds of (i) the limited consultation period and (ii) it appears to be unsound in a number of key aspects.

On reviewing the document it appears the plan is unsound because there is a lack of evidence for the alleged housing need which in turn has led to the proposed disproportionate level of development on one area of the Borough.

Additionally, there is a lack of specific detail concerning the essential infrastructure to support all the proposed development stated in the above Draft Plan especially as there is an acknowledged existing deficit already.

Furthermore, there appears to be a total disregard for the potential loss of Green Belt.

Therefore, as a result of the poor quality of the draft plan it appears to be total unsound for it’s proposed purpose and so should be re-considered and drafted.

The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I object that the Plan is not sound. It appears to be based on a wholesale annexation of the green belt, a flawed if not illegal strategy, and is clearly not deliverable in the timescales of the plan when compared with the typical rate of development in the last 10-20 Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced and impracticable.

Question 3: Soundness. I do not agree that the Plan is sound for the following reasons:

- “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
- The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
- The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB’s and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Only if there are exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. - Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the BREXIT referendum.
- The housing number is at least double the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last several years. There is no evidence in the Plan that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
- Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. Answer: ()

I write now to register my strong opposition to the plan as it is currently framed, as I do not believe the strategy and sites as a whole to be sound. The lack of practical detail regarding important infrastructures, such as roads, traffic flow and increased sewerage and water provision, indicates that the plan has not been positively prepared, and as such is not justified and consequently cannot be effective; it therefore does not meet GBC’s own overall aspirations and thereby fails the Duty to Cooperate.

Answer: (No)

No. The RSPB considers that the proposed submission local plan is not sound. We consider that there are problems with 3 of the tests of soundness. We do not consider that the plan is justified, in particular we do not consider that the inclusion of Wisley Airfield as a new settlement represents the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives. We do not consider that the Wisley Airfield aspect of the plan is deliverable, particularly as a scheme very similar to that proposed in the Plan has recently been refused by the Council on a number of grounds which are unlikely to resolvable, and that consequently the plan is not effective: in particular, the reliance upon this particular site to provide 14.4% of the Borough’s 2033 housing figure places the delivery of the overall housing target at risk. We also note that national policy (in particular paragraphs 117 to 119 of the National Planning Policy Framework) highlight the importance of ensuring effective protection of internationally important wildlife sites through the local plan process but consider that the inclusion of the Wisley Airfield proposal runs counter to that policy direction, meaning that the plan is not consistent with national policy. We expand on these points in our comments on Policy A35: Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham below.

In order to make the plan sound the proposed Wisley Airfield site allocation (and its associated references) needs to be removed from the plan. This will make the plan consistent with national policy by respecting the policy and legislative safeguards accorded to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area, remove uncertainties about the delivery of a large proportion of the housing, and remove an inappropriate settlement proposal from the plan.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: ()

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot ‘buy into’ this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in PRE Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant ‘yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as ‘South West Guildford Urban’ is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included ‘significant changes’ according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

| Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness |
| Answer: () |

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.
I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of 'exceptional' is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term 'exceptional'?
The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.
I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:
1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councilors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provison that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

10. The GBC proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

11. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

12. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.
In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

Answer:

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
19. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness
Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.
Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer: (Yes)

COMMENT: We broadly support the strategy set out within Policy S2 with regard to the delivery of development to meet the needs of the Borough over the plan period and note the fact that Policy S2 explains that the targets set out for each year of the plan post-adoption are not a ceiling, thus emphasising that these are minimum requirements and that delivery in excess of these targets is supported.

However, having regard to the supporting text to the policy and the housing trajectory set out in the 2016 Land Availability Assessment, it is evident that the plan currently anticipates that much of the delivery will occur in the later years of the plan period, when infrastructure delivery will facilitate large-scale allocations to be brought forward and that a number of smaller deliverable housing sites (i.e. sites which are available now, offer a suitable location for development now, and are achievable with a realistic prospect that housing will be delivered on the site within five years (2018 – 23)) are being allocated in the plan on the basis that they are developable sites (i.e. developable in years 2022 – 2028).

Having regard to historical under delivery in the Borough and the National Planning Policy Framework’s (NPPF) emphasis on significantly boosting the supply of housing as soon as possible, it is imperative that any opportunities to deliver identified residential sites early in the plan period are maximised in order to minimise the adverse socio-economic impacts associated with an under-supply of housing.

Therefore it is considered that to be considered sound the Plan needs to illustrate and demonstrate which of the proposed allocated sites are considered deliverable (as opposed to developable) and will be expected to deliver the full range of housing necessary to demonstrate and maintain a five-year supply of housing land to meet the housing target from the base date of 2018.

Early delivery of those sites which are deliverable and relatively unconstrained should be particularly welcomed and expedited in light of the low rates of delivery in the first years of the plan period, in order to reduce the cumulative deficit against the housing requirements.

Answer: ()

I object
The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot ‘buy into’ this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.
Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant ‘yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.
GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Attached documents:
The Plan is unsound and unsustainable.

The Plan is not ready for an inspector.

I do not agree that the Plan is sound for the following reasons:

• “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

• The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

• The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB’s and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

• The draft Plan does not accord with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB’s and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified, together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites - which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

• Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the BREXIT referendum.

• The housing number is at least double the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last several years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

• Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag behind development and lead to much higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

• The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
Whilst we support the Council’s intention in seeking to meet its objectively assessed housing need, we believe that further modifications are required before the plan can be found sound. The fact that the housing numbers are heavily ‘back loaded’ causes concerns that the immediate significant shortfall in the housing land supply is not addressed and that a five year housing supply is unlikely to be achieved which is a requirement of the adopted plan. The reliance on bringing key items of infrastructure forward for a significant proportion of identified sites poses a risk on supply coming forward early in the plan period at a sustained rate and does not allow for choice or competition within the market.

There also appears to be several inconsistencies within the spatial strategy and between comparable sites that have been allocated and those that have not. The plan needs to identify more sites that are deliverable in years 1-5 of the plan period.

Soundness

It is therefore our view that the Council’s approach to education planning in the Proposed Submission Local Plan is fundamentally unsound, for the following reasons.

Failure to positively plan for education needs, including the needs of existing schools.

The Proposed Submission Local Plan and accompanying documents undertake a very high-level assessment of the need for school places but do not undertake any proper analysis of the timing of requirements or a proper matching of the location and nature of demand for places. Moreover, the only specific references to the Howard of Effingham School, and its ability to meet needs, in the appendix to the LAA (2016), are factually incorrect.

There is an existing shortfall of education capacity and the most recent School Organisation Plan (2015/16 to 2024/25) identifies rising demand for secondary school (Year 7) places across that period. As we have noted above, the Council suggests that none of the strategic sites hosting schools are likely to commence before 2020/21, and secondary schools typically take 18 months to two years to build. In addition, the process of setting up a new school tends to be a much more protracted and costly process than expanding an existing school.

The Council has not engaged positively with Howard of Effingham School as part of the Local Plan process to address either its capacity to meet either current or future needs. The Proposed Submission Local Plan is entirely silent on how current schools can be expanded or altered.

Failure to demonstrate that the approach to school delivery is appropriate against reasonable alternatives

Planning to meet education needs is an important priority for the Government, and should be undertaken in partnership with schools themselves in accordance with clear principles established in national policy. In this stage of the Local Plan process, the Council has deleted three allocations and replaced them with entirely new allocations with no direct consultation with a Multi-Academy Trust that operates its main school on one of the originally allocated sites.

The ‘RAG’ approach used to justify allocations in the LAA (2016) and the Sustainability Appraisal is superficial and does not properly consider any of the detailed issues which need to be addressed in identifying the appropriateness of sites for schools. The assessment of sites appears to be based on qualitative statements with limited explanation as to why previously allocated sites have been removed. The proposed allocated site at Normandy and Flexford has the same level of Green Belt ‘sensitivity’ as the Effingham site and yet an exception has been made.

Failure to demonstrate deliverability (effectiveness) of allocated schools and sites
Appendix C of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, which sets out the detail of school site allocations, provides very little information on how schools might be delivered. It identifies broad school sizes (in forms of entry), but provides no timing of delivery and no identified delivery partner other than an ‘academy’ or ‘academy partnership’. The wording is exactly the same for each allocation. The section on funding is equally limited with assumptions that developers will provide land for free and fund the full build costs.

In contrast, the proposed expansion of Howard of Effingham has a deliverable approach, which could happen in the early years of the Plan, with a specifically identified site, an identified, experienced and successful Multi Academy Trust to operate the school and an identified delivery partner and funding mechanism.

Neither the Plan nor its supporting documents refer to the very significant challenges faced in opening a new school from scratch in a new strategic development, or the issues around cost, and quality of the range of opportunities which small four form of entry (4FE) secondary schools face. Two of the proposed three schools could be 4FE.

Conclusion

The previous Draft Local Plan (2014) allocated Howard of Effingham School, Effingham Lodge Farm and Brown’s Field (Site Allocation 69) to provide an expanded school together with enabling development for new homes. This allocation has been removed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan but in our view remains an appropriate, deliverable and sustainable means of meeting education needs in this part of the Borough.

The Howard Partnership Trust is keen to work constructively with the Borough Council to bring the Effingham site forward and would be happy to discuss any of the above points in more detail.

No.

We do not consider that the proposed Plan is sound as a whole in relation to the designation of new Green Belt and the implications this has for housing delivery both within the Borough and in meeting any unmet needs of neighbouring districts. In this respect, the Plan is not consistent with national policy; has not been positively prepared; is not justified and will not be effective in meeting objectively assessed needs.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.
There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot ‘buy into’ this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant ‘yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green Belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.
No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

<td>Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness</td>
<td>Answer: ()</td>

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

QUESTION 2 AND 3: LEGAL COMPLIANCE AND SOUNDNESS
As a whole our client considers that the Local Plan may be deemed to be legally compliant and sound subject to comments in relation to specific policies which for ease of reference we consider in turn below.

As a general point we are concerned that the Council have failed to “…assess the likely cumulative impacts on development in their area of all existing and proposed local standards…” (Paragraph 174 of the NPPF).

In particular our client has concerns regarding the cumulative impact of; Affordable Homes (Policy H2); Policy D1 (Making Better Places); Policy D2 (Sustainable Design, Construction and Energy) and the Council’s future proposals for CIL (only a preliminary charging schedule currently published)

The wider conformity with National guidance is considered individually below in our responses to individual policies.

Answer: (No)

Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach. The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. We believe it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 12,426 new homes by 2034. I submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. We are concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site. In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 400 homes per annum and the housing target after the application of constraints should be in the range of 200 homes per annum and kept under regular review.

The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation.

Policy in relation to sustainable development has been changed in a way that runs counter to GBC’s previous predetermined agenda for building on the Green Belt.

Under newly amended para 4.1.4 It is stated that ”Local Planning Authorities are encouraged to include a policy within their Local Plan that embraces the presumption in favour of sustainable development. Policy S1 meets this requirement and adopts the model wording suggested. When implementing Policy S1, local circumstances will betaken into account to respond to different opportunities for achieving sustainable development. In accordance with the NPPF, the PRESCRIPTION WILL NOT AUTOMATICALLY APPLY to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Direcstives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.

The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.” Under this amended policy it is clear that the OAN should be constrained. The specific amended policy described above is of particular relevance to Guildford including sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, Sites of Special Scientific Interest, Green Belt, Local Green Space, Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations at risk of flooding. In this situation, is it appropriate for the Appraisal to rule out not meeting needs in full from a sustainability perspective?

Notwithstanding that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements. The plan fails to produce a coherent development strategy for Guildford Town. GBC has deleted its independently commissioned Town Centre Master Plan by the well renowned firm of architects and master planners Allies and Morrison as a source document from the plan even though this master plan was previously well publicised and enthusiastically adopted by the Council.

Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2020.

Soundness

The RSPB considers that the proposed submission local plan is not sound. We consider that there are problems with 3 of the tests of soundness. We do not consider that the plan is justified, in particular we do not consider that the inclusion of Wisley Airfield as a new settlement represents the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives.

We do not consider that the Wisley Airfield aspect of the plan is deliverable, particularly as a scheme very similar to that proposed in the Plan has recently been refused by the Council on a number of grounds which are unlikely to resolvable, and that consequently the plan is not effective: in particular, the reliance upon this particular site to provide 16.1% of the Borough’s 2034 housing figure places the delivery of the overall housing target at risk.

We also note that national policy (in particular paragraphs 117 to 119 of the National Planning Policy Framework) highlight the importance of ensuring effective protection of internationally important wildlife sites through the local plan process but consider that the inclusion of the Wisley Airfield proposal runs counter to that policy direction, meaning that the plan is not consistent with national policy.

In order to make the plan sound the proposed Wisley Airfield site allocation (and its associated references) needs to be removed from the plan.

This will make the plan consistent with national policy by respecting the policy and legislative safeguards accorded to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area, remove uncertainties about the delivery of a large proportion of the housing, and remove an inappropriate settlement proposal from the plan.

Answer: (No)

For a plan to be considered sound, paragraph 182 sets out that it must be:
- Positively prepared – the plan must be prepared and based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed requirements and where it is consistent with achieving sustainable development;
- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against reasonable alternatives, based on appropriate evidence;
- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the National Planning Policy Framework.

Taking the above into consideration, we consider the Plan as a whole meets the test of soundness as set out within paragraph 182 of the National Planning Policy Framework.

I do not believe that the plan is sound specifically because

1. whilst evidence identifies significantly increased traffic levels in the Burpham area nothing has been shown to mitigate this

2. with minimal or non-existent current air quality monitoring, air quality impacts are not adequately assessed in the Plan. It cannot be determined what current pollution levels there are now and what the impact of the plan will be in the future, particularly with regard to the Burpham area

NPPF paragraph 182 states that the Local Plan will be examined to assess whether the plan has been prepared in accordance with the Duty to Cooperate, legal and procedural requirements, and whether it is sound. A local planning authority should submit a plan for examination which it considers is “sound”.

In relation to Amendment 8 of the Green Belt boundary at Flexford, we have assessed the soundness of the plan in accordance with the relevant parts of NPPF paragraph 182. These include the plan being consistent with national policy and justified using proportionate evidence.

NPPF paragraph 182 also states that the Local Plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework to demonstrate soundness.

In our previous representations, we commented that retaining ‘Westholme’ in the Green Belt would fail to accord with NPPF paragraph 85. This paragraph states that when defining boundaries, local authorities should define boundaries clearly using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent, and not include land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open.

We concluded that the previously shown Flexford Green Belt boundary was inconsistent with national policy (as the Council had not recognised the permanent physical features surrounding the site) and that retaining Westholme in the Green Belt would fail to accord with the requirements of NPPF paragraph 182.

We are therefore pleased that the Council has since taken our previous representations into consideration and has now amended the boundary to the south west corner of Flexford (Amendment 8) to remove ‘Westholme’ from the Green Belt boundary based on our supporting evidence.

National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be reassessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

“Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

1. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

2. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

3. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

The PSLP (June 2017) is not sound. The draft Plan has been published at a time when the Borough Council has administered a very significant under-delivery of housing when measured against 5 year housing land supply targets. Despite this lamentable context, the PSLP (June 2017) has amended the new Plan period, significantly reduced the OAN for the borough, and weighted annualised housing delivery to the back end of the new Plan period meaning that by 2027 (even using the Council’s proposed reduced OAN) there would be an accumulated 1000 dwelling shortfall when measured against the minimum annualised housing deliver target. The PSLP will therefore exacerbate house prices, harm affordability, and lead to further shortages of new market and affordable housing.
The PSLP has not taken on any unmet need from neighbouring authorities, and at a time of record demand for family and affordable homes the Borough Council has placed too much reliance on major sites that will take many years to deliver and it has omitted sites that could come forward in the first part of the Plan period (for example: Land at Pond Farm and Land south of Pond Farm Road (Site No. 80) which the draft Local Plan had draft allocated in previous versions of the emerging Local Plan. Site No. 80 is well located to a sustainable settlement, is close to a railway station and existing bus routes and GBC's own evidence base assessments show that Site No. 80 can be delivered without causing significant harm to the landscape or Green Belt.

The Local Plan is not sound because it fails to comply with paragraphs 14, 47, 84, 85 and 182 of the National Planning Policy Framework.

In particular, the plan fails to meet the full objectively-assessed need for housing over the whole of the plan period and fails to achieve a five-year supply of housing land on adoption of the Local Plan.

In addition, the Review of Green Belt and the Spatial Development Strategy have not given sufficient weight to meeting the full objectively-assessed need for housing throughout the life of the plan and the need to promote sustainable patterns of development.

Please refer to the accompanying report by Sustainable Land Products (Tangley Place Concept Statement) for further details.

Refer to the attached documents that set out our client's case for why the following aspects of the plan are unsound:

- Meeting objectively assessed housing needs, including Woking Borough Council's unmet housing needs (Policy S2: Planning for the borough - our spatial development strategy)
- Ensuring a robust and deliverable employment land strategy (Policy E1: Meeting employment needs and Policy E3: Maintaining employment capacity and improving employment floorspace)
- The deletion of Site A34: Broadford Business Park as a residential site allocation contributing to the inability of Guildford Borough Council to meet objectively assessed housing need, including unmet need, in full.

On the basis of the above and evidence contained in the attached reports, our client considers the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be unsound and fail the tests of paragraph 182 of the NPPF and associated guidance.
Comment ID: pslp17q/666  Respondent: 17345441 / Thakeham Homes (Sarah Sutcliffe)  Agent:

Answer: (No)

NPPF, para 182 sets out the requirements for a Local Plan to be found ‘sound’. We believe that the Local Plan is currently unsound as it stands on the basis that:

• The Local Plan is not positively prepared, as it fails to meet objectively assessed development requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities;

• The Local Plan is not effective as it is not based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities;

• The Local Plan is not consistent with national policy, particularly in relation to NPPF, para 14. The reduction in housing provision in Policy S2 demonstrates that the Council is not positively seeking opportunities to meet development needs.

We consider that some standards and requirements stipulated in the proposed policies are unjustified, and the Council should demonstrate how these conform with national policy guidance. Where there is insufficient evidence to demonstrate a requirement for such policies, these should be deleted from the Local Plan.

Availability, Suitability & Achievability

Availability

The NPPG provides the following guidance in regard to considering whether a site is available for development:

“A site is considered available for development, when, on the best information available, there is confidence that there are no legal or ownership problems, such as unresolved multiple ownerships, ransom strips tenancies or operation requirements of landowners. This will often mean that land is controlled by a developer or landowner who has expressed an intention to develop”

NPPG Paragraph 021 Ref. 3-020-20140306

As highlighted within this representation, the site is controlled by Thakeham Homes Ltd and we wish to actively engage with the Council to promote the site for the delivery of around 200 much needed homes.

Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering a number of high quality residential schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire and should the Council allocate the site for removal from the Green Belt, we would look to commence development on site at the earliest opportunity.

Suitability
The NPPG provides the following guidance when considering whether a site is suitable for development:

“Sites in existing development plans or with planning permission will generally be considered suitable for development although it may be necessary to assess whether circumstances have changed which would alter their suitability”

The site lies adjacent to the settlement boundary of Shalford, which is proposed to be inset from the Green Belt within the Proposed Submission Local Plan. We support the proposed insetting of the village, and consider that this site could provide an extension to the built area to provide housing. The insetting of the settlement reflects the sustainability of the village and the suitability of the area as a location for some level of growth in the plan period.

As stated above, the site is set within a sustainable, edge-of-settlement location adjacent to the proposed settlement boundary and the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study Volume III (2013) notes that “the site is surrounded by defensible boundaries”.

We therefore consider that the site is suitable for the delivery of residential development and should therefore be removed from the Green Belt.

Achievability

In determining whether a site is achievable for development, the NPPF provides the following guidance:

“A site is considered achievable for development where there is a reasonable prospect that the particular type of development will be developed on the site at a particular point in time. This is essentially a judgement about the economic viability of the site and the capacity of the developer to complete and let or sell the development over a certain period”

Given the acute housing need within the Borough and the relative lack of constraints affecting this site, it is considered that the site could deliver around 200 dwellings within the plan period.

As stated above, Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering schemes of a similar size and scale throughout Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire, and has the capacity to deliver the development of the site to provide much needed new homes within the plan period.

Deliverability

For the reasons above, the site is considered to be available, suitable and achievable, and therefore deliverable in accordance with the NPPG. We have appended to this representation an indicative site plan without constraints to illustrate where development could potentially be delivered on the site.

Conclusions

In conclusion, we consider that the reduction in OAN and consequently intended housing provision is unsound, and the Council has not provided the required justification for this reduction. The intention of Guildford Borough to not contribute to the unmet needs in the HMA is of particular concern.

As demonstrated above, the Local Plan is not positively prepared, effective or consistent with national policy and therefore in accordance with NPPF, paragraph 182 is not ‘sound’.

We consider that some standards and requirements stipulated in the proposed policies are unjustified, and the Council should demonstrate how these conform with national policy and guidance. Where there is insufficient evidence to demonstrate a requirement for such policies, these should be deleted from the Local Plan.
As detailed above, we have actively promoted this site for residential development and are pleased that the Council has sought to inset the settlement of Shalford from the Green Belt. Notwithstanding this, it is our view that the Council should work proactively to identify and include additional housing site allocations in sustainable locations in the towns and villages and areas of least constraint to meet the full OAN for the HMA and provide sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change in accordance with NPPF, paragraph 14.

We have demonstrated within these representations that the Land East of Chinthurst Lane, Shalford, is available, suitable and deliverable for residential development. As such, we recommend that this site is allocated to assist with meeting the Borough’s housing land supply shortfall, as the site is deliverable within the first 5-years of the plan period and provides a sustainable location for residential development.

This is a consultation response to the Proposed Submission Local Plan dated June 2017, mainly in relation to the Normandy and Flexford area where I am a resident. I am by profession an environmental consultant specialising in advising local authorities on matters of ecology, open space and planning. I am a former local government Assistant Director in these areas.

I support the removal of policies / sites A46 and A47 and am pleased that the Council has recognised the multi-faceted reasoning for this.

I however strongly object to several other aspects of the plan relating to Normandy, Flexford, the Hogs Back, general changes to the green belt boundary and how the plan interprets / fails to interpret parts of the evidence base. I believe these elements mean the plan remains unsound.

I object to the housing need statistics on which the plan is based as unsound. The projection for new houses over the plan period amounts to an increase of over 20% yet the Office for National Statistics (ONS) projection is for a population growth of some 10%: why is there this discrepancy?. The ONS projection was based on trends before the Brexit vote and on present indications there is a high risk that Brexit will result in the growth of both the economy and population becoming negative. The plan has not been adjusted for this possibility and with the likelihood that there will be a shortage of both private and public funds for investment in development and infrastructure proceeding with the present plan looks unjustified and unwise.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

“We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the borough. The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan”.

The lack of any plan for either physical or green infrastructure improvement clearly contradicts this in respect of both A43 Garlicks Arch and A42 Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Development of these sites without the contingent infrastructure would therefore be contrary to the stated aims and themes of the Plan, and should not go ahead.

In addition specifically relating to The consultation on the Guildford Borough Council proposed Submission Plan under Regulation 19

• the evidence base is unsound, out of date and inconsistent. Particularly the SHMA, (2017 Guildford Update), the ELNA, the SHAR, the Green Belt and Countryside Study, and the Air Quality review.
• there is no comprehensive list of the evidence base making it impossible to know what the Council relies upon.
• it is littered with basic errors, including simple mathematical errors.
• the drafting is weak and unenforceable.
• there is no justification for including TFM (site A35) due to sustainability, air quality, impact on the TBHSPA, green belt, infrastructure cost.

I object to the revised Draft Local Plan. I objected before and I maintain that objection. It is my view that the submission plan is unsound due to the large number of errors in the plan, the poor quality and lack of transparency in the evidence base, the accessibility of the evidence base, including the fact that huge files have again been used and these are not accessible to those with poor internet connections. There is also considerable lack of clarity.

I don’t believe that GBC have used the right process, as it is clear to me that there have been significant changes in many material aspects, yet they have used the more limited consultation as if the changes were minor. This is either a huge error of judgement, or an intention to marginalise the local people from the process.

The draft local plan should not be submitted as it stands because the housing number used is clearly unsound. No acceptable justification for removing Green Belt protection has been demonstrated. Constraints for infrastructure and Green Belt should be applied but the draft local plan fails to do this. In my opinion the draft local plan as a whole is unsound.

When the responses to the last consultation were published mine was missing and other comments appeared under my name. It took several weeks for this to be corrected.

The NPPF sets out the principal components to be included in local plans. Paragraph 182 requires that in order to be “sound” a DPD should be positively prepared, justified, effective and consistent with national policy.

In order to be justified the DPD must be founded upon a robust and credible evidence base and represent the most appropriate strategy when considered against the reasonable alternatives.

Effective means the document must be deliverable, flexible and be able to be monitored.

The positive preparation test also requires plans to be objectively assess development and infrastructure requirements from neighbouring authorities.

Attached documents:

Comment ID: pslp17q/672  Respondent: 17467233 / Guildford College Group (Guildford College Group)  Agent: Indigo Planning (Daniel Andrews)

Answer: (No)

As with the previous Regulation 19 consultation, we maintain that the Proposed Submission Local Plan is unsound because:

• It has not been positively prepared and it fails to adequately meet Guildford’s housing need or exceed minimum housing requirements;
• It is not based on a robust spatial strategy to meet housing need;
• It is not effective and is unlikely to deliver enough new homes over the Plan period; and
• It is inconsistent with the aims of national planning policy in terms of the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

Attached documents:
For the Plan to comply with the test of soundness it must be:

- Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.

We do not consider the Plan will be effective in delivering the required housing growth in line with the needs of the Borough. This is because:

- There is over reliance of very large strategic sites;
- Effective joint working has not been demonstrated with neighbouring authorities on cross boundary strategic priorities including the need for Guildford to deliver additional housing where those authorities are more heavily constrained;

We do not consider the Plan to be justified because of flaws in the Green Belt and Countryside Study and which has consequently resulted in the sub-optimum adjustment of the Green Belt boundaries.

We welcome the approach adopted by local councils in Surrey of working together based on Memoranda of Understanding, although we note that neighbouring Waverley has not signed.

We are concerned that the Strategic Housing Market Area is not meaningful and omits nearby communities in Hampshire, such as Rushmoor, that are very important for planning housing, employment and transport in Guildford. Further, a strategic approach to Green Belt planning and commuting requires cooperation with more distant communities with transport and economic links. Aldershot, Frimley and Portsmouth are all relevant to Guildford.

Within the somewhat arbitrary Strategic Market Area, differences in approach have a distorting effect, as seen in Guildford’s Sustainability Appraisal.

Several large developments are proposed in neighbouring Plans that would have a very significant effect on Guildford and it is of concern that the impact of these has not been specifically addressed as part of Guildford’s Local Plan process.

There is no discussion in the transport papers about the traffic generated by Dunsfold or Cranleigh wanting to use Guildford’s roads. For example, the A281 is forecast to be far over capacity at Millbrook. Guildford BC is saying, in its views on the Town Centre Master Plan and the Transport Strategy, that it wants to opt for Scenario 2 which means a reduction of say 30% in capacity. So what will happen to traffic from Waverley that wants to go to the hospital or University? Will it try using the B3000? This does not appear to have been thought about.

We sustain our previous comment about the need to cooperate with settlements beyond the Green Belt and outside the supposed HMA.

We are concerned the impact of development at Dunsfold needs to be better planned and managed.

Please refer to our comments on unmet need from Woking under evidence and soundness. Cooperation is only meaningful if all parties apply policy on a common basis and GBC is failing to apply constraints appropriately to prevent sprawl and congestion.

The Guildford Society is concerned that the Duty to Co-operate has not been shown to be applied evenhandedly. The impact of developments beyond the boundaries of Guildford Borough have not been fully assessed for impact on Guildford’s infrastructure, and, in providing for an inflated Objective Assessment of Need number in full (GL Hearn’s target), it is likely Guildford will have to take additional development from our neighbours who we expect to restrict their development by applying greater emphasis to maintaining Green Belt boundaries.

There is no doubt in our minds that Guildford Borough Council has attempted to co-operate with numerous agencies and neighbouring boroughs. There is relatively little evidence (including in the Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper (2017)) to suggest there has been much tangible or useful response, which is deeply disappointing when the plan depends so much on external organisations.

We have no evidence on which to base a decision.

Thank you for giving Woking Borough Council the opportunity to comment on the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites. Woking, Guildford and Waverley Borough Councils are in the same Housing Market Area and Functional Economic Market Area and as such have common strategic cross boundary issues of interest to be considered as part of the plan making process. Under the Duty to Cooperate, Woking Borough Council has already worked in partnership with Guildford Borough Council to scope the common strategic issues of interest, including housing, transport and infrastructure provision, and in particular, the traffic implications of your plan in Woking. Officers from both authorities have signed a Memorandum of Understanding to work together to address both current and future strategic cross boundary issues. So far, the partnership working between the two authorities is positive and purposeful. It is important to highlight that Woking Borough Council is also in the process of preparing two Development Plan Documents, and the Duty to Cooperate discussions have been and should continue to be a two way dialogue between the two authorities to the mutual benefit of our respective Plans.

Answer: (No)

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley’s plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking’s unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

I take this to mean duty to cooperate with neighbouring Authorities – I see no evidence that this has taken place. Traffic generated affects all neighbouring boroughs not just those taken as a joint housing area. For example the proposed Wisley Airfield site will have a major impact on Elmbridge.

Question 4

Duty to cooperate

The response following repeats the relevant part response to Question 1.

* COOPERATION

Set originally for reasons stretching far back into mediaeval history, the local authority boundaries do not any longer reflect real market boundaries. The Guildford work, shopping and housing areas stretch over the County boundary into Rushmore and far beyond. For one example, the pool of cheap housing for Guildford is in Aldershot. The draft shows signs of discussions with Waverley and Woking but little evidence of in-depth cooperation with Rushmore and beyond - instead, Rushmore and beyond authorities are cooperating with authorities to their west, but not to the east.

THE ORIGINAL 1944 SPECIFICATION FOR GREEN BELT POSTULATED THAT EXPANSION WOULD LEAP THE GREEN BELT. That means Rushmore, not Gosden Hill Farm.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

Thank you for consulting with the Home Builders Federation (HBF) on the submission version of the Guildford Local Plan.

The HBF is the principal representative body of the house-building industry in England and Wales. Our representations reflect the views of our membership which includes multi-national PLC’s, regional developers and small, local builders. In any one year, our members account for over 80% of all new “for sale” market housing built in England and Wales as well as a large proportion of newly built affordable housing.

We would like to submit the following representations on the Local Plan and we would welcome, in due course, participating in hearings of the Examination in Public.

Paragraph 1.9, page 9: Duty to Cooperate
The HBF has some concerns that the Guildford Local Plan is unclear about how any potential unmet housing needs in the Housing Market Area arising in Waverley and Woking will be accommodated. As such the Local Plan is not positively prepared.

There are many very positive aspects to the new Local Plan that are supported by the HBF. However, we feel the Local Plan could say more about the cross-boundary strategic question of housing. It would have been useful, for example, to know whether an unmet housing need is expected to arise in either Waverley or Woking and how this situation is going to be dealt with. It would be helpful to know whether it is anticipated if the three HMA authorities will collaborate to address any unmet need. We have noted the Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper of June 2016. Even though Guildford is to be applauded for planning to meet its own OAN in full, it is possible that the other two authorities of the Housing Market Area (HMA) – namely Waverley and Woking – may be faced by a shortfall in supply. While the collaboration on a joint SHMA is strong evidence of effective cooperation, the paper does not say much about the housing land supply situation in either Waverley or Woking.

It seems highly likely in the case of the borough of Woking that Woking will not be able to address its OAN in full. We say this because Woking’s current Core Strategy – examined and found sound back in 2012 (Woking was one of the first authorities in the country to have a local plan found sound under the new NPPF-based regime) – did have an identified undersupply of potentially circa 300 dwellings per annum (dpa). It is difficult to be conclusive about the size of the unmet need since the provisions of the NPPF were not strictly applied in the case of Woking since the plan was devised under the auspices of the South East Plan and submitted prior to the publication of the new national policy. Nevertheless, on the basis of the evidence that was available, it was judged that the plan did not meet its OAN in full: the OAN was judged to be potentially about 594 dpa. This was not a conclusive verdict, as explained in paragraph 81 of the inspector’s report (dated 26 July 2012), but it seemed likely on the basis of the evidence that had been submitted. As the inspector concluded:

“Whilst the submitted CS does not plan to meet the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough, I am mindful that the NPPF indicates that the aspiration to meet housing need is dependent upon consistency with other parts of the Framework. With this in mind and as evidenced by the SA, the Council has considered alternative levels of housing provision, for example, its Option 3[1] which considered the provision of 594 new dwellings per year.”

Furthermore, the affordable housing need in Woking was assessed to be 499 dpa (see paragraph 78 of the inspector’s report). Provision was made in the Core Strategy for only 292 dpa. This figure was derived from the South East Plan target. Therefore, whatever the OAN figure might have been, it was likely that Woking was not be able to meet its OAN in full.

There is, consequently, a question about the unmet need that has accumulated in Woking since 2011 (the difference between the possible OAN of 594 dpa and the supply of 292 dpa) as well as the ability of Woking to accommodate its newly assessed OAN figure of 517 dpa.

We are concerned that despite the assurances made at the time by Woking Council, little concrete action has been taken to resolve the problem of this shortfall. When Woking’s Core Strategy was assessed by the examining inspector back in 2011, the inspector had concluded that the other authorities of the HMA, would quickly come to the assistance of Woking. As the inspector commented:

“It will be incumbent upon the Borough and its neighbours to ensure that the processes and outcomes related to the Duty to Cooperate are honed further to maximise the sustainable delivery of suitable housing.” (paragraph 82).

For various reasons this did not happen. While it is possible that Woking may be able to recycle sufficient previously developed land to accommodate the new figures contained in the SHMA September 2015 study, this seems unlikely. We note that the new OAN figure for Woking of 517 dpa is more-or-less similar to the potential OAN figure of 594 dpa of the current Core Strategy. This would suggest that Woking will still be confronted by a problem which is at least comparable to the one it faced back in 2011. The difference is that while parties were assured that the problem of the unmet need would be addressed in the subsequent two years, this did not occur.

Woking’s ability to address its OAN in full probably depends on a green belt review. This is what the SEP envisaged and what the examining inspector referred to in his report.
These are matters that may have a bearing on the Guildford Local Plan.

Ideally a joint or aligned plans for all three authorities would be produced, setting out a strategy for addressing the unmet need in either Waverley or Woking (assuming there is one) and probably incorporating a coordinated green belt review. We recognise, however, the difficulties associated with preparing plans and coordinated efforts with other authorities. This is not necessarily a cooperation failing of the Guildford Local Plan but we are concerned that there is potentially an issue in Woking that the Guildford Local Plan will not be able to help resolve.

We have noted the discussion on pages 11 and 12 of the Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper about the housing situation. We note that a memorandum of understanding (MoU) has been agreed and signed committing the three councils of the HMA to reviewing the SHMA in three years. We note that the review of the SHMA is linked to a review of the local plans, but only if such a review is deemed necessary. We feel that the intentions of the three authorities on this question needs to be clarified better. An early review may become necessary if there is an unmet need in the HMA is discovered that needs to be accommodated. We have considered the MoU in appendix 4. The key thing that is missing from this document is any confirmation that there is an unmet need that might need addressing. We accept that it may be too soon to confirm this, because Waverley and Woking are still doing work on their own local plans which will include identifying housing land capacity within their own areas. Nevertheless, a commitment by all three authorities to finding a way to accommodate a potential unmet need would have been welcome. We feel this would have demonstrated full compliance with the duty to cooperate. The MoU is a too vague on this question.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Under the Duty to Cooperate policy the area under consideration has narrowed and the wider area has been overlooked. The Green Belt is also the Metropolitan Green Belt and is of great importance as an amenity which serves London.

London in effect reaches to Leatherhead and without the principle of permanence of the Green Belt being adhered to, the city will spread and urbanise the protected ring of countryside surrounding it, engulfing Guildford and its villages in the process.

The Mayor of London, Sadiq Khan, stated on 22 June 2016:

“I am determined to oppose building on the Green Belt, which is now even more important than when it was created.”

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Comment ID: SQLP16/1341  Respondent: 8593537 / Normandy Parish Council (Leslie GA Clarke)  Agent:
Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate
Answer: (No)
Normandy Parish Council strongly objects to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites ("Local Plan") and in particular to the allocation of land south of Normandy and north of Flexford for substantial development.

In principle objection to development of this site

The Parish Council opposes the principle of the development of this site:

1. The site lies within the Green Belt, and has been assessed by Guildford Borough Council (GBC) as having high sensitivity in Green Belt terms, serving to check the southward sprawl of Normandy and northward sprawl of Flexford, preventing the merger of those settlements, and safeguarding the countryside from encroachment (see Green Belt Purposes Assessment, April 2014). Accordingly, given the very significant contribution made by the site to the Green Belt in this area, it should not be developed.

2. The development of the site would not amount to sustainable development within the meaning of the National Planning Policy Framework. GBC's claim that the approach would be sustainable fails to attach any or any meaningful weight to the environmental aspects of sustainability.

3. The proposed allocation has not been the subject of any proper assessment of highways impacts. The local road network is incapable of coping with the proposed scale of development and there is no evidence that the necessary highways improvements are feasible or deliverable within the plan period.

4. The site lies within 1 km of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area and accordingly requires substantial provision of alternative green space as an avoidance strategy. Preferable sites for development elsewhere could be delivered without such provision.

The development of this site would significantly affect Normandy and the surrounding area and has not been justified in the Local Plan or in the supporting documents. In addition to the principled objections to the development set out above, the Parish Council considers that there have been substantial flaws in the plan-making process to date which go to both the merits and legality of the Local Plan.

Specific criticisms of the plan making process

A sound plan must be based on proper evidence and consistent with national policy. To be lawful, the plan must be promoted on the basis of a proper analysis of the environmental impacts of policies together with an assessment of reasonable alternatives (see Environmental Assessment of Plans and Programmes Regulations 2004/1633 and e.g. Calverlon PC v Nottingham City Council [2015] EWHC 1078 (Admin), per Jay J at (67)).

The history of the Local Plan is known to GBC. The Parish Council wishes to emphasise that in the 2014 plan, it was not proposed that this site be allocated for development. Since then, there has been no further Green Belt review, but there has been a Green Belt Purposes Assessment which identified this site as particularly sensitive in Green Belt terms.

There is no explanation in the published documents of the "exceptional circumstances" (NPPF, 80) that are said to justify release of the site from the Green Belt. The Green Belt Capacity Study does not explain why such exceptional circumstances exist, and nor does the Sustainability Appraisal ("SA"). Extraordinarily, the SA states that the development of the site is regarded as a "given" (6.3.16). The SA acknowledges (in footnote 68, p 131) the greater impacts on the Green Belt in developing sites such as this, but does not explain why such development is nonetheless justified on both environmental grounds and by reference to the exceptional circumstances test.

The SA is open to further criticism through its failure to accord any weight to the Green Belt in analysing various options. This is a significant deficiency which renders the SA unsound and indeed unlawful, since the alternatives are not subjected to proper analysis on environmental grounds.

Further, GBC has consulted on the Local Plan with the proviso that this site should be deleted from the plan should it be demonstrated the provision of a secondary school on the site is not required.
However, there has been no proper assessment of whether alternative sites could accommodate the school, as is clearly required given the "exceptional circumstances" test. GBC's assessment of alternative secondary school sites notes that Surrey County Council's concerns as to remoteness of the site from development are as was only overcome by the new housing provision in the Local Plan i.e. that housing which is proposed on this site. The alternatives assessment fails to identify the land area required for the school, and fails to assess alternative sites on the basis of their contribution (or otherwise) to the Green Belt. This is a fundamentally flawed sequential assessment.

Even if this site is the only possible school site (which is not accepted) then there is no explanation as to why 1,100 houses are required to be delivered in addition to the school, with a materially greater impact on the Green Belt and the environment generally. Part of the justification offered for the selection of this site for a school is that it is close to the proposed housing (together with other development sites). This argument is circular, since if the school is not required in this location then nor is the housing. In any event, this justification does not compare alternative sites on a fair basis, since other sites are rejected for schools on the basis of their Green Belt location. This site also lies within the Green Belt.

The Leader of GBC has suggested that the proposed houses should be regarded as "enabling development". The Parish Council submits that school funding should be achieved through the normal channels and not through the release of Green Belt land to housing development. This suggested cross-subsidy is an unjustified claim (there has been no viability analysis) and in any event is not a proper planning reason for allocating the site for development. The Local Plan is therefore unsound.

Next Steps

GBC's consultation on the Local Plan was based on the proviso that policy A46 was to be deleted in the absence of justification for the location of a secondary school at the site.

The Parish Council has seen no proper justification for the location of a secondary school in this Green Belt site. The selection of the site appears to have been justified on the basis that it will be close to the housing identified in the allocation. This makes for an entirely circular argument; the housing is only put forward on the basis of the school, and the school on the basis of the housing.

This cannot amount to an exceptional circumstance for the release of land from the Green Belt. There has been no adequate sequential site assessment for a new secondary school.

In those circumstances, GBC is invited to confirm that policy A46 will be deleted from the Local Plan because the school location has not been justified. The Spatial Strategy should be amended accordingly.

We await GBC's urgent confirmation that the Local Plan will not be proceeding with Policy A46 and that the land in question will remain within the Green Belt.

Introduction

This representation relates to the duty to co-operate which is a legal duty that a local authority has to have fulfilled in order for a Submission Draft Local Plan to be allowed to move forward for Examination.

The Legal Duty

The importance of the ‘Duty to Cooperate’ is highlighted in the PPG in (Reference ID: 9-002-20140306) which states:

“The duty to cooperate is a legal test that requires cooperation between local planning authorities and other public bodies to maximise the effectiveness of policies for strategic matters in Local Plans. It is separate from but related to the Local Plan test of soundness.

The Local Plan examination will test whether a local planning authority has complied with the duty to cooperate. The Inspector will recommend that the Local Plan is not adopted if the duty has not been complied with and the examination will not proceed any further” [our emphasis].

The PPG goes on (Reference ID: 9-008-20140306) to advise that:

“...The duty to cooperate seeks to ensure that local planning authorities lead strategic planning effectively through their Local Plans, addressing social, environmental and economic issues that can only be addressed effectively by working with other local planning authorities beyond their own administrative boundaries. For example, housing market and travel to work areas, river catchments and ecological networks may represent a more effective basis on which to plan for housing, transport, infrastructure, flood risk management, climate change mitigation and adaptation, and biodiversity. The aim is to encourage positive, continuous partnership working on issues that go beyond a single local planning authority’s area” [our emphasis].

With regard to what actions constitute effective cooperation under the duty to cooperate, the PPG states (Reference ID: 9-011-20140306):

“…The actions will depend on local needs which will differ, so there is no definitive list of actions that constitute effective cooperation under the duty. Cooperation should produce effective policies on cross boundary strategic matters. This is what local planning authorities and other public bodies should focus on when they are considering how to meet the duty. Local planning authorities should bear in mind that effective cooperation is likely to require sustained joint working with concrete actions and outcomes. It is unlikely to be met by an exchange of correspondence, conversations or consultations between authorities alone.

Authorities should submit robust evidence of the efforts they have made to cooperate on strategic cross boundary matters. This could be in the form of a statement submitted to the examination. Evidence should include details about who the authority has cooperated with, the nature and timing of cooperation and how it has influenced the Local Plan [our emphasis]

Paragraph 159 of the NPPF states that LPAs should collaborate with neighbouring authorities to prepare a SHMA. We comment further in the following section regarding our concerns about the accuracy and findings of the West Surrey SHMA.

Local Authorities are required to demonstrate that they have sought to meet not only their own full objectively assessed housing needs, but also addressed any unmet needs arising from their Housing Market Area or beyond if relevant (e.g. accommodating a proportion of London’s unmet Local Authorities are required to demonstrate that they have sought to meet not only their own full objectively assessed housing needs, but also addressed any unmet needs arising from their Housing Market Area or beyond if relevant (e.g. accommodating a proportion of London’s unmet needs). This is obviously a highly important strategic cross boundary matter.

The Council’s Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper (June 2016) refers in paragraphs 4.16 – 4.18 to liaison with the Mayor of London through the Greater London Authority. Mention is made of the fact that the Council has been represented by the Head of Planning Policy from Mole Valley Council on the Strategic Spatial Planning Officer Liaison Group (SSPOLG) which was set up to address strategic planning matters across the wider South-East. It has also been represented on its officer working group successor and also on the Political Steering Group attended by Members.

Whilst it is evident that the Council has engaged with other local authorities by attending meetings and workshops, it is not apparent what specific actions and outcomes have resulted from this co-operation. In the context of London, in terms of whether adequate provision has been made to assist in meeting London’s unmet housing needs, it is clear from reading paragraph 4.33 of the Duty to Co-operate Topic Paper that no uplift has been made to the Council’s overall housing requirement.

The Topic Paper goes on in paragraph 4.42 to state that pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) the three local authorities that constitute the West Sussex HMA (Guildford, Waverley and Woking) are:

“…in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground on housing delivery. This recognises that there is unmet need within the HMA and commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure as far as possible, and subject to the policies in the NPPF, housing needs across the HMA are met in full”.

We note that the Council states in paragraph 4.43 that it does not consider that it can sustainably accommodate any unmet housing need arising from Woking. However, no further justification or explanation of why this is considered to be the case, is provided. It is apparent that there is currently considerable uncertainty with regard to the final overall housing figure for Guildford, if it will be required to address unmet housing needs from Woking and Waverley. This demonstrates the importance of ensuring that an adequate buffer exists of deliverable housing supply over the course of the Plan period.

Paragraph 4.45 refers to the fact that the delivery of the former Wisley Airfield (2000 dwellings), Gosden Hill (2000 dwellings) and Blackwell Farm (1800 dwellings) are all dependent upon the delivery and timing of key infrastructure requirements on the A3, with the majority of provision expected post 2027.

Furthermore, the Topic Paper states in paragraph 4.65 that the former Wisley airfield site includes land which is allocated in the Surrey Waste Plan 2008 for waste development and safeguarded in the Aggregates Recycling Joint Development Plan Document 2013 as having potential for production of recycled and secondary aggregates, and for an aggregate recycling depot. Surrey County Council submitted comments to the recent planning application for this site (Ref: 15/P/00012) that the proposal would have an unacceptable impact on the provision of such facilities and is therefore contrary to these development plans.

This demonstrates that considerable uncertainty exists regarding the deliverability timescale for a very substantial component of the Council’s overall housing land supply.

We note that the Council has stated its commitment to the future preparation of a Joint Housing Trajectory across the HMA as part of its Land Availability Assessment update work. However, in the absence of this it is difficult to see how the Council is now able to demonstrate the soundness of its Proposed Submission Local Plan.

The Test

The Duty to Co-operate is a legal duty that has to be complied with. It has far more weight and importance than the test of soundness that is applied to individual policies and proposals within a draft Local Plan.

Proposed Change

We consider that in order for the Council to demonstrate that it has complied with the duty to co-operate, the Local Plan must contain a commitment to ensuring that the unmet needs of the Housing Market Area will be addressed.

The duty to cooperate is a legal test that requires cooperation between local planning authorities and other public bodies to maximise the effectiveness of policies for strategic matters in Local Plans. It is separate from but related to the Local Plan test of soundness.

While there is evidence of some co-operation with both Waverley and Woking Borough Councils during the Local Plan process, notably in relation to Housing need, there seems to be very little acknowledgement of increased traffic flows through Guildford Borough which would arise from potential new large scale developments such as the proposed new development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold Park (see above).

The Guildford housing market is also strongly related to the London housing market, with a regular flow of families out of London into the Borough. Downsedge RA has seen no evidence of any co-operation with housing authorities within the Greater London area, nor any appraisal of the possible implications of future changes to the London property market.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

1. Duty to Cooperate

In the past CPRE has been very aware of the requirement for local authorities to demonstrate evidence of having cooperated to plan for issues with cross boundary impacts (NPPF 181). Now NPPF includes a chapter dealing with Planning strategically across local boundaries’ on page 42 and GBC has followed this up with a Topic Paper on ‘Duty to Cooperate’ which explores the implications of this strategy. Sections in the Topic Paper under the headings “Enterprise M3 LEP” and “Meeting Needs” raise a number of issues about the newly established Strategic Economic Plan (SEP) and the choice of Guildford as one of four growth towns which are considered to be key to driving economic expansion across the Enterprise M3 area. As part of preparing the draft Local Plan, GBC has had regard to the SEP by seeking to meet both identified housing and employment needs. The emphasis on a “Sci:Tech Corridor” has also encouraged a focus on research, development and design activities and the provision of valuable knowledge-based employment. This in turn led to the proposed “allocation” of Blackwell Farm, which is owned by the University of Surrey, to be partly used as an extension to the Surrey Research Park and for 1,800 houses to be built on Green Belt land in a mixed use development. CPRE has objected to this proposal in its response to Policy A26 on page 17 of this submission. Policy E4 gives further details of the aspirational development concerned.

Little or no account is taken when making the Blackwell Heath proposal of the permanence of the Green Belt, the national importance of the AONB countryside, the problems of traffic congestion, and the lack of adequate infrastructure to provide easy access by either train to a new Guildford West station, or by road to and from the A31 on the Hogs Back. No consideration is given either as regards whether there is really a need to expand the Research Park onto Green Belt land in view of the very low density of buildings on this site, and the generous space allowed for surface parking. Surely, the provision of multi storey and/or underground parking should be given priority so that more space is made available for building this on the Research Park, the other two University campuses and at the Hospital.

- Wider Implications on Meeting Needs

The NPPF now requires that local plans meet objectively assessed needs, and where possible any unmet needs from neighbouring authorities as well where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development (NPPF 182).

Although Woking has indicated that it will have a substantial unmet need for housing, GBC has stated that Guildford Borough cannot assist them. Nonetheless CPRE is concerned that this new strategic policy approach suggests that the requirements of the economy are being given an unbalanced cross boundary ascendancy over well established environmental policies that are needed to protect the Green Belt and the Surrey Hills AONB at Guildford. This would seem to be influencing GBC planning in its adoption of the unusually high housing target of 693 from the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) whose recommendations are being questioned as flawed in the enclosed Green Balance review.

We find the draft Local Plan unrealistic not only because of its over ambitious onslaught on Green Belt policy but also because of the £3 billion shortfall in infrastructure backlog across the county which is recorded in the Surrey Infrastructure Study dated January 2016. This backlog has to include infrastructure issues relating to roads, rail, water as a finite resource, waste disposal and sewage treatment, flood issues, air pollution, and a range of other environmental and social considerations.

An example of a cross boundary impact includes the proposed development at Cranleigh and Dunsfold in Waverley which is clearly unsustainable and will cause major congestion problems all along the A281 to Guildford and will affect communities such as Bramley, Chilworth, Shalford, Shamley Green, and Wonersh as well as adding to the severe congestion in Guildford town centre and the junctions of the A3 serving the town. CPRE OBJECTION.

Proposals for development of the North Downs rail line will affect AONB countryside in a number of districts and will need to involve the Surrey Hills AONB Partnership. A range of issues concerning rights of way, level crossings, bridge infrastructure, stations, footpath crossing safety and passenger service will need consultation. The protection and enhancement of nationally important countryside will be a major consideration.

The River Wey Navigation requires that the National Trust is consulted across district boundaries. Agreement is needed not only with Natural England concerning water quality standards but also how the flood plain is protected and not harmed by the proposed housing development in relevant boroughs. The effect of run-off from new building sites and of climate change has to be considered as a priority.

The emphasis on school provision is a repeated feature of the draft local plan in connection with new site proposals within the Green Belt. This has led CPRE to review catchment areas for schools (and the associated road traffic problems) near the borough’s boundaries with Mole Valley, Waverley and Woking. Communities such as Effingham, Leatherhead, Mayford, Ripley and Sheerwater are all affected. The planning for schools on new sites seems to be linked with the flawed concept that this is a means of obtaining Green Belt boundary revision as they represent “exceptional circumstances”. CPRE OBJECTION.

Another current problem relates to the fact that Surrey is already the most overflown county in England and aviation noise disturbance is increasing within the Surrey Hills AONB due to the number of active airports around the county and this affects Guildford. In addition to Gatwick and Heathrow, for which no runway expansion decision appears likely before mid October at the earliest, we refer in particular to proposals for expansion at Biggin Hill, City, and Farnborough. The CAA absolves itself from control of low flying movement below 4,000 feet as this is considered an LPA responsibility. The noise implications of Farnborough’s controlled airspace proposal affects all landing and take-off flight paths in the surrounding area. CAA policies have endorsed the concept of narrower flight paths until recently, and this resulted in severe noise implications for some communities, and harmed the remote character and tranquillity of nationally important countryside. The plans for Farnborough are also of particular concern as they will affect the use of the largest centre for gliding in the country at Lasham. Growth in aviation activity at these airports, whether for passengers or freight, will also lead to yet more road congestion. CPRE OBJECTION.

CPRE has already provided a substantial commentary on this topic for the 2016 Plan Submission we have made which we do not repeat here.

However, we are very concerned about a recent proposal which appears to be the possible likely outcome of the Waverley Borough Council Local Plan Part 1 Examination Hearings which took place from 27th June to 6th July under the Chairmanship of Inspector Jonathan Bore. This suggested that because of the inability of Woking Borough Council to meet its OAN target under the West Surrey SHMA due to the Green Belt, the shortfall in their housing provision would have to be met by Waverley and Guildford. We understand that Guildford Borough Council have already made clear that they will not accept this “uplift proposal” from Woking, a decision which CPRE fully endorses. We wonder how much cross boundary communication took place if any between Guildford and Woking Councils on this matter, as required by the Localism Act 2011, before Woking made their decision to go ahead with a policy allowing the 50% constraint in question to be introduced.

CPRE expressed its reservations from the outset regarding the way in which the West Surrey SHMA was constituted at a meeting in 2009, when it was pointed out that Guildford, Waverley and Woking did not have much in common as a Market Area. The “Duty to Cooperate” requirement has been made even more difficult by the housing growth now being implemented in other areas outside Guildford such as Rushmoor, Waverley and Woking which appear to be disregarding Green Belt policy. We give below some examples of the problems to be faced in this context.

- DUNSFOLD: We have requested CPRE Waverley to summarise their current assessment of the potential impact of building proposals in Cranleigh and Dunsfold on Guildford. The Waverley Borough Local Plan draft locates 2,600 new houses at Dunsfold Park (the former Dunsfold Aerodrome) which depends on the A281, the only A road in this area. The road is already heavily congested on a daily basis, particularly in the morning and evening peak periods with traffic impacts on Shalford village to the South of Guildford town but within Guildford Borough. In the morning peak period, the traffic congestion is typified by long queues forming in Bramley (within Waverley Borough) at the roundabout in the centre of the village. The delay to pass this point can typically take up to 20 minutes. From here, there is a slow moving column of traffic up to Shalford, a mile to the north, where a further roundabout collects traffic from Cranleigh, Wonersh and Chilworth. Delays here are typically ten minutes for traffic entering from the Cranleigh direction and similar for traffic already on the A281. From Shalford Common, traffic is nose to tail daily up into the Guildford gyratory via Millbrook. The proposal for new housing at Dunsfold Park will add a significant volume of extra traffic to this scenario since the development is likely to be mainly made up of daily commuters seeking to enter Guildford, either as a through route to the A3 and M25 national trunk route or the mainline railway station for the onward journey to London. The scale of the development at 2,600 houses would be likely to generate some 5,200 to 6,500 additional vehicles (assuming 2 to 2.5 cars per household) of which a significant proportion would seek to access Guildford via the A281, and the gyratory system in the centre of the town. Added to this are further proposals within the Waverley Local Plan draft to locate an additional 1,520 houses in Cranleigh, adjacent to the Dunsfold aerodrome, which will again generate significant additional traffic volumes, of which a large proportion would seek to access Guildford via the A281 or the B2128. Waverley Borough are seeking to locate some 40% of their future development in the east of the borough, an area with no close railway access and therefore highly dependent on car transport. With the A281 being the only A class route out of this part of Waverley, it is inevitable that there will be a significant impact on Guildford in terms of congestion and air quality. And in addition to car use, there is also a large quantity of daily HGV traffic from firms such as Axtell and Cranleigh Freight Services to be considered.

- MAYFORD: CPRE is also concerned about the impact of the new Hoe Valley school and athletics facilities and additional housing development at Mayford being built within the Green Belt in the Heathlands District of Woking which will add to the road traffic problems on the A320 in Guildford at Slyfield and the associated Link Road which is designed to facilitate access to the A3. Woking Council seem determined to disregard the policy regarding the Green Belt which we do not repeat here as these have been outlined in our last submission.

- RUSHMOOR: CPRE is further concerned about additional development in Rushmoor in Hampshire at Aldershot and Farnborough which again is causing road infrastructure problems across the boundary in Guildford. BORDON: CPRE Guildford would have expected more attention to have been given to the possibility of assessing with East Hampshire Council the potential of the eco-town Bordon for business and housing development now that the army has left. This is land which is not in the South Downs National Park nor in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) or within the Metropolitan Green Belt. We would argue in favour of the rail link from Bordon to Bentley being reinstated with a view to reducing commuter road traffic across the boundary to Wrecclesham and Farnham in Waverley and to Guildford via the Hogs Back. A rail connection could make Bordon significantly more attractive for business development and employment potential. This could relieve pressure for expansion of the Research Park at Guildford which should in our view be reserved for businesses associated with research that are linked to the University. Commuting by train to and from Guildford would be further facilitated if a new station is opened at Park Barn.

Object. Whilst GBC has cooperated on a joint SHMA, with Waverley and Woking Councils, the other 2 subcontracted the SHMA development to GBC.

GBC subcontracted the work to G.L. Hearn, who in turn sub-contracted to Justin Gardner, which used its own proprietary model to calculate the housing need. The model used has not been released to any of the 3 councils, or the public, in order for the workings to be independently verified, as required by the NPPF.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.
The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Non-plan Items – My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Answer: (No)

The Plan fails to take into account the very significant impact of the housing development taking place to the West of the Borough, in Rushmoor (especially in Aldershot). This will have a significant impact on the transport infrastructure in the area, which is already at near full capacity. There is no indication in the Plan that the housing development proposals, especially Policy/Site A46 in Normandy/Flexford - which would themselves add a huge extra burden to the same infrastructure - have taken this into account. I therefore OBJECT to the Plan on the basis that there is evidence of a lack of planning co-operation across this local authority boundary.

I do not believe that GBC has complied fully with the Duty to Cooperate. The Strategic Housing Market Area, whilst it includes the neighbouring boroughs of Waverley and Woking, omits Rushmore entirely. Rushmore also has an impact on Guildford’s housing, employment and transport links.

GBC has not explored in detail any joined-up approaches to providing employment land across the region, dismissing off-hand such ideas on the basis that “we don’t want Guildford to be a dormitory town”. [Stephen Mansbridge, April 1, 2014].

In particular GBC is ignoring Bordon Eco-town, a brownfield site outside the Green Belt, which is less than 30 minutes from Guildford by road, and is looking for high quality businesses to locate there. This is exactly the right area for expansion of some of Guildford's businesses (particularly those on the Research Park).

There is also opportunity to develop rail links using existing lines and disused MOD lines.
In the Whitehill and Bordon Inward Investment Strategy 2012 Consultation Draft the masterplan recognises that “the town does not operate in isolation of its neighbouring business centres, such as Alton, Petersfield and Farnham and larger economic centres such as Portsmouth, Farnborough, Basingstoke and Guildford.”

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

NON COMPLIANCE

1. failure to collaborate with Elmbridge regarding the implications of choosing site A35 which stands on the Elmbridge border

2. failure to complete traffic studies in collaboration with SCC and HE

3. failure to disclose details of collaboration with SCC and HE over highways matters - the so-called 'mitigation' for the effects of the exaggerated housing proposals
4. failure to collaborate with Woking and Waverly on the SHMA. Neither Woking nor Waverley have a copy of the demographic housing model prepared by Justin Gardner Consulting. Without the model there can be no meaningful dialogue let along ‘collaboration’

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Non-plan Items – My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

I believe that the duty to co-operate has not been fulfilled. Guildford shares its boundary with 6 neighbouring authorities, yet has consulted with only two. The West Surrey SHMA is a totally artificial construct, as the true housing area is much wider than just 3 authorities - Dorking in Mole Valley is a town that is just a few miles away from Guildford, but its housing market and that of Mole Valley was not considered.

In addition, in the Green Belt and Countryside Study, Vol IV (amended version) there is a recommendation that Mole Valley District Council be consulted before Effingham (which has a boundary with MVDC) was inset from the green belt. No evidence has been presented that shows that this has been done.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

Response: NO

GBC has failed to take account of the creation of 3,800 dwellings in the Aldershot Urban Extension [AUE]. Aldershot is the source of many employees for retail and health sector jobs in Guildford. Many choose to commute into Guildford by car along the main routes between the two towns (A323, A324, A31). Apart from a passing acknowledgement of traffic data in the vehicle movement simulations, there appears to have been no attempt to acknowledge the impact of AUE or attempt to synchronise development schedules or combine approaches to central Government on infrastructure developments with Rushmoor Borough Council that would affect all Guildford’s western wards. Simply ignoring Rushmoor BC because GL Hearn deem it not to be in the same strategic housing market is perverse. The Hart, Rushmoor and Surrey Heath SHMA 2014 carried out by Wessex Economics states that the major outward commuting flows are as follows:

“The largest outward commuting flows from Rushmoor are to Surrey Heath, Hart, Guildford, and Waverley. There are significant in flows of workers to Rushmoor from Surrey Heath and Guildford.

The largest proportion of Surrey Heath’s residents commute to Rushmoor and Guildford. There are in flows of workers to Surrey Heath from Hart, Rushmoor and Bracknell Forest.”

Woking BC covered in the same West Surrey SHMA as Guildford has recently concluded a £6million funding for part of its affordable housing requirement to be built in Rushmoor under the Duty to Cooperate, obviously considering Rushmoor to be of strategic significance and being willing to work with this neighbouring council. Not so Guildford BC and this omission will have a serious impact in western wards as AUE is built out.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green Belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance’ and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Non-plan Items – My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion and their effects on public health) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

Answer: ()

1. Duty to Cooperate

In the past CPRE has been very aware of the requirement for local authorities to demonstrate evidence of having cooperated to plan for issues with cross boundary impacts (NPPF 181). Now NPPF includes a chapter dealing with 'Planning strategically across local boundaries' on page 42 and GBC has followed this up with a Topic Paper on 'Duty to Cooperate' which explores the implications of this strategy. Sections in the Topic Paper under the headings "Enterprise MLEP" and "Meeting Needs" raise a number of issues about the newly established Strategic Economic Plan (SEP) and the choice of Guildford as one of four growth towns which are considered to be key to driving economic expansion across the Enterprise M3 area. As part of preparing the draft Local Plan, GBC has had regard to the SEP by seeking to meet both identified housing and employment needs. The emphasis on a "Sci:Tech Corridor" has also encouraged a focus on research, development and design activities and the provision of valuable knowledge-based employment. This in turn led to the proposed "allocation" of Blackwell Farm, which is owned by the University of Surrey, to be partly used as an extension to the Surrey Research Park and for 1,800 houses to be built on Green Belt land in a mixed use development. CPRE has objected to this proposal in its response to Policy A26 on page 17 of this submission. Policy E4 gives further details of the aspirational development concerned.
Little or no account is taken when making the Blackwell Heath proposal of the permanence of the Green Belt, the national importance of the AONB countryside, the problems of traffic congestion, and the lack of adequate infrastructure to provide easy access by either train to a new Guildford West station, or by road to and from the A31 on the Hogs Back. No consideration is given either as regards whether there is really a need to expand the Research Park onto Green Belt land in view of the very low density of buildings on this site, and the generous space allowed for surface parking. Surely, the provision of multi storey and/or underground parking should be given priority so that more space is made available for building this on the Research Park, the other two University campuses and at the Hospital.

(i) Wider Implications on Meeting Needs The NPPF now requires that local plans meet objectively assessed needs, and where possible any unmet needs from neighbouring authorities as well where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development (NPPF 182).

Although Woking has indicated that it will have a substantial unmet need for housing, GBC has stated that Guildford Borough cannot assist them. Nonetheless CPRE is concerned that this new strategic policy approach suggests that the requirements of the economy are being given an unbalanced cross boundary ascendancy over well established environmental policies that are needed to protect the Green Belt and the Surrey Hills AONB at Guildford. This would seem to be influencing GBC planning in its adoption of the unusually high housing target of 693 from the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) whose recommendations are being questioned as flawed in the enclosed Green Balance review.

We find the draft Local Plan unrealistic not only because of its over ambitious onslaught on Green Belt policy but also because of the £3 billion shortfall in infrastructure backlog across the county which is recorded in the Surrey Infrastructure Study dated January 2016. This backlog has to include infrastructure issues relating to roads, rail, water as a finite resource, waste disposal and sewage treatment, flood issues, air pollution, and a range of other environmental and social considerations.

An example of a cross boundary impact includes the proposed development at Cranleigh and Dunsfold in Waverley which is clearly unsustainable and will cause major congestion problems all along the A281 to Guildford and will affect communities such as Bramley, Chilworth, Shalford, Shamley Green, and Wonersh as well as adding to the severe congestion in Guildford town centre and the junctions of the A3 serving the town. CPRE OBJECTION.

Proposals for development of the North Downs rail line will affect AONB countryside in a number of districts and will need to involve the Surrey Hills AONB Partnership. A range of issues concerning rights of way, level crossings, bridge infrastructure, stations, footpath crossing safety and passenger service will need consultation. The protection and enhancement of nationally important countryside will be a major consideration.

The River Wey Navigation requires that the National Trust is consulted across district boundaries. Agreement is needed not only with Natural England concerning water quality standards but also how the flood plain is protected and not harmed by the proposed housing development in relevant boroughs. The effect of run-off from new building sites and of climate change has to be considered as a priority.

The emphasis on school provision is a repeated feature of the draft local plan in connection with new site proposals within the Green Belt. This has led CPRE to review catchment areas for schools (and the associated road traffic problems) near the borough's boundaries with Mole Valley, Waverley and Woking. Communities such as Effingham, Leatherhead, Mayford, Ripley and Sheerwater are all affected. The planning for schools on new sites seems to be linked with the flawed concept that this is a means of obtaining Green Belt boundary revision as they represent "exceptional circumstances". CPRE OBJECTION.

Another current problem relates to the fact that Surrey is already the most overflown county in England and aviation noise disturbance is increasing within the Surrey Hills AONB due to the number of active airports around the county and this affects Guildford. In addition to Gatwick and Heathrow, for which no runway expansion decision appears likely before mid October at the earliest, we refer in particular to proposals for expansion at Biggin Hill, City, and Farnborough. The CAA absolves itself from control of low flying movement below 4,000 feet as this is considered an LPA responsibility. The noise implications of Farnborough's controlled airspace proposal affects all landing and take-off flight paths in the surrounding area. CAA policies have endorsed the concept of narrower flight paths until recently, and this resulted in severe noise implications for some communities, and harmed the remote character and tranquillity of nationally important countryside. The plans for Farnborough are also of particular concern as they will affect the use of the largest centre for gliding in the country at Lasham. Growth in aviation activity at these airports, whether for passengers or freight, will also lead to yet more road congestion. CPRE OBJECTION.

No.

The Local Plan has not demonstrated compliance with the Duty to Co-operate. The SHMA Briefing Note says that the strategy’s link with housing needs in adjacent local authorities ‘will be explored as part of ongoing work’. There should be evidence that the duty has been discharged, including consideration of unmet housing requirements in neighbouring local authority areas.

Non-plan Items— My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Village life is part of the English culture and heritage. If building on green belt is allowed when it is not absolutely necessary our rural life style and the community nature of our villages, which is very prominent in West Clandon will be removed for ever. The green belt if there partly to stop our country being changed, so I feel strongly that it should be upheld and not built on. I want my children and grandchildren to be able to grow up in a green surrey village in the way that I have.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment AND Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment

- We set out our case for consideration of a ‘sustainable mixed use development’ on a green belt sites in Effingham (Land West of Effingham Common Road (Presumed Site Ref. 1408?)) in submissions made to Guildford Borough Council (GBC) on 15th October 2010 and 19th January 2011 (copy of covering letters enclosed in the appendices) as a result of Guildford’s ‘Call for Sites’. In both cases we submitted planning and landscape appraisals, constraints plans, Transport and Ecological Assessments and schematic master plans. We also submitted an assessment of each sites Suitability, Availability and Achievability in line with the SHLAA Practice Guidance. We confirmed that both sites could be delivered within 6 – 15 years and we requested due consideration in the ongoing review of the SHLAA and Green Belt and Countryside Study.

- However the SHLAA failed to include an assessment of the site submitted. We set out further concerns and copied our original submission to GBC in a letter dated 10 September 2013. Yet the updated (2014) SHLAA still failed to include an assessment of this fringe site and the published report offers little robust justification as to why this is the case.

- The Guildford Borough LAA (2016 and Addendum 2017) does include a list of 'Green Belt, Discounted Sites'. We can only assume that our site is included as Site Ref: 1408 'Land West of Effingham Common Road';

- Regulation 18 (3) of the Town and County Planning (Local Planning (England) Regulations 2012 places an obligation on GBC to consider all representations to the Local Plan. This states that "in preparing the Local Plan, the planning authority must take into account any representations made to them”. Having reviewed all documentation in detail, our submissions to the SHLAA ‘Call for Sites’ are and remain ‘invisible’.

- Normal practice is for all sites offered in the SHLAA ‘Call for Sites’ to be assessed. This allows an objective and consistent appraisal to be made initially of each site, unconstrained by (but still mindful of) existing local polices. This establishes what land supply there may be available to meet development needs and provides a transparent comparison of options available to meet these needs. This initial appraisal of sites then further be tested for allocation through the Sustainability Appraisal process.

- The SHLAA sets out the sources used to identify sites and confirms that this included information from the Green Belt and Countryside Assessment (GBCA). However the SHLAA itself provides no real justification for the methodology followed and it appears that the GBCS has had an overbearing and unjustified influence on the SHLAA assessment criteria. When we questioned officers directly, GBC provided the following justification for the exclusion of certain sites in the SHLAA by stating (email of 2nd November 2011, Heather Sandell to Martha Covell). ‘Please be aware that the SHLAA is being informed by the Green Belt and Countryside Study. ……It is not possible to obtain the SHLAA assessment sheets as the work on the SHLAA is still in progress. For sites outside of the village settlements and urban areas, the Green Belt and Countryside Study is effectively the assessment sheet. If sites are not identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study as potentially suitable for residential development, no further assessment work is required.” A further email on 22 August 2013 states ‘All land in the Green Belt cannot possibly be suitable for development, if it were, it would of course undermine the whole purpose of the Green Belt. We have used our GBCS to test suitability of land suggested to us that is in the Green Belt.’

- The NPPG (6/3/2014) sets out the methodology that should be undertaken in preparing housing and economic land assessments. In relation to Stage 1 ‘How should sites/broad locations be identified? It states: ‘When carrying out a desk top review, plan makers should be proactive in identifying as wide a range as possible of sites and broad locations for development (including those existing sites that could be improved, intensified or changed). Sites, which have particular policy constraints, should be included in the assessment for the sake of comprehensiveness but these constraints must be set out clearly, including where they severely restrict development. An important part of the desktop review, however, is to test again the appropriateness of other previously defined constraints, rather than simply to accept them. Plan makers should not simply rely on sites that they have been informed about but actively identify sites through the desktop review process that may have a part to play in meeting the development needs of an area.’

- Whilst the SHLAA does not allocate sites, there can be no justification for the rejection of sites from further assessment within the SHLAA, based solely on their inclusion within current green belt boundaries, which as the Local Plan Issues and Options version, confirms in paragraph 6.5, establishes the special circumstances to require the green belt boundaries in the Borough to be reviewed. It remains our view that the GBCS and SHLAA evidence conflates the distinctive roles of each and contrary to the purpose of each study.
- On this basis, the Local Plan process fails to comply with Regulation 18(3) and the emerging plan is unsound as there is no evidence that GBC have had regard to any of our submissions and made an appropriate assessment of all sites, including fringe sites. This is contrary to guidance contained within the NPPG.

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer: (No)

GBC has failed to take account of the creation of 3,800 dwellings in the Aldershot Urban Extension [AUE]. Aldershot is the source of many employees for retail and health sector jobs in Guildford. Many choose to commute into Guildford by car along the main routes between the two towns (A323, A324, A31). Apart from a passing acknowledgement of traffic data in the vehicle movement simulations, there appears to have been no attempt to acknowledge the impact of AUE or attempt to synchronise development schedules or combine approaches to central Government on infrastructure developments with Rushmoor Borough Council that would affect all Guildford’s western wards. Simply ignoring Rushmoor BC because GL Hearn deem it not to be in the same strategic housing market is perverse. The Hart, Rushmoor and Surrey Heath SHMA 2014 carried out by Wessex Economics states that the major outward commuting flows are as follows:

- “The largest outward commuting flows from Rushmoor are to Surrey Heath, Hart, Guildford, and Waverley. There are significant in flows of workers to Rushmoor from Surrey Heath and Guildford.
- The largest proportion of Surrey Heath’s residents commute to Rushmoor and Guildford. There are in flows of workers to Surrey Heath from Hart, Rushmoor and Bracknell Forest.”

Woking BC covered in the same West Surrey SHMA as Guildford has recently concluded a £6million funding for part of its affordable housing requirement to be built in Rushmoor under the Duty to Cooperate, obviously considering Rushmoor to be of strategic significance and being willing to work with this neighbouring council. Not so Guildford BC and this omission will have a serious impact in western wards as AUE is built out.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.
This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council's refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement 'Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay', the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Duty to Cooperate

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017) as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate. GBC’s approach to the local plan process is characterised by frequent late changes to key elements of the plan, many of this are of dubious value. These changes undermine its duty to cooperate by deliberately introducing elements into its already deeply flawed plan that serve only to confuse, distract and undermine the earlier efforts of those objecting to its plans.

A prime example of this is the inclusion of the Wisley airfield site (policy A35). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee had unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers to try again. Policy A35 should be deleted from the plan for all the reasons the development was rejected by the Planning Committee.

GBC should revise its plan to take proper account of the many objections already made and cease adding new elements that only add further grounds for objection.

Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green Belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Attached documents:
Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

I feel like noone is listening to us at the council. We have objected before and now having to do it all over again with not a lot of changes to the OTHER plan. HOW can you call this co-operation? I thought the Wisely Airfield had been struck off the plan and now I find it is back AGAIN. How can this be co-operating with the local people if you just come back again and again with what seems like the same proposals.

The development of 2,000 homes (almost the same size as Horsleys today) in Wisley is a totally impractical option. (as has been brought to your attention many time before. The impact on the Horsley villages is SO huge and overpowering that it will change the villages forever. It is only 2 miles from us and will have impact on the railway stations (already overcrowded parking) and other amenities.

Answer: (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Non-plan Items – My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Cooperation is a two-way street. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy when planning decisions have to be made then a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little and provide little guidance for planning decisions. 24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.
This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Duty to Cooperate

Reference is made in the Housing Delivery Topic Paper to the Memorandum of Understanding on housing delivery which was signed by the three authorities in the Strategic Housing Market Area, Guildford, Waverley and Woking. The MoU recognised that there is unmet need within the HMA and committed the three authorities to continued joint working to ensure housing needs across the HMA are met in full.

It is therefore also of some concern that the 2017 Addendum covers only Guildford Borough and therefore looks at the Borough in isolation from the rest of the Strategic Housing Market Area (Waverley and Woking). This has been highlighted through discussions at the Waverley Examination at the end of June 2017. The generally agreed view there was that Waverley were being overly prescriptive in their application of landscape designations and that further housing provision could be accepted as a result. Conversely, Woking, which adopted its Core Strategy in 2012 for the period up to 2027, plans for a housing provision of just 292dpa as opposed to its objectively assessed need of 517dpa. Consequently there is a significant unmet need in Woking Borough which should be addressed across the HMA as a whole. Neither Waverley, nor Guildford appear to be taking the Duty to Cooperate very seriously in this respect, demonstrated by the view expressed in the Topic Paper that Guildford is unable to sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking despite a rigorous justification to support that view, and the 2017 SHMA Addendum considering the needs of Guildford Borough in isolation from the rest of the SHMA. As a result of the debate at the Waverley Examination, it is therefore highly likely that the Inspector will recommend that Waverley takes a significant proportion of the unmet need from Woking, leaving the remainder to be identified within Guildford Borough. Further scrutiny of the constraints and opportunities for accommodating further development within Guildford to meet the overall needs of the SHMA must therefore be undertaken before the Duty to Co-operate can be considered to be appropriately discharged.

Bewley Homes' representations in relation to the Plan as a whole and specific paragraphs, policies and, proposals are set out in the attached representations documents that clearly identify those sections of the Plan that Bewley Homes consider to either fail to be legally compliant, are unsound, or fail the duty to cooperate. In relation to the tests of soundness these are identified in bold against each section of the Plan that Bewley Homes is making representations against.

Answer: ()

No.

The actions taken by the Council to conform to the Duty to Co-operate are set out in the Topic Paper Duty to Cooperate, June 2016.

Cross Boundary SANG Provision

In relation to the specific issue of The Thames Basin Heaths SPA ad Provision of SANG, the Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper states at paragraph 4.41 that the Council has worked closely with Natural England to ensure the quantum and distribution of growth identified in the Proposed Submission Local Plan is deliverable by demonstrating there is sufficient SANG available across the Borough’ (my emphasis). Paragraph 4.42 continues that: ‘…we have cooperated with some of or neighbours to explore opportunities for cross boundary SANGs. We will continue cooperating on this matter as appropriate.’

Notwithstanding this, proposals for a cross boundary SANG have been submitted within the planning application for residential development in line with Policy A46 to the east of The Street, Tongham. This is a bespoke SANG which is intended to provide for the mitigation requirements of residential development to the south of Tongham (Policy A46). However it also provides additional mitigation capacity for further residential development within a 5km catchment area. The SANG is cross boundary SANG which straddles the Guildford / Waverley administrative boundary and is therefore well placed to mitigate the development needs of both authorities. The SANG proposal does not appear in the Guildford Infrastructure Delivery Plan as either a strategic SANG or bespoke SANG. Neither does it appear in the Waverley SPA Avoidance Strategy Review, April 2016. No reference is made to any specific cross boundary discussions on the provision of SANG so it is difficult to assess whether the Duty to Cooperate has been adequately addressed in this respect or not.

Provision of Housing within the SHMA

In relation to housing, reference is made to the Housing Delivery Topic Paper which discusses the approach to meeting needs. A Memorandum of Understanding on housing delivery has been signed between Guildford, Woking and Waverley which recognises that there is unmet need within the HMA and commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure housing needs across the HMA are met in full. It states that the Council is committed to continuing to explore with Waverley and Woking those areas which are most likely to lead to positive outcomes. The Topic Paper goes on however, to state that Guildford does not consider it can sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking (or from Waverley should an unmet need be identified in the future).

The Localism Act establishes that the outcome of the Duty to Co-operate should lead to effective policies on strategic cross boundary matters: It is the outcome rather than the process that is critical to complying with this legal obligation. In relation to the requirement that local plans are prepared to meet objectively assessed needs, including unmet needs from neighbouring authorities, this statement is contrary to the Duty to Co-operate as it predicates how a positive outcome can be achieved.

The Local Plan has not demonstrated compliance with the Duty to Co-operate. The SHMA Briefing Note says that the strategy’s link with housing needs in adjacent local authorities ‘will be explored as part of ongoing work’. There should be evidence that the duty has been discharged, including consideration of unmet housing requirements in neighbouring local authority areas.

The reduction in housing requirement for the Plan to 12,426 dwellings means that the Plan is unsound as the Council have failed to positively plan for meeting the needs of the Housing Market Area (HMA).

Persimmon are concerned that Guildford's co-operation with the neighbouring authorities within its HMA is insufficient. The HMA is made up of Guildford, Waverley and Woking of which only Woking has an adopted plan in place. Woking's Core Strategy sets out its housing requirement as 292 dpa which is 225 units below the OAN identified within the 2015 West Surrey SHMA. This results in significant unmet needs yearly and there appears to be no effective cooperation ongoing within the HMA to meet these unmet needs.

Due to the significant amount of unmet needs within the HMA it is unjustified for Guildford to consider reducing its housing requirement by 1400 units. It is unjustified on the basis that there is insufficient evidence to show that reducing its requirement is necessary and that Guildford appear to have made no attempts to assist with meet some of these unmet housing needs. The on-going examination of the Waverley Local Plan has also brought this issue to the fore. The inspector made reference to the unmet need generated within the HMA and has strongly intimated that Waverley and Guildford should be seeking to accommodate the unmet need from Woking. Similar examinations at Mid-Sussex and Horsham have resulted in recommendations that both of these authorities take 150 units each of Crawley's unmet housing needs. Horsham's plan was adopted with this requirement included and it appears that Mid Sussex's Local Plan will only be found sound if this contribution is also made in addition to increasing their housing requirement.

The SHMA addendum has been produced solely to inform Guildford's Local Plan and not in conjunction with the HMA as a whole. Therefore this addendum has only considered Guildford's needs into account rather than also considering those of the HMA. If the Council believe that a reduction was justified then the impacts of this should have been considered on the wider HMA however this does not appear to have been the case. On this basis, it can not be said that the duty to cooperate has been met and the Local Plan cannot be found sound.

As a result of this, Guildford's approach will only continue to exacerbate issues of unaffordability and increasing unmet needs for the HMA. That no consideration has been taken to dealing with the existing unmet needs is concerning. GBC by reducing their housing requirement are contributing to these unmet needs and this approach cannot be justifiable in the face of increasing unaffordability and demand. The suitability of the figures used to determine the new housing requirements are questionable in their soundness. An appropriate strategy, if the OAN were to be 654 dpa, would be to provide for an additional contribution towards the unmet needs in the HMA. The Inspector at the Waverley examination has recommended that a 150 dpa contribution be made towards these. Whilst it is accepted that Guildford's LP will be examined separately, the needs of the HMA are an important factor to which significant weight should be afforded. Therefore, Guildford should be taking consideration to a similar provision to be included in the Local Plan. On this basis, it cannot be said that the plan has been positively prepared as require by the NPPF and therefore cannot be found sound.
The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

2.14 As set out in paragraph 182 of the NPPF Local Planning Authorities are required to demonstrate that they have positively prepared their Local Plan. This should include seeking to meet “unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development”.

2.15 Paragraph 181 of the NPPF also notes that Local Planning Authorities “will be expected to demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with crossboundary impacts”.

2.16 Furthermore, they must also be “sure that their Local Plan meets the full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in the housing market area”.

2.17 Paragraph 4.36 of the Duty to Co-operate Topic Paper prepared by the Council notes that Guildford Borough Council alongside Woking and Waverley Council have jointly signed up to a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU). “This includes an agreement to prepare an up-to-date joint SHMA together with a commitment to review whether this needed updating every three years”. In addition the MoU also included a “commitment to continuing to work jointly on other relevant cross boundary matters”.

2.18 The decision of Guildford Borough Council to prepare an Addendum to the joint West Surrey SHMA (2015) is clearly contrary to the MoU and the commitment to “work jointly”. The Addendum Report prepared by Guildford fails to take into account the wider HMA within which both Woking and Waverley Council lie.

2.19 It is clearly apparent from the nature of the Addendum Report prepared that Guildford Borough Council has therefore failed to meet the requirements of paragraph 47 of the NPPF. In that they have failed to consider the wider housing market area (HMA). The Addendum Report is therefore not considered to be consistent with national policy.

4.8 As also outlined in Section 3 of these representations Guildford Borough Council have a duty to co-operate and must be able to demonstrate this as part of the independent examination of their Local Plan.

4.9 Woking Borough Council lies within the same HMA as Guildford Borough Council and has a significant unmet need. In spite of this Guildford Borough Council are currently proposing to assist Woking with none of this unmet need.

4.10 The ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’ therefore does not currently satisfactorily demonstrate that it has been prepared in a positive manner. The Council should seek to address this matter before the emerging Local Plan proceeds to Examination.
Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green /belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Whilst we have not considered the Duty to Cooperate in any great detail, we note that the Council jointly commissioned a West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) exercise with the neighbouring local authorities of Woking and Waverley. This SHMA set the annual housing requirement (objectively assessed need) for each of these three local authorities. The fact that Guildford intend to fall short of meeting this annual OAN figure during the first four years of its Plan raises concerns that they are likely to fail in meeting their Duty to Cooperate on an ongoing basis, particularly in light of historical shortfalls in housing delivery and the uncertainty over the deliverability of strategic sites. This could lead to the neighbouring local authorities facing pressure to deal with the shortfall when it arises.

It is also unclear whether the Council has sufficiently co-operated with neighbouring local authorities in order to determine how site allocations in each borough might impact on existing highways infrastructure.

In our earlier representation, we set out our concerns that Guildford's intention to fall short of meeting the annual OAN figure during the early years of its Plan would be likely to result in them failing to meet their Duty to Cooperate on an ongoing basis. This is now reinforced by the approach being taken in unilaterally reducing the OAN figure, despite recent indications from the Inspector on the Waverley Plan that Guildford may have to meet some of Woking's need.

We therefore believe that the Council's approach - particularly over recent months in commissioning their own SHMA addendum without involving the other local authorities in the HMA area - is highly likely to be found to be wanting from a Duty to Cooperate perspective.

Ido not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council's refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement 'Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay', the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.
This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Answer: ()

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.
The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

5. QUESTION 4: Duty to cooperate

We do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to Cooperate and particularly with regards to the provision with a new 8FE secondary school at site A46.

Section 20(5) (c) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 (as amended) and paragraphs 178-181 of the National Planning Policy Framework create a duty on all local planning authorities and other bodies to cooperate with each other to address strategic issues in the preparation of the Local Plan. The body of evidence in the draft Local Plan does not provide objective information regarding co-operation with stakeholders, such as SCC, education professionals, communities and infrastructure providers to develop and demonstrate the need for a school at A46.

I object to any building between Westwood Lane and glaziers lane because they are both too narrow, and each one has a lethal railway bridge. Any increase in local traffic would greatly increase the likelihood of more motor accidents on these two lanes. There have been deaths at both bridges in past years.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer: ()

We welcome the approach adopted by local councils in Surrey of working together based on Memoranda of Understanding, although we note that neighbouring Waverley has not signed.

We are concerned that the Strategic Housing Market Area is not meaningful and omits nearby communities in Hampshire, such as Rushmoor, that are very important for planning housing, employment and transport in Guildford. Further, a strategic approach to Green Belt planning and commuting requires cooperation with more distant communities with transport and economic links. Aldershot, Frimley and Portsmouth are all relevant to Guildford.

Within the somewhat arbitrary Strategic Market Area, differences in approach have a distorting effect, as seen in Guildford’s Sustainability Appraisal.

Several large developments are proposed in neighbouring Plans that would have a very significant effect on Guildford and it is of concern that the impact of these has not been specifically addressed as part of Guildford’s Local Plan process.
There is no discussion in the transport papers about the traffic generated by Dunsfold or Cranleigh wanting to use Guildford’s roads. For example, the A281 is forecast to be far over capacity at Millbrook. Guildford BC is saying, in its views on the Town Centre Master Plan and the Transport Strategy, that it wants to opt for Scenario 2 which means a reduction of say 30% in capacity. So what will happen to traffic from Waverley that wants to go to the hospital or University? Will it try using the B3000? This does not appear to have been thought about.

Non-plan Items– My Objections
Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion and their effects on public health) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

1. I object to GBC not appearing to liaise with other neighbouring boroughs to fully understand the massive implications of development in the South East.

Continuing to work in silo's will bring chaos to the already over populated and polluted South East.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council's refusal to co operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement 'Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay', the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages. This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.
Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flows. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burgham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley’s plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking’s unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green /belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not ‘an exceptional circumstance’ and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.
The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences.
This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer: (No)
By reducing the housing requirement in the plan to 12,426 new homes the Plan is unsound as the Council have failed to plan positively in relation to meeting the needs of neighbouring authorities.

We continue to have concerns regarding the Guildford Borough Council’s (GBC) co-operation with its partners in the Housing Market Area. Whilst Waverley BC is seeking to meet its needs, Woking BC continue to plan on the basis of their adopted Core Strategy. Woking’s Core Strategy sets out its housing requirement as 292 dpa, this is 225 units below the OAN as established in the 2015 West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment. As such there is clearly a significant amount of unmet housing needs within Woking and that consideration needs to be given within the HMA about how this unmet need is going to be addressed. This issue was raised by the inspector as part of the examination of the Woking BC Core Strategy.

There is no evidence to suggest that GBC has considered the matter of Woking’s unmet need and as such the plan fails to pass the soundness test in terms of its duty to cooperate with neighbouring authorities.

No.

The actions taken by the Council to conform to the Duty to Co-operate are set out in the Topic Paper Duty to Cooperate, June 2016.

In relation to the specific issue of housing, reference is made to the Housing Delivery Topic Paper which discusses the approach to meeting needs. A Memorandum of Understanding on housing delivery has been signed between Guildford, Woking and Waverley which recognises that there is unmet need within the HMA and commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure housing needs across the HMA are met in full. It states that the Council is committed to continuing to explore with Waverley and Woking those areas which are most likely to lead to positive outcomes. The Topic Paper goes on however, to state that Guildford does not consider it can sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking (or from Waverley should an unmet need be identified in the future).

The Localism Act establishes that the outcome of the Duty to Co-operate should lead to effective policies on strategic cross boundary matters: It is the outcome rather than the process that is critical to complying with this legal obligation. In relation to the requirement that local plans are prepared to meet objectively assessed needs, including unmet needs from neighbouring authorities, this statement is contrary to the Duty to Co-operate as it predicates how a positive outcome can be achieved.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

The Duty to Cooperate and Unmet Housing Need

Our main concern, therefore, is if the Councils FOAHN is an underestimation, and if there are reasons why it cannot meet a higher FOAHN what implications does this have for the HMA and surrounding districts. We have been able to find no record of the discussions which may or may not have taken place under the Duty to Cooperate, and we would expect to do so. Nevertheless the point is it is vital for Guildford to fully understand its FOAHN, set out what it can meet and identify where any unmet need is being accommodate through conversations using the Duty to Cooperate.

If there is found to be a shortfall we would wish to bring to the Councils attention the case of Warwick District and the Coventry HMA. The examination of the Warwick EIP has been in effect paused since May 2015 because of the level of unmet need within the HMA1. The inspector into the Warwick Local Plan was so concerned by the failure of the local authorities to reconcile the issue of unmet housing need that at one point he was proposing the plan should be withdrawn as he considered it unsound. Since this time that HMA has made significant strides on joint working with regard housing numbers, SHLAA assessment and green belt release. The HMA contains significant levels of green belt.

Local Plan Expert Group (LPEG)
The government remains concerned that the Local Plan process remains flawed, overly long and is leading to plans and HMAs which are failing to adequately plan for their housing needs. The late of which is particularly prevalent in the south east. As a response LPEG was commissioned to look at ways in which the Local Plan system could be improved. The report was published in March 20162 and was the subject of a consultation which ran until 27th April 2016.

LPEG are quiet clear in their recommendation that the Duty to Cooperate has failed to deal with the unmet housing needs emanating from certain areas of the country. LPEG do not underestimate the difficulties faced by local authorities in planning to meet housing need however they recommend a series of changes, in Appendix A - section 5 to the main report, to ensure that HMAs cannot simply pass the buck on housing needs. These include:-

- Establishing coordinated HMA boundaries;
- Strengthening the Duty to Cooperate and including and adding the following wording to the tests of soundness in para 182 of the NPPF;

  the product of joint working between authorities is expected to be agreement on the distribution of full OAN unless there is clear and convincing agreed evidence that the adverse effects of meeting the need in full would significantly outweigh the presumption that the need should be met;
- plan making authorities who do not plan to meet their own OAN are expected to identify in their submitted plans how those needs are likely to be met and to proactively work towards achieving the meeting of those needs – this should involve, for instance,
- testing the assertions of adjacent authorities who claim an inability to meet those unmet needs and challenging that assertion if capacity is considered to be available to meet needs;
- formally requesting that adjacent authorities meet those needs; and
- making representations to adjacent authorities’ plans to meet those needs in the event that agreement has not been reached.
- where unmet needs are identified as a result of this process, planning authorities requested to meet needs from adjacent authorities whether within the same HMA (or not) will be expected to treat that unmet need as part of their own OAN and to apply the same NPPF tests as they do to their own OAN in assessing their ability to meet those needs within their local plan

It is acknowledged that the LPEG recommendations have not yet been formally accepted by government, however it is clear that the problems of unmet need in and bordering HMAs is a significant problem for many local plans at present. We have put forward the example of Warwick where an Inspector has properly sought to grapple with these significant issues, we believe strongly that a similar approach must be taken in Guildford and the surrounding districts. Too many plans have already been passed without any significant work undertaken to address the levels of unmet need being generated and where the housing need is to be accommodated, the problem is only likely to grow, and starting to tackle it now is the only sound approach to take in preparing a sound, future proof Local Plan. LPEG clearly state how they think this can be undertaken, and it is likely that the full impacts of what LPEG proposes will start to be felt imminently. The Council should therefore take this opportunity to start to consider these implications and consider further where its unmet need is likely to go.

4 DUTY TO COOPERATE

4.1.1 The Duty to Cooperate is a legal requirement established through Section 33(A) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, as amended by Section 110 of the Localism Act. It requires local authorities to engage constructively, actively and on an ongoing basis with neighbouring authorities on cross-boundary strategic issues throughout the process of Plan preparation. As demonstrated through the previous withdrawn plan, and 13 other Local Plans since 2011, if a Council fails to satisfactorily discharge its Duty to Cooperate, this cannot be rectified through modifications and an Inspector must recommend non-adoption of the Plan.

4.1.2 Whilst Gladman recognise that the Duty to Cooperate is a process of ongoing engagement and collaboration1, as set out in the PPG it is clear that it is intended to produce effective policies on cross-boundary strategic matters. In this regard, Hart must be able to demonstrate that it has engaged and worked with neighbouring authorities, alongside their existing joint working arrangements, to satisfactorily address cross boundary strategic issues, and the requirement to meet any unmet housing needs. This is not simply an issue of consultation but a question of effective cooperation.

4.1.3 The Local Plan as written clearly fails to meet the Duty to Cooperate. Guildford has failed to adequately, alongside its HMA wide partners, meet the unmet housing needs of the HMA. In the ongoing examination of the Waverley Local Plan, the Inspector has indicated that Waverley will be required to take 50% of Woking’s currently identified unmet housing need. Guildford must address how it will make a contribution towards meeting the other 50% of unmet housing need in the HMA. Furthermore, it must be remembered that this represents 50% of the currently identified figure, it is highly likely that this figure is a significant underestimation of the unmet housing needs of Woking and thus the HMA. The real figure that Guildford and Waverley will have to consider is therefore likely to increase.

4.1.4 It was apparent from the Waverley Local Plan examination that there was significant disagreement between the HMA wide authorities of Guildford, Woking and Waverley as to who should be taking what level of need. The government has made clear through the Housing White Paper that the current situation, where HMAs pass unmet need from authority to authority is untenable. The Guildford Local Plan contains insufficient evidence to justify the position of not contributing towards meeting HMA wide unmet needs, as such we do not consider that the plan soundly discharges the Duty to Cooperate.

Non-plan Items – My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

QUESTION 4: DUTY TO COOPERATE

Our client have no specific comments to make on the Duty to Co-operate at this stage.

Attached documents:
The fact remains that GBC has not only failed to take account of neighbouring unmet need, it has actively and significantly:

- Reduced its Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) against the current of acute housing need.
- Reduced its proposed housing land supply despite historic and current under-performance of housing delivery, and;
- Discounted smaller housing sites which are well placed to meet the needs of neighbouring authorities and communities, despite weighting the reduced housing delivery to the back end of the Plan period.

We strongly maintain that the settlement of Farncombe (with its shared boundary with GBC) represents a suitable, sustainable and accessible opportunity to help accommodate the unmet housing needs of both authorities in just the way that the duty to cooperate is designed to facilitate. Land South of New Pond Road (site No. 80) is ideally placed to assist Guildford Borough Council meet its housing land supply target whilst also helping to meet the acute needs of communities that share a border with Waverley borough in a geographic area which is well served by a range of existing services and amenities including a railway station which links Farncombe to Guildford (just 6 minutes travel time) and which is served by established bus routes.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

The Duty to Co-operate Topic Paper records ongoing discussions with neighbouring districts in Surrey on the production of a Local Strategic Statement (LSS). It also describes co-operation on a joint Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) but it does not point to any substantive agreement with neighbouring councils to ensure that the delivery of housing will meet the objectively-assessed needs of the Housing Market Area (HMA) throughout the plan period.

Paragraph 4.49 of the Topic Report refers to a Statement of Common Ground in which the three neighbouring authorities of Guildford, Woking and Waverley have acknowledged that there is unmet need within the HMA, but the Statement simply 'commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure that as far as possible, and subject to the policies in the NPPF, housing needs across the HMA are met in full.'

The NPPF is explicit, in paragraphs 47 and 182, that local planning authorities should meet the full objectively-assessed need for housing in the housing market area, subject to other considerations, and should consider unmet housing needs in neighbouring authorities when formulating their local plan strategy. This has not been done by Guildford and its neighbouring authorities.

The Topic Report also concedes (in paragraph 4.93), in relation to Green Belt review: ‘As the broad methodology that underpins the study was developed prior to the NPPF and Localism Act, we did not engage with neighbouring authorities at that time.’

In relation to both housing and Green Belt review, it is therefore clear that the requirements of the Duty to Co-operate have not been met: in terms of the legislation in Section 110 of the Localism Act 2011; in terms of the policies of the National Planning Policy Framework; or in terms of the advice in Planning Practice Guidance.

Please refer to the accompanying report from Sustainable Land Products (Tangley Place Concept Statement) for further details.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

1 Introduction

1.1 This statement of written representation prepared by Planning and Design Group (UK) Limited ("P&DG") is made on behalf of our client Rowen Properties (London) Ltd in response to Guildford Borough Council’s ("the Council") consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites, 2017 (‘the Proposed Local Plan’) for the borough.

1.2 Our representation is made in the context of seeking to work with the Council to ensure that an effective, sound and deliverable plan for the area is achieved. These representations have regard to the land that Rowen Properties control in Badshot Lea, Farnham within close proximity to the Council’s western boundary with Waverley Borough Council.

2 Executive Summary

2.1 This representation responds specifically to question four of the Council’s consultation exercise, in particular addressing compliance with the legal duty to cooperate. In doing so we will also draw and make comment on wider evidence presented by the Council.

2.2 It is considered that the Council, operating within the context of the West Surrey Housing Market Area (HMA), have not acted to fully comply with the duty to cooperate. Specifically, that evidence presented around the duty relating to housing delivery represents only a limited technical exercise and contains little contingency for meeting existing and potential unmet housing need locally. Whilst the evidence in the recent duty to cooperate thematic paper is recognised it is felt far more needs to be addressed on the matter.

2.3 In light of the apparent land constraints across the borough and a high reliance on a limited number of backloaded strategic sites to address housing need, a more diligent contingency is expected from the Council through the duty to cooperate. This should cover the shared and agreed approaches to delivering any and all unmet housing need in the event of under delivery across the boundaries of the HMA. Furthermore, it is considered that detailed conversations should be had with Waverley Borough Council about this issue prior to the adoption of the Council’s Local Plan. This is on the basis that Waverley may need to adopt a proportion of Guildford’s unmet housing need.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: (No)

The Duty to Co-operate Topic Paper records ongoing discussions with neighbouring districts in Surrey on the production of a Local Strategic Statement (LSS). It also describes co-operation on a joint Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) but it does not point to any substantive agreement with neighbouring councils to ensure that the delivery of housing will meet the objectively-assessed needs of the Housing Market Area (HMA) throughout the plan period.

Paragraph 4.49 of the Topic Report refers to a Statement of Common Ground in which the three neighbouring authorities of Guildford, Woking and Waverley have acknowledged that there is unmet need within the HMA, but the Statement simply ‘commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure that as far as possible, and subject to the policies in the NPPF, housing needs across the HMA are met in full.’

The NPPF is explicit, in paragraphs 47 and 182, that local planning authorities should meet the full objectively-assessed need for housing in the housing market area, subject to other considerations, and should consider unmet housing needs in neighbouring authorities when formulating their local plan strategy. This has not been done by Guildford and its neighbouring authorities.

The Topic Report also concedes (in paragraph 4.93), in relation to Green Belt review: ‘As the broad methodology that underpins the study was developed prior to the NPPF and Localism Act, we did not engage with neighbouring authorities at that time.’

In relation to both housing and Green Belt review, it is therefore clear that the requirements of the Duty to Co-operate have not been met: in terms of the legislation in Section 110 of the Localism Act 2011; in terms of the policies of the National Planning Policy Framework; or in terms of the advice in Planning Practice Guidance.

By reducing the housing requirement in the plan to 12,426 new homes the Plan is unsound as the Council have failed to plan positively in relation to meeting the needs of neighbouring authorities.

We continue to have concerns regarding the Guildford Borough Council’s (GBC) co-operation with its partners in the Housing Market Area. Whilst Waverley BC is seeking to meet its needs Woking BC continue to plan on the basis of their Core Strategy. Woking’s Core Strategy sets out its housing requirement as 292 dpa, this is 225 units below the OAN as established in the 2015 West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment. As such there is clearly a significant amount of unmet housing needs within Woking and that consideration needs to be given within the HMA how this unmet need is going to be addressed. This issue was raised by the inspector as part of the examination of the Woking BC Core Strategy. In his report he stated that:

“Whilst the submitted CS does not plan to meet the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough, I am mindful that the NPPF indicates that the aspiration to meet housing need is dependent upon consistency with other parts of the Framework. With this in mind and as evidenced by the SA, the Council has considered alternative levels of housing provision, for example, its Option 3 which considered the provision of 594 new dwellings per year.”

As there is still a significant amount of unmet need within the HMA it is therefore surprising that the Council has looked to reduce its plan overall requirement by 1400 homes. This is also an issue considered by the inspector at the recent examination hearings for the Waverley Draft Local Plan. During these hearings the Inspector clearly indicated that he considered it appropriate for Waverley and Guildford to accommodate the unmet need from Woking.

Given these wide spread concerns we would have thought that even if a reduction were appropriate then the Council would have considered the wider needs across the HMA before taking such a decision. Given that the SHMA addendum has been solely commissioned by GBC it would appear that the decision has been made solely on the basis of Guildford’s needs without any consideration of wider needs across the HMA.

The Housing Topic Paper 2017 does consider the issue of unmet need in relation to the reduced housing requirement. However, its position within this topic paper relates to the Council’s consideration as to the relative appropriateness of using specific allocations to address unmet needs from other authorities. In particular the Council focuses on the potential adverse impacts in relation to some allocations. Further deliberation doesn’t appear to have been given to the benefits of meeting the wider housing needs of the HMA given the level of need and significant affordability issues identified in the West Surrey SHMA.

We therefore remain concerned that there continues to be a significant level of unmet need across the HMA. In addition there does not appear to be any commitment from Guildford or Waverley with regard to meeting Woking’s unmet housing needs. In fact it would appear that GBC are seeking to do the opposite by reducing their own housing requirement. This situation was addressed by the Inspector during of the recent examination in public of the Waverley Local Plan. During the hearing the inspector outlined his concern that there was unmet need within the HMA as a result of Woking being unable to meet their housing needs in full. As a result of this concerns he proposed that half of this unmet need, circa 150 dwellings per annum, be met by Waverley. Whilst recognising that the Guildford Local Plan would be examined separately and it would be for that Inspector to draw their own conclusions he suggested that Guildford adopt a similar approach to take account of Woking’s unmet housing need. We would endorse the Inspector’s comments and recommend Guildford increase their housing requirement to include a proportion of Woking’s unmet needs.

As we recommended in our previous response we think that all three Councils should have looked at preparing a joint local plan or, at the very least, had a clear, co-ordinated and shared approach to considering the delivery of sufficient sites to meet housing needs for the HMA. At present this commitment still remains vague and does not indicate that the plan has been positively prepared as required by the NPPF.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer: ()

With regard to the proposed changes to the plan, do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017) as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate?

Local planning authorities have a duty to co-operate on strategic planning issues that cross authority boundaries as set out within the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 (as amended) and NPPF. The failure to demonstrate compliance with the duty to co-operate would result in the plan not being legally compliant.

The Council’s Topic Paper, Duty to Cooperate, which accompanies the Proposed Submission Local Plan, indicates that the Council has been in discussions with neighbouring authorities as part of the preparation of the Plan. To ensure compliance with the Duty to Cooperate, we recommend that the Council continue to co-ordinate with neighbouring authorities in the delivery of this Local Plan and support the continuation of this through the life of the plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 5: The examination

Answer: ()

Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has

- engaged positively in the Local Plan process from the outset,
- agreed “Aspirations for Guildford” and Local Plan consultation responses with the support of 26 Residents Associations and four Parish Councils,
- encouraged and supported residents to participate in the Plan-making process
- through contributions from residents groups, raised funds to commission an expert to review the SHMA, and
- drawn on the knowledge of environmental, planning, engineering, flood risk management, economic, commercial and transport experts to inform its contributions.

GRA does not consider the Plan to be sound for the reasons set out and we wish to make the case for changes we consider necessary to achieve this. These concerns, which relate to the overall approach, manifest themselves in policy throughout the Plan. Hence, our interest is overarching rather than confined to specific issues.

We would like to participate in all matters at the inquiry on behalf of the many residents who have worked together to establish a collective voice through the GRA. We would also like to be accompanied by an expert witness for the SHMA and for transport-related matters.

- engaged positively in the Local Plan process from the outset,
• held public meetings (free of charge) to explain elements of the evidence base, plan and process so as to ensure as objective as possible an approach to responding to the Local Plan consultations.
• requested and obtained acceptance from the Director General of the Office for National Statistics that the population projections contained anomalies arising from the (important) transient student intakes in Guildford,
• provided a contribution of some funds to help GRA commission an expert to review the SHMA, and
• drawn on the knowledge of our four knowledge groups, planning, transport, design & heritage and local economy – all of which includes respected experts – to inform its contributions.

The Society would like to participate in all matters at the inquiry. We reserve our position in respect of independent experts we would wish to accompany us be accompanied by an expert witness for the SHMA and for transport- related in respect of specialist matters.

1) Although the Parish Council acknowledges that the Borough has published much of their evidence and draft documents, together with providing roadshows and events to which the Parish Council have been invited, these have not been found to be helpful generally both by the Parish Council or by the residents of Normandy. The reason for this is:-

1. The opportunity to attend meetings where information is to be disseminated to parish councillors has almost always been notified too late i.e. within 2 weeks of the appointment.
2. Such meetings have often been fixed to take place during the course of the day.
3. When significant documentation has been put out for public consultation it has been sent out at the end of July with the 12 week period for consultation taking place over the summer holidays. This is traditionally at the time when most Parish Councils do not meet. This last period of consultation has ended on the 22 September leaving Parish Councils with little opportunity to meet and approve their consultation document; most Parish Council meetings are held at the end of the calendar month. Most Parish Clerks take the opportunity over August to take a long holiday. Most Parish Councils have only one clerk and often they are part-time.
4. The documentation supplied has been dense and couched in terminology not accessible to most, scattered throughout with acronyms.
5. Requests for more accessible information which could be circulated to our residents were basically ignored until we received 38 copies of the disc and a number of documents including the questionnaire on 6th and 8th September.
6. The Borough produces a newspaper which is delivered to every home. Nowhere in that did it outline it’s plans to build 13000 homes the large majority of which would be sited along the A323 corridor Ash into Guildford and A322 both roads which already suffer significant traffic problems. Had they done so the residents would have been alerted at an early stage. A summary of proposals would have been useful to all residents throughout the Borough. Instead the newspaper simply placed a PR spin on the process of consultation asking everyone to get involved.
7. The questions that the consultees have been asked to address are in some instances almost peripheral to the plans and leave insufficient space and opportunity for consultees to give full answer.

2) The Borough Council has failed to communicate effectively with residents because, although inviting them to a number of events, the information that has been given has been put before the residents on the basis of “this is to happen” rather than “we would welcome your comments”.

3) There has been an overreliance and an assumption that the residents of the Borough are IT literate to the extent required by the Borough. Where printed information is sought it is provided at considerable cost.

With particular reference to the consultation period that ends on the 22 September 2014.
1. The Parish Council have been asked to comment on a draft plan which proposes wide scale development based on a housing number in a SHLA which is presently under review. It is impossible in this Parish Council’s view to respond effectively to the consultation without this essential document being available.

2. The Borough Council seeks to obtain effective consultation on this document despite the fact that the maps provided for each Parish show changes to boundaries against a map that is just a blur of colour. It is impossible for the Parish Councils to assess where the settlement boundaries are to start and finish and how the affect of inset is supposed to affect the village.

3. The Borough Council has failed to indicate what level of density will be applied to the development in the Greenbelt areas. Again, it is impossible to effectively comment upon the proposals of the Borough Council without this information. In the Parish Council’s view it is in the interests of all that these density levels are fixed in the Plan.

4. The Borough Council is referred to the consultation code issued by the Government which is attached. 12 weeks is the minimum period over which a consultation should be held.

5. The Borough Council published their Sustainability Appraisal and Habitats Regulations Assessment on the 7th August with only a 6 week consultation offered alongside the consultation to which we respond. These are essential evidential documents underpinning the ‘Plan’ and should have been available at the outset.

Having reviewed the Local Plan I am deeply disturbed that the Council has ignored concerns raised by Borough residents in the 2014 consultation, showing a clear agenda for development at any cost. It shows a complete lack of consideration for the impact of such extensive development in the most densely populated county (Surrey) and most densely populated region (South East) of England.

I object to the Council making last minute, significant changes to the plan, such as the Garlick’s Arch development in Send and addition of a major alteration/enlargement of the junction on the A3 at Burnt Common. There are also many other new sites and changes to the 2014 plan. Therefore, full consultation according to Regulation 18 is required, not the short cut form of Regulation 19.

It is also clear that that Plan’s consultation has been timed when many people take holidays, to minimise residents’ opportunity to fully review the extensive documentation and make any appropriate objections. As a result I have had to limit my comment to my local area rather than the Borough as a whole.

Let me begin but stating that the contempt with which GBC has approached this consultation is absolutely disgusting. The views and thoughts of many of the villages and towns impacted but this farce of a plan having been whole sale ignored. Point in case Wisley Airfield. Planning Permission denied but it still remains in the local plan…why? At the end of Public meeting when the Chair stated not aware that her microphone was still switched on referred to the Public as a Rabble….says it all.

So I object wholesale to the local plan…specifically the villages of Horsley

I would like to participate in the Examination. I have engaged positively in the Local Plan from the outset. I have coordinated the Save Hogs Back campaign from its inception and am very familiar with the arguments for and against developing the Blackwell Farm site (Policy A26). For the past two years, I have immersed myself in the Local Plan, regularly attending meetings of the Guildford Residents Association (GRA), the Guildford Society (GSoc), the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE), Guildford Borough Council and various parish councils and residents groups. I am a member of the GRA, GSoC and CPRE (Guildford branch), and up until May 2016, I was Chairman of Compton Parish Council.

I have prepared detailed responses to the Issues and Options Consultation and the Regulation 18 Local Plan consultations, which I hope will show the depth of knowledge that will allow me a place at the Examination.

The Save Hogs Back campaign is supported by three Local Parish Councils and numerous special interest groups and residents groups on the west of Guildford. It has helped to raise funds to draw on the knowledge of a planning expert to inform our contributions.

1. Why has the demographic model commissioned using public money from Justin Gardner Consulting for the SHMA not been FULLY disclosed to the public. Without it the manner in which the OAN has been arrived at is opaque. The SHMA model is a black box and the calculations are incapable of replication by third parties. It therefore fails to meet the most basic test of objectivity.

2. Why has the sustainability of the strategic development sites in the local plan not been publicly examined, scrutinised, challenged and tested? Why in particular has a site in the middle of the parish of Ockham - the second least sustainable parish in the borough according to the settlement hierarchy - been selected for the site of a new town which will be the third largest settlement in the borough?
3. Why have the exceptional circumstances justifying the moving of Green Belt boundaries - in particular in Ockham - not been properly set out and justified in the local plan?

4. Why has my garden hedge been chosen as the new Green Belt boundary in Ockham? How is it a defensible Green Belt boundary? How does it satisfy the requirement to be permanent and defensible?

This consultation process is not the first and residents in Guildford have been subject to a number of previous consultations in recent years. I do not believe that previous objections made about these matters have changed nor have they become irrelevant. I fear that on this occasion an element of consultation fatigue will have set in and/or people will feel that their previous objections will be taken into account. I therefore urge you to remember the petition signed by over 700 local residents objecting to changes to the settlement boundary and changes to the Green Belt that was sent to you in 2014.

| I object to the limited consultation period
I object to the late inclusion of new sites (eg. Garlick’s Arch)
Since 2014, GBC have changed major sites in Send proposed for development, and now a significant new road junction has been added. The 2014 proposal for 430 new houses went down in April 2016, then recently up again to 485. These significant changes require consultation under Regulation 18, which to date I’m not aware of having happened. | Attached documents: |

OBJECTION

Whilst I accept that every village has to grow and evolve, the proposals for Send Village are enormous and far reaching. Until about 10 days before the proposed Local Plan was launched the proposals for Send Village were comparatively low and with a few exceptions could possibly have been supported. However, as stated, 10 days before the approval a site was withdrawn and another, Garlick’s Arch (Policy 43a) was substituted. This adjusted the number of proposed houses from 185 to 485. This is almost a 25% increase over the current number of houses in the village. This vast change cannot be tolerated or justified.

I object to the lack of due process that Guildford Borough Council have followed in reaching the decision to add the development of Garlick's Arch at the last minute, prior to including in the latest draft Local Plan. Since 2014 every proposed major development in Send and Send Marsh has been changed, with the original proposal for an additional 430 houses in 2014 being reduced to 185 by April 2016, and suddenly being increased to 485 in May 2016. Such large changes require full consultation under Regulation 19 of the planning process - this process has not been followed.

Overall I object to the way that this plan has been put together in as much as there has been a failure to identify brownfield sites for development, the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 has not been included, there has been no proper consideration of the infrastructure requirements, such as new schools, GP services as examples, and what has been proposed is inadequate. I also object that there were sites added to the plan at the last minute.

I would like to participate so that I can explain why I believe the quality of the Green Belt and Countryside study is such that it should not be admitted to the evidence base, and that the policy of insetting villages should not be based on this study. As it also recommends new green belt boundaries I would like to have the opportunity to show why large sections of the boundary proposed by Pegasus, the authors of this report, do not meet the requirements for new green belt boundaries as laid down in the NPPF with specific reference to the proposed green belt boundary around Effingham. Much of this boundary was recommended by Pegasus in their report.

It would also give me an opportunity to comment on other reports in the evidence base that I consider to be poor quality, to show why house prices in the borough is not driven just by the balance between supply and demand, and that in fact, house prices in Guildford are not less affordable than many of the surrounding boroughs and to comment on the proposals for affordable housing.
I would also like to express my concern to the inspector that the approach to risk in the local plan is complacent - there has been no risk assessment regarding housing policies (what happens if there is a housing bust?) or what happens if infrastructure such as the planned railway stations, or sewerage treatment, water supplies etc are not actually completed in line with housing policies? It seems that numerous complacent assumptions about the delivery of infrastructure have been made and that the risk of non-delivery has not adequately been considered. The lack of an effective monitoring policy for infrastructure delivery is also a source of risk.

I object most vehemently to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

I list below the reasons why.

I object to GBC not following the correct process when amending the Local Plan. I believe another full consultation under Regulation 18 is required as changes have been significant. Some sites have been added at the very last minute without proper consultation.

Attached documents:

I object to the last minute inclusion of the Garlick’s Arch (A43) and it has not been consulted on previously.

Attached documents:

I am writing to object to the latest draft local plan, in particular with regards to the proposals for the village of West Horsley and the nearby villages including Send and Ripley. It is disappointing to note that previous overwhelming feedback about the retention of Green Belt land appears to have been largely ignored. Guildford Borough Council should listen to the people it represents and stand up for their concerns in the face of pressure from central government. The draft proposed numbers and locations would change for ever the character of rural villages with detrimental effect for all who live, work and travel in the Borough of Guildford.

I am most dissatisfied that only 6 weeks have been given for the public to read, consider and reply to the latest version of the Local Plan. In contrast Guildford Borough Council have taken from September 2014 until June 2016, approximately 21 months, to consider the responses to the last Plan and formulate the new Plan. Not only that, but the 6 weeks we have been given comes during the summer when there is so much else going on.

I for one do not have the time to plough through all the documentation again. The best I can do is to repeat the comments I made last time – as most of them are still relevant, although of course all the paragraph numbers have changed.

Therefore I set out below a copy of my comments made last time in my submission dated 16/09/2014.

I do however wish to make one further objection and that is in relation to Site Allocation A46. To locate 1100 homes plus a secondary school plus a care home and 1200 sq m of office and retail facilities would generate a very large number of additional road users. The roads in the area, particularly those in the direction of Guildford, are unable to sustain anything like such an increase. Furthermore this is Green Belt land which should only be built on in exceptional circumstances – which have not been demonstrated.

and therefore, we wish to present our arguments at the Examination in Public for this site to continue to be ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt, because if this land were ‘inset’, it would create an island of urban land with no connection to similar land.

We assert that the disregard of the contribution to the “openness” of the Green Belt made by the land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 identified as of particular sensitivity in the GBC re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1, is in direct opposition to observations confirming the “openness” of land around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford made by planning inspectors during consideration of planning appeals in three cases as follows:

- Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011
- Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
- North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/3002308 Decision 14 July 2015

and therefore we wish to make our representations concerning these observations by PINS inspectors in opposition to GBC disregard of “openness” of these land parcels at the Examination in Public.

Answer: ()

I am writing to OBJECT to several procedural issues in the Local Plan 2016.

I OBJECT to the lack of consultation of residents from Send for sites in the current draft of the Local Plan.

Since 2014, GBC has changed every major site in Send. None of the sites in the current plan have been in previous versions of the plan so residents have not been consulted on them prior to their inclusion in this draft. Most egregiously, Sites A43 and A43a were only included at the last minute, less than two weeks before the draft was voted on and published. These sites are significant (Site A42 includes 400 homes, 7000sqm industrial space, new A3 on off ramp) and should require a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cut of Regulation 19. This procedural error should invalidate the addition of this site to the local plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 5: The examination

Answer: (Yes)

I have already separately submitted my response by letter to the proposed submission via email and also with a hard copy delivered by hand to GBC at Millmead.

I wish to express an absolute requirement in participating at the examination with the Inspectorate in due course as I have many and varied objections to this 2016 Local Plan with particular reference to policy A43 Garlick's Arch and policy A43a ramps at Burnt Common and the insetting from the Greenbelt of Send Marsh/Burnt Common. These objections are laid out in my letter.

The main basis of my objection being that the late substitution and inclusion of these sites A43 and A43a with no prior consultation and with little or no evidence base for inclusion, renders the 2016 Local Plan as unsound, unsustainable and unworkable.

GBC must realise that Brexit has shown that the electorate are prepared to go against the wishes of both the politicians in power and the bureaucrats. Wo betide GBC Councillors and Council staff who received over 20,000 objections to the previous local plan yet allowed the new plan with little change to go out for consultation. We are all fed up with being told what is good for us and now require a radical change to your thinking re development in the Horsleys and Ockham to accord with the wishes of the electorate.

Finally, I would like to make a comment about the way in which this consultation has been handled. I do not believe that 6 weeks is sufficient time to allow people to properly read through all of the literature that GBC has provided and consider their views. It is a very short consultation for something that if successful, will have such a significant, far reaching and devastating impact. I also think that charging such huge amounts for paper copies of the Draft Local Plan is unfair on those many residents who do not have access to computer facilities and the internet. I think that GBC could have done better in producing succinct, pertinent information that allowed residents to easily understand and comment on the potential impact of the Draft Local Plan on their area to make this a fairer process that allows everyone to give their views.

I Object to the limited consultation period and last minute changes that appear to be driven by financial incentives from the government and developers offering bribes to enable them to build more houses. I refer in particular to the Garlicks Arch development proposed at Burntcommon offering new junctions on the A3 in return for 400 houses. There are no exceptional circumstances to remove this area from the green belt. The extra traffic through Send is not manageable on a road that is already often gridlocked during the rush hour.

Guildford Borough Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan (published 6 June 2016)

I am writing to express my strongest possible OBJECTION to the New Local Plan.

The previous Draft Local Plan issued in 2014 for consultation received more than 20,000 comments, the overwhelming majority of which expressed fundamental objections, yet the New Local Plan makes no changes of substance. The New Local Plan does not respond to the concerns of electors and the 20,000 comments will not be made available to the independent inspector. I consider that these issues amount to CONTEMPT of the electorate by Guildford Borough Council.

I am aware that the East Horsley Parish Council has made detailed objections to the New Local Plan in their letter of 13 June 2016 and specifically to the former Wisley airfield on 4 July 2016. The East Horsley Parish Council has articulated our concerns very clearly and I fully support their conclusions in their entirety. I trust the Guildford Borough Council will now give full weight to the concerns they have so professionally expressed.

Attached documents:

Although more than 20,000 responses were submitted in 2014 in connection with the previous draft Local Plan, most of them opposed to its proposals, GBC has made relatively few changes from the earlier version and none of any materiality.
GBC should radically re-assess its own policy objectives rather than force through the Council a Local Plan which clearly does not have the wider support of the residents of Guildford Borough.

In accordance with the provisions at paragraphs 3.11 and 9.28 of the 'Procedural Practice in the Examination of local Plans' document (June 2016) (41h Edition), we request the opportunity to appear at the Examination in order for the soundness of the Plan to be determined, in particular having regard to its soundness in terms of the ability of Site A46 to deliver and contribute to meeting the housing requirement set out in Policy 82.

We trust the above comments are of assistance in producing a finalised version of the Local Plan prior to submission and await confirmation of receipt of our representations in due course.

<td>I object to the recent proposed plan of the Guildford Borough Council. Since 2014 the G.B.C have changed every Major site in the proposed development for Send, and now have added a massive New Road Junction (which will add to the congestion that is already being experienced on the A3 and local roads, cyclists and pedestrians will suffer, environmental health will suffer through increased air pollution as well increased noise and light pollution).</td>

In the proposed plan of 2014 there was provision for 430 houses, this was reduced to 185 in April of 2016, I now note the number has increased to the proposed plan of 2014. These significant changes require another full consultation under regulation 18 and not the short cut of regulation 19 which the G.B.C are trying to get away with.

THIS INVALIDATES THE WHOLE PROCESS.

I object to the failure of GBC to follow the correct process. Since 2014 GBC has changed every major site in Send proposed for development and has now just added a massive new road junction. These significant changes require another full consultation under Regulation 18.

I object to GBC trying to use Regulation 19 and, therefore, the invalidation of this whole process.

My specific objections are as follows:

- I object to fact that over 20,000 responses were registered to the 2014 Draft Plan and yet this plan is not materially different, meaning that the Consultation Process has not been properly followed.

I object to the fact that new sites have been proposed in this consultation which have not been considered before and is not appropriate at this stage.

We assert there is unproven demand for an 8FE secondary school within the western wards of Guildford and therefore, we wish to present the statistical evidence for that assertion at the Examination in Public.

We assert that Policy A49 is unsustainable in its current form and open to challenge. NPPF para 83 & 84 require the council to define in the local plan documentation available for consultation the “exceptional circumstances” required under to change the Green Belt boundary; this is affirmed by the following legal judgements:

NPPF 83
• Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
• Carpets of Worth Limited v Wyre Forest District Council (1991)
• IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J
• Calverton Parish Council v Nottingham City Council, Broxtowe Borough Council and Gedling Borough Council [2015] EWHC 1078 (Admin), Jay J

and therefore, we wish to present our arguments at the Examination in Public for this site to continue to be ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt, because if this land were ‘inset’, it would create an island of urban land with no connection to similar land.

1. We assert that the disregard of the contribution to the “openness” of the Green Belt made by the land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 identified as of particular sensitivity in the GBC re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1, is in direct opposition to observations confirming the “openness” of land around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford made by planning inspectors during consideration of planning appeals in three cases as follows:

• Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011
• Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
• North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/3002308 Decision 14 July 2015

and therefore we wish to make our representations concerning these observations by PINS inspectors in opposition to GBC disregard of “openness” of these land parcels at the Examination in Public.

I OBJECT TO THE FACT THAT GBC HAVE NOT FOLLOWED THE CORRECT PROCESS

• I OBJECT to GBC adding Garlick’s Arch to the plan at only 13 days before the 24th May discussion of the Local Plan by GBC. The fact that this was ‘last minute’ was admitted by Mr Spooner at the Send Parish Council Meeting on June 14th. This site presents a significant change to the regulation 18 consultation in 2014, and therefore should have been fully debated, rather than accepted through a shortcut of Regulation 19. The fact that GBC have been ‘gifted’ the land to build the slip road to the A3 (policy A43a) in return for the inclusion Garlick’s Arch leads to cynicism and doubt that due process is being followed.
• I OBJECT to the disregard that GBC have shown to the concerns of local residents through previous ‘consultation’ processes which suggests that this one will be no different. Since 2014 GBC have changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now want to add a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and has now gone up to 485. This is in spite of a huge amount of effort by local residents to give the requested feedback to the previous plan. Naturally people are tired of repeating the same objections on seemingly deaf ears, but GBC should not conclude that the proposals have public support.

Overall, I OBJECT to the Local Plan. I would like these comments to be seen and considered by a planning inspector.
I urge you to reconsider and to listen to the voices of those of us who have lived here for many years and understand the full implications of what is being suggested. The residents of Send do not deserve to be treated in such a cavalier and irresponsible way by GBC.

I have strong objections to the latest version of the local plan as recently published and in particular as it affects Send and our local environment.

It seem to me that many of the objections raised a year or so ago, which on the surface seemed to have been taken into account of, have now been completely disregarded in the latest version and several new projects introduced, all of which have an adverse effect on the village. In particular the concept of taking Send completely out of the Green Belt classification.
In my view, we do not need as many houses as the government think, what we need is less people but that is a matter for the national government to resolve with the electorate at large

I would ask that this letter of objection and my comments below be seen by the Inspector.

I wish to object to a number of the policies set out in the Draft Local Plan, as follows:

1. Generally, I object to the process being followed. The failure of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to follow due and correct process. Since 2014, GBC has changed the plans for every major site in Send proposed for development and now seeks to add a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses reduced to 185 in April 2016 and now shoots up to 485. These significant changes require full consultation under Regulation 18, not the Regulation 10 short cut which GBC seek to get away with. This action appears to invalidate the whole process.

I object to the fact that GBC have not met the requirements of the NPPF Paragraph 155 which imposes an explicit obligation to have early and meaningful consultation. This has not been met in a number of areas by GBC. We have not had a meaningful consultation on imposing a settlement boundary on East Clandon, on the absence of meaningful economic and population growth figures for Guildford showing various scenarios with high, medium and low growth scenarios being offered.

I would like to object to GBC’s Proposed Submission Local Plan unreservedly. As a local resident I have objected to all the proposals the GBC has put forward along with thousands of others in our area. It really is appalling that our objections have been completely ignored and the Local Plan has failed in the number of key areas to take into account or to answer our valid comments and criticisms submitted by thousands of residents and organisations in respect of the previous 2013 Draft Local Plan. What is the point of us all objecting whole-heartedly if we are just ignored. I have to say that in my opinion it raises questions about your governance and vested interests.

I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 weeks notice and with very limited consultation time giving residents very little time to object. One could almost go so far as to suggest that this last minute inclusion in particular the site at Garlicks Arch where hundreds of houses are suggested is underhanded. Why have these sites now suddenly been added, why were they not included in the last draft plan. How can the council seem to simply appear to keep changing their minds regarding sites. Is it on the basis that if you do it often enough people will get fed up having to lodge objections, get worn down by the whole process thus leaving the council a clear path to build!

Please find below my objections to the revised draft Guildford Borough Local Plan currently open to consultation.

To start with, I object to the approach to consultation that the Council is taking. The Council withdrew the 2014 draft Local Plan following an outcry from residents. During its re-drafting, instead of arriving at a sensible alternative the Council has changed every major site in Send and added a massive new road junction. It beggars belief that the Council could on one hand state that they listened to residents, whilst on the other hand increase the planned housing levels in the village. Either way, the proposed changes are significant and therefore require another full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short-cut of Regulation 19 which the Council is using.

I must say I was taken by surprise that the revised draft Local Plan for Lovelace with marginal changes to the former draft was pushed through, although just a few days earlier the GBC planners had unanimously shot down a centrepiece of it. To me as a citizen, it seems that the various GBC boards don’t talk to one another, or that some have a secret agenda for very personal reasons.

-how can it be that a local council decides to withdraw parts of their land out of a national protected area, the Green Belt just to ease its planning challenges? Politicians should look at the impact of their actions for future generations and not just shortsighted to the next election and how to make their job easier.

I object to proposal A43 Garlick's Arch
I object to all the proposed sites in Send put forward by the council because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Also unlike the rest of the borough, Send residents have not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

I really do object to all the proposed sites in Send as they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially. The semi rural nature of the village would be damaged irreparably.

There were over 20,000 complaints and comments and objections to the last local plan sent out for comment yet GBC have hardly changed any of this latest plan to reflect these, even when the 2000 houses ridiculously tabled for Wisley airfield was rejected by councillors; yet this is still in the plan!

The consultation period is limited in time. I believe the Local Plan should be presented properly at public consultations and the feedback taken on board because I don’t see that it has been to date.

2. I object to the six week consultation period which is totally and utterly inadequate for proposals of this nature and magnitude. It does not give parties affected adequate time to prepare their case and/or to take professional advice. Perhaps this is the intention.

3. I object to the 2 week notice of some of the included sites. Such a period, coupled with a ridiculously inadequate consultation period for such major planning proposals that would radically alter the character of the whole area is nothing short of ridiculous.

4. I object to the document itself, which is far from user friendly. It is excess of 1800 pages in length and gives every impression of being "cobbled together" as a matter of urgency without anything like the amount of consideration that such major proposals need. It gives every impression of having been prepared with the intention of confusing rather than informing affected parties.

I object to the fact that the majority of these points were brought up in my previous objection the Local Plan sites 67/74/75/76 and 99/ Send/Sendmarsh. No satisfactory answers have been given to these points in your new plan, and it would appear that they have been conveniently "swept under the table" leaving large unanswered objections to the people in the areas concerned. If your Council is expecting support from the local residents in the area you need to produce a professional plan taking their concerns into consideration and giving satisfactory answers to their objections, so far this has not been done.

The UK today is considered to be one of the world's leading democracy, and is, relatively speaking, a country of transparency and good faith. It is not good faith, however, to include elements of this local plan in this manner. I would kindly request that you familiarize yourselves with the British Constitution, and with the idea that democratically elected officials are elected on the basis of manifestos. I OBJECT TO THE FACT THAT GBC HAVE NOT FOLLOWED THE CORRECT PROCESS

- I OBJECT to GBC adding Garlick’s Arch to the plan at only 13 days before the 24th May discussion of the Local Plan by GBC. The fact that this was ‘last minute’ was admitted by Mr Spooner at the Send Parish Council Meeting on June 14th. This site presents a significant change to the regulation 18 consultation in 2014, and therefore should have been fully debated, rather than accepted through a shortcut of Regulation 19. The fact that GBC have been ‘gifted’ the land to build the slip road to the A3 (policy A43a) in return for the inclusion Garlick’s Arch leads to cynicism and doubt that due process is being followed.

- I OBJECT to the disregard that GBC have shown to the concerns of local residents through previous ‘consultation’ processes which suggests that this one will be no different. Since 2014 GBC have changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now want to add a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and has now gone up to 485. This is in spite of a huge amount of effort by local residents to give the requested feedback to the previous plan. Naturally people are tired of repeating the same objections on seemingly deaf ears, but GBC should not conclude that the proposals have public support.

- Overall, I OBJECT to the Local Plan. I would like these comments to be seen and considered by a planning inspector.

The 2014 proposal for 430 house in Send was reduced to 185 in April 2016. In May 2016 policy A43 was added with 400 houses and Industrial units. These significant changes require full consultation under Regulation 18. Regulation 19, which GBC are using is not appropriate in this instance.

Having reviewed the Local Plan I want to express my concerns over many aspects of the development included. I feel the Council has ignored objections residents made in the 2014 consultation, showing a complete lack of consideration for the impact such extensive development will have in the local area.

I object to the Council making substantial last minute changes to the plan, such as the Garlick’s Arch development in Send and the addition of a major alteration/enlargement of the junction on the A3 at Burnt Common. There are also many other significant changes to the 2014 plan. This requires a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the limited consultation under Regulation 19 for minor changes.

I think the brief six week Local Plan consultation, placed in summer when many people are away on holidays, is a deliberate act to limit residents’ opportunity to fully review the extensive documentation comprised in the Plan and to then make any appropriate objections if required.

I object to both these developments on the grounds that there was improper use of Regulation 18; no local consultation; that Garlick’s Arch is green belt land which includes an area of ancient woodland and parts of which are low lying and subject to flooding.

I object to the alteration to the A3 junction at Burnt Common, as it has not been part of a full infrastructure review and proper consultation with local residents. It was added to the plan at the last minute to avoid proper scrutiny.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

Over 20,000 responses objected to the 2014 draft Plan and therefore I Object that this Plan is not materially different and the Consultation Process has not been properly followed for this Plan.

Objections to Proposed Submission Local Plan

I object to certain policies set out in the Proposed Submission Local Plan which pertain in particular to Send and the surrounding area, as follows:

1. I object to the fact that a number of the policies included in the Proposed Submission Local Plan have not been raised for prior consultation and were not included in the Regulation 18 draft, in particular Policies A43, A43A and These policies have not been included in previous drafts of the plan which were subject to full consultation, and I object to the fact that these significant development proposals have been introduced for the first time in this final version of the plan and there has been no opportunity for residents to comment on them.

Bisley Camp is the internationally recognised body/home of world target shooting and the NRA is a registered charity with a Royal Charter and serves 30,000 target shooting members and affiliates in the UK. The NRA wish to express an interest in participating at the Examination in recognition of the importance that the policies of the new local plan will have upon the interests of the NRA specific to the continued success and appropriate potential future improvements of the facilities at Bisley. The importance of the leisure and visitor experience and the significant contribution this sector makes to the Borough's economy should be reflected as part of the Local Plan process. The NRA wish to contribute and engage directly as one provider of a leisure and tourism attraction within the Borough accordingly.

Neame Sutton Limited acting on behalf of Bewley Homes Plc is proposing a number of additional and/or alternative housing allocations in various settlements in the Borough. Furthermore, fundamental objections are raised in relation to the Council's housing delivery strategy including in specific relation to a number of proposed allocations and, the total number of dwellings it is proposing to provide over the Plan period. Objections are also raised in relation to the evidence base, particularly the Sustainability Appraisal and Green Belt Study.

These are all complex issues that Bewley Homes would wish to address the Inspector directly on at the appropriate Examination sessions.

Hermes Investment Management Limited wishes to be participate in the Examination for the Proposed Submission Local Plan on grounds it is a stakeholder in a key site within Guildford Town Centre and would welcome the opportunity to test the Council's position on the elements of the plan, particularly site allocations which are the subject of the representations it has made.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 5: The examination

Answer: (Yes)

The Guildford Vision Group would like to challenge elements of the Local Plan at the Examination, and would wish to be accompanied by expert witnesses where appropriate, especially in connection with town centre infrastructure matters.

The Guildford Vision Group, a group of concerned residents with very relevant commercial and professional experience, was established four years ago to press for reinvigoration of the town centre. Specifically we have called for six objectives:

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre
2. Exciting new public space along a reinvigorated riverside
3. Redirection of vehicle traffic away from the centre
4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

These are not unusual or unique objectives. They are the aim of a multitude of UK towns and cities, where many have taken positive action to bring them about. Many would envy Guildford its magnificent setting and the river running through the centre of town, yet Guildford has failed significantly over the past decades to take full advantage of its potential, especially its river. Riverside areas are taken up by surface car parks, buildings with their back to the water and suffer a legacy of piecemeal, unattractive light industrial development.

Walnut Tree Close and Woodbridge Meadows, in particular, should be given over to well-planned housing and the scattered light industrial provision should be relocated to an expanded Slyfield where infrastructure and communications would be better.

We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. There are no substantial coordinated policies or strategies in the Local Plan that will achieve the six objectives above. These objectives have received wide public support, as recognised by:

- Our 2013 document ‘Guildford on the Way’, a Vision for Guildford in 2030 (attached) as articulated by members of the public, Guildford residents and our members
- Comments and feedback from our public meetings over the past four years that have regularly attracted audiences of 200 and above
- Feedback from our frequent Newsletters to our supporters, interested parties and councillors

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

The single, most significant omission regarding the town centre and its infrastructure is a cohesive plan to redirect traffic away from the centre via a new East/West link as proposed by GVG. This was mentioned in our previous Local Plan 2014 submission. A sketch of the link is reproduced here with the new rail/river bridge arrowed:

[see attached file GVG bridge route]

Such a link would instantly enable wider pedestrianisation of the town centre – specifically Bridge and Onslow Streets – bringing a safer, less polluted environment. The bridge would also enable the reinvigoration of the riverside on both sides, below the bottom of North and High Streets, and the demolition of the ugly four lane concrete Friary Bridge that blights the character of our historic gap town at its very centre.

There is no attempt in the Local Plan to safeguard any potential route for such a new East/West link.

I object to the Council not following due process. Since the last Draft Local Plan every site in the village of Send has been changed. Not only locations but also in housing numbers. Even as recently as 5th April 2016 there was a document released giving information on the New Local Plan with links to maps and now there are massive changes, even since the publication of this document. My understanding is that following the rejection of the Draft Local Plan the Council could only push forward under Regulation 19 if there were not significant changes. In Send, None of the 485 new homes was included, the site at Garlick’s Arch was not included, the land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill was not included and the removal of Send from the Green Belt was not included. These are major changes to the plan for the village of Send. If this amount of change is to be proposed then we need to go back and have a full consultation under Regulation 18.

To whom it may concern,

I object to the above proposal for the following reasons and want this message to be seen by the Inspector.

Firstly, I object to the fact that these proposals were added to the agenda at the last minute in the May meeting of this year. This alone is underhand, not to add reprehensible.

Secondly, G.B.C. have invalidated the whole process by not following the official guidelines and following procedures. A full consultation is required. This is a new proposal involving 400 + houses and warehouses.

Objection to Proposed Local Plan

Please Note: I want my comments to be seen by the Inspector and please make your responses personal.

GBC have made significant changes to proposed developments in and around Send and Ripley and now seem to propose the building of 485 houses and a full new road junction on the A3 at Burnt Common, but there is no indication of another full consultation. I object to this as GBC have invalidated the whole process by trying to use Regulation 19 rather than the correct course of action detailed in Regulation 18.

I object to GBC having not followed the correct Process for the planning. They way you have changed the development plan is significant and required another full consultation under Regulation 18.

Attached documents:

I would like to comment on the above by saying I Object strongly against the preposed plan.

The reasons for my objection are as follows.

GBC did not follow the correct process and consultation period under regulation 18. Rather than the short cut that GBC are trying to use regulation 19.

I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

1. The GBC have not followed the correct process following significant changes from the 2014 proposals. I believe that these require a full consultation under Reg 18 and that by using Reg 19 the whole process is invalidated.

OBJECTION

My name is [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998].

Whilst I accept that every village has to grow and evolve, the proposals for Send Village are enormous and far reaching. Until about 10 days before the proposed Local Plan was launched the proposals for Send Village were comparatively low and with a few exceptions could possibly have been supported. However, as stated, 10 days before the approval a site was withdrawn and another, Garlick’s Arch (Policy 43a) was substituted. This adjusted the number of proposed houses from 185 to 485. The manner in which this Plan was inserted at a meeting at Guildford Borough Council which I attended was run in an appalling way. The Councillors who objected were belittled and laughed at by the Lead Councillor and the Mayor.

Firstly i would like to express my irritation to only learn of the plan from a stall at Ripley farmers market, as the council is elected to represent all residents why are you not informing us about this plan openly and honestly to show the consultation with your constituents happens rather then treating it as an inconvenience to your proposals.

I must also object to the limited consultation period as it leads me to believe this was to minimise the involvement of local interested parties and objections to the plan.
The last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 weeks notice begs the question as to what is really going on? I must therefore register my objection to this.

Your consultation period has been minimal and not allowed enough time for people to fully take in the massive changes proposed.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have not followed the correct process for Send and Ripley developments. Any significant changes to the 2014 proposals, such as the proposal development of Garlicks Arch, should have required another full consultation, which did not happen. This invalidates the whole process.

I have to say that I am very disappointed that the Local Authority has only allowed such a short period for discussion and either support or objection.

I urge the local authority to cancel these proposals and to follow the proper procedures that are laid down for the protection of our countryside.

I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites - specifically Garlick’s Arch.

I object to the inclusion of the development at the Wisley airfield site despite it being rejected at planning.

I also object to Policy A43 Garlick’s Arch as this substantial development was included in the Draft Local Plan at the last minute with less than two weeks’ notice and insufficient consultation.

I would like to object to planned building of 700 homes per year, the area of Send does not have sufficient infrastructure to support this type of expansion. There are insufficient schools, road and transport system. Will destroy the village and its uniqueness, turn the whole area into a massive Conurbation.

The process which this has been proposed contravenes not only planning commitment and guidance as laid down by the government for green belt, but also has ignored due process.

I object to further development for the following reasons. With advent of the UK exit from the EU, the prediction for the requirement for housing and development of commercial units will need to be revised downwards. As the 3 million EU citizens currently in the UK, will be affected by this current event, and their ability to stay in this country will also be affected. So your estimates for further development of housing are wildly exaggerated and need to be revised downwards.

In addition to the potential down grade in the economy due to Brexit, your estimation for commercial and housing development is wildly exaggerated and unnecessary. Given you have allowed development of Send marina; I really don’t understand how you can commit to further commercial developments. So therefore this development is folly this area does not need.

In particular, I want to object to all the following points:

I object to Garlicks Arch development of green belt land which contravenes government guide lines and that due process was not followed in the introduction of this development into this plan, and did not follow this process. Its inclusion in this plan was included at the last stage and did not follow process. So for that reason should be excluded.

I object to the council changing the enclosure of green belt land round the Ripley and Send villages, changing of village boundaries to allow for future development.
I object to the wholesale destruction of green belt land in this area (including development of 2000 homes at Gosden hill farm, Merrow, and also Send and Ripley), which contravenes directly the government stated commitment to preservation to green belt land.

I object to the creation of new north and South Bounds slips ways from the A3 to the A247 clandon Road (policy A243) at Burnt common, as in light of the wholly unnecessary due to planned expansion which unlikely be needed within the 10 years.

GBC Local Area Plan

I have tried to use the only process but it is too difficult to navigate and I have therefore set out my further objections in this correspondence:-

1.) I object to the process. The correct process has not been followed: Regulation 18 should have been followed bearing in mind the significant changes that have been made to the plans, more widely, and specifically at Burntcommon, (Garlick’s Arch policy A43), and at land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill (A44). My understanding is that this invalidates the whole process.
2.) I object to the limited consultation period. The impact of the proposal on the locality is so high that further consultation is necessary.

3.) I object to only 2 weeks’ notice being given for the inclusion of new sites in the plan.

Finally I object to the process GBC have taken to try and implement their ideas. The changes made to cut the houses from 185 to 485 have not had another full consultation, which invalidates the process.

Having stated these points, I believe that it is vitally important that the local plan does not take place, and is re-thought out.

Thank-you for taking the time to rad this, and I would like this to be passed on to the Inspector.

Furthermore

1) Guildford Borough Council (GBC) have not followed the correct process.

Since 2014 GBC has changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now just added a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and has now gone up again to 485. These significant changes require another full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cut of Regulation 19 which GBC are trying to get away with. This invalidates the whole process.

Instead of massive development at one or more sites in Guildford, why not create small pockets of development in all villages across the Borough? This would obviate the need for large scale infrastructure development, would breathe life into moribund communities and allow, through a mix of marketing, affordable and social housing, more people to live in the Borough.

Overall, I object to the way in which Guildford Borough Council have not followed the correct process in creating the draft local plan. Major changes (such as a major new road junction on the A3, and an increase in proposed house building from 185 to 485) require full consultation under Regulation 18; in contrast, GBC have attempted to hide these changes within Regulation 19.

Blackwell Farm strategic site is partly within the Parish of Compton and a representative from the Parish Council would wish to attend the examination.

The village of Compton will be severely affected by traffic and congestion if plans go ahead and hence we would also like to be present for discussions relating to infrastructure and highways.

6. Guildford PSLP is the draft Local Development Document proposed to be submitted to the Secretary of State under Regulation 19 of the 2012 Regulations. It seeks to establish the principal land uses for the District. It is accompanied by the Sustainability Appraisal June 2016 which includes the Strategic Environmental Assessment 2016 prepared by AECOM Infrastructure and Environment UK Limited.

7. Preparation of Local Development Documents is covered by Section 19 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004. The PSLP will, in due course be submitted to independent examination under Section 20 of the 2004 Act, subsection (5) of which provides:

“(5) The purpose of an independent examination is to determine in respect of the development plan document -
(a) whether it satisfies the requirements of sections 19 and 24 (1), regulations under section 17 (7) and any regulations under section 36 relating to the preparation of development plan documents;
(b) whether it is sound; and
(c) whether the local planning authority complied with any duty imposed on the authority by section 33A in relation to its preparation. “

11. Regulation 19 of the Local Plan Regulations provides:

“Publication of a local plan 19. Before submitting a local plan to the Secretary of State under section 20 of the Act, the local planning authority must— (a) make a copy of each of the proposed submission documents and a statement of the representations procedure available in accordance with regulation 35, and (b) ensure that a statement of the representations procedure and a statement of the fact that the proposed submission documents are available for inspection and of the places and times at which they can be inspected, is sent to each of the general consultation bodies and each of the specific consultation bodies invited to make representations under regulation 18(1). Representations relating to a local plan.”
12. RPC are not satisfied that the documents have been made available in accordance with Regulation 19. In particular the Transport Document not being available until 6 June 2016. What RPC describe as “constant alterations to the website throughout the consultation period and, in particular the late substitution of Garlick’s Arch for the previous A43 allocation, which was not disclosed until the publication of the PSLP on 6 June 2016.

I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 weeks’ notice and seems to be rushed and the effect it will have on the lives of the residences and amenities.

I object that they seemed not to be thought about before putting the plans forward.

I object to the limited consultation period we should more time and time to have information given to us to how this will affect the local schools, roads, traffic and amenities.

I OBJECT

GBC HAVE NOT FOLLOWED CORRECT PROCESS.

GBC have been guilty of very underhand sleight of hand procedures in drafting this new plan.
Since 2014 GBC has changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now just added a major new road junction. The southbound off slip road from the A3 at this junction will increase traffic turning right onto the A247 which is already a site of many minor (so far minor!) accidents. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and has just gone up again to 485. These significant changes require another full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cut of Regulation 19 which GBC are trying to get away with. This invalidates the whole process.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have not followed the correct process for Send and Ripley developments. Any significant changes to the 2014 proposals, such as the proposal development of Garlicks Arch, should have required another full consultation, which did not happen. This invalidates the whole process.

I object to the Limited Consultation Period.

I find it disingenuous to the last minute inclusion of new sites i.e. Garlick’s Arch with less than two weeks notice, just because it would appear that the developer has offered a new on and off slip to the A3.

Comment ID: SQLP16/681  Respondent: 15329441 / Suzie Powell-Cullingford  Agent:

1. I OBJECT to the way in which this consultation process has been processed by GBC. Many residents remain unaware that such significant proposals are afoot, which will have a 15 year affect on people's lives. If you are not a regular reader of the Surrey Advertiser, you would probably not know anything about the Local Plan. Indeed, the majority of information provided to residents of the borough has been provided by either parish councils or concerned local residents groups such as Wisley Action Group, Save Send Action Group, Ripley Action Group, CPRE and other bodies. This is not acceptable in a democratic society, particularly in view of the fact that the Conservative borough councillors had an election promise to protect the Greenbelt which they fundamentally appear to be totally disregarding. In essence, residents are trusting GBC to uphold their election promises, without being given the information regarding the revised Local Plan. I do not accept that local plan documents held in a small handful of local libraries constitutes appropriate consultation. I have attended many local meetings in Clandon, Send, Merrow and Ripley (all of which have been organised by local bodies, NOT GBC) held to discuss the proposals in the 2016 Local Plan. I can honestly say that there is wholehearted disapproval from every aspect of each community.
In conclusion, this revised 2016 Local Plan is not fit for purpose, is unsound does not represent in any way how most existing residents wish to see their homes, communities and borough develop over the next 15 years.

Consultation Period

I was shocked that a plan of this scale with such a devastating effect to the Green Belt, population, culture and infrastructure of the Burpham area is being rushed through with such a short consultation period. The plan was submitted in June and responses need to be received within 6 weeks by 18th July. This is a disgusting blatant attempt to steamroll the voice of the local population in order to get unnecessary additional houses built without due process.

7. I object to the fact that GBC have not met the requirements of the NPPF Paragraph 155 which imposes an explicit obligation to have early and meaningful consultation. This has not been met in a number of areas by GBC. We have not had a meaningful consultation on imposing a settlement boundary on East Clandon, on the absence of meaningful economic and population growth figures for Guildford showing various scenarios with high, medium and low growth scenarios being offered.

Answer: ()

Guildford Local Plan 2016 Consultation

I am responding to your request for residents of the Borough, and other interested parties, to make their views known on the latest Draft Local Plan.

My first comment is that I am deeply shocked to see that little or no attention has been paid to the comments made by a significant number of residents in the last consultation. The overwhelming local view that the Green Belt must be maintained at all costs, and that brown field sites should be used for a large part of the housing needs, has been completely ignored.

Once again the method of communicating to Home Owners and Occupiers is totally unacceptable. In January 2014, I had sent a suggestion of how the Borough might directly write to every Home Owner or Occupier so that they are fully aware of the proposals. This is because so many key people were not aware of the plan or the needed action. I had an email from the then Councillor in charge of the Local Plan agreeing that their consultation must be improved. This has not been done and so many people may be disenfranchised.

These points above show that the much needed democracy to progress such an important plan is destroying the credibility of the process.

It really is unacceptable that our objections have been completely ignored and the Local Plan has failed in the number of key areas to take into account or to answer our valid comments and criticisms submitted by thousands of residents and organisations in respect of the previous 2013 Draft Local Plan. We cannot understand why our clear and wholehearted objections to the Local Plan are ignored.

Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has

- engaged positively in the Local Plan process from the outset,
- agreed “Aspirations for Guildford” and Local Plan consultation responses with the support of 26 Residents Associations and four Parish Councils,
- encouraged and supported residents to participate in the Plan-making process
- through contributions from residents groups, raised funds to commission an expert to review the SHMA, and
- drawn on the knowledge of environmental, planning, engineering, flood risk management, economic, commercial and transport experts to inform its contributions.

GRA does not consider the Plan to be sound for the reasons set out and we wish to make the case for changes we consider necessary to achieve this. These concerns, which relate to the overall approach, manifest themselves in policy throughout the Plan. Hence, our interest is overarching rather than confined to specific issues.

We would like to participate in all matters at the inquiry on behalf of the many residents who have worked together to establish a collective voice through the GRA. We would also like to be accompanied by an expert witness for the SHMA and for transport-related matters.

Limited consultation period

I object to the limited consultation period for the Guildford Local Plan. Everyone would have benefitted from a longer period of consideration.
Late additions to the Local Plan

I object to the late additions of parts of the local plan, some with less than two-weeks notice. I’m particularly concerned about the Garlick’s Arch addition and the new A3/Burnt Common junction. These will have considerable local impact and seem to have been introduced with no prior notification or consultation.

I attach a letter of my objections to the 2016 Draft Local Plan. For your information, I have copied my objections as follows:

I am writing to you to voice my objections to this plan. I have lived in the Borough for 27 years, and have never before taken this step, but I am extremely concerned on a number of issues.

1. I object to the fact that this very short consultative period. This is being rushed. It has become clear in recent weeks that insufficient consultation can lead to catastrophically bad decisions.

Guildford Borough Council have not followed correct process. I strongly feel the council has totally disregarded resident views. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and now I see it has gone up again to 485. These huge changes should go to full consultation under Regulation 18, not the shortcut of Regulation 19! This makes a mockery of the whole process.

It is very upsetting for our community that GBC are considering the above, I do hope that consideration will be made to the outstanding beauty of our countryside, our historic links and our wildlife and that our Green Belt protection is upheld.
1. I object to GBC not listening to local people in 2015 and continuing to impose the same style of Local Plan in 2016.

More than any other I OBJECT to the limited consultation period.

Which smacks of a lack of forward planning, a rushed, hasty and “desperate catch up “ or “opportune” timescale, to force decisions by stealth or reduce fair and thereby ignore proportionate objection.

This is plainly illustrated by the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 x weeks notice, which I also OBJECT to.

I object to the short consultation period and in particular to the last minute inclusion of more sites.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have not followed the correct process for Send and Ripley developments. Any significant changes to the 2014 proposals, such as the proposal development of Garlicks Arch, should have required another full consultation, which did not happen. This invalidates the whole process.

I finally object to the multiple revisions of the plan with relatively short notice - only last year a plan was included for commercial development on brownfield sites at Burnt Common - these are now removed. Additionally, the proposed development for 40 houses on Burnt Common Lane was added at the last minute to last year's plan - but subsequently removed. The plan should follow GBC's consultation process without having last minute amendments which cause all concerned a great deal of disturbance.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 5: The examination

Answer: ()

Having reviewed the Local Plan I want to express my concerns over many aspects of the development included. I feel the Council has ignored objections residents made in the 2014 consultation, showing a complete lack of consideration for the impact such extensive development will have in the local area.

I object to the Council making substantial last minute changes to the plan, such as the Garlick’s Arch development in Send and the addition of a major alteration/enlargement of the junction on the A3 at Burnt Common. There are also many other significant changes to the 2014 plan. This requires a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the limited consultation under Regulation 19 for minor changes.

I think the brief six week Local Plan consultation, placed in summer when many people are away on holidays, is a deliberate act to limit residents’ opportunity to fully review the extensive documentation comprised in the Plan and to then make any appropriate objections if required.

I object to both these developments on the grounds that there was improper use of Regulation 18; no local consultation; that Garlick’s Arch is green belt land which includes an area of ancient woodland and parts of which are low lying and subject to flooding.

I object to the alteration to the A3 junction at Burnt Common, as it has not been part of a full infrastructure review and proper consultation with local residents. It was added to the plan at the last minute to avoid proper scrutiny.

The owners of the Burnt Common site consider that the BCN site should be in the submission local plan as an allocated site, for the reasons set out in the accompanying WYG representation letter dated 15th July 2016. They reserve their right to participate in the examination depending on the outcome of the current consultation and the content of the submission local plan. The purpose of participating in the examination will be to test the content of the plan, particularly in relation to the BCN and GA sites but not solely, and demonstrate to the examination inspector that the plan is not sound without the inclusion of the BCN site as an allocated site.

I object to the limited consultation period

I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than two weeks’ notice

I object to Garlick’s Arch development because of the highly questionable way it was slipped into the Local Plan at the last minute without any prior consultation

Please find below my comments to the GBC Local Plan, in time for the 11.59 deadline today. I would appreciate confirmation of your receipt of this email.

Comments and Objections

We appear to have had very little time to read and understand all the many documents for this new local plan. Time has been extremely tight to be able to do so. Timescales should have been extended. Additionally to have the deadline around holiday season is more than unfortunate.

I very strongly object to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

Firstly, I would like to highlight that it is highly irresponsible that the council has set a 6 week public consultation period as the proposed submission has the potential for devastating, long term effects on our local villages.

The tactics of the Council bring it into disrepute. Insisting that this is a new plan so we all have to write in again is an abuse of the system.

<td>Residents wish to register concern and disappointment at the poorly judged decision to produce, promote and spend public money on a film to represent the views of “some residents”. A number of those “residents” represent institutions that have interests in proposed development that were not declared. There was no attempt to achieve balance. The film was inconsistent with the fair approach proposed in the Statement of Community Engagement. Use of the video on the Local Plan homepage could bias the Regulation 19 consultation. The suggestion that housing proposed will make a material difference to affordability or that congestion will be solved by development is to be tested. Indeed, the traffic evidence was not available when the video was produced and some of the data needed to assess congestion is not yet available.</td>

By 1960, 57 listed buildings had been demolished (11 in the High Street) to make way for a growing population, increased road traffic and the town’s prominence as a commuter rail hub. The Society itself flagged up 160 buildings it deemed at risk.

The late Lord Onslow, in his role as The Society’s President, noted: ‘There is one thing that we must look out for. Planners have become too frightened of boldness in design. There are some wonderful old buildings and complexes in our town and it must be the object of all of us that what is built in the future lives up to the best of the past…We conserve a town as a living entity and not in aspic.’

Our present Constitution enshrines all these issues in its aims, which can be distilled down to our modern strapline: ‘Speaking up for Guildford’s Past, Present & Future.’

Today, The Society, numbering over 400 subscription-paying members, monitors all aspects of town (and sometimes, Borough) life through three principal Groups – Planning, Transport and Design & Heritage. These are manned by volunteers, most with appropriate professional and business experience, beneath an umbrella Executive Committee responsible for the overall direction and health of The Society. Members of the 12-strong Executive stand for election for a 3-year term at the AGM, and elect a chairman annually from amongst their number.

The Planning Group screens all planning applications, picking out and examining those it sees as meriting comment. Comment inevitably has to be lodged as an ‘objection’ as that is the way the public planning system works. On larger schemes there is often pre-application discussion with the developer.

The Transport Group monitors road, rail, cycle and pedestrian issues, involving debate with County Council and Highways authorities. There are various public consultation bodies, into which the Transport Group feed its views, often as an established member.

The Society is organised with four quasi professional groups of experienced volunteers with a wealth of relevant expertise (the Planning Group, the Transport Group, the Design & Heritage Group and the Local Economy Group) forming a combined ‘Knowledge’ Group.

This combined expertise has helped us to form an objective response to both the Society’s Reg18 Consultation and the Reg19 Consultation responses.

There is a suggestion of a road tunnel for through traffic. The entrance and exit points are not known, the route and full cost are not clear. It is not certain who would pay and how much risk indecision might bring. In principle, however, a road tunnel would reduce costs for everyone trying to get past Guildford and make it easier for Guildford to develop and should be supported.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.
- Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in “Guildford urban area” and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.
Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is my belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

Applying Constraints

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014.

70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements). Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500.

In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONSTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN. of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council. This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015)

The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office. Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill are listed under Guildford Urban -- It should be noted that this is aspirational and is not current. It is misleading to list these greenbelt fields in this category. Those without an in depth knowledge of the plan may not realize that these are not currently urban sites.

Wisley is listed as a 'new settlement' a description that does not do justice to its size. Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill are also new 'settlements' and should be listed as such rather than as 'urban extensions'.

The Draft Local Plan raises many other issues but time constraints preclude us from making further detailed comment. However we have been party to the carefully crafted response prepared by the Burpham Community Association (BCA) and viewed the extensive critique undertaken by the Burpham Neighbourhood Forum (BNF). We have also been given access to the extensive documents written by both the Merrow Residents Association (MRA) and the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE). In conclusion we would wish to endorse the views, analysis and comment contained within the above replies that are being sent out to GBC. The scale of the draft Local Plan with its dense and difficult presentation makes it a daunting task for just one or two individuals to give a comprehensive response and where necessary rebuttal to many of the facets contained within this consultation. However it is apparent that much of what is proposed jars badly with the people of Guildford. Therefore essential the Council not just hears but listens carefully and make real improvements to the plan before irreparable damage is done to an historic town and its surrounding countryside.
In the last year there has been a seismic shift and concern by government at all levels as well as the public over roadside pollution. A decade ago it was just greenhouse gases. Today it is nitrogen dioxide and ultrafine particulate matter (PM2.5), emitted by car engines and thrown up by brakes and road wear, that is making the headlines. Thousands of people die each year as a result of breathing air that is officially considered safe. While WHO recommend a cap of 10 µg/m³ and the EU set legal limits at 25µg/m³, very low levels of air pollution can shorten lives while tiny changes equivalent to taking a few cars off each road could save many lives. What is being proposed by the local plan in Burpham and it environs does nothing to alleviate the existing threat of traffic pollution, congestion and gridlock. In fact it conspires to make the situation far worse. Intelligent local planning should recognise the consequences of such action and respond with a scheme that is not simply one of expediency at the expense of the electorate.

Villages do need new housing if they are to survive, renew and thrive. This should not be to the almost exclusive advantage of big developers and volume housebuilders who relish the prospect of putting estates on the green belt because of its favoured position and the ability to sell units at a thumping profit. This does not meet the community need for decent affordable housing. Such a situation seems to be planned for Gosden Hill. Here a residential mixed use development is to be built on an agricultural site that is predominantly Grade 2 and 3a farm land. However the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 document refers to the potential of an A3 Guildford Tunnel. Should this come about, Gosden Hill is an obvious choice to begin such a venture and this conflicts with the current proposals.

In conclusion we object strongly to Policy S2, Policy H1 and Policy A25 for the reasons set out above. The changes proposed have done nothing to mitigate the concerns expressed in our previous letter of 16/07/2016. The case for more houses of the right kind cannot be denied and suitable developments are quite possible as long as realistic targets are set and supported by local government. The current proposals are driven by an over inflated housing need figure and an inability to create the necessary infrastructure to deliver a sustainable quality of life for both existing and future residents. We can only trust that it is not too late and planners will consider carefully the concerns of local people who have on a daily basis to deal with the consequences of their actions.

Conclusions

8.1 In aggregate the above proposals combined with the ones we are not allowed to comment about, amount to excessive over-development in a small village.

8.2 I object to the mechanics of Regulation 19, restricting comments to new proposals only, as it is being applied by GBC. In the context of GBC’s proposals, where site allocations have been changed and then changed back again, sometimes at the last minute, there is a risk, of which GBC cannot be unaware, that an objection may be interpreted as a preference for what was proposed before. It is almost as if some of the changes have been designed to garner positive feedback and skew the numbers. The Inspector will no doubt be alert to this risk.

8.3 The proposals as they stand are intended to be a draft local plan for the whole of Guildford Borough. It is very disconcerting therefore that somewhere around 40% of the development is contained within a geographical area of about 11% of the borough, all within less than five miles of Send village.

8.4 It is also disconcerting that in addition to the 8 travelling show people plots, Send has also been allocated 2 traveller pitches, the only village in this position.

8.5 This looks like unjustified, unfair and unreasonable concentration in one area to the benefit of other areas which are escaping almost completely. One can only speculate as to the reasons underlying this bias. The Inspector will no doubt wish to make his own enquiries as to the reasons for the imbalance, although one does not have to look very far to find them.

The traffic problems raised by those of us who responded to the previous consultation have been insufficiently addressed. You have made proposals for major road changes, and some new park and ride facilities. However, the volume of traffic is already problematic, and for those of us who live in the villages surrounding Guildford, I see no proposals for improvement. In Chilworth, the main road running through the village is used as a 'Guildford by-pass' by large volumes of vehicles daily, and I do not see how this will be improved. It is extremely difficult to get out of Chilworth village in the mornings and other busy periods, due to traffic heading into Guildford from the Wonersh directions, and in the evenings due to traffic in the other direction.

More widely outside my own village, the traffic in the roads around Guildford is very heavy, and quality of life does not appear to have been considered in proposing large amounts of new homes in the area. This has all been said before, and apparently ignored.

I do not believe that proposals cater only for housing requirements in the area, but for people wanting to move into the area. The more houses that are built, the more people will move into the area, from London in particular.

I, and many others, commented in the last consultation against proposals to inset (i.e. remove) some villages from the Green Belt. These comments have been ignored, and the new document still shows a list of villages (including Chilworth) which be removed. In Chilworth, the eastern half of the village has an open character which surely 'contributes to the openness of the Green Belt'. It has views up to St Martha's Hill and to the Heathland on the southern side of the main road running through the village. I strongly object to proposals to remove this village from the Green Belt. The proposal would no doubt then offer opportunities for future building on the northern side of the main road, adding to ever increasing traffic, and consequent noise, and further spoiling the quality of life here.

I, and many others, protested in the last consultation against your proposal to remove some of the villages from the Green Belt. This included Chilworth, where I live. Our views have been ignored, and still you plan to go ahead with this proposal. Our village sits within the Green belt, and the eastern half of it has an open character, with buildings on only one side of the road. It also sits within the Surrey Hills AONB. It has open views up to St Martha's Hill, and opens out onto heathland on the southern side of the main road. wish to protest again that removal of the village from the Green Belt, as this will clearly open up the possibility of further construction within its boundaries. This would lessen its open aspect, and would give rise to further traffic, congestion and noise. You do not appear to have had any regard to the quality of life experienced by residents within Chilworth and similar villages.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS
Whilst so much of what the Council does on behalf of the community is taken for granted, probably with very little expression of gratitude, I personally am much more critical of the Local Plan proposals. We in Send have expressed our views over the years but clearly no attention is paid to them as evidenced by the fact that despite everything that has been said even more houses are proposed to be built in Send than before plus an additional eight Show people pitches.
The opening paragraph to the local plan states "Our Proposed Submission Local Plan balances the needs of residents, businesses and visitors with protecting the borough's most important countryside, landscapes and heritage. It addresses housing, employment, retail and leisure requirements, supported by suitable infrastructure including education, healthcare and transport. The new Local Plan will be in place until 2034."

Furthermore there are signs at various points proclaiming "The Surrey Hills an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty." Yet despite this the Local Plan will considerably increase traffic volumes, transform existing villages into small towns, reduce the benefit of the Green Belt, result in undesirable ribbon development and increase demand for education and health services which are already trying to cope. The scale of the plan is such that it will inevitably diminish these claims. I regret to say that I remain disappointed in the Council's objectives and total disregard of public opinion which have consistently been expressed at meetings and in letters of objection by residents deeply concerned with their environment and way of life. I would like to feel that GBC are more in tune with those they represent but I am sorry to say I do not.

1. The Plan has changed very little since the 2014 Draft Local Plan which received 20,000+ objections. The Council has wearied objectors this time by ignoring objections in 2014. It is a natural human condition to 'give up' against GBC's apparent wall of deafness to reasoned objections?

Answer: (Yes)

There should be a firm requirement for all future residential development to be concentrated in existing urban areas or settlements before any development is allowed within the green belt. For example there should be a much greater allowance for housing in the North Street Development and an appropriate amount of housing assigned to the Telephone Exchange site which currently has none. Moreover, no development should be allowed on any of the Strategic Sites in the green belt until improvements to the A3 and all supporting infrastructure is in place.

Because, once the Local Plan has been adopted, the council will be tied to a commitment to deliver a certain amount of housing within a stated period of time, the council should consider introducing penalties for developers who leave urban areas derelict, or buildings unoccupied, for long periods of time.

<td>As Britain prepares to leave the EU, it is entirely possible that the population, especially in the home counties like Surrey, may see a reduction as some EU nationals return home, thus relieving some of the perceived need for increased housing. The Local Plan needs to take this into account. Developers avoid brown-field sites as the cost of development can be higher, resulting in a lower rate of return, while green-belt land is cheap to both purchase and develop to maximise profit. There are many brown-field sites in the Borough, and it must be mandatory to develop these before any other sites are even considered. I will be accused of not wanting development in my own back yard, but my concerns are more far reaching than my local area, I believe the south east of England is at capacity. and I want to see vision and innovation in development practice for the future good of Britain as a whole. Our elected representatives at all levels must conduct themselves with due diligence and integrity, for the long term future of all, including their own children, not for the short term profit of a few.</td>

Paragraph 4.3.13 and Inset Plan for West Horsley (south)

The Insetting of the villages as set out in Paragraph 4.3.13 and as identified on the Inset Plan for West Horsley is fully supported for the following reasons:

1. Guidance in the NPPF (paragraph 86) makes it clear that villages should only be included within the Green Belt in circumstances where the open character of the village makes a contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. Since there are many villages within the Borough where this does not apply, it is right and proper that as part of the evidence base for the Local Plan, each of the villages should be appraised for the contribution that they make to maintaining the objectives of Green Belt. Accordingly, the Green Belt and Countryside Study relating to the insetting of villages is supported in general terms.

2. More specifically, the assessment and conclusions of the Green Belt and Countryside Study in respect of West Horsley (South) are supported. This concluded that the village should be inset with the Green Belt. As noted in the study, the majority of the village is considered to exhibit an enclosed character due to tree cover and topography surrounding the village; areas of open land within the wider Green Belt are not frequently visible within or beyond the perceived village area and it is generally contained by a number of recognisable and defensible boundaries that would permit the provision of new Green Belt boundaries, as shown on the Stage 2 Map. This analysis is correct and, as such, the conclusion that the village should inset into the Green Belt is supported.

3. Guidance in the NPPF (paragraph 85) deals with defining boundaries and advises local planning authorities that they should be clear, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent. The preparation of the Local Plan provides an opportunity for the existing defined boundary of the settlement to be reviewed. It is considered that this is necessary due to existing inconsistencies in the way that the 2003 Settlement Boundary is drawn and the need for the new defined settlement boundary to accord with the proposed new status of the village as being Inset within the Green Belt.

4. For the above reasons, the identification of a defined boundary for specified villages in which appropriate development or redevelopment will be allowed is fully supported. In particular, the inclusion of West Horsley (South) as one of these settlements is supported. For the same reasons, the Horsley Plan showing the proposed Settlement Boundary is also supported.

1. In our response to the July 2016 Submission Local Plan we expressed concern in Section 1 of our response that the OAN, following the Brexit vote, needed to be re-assessed and GBC duly did so. We note the resultant decrease in the OAN but we continue to question whether the revised number is appropriate as the Brexit negotiations for the UK's exit from the EU are still at a very early stage and the impact on UK economic growth and net international immigration is totally uncertain. We note the phased implementation of the housing units but believe that the OAN should be re-evaluated after the Brexit negotiations are complete and our economic future is a little more predictable.

2. Para 2.13. This states that "facilities to assist pedestrians in crossing roads are commonplace". Whilst it is difficult to argue with this statement we feel that they are insufficient and further crossings are certainly required in this parish on the A 248 and the A 281 for the use of both young and elderly residents. We also believe that changes in speed limits through the villages make it difficult for all road users to travel safely.

Rather than respond to the 20,000 objections to the previous draft, GBC has taken the easy route of trotting out the previous plan, almost unchanged, apart from an increase in the OAN, for some explained reason. They have spent a fortune on PR consultants to plug their achievements, whereas they should have gone back to the drawing board, and started from scratch.

The constraints, which are required to be applied, under the NPPF, such as the purpose of the greenbelt have not been applied.

The GBC Tory party promised in its 2015 election manifesto to protect the greenbelt, and yet this plan proposes the wholesale destruction of the greenbelt.

There is little or no proposed solution to improving the infrastructure, which is already under strain.

This plan is not fit for purpose.
This Plan was drawn up before the June 23 EU Referendum vote and the public's decision that the UK should leave the EU. This has such a material impact on the assumptions underpinning the Plan that it should now be revisited.

OBJECT To building anything on Greenbelt, AGLV or AONB sites. It should be protected as per election promises from Local and Central Government.

OBJECT to amount, or lack of, homes planned for the town.

OBJECT to SHMA figure of 693, Guildford is promoted as a growth town and this plan does not reflect Local Need. Further independent scrutiny of the base line data shows that this document is seriously flawed. GBC insists it is right but they havent seen the calculations.
OBJECT to the proposals for more employment space as guildford already has a very high employment rate. We also have a range of buildings which are empty.

OBJECT to huge retail expansion in Guildford. These places should be reserved for homes. Guildford already has ample retail space, some of which are still empty. Our local businesses will be unable to compete with big retailers and will be forced to close.

OBJECT to the current lack of infrastructure. Guildford is gridlocked, no one seems to do anything about it. We can't get to the station, it takes longer to drive 2.4 miles from the station as it does to get a train from Waterloo to Guildford. More people will make this journey ridiculous.

In addition to my online comments.

I would like to object at the way Guildford Borough Council consulted Worpleesdon Borough Council and neighbouring councils on the Local Plan. They had one meeting with us in three years at which they promised that in Worpleesdon 'we would be pleased'. They showed us a map of all the sites, without labels.

They then showed neighbouring parish councils different maps and gave different views of the same plan.

It seemed different maps and explanations were given to every Parish Council across Guildford. The whole thing was just a tick box exercise.

Furthermore, as a Parish Councillor, we were warned that if the current Local Plan sites didn't go forward for approval, other sites, e.g Fairlands safeguarded land would come back in the plan. This I took as a direct threat, knowing that the residents of Fairlands had previously objected to their safeguarded land for a multitude of reasons and had it removed from this consultation.

Therefore, I must object to the lack of openness, honesty and transparency Guildford Borough Council has given to its residents and Councillors during this consultation.

My wife and I have been residents of Guildford for over 25 years and in a variety of ways involved with local community activities. In this regard my wife was a founder Board Member of Abbotswood Residents Association and we have both maintained a keen interest in local developments particularly with regards to the "Local Pan." Whilst our comments as appended below represent our joint views, it is worth emphasising here that to a great extent these have been shaped by the views and submissions made at various stages by the GRA and Guildford Society and residents who have been deeply involved in the community and its future for a significant amount of time and who are well versed in the subject matter.

Along with other residents with whom we have discussed the issues, we have regrettably come to the view that the standard of scrutiny applied to the Local Plan falls significantly short of the rigour which would be applied in the corporate sector and other large private and public entities. Clearly, the development of a a Local Plan for Guildford is of paramount importance, Equally, having one in place as soon as possible is essential if Guildford is to avoid inappropriate local development of which there are numerous examples.

The propaganda video on the GBC website promoting the local plan is a disgrace. It would never pass any test of impartiality. It is flagrantly biased. Like the local plan the video is a developer's charter.

The Green Belt and Countryside Study is likewise completely unprofessional. The evidence base is a collection of consultants' reports many of which the Council has never scrutinised. The supporting models in many of these reports - eg the SHMA and Transport Assessment have not even been properly appraised by council officials.

The conduct of the local plan has been directed to serve the narrow interests of the Executive of the Council which has extraordinarily proposed a new Green Belt in Ash whilst destroying Green Belt elsewhere.

I am writing to object in the strongest possible terms to the latest draft of the Guildford Borough Council Local Plan - as I have written to object to previous drafts, apparently with no effect other than to redouble the Council’s determination to dump punitive and badly thought-through levels of proposed development on our village.

The Council’s approach to the process of consultation is deeply cynical. Rather than responding to the legitimate opposition of local residents to the disproportionate share of development allocated to Send in the first Draft Plan, subsequent drafts have added insult to injury, apparently taking the view that far from having a democratically enshrined right to have their voice heard on decisions with a potentially devastating effect on the future of their community, residents are being a damned nuisance by not letting GBC and their developer friends build whatever, whenever and wherever they like.

The plan as it relates to Send is flawed on three levels:

- the calculation of housing requirement for the Borough as a whole is extremely spurious, based on wrong assumptions about industrial demand, classification of university students and the indiscriminate imposition of national-level requirements on individual regions

- the share of the burden of development to be placed on Send and its environs has been from the first draft suggestive of a very poor attitude to complying with the demands of government. Rather than ‘how can we spread this requirement fairly across the Borough’, the Council appear to be asking ‘which few parishes can we sacrifice in the interests of keeping the others relatively happy’. More important in my view, the Council’s disregard for the Green Belt has been shocking: the Act requires ‘exceptional circumstances’ for areas to be removed from the Belt, while the current justifications for development are the most unexceptional imaginable - ongoing pressure of population and increasing demand for housing. This is exactly what previous governments committed not to doing.

In spite of this, we see the Plan focusing on new build in areas such as Send, Ripley and Wisley where it’s easy and cheap to carve up the countryside, rather than making a serious attempt to use the Borough’s extensive brownfield capacity to cover a high proportion of the development. The official line seems to be to talk about affordable housing and insinuate that those objecting are NIMBYs: but given the choice of sites (highly unpopular but the most profitable for development) and the decision to make a minimum of only 40 percent of houses built on land freed up for development ‘affordable’ (equivalent to perhaps 25 percent of the land thus freed up) - leaving developers rubbing their hands over the other 75 percent, it’s hard to keep faith in the Council's having any other motive than greed.

- most specifically, the effect on Send of the proposed developments will be to cripple the already creaking road system, massively overload schools and medical facilities, undermine the environment and - in short - ruin the village. It’s far from perfect at the moment but I can say hand on heart that it’s quite a nice place to live. It seems likely to be a truly grim place to live if the current Plan goes through.

It’s the third of these I want to focus on for the remainder of this email, and as instructed I shall focus on changes made since the previous draft - but please note none of the objections raised previously have been addressed and you should still give these full consideration.

The quality of this plan does not approach the quality of the 2003 plan. It is very sad that Guildford Borough Council's planning has been reduced to such a low level, especially when a template of a good plan was readily available.

Many Councillors demonstrate no real understanding of the issues and there is an astonishing level of turnover of officers who are involved in producing or are responsible for producing the plan. Despite having a very large planning department, GBC use consultants to produce evidence base documents, and there is no proper scrutiny of these documents when they are produced, either by officers or Councillors. This must create confusion in producing the various iterations of the local plan, and a high level of confusion is evident in the text, which if anything, is even worse than the previous iteration.

Anyone concerned with producing it should hang their heads in shame at the untruths and distortions that surround it, for example, "we will protect the green belt" - "we will only use 1.6% of green belt for housing" - when the truth is that there is no protection for the green belt, with more than 6% of land to be taken out of the green belt.

1. A new larger replacement school for the Raleigh should be constructed on the site (built and paid for by the developers) and the old Raleigh school can then be demolished and replaced by new housing.
2. The site would have the main road entrance via a new roundabout constructed in East Lane.
3. To reduce traffic congestion a pedestrian tunnel should be built under the railway line embankment opposite the Horsley Surgery. This will enable safe, easy access to shops, railway station, doctors and East Horsley village hall. It will also allow residence of East Horsley a safe pedestrian route to the new school which would also reduce traffic.
4. By having just one large site this will also make the provision of utility services easier, which will reduce the number of surrounding roads that will have to be dug up to provide new sewers, ducts and cables to be laid as most of the existing infrastructure cannot cope with such a large increase in demand. It will also contain all construction traffic to one site accessed off the main village road thereby reducing disruption.

Limited development of a very small number of individual houses on sensible sites around the village can still be allowed to enable the village to evolve slowly over time.

Answer: (Yes)

The population of Guildford will not grow 15% by 2034 (see my comments on the Evidence Base). The population is likely to grow less than half this amount as the number of international students migrating into and settling in Guildford declines in line with the revised government policies following BREXIT. Therefore assuming government migration targets are even just partially met only 2500 to 7500 new houses will be required over the next 15 years. It is therefore not necessary to build circa 12500 new homes in the Guildford Borough over the next 15 or so years and the required new stock can be build without encroaching on existing Green Belt land.

I now therefore object to all new housing sites set out within the report that are on land currently designated as Green Belt. I particularly now object to proposal for 2000 homes on Wisley Airfield and to removing much of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt. This scale of encroachment onto the Green Belt would be wholly disproportionate to the true need.

Chapter 3 - Our Vision and Ambition

The Local Plan should not go forward for public examination when we do not have a town centre masterplan. It is axiomatic that a significant level of new housing could and should take place in the town centre on brown field sites.

So far as the town centre is concerned too much retail space has been identified for development when the amount of retail space required in the town centre, as in all other town centres, is diminishing over time. The plan lacks any assessment of retail trends and a strategy for delivery simply proposing that there should an increase by 40% in retail space. It is unacceptable and a waste of space for such a large percentage of the town centre to be allocated for retail use. Some of this land should be used for housing and not for retail. We do not wish to see the reputation of Guildford's shops being diminished in any way but a quick walk round the town centre would indicate just how many shops are empty. This trend is likely to accelerate.

The draft plan must be withdrawn and replaced by a transparent plan based on sustainability and national planning guidelines. There must be no building on precious Green Belt land. As detailed in my response to the previous draft plan, green spaces are now widely held to be important for physical and mental well being.

People feel very strongly about this.
It is disappointing that comments made on the 2016 consultation are largely ignored. Indeed the summary of the changes made states that 'most changes are relatively minor that do not alter the intention of the policy’. If the consultation is to be meaningful, then the comments received should be considered and not just ignored.
I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. It is obvious that residents of rural villages have made a choice to live in a rural, rather than semi-urban setting, and it is thus far preferable to plan large housing developments in areas that are already urban or semi-urban. Most residents of these villages understand and accept the need for some degree of housing development, but it must remain proportionate to the size of those villages, so that they can maintain their character, and the local infrastructure does not become overwhelmed.

Guildford Borough Council: Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites

Representation by Solum Regeneration (Guildford) LLP

Nathaniel Lichfield & Partners (NLP) has been instructed by Solum Regeneration (Guildford) LLP (SRG) to review the above consultation and submit representations on SRG's behalf.

Solum Regeneration in Guildford

Established in July 2008, Solum Regeneration (SR) is a partnership between Network Rail and Kier Property, formed to attract private investment into the rail network. SRG has been formed specifically by SR to deliver the Guildford Station project.

NLP submitted a planning application (Ref: 14/P/02168) on behalf of SRG for the comprehensive mixed use redevelopment of Guildford Station, including significant station improvements, public realm and new homes, in November 2014. Following subsequent extensive consultation and engagement with Guildford Borough Council (GBC), statutory bodies and local groups, revised scheme proposals were submitted to GBC in November 2015.

The SRG planning application was refused planning permission at the GBC Planning Committee on 29th June 2016, principally on heritage and design grounds. SRG is currently considering options for progressing development at the Guildford Station site. SRG remains an important stakeholder in the town centre intent on delivering improvements to Guildford Railway Station (a 'gateway' to the town and a key component of its infrastructure) through the delivery of much needed new housing at this highly sustainable brownfield location.

Representations were previously submitted on behalf of SR in relation to the Guildford Borough Local Plan Strategy and Sites: Issues and Options (2013) and the Draft Guildford Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (July 2014). Further representations are now submitted on the site allocation and other policies and allocations in the Proposed Submission Local Plan, June 2016.

Scope of Representations

We make comments on the following parts of the draft Local Plan:

- Spatial Vision (pages 19 - 21);
- Policy S2: Borough Wide Strategy (pages 26 - 27);
- Policy H1: Homes for All (pages 31 - 32);
- Policy H2: Affordable Homes (pages 38 -39);
- Policy E7: Guildford Town Centre (pages 84 - 85);
- Policy D3: Historic Environment (page 103);
- Policy 11: Infrastructure and Delivery (pages 108 - 110); and
- Policy A7: Land and Buildings at Guildford Railway Station (pages 140 - 142).

In General

I could go on - GBC has not applied any constraints in reducing housing numbers as other council’s in Surrey have. It seems the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), cannot be trusted and the large fluctuating student population distorts the figures anyway. The Office for National Statistics (ONS) downgraded Guildford’s population growth. The unnecessarily large projected increase in retail space when there are already empty shop units. Are brownfield sites being utilised to the full. House more students on the university campus, freeing up houses within Guildford. Tourism and use of the countryside by local people for all sorts of recreational activities is being ignored in favour of development and in the process indirectly and irreparably affecting areas it purports to protect, ie The North Downs, Hog’s Back AONBs, SSSIs the THBSPA etc.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents’ groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of ‘double speak’ has led to absurdities such as ‘affordable housing’ which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; ‘safeguarding’ which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

‘About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don’t last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life’

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

Finally, I would like to object to the restrictions imposed by GBC on the type of responses to the 2017 Local Plan that they would accept. Only accepting comments on the changes to the previous plan, rather than all elements of the current plan is overly bureaucratic and absurd. It has created very high barriers to making comments about the plan (having to go back and forth between the hundreds of pages of two versions of local plan) and also ignores the objections that residents may have to existing parts of the plan which have not seen changes. For example, Policy A44, Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill, was added to the last version of the plan and had received many objections, which should still be valid for this plan. There has also been a lack of transparency about the evidence base for housing figures and how much influence property developers have had on the inclusion of different sites within the plan.

The 2017 Local Plan shows a lack of consideration for local residents’ opinions, is based on excessively inflated housing needs numbers and does not take into account the capacity of infrastructure such as roads, schools and medical facilities to support proposed developments, or the implications for increased pollution caused by proposed developments. This shows very poor planning practice and contempt for existing residents. It is as flawed as previous versions and not fit for purpose.

Attached documents:
I wish to raise the following objections to the draft local plan as circulated.

Re Stated Objectives number 6, I object to the exclusion of ANSNGs (Accessible Natural and Semi Natural Greenspace) from the list of designated areas to be protected. Guildford BC is responsible for a number of these sites.

Further to my comments below, I wish to object also to the failure under recreation and countryside policies to note the need for maintenance and extension of Rights of Way, especially given the deadline for registration of 2026.

I opposed the Local Plan during the 2014 consultation, which Guildford Borough Council withdrew due to the enormous opposition that they received to this. You said you had listened to the over 20,000 mostly negative comments, but you have produced something that is very similar to the first version and you have ignored the wishes and comments of many of the people that live in the borough. More worryingly, you have not kept your election promises to protect the Green Belt. Consequently I feel let down by the lack of integrity that my elected representatives have shown and hope that you will realise the mistakes that you are making – once you have built all over the Green Belt you cannot bring it back.

1. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. There is certainly no local need in Send to expand the village by over 25% which it would with the proposal to build an additional 485 houses in the village. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially from the previous draft local plan.

I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:
i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

I am concerned about the proposed sites a29,a30,a28,a31,a54,a46 as almost all are on green fields and in an area that has already had more than its share of development. Ash and Ash vale stations lack enough parking and this needs to be improved. Much of the proposed sites are prone to flooding and this breaches national planning regs. The transport links from this area are also poor partly due to the lack of a station in surrey business park and lack of a 3rd lane on the a3 from the a31 though surrey business park. There also needs to be a bridge built over the ash level crossing and I suggest a park and ride/ glide is built on the edge of the a31 connecting to the existing train lines

It appears that you intend to use what is currently agricultural fields. This is so wrong. Apart from the animals like sheep who already come there yearly and the grass that is cut so that the animals have hay you will also be destroying, yet again, the homes and general living places for wild animals. That is so unfair.

Guildford is already much too big and the large-scale extra housing will be counter-productive, as the lack of capacity for traffic movement, uncertain infrastructure and loss of landscape will deter people from wanting to live in the proposed excessive developments. Our councillors should fight the apparent national obligation to spoil our town and its surroundings. Guildford has increased its population enough.

I object to the proposed Keens lane developement on the grounds of no infrastructure and the very narrow road with grade 2 listed building in it which would not be suitable for the increased amount of traffic with such a development.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell farm as a development site. Policy A26 &paragraph. 4.1.9 which disregards an independant expert landscape study, of which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

Ignores independant expert traffic studies which show the impact of development at Blackwell farm on the local network which already cannot cope with the traffic.

Adds air pollution to neighbouring areas.

The increase surface water would effect the Parish of Worplesdon.

My personal objections to the proposed local plan consultation period June 2017-24th July 2017 are the same as submitted by Worplesdon Parish council.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

The latest proposed plan is considerably worse than the previous plan and I am very disappointed in GBC and I am much more critical of the Local Plan proposals.

As residents of Send Marsh, we share the same views of that of our neighbours in Send and Ripley. Every time we are asked for our opinion we make it very clear by way of a massive response that so many of the proposals are ill conceived and impractical to apply in our particular area.

GBC seems to be either unwilling or unable to act upon the feedback and opinion which is so clearly voiced by the residents.
We in Send Marsh have repeatedly expressed our views over the years but clearly no attention is paid to them as evidenced by the fact that despite everything that has been said even more houses are proposed to be built in Send than before plus an additional eight Show people pitches.

The Conservative Manifesto for GBC states:

“Deliver a new Draft Local Plan taking into account constraints, residents’ views and protecting the green belt”.

It would appear that for the villages of Send, Send Marsh and Ripley, GBC are failing on two of these:

Failing to take into account residents’ views

and

Failing to protect the green belt.

Lessons from the previous plans have clearly not been learnt and one has to question the logic of the proposers thinking and how completely unsupported and illogical plans can have reached this stage. One also has to question whether anyone from GBC has ever driven or walked around Send and Send Marsh as one journey, particularly during rush hour would have demonstrated how ridiculous and unreasonable these plans are.

In conclusion, the continual disregard of local public opinion is very disappointing and GBC needs to create a significantly better plan than this one for the area we live in.

I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change

I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS.

I object to para 21 which “limits” development in flood zone 2 and 3. Development should be excluded in flood zone 2 and 3

I object to para 22 as this does not reflect the impact of the buildings on the surrounding area.

I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objection from local residents and statutory consultees.

(1) Although I understand the aim for more sustainable modes of transport in the centre of the town, there are several matters that affect those who live close to the town centre.

Some residents are not able to walk to and from the town centre, particularly if this involves going up a steep hill. Many of these areas are not served by bus routes. Cycling is not a possibility and taxis are expensive.

Regarding the suggestion for a sustainable movement corridor (a priority route for buses, pedestrians and cyclists) through the Guildford Urban area - it would make it very difficult for residents of central Guildford to get easily from one part of Guildford to another if they were not allowed to use a car along this proposed route, especially those people living at the top of steep hills, those who are elderly or have walking difficulties (not necessarily bad enough to warrant having Blue Badges) or those who have young children.

Those of us who live close to the town centre often need to go through the centre by car if we are planning to travel anywhere away from Guildford. Also, to go from, say, the Pewley Hill area to, say, Guildford Main Line Station is a fairly short route through the town centre. However, if we had to drive several miles along roads outside the town centre to reach the station, it would be wasteful of resources (e.g. petrol) and cause more pollution.

(2) I support the plan to build two new railway stations - Guildford West Railway Station and Guildford East Railway Station. (If there were any way of reopening the railway line between Guildford and Cranleigh, that would be excellent.)

10. I object generally to the very poor drafting throughout. If this plan is accepted there will be little opportunity to enforce many of the policies due to poor drafting. This plan needs checking by lawyers on the basis of “can I enforce this policy? If not, which will often be the case, redraft.

24. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.

2. I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change.

3. I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

4. I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

39. I object to the use of a film on the GBC website promoting a biased view from those interviewed who would in the real world have been excluded due to conflicts of interest. This is unfortunately completed expected behaviour from a council that continues to promote opaque policy and one which has little respect from many residents.

The wording in many of the policies is too imprecise to provide protection. I refer to expressions such as “will have regard to”, “material considerations”, “we expect”, “is proportionate to” etc. Developers will undoubtedly exploit any weakness in the policy wording to drive through their plans and maximise their profits.
Q6 Any Other Comments

- The changes to the Proposed Submission Local Plan are not a reasonable response to the overwhelming objections raised in the original consultation.
- Nothing has been done to address the concerns over the housing number that provides justification for the extensive development plans, the threat to the rural nature of our villages and the inclusion of many sites in the Green Belt.
- Nothing has been done to address concerns over the validity of the traffic assessment and hence the impact of development on traffic infrastructure.
- Some of the changes appear to have weakened Green Belt and AONB protection.

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017) sets out the vision for the Borough and the Council’s approach to development between 2015 and 2034. The Council previously consulted on the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (June 2016) in June and July 2016. As a result of consultation work in 2016 the Council have proposed a number of changes to the Proposed Submission Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017).

Catesby Estates Limited support the aims and ambitions of the Plan and wish to ensure that the Plan is found sound.

We welcome the Site’s removal from Green Belt and its identification as a Site Allocation within the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017). It is imperative that the Council retains this allocation to ensure that the objectively assessed needs for the Borough are met and unmet needs of the HMA.

The Site is sustainable, well contained and has no technical constraints to its delivery and does not serve any of the purposes of the Green Belt identified as paragraph 80 of the Framework.

If you require any further information or wish to discuss the above in greater detail, then please do not hesitate to contact Jessica Evans or myself.

The proposal for A44 is ill conceived and not thought through. The land in question is known to have a dangerous sub soil as a result of previous landfill, the increase in homes and the travelers site will increase the amount of traffic on roads that are not designed for high frequency occupation, in addition, the types of vehicles used by travellers generally includes higher gross weigh trades vehicles, vans, lordosis, tippers and general building / construction machinery which will be both an eye sore and a danger to the local residents. The housing development will also generate a high number of personal vehicles as in the current age, home usually have at least one vehicle, but as families grow, this could easily become 2,3 or more vehicles with will almost certainly end up being parked on the roads or pavements.

I can not object strongly enough to A44. This development must not be allowed to proceed.

As requested, this response reflects only comments on changes to the previous draft; both in terms of new text and also comments on deletions which lack acceptable justification. This is as a result of a specific instruction as given by the GBC Executive that only comments on changes will be acceptable.

As a result, I request confirmation that all of the objections to changes made below will be put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 local plan 2017 and also that all the previous objections to the 2016 draft plan made will be placed before the inspector and that when objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued before it is submitted to the Inspector.

Guildford is a constrained borough. 89% of its area is zoned as permanent Green Belt. The road network that is already at capacity. I am concerned that GBC have adopted a lower but still grossly inflated OAN of 12,426 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance.

I Object to the new Local Plan because of the following:-

Building 13,860 new homes in the area is not viable because the infrastructure is totally inadequate. Squeezing more and more people into such a small area will only lead to serious problems with traffic, pollution, health and education to mention a few. You also should take account of the neighboring plans for 1000,s more properties that have an additional effect on the local infrastructure.

Destroying essential farmland and countryside by covering it with structures producing global warming gases will only exacerbate the communities health problems and lead to more expensive foods.

The plan should make a firm statement that it is committed to improving the life of all the community (and not just for the benefit of the developers and their shareholders) by providing better roads, footpaths, safe cycleways, easy access to schools and healthcare, parks and countryside to play in.

The plan should detail the essential need for council homes for young families and care homes for the elderly. The council have been selling off these essential facilities without replacing similar numbers. The council should stop selling council houses and replace its missing stock as a priority. Building homes for the rich should not be part of the Local Plan.

Growth and Progress should mean making a better life for everybody, it is not about making lots of money and driving big cars.

We must not destroy the countryside which provides the essential elements for us to exist.

9.1 We suggest, having regard to the above that:-
i) The level of housing development proposed with the PSLP needs to be increased to a minimum of 15,200 (800dpa across a plan period of 2015 – 2034);

ii) Policy A29 should be revised with all reference to ‘Land and provision of a new road bridge which will form part of the A323 Guildford Road, with an associated footbridge, to enable the closure of the level crossing on the A323 Guildford Road, adjacent to Ash railway station’ deleted.

iii) Policy H1 should be revised with criterion 9 deleted.

iv) The SA needs to be revisited in the light of our comments above.

I had hoped that the new Council would consult (meet and listen) to residents before presenting this proposal but it appears that they have not even met with Parish Councils which again is at odds with how this will be seen by the Planning Inspectorate and all at a great cost to the taxpayer.

Poor Drafting

I OBJECT that the provisions and policies of this Plan are likely to be challenged by developers, and it therefore needs to be much clearer and more prescriptive.

Specifically, replace “expect” by “require” in the following paragraphs:

Policy H1: We expect 60 per cent …

4.2.4: … we will expect new homes …

4.2.20: … we will expect all new …

Policy H2: Developers will be expected to provide land …

4.2.39: We will expect developments …

4.2.39: … developers will be expected …
4.2.39: … they will be expected to meet the costs …

Policy P1:

4.3.5: … proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve …

Policy P2:

4.3.23: Replacement buildings are expected to be sited …

Policy P5:

4.3.60: SANGs must be approved by Natural England and will be expected …

Policy E4: It is expected that the new extension will provide …

Policy D1: … be expected to have regard to …

… be expected to use art and materials …

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 6: Any other comments?

Answer: ()

3.1 These representations should be read in the context of the opportunities for the site to be delivered as a comprehensive development in association with the former allocation at ‘land adjoining Fairlands’. The site itself has not been identified at any previous stage of the Local Plan process, although it is located directly to the south of the former safeguarded allocation at Fairlands which was considered within the Regulation 18 Local Plan consulted on in July 2014.

3.2 Our client’s landholding ‘Land at Dunmore Farm’ comprises 31.69 hectares of land as submitted in previous representations to the Local Plan. The site currently comprises farmland and paddocks with a limited number of existing buildings in the south eastern corner around Dunmore Farm. The site wraps around the former safeguarded allocation to the south-west, south and south-east of Wood Street village. The field parcels themselves are relatively clear internally with trees and hedgerows indicating the majority of the boundaries.
3.3 The site was considered as part of parcel H8 which extended northwards between Wood Street village and Fairlands within the Green Belt. Whilst the site was considered to be of high sensitivity, Volume II of the Green Belt and Countryside Study discusses that there are ‘opportunities to accommodate appropriate development without significantly compromising the purposes of the Green Belt’. It is clear from the assessment that the main purposes of the Green Belt within this location are to:
- Check southwards sprawl of Fairlands and northward sprawl of Wood Street Village;
- Prevent Fairlands and Wood Street village from merging;
- Assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment; and
- Preserves the setting of Wood Street conservation area.

3.4 In this regard, given development opportunities clearly exist to the west and south of Fairlands and were supported through a previous iteration of the Local Plan, the opportunity to create a more comprehensive extension incorporating the site to the north of Wood Street village would assist in delivering a significant quantum of homes, incorporating an appropriate and extensive landscape buffer between the two villages to ensure a defensible and permanent boundary to both villages.

3.5 The creation of a new permanent open area of land between the two settlements could deliver far greater benefits as public access could be provided along with the potential for outdoor sport and recreation which would permanently benefit the residents of both villages and the wider Borough. As such, this would ensure that the requirements of paragraph 81 are met, ensuring that the Green Belt is open and permanent and provides a beneficial use whilst also meeting the five purposes of the Green Belt as stated at paragraph 80 of the NPPF.

3.6 Alternatively, GBC should consider the opportunities to deliver smaller scale development at sustainable settlements such as Wood Street village, in locations where the impact on the function of the Green Belt would be minimised and opportunities to incorporate functional and accessible Green Belt land could be explored.

3.7 As such, GBC should consider further the relationship of Fairlands with Wood Street village to realise the large scale opportunities for mixed use development within this area whilst reinforcing the quality and usefulness of the Green Belt between the two settlements. The delivery of new development could facilitate securing the permanence and openness of the Green Belt between the settlements and to ensure its use is enhanced and is beneficial to the local community as set out at paragraph 81 of the NPPF.

3.8 Throughout the plan process to date, our client has supported the inclusion of the Fairlands allocation within the plan, although wishes to further emphasise the wider opportunities for the area if the site were to be considered alongside Fairlands for allocation within the Local Plan.
- A comprehensive development that would provide not only market but affordable housing to meet the needs of the Borough and any unmet requirements from Woking Borough;
- Deliver a comprehensive masterplan that could incorporate a defensible landscape buffer which would ensure the permanent separation of the villages of Fairlands and Wood Street village by creating new defined edges to the settlements. This would reinforce the findings of the Green Belt Study 2013;
- Direct new development in a sustainable location in line with the settlement hierarchy and enhancement local facilities and public services;
- Provide new development in locations where growth will be required to support the continued economic growth of Guildford as a town centre;
- The potential to incorporate appropriate Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace to offset the proximity of the site to Thames Basin Heath SPA.

Conclusion

4.1 These representations have been prepared by Turley on behalf of Markfield Investments Ltd in respect of the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2017). The consultation is targeted to the proposed changes to the Plan since the 2016 consultation and the revised evidence base documents.

4.2 Our client has important land interests in the Local Plan area, in particular at Dunmore Farm, Guildford. As such this response focuses on issues which particularly affect the site.
4.3 Each of our responses relates to a particular policy or paragraph and this report is structured accordingly. In summary our submissions are:

• Policy S2 – The Council should endeavour to meet its full OAN and seek to assist in meeting the needs of adjoining authorities, in particular Woking Borough Council, where possible. Further allocations should be made to provide flexibility in the delivery of the Plan and to meet the required increased housing requirement.

• Policy H1 – Insufficient evidence has been provided to justify the Council’s proposed requirement in respect of accessible homes. Concern is raised as to whether the requirements for self-build and custom housebuilding are justified and effective.

• Policy H2 – The proposed affordable housing requirement is not underpinned by a robust and up to date viability assessment and as such is considered to be unjustified.

• Policy P5 – Whilst we have no specific comments on the policy wording itself, we would highlight the importance of ensuring sufficient land is allocated for SANG to enable the delivery of the Plan.

• Policy D2 – Further clarity is required to ensure the proposed policy wording is effective. Flexibility should also be introduced into the proposed policy wording.

• Dunmore Farm – we consider the site presents an opportunity for an additional allocation to help assist in meeting the Borough’s housing needs and the unmet needs of Woking Borough. The site would be capable of delivering an associated SANG which could provide capacity for other proposed developments in the Borough.

Answer: ()

I do not support the increased development of the Green Belt, as it exists in and around Surrey, to this level in proposed in the Plan documents. Specifically but not only, I object to the following areas of development (generally and not specifically):

- Ockham / Wisley Airfield - I object to the imposition of a new village development of this scale and the corroborating assumptions. This is based on a number of factors, including but not restricted to transport, amenity, retail, schooling, environmental, density, local roads, impact on current services and villages. The local roads are insufficient to cope with increased residential and delivery traffic
  - the assumption that the population will travel by bike hire scheme to use the local trains is laughable
  - the impact on demand for local services and clubs deleterious to current provision (current residents are on waiting lists - what happens when 4-5000 more people land...?)
  - this will be the start of the in-fill of the land between all the villages (Ockham, Horsleys, Effingham) with a loss of amenity, environment, local character and the increase in pollution, waste, traffic, nuisance, inconvenience, urbanisation and irretrievable loss of Green Belt

- Development in The Horsleys - I object to the significant number and increased provision of sites for medium / large scale housing projects in an around The Horsleys. There is insufficient capacity to absorb new developments in the area and it should not be acceptable for mass housing to be imposed in an area where public opinion is against it. The Horsleys are not a large metropolitan area, they do not have the services of a town or Cranleigh-size village and nor do they want them; by continuing to encourage concentration and development in and around these villages, the Council is agglomerating Effingham, The Horsleys, Bookham. Fetcham, Ockham into an homogenous residential area attached to Leatherhead, destroying the character of the Green Belt and passing the point of no return, by which time any control or restrictions on development are futile and the area becomes a suburban ribbon from London and Leatherhead / Guildford

I am opposed to the Local Plan.
As a resident of Clandon Road, Burnt Common I find it incredible that GBC have failed to listen to the residents of Send and Burnt Common who previously in force have objected to the proposed Local Plan. Instead you seem to have made further changes that result in more development rather than less, failing in the duty of GBC to listen to residents.

It seems that you are simply ‘testing’ the patience of residents by repeatedly making further changes without realising that your proposals are completely unacceptable. It is unjust that you are focussing a disproportionate level of development in and around the Burnt Common and Send compared with our areas of the Borough.

I believe the new plan has listened and acted on the previous comments made by myself and others but it is missing some critical points around traffic flow and car parking.

Traffic flow: The Guildford area is already a traffic black spot. The proposal to build on brown field sites in town is excellent but the road network cannot cope now never mind when the building is complete. I see improvements to the A3 junctions are proposed but what about once you are in Guildford? There needs to be another bridge over the river Wey. The access and exit from the railway station, the gyratory near the station, the end of Woodbridge Road (near Curry's/PC World, in/out of Ladymead, Stoke Road/Woking Road junction, North Street/Friary (especially once in the 1 way system) and Epsom Road coming into Merrow. There are others but this list shows an overall transport strategy needs to be developed.

Parking: The development of Park and Ride is good but not on it's own. A series of multi storey car parks on the edge of town needs building. All houses/flats built should have a minimum of 2 car parking spaces each AND further visitor spots. Any attempt to build without sufficient parking will result in a grid locked town resembling a car park.

Please go back to the drawing board and formulate a joined up transport plan.

I wish to object to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2017) and in particular to the changes affecting Ripley and Send. These increase the impact on local areas by increasing the number of houses, traveller’s sites and destruction of even more of the Green Belt, rather than as promised, take account of the thousands of objections to the 2016 Plan and many of its unnecessary proposals. The Green Belt, was intended (and has generally succeeded thus far) to provide breathing lungs encircling large towns and cities, to improve air quality, increase opportunities for city dwellers to experience countryside and fresh unpolluted air, and generally to assist in preserving quality of life.

Many of the proposals will result in Guildford Town in the over populated and congested south east even more than at present, puts the opportunity for ‘breathing lungs’ even further from inner city dwellers reach, and increases the problems caused by potential over-crowding and congested living. The proposals focus on housing, without consideration of health, transport and education provision, unless funded by the sale of property to fund the necessary infrastructure.

5  GBC planning appeals

5.1 One measure of a successful local plan is the ratio of appeals which are dismissed and allowed.

5.2 Many of the recent successful appeals are the result of members of the planning committee overturning officers recommendations. This often leads to appeal costs being awarded against the Council. This may be due to poor officer reports or members NIMBYism. Either way, this will have to change if Guildford is to come even close to meeting its "objectively assessed need".

5.3 Delegated officers continue to refuse Green Belt applications for the flimsiest of reasons. Once again, the Council has a relatively poor record with an increasing number of appeals being allowed.

In conclusion, the Local Plan fails to heed previous concerns vociferously expressed by residents in the Borough, and particularly the local residents I discuss the above with here in Send. We love our village and whilst recognise there is a need for housing and some development, wish it to be based on sound and correct evidence, taking into account the Governments’ guidance not to build on Greenbelt without first exhausting brown field site options, and then only after demonstrating exceptional circumstances, and taking into account impact on already straining infrastructure.

Further of course the local Plan does not take into account the dramatic result of the EU referendum – which impacts on every assumption about growth and housing need contained in it.

It is incredulous that in your role as public officers - voted for and funded by constituents, that you continue to offer laughably poor proposals for local development. Your job is to bring benefit to our lives - if your current proposals succeed it will be to detriment of our currently enjoyed and valued quality of life and on our environment. It will be undemocratic.

?Despite obvious and demonstrated concerns of local residents, you continue in your arrogant and ill considered behaviours to attempt to excessively develop our village and in your failure to protect vital and cherished natural resources.

What is more you fail to demonstrate any credible evidence of carrying out a valid appraisal of local need. Your proposals clearly do not reflect local need or interest - whose interests are you actually promoting? In the circumstances it is hard to avoid the suspicion that it is the interests of developers that are being prioritised, particularly given the late presentation of Garlick’s Arch and the A3 interchange and the funding for this being provided by those wishing to develop building at Wisley.

I would urge you to listen and provide a decent, fair and considered local plan.

The previous draft local plan was withdrawn after generating widespread local opposition. Our Mole Valley MP Sir Paul Beresford responded to that; a copy of his comme!lt dated 21 September 2014 is enclosed. His document retains its validity. Sir Paul observed:

“This catalogue of errors and omissions has led to a situation in which the Local Plan as presented has no detectable support from Guildford residents and has managed only to anger and worry so many of those who stand to lose the unique and valuable rural village lifestyle they currently enjoy in the Mole Valley Wards of Guildford Borough”.

Sir Paul's commentary applies to the revised plan as do other submissions in response to the last draft plan (including my own earlier letter which I attach as well). I object to the revised plan generally for all of the reasons cited in my 19 September 2014 letter in respect of certain sites then earmarked.

Answer: (Yes)

Reference to A44 Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill.

I do not consider this to be a good location for the proposed development for the following reasons:

1. I understand the site has unsafe land fill waste which may not be suitable for building on.

2. The site is opposite a cemetery.

3. Send Hill is a very narrow road and may not be suitable for extra vehicular access and is congested at the other end near the traffic lights during school times.

4. Access to Send Hill is through either Potters Land or Vicarage Lane on the south side. Both Vicarage Lane and Potters Land are quite narrow and may not cope with large volume of traffic. Exiting the A3 to Potters Lane after the farm shop there is a nasty bend that at the next bend oncoming traffic have to give way to traffic coming from the A3 but there is no give way road marking, the road is very narrow and some of the hedges from houses have overgrown onto the road. Potters Lane require hedge trimming constantly but it doesn't seem to be done properly.

5. I object to large scale development particularly on Green Belt. Send is a nice village and we would like to keep it as a village.

Thank you

I object to location of the proposed development site for the following reasons:

1. Road congestion. Approaching Send Hill from Potters Lane from the A3 would bring through lots of vehicles through a dangerous bend after the farm shop that vehicles heading to the A3 cannot see what is coming through. There is no Give way sign or road marking to indicate that two cars cannot pass each other at that bend. Furthermore approach to Send Hill from Vicarage Lane is very narrow and cannot cope with large volume to traffic.

2. Send Hill itself is very narrow and very congested at the other end near the traffic lights especially during school times.

3. The site is opposite the Cemetary.

4. I understand that the site has unsafe land fill waste and may cause harm to new residents in newly built houses.

5. Send Village is in the middle of Green belt land and I would not like to see the Green Belt land being used to build on.
Thank you.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have not followed the correct process for Send and Ripley developments. Any significant changes to the 2014 proposals, such as the proposal development of Garlick’s Arch, should have required another full consultation, which did not happen. This invalidates the whole process.

Stop the ever increasing sprawl of London boundaries! Investment should be made to help the growth and regeneration of other regions of the country regarding employment, infrastructure and housing. Unfortunately we cannot all live in the South East!

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects: i) to hide the number of houses actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!) and ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

Conclusion:

It appears that GBC are desperately and naively clutching at straws to find what they think are suitable sites to include in the Local Plan, instead of carefully identifying already suitable Brownfield sites. GBC need to realise how important the Green Belt is, and stop treating it as a free space to indiscriminately destroy for generations to come.

This Local Plan seems to have been thrown together with no real thought, we need a ‘common sense’ Local Plan, not this rubbish

SUMMARY

I request a confirmation by email from GBC that all of the objections made below are put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 draft local plan.

I request that once my objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued.

Guildford is a constrained borough by the reality of having 89% of its area zoned as permanent Green Belt and an out of date road network that is already at capacity. I am concerned that GBC have adopted an inflated OAN of 13,860 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance.
The application of constraints to housing need is a sensible and practical approach to development within the borough and is not only what GBC have done in the past in previous plans but is also what its neighbouring local planning authorities have done.

The scale of the housing number proposed in this plan, inevitably increases the onus for the plan to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number of 5,000 homes, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

I am concerned that GBC have failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents.

In my opinion much of the proposed local plan appears out of date. It is like a voice from the past. Current trends in terms of property development such as the marked decline in town centre shopping centres and the need to create modal shift by developing residential uses close to transport hubs appear to have been overlooked.

Question 7: Any other comments?

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of ‘double speak’ has led to absurdities such as ‘affordable housing’ which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; ‘safeguarding’ which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and ‘insetting’ which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

‘About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life’
May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

I am writing to you to raise my objections to the new draft local plan. I have objected to each draft so far, and I am both disappointed and angered by the fact that my objections, along with the thousands of others, have been ignored. Furthermore, the plan has been added to in terms of the quantity of houses and development in the plan. How can this be justified? Where is any evidence that the community that you are supposedly “consulting with” has in any way been listened to?

I sincerely hope that on this occasion the Guildford Planning Department respond and take into account local objections. I am sure I am not alone in believing that local government should serve its local community and borough as its first priority. There is little evidence in the local plan that this is the case. I sincerely hope that the final local plan shows proper consideration and response to local feedback.

I think that building a road tunnel under the A3 at Guildford is a very good idea. It would materially help traffic flow through the town centre. It would make the A3 much safer as the current junctions are not very safe. Every time there is an accident there the town centre is gridlocked by traffic seeking an alternative route.

It would be so good to have the current A3 acting as a road for local traffic to avoid the town centre. Just widening the existing A3 would not do this.

So much of any successful expansion of Guildford depends on sorting out the traffic and esp the gyratory system. Sorting the A3 is a major step in the right direction

I am extremely disappointed to need to write to you once again on the subject of the ill conceived local plan and its detrimental effects on the village of Send, surrounding villages, residents, infrastructure/amenities and the Green Belt.

I can only assume that the council has no regards for local impact and the protection of the green areas for future generations as GBC have seemingly ignored us and is determined to push on despite the hundreds of previous objections by locals.

That is frankly appalling and this latest "revision" is a clear attempt to side step all those previous objections, restricting us to only make objections to the amendments. I am sure the council is hopeful that by dragging this out they may wear everyone down - or simply proceed anyway after constant reissues by finding sneaky ways to fulfill their objectives.

This is all made the madder when there are brown field/previous use sites like Wisley Airfield which are a far more suitable location for some new housing, if the council is determined to ignore the local impact, at least that's not green belt.

Anyway, here we are again, registering objections to a plan so impacting that surely someone in power is already aware it is senseless damage to the area.

I am also aware that whoever is, or has been leading this work for the Council, does not appear to have applied the new planning framework correctly. Neither have they sought to align this Plan with the guidance received from Ministers.
Whilst I am sure a great deal of energy has gone into designing the online questionnaire and related events, when you stand back from it, this consultation is exclusive. The very fact that you have to write in with your comments referencing "which section, page, policy or map" you are referring to makes it very difficult for many people to comply with and therefore contribute their views. I am used to wading through papers, but to be honest I was a bit overwhelmed when I sat down to this late one evening last week.

If you stand around the village high streets and schools, you will sense and hear a great deal of fear, confusion and helplessness about large developments adjacent to small villages, in particular from those not "into" all of this. You may not receive their written views. I hope local politicians are aware of this.

Guildford Council’s 2017 Local Plan is little different from the previous versions, showing again that the Council does not listen to the people it is supposed to represent and arrogantly pursues a damaging trajectory for unjustified overdevelopment of a beautiful borough.

We strongly object because the Plan is based on unknown and unscrutinised methodologies, involves widespread destruction of the Green Belt, makes no provision for planning constraints, is woefully short of infrastructure provision and investment, and will ultimately destroy the character and beauty of the borough.

As a resident of Send I object at the proposals put forward in the Local Plan. The residents of Send have already put forward their views during the consultation process with the Borough Council and from these proposals they have been totally and utterly ignored.
I am writing to raise my objection as I am disgusted at the proposals put forward in the Local Plan. The plan should be the result of the consultation process between the Borough Council and its residents, but it appears that the residents views put forward during the process have been totally ignored.

I particularly object to the underhand way in which those seeking to implement the new Guildford Local Plan have gone about things. They have not informed the local population that their objections a year ago would not count. I have only heard through social media that it was necessary for me to write in again and object. Once again so much for democracy! We are supposed to live in a democratic country but the underhand way in which the people responsible for developing the new Guildford Local Plan have gone about things is an absolute disgrace and flies in the face of democracy. I suspect many of the local population are not even aware that their objections last time do not count and of the need to write in and object again – Guildford Borough Council should hang it’s head in shame!

I sincerely hope that my objections will be taken into consideration with regard to the new Guildford Local Plan and that my faith in democracy will to some extent be restored but sadly, I doubt that the local population’s wishes with regard to the area they live in will be respected.

As a resident of Clandon Road, Burnt Common I find it incredible that GBC have failed to listen to the residents of Send and Burnt Common who previously in force have objected to the proposed Local Plan. Instead you seem to have made further changes that result in more development rather than less, failing in the duty of GBC to listen to residents.

It seems that you are simply ‘testing’ the patience of residents by repeatedly making further changes without realising that your proposals are completely unacceptable. It is unjust that you are focussing a disproportionate level of development in and around the Burnt Common and Send compared with our areas of the Borough.

The extensive nature of this document, the jargon and complexity that acts as a barrier to most members of the public is unexcusable. We are not all lawyers or public servants who work with this kind of document as part of our employment. There is also the time required to respond in full, and adequate time has not been allowed for this to take place before the VERY SHORT deadline. Few have the spare time or head space to tackle a document such as this, and it should have been offered in a more inclusive way, so the public would have multiple options to respond matched with their abilities. The future of our borough will effect all of us, and especially our quality of life, yet there are many who will not be able to cope with the language, complexity and overcomplication of this consultation. Not all of us have a PhD!

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane to a 33% increase in housing development because it will impact on the Green Belt. It will increase traffic congestion and pollution and adversely impact surface water run-off.

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch of 400 homes and 6 Travelling showpeople plots which represents an inappropriately large development which will change the character of the village and join up Ripley and Send. The amenity of permanent Green Belt will be degraded, replaced with more traffic congestion, air pollution and potential increased river water pollution from run-off - the site is currently a flood zone 2.

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common to build industrial warehousing on the Green Belt for all the reasons stated above and specifically when there are empty units on existing industrial sites in Guildford and Slyfield.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because there is highly restricted traffic access along Tannery Lane and an increase in this would degrade the Green Belt and the countryside along the Wey Navigation.

The value of open countryside in terms of access and views for physical and mental health has never been better documented, and yet it is constantly under attack from developers and insufficiently protected by local government, causing untold stress to local residents and the threat of the loss of amenity to visitors from far and wide, specifically from the urban and suburban conurbations. This, despite years of objections by, collectively, thousands of people in this area.

The assumption that this area is up for grabs, together with the unbelievably wasteful proposal to expand the A3, will forever degrade this area of Surrey and send a signal that the Green Belt has no value other than financial, and that for a very limited range of business interests. I urge the Council to protect our environment and support a sustainable model for all the people and biodiversity that depend on the protection of this landscape.

I very much hope that common sense and moral decency will, in the end, prevail and that in the light now being shone on an extremely flawed plan that you consider the real needs of those affected and not just of those who will benefit (in no small way) financially.

Do you really want to be held responsible for depriving future generations of our valuable Green Belt?
In conclusion we object in the strongest possible terms to the forced growth in the Plan and the resultant destruction of our villages and way of life.

We have read and fully support the submissions made by East Horsley Parish Council on 13th June and 4th July.

Finally, I am concerned to read reports that there may be laws or regulations that may have been breached or may breached as a result of the making or implementing of the above proposals. If in the unfortunate case that there are such breaches involved in these proposals then residents obviously also reserve their rights to pursue whatever legal remedies or actions that jointly or individually may be available to them.

I object

(Yes)
I object to Policy A43 Garlick's Arch

There is no need for any more houses or warehousing in this area.

This site was not included in regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously.

It is GREENBELT permanently protected by NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements.

The site has a particular conservation sensitivity as it is covered in ancient woodland with a wildlife population that needs protecting.

If there is a need for more industrial space then Slyfield is the intelligent and obvious choice.

A new interchange onto A3 from this site would be a disaster for the community, for the safety of young and old, for nature, for congestion and would show a complete disregard for this wonderful slice of GREENBELT land remaining.

I object!

I wish to see the following changes in the Local Plan:

WISLEY AIRFIELD< THREE FARM MEADOWS REMOVED AS A STRATEGIC SITE

It is simply not feasible and insufficient land is under the control of the developers/agents

There is no access from the A3 apart from for waste for S C C and certain limited traffic movements per day

There needs to be:

- A realistic housing target that focuses on the needs of Guildford and takes full account of the constraints of being a congested gap town.
- High priority given to providing attractive campus accommodation so 80-90% of university students will want to live on campus freeing up hundreds of affordable homes in the town within 5 years.
- A bus interchange which means you can travel easily in any direction from one central point without needing a car.
- Another crossing over the railway and river for our divided town and firm plans for an A3 tunnel.
- Guildford’s green setting, tree lined approaches, fine views, historic centre and riverside maintained as valued and distinctive features of the town.
- Proper account taken of the permanence of Metropolitan Green Belt as well as the protection of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

Attached documents:
Lastly I would like to object to the lack of consideration given to the 32,500, responses to Guildford's last disastrous plan. We live in a democracy and demand to be heard. This new plan reveals the undemocratic nature of Guildford Borough Council and suggests that there is corruption and ignorance at the heart of this council.

From what I have seen of the “Strategy and Site Issues and Options” (SSIO) Guildford’s planners, councillors and external consultants seems to have forgotten (or not be aware of) what gives the Borough and Surrey as a whole its unique character and the attributes which currently make it one of the most desirable places in the country to live in.

The first of these is of course that a good proportion of the Borough and indeed the county is countryside protected by the Green Belt, a piece of planning legislation which has given London its “Lungs” and prevented an unrestricted urban sprawl envied by most of the world’s capital cities.

The second is that quintessential element of the British countryside, small villages dotted about the county each with its own character, vernacular architecture, church and village green and individual communities.

The third attribute is the space that we enjoy by choosing to live in a rural and not an urban environment.

The proposals shown in the SSIO Document spell out the destruction of what causes Surrey to be unique and will devalue the quality of life of most of the Borough’s residents. I do not believe that the residents of Guildford have at any time given the Council this mandate.
Certainly the worst thing that Guildford Borough Council could do would be to implement a local plan which would destroy much of the Borough’s charm and heritage, by removing our villages from the protection which our unique and wonderful Green Belt provides and allowing them to be swamped by large scale estates, which will irrecoverably change the character of our Borough for the worse, and to the detriment of all who live here. This is the opposite of what a good, democratic and properly consulted Local Plan should be, and the reason I object to the Plan and its proposed Amendments.

I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change

I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.

I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS.

It is clear that all previous objections to proposed local plans have been ignored.

I am particularly concerned about the increase in proposed residential development in a village where there is already inadequate provision in the form of medical facilities, schooling, and shops.

In your documents you refer to protecting the environment but by removing Send from the Greenbelt you are not doing this.

I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

I urge the Council to-

1. Think again on a local scale and consider what is actually needed by the people living in the borough and not some artificially inflated requirement that will only benefit building developers in the short term.
2. Go back to Central Government and seriously question the whole premise of this notional housing requirement. Can we really need over 4000 houses in the local area when it will only compound the pressure on local facilities and have a major negative impact on the local environment, adversely affecting the quality of life of all those currently living in the Guildford environs.

I believe that there is plenty of room for new housing and properties that could be refurbished in other parts of the country, without the impact to sensitive environmental and designated Green Belt or conservation areas where effort should be put to regenerate both jobs and industry supported by investment in affordable housing.

I object to the use of Green Belt land - this was proposed in 1935 and should not be taken away for future generations.

Despite repeated election promises to protect the Green Belt. Any new housing should be built on brown fill sites so that local facilities can cope with smaller increases. Regarding Policy A44 - Send Hill is a very narrow road with no pavements - any increase in traffic would make this very unsafe for the children attending the school at the end of the road. Also on Policy A44 - the land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill is unsafe to build on due to landfill waste giving rise to environmental risks (methane gas, asbestos etc)

In writing this email I intend to outline my objections to the 2016 Draft Local Plan. Before raising my specific objections, I wish to express my disappointment at the Local Council's stance with regards to this matter.

The role of Local Councils is to serve and represent the local area, in the interests of its inhabitants. With a greater understanding of the local area than Central Government, a Local Council is in a unique position to protect those inhabitants from policies which are not only against the interests of those inhabitants, but are also inadequately thought through, where local context may be overlooked, perhaps not in bad faith, but overlooked nonetheless, by centralized bureaucracy. Regrettably, the 2016 Draft Local Plan appears to fall in this bracket.

GBC is there to serve the needs of its people and was duly elected to do so, so why does it constantly fail to listen to the public its designed to serve.

In summary the Plan remains flawed and needs significant development and should therefore be rejected

Answer: (Yes)
The number of houses planned has risen to 693 houses per year over the next 20 years (compared with 652 per year in the 2014 Draft) and is more than double the 322 houses per year that was approved in the 2003 Local Plan.

- 65% of new houses in the Borough are to be built on land that is currently in the Green Belt.
- Section 150 of the Housing and Planning Act 2016 states that a site, once identified in a Local Plan, is assumed to have permission to go ahead in principle, which means normal planning restrictions may be difficult to impose later.
- Little notice has been taken of the comments received after the last round of consultation.

Traffic and parking: Assuming that every new house has at least 2 cars, this means potentially 6,000 more cars within a three mile radius of the villages. The impact on local roads will be tremendous. Parking at Horsley & Effingham junction stations (which are already full), at the shops, at the medical centre and at the village hall will all be affected.

- Local Road Network: In respect of the proposals for development at Wisley Airfield and for an upgrade the current A3 junction at Burntcommon to a full 4-way junction, SCC traffic modelling anticipates increased use of Guileshall Lane, Hungry Hill Lane and Tithebarns Lane for traffic accessing the A3 at Burntcommon in order to travel to Guildford and beyond. The SCC report states that “consequently, it indicates that further thought may have to be given to managing traffic in this area as part of a transport assessment should the development be progressed”. It appears that the Plan is proposing a strategic site at Wisley Airfield without even knowing what improvements to the local road infrastructure will be required. If that is the case for Wisley Airfield, then it is almost inevitably true for the proposed developments in East and West Horsley as well.

- Pollution: The large increase in volume of traffic will cause an increase in nitrogen dioxide and particulates in the environment – already a cause for concern in several areas in the Borough.

- Flooding: The site behind Ockham Road North in East Horsley is partially a level 3 flood risk area, and local residents are well aware of how much standing water there is in their gardens after rain. Building on such land will only exacerbate the problem. We already know what happens to local roads when it rains – the drains can’t cope.

- Schools: Local schools are already at capacity – where will newcomers go to school? No extra places are planned in the Horsleys, and the school places proposed at Wisley Airfield will not planned until many years into the project.

- Medical facilities: Similar situation to the schools.

- Loss of Green Belt land: Sadiq Khan, new Mayor of London, has instructed London planners not to approve development on Green Belt Land within the M25. If we continue to build on our countryside it won’t be many decades before we have none left. Creeping development has led to almost continuous housing from Central London to Effingham. Is this to carry on to Guildford and beyond? (1,700 houses are planned for the Guildford end of the Hogs Back and 1,000 new houses on greenfield sites in Normandy.)

- Transport: Misery for commuters, nowhere to park and full trains at commuting times

I am putting all the comments here as they apply to a number of sections and the method of providing feedback is slightly ludicrous and geared towards making it difficult to provide comments.

Overall a good starter plan but it doesn't go far enough or is sound enough. Unfortunately the plan does not address the borough’s needs.

We are in need of housing both social as well as for the professionals in low to average income jobs that support Guildford Borough’s. Nurses, police offices, retail workers, bus drivers and a raft of other professionals struggle to find affordable accommodation within Guildford. This results in most of them leaving outside Guildford and commuting into town resulting in part to the traffic gridlock most of us experience on a daily basis trying to traverse the city centre. The policies put forward by the GBC do not address the needs of our Borough.

You need evaluate high-rise, high-density buildings within the centre of Guildford before allowing development in the villages and in the Green Belt. Woking is a good example where multi-story buildings blend in to the city’s life and provide a young and vibrant population. such an approach would make the town more vibrant and provide the much needed accommodation.

You should use the council-owned building company to provide innovative housing accommodation your young professionals such as Multiple Occupancy Houses.

You need to ensure that social housing is provided that addresses our current needs instead of mandating a 40% quota of affordable housing. The “affordable” housing proposed by the Local Plan is not affordable for most of our residents and ti is a ridiculous measure to use.

You need to consider the aging population and provide accommodation suitable for our aging population and include policies that protect the existing bungalows used by our older residents.

You should mandate that the 12 Building for Life principles apply to every housing development and only by exception allow developments to not meet these standards.

We need to respect the nature and character of our villages and impose a maximum development target of 20% housing every four years (of the total number of houses envisioned in the Local Plan).

We need to increase the land allocated for offices and manufacturing. We envision Guildford Borough to be a city in its own right and go beyond the commuter town envisaged by the current Executive Committee.

I strongly support the protection of all Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and I am glad this is in the plan.

The infrastructure model needs improvement. You need to put forward a travelling and commuting scheme that encourages and promotes the use of public transport over car usage. more areas to be pedestrianised and for more cycling lanes.

I support to plan to redevelop the bus station and make it a station our residents can be proud of.

the development of of River Wey should be included to the Local Plan and ensure a holistic development for our riverfront and town centre.

More innovative approaches should be undertaken to providing the required infrastructure such as working with existing GP services to expand current premises or create additional GP branches to support the increased development.

Finally, I ask you to be transparent and provide a full and detailed analysis of our development SHMA targets. The development of the GBC is integral to this Borough’s future and our residents will support such development where transparency exists and all other options have been considered and exhausted. Currently this is not the case. be transparent in everything

The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

| Having reviewed the amendments to the 2016 Draft Local Plan under regulation 19, I am deeply concerned to see that the Council has ignored most of the concerns raised by Borough residents in both the 2014 and 2016 consultations. I am concerned that there are conflicts of interest within both the Council and Central Government, and indirectly some elected representatives at both levels stand to profit from the property market as a result of this unfettered push for development. Hidden among the amendments in this controversial regulation 19 review, is further extension of the earlier proposed developments, including increased house numbers and expanded business space allocation, and intruding further into protected green-belt land. There is also a blatant disregard for the risks of developing areas in defined flood-zones 2 and 3, with such wording removed from a number of policies. I objected to such proposals in both previous consultations. There is the potential for demand for housing to decline when Britain leaves the EU, especially in areas like Surrey, and the Local Plan does not take this into account. There are many brown-field sites in the Borough, and it must be mandatory to develop these before any other sites are even considered, regardless of developers shying away from them. |
| Attached documents: |
Our elected representatives at all levels must conduct themselves with due diligence and integrity, for the long term future of all, including their own children, not for the short term profit of a few.

This Local Plan shows no integrity nor validity, just a hidden agenda for development at any cost.

My wife and I met while studying at Surrey University in Guildford. We moved away after to university to Essex and then other parts of Surrey for several years before making the decision to move back near Guildford and Woking, settling in Ripley.

We made this decision because we love the area – why – because of its beauty and how rural everything is. Concreting over our countryside to satisfy some arbitrary housing figures would actually remove the reasons we decided to settle and start a family here!

We cannot continue building additional housing forever as it is simply NOT sustainable in the long term.

I have lived in West Clandon for 30 years and in Surrey nearly all my life.

For a large part of that time Guildford Borough Council (GBC) has understood and supported the wishes of its electorate to retain the heritage and natural character of this beautiful part of the Surrey Hills.

Indeed in 2009 GBC successfully challenged the Government’s South East Plan (SEP) to build 422 homes a year – 100 more than initially recommended by the South East England Regional Assembly – led by the Leader of the Council and the Head of Planning.

However, the same Council’s draft Plan of 2014, went completely against this precedent, proposing wholesale destruction of the Green Belt with development and claiming that more than double the number of homes previously rejected as being too many should be built in the Borough.

As the people who pay for the Council’s personnel and services to look after our best interests the overwhelming majority of ratepayers were appalled and said so in the so called ‘consultation’ for that draft Plan.

Of some 22,000 responses the vast majority were objections against the draft Plan and specifically against building on the Green Belt.
So what had changed? The Leader of the Council had changed, and with it, apparently, the entire policy towards development in the Guildford Borough.

With the architect of the draft Plan, appointed by that Leader, discovered to be a fraud and forger, and with so many objections, the draft Plan was withdrawn for reconsideration.

In the face of a new political force – the Guildford Greenbelt Group – those seeking election from the Conservative Party assured residents ‘Conservatives Say the Green Belt to Stay’, as printed on countless pamphlets.

It was with this reassurance that today’s Conservative Councillors were elected, THEY WERE NOT ELECTED WITH A MANDATE TO BUILD MASSIVE DEVELOPMENTS OVER FIELDS AND GREEN BELT.

Now the new draft Local Plan has been published but, far from reducing green field development, it INCREASES the numbers of houses planned for green field development!

So, Guildford Borough Council has ignored the consultation process for this latest draft Plan, and the Councillors who voted for it to go to consultation have demonstrated that they gained election on a falsehood.

Guildford Borough Council DOES NOT HAVE A MANDATE FOR THE POLICIES AND SITES IN THIS 2016 DRAFT PLAN AS THEY WERE REJECTED IN THE CONSULTATION FOR THE 2014 DRAFT PLAN, AND ITS COUNCILLORS WERE ELECTED ON THEIR FALSE PROMISES.

I quote from Guildford Borough Council’s own memorandum to Parliament (see: http://www.publications.parliament.uk/pa/cm200910/cmselect/cmseast/memo/housing/ucm3102.htm):

“5.1 Guildford Borough Council supports the fundamental principles of the Green Belt, as set out in PPG2: Green Belts (1995). They are:

? to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas;

? to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another;

? to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment;

? to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and

? to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

5.2 The Council does not believe that the protection of this designation for the purposes above can be linked to an increase in HMOs. As discussed, the cause of the increase in HMOs relates to many social and economic trends and policies which need to be addressed to attempt to reduce the number of HMOs. Equally, the occupants of HMOs tend to be young, single, transient people who wish to locate in town centres, close to jobs, services and public transport. A rural location would not be preferable for such a use.”

The Council should be supporting this policy.

The current draft of the Guildford Local Plan is without support from the residents it is meant to be for (not those the Council seems to believe it is for – developers), it is unsustainable, deeply flawed, particularly in its evidence base and non transparent SHMA, and is not sound.

My objections are laid out below. Many of these are shared with others, nevertheless they represent my views and I would like my objections registered as responses to each policy and site indicated to go before the Inspector.

As a general observation, I and everyone I have spoken to feel seriously let down by Guildford Borough Council. Rather than serve the local population which has elected them, this Plan seems to have been developed without any mandate or declared manifesto and rides roughshod over local residents’ views and needs. And the fact that the video of ‘local people’ on your website is almost entirely limited to those with a political or commercial vested interest is a clear indication of GBC’s priorities.

Dear Planning Committee

Whilst we completely relate to and understand the dilemma the Borough finds itself in particularly regarding the housing shortage, we strongly object to Send no longer being part of the green belt. We bought in this area because it was green belt and we could enjoy semi rural living and escape the busyness of the Towns and Cities. We cannot possibly understand how it can be justified building near the Wisley interchange, in close proximity to Send, which is already so horribly congested and when there is an accident it is mayhem on the A3, North and South bound routes. Not to mention Ripley high street being used as the diversion route to avoid accidents and rejoin the A3 just before Wisley.

All the wildlife - deer, foxes, rabbits etc - surely these animals need to be protected in all the wooded areas.

We are concerned that all the beautiful oak and other trees will also be cut down to create open spaces, completely destroying the current beautiful Surrey landscape, making it look like a concrete jungle.

We can agree to some increased housing but the scale being proposed is beyond what the existing infrastructure can manage, and any future changes to the infrastructure we believe will be insufficient to manage all the new housing.

Please do not destroy our greenbelt areas in Surrey, surely there are enough derelict brown sites standing empty that can be rejuvenated to cope with affordable housing opportunities and by doing so clean up and improve many ugly areas around Surrey.

Thank you.
I believe the proposed new interchange will add to the traffic using the A247 as a short cut to avoid hold ups which are quite frequent between the A25, M25 & the A3

Para 2.5 'pockets of deprivation'. The official definition may well include both income and crime, but they are not cause and effect. I understand that cyber-crime is one of highest incidence in Surrey. The point of this paragraph presumably is to highlight the wide disparity of income in the borough, and which is a major cause of the demand for social housing. These three paragraphs could be reworded to reflect that rather than talk of 'deprivation'. Some data showing the wide distribution of income across the borough would illustrate the point more effectively.

Policy H1 - Homes for all. There is no explicit mention of bungalows - basically one-storey properties. These are essential for residents with mobility impairment. I suggest the policy includes words to the effect that we will not look favourably on planning applications which seek to demolish a bungalow/s - in order to replace with one or more properties with upper storeys -unless there are genuine and compelling reasons to do so.

To conclude, I hope you can see that my objections to the current Local Plan are considered rather than emotive and that you will address the points I have raised when amending the plan.

We are grateful for the opportunity to Comment on the Draft Plan and are supportive of certain aspects in relation to the development in the sustainable locations of Guildford Town Centre and urban areas and on other land such as countryside beyond the green belt and on urban extensions to Guildford, Ash and Tongham.

We believe that the current plan to deliver 1-3,860, new homes fails to take into account the additional infrastructure and other supporting resources that would be required.

We are completely opposed to any of the suggested changes to the Green Belt and any proposals to inset villages and increase settlement boundaries.

Specifically we reject the proposals for the development of the former Wisley airfield site.

Bewley Homes' representations in relation to the Plan as a whole and specific paragraphs, policies and proposals are set out in the attached representations documents that clearly identify those sections of the Plan that Bewley Homes consider to either fail to be legally compliant, are unsound, or fail the duty to cooperate. In relation to the tests of soundness these are identified in bold against each section of the Plan that Bewley Homes is making representations against.

Neame Sutton Limited wishes to participate in the Examination on behalf of Bewley Homes Plc to expand upon its representations contained in the attached documents specifically (but not limited to) the following matters:

- The content of the SA
- The total housing requirement being planned for
- The housing delivery strategy
- The Green Belt boundary review process
- Bewley Homes' proposed additional housing

Further detail is set out in the attached representations documents.

I would like to make it clear that I am incredibly disappointed in the way that GBC has put this plan forward to residents. The almost complete lack of information is appalling. It is completely inappropriate to only have 3 unpublished drop in sessions. For documents to only be available at council offices during office hours or for local libraries to not even know where the documents are. We had to ask 3 members of staff in Guildford library to see the documents and instead of these being presented in an open and organised manner they were stuffed in a box and hidden at the bottom of a shelf.

I am also thoroughly unimpressed with the manner in which you are asking people to give their opinions. It is again totally inappropriate to expert people who have had to wade through multiple documents to find out what the proposals are to then have to do the same to give their opinion.

In general I support the plans and think that those involved are trying to benefit the borough but the way this consultation has been carried out makes it look like they are ashamed of what they are proposing and want to make it as difficult as possible for people to give their views.

My main concerns with the proposals are the number of car parks that are being proposed as sights for housing and the impact this will have on trade. The lack of any definition as to the community facilities which will accompany new housing projects - these are vital to both new residents and the existing residents who will have to cope with the increase in housing. I am also not happy with the lack of road plans which have been put in place - these need to come first and therefor should be in the forefront and being planned now.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?

Answer: (No)

Below is the complete Guildford Vision Group Reg 19 consultation submission:
The Guildford Vision Group, a group of concerned residents with very relevant commercial and professional experience, was established four years ago to press for reinvigoration of the town centre. Specifically we have called for six objectives:

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre
2. Exciting new public space along a reinvigorated riverside
3. Redirection of vehicle traffic away from the centre
4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

These are not unusual or unique objectives. They are the aim of a multitude of UK towns and cities, where many have taken positive action to bring them about. Many would envy Guildford its magnificent setting and the river running through the centre of town, yet Guildford has failed significantly over the past decades to take full advantage of its potential, especially its river. Riverside areas are taken up by surface car parks, buildings with their back to the water and suffer a legacy of piecemeal, unattractive light industrial development. Walnut Tree Close and Woodbridge Meadows, in particular, should be given over to well-planned housing and the scattered light industrial provision should be relocated to an expanded Slyfield where infrastructure and communications would be better.

We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. There are no substantial coordinated policies or strategies in the Local Plan that will achieve the six objectives above. These objectives have received wide public support, as recognised by:

- Our 2013 document ‘Guildford on the Way’, a Vision for Guildford in 2030 (attached) as articulated by members of the public, Guildford residents and our members
- Comments and feedback from our public meetings over the past four years that have regularly attracted audiences of 200 and above
- Feedback from our frequent Newsletters to our supporters, interested parties and councillors

The council, in response to our lobbying, commissioned a masterplan for the centre. The masterplan was drawn up by Allies & Morrison, nationally-renowned masterplanners. The masterplan was approved by the council in March 2016 but is yet to be adopted. There is little recognition or acknowledgement of the masterplan in either the Local Plan policies, underpinning information or implementation strategies. We understand that the council propose an Area Action Plan (AAP) for the town centre once the Local Plan is adopted. We are concerned that the AAP will be subject to challenge if its aims are not foreshadowed in the Local Plan. We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

We made a lengthy response to the Reg 18 consultation nearly 2 years ago. Our comments remain very relevant and are re-submitted for the Reg 19 consultation.

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

The single, most significant omission regarding the town centre and its infrastructure is a cohesive plan to redirect traffic away from the centre via a new East/West link as proposed by GVG. This was mentioned in our previous Local Plan 2014 submission. A sketch of the link is reproduced here with the new rail/river bridge arrowed:

[see attached file 'GVG bridge route.jpeg']

Such a link would instantly enable wider pedestrianisation of the town centre – specifically Bridge and Onslow Streets – bringing a safer, less polluted environment. The bridge would also enable the reinvigoration of the riverside on both sides, below the bottom of North and High Streets, and the demolition of the ugly four lane concrete Friary Bridge that blights the character of our historic gap town at its very centre.
There is no attempt in the Local Plan to safeguard any potential route for such a new East/West link.

There has been no new town centre East/West link across the railway and river since the building of the Farnham Road Bridge in the 1840s. The Farnham Road bridge capacity is constrained, is rapidly approaching the end of its safe life and is too low for modern rail freight traffic (as set out in the rail ‘Wessex Plan’).

The level and importance of development to the West of the town since 1840 should surely suggest a need for another link. The town centre and Guildford’s health and economy is at a disadvantage from inadequate and imperfect links to key sites such as the Royal Surrey Hospital, Surrey University, the Research Park with its world class and world leading facilities and activities. If large housing development is to be accommodated to the West of the town then there should be adequate provision for the inevitable increase in consequent vehicular traffic from such development, irrespective of the impact of modal shift and sustainable movement policies. Guildford is a gap town, with topographic constraints on solutions such as a ring road. The beauty of its setting also provides constraints.

Within a wider pedestrianisation in the town centre there should be provision for better pedestrian routes to the Cathedral and University. The Local Plan makes no attempt to achieve that, to the detriment of the town and its sense of community.

GVG is pro—growth and supports good, well designed development. Guildford Town Centre is about to undergo a sustained period of significant development, including creation of an additional 48,000sq m of retail and related space, principally via the redevelopment of North Street. Development includes additional new town centre housing, including much needed affordable. It is hard, if not impossible, to discern from the Local Plan how such considerable development will be served by appropriate infrastructure. It is not clear what public benefits will accrue in the shape of new public space and better public realm. There is no sense of an overarching plan or design ethos that will support and enhance the historic core of the town that makes it so attractive to its residents and to a wide range of visitors.

In a well-meaning, almost obsessive, focus on its sustainable movement corridor and modal shift, the council leaves itself unfortunately blind to the need now for a modern transport interchange in the centre of town around the railway station. Guildford holds a key strategic position halfway between Heathrow and Gatwick airports and should seize all the opportunities that airport expansion will bring. The Local Plan has little if any comment or concrete plans regarding the rearrangement of bus services necessitated by the North St development.

Sadly the Guildford Vision Group therefore finds the Local Plan unsound, inadequate and unambitious in respect of the town centre.

It seems that “sustainable” is inserted into any sentence involving development with no sustainable credentials whatsoever to make it more palatable.

What is sustainable about building over green-belt sites?

Is the development going to be fully eco-friendly an self-sufficient in power and water? (rhetorical question because of course it's not).

Is development going to be 100% built using renewable or recycled materials sourced from responsible suppliers? (another rhetorical question because of course it's not).

Is the energy input into the materials and development techniques being monitored and developers being held to account? (again, a rhetorical question because of course it's not).

What’s happening about the transport, water, power and telecoms infrastructure to support each development? Is the developer paying for all of this or are we having to fund the expansion of Guildford through our council tax?

This whole plan is unacceptable. There are already enough houses and in regards to the video and hospitals which are struggling, if it hadn't have been for the unnecessary cuts which have been enforced by our government, people wouldn't be struggling as they are. These plans will disturb an equilibrium with water drainage and cause flooding - look at Guildford over the winter for example, which suffered from flooding when all the water descended on the town. Adding more houses will require more drainage, foundations will be disturbed and this will only lead to even more flooding in the future.
If 400 houses were added and each house had 2 children for example, that's 800 additional children that need to be taught. You might add a school or two, but being able to teach 800 students in 2 schools is not going to be likely. In the end, this will have to be funded by us, the tax payers and the consequences of more houses also means the following:

More crime
More traffic
More pollution (light and sound)
More drugs
More rodents
More litter
Death and killing of many animals

The list goes on but that is just a sample.

Why is the green belt being targeted again?! It is green because it is meant to preserve ecology and encourage the growth of natural wildlife. Building houses has the opposite effect - more houses means more people and humans do what they naturally do (and might not necessarily be allowed to) and reproduce. Having more houses would end up being a catalyst for bringing more children into an already overpopulated world. I strongly object to these plans - the population is high enough already and giving people more space to bring more people in to the world only makes it worse. Do not complete these buildings and junctions.

These plans should not be reconsidered, they should be scrapped because:

-There is too much traffic already in Surrey
-There are enough people in Surrey
-The A3, Woking and Guildford are already under too much strain from traffic

-Building these houses is only going to be another haven for commuters to London where people who don't want to live in London come and Live in Woking/Guildford and go to London for their job. When I was working in London, the traffic coming from Woking was bad enough. Things will only spiral out of control and traffic in Guildford will become as bad as it is in London - it is already on its way to being like that already. Do not complete these plans for the sake of everyone.

I object to Policy P3, Policy A 43,A44.
The woods at Garlicks Copse date from the sixteenth century. To rip them up would allow water to flow down the slope to Send Marsh Road and put houses in Send Marsh Road at risk of flooding.

Plans need to take into account traffic flows, especially through Send which is already bad during rush hours.

Housing developments need to take into account the knock on effect on local services - hospitals, GP's and schools.

Policy P2 states Send should not be removed from the Green Belt - many parts of the local plan completely go against this policy and I object to any areas of this vulnerable bit of land being removed from the Green Belt. Send provides a wonderful countryside buffer between Woking and Guildford and this local plan would lead to the whole area eventually becoming an urban sprawl.

SUMMARY

I request a confirmation by email from GBC that all of the objections made below are put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 draft local plan.

I request that once my objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued.

Guildford is a constrained borough by the reality of having 89% of its area zoned as permanent Green Belt and an out of date road network that is already at capacity. I am concerned that GBC have adopted an inflated OAN of 13,860 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance.

The application of constraints to housing need is a sensible and practical approach to development within the borough and is not only what GBC have done in the past in previous plans but is also what its neighbouring local planning authorities have done.

The scale of the housing number proposed in this plan, inevitably increases the onus for the plan to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number of 5,000 homes, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.
I am concerned that GBC have failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents.

In my opinion much of the proposed local plan appears out of date. It is like a voice from the past. Current trends in terms of property development such as the marked decline in town centre shopping centres and the need to create modal shift by developing residential uses close to transport hubs appear to have been overlooked.

Answer: (Yes)

I am writing to object to the Draft Local Plan with particular concerns for Send and its surrounding area. I wish my concerns to be seen by the planning inspector and taken into consideration when a decision is being made.

My first concern is that Send is being removed from the Green Belt. This is extremely concerning as one of the original functions of Greenbelt Land was to act as a buffer zone between large urban areas thus preventing urban sprawl. The restrictions on development have always allowed settlements to maintain their own identity and prevent smaller settlements becoming engulfed. This completely goes against one of the aims of the plan which is to ensure sustainability. Sustainability means meeting the needs of the present without compromising the needs of the future. Removal of Greenbelt status could mean no future for the village as it is engulfed or grows so large it's sense of community is lost.

My second concern is that my understanding was that if significant changes were made to a plan, a full consultation was required. Having read the plan I was shocked to see that a new road junction is planned on the edge of the village. This has not been mentioned previously. Linked to this is the plan for 400 new homes at Burnt Common. This will put extreme pressure on local services along with adding to congestion and thus air pollution. In addition, Greenbelt Land will be destroyed which is completely unacceptable and clearly not inline with the 'sustainable' aim of the plan.

It is widely accepted that Brownfield sites are the most appropriate sites for redevelopment as they already have well developed infrastructures and do not require the destruction of the natural environment. With this in mind, you can appreciate how concerning it is that you seem willing to allow development on so many areas of Greenbelt in and around Send. Growth of the village would put additional pressure on the infrastructure and services and at peak times the main Send Road already struggles to cope. What also doesn't seem to have been considered is the addition of impermeable surfaces will cause shorter lag times and impact river levels downstream as well as localised flooding.
Send hill sites - the areas highlighted are landfill sites with methane gas discharge.

The sites are in permanent green belt area.

Southern county searches report E.2978.sn_hcp dated 5 jan 2005 identifies landfill site ref gu/12 with unrestricted waste. This causes great concern of what it contains.

I am concerned about the water table being disturbed and flooding to my property.

The traveller accommodation assessment purported to have been undertaken in 2012 by Mill Field Services is flawed as this company dissolved in 2011 according to Companies House.

There has been a lack of consideration to the deterioration of our historical villages.

The site is NOT large enough for its proposed use and Send Hill is a single track country road.

I object

What on earth do you lunatics think you are trying to do through forcibly granting building restrictions on land that has to be protected by people such as yourselves.

Stop this immediately
The inclusion of 400 homes and industrial warehousing at Burnt Common in the plan is new and not included in the regulation 18 draft.

I therefore object that a full impact assessment has not taken place.

A new four way interchange onto the A3 would be disastrous for Send. Send would be grid locked all day and the enlarged Send first school would become inaccessible as a local school and dangerous.

I object to Greenbelt areas around Ripley and Send being built on. These areas that are already crowded and short of schools, medical centres etc should rightly be preserved. The Portsmouth road is already busy though route from the A3. Building more housing and industrial areas will increase this problem exponentially.

I object to Policy A43.30 ha LAND AT GARLICKS ARCH, Burnt Common, designated for 400 houses and 7,000 square metres of industrial development including warehousing. There is no need for any additional houses given the 13,680 already proposed for the borough. This site is new and was not included in the Regulation 18 draft; neither has it been consulted upon previously. It is green belt permanently protected by the NPF which prevents the merging of settlements. There are no exceptional circumstances. The site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland. Trees which existed in the 16th century would be endangered. The proposed industrial development of 7,000 square metres is not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) indicates a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space when compared with the previous draft plan. If it is felt there is a need for 7,000 square metres of industrial space then it should be developed at Slyfield. A new 4-way interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common to serve this development would be wholly disastrous for Send. Send road (A247) would be gridlocked all day. Send would become the thru route to Woking for traffic leaving the M25 and A3 following the proposed 2,000 houses at Wisley and the 2,000 houses at Burpham. Send cannot take it.

I object to Policy A44.1.9 ha LAND WEST OF WINDS RIDGE AND SEND HILL designated for 40 homes and 2 travellers pitches. This site is new and was not included in regulation 18 draft and has not been previously consulted on. Development for housing is inappropriate due to its permanent green belt status and high quality green belt amenity within an area of outstandingly beautiful countryside which would undoubtedly be spoiled by any development. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe landfill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 travellers pitches is inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing inadequate and insufficient access to the site.

NATS has reviewed the Local Plan. While we acknowledge that reference to our DVOR/DME installations is made on page 206, our preference would be to include a statement as follows:

- The airfield site hosts an aeronautical navigation beacon, known as the Ockham DVOR/DME. This is an integral part of the UK aeronautical infrastructure and serves a number of major airports in the South East. When considering planning application(s), engagement with the operator (NATS En Route PLC) should be sought as early as practicable in order to ensure that any impact may be assessed and so that any relevant conditions and obligations to planning permission(s) can be attached.

in the table on page 205 ‘POLICY A35: Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham’ under the REQUIREMENTS entry.

This is to highlight the importance of the aeronautical infrastructure and to ensure engagement with NATS is as early as possible should the current plans for the area be subject to alteration in any way.

Thanks and regards

I object. In particular the A44 proposal is detrimental to the local area, it wasn't consulted on and was added to the Local Plan a long way down the process. The sites being proposed for the travelers is known to have dangerous landfill and these need to be left undisturbed.

The increase in traffic on Send Hill Road, Potters Lane in particular will increase the likely hood of pedestrian danger and damage to the surrounding areas including personal property.

Modern housing and in particular traveller sites attract a higher proportion of vehicles and in particular trades related vehicles, vans, lorises, tipper trucks and trade related materials. This site is not conducive to this type of occupation.

I am sadly having to write again to you as I don’t think that you have read my last letter. I was under the impression that I lived in a democracy and that the local councillors were elected by the people who live in a borough to serve them. They were in part elected on the basis of promises made to the electorate which as we all know, at least as far as planning is concerned, they have ridden roughshod over or completely ignored.

Tens of thousands of objections have been placed before you last year regarding the local plan and you not listened at all. Even allowing for the fact that further housing is necessary over the coming years it would appear that the area north of Guildford especially Send has been disproportionately targeted. At this point in time I understand that you will only allow objections to the changes you have made in the latest draft. With reference to the policies A42, A43 and A58 I object for the following reasons:

- I object to Send being removed the GreenBelt. Send is a small village that cannot take any more housing, the infrastructure & road systems are barely suitable for the current number of people and definitely cannot support more housing. I particularly object to the land between the 2 schools, including their playfields being taken out of the greenbelt.

- I object to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch in Burnt Common. There is no need to additional houses in the borough on top of those already proposed. This site is new and has not been previously consulted on. The proposed new 4-way interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common would be disastrous for Send. The road through send (A247) would be completely gridlocked during rush hours and would result in far too much fast moving traffic cutting through the village. It is already dangerous for children getting to school with the volume of fast moving traffic that don’t slow down by the school having left the A3. We cannot afford more traffic moving through the village and endangering our children.

I object very strongly to the original Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan and the Updated Local Plan.

Cllr Paul Spooner, Leader of the Council, says: "We reviewed the comments from last year's consultation and made a number of significant changes to the plan and proposed sites, as well as updating the supporting evidence and policies. We remain committed to fundamental principles, such as our 'brownfield first' policy of proposing sites with past development, and some of the changes increase the number of homes in the town centre with reduced or removed housing sites in rural areas and greenbelt."

The above statement from Cllr Spooner is not reflected in the changes to the Updated Local Plan! Quite the contrary... the continued use of green belt land without sufficient exceptional reason is reckless and an abuse of our country's heritage.

I would like to object to planned building of 700 homes per year, the area of Send does not have sufficient infrastructure to support this type of expansion. There are insufficient schools, road and transport system. Will destroy the village and its uniqueness, turn the whole area into a massive Conurbation.

The process which this has been proposed contravenes not only planning commitment and guidance as laid down by the government for green belt, but also has ignored due process.

I object to further development for the following reasons. With advent of the UK exit from the EU, the prediction for the requirement for housing and development of commercial units will need to be revised downwards. As the 3 million EU citizens currently in the UK, will be affected by this current event, and their ability to stay in this country will also be affected. So your estimates for further development of housing are wildly exaggerated and need to be revised downwards.

In addition to the potential down grade in the economy due to Brexit, your estimation for commercial and housing development is wildly exaggerated and unnecessary. Given you have allowed development of send marina; I really don’t understand how you can commit to further commercial developments. So therefore this development is folly this area does not need.

In particular, I want to object to all the following points:

I object to Garlicks Arch development of green belt land which contravenes government guide lines and that due process was not followed in the introduction of this development into this plan, and did not follow this process. Its inclusion in this plan was included at the last stage and did not follow process. So for that reason should be excluded.

I object to the council changing the enclosure of green belt land round the Ripley and Send villages, changing of village boundaries to allow for future development.

I object to the wholesale destruction of green belt land in this area (including development of 2000 homes at Gosden hill farm, Merrow, and also Send and Ripley), which contravenes directly the government stated commitment to preservation to green belt land.

I object to the creation of new north and South Bounds slips ways from the A3 to the A247 clandon Road (policy A243) at Burnt common, as in light of the wholly unnecessary due to planned expansion which unlikely be needed within the 10 years.

I object to the plans for additional housing in Ripley & Send. The areas chosen are not all suitable for building due to historic site usage and due to restricted access which will lead to additional traffic in an already busy areas. The impact on existing residents is unacceptable.

I object to this.

GBC have not followed the correct process. Since 2014 GBC has changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now just added a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 and has just gone up again to 485. These significant changes require another full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cut of Regulation 19 which GBC are trying to get away with. This invalidates the whole process.

These representations are made in respect 13.5ha / 33.4A of land to the west of Westwood Lane, Flexford (Plan Attached). The Site currently comprises a series of fields currently used for ‘horsiculture’. The land sits between residential properties to the north and the railway line to the south. The site’s character is indistinguishable from land on the opposite side of Westwood Lane to the east. The field parcels are of irregular shapes and sizes and feature mature trees at the boundaries. Consequently, the site is well contained physically and visually on all sides such that there are no long-distance views afforded beyond.

Vehicular access can be gained directly from Westwood Lane into the site whilst there are two footpaths running east-west from Westwood Lane. These links offer an opportunity to connect the proposed Strategic Development Area to the wider footpath network and countryside beyond. Enhancements of this existing footpath network offering recreational opportunities would be possible as part of any development proposals.

The site offers an ideal opportunity for the siting of low density development, specialist housing, retirement housing, or housing for elderly people such as a care home or extra care facility. Such low density development would act as a transitional development between the higher density core of the Strategic Development Area and the countryside beyond. Existing landscape features including the mature boundary trees would be retained to provide the new development with a ‘parkland’ setting. Such development would contribute to the requirements of Policy H1 Homes for All and the housing mix set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment.

The site abuts the strategic development site to be allocated to the south of Normandy and north of Flexford (Policy A46). As such it benefits from the provision of infrastructure and improvements to the local highway network already identified within the Infrastructure Delivery Plan including projects LRN17,18, 19, EG6, WS4, WCT5, PED1 and SED3. Consequently additional development in the vicinity can contribute to and benefit from these infrastructure improvements.

I object to the plan overall as I do not believe GBC have followed due process for this number of homes and there is not enough investment in the surrounding infrastructure to support the additional 485 homes. A new road system is not enough ... shops, schools & other amenities such as the Doctor's surgery will all be over subscribed.

We would like to make the following comments in relation to the updated Employment Topic Paper that was published at the same time as the amendments to the proposed new Local Plan. In relation to paras 4.43-4.49 dealing with Send Business Centre and Tannery Studios, Tannery Lane, Send the following points are made:

1. At para 4.43 it is wrong to suggest that the 1.4 ha site identified in the earlier draft Local Plan is “undeveloped”. With reference to the Masterplan accompanying these representations it is clear that the land in question has been long established as part of the curtilage of the business premises and continues to provide important functions in connection with Send Business Centre such as for storage and access to the wharf: indeed there are already a number of buildings on the site already.

2. In both Topic Papers there is reference to the site previously being located in ‘high sensitivity green belt’ although the Plan now acknowledges that due to the unique circumstances that arise in the case of Send Business Centre, the site is suitable to be inset from the Green Belt. We question however, the initial assessment of the site’s location being ‘highly sensitive’, given that the site is sandwiched between 2 landfill sites from former mining operations. It is of course not a definition used in NPPF or other guidance from the Government regarding Green Belts. Moreover, it is neither within the AONB or AGLV and as referred to above part of the curtilage of long established industrial premises immediately adjacent to extensive former and worked out gravel quarries. In the circumstances, we believe it is wrong to describe the Green Belt hereabouts as ‘high sensitivity’. If it is based upon a subjective assessment on the purposes of including land within the Green Belt, then clearly the site today performs poorly in that regard since it is already substantially developed, its expansion will not lead to the merging of settlements (the nearest settlement to Send is Old Woking, but this is located to the north and separated from the site by extensive areas of undeveloped land), nor will it lead to encroachment onto the adjoining countryside since the site is contained within the curtilage of the existing business complex.

3. Para 4.47 of the Employment Topic Paper says that “There are existing buildings on the site, mainly unused.” On the contrary, all the buildings at Send Business Centre are fully occupied (other than a limited number of units presently being refurbished). The Masterplan explains why there is a need to provide additional accommodation to meet the demand from both existing and new tenants looking to either expand or relocate to SBC (see representations above and references in the Rural Economic Strategy).

There appears to be some confusion created by the conflicting Local Plan periods which are given at various stages in the draft Local Plan. The introduction section in Local Plan paragraph 1.2 states that the Local Plan is for the period 2013 - 2033 however within the Spatial Vision and paragraph 3.1, the plan is stated to cover the period to 2034 and this is the time period upon which the housing requirement is based. The plan period therefore needs clarification and is required to be clearly shown. There is no justification for the period to have been extended by a further year as most Local Plans should cover a twenty year period. Therefore, the plan period should cover the period 2013-2033 and this should be clearly shown. We would also advise that the plan period is shown on the front page of the Local Plan document to make this clear.

Overall Dwelling Provision

The reduced scale of dwelling provision and the revisions to the rate of delivery of new homes in the Borough (with higher rates anticipated later in the plan period), are concerning, particularly given the acknowledged shortfall in the rate of dwelling provision in recent past.

While it is acknowledged that this is designed to account for the provision of infrastructure in advance of new housing on larger sites coming forward, this does not afford recognition to the role of unconstrained sites which can provide housing in the initial years of the new Local Plan. The reliance on a higher rate of dwelling provision in later years rather than an annualised average of 654 dwellings per annum does not incentivise new residential development in the immediate future when it is most needed, not only to provide for established housing needs, but to address the substantial shortfall in dwelling provision in recent years against a much lower target. The extent of this shortfall is well established (hence the need to account for 20% buffer when monitoring delivery against a Five Year Housing Land Supply. Table 1 below highlights this over a 10 year period using figures obtained from Annual Monitoring Reports/Authorities Monitoring Reports.

2. The use of Green belt land for development is unsustainable and unnecessary.

3. Insufficient emphasis has been placed on cycling and walking strategies throughout the borough.

4. No reference has been made to the provision of student accommodation on University of Surrey campus - for which they have permission and have failed to build. This would relieve pressure on housing in the town.

5. Insufficient thought has been given to higher density accommodation on brownfield sites in the town.

6. The plan is illogical in saying there is a need to relieve traffic congestion but suggesting 65,000 sqm of retail space is needed - generating significant traffic movements. This space could be used for housing which generates less traffic.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?
Answer: (Yes)

There is a presumption in the plan that this will improve the quality of life of the local population. Given that the plan will lead to local overcrowding, a lack of adequate health care or education provision, a dilution of local facilities (particularly for children) and most especially a complete breakdown in the transport infrastructure not only of the borough but the surrounding areas, this cannot happen.

The area will be blighted by this plan, and the likely increase in people desiring to locate businesses in the area will not happen, because those businesses will locate in areas with a working transport net and where they can attract the right staff.

If implemented this plan will condemn both the Borough and the county to being part of the greater London conurbation, and the individual character of the county and this town will be lost forever. Those proposing this should recognise the damage they are about to inflict on their local community.

I object to the removal of Horsley from the green belt as this will be detrimental to residents' quality of life. Open spaces are important for health and well being. It is unacceptable for our villages to become part of the urban sprawl.

I object to the plan due to the lack of infrastructure in this area. Our schools are already over subscribed, the medical centre does not appear to have any more capacity (rooms for medical staff, parking etc) and our roads are already inadequate - they are narrow in places, with poor drainage and poor surfaces. The traffic is also heavy at peak times. The area already floods at times and more development will just make that worse.

I object to and disagree with the numbers of houses needed. I believe the approval of sensible very small scale developments and renovation of existing unused properties would be adequate for the needs of the village.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for members of the public.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?
It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leave some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

Brownfield

Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land.In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief.Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space.GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years.GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership.We do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes.

I do not support the increased development of the Green Belt, as it exists in and around Surrey, to this level in proposed in the Plan documents. Specifically but not only, I object to the following areas of development (generally and not specifically);

Ockham / Wisley Airfield - I object to the imposition of a new village development of this scale and the corroborating assumptions. This is based on a number of factors, including but not restricted to transport, amenity, retail, schooling, environmental, density, local roads, impact on current services and villages. The local roads are insufficient to cope with increased residential and delivery traffic - the assumption that the population will travel by bike hire scheme to use the local trains is laughable - the impact on demand for local services and clubs deleterious to current provision (current residents are on waiting lists - what happens when 4-5000 more people land...?) - this will be the start of the in-fill of the land between all the villages (Ockham, Horsleys, Effingham) with a loss of amenity, environment, local character and the increase in pollution, waste, traffic, nuisance, inconvenience, urbanisation and irretrievable loss of Green Belt

Development in The Horsleys - I object to the significant number and increased provision of sites for medium / large scale housing projects in an around The Horsleys. There is insufficient capacity to absorb new developments in the area and it should not be acceptable for mass housing to be imposed in an area where public opinion is against it. The Horsleys are not a large metropolitan area, they do not have the services of a town or Cranleigh-size village and nor do they want them; by continuing to encourage concentration and development in and around these villages, the Council is agglomerating Effingham, The Horsleys, Bookham. Fetcham, Ockham into an homogenous residential area attached to Leatherhead, destroying the character of the Green Belt and passing the point of no return, by which time any control or restrictions on development are futile and the area becomes a suburban ribbon from London and Leatherhead / Guildford

I am opposed to the Local Plan

See reports attached.
I am representing St Mary’s Church, West Horsley, which has two adjacent properties at 80 East lane, West Horsley, KT24 6LQ.

These are St Mary’s Daughter Church, which you will see from Surrey Interactive has an ‘L’ shaped plot, and the adjacent Rectory (which itself borders farmland on its other side). (The two plots can also be seen on Site Allocation/Policy A41 and the map on Page 218 Of the Proposed new Local Plan.

For some while the Church has had internal discussions regarding ways to improve its facilities and planning for the future has become increasingly important as the Church grows and the influx of new residents into ‘The Horsley’s’ is set to significantly increase. So far, we have not reached any firm conclusions as to what we would like to do, but some form of improvement or redevelopment of the East Lane facilities is still high on our agenda for consideration. If any subsequent proposals required planning or any other consents, then all normal procedures would be followed.

For the time being however, we would be most grateful for your clarification and help. If you take the two properties together, they form a sizeable, almost square plot made up of the Rectory bounded on two sides by the ‘L’ shaped land upon which the Daughter Church sits. However, we have recently viewed a map which shows the new Settlement Boundary as part of the new Local Plan and it would appear that the bottom half of the Daughter Church land (i.e. the portion that runs along the back of both the Daughter Church and the adjacent Rectory) seems to be outside the proposed new Settlement Boundary. If this is the case, it could very significantly restrict our ideas in terms of improving the Church’s facilities; which of course are not only important for the Church members, but also the local community as a whole.

We would really appreciate it if you could look into this for us and confirm whether this is the case or not. If we are correct, then we would like to formally request as part of this consultation process please that this portion of our land is brought within the new proposed Settlement Boundary. If there is then a formal application process that we need to embark upon to achieve this, then please advise us and we would be pleased to follow your procedures.

Thank you

The plan is not thoroughly thought through!!

As it is it will cause even more gridlock.

The bus station & railway station must be brought together to create a transport hub. Railway station can't move therefore the bus station needs to be at the railway station.

Compulsory purchase the Casino nightclub & surrounding buildings. Build a pedestrian only walkway from the rail station/new bus station parallel to Bridge Street through the current Casino nightclub up a ramp into a new Friary shopping centre. The clubs on Bridge street close their Bridge street doors & open out onto the new walkway. During the day this could have outside tables & chairs outside restaurants and make more use of the river.

Expand the Friary to include a new Debenhams & John Lewis where the What Not Antiques/Bojangles/Old Post Office used to be. Demolish the current Debenhams and build restaurants making more use of the river.

Use brown field sites not green field for more housing! More housing along the A3 will cause far more congestion. Tunnel under Guildford for A3 is now needed. Plus being able to get on & off both ways at Burpham & Dennis roundabout. This will stop the needless flow of traffic along Ladymead, Parkway & Burpham. At Burpham the link road to Slyfield MUST happen.

Unused office space on London Road & Epsom road should be converted to housing or flats with sufficient parking.

I'm just stating the obvious to any Guildford resident.

I object to any new building on GreenBelt land.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?

Answer: (Yes)

The following comments are submitted on behalf of our client, Waitrose Ltd, in respect of 'Question 7: Any other comments'.

There are various references in the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites document to the delivery of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor (including in the Spatial Vision, at Policy I3 and in respect of a number of the proposed site allocations). As part of this Sustainable Movement Corridor, the Infrastructure Schedule at Appendix C sets out various alterations and closure of roads within Guildford Town Centre as part of the Guildford Town Centre Transport Package (Ref: LRN1).

Our client, Waitrose Ltd, has recently opened a food store in Guildford. The store is located on the northern edge of the town centre, within close proximity of the primary shopping area. Waitrose would like to take this opportunity to highlight the importance of ensuring that the proposed transport strategy referred to in the Plan does not in any way deter car-borne shoppers from using the new Waitrose foodstore. Any alterations to the existing road layout in Guildford which make the store less attractive to shoppers could adversely affect the viability of the store – particularly as the store is less than a year old and is therefore yet to become fully established.

In approving planning permission for the store, the Council recognised the ‘great potential’ it has for facilitating linked trips to other town centre facilities. The new Waitrose store therefore plays a vital anchor role in supporting the vitality and viability of the wider town centre. The proposed Guildford Town Centre Transport Package should not undermine this role by making the store less attractive to those visiting the site by car as this may in turn harm the health of Guildford town centre.

We are living in Cobbetthill road and we strongly object against the proposal to build over 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford.

Already at the moment, Cobbetthill road is being used as a shortcut - cars are continuously speeding and this will increase dramatically if the build of proposed 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford goes ahead.

Furthermore, the bottom of Cobbetthill road is at times subject to flooding - which also affects the already busy traffic. Again in case the build of proposed 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford goes ahead the traffic will be horrendous.
I very much welcome a public consultation on the Local Plan - I understand not all local authorities undertake such a consultation and I am aware that often when public bodies consult the public there is a problem with inclusivity so my comment here is not a criticism of Guildford Borough but a very strong suggestion for the next Local Plan or even for this one if it can be delayed to allow the change I suggest to be incorported, as follows. A consultation should be a meaningful one in that it is equally accessible to all people in the public. The (understandable) complexity of the Plan documentation and the feedback method requiring free text typing will inevitably discourage many from participating. A very simple executive summary of what the Plan is (and one for each section too) with an even simpler listing of key actions (which are those considered to be ones that the public may have differences of opinion on) which can be given drop-down menus for options from which members of the public can chose their preferred approach. More participation can be encouraged by way of a welcoming, user-friendly front page signposting a click to the summaries and the key actions options perhaps contained in a simple (perhaps 20 minutes) questionnaire which could be so simple it could lend itself to being advertised elsewhere too (e.g. Surrey Advertiser). One very simple illustration of the uncertainty of the current version of the consultation is that, while saving the comments (including this one), an individual is left feeling the response may not be what is of interest to the surveyor, may not be given due consideration and, further, he/she may even be uncertain if he/she has particpated in the consultation at all without a 'submit' button. In order for a public consultation to be a true, wide-reaching and hence democratic consultation, it should be based on such simple questions and potential (defined) responses that the respondent will know that his/her repsonse has been entered/received, understood and will be given the appropriate (equal) weight as others.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

Attached documents:
I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

The Foreword to the plan by Paul Spooner includes on page 5:

"We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the borough. The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan".

The lack of any plan for either physical or green infrastructure improvement clearly contradicts this in respect of both A43 Garlicks Arch and A42 Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Development of these sites without the contingent infrastructure would therefore be contrary to the stated aims and themes of the Plan, and should not go ahead.

Attached documents:
that will go ahead unchecked if we do not collectively oppose the local plan. How can this possibly be a democratic process when GBC have fundamentally failed in their duty to fully consult the residents of the borough?

I object to the GBC aspirations to grow Guildford into a substantially more urban sprawl environment with no regard for the beautiful landscape and historical environment so cherished by people far and wide.

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly as it is not representative of how the majority of residents in the Borough wish to see their community develop over the next 15 years.

Ninthly I object to the whole 2016 Local Plan since firstly the consultation process is undemocratic, secondly because much of the information is inaccurate or misleading, thirdly most of the plan has been shown to be unsustainable with inadequate addressing of the infrastructure needs, fourthly no convincing argument for “exceptional circumstances” has been made to wreck the Green Belt which is a vital feature of our Borough.

In conclusion I urge the GBC to rethink the Local Plan so that it respects the views of local residents and listens carefully to their views.

I object to the limited consultation period, especially as it is during a time when many people have organised their holidays etc.

I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 weeks notice, leaving people very little time or no time at all to even address their concerns. Most people have hectic lives and this must be taken into consideration in local plans.

In conclusion, I ask GBC to revise the housing number, and to amend the Local Plan to utilise brownfield/previously used land rather than green field sites – of which there are significant amounts of the former within the Borough.

I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

I feel that common sense has not prevailed in this plan. A fortune has been spent on expensive consultants - yet the plan is aspirational, muddled and uses the Green Belt as a rule not an exception. The answers to plan are already in front of us, yet ignored. Use all the brown field sites (and there are more than enough) support SMES as our government dictates and build lots of smaller developments, which lessens traffic burden and spreads the housing load across the borough (not 50% within a 5 mile radius), make the University provide its own accommodation on its land and consult with the community in bite size chunks - not with an overwhelming document that is too difficult for people to understand. Make the plan fair, just and reasonable so that the communities are not being compromised and our green belt is not being eroded.

Instead plan for houses that are needed, gradually, in the right areas with a considered and reasoned approach – joined up thinking is lacking in the rush to produce an aspirational plan that frankly impresses no one, in fact the money wasted on this is beyond comprehension.

Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavor in order to protect the Green Belt.

Therefore WHY is this Revised Local Plan Unsound?

The Plan will not deliver sustainable development in accordance with the policies of the Framework. Rather it will lead to serious degradation of the rural environment, erosion and piecemeal development of vital Green Belt land, harm to heritage assets, intensification of use and urbanisation and access to new development principally by motor car, leading to congestion or upgrading of rural roads at the expense of rural character. The effect on existing and future residential communities will be diminution in social cohesion, reduced quality of life and substantial harm to the amenity. The overall housing land requirement in Policy S2 and the Proposed Delivery of housing in Table 1 of the Plan, as well as individual allocations in the Plan considered above, are not founded on a robust and credible evidence base. The planned 30% oversupply of housing sites will make monitoring impossible and will lead to a de facto housing requirement which significantly exceeds the OAN. Furthermore vital evidence is missing in parts.

Residents wish to register concern and disappointment at the poorly judged decision to produce, promote and spend public money on a film to represent the views of “some residents”. A number of those “residents” represent institutions that have interests in proposed development that were not declared. There was no attempt to achieve balance. The film was inconsistent with the fair approach proposed in the Statement of Community Engagement. Use of the video on the Local Plan homepage could bias the Regulation 19 consultation. The suggestion that housing proposed will make a material difference to affordability or that congestion will be solved by development is to be tested. Indeed, the traffic evidence was not available when the video was produced and some of the data needed to assess congestion is not yet available.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan

Over Arching Concerns

In 2014 I assisted my Mother in responding to the consultation on the ‘Draft Local Plan.’ She was then a resident of West Clandon. She has now moved to Burpham. My wife and I have recently moved to West Clandon in her stead. My mother had asked me to assist her in responding to your lengthy and overtly excessive public consultation, as I have recent experience as a Borough Councillor and Chair of Planning in a neighbouring Borough Council in Surrey.

As part of my role there I introduced and piloted the Core Strategy, as we chose to call it, in 2011. We were the second LPA in the Country to submit our plan to the Secretary of State. At the time GBC were entirely non-reactive to the requirement imposed by the former government to find 260,000 further homes in the South East. After virtually all the LPAs in the South East had submitted Local Plans, Core Strategies, call them what you will, to the Secretary of State under the original requirements, GBC had still failed to do anything of note. Certainly there had been no consultation, no draft plan of any sort and little if any effort made to sensibly engage with the need to release brown field sites for the provision of new housing quotas.

When, in 2014 you went out to consultation it was abundantly clear you did so in a rush and at a time when even the most myopic of LPAs could see Central Government shifting goalposts swiftly and with the NPPF constantly being amended and updated. The Case Law gave further pause for considerable thought, and yet GBC ploughed on with a Local Plan that was very clearly ill thought out and a knee jerk reaction following a prolonged period of total inactivity by GBC as the LPA. To put it in the words of a property developer I know well “GBC panicked and threw the marbles on the map. Wherever they landed they whacked in another 1000 houses to the SHLAA.”

As charitable as I have tried to be in my assessment of what has happened with the Planning Department at GBC, conscious as I am of the lack of resource available to Local Authorities, particularly second tier authorities in Surrey in light of recent news, I come to the inescapable conclusion that massive mismanagement is at the heart of the issues GBC now has with fulfilling the updated new homes requirements of Central Government.

Some might consider that pausing and critically assessing why GBC is in the situation it is in would be both sensible and necessary to avoid making the same mistakes. Unfortunately I see nothing save for a further ill-conceived head long rush to release previously unbuilt land and relinquish yet more green belt in an effort to meet a target you have taken almost no sensible approach in meeting.

There are significant brown field sites within GBC, there remain significant areas within the existing development curtailage. Yet there seems to be no intention of making those sites work for GBC and the Residents of GBC in meeting targets.

The inescapable conclusion is that by its own irrational mismanagement in the first place GBC has found itself unable and unwilling to devote the necessary time and decision making to coming to a sensible and proportionate approach to the Local Plan to 2027.

I am conscious of the significant governance issues that have dogged your Planning department for a number of years and have every sympathy with those who now have to cope with the mess left by others. However, it seems clear to me that whatever the outcome of the hastily and ill timed original consultation, the refusal to accept the information gathered therein and the re-arranging of an equally ill-thought through consultation process and amended Local Plan this time is highly susceptible to challenge via Judicial Review, a costly and unwelcome process as we all know.

I am deeply troubled to think that my Local taxing authority will be marching headlong into the kind of behaviours that are likely to lead to extremely significant costs in the Administrative Court and possibly beyond. It is ultimately tax payers money that will fund such litigation. I am deeply troubled by how those charged with gathering and protecting our collective revenue are behaving in such a way as to put at significant risk not only our environment both built and natural, but also our money.

I accept that the requirements of Central Government are likely to lead to the need to release some green belt, but I fail to see how the wholesale release of huge tracts of GBC is either proportionate, necessary or in planning terms preserving the green corridors and open spaces which characterise not only GBC but Surrey as a whole.

The very significant and well considered objections formulated by residents both in West Clandon and beyond are set out below, as I am sure you are aware.

For completeness I endorse all those concerns set out below and adopt them as my own views and objections.

The Council seems to have completely ignored the objections of Horsley residents to the previous local plan as virtually no account has been taken of these in the current draft plan. The planners appear to be preoccupied with what is legal and compliant (i.e. what they can get away with) rather than the interests and welfare of the people who currently live in the Horsleys or who will live there in the future. I am not objecting to having some increases in housing in the area, but the numbers must be more realistic and appropriate infrastructure must be in place to support the additional number of householders. I suggest that the Council:

1. Reduce the number of new houses to be built in the Horsleys by 45%
2. Include infrastructure planning in the local plan
3. Require all developers building new houses to contribute a substantial levy towards infrastructure development or to physically build schools, medical centres, car parks etc at their own expense. (This is commonplace in countries such as Singapore, Dubai and Abu Dhabi and would cost the Council nothing).

This government was voted in by the electorate on a mandate of trust. They have not been elected to carry out projects such as this which is a complete betrayal of the trust placed on them.

In simple terms this plan is a hastily presented “plan” more a collective dump of ideas with little wider consideration for people and future generations, the very opposite essence which you claim are the reasons for the plan.

Thank you for registering these objections.

I object to a Plan which has been generated in conjunction with developers who are seeking to line their pockets with no regard for the historic planning restrictions which have served the Community so well for so many years.

The real reason all these developers want to build round here is the return they get for their money. I object to any further erosion of our green belt to line the pockets of these money makers.

I understand that development is needed and housing needs to be increased. However this needs to be done in a considered way that takes account of current communities, the environment, the sustainability of development and reflects the nature of the area. The proposed Local Plan does none of these. The last minute amendment of the plan to include the Garlick’s Arch area is the most prominent of these. It is imperative that the local plan is reassessed.

I understand that development is needed and housing needs to be increased. However this needs to be done in a considered way that takes account of current communities, the environment, the sustainability of development and reflects the nature of the area. The proposed Local Plan does none of these. The last minute amendment of the plan to include the Garlick’s Arch area is the most prominent of these. It is imperative that the local plan is reassessed.

Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?

Answer: ()

Inaccuracy of the documentation: There are factual errors in the documentation

- Highways England have recommended that the proposal cannot be determined due to the applicants failure to provide traffic data in the format required
- There are a number of misrepresentations in the paperwork e.g. nine stations within 5 miles – this is however “as the crow flies” – only Horsley and Effingham Junction are within 5 miles by usable road from the middle of the development
- The applicant’s description of the site as brownfield is a gross over-simplification. 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remaining runway, a habitat for rare flora and fauna, (14ha) has never had buildings. The remainder of the site (55%) is high quality agricultural land.

Other: This site is not deliverable within 5 years due to problems with sewerage and water capacity, outlined by Thames Water & the OCK DVOR air traffic control beacon which limits development until 2022

  - No very special or exceptional circumstances exist - Alternative sites exist
  - The proposal includes the site SCC safeguarded for waste under the Surrey Waste Plan
  - The site is not listed for development under the existing 2003 Local Plan
  - There is not enough land to provide a sustainable community based on GBC’s own parameters
  - There is no update at all to the Heritage study despite the significant Bronze Age haul found in Ockham village in May 2013 and the likelihood of further remains on the site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?

Answer: ()

Housing figures

The RSPB is using this question to highlight points that we have observed in our reading of the documents, but do not wish to raise formal objections to.

There appear to be inconsistencies in the presentation of housing numbers throughout the document. The Spatial Vision (p19) and Strategic Policy S2 “Borough Wide Strategy” both refer to the delivery of “13,860 additional houses by 2033”. In para 4.1.12 under policy S2, the text states “Table 1 shows a number of new homes that is greater than the figure in the policy”, but in fact the total in the table adds up to only 13,652, a figure 208 short of that specified in the policy. In addition, the detailed sites Table set out at pages 123-126 adds up to only 12,698 (1,162 short of the Strategic figure), even though it includes a windfall allowance of 625 houses over years 1-15 of the Plan. It is not clear why the figures are different.

Given the importance of this issue to the overall plan we request that the Council provides a brief statement clarifying where amendments to the documentation need to be made to ensure consistency. Alternatively a clear statement needs to be made to explain why the figures provided in the document are different.
Monitoring indicators

The RSPB notes the proposal to rely upon the “Amount of new SANG provided or funded” as a monitoring indicator, but considers that the sole proposed data source “Planning applications” does not provide sufficient detail to ensure that the mitigation is being delivered in a suitable manner. For the SANG regime to operate effectively it is essential that new SANG is delivered close to the new houses that are being built, and before the new houses are completed, so that they can influence the recreation habits of new residents. It is also essential that the quantum of SANG delivery matches (or exceeds) the rate of construction of houses – the mitigation cannot be considered to be properly delivered if there is a shortfall in its supply at any point.

As highlighted in the previous paragraph, a key element of the mitigation package is ensuring that mitigation is being delivered near to the new houses that are being built. The planning application information shows where houses are being consented, but it does not indicate where they are actually being delivered. The Council will need to select an alternative indicator to provide this information, but as it is responsible for administering all SANG funds gathered through section 106 agreements and through future CIL receipts it should be possible for it to use information about the income from developers and the expenditure from these funding sources to ensure that the appropriate amount of SANG is being delivered in the right locations at the right time.

In Box 1 (page 6), the reference to regulation 61(1) of the Conservation of Habitats and Species Regulations 2010 (as amended) should be changed to regulation 102(1) of the same regulations, which specifically covers the assessment of Local Plans.

In summary I am extremely disappointed that such a ghastly proposal is being considered and I am very strongly opposed to any consideration of further developments or reduction in green spaces in and around our beautiful villages and surrounding areas. Given the severe impact that this proposal will have on me and the quality of my living in my community, the outcome of this proposal will weigh very heavily on me.

I appeal and urge you to reject these development proposals to save, retain and maintain our irreplaceable communities and beautiful greenbelt for us and future generations.

I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:
i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and
ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents’ groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of ‘double speak’ has led to absurdities such as ‘affordable housing’ which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; ‘safeguarding’ which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

I write with respect to the 2016 Draft Local plan, being a Guildford Borough resident living in Burpham.

In summary I find it in general unsound, and only aspirational in some critical aspects. Being over 1800 pages of high level prose, it is impossible for any resident to comment on fully. In some areas it is in white text on coloured background, making it even difficult to read. As such, as a "plan" for residents comment, about the future development of their borough, it is not really even fit for purpose.

The housing provision proposed in the plan should take account of the latest nationally based household projections and the housing provision proposed in Policy S2 for the plan period (2013-2033) should be increased to a minimum of 17,000 new homes. Provision for the additional new homes should be based on a strategic review of the policy constraints around Guildford.

Such a review should take account in particular travel distances to the town centre and other strategic employment locations.

In my opinion, this is an extensive plan which deserves a concise review by some form of qualified panel which is not funded by the Council; thereby giving a reasonable opportunity to rebut, in a qualified/expert manner, many of the assumptions made in the plan, including the references to the various guidelines/regulations/etc. However, as a resident of over 30 years, and with a family I have brought up here, I do feel able to comment albeit on just a few specific points.

COMMENT: In order to be considered Framework compliant and therefore sound, more detail is required regarding each of the proposed allocations. In particular the Plan needs to clearly identify key sites which are critical to the delivery of the housing strategy over the plan period; identify which sites (or parts of sites) are considered deliverable and necessary to maintain a 5 year supply from the base date of 2018 and which are considered to be specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15.

I have lived in Woking for the past 30 plus years and enjoy visiting all the areas named. I find the proposed local plan extremely unwelcome to this area.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan as a whole and in particular I object to the specific issues (listed below). I believe that this deeply flawed Local Plan will have a direct and detrimental effect on the amenity currently enjoyed by my family and other residents of East Clandon and to the even greater detriment to our neighbouring villages of West Clandon, Ripley, West and East Horsley. It erodes the openness of the Green Belt and endangers the beauty and views in and out of the Surrey Hills AONB.

Attached documents:

The Local Plan needs also to take into account the impact of leaving the EU, which at this stage is difficult to assess. It should therefore be put on hold until this process is fully resolved. In the meantime, development should be contained to existing town and brown-field sites, where it is lawful and appropriate. Councillors and other elected representatives at all levels need to look to the long term future and must conduct themselves with honesty and integrity for those they represent.

Attached documents:

The previous draft local plan was withdrawn after generating widespread local opposition. Mole Valley MP Sir Paul Beresford observed:

“This catalogue of errors and omissions has led to a situation in which the Local Plan as presented has no detectable support from Guildford residents and has managed only to anger and worry so many of those who stand to lose the unique and valuable rural village lifestyle they currently enjoy in the Mole Valley Wards of Guildford Borough”.

Sir Paul’s commentary applies to the revised plan.

I object to this new or second Draft Local Plan (as Sir Paul anticipated it) because Guildford Borough Council still has not recognised local feeling and opinion in formulating it. I object to the failure to consult in any responsible way and to the approach taken for all of the reasons recited by Sir Paul which seem to have been ignored in compiling the new or second Draft Local Plan.

Conclusion

Once development takes place on land, the change to the nature of an area is irreversible. Many appropriate non-Green Belt sites available within the borough which may be available for development and a number of these candidate sites are in public ownership: in order to comply with the NPPF and to ensure that GBC is able to optimise its cash position other candidate sites (particularly those within GBC or other public sector ownership) should be fully developed before any review of the Green Belt is undertaken.

GBC’s work to date seems to take little account of the impact central planning decisions will take. For example, given GBC’s ambitions for economic development do not give consideration to both the ultimate decisions regarding new airport capacity locally, nor the desire of the majority of the population (as reflected in the 23 July vote) which is likely to place significant curbs on population growth of economically active people.

Furthermore, GBC now needs to re-work its statistics following the decision made by the rest of the country (not the GBC residents) to seek to leave the European Union. We must expect that our politicians are going to reduce population growth, with a resulting easing of the pressure for new housing supply.

I am writing in regard to your scandalous plans to uproot and destroy the place that I have called home for 38 years. The changes to the local community should your plans take effect will quite simply be catastrophic for every resident who presently resides within the local area. It is true that real estate in Surrey seems to come at a premium these days, but that's because it's a nice place to live and is in a commutable distance of London. But the answer to the housing crisis is not to dig up the countryside and spoil the local area. The answer in my opinion is to encourage business to move from the South-East to other areas of the country where communities are crying out for commerce. Frankly the proposed changes lead me to wonder who exactly elected you lot to take office in the first place given that every one of the following points is so remotely dumbfounding its almost comical we are forced to write in and share our dissatisfaction with what you intend to create.

I mentioned how comical this whole plan is earlier. In many ways its like "the Goonies" revisited. We have the evil developers (that would be you lot), we have our group of Goonies (that would be everyone writing in objection to these plans) all were lacking is a Pirate Ship and a hit track by Cyndi Lauper. I just hope that like those fictional characters in that classic 80's movie our spirited rebuttal to your plans is good enough to see off the impending calamity that your so called local plan will impose.

In short your local draft plan is A VERY BAD IDEA. Hopefully this message will give you the clarity to wake up and do the right thing. LISTEN to your local community, common sense would suggest that we can't all be wrong.

I request that my comments are shown to the planning inspector and would appreciate confirmation that this communication has been received.

Finally, I object to the above matters not even being addressed in the plan and so showing a complete disregard for the long term well being of existing residents and rates payers who deserve far greater respect than GBC has shown them.

Answer: ()

In the view of the GGG committee it is not sound. The changes do not take account of previous objections including the 32,000 other valid objections that are shown on the GBC website as made to the previous 2016 version. In terms of appraisal of the Local Plan it is vital that those objections are fully regarded, since many have not been taken on board.

As requested, this response reflects only comments on changes to the previous draft; both in terms of new text and also comments on deletions which lack acceptable justification. This is as a result of a specific instruction as given by the GBC Executive that only comments on changes will be acceptable. As a result, GGG requests confirmation that all of the objections to changes made below will be put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 local plan 2017 and also that all the previous objections to the 2016 draft plan made by GGG will be placed before the inspector and that when objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued before it is submitted to the Inspector.

Guildford is a constrained borough. 89% of its area is zoned as permanent Green Belt. The road network is already at capacity. We are concerned that GBC have adopted a lower but still grossly inflated OAN of 12,426 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. Approximately 70% of the new development proposed in this plan is in the permanent Green Belt.

In the latest plan only 1,300 homes are going to be built in Guildford town which is some 10% of the total development proposed. It is very disappointing that GBC fail to set higher densities for the urban area and have in this latest draft deleted all reference to “density for development” which is normally an integral part of forward planning and development control.

GBC still fail to acknowledge that the application of constraints to housing need in respect of the Green Belt is a sensible and practical approach to development within the borough and is not only what they have done in the past in previous plans but is also what its neighbouring local planning authorities have done.

The current scale of the housing number proposed in this plan, which is based on a flawed SHMA, inevitably increases the onus for the plan to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number of 4,000 homes, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

It appears that GBC have still failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents.

In the opinion of the GGG committee much of the updated local plan still appears out of date. Current trends in terms of property development such as the marked decline in town centre shopping centres and the need to create modal shift by developing residential uses close to transport hubs appear to have been overlooked.

Unsupported assertions that there is real demand for the expansion of retail, industrial or office space lack credibility especially in the absence of significant planned expansion of residential development in the town centre which is universally acknowledged as a key stimulant for urban economic health. There would appear to be two worrying examples where GBC are taking the role of “developer/landowner” rather than “independent not for profit public sector planner” in so far that they have a pre-determined agenda for building on the Green Belt rather than acting as careful, professional and responsible planner guardians.

Example 1: Policy A43 Garlicks Arch Burnt Common. The stated, albeit unproven, need by GBC is 400 homes. Normal residential density is 30 homes per ha. Land required would therefore be 13 ha. Land actually proposed to be allocated is 28.9 ha. This is more than double land required in beautiful irreplaceable Green Belt.

Example 2: Burnt Common Policy A 53. The stated, albeit unproven need, is 7,000 sq m B1c, B2 and B8 development. Normal density 50% plot ratio. Land required 1.4 ha. Land allocated 9.26 ha. This is more than six and half times more land than necessary in valuable Green Belt which the planners should be looking after.

Attached documents:
1. Despite GBC’s claims to the contrary, the Local Plan has failed in a number of key areas to take into account or to answer many valid comments and criticisms submitted by thousands of residents and organisations in respect of e.g. the 2013 Draft Local Plan. This is unacceptable, and raises questions of governance and vested interests.

Attached documents:

I am objecting to changes in the plan as follows:

The site A43 Garlicks Arch would constitute a massive incursion on greenbelt land, made even worse by the increase to 400+ houses and would be extremely harmful or indeed destroy the nature of the rural villages of Ripley, Ockham and Send, causing them to coalesce into a conurbation.

The inclusion of 6 industrial sites/plots for storage of heavy machinery associated with travelling show people is entirely inappropriate. There is no indication of a need within the local plan or a need historically in the local area. Moreover, the scale of such a site would be indicated by a development of up to 1999 homes, which this plan does not propose.

The development of an industrial area gives no indication of the industries referred to (on the site A58 at Burnt Common). This is clearly a speculative plan to change the greenbelt into an industrial area and little detail is given for the justification for this, meaning it cannot be considered to be covered by a full consultation.

In addition, a Waste Management site is partially concealed within the A58 Burnt Common site in policy 4.4.23a and no proper consultation is indicated here either.

There is an increase of house numbers from 45 to 60 in an already unwelcome development at Tannery Lane, which will inevitably cause even more congestion in a sensitive and congested transport network around Ripley.

Overall, this Local Plan as suggested for Ripley and surrounds constitutes a grandiose and unwelcome development which impacts severely on a rural area, and these changes make it worse.

Apart from the over exaggeration and estimate of housing units required (12,426 homes are not justified even for an over estimated 20,000 extra residents as this would assume many 1 bed flats and not 1,000's of 3/4 bed homes).
The combination of site A25 Gosden Hill encroaching higher up the A3 in the last plan and the introduction of A43/A43a Garlicks Arch in Send completely destroys the very essence of the Green Belt reasoning to stop urbanisation and the joining of distinct town/village boundaries. Effectively the plan as it stands destroys the Green belt protection zone between Guildford/Burpham and the villages of Send and West Clandon effectively become part of Guildford in a very visual way. This is over-development of the Golden Hill site which should be scaled back significantly leaving more green belt land between it and the villages north of it, any A3 north/south access should be at Gosden Hill/Burpham interchange along with any Slyfield redevelopment of the access to the A3 and Garlick's Arch should be removed from the plan completely along with any plans to turn the A247 Clandon Road junction into a north/south junction which would significantly increase the traffic flow through the villages of West Clandon/Send and Ripley and more accidents at the accident hot spot connecting to the A3.

Over development of A25 and A43(a) completely go against the principle of the green belt policy to stop urbanisation and connecting of surrounding villages into key towns.

I am writing on behalf of the Surrey/Hants Borders Branch of CAMRA, the Campaign for Real Ale, in relation to the above consultation.

You will recall that I submitted comments on policies E5, E8 and E9 in response to last year's consultation exercise. I do not consider these comments and suggestions to have been addressed in the latest version of the Plan and I therefore understand that these will be passed onto the Inspector for consideration.

I would however also like to pass comment on the changes you are proposing with respect to Policy E5 and Policy E9. Both Policy E5 and E9 have been amended to provide additional protection against the loss of shops and services and I would ask that consideration is given to extending this change to also include public houses (ie, Class A4). Pubs are essential to the well-being and community cohesion in both rural and urban areas, where facilities are scarce and transport links typically poor. Whole communities often have a single pub to act as the focus of the community; it is essential that they are retained where viable and giving this additional level of protection would help in this regard.

The Local Plan needs also to take into account the impact of leaving the EU, which at this stage is difficult to assess, although it may result in a reduction in the local population if some EU citizens return home. It should therefore be put on hold until this process is fully resolved in 2019.

In the meantime, development should be contained to already available town and brown-field sites, where it is lawful and appropriate. Councillors and other elected representatives at all levels need to look to the long term future, and take into account not just our area, but the overdeveloped south of England as a whole.

REPRESENTATIONS TO GUILDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL'S PROPOSED SUBMISSION LOCAL PLAN JUNE 2017

Berkeley Homes has been working alongside Howard of Effingham School for a number of years to deliver much needed housing and a new school to the area. These sites were allocated for development in the Draft Local Plan 2014 but refused planning permission by Guildford Borough Council in March 2016. Consequently, an appeal was lodged against this decision and a public inquiry was held in May 2017. The suitability of the sites has been demonstrated through the inquiry and accordingly, we believe the sites should be included in the Guildford Local Plan as Site's Allocated for Development - for the provision of a replacement Howard of Effingham School and up to 295 residential dwellings.

Following the recent appeal decision on land at Long Reach for the provision of a Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG), Guildford has the opportunity to release housing sites in that part of the District and allocating the Howard of Effingham / Lodge Farm site would assist in delivering homes in this part of the District, including the provision of much needed affordable housing.

You will be aware that the Local Plan will be tested by the Inspector against the four tests of soundness (National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) para 182), namely that it is positively prepared, justified, effective and consistent with National Policy. We set out below why we are of the view that the Proposed Submission Local Plan does not meet these tests in relation to the Spatial Strategy (Policy S2), Affordable Homes (Policy H2), the Green Belt (Policy P2), and Infrastructure Delivery (Policy ID1).

Conclusion

As a whole, the Proposed Submission Local Plan June 2017 is greatly flawed. The currently proposed phasing of housing and spatial strategy will not deliver Guildford's Objectively Assessed Needs within a reasonable timeframe, if at all. The recently granted SANG at Long Reach also releases housing capacity in this part of the Borough and accordingly, the District wide allocations should be reviewed as a whole to ensure appropriate distribution. The previous Draft Local Plan (2014), substantially based on the same evidence, allocated Howard of Effingham School, Effingham Lodge Farm and Brown's Field (Site Allocation 69) to provide homes and a bigger school. This allocation has been removed but remains an appropriate, deliverable and sustainable means of meeting the Borough's need for new infrastructure and homes. We will continue to seek to work with Guildford Borough Council and Effingham Parish Council to bring forward the delivery of the Effingham sites and are happy to discuss the above points further.

As a resident of Clandon Road, Burnt Common i find it incredible that GBC have failed to listen to the residents of Send and Burnt Common who previously in force have objected to the proposed Local Plan. Instead you seem to have made further changes that result in more development rather than less, failing in the duty of GBC to listen to residents.

It seems that you are simply ‘testing’ the patience of residents by repeatedly making further changes without realising that your proposals are completely unacceptable. It is unjust that you are focussing a disproportionate level of development in and around the Burnt Common and Send compared with our areas of the Borough.

I am writing to object to the latest draft local plan. I note that you are only accepting comments to the changes versus the previous plan, so I would ask you to read my comments below in conjunction with those that I have already written to you about in 2016, when you published the previous set of proposals. I have attached a copy of this letter for your ease of reference.

I have been a resident in Send for over 20 years and have seen how strongly local people feel about the proposed changes to our village. This included raising a large proportion of the objections to the previous plan as well as electing two Borough Councillors who primary objective is to save Send’s Greenbelt status. However, it appears that none of these objections have been taken into account at all. If anything Send seems to have been unfairly penalised for this activity with the inclusion of even more development in the latest version of the plan, making things even worse for our village.

Overall the proposed changes will have a huge detrimental effect, with particular impact on traffic and other facilities, in addition to the removal of the irreplaceable Greenbelt protection that parts of our village enjoy. I have detailed my objections to specific policies below, but having drawn a - somewhat rudimentary- map of all the proposed development the impact of the changes can be seen in their entirety (See attachment) This map does not illustrate the additional impact on traffic and other infrastructure from other proposed developments such as Gosden Hill, which will compound the issues with local roads and other facilities which are struggling to cope with the local population as it is. In addition, there appears to have been minimal effort to development existing brownfield sites in and around Guildford. This is evidenced by recent redevelopment of land such as the old Fire station and the Waitrose in the centre of Town. Both these sites, and many others, could have been used for residential development instead of more retail space, with far less impact on the local infrastructure and none of the Greenbelt.

There also appears to be no proposal to introduce commensurate infrastructure upgrades e.g. medical, educational and transport services to cope with the increased number of residents. Furthermore the proposed Wisley Airfield redevelopment is a step too far.

It is also puzzling that like a lot of other Borough and District Councils in Surrey, the number of new homes proposed in the Guildford Borough Plan well exceeds the numbers required by HM Government.

I am very disappointed to see that despite the massive number of valid objections raised by our villages’ local residents within the 2016 consultation, the Borough Council has deemed it fitting to increase the housing, travelling/showpeople pitches and industrial development allocations in the villages despite a reduction in the borough’s overall target.

With the proposed proposals for 3,700 homes at Gosden Hill Farm and Wisley airfield (Policy A35) in the immediate vicinity and the specific proposals for the villages of Send and Send Marsh/ Burnt Common to accommodate an extra 500 houses, 10 travellers pitches, 7,000+ sq.m of industrial development and slip roads to the A3, I hereby strongly object to every single one of these proposals on the grounds of their severe and adverse environmental (including atmospheric pollution from the increased traffic) impact and the unjustified sacrifice of prime agricultural Green Belt land and historic woodland.

My objections to the amended draft 2017 Guildford draft Local Plan are below. I would like confirmation that the comments below, and those previously submitted, will be passed onto the Inspector.

I would like to make clear I am not anti-housing, nor do I believe in “pushing the problems elsewhere”. I believe GBC have a duty to ensure that every town and village needs to provide housing for local people, proportional to its population, in all urban, rural, Green Belt or AONB areas instead of greatly disliked and, in some cases, totally unsustainable sites.

It is unfortunate that GBC have not taken into consideration the unusually large number of comments (32,000) on the 2016 Local Plan. It would be courageous of GBC to review their housing needs in light of the flawed studies they have used and taken into consideration the consequences of the current Brexit climate and inevitable change in housing need. It would be wonderful to say “I agree” instead of “I object”.

As a whole the 2017 plan fails to follow NFFP para 17 core planning principals and does not ‘contribute to conserving and enhancing the natural environment and reducing pollution’. There are fundamental errors made in requirements for housing and employment based on the source documents e.g. SHMA and ELNA. The data sources do not show empirical evidence for the changes in the UK’s housing and economic status after it leaves then European Union. The UK population has voted to make a significant change to the country’s economy and population and the impact of Brexit on the local area must be accurately evaluated or else the entire basis of the local plan is flawed.

Having previously objected to the original plan I would also like to record my further objection to the draft plan as it has such a detrimental impact on Send/ Ripley and the surrounding areas. What I find astonishing is the complete contempt and disregard for the quality of life shown to the residents of Send and Ripley by Guildford Borough Council (GBC) that will have to suffer in the long term the changes that are being proposed.

The sheer aptitude and lack of compassion by GBC for the existing residents holds no relevance in the ambition of GBC to increase the population particularly of Send by up to 50%. One can only imagine the disastrous impact this would have on the quality of life and of not only the existing residents but if the plan were to go ahead then the quality of life for those moving into the village.

The other main objection I have is to the A3 works at Burnt Common. I’m sure that GBC have already analysed the amount of traffic that passes from West Crandon and through Ripley having exited the A3 as it makes it way east through send along to Old Woking. The road is at over capacity during rush hours as it is and to be honest if Burnt Common become and on and off ramp for the A3 the Send Village will become a carpark not only at rush hour but all through the day. One can only imagine the quality of life for those living along Send Barns Lane and Send Road. The noise and pollution from vehicles would be unbearable and no doubt exceed all pollution levels with diesel and petrol fumes.

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

1. GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

The latest proposed plan is considerably worse than the previous plan and I am very disappointed in GBC and I’m much more critical of the Local Plan proposals.

As residents of Send Marsh, we share the same views of that of our neighbours in Send and Ripley. Every time we are asked for our opinion we make it very clear by way of a massive response that so many of the proposals are ill conceived and impractical to apply in our particular area.

GBC seems to be either unwilling or unable to act upon the feedback and opinion which is so clearly voiced by the residents.

We in Send Marsh have repeatedly expressed our views over the years but clearly no attention is paid to them as evidenced by the fact that despite everything that has been said even more houses are proposed to be built in Send than before plus an additional eight Show people pitches.

The Conservative Manifesto for GBC states:

“Deliver a new Draft Local Plan taking into account constraints, residents’ views and protecting the green belt”.

It would appear that for the villages of Send, Send Marsh and Ripley, GBC are failing on two of these;

Failing to take into account residents’ views

and

Failing to protect the green belt.

This continual disregard of local public opinion is very disappointing and GBC needs to create a significantly better plan than this one for the area we live in.

- four of the original 6 housing development sites remain

- Employment/retail space
- Two schools all remain unchanged after objections to Local Plan 2016

Answer: ()

The present consultation follows the 2016 consultation under regulation 19 of the Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) Regulations 2012. It deals with proposed changes to the 2016 submission local plan. The 2016 submission local plan has not been withdrawn and the current exercise is not a further regulation 19 consultation but an informal exercise into proposed modifications which the Council intend to put before the examining inspector.

The Council decided on 16th May 2017 for ‘such consultation to focus specifically on the proposed changes highlighted in the document’. Accordingly the consultation page on the website https://getinvolved.guildford.gov.uk/consult/ti/pslpss17/consultationHome explains:

“The council is inviting comments about the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 from 12pm (noon) on Friday 9 June to 12pm (noon) Monday 24 July targeted on just the proposed changes to the plan.

After the consultation, the Council will submit the plan for examination by an inspector. Only comments about changes to the plan will be passed on to the inspector from this consultation. The inspector will also receive the comments from the 2016 consultation, so will get the complete picture of comments about the submitted Local Plan.

You can make general comments about the proposed changes to the plan, but the Council is also asking for specific comments relating to legal compliance, soundness and the Duty to cooperate.

Have your say on the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017. You can:

• make general comments about proposed changes to the plan as a whole and supporting documents by completing the online questionnaire below and/or
• make comments about proposed changes to specific sections of the plan by reading the online version of the plan below and by using the comments forms embedded throughout the document” (original emphasis)

The Council report for 16th May 2017 says that ‘comments made to parts of the plan that are unchanged should be considered not duly made’ (para 4.6). The local development scheme and the Council report (para 4.4 to 4.6) refers to this as a ‘targeted Regulation 19 consultation’. That is incorrect. A regulation 19 consultation is on ‘the local plan’ (see regulations 17, 19 and 20) not parts of it which have changed from an earlier regulation 19 consultation.

A number of consequences follow:

• The local plan which is intended to be submitted to the Secretary of State is the 2016 submission local plan;
• The changes proposed in the 2017 document can only be made if:
  • The Inspector finds that the 2016 local plan is unsound;
  • The Council asks the Inspector to recommend modifications to cure the unsoundness; and
  • The Inspector exercises his or her discretion to recommend the changes which the Council have proposed rather than any other changes to make the plan sound;
• The 2017 changes proposed by the Council have the same status as any other changes proposed to remedy unsoundness in the 2016 plan;
• Representations can be made seeking changes which are consequences of or alternatives to the 2017 proposed changes.

The proposed changes

We note that there is no explanation in the 2017 local plan document or the Council report as to why the 2016 plan is unsound, the ways in which it is unsound, why the proposed changes would render the plan sound and why they are the best changes to make. WAG of course consider that the plan is unsound.

Wisley Action Group will take up the entitlement to be heard at the examination on the proposed changes: Procedural Practice in the Examination of Local Plans (June 2016, 4th Edition v.1) paragraph 5.22, footnote 10.

Attached documents:
It is very disappointing that the 2017 version of the Local Plan remains virtually unchanged from the 2016 version despite 32,000 comments from the Borough’s residents being sent in last year. That the revised Plan still relies on inaccurate evidence is concerning, particularly where it distorts estimates of housing needs for the life of the Plan.
