Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

d) Several of the identified sites are on Green Belt land. It is against government and local policy (yours) to build on Green Belt except in extreme circumstances. Delisting the Green Belt status of the village “envelope”, however you define that, is a deceitful way to allow development of land otherwise ineligible for building. No sound reasons have been offered and it seems that the incentive is merely to free up land to circumvent the rules. This policy will cause outrage unless restricted to recognised built-up areas only.

e) Have you exhausted the search for brownfield sites?

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2
Guildford Borough Council Local Plan 2016.

I am once again writing with my comments about the Guildford Borough Council’s Local Plan. Certain issues must be addressed in particular for my local area, East and West Horsley.

a) The proposal to build more than 533 houses is excessive. Combined with proposals to build an enormous number of houses on Wisley Airfield, the locality will be overrun. I understand that this expected expansion of the population far exceeds the forecast rate of expansion in the borough generally. We are being unfairly targeted.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

h) Gradual development of the housing stock in the villages is of course desirable, and most residents will accept that this process will continue. It is the sheer scale of the proposals that are so unacceptable. The process of destroying the Green Belt little by little (large by large?) will in later generations be seen to be unfortunate, insensitive, unnecessary and much to be regretted.

I hope that my letter will be taken as constructive, and those in the villages affected and indeed all residents in the borough can in the end feel that they have had the opportunity to be heard and their views taken into account.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I wish to object to the proposed development of this site being included in the New Local Plan. This site is part of the metropolitan Green Belt and there are no exceptional circumstances to justify such a development. This was one of the 14 grounds of refusal given by Guildford Borough Council to the previous planning application. It would be a breach of the "Green Belt Rules".

The location of the site adjacent to the A3 and M25 junction 10 is totally unsuitable for residential development. There would be extremely poor air quality and pollution from traffic including Nitrous Oxide from two major highways already at capacity. In addition the traffic from 4-500 vehicles from the new town would cause considerable more congestion on both the major roads as well as the local country lanes which surround this site.

There is no infrastructure at this site. All new mains services would need to be established as well as a new large scale sewerage plant. There would be considerable difficulties and costs to achieve such facilities. There would be considerable impact and pressure on the existing limited infrastructure and facilities serving the adjacent Horsley and Effingham areas. The massive increase in population would cause severe difficulties to schools, drainage, doctors surgeries, station parking, access to local shops, wildlife, flooding in places and grid lock on some roads,

It would be difficult to provide a sustainable public transport system from this site given the isolated location, surrounded by country lanes and the problems and delays from the A3 and M25. The reliance on cars from the new town would not be sustainable.

There are also no local employment opportunities in this area. There would be serious impact on access to the RHS Wisley Gardens from the increase in traffic compounding existing access issues due to the proximity of the A3 and M25 interchange.

The recent Brexit decision should reduce the number of new houses required whilst Guildford BC housing projections are unnecessarily well above the national average.

This site should therefore be removed from the New Local Plan as the long term damage and effect will destroy the nature and character of this area and the quality of life for the existing residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to object to Thatchers Hotel being included in the new Local Plan for development of 48 houses.

This proposal creates a density of 12 houses per acre whilst the local density in this area is 4 houses per acre. This would be a considerable over development of the site. It would create a detrimental visual appearance on the eastern entrance to the village against the parkland setting of adjacent Horsley Towers.

The proposed use of the existing access onto Guildford Road will create a hazardous situation with up to 100 cars leaving and entering the site onto the very busy A246 especially at peak times. The location of the access set between 2 dangerous S bends, 3 other roads, a busy petrol station, a pub with car park, some cottages is totally unsuitable and dangerous.
I consider this hotel is a good local amenity providing a number of facilities for local residents to this site including a bar, restaurant, meeting and conference rooms, weddings and accommodation for visitors. This would all be lost including local employment at a time when more housing for Horsley is under consideration.

There is very limited public transport available to this site whilst the train station is a 25-30 min walk and with car spaces generally fully occupied during weekdays.

There are no local job opportunities available for new residents.

A major part of this site is in a Green Belt area and there are no exceptional circumstances to justify a development. A planning application for development of this site with a similar number of houses was recently refused by Guildford BC with good sound reasons.

There is therefore no requirement for this site to be included in the new Local Plan and it should be deleted.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to object to the Horsleys and Effingham being removed from the Green Belt.

The exceptional circumstances that are required before such action is taken have not been met.

Is considerable doubt over the inflated number of new houses proposed. The SHMA target which has been increased by Guildford BC giving a population number of almost 70% higher than official national estimates for population growth in the Borough.

Guildford BC have taken the view that because Horsley has some facilities and infrastructure and met their criteria in their analysis of villages then it must be suitable for residential development.

Guildford BC have failed to realise that the facilities and infrastructure that exist are barely sufficient to support the local population. Local schools are full, medical facilities stretched, inadequate drainage, car parking at 2 railway stations full, limited parking at shops and with no proposals for any improvements.

The new local Plan proposes at least 533 new houses with a possible further 60 to follow.

This would bring about 1,700-1,800 people to the area and 800-900 cars. There are no proposals to increase or provide facilities to meet this demand.

This would be totally unworkable and destroy the whole nature and character of the area. The loss of the Green Belt would allow this development to happen.
The Green Belt was put in place in 1947 to stop urbanisation and London spreading beyond the suburbs. The new Local plan together with development proposals from adjoining areas in an easterly direction will create such a situation and seriously damage the lungs of London.

The removal of Green Belt status from the various villages particularly Horsley and Effingham should not be allowed to happen.

22. APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

23. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
° A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

° The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to

° failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,

° issues with the way it considers students and affordability and

° flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

° It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.
2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition, since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result, any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need, the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to the scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has Thar needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

20. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.
The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data: 2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Hitchcocks Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays Surrey Fire and Rescue

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development. The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

21. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.
The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport.

With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4) It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons run through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

16. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourism. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy. There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF. The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

12. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages... than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

13. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers... under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

9. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.
This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen. Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable. There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

4. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1) The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market. These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints.
It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

20.A. Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites is based on up-to-date evidence.

The evidence base documents contributing to the preparation of the plan are listed in Appendix D and can be found on our website (links open in a new window).

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?
I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

1. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

1. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites- which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.
1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

1. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

1. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

1. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

1. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

1. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

2. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

1. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

2. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

3. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

4. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation

5. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involving these include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

6. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

7. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

8. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

1. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

1. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been
2. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be reassessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.
I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A43
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Normandy and Flexford
I wish to lodge my objection to the planned development of sites 46 & 47 in Normandy as set out in the GBC Local Plan to accommodate 1,100 houses and a secondary school.

I strongly object to the proposed development of this site because there is not a proven case for a need for a secondary school to be sited within Normandy village for the following reasons:

- The surrounding schools which are within the Normandy catchment area are undersubscribed (Kings College is very undersubscribed at 57%, Ash Manor has spaces for an additional 110 places)
- By building a further secondary school within the catchment area will have a detrimental effect on the above schools which are already struggling
- Christs College at Stoughton has the space and capacity to take more than its admission number and has stated that it is willing to do so.
- There is a new Guildford University Technical College due to open in 2018 which will take 240 pupils from the age of 14 years old in its first year.
- It makes no financial sense to build a further secondary school which will struggle to attract enough pupils to warrant the huge expense of staffing – the result will be a financial embarrassment for the Council.
- It is suggested in the Plan that pupils would travel to a school in Normandy by train, in reality this will not happen. This will put a huge amount of pressure on an already fragile road infrastructure and cause huge backlogs of traffic at peak rush hour times.
- The rural lanes which surround the proposed site for the secondary school do not have good lighting in the winter or continuous footpaths or sightline which will be dangerous for children walking to and from the school.
- The area proposed in the Plan for playing fields and recreation are subject to flooding every year and therefore the site is totally unsuitable for the development of a secondary school.

In summary, all the items above point to the fact that the case for a secondary school in Normandy village has not been proven and should be rejected.

At The train station the car park is already full quite often, where would the extra commuters park? Potentially 1200 extra cars in the village? No way

The drains on Ockham road north often get blocked, and back up, there are major problems and another 604 homes in the villages will lead to major problems. The drains have a lot of broken bricks in them I have heard and cannot take any more capacity
All the traffic stopping at glenesk school is a proven bottleneck in the morning. The private schools already generate far too much additional traffic through the village first thing and last thing, building all these extra homes will make it gridlock in the mornings and afternoons.

The Raleigh school is full in northcote crescent, and doesn’t have room for any more classrooms or kids. Any more cars going down there for drop off would cause gridlock.

At The Medical centre East Horsley, parking is already impossible and almost as hard as getting an appointment, it can’t take any more patients in my view and the small road to it cannot take any more cars.

The new plan is very flawed and ill thought through with regards to East and West Horsley in particular, please build at slyford where you have all the room in the world and its near to the employment area of Guildford it has good public transport and brand new schools with room for expansion.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. I objected to that planning application for the very same reasons that I am objecting to its inclusion in the local plan.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd ’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

2. The increased volume of car A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads - there are already significant congestion issues on Old Lane and Effingham Common Road during peak hours - there is no capacity for this level of increase especially when also considering wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

3. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/ A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

4. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity with dangerous parking on the verge of Effingham Common Road already a regular occurrence. It is simply not believable to assert the residents will look to go to other stations in the area given the proximity of Effingham Junction and West Horsley stations.

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/ A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. This is obviously a key concern as a mother of two young children raised and schooled in the area.

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. I support the removal from the plan of site A46, Normandy and Flexford Strategic Site.

I support the removal from the plan of site A47, land in Flexford.

I object that whilst removing A46 & A47 from the current plan, GBC failed to remove sites A49 and A50. Both these sites are tiny and isolated, and are completely surrounded by the green belt. No evidence of exceptional circumstances has been provided. The land of both is classified as highly sensitive green belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the housing number of 693 homes each year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans. Councillor Reeve's recent paper demonstrates that the methodology is fatally flawed and 510 is a better estimate.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

15) Finally, I object to the continued inclusion of a site where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Committee on 61h April 2016 after 14 months of negotiations and apparently unlimited resources, experts and advisors (and various extensions and amendments) on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers. Serious concerns were raised by authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency, as well as SCC and Elmbridge BC.

I ask that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, be removed from the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I object to the assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
- I object to the increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in around 4,000 additional cars on the roads. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas will be exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and lorry movements as well as the current use by wide farm vehicles.
- I object to the danger the proposed increase in traffic will be to local cyclists, pedestrians and horse riders, due to the lack of space to provide cycling paths and pedestrian footpaths. It will also be a danger to the thousands of cyclists from outside the borough who use the area as access to the Surrey Hills.
- I object to the increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with increased visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school would add further congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25.
- I object to the lack of suitable public transport. There is no regular bus service to the local railstations of Effingham Junction and Horsley; these stations cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic, and car parking is already at capacity.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan

I am disappointed that my comments and criticisms submitted in response to the Consultation on the 2013 draft Local Plan, and reflected in many thousands of other responses have not been taken into account.

I am also disappointed in the fundamental flaw in the Proposed Local Plan, that the infrastructure in the Borough is already hopelessly inadequate and will be made impossibly worse by a 25% increase in the population with the attendant increase in traffic.
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

- I object to the removal of The Former Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

11) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (SPA), the Sites of Special Scientific Interest and Special Nature Conservation Interest. We should not destroy the habitat of threatened ground nesting birds like the Skylark and the Nightjar.

12) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction is in excess of statutory levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents as well as the SPA.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing to the North East part of the borough, with no links to Guildford or to local train stations.

I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be swamped by a 2,068 dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five stories high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

13) I object to the loss of high quality agricultural land covering 63 ha which has been farmed for decades and probably centuries. The current crop of maize is a valuable resource for the country.

14) I object to the fact that the proposed plan is completely contrary to the needs and desires of local communities. The Ockham Parish Plan shows the requirements of local residents are access to the countryside and clean air and the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces; the historic features of the village should be maintained and the village's green spaces, including the Former Wisley Airfield, should be protected.

Please confirm that all of these comments together with all my previous comments are passed to the Inspector.

I continue to object to the inclusion of Policy A35, Three Farms Meadows, in the draft Local Plan for many reasons including:

1. It is the least sustainable strategic site in this plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location.
2. It is too far from railway stations.
3. It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junctions in the country (J10).

4. Local roads are at capacity particularly when the A3 is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc)

5. Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded A3 and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.

6. Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe.

7. It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000 per annum.
   o The associated traffic increase from the RHS has not been taken into account.
   o The regular events at the RHS which attract 1000's more visitors several times a year and the resultant traffic has not been taken into account.

8. There is insufficient employment available onsite so that almost all residents will have to travel to work. It is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle on narrow unlit local roads on a regular basis.

9. It remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVOR/DME beacon will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. This constrains the site significantly in terms of building heights etc.

10. I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts another heritage asset, Upton Farm negatively impacting the setting of this building.

11. I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the North Down AONB will adversely impact the views from the AONB.

12. I object to the change in green belt boundary to the eastern end of the site as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact.

13. I object to para 21 which "limits" development in flood zone 2 and 3. Development should be excluded in flood zone 2 and 3.

14. I object to para 22 as this does not reflect the impact of the buildings on the surrounding rural area.

15. I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000's of objections from local residents and statutory consultees.

16. I object to the Proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation

19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.

17. I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents' time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

18. I object to the inclusion of a 10% buffer in the housing number over the plan period. This is unnecessary.

19. I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

20. I object to the transport evidence base which has been criticised for using out of date modelling software and is therefore unreliable.
21. I object to the housing number which I believe is unsound.

I consider for the reasons listed above and other reasons, that this plan is unsound and not fit for purpose.

1. I object to Guildford Borough Council's determination to foist its housing requirements on the villages in its hinterland. When they have had the chance to use brown-field sites within the town boundary they offer them to lobbyists like Waitrose who are 'allowed' to use the bulk of the site as a Car Park!

2. I object to GBC's plan to open access to the proposed Garlick's Arch housing/industrialised site by constructing a huge cloverleaf junction at the A3 and A247 intersection without a comprehensive study of the effects of channelling M25 traffic bound for Woking onto roads totally unsuitable to accommodate it. Joined-up thinking seems to have escaped them when they recently gave planning permission for a new school on that very road when it could have been constructed in a less dangerous position.

3. I object to the 'insetting' of villages like Send in order to accommodate proposals like Clockbarn Nursery. Send is a good example of a 'ribbon' village set in rural Surrey and is distinct from neighbouring towns like Woking for a reason. The continued 'nibbling away' at the surrounding Green Belt like this destroys its character and creates more problems than it solves.

4. I object to the removal of the 'Ewbanks' site from the list of GBC's preferred brown-field sites on the grounds of proximity to Send and the spurious need to comply with the 'merging of settlements' provision. That being the case, then the site at Gosden Hill Farm must also be removed from the plan due to its proximity to Burpham.

1. Burnt Common and Gosden Hill Farm

The former was removed from the previous consultation on the grounds of the 'merging of settlements' provision. If the provision applied to that site then why does it not apply to the Gosden Hill Farm site? A Ewbank's (brown field) site development would constitute a more satisfactory solution for housing than Garlick's Arch, without the need for massive infrastructure changes.

Garlick's Arch Policy A43 I object to this policy on the following grounds:

1. This site was not included in the previous consultation and its inclusion is in contravention of Regulation 18 and is therefore not legally complaint.
2. This is an environmentally sensitive Up to one third contains ancient woodland of exceptional quality which would be in danger from interference.
3. The site is dissected by a stream prone to flooding and is one of the reasons these trees They benefit from the fact that from time to time the surrounding area acts as a flood plain.
4. At present there are three pylons carrying high voltage cables running north/south - hardly the place to position 400 homes!
5. The location is outside the village boundary and therefore cannot be inset.
6. Garlick's Arch has the same Green Belt status as that of land to the south; namely, It simply had the misfortune of being cut off from Clandon due to the construction of the A3. No one would be suggesting that the farmland of Clandon should be 'developed' and that applies equally to the land of Garlick's Arch.

It is not legally compliant since the number of new houses required in Send which was 185 in April 2016 has now increased to 485 without a full consultation and is therefore illegal under regulation 18.

Employment needs figures are out of date, infrastructure requirements have been poorly or not addressed and the environmental sensitivity of the site ignored.

The addition of a new site like this without prior research or consultation is evidence that the council operates on a wing and a prayer agenda ignoring established legal criteria.

The area alongside the A3 and better known as the EWBANKS site which was removed from the 2014 plan on the grounds of the merging of settlement provision should likewise rule out the Gosden Hill site. However the former mentioned site should be reinstated in favour of all others as it is already brownfield in character and would not require the massive infrastructure changes required for the Garlick's Arch development and would probably be far more acceptable to the residents of Send, if we have to have more homes in the area.

The 'cloverleaf' junction proposed to service the Garlick's Arch site, together with two new north-facing slip roads requiring even more Green Belt land is a massive undertaking out of all proportion to the demonstrated need. The effect on surrounding roads has been given insufficient consideration. Send Barns Lane and its extension to Old Woking would be brought to a standstill, unless the streets of Old Woking were seriously upgraded. The adoption of Send Infants School as the site for a new St Bedes Middle School with access from the A247 has serious implications for an upgraded main road through Send and the implied risks to safety.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt. This country can no longer afford to keep chipping away at the last remaining vestiges of rural countryside on the whim of local planners. Our descendants will not thank us for destroying their heritage.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object emphatically to any development at Garlick's Arch. Council has failed to provide a need for self-build plots, additional employment floor space or travelling show people pitches, never mind in a valuable, rural Green Belt area which would be lost to the Nation. Send has no historical connection to these activities whatsoever and it appears that Send has been singled out for 'special attention'. An A3 'clover-leaf' junction (one assumes) goes 'hand in hand' with the Garlick's Arch development plan. That idea in itself is ridiculous as:

1) It uses up more Green Belt land:
2) Destroys a proven functioning environment:
3) Burdens the A247 Sendiclandon Rd with M25 traffic destined to create deadlock in Old Woking. Should the Highways Agency 'demand' such an exit from the A3 it should by reason of common sense be at Burpham where it could be easily linked to the main Woking Rd (A320) through Slyfield. Has this even been considered?

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to object again to the above site still being considered for housing under the amended Local Plan.

Quite apart from the congestion both in terms of people and traffic that it will add to that part of Guildford I am at a loss to understand as to how this site (an AONB and an adjacent "Area of Great Landscape Value) is even part of this plan. On the one hand at a national level the Government is saying that the Green Belt is being protected but the evidence at local level gives a lie to that. I swear that that if the Lake District or the Cornish Coast fell within the boundaries of Guildford Borough Council you would see it as nothing more than a suitable place to locate loads of houses. It's nothing more than vandalism - once it's gone it's gone and then you move onto the next site that you previously wouldn't have considered. Where does it stop? Will you only be content when Guildford, Farnham and Woking are one massive conurbation? Proof positive that politicians whether national or local know the price of everything and the value of nothing.

And this from a Conservative administration - the clue is in the name - aren't you supposed to "conserve"!

It it goes ahead at a level of 1500 to 1800 houses you can double the amount of cars it will attract as households nowadays are invariably two car. You obviously think that this part of Guildford is not sufficiently gridlocked as it is in which case I suggest you try travelling in along the A31 between 7.30 and 9.30 of a weekday morning.

In addition, how can you be so sure of the figures as to the number of houses required? I note that the Government's Infrastructure tsar, Lord Adonis (a misnomer if there was one) once stated that Guildford is one of the towns that should double in size. When in Tony Blair's government he was also one of the leading advocates for the introduction & scope of tuition fees - a policy that he has now gone back on. If he can be wrong about that, then he can be wrong about other things, in this case the scale of development required locally.

I therefore urge you to think again.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Like many residents of West Horsley and those other villages within the Guildford Borough affected, I view the proposed removal of green belt status with considerable dismay.

Before, commenting on that aspect and the relevant policy statement ( P2) I wish to make some general observations.

First, it appears that GBC has taken no account of the objections raised by residents at the time of the consultation in 2014 and has ridden roughshod over those concerns.

This is evident in the statement made in the commentary to Policy S1 ("Presumption in Favour of Sustainable Development"). At paragraph 4.3.16, whilst acknowledging the requirement of the NPPF not to amend green belt boundaries save in exceptional circumstances, GBC states:-

"We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of green belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and promote a sustainable pattern of development"

On further reading, however, it can be seen that the above statement is wholly self-serving. Exceptional means exceptional, not just what a particular council decides to choose as a place on which to build some houses.

GBC has clearly misinterpreted the NPPF . That it and other councils across the land are engaging in similar misguided approaches in this area was recognised in the recent ( April 2016) report of the House of Commons Communities and Local Government Committee, the report concluding :-

"....at present we do not believe that there is sufficient guidance available to local authorities on whether it is appropriate for green belt land to be used to meet housing needs".

In the case of the 2016 plan it seems that decisions are being taken either without proper thought or just based on the flawed 2014 plan.
Having made the effort to read both the NPPF and some of the key documents prepared in support of the current proposals, the impression is that it is at best a selective and at worst a deliberately flawed interpretation of the NPPF which is informing the formulation of Guildford's planning policy at this critical time.

1. In the NPPF "Local Plan" is defined as "The plan for the future development of the local area, drawn up by the local planning authority in consultation with the community." In the case of the draft local plan it is said in the foreword by Cllr Spooner that the policies and site allocation of the plan "are informed by an up-to-date, extensive and robust evidence base". However in the case of the recommendations stated under Policy P2 GBC is still basing its strategy on the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study: Volume IV", a document which was prepared in February 2013 by a third party commercial concern, namely Pegasus Planning Group Ltd. ("Pegasus").

The use of a February 2013 document can hardly be described as "up to date".

Furthermore, the findings reached by Pegasus in that report are not robust in any way. Quite the opposite: they are subjective. I have no objection to outsourcing by local authorities of the provision of services. There is no case, however, for the contracting out, as GBC has done, of such a key area of policy formulation as this. I note that in the "Ministerial foreword" to the NPPF it is observed that "people have been put off from getting involved because planning policy has become so elaborate and forbidding-the preserve of specialists, rather than the people in communities".

In the case of GBC it seems that it is such specialists and their client-serving interpretations of the NPPF that will be holding sway, regardless of the views of the people in the communities affected.

1. According to the NPPF, "the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open". The word "open" in this context is not defined, but what it clearly means in the context is "not built on". This is clear from paragraph 86 of the NPPF.

This paragraph states that a village should be included in the green belt "if it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt". Taking the meaning of "open" as stated above, i.e. built up, it is reasonably clear what the NPPF is aiming at. That is to say, where a village is not particularly built up and is situated in surroundings that are not built up then it should stay in the Green Belt.

1. It seems that in their assessment of what is considered to be or not to be "open" of "of open character", the Pegasus study is both misguided and in many respects, just plain wrong.
2. That a piece of land is "open" or whether or not a particular village has an "open character" is a question of fact. It seems that the Pegasus study, on which it appears so much of the current proposals are based, takes a somewhat irrational approach to the answering of this test: for example declaring that a village is not demonstrating "openness" where there are trees growing. As stated above, open means not built on: the fact that trees are growing on land does not mean that it is not open. Actually quite the opposite.
3. When the Pegasus study states that "it was considered, in principle, that for the open character of a village to contribute to the openness of the wider Green Belt it would need to be appreciable or visible from Green Belt land" it makes an assumption that has no support from the NPPF. Where in the NPPF is there any mention of "visibility" as the required proof of satisfaction of the condition stated in paragraph 86?
4. On a closer analysis it can be seen what was driving Pegasus to reach the skewed conclusions that it did back in 2013. Paragraph 82 of the NPPF states that the "general extent of Green Belts across the country is already established". And that "New Green Belts should only be established in exceptional circumstances, for example when planning for larger scale development such as new settlements or major urban extensions". I see no mention in any of the documents so far produced of any intention to create such "larger scale development".
5. In the following paragraph it is allowed for local authorities in their preparation of the local plan to "consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period." Pegasus, it seems, have seized on this reference as the carte blanche for the extension of green belt boundaries, thereby paving the way for the "insetting" (newspeak for expansion and building over) of villages within such greater boundaries. It does seem rather odd that there should be talk of expanding the green belt boundaries with the objective of ensuring greater permanence/identifiability, when any of us who live in this area know very well that the green belt, and its policy of prevention of creating any built structure, begins at the end of one's garden, where the open fields begin.

6. In the case of the village in which I live, i.e. West Horsley, this is a village which as the Pegasus study observes exhibits a low proportion of development to open land. As stated above, that a village is surrounded by open land is one of fact. Living as I and many residents of West Horsley do with views of open and unbuilt over countryside I find extraordinary the Pegasus conclusions (at p 73) that "the majority of the village is considered to exhibit an enclosed character due to tree cover and topography surrounding the village". Equally bizarre is the Pegasus conclusion that "open (i.e. unbuilt on) areas within the village do not appear continuous with surrounding open (i.e. unbuilt on) land beyond the village." For me and for many of those who live here it is the enduring connection to the sights, sounds and natural habitats that such open land provides that marks West Horsley's essential character, that is, the unbuilt up nature of the village and its surroundings.

7. In conclusion, there is no objection to the formulation of planning policy that follows the letter and the spirit of the NPPF. However, the impression that is given from the draft plan and many of the documents on which it is based is of a deliberate and, at best, erroneous misinterpretation of the key elements of the NPPF by Guildford BC and its paid advisers.

8. There are many other reasons to criticise the draft plan in respect of its intended permission for such large scale development as it does, eg lack of infrastructure, schools etc. The main objections however are those which I have stated above. It worries me considerably to see such disregard of the public opinion expressed in 2014 and the deliberate misinterpretation of policy guidelines. Such intellectual dishonesty is offensive and I therefore object to the relevant policy P2 for this reason.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The NPPF is clear concerning the policy regarding proposed construction on land which is in the green belt. This states that there should not be such construction save in exceptional circumstances. GBC appears to think that they can get round this restriction by the policy of so-called "insetting" of the villages, in order to, so they say, create "definable greenbelt boundaries". This is a transparently cynical ploy to enable development to take place in areas which are currently on green belt land, ie outside existing settlement areas, and on which current planning policy would forbid development. There is no need for the creation of further so-called "definable" greenbelt boundaries. The planning officers of GBC and its residents know perfectly well where such boundaries are already.

2. Despite the weight of objections to the previous versions of the plan, and despite, in particular, the concerns expressed over the assumptions on which the future housing demand numbers were based, there appears to have been essentially no material changes to the plan from that which was originally proposed in 2013.

3. Taken as a whole, the overall impression is of a plan that has not been sufficiently scrutinised or questioned in its key conclusions. Too much has been left to the discretion of outside consultants having little apparent appreciation of the character of the areas involved. This goes not only to the housing demand numbers study but also to the assumptions and seemingly quite arbitrary statements (eg on what constitutes 'openness') on which the sites strategy document was based, which came from a study done by an outside consultancy firm, Pegasus: the original conclusions of which have not been materially changed since the original draft plan. I would have expected a democratically elected body to have exercised a rather more rigorous approach to such matters rather than, as appears to be the case, to have outsourced such key responsibilities and decisions in the way it has done.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:

- Amount of new housing far exceeds local need.
- Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
- Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
- No local support.
- Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered.

Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.

- Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
- Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys.
- Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.

- Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.
- Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera's new “Theatre in the Woods”.
- Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.
- Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

I OBJECT ALSO TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD):

- Should not be in the plan for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties.
- Irregularity of including this policy in the plan 24 hours before this planning application was rejected (like extending the time allowed for the developers to present their application).
- Unacceptable Conservative Party links between the developers and the Council.
- No Green Belt “exceptional circumstances” presented.
- Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it.
- Proposed SCC waste site ignored.
- Loss of farming land.
- Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA.
- SANG would harm on SPA.
- Unacceptable increase in air pollution.
- No existing public transport and stations miles away.
- No proper traffic data.
- Housing density far too great.
- Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings.
- Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes.
- Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole.
- Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys.

- No assessment made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

- No definition of what added value interventions by Council can make to normal visitor market mechanisms.

• Proportion of new housing in town far too small. Development pushed into countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration.

• No brownfield register.
• Too much big retail, despite online shopping revolution and decline of traditional high streets internationally. Futile to try to turn Guildford into Woking or Kingston.

- Fails to compel University of Surrey to use its thousands of planning permissions and existing space, such as car parks, for student accommodation.

I OBJECT TO POLICY H2 (AFFORDABLE HOMES):

- Using the official definition of Affordable is a joke. Affordable homes round here are not affordable! Pushing for these homes just means pushing for more development.
- The viability clause lets developers off the hook of providing even these (non-) affordable homes. Too open to manipulation.
- Contradicts government policy to develop less advantaged regions of the UK.
People don’t have to live and work in Guildford but should be encouraged to move to cheaper, less congested areas.

- This policy won’t affect market forces or house prices. Guildford is too small and too near London to influence these, however many homes it builds.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY) • Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.

- Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
- Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary; cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
- Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT):

• Just a list of generic measures, not related to real life or the particularities of Guildford.
• Fails to treat sustainability as a constraint. Assumes excessive levels of development proposed in the plan can be supported by sustainable development.
• Unrealistic. Most people can’t or won’t walk or cycle – commuters in a hurry, the elderly, children, people who are unwell or unfit, people carrying heavy shopping or other goods. I.e. most residents!
• Town’s eye view of transport. Ignores scarcity of existing rural public transport and commercial unviability of increasing it. Ignores terrible state of Surrey’s roads, potholes, flooding etc. Ignores extra stress to be created by huge new housing estates in countryside.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT):

- No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements.

- Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored.

- Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored.
- Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored.
- Harm to public health and wellbeing (physical, psychological) ignored.
- Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections.
- Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF.
- Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burden-sharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size.
- Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt.

Too few new homes in urban areas where most people (especially the young and less privileged) want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration.

- “Insetting” of most villages disproportionate and unjustified in terms of their contribution under the NPPF to the purposes of the Green Belt. Based on flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. Idea that most Guildford villages do not contribute to “openness” is subjective.
- Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields.
- Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit.
- Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

I OBJECT TO POLICY S2 (BOROUGH-WIDE STRATEGY):

- Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit.
- No justification given for 13,860 housing figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure.
- 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the constraints into account.
- Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.

- High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

Having seen the Local Plan proposals shown by the GRA for new homes to be built throughout Guildford on greenbelt land, I am appalled. Development is always dependant on investment, but what is the point of destroying areas in such magnitude, especially without transport infrastructure. Developments of this hostile enormity can only scar the surrounding environment, robbing future generations forever. Why waste the opportunities to use brownfield development areas?

I have a deep love of Guildford Please treat our greenbelt like the fragments of a Greek vase, and control this exaggerated need for expansion.

As a member of Guildford Residents Association, I am horrified to learn of the threat to Guildford and the surrounding area. Having considered the proposed developments for Guildford, it would appear that no serious consideration has been given to the ramifications that will ensue. This can only be described as a wanton attack on Guildford and the surrounding area, presented in the guise of development! I cannot agree with the proposals as they are grossly inept.

I love Guildford and it breaks my heart to see these monstrous development proposals, I should like to know what Prince Charles would say!
I leave you with these thoughts, and hope that in some small way this helps to save Guildford.

1) The removal of East Horsley and West Horsley from the Green Belt

a) The loss of Green Belt status would severely damage the very special character and nature of both these villages. Both areas were granted Green Belt status in order to prevent urbanisation by ensuring that the designated Green Belt land is undeveloped and that these open spaces are retained. The removal of this essential protection would lead to widespread development, permanently destroying the amenity afforded by both villages. I also strongly object to the removal of Ripley’s Green Belt protection for the same reasons.

b) Furthermore, the “exceptional circumstances” that are required before these villages can be inset from the Green Belt have not been demonstrated

The massive scale of development within the vicinity

If adopted, the New Local Plan would result in over 5,000 new houses within a 5 mile radius of Horsley. Development on such a massive scale and within such a compact area would have a truly devastating impact on the whole character and nature of the area which would be forever blighted.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The scale of development in East and West Horsley

The Local Plan has earmarked six main development sites in these two villages which would result in a total of 533 new houses as well as a further 60 houses on smaller sites within East and West Horsley. This represents an increase of over 20% in the number of dwellings and would place an intolerable burden on the existing infrastructure. All local facilities (such as roads, schools, surgeries, parking spaces for shopping etc.) are already under enormous pressure and further development on the proposed scale is wholly impractical.

Allotments have played an important part in the lives of Guildford residents for many years, providing self sufficiency in vegetables as well as being physically and mentally beneficial to residents. In particular, the Aldershot allotment is unique in that some plot holders have formed a self help group (WASHA) to provide practical assistance to newcomers. The work of this voluntary group has been successful in being awarded a grant from the Lottery Group. The grant was for machinery and tools. Beneficiaries included the local school, who have a plot and are active in growing fruit and vegetables. So successful has the project been that the lottery Group invited WASHA to speak of their project at a conference in Manchester. The conference included other grant recipients from other parts of the country.

Business development must be limited. Land is a finite resource and plans to build further business projects in a congested area must increase costs of production. Of course better utilisation of existing 'brown field sites' is always welcome.

In addition, concentration of high value (i.e. Hi-tech) industries, which require less space resources should be encouraged.

UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE AND STUDENT ACCOMMODATION

The University and other colleges may be excellent and do provide employment, but the accommodation of student population within the the community, particularly in west Guildford, has not been generally acceptable to local residents. The students are not part of the community and some subject residents to high levels of noise and unacceptable behaviour. To allow the University and other colleges to expand further, can only cause further problems. In addition, the development of internet education courses may reduce the demand for student attendance at Universities, which could limited University development in the near future. I understand that the Surrey University own the land around Blackwell farm and wish to sell it for housing. Perhaps they may reconsider this strategy and preserve this area for the enjoyment of the residents of Guildford.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

AFFORDABLE HOMES

In my view the Local Plan appears to be balanced in favour of further development at any cost to the residents. What are the alternatives? Is the Local Plan consistent with current and future ecological and environmental projects? Are the economics against serious residential development? Houses in Guildford are priced at around £300,000. Who can afford these prices with the present level of inflation and declining real income growth? In addition, if interest rates start to rise in the future are we not fuelling another housing crisis in the Borough.

Even some rented properties require a combined income of around £40,000 before being accepted. If affordable homes are 70% or 80% of market rents, the demand for this accommodation may be limited.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
TRAFFIC CONGESTION

Traffic in west Guildford is very congested, particularly in early morning and evening. It is more convenient to walk to the town centre than use a car in this period.

Infrastructure could very much improved in the town with a bus and train interchange at Guildford station to assist commuters coming into and out of the town. In addition, new stations at Park Barn (for the RSCH Hospital), at Bellfields and Shalford could ease congestion.

GREEN BELT

I despair at the future plans for Guildford. At all costs the Green Belt surrounding Guildford should be preserved and in particular the green Belt west of Guildford including the Hogg’s Back. This would provide a breathing space for west Guildford residents. I understood that the Green Belt was initiated to prevent the spread of urbanisation in the Home Counties and to provide recreation and clean air for all residents. To spoil this would be an act of vandalism.

The classification into Green and Blue Infrastructure should not be used as a vehicle to infringe on the Green Belt. Green Belt is 100% sacrosanct.

The Green Belt should be preserved. Once land is used for residential or business purposes it lost to community for ever. I understood that the Green Belt was initiated to prevent the spread of urbanisation in the Home Counties and to provide recreation and clean air for all residents. To spoil this heritage would be vandalism.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

HIGH DENSITY OF HOUSING

I am a Guildfordian and have lived in Guildford for the majority of my life and I am appalled at the recent developments in west Guildford with particular reference to the high density of housing in the area. It seems that any available spaces, including gardens, are used for housing development. This development may advantage developers and builders, but does not enhance the character of the neighbourhood or the benefit of local residents. The area includes too many housing of the HMO type that could be used for families. Any further additional housing that may be planned can only add to the deterioration of the area.

NATIONAL POLICY

The emphasis of national policy on building more homes does not take into account local and special circumstances. Extensive development in Guildford and the surrounding areas can only lead to a lower quality of life for existing residents, higher external costs and permanent loss of the Green Belt.

On a macro-economic level, I consider that the South East region has become too expensive for large scale investment and that in future the centres for growth will be the Midlands and the North.

Projects like H2 are welcome as they should extend the commuting catchment area to London, ease congestion and encourage extensive growth in their regions.

In conclusion, I strongly recommend that Guildford keeps its existing Green Belt area and has limited development and concentrates on high value industries and services and limits housing to existing ‘brown field sites’. I cannot understand how the housing target of 652 houses per year was achieved and accepted. The target should be considerably reduced to reflect the many homes occupied by students and the already congested areas within the Borough.
An alternative scenario may consider that the University has expanded too much and has outgrown the Borough. I believe it came from Battersea and perhaps should move to somewhere else.

In conclusion, I strongly recommend that the Guildford area remains Green with limited development concentrating on high value industries and services and limiting housing to existing ‘brown field sites’.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In view of flawed new evidence, Guildford's proposal for more than 12,426 homes (plus a buffer of 1155 homes) is excessive and will result in needless loss of Green Belt and green, and increased congestion, that cannot be justified in our heavily constrained borough.

GUILDFORD'S POPULATION GROWTH

There is evidence that Guildford's population growth is overestimated by about 40% because of under-recording of students leaving at the end of their studies.

CONSTRAINTS TO GROWTH

If the Council fails to apply Green Belt protection or constrain expansion to reflect widespread legitimate environmental and transport constraints, the 2017 Plan will cause harm to the qualities that underpin the economic success of Guildford and aggravate congestion.

As a Guildfordian, I am proud of our heritage and rural situation and deplore efforts to expand or amalgamate with the outward expansion of London or the Farnham, Aldershot conurbation.

WOKING EXPANSION

Allocating too much land for development in the 2017 Plan will also result in Guildford being required to provide homes for Woking on our Green Belt which is unacceptable given the constraints in Guildford, a gap town with constricted roads set in the Surrey Hills AONB.

CONGESTION

Even taking into account of all the proposals in the 2017 Plan, congestion which is already severe is set to get worse over the plan period. Traffic in West Guildford is very congested, particularly in early morning and evening. It is more convenient to walk to the town centre than use a car in this period.

STUDENT ACCOMMODATION

The revised proposal that only 60% of full time Guildford based University students will be provided with accommodation on campus puts unnecessary pressure on housing stock in the town. An 80% target could help by freeing up affordable homes relatively quickly. Many students occupy private homes more suited to family accommodation. In addition the accommodation of students within the community, particularly in West Guildford, has not been generally acceptable to local residents. Students are not normally considered part of the local community and some students subject residents to high levels of noise and unacceptable behavior.

. I also object to the continued inclusion of the plan to build over 2000 houses on the site of the former Wisley Airfield (policy A35). I watched the podcast of the planning meeting concerning this development and saw it unanimously rejected by the planning committee. I was appalled to find that it is still in the Local Plan.

Apart from the fact that this is Green Belt land, the infrastructure won't cope. For example, our house is on the crossroads at Effingham Junction right near Effingham Junction Station. Effingham Junction would be the nearest station to the development and the car park is already full on weekdays. (I believe Horsley Station is also full to capacity). Every morning rush hour during term-time there is a long queue of cars past our house. The road is already overloaded without the cars from a new town being added to them – and don't suggest that people should walk or cycle to the station along Old Lane, because the road safety implications are awful to think about. I saw some suggested changes to the local road system (I would be reluctant to call them improvements) and there was nothing on the scale that would accommodate the traffic from the proposed new town. In addition, the A3 and the M25 are already often seriously congested, without the additional cars from a new town close to the A3/M25 junction.

Furthermore, I went to a meeting where the proposals for the new town were described, and it seemed to me that even the cheapest houses would be too expensive for local young people trying to reach the first rung of the housing ladder. That means to me that the proposal wouldn't even help to meet the main housing need in the area.

My husband and I already have concerns about the air quality here with so many vehicles, especially diesel ones, passing our house during the day. This would get much worse if there were a new town just up the road and I believe there would be air quality problems at the new town itself especially for the proposed new school close to the A3.

In summary then I consider that the scale of the proposed developments in this area is hugely excessive, so I object to the Proposed Local Plan.

I object to the continued inclusion of policy A35, involving building a new town on the former Wisley Airfield. In my view the local infrastructure is absolutely insufficient to support this huge increase in population. The local roads, both major and minor are already overcrowded. The A3 and M25 and where they meet at Junction 10 is all very busy. In addition, for many years there has been a solid queue of traffic past my house at Effingham Junction during the morning rush hour during term time without the addition of cars from the proposed new town.

Another problem is the air pollution resulting from these busy roads.

Also Effingham Junction would be the nearest railway station and the car park already has no free spaces on weekdays.

I watched the podcast of the rejection of the planning application and was hoping that this proposal would have been dropped!

As well, the thousands of objections from local people appear to have been ignored.

I object to the increase from 1200 to 1750 homes as this would result in the coalescence of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and Ash Green Village. This is contrary to Policy P3 (Countryside). Therefore Requirement 6 of this Policy, which attempts to protect the “historic location of Ash Green”, is inadequate and would need rewording to prevent this increased potential for coalescence.

“Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road form part of Ash Green village. Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane must respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This must include the provision of a green buffer that maintains separation between the any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond”

Requirement 8 does not sufficiently protect Ash Manor, a historical farmstead of three listed buildings including a medieval hall house and should be amended as follows:

“Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

Infrastructure before development. Requirement 9 (Land and provision for a new road bridge at Ash Station to enable closure of the level crossing) must be competed before any development of Policy A29 commences.

Requirement 9 fails to address the other significant transport infrastructure improvements that are required to cope with the increases in traffic generated by Policy A29. Therefore solutions to the following areas are also required before any development of A29 is permitted.

1. a) The Street in Tongham
2. b) A331/A323 intersection
3. c) A31/White Lane junction

Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

Ref: Objection to Guildford Borough Council draft Local Plan (June 2016) and to the inclusion in the Plan of Site Allocation A35 - the Former Wisley Airfield - for a new settlement with 2,000 dwellings

Dear Sir

I wish to object to the inclusion of the former Wisley Airfield in the Guildford local plan because:-

1. The land is Green Belt and there are no exceptional circumstances for it to lose its Green Belt status. The removal would allow urban sprawl to reach from London to Guildford.
2. Such a huge development would threaten the historic rural settlements of Ockham, Hatchford and Downside.
3. With such a large development and the subsequent increase in cars in and out of the site, it would cause chaos on the rural roads leading to Cobham which would be the nearest shopping centre.
4. The area is already experiencing high levels of air pollution due to the M25 and A3, these extra cars will make this much worse and therefore cannot be justified. Guildford BC need to be devoting resources to reducing this air pollution not deliberately adding to it.
5. The area includes SPA, SSSI and SNCI classifications and a major development would threaten these important safeguards.
6. A previous planning application was rejected and therefore it has already been established that this is not a suitable area for development.

I live only a couple of miles from the former Wisley airfield so I know the area and recognise the damage a large development like this would inflict on the local residents of both Guildford and Elmbridge boroughs.

Please remove this from the Guildford Local Plan as it is totally inappropriate.

the lack of a clear case to prove local demand for additional housing of the scale proposed in the Plan

Additionally, there is no proven case for the supposed demand for such a large number of houses in this area. West Horsley Parish Council’s own analysis suggests that approximately 20 properties would be needed in order to meet demand from local people otherwise unable to stay living in the village - a development of that scale and for that explicit purpose would be entirely understood, but what is proposed is anything but. It is unreasonable to expect a few villages in the Borough (of which West Horsley is the most extreme case) to take a share of the burden of future development that is wholly disproportionate to the scale of those villages today, when the equivalent number of houses added to already well-established urban centres (e.g. Guildford) would result in far less significant change to the character of the area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I would like to register my concern with a number of the proposals laid out in the proposed Local Plan, which I feel will have lasting detrimental consequences for West Horsley and the surrounding countryside.

My concerns are as follows:

The proposed scale of development in West Horsley will result in dramatic permanent change to the character of the area, and is unsustainable given the local infrastructure. The local schools are over-subscribed and full every year; the doctors surgery in East Horsley is invariably busy today and appointments hard to come by; the roads (especially Ockham Road North/South and East Lane) are very busy at peak times; and the basic services, especially sewerage/drainage, are already incapable of dealing with the current demand as the widespread flooding that invariably accompanies periods of heavy rainfall in the village shows (further development will mean more surface water runoff, and more immediate demand on outdated sewers and storm drains which in turn will mean more flash flood episodes around the village).

Additionally, there is no proven case for the supposed demand for such a large number of houses in this area. West Horsley Parish Council’s own analysis suggests that approximately 20 properties would be needed in order to meet demand from local people otherwise unable to stay living in the village - a development of that scale and for that explicit purpose would be entirely understood, but what is proposed is anything but. It is unreasonable to expect a few villages in the Borough (of which West Horsley is the most extreme case) to take a share of the burden of future development that is wholly disproportionate to the scale of those villages today, when the equivalent number of houses added to already well-established urban centres (e.g. Guildford) would result in far less significant change to the character of the area.

Removing the Horsleys from the Green Belt is fundamentally unjustified and contrary to the stated Government policy (see Hansard ref. Queen’s Speech, 5th June 2014). GBC’s need to find space for housing does not constitute an “exceptional circumstance” that could in principle otherwise justify the deletion of the Green Belt designation. Removing the village(s) from the Green Belt will lead to further urban sprawl and the unique character and community of East and West Horsley, as well as that of much of the surrounding countryside, will be lost forever to future generations. It is furthermore key to note that the National Trust aspire to pursue the further northward extension of the current Surrey Hills AONB to cover this area, which provides recognition at the most significant level of the importance of the rural nature of this region.

The scale of the proposed Wisley Airfield development is hugely out of keeping with the local area, and a development of that magnitude will have an unsustainable impact on our shared infrastructure, not least on the A3 which already experiences long tailbacks at peak times around the Ockham Park and M25 junctions (which will be those most burdened by the addition of such a large, new town on the airfield site) and on the already overcrowded South West Trains railway service from Horsley into London and Guildford.

I trust that you will take this opportunity to revise these points in the Local Plan, and insodoing ensure that future generations are able to benefit from the rurality of this area as much as previous generations have done.

The proposed scale of development in West Horsley will result in dramatic permanent change to the character of the area, and is unsustainable given the local infrastructure. The local schools are over-subscribed and full every year; the doctors surgery in East Horsley is invariably busy today and appointments hard to come by; the roads (especially Ockham Road North/South and East Lane) are very busy at peak times; and the basic services, especially sewerage/drainage, are already incapable of dealing with the current demand as the widespread flooding that invariably accompanies periods of heavy rainfall in the village shows (further development will mean more... surface water runoff, and more immediate demand on outdated sewers and storm drains which in turn will mean more flash flood episodes around the village).

Removing the Horsleys from the Green Belt is fundamentally unjustified and contrary to the stated Government policy (see Hansard ref. Queen’s Speech, 5th June 2014). GBC’s need to find space for housing does not constitute an “exceptional circumstance” that could in principle otherwise justify the deletion of the Green Belt designation. Removing the village(s) from the Green Belt will lead to further urban sprawl and the unique character and community of East and West Horsley, as well as that of much of the surrounding countryside, will be lost forever to future generations. It is furthermore key to note that the National Trust aspire to pursue the further northward extension of the current Surrey Hills AONB to cover this area, which provides recognition at the most significant level of the importance of the rural nature of this region.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.
4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarns Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until the A3 reaches the A320 Stock Road.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.
The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)
The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement - often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.
This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford’s relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment... without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I... cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary. I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.
The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.
These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.
The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.
The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. I do not believe the draft plan accords with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.
14. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not itself a very special circumstance justifying an indiscriminate removal of sites from the Green Belt. Having properly calculated a housing needs number, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt and AONB. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be considered on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances, and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt, can the proposal proceed. The draft plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
15. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
16. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.
23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

15. I object to the potential impact of para 4.4.23a on Burnt Common with its over allocation of industrial zoning is subterfuge for a waste management facility which is a dishonest and underhand approach to planning and proper consultation.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I wish to object to this plan for the following reasons

- Removal of the Horsleys from the Green Belt and building on the Green Belt land comprising Wisley Airfield cannot be permitted unless there are ‘very special circumstances’. Government guidelines confirm that ‘unfulfilled housing need’ does NOT qualify as a ‘very special circumstances’. Furthermore removal of these areas from the Green Belt is totally against its rules to prevent metropolitan encroachment.
- The volume of building proposed will overwhelm the current infrastructure of medical, education, drainage, roads, car parking, etc. with little or no scope for improvement. Drainage is already a problem in the Horsleys during heavy rainfall. This will inevitably become worse with the result of development as more land becomes impermeable.
- The volume of building proposed will overwhelm the current utilities of water, sewage, gas, telephone and electricity especially at Wisley Airfield where these services do not exist and must be provided from scratch.
- The developments will put thousands of additional cars on roads which are incapable of carrying them. The roads are currently, in the main, twisting country lanes unsuited to heavy traffic and in a small number of cases single lane with passing places. The main route through the Horsley’s, Occam Roads North and South are, in places extremely narrow and do not permit simultaneous passage of a large vehicle and car going in opposite directions. These narrow places occur at current housing locations and frequently where there are extremely narrow footpaths only on one side of the road. Currently lorries and cars mount the paths or swerve into drive way entrances to permit passage. The roads and pathways cannot be widened without compulsory purchase from a significant number of owners. The thousands of additional cars will significantly increase the risk of accident causing injury and sadly probable death. There is already a black spot just outside Cobham that will see an increase in traffic if these developments go ahead.
The concept that large numbers of proposed residents will cycle to and from shops, schools, railway stations, medical centres, sports facilities, etc. thereby reducing congestion, is flawed. Yes some will but the vast majority will not and the few that will cycle will increase the risk of serious accident. Further there is no evidence that the current fashion in cycling will continue indefinitely.

The number of houses proposed comes from an assessment generated by a consultant’s mathematical model which has not been revealed even to Guildford Borough Council. There is no evidence that this mathematical model is correct or that the software used has been fully proven to produce correct output with a sufficiently wide range of input data. Is the organisation that produced and uses this model certified as complying with the appropriate level of the UK nationally accepted Software Quality Assurance scheme of TickIT or similar scheme?
The Consultant’s unproven output has been further increased by Guildford Borough Council to give an anticipated population growth almost 70% higher than the official national estimates.
The whole question of population growth and therefore housing need, requires very detailed analysis and review, especially as we are now we are in Brexit and have good reason to expect a reduction in immigration.

- The Health and Safety implications to the inhabitants of the proposed Wisley Airfield development are significant. The site is located close to one of the busiest junctions in the country, M25/A3. The Nitrous Oxide emissions recorded around this area are extremely high and will affect residents. The proposal to build new primary and secondary schools at the site is counter to government policy prohibiting the building of schools on such sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Local Plan still proposes to “inset” East Horsley from the Green Belt.

The changes to the settlement boundary will result in the East Horsley settlement area increasing by over 35%. Whilst some increase over time is possibly justified this huge increase will totally alter the current character of the village.

The proposed development of 100 homes in the centre of the village, close to Horsley railway station is excessive and damaging to the community. It will put over 200 cars onto the local roads already excessively busy during the working day especially during school term time. There is a school close by and the road through the village is, in places, too narrow to permit a centre line to segregate traffic adequately.

I note that the development of the former Wisley Airfield is still on the plan. 2000+ houses is not a development it is a New Town which will destroy the whole character of the area and put 4000+ additional cars on the local roads, currently too small for other developments, resulting in increased risk of accidents.

The current forecast for population increase for the plan period is 10.4% and yet GBC plan to increase housing stock by 22%. There is no justification for this over provision of housing stock indeed given our imminent exit from the European Community and subsequent reduction in people coming to the UK the forecast of 10.4% will need to be revised downwards.

In excess of 55% of new housing in the local plan is on land currently Green Belt. Green Belt was specifically introduced to prevent over development of housing and ensure that there is sufficient natural countryside between developments. I wholly oppose building on the Green Belt, which must surely be illegal, and strongly believe that as movement of the Green Belt boundary is a very major act it must be subject to a vote by the local population.

The quantity of properties proposed is vastly disproportionately high compared to the size of East Horsley, West Horsley and the hamlet of Ockham, and is therefore out of keeping with the nature of these villages. I further object to some wording in the Local Plan 2017 such as:

FOREWORD

“place where people from all communities want, and are able, to live and work”. Guildford Borough Council’s council tax payers are not liable for “all communities” or the rest of the world. I may “want” any number of things but I do not expect my neighbours to pay for them in cash or kind.
And “special heritage and landscape. Protecting these qualities for future generations is a core theme of this plan”. The plans for development are directly contrary to “protecting these qualities”.

And “It is necessary to have more affordable housing” – I object to use of the word “necessary”. It is only desirable for developers and people who want new homes in the area. It is not “necessary” for the vast majority of existing people living here who do not want more housing of any kind in the area. If a need for affordable housing has been identified that does not equal more housing.

KEY FACTS – POPULATION

Since the amendment anticipates even larger population growth in the Borough, it is illogical to address that by enabling more homes to be built: surely providing homes for more people will simply result 20 years hence in yet more people needing more housing and making the situation even worse. Future people will be scathing of GBC for carrying on allowing building instead of dealing with the root problem.

KEY FACTS - INFRASTRUCTURE

Ditto. And an explanation should be given who would be expected to pay for such infrastructure changes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Firstly I am totally opposed to East and West Horsley being removed from the Green Belt as there is no justification for this status to be changed and the Key evidence document ‘Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031’ makes no case for siting large numbers of new homes in this area.

There are no exceptional circumstances for West Horsley’s Defined Settlement Area boundaries to be extended and the incredibly important Green Belt be developed - once it is gone it is gone and the whole purpose of the Green Belt is to prevent the disappearance of our hugely valuable countryside.

West Horsley village amenities would not cope with the increased influx of people using the one small village shop, no post office and a limited bus service, not to mention the increased volume of traffic. Nor would the amenities of East Horsley be able to cope with the limited shopping facilities, already crowded train service let alone the further proposals to build 2,000 houses at Wisley aerodrome which would likely also also use and rely upon both East and West Horsley’s facilities.

The area attracts a lot of walkers and cyclists throughout the year as we are at the foot of the Surrey Hills and also have a great deal of historic buildings. It is well renowned for being a beautiful area which we have a duty to preserve, the proposed housing development would be totally out of character with the general character of the area and ruin it forever which is entirely unacceptable and unnecessary.

As previously mentioned the area could not sustain the proposed amount of new homes due to the lack of services, but equally as important the lack of drainage which is a real problem in the area at present (with flooding occurring in both summer and winter, often severe), not to mention the added need for more school places at the local school which is always at full capacity. The increased need for parking spaces would also make using the villages and parking for the Raleigh school incredibly difficult. The doctor’s surgery would also be impacted negatively, it is already difficult enough to get an appointment and sometimes impossible to park at the surgery due to large volumes of traffic.

To summarise, the area simply cannot cope with the amount of new homes provided with lack of services, parking spaces, insufficient school places, the extra burden on the doctors surgery and local hospital, inadequate drainage and is totally at odds with the character of the area in general. These are all very serious considerations which will severely impact the Horsleys but above all the Green Belt simply has to be protected.

I seriously question why the proposed sites are being considered when there is an existing and highly sustainable local town, namely Guilford, where there is a fully workable and tested infrastructure, undeveloped brown sites, the space to do so and it is NOT the Green Belt.

I trust my comments will be taken seriously and the due amount of consideration is used when making this crucial decision.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
• A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:
- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data
- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.
Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.
It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from... the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London's commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

1.1 object to the housing number of 693 houses per year; 13,680 over the period from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high a total. This results in an increase of 25% in Guildford Borough Housing Stock yet the ONS projects a population increase of 15%. East Horsley Parish Council has drawn attention to duplication in these numbers of factors already factored into the ONS. It illustrates this on the construction of the 693 outcome.

2. The assessment and calculation process for 693 new homes has been far from transparent and is more than double the figure used in previous plans. These unaudited figures drive all the calculations. I attended the Planning Meeting authorising the publication of this plan when councillors unconvincingly rejected a request from others to forensically review the calculations. Councillor Reeve's Report "A Review of the Guildford Objectively Assessed Housing Need July 2016" must be review by professionals before proceeding further.

I object to the proposal to remove the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Metropolitan Green Belt. The only justification for this is to use it for housing which is not an exceptional circumstance. I therefore object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration the planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environmental Agency.

8.1 I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

9.1 I object to the continued inclusion of the former Wisley Airfield where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

10.1 I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

11.1 I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety these housing proposals will bring to this area, with its narrow rural roads, few pavements, almost non-existent street lighting - country lanes used regularly by sports cyclists and horse riders. The increased traffic, let alone increase in HGV traffic, will exacerbate the existing dangers to cyclists, pedestrians (especially children) and horse riders, and to road traffic generally as the roads are not wide enough places to allow two large vehicles to pass in object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in ham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements. The photograph at Appendix illustrates the inadequacy of ORN to handle any of this extra traffic accessing East Horsley station (by a 5 way uphill intersection). medical centre and shops.
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity. Road access to Horsley Station is by a very steep uphill five way intersection.

6. I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCl).

7. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is already in excess of EU-permitted limits. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

I object to Ockham, an historic village made up of very few houses, many of them listed and grouped in small hamlets in one of the first areas of real countryside to the southwest of London, being subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with building up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

I object to Policy H2 planning a significant volume of social housing to be built in areas in which it is not needed, in sizes not equating to the strongest demand and not close to areas where tenants or owners of such properties have employment. To build them where the housing stock is high value only means that these affordable homes will be bought up and sold on for a profit quickly, meaning that his stock will be lost to the community that needs it.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and in particular that the former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows) is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect, and the changes in Green Belt status to the villages of East and West Horsley be also removed from the Plan.

5.1 do not object to sensitive additional development for local residents and their families provided it is in keeping with local styles and public services AND LOCAL INFRASTRUCTURE OF ROADS, TRANSPORT CAPABILITY AND DRAINAGE (PARTICULARLY SEWAGE TREATMENT) is provided. Thus I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to the former Wisley Airport an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

Para 7.1 Land to the right has been identified (A39) for the development of 100 houses. Proposed access is immediately to the right over a narrow footpath which is already too narrow for a parent and child to walk along on route to the Raleigh School.

Par 11 and 12 le. ORN is the route expected to carry additional 4000 vehicle movements should the Wisley Airfield development of 2,100 be allowed to continue. It would be necessary for additional HGVs, cars, horses and cyclists to pass to reach the Horsley shops, station, medical centre, vet and parish rooms. It already carries traffic between A246 and A3.

I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety these housing proposals will bring to this area, with its narrow rural roads, few pavements, almost nonexistent street lighting - country lanes used regularly by sports cyclists and horseriders. The increased traffic, let alone increase in HGV traffic, will exacerbate the dangers to cyclists, pedestrians and horseriders, and to road traffic generally as the roads are not wide enough to allow two large vehicles to pass in places.

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the significant infrastructure enhancements that would be needed to the major roads, A3 and M25, as well as rail stations at Effingham Junction and Horsley which cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and whose car parks are already used to capacity.

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

The Plan asserts "We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt ". However, the appendix in the Plan shows that around 65% of the proposed developments are on land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. An election manifesto promised to "Protect the Green Belt" has been ignored by some elected councillors. Policy P3 para 4.3.28, needs to be carefully worded to show that Ash and Tongham greenfield sites are not obtaining preference over Green Belt and AONB areas.
Returning overnight from business trips in some skyscraper jungles of Asia and US it is wonderful to be welcomed back in the local Green Belt so close to Our forefathers had the wisdom to preserve these as lungs for us all, and a small number of temporary councillors should not be allowed to destroy these for ever. We were privileged to raise our family in 16 acres of Ockham Green Belt protecting its wild life and greenery for 35 years, only for GBC to authorise the subsequent destruction of an 1877 property now lost for ever.

I continue to object to the inclusion of Three Farms Meadows (and at former Wisley Airfield) in the Guildford Borough Council Plan under policy A35 for the following reasons:

1. It remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVORIDME will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. This constraints the site significantly in terms of building heights.

2. I remain unconvincing that a company based in an island tax haven can be held to account to provide all it says it will in the way of infrastructure unless prior to building commencing, all the infrastructure is put in place for a development of this size. It is notable that another authority in the west of England insists on infrastructure being in place before the first house or office or other building is commenced.

3. Elsewhere in the plan, land in the Tongham/Ash area newly designated as Green Belt, is protected as it provides an important open gap between Ash/Tongham and the Aldershot conurbation. If Green Belt protection is considered necessary in that area of the borough, is it not even more necessary in this area of the borough where the Parish and hamlets of Ockham, provide an important open gap between the urban areas of Elmbridge BC and the London Metropolitan area and other more densely populated areas of GBC.

I therefore STRONGLY OBJECT to Policy A35, the creation of a new settlement at the former Wisley Airfield, and require confirmation that all these comments, together with my previous ones are passed to the Inspector.

I continue to object to the inclusion of Policy A35 Three Farms Meadow (TFM) in the draft plan for numerous reasons including those written below:

1. I object to the number of houses in this plan, and particularly in relation to the Green Belt, Air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe this is totally inappropriate and open to legal challenge.
2. I object to the fact that the Council has totally failed to take into account the 1000’s relevant objections which have been lodged over a period of time to this Local Plan.
3. It is directly adjacent to RHS Gardens one of the most popular visitor attractions in Surrey. Each year sees an greater increase in the numbers that visit Wisley. I do not believe this has in any way been properly considered.
4. Any increase in Public transport on these already congested roads will adversely affect the whole network of connecting roads, increasing the danger to road users living in these areas.
5. Its distance from railway stations, and the increase of traffic this will bring. this is in an area already struggling with increased traffic volume.
6. It is in the immediate vicinity of one of the most congested areas of the A3 and the M25. There are almost weekly incidents on this stretch of road causing blockages in the Horsleys, Ripley and the Clandons, any significant increase in the traffic would bring the whole area to a complete standstill. There are times when this already occurs.
7. This area has by design seen a vast increase of use by cyclists already causing traffic problems. Any further increase in traffic will make these lanes even more hazardous for drivers and cyclists alike.
8. I object to the change of the site boundaries on the southern side facing the Surrey Hills. This will negatively impact on the view from this designated area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.
9. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A Regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes. There is no explanation why the Council think it is appropriate to have a Regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.
10. I object to the quantity of space allocated for retail in the town centre. This could easily be used for residential development. I particularly object to the dependance on the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes demand for retail space from Companies already in administration.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I refer to the above plan and to the proposed sites in West and East Horsley, I believe, referred to as A37, A38, A39, A40 and A41.

I wish to strongly object to the proposals put forward in the Plan to build vast numbers of houses on these sites for the following reasons:-

My objections stem from the historic Government Policy of protection of the Green Belt. Your plans are set to remove West Horsley and East Horsley villages from the Green Belt it seems by a procedure known as insetting. For your edification I list below the purposes of the Government's Policies which you seem to ignore:-

1. To check the unprotected sprawl of large built-up areas.
2. To prevent neighbouring towns or villages merging into one another.
3. To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
4. To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns and villages and
5. To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

Your plans directly ignore the above to the extent you plan to remove these historic villages from Green Belt status. This can only be done in exceptional circumstances and this has not been demonstrated.

Your plan to extend the boundaries in order to build a huge number of homes would dramatically change the appearance and characteristics of the villages.

I am not aware of any assessment by you of future housing needs and I am not aware of whether you have established a Policy to use brown-filled sites or whether you have identified them or whether you have sought to ascertain existing houses that are empty and have been for some time.

I would also strongly object on the basis that the existing infrastructure is already struggling. Our roads, or rather lanes, are worn out and likeable to third world. Our existing sewers, drains, ditches and culverts are already having difficulty coping, as has been evidenced by the flooding in the area during recent winters. There is very little street lighting even on our main roads. Our schools, whether State run or Private, both primary and secondary are already overcrowded, our Doctor's surgeries struggle to cope with the current population and our shops already suffer from limited parking.

Your plan for such huge development proposals for West and East Horsley would ruin these villages for ever. We would be absolutely swamped with extra cars, after all most families have at least 2 cars these days, and with people using the same facilities. It is vital that any new development must reflect the character and current housing density in these villages and be limited in size by the current infrastructure and facilities.

I would finally point out that apart from the huge number of objections you have or will receive from residents in "The Horsleys," our MP objects, our Parish Council objects, The Horsley Countryside Preservation objects and I am not aware you have a mandate for this from the people. You must tear up these plans.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially...
confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcots Lane - 15 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
- Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.
A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces...
pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.
I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3).

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.
It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

<td>I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.</td>

The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.</td>

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming even more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable...
(and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).
Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5 states that “... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.
This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework.
Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.
This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside...
“West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes will the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints.
It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Attached documents:
I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.
As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

2. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

3. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

4. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

9. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

10. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

11. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

12. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

13. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

16. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

17. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

18. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

19. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

20. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

21. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

22. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

23. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends on. There is no schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43), so the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site. It is therefore not fit for purpose.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any rationale.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that. The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.
There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

I am not qualified to comment on the levels of affordable housing, sustainability, and climate change. But I would comment that the services in the Borough are already operating at capacity – the schools near us are full (we had to go private), the Medical Centre at East Horsley is full (we regularly have to wait up to a month to get a GP appointment, and the walk-in surgeries fill up before the doors even open), the traffic situation is poor and the train services are not geared towards a greatly increased local population. Were any development to proceed in the Horsley area I would suggest that the Council would need to upgrade the road network, parking facilities, medical facilities, schools, and rail links first. At most development should be heavily restricted to being within existing village boundaries and on brown field sites.

I am writing to you in regards to the Guildford Borough Council New Local Plan. I have read through the proposals and feel that it is of great importance that I express my great concern on the direction of local policy were it to be implemented. By way of background we moved here from London almost three years ago specifically because of the green spaces and character of the villages in Guildford Borough. The fact that we have beautiful commons, woods, and green agricultural fields all around these villages is all due to the Green Belt policy and previous Council’s upholding of this policy.

As such we are vehemently against the removal of Green Belt status for any of the villages, and proposals to remove Green Belt status any countryside outside of village boundaries. The entire point of Green Belt status is that it prevents urban sprawl, safeguards the countryside, and preserves the character of the villages. If the proposals go ahead to remove the Green Belt status of the villages then it is certain that over the coming decades we will lose the wonderful country feel that Surrey imbues. But just as significantly the Council will have effectively undermined its own ability to control development in the future, weakening your position entirely.

For us the big issue is the removal of Green Belt status for the villages. This is a red line issue that the Council and MPs alike must stand up for given overwhelming public opposition. We voters are making ourselves expressly clear on this, and as such it is your duty to reflect these both in planning policy and also to Central Government. I hope you will carry out this duty with a sense of purpose and with a clear mandate from the local population – don’t touch the Green Belt!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I strongly OBJECT to the GBC’s planning proposal for Shalford for the following reasons:

If the expressed views of local residents to protect the area behind Shalford Village Hall are to be supported by the GBC, then the current green belt boundary should at all costs be retained and kept outside of the permitted development area. There is no valid reason to change the boundaries that have been there for a very long time.

The land contributes to the pleasant aspect of the village and the well used facilities it provides for the community.

This proposal has united the community and over 700 residents signed a petition last year to object to the boundary changes, the local clubs and activities giving their support to the objections.

The fields are on the highest point of the local area, being 32 feet above King’s Road, and any housing development would tower over the surrounding area and village facilities and completely destroy the character of the village.

Access to any development on this land is via Chinthurst Lane which is already so congested and would be unacceptable for a country lane.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

  • disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
  • directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
  • ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
  • adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Please let me vote against the insetting i.e. Removing of Chilworth from the green belt for the following reason,

After having paid a premium for my property due to the fact it is in the protected green belt area removing the village would adversely affect the price and quality of life.

The current planning system is flawed as adding more homes without upgrading the infrastructure only leads to problems with traffic/schools/doctors/ etc

I object to the removal of West Horsley and East Horsley Villages from the green belt.

Insetting and altering green Belt Boundaries will severely change the nature of the area and does not admit to any exceptional circumstances that would necessitate any change of the current boundaries.

There are 5 legal purposes for Green Belt, and West Horsley meets them all:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns and villages
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land?

I object to the proposed building on all sites and especially A39.A40 and A41.

The density of the building does not conform to the current established settlement, the increased traffic and necessary provision is not identified or

The density of building will impose greater burden on an already overflowing infrastructure. The plan makes no mention of any intentions to address any points regularly mentioned in all communications with residents and the Borough Council.

The MEDICAL CENTRE, SCHOOLS, ROADS and INFRASTRUCTURE ARE AT THE LIMIT OF THEIR CAPACITY

HAVE YOU STILL NOT VISITED WEST HORSLEY?

I object to the effect that the Plan will have on the Protection of the Surrey Hills and areas of outstanding beauty.

During wet weather, at any time of the year, OUR LOCAL ROADS ARE FLOODED, often IMPASSABLE AND POTHoled as a result of erosion and unsuitable traffic.
The TRAFFIC CONGESTION IS AT A STANDSTILL DURING PEAK TIMES and throughout the day regularly obstructed by oversized vehicles that make 2 way traffic very difficult.

Recent damage, by an over height vehicle, to the rail bridge resulted in the temporary closure of access to East Horsley along Ockham Road, redirected all traffic through unsuitable lanes and did damage to road surfaces and borders.

I object to the pressure that the Plan and significant increase in residents will put upon transport.

The current provision is congested, insufficient and inadequate and unable to absorb more demand.

Public Transport provides a limited bus schedule and 4 trains per hour.

Walking to shops, trains and schools is a safety risk as pavements are narrow, uneven and incomplete.

Parking is very limited and congested at all times of day.

The proposed developments will continue to pressurize the safety of movement around the village and increase the risk of injury and accident.

The local plan offers no details for improvements in drainage, traffic, standards of roads, pavements, parking and public transport.

I object to the proposed change in nature of our rural environment and the change in use of use of agricultural land.

I think that Brexit demands that the UK becomes increasingly self sufficient and takes control of its business. Irreversible decisions that influence our National self-sufficiency are unacceptable. A commitment to agriculture would improve the status of our farmers, our provision of foodstuffs and create a sound economic situation.

The delicate balance of Flora and Fauna, erosion and pollution is under threat.

As a reflection of the local regard for Horsley and the maintenance of its character, groups have purchased land to preserve the countryside.

Erosion of verges and ditches as a result of flooding and unusual weather conditions has been a feature of recent weather patterns. The effect of concreting over Green Belt land will serve to reduce the natural drainage system and drive the water into the existing drains, that are already overflowing.

Infrastructure is expensive and GBC admit to there being limited funding for renovation and provision for upgrades. Drive along our lanes in a storm to witness the current deterioration, with so many of our roads in urgent state of repair.

DO YOU CONTINUE PLANNING FOR OUR FUTURE FROM AN IDEALISTIC PLAN DEVISED IN A CONFERENCE ROOM?

West Horsley is a village, in the green belt, surrounded by countryside and a diverse natural environment.

Which, under the NPPF, should be retained where inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to the greenbelt.

64.6% of new homes will be built on the Green Belt

Pollution, destroyed natural environment, hedges, habitat and trees, foul water drainage will have disastrous effects on the greenbelt and areas of special interest.

West Horsley is surrounded by areas of special and outstanding environmental importance and justly protected by the Green Belt.
Our Green Belt is precious. It protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it helps prevent flooding; it is the city’s playground. It is for us to conserve and protect it.

To conclude:

Our drains, our water supply, our medical facilities, schools and our roads cannot cope at present, and will continue to be overloaded with the proposed number of new homes. Building this number and density of homes will lead to increased flood risk here and downstream (along the Wey and Thames). The planned development on Green Belt is therefore unsustainable, unrealistic and unwise. And contradicts all expert advice and legislation.

For these reasons, I continue to strongly object to the Local Plan.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highways England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.
The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.
Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it... cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

Another issue I am concerned about is drainage. I understand that the existing drainage system will not be able to cope with the added burden on it from the many proposed houses. The foul drainage system will need to be upgraded to cope. Also, when there are heavy downpours, which in our changing climate seem to happen frequently, many of the local roads here flood. Vehicles on the Ockham Road North, for example, end up driving down the middle of the road to avoid the huge puddles running along large stretches of the road on both sides. With more traffic, vehicles will not be able to do this, leading to more cases of pedestrians getting soaked by the traffic passing at speed through the puddles, not to mention the harm that may be done to vehicles driving through the water, and the inconvenience of having to take a different route where flooding is impassable. I have been on the receiving end of such a soaking and seen others also get soaked by drivers! What does the council propose to do about this?

I am also concerned about parking and road safety. Where are all the additional cars going to park? There isn’t enough room for a big increase in the number of cars that will result from the proposed developments. Our roads will become too congested as well as polluted and it will become extremely difficult to find a parking place when needed. The shops and cafes will become overcrowded too. There will be a huge impact on our villages. The peaceful character of our villages will be destroyed by these proposed developments.

How will the medical facilities in this area cope? It is already much harder to get a doctor’s appointment in this area than it used to be where I previously lived in Wimbledon. With more houses, and therefore more people using the medical facilities, the doctors surgery won’t be able to cope. People will have to wait longer for appointments which could lead to an adverse affect on some people’s health. This is very worrying.

Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016

I am writing to you because I am very concerned about the proposals in the Guildford Plan.

First of all, I am concerned that land is being removed from the Greenbelt in East Horsley and West Horsley. I always understood that the purpose of the Greenbelt was to protect our countryside and to prevent the spread of development into the countryside. I cannot see that sufficient reason or “exceptional circumstances” have been shown to change the Greenbelt designation in this area. The proposed development would drastically change the character of East Horsley and West Horsley for the worse.

Furthermore, there would be an added burden on the local roads, which already the Council fails to maintain to what I and many local people I have talked to consider to be an adequate standard. There are numerous potholes which are not filled in and roads which need resurfacing, for example in East Lane and the Drift. These problems would only worsen if the proposed development went ahead, and how would the Council be able to afford to deal with these increased problems if they are unable to do so at present?

The scale of the proposed increase in the number of houses in the Horsleys is unreasonable. It is far greater than in other areas. It would be much better to expand the area of a town, such as Guildford, which would not change its character to the extent that these proposed developments would drastically change the character of the Horsley villages.

- I object most strongly and specifically to the proposed building on Gosden Hill Farm on Green Belt designated to prevent West Clandon being subsumed into an urban sprawl. The proposed development would, at this stage, be four times greater than the village of West Clandon, and I have no doubts whatsoever that, that if housing development is allowed on this site, the housing numbers will increase as a precedent has been set. I object to West Clandon being blighted quite unnecessarily.

- I object to the fact that brownfield land would be disproportionately used for commercial development and quite unnecessary retail expansion. Guildford is an attractive, thriving town. Overdevelopment will put such enormous strain on the limited land area and infrastructure that it will eventually have the negative effect of discouraging businesses and shoppers, who will look elsewhere. Brownfield sites should be used to include housing, not taking the easy option of using Green Belt land for housing development unnecessarily.

- I object that housing on the Green Belt will increase traffic through our already overcrowded village roads. In particular I bring to your attention the A247 through West Clandon. I suggest to you that a site visit here has not been made. If it had, it would become patently obvious that although the road might be designated an “A” road, it is totally inadequate to carry the through traffic which uses it now. It is considerably narrower than “A” road specifications and is dangerously lacking in adequate pavements, none of which can be easily rectified.

Never has it been more necessary to protect and conserve our precious Green Belt, for this century and beyond, for future generations.

Re Draft Guildford Local Plan 2016 - Responses

This plan is not materially different from the 2014 Draft Plan, to which I objected, and therefore I object again.

- I object to building on the Green Belt. Last century planners had the foresight to create a green belt area for its openness and as a necessary “lung” for cities and towns and we have all been privileged to be the beneficiaries of that precious vision. That vision is even more relevant today than it was then, keeping the air cleaner and “greener” for all. I refer to National Planning Policy Framework paragraph 79.

- I object to the changes to Green Belt boundaries, as being unjustified by any special circumstances. All the Green Belt sites meet the five purposes of the Green Belt.

I wish to object to the inclusion of site 46 (Flexford/Normandy) within the Guildford Draft Local Plan.

Site 46 is within the green belt and the only justification for removing this status is the supposed need for a secondary school (this view is substantiated by the Council executive’s own amendment to the draft plan). The need for a new secondary school has not been demonstrated nor has it been shown why it should be in this location.

The reason for the inclusion of a secondary school in site 46 is, in my view, a cynical attempt to circumvent the green belt designation. The original draft plan, withdrawn before the elections in 2015, made only a general reference to a possible increase of school places somewhere in the borough. The developers Taylor Wimpey, who have options on the land in site 46, asked the borough council to add to the draft plan the requirement for a secondary school on their site.

Given the lack of any real evidence of the need for a secondary school this request should have been rejected. The fact that it was not raises issues about the motivation of planners and councillors. I believe a judge would reject this device as a clear manipulation of local planning laws.

I also object to the inclusion of site 46 on the basis that in proposing it the Council is acting ultra vires. Parliament has asked planning authorities to develop plans to meet the anticipated demand for housing within their areas. In doing so they did not want councils to build new towns. The scale of site 46, with 1100 new houses, will eclipse the existing hamlets of Flexford and Normandy.

New towns have previously required primary legislation, and clearly what is proposed on site 46 is not incremental growth but a completely new community. I therefore believe the Council is acting beyond its powers and should expect to be challenged for doing so.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

° The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

° A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

° The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to

° failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,

° issues with the way it considers students and affordability and

° flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

° It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.
The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)
The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement - often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.
The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers.
No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.
This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper account of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.
In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

19. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

° The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

° A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

° The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to

° failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
° issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
° flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
° It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the Doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.
The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hour no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons run through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition of north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends when hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk of injury to the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to, capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision for the increased capacity of Guildford hospital. Where is this assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situation worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages, as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt, once taken the green belt, is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well, I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)
2. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
3. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
4. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.

6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.

7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.
18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.

2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.

3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”

5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
   6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

8. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the current local plan because it does not address the following issues:

- Impact on nearby villages such as East and West Horsley and Ripley. The narrow roads are not capable of dealing with additional traffic which is exacerbated by increasing numbers visiting Wisley gardens. Also there is insufficient detail on the additional infrastructure required including schools, surgeries, water and sewage.

- Impact on local transportation. Trains are already overcrowded and the issue of increased use of Woking, Effingham and Horsley stations has not been properly considered together with the already full car parks at these stations.

- Increased traffic on the A3 will increase the bottleneck at Guildford and junction 10 of M25.

There also now appears to be some doubt over Strategic Housing Market Assessment accuracy, on which all of the Local Plan is based, as the mathematical model used to generate the calculation is not revealed in the plan and from what we can ascertain has not been seen by GBC. It would be interesting to see what effect BREXIT would have on the calculation.

In summary we believe that the calculation of the SHMA should be revisited and that most of the Green Belt sites identified should not be used, a more radical view of Brownfield sites should be undertaken and builders should be forced to give more consideration to affordable housing and the TOTAL infrastructure issues should be addressed before the plan is accepted.

I hope our comments are accepted as constructive and look forward to the next phase of the plan.

The latest issue of the above plan has done nothing to address the concerns and suggestions I sent to you in November 2013 and September 2014 and we would like to again register our objection to the plan.

We still believe that more use could and should be made of Brownfield sites, use of vacated premises and more insistence on builders providing some affordable housing in new developments. The latter is particularly pertinent in the East Horsley area where despite our suggestions nothing has been done to prevent developments where builders demolish bungalows and build large expensive properties on the site or demolish a large property and replace it with 2 equally expensive properties. These developments should be forced to address the affordable housing problem. If smaller properties were available, it would allow new owners to enter the market or older residents to downsize and free up some of the larger properties.

Whilst the Local Plan for Horsley Development sites has some merit we object to the fact that it does not seem to address any of the infrastructure issues that we mentioned previously.

The items I refer to are: -

- Road access
- Capacity of sewerage system
- Capacity of water, gas, electricity & phone network providers
- Flood risk which is increased if natural soak away is concreted over.
- School places within the local area
- Medical resources, Doctors, Hospitals etc
- Public transport

We are astonished and must register our objection that The Wisley Airfield site at Ockham is still in the plan as it was rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee and as far as we can see none of the issues which caused its rejection have been adequately addressed. The plan that has been re-presented for the site of 2,000 new homes is still totally impractical as, although it claims to have addressed the infrastructure issues, it obviously has NOT. In particular, the secondary school capacity in the area, and the more than doubling the commuting traffic on the local roads which are currently inadequate for the existing traffic flow.

REMOVAL OF AREAS FROM THE GREEN BELT

The Green Belt was granted to areas to prevent urban sprawl, prevent widespread development, further air pollution and flooding whilst providing areas of relaxation for those who live in the cities. The proposed Local Plan allows for large numbers of new homes and other facilities to be developed in Green Belt areas. The National Planning Policy Framework states that such a development requires exceptional circumstances but the Local Plan does not disclose such needs. Erosion of the Green Belt as set out in the Local Plan will lead to further urbanisation in the future thus adding even further to the development already proposed. No changes to the Green Belt should be made unless there are exceptional circumstances.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
SCALE OF DEVELOPMENT

The Local Plan housing numbers are too high. Combining East and West Horsley together with the new town at the former Wisley Airfield and those at Ripley would completely urbanise the area between the A3 and the A246. In addition, the Local Plan seems to have made no allowance for the infrastructure required to support this massive development.

At present our drains and water supply are challenged at various times during the year, further development would cause failures within both systems. The volume of traffic using the local roads has increased substantially in the past decade, further urbanisation and its consequent increase in vehicle movements on the local roads, A3 and M25 intersections would create further congestion and a substantial increase in air pollution levels to an already highly polluted area.

The nearest station, Horsley, which most commuters would drive to as there is little other public transport, would be unable to cope with the increase in commuters at peak times. Even now it is now difficult on occasions to find parking at either Horsley or Effingham stations.

The existing local medical facilities will be unable to cope with the proposed increase in population. The royal Surrey Hospital would not have to capacity to cope with the increase in patient numbers created by the proposed Local Plan development.

AVAILABLE DEVELOPMENT SITES

The Local Plan does not take in to account the existing sites still undeveloped within Surrey. There are Brownfield sites available, which have not been developed and would provide enough land to meet the need for affordable local housing. Many commercial sites are unused and should be developed before any planned use of the Green Belt land.

I ask Guildford Borough Council to reject the existing plan and review Brownfield sites and existing permissions for development rather than the development of precious Green field sites, which have been nationally recognised as protecting the quality of both our urban and natural environments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objection to the Local Plan to Develop West Horsley

Please register and record this letter as a formal objection to the proposed Local Plan Development of West Horsley and East Horsley.

The Horsleys, and West Horsley in particular, are not able to support housing development of upward of the 533 houses on the proposed main sites as the existing village sized infrastructure is already stretched beyond an effective level of service.

The Local Plan as it is presented is not able to justify itself on a number of issues and the following information forming the basis of Guildford Borough Councils submission needs to be questioned for accuracy and integrity at a legal level.
1. Development within the Existing Green Belt.

The proposed Green Belt use by extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area is flawed immediately in Policy P2 of the Green Belt and Countryside submitted documents. This states the Metropolitan Green Belt will be protected against inappropriate development and no justification has been put forward for exceptional circumstances to overrule Policy P2.

The proposed Green Belt Development must not be allowed to stand as a major driving force of the Local Plan.

Insetting proposals of the existing village settlement boundary lines has to be stopped as it a) contravenes the existing Insetting of Boundaries policy of 2012 and b) only sets a future precedence for further insetting whenever a developer can get hold of a suitable piece of land.

1. Sustainable Development.

Policy S1 assumes the Local Plan will be a Sustainable Development.

This assumption will not stand up to scrutiny when lack of local schools, shops, parking, road capacity, public transport, emergency services, drainage, medical, dental and loss of a rural community spirit and wellbeing are taken into account.

The physical services above are unable to successfully support the village at present.

Gas, water, electricity and sewage main services are also inadequate to sustain the proposed number of dwellings/persons. There is no plan to use or introduce zero emission or carbon neutral systems or biodiversity controls under BREEAM Regulations that are part of Planning Regulations.

1. Housing Density

The forecast for the housing requirement for the future is inaccurate and cannot be substantiated due to a closed door policy by the relevant consultants.

The local population cannot be expected to accept or believe the required house quantities put forward by SHMA especially as recent audits have identified errors in calculations and outdated data being used.

The secretive nature of this aspect of the Local Plan is misleading and must not be tolerated by Guildford Borough Council during this stage of the consultation process.

Please address this issue immediately to prevent it leading to a ‘weapons of mass destruction’ scenario. Without true facts, the Local Plan is not acceptable.

There is also no official confirmation that every available brown field site has been fully utilised in the overall plan. Why not?

1. Global Warming Effects.

The torrential storm conditions that have occurred recently and are going to occur more and more frequently due to Global Warming, will have a major detrimental environmental impact on the Horsley area. Being a ‘spring line village’ at the foot of the North Downs escarpment and with much of the land in and around the village being flat, of low permeability and prone to water logging due to clay and bands of solid chalk, there will always be a surface water drainage problem in wet weather.

The village is presently classified as being in the Thames Basin Lowlands and the Local Surface Water Management Plan already highlights persistent problem areas in the village as ‘Horsley Hot Spots’.

These surface water problems, and associated sewage capacity issues will be amplified just by adding dwellings to the sewage system and paving over large areas of currently open land thereby creating new water run off capacity concerns that have not been addressed in the Local Plan.
Anyone who has witnessed the surface water gushing up out of the roadside drains in the village will appreciate the above. Sewage and surface water problems are inevitable with any sizable housing development but local residents must not be expected to take future flooding as a guaranteed consequence of large high density housing schemes.

In conclusion, there is not sufficient housing needs evidence, there is not a sustainable infrastructure or a credible Green Belt removal justification to allow the proposed Local Plan development of Horsley village to proceed.

Please, in the sincere interests of local residents, critically review the Local Plan for the village, maintain the existing Green Belt and protect the environment and community spirit of the village for future generations. There are proven health and wellbeing benefits to living in a rural environment which has a knock on effect of reducing the demand on the stretched hospital and medical practices. Has this been taken into consideration?

This alone is reason enough to not develop the village into a town.

Community spirit or community breakdown also needs to be high on the agenda.

I object to the Local Plan because it does not protect our Borough for future generations and does not respect our historic villages and their individual characters. We are very fortunate to have such individual historic villages so near to London and the M.25. Why does GBC want to over develop them and lose their individuality?

I am very disappointed in Guildford Borough Council. I attended the meeting when the Local Plan was presented. Very disappointing. I have no faith in our local Council to make the right decisions for the Borough. Property Developers are in a win win situation now. Affordable Houses are mentioned time and time again. Houses in this part of Surrey are NOT affordable, only the well off can afford to live in this area. GBC needs to consider some other sort of social housing to help the poorly paid in the Borough. House prices and rents are too high for many. Developers are mainly interested in building large detached houses to attract successful young people out of London to the more rural areas in commuting distance of London. We need to provide housing for young families who want to stay in the area but are not high earners.

Re: I object to the GBC Proposed Local Plan (June 2016)

I would like to register my STRONG objection to the draft local plan for the following reasons:

I object the Proposed Local Plan that relates to the Ripley/Ockham area because of the impact it will have on our roads. I live in Ripley and the A.3 is regularly at a stand-still in the mornings due to the large amount of traffic queuing to get on to the M.25 at the Wisley intersection. Any problem on the A.3 and traffic comes through Ripley. The inclusion of the former Wisley Airfield as a potential site for over 2,000 houses could not be contemplated without improved infrastructure improvements. If in the fullness of time the A3 and M25 are upgraded somehow to cope with the extra traffic, how will Ockham Road North, Ockham Lane and Old Lane and Ripley High Street cope with the extra cars trying to get to the local railway stations, shops, schools etc? The station car parks are always full, it is too dangerous to cycle. This is compounded with the inclusion of Garlick’s Arch (A43) in the Local Plan and Gosden Hill Farm.

I object to development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25)

I object to the lack of provision for alternatives to car use. The local bus service is reduced every year as is the Park and Ride service. These are only really useful to people who have no time constraints. Cycling would be a dangerous option as our village lanes would be more overcrowded and they are unsafe now for individual cyclists.

I object to the erosion of the Green Belt (Policy P2) I object to the removal of Ripley and neighbouring villages from the Green Belt. This Green Belt is here to separate urban areas. I am very concerned that all our villages with their separate identities will be lost and form one housing sprawl from outer London to Guildford. We need to keep our Green Belt. I strongly object to the former Wisley Airfield site (A35), Garlick's Arch (policy A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (policy A25) being removed from the Green Belt to free up land for 2,500 + houses each side of Ripley village and along the A.3 in Burpham. The planning application for over 2,000 houses at Three Farm Meadows/former Wisley Airfield was rejected at a planning meeting unanimously by the committee yet it was still included in the Local Plan, why? As we all know, there is no way the infrastructure can support this level of development. The A3 is congested now and the lanes surrounding the site in Ockham are not suitable for the extra traffic. Please remove Wisley Airfield Site (A35) from your Local Plan. It will completely overshadow and destroy the small rural village of Ockham that has tremendous historic value – William of Occam, listed houses, an estate village, narrow lanes – I could go on and on. My family have been connected with Ockham since the early 1900’s and farmed there – losing their home for Wisley Airfield during the war. It should have been returned to farmland after the war as promised. This large new settlement will dwarf Ockham and be a blot on the landscape from the Surrey Hills. It cannot work with our road system as it is and there is no way the roads can be improved to accommodate the extra cars from over 2,000 houses.

I object to the air pollution that will be caused if you go ahead with the development of Wisley. The RHS is across the A.3 from the former Wisley Airfield/3 Meadows Farm.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

Although we do not reside in the Borough of Guildford, my wife and I are very frequent visitors there, because our daughter, son-in-law and their three children have lived in Ockham Lane bordering on Wisley Airfield/Three Farms Meadows for ten years.

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following reasons:

1. I object because by far the greater part of the new housing is proposed within the Green Belt, when there is a large amount of brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated.
2. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough: over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys.

I object to the methodology of drawing up the plan. Guildford Borough employs consultants who allegedly have planning expertise but have done so without taking account of Surrey County Council highway planners' views, or the costs involved in improving the infrastructure, currently outside their financial capability.

The methodology is also flawed as this plan has been formulated without regard to village Neighborhood plans. Surely, logic would suggest planning is best formed by a bottom up approach, not top down.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. 8. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads. I live on a main road in Ripley which is already very over used, when there is no congestion cars travel far too fast making it a danger to pedestrians and no one has yet managed to curb this problem.
9. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
10. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)

No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
15. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
16. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I object to raising the annual number of houses built per year. With no rational reason given, one must assume these are developers' numbers for financial gain and not for social need.

I object to the disproportionate distribution of houses across Guildford Borough, by far, the North East has taken an unsustainable number, in an area where country lanes are narrow and volume of traffic now using through routes makes roads gridlocked at rush hour.

RE: OBJECTION to proposed local plan to build extra housing in East and West Horsley (Thatcher’s Hotel Site, Bell & Colvill Garage, Manor Farm Site, Ockham Road North & East Lane, & Wisley Airfield Site)

As a local resident living in East Horsley, close to many of these proposed sites of development, I would like to make you aware of why I believe these plans would have a serious negative impact on our village.

This is land in the Green Belt outside the settlement boundary.

- The Green Belt should protect countryside from sprawl by keeping land permanently open
- The core characteristics of Green Belt land are openness and permanence which we would lose if these developments were to go ahead
- This sort of development sets a precedent for the future, leading to the gradual corrosion and eventual disappearance of the green belt altogether
- No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated in order to waive the status of Green Belt and so by default this application must be rejected.

Infrastructure: These plans would have a huge adverse impact on our already over-stretched infrastructure.

i) Parking: There are only 2 railway stations within 5 miles of the proposed housing sites, both of which have car parking at near capacity. It is already almost impossible to park at both stations after 9am.

ii) Doctors’ surgery and schools: Our doctors’ surgery and local schools are already stretched to full capacity and there’s no way they could accommodate residents of another 500 houses without serious negative impact on all of the existing residents.

iii) Impact on traffic and highway safety: We live on Ockham Road and are already terrified of letting our children anywhere near the main road as it is so dangerous. We can’t even walk along the pavement to the shops with them as it is a particularly narrow road, and we have already seen the volume of traffic increase hugely in recent years. A mother pushing a pram was recently knocked down and concussed as a van met another vehicle coming the other way. Introducing more traffic into our village would be a nightmare. The A3 and local section of the M25 are both stretched to full capacity and the number of traffic accidents would undoubtedly rise significantly (as would air pollution) if we were to put another 500 cars onto those roads.

Policy D4: I object to this policy largely because the council’s plan is intended to provide new affordable housing in Guildford, but East and West Horsley are way outside Guilford. Not least, this creates an increase in road traffic on what are already incredibly congested roads.

Policy P3: (4.3.33) ‘National planning policy states that we should recognise the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside and support thriving rural communities within it. I object to this statement as the planned developments in East and West Horsley and Wisley airfield most certainly contradict it, for the reasons I stated above.

Policy P1 – Surrey Hills area of outstanding natural beauty: ‘...will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development’. I object strongly to this policy as it’s simply not what is happening. East and West Horsley are part of this area of outstanding natural beauty and you’re proposing to take away the protection the greenbelt offers to them, thereby diminishing the importance of our precious countryside.

I sincerely hope that you will take this and all of the other thousands of objections seriously and refuse the application for development on these greenbelt sites.

I object to removal of Brownfield site (A34) from the Plan

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2017) and in particular to the changes affecting Ripley and Send, which make the Plan even worse than the 2016 proposals.

I object on these grounds:

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

The Foreword to the plan by Paul Spooner includes on page 5:

"We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the borough. The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan."

The lack of any plan for either physical or green infrastructure improvement clearly contradicts this in respect of both A43 Garlicks Arch and A42 Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Development of these sites without the contingent infrastructure would therefore be contrary to the stated aims and themes of the Plan, and should not go ahead

I object to the extended development in the Green Belt (Policy P2, Site A43)

I object to Garlick’s Arch (A43) being extended and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being removed from the Green Belt, as required by the National Planning Policy.
I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:

i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and

ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

I object to the potential and ill-defined increase in housing allocation at A43 Garlick’s Arch

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause coalescence of these villages.

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

With the removal of site A46 from the Plan (with its proposed 1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the borough the Plan has become even more biased against the North East of the borough. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the 11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

I object to removing Send Business Park from the Green Belt (4.3.15).

Send Business park is a very small collection of local businesses in a very rural area in the Green Belt. There can be no justification for it’s insetting (removal) from the Green Belt, and indeed GBC have not even attempted one. Therefore no “exceptional circumstances”, as required by the NPPF can be claimed.

I object to there being no provision in the council's plans for minimal improvement in infrastructure in Horsley which I believe is presently only just sufficient for the existing population and which would require more policing, medical surgeries, transport in the event that further development went ahead. Recently village who pensioners I have spoken to elderly residents have expressed their distress at the prospect of being unable to park at the local shops as is difficult enough for them to do so already.

Sewerage is a cause for concern. With such a Substantial increase in housing with no improvement in sewers they could well burst as I believe they have in other developments of this sort leaving raw sewage floating above ground. Raw sewage has already been on the roads in Horsley.

I object also to the development of Horsley on the grounds of low water pressure which I believe already affects a fair number of properties and with an increased demand the situation is likely only to become worse.

I object to the increase in traffic which such a development will bring about. The small country roads are unlikely to cope with a significant increase in traffic. They are already potentially hazardous to both drivers, pedestrians and horse riders. A while ago the Parish Council removed the cat's eyes and painted side lines on the roads for pedestrians so that they could walk in the road if necessary (you know where I mean) where it is still pretty dangerous! Also there are a lot of horses kept in Horsley and being a country village horse riders regularly use the roads. I am told that riders have already found large trucks are 'spooking' their horses.

Within Horsley it only takes a moderate amount of rainfall to commonly render some of the main village roads impassable despite the authoritie’s best attempts to improve the drainage. I object to a large increase in local traffic which such a development would create which will potentially lead to worse even hold ups than usual. An significant increase in traffic will be tragic for the area traffic flow and horse riders alike.

I am extremely concerned for the large number of elderly people who have lived their most of their lives here. Such substantial changes in their environment could seriously affect their health (which it has in other areas of the UK) The stress that some of them would experience would be enormous!

1. Settlement Boundaries in The Horsleys

The changes suggested for the settlement boundaries for East and West Horsley are not acceptable. The Horsleys do not have the infrastructure to cope with the increased numbers of houses that are proposed:

- The local schools, particularly the Raleigh School, are already full
- Parking at the local shops is already difficult
• The railway station car parks at Horsley and Effingham are already full

• It is difficult to get appointments at the local Doctors’ surgery and there is very limited parking there.

• The weather over the last few years has shown us what a terrible state our drainage is in giving rise to frequent surface water flooding when it rains. Covering green fields in housing and concrete will lead to more flooding. For some weeks after Christmas 2013 we were unable to access the A3 from East Horsley without travelling along the A246 to Guildford because of flooding in Ockham Road North.

• More houses means more cars – usually at least 2 per house. The state of the roads in East and West Horsley is appalling and more cars will mean more potholes. The roads in this area were mostly built as country lanes. Ockham Road South in particular is already very dangerous with the present level of traffic and two lorries cannot pass each other – it is hard enough for two large 4-wheel-drive vehicles to pass let alone two lorries.

• Looking at the sites suggested for development in East and West Horsley it seems that the Plan intends to join the two villages into an urban conurbation thus destroying the different and rural characters of the two separate villages. The impact is magnified by the closeness of the Wisley Airport site affecting every single resident in East and West Horsley and all our local services and infrastructure which will NOT be able to cope

The Green Belt was set up to stop urban sprawl, reduce flooding and to give lungs to both the countryside and towns. We need these open areas for survival of all species – plant and animal, humans included.

Removing villages in Surrey from the Green Belt could be far-reaching and ultimately result in the loss of lovely individual historic Surrey villages. Along with historic villages this part of Surrey contains many areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and Sites of Special Scientific Interest which are protected by the Green Belt and should not become islands in urban areas. We already have suburbia reaching as far as the M25 and your plans seem likely to open the doors to eventually extending it all over the rural areas of this part of Surrey and the Surrey Hills. Major destruction of the Green Belt to the East of Guildford is not justified by minor extension elsewhere. I do not understand why you should destroy it to the East of Guildford whilst at the same time extending the green belt in the Ash and Tongham areas which are situated further from London and beyond Guildford and do not contribute to Metropolitan Sprawl. Also at the same time Wisley Airfield is considered likely to be appropriate for development at some time. WHY?

Residents in East and West Horsley have contributed to the Green Belt and rural appearance in our villages by helping to purchase land like Wellington Meadow and two areas of woodlands so as to maintain the rural feel of the villages. In addition farmers and residents have purchased land on Ockham Road North for the same reason.

Proposed Submission Local Plan

I have already sent my views on the 2016 version of the Local plan so herewith my objections to the revisions made in the 2017 Local Plan in particular as they would affect East and West Horsley.

I object to the proposal that over 50% of new housing development in the borough is proposed on land currently in the Green belt

I object to the insetting of East Horsley village from the Green Belt

The Green Belt was set up to stop urban spread, reduce flooding and to give lungs to both the countryside and towns. We need these open areas for survival of all species – plant and animal, humans included. Removing villages in Surrey from the Green Belt could be far-reaching and ultimately result in the loss of lovely individual historic Surrey villages. We already have suburbia reaching as far as the M25 and your plans seem likely to open the doors to eventually extending it all over the rural areas of this part of Surrey and the Surrey Hills.

Because East Horsley is a rural village it contributes to the important Green Belt barrier outside the M25 corridor.

I object to the movement of the settlement boundary proposed further to the south of the A246

Along with the other changes proposed this would increase the total settlement area significantly and will have a considerable adverse impact on the character and form of the village of East Horsley.

The changes suggested for the settlement boundaries for East and West Horsley are not acceptable. The Horsleys do not have the infrastructure to cope with the increased numbers of houses that are proposed.

East Horsley is a rural village with low density housing. The roads are narrow and more like lanes and already very congested at certain times of the day with many problems when heavy vehicles travel through the village.

Moving the settlement boundaries would appear to threaten Kingston Meadows which is the only public recreational space in East Horsley. It has sports facilities, play facilities for children and playing fields for sport and village activities.

1. GBC is proposing huge irreversible damage to our local environment on the basis of figures used in the Strategic Housing Assessment that have been questioned, both with regards quality and impartiality. Until the council are in a position to explain and justify the figures used any plan is likely to be fundamentally flawed. (Furthermore, in the light of Brexit and the PM’s warnings of economic disaster, it must be necessary to revise down the figures.)

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North
I am writing to object to the proposal to take the Horsleys out of the Green Belt and to build on land around the Horsleys and surrounding area. I believe that there should not even be a discussion on this; the Green Belt was created for a reason and should be considered sacrosanct. People move to this area for the peace and quiet of the countryside and any significant construction should take place on Brown field sites. If building on the Green Belt is allowed to go ahead a precedent will be set and our country’s beautiful countryside will eventually cease to exist. The unethical/immoral back door methods of extending village boundaries and taking villages out of the green belt is a blatant attempt to get around the building rules. Rather than constantly building without thinking, the problem of housing should be tackled by looking at the core issues that have caused the need to expand out of London; the many properties owned by foreign investors that stand empty from one year to the next, the problem of immigration, basing everything around London (as I believe Princess Anne suggested, if only a few new houses were built in every village in the UK it would solve the housing problem. But there is a fixation with London!?) etc. With regards to the substantial number of houses supposedly required in the area, should it not be the responsibility of the elected council to determine the amount required anyway; not outsider companies as is apparently the case? In addition, whenever any building work is done it seems to be for luxury houses and not affordable houses anyway which then take up the space that could be used for affordable housing. Local people in the Horsleys should be given priority for any housing built in the area; building work should not be taking place in this area to accommodate an overflow from Guildford where, for example, the University of Surrey have not built the accommodation previously promised and allowed, thereby causing students to take up housing in the rest of Guildford etc. Furthermore, construction would not stop at houses as more public buildings/services would have to be built to deal with the larger capacity of people; for example, already there are not enough local school places and children are having to be ferried to schools further afield and it can take a month to get a doctor's appointment at the medical centre, not to mention the extra traffic on the already pothole riddled roads of Surrey. I do hope that you will stop and think about the core issues and the consequences of your actions rather than blindly continuing to build on our beautiful countryside.

1. Any changes to the current Green Belt status of the Horsleys is unacceptable. ‘Exceptional circumstances’ have not been demonstrated and this is just a cynical move to allow development to take place. Taking any of the Guildford villages out of the Green Belt is unacceptable. The Green Belt was created as the lungs of London and it is more important than ever that we guard it as the overflow from London drives the concrete sprawl destroying the south East.

1. The large-scale proposal for Wisley Airfield is totally unsuitable for the area, primarily because of increased pressure on already stressed infrastructure. As this is less than 2 miles from Horsley (the nearest train station) presumably there would be a significant increase in the number of commuters using this service. Already, rush hour traffic on Ockham Road is heavy, trains are overcrowded and there is little available parking space at the station so this development could make the situation unbearable. There would also be a negative impact on the environment and presumably an increase in safety issues with so many additional households accessing the A3 at one single point.

1. The Thatchers Hotel proposal would both take away an important local amenity while providing an out-of-character estate on the edge of the village. The A246/Ockham Road junction is already subject to regular rush-hour gridlock and the increased traffic would only make this worse. There is also the safety issue of further traffic entering the A246 at an already busy location.

5. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at BurntCommon.

The addition of a new on/off ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster in the making. There is no requirement to access the A3 in this location.

Any new A3 access/exit could be at the Ripley end of the A247. The existing on/off ramps could be upgraded to make two more ramps, one to exit the A3 North bound the other to access the A3 South bound. This addition will increase the flow of traffic through both Send and Ripley, which are both suffering from traffic congestion or Upgrade the A3100 Clay Lane access at Burpham.

3. I OBJECT to the development of Send Hill.

I object to the proposal in the Local Plan on the grounds that a Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb water table and increase the risk flooding to nearby properties.
The proposed site was used by GBC as a landfill site (and not a quarry as stated elsewhere) and on ordnance survey maps it is marked as "refuse and slag heap". Any disturbance to the site would be a health hazard due to the unknown materials. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development due to health reasons.

Since July 2000, GBC installed Gas Monitoring wells. One well recording methane gas discharge. A recent newspaper article on how the dangers of living near landfill sites raises cancer concerns. Send Hill is a single track country lane and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

I object to lack of infrastructure for the sites in and around Send. No plans to improve these services should mean no developments in this village. The local Send Medical Centre is now operating at full capacity, are they any plans to increase this service?

2. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt

I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Send, Ripley and Glandon from the Green Belt together with the sites of Wisley Airfield and Garicks Arch.
National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered or the development of the Green Belt.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. This is something that villagers from each village do not want to happen.

(Instead of developing Garlicks Arch and Send Hill, there is a "brownfield" site just to the south of the Burnt Common roundabout with surplus land that could accommodate a further development)

In your recent free newspaper "About Guildford", you state that the Green Belt must be saved and to use all "brownfield" sites for development. So why doesn't the council abide by its own statements?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact over existing local communities by over development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and Glandon. The infrastructure/services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed and do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The sites of Wisley Airfield, Garlick's Arch, Send Hill and Tannery Lane are in unsustainable locations. They do not benefit from railway stations that are within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options but to be reliant on motor vehicles.

Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as "brownfield" sites in Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options are available.

The proposed housing requirement of 693 suggested from GL Hearn is far too high. Whilst the commitment to retain a ‘greenfield’ buffer around Ash Green is very welcome, the proposed new houses for Tongham and Ash are disproportionate to the remainder of the borough. The proposals made in the plan are unsustainable as our infrastructure is already at capacity and cannot absorb any further additional housing. Whatever the final housing number agreed for the new Local Plan there must be a commitment from GBC to deliver (in entirety) the necessary infrastructure to support this increase. Roads, doctors, schools etc must all be delivered (by the developers if required) before any new houses are permitted to be occupied or sold. The phrase "timely provision" referred to in Policies I1 & I2 must be understood to mean “before occupation of any new houses”. In particular for Ash & Tongham this would mean LRN9 - LRN16 and in particular LRN21 from Appendix C should all be delivered prior to any further new housing.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the increase from 1200 to 1750 homes as this would increase the pressure of coalescence between the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and Ash Green Village. This is contrary to Policy P3 (Countryside). Therefore Requirement 6 of this Policy, which attempts to protect the “historic location of Ash Green”, is inadequate and would need rewording to prevent this increased potential for coalescence.

• Requirement 6 Amend: “Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road have historically been considered to form part of Ash Green village. Whilst this land is now proposed to be included within the Ash and Tongham urban area, Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane should respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This should include the provision of a green buffer that maintains a sense of separation between the any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond”

• Requirement 8 does not sufficiently protect Ash Manor, a historical farmstead of three listed buildings including a medieval hall house and should be amended as follows:

“Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

• Infrastructure before development. Requirement 9 (Land and provision for a new road bridge at Ash Station to enable closure of the level crossing) must be competed before any development of Policy A29 commences.

• Requirement 9 fails to address the other significant transport infrastructure improvements that are required to cope with the increases in traffic generated by Policy A29. Therefore solutions to the following areas are also required before any development of A29 is permitted.
- The Street in Tongham
- A331/A323 intersection and A331/A31 Intersection
- A31/White Lane junction

Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

- 4.3.29 Amend: “Originally consisting of the three small rural villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham, the Ash and Tongham urban area has grown considerably in size and now forms Guildford borough’s second largest urban area. - The Strategic Highway and Assessment Report (SHAR) has been produced late and is unfinished. Vital information about traffic congestion – how much will occur and where – has not been given in time to inform Plan proposals or responses. It would appear that the proposal to build 1000+ homes on Slyfield will not generate any additional traffic; omissions like this undermine the Plan and render it unsound.

- Too much emphasis is placed on replacing cars with bus and cycle use. An increasingly elderly population is far more likely to use cars than rely on an uncertain bus service; the disabled and infirm, parents with young children, people wanting to shop for bulky items are all more likely to use cars. This needs to be acknowledged.

- The proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) cannot be delivered as the roads are too narrow and have pinch points. This certainly applies to Burpham. The A3100 London Road will become an SMC supposedly carrying north and south bound bus and cycle lanes in addition to general traffic lanes north and south bound; four lanes of traffic where only two exist at present. This suggests that someone engaged in a paper exercise without making a site visit armed with a tape measure, an unsound practice that will have a deleterious effect on our community.

- There are major traffic issues that are not resolved. Guildford suffers from the constraints of a gap town yet there is little information about how traffic will be organised to cope with this – will there be new town bridges, a central bus interchange, and is a tunnel to carry through traffic considered a viable proposition?

- The cumulative effect of the developments proposed in the Plan look set to increase congestion, so the comment that they would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy text set in paragraph 32 of the NPPF” is questionable. There is no objective for reducing congestion in the Local Plan just a statement about opportunities to “improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure service improvements.” This is aspiration, not a detailed exposition of how a sensible outcome is to be achieved.

- It is unsound to publish a Draft Local Plan without a clear view of the essential issues of road infrastructure and transport. There are indications that road improvements will be undertaken but they are vague and dependent on as yet unpublished proposals by Surrey County Council and Highways England.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
This proposes a development of 2000 homes, eight traveller pitches, employment and retail space, community services, two schools, a Park and Ride for up to 1000 vehicles and a railway station at Merrow. It is the one specific scheme that will have most impact on Burpham and our immediate neighbours and we strongly object to it for the following reasons:

- The proposal will put thousands more vehicles on to already very congested roads.
- Access to the development is by a new A3 southbound off/on slip road north of the current slip road to Burpham and Merrow which will become two way. This means that all the traffic from Gosden Hill Village and the Park and Ride wanting to access the north bound A3 or the B2234/A25/A246 will have to travel through Burpham. The SHAR admits that there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham and there will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout. This is already a notorious pinch point, jammed to the point of gridlock at peak times. We hear much of the cost to business caused by congestion, yet this Plan seeks to compound Burpham’s traffic problems.
- The new junction will be 1.8km from the southbound on slip at Burnt Common, thus failing to meet Highways England requirements of 2km between on-then-off junctions.
- The policy notes “Any proposals for the development of this site should have regard to the potential opportunity to provide an all movements junction of the A3 trunk road with the A3100 London Road, the B2215 London Road and the A247 Clandon Road. This could form part of the proposals for Highways England’s emerging A3 Guildford scheme for which construction is anticipated to commence in Road Period 2 (2020/21 to 2024/25) as required by the department for Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy.” Words like “should…potential…could…anticipated” are conditional; any development of this magnitude requires a firm commitment to provide all the necessary infrastructure. The original 1984 proposal shows a four way junction which is essential if this development is to be realised. Furthermore, a decision has to be made about the possibility of constructing a tunnel before any development on Gosden Hill. It would be short-sighted in the extreme to build homes and all of the associated infrastructure on the most suitable land for a tunnel entrance.
- The developer is required to provide the eastern route section of the Sustainable Movement Corridor. We have already noted the impracticalities of fitting four traffic lanes in narrow roads with pinch points. If SMC 6 is instigated in its present form then running Park and Ride buses through Burpham will add to the congestion and exacerbate pollution levels.
- There is no reference to the proposed railway station in the Wessex Plan for future rail development. We note, too, that in 1984 GBC discounted the idea as they felt it would mean Gosden Hill becoming a dormitory estate for London rather than an estate for local housing need.
- The policy requires “green corridors and linkages to habitats outside of the site and the adjoining SNCI” It should be noted that the owner of the land, who is also the potential developer, objected to local green spaces and wildlife corridors adjacent to this site. (Burpham Neighbourhood Plan)
- There is a requirement in the policy to reduce surface water flood risk through appropriate mitigation. Burpham is recognised as a flooding “hot spot” and we consider it essential that a full hydrological survey be carried out before any development is contemplated.
There is a contradiction in the requirement for a secondary school. A proposal is put forward for a primary and secondary school, but in the infrastructure section it states that the need for a secondary school will be determined at the planning application stage. This dichotomy needs to be resolved because if no secondary school is needed, the size of the development can be reduced.

In 1982 the first application to develop Gosden Hill was made. It was held that such a proposal

- would conflicted with Green Belt policy,
- was an undesirable intrusion of residential development into a rural area,
- would cause the loss of good quality rural land,
- offered insufficient infrastructure.

How interesting to note that these were some of the reasons Guildford Borough Council gave when refusing the application. The BCA contend that they are still valid.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object strongly to this policy as the changes do nothing to alleviate the concerns we expressed last year. Our reasons for objecting are as follows.

Allocation

The inference is that the number of homes has been reduced to 1,700 – this is not so. A25 states that “Approximately 2,000 homes of which a minimum of 1,700 homes will be delivered within the plan period…” So no change there then, merely sleight of hand.

Infrastructure

- Two-way junction

You refer to an “improved” junction on the A3. The map below shows clearly the devastating effects that a two-way junction will have on Burpham.

[Image]

The proposed development does not just deliver homes; there will be schools, businesses, shops, a station and a Park and Ride. This will generate a daily movement of thousands of vehicles the vast majority of which will pass through Burpham. It is charitable to assume that those who have concluded a two-way junction will suffice have no knowledge of local conditions but if they are aware, then this proposal is a cynical betrayal of Burpham residents.
For years, this village has been subjected to one poorly conceived planning application after another, with no thought given to the infrastructure needed. The last few decades have seen two major housing estates, a considerable number of smaller garden grabbing developments, one super store and, recently, one very inappropriately sited supermarket.

The result is daily road congestion that can easily lead to gridlock at peak times or when an incident on the A3 causes a southbound tailback and drivers try and escape via the Burpham exit. The traffic is made up of cars, commercial vehicles and an increasing number of HGVs, all of it pumping out high levels of pollutants – dangerously high levels when vehicles are slow-moving or stationary. Air pollution kills and is rightly concerning national government. It should also concern GBC. How can you contemplate subjecting your residents to the increased number of vehicles that will pass – very slowly - through Burpham if this proposal goes ahead? We note under Key Considerations the phrase “Potential air quality issues.” The word potential is disingenuous.

There are further considerations; other policies, if realised, could well have an impact on Burpham’s roads. A24 Slyfield is one, especially if the Clay Lane Link Road is upgraded from its current status as Aspirational. The A35 Wisley Airfield proposal, along with the planned expansion of RHS Wisley, will add pressure on the A3, already at capacity, and therefore likely to affect Burpham roads.

• Access to the development

Access/egress to and from the proposed development is shown from one roundabout, serving traffic from the A3 and the A3100 which we consider unsustainable. There is apparently no other way in or out, creating in effect a box canyon. A simple accident or breakdown could block the roundabout. What will happen if there is an urgent need to get emergency vehicles into the development?

Perhaps the answer lies buried in the section headed Opportunities.

Opportunities

1. Create unique places that combine the highest standards of good urban design with well-designed streets and spaces
2. Incorporate high quality architecture that responds to the unique context of the site
3. Potential to provide a through route within the site to divert the B2234 to form a more direct link to the A3 at the improved junction
4. Create a sustainable urban extension with bus, cycle and pedestrian links into the adjoining urban area, and the town centre.

No indication is given of the location of this potential route nor is there any evidence of a protected route for this link, which is a strange omission.

Even more perplexing is the map shown below. It is taken from the Gosden Hill Vision and Development Framework published last year by Martin Grant, developer and owner of Gosden Hill Farm. It clearly shows a potential link between the site and Merrow Lane, oddly enough at the precise location of an illegal track which crosses common land and a Local Green Space (Burpham Neighbourhood Plan Policy B-En 3 Local Green Spaces), currently the subject of a formal complaint to GBC.

[Image]

Whilst we are concerned about the danger of a single access/egress to the proposed development, we would strongly object to any encroachment onto Local Green Space and the inevitable increase in traffic on already congested country lanes.

• Sustainable Movement Corridor

The developer is required to “provide the eastern route section of the Sustainable Movement Corridor on the site and make a necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering the eastern route section on the Local Road Network, both having regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document.”

This change, shown in red, means we can legitimately respond. This is what we said in response to the 2016 Draft Local Plan.

The proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) cannot be delivered as the roads are too narrow and have pinch points. This certainly applies to Burpham. The A3100 London Road will become an SMC supposedly carrying north and south bound bus and cycle lanes in addition to general traffic lanes north and south bound; four lanes of traffic where only two exist at present. This suggests that someone engaged in a paper exercise without making a site visit armed with a tape measure, an unsound practice that will have a deleterious effect on our community.

Did no one listen?

- A3 Tunnel

In the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017, we note several references to the A3 Guildford Tunnel under the Aspirations heading. Assuming aspirations means ambition not wishful thinking, there is a need for land to be identified and protected now. Gosden Hill is the logical site so it seems somewhat short-sighted to permit development there.

- Green Belt

Gosden Hill, whether a site for 1,700 or 2,000 homes, is situated entirely within the Green Belt and performs all the defined functions of the Green Belt:

- to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas
- to prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land

The NPPF paras 87-89 requires demonstration of exceptional circumstances before building can be permitted. Nearly 60% of the total proposed new housing development will be in the Green Belt – how can this be exceptional? Furthermore, if this proposal is realised, Clandon and Guildford will be separated by a very narrow strip of land likely to come under pressure for further development. We commented last year that “the Green Belt is not the personal fiefdom of Guildford Borough Council but belongs to the wider community…….. and should be regarded as a national asset and a legacy for the future. Once the Green Belt is lost it is lost in perpetuity.”

Plus ça change.

Another aspect of the housing issue that gives cause for concern is the proposal that only 60% of full time University students will be accommodated on campus; this puts increased pressure on houses in the town. Other universities, Oxford for example, have higher targets than those proposed. A more realistic target of 80%, which Surrey University could meet by using its existing planning permissions, would help by freeing up affordable homes in the town.

There is no doubt that Guildford needs more homes, though they should be of the right kind, providing for first time buyers, genuinely affordable houses for those in the public sector and suitable homes for those wishing to downsize. The housing need has been reduced from 693 per annum last year to 653 per annum, giving a total build over the period of the Plan of 13,893. A reduction of around 5% does nothing to alleviate the concerns we expressed last year and we object strongly to this revised figure for the following reasons.

- Any organisation presenting a set of figures for whatever purpose should be prepared to be open about the provenance of such data. GBC has refused to give any information as to how this figure was arrived at, thus failing the requirements of open government as this extract from the opengovernment.org.uk web site suggests.

“Priority 1: Extending the principles of openness and transparency.

Transparency – opening up of government data and information on areas such as public spending, government contracts, lobbying activity, the development and impact of policy, and public service performance.”

- The Guildford Residents’ Association (GRA) commissioned an independent analysis of the SHMA which was carried out by a respected national expert who worked for the government. He, with complete clarity, has concluded that an annual build of 404 houses would be sufficient for Guildford’s needs. This would give a total build of 7,676 houses over the period of the Plan. Even this reduced figure exceeds all other boroughs in the county as indicated in the SCC plan below.

- It would appear that the SHMA figures were distorted by the incorrect recording of University students leaving Guildford at the end of their studies. The discrepancy between the two sets of figures is nearly 40%. It says something about the lack of transparency of GBC that the twenty Parish Councils and Residents’ Associations that make up the GRA were prepared to pay for Neil McDonald’s independent assessment.

An over-inflated housing need figure affects every aspect of this Draft Local Plan; this one particular renders the whole Plan unsustainable.

The changes made to the Draft Local Plan do nothing to address the concerns we raised last year. You claim to have listened to local views but would seem to have done so with your collective hands over your ears. Requests for clarity in the methods used to obtain the housing needs figures have been ignored and we can only draw the obvious conclusion.

No one doubts the need for some new housing but the revised housing figure cannot be trusted, given an independent assessment that differs by nearly 40%. This one issue renders the whole Plan suspect and therefore unsustainable.

I wish to object to the above plan in that it contains the proposal to remove the Horsleys from the Green Belt by the procedure known as insetting.

In particular the plan proposes development site A37 for the election of forty homes located adjacent to west horsley street and the A246.

This would increase the density by approximately 35% which is more than three times that proposed for Guildford town itself!

The existing facilities in West Horsley are already over stretched in terms of traffic, schooling, sewage and water, flooding and infrastructure.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I write to object to the Draft Local Plan ("DLP"), and in particular the proposals as they apply to East and West Horsley.

1. I object to changing the status of the land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt. Our Green Belt is precious and it is for us to converse and protect it for future generations. Removing land from Green Belt status is a once-for-all decision, not to be taken lightly, and the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) underlines this by requiring that any change of Green Belt boundaries must demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Unmet housing need is not an exceptional circumstance in law. The very existence of the Green Belt/AONB is a reason for not meeting objectively assessed housing need (i.e. such, protected land is a legal constraint against any such development), yet about 65% of all the housing development proposals within the DLP relate to land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated, including as to the removal of Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt.

2. I object to the inset of East Horsley from the Green Belt instead of maintenance of its current "washed over" status. This proposal would change the nature of this area of countryside forever. Contrary to the suggestion in the DLP, East Horsley is set in a rural location with the character of a rural village. Over a third of the land within the village boundary is woodland, and the gardens attaching to the majority of the houses are relatively large, making an additional contribution to the openness of the area. Furthermore, the current open spaces provide important habitat for local wildlife that would be lost under the development as proposed. Inset of East Horsley would destroy this character and eventually merge historic and separate villages in the area, such that they would lose their distinctive character and simply add to the urban sprawl that predominates in nearby non-protected areas.

3. The proposal to designate Station parade as a district centre demonstrates a total misunderstanding of the facilities within the village centre and the nature of the shops and businesses currently here; I object to this proposal as being inappropriate for the area, adversely affecting existing businesses and opening the way for future unsuitable development.

4. I object to the lack of justification for the housing requirements set out in the DLP, which are based upon an undisclosed mathematical model which has been further increased by GBC to result in a population increase set at 70% above the official national estimates for the Borough.

5. I object to the lack of any reflection within the DLP of the different social or affordable housing needs across the Borough; the proposals as they stand, including in relation to East and West Horsley will require affordable housing to be included in developments whether or not such properties are needed to house those locally employed or are otherwise appropriate to those in need of social and affordable housing.

6. I object to the proposals set out regarding infrastructure for the area as being inadequate. Our existing infrastructure in the form of drains, water supply, roads, schools and medical facilities, is already under strain. No account is taken of this current situation quite aside from dealing with the additional burden the infrastructure would be required to bear under the proposed number of new homes.

7. The proposed developments will add to existing congestion, for example, the proposed development at Wisley will impact negatively on traffic to and through Effingham and Horsley, particularly at peak times. Our narrow and winding roads already regularly block up whenever there is a problem on the A3 and/or M25 and the additional interchange at Burnt Common will simply encourage this. Land proposed for development in both East and West Horsley is subject to flood risk; the Environment Agency has acknowledged the importance of retaining greenfield sites in managing flood risk generally.

8. Users of our Medical Centre regularly have trouble obtaining a prompt appointment due to the number of patients registered, and have trouble parking in order to attend when they do. They do not have an appointment. Our local primary and secondary schools are already full to capacity and with waiting lists; if children are required to travel further afield for their schools their transport adds yet further congestion to already busy roads that were never designed for the weight of traffic they now carry, and the spreading of children into schools across a wide geographical area impacts negatively on their community involvement. These issues will only get worse with an increase in housing numbers locally and the DLP fails to deal either with adequate numbers of school places or these wider implications.

I ask the council to note these objections, and act upon them by rejecting the Draft Local Plan as currently formulated.

I wish to object to the “Local Plan” for the following reasons.

There are no proven “exceptional circumstances” for removing the Horsleys from the Green Belt. The amount of housing proposed is above and beyond local requirements and there is no reasonable proof that any extension of the settlement area is required.

The local infrastructure is already overloaded. No plans on how the problems of Schools, drainage, increased traffic and public transport which would be created by the “Plan” appear to have been addressed. To refer to Station Parade as a “District Centre” is a complete and probably deliberate misreading of the nature of it’s facilities. The roads in and out, the lack of parking and public transport renders any future plans for urban development unreasonable.

The impact of the proposed “village” at Wisley on the surrounding villages would be catastrophic. Commuter traffic would be concentrated on the already chaotic A3 - M25 junction, the inadequate road systems in the surrounding villages and a poorly served public transport system.

To increase housing by the amount proposed would have devastating effects on local villages and their infrastructures, especially West Horsley where a 35 percentage is proposed.

Again as with the last local plan I would urge the Council to reject and rethink what is obviously a developer led project which has nothing to do with the needs of the local population, present or future.

I write as a resident of East Horsley and object to the above on the following grounds:-

The exceptional circumstances required to remove the Horsleys from the Green Belt have not been demonstrated. If Sevenoaks District Council can meet housing requirements without encroaching on the Green Belt why cannot GBC.

Extension of the Settlement areas of the Horsleys will lead to further inappropriate development and could harm wild life habitats.

The magnitude of impact on existing infrastructure which is already overloaded; narrow roads in the village frequently virtually one-way unless you want to lose door mirrors, the parish council and highway authorities show no interest in maintenance of our roads in safe state, width boundaries unattended, road markings or lack of is puzzling, which is compounded by the inability to control through traffic. The Horsleys are not in a suitable state for the development planned.

Impact on environment. Horsleys at present are a very valuable asset in the Borough's portfolio with an above average input of wealth into the Borough. The disproportionate and over development planned can only destroy the balance of the exceptional and advanced planning of the Horsleys in the 1920's which is the envy of Boroughs throughout the Country. The possible development of the former Wisley airfield site so close to the Horsleys would have an enormous detrimental impact to which I would most strongly object.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

My objections are:

Site A35 Former Wisley Airfield

I object to the proposed increase and any plan to develop this site.

• The size increase to 95.9 hectares. The resulting increase in traffic volumes will compound exiting problems with the local road network none of which have the option of being further developed to cope with the additional traffic flow
• Nitrous Oxide levels are already above safe levels

Green Belt

• This is a massive encroachment of the Metropolitan Green Belt and would be inappropriate development (as defined by law) within that.
• The proposals would harm the rural landscape character of the area and the openness of the green belt having a negative impact on views from all over North Surrey including from Painshill Park Landscape Gardens.
• Contrary to Green Belt policy the proposals would create on open country a line of building that will start to merge settlements (urban sprawl).
• The protection of the green belt is this generation’s responsibility.

Impact on the local area

• The additional 5,000 residents is the equivalent of adding 50% to the population of Cobham, Downside and Hatchford
• The proposed housing density is completely out of keeping with the surrounding rural area – multi-storey buildings are not appropriate in a rural environment
• The resulting impact on light pollution, traffic and infrastructure has been gravelly underestimated. Suggested measures in mitigation are totally inadequate
• The cumulative impact of development on the neighbouring boroughs of Elmbridge and Mole Valley has not been taken into account
• The air quality surrounding the site of the proposed development gives grave cause for concern as levels of NO2 already exceed the EU limit due in part to the proximity of the M25, the A3 and Cobham services.
• The closure of Plough Lane between Cobham and Ockham and other local roads coupled with a massive increase in traffic will impact a large number of local road users

Sustainability

• Any site that is dependent on the use of private motor car cannot be considered justifiable.
• The proposed public transport provision is unrealistic given the nature of the roads in question. The suggestion that residents will walk or cycle to a rail station on narrow, winding, unlit roads without pavements or cycle lanes is incredible.
• A suggestion of use of Cobham & Stoke D'Abernon Station by the new population would, even if plausible, add to congestion, parking difficulties and pollution.

Nature

• This huge proposed development would damage habitats of the protected and endangered rare species in contravention of the EU Birds Directives and Habitats Regulations
• The siting of a proposed Suitable Alternative Natural Green Space adjacent to the Thames Basin Heath Special Protected Area and Sites of Scientific Interest will only increase visitor numbers causing further damage to that.
• The introduction of pets as well as humans is what devastates wildlife

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Policy A42

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

• The plans have increased from 45 homes to 60 homes which is 33% and this is too much
• It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections submitted by local people
• It will increase problems with the traffic flow in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction, which suffers from excess traffic flow when the A3 is blocked – a frequent occurrence
• It will cause erosion of the Green Belt in our village
• It will increase surface water flooding, which is already a problem and is increasing with further development
• It will impact on the open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

Land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

- It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
- The is no proven demand for Travelling Show people plots in this location
- It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no ‘exception circumstances’ exist
- It will cause overdevelopment of our village and the number of homes is excessive
- It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth 1
- It will join p Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
- It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
- It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over 50 years
- It will generate excessive traffic that will add to the increasing flow of traffic with no options to add additional capacity

Land at Burn Common, London Road, Policy A58

I object to Policy A58 at Burn Common because:

- It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
- The word ‘minimum’ is a change from the previous ‘maximum’ in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in the demand for industrial land
- There is no need to build industrial or warehouse developments in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units available and unused
- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
- The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
- Fails to recognise the impact of planned changes to the A3/M25 junction and increased traffic flows that will result.
- It will join up the existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

Population growth

I have major concerns in relation to the assumed population growth and by extension the number of new homes this suggests are required. I have been unable to ascertain from the information provided on GBC’s website how the forecast number of homes required was derived but overall a SHMA target housing number for the borough which is two thirds higher than the official national estimates appears inflated. Given these population projections are a key foundation for the Local Plan, I believe the plan is based on an unsound assumption and essentially flawed as the housing needs and number of required new homes are over stated.

Specific Sites in Local Plan

As an East Horsley resident:-

- I am not opposed to development of Site A36 and Site A37. I believe these are supportable development sites.
- I am opposed to development of Site A39 as the site is currently in the Green Belt and in a flood zone area.
- I am opposed to development of Site A38, A40 and A41 as all three currently sit in the Green Belt and will completely swamp West Horsley village.
- I am opposed to development of Site A35, former Wisley airfield. This site is a large area of current Green Belt which provides protected open space near the M25 and is a barrier to outward development from London. Creating this new settlement would cause irrevocable harm to the Green Belt. It would also overwhelm local roads (from a traffic perspective) and local facilities/services (shops, health centre, railway services, schools). The site has no grounds for inclusion in the Local Plan as it was subject to a recent planning application (15/P/00012) which was unanimously rejected by the Planning Committee.

Designation of East Horsley as a District Shopping Centre

The Local Plan designates East Horsley as a “District Shopping Centre”. The reality is that East Horsley is a small collection of shops (convenience store, hairdresser, butcher, bank, pharmacy) typical of a medium sized village centre. The facilities are not in any way those of a main town centre, or urban area, from the perspective of either retail (there is no supermarket), leisure, office or arts/culture facilities. I object to East Horsley being designated as a District Shopping Centre – it should be classified as a Local Centre.

Furthermore the local facilities and infrastructure would be completely overwhelmed by the scale of the proposed developments in East Horsley, West Horsley and the former Wisley airfield site. In particular the road infrastructure, East Horsley shops, health services, schooling and train transport – many of these are already stretched and in some cases inadequate for the current residential community. I see no suitable sustainable proposals on supporting infrastructure investment outlined in the Local Plan to justify the proposed level of development and therefore object to these proposed developments.

Green Belt

The National Planning Policy Framework states that the Government attaches great importance to the Green Belts; the fundamental aim of which is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open. I strongly object to the changes to the Green Belt which are proposed and specifically to the exclusion from the Green Belt of the former Wisley airfield site and ‘insetting’ of East Horsley, West Horsley and Effingham villages.

I find the arguments proposed in 4.3.12, 4.3.14 & 4.3.16 of the Local Plan to be unsound. I cannot see any justification for the former Wisley airfield site to be excluded from the Green Belt and I consider the ‘insetting’ of East Horsley, West Horsley and Effingham villages to be unacceptable. I consider both these proposals to be against the National Planning Policy Framework which states “once established Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. The status quo for the former Wisley airfield site and for these villages is that they currently are in the Green Belt. Ministerial Guidance on the Green Belt makes it clear that legally unmet housing need alone is unlikely to qualify as “exceptional circumstances”. I firmly believe the former Wisley airfield site and East Horsley, West Horsley and Effingham villages should continue to lie within the existing Green Belt.

The NPPF states that the Government attaches great importance to the Green Belts; the fundamental aim of which is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open - “once established Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. The status quo for West Horsley and East Horsley is that they currently are in the Green Belt. Policy P2 of the Local Plan clearly states “We will continue to be protected the Metropolitan Green Belt, as shown designated on the proposals Policies Map, against inappropriate development. In accordance with national planning policy, the construction of new development will be considered inappropriate and will not be permitted unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated.” The Local Plan’s proposal to include the Former Wisley Airfield as a potential development site is completely contrary to this statement and I object to such a large scale expansion into the Green Belt.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick's Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondy I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.
I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.
The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.
The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.
The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances."

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.
Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy 13)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

19. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The housing numbers proposed are for nearly 14,000 homes over 15 years from 2016 to 2031. This number is too high. The model used to calculate the number has not been seen or the assumptions tested by the council or any of its officers. It has been, on numerous occasions shown to be flawed by various 3rd parties. This housing target will result in the borough’s permanent resident population increasing at 4.5 times the rate of population increase during the period 2001 to 2011. This population growth, by definition, is excessive and unsustainable for a gap town with many environmental, physical and infrastructure constraints.

Over 70% of the proposed housing is planned for land currently in the Green Belt. Housing need is not a reason in law for protected green belt land being used. It is perverse for so much housing to be planned for the green belt. Clearly, the green belt has not been used as a constraint as clearly set out in Government advice, planning policy guidance, the NPPF, case law, election manifestos and Ministerial letters to MPs.

For West Horsley this is reflected in a 35% increase in the number of houses within 3-5 years of a plan being adopted.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the expansion of commercial land in the urban area losing the potential for further housing. Policy E7: Guildford Town Centre

There is no reliable evidence provided that the retail core of the Town Centre can support expansion of 45,000 sq m of additional retail space at North Street.

Online retail is set to account for 21.5% of total retail sales by 2018 from 12.7% in 2013, the highest online retail share in the world according to the Centre for Retail Research. March 2016, online sales rose 12.3%, and it was the third consecutive month in which more than 20% of all non-food shopping took place online, (British Retail Consortium and accounting firm KPMG) With such a high retailers will need just 70 high street stores to create a national presence compared to 250 in the mid 2000’s. An expansion on such a scale is negligent when the Council claims to be in such desperate need for housing.

Retail is a declining industry and should not be invested in by the Borough at the expense of housing in the most sustainable urban location, near employment and transport hubs.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages. There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in West Horsley, East Horsley, Normandy, Ockham, Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that. The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses in such a small area means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Under the current economic climate post Brexit, it is unlikely any additional funding will be made available for new capital projects. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

The huge developments being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion and to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health. It has been shown that Wisley already has NOX levels above the EU legal limits and by law a school cannot be located in this area as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

Our Green Belt is precious. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding; it is the city’s playground. It is for us to conserve and protect it. There are 5 legal purposes for Green Belt, and it meets them all:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

This policy is flawed and should have been amended. In the last consultation just six individuals, out of the c. 7,000 of those who took part in the consultation, supported the policy. Another 20 comments of support were from organisations such as: the University of Surrey, local councils (including Guildford), consultants (e.g. Savills) or landowners. But of the 1,371 who commented on the green belt policy 1,332 (97%) were against.

NO EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES

The local plan proposes nearly 9000 new homes to be built on Green Belt land (compared with ~ 5000 current homes in Guildford, so approx. equal to 18% of the existing homes in the borough) – a huge proportion. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Unmet housing need is NOT an exceptional circumstance in law. No exceptional circumstances have been disclosed. So the Green Belt boundaries should NOT be changed through the plan making process.

BROWNFIELD AVAILABLE

There is brownfield land available in the town centre which is being earmarked for commercial development rather than for housing. This is enough to meet our real needs for affordable local homes. There are enough vacant commercial sites to cope with genuine business need, and we have enough retail capacity already, so urban brownfield/derelict land should be used for housing.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

The number of new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, particularly in West Horsley, East Horsley, Normandy, Ockham, Ripley, Send and Clandon. It is patently clear that the road and train network will not be able to cope with such an increase in usage and will lead to hazardous conditions for all.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport. West Horsley for example will see the number of housing increased by 35% within 3-5 years of the plan being adopted. The number and density of housing is not in keeping with the local area and is therefore against policies within the The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCl).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I would like you to consider my comments on the proposed local plan. There are many reasons why I feel the proposed development of Three Farms Meadows is unsound.

I will list the ones that I feel are most important.

The site is in green belt land.

It is adjacent to the M25/A3 intersection, already one of the busiest intersection in this country. The proposed extra traffic from the development will bring transport to a standstill. It is already one of the most polluted intersections in the country. The extra traffic will make it even more toxic.

The local roads cannot sustain extra traffic. I live near the Black Swan cross roads. There is an accident there almost on a weekly basis. More traffic will make the roads more dangerous. The proposed plans suggest that the new residents will walk or cycle to the train stations. This is currently difficult to do as the roads are narrow with no footpaths and car drivers make very little allowances for pedestrians and cyclists. I am a road cyclist. I regularly get hooted at by frustrated drivers who cannot overtake me on the narrow roads and blind bends.

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D). The proposed growth in the Plan is based on the SHMA report. The 693 homes a year as stated as being required by the borough, is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. I feel that the SHMA report methodology is not accurate. It appears to be based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

I object to the amount of houses being proposed in the areas as it would dramatically change the character of the villages, swamping Ockham with over 2000 houses is disproportionate to the existing village. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to object to the new local plan 2017 which has made some changes but in particular the changes to Policies A36 to A41 (East and West Horsley). The number of development sites has been reduced but the total number of new homes still represents a total of 395 new dwellings, on green belt sites. Marginal changes such as these would still leave 70% of all new development in the borough built on Green Belt sites. No “exceptional circumstances” or any other justification is advanced for this strange imbalance.
The deletion of two Horsley sites fails to correct the issue of relative overdevelopment in East and West Horsley, which is both excessive in absolute terms and disproportionate in relation to the rest of the borough. No attempt is made to assess the cumulative impact on the Horsleys – either of the four sites now proposed, or of Site A35 (Three Farms Meadow, alias “Wisley Airfield”), with over 2,000 new homes only 2 miles away. This piecemeal approach leaves the future of the Horsleys at the mercy of ad hoc planning applications, which is the opposite of what a Local Plan should intend.

The cumulative effect of the massive increase in the number of dwelling in this area demonstrates undue care in impact assessment on the strain on local infrastructure. The local roads will not be able to cope with the increase in traffic, and the changes to the access to the A3 will not sufficiently alleviate the increase on the local roads and through the local villages of Ockham, Ripley or East and West Horsley. The increase in traffic to stations in the area will not be able to be met by the limited number of car parks without further spending by the local government to meet these needs.

Local amenities will have to be increased dramatically to cope with the total number of new dwellings in the area, and will require substantial further investment from the local council, which are not addressed by the changes.

The overuse of the greenbelt in the Horsleys and Ockham will mean that there will be an increase in the environmental impact - one which will be further added to by the increase in pollution from the new access roads that will be added to the A3.

It would be helpful to understand why the villages to the north-east of Guildford have been singled out for such massive expansion whereas other areas of Guildford have been protected. I object to the skewing of development in this local area. Better development potential lies within the Guildford town centre. The under use of derelict areas within the city centre (i.e. the areas around the cinema) would have a better environmental impact than building on greenbelt.

Thank you for taking my points into consideration

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A35

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for many reasons including:

It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location.

It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.

It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10)

Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc)

Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded SRN and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.

Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe, putting my family and others in danger.

It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000/annum. RHS Wisley traffic already cause frequent congestion by traffic on local roads – there is already vulnerability and this will get worse.

1. The associated traffic increase from the RHS has not been taken into account.
2. The regular events at the RHS which attract 1000’s more visitors several times a year and the resultant traffic has not been taken into account

There is insufficient employment available onsite so that almost all residents will have to travel to work. It is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle on narrow unlit local roads on a regular basis – again, more danger and potential fatalities.

The identified mitigation to address the impact of increased traffic will not address the commuters travelling to Woking rail station
It remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVOR/DME will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. This constrains the site significantly in terms of building heights etc.

I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House negatively impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.

I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB and destroy the far reaching countryside views for future generations. Surely there is a responsibility to maintain this?

I object to the change of site boundaries as these are not identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16)

I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objections from local residents and statutory consultees – Why bother to consult if you then ignore the overwhelming popular view?.

I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.

I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation why the council think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.

I object to the fact that there is no clear justification for the removal of one strategic site over site A35.

I object to the inclusion of A35 as it will not contribute to the 5-year housing projection due to constraints notably in the provision of sewerage capacity.

I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change

I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed the transport assessment to use prescribed vehicle movements from this site with no justification.

I object to the housing number and particularly the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe that the housing number is unsound and open to legal challenge.

I object to policy S2 where it states “the figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426” yet the figures in the table add up to 9,810 – what is the significance of the missing 2,616? This is one of a number of glaring examples of why the plan is not sound.

It is my belief bearing in mind the reasons listed above from a not exhaustive list that this plan is unsound and not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I am writing in reference to the Guildford Borough local plan proposal for West Horsley village and I strongly object. I have outlined below my reasons for objection and would hope these will be carefully and sympathetically considered.

I live at [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] with my partner, five year old son and dog. We have lived in the village for nearly 10 years and specifically chose here for its rural setting, close community, green open spaces, good schools and efficient rail and road access to London.

My first objection, which is the umbrella under which all my other objections fall, is that the Horsleys should not be taken out of the green belt. The green belt is put in place for a very good reason - to help prevent urban sprawl, protect agricultural activities and the unique character of rural communities. Green belt areas help preserve unique landscapes which offer so many benefits to the urban population and preserve the unique character of smaller historic villages, like Horsley. It prevents them from becoming suburbs of larger urban centres and from merging with neighbouring towns. This access to open space provides not only a number of recreational opportunities but educational too.

The Horsley parishes offer exactly this. Taking us out of the green belt will significantly increase the density of housing, taking away its character and causing overcrowding on all of our village necessities and infrastructure - medical centre, schooling, railway station, post office (which has already decreased from two to one), road quality and functionality. We do not have efficient enough public transport facilities to cope with such a huge increase in population. It will also greatly impact on flooding, which is already a serious problem in the Long Reach, East Lane and The Street areas, to name but a few.

Our son currently attends The Raleigh school, which we chose for its very high achieving yet nurturing qualities. It doesn't have the most impressive outdoor facilities but it is certainly efficient enough and highly successful for a village school. However, it is attended by children from many neighbouring towns and villages which in turn has made its facilities seem inadequate as numbers are expanding. The council, therefore, should put some serious thought into why they've allowed this to happen and how the intend to put a stop to this problem. An expansion of the school would increase traffic having a considerably negative effect on the safety of our children on the roads walking or cycling to school.

Overall the proposal of increasing homes in West Horsley by 35% is ludicrous. It would be a complete re-development of a village, in order to support this surge in residents, would cost a fortune with all the additional infrastructure.

As I mentioned at the beginning of my letter, we chose to live in West Horsley for the quality of life it offers us. The people residing in both West and East Horsley covers a wonderful array of ages and I think this says an awful lot about the benefits and joys of living in an area of natural beauty and a close community.
With regard to the proposed estate A46 in Westwood Lane, Normandy for approximately 1,100 houses.

I must strongly object for many reasons.

I have watched the village slowly develop in size over the last 80 years with small pockets of development, but these still have problems occurring with drainage and flooding.

The new proposal A46 would more than double the size of the Village.

The road system couldn’t possibly cope with the volume of extra traffic generated by such a large scale development.

Bridges in Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane would have to be rebuilt to accommodate it.

Taylor Wimpey have offered to build a school in order to achieve their objective. But, as we all know, NO SCHOOL is required as all schools in the area are under subscribed.

Please DO NOT destroy our limited Green Belt. Smaller developments are possible in many areas

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I MOST STRONGLY OBJECT TO SUCH A PLAN, FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

I am aware that we will probably have some small scale development, but building on such a scale is untenable.

Surely you must consider the infrastructure. Due to the high water table in Normandy we have a big flooding problem, especially in Orchard Close and Zabo Crescent, which of course includes Christmas Pie.

It will be too late to consider this problem when the newly built houses are flooding!!! Hence the need for our Flooding Forum.

Have you seriously considered the access to A46?

The entrance roads would be on roads classified D and C, not to mention the two bridges on Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane, which are dangerous now, being angled and low, and humped and narrow retrospectively. They are definitely not adequate for extra traffic.
(Have the members of Planning actually traversed these routes at a busy time. I guess not.)

NO NEED FOR A SCHOOL! If extra spaces are deemed necessary in the future, Ash Manor and Kings College have space for expansion. The Head of these schools are amenable for this to happen. But, as both schools are UNDER SUBSCRIBED, that won’t be happening in the near future.

So once again you are not considering the reality of this plan.

The surgery in Glaziers Lane is already unable to cope with demand. Waiting times can be up to 2 to 3 weeks.

There is also a considerable amount of FLORA and FAUNA on this site which I hope you will be looking carefully at before ruining their habitat. So, doubling the size of Normandy Village would bring the whole place to a standstill, as we already have problems at the junctions of Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane trying to exit onto the A323.

I fear you are trying to take the easy way out, with complete disregard to the plight of the Villagers and the Village.

This amount of housing should be fairly shared around other Villages, NOT DUMPED ON ONE, ruining the life and sole of the whole community and area. THEREFORE I OBJECT TO PLAN A46.

The avowed intention of the Plan is to provide additional employment; yet this is proposed to the West of the town - and the extra housing in West (and East) Horsley is to the East of the town. This will cause extra strain on an already congested (overloaded) road system in the town. In any case, the South East of the Country does not need further expansion if any quality of life is to be maintained.

I object to the proposed local plan for a great many reasons:

1. The objects, as stated, of the Plan are "to protect the countryside"; yet, the plan proposes to take significant parts of the present countryside out of the Metropolitan Green Belt. This cannot be called "Protection".

1. This removal from the Green Belt is to permit the building of houses on 4 major sites in West Horsley - no Exceptional Circumstances have been put forward for this. The SCHMA is not an Exceptional Circumstance.

3. It is dubious that the nomination of replacement Green Belt in the Ash area complies with the objects of the Metropolitan Green Belt.

These sites would increase the number of homes in West Horsley by over 30% without any increase in services, and are, therefore, not sustainable.

At present the primary school is full, the medical facilities are overstretched and the railway station car park is frequently full. Thames Water has already intimated that the foul water sewage system would not be able to cope with any increase in use. Bus services in the northern part of the village are only provided during the middle of the day and are useless for those wishing to travel to work.

I remain opposed to any re-designation of local Greenbelt land in order to build homes. The local infrastructure cannot cope with the current population as it is. For example, the M25 and A3 main routes are already some of the busiest stretches of road in the South-East, often congested, or impassable due to accidents. Protection of the Greenbelt was an election promise of the Conservative Party which I believe you should adhere to in the interests of all local residents.

I believe the proposals to put 2000 homes at the Wisley airfield represents significant over-development. For the proposed school to be built 8 years into the development will only increase the pressure on local roads, which already have poor drainage and surface conditions. Ockham Road North and Ockham Road South are prime examples of this.

I believe the Council should be challenging the arbitrary Government targets on housing and scaling back the plans considerably.

May I take this opportunity of registering my objection to the unnecessary damaging effects of the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016. The number of homes proposed is excessive and disproportionate to the character and nature of the area which clearly has not got an adequate infrastructure to meet the travel, educational, medical and shopping requirements imposed by such a high density development plan.

To impose such a huge increase in the number of homes would be madness. Our country lanes would not be able to cope with the increased traffic without widening and new roads would simply add to the problem, many of them subject to flooding. Drainage would have to be renewed on a large scale.

There are also existing problems with meeting the increasing places in our few schools; our medical services are stretched to their limit; and parking for our few shops is getting worse. Bus and rail services would also have to revised to cope.

I object most strongly to the proposed increase to the number of new houses for West Horsley in the Local Plan.

In doing so you will turn a small surrey village into a dormitory development to Guildford, destroying the natural pleasant environment for its present inhabitants who have accepted the policy of infilling to be in proportion to its size and to its present infrastructure.

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety.

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

- After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

- Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

1. I object to all building on the Green Belt at Send and neighbouring villages because any called for development can be accommodated in Guildford’s brownfield areas much closer to existing transport facilities.

2. I object to a new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because Send is already gridlocked daily at typical rush hour times and hasn’t the road infrastructure to cope with any more traffic.

3. I object to all proposed sites in Send as they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Send residents have not been consulted on any of the new changes and all its sites have been considerably changed.

4. I object to the building of 400 houses at Garlick’s Arch. These are not needed in Send or the borough and the proposal was announced at the last minute without any prior consultation.

5. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch. It is not needed and there is already an available site at Slyfield where it can be built.

6. I object to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch because the site is home to ancient woodland which should be conserved and is also subject to flooding.

7. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill as it contains unsafe land fill waste and is in the middle of the beautiful Green Belt which should be conserved. The road to this area is of single width and totally unsuitable for regular heavy traffic.

8. I object to any building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries or Send Hill because there are no special circumstances to do so and the Green Belt is supposed to be permanent.

9. I object to the quoted housing need amount of 13,860 which is far too high.

10. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because Send would then be used as a cut through to the A3 and the M25. Already Send Marsh Road is being used as a cut through to Ripley/A3 and is causing daily congestion at peak times. Very heavy traffic would cause daily chaos and bring the surrounding roads to a standstill.

11. I object to the very large proposed development of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will wipe out large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land. It would also prove to be catastrophic to the surrounding small roads, which would not be able to cope, and on the A3 and M25 interchange nearby.

12. I object to the total ignorance of infrastructure requirements. Roads, medical facilities, schools etc. will not be adequate to cope.

13. I object to expanding Send’s housing by over 25%. Objections were raised before and the number was reduced to from 435 to 185. It does not make any sense and goes against many people’s wishes to expand on this number once again.

14. I object to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch as it is part of the Green Belt and helps stop merging of towns and settlements. This is the main purpose of the Green Belt. I believe it needs to stay as such.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

1. Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.
2. Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn Nursery in Tannery Lane for the following reasons:

1. There has been an increase in proposed building of houses from 45 to 60 – this is ridiculously too many for our area.
2. This totally ignores hundreds of previous objections by local residents.
3. Access to Tannery Lane at the A247 junction is not viable for the amount of traffic that will be incurred.
4. Tannery Lane itself if not capable of being used by large or numerous vehicles – it is a Lane.
5. This will be eroding even more of the Green Belt.
6. There is already bad surface water flooding in this area. This can only increase the problem.
This has been increased by a third since the 2016 version of the Plan. This will have a significant impact on the already highly congested local rural road network around Send. This is in contradiction to section 2.14a of the Plan which states "Whilst most local roads are single carriageway, with a lane in each direction, it is at their junctions that the free flow of traffic is most often impeded during peak periods, in some cases resulting in significant delays." And yet there are no proposals to improve the local roads, only to add more junctions with the A3, thereby increasing congestion on the Trunk and Local road network.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Policy A43, land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh for the following reasons:

1. This totally ignores hundreds of previous objections by local residents.
2. There are no ‘exceptional circumstances’ as required by the National Planning Policy to take this area out of the Green Belt.
3. This will remove ancient woodland which cannot ever by regained.
4. Ripley and Send villages will merge, therefore defeating the purpose of the Green Belt.
5. The number of homes proposed is excessive. Send is a village. This is over-development to the extreme.
6. The area is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a Flood Zone 2 allocation.
7. The excessive traffic that will be generated will totally cause mayhem on the Send and Ripley roads. Already whenever there is a road closure nearby or traffic accident (almost a daily occurrence on the A3/M25) in the vicinity – the main Ripley, Send Marsh and Send roads are ridiculously congested or at a total standstill.
8. There is no proven demand for Travelling Show people sites in this location. This development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.
9. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the 11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613), are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the Policy A58, land at Burnt Common, London Road for the following reasons:

1. This was deleted from the 2014 draft plan because of all the objections previously made – therefore why has it been included again?
2. There has been a decline in demand for industrial land since the previous draft plan but the 2016 version uses the word ‘maximum’ a change from ‘minimum’ within it – this does not make sense.
3. There are already empty sites and units at Slyfield and Guildford and therefore no need to build new industrial and warehouse developments in our area. I can only envisage these will end up being empty too.
4. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand for industrial land for the whole borough to 3.9 hectares. This policy is a huge allocation of 10 hectares for Send alone. Totally unacceptable.
5. The small roads around this area are already often at gridlock. This can only make the problem worse.
6. The merging of existing villages (which will occur) defeats the purpose of the Green Belt.

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned in policy 4.423a and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object the change in policy on affordable homes (Policy 4.2.23)

The previous version of the plan stated that “Developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value”.

The 2017 version says: Off-site provision or payment in lieu is expected to enable the same amount of additional affordable housing as would have been delivered on site.”

So the developer doesn’t even have to provide any ‘affordable’ homes, just to make a negotiated payment to the Council. This is very unlikely to result in the construction of these ‘affordable’ homes.

Furthermore, the 2016 Plan used to state (section 4.2.40) “In general, a need to make profit over and above the standard developer’s profit in order to fund other community benefits will not be accepted as an abnormal cost [i.e. a reason for not delivering affordable houses]. That has now been removed, thereby accepting that needing to make greater than normal profit is to be an acceptable reason not to deliver affordable homes. This is ridiculous.

I object to the local plan for the following reasons.

You are apparently not aware of how the numbers for new homes have been calculated. How can you deem them correct if you are not able to scrutinise them.

Please ensure you honour your mandate and re-issue your local plan with the greenbelt in its entirety remaining as greenbelt and planning, with full infrastructure needs, on brownfield sites only. It is also your responsibility to ensure the numbers are correct and without the information as to how they have been calculated you cannot do so.

I refer in particular to the Garlicks Arch development proposed at Burntcommon offering new junctions on the A3 in return for 400 houses. There are no exceptional circumstances to remove this area from the green belt. The extra traffic through Send is not manageable on a road that is already often gridlocked during the rush hour.

The Local Plan is lacking evidence and detail

I feel there is a big disconnect between the requirements most residents feel they need and the locations they would sight developments against the methods employed by GBC and the seemingly alarming developments proposed.

The plan is considerably lacking in details which does nothing to help the residents who ultimately will determine the plan as a collective. For example

1. There is no explanation of why so much housing capacity is required in this area and who it is for.
2. There are no artist’s impressions of how a development might look or any idea given of what an “affordable house” looks like
3. What is a traveller’s pitch?
4. Are there any conditions attached to the allocation of travellers pitches?
5. How are they to be managed? How are services arranged and paid for?
6. What term do the travellers stay for? Is there a minimum or maximum?

I feel if these questions could be answered then I would be better informed and could make a better decision.

Gosden Hill (policy A25)

The scale of the development proposal and its potential impact on the A3 and other local roads is a major concern. The provision of a rail link may help to partially alleviate the problem, but the number of houses proposed is far higher than is suitable for the location and unless the development is invisible from the A3 then it will detrimentally affect the appearance of the borough as a predominantly rural area.

I object to the large proposed development at of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

Policy A42: Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send (page219)

I object to this development because the additional traffic from that development coupled with the traffic from the new marina with 80 berths which you have agreed further down Tannery Lane which is mainly a single lane with passing places.

The Marina was identified as a high priority requirement and something the village apparently ‘had to have’. Having spoken to many locals, it would appear that this would have been so far down their list of requirements to actually not be on the list at all! It was a travesty the development was voted through by GBC when clearly there were valid objections.

These same objections remain and will be compounded by the inclusion of the Clockbarn nursery site. This additional traffic will be unable safely to join the much overused main road through Send. This road is the main through road from...
Woking to the A3 and M25 which is already used to capacity especially by articulated trucks and heavy vehicles for which the road was never designed. Additional traffic joining from Tannery Lane would have great difficulty and any attempt to ease the problem with a roundabout or traffic lights would simply exacerbate the situation.

The access point is so narrow it would clearly be a safety hazard and a potential accident black spot. Vehicles would not be able to join the main road and so would back up along Tannery Lane at peak times. This would be really dangerous and if there was an emergency then the necessary services would be unable to gain access to the site and attend the incident and this could have serious consequences.

GBC has a responsibility to its residents to ensure proposed developments meet highways safety standards and I fail to see how an access point at a narrow junction of Send Road and Tannery Lane will meet this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A43: Land at Garlick’s Arch (page 221)

I object to this proposal because the number of homes proposed would add to local traffic congestion which is already excessive at peak travel periods.

This was a sleight of hand by GBC in slipping this application into the Plan at such short notice. The site has never been proposed before and has not undergone a proper and full evaluation.

This site is also located underneath one or more pylons carrying power cables which constitute a health hazard for anyone and especially children living in such close proximity to them. There is evidence suggesting a link between cancer/Leukaemia and power lines and this has not been considered.

I also object to the location of any form of industrial activity which would increase traffic movements in that area leading to even greater traffic congestion. If additional industrial space is needed the ideal location is Slyfield which has the space to cater for it and there is a symbiotic relationship between the various activities on such a site. Slyfield has room to expand and accommodate extra capacity and is well located on the edge of the town.

If Garlick’s Arch proceeds it will create traffic chaos in all the approach roads through the villages of Send, Send Marsh and Ripley. There is simply no proven need to consider this site for industrial or housing, on any scale planned.

I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan.

If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

The proposal to build 400 houses and 7,000sq.m. employment space (light industrial/storage, warehousing) on virgin Green Belt land, lying outside the Send Marsh/Burnt Common village boundary, defies all logic. This area which includes ancient woodland is a refuge for deer and other wildlife. It was never considered as a Potential Development Area within the Council’s ‘Issues and Options report’ or identified for development in the 2014 consultation.

In 2014 the Council rejected a planning application from ‘Oldlands’ to build 25 houses in this location on sound planning grounds, so how is can now be considered apt to construct 400 houses and 7,000sq.metres of employment space there?

Apart from the fact that this is all Green Belt land, the infrastructure just cannot support such a development. Send Marsh/ Burnt Common has one just shop (Waitrose), no doctors’ surgery, no schools and the local roads are already filled to capacity.

Any development at all in this area would be totally inappropriate and would be to the very substantial detriment of Send Marsh/Burnt Common as a village. The housing proposal alone would add 960 to the existing population of 2,341, an increase of 41%.

The proposed light industrial/storage facility would significantly detract from the open countryside aspect and add dramatically to the existing road use. It is totally inappropriate and would destroy the village’s demarcation from Ripley, creating urban sprawl.

This very late and very major change to the Local Plan proposals does appear to have not followed the correct due process and therefore shall, if approved by your Council, be subject to immediate legal challenge.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Fields around Danesfield, Send Marsh (GU23 6LS)

I refer to this area because it is not currently high profile but it is a significant site for other reasons.

I wish to object to this site although it is not specifically mentioned. However, I understand this site is regarded as 'safeguarded' and therefore could come into play should some of the sites drop out.

If you look at the maps then you will see that the far end and sides of Danesfield have had their boundaries inset and now the back gardens of these houses now are the proposed greenbelt boundary. As we are surrounded by open fields then this suggests that everything the otherside, ie open fields, would be redesignated as non greenbelt and therefore will be developed.

My comments on this site are as follows:

1. This site is on a flood plain. Over 37% of the site is in flood zones 2 or 3, with over 25% in flood zone Therefore, this land is clearly not suitable for development and this was borne out whenever there is heavy rain and the land floods. I am reliably informed that the area becomes almost a large lake when there is a heavy downpour and this can be seen from the road and footpaths.
1. GBC policy and the Environment Agency are against developing on flood zones and so for this reason the land should not be built on or developed. GBC could face legal action from the Environment Agency if they were to go against this and spend tax payer's funds to defend such a claim. This would be an irresponsible use of tax payer's money.

2. I know photographic evidence showing the effect of flooding on the site have been sent to GBC and they have accordingly downgraded the site from a Potential Development Area to a Safeguarded Area.

3. Any building or hard standing will reduce the land available to absorb the run off from heavy rain falls and this will exaggerate the flooding. This could cause flooding and damage to adjoining property in Danesfield which may lead to future insurance claims.

4. There are many bats on this site which are protected under The Conservation of Habitats and Species.

5. The access into the site is limited to only two points. One entry is onto the busy Send Marsh Road which is narrow and unsuitable to carry more traffic. This entry point is near to a blind bend so there would be a safety concern and a potential accident black spot with approaching traffic from the direction of Send. The other entry point is into the side of Danesfield where the access is deliberately narrow as it is a residential road where many families live with young children. There is only just enough room to get two cars passing so a massive increase in traffic would be totally impractical as well as dangerous for all the small children who play in the road. Furthermore, there is an old established oak tree on the entry point which would have to be cut down and I believe this has a TPO on it.

6. As a resident of Send for 50 years, and with my family living here and our garden backing onto this site, I am very concerned about what is being discussed regarding potential building on this site. This corner of Send Marsh is of an open rural nature and therefore totally unsuitable for inset ting from the green belt.

7. Our village is loved and cherished by all those of us who live Send Marsh has a long history of generations of families living here and we all love the open countryside, the lovely walks, the beautiful views and the village life atmosphere. To commence on such a thoughtless and aggressive building program would bring this to an end and would mean that we could never go back to what we once had.

8. The site should not be termed "safe guarded" as the meaning of 'safe' does not seem to As I understand the term as used here, this site could be back on the table as a possible contender for consideration for planning permission if other sites do not get their planning granted. There would not be a democratic process for this site to then have a further round of public consultation as the date will have been passed. We would then be at the mercy of GBC and the planners.

9. Send Marsh has already seen a dramatic increase in the traffic flowing through it and into Send village at peak hours with long tailbacks from the traffic lights at Mays Corner. Send Marsh regularly sees delays getting onto the Portsmouth Road at Send Dip with long queues of traffic going towards Ripley and Burnt.

10. This site is at the back of Danesfield has limited access onto Send Marsh Road and if this was the only way out then this would put a lot of strain onto an already congested road. If the access was through Danesfield then this would seriously congest our road as it is very narrow and difficult to pass cars at various points.

11. This site should not be removed "inset" from the green belt as this would mean planning permission would surely be granted for the future.

12. The field behind Danesfield is a beautiful open space with much wildlife including deer and foxes as well as lots of birdlife. The field is enjoyed by those in the village who walk and take their dogs by the adjoining footpaths.

13. Send Marsh Road has a very narrow and dangerous bridge which would need to be widened to make it safer and the whole of the Send Marsh Road would need to be There is no mention of this in the plan.
1. Send Marsh does not have any infrastructure. There are no local shops, no school, no doctor's surgery and no public park. It comprises mainly of houses and so the addition of so many new houses will put huge pressure on the infrastructure on Send and Ripley, both of which can hardly cope with the current pressures. You would have to walk a considerable distance to access any of these services and so this would mean owners would have to use a car. This would seem contrary to the government’s policy for us all being green and reducing pollution.

1. The bus routes to and from both villages are very poor and infrequent, about one per hour. Again it is essential to have a car. The roads are too narrow and dangerous for cyclists so this is not really an option.

1. By proposing greenbelt sites in the area means this land will be gone forever. It is essential we protect the greenbelt or we will simply be a concrete jungle joined to Guildford and Woking with no green space in between. These greenbelt areas are essential to everyday living to provide clean and open space for everyone to enjoy.

1. There are plenty of brownfield sites available which should also be considered. In addition, there are sites which have been given planning permission but builders are refusing to build on as presumably, they are waiting for house prices to increase so they can maximise their profits. I feel time limits should be placed on planning permissions granted to encourage building in any economic climate.

1. Send Marsh is poorly served by schools, particularly the secondary. It has become increasingly difficult to get children into George Abbot which is the closest school to the village. With the amount of houses to be built set to increase, where will the children go to school if we don't have a plan to build schools?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Policy A43a: Land for new north facing slip roads (page 223)

I object to this proposal because it would do nothing to ease the density of traffic on a road which already suffers from long tailbacks at peak times. The A3 regularly has blocked traffic and adding a slip road which only serves the purpose to access a specific site and no other will only make things worse.

This proposal would encourage additional traffic along the very narrow, winding A247 Clandon Road and the Send Barns Lane/Send Road leading to Woking, the traffic along both of which are already at capacity. Send village is a ribbon development of housing along both sides of Send Road, so there is no scope to widen it, and where it ends at the Old Woking roundabout none of the connecting roads can be widened to ease congestion because of the existing surrounding buildings.

This ill-conceived plan to enable major development at Gosden Hill and Wisley completely fails to take account of the serpentine configuration of the Clandon Road and of the inability to improve the traffic flow along it and the Send Road because of the proximity of existing housing.
The suggestion that the land for the slip roads may be gifted should the Wisley airfield development proposal be accepted means that this is really no gift at all, merely an undisguised attempt by that developer to gain approval to build on protected land.

As such it will, if approved, be subject to legal challenge

Specific Comments about Policy A44: Land west of Send Hill (page 225)

I know this area well and I grew up nearby. Whilst I recognise there may be some people who wish to object to this site I would like to put forward a more positive view point in respect to possible development, although I offer some reservations as well.

1. The plan suggests the total site may be able to support approximately 40 houses but looking at the area and allowing for access roads to be built within the site, I feel this is a little optimistic. A figure of between 15 to 20 homes could be more realistic.

1. The development of the site should not aim to be high density or high rise. It should be in keeping with the rest of Send Hill and Winds Ridge which would mean either chalet bungalows and smaller houses, with maybe one or two large 4 or 5 bedroom houses added on slightly larger plots to enhance the overall appearance of the site.

1. The proposal to incorporate two traveller pitches as part of a mixed development would seem to be questionable. This site is the ONLY proposed mixed site in the whole of the Draft Local Plan for the Borough and in this regard would seem to be out of context in terms of mixed use compared to the other proposed sites.

If GBC were to develop the site as a mixed site then this would seem to contradict their main directive which is to ensure the best return on assets owned by the tax payer. This is because a close proximity mixed site would potentially mean a lower overall return on the final selling prices achieved for such a development. If this were the case, and was reflected by the mood of potential buyers, and borne out by final house sale prices, then this would be potentially a loss to the tax payer of several hundred thousand pounds. This could be interpreted as ill-conceived and irresponsible of GBC if this were to be reviewed at a future date and questions could be sought.

Considering the site overall, it would seem a better solution overall to not make this a mixed site and transfer the traveller sites to a more suitable location and one where it is concentrated on a traveller site only on one of the other proposed sites.

1. Object to the inclusion of two travellers pitches on this site which would be in contravention of your own stated policy of having a ratio of two such pitches for every 500 houses

2. Traveller issues have arisen in Send several times over the years and Send residents and our Parish Council have expressed their views many times to you the Guildford Borough Council and I find it very disappointing that you do not seem to heed our views and now again insist on trying to locate two pitches in a most unsuitable location.
3. If the development was on a smaller scale then the impact on Send Hill would be considerably reduced. Send Hill and the roads off it are very quiet and this is the main appeal of the area. The addition of 15 to 20 more homes would not represent a large increase in road traffic or impact the existing residents.

4. It is true that Send Hill is a single track country road but with sensible planning and a low density development I do not see this as causing any problems to the existing residents or making a dramatic impact. By contrast, if it were to be a high density development then I think the opposite would be true.

5. The land is in greenbelt and I am a big supporter of keeping the greenbelt and not allowing wide scale development. However, this site when viewed on the map could be considered as an extension of the existing housing line of Send Hill. The site is surrounded by mature oak trees which should remain and is bound on two sides by a footpath which should also remain. This means that the surrounding open fields are all kept intact and the views are unaltered, so residents, dog walkers and members of the public can continue to enjoy the amenity.

6. The sensible development of this site, being at the top of the hill and the highest point, means it would not be subject to flooding and would not be detrimental to the community and increased flood risk.

7. I understand that the land has been infilled over time and it has laid fallow for over 30 years. At one end of the field, the land owned by Guildford Borough Council, which is the main area of infill, there are methane vents. Further environmental tests may need to be reviewed to determine the exact position of any possible continued contamination.

8. By contrast, the far end of the field, closest to the cemetery, and not owned by GBC, this land has not been infilled as I understand it and recent environmental reports (dated as recently as 2015) seem to suggest that there is no contamination on this land. If this is the case, then perhaps this area could be considered for responsible, small scale development, to be in keeping with the current housing line.

I would like to place on record my objections which I would like to be seen by the Inspector.

Policy A44 : Land west of Send Hill (page 225)

I object to the inclusion of two travellers pitches on this site which would be in contravention of your own stated policy of having a ratio of two such pitches for every 500 houses.

It is possible that the widening of the Send Hill road would encroach on the area of the site thus reducing its capacity for 40 houses assuming it could even accommodate as many as that which is doubtful. Two pitches among so few houses would certainly have a negative effect on the value of any houses built there and would certainly not secure the best return on the tax payers investment on the land.
Send Hill is certainly not a suitable location for travellers anyway access being difficult from the traffic lights especially with cars parked on one side opposite the school and on the brow of the hill making the approach quite hazardous.

In addition, there is a school at the bottom of Send Hill and at peak school times it is very congested with parents dropping their children. By travellers driving their vehicles with caravans making a long vehicle with potential blind spots then this will only heighten the risk of safety for parents and children.

However, a much smaller development without traveller pitches and in keeping with the surrounding properties could be a possibility. This would be a natural extension of the housing building line up Send Hill and could provide a development in-keeping with the rest of the area.

Traveller issues have arisen in Send several times over the years and Send residents and our Parish Council have expressed their views many times to you the Guildford Borough Council and GBC do not seem to heed our views and now again insist on trying to locate two pitches in a most unsuitable location. These pitches appear to have been randomly dropped into this area as they were originally in the centre of the village in Wharf Lane, which was another equally ill conceived area to site them.

[Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it]

The Local Plan is lacking evidence and detail

I feel there is a big disconnect between the requirements most residents feel they need and the locations they would sight developments against the methods employed by GBC and the seemingly alarming developments proposed.

The plan is considerably lacking in details which does nothing to help the residents who ultimately will determine the plan as a collective. For example

1. There is no explanation of why so much housing capacity is required in this area and who it is for
2. There are no artist's impressions of how a development might look or any idea given of what an "affordable house" looks like
3. What is a traveller's pitch?
4. Are there any conditions attached to the allocation of travellers?
5. How are they to be managed? How are services arranged and paid for?
6. What term do the travellers stay for? Is there a minimum or maximum?

I feel if these questions could be answered then I would be better informed and could make a better decision.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Policy P2 on page 48

I object to the Green Belt realignment which will take Send outside the settlement boundary when there are still brownfield sites available for development in urban areas which will have much less impact on local environment and infrastructure. It has never been made clear by GBC why there is a need for such a vast amount of additional housing in the next 20 years for an area which is primarily residential and not industrialised.

I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford.

I am concerned that GBC is not calculating their requirements correctly and is mixing up the temporary student requirements at places such as Surrey University, with that of the needs of the local Guildford population. At no point in the 50 years I have lived in the area, have I experienced a supposed demand for such an enormous amount of homes required. I have not witnessed this demand from local people or companies, so I can only assume that all these homes will be lived in by people who are outside the GBC area and will be shipped in to live and work. If so, I object to this principal.

The number of homes proposed for Send (693p.a.) is completely disproportionate in the context of a village like Send. The extensive development proposed for Send and elsewhere in this locality such as Garlick’s Arch, Gosden Hill and Wisley Airfield means that, in effect, it will become a ribbon development from Guildford almost as far as Cobham and transform a pleasant rural area into suburbia.

The Green Belt policy has always been very clear. It is to stop urban sprawl and prevent joined up developments. This plan seems contrary to this policy and would appear to work in contravention of this.

I object to the new boundaries proposed for insetting the villages of Send and Send Marsh/Burnt Common from the Green Belt (policy P2).

The boundaries drawn enclose huge areas of open spaces that should be retained as Green Belt land and not developed at any time in the future. The village boundaries should be much more closely circumscribed to prevent urban sprawl and retain their village identity.

By having such a tightly inset area around the village then the greenbelt will be completely lost forever and urban sprawl will ensue.

With a presumption for development within these ‘inset’ areas, the proposed enclosures would encourage over-development and expansion of the villages in the future and completely ruin their essentially rural nature.

I object to the number of homes that the Plan intends to deliver over the 20 year period 2013-2033 (policy S2).

The annual target of 693 is significantly higher than the 652 that the Council proposed last year and disregards the constraints which should have been imposed by the high proportion of the borough’s designated Green Belt land and the capacity of the roads, schools, doctors, hospitals and other infrastructure to support such an increase in the population.

There is no further evidence provided as to why so many more houses are required.

I object to removal of Brownfield site (A34) from the Plan

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) and makes out this is an important aspect of the plan but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

1. POLICY A42 Pages 241-2

I object to the proposed increase of a further 16 houses on the Clockbarn Nursery site. This is a totally unsuitable site anyway for a high density development. Your proposal to increase the number of houses completely exacerbates the situation further.

Traffic movements from the site coupled with traffic accessing the new Marina development and then trying to join Send Road would cause considerable problems for residents and through-traffic alike. To access Send Road from Tannery Lane is very limited at the best of times currently, and trying to join it with your proposals, particularly at peak times, would be even more difficult.

Pollution concerns - Send Road is already used to capacity by traffic heading to and from Junction 10 on the M25 and is used as a rat run off these roads. Send Road and the narrow lanes and roads close by were never intended to be used by today’s very large articulated trucks. The essential traffic islands to enable pedestrians to cross Send Road represent an additional hazard plus the increasing number of cyclists exposed to rising levels of exhaust pollution.

Access from the opposite end of Tannery Lane is through very narrow roads with limited passing areas means this access is impossible. The traffic from the Marina and the Clockbarn Nursery site would be forced to come and go via the Send Road junction thus making driving and access even more impossible!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A43 Pages 243-5

I object to the Garlick’s Arch (A43) proposed changes to this site which in combination would generate considerable activity in a most unsuitable location.

Pitches designated for Show People suggests large vehicle traffic movements and a further extension to the commercial premises that have already been added on that side of the road all of which is located in close proximity to the surrounding residential area.

Increasing the number of houses would mean a truly massive increase in the volume of traffic which will only be able to use the A3, Send Road and travelling through Ripley, all of which are unsuitable for the level of traffic associated with such a development in the vicinity of these two villages.

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause log jams of these villages. Current traffic movements struggle to keep moving especially in the peak times of school delivery, pick up and commuting through to the M25. On many occasions at 5 pm traffic gets backed up from the A3 down to the village of Ripley and I spend 40 mins waiting to get through Ripley. Your proposals would make a bad situation worse in relation to traffic, pollution and safety with several primary schools in the area.

1. Garlick’s Arch (A43) should not be extended or even developed with the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being removed from the Green Belt, as required by the National Planning Policy.

1. I object to the allocation of 6 Traveling Show people sites in A34 Garlick’s Arch

The allocation of 6 Travelling Show people plots is the designated formula for 1500-1999 homes on the same site according to the 2017 Local Plan. There should be no inclusion of any Travelling Show people plots in A43 Garlicks Arch as this development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.

1. The inclusion of site A58 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch

I further object to the Garlicks Arch site because if A58 Burt Common site and development at Gosden Hill Farm is also granted then the A3 corridor from Burpham to Ripley will be over developed and it will simply join up a sprawling set of developments. These in turn will lead to greater traffic density, slower journey times as well as increasing safety concerns for an infrastructure which cannot support this level of traffic.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

The plan lacks any infrastructure proposals to support all the development. There are no proposed plans to upgrade roads or introduce new roads or links, and it is simply a plan of building additional housing and commercial facilities but expecting the current road system to support more traffic which it is incapable of doing.

I object to this proposal A58 Burnt Common which is not defined and therefore open to interpretation. Any development of that type and on that scale will again impact the road infrastructure on the edge of two villages, Send and Ripley. In any case the need for them is unclear especially when there seems to be spare capacity at Slyfield industrial estate which is much more appropriate and already an established industrial estate.

1. I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

There are clearly serious pollution issues to be considered as well as a massive increase in commercial traffic bringing the waste in and out.

I object the change in policy on affordable homes (Policy 4.2.23)

The previous version of the plan stated that “Developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value”.

The 2017 version says:  Off-site provision or payment in lieu is expected to enable the same amount of additional affordable housing as would have been delivered on site.

If the developer simply builds the development they want and then makes a cash payment to the council for the affordable houses the developer does not build, how does this help Guildford Borough Council build affordable housing? This would appear to prejudice the younger generation and those needing this urgently sought type of housing.

I object to removing Send Business Park from the Green Belt (4.3.15). There can be no justification for its removal from the Green Belt, and indeed GBC have not even attempted one. Send Business Park is a very small collection of local businesses in a very rural area in the Green Belt. Therefore no “exceptional circumstances”, as required by the NPPF can be claimed. If further development is made on this Business Park then I would alert you to the same points made earlier for point 1, Clockbarn Nursery site with regard to traffic and pollution issues.

1. I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

I do not understand why you have formulated a plan that is so very and unfairly biased against the North East of the Guildford Borough with the removal of site A46 from the Plan (with its proposed 1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the borough the Plan.

You propose that 40.6% (4613) of the 11350 homes should be built and be within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles, this is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

Transport (road, rail and parking), medical, educational and shopping facilities are already under strain. Increased volumes of traffic that would arise from the proposals have the potential to generate considerable hazards to local schools, pedestrians and junctions not least increasing pollution levels. The Raleigh School is oversubscribed and the Medical Centre is inundated. The addition of a significant number of new dwellings to the area would be unsustainable.

• It is my understanding that the 2014 draft local plan was created using estimates of population growth that were inaccurate as evidenced by later Office for National Statistics data. This generated plans for excessive housing provision of high density that would have had serious impact on the unique rural characteristics of the villages of East and West Horsley should the plan have been approved. The current 2016 proposal has increased the number of proposed buildings based on undisclosed data which raises concern over the validity of the plans. As they stand such high numbers will have a devastating impact on the villages. Any plans should be revisited in the light of affirmed new data and revised accordingly.

• I believe that the rationale for building on the green belt requires exceptional circumstances.
• The need for additional housing should not be used by the borough council to justify inappropriate development of the greenbelt when there are alternative options that could be considered. Guildford is currently undergoing its own review and first call should be given to brownfield and other developed sites where there is an already established infrastructure to support further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Guildford Borough Council 2016 Draft Local Plan Response to Consultation

I wish to object to the Draft Local Plan in its present form.

It does not seem to me that the revised Local Plan as it affects the two villages of West and East Horsley has paid any attention to comments made during the consultation in 2014 relating to the previous draft and the principal objections remain much the same.

The Green Belt and Insetting of Village Boundaries

The draft Plan proposes that the Horsleys are both removed from the Green Belt (with other villages) and that the settlement boundaries be extended at the same time. This is required to enable the unsustainable volume of housing proposed to be built in the two Horsleys over the period of the Plan. It is ironic that Policy P2 states "We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development" when the draft Local Plan does nothing of the sort.

The NPPF requires "exceptional" circumstances for changing the present Green Belt boundaries but there are none to be found in the Local Plan in its present draft to justify the multiple changes proposed to the Green Belt boundaries around the villages.

The draft Plan provides for more new housing than before and would add some 384 new houses to West Horsley over the period of the Plan - an increase in housing of 35% in the one village. West Horsley is a parish in which housing is at a low density and in which there are a number of historic buildings of significant interest. There is no evidence in the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-31 document to support the location of such a large number of houses in the Horsleys or nearby villages. It is even less comprehensible given that the economic development site proposals are on the other side of the Borough - unless it is intended for commuter occupation, which then throws the spotlight on the lack of proposals for improvement of transport links and supporting infrastructure.

The sites allocated for development within West Horsley are wholly inappropriate for development. Each must be challenged for its adverse impact on the village, whether on economic, social or environmental scale.

I object to the Local Plan proposals for insetting the Horsley's from the Green Belt and the extension of the village boundaries at the same time. Each proposed development site needs to be removed from the Local Plan for reassessment.

Sustainability

Policy S2 in the Local Plan proposes a total of 13800 new houses for the Borough although, of these, only 12698 have been allocated. As stated above, West Horsley has been allocated 384 new houses. In West Horsley there is one small shop near the A246 with very limited parking nearby. It is reported that it may close later this year. There is no Post Office and only a limited bus service. Most of West Horsley therefore relies heavily on East Horsley for shopping and public transport in the form of trains, which means that much traffic relies on East Lane for access to these facilities.

The density of new houses proposed for the four sites in West Horsley is much higher than elsewhere in the village and, given the likely layout, will be wholly out of character with the existing settlement and actually contribute to the irreparable damaging of that character.

They will impose an almost impossible burden on existing services and amenities from school places to medical services, from drainage to sewerage, from parking at the shops and railway station to public transport capacities. The roads in the two Horsley parishes are in large part narrow lanes, which simply do not have the capacity to carry a greatly increased number of vehicles. There is no justification given for imposing a far greater percentage volume of new housing in West Horsley than on other villages in the Borough or within Guildford itself. The main artery running through the village of West Horsley to East Horsley, The Street and East Lane, is already busy such that, at certain times, the junction with Ockham Toad North becomes almost impassable. The developments proposed can only exacerbate these volumes of traffic and increase the times of day when this junction becomes ever more difficult.

It is difficult not to conclude that the Local Plan merely aims in this regard to tick the box marked 'housing numbers' rather than to provide any serious appreciation of actual need or sustainability.

Quite apart from the sites proposed with West Horsley, there is one on the boundary with East Horsley and within that parish for which 100 houses have been allocated. Access appears to be from the Ockham Road just by the railway bridge, which gives rise to visions of impenetrable traffic at what is already a pinch point on that road, all of which will also affect West Horsley in a major way. Equally, the proposal to include in the local Plan the site at the former Wisley Airfield just up the road at Ockham with its proposals for 2068 houses will have, if ever realised, ill have untold knock on effects on sustainability across the Horsleys.

The housing numbers proposed in the Local Plan come from a Strategic Housing Market Assessment generated from a mathematical model devised by consultants the basis of which is not explained in the Plan or supporting documents and apparently has not even been disclosed to the Borough Council either. This housing target has then been increased by the Borough Council to project a population increase 70% higher than the official national estimate for the Borough. This clearly needs further assessment and enquiry as well as explanation and clarity.

West Horsley Parish Council carried its own survey of housing need with Surrey Community Action Housing in 2014 and identified a need for 20 affordable homes for local people who want to stay in the village. There is nothing in the Local Plan which indicates that, if any housing is built in either of the Horsleys in accordance with its proposals, it will be of the kind actually required by the villages.

The recent proposal for the creation of a SANG in Long Reach in West Horsley (not in the Local Plan as such) would hardly compensate for the loss of real amenity and countryside resulting from further development in the immediate area. Managed space in the form of what amounts to an urban park does not replace actual countryside that has been built over.

I object to the lack of provision for sustainability, be it in housing, transport or in other aspects of the current draft of the Local Plan.

District Centre

The designation of East Horsley Station Parade as a District Centre, which would open it to wholly inappropriate forms of development for a village centre is a misunderstanding of the nature and scale of Station Parade and its place in East Horsley.

Transport

The proposed density of new housing in the parishes of West and East Horsley will impose an almost impossible burden on the present road network, much of which consists of narrow country lanes, and on public transport. Parking at East Horsley station is virtually full now as are the trains at peak times. The bus service is fairly rudimentary. If the proposal for the former Wisley Airfield ever goes ahead there is a prospect of near gridlock on the roads, insufficient parking at the station and at the shops in East Horsley. There is nothing in the Local Plan which proposes any positive development to meet increases in population - only pious wishes. The idea that developers will be expected to propose and secure "travel plans" for each development and contribute to transport arrangements is so weak as to be laughable. We need positive plans to meet any such population increase as part of any development strategy.

I object to the Local Plan in its present form for lack of clear transport proposals.

School Places

There is a distinct lack of school places in West Horsley. The Raleigh School is full every year and there is clearly no room for the likely number of children that would require places if the proposed developments come to pass. Even if the school moves site, as has been proposed, this is not going to happen in sufficient time to solve the places problem and in its own way will add to the other problems under discussion - especially road traffic. Howard of Effingham places are limited and, in any event, create transport requirements. Places at the two private schools in The Horsleys are well patronised and all the schools already have their own traffic problems for the villages.

There is no specific provision in the Local Plan for an increase in school places and is deficient in the respect. I object to this lack of policy, which is a necessity if increasing the population in the villages.

Medical Facilities

The existing practice in East Horsley is almost at capacity. The planned population increase exceeds Government ONS forecasts and the knock on effect across the Borough means that some enlargement of the Royal Surrey Hospital will also soon be necessary. The Infrastructure Development Plan only refers to a possible extension to the medical practice in East Horsley.

This is not joined up thinking in any way and if developments are to be proposed, I object to the lack of policy in this area.

Drainage

The size of developments proposed will impose a burden on the current drainage infrastructure. This does not work well now - I understand that there have already been sewerage overflow problem in the Ockham Road North/Green Lane area. Surface water drainage across the West Horsley Parish is already overloaded when ever there is a heavy downpour and any prolonged rain brings flooding very quickly. More development will create more surface water run off and add to the problems. A serious upgrade across the two villages will be necessary if these developments are to take place.

I understand that Thames Water has already advised Guildford Borough Council that the area's waste water network is unlikely to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed developments. I further understand that the foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will need to be upgraded to cope. Thames Water requires a 2-3 year lead time to deal with this after it has obtained the necessary planning permissions to do the work.

I object to the lack of any positive proposals in this area of infrastructure. It is not plausible to propose the developments set out in the Local Plan without providing for the requisite improvements to infrastructure.

I object strongly to the draft Local Plan in its current form as it affects the Horsleys for the reasons stated.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I write to object to the inclusion of this site yet again in the latest draft of the Local Plan as a strategic site for development.

I find it almost farcical that, having rejected the last planning application for this site decisively a few weeks ago on clear and logical grounds, the site appears yet again in the draft Local Plan with much the same proposal for development attached to it.

What has changed in that few weeks or is it that the Borough Council is in desperate need of housing numbers to put in the box marked new houses required by the Government and this satisfies some of that requirement? There is scant regard for any of the requirements for building in the Green Belt, for the effects on local roads and transport infrastructure, for the local environment, for the increased risk of flooding, schooling or health support - the very reasons on which the last application was rejected.

The arguments against building in the Green Belt remain the same. Removal of the site from the Green Belt can only be made on exceptional circumstances and the Local Plan provides no clues as to what these may be. Unfulfilled housing need is not an exceptional circumstance for these purposes.

I also object to the inclusion of this site on the grounds of poor sustainability. It has no transport links or other services, no schooling, shopping or medical services all of which will have to be provided from the existing already overburdened services elsewhere or provided from new. The number of houses proposed will inevitably generate a massive increase in vehicle use of narrow roads and add to the existing problems at the A3/M25 junction 10. At two cars per dwelling average, there will be an increase of some 4000 extra vehicles on local roads. The further addition of passengers on the trains at East Horsley and Effingham stations will be difficult to manage as there is almost no excess parking available at either station now. The same difficulty will arise in relation to parking at the shops in East Horsley.

As the area immediately surrounding the site is prone to flooding, any development will require very extensive improvements to surface and waste water infrastructure to cope with the increased surface water run off and increased need for sewerage. The existing infrastructure will simply not cope with such an increase in population.

The proposal is out of keeping with the established pattern of development in the area. Ockham village currently numbers 159 dwellings and its present setting will effectively disappear. The proposed development would be the largest in Guildford Borough other than Guildford itself. Density would be about 49 dwellings per hectare. East Horsley is presently the largest settlement outside Guildford town, having 1760 homes at a density of 8.1 dwellings per hectare. The disparity is stark and it is clear that the proposed development is wholly out of local context and even appears to breach Guildford Borough Council's own proposed Housing Policy (H1).

I object to the allocation of housing in this part of the Borough. 23% of the Local Plan's new housing is proposed in the localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys and of this 65% is allocated to the former Wisley Airfield. This is disproportionate in relation to the Borough as a whole.

I object to the policy A35 and the proposed development at the former Wisley Airfield and ask that it be removed from the Local Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
The designation of East Horsley Station Parade as a District Centre is clearly an error of judgement as it would open it to wholly inappropriate forms of development for a village centre.

The lack of primary school places in West Horsley is already clear. The Raleigh School is already full every year. Howard of Effingham secondary places are also limited and, in any event, create transport requirements. Medical Facilities

The existing practice in East Horsley is almost at capacity now. The proposed population increase in the Local Plan across the Borough exceeds Government ONS forecasts. It must also mean that some enlargement of the Royal Surrey Hospital will also soon be necessary. Against all of these obvious consequences of the proposed developments, the Infrastructure Development Plan only refers to a possible extension to the medical practice in East Horsley.

I object to the lack of policy in this area.

Drainage

The size of developments proposed will impose a burden on the current drainage infrastructure. I understand that there have already been sewerage overflow problems in the Ockham Road North/Green Lane area. Surface water drainage across the West Horsley Parish is already overloaded as can be seen during any heavy downpour and prolonged rain brings flooding very quickly. The consequence of more development is more surface water run off which will compound the problems. A serious upgrade across the two villages is necessary now and will be essential if these developments are to take place.
I understand that Thames Water has already advised Guildford Borough Council that the area's waste water network is unlikely to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed developments. I further understand that the foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will need to be upgraded to cope and that Thames Water requires a 2-3 year lead time to deal with this after it has obtained the necessary planning permissions to do the work.

I object to the lack of any positive proposals in this area of infrastructure. It is not credible to propose the developments set out in the Local Plan without putting forward positive proposals for the requisite improvements to infrastructure. Pious hope is purely political expediency.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have already stated that the proposed density of new housing in the parishes of West and East Horsley will greatly increase the problems of the present road network, much of which consists of narrow country lanes, and of public transport. There is little or no excess parking at East Horsley station now. The trains are full at peak times and the bus service is fairly rudimentary. Add to this the proposal for the former Wisley Airfield and there is a prospect of near gridlock on the roads and insupportable conditions at the amenities and services in the two villages. There is nothing in the Local Plan which proposes any positive development to meet increases in population - only pious wishes. The concept of developers being expected to propose and secure "travel plans" for each development and contribute to transport arrangements can only be ineffective and weak. A proper development strategy would put forward positive plans to meet such an enormous population increase.

I object to the Local Plan in its present form for lack of clear transport proposals.

The Green Belt and Insetting of Village Boundaries

The draft Plan proposes that the Horsleys are both removed from the Green Belt (with other villages) and that the settlement boundaries be extended at the same time. The NPPF requires "exceptional" circumstances for changing the present Green Belt village boundaries but the draft Local Plan provides none to justify changes to existing boundaries. Policy P2 states "We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development". This is the opposite of what is being proposed.

The draft Plan would increase housing by 35% in West Horsley by adding some 384 new houses over the period of the Plan. Current housing in West Horsley is at a low density and there is no evidence in the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-31 document to support the location of such a large number of new houses in the Horsleys or nearby villages. Economic development site proposals are on the other side of the Borough which suggests that the new housing is intended for commuter occupation with attendant pressure on transport links and supporting infrastructure for which there are no specific proposals.

None of the sites allocated for development within West Horsley are appropriate for development because of the adverse impact on the village of each on economic, social and environmental scale grounds.

For these reasons I object to the Local Plan proposals for insetting the Horsley's from the Green Belt and the extension of the village boundaries at the same time.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As stated above, West Horsley has been allocated 384 new houses. In West Horsley there is one small shop near the A246 and no Post Office. Transport links are limited and the railway is located at East Horsley. Most of West Horsley therefore relies heavily on East Horsley for shopping and public transport in the form of trains, which means that access is via East Lane.

The Local Plan imposes a far greater percentage volume of new housing in West Horsley than on other villages in the Borough or even within Guildford itself and provides no justification for this. New housing density proposed in West Horsley is much higher than elsewhere in the village and will therefore be wholly out of character with what exists now.

The extra population will impose a further burden on existing services and amenities making them less accessible and more difficult to use. The roads in the two Horsley parishes do not have the capacity to carry a greatly increased number of vehicles, for which one must assume an average of two cars per new house. The Street and East Lane provide the main access from West Horsley to East Horsley and the junction with Ockham Road North is already clogged at peak times, especially in school term times. The developments proposed can only exacerbate these volumes of traffic and increase the times of day when this junction becomes ever more difficult.
In addition, there is one proposed site for development in East Horsley but on the boundary with West Horsley to which 100 houses have been allocated. Access appears to be from the Ockham Road just by the railway bridge at a wholly unsuitable point on the road and the traffic from this must also affect West Horsley in a major way. Another proposal in the local Plan retaining the site at the former Wisley Airfield just up the road at Ockham for a huge development of over 2000 houses will have, if ever realised, knock on effects on sustainability across the Horsleys. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment from which housing numbers are generated derive from a mathematical model devised by consultants, the basis of which has not even been disclosed to the Borough Council and is not explained in the Plan or supporting documents. The actual housing target is even higher and the Borough Council projects a population increase 70% higher than the official national estimate for the Borough. This clearly does not make sense and must be explained. Why can we not know the methodology behind the mathematical model?

West Horsley Parish Council with Surrey Community Action Housing carried out a survey of housing need in 2014 and identified a need for 20 affordable homes for local people who want to stay in the village. What guarantee is there that, if any housing is built in either of the Horsleys in accordance with the Local Plan proposals, it will be of the kind actually required or desired by the villages?

I object to the lack of provision for sustainability in the Local Plan in practically all its aspects as they affect the Horsleys.

Proposed Gargantuan Development of West Horsley (70% plus)

My objections are as follows-

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated in order to allow you to take the Horsleys out the Greenbelt.

Extension of boundaries of settlement areas of the Horsleys -no good reasons have been given for these proposed changes which appear to be aimed at increasing land available within the settlements for future excessive development.

All our infrastructure is already on overload, local schools are full, medical facilities seriously stretched. drainage inadequate, car parks and roads already overloaded with next 10 no room for improvement.

Development of 2,000 houses in Ockham would ruin this beautiful area and the impact on the Horsleys of such a massive mixed housing, retail, commercial, travelers and schools development, so close would be enormous.

Doubts about housing numbers -I understand this envisages an increase of 70% higher than the official national estimates for population growth in this borough. This is very worrying.
Wildlife- their habitat is going to be seriously reduced. Bees for example, are falling in numbers and they are vital to human existence.

Trains to London are already overloaded and insufficient in number to take the number of commuters that need the service.

It is vital that we have countryside close to London for the Londoners to visit and enjoy. Given that one in five of us could have mental illness in our lifetimes, green open spaces are vital to us all to give us a sense of peace and tranquility. This was mentioned on a BBC programmer - a certain study group has stated the extreme importance of our green open spaces.

Farming - I believe that our fields will be needed for food in future years, and once built on, will then not usable for such purpose for some time. I say this in connection with climate change and the various disasters around the world which seem to be increasing in frequency. I gather the likelihood is that this trend will continue and we are bound to be affected at some point, however far in the future that might be.

Brownfield sites in Guildford - gather there are many unused, including several sites on Walnut Tree Close. This is a shame given its proximity to Guildford Station.

This is democracy - Government by the people for the people. Please listen to us.

Now that Brexit has taken place, numbers of immigrants are likely to be reduced and we should be very careful about how much development we allow, in case we end up with an oversupply of housing. We also need to remember this is an island, and not a continent.

I am very disturbed to hear of your proposals to extend the village boundary on Silkmore Lane in order to grant development rights.

I believe it is essential to keep this village in the green belt and to maintain its rural character. It is too beautiful to spoil. I also think that in the future we will need the fields for growing food and there is also the wildlife to consider. There are many deer, rabbits and other creatures who will lose their habitat because of your plans and this would be a great shame. This is their home too after all.

The amount of houses you have plans to build is also a cause for strong objection and concern. The character of the Horsleys would be changed and ruined forever which would be a tragedy. People from London and surrounding suburbia also need the countryside to visit and relax in. I hope you will take my objections seriously.

A46 Normandy and Flexford ‘Strategic Site’

I object most strongly the above strategic site because of the disproportionate scale of the proposed development in relation to the size of the existing settlement areas Normandy and Flexford. A46 is unjustified and will destroy our rural environment where we have chosen to live.

This strategic site was not proposed or considered in the first consultation. In 2014 this site, although it is environmentally sensitive was proposed as ‘safeguarded’ in 2014’s Draft Plan. It was never removed from the Green Belt because ‘exceptional circumstances’ were not demonstrated or approved by the inspectorate, even though GBC employees think it is already safeguarded.

A boundary has been drawn around A46 and inset, however, in the Solihull ruling, boundaries cannot be drawn around land sections and urbanised. The change to the boundary has not been justified. Normandy and Flexford’s ‘needs’ have not been decided by the residents’ but imposed on them by Planning Policy and the Planning Executive.

The above proposed development is on Metropolitan Greenbelt and is outside the settlement area. The essential characteristics of the Green Belt are the ‘openness and permanence’. (Also applies to A47/A49) A development of 1,100 residential units a parade of shops, a primary school, a secondary school, a residential home or care home for 60 residents, the Borough’s allocation of showman plots with yards for machinery and storage, and extra 8 flats in Glaziers Lane access area, 8 flats with extended car parking facilities at the station will permanently destroy Normandy and Flexford’s rural environment.

The west of the Borough is under continual encroachment by creeping urbanisation. No special circumstances have been identified which would clearly outweigh the substantial harm to the greenbelt. GBC reject that the land proposed for Policy A46 fails to contribute to the “openness” of the Green Belt, however on four separate occasions the inspectorate's verdict has recognised the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt. The Plan ignores the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt.

This large development is only 800m from the TBHSPA so is within the 400m - 5km zone of protection. The TBHSPA contains a SSSI recognised as some of the key Natura 2000 European sites. A46 will exacerbate all 5 threats. The 5 key threats have a high rating status, air pollution, human intrusion disturbance, no funded management plan, recreational us (dog walking causing disturbance), species composition change. There is no evidence proving SANG attracts dog walkers away from the TBHSPA and there is no evidence that funding will be available to ensure that the SANG will be maintained in the future. The number of dogs and dog walkers using the latest proposed SANG by the developer will turn it into a mud bath during the winter months, in comparison the dry TBHSPA will encourage dog walkers to use that instead. Over 1,100 residential homes will have a detrimental impact on this fragile SSSI habitat through dog walking and an increase in recreational activities. Natural England is against this strategic site.

GBC should have considered all the Habitats Regulations when assessing A46. It has not.

GBC should have applied constraints when calculating the overall housing target (already controversial) because of the TBHSPA, Greenbelt and AONB but has chosen not to do so but is instead compromising designated wildlife, designated habitats for development. Any development within the protection zone of the TBHSPA should be ‘restricted’ according to the NPPF. A46 is not.
The location, scale and high density form of this development significantly differs with the linear characteristics of existing development in Flexford and Normandy. The above development will destroy the green approach to Westwood Lane from the A323.

Normandy has lost all five shops due to the change in residents shopping habits (they were not supported) so closed because they were no longer economically viable. Residents now have the convenience of having shopping delivered to their doorstep via the internet or from the milkman (Milk and More) with a wide choice of basics again delivered to their doorstep. Although the development offers retail, historically it will not survive in Normandy because it will not be supported by locals. There is no need. Normandy and Flexford are only 6 miles away from any of the major supermarkets and there are also excellent Cooperative’s in Ash, Ash Wharf and Rydes Hill. How many more shops do you need? People chose to live here because of the rural location not because of shops or lack of pubs.

Flexford and Normandy is sandwiched between Surrey Hills AONB and Ash and Pirbright Ranges TBHSPA therefore, both settlements should remain ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt as stated in NPPF para.86 “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt”. A46 between Flexford and Normandy is the only panoramic view of the Hog’s Back (Surrey Hills) on the West of the Borough. Both the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and Surrey Hills are being encroached by the high density building in Ash and Tongham.

Policy D4 states that, ‘new development within inset villages will have particular regard to ‘important views of the village from the surrounding landscape’. The urbanisation of A46 proposal will impact on news from the Surrey Hills AONB during daylight hours and light pollution during darkness. There is no ‘important relationship between A46, the built development and the surrounding landscape’.

Inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstances. (NPPF) A46 is harmful to the Green Belt. When considering any planning in Green Belt LPA should ensure that substantial weigh is given to any harm to the Green Belt. ‘Very special circumstances’ will not exist unless the potential harm to the Green Belt by reason of inappropriateness, and any other harm, is clearly outweighed by other considerations (NPPF).

Green Belt in planning practice guidance states, ‘Unmet housing need (including traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the ‘very special circumstances’ justifying inappropriate development on a site within Green Belt (NPPF)

A46 has been proposed as a suitable site for a new Secondary School even though Normandy and Flexford is not attached to a urban area. A school has not been proven or justified.

In its last submission to GBC (July 2014) Surrey County Council, in its official response, said: "A site within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm, with all necessary access infrastructure built in and a catchment surrounding the site, would be a more sustainable location in transport terms for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford." Guildford Borough Council has chosen to ignore this statement.

GBC have not supplied evidence on how a school in a rural location will be financed.

There is a capacity of 1,216 already with a number of schools with plenty of room to expand in the future, with approved expansions at the County School, Guildford and St Peter already in place.

The birthrate in Guildford has fallen over the past two years.
The case for a new secondary school in Normandy is therefore not justified.

GBC are planning to build 450 homes before a new school is even considered. This is not appropriate development of the Green Belt.

Traffic is a huge problem in this area. This can be backed up by Surrey County Council’s traffic simulations. The roads are very congested and are working well over their intended capacity. More traffic will only exacerbate this problem. Site 46 is located well beyond the existing confines of any urban area restricting the potential for sustainable travel. The existence of Wanborough Railway Station is only of a marginal benefit. Access from A46 will join C and D class roads. The traffic generated by A46 and the primary, secondary schools by 1,500 pupils and 200 staff will put enormous strain in this area. There would be access issues relating to visibility and safety for pedestrians and cyclists, which could be difficult to resolve given that the roads are fundamentally rural roads, and the existing structures of the Westwood Lane Railway bridge and the Glaziers Lane railway Road bridge. The restricted headroom of the Westwood Lane bridge would also prohibit double decker buses from accessing the proposed school.

In 2013 the development of 3,850 dwellings (population of approx. 9,000) in Aldershot was approved by Rushmoor Bourough Council and is situated about 4 miles from Normandy. The development, over a 15 year period, includes two primary schools, and the provision of a SANG and many other provisions.

Guildford BC responded to the plan in 2013 (ref: 13/P/00108) and in that said that GBC objected to the application on the grounds that insufficient information had been provided to allow a full assessment on the impact of that development on the highways network and said "the impact on Surrey's network and mitigation required has not been established". In its response to that planning application, Hampshire County Council, dealing with Highways and Transport issues, hardly referred to the A323. This proves the lack of communications between communities.

There is no evidence to whether the water companies can even supply the infrastructure needed for such a large developments. Will there even be enough water for the approx 40,000+ homes in a 10 mile radius? Worrying! Will there be enough gas, electricity, drainage, sewage issues. WHERE IS THE EVIDENCE!!

The garden argument is often used by developers, however the fragmentation of our ancient woodlands (only 4% of ancient woodland is left in the UK) grasslands and hedgerows is having a devastating impact on our bird, mammal and insect populations. Even our most common species are now in danger. Destroying this precious habitat on A46 exacerbate this issue.

A46 will take 15 years to build. Existing homes border the entire site. We as residents will be subjected to living around a building site for 15 years, putting up with site traffic. The continual noise and pollution generated by the developer will be excessive. Planning Policy has not fully considered the location of the site and the traffic impact of A46 will have on this rural community. This will lead to stress and health issues.

The Plan should have taken into account the residents ‘needs’ of Flexford and Normandy, it does not. A46 is ‘unsustainable’ and inappropriate development of the Green Belt. The Plan is not just, fair or acceptable. It is designed to impact on a few communities because it is easier for Planning Policy to develop a few ‘strategic sites’, rather than sensible development throughout the Borough which will not impact on infrastructure.
The same core principles of the NPPF apply to A47/A49 including lack of infrastructure, traffic congestion, environmental implications, flooding the Greenbelt, the THBSPA and the AONB.

I object to Policy D1 and D2. This is a weak Policy because no thought or vision has been attached to conservation areas or historic value which makes an area unique. By building outside the Town Centre and urban area, The Plan encourages congestion on our road network so I can't see how the reduction of the Borough's footprint is actually going to work. building outside the Town Centre and urban areas is not sustainable development and will not reduce the carbon footprint. The roads will just become more and more congested because all of the development is outside of the town and urban areas. Any changes to the way energy infrastructure is supplied should be made to the Town and urban areas first because high density building uses more energy.

I strongly object to Policy D4, inset villages. This policy totally destroys the character of each individual, unique village. My village is inset in the Plan. A46 Normandy and Flexford strategic site that nobody in the village wants! This is a developer led proposal and decision made by Planning Policy and the Executive. It has nothing to do with objectively assess need. This policy is flawed. The housing targets are unsustainable, have not been scrutinised or evaluated and in comparison to every other council in the area are overwhelmingly high. There is no brownfield policy so areas around Guildford Town Centre and the urban area will not be recycled or regenerated even though brownfield sites should be redeveloped first. 89% of development will instead be directed to the Green Belt. This is inappropriate development of the Green Belt. 40% of the housing is supposed to be affordable, however if the development is not viable to the developer, they will not have to build them.

I object to policies E2 and E4. Surrey Research Park has already been granted permission to expand by a further 14%. This 14% has not yet been developed. However, The Plan proposes another large expansion even though there is already enough land to last the life time of this Plan. In 2015 Land and Assessment the ‘need’, growth was forecast at 11.9%. There is already permission granted 14%, which is enough to cover the 11.9% growth forecast. It is therefore inappropriate to propose another huge expansion ion green belt when it is not justified or required. Again the existing growth forecast should be reduced due to the referendum.

I object to Policy E5. The Green Belt should not be used for town uses. Any large development is inappropriate in size and relation to rural locations. This Policy does not fit within the NPPF core principles of openness and permanence of Green Belt. It is not acceptable. What would be useful is decent broadband in rural areas so people can use it to enhance their businesses in the rural economy, however, The Plan's has opted for second best.

I object to Policy E6. The Plan's pro development extends to our countryside as well. Visitors facilities and attractions will turn our stunning countryside into fake Theme Parks which after a few years will be tatty and derelict with no funding. In the short term it will damage existing businesses, evident in other areas of the country where they got it wrong. The rural areas around the Borough is Surrey's most precious asset but The Plan's unsustainable vision will ruin what resident's value the most, the countryside for its NATURAL beauty enjoyed by people who bird watch, enjoy wildlife, experiencing forests, the pleasure of bluebell woodlands, walkers, cyclists, leisure, countryside pursuits and horse riding and a person's wellbeing.

Tourism is a growing industry however The Plan does not protect Green Belt, the AONB, wildlife, The Surrey Hills, the North Down's, Hogs Back, LGV's, SPA, SSSI's or the TBHSPA. To succeed in the future Guildford must exploit its Historic side with its historic architecture. Don't listen to councillors who suggest a one off iconic building. In the past they've ended up on the short list for the worst building in Great Britain.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to Policy E7 because the 40% increase in retail is out of line with the demise of bricks and mortar retail shopping. By 2020 The British Consortium expects a one third decline in retail jobs due to the 13% increase in Internet retail. The continual increase in rents, running costs, the increase in the minimum wage, changing patterns in shopping make it necessary for retailers to expand their internet side of their business. The recent closures of well known brands highlight the changes in our shopping habits. So people spend it is essential more homes are needed in Guildford. Retail space needs to be significantly reduced. GBC put a Waitrose in the middle of Guildford, so now people drive in collect their shopping and drive out. They don't wander around the Town Centre, a huge mistake. The Guildford Farmers Market is struggling with at least 6 stallholders not returning this year and North Street Market that buzzed on Saturdays is feeling the Waitrose effect. If you don't build homes in the Town and surrounding urban area, Guildford will continue to decline. Look what happened to Aldershot when they built a shopping centre and a giant car park, lost its market town identity by demolishing the homes for a carbuncle in the middle of it. All the small quirky shops left.

Tunsgate is another example of a disaster waiting to happen. Guildford Planning must sort out their brownfield register urgently. A number of investors have already pulled out of the regeneration of North Street because they know it's not economically viable. Don't make Guildford look like every other boring uninteresting town with the same large franchises so it looks like everywhere else.

The Plan must address the regeneration of Guildford Town Centre and the urban areas first before destroying the rural countryside. (Planning guidance from the government, brownfield sites should be developed first).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy E8 and E9 putting new Local Centres in rural areas. It is not sustainable. We are surrounded by retail we can have products and food delivered to our doorsteps, we do not need more. The Plan is only using Local Centres as an excuse to build large numbers of homes on Green Belt. This is inappropriate development and does not follow the core principles of the NPPF. Existing Local centres are struggling because people shop for what they need on the way home from work, during lunch breaks or use internet shopping. Even our major supermarkets are struggling and the convenience store market is rapidly become saturated as major stores jump on the band wagon.

In Normandy and Flexford we originally had 5 shops and two pubs. They closed because they were not economically viable. We had mobile vans knocking on doors or parked in locations around the village. Again they were not economically viable. How many times do you drive past brown signs with Local Shops pointing into estates. This suggests Local Shops need passing trade to survive. Local Centres are not viable they are struggling in an over saturated market.
GBC’s housing targets have not been scrutinised or evaluated because they do not hold the model on which they are based. The Brexit result has not been taken into account and will have an effect on growth forecasts.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy H1/Policy H2

This Plan is pro ‘growth’ and does not objectively assess the ‘need’ of rural villages in the greenbelt, the urban areas or the town centre. How can homes for all be considered when the SHMA has not been scrutinised or evaluated. The housing numbers are staggeringly high in comparison to other borough councils. GBC already have the highest proportion of traveller sites than any other borough council especially west of the borough. A46 has been chosen to allocate all of the borough’s showman sites. A47 proposes to make a temporary license permanent so adding another 6 traveller site to the west of the borough.

Guildford has always been expensive and unaffordable. The University of Surrey has never built the student accommodation to alleviate pressure from rented accommodation around Guildford.

I object to Policy H1/Policy H2.

Policy H3

To build rural exception homes the NPPF states the need to prove ‘exceptional circumstances’ and local ‘need’. Policy 3 means that any type of home can be built on a rural exception site, including commercial housing near a settlement area. This is a breach of the NPPF. Residents of rural exception homes should have a connection to the village and should not include residents from around the borough or on the housing waiting list. I object to The Plan’s interpretation of Policy H3.

I object to Policy 12. This document was not available before The Plan went to consultation, by a majority vote at full council. The transport strategy only deals with 'strategic roads' M25 and A3. There is no funding available for any improvements to either. The Plan envisages an A3 tunnel which is exceptionally expensive and will never be built during the life of this Plan or most likely the next. This means major strategic sites will go ahead approx 6,000 new homes needing to access to the strategic roads, but will be unable to, so the traffic will affect all the surrounding villages. The A323 which will also have increased commuter traffic due to the 4,000 planned homes in Aldershot, 4 miles away will impact on our road network, already working above their intended capacity. It will be a disaster. The Brexit vote has not been taken into consideration.

I object to Policy 13 because it is not realistic. It expects everyone to walk, cycle, glide down a river or use public transport. GBC will not be able to support this Policy because they do not control Public Transport. Private operators do and they have control of the timetables and fares. If the buses, trains or boats are not economically viable or not subsidised by SCC the operators will stop them. Not all public transport even goes where you need to go. How will we get to work and will residents be able to afford public transport. People can’t afford fares now, let alone in the future. This is a weak and unrealistic policy.

I object to policy 14. Insetting sites on Green Belt does not enhance biodiversity. It is destructive. Research shows our wildlife has drastically declined over the last 20 years to alarming levels, even our most common species are seriously under threat. Local councils and the government needs to really take this issue seriously. Insetting on agricultural land is a long term disaster, with an agricultural land shortage of 10% estimated by 2020. The damage being inflicted on our rural areas is at a tipping point.

It does not protect the Surrey Hills Area. GBC are weakening its protection with potential development if developers can prove ‘exceptional circumstances’. I object to P1.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy S1 is clearly pro development and the main thrust of GBC’s Local Plan. 693 dwellings proposed per year is ‘unsustainable’. It does not protect the greenbelt but instead proposes inappropriate development such as ‘strategic site’ A46 Normandy and Flexford, a site within two settlements, destroying the rural character of the area and the extinction of Flexford. GBC has made unsubstantiated claims that the overwhelming development of A46 will lead to an improvement in ‘sustainability’. GBC’s own data is confused, in the first consultation Normandy is treated as one settlement, in other data Normandy and Flexford are treated as two settlements. Planning Policy, not the residents of Normandy and Flexford have decided it will be treated as two settlements and by joining the two settlements together by an overwhelming development (715 homes, 385 flats, 1,500 place secondary school, a Primary School for 420 pupils, a residential or care home, a parade of shops and the Borough’s allocation of 6 showman pitches, an additional 8 flats by the station, 8 flats replacing the two homes in Glaziers Lane that will create a new access to A46 ) it will be sustainable. No it will not because there is no infrastructure. However, according to Policy S1 lack of infrastructure does not matter because it states, development applications will be approved regardless of sustainability.

This development does not reflect the ‘needs’ of the residents who live in Normandy and Flexford. This is clearly a profit making, developer led proposal (submitted on behalf of Taylor Wimpey 2 years ago to Planning). Core principals in the NPPF state “empowering local people to shape their surroundings… take account of the character of different areas… protecting the Green Belts around them… recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside”. These core principals have been ignored.

The NPPF 155 states, ‘early and meaningful’ engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations is essential’. No ‘meaningful engagement’ has been extended by Guildford Policy to residents who have chosen to live in a rural community will be seriously affected by A46. I strongly object to Policy S1.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

S2 Borough Wide Strategy

I object most strongly to S2, the growth of 693 dwellings per annum (a total of 13,860 dwellings). In 2010, the growth rate was set at 322 units per annum. In just six years this number has more than doubled. I am deeply concerned that the SHMA produced by G L Hearn has not been scrutinised properly by councillors. After watching the full council meeting in May there appeared to be a difference of opinion regarding the SHMA, whether it should be taken on trust because it was deemed ‘a professional document’ or whether G L Hearn should be invited in to discuss the document. The model on which the calculations are based is not even held by GBC so is not available for scrutiny.

Policy S2 is unacceptable especially as 89% of development proposed is in the greenbelt. I live only a few 100 metres away from ‘strategic site’ A46. I think it is an absolute disgrace that councillors have not scrutinised the core evidence they have based the Local Plan on. According to Planning Policy, it is easier to develop a few strategic sites within the Borough than spread development throughout the whole Borough. This does not follow the core principles of the NPPF. It is unjust, and does not ‘objectively assess the ‘needs’ of my rural community. This is an unelected decision made by Planning Policy. There is no infrastructure in place for a monstrous development of this size.

The Plan does not have a brown site policy, Only 1760 houses will be built in the Town Centre and urban areas. Surrey University has enough land available to accommodate all students on campus freeing up homes in Guildford for families and the results of the recent Brexit referendum were not even taken into consideration. The west of the Borough is already heavily urbanised and A46 will ensure another rural village is concreted over and destroyed.

GBC have refused to listen to residents concerns. I strongly object to Policy S2.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Question 1: No - The evidence base and submission documents are out of date, inconsistent, updated and designed to purposefully give an outcome and the core evidence, on which GBC has based all its decisions, the Strategic Housing Market Analysis is not transparent, has clearly not been scrutinised or evaluated. Residents’ genuine concerns regarding the housing forecasts have been ignored. Evidence has been rewritten and updated but it is impossible to keep up with changes because you don’t know where they are. Not all the evidence was ready before The Plan was passed at full council so there was no time for councillors to scrutinise the missing documents. The majority push The Plan to the next stage of the process. This was a disgraceful decision. Residents in my village had to use the Freedom of Information to request documentation. Every policy in the Plan is pro development and if cast in stone, not one of the policies would succeed in preventing inappropriate development within the Borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Question 2: No the proposed submission Local Plan strategy and sites as a whole is not legally compliant. Where is the brownfield policy and does GBC hold a register, a mandate of The Housing and Planning Act 2016? 70% of house building is in Greenbelt, so clearly does not follow the NPPF. Not all the evidence was ready before The Plan was passed at full council so there was no time for councillors to scrutinise the missing documents, worryingly the Infrastructure Report which impacts on all the ‘strategic sites’. The majority vote pushed The Plan to the next stage of the process. It was clear councillors were not happy with this decision raising genuine concerns in an attempt to protect the residents who elected them.

NPPF 119 has not been taken into consideration by Planning Policy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Question 3: No The Plan is not sound at all. No constraints have been applied to The Plan by Planning Policy. They have not considered the impact on the AONB, the TBHSPA, the Green Belt, the value of agricultural land, the road network, lack of infrastructure, flooding. None of these factors have considered. The decisions taken by GBC have been made by Planning Policy, not the people of the Borough.

The Plan should have included Rushmoor in its cross-boundary discussions, The 4,000 dwellings and 2 new Primary Schools (former Military Town) will have a massive impact on the west of the Borough and although building has begun in Aldershot apparently the infrastructure proposal are not yet published.

Site A46 is a developer led application in this Local Plan (LP). It is a developer taking a liberty and pushing the vague outline guidance in the NPPF. The GBC have just accepted this and plonked it into the LP without a proper assessment and it is clear as we go through each policy that this is the case. The vastness of the impact of Policy 46 will not prove a ‘secure development that improves the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area’. The considerations that follow in this objection will demonstrate that implementing this ‘would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in the NPPF’ and that the development does not comply as ‘sustainable’ in terms of the NPPF.

The NPPF also states ‘early and meaningful’ engagement is essential. In the case for Policy 46 this has not happened. There was no indication in the previous LP, that was subject to a Regulation 18 consultation process, that this site would be presented as a development site and therefore the due process of consulting on the LP has not been followed.

In fact I believe that the opportunity to share this information was wilfully ignored by the Leader of the GBC when he addressed a well-attended residents meeting in Normandy. The only reason the possibility of a development on the site was mentioned by Mr Spooner was in answer to a speculative question by a member of the audience. Otherwise he would have left the meeting deliberately in the dark about this developer proposal that was known for many months by GBC.

So the requirement or process for ‘early or meaningful engagement’ has not been followed by the GBC.

4.4.46 states ‘ We will support rural and agricultural initiatives that improve local services and facilities and contribute to the rural economy. We need to balance the creation of new business opportunities with the needs of the farming industry. Farming is an important contributor to therural economy; it can help to maintain the landscape, which helps to attract tourists, and helps to produce food locally.’

This site is farmed and used for hay. We cannot afford to lose agricultural land like this at a timewhere costs are rising post Brexit.

Henley Business Park - Listed as Strategic Employment Site
There is no evidence that the businesses based at Henley offer local jobs and therefore numbers of vehicles in the car parks are testament that no-one walks to this site. I would even hazard a guess that NOT ONE person working at any company based there walks to work. Access to this site is only realistically by road as the distance from any main housing is too great and the pavement access is very poor down a very fast and dark road.
Therefore even adding the new housing in Policy 46 will NOT make this a sustainable. So the evidence to make Henley Business Park a Sustainable Employment for the local community is not proven.

4.4.92 ‘Over the plan period, four new Local Centres are planned to be built at each of the strategic sites of Gosden Hill, the former Wisley airfield, Blackwell Farm and Normandy and Flexford. The precise location of each centre will be determined by planning application. Once built, these new local centres will be treated as local centres within the context of this Plan, and subsequently designated as new Local Centres in the next Local Plan review.

Worplesdon Road, Stoughton Ash Vale Parade, Ash The Street, Tongham
I cannot see how these already congested ‘local centres’ can be helped by the addition of attracting more traffic to new centres like Normandy and Flexford. GBC haven't shown how infrastructure costs can be met to alleviate the stress already on the sites.

‘Development will not be permitted within or adjacent to national sites unless it can be shown that doing so would not be harmful to the nature conservation interests of the site. Permission will not be granted for proposals that are likely to materially harm the nature conservation interests of local sites unless clear justification is provided that the need for development clearly outweighs the impact on biodiversity.’

The Friends of Normandy Wildlife who have locals experts in this field have produced an excellent response in this area and one that I cant surpass. What I can say it is would appear that an increase in pets, people, transport etc will have an adverse impact on the nature conservation of the area.

The NPPF states ‘no development in Green Belt unless exceptional circumstances can be demonstrated’. The GBC LP does not prove exceptional circumstances when its states that a lack of openness is the reason for 14 villages being removed from being washed over by the Green Belt.
Where is the case for them not being open? Prove it and don’t allow poor decision to be made on low grade research. Green Belt is precious and where it exists prevents urban sprawl and villages merging. The case for Normandy and Flexford being merged by implementing Policy 46 has not been made. Natural England and the CPRE have both voiced their concern at the intrusion into the Green Belt and I hope that the GBC listen to guardians of the precious countryside.
I would like to invite the GBC Executive to visit the site and see how it fulfils the rules of the Green Belt.
I don’t believe that GBC have proven enough reason to remove the Green Belt protection in an area of Surrey whose county council are proud to have been the architects of the concept of the Green belt.
GBC have no proved ‘exceptional circumstances’ to roll back Green Belt land that would stand up for real scrutiny.

The site 46 and site 47 are habitual flood areas. Given the geographical makeup of the Normandy and Flexford it is the fields that take the brunt of the water flowing from the Hogs Back and concreting over this will damage this natural flood plain. Having lived here for 13 years we have seen how badly impacted some areas around here are by flooding. We even have a Flood Forum that is attended by our local MP to ensure that we are on top of the issue. Areas have been identified around the site that are regularly an issue and I know that this is a genuine fear for residents that live around there.
Just to show how saturated the land is – the vicar at St Marks Church has said how hard it is to dig burial graves as they fill up with water and this would apply to the field that they considered for a new cemetery. Also the farmer who has his cows in the large fields on the site 46 has recently said to a resident that there is no way his cattle can go on these fields from Oct to April due to the fact they are saturated even for animals.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Site A46 is situated under 1000m from the TBH SPA and is surrounded by at least four SSSIs. The development will threaten this protected area and the LP fails to highlight the damage it will do. The impact of increased pollution, human disturbance and environmental damage has not been clearly researched. Just dog walking alone will contribute greatly to the threat of harm to the SPA and the provision of SANG land will not take away this as people would prefer to walk in the pretty natural green space rather than a manufactured area. GBC have not recognised that an increase of houses in this magnitude will bring at least 150 cats and 250 dogs (based on average ratio of animals to houses) to cause this problem.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

I don't believe that GBC have achieved a ‘...recognition of environmental constraints and the availability and viability of land for development.’ in this LP. The figure shown for the number of new houses per year as stated in this policy ‘this is a higher level of development than experienced in Guildford borough during the previous Local Plan period, and represents an increase in new homes and employment floor space in line with the aims of NPPF, NPPG, our Economic Strategy, and the best available information on the likely levels of development required by 2033’ is unproven as the methodology and proof behind these figures has not been shared for review. How can the OAN for housing be consulted on when we don’t know the basis on which the figures have been arrived at.

The previous figure used in Guildford local planning was 322 per year and that was sufficient in 2010, but how this new higher figure has been worked out is not at all clear.

The GBC needs to revise its planned housing numbers downwards, and then ask each Parish in Guildford to identify smaller, local plots, that could be developed "organically" in each parish, as well as in the town centre and especially brownfield sites, so not overloading existing facilities, rather than the "super" strategic sites," as in the existing draft plan.

It is clear that the preference for the GBC planners is to encourage a small number of big developers, who prefer large sites not on Brownfield and then to get CIL to compensate.

I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).S2

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
   a. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   b. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
c. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.
d. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
e. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads.
No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.
f. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s
(WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC
Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
As before I object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for many reasons including the following:

I believe it is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location. It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.

It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10).

Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing.

Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe.

It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east.

The identified mitigation to address the impact of increased traffic will not address the commuters travelling to Woking rail station.

The changed “Opportunities” listed in this policy reinforce why this site is totally inappropriate talking of “good urban design”. Opportunity (3) should be common to all sites and is not unique to this site.

I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House negatively impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.

I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.

I object to the change of site boundaries as these are not identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16).

I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification.

Development should be excluded in flood zone 2 and 3 not limited.

I object to para 22 as this does not reflect the impact of the buildings on the surrounding area.

I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objection from local residents and statutory consultees.

I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes. The council has not explained why they think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.

I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change.

I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.

I object to the fact that there is no clear justification for the removal of one strategic site over site A35.

I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS.

I object to the transport evidence base including the SHAR 2016 Highways assessment report which has been criticised by Mouchel for using out of date modelling software and is therefore unreliable.
I object to the housing number and particularly the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc.

I wish to strongly OBJECT to the Proposed Submission Local Plan and frankly struggle to find any difference to the draft Local Plan which was submitted in 2014 and rejected. Based on the following reasons:

• I strongly object to the destruction of the Metropolitan Green Belt which disqualifies out of hand 65% of the proposed developments in the Local Plan, specifically the Wisley Airfield proposal and housing developments on land behind Ockham Road North near Horsley Station as well as sites in West Horsley

• I object to Paragraph 4.3.13: Proposal that the rural village of East Horsley be inset from the Green Belt and no longer 'washed over'

• I object to Paragraph 4.3.16 and Proposals Map: Settlement Boundary changes in East Horsley which GBC are unnecessarily proposing to expand the settlement area

• I object to Kingston Meadows being removed from the Green Belt. Instead of jeopardizing the community value offered by Kingston Meadows Guildford Borough Council may wish to consider ways to enhance its value by building a community swimming pool providing local youth employment and skills training.

• I object to Local Plan Response 13.06.16 to exclude Effingham Junction Station from Public Transport Interchange status; Effingham Junction station is clearly at an important interchange on the Guildford to London mainline; it is indefensible that it be excluded from Public Transport Interchange status.

• I object to Local Plan Response 13.06.16 6. INFRASTRUCTURE POLICIES: Existing infrastructure in East and West Horsley is inadequate to cope with existing demand and until 150 new school places as well as additional playing fields are available at the Raleigh School, expansion of the East Horsley Medical Centre is provided and the upgrading of existing drains, roads, pavements and cycle paths is completed any consideration of new development in East and West Horsley should be halted. Relying on developers Section 106 to contribute to infrastructure and make available affordable housing within developments has not been a successful policy in the past. Once planning permission has been given developers have been allowed to get out of their contractual obligations and Guildford Borough Council has failed to monitor and enforce developer obligations.

I sincerely request that GBC review its own policy objectives which are completely out of step with Borough resident feedback rather than force through the Council a Local Plan which clearly does not have the wider support and interest of the residents of East and West Horsley and the larger Guildford Borough.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the inclusion of the site formerly known as Wisley Airfield in the local plan as a possible place for 2100 houses, when the the planning committee have unanimously refused planning permission.

I object to the inclusion of the site known as Wisley Airfield in the local plan as it goes against the localism the government are trying to foster. The local people don’t want it. The statistics that form the basis of the inclusion are flawed, but not changed.

I object to the awful impact a development on Wisley will have on transport, local roads and road safety.

I object to more cars, 4000 is the estimate, flooding into the narrow lanes that cyclists are being encouraged to use. The danger is obvious to all except the Council.

I object to the proposition that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking, of course it won’t as there are no transport links the new residents will use their cars.

I object to the developers saying that a bus service would be laid on to take the residents to the local stations. We all know it will not be a permanent service and will wither on the vine as time passes and residents use their cars. Again it is obvious - except apparently to the council.

I object to any further increase in cars in view of the expansion of Wisley Gardens. The Ripley roundabout is dreadfully congested when they have an event drawing in a further 5000 cars or so. The queue goes back to the M25/A3 junction even causing dangerous queue on the Motorway itself.

I object to the detrimental effect the development would have on the character of the area. The houses that are proposed are completely out of keeping with the whole area.

I object to the fact that even though the local people don’t want it, even though the planning committee have unanimously rejected it, the Council are still determined to have it included in the Local Plan.

I object to the incredible bad effect the development will have on the environment and the local special sites.

I object to the Council trying to force people to live in an atmosphere poisoned by fumes from the M25/A3.

I object to the fact that Guildford Borough Council are completely ignoring the Ockham Parish Local Plan,

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I have lived in West Horsley for the past 12 years.

I object to the Plan for the following reasons:

1. You are planning to build too many houses in West Horsley without the necessary infrastructure.
2. We already have inadequate roads in and around the village which are too narrow in many parts, some with deep potholes which do not get repaired and too narrow to allow the larger vehicles to pass one another without reversing to a wider part of the road.
3. Lack of car parking at Horsley and Effingham Junction stations and outside the village shops.
4. Lack of schooling both primary and secondary. All of the local schools are already oversubscribed.
5. The medical centre in Horsley is already struggling to meet the demands of the existing population.
6. There is a lack of public transport with infrequent buses to and from Guildford and Leatherhead.
7. I understand that 65% of the new homes which you propose would be in the Green Belt.

Please accept this email as my objection to Guildford Borough Council's Draft Local Plan. I would like to object to the plan on the following grounds.

1. Developments around East and West Horsley will mean an increase in traffic that the road system will not be able to deal with. The roads are already in bad condition and regularly flood and increased traffic will make this worse and be dangerous.
2. Increased traffic around East and West Horsley and because of the Wisley Airfield development will cause increased pollution.
3. Developments around East and West Horsley will put too much strain on local facilities, for example doctors and school places, there are simply not enough surgeries or schools to cope! Added to this parking at Horsley and Effingham stations... is already under a lot of pressure and neither car park will be able to cope with the cars added from new developments in the area.

4 - Taking East and West Horsley out of the green belt will lead to irreversible damage to the local environment and wildlife.

Please take these views and my specific objections on the above points into consideration when deciding about the local plan.

I am very disappointed to be writing again to object to Guildford Borough Council’s Draft Local Plan. This Plan is not very different to the one I objected to in 2014 and the Borough Council haven’t listened to the many objections on housing numbers and development on the Green Belt. Section 150 of the Housing and Planning Act 2016 states that a site, once identified in a Local Plan, is assumed to have permission to go ahead in principle. Now, more than ever, it is imperative that this Local Plan works as a whole, providing not only the right amount of housing but also sustainable housing that has the infrastructure in place to support the development.

At the full Guildford Borough Council meeting on May 24 this year, one of my local Councillors, Matt Sarti (Con, Clandon & Horsley), said “I don't personally agree that this Local Plan is ready for consultation. The SHMA is obscure..... and is open to challenge. I don't think that we have imposed the constraints we should do. Seven per cent of green belt will be removed by changing settlement boundaries and by building on strategic sites. Can we really justify that?

I agree with Matt Sarti. There are major problems with this Draft Local Plan.

East and West Horsley

I object to 6 policies: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40, A41

I strongly object to removing East and West Horsley from the Green Belt.

The Draft Local Plan proposes a huge increase in the housing in West and East Horsley and Ockham. This is a vast increase and would irrevocably and dramatically change these villages. The scale of development is greater than in another single area of the Borough. The expansion of the settlement boundary includes far too many green fields as it is claimed that they don’t contribute to the openess of the Green Belt. The density of housing at each site is also far greater than already exists in the villages so the style and character of the proposed development is totally inappropriate.

According to the Settlement Hierarchy, West Horsley is considered to be “unsuitable for substantial growth but capable of accommodating a proportionate extension”. In a village of 1,110 homes, the development of another 385 new homes is not proportionate – this would be a 35% increase in the number of households. This is substantial growth that cannot be supported by the existing infrastructure. The Primary school is full. The Medical Centre is also full to capacity with increasing waiting times for appointments. Both West and East Horsley have village roads that are very narrow in places with two vehicles being unable to pass one another. The main roads only have pavement on one side and lorries and buses are required to drive down the middle of the road to pass under the railway bridges. Public transport is very limited so the proposed development in East and West Horsley would lead to a great increase in car use, which is contrary to sustainable transport policies. There are waste water issues in Ockham Road North and Green Lane and it isn’t able to support the proposed number of new homes.

When the West Horsley Parish Council carried out its most recent Housing Survey in May 2015 this identified a local need for between 40 -75 new homes to allow for downsizing and young people. So while there is clearly a local and indeed borough wide need for more houses, the actual number required needs to be based on local need and the most accurate and reasonable population projection. At the same time, whatever this housing number is or becomes, it doesn’t justify building on Green Belt land. Within West and East Horsley, there are some sites of already used land which could provide more housing.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A35 (Wisley Airfield)

On April 6th 2016, Guildford Borough Council voted unanimously to reject planning permission for 2100 houses to be built on a site at Three Farm Meadows in Ockham, by the former Wisley airfield. This site should never have been included in the Draft Local Plan especially in the light of section 150 of the Housing and Planning Act 2016 which states that sites identified in a local plan are assumed to have permission to go ahead in principle. It is completely illogical to include the development of a site which has already been rejected by the council. The fact that this is even included in the Draft Local Plan demonstrates that this plan was not ready for consultation – once again, the Draft Local Plan doesn’t make sense.
I object to the development of a new town at the former Wisley Airfield site as the land is within the Green Belt and the provision of 2100 new houses, equating to around 5355 people, would place enormous strain on the Horsleys and all the surrounding villages.

The Former Wisley Airfield site is valuable farmland which is being worked. The fact that a temporary airstrip was built on the promise that it would be removed when it was no longer required would seem to me to be an unreasonable basis for now considering it for development. This site is very important in ‘checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas’ and preventing continuous corridor of urbanisation along the A3 corridor. Developing this land is inappropriate development in the Green Belt as defined by the NPPF paras 88 and 89 and sets an unacceptable precedent when we should be protecting the Green Belt for future generations.

The A3/M25 junction is extremely busy most of the day with very high levels of pollution. The increased traffic and potential development of the Ockham/Wisley Junction would make these roads more complicated, prone to delay and have a significant impact on pollution. We shouldn’t be building residential properties in an area which already has unacceptable levels of air pollution.

Since this area of land falls within 400m – 5km of the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (SPA) it would seem to me to be an inappropriate area to be developing. I can’t believe that incorporating a Suitable Alternative Natural Green Space within this development will deliver enough respite for the Effingham Common. With this size of development alongside the proposed increase in housing in East and West Horsley and Effingham, there would inevitably be quite a dramatic impact on these Special Protection Areas. The increased use of the common land by dog walkers in particular could not be avoided.

If this development were to go ahead it would have a devastating effect on the surrounding villages. The proposed housing density of this site is completely out of keeping with the surrounding rural area. There would be a huge increase in the number of cars on the surrounding country roads and alongside the suggested road closures there would be a serious increase in traffic congestion and danger to pedestrians. There also needs to be a lot more investigation into the effect that such a development would have on water levels and the increased risk of flooding in the area.

Development on this scale needs to be sustainable and yet this new site won’t provide any additional employment. Access to the two nearest train stations would need to be by car as the roads are unlit and many don’t have pavements. The available parking at these two stations is already at capacity.

This site is not listed for development under the existing 2003 Local Plan. The amount of housing that is actually needed in the borough is yet to be established and there are no special circumstances that would allow this development of Green Belt land so I hope that Guildford Borough Council will remove this site from their Draft Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A40, near Horsley Railway

40% of this proposed development site is zone 3 floodzone and Functional Floodplain. There are drainage ditches that serve the site and run behind the properties in Heatherdene. There is also a winter stream that runs from this site across the back of nos. 10, 11 and 12 Heatherdene and down under the ground through Weston Lea. The stream runs for about 3 months of the year and appears to have been completely missed by the Environment Agency’s maps of the site. Clearly, an area that already deals with a lot of water flow is unsuitable for housing development. In addition, an access junction beside the railway bridge in Ockham Road North will cause a lot of delay and potential danger with difficult sightlines on an already busy road.

I object to Policy A41 (Land to the South of East Lane)

I object to the development of this site for 90 houses as it is Green Belt land and it contributes to the openness and rural feel of West Horsley Village. I also object to the application to use this land to relocate The Raleigh Primary School as the need for this development hasn’t been proven. While the school is popular and has a long waiting list, including some children in Horsley, the school’s sibling policy has resulted in approximately one third of pupils coming from villages outside of East and West Horsley. Until this situation has been examined and it is established whether a change in this policy would lead to enough places for children for whom this is their local school, I cannot see any reason to increase the size of the school. If the reason for moving the school is other than the need to expand, then I am yet to be persuaded that the impact of additional housing on the school’s current site is worth the irreversible loss of Green Belt Land. Until the need and substance of this application has been fully considered and consulted on, I oppose the application.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages

As our major town, Guildford Town Centre should be the focus for development where the infrastructure and transport facilities are most appropriate. There is brown field land in Guildford Town Centre that is currently earmarked for mainly commercial development and this should be made available for affordable housing instead. There are sites available, for example, various sites in Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close (including the area around the station) and North Street. According to the NPPF, one of the 5 purposes of Green Belt land is to ‘assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’. Guildford Borough Council should ensure that all other urban land has been used and establish that there is a continuing unsatisfied demand before any Green Belt land is even considered. If the demand for affordable homes is most acute within the town, then that is where the development of affordable housing should be concentrated. Yet the emphasis in these areas is on additional retail space and more commercial premises. Considering the fact that there have been major changes in the traditional retail sector, this is not a sustainable policy.

Lead Councillor Spooner commented at the Full Council Meeting of May 24 “The traffic queues coming into Guildford each morning show the numbers of workers that must travel from far. That is why we must take action.” And yet by concentrating the building in the villages outside the town centre there will be an increase in the amount of traffic driving into the town – it doesn’t make sense and it surely isn’t sustainable.

This policy fails to require that the University of Surrey makes use of the planning permissions that it already has in place to build student accommodation on existing space. If the University was obliged to provide 100% of the accommodation for its new students and 60% for existing students then a lot of housing would become available within the town centre. Where there is existing University owned land that has planning permission for development, there should be a requirement for this to be used.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to all policies that involve building on the Green Belt including Policy P2.

In the last local elections, Conservative Councillors made it clear that it was their intention to protect the Green Belt. We have been told that following the last round of consultation in 2014, Guildford Borough Council have listened to the concerns of residents and have made changes in this their updated Draft Local Plan. Despite all this, 65% of the proposed development for the borough is in the Green Belt. Our Green Belt is vital to prevent urban sprawl. While our Council pays lip service to the value of the Green Belt, their plan does little to protect it for future generations. Government statements and the NPFF make it clear that most development in the Green belt is inappropriate and should only be approved in very special circumstances. It has been stated that unmet housing need (including traveller’s sites) does not constitute very special circumstances – it does not justify development in the Green Belt. In order to give the impression that they are not building on Green Belt land, Guildford Borough Council intend removing villages from the Green Belt and placing a hugely disproportionate amount of housing here. This is extremely damaging to the character and heritage of these villages most of which do not have the required infrastructure to support housing development on this scale.

The new mayor of London, Sadiq Khan, has told London planners not to approve development on Green Belt Land within the M25. We cannot continue to build on our countryside – creeping development has led to almost continuous housing from Central London to Effingham Village. This Draft Local Plan would allow this to extend all the way to Guildford Town Centre.

Once the land in the current Green Belt is developed we have allowed a damaging and irreversible change to take place and it is our collective social responsibility to ensure that this does not happen. All 16 villages should remain part of the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This Draft Local Plan has the potential to alter the character of this Borough dramatically and irreversibly. The calculation of housing numbers required is once again highly questionable and the Local Plan doesn’t make sense in terms of claiming to aim for sustainability while predominantly building outside of the town centre in rural villages. While Guildford Borough Council claim that the Greenbelt is a valuable asset in their literature, in the Local Plan, most of the development is on this Greenbelt land. The case for ‘very special circumstances’ allowing this scale of development on the Green Belt hasn’t been proven. I ask that Guildford Borough Council listen to residents and make big changes to the Draft Local Plan so that our existing Green Belt is protected for the future.

I object to policy P3 (Countryside beyond the Green Belt)

This policy includes a minor extension of the Green Belt in Ash and Tongham however they don’t contribute to preventing urban sprawl. The major development that is proposed on Green Belt land cannot be mitigated by a tiny extension of the Green Belt in a ward that belongs to the current and previous Leader of the Council.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy S2 (Borough Wide Strategy)

The Draft Local Plan would see a 25% increase in the number of households in the Borough over the period 2013-2033. This is an incredible increase and I seriously question the basis of this calculation. It would appear that the consultant’s mathematical model that formed the basis of this calculation is not revealed in the Draft Local Plan. Guildford Borough Council have not scrutinised these numbers before offering the Draft Local Plan for Consultation. External consultants and members of the public have provided detailed criticisms of the model and it is completely unreasonable to be planning such a dramatic change based on highly questionable data – it is critical that there is not mistake here as once housing has been built it will not be undone.

It would also seem sensible to consider the impact of the European Referendum on projected economic growth rates and on projected migration throughout the period from 2013 to 2033. This should be assessed and the economic modelling should be repeated so that accurate data is used to calculate the impact on migration.

Guildford Borough is highly protected against development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). It is appropriate for the Council to apply these constraints when considering their housing target as other Councils have done, but no constraints have been applied. It is shocking to think that the Borough of Guildford would dramatically change from being mostly rural and Green Belt land to mainly urban, creating a corridor of housing straight out from London. Guildford doesn’t need to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together!

I strongly object to this Policy and the impact it will have on communities, the environment and the character of the Borough of Guildford.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The continued inclusion in the Local Plan of the former Wisley airfield (which is located in Ockham and which is known locally as Three Farms Meadows) is perverse and illogical, and is unsound for reasons of sustainability, deliverability and need.

Specifically in relation to the former Wisley airfield/Three Farms Meadows (FWA/TFM), OPC OBJECTS to the inclusion of that site in the Local Plan. These objections have been made consistently by OPC and others in relation to, inter alia, the GBC’s 2013 draft Local Plan and Planning Applications for development or use of FWA/TFM, and, inter alia, OPC’s letters to GBC dated 25 November 2013 (Local Plan), 4 June 2014 (Local Plan), 22 September 2014 (Local Plan), 29 March 2015 (Planning Application), 29 January 2016 (Planning Application), and 19 April 2016 (Local Plan). By way of example, copies of OPC’s letters of 22 September 2014, 29 March 2015 and 29 January 2016 are attached.

OPC’s objections include, in summary:

1. FWA/TFM was included in the draft 2013 GBC Local Plan and was widely objected to. That draft Plan was eventually withdrawn after many months of consultation and deliberation.

1. The Wisley Property Investments Ltd (WPIL) planning application of January 2015 (Reference: 15/P/00012), as subsequently amended, for a phased development of over 2000 dwellings at FWA/TFM was after 14 months decisively and unanimously rejected by GBC on 8 April 2016 following the recommendation of the GBC Planning Officers.

The reasons for the refusal of the application were many but included that the proposed development:

1. was an inappropriate development within the Green Belt;
2. would have a clear and substantial detrimental impact on the openness of the Green Belt and conflict with the purposes of in
3. failed to demonstrate that the benefits amounted to very special circumstances such as to clearly outweigh the harm to the Green
4. failed to comply with the objectives of policy RE2 of the Guildford Borough Local Plan 2003 (as saved by CLG Direction of dated 24/09/2007) and chapter 9 of the National Planning Policy Framework;
5. was within the 0 -400m and the 400m to 5km zones of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area, etc.
6. would have a severe adverse impact on the safe and efficient operation of the strategic road network, and a severe impact on the efficient operation of the local road network;
7. failed to deliver the required transport sustainability measures;
8. failed to secure an appropriate provision of affordable housing;
9. was detrimental to the viability and vitality of the existing district and local centres in the vicinity of the site;
10. would result in loss of the safeguarded waste site;
11. presented a dense and urban form of development owing to its quantum and scale;
12. had an adverse impact on the setting and significance of a designated heritage asset;
13. had an unacceptable air quality impact;
14. impacted on education infrastructure;
15. impacted on policing infrastructure;
16. impacted on health infrastructure;
17. impacted on library provision.

1. Both similar and other objections and concerns had been raised by OPC, neighbouring borough and parish councils, Surrey, Thames Water, NATS, the Environment Agency, Police Authorities, Highways Authorities, residents’ associations in the context of the planning application and in relation to the current and earlier GBC draft Local Plans.
2. The value of the Green Belt and most importantly the value of FWA/TFM as a critical core at the heart of the Green Belt. There are no exceptional or very special circumstances justifying removal of the site from the Green Belt or its development. To the contrary there are overwhelming reasons for retaining the site as Green Belt for the benefit not only of Ockham and surrounding villages but also the wider community.

1. The value of FWA/TFM from an environmental and ecological standpoint, not least in relation to the Thames Basin Heath SSSI.
1. The value of FWA/TFM as a community asset and as a vital “lung”, not least because of the dangers and possible illegality of increasing pollution and decreasing air quality as well as acid deposition on the SPA impacting human health and animal, plant and soil viability in the site and immediately surrounding area.

1. The critical location and current nature of FWA/TFM in relation to the historic and current viability of the Ockham hamlets.
1. The total unacceptability and disproportionality of the threat posed to Ockham, an historic rural village with around 160 existing dwellings, and with narrow lanes, no street lights, few pavements, Conservation Areas and many listed properties – which would be completely subsumed by a 2000+ dwelling development, with urban style buildings up to 5 storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. Ockham’s existing population of just over 400 would be increased over 15 times.

1. A Local Plan and potential development which do not meet, and indeed which are completely contrary to, the needs and desires of the Ockham community as evidenced in the existing Ockham Parish Plan and the emerging Lovelace Neighbourhood Plan.
1. The detrimental and unsustainable impact of development at FWA/TFM on transport, the A3 and M25, local roads and road safety, with increased vehicle movements (an estimated 4000 additional cars plus increased bus and HGV movements during construction and afterwards), on rail stations and car parking which are already at capacity, and on local services and infrastructure.

1. The value of FWA/TFM for agriculture, comprising as it does over 75% of agricultural land including 63ha of Grade 2, 3a and 3b agricultural land (of which at least 19.3ha is classified as best and most versatile land – Grade 2 and Grade 3a).

1. The fallacious nature of claims made that FWA/TFM should be regarded as “brownfield” or previously developed. It should also be noted that the former airfield hardstanding and part of the old runway are within the 0-400m exclusion zone of the SPA, and the remainder of the old runway is (of course) flat where any development exists that the adverse consequences of development of the site, including damage to the ecology of, e.g., the SPA, cannot be mitigated.
1. The impossibility in practical terms of creating a sustainable development on FWA/TFM which is further demonstrated by the inability of the current landowner/developer and its many experts and advisers to come up with a sustainable development plan.
1. The cumulative adverse consequences of other actual or potential developments in the area particularly in Ripley, Send and Wisley.

CONCLUSION

The above objections graphically demonstrate why FWA/TFM was and should remain in and be part of the Green Belt, and why the location, limited size, lack of infrastructure, relative isolation, distance from places of employment, and existing overstretched and inadequate public transport, roads, services and facilities make the site totally unsuitable for any kind of significant development – as OPC and others have consistently argued.

The fact that the Local Plan still includes FWA/TFM (as well as neighbouring land not owned by WPIL) as a potential site for development amounts to disregard for widespread local and further afield opinion.
The repeated attempts in numerous guises over the last 3 years to take FWA/TFM out of the Green Belt and to press for both major and ancillary development of the site have, as OPC has previously pointed out, stretched the patience and goodwill of local communities, not least Ockham Parish, have imposed heavy and unwarranted costs and other burdens on those local communities, have caused a blight on the area, distress to local residents and farming businesses, and have adversely prejudiced peoples’ lives and livelihoods.

OPC therefore strongly OBJECTS to this further and unwarranted attempt to exclude FWA/TFM and other parts of Ockham Parish from the Green Belt and thereby to encourage development thereon.

Guildford Borough Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan (published 6 June 2016)

I refer to Ockham Parish Council’s letter of objection dated 12 June 2016.

It has now come to the attention of Ockham Parish Council (OPC) that paragraph 11 of that letter significantly understates the area of the best and most versatile agricultural land at the former Wisley airfield (FWA) otherwise known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM).

Paragraph 11 should therefore read:
“The value of FWA/TFM for agriculture, comprising as it does over 75% of agricultural land including 63ha of Grade 2, 3a and 3b agricultural land (of which 45.4ha * is classified as best and most versatile land – Grade 2 and Grade 3a).”

*rather than only 19.3ha as previously stated.

I apologise for the error in OPC’s earlier letter.

For the avoidance of doubt, I should also point out that the description and maps of “the Former Wisley Airfield” contained in the volume “Guildford borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites” include an area of land to the east of Hatch Lane and bordering Ockham Lane (“additional land”) which is not and never has been part of the former Wisley airfield and which is not in the ownership of Wisley Property Investments Ltd. OPC’s objection to the inclusion in the Local Plan of FWA/TFM also applies to this additional land.

Specifically in relation to the former Wisley airfield/Three Farms Meadows (FWA/TFM), I OBJECT to the inclusion of that site in the Local Plan on the grounds that:

1. FWA/TFM was included in the draft 2013 GBC Local Plan and was widely objected to. That draft Plan was eventually withdrawn after many months of consultation and deliberation.

The value of FWA/TFM as a community asset and as a vital “lung”, not least because of the dangers and possible illegality of increasing pollution and decreasing air quality as well as acid deposition on the SPA impacting human health and animal, plant and soil viability in the site and immediately surrounding area.
4. The critical location and current nature of FWA/TFM in relation to the historic and current viability of the Ockham hamlets and surrounding villages.
5. The total unacceptability and disproportionality of the threat posed to Ockham, an historic rural village with around 160 existing dwellings, and with narrow lanes, no street lights, few pavements, Conservation Areas and many listed properties – which would be completely subsumed by a 2000+ dwelling development, with urban style buildings up to 5 storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. Ockham’s existing population of just over 400 would be increased over 15 times.
1. A Local Plan and potential development which do not meet, and indeed which are completely contrary to, the needs and desires of Ockham’s population, as evidenced in the existing Ockham Parish Plan and the emerging Lovelace Neighbourhood Plan.

1. The detrimental and unsustainable impact of development at FWA/TFM on transport, the A3 and M25, local roads and road safety, with increased vehicle movements (an estimated 4000 additional cars plus increased bus and HGV movements during construction and afterwards), on rail stations and car parking which are already at capacity, and on local services and infrastructure.

1. The value of FWA/TFM for agriculture, comprising as it does over 75% of agricultural land including 63ha of Grade 2, 3a and 3b agricultural land (of which 45.4ha is classified as best and most versatile land – Grade 2 and Grade 3a).

1. The fallacious nature of claims made that FWA/TFM should be regarded as “brownfield” or previously developed. It should also be noted that the former airfield hardstanding and part of the old runway are within the 0-400m exclusion zone of the SPA.

1. Much evidence exists that the adverse consequences of development of the site, including damage to the ecology of, e.g., the SPA, cannot be mitigated.

1. The impossibility in practical terms of creating a sustainable development on FWA/TFM which is further demonstrated by the historical use of and lack of development on the site, and most recently by the inability of the current landowner/developer and its many experts and advisers to come up with a sustainable development plan despite numerous attempts over an extended period.

1. The cumulative adverse consequences of other actual or potential developments in the area particularly in Ripley, Send and the Horsleys, and the impact on the future development plans of the RHS at Wisley.

The above objections graphically demonstrate why FWA/TFM was and should remain in and be part of the Green Belt, and why the location, limited size, lack of infrastructure, relative isolation, distance from places of employment, and existing overstretched and inadequate public transport, roads, services and facilities make the site totally unsuitable for any kind of significant development.

The fact that the Local Plan still includes FWA/TFM (as well as neighbouring land not owned by WPIL) as a potential site for development flies in the face of logic and GBC’s own arguments and decisions, and amounts to disregard for widespread local and further afield opinion.

I therefore strongly OBJECT to this further and unwarranted attempt to exclude FWA/TFM and other parts of Ockham Parish from the Green Belt and thereby to encourage development thereon.

Guildford Borough Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan (published 6 June 2016)

Ockham Parish Council (OPC) has reviewed the Proposed Submission Local Plan (Local Plan) and considers that:

1. Despite GBC’s claims to the contrary, the Local Plan has failed in a number of key areas to take into account or to answer many valid comments and criticisms submitted by thousands of residents and organisations in respect of e.g. the 2013 Draft Local Plan. This is unacceptable, and raises questions of governance and vested interests.
2. The Local Plan places growth above: the ongoing viability, character and “liveability” of Guildford town centre and neighbouring villages; protection and maintenance of the countryside, the Green Belt, and protected wildlife areas such as the Thames Basin Heath SPA; the adequacy of existing and planned infrastructure; and remediying the chronic traffic congestion in and around Guildford, along the A3, and local rural roads.

3. The Local Plan offers too much land for development, based on a flawed Strategic Housing Market Assessment, and an artificially inflated Housing Target not justified by actual or reasonably projected demand.

4. There are a number of inclusions in the Local Plan which in OPC’s view threaten the soundness of the Plan as a whole on grounds of non or inadequate sustainability, deliverability and need.

5. The purpose of the Local Plan should be to enhance the quality of life of the Borough’s resident population, not to increase those aspects which cause the most dissatisfaction: traffic congestion and pollution are not eased by increasing the amount of traffic; inadequate infrastructure, whether schools, services, or sewerage, is made worse not better by increasing demand; and building houses, schools or other facilities in places furthest from existing areas where people live or work merely increases problems of inconvenience, travel, and development sprawl.

Guildford Borough Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan (published 6 June 2016)

I OBJECT to the above referenced Local Plan on the following grounds:

1. The Local Plan has failed in a number of key areas to take into account or to answer many valid comments and criticisms submitted by thousands of residents and organisations in respect of e.g. the 2013 Draft Local Plan.
Dear Sirs,

UPDATED LOCAL PLAN

Ockham Parish Council (OPC) has reviewed the Updated Local Plan released on 17 May 2017 (the Updated Plan) and wishes to make the following points.

OPC is deeply concerned that with each iteration of the draft Local Plan up to and including the Updated Plan the increasing volume of detailed changes has resulted in some fundamental principles and objectives being lost or obscured.

In preparing this response OPC has therefore focused on examples of basic principle and practical import rather than all the many detailed legal or technical issues - most of which have been raised and responded to previously and which will no doubt be revisited going forward.

The basis of the Updated Plan as a whole
1. The Updated Plan is still based, and indeed in some areas relies even more heavily, on flawed assumptions and approaches. Equally if not more importantly, its overall impact would seem to increase rather than ameliorate some of the adverse consequences stemming from previous versions of the proposed Local Plan. This, to say the least, is disappointing when so much time, effort and cost has been expended not only by GBC but by many other councils, organisations, associations and individuals over the past two or more years.

2. Perhaps one of the most important underlying issues is the failure to take fully into account the reality of the existing physical, geographical, environmental, social and infrastructure constraints in the relatively small and already congested Borough of Guildford, particularly in the north east segment. This does not mean that the Borough has to cease growing or improving but rather the constraints need to be fully recognised and a very delicate balance achieved if the existing benefits and attractions of living, working and visiting the historic Guildford town and some of the loveliest countryside in the South East are to be maintained and enhanced, rather than damaged or destroyed. It is the quantum and to some extent the location of development rather than the principle of growth which are questionable and unsustainable.

3. Reading and rereading the Updated Plan, OPC is also left with the uncomfortable conclusion that the Plan fails to provide, as a plan should, a practical and sustainable basis on which to progress towards the stated vision. Rather, the Plan seems to be developing a life of its own which is now effectively dictating and changing the “Spatial Vision”, the evidence produced, and the Updated Plan and Policies.

4. Some examples of these flawed assumptions, evidence and approaches are:
   - the Green Belt and Countryside Study which does not properly value the objectives or benefits of the Metropolitan Green Belt, or recognise the direct and indirect harm that would result from its diminution. The continued proposed incursions into the Green Belt are unnecessary and misguided. If adopted they would result in unjustified, irreversible and irremediable developments to the detriment of existing and future generations;
   - the SHMA’s method of assessment, the omission of a number of relevant inputs, and the conclusion as to the “objectively assessed need” – the last of which at 693 homes is still far too high and is challenged by experts including NMSS;
   - the Transport Evidence which was late, is incomplete and not objectively tested, resulting in weak and contestable conclusions and proposals that do not acknowledge let alone address the real underlying problems and constraints, or identify adequate practical solutions or ameliorations (which realistically may in the context of the Plan be physically very limited);
   - the unspoken but apparent assumption that the way to resolve problems is to increase them e.g. that the way to relieve congestion is to increase the amount of traffic.

5. Notwithstanding the number of both major and minor changes in the Updated Plan, these and other fundamental flaws and issues from previous iterations remain unrectified and in several respects have actually increased. In OPC’s opinion such flaws and issues, both collectively and in some cases individually, materially undermine the soundness and acceptability of the Plan.

Strategic and Other Sites for Development

1. One prime example of a flawed principle and approach is the over heavy focus on developments in the north east of the Borough, and most particularly the continued inclusion of the former Wisley airfield (FWA), known locally as Three Farms Meadows, as a strategic site for development when it is patently unsuited to such designation.

2. The proposed or potential development of some allocated sites (most particularly the FWA), as envisaged by the Updated Plan, directly conflicts with many claimed aims of that Plan which offers no or inadequate explanation, practical or sustainable solution, or amelioration:
   - (1) the claimed aim of conserving and enhancing the Thames Basin Heaths SPA;
   - (2) the statement that delivery of allocated sites “is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure”;
   - (3) the acknowledgement that pressures on existing infrastructure and natural environment and additional stress caused by planned growth” must be addressed.”
(4) the statement that “agricultural land will be protected as set out in national policy and the economic benefits of the best and most versatile agricultural land will be taken into account.”

(5) the statement that “the NPPF requires that developments that generate significant movement will be located where the need to travel will be minimised and the use of sustainable transport modes can be maximised.”

C. Additionally, the whole concept of “new settlements” such as that proposed for the FWA is unjustified, inappropriate or unsustainable in a relatively small and congested area such as Guildford Borough which has a well established and historic main town, an extensive network of villages and hamlets, and is surrounded by major existing and growing centres such as Woking and Cobham. Even more fundamentally, the FWA is at the centre of that part of the north east of the Borough which serves as a critically important buffer or lung to a growing greater London – for which the Metropolitan Green Belt was rightly formed and which should be unreservedly protected.

D. The examples quoted in paragraph 4 above and particularly 4(b) in relation to housing need, the change to the end date of the Plan, the lack of justification for even the now reduced buffer over the Plan period, the exclusion of one strategic site (Normandy) and the removal of sites which are more sustainable and more easily developed than FWA, further nullify any rationale for including FWA (A35) in the Plan, given the harm it would cause, and strengthen arguments previously made against development on the FWA, namely:

the FWA:

(a) is at the epicentre of the Metropolitan Green Belt to the south west of London and should remain Green Belt.

(b) contains and is bordered by the Thames Basin Heaths SPA, an SNCI and an SSSI;

(c) is completely surrounded and constrained on the north by the A3 (one of the most congested A roads in the UK), and to the west, east and south by narrow, unlit, non-pavemented, twisting rural lanes (Ockham Road North, Old Lane and Ockham Lane) which can barely cope currently with local access needs;

(d) is immediately adjacent to the A3/M25 junction (one of the most congested and polluted junctions in the UK);

(e) has no existing infrastructure;

(f) is of limited area and only developable anywhere near to the degree envisaged by the Updated Plan through extreme and inappropriate high density, with high rise buildings, etc.

(g) produces run-off which floods the surrounding area;

(h) would be serviced by a rail line two miles distant and with small existing rail stations which are already at capacity in terms of car parking and near capacity in terms of existing passenger numbers, before taking into account organic growth generally in the area and specifically proposed developments to the east, west, north and south of the line;

(i) has no existing bus services which are in any event inhibited by the narrow and twisting roads.

(j) is distant from existing centres of employment, services, schools, and shops;

(k) is at the centre of Ockham Parish whose assets are small hamlets surrounded by open attractive country side, recreation opportunities, agriculture and rural pursuits, conservation areas, a cherished history and historic buildings;

(l) would constitute a single, densely packed and unsustainable development which would effectively destroy Ockham. OPC, as evidenced by housing additions over recent years, supports increases in its housing stock proportionate to the size of the village and its tenuous infrastructure. OPC does not however support a development such as that proposed for the FWA which would increase its size and population by over 14 times;

(m) could only be “sustainable” through major and unsustainable if not impractical development in the surrounding area – major additional roads, houses, schools, transport, public and private services, etc, - and the consequential absorption of further Green Belt and greenfield sites as well as potentially the demolition of existing houses and other buildings to accommodate such facilities and access thereto. This fact seems to be gaining growing recognition in the Updated Plan which now envisages concepts such as “District” and “Local Centres”, “Locally Significant Employment Sites” “Transport Hubs/Interchanges”, etc – concepts which in this context appear to be simply euphemisms for development “creep”.

It is also noted that the Updated Plan now unacceptably and without explanation includes within the claimed strategic site for development a significant area of land to the south of the FWA directly bordering and looking directly down on the Ockham Conservation Area. That land is in any event not owned by the developer applicant and is not included in its latest Amended Planning Application. Other changes to the Green Belt boundary are also wholly unjustified.

The above and many other objections and concerns have been raised on numerous occasions by OPC in relation to the Local Plan (e.g. in its letters of 25 November 2013, 24 June 2014, 22 September 2014, 19 April 2016 and 12 July 2016) and in relation to the planning applications for development of the FWA (e.g. OPC’s letters of 6 February 2014, 29 September 2014, 29 March 2015, 29 September 2015, 29 January 2016 and 4 July 2016).

Similar and other objections and concerns were also raised by e.g. Thames Water, Surrey CPRE, Surrey Wildlife, RSPB, RHS Wisley, Wisley Action Group, Elmbridge and Mole Valley Councils, the Parish Councils of East Horsley, West Horsley, East Clandon, Ripley, Send, and Effingham, and many hundreds of other organisations and individuals.

E. As evidenced by these widespread responses to the various iterations of the Local Plan and FWA planning applications, the objections and concerns are by no means limited to the potential adverse impacts on the small hamlets of Ockham but extend to the much wider impacts on the towns, villages, roads, public transport systems, infrastructure and services in the Borough generally and beyond. OPC considers these impacts to have been insufficiently acknowledged or addressed in the Updated Plan. With other existing, underway and proposed developments in the Borough generally and in the north east segment particularly (e.g. Ockham, RHS Wisley, Ripley, Send, Effingham, East Horsley and West Horsley) and neighbouring Council areas, as well as organic growth near and further away, the totality becomes a totally uncoordinated, unsustainable and unacceptable combination – a prime example of trying to cram a quart into a pint pot.

F. It would be enlightening and beneficial to all concerned if GBC and its advisers and consultants truly listened to the people who live and work in the local area, and who through long experience know well its strengths and weaknesses, what it can sustain and what it cannot. Regrettably, however, most of these objections and concerns have, it seems, been ignored or dismissed without explanation in the Local Plan and in some respects actually increased in the Updated Plan. It is however noteworthy that GBC, citing many similar objections and concerns, refused planning application 15/P/00012 as amended for development of the FWA. Such refusal is currently under appeal and yet a further amendment to the application has recently been submitted.

It is also interesting that in its Sustainability Appraisal (SA) of the Guildford Borough Local Plan: SA Report Update June 2017, AECOM appears reluctant to make any strong recommendations about the FWA (and a number of other issues) but simply comments in somewhat muted terms on GBC’s previously expressed preferences.

G. If by design or default, GBC wishes all or much of the north east of the Borough to lose effective protection of the Green Belt and effectively to become over time another Woking or Kingston, it should admit this now and give its electors and residents the opportunity to take such personal, political, legal and other decisions and actions as they deem appropriate.

The direct and indirect, existing and future, financial costs, uncertainties and frustrations for local residents, agriculture, business, services and other interests relating to these issues should not be underestimated.

OPC therefore:

- has serious and fundamental concerns regarding the soundness of the Local Plan/Updated Plan as it currently stands; and
- specifically requests that the FWA be deleted as a strategic or other site for development and that all references to development at the FWA be removed from the Local Plan/Updated Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I am emailing to object to the Local Plan 2016, specifically as in the Policies Map Appendix F and Policy D4. I do not believe that you have counted 2 detached houses on the plot which currently has only 1 - the plot being at [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] and owned by myself.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

In general, if there are insufficient homes planned in this 2016 process within the town & village boundaries, then development must go on the brownfield site at Wisley Airport rather than on the key greenbelt habitats described above.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The Council has a legal obligation to take into account the habitats within the GBC area. These were described in detail in 2013 in my response to the Local Plan "Question 29 - Land in & around Chilworth". The response has the reference number above, and was accepted by GBC on 9/12/2013. In summary GBC greenbelt has four key habitats, lowland heathland - the rarest habitat in the world, chalk grassland, ancient woodlands and the cleanest river in Surrey. In the documentation the Council recognises the need to build within town & village boundaries rather than on this unique and internationally important greenbelt.

3 So where is the GBC group collecting details in Brown Field sites within the Borough? Where is the report from the GBC Brown Field Tsar? Where is the coordination with the National Brown Field site Tsar? Where is the un-used air-space strategy? As well as the Brown Field site philosophy we need a part used site philosophy whereby we build over single stored level usage areas, the super market car parks, the station car parks, the railway lines, as well as stations etc, as has already happened on the Chiltern Line. These sites readily lend themselves to rafts of 3 storey blocks of 2 bed-roomed flats which are the most pressing housing needs, so we are told.

8 I object to the proposal within the Draft Local Plan for the development of Wisley Airfield. Such a new town within the Green Belt is totally unacceptable. It will swamp the local villages, communities and facilities. It is hard to credit GBC is putting itself behind such a proposal.

9 All points made in my previous letter of Sept 2014 commenting on the 2014 Draft Local Plan are also applicable to this 2016 new Draft Local Plan.

6 I object to the planned mass housing additions within East and West Horsley, totalling 550 houses. The existing schools, medical facilities, shops, transport etc will not cope, and any attempt to satisfy the horrendous increase in demand will destroy the existing ambience of the 2 villages.

7 Further to 6, where would all the extra facilities so required be sited? The road system for the two villages is already inadequate, and lots of residents do not want the character of the villages changed to be that of a 'New Town', like Harlow or Bracknell.

2 From all the comments in 2014 there should have been a totally different thrust, instead of using Green Belt and Green Field land over the next 10+ years the strategy should be based on using Brown Field sites and air space above existing single storey sites.

4 So I object to the strategy and details within the 2016 GBC Draft Local Plan. I object to any changes to the Green Belt, to any building in the Green Belt, I object to any villages being taken out of the Green Belt. I object to East and West Horsley being taken out of the Green Belt.

5 I object to any changes to the Parish Boundaries of East And West Horsley, to any addition to the Parish Boundaries to incorporate any existing Green Field site. Each prospective change creates a new boundary, onto which further additions can then be planned in 5 or 10 years time. A slippery slope and a setting of dangerous precedents. An unacceptable strategy. I object to Green Fields use.

Comments and Objections to New Draft Guildford Local Plan 2016

I wish to object to the new Draft Guildford Local Plan 2016;

1 GBC do not seem to have listened to all the people who commented on the 2014 Draft Guildford Local Plan. The 2016 version is still focused like the 2014 plan was, there is no change in strategy.

It is the same in principle as those issued in draft over the last few years and doesn't change focus as lots of residents, objectors and commenters have requested, to be that of a plan based on Brown Field Sites. There are sufficient car parks and railways etc to build rafted developments over, as well as real brown field sites, for Surrey and its rural villages not to be spoiled in the way as still incorporated in this updated plan. Where is the Brown Field Sites Tsar in GBC?.

The inherent details and focus within the plan of extending the Horsleys boundaries into the green belt, the removal of villages from the green belt and the planned 6 large development sites in the Horsleys is totally unacceptable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I recently reviewed the new local develop plan for the Guildford Borough and wanted to write highlighting my objections. The specifics of which relate to a number of fundamental areas, notably:-

Road Congestion / Traffic

I object to the number of houses the council are planning to add into the Horsleys, which I feel is disproportionate to the size and capacity that the local roads can accommodate. Approximately 533 new house are to be built (Thatcher’s site, Bell & Covill Garage, Manor Farm site, Ockham road North and East Lane), which means approximately 1,000 new additional cars will be added to the morning and evening rush hour traffic. The traffic, congestion, pollution (noise and air) will have a significant impact on the local villages and will have a significant negative impact on the health and wellbeing of the community, not to mention the condition and costs to maintain the local roads. Similarly this also applies to the increase in traffic that will be using the A3 and M25 at the respective junctions

Unnecessarily Damaging the Green Belt

I object to the developments proposed for the Horsley and the Wisley airfield in particular on the basis that it permanently damages the green belt which is irreversible once completed. Despite the fact that the Wisley airfield development was rejected previously, again it appears in the new development plan. I find this unacceptable and is not something I can support.

I also question and object the Borough’s long term strategic intent i.e. in terms of building pockets of 2,000 houses which strongly implies that residents can expect there to be further developments in between sites. This causes an even larger concern with regard to the feasibility of the Borough’s plan. It would appear that destroying the green belt permanently has not been fully reviewed or duly considered by the Borough.
Lack of Available Resources & Amenities

I object to the Horsley developments as they are insufficient local resources available to support the addition of 533 new house and on average 1,600 new residents (3 people per household) i.e. insufficient train, doctors, shopping, etc. In fact it was only this morning that Eagle radio news announced that the Borough does not have sufficient schools to meet the current demand of new pupils let alone the addition of new residence.

I would respectfully request that you consider my objections as detailed above and that the Council seriously consider revising the plan accordingly.

Village character

- Such a significant increase in the properties will have an impact on the current character of the village. As will the removal of the greenbelt status and extending the boundaries.

Before extending and removing the Green belt status of any village within Guildford Borough there needs to be consideration on how the brown field sites can be used. Many of the villages have charm and character and it will be a shame to see this lost without firstly identifying the actual needs of each village, its current infrastructure, and its facilities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to object to the proposals on site A46 on the draft local plan for the following reasons,

1) There is no requirement for a new secondary school on the site because numerous local schools are under subscribed. Kings College at Park Barn is under utilised by a significant number and there is no logical or common sense reasons for the placing of a new secondary school in this green belt area. Proposals I believe are being considered for a railway station at Park Barn and this, together with the under subscription of school numbers at Kings College, would point to a far better utilisation of this school. Other schools are also under subscribed in the nearby area. Further, a new school at Woking opened last September and a new technical college is due to open in 2018.

2) The infrastructure is not suitable for the suggested proposals. Glaziers Lane is an unclassified road and Westwood Lane is classified as a class C road. Hunts Hill is a narrow road and School Lane is unsuitable for a large amount of traffic due to its narrowness and the school that it houses for children aged 5 to 11. The A323 is a very busy road and Wanborough Hill that serves the Hogs Back is heavily used due to its link with the Hogs Back. Both the A323 and Hogs Back are roads that are blocked for considerable periods of time during the peak work hours.

The school at Wyke takes children from ages 5 to 11. When they move to secondary schools all the children and their parents have a large selection of schools to choose from in the surrounding area. This practice has been long established and allows a large selection of schools to be chosen from. As at point 1 many of these schools are under subscribed.

Doctors appointments are difficult to obtain in the Normandy area. The saving grace of the main doctors surgery at Fairlands in Worplesdon avoids the potential risk to the health of residents of the Normandy area.

The water supply is now metered but the area is subject to flooding and worse the sewage system seems unable to cope with demand. The flooding of the area has at times meant raw sewage is a particular problem in parts of Normandy.

In summary I would like to point out that I am not against the utilisation of the right areas for development when carried out to the right scale. However, this proposal, on this area of green belt with its historic links to the past, is not suitable for its inclusion in the local plan. For the reasons that I have identified I object to the proposal and can find no logical reasoning for this proposal to be approved.

Site A46 (1100 homes and school)
Site A47 (50 homes)

I clearly support the removal of the above sites from the local plan because the developments would have meant the infrastructure would have been stretched to breaking point. All the amenities that currently provide a level of support would have been eroded. Roads, electricity supplies, healthcare facilities etc would have been harmed and the proposals would have seen living standards diminish.

Site - Removal from the green belt of homes in Guildford Road, northern end of Glaziers Lane, Flexford, Walden Cottages and Palm House Nurseries traveller site

I would like to object to the above removal of these sites from the green belt. The density of building would be far greater by this action. The countryside would be harmed and the green belt would lose its open feel and attractiveness.

I would also like to object to the proposals to add a significant number of homes within 10 miles of Normandy. Clearly the infrastructure would be unable to cope and significant investment needs to be made before this can even be considered. With Local Authority budgets being under considerable strain due to austerity measures this investment is unlikely to occur. The building of a large number of houses without the accompanying investment will see living standards fall considerably and result in a large exodus of businesses and jobs.

I would like to object to Guildford Borough Council's changes to the draft local plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & para 4.1.9), which,

1) disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review (para. 4.3.8)

2) directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion, mainly around the hospital and will encourage rat-running through residential areas.

3) ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.14a)

4) adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceeds safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

For the attention of Planning Services, Guildford Borough Council

I am writing to object to the proposed development of the A46 strategic site which will transform Normandy and Flexford from villages in the Green Belt to a large settlement. My objections are as follows.

Normandy and Flexford are being treated as one settlement for the purposes of sustainability and as two settlements for the purposes of sensitivity. This inconsistency undermines the argument for development in this area.

There is no evidence of a requirement for a new secondary school in the west of Guildford borough. A number of local secondary schools are undersubscribed so there seems no justification for taking land out of green belt for this purpose.

The local infrastructure is already under strain: there are two rail bridge bottlenecks, on Glaziers Land and Westwood Lane, where the roads narrow. On Westwood Lane there is one way traffic and there is effectively a blind chicane on Glaziers Lane. The station is already frequently flooded and only accessible in wellington boots. Presumably further development will mean more runoff and further flooding and waterlogging in fields. The clay soil in the fields earmarked for development are already often punctuated by great ponds of standing water.

The site is rich in wildlife and ancient woodland and hedgerows, all of which are protected under the Green belt designation. It is not clear why none of this matters any more, particularly when set against the above disadvantages of developing the site.

I am dismayed at the way that Guildford Borough Council has conducted itself with regard to this planning process, that it could hold Green Belt land in such low regard, and that it could be so influenced by developer thinking where commercial considerations (and profit for the developer) are at the fore and not the protection of our precious Surrey countryside.
I hope that the planning process will thoroughly examine the underlying justification for development on this site and that it will become clear that for the community as a whole the costs outweigh the benefits.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Protection of the Green Belt should be the highest priority. I therefore support the removal of sites A46 and A47 from the plan: in addition to destroying the countryside, the sites would have irrevocably changed the nature of our village and appeared entirely unjustified, in particular bringing a secondary school into a rural community with no evidence of a demand for the facility and insufficient infrastructure to accommodate. Normandy Parish already has traffic and flooding problems which have not been addressed, so residents have little confidence in the Council's ability to plan for and administer adequate infrastructure.

In contrast to the above site removal, I object to the insetting from Green Belt of the three most settled areas in Normandy and Flexford: there have been no exceptional circumstances cited to support this change and it will inevitably undermine protection of the countryside. Adjacent areas of Green Belt will in future be vulnerable to encroachment. The lack of evidence for exceptional circumstances makes this change unjustified.

Overall the plan will have contradictory effects in the local area: protection of the Green Belt on the one hand and increased vulnerability on the other.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be recommissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): () build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”

5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation.

15. I object to the potential impact of para 4.4.23a on Burnt Common with its over allocation of industrial zoning is subterfuge for a waste management facility which is a dishonest and underhand approach to planning and proper consultation.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

I totally object to the disproportionate amount of development that is at the moment in the Draft local Plan.... In the Ockham Horsley Ripley area ... We all came here to live in a rural area and these plans will make it into a totally urban area.... And ruin our village communities

I object to this Plan which proposes that over 70 per cent of new housing be built within the Protected Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in Urban areas without using precious protected Green Belt Land and destroying historic rural villages and agricultural land.

I object to the housing number of 683 houses per year from West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high...

I object to the totally disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the Borough. - over 23 per cent of the Plans new housing is in area of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys... This are at present has only 0.3 per cent of the population of Guildford Borough This would be the greatest example of disruption to the Green Belt in the whole country if this development goes ahead.

Please take out all these enormous developments from the Local Plan in this area and think about keeping our villages and the Green Belt in tact...

I am writing to STRONGLY OBJECT to the continued inclusion of the former Wisley airfield now know as the Three Meadows as a strategic site in the local plan.

I object to to total disproportionate number of housing in this part of the borough it is a massive encroachment on the green belt. It is ridiculous for over 2000 houses to be built in a village that's train station is already at maximum capacity, as are the schools and doctors. The infrastructure required for such a massive influx of people would need an entirely new village. The country roads would prove extremely dangerous to have over 2000 cars on top of the already narrow and busy roads.

I object as it would totally ruin the beautiful and historic village of Ockham that has been lived in for generations of families.

To conclude I once again fully and wholeheartedly object to the inclusion of the former Wisley airfield now know as the Three Meadows as a strategic site in the local plan.

Take it out. Save this beautiful village for future generations in this already rapidly decreasing green land.

This huge development proposed on good agricultural land would cause significant harm to Ockham Common which is now an international recognized Nature Reserve a ' Special Protection Area' and a ' Site of Special Scientific interest. Damage would occur to the habitats of a number of protected and endangered species. Ockham has been a settlement for over a 1000 years, is recorded in the Domesday Book and has many historic houses, in particular those special flint and brick 'Lovelace' houses/cottages and it is outrageous to imagine this development ruining the village of Ockham. It must never happen, we have a duty to preserve our villages.

No real account has been taken of how this development would effect the neighbouring villages....the density of the development is far in excess of the surrounding neighbourhoods , the five story buildings are not appropriate in rural surroundings and the re routing of the roads through the villages for this development would be a total disaster and would not work at all...Far too many cars from 2100 homes including those existing cars would be speeding down our lanes which are narrow and have no footpaths or verges - these are dangerous enough now especially in commuter times especially to cyclists ,people riding horses, tractors and pedestrians. In many places the lanes are only one car width so they are totally unsuitable for any more traffic going to stations, schools, surrounding towns to shop etc.the traffic would disperse through all the country lanes and they would become incredibly dangerous. The railway stations of Effingham Junction and East Horsley are both at maximum capacity already. We use East Horsley station and it is very difficult to park there and even to drive in and drop off at busy times you have to queue up the entrance road ....it is absolutely ridiculous to think of residents from 2000 new houses trying to use these stations as well. Doctors surgeries/ Hospitals and schools in the area are already at maximum capacity... this proposed development would also have a negative effect on the Water Table and flooding would be a huge problem and an enormous amount of additional sewerage would be produced when again this is at maximum capacity in the area.

We live in a listed house the oldest part dating back to Elizabethan times and we feel a responsibility for it for future generations so that it continues to be situated in a rural environment...

I object to this Plan which proposes that over 70 per cent of new housing be built within the Protected Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in Urban areas without using precious protected Green Belt Land and destroying historic rural villages and agricultural land.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object very strongly as I have done before to the inclusion of Three Farm Meadows in the Draft Local Plan for so many reasons .....

-it is Green Belt land and I object to the change in the Green Belt boundary to the eastern end of the site

- it is a totally unsuitable site for development because of the constraints on the site and the physical location.

- the site is so very close to the most congested road network( A3 and M25) and most congested M25 junction of all ( junction 10)

- it is also adjacent to RHS Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000 per annum. So this means more traffic.

- the roads around the three Farm Meadows are also totally unsuitable for any more traffic... They are unlit narrow and without pavements .. There would not be sufficient employment on his site for people to work so people would have to travel by car / walk/ cycle along these unsuitable lanes.

- the stations and schools are at their full capacity .... No room for more cars in railway car parks and the site is further from stations than any other strategic site .

- any bus services will have to face the crowded SRN and his would result in unreliable services and delays

These are just some of the many reasons why this site should not be included in the Local Plan

I have objected many times and yet the Council has failed to remove this Three Farm Meadows Site from the Local Plan even though the council have received thousands of objections from local residents and statutory consultees.

Please listen to us local residents .... It would absolutely ruin the historic village of Ockham .....

And please remove this site from the Local Plan .

I am writing to object to Guildford Borough Council's proposed Local Plan as a resident of West Horsley. I am concerned about the impact so many new houses will have on the infrastructure and culture of the village. I also believe that under no circumstances should villages be removed from the Green Belt, there would also be a detrimental effect on the environment as a result. There is no need for so much housing to be built in and around cities such as Guildford, especially when its satellite towns have neither the school places, health systems, amenities and utilities to cope.

The proposals outlined in Guildford Borough's latest Local Plan for development on Green Belt land cannot be permitted to proceed for these reasons.

I strongly object to the inclusion of the Normandy greenfield site(s) and its developer led proposal for the 1000 or so new properties.

Whist progress needs to be made, It is grossly unfair on the village to subject the residents( the people you represent) to the desecration of the villages current character.

As a newer member to the village, I have been overwhelmed by the beautiful - often under rated character of the village. So do not wish for a developer to lead Guildford down this one way street and ultimately Normandy to become an urban sprawling mass of houses as the planning floodgates are opened.

Schooling

I also object to the placement of a large secondary school in the village, it's extremely out of character for the area, I have a young baby who will eventually go to secondary school. Whereby a train or bus to an existing secondary school is, and will not be an issue for us.

Road System

I also object on the matter that the local road system is already saturated to capacity. I suspect many of the potential purchasers of the new homes will commute, with the likely hood of at least two cars per household. This is likely to subject the current and new residents to major traffic issues. Which the council will need to resolve at their expense rather then the developers (that certainly won't be cheaper then a new school).

The main roads are so narrow that a car generally can't pass a cycle without crossing the centre line on the main routes, which is almost impossible anyway when rush hour traffic ensues.

It is sometimes quicker for me to get to London Waterloo then drive a few miles down the road. Which is to say the least, incredible!

This is only going to be made much worse with more cars on the road and no significant overhaul to the infrastructure (who will pay for that?).

Finally:

These large scale (developer led) housing proposals are not what Guildford needs. I believe Guildford is quite different to other urban towns, and is locally unique due to its greater swathes of Greenbelt land which washes over the area. Why on Earth turn it into another urban mass of houses and destroy its identity forever more.

I am sure with additional effort and collaboration a better solution for all would prevail, not just because a developer is building a free school...

As residents of West Horsley for over 25 years, we are writing to you in SUPPORT of the specific proposed change to the Proposed Submission Local Plan relating to the deletion of the previously proposed Policy A41.

We are pleased to note that the site, previously indicated for housing under Policy A41, has now been removed from the housing sites allocation, remaining within the protection of the Green Belt designation.

We would like to thank you for your decision to remove the threat of a built development and maintain this important natural area of West Horsley under the protection of the Green Belt area.

It can now remain a vital contributor to the open character of the village, which we believe is essential.

We thought it was appropriate to express our support specifically for this particular change to the proposed Submission Local Plan (2017).

We strongly object to the proposals for Normandy and Flexford for the following reasons:-

1. The local plan does not explain what exceptional circumstances justify such a large removal of precious greenbelt land.

1. The proposed development is disproportionate to that proposed in other local areas and seems wholly influenced by pressure from a major developer.

1. We understand that the need for a school is not proven.

1. The road system around Normandy cannot cope with the level of traffic at rush hours at present without the huge increase in traffic that would arise from 1100 houses accessing onto Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane and the twice daily drop offs and pick ups at a secondary school for 1500 pupils who would not all live locally and be able to walk or get public transport to school. There are already safety problems with Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane used as "rat runs", speeding traffic and the single lane railway bridge on Westwood Lane. There appear to be no plans to address this problem in the local plan.

1. The drainage, water supply and medical facilities would not cope with the proposed house numbers without considerable investment that does not appear to be proposed in the plan. The area is very prone to flooding and again this has not been taken into account.

1. Brownfield sites in and around Guildford are being ignored.

The proposals completely ignore previous comments made by a majority of residents about the loss of greenbelt and the open character of the area which will be lost forever purely for commercial gain.

These proposals should be rejected.

- I believe the proposed boundary change in blue is not correct and it's an accidental mistake. There is a lot of drama surrounding the fields behind the village hall. I think the residents of our part of Christmas Hill have got caught up in this unnecessarily.

- The preferred solution would be to leave the boundary unchanged (in red).

- As you can see in the map the field at the back of Findon Lodge has changed over time. The garden now extends back the whole way (in between the lime and white lines). The original field would have covered all this area hence the existing red boundary line.

- Because of the garden changes I have suggested two alternative boundary lines in lime and white.

   The main point here is that the small triangular field needs to remain in green belt please!

- Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to these boundary changes last year.

- We live in an area of outstanding natural beauty. Although this small piece of land currently has no intentions of being anything else we need to protect it. You just have to look across to Chinthurst Hill to see how badly this would be affected if something bad were to happen.

- If the fields behind the village hall were not up for consideration then I'm sure the boundary near us would not be changing either. It's a very small correction.

I'm happy to show you what I mean from my back garden. I'll throw in a cup of tea too. If you'd like to chat then please do call me on [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998.]

----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

I also want to object to the proposed boundary change to the fields behind the village hall. The big danger here is that the current owner wants to build houses on it.

- Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to these boundary changes last year.

- The elevation of this land and where it sits in the village contributing to the open character of the village should be protected.

- We live in an area of outstanding beauty. If these fields become less protected then it's such a great shame. I know we need new housing but I think Station Road has given well above the quota needed in our area!

ChristmasHillPlan - BoundaryChange.PNG (1.9 MB)
The proposed major development at Ockham (former Wisley Airfield) would have a significant impact on the Horsleys. Whilst there are many arguments against the appropriateness of developing the Wisley Airfield site, our main concern is around the ability of the current transport networks to cope with the increased demand. There is no rail connection to this site so it is highly likely that commuters would access Horsley and Effingham Junction stations to travel to London by rail. The car parking at these sites is already limited, and the nature of the roads connecting Horsley and Ockham is such that cycling would not be a safe or attractive option for many. The A3 and M25 (at the A3 intersection) would be put under increased strain. Already there are traffic problems on this section of the A3 and the M25 at peak times. Increasing the demand by placing another 2000 homes in close proximity (not to mention those homes proposed for Burnt Common and Gosden Hill Farm, Burpham which will also likely put additional stress on the A3) will make this section of the A3 more congested and less safe.

In addition, the outline planning application for the proposed Wisley Airfield development has recently been refused on the grounds that:

1. a) The proposed development represents inappropriate development of Green Belt Land
2. b) The impact on the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area is a significant concern
3. c) There are concerns about a severe adverse impact on the safe and efficient operation of the strategic road network (A3/M25) and the local road network
4. d) The application fails to deliver transport sustainability measures required
5. e) The applicants have not demonstrated that the proposal would not be detrimental to the viability and vitality of existing district and local centres
6. f) The proposal includes a requirement to build developments up to five storeys in height, which would be in keeping with a dense, urban form of development, and is totally out of keeping with the surrounding area
7. g) There are concerns about the impact on air quality during the construction phase, and how this might be mitigated.
8. h) The impact on policing, education, health and other local services has not been mitigated

Given that nothing has materially changed since this application was refused, that the Green Belt boundaries remain intact and GBC has presented no evidence to justify re-drawing the boundaries, it is non-sensical that this proposal is also included in the local plan.

It is extremely frustrating that these points were raised by many during the consultation process for the local plan in 2014, and yet the current local plan contains the same major flaws. It would seem that GBC is taking no notice of the concerns of residents, and has not made any attempt to explain why it feels that re-drawing Green Belt boundaries is justified, nor to review the clearly incorrect estimates of housing need. We are therefore voicing our strong objection to the Local Plan, which is not fit for purpose.

We find it incredible that Station Parade has been designated a “District Centre”. One wonders whether the person responsible for drafting this comment has actually ever set foot within the Horsleys? Station Parade is simply a parade of local shops within a village, comprising services valuable to local residents. It is hardly a “District Centre” attracting people from surrounding villages. It is non-sensical to suggest that this is the case, and one wonders whether GBC have used this terminology simply to justify over development and urbanisation of our villages.

The local infrastructure cannot cope with a significant increase in housing stock and therefore population. The local schools and medical centre are oversubscribed. The roads and pavements are suited to a small rural community. The proposal looks to increase the housing in West Horsley by 35%. This is totally unacceptable and the village infrastructure cannot cope with an increase of this magnitude.

We are writing to object most strongly to Guildford Borough Council’s local plan for housing and development. As residents of East Horsley we are deeply concerned by the proposals, which will have a profoundly damaging effect on the character of the village, and will stretch the local services to beyond breaking point. There are a number of key points which we object to:

1. The proposal to remove the Horsleys from the Green Belt: The National Planning Policy Framework states that “The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belt are their openness and their permanence”. It states that “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. It also states that “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribuiton which the open
By looking to remove the Horsleys from existing, well established Green Belt land, GBC will destroy the openness inherent in the planning and building within the settlement boundary. The Horsleys have been developed with a rural, open “feel” and this is a key part of the character of the villages, in keeping with their position within the Green Belt. Their situation within the Green Belt has ensured that development meets strict criteria and this enhances this outstandingly beautiful area. The changes proposed by GBC will destroy this openness permanently and GBC have in no way demonstrated ‘exceptional circumstance’ in order to justify this.

2. The proposal looks to extend the settlement boundaries of the Horsleys. This would encroach on Green Belt land, and there is no justification for this, other than to increase the land available within the settlement for housing development. Again, this goes totally against the principles of Green Belt planning and GBC have shown no evidence that justifies this proposal.

The result of the Strategic Housing Market Assessment referred to in the proposed plan is unbelievable. Estimates that 593 additional houses are required to be built within 5 years of adopting the plan are totally outrageous. Other estimates, provided by detailed analysis using a number of different methodologies have shown that the total number of new houses required in East Horsley is in the order of 130 to 180 over the next 15 - 20 years. This is in line with population growth over the last 12 years, and takes account of the local demographic, the nature of local businesses, and the lack of students living in the Horsleys (which appear to have disproportionately influenced GBC’s calculations). Development on this scale is much more reasonable. We absolutely accept the need to increase housing stock, including the provision of affordable housing, but the scale of development must be proportionate and the character of any development must be in keeping with the current character of the Horsleys, which are, and should remain, within the Green Belt.

You threw out the Wisley private proposal. It should not come in again - the Same objections apply, besides there is no indication of the cost commitment of GBC to the venture, which is highly speculative and dubious in terms of the "promises re infrastructure "

The infrastructure in the area is totally inadequate in terms for example of poor roads, the already overloaded medical centre, school, parking arrangements etc.....

Your plans for improving the infrastructure do not chime in terms of time with this building plan.

I repeat, I object to the plan: it is an affront to the people in residence in the area to propose such an unnecessary and unwanted and damaging plan

We would like to object to the continued inclusion of this site for possible future residential development.

The prospect of large scale development on this site which is included in the Green Belt and its traffic effect on narrow country lanes, the beautiful village of Ockham, the pressure on school and medical facilities does not bear thinking about. Much smaller scale developments in existing communities is surely the way forward.

Your plan appears to be catering for twice the increase in population that is predicted.

I object to Policy D4 – Development in urban areas. Affordable homes are not an option for most people due to the serious high costs of homes within Surrey. The need for homes within the major towns are the main requirement, where people can assess employment nearer to their homes.

I object to the idea of a large scale settlement within Wisley/Ockham. Ockham is only a small village with narrow winding country lanes totally unsuitable for an extra 5,000 cars!

I object to the local plan as the transport issues will be huge. People will not be able to cycle to the stations there are no cycle paths and no room on the narrow country lands for them. The A3/M25 junction is already gridlocked every morning, it cannot take any more cars.

I object to the unfair allocation of housing it all seems to be around the smaller villages when there are large sites within Guildford that would be more suitable for development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I have the following specific OBJECTIONS to the New Local Plan:

1. I OBJECT to the proposal to remove East and West Horsley from the Green Belt. The exceptional circumstances needed to justify such a fundamental and adverse change for the Horsleys have not been demonstrated and only Guildford Borough Council's perceived unfulfilled housing needs appear to support the proposal.

2. I OBJECT to the proposal to extend the boundaries of the Settlement areas within East and West Horsley. No sound reasons have been given for the proposed changes which seem to be aimed solely at increasing the land available within the settlements for future additional development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public means. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted level Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Pl The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village's green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield,- now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning
After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd.’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the proposal to develop a 2,000 house village at the former Wisley airfield, a site that forms part of the Metropolitan Green Belt and a 'first line of defense' against urbanisation from the A3 and M25. Guildford Borough Council's Planning Officer, in rejecting a previous planning application from the developer said 'it has not been demonstrated that the benefits of the proposal amount to very special circumstances such as to clearly outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm identified'. The proposal would be disastrous not only for East and West Horsley but especially for the local villages of Ockham, Hatchford and Downside. Anyone with local knowledge of the area will appreciate the strain such a proposal would place on local transport and infrastructure. Why does Guildford Borough Council continue to include this site in its plans in the face of massive objections from residents from across the area? I consider this proposal to be an act of ENVIRONMENTAL VANDALISM.

I OBJECT to the proposal to designate Station Parade as a 'District Centre'. In my comments on the earlier Draft Local Plan I mentioned that it was hard to avoid the conclusion that the writer had never visited East Horsley. I see no reason to change this view. The proposed reclassification results from a complete misunderstanding of the nature of the facilities in the village centre and would inappropriately target the area for future urban developments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The proposals made in the New Local Plan result in 593 new houses in the Horsleys within five years of the Plan being adopted without taking account of the 2,000 houses proposed at Wisley, 2,000 houses and mixed use development at Burpham, and 400 houses and commercial development at Burnt Common and Gosden Hill Farm. In West Horsley alone, the proposal is to increase the housing stock by up to 35%! Once again, it is difficult to avoid the impression that this plan is the result of a desktop exercise prepared by individuals who have little knowledge of, or interest in, our villages. Adjustments to population growth projections made by Guildford Borough Council result in a population increase which is almost 70% higher than official national estimates for the Borough. The adverse impact on an overloaded existing infrastructure in terms of local schools, medical facilities, and road and rail transport would be substantial. The impact of the resulting urbanisation of our villages adjoining the Surrey Hills area of Outstanding Natural Beauty would be devastating.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to express my strongest possible OBJECTION to the New Local Plan.

The previous Draft Local Plan issued in 2014 for consultation received more than 20,000 comments, the overwhelming majority of which expressed fundamental objections, yet the New Local Plan makes no changes of substance. The New Local Plan does not respond to the concerns of electors and the 20,000 comments will not be made available to the independent inspector. I consider that these issues amount to CONTEMPT of the electorate by Guildford Borough Council.

I am aware that the East Horsley Parish Council has made detailed objections to the New Local Plan in their letter of 13 June 2016 and specifically to the former Wisley airfield on 4 July 2016. The East Horsley Parish Council has articulated our concerns very clearly and I fully support their conclusions in their entirety. I trust the Guildford Borough Council will now give full weight to the concerns they have so professionally expressed.

The revised target for borough housing remains excessively high and is seriously flawed. I object to the borough housing targets set out in Policy S2.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I strongly object to the plan to remove the villages of East and West Horsley, Wisley Airfield and the surrounding villages and areas from the Green Belt. There are no "exceptional circumstances" which justify this action and I oppose the planned big increase in house building and population in the area for the following reasons:

1. The infrastructure is inadequate to cope with the increased population. Existing roads are narrow and many are without pavements. The roads are already congested at rush hours and the station car parks at Horsley and Effingham stations are full on weekdays. The Medical Centre struggles to provide timely appointments and parking there already overflows.

1. The character of the villages would be totally destroyed not only by the planned big increase in population but by the probable development of infrastructure that would be necessary to support it. Bigger roads, parking areas, medical services, schools, shops, etc. would turn the villages into towns.

2. I object to the proposed designation of Horsley's Station Parade as a "District Centre" as it is likely to lead to further urbanisation

1. Loss of The local green belt area provides great amenity for visitors and the local population for walking, cycling, bird watching, camping and caravanning etc. The Horsley area is close to the North Downs and visitors enjoy the open country and the existing pretty "Lovelace" villages.

2. The local area provides a "green Lung" for London similar to the large London Parks developed by our ancestors. We cannot allow London sprawl to destroy the pretty local villages and lovely open areas that bring joy to so many. What is the point of the well thought out green belt designation if it can be removed so easily?

1. "Brexit" should reduce population growth but if the Government continues to allow uncontrolled population growth it should be sited away from the south east. Brownfield sites within the urban area of Guildford should be the first to be developed if necessary and then areas to the west, away from London sprawl, if absolutely essential.

I trust that the plan to remove the Horsley villages, Wisley Airfield and surrounding areas from the green belt will now be dropped.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I understand that it is considered that a 7FE Secondary School is needed in the west of the borough and that the provision of such a school would constitute “exceptional circumstances” that are required to remove the land from the Green Belt. This site has important flora and fauna and is only 1 km away from the Thames Valley Heaths that has 3 rare ground nesting bird species in rare heathland habitat and a large development could have a detrimental effect on the TBHSPA. The site which is Grade 3 arable and pastoral land was stated by Councillor Spooner at our Parish Council Meeting in February to have “red Sensitivity”.

School

The question is: is the school actually needed? From detailed research carried out by Keith Witham our Surrey County Councillor for Worplesdon Division (including Normandy, Pirbright and Worplesdon) it appears that Surrey Education Department have unfilled secondary places in the west of the borough in the medium term to cater for over 700 children and other schools are willing to expand. He gave an example, Kings College School in Guildford, one of the nearest schools to Normandy which is undersubscribed by 57%; only 43% of its places are filled. The Council has no doubt been provided with all the details of Keith Witham’s detailed research. If these figures are correct why should children have to travel to Normandy by train, bus or car when they have schools nearer to them? I also understand that the birth rate in Guildford is falling which surely weakens the arguments for the need of this school in Normandy. I understand too that both Ash Manor and Kings College are willing to expand if the need arises and have the available land.

In the worst scenario, if the development went ahead even with 1100 extra households eventually, there would not be enough local children of secondary school age to fill the school.

My opinion is that the school is not required and following Councillor Bilbe’s amendment to the draft Local Plan at the Planning Meeting on 24th May the strategic site at Normandy should be excluded in its entirety. If this view, which is strongly felt by many residents as you are no doubt aware, is ignored will you also consider the following points:

Roads/Traffic Chaos

This development would link up to roads classified as C16 (Westwood Lane and Wanborough Hill) and D60 (Glaziers Lane-unclassified road). The stress on these local roads would be extreme. Already these local lanes grind to a halt at peak times massively threatening the health of old people and children with exhaust pollution, and increased traffic from the homes proposed and a huge secondary school with daily drop off and pick-ups would make the situation untenable. As I understand it a new railway station proposed at Park Barn should alleviate some of the traffic problems but would not be in operation before 2033! Westwood Lane with a low railway bridge and one way traffic would not be viable for large HGVs, making it particularly difficult during the building stages which would force heavy traffic from A31 and A323 onto Glaziers Lane which has a narrow hazardous railway bridge over the railway line. In addition large vehicles, including buses coming off the A323 have to come across both lanes as they turn into Glaziers Lane which creates a dangerous situation for vehicles going onto or crossing the A323. I recall too that in recent years Glaziers Lane has had problems with subsidence on the corner coming off the A323. Would it not be at enormous risk with the heavy increase of traffic especially contractors vehicles etc? There is also a small Nursery School in Glaziers Lane and parents have to stop in the road to drop off and collect their children which reduces the road outside the school to one way traffic at those times.

Both railway bridges were never intended to handle the level of traffic that would be generated and the already congested junctions at peak times will create traffic chaos and an increase in accident rates is inevitable. The existing traffic on the A323 at present is invariably jammed up at peak times and this will obviously get worse with traffic generated from the proposed development and from the vehicles that could come from the 3850 homes planned by Rushmoor Council which is only 4 miles away. How would we ever get out of Glaziers Lane in the future –at the very least least we would need traffic lights or a large roundabout.

Flood Risk/Sewage

Normandy/Flexford has a very high water table with water draining down from the Hogs Back and from the Ash Ranges and flooding in wet periods is a frequent occurrence throughout the village so with a vastly increased population the sewer system and drainage are a major concern. Some residents regularly experience sewage back flow during wet weather and other areas, for example the Wanborough Station forecourt floods badly and if the land in question is built over it seems inevitable that these problems will increase.

Doctors Surgery

There is a small surgery in Glaziers Lane next to Manor Fruit Farm (on this site is Normandy Therapy Garden, a play area, Guildford Archery Club and the site for village activities such as the annual November 5th bonfire, August Bank Holiday Fete etc and the excellent Village Hall with first class parking)

The main surgery is 3 miles away at Fairlands. There is no mention in the plan that a new surgery is included –has thought been given to how the new and existing residents would be cared for as it is difficult now to get appointments and having to go to the main surgery is a frequent occurrence?

Conclusion

I consider that the residents of Normandy have been let down by all these proposals as they appear to have been developed in complete secrecy by the Council working with the Developers, Taylor Wimpey until we were eventually told of the Plan at the beginning of April. This makes complete nonsense of the quote from The Times newspaper on 25th April 2016 when David Cameron and George Osborne wrote: “We will always protect the green belt and make sure planning decisions are made local people”

We know and accept the need for more homes but surely it would be better if small groups of houses were built throughout the borough where the new occupants could blend into the village surroundings and the existing occupants rather than creating a few large “urban” sites which will destroy the sense of community which exists at present.

I am happy to support the removal from the Plan of these two sites as the Council obviously now agrees with residents that the infrastructure to cope with developments on this scale is totally inadequate, particularly considering the roads involved (Westwood Lane is a C road and Glaziers Lane a D road),sewage,long term flooding problems, electricity supply and healthcare. The sites in question are Green Belt land which is important to protect the environment.

At a more local level, as a resident of East Horsley, I object especially to residential development proposals contained in policies: A35, A37, A38, A39, & A40 on the basis that the proposed development is excessive (particularly on the Wisley airfield site and in West Horsley) and far exceeds local need for new housing at any level. The proposals would irremediably damage the rural feel of the villages and form a small town – but with no opportunity for commensurate extension of infrastructure and development of necessary supporting facilities (or employment opportunities). This makes the proposals unsustainable – without adequate provision for wastewater capacity and runoff, local schools, road capacity and flood prevention.

The developments would create isolated urban developments with none of the benefits of urban living and destroy the rural community. The proposed housing density is excessive when compared with existing development in the villages and the new developments would not blend with the existing developments.

The draft Plan fails to address the collective and hugely destructive impact of these sites on a small part of the borough which lacks the infrastructure (particularly transport) to support them. It is disappointing to note that the total amount of new building is totally out of scale with the planned development elsewhere in the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas which are not protected by Green Belt.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P4 (FLOOD RISK AND WATER PROTECTION):

Flooding across the country last winter clearly demonstrated the danger of overdevelopment and pressure on local drainage systems. I have concerns that building this number of homes, with much high density development, will lead to flood risk in the local area.

The proposed development in the Horsleys and the Three Farms Meadows (the former Wisley Airfield) is unsustainable and will lead to environmental issues both at a local level and in adjoining areas downstream. Site A39 (land near Horsley railway station, Ockham Road North) has clear flooding issues and nearby drains are unable to manage current levels of runoff – Ockham Road South suffers from flooding through the winter (and autumn and spring!) and the infrastructure is unable to deal with the problem – making it a liability for all – particularly pedestrians and cyclists.

The huge scale of proposed development at Three Farms Meadow will have a huge impact on Ockham, the Horsleys and other surrounding communities. The scale of development will change the nature of these villages irrevocably, creating in effect a new town in a protected green belt area and overwhelming the local amenities, infrastructure and character. The draft Plan has failed to provide substantive evidence of a specific and defined need for large scale high density social housing in the local area.

In conclusion, I strongly object to its proposals as referred to above and believe that the proposed development would seriously detract from the very special character and nature of the green belt, and in particular, the East Horsley Conservation Area.

Finally, I OBJECT ALSO TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD) this proposal should be rejected for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties. There are no “exceptional circumstances” which can justify building on the Green Belt and destroying this area of natural beauty. The Council have sought to misrepresent the site as brownfield – but only 15% of it is developed. The development is unsustainable for all of the reasons outlined above (traffic limitations including on the A3, public transport, high housing density, no proper traffic data. Ockham is a beautiful, very rural village and the proposed development will utterly destroy the village which will be subsumed in a “new town” urban sprawl. The impact of this development on all neighbouring communities cannot be underestimated. The Council have failed to demonstrate any collective impact assessment on the area of this and the proposed Horsley sites.

I also object to Policy H1 (HOMES FOR ALL) on the grounds that the Policy doesn’t set any constraints on building and the housing mix has been based on pre-Brexit growth and demographic assumptions which are now unproven and should be subject to review.

The draft Local Plan has failed to compel the University of Surrey to use its many planning consents and existing space, such as car parks, to provide required student accommodation. If the University were made to take responsibility for accommodating its students on the land which it already owns but fails to efficiently utilise, this would free up housing stock within the City to be utilised to answer any housing requirements identified by the Local Plan.

The proposals for development contained in the Local Plan impose a disproportionate amount (the majority) in Green Belt land and provides too few new homes in urban areas such as Guildford city centre where transport links are better and work opportunities are greater facilities.

In furtherance of the above, I also object to Policy H3 (rural exception homes) which loosens the criteria by allowing “market housing” and development that changes the housing mix. Developers would be able to override NPPF “exceptional circumstances” and other restrictions to build large houses in the Green Belt.

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Under existing law, an unfulfilled housing need is not an exceptional circumstance. Conversely, the existence of the Green Belt/Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty is a legitimate legal reason for not meeting objectively assessed housing need. The draft Plan fails to demonstrate substantive evidence that other development options have been thoroughly investigated and found to be untenable and therefore I object to any proposal to remove greenbelt designation from East and West Horsley.

The proposed and excessive housebuilding in our rural communities and countryside / green belt land is not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure which is a key flaw in the Plan. The Council have failed to provide any plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone capacity to accommodate the huge increase in demand / burden once thousands of houses are built across the countryside.

Policy i3: Sustainable transport for developers versus finite and inadequate local Infrastructure

I OBJECT TO Policy i3 and the Local Plan’s woefully inadequate provision for transport and infrastructure arrangements to support its housing and development plans. The policy fails to provide any concrete obligation on developers to address weaknesses in transport – and there are practical reasons why this will not be possible in East and West Horsley and the surrounding villages (including Ockham / Wisley).

Road widths will not accommodate increased bus use through the villages and I see no acceptable solution to the need to provide access from the newly developed houses to employment which will, inevitably, be based outside of the village communities. Busses and lorries are frequently forced into the middle of the roads to manoeuvre around bends or avoid tree branches, exacerbating congestion. Pavements are narrow and there is no scope to widen thoroughfares to accommodate the inevitable increase in traffic. Local rail station car parks are already full and rail services are woefully overcrowded, particularly heading to / from London where many of the employment opportunities lie. Road-widths combined with the size of many modern cars and commercial vehicles make commuting by bicycle totally unsafe and there is no room for the provision of cycle lanes. New residents will have few options but to commute to work by car, leading to an unacceptable level of traffic on the roads through Ockham and the Horsleys. The draft Plan fails to recognise that the majority of the infrastructure in East and West Horsley is finite, is not capable of expansion and has no capacity to absorb a large increase in population.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT) which fails to address the real life constraints and demands of modern life. In failing to recognising employment opportunities (or lack of them) within the local communities, the Council’s proposals are unrealistic and fail to address the commuting pressures of the population who will occupy the proposed new housing developments, frequently located on the village fringes. The majority of people cannot or will not walk or cycle – commuters are in a hurry and many will already face a long commute to work. The elderly, children, people with disabilities or who are unwell or unfit, or simply people carrying heavy shopping will not walk or jump on a bike. Life in a village is very different to life in an urban area and the Council fail to address these differences. Roads in the Horsleys are narrow and in a poor condition – pavements switch from side to side or disappear completely, are narrow, often overgrown and not suitable for hugely increased numbers of people.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO ALL POLICIES INVOLVING BUILDING IN THE GREEN BELT and also object to all proposals to remove East and West Horsley from the Green Belt – this would severely damage the very special nature and character of these villages and remove a vital amenity enjoyed by both the London and local population. The importance of our Green Belt as a public and private asset in terms of tourism, leisure, agriculture and heritage have been overlooked. There is no justification to extend the defined East and West Horsley Settlement Boundaries. The Green Belt serves a vital role in providing clean air and combating pollution and has greater importance and value today than when it was first conceived. The deliberate protection of rural villages from the expansion of Greater London and surrounding towns goes beyond the convenience of developing new homes on greenfield sites. Our local council has an obligation to consider and exhaust all other exiting development opportunities such as redevelopment of brownfield sites (such as those owned by the University of Surrey), sites already allocated for development (but not yet developed) and should be striving to protect the Green Belt and the historic integrity of local villages. Our Green Belt meets all five legal purposes for Green Belt designation:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

The Council should look to encourage re-use of derelict sites and for the consolidation of commercial businesses to allow for re-zoning existing commercial or light industrial sites for residential use. The Council has ignored the impact of Green Belt development on flood control and on carbon sink. It has also failed to address the knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change.

The Green Belt provides an irreplaceable habitat for Britain’s declining wildlife which no amount of “newt tunnels” and “bat boxes” can replace. Our native bee population is already in decline and the Local Plan fails to address the impact on biodiversity, wildlife and our natural heritage.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I also wish to OBJECT TO POLICY P3 (COUNTRYSIDE BEYOND THE GREEN BELT) and was very disappointed to note that the proposed LP gives Ash and Tongham more protection than the rest of borough, including existing Green Belt, although these villages do not contribute to preventing London sprawl – unlike East and West Horsley, Ockham etc. Without wishing to be cynical, I would question whether due process has been followed in developing the draft Plan where there appears to be special treatment of a ward represented by the current Council Leader and his predecessor. With questions around politically bias, the draft Plan should not be approved as it is currently drawn.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objection to Policy S1 – Objection to GBC’s plans for “Sustainable Development” within East & West Horsley and Ockham / Wisley Airfield

I object to the proposed development of so many new homes within East / West Horsley and Ockham / Wisley – the proposals are not sustainable and will damage the character and amenity of the villages. The facilities in the villages are limited and not extendable. Local schools and medical practice are already over subscribed and the train station car parks at Horsley and Effingham Junction are full to capacity, with no room for expansion. In summary the proposals to build such a huge number of new homes are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops and parking in East Horsley (shops and station) and public transport – with limited capacity for busses on narrow roads.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I am writing to object to the proposed A46 site development at Normandy/Flexford contained in the current GBC local plan.

I have lived in Glaziers Lane for 6 years and, as I’m sure is the case for the majority of villagers, love the fact that it has a rural feel and is currently surrounded by greenbelt land. The suggested removal of the greenbelt status of the proposed strategic site is deeply concerning.

How will future infrastructure plans support the sheer number of proposed homes, retail and community services? As I have stated in previous correspondence, I frequently work from home (a few houses down from Wanborough Station) with a clear view of the road from my Study window. Glaziers Lane is heavily used as a cut through to the A31/A3 and the blind bridge over the railway is a hazardous spot where I witness frequent speeding often resulting in dangerous traffic incidents. Any parking on the road immediately prohibits two way traffic which also creates a hazard. Should the proposed plans go ahead there will be a significant increase in traffic load on what is ostensibly a country lane. The same can be said of Westwood Lane on the other side of the proposed site, given that there is a single lane, height restricted bridge under the railway. In addition, the level of traffic joining the A323 already causes tailbacks at peak times, both at the Glaziers Lane & Westwood lane junctions. Obviously the proposed plans would massively increase the number of vehicles using already overstretched routes. Exactly what plans are there to ensure that the roads around the proposed site would in any way be able to support the huge pressure that will be put on the road structure?

Given the close proximity of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area to the A46 site - has it been proven, beyond reasonable doubt, that the proposed development will not have a significant adverse impact on the surrounding environment? Also, with regard to the ancient woodland that is contained within the proposed site, it is suggested that this will be ‘protected’. How can the wildlife here thrive when surrounded by urban lighting, traffic pollution and buildings?

The proposed 7FE school has been put forward as an ‘exceptional circumstance’ for removing A46 from the greenbelt. On what basis has the need for a secondary school at this site been made? I understand that the two nearest secondary schools to this area (Ash Manor and Kings College) are both heavily undersubscribed. How can such a large school be justified in this instance when ‘only 1 FE would be needed to serve the strategic development site itself’ (as per Appendix C of the Local Plan, Infrastructure Schedule SED3)? The building of this school appears to be solely developer led and that cannot be a justifiable reason to remove the site from the greenbelt.

In conclusion, I fail to see that the negative effect to the community is offset by any benefits and I urge the Council to reconsider the proposed plan for the A46 site.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPI) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.
I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data
- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015
- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016
- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.
Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment.

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY 12

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy 12)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I
I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.
It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan also appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest 'value creation' areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,

The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular pastime, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period.
Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.

This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.

The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that "there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented."
There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

I object to the potential impact of para 4.4.23a on Burnt Common with its over allocation of industrial zoning is subterfuge for a waste management facility which is a dishonest and underhand approach to planning and proper consultation.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have lived at [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998], Normandy for the last 23 years. Pirbright Road (the A324) is on the northern boundary of the village of Normandy, and borders Ash Ranges. We moved to Normandy because of its location, being semi-rural in nature with lots of open spaces, and other beautiful countryside nearby, whilst at the same time within easy reach of train stations giving direct access to London. Something which attracted us to Normandy was the fact that north of the railway line the village was mainly ribbon development, with no large blocks of high density housing. The fields and woodlands are essential for the unique nature of this village.

I have been involved in various projects and activities in and around Normandy, volunteering for the Parish Council, and in 2014 my wife and I received the Mayor’s Award for services to the Community. I also volunteer quite regularly for Surrey Wildlife Trust and have been an Honorary Member since 2014.

My family utilise the countryside as much as possible. We have had a dog for many years and love exploring the local footpaths and bridleways. We avoid the built-up areas as much as possible. I also cycle a fair amount. I go off road as much as possible to avoid vehicle pollution and to enjoy the countryside. I use the perimeter track on Ash Ranges and the Christmas Pie Ride often (we could do with more such cycle routes, particularly one avoiding Pirbright Road). Since I retired in 2004 I have had more time to explore my interest in wildlife and thoroughly enjoy finding and knowing more about wild plant and animal species, which currently abound in this area, (for example, I have identified over 700 different species of moth in our garden over the last 9 years). I help maintain Normandy’s Traditional Orchard (see Parish Council website) where I have seen and identified several notable species (including Song Thrush and Stag Beetle) and am trying to encourage more by careful management. One of the treasures of the Normandy/North Flexford area is that unlike the intensively farmed areas of parts of Wanborough it contains smaller fields with numerous hedges and woods some of which are ancient. Many of these areas, as pointed out by the Friends of Normandy Wildlife, are of conservation importance and contain rare and unusual species as documented by them. Moreover, many are of the opinion that valuing nature is not a choice but a necessity and GP’s would do well to recommend getting out into the countryside and imbibing nature. Since it is becoming clearer that man’s health and happiness is greatly enhanced by living in close proximity to such habitats, having such a special area so close to Ash/Aldershot and Guildford is of incalculable value and should be treasured amongst other sites that make Surrey an amazingly diverse county.

The Proposed Submission Local Plan (the Plan) in relation to the settlements of Normandy and Flexford, in particular, Policy A46 seeks to create a large development including 1100 houses and a 7 Form entry secondary school this changing the character of this area into an urban like environment. In order to be able to implement this policy GBC have proposed that these settlements are inset from the Green Belt. Green Belt is of huge importance for biodiversity and is also important for wildlife by providing wildlife corridors between different areas. It is clear that prior to publication of the draft Local Plan in April 2016, GBC considered the Green Belt of Normandy and Flexford to be inappropriate for development (note the Red status it was given). Paragraph 4.3.12 of the National Planning Policy Framework states "...only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt. Those that do not should be inset, or removed, from the Green Belt..."

The countryside between Normandy and Flexford demonstrates the open character of the settlements and makes a large contribution towards the Openness of the Green Belt. I therefore object vigorously to the proposal by GBC to inset the settlements of Normandy and Flexford from the Green Belt. The decision to inset this Green Belt is not consistent with NPPF policy and is therefore "Unsound". I object to Policies P2, and P3. Where these policies relate to Normandy and Flexford, the Plan is not consistent with national policy set out by the NPPF and is therefore "Unsound".

I strongly object to Policy A46, because I do not believe that it passes the Tests of "Soundness" as set out by the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), paragraph 182. This development is "unsustainable".

I believe the proposed development of site A46 will put more pressure on the nearby (within 1 km) hugely important Ash Ranges which form part of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area; part of the Thursley, Ash, Pirbright and Chobham Special Area of Conservation (SAC) and which is also the Ash to Brookwood Heaths Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI). It will be used more for recreational use and considerably more dogs will visit disturbing the very sensitive wildlife there (e.g. rare plants, smooth snakes, sand lizards, many uncommon ground nesting birds etc). Similiarly the other seven Sites of Nature Conservation Interest in Normandy Parish are likely to be more heavily used and biodiversity degraded. Obviously a SANG will help but I don’t believe it will have the desired effect. I am objecting to site A46 because GBC have failed to recognise the significant impact that the proposed development would have on this nature reserve.

I am appalled at the dreadful decline in wildlife in England in the last few decades. Through my interest in moths I have discovered that in the Southern half of England the total counts of larger moths have decreased by 40% over a 40 year period to 2007 (Butterfly Conservation) and is indicative of rapid loss of insect biodiversity in Britain (during the same time the numbers in the North of Britain have remained the same). This has to have a considerable impact on other wildlife and plants. Butterflies are also a key indicator of a healthy environment and 24 (over half) of the 42 species that are resident or regular migrants to Surrey have declined in abundance and a shocking 4 species have gone extinct (in Surrey) since the 1990’s (Butterflies of Surrey revisited, Surrey Wildlife Trust atlas, 2013). Other serious concerns for my local area include the huge decline of the Hedgehog (5% loss per year). These are regularly seen by residents of Normandy but are also often seen dead on the roads. Busier roads and more housing development will exacerbate this. Similarly, the water vole was in the Normandy and Flexford area but I understand it is now even unsure if it is still in Surrey. High density housing developments, busier roads, associated increased pollution and increased tidiness are likely to make a lot of these declines worse. I therefore strongly object to large scale developments outside the current towns such as A46 and A26 that will inevitably cause the continued decline of biodiversity. Instead more support (such as is given by Surrey Wildlife Trust) should be given to land owners to improve habitats to arrest the decline in biodiversity.

In my opinion GBC have failed to adhere to the principals they have set out in Policy I4 for Biodiversity in respect of Normandy and Flexford and therefore the Plan is “unsound”.

Evidence suggests that the inference that there is a need for a seven form entry secondary school at site A46 is incorrect. GBC have relied upon the contention that there is such a need in order to prove that there are “exceptional circumstances” to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries around Normandy and Flexford, and the Plan is therefore unsound in this respect.

I object to the Transport Strategy as set out in Policy I2 because no provision has been made to address the many traffic problems which affect the roads around the proposed development at site A46 e.g. volume of traffic generated by the Wellesley development, Aldershot and the fact that the development at site A46 will add considerably more motorised vehicles to these already busy and in places dangerous roads, especially at peak times. There has not been any attempt to create additional bicycle routes and ones that are currently present are not being adequately maintained (the Christmas Pie ride was in an atrocious state when I used it last month – overgrown and muddy along a lot of stretches).

I strongly object to Policy A47 which includes a Site of Nature Conservation Interest because of it’s importance for plants, potential for Great Crested Newts (European Protected Species) and lies within an area identified as a ‘Water Vole Alert Area’ as identified by the National Water Vole Database and Mapping Project in 2012. This animal if present in the area need every help it can get as it is in a dire state in Surrey.

In addition to my objections to the Plan in the Normandy and Flexford area I object to Policy A26 for similar reasons to site A46 (see above) in particular because it forms an important part of the Green Belt swath between Guildford and Ash/Aldershot.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

My name is Mrs Gillian Stanworth [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] for the last 23 years. Pirbright Road (the A324) is on the northern boundary of the village of Normandy, and borders the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (TBH SPA). We moved to Normandy because of its location, being semi-rural in nature with lots of open spaces, and other beautiful countryside nearby, whilst at the same time within easy reach of train stations giving direct access to London. Something which attracted us to Normandy was the fact that north of the railway line the village was mainly ribbon development, with no large blocks of high density housing. The fields and woodlands are essential for the unique nature of this village.

I have been involved in various projects and activities in and around Normandy, volunteering at Wyke school and for the Parish Council, and in 2014 my husband and I received the Mayor’s Award for services to the Community. I therefore feel passionately about the future of Normandy and Flexford, and am aghast at the thought of our beautiful countryside being turned into an urban environment. I do not believe that Guildford Borough have not sought the views and wishes of the residents of these two villages when preparing their Local Plan in respect of Normandy and Flexford.

I strongly object to the Proposed Submission Local Plan (the Plan) in relation to the settlements of Normandy and Flexford, in particular, Policy A46, because I do not believe that it passes the Tests of "Soundness" as set out by the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), paragraph 182. This requires it to be "Positively prepared", "Justified", "Effective" and "Consistent with national policy". The Ministerial foreword to the NPPF States that "The purpose of planning is to help achieve sustainable development" and this means that Local Plans should be consistent with the presumption in favour of sustainable development. It is my contention that the development proposed in Policy A46 is "unsustainable" and does not therefore meet the policies set out in the NPPF.

1) I object vigorously to the proposal by GBC to inset the settlements of Normandy and Flexford from the Green Belt. Policy P2 of the Plan paragraph 4.3.12 states "...the National Planning Policy states that only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt. Those that do not should be inset, or removed, from the Green Belt..." Paragraph 157 of the NPPF states, inter alia., that Local Plans should "identify land where development would be inappropriate, for instance because of its environmental...significance". Prior to publication of the Plan, GBC indicated that 'major consideration' would be given to protecting existing Green Belt, and that the most valuable Green Belt, areas designated as 'Red Sites' under their own classification system, should not be included in the Plan for development. Normandy and Flexford were given a red status. It is clear that GBC considered the Green Belt of Normandy and Flexford to be inappropriate for development. The decision to inset this Green Belt is therefore consistent with NPPF policy and is therefore "Unsound".

The land which GBC have proposed for development under Policy A46 is an area comprising mainly Ancient Woodland, open fields and unimproved verges and hedges which are the essence of the Green Belt and which make a valuable contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. The site (A46) lies approximately mid-way between Guildford and Ash/Tongham, within a swathe of Green Belt. Taking the settlements out of the Green Belt would have a detrimental effect upon that stretch of Green Belt, cutting it in half and destroying part of the rural environment of this area and significantly impacting upon wildlife and wildlife habitats which are part of it. It is just the start of "urban sprawl" which Green Belt was established to prevent. In Appendix A of the Plan,(Glossary), Green Belt is defined as a statutory designation which serves five purposes, the first three being : "checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas", (eg Guildford), "preventing neighbouring towns from merging into each other", (eg Guildford and Ash/Tongham), "assisting in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment..." (eg Site A46).

If Normandy and Flexford are inset from the Green Belt, there could be a continuous stream of new development in this area for years to come. Policy D4 of the Plan states, paragraph 4.5.43 "In addition to site allocations, we anticipate that a range of other development sites will continue to come forward through redevelopment, infilling and conversions." It goes on to say that planning permission will be granted in inset villages, subject to certain conditions. Insetting means that "development is no longer by definition, considered inappropriate" (paragraph 4.5.47). Apparently the important character of these inset villages will be protected using development management policies. I think that this policy just opens the floodgates to the urbanisation of the area between Guildford and Ash/Tongham, much the same as that which has already happened in the Blackwater Valley. Policy P3 of the Plan, paragraph 4.3.33 states however that "National Planning states that we should recognise the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside and support thriving rural communities within it. For this reason, we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless..." How can urbanisation possibly protect the existing character of Normandy and Flexford, which are currently small rural communities? If development goes ahead on site A46, the intrinsic character will be destroyed, exacerbated in the future as a result of the implementation of policy D4, thus leading to the decimation of the open spaces which characterise the villages. Damage to the rural environment would be huge and irreversible.

For these reasons I object to Policies P2, P3 and D4. This is another example where the Plan is not consistent with national policy set out by the NPPF and is therefore "Unsound".

2) Green Belt was also established to "secure nature conservation interest". Green Belt is of huge importance for Biodiversity and it is imperative that we guard against further loss of irreplaceable habitats by unwise development of important areas of land which are currently "washed over", or part of the Green Belt. This Green Belt is also important for wildlife by providing wildlife corridors between different areas: "It is an integral component of England's ecological network". (CPRE). Insetting the settlements of Normandy and Flexford goes against the approach GBC have said they will adopt in respect of Biodiversity in Policy I4 of the Plan, which states "The Council will conserve and enhance biodiversity and will seek opportunities for habitat restoration and creation, particularly within and adjacent to Biodiversity Opportunity Areas (BOAs)." Policy A46 sets out proposals for a huge development of 1100 houses and a 7 form entry secondary school, the impact of which would seriously degrade biodiversity and wildlife habitats. Whatever Green and Blue Infrastructure were provided within the development, this could never achieve "net gains in biodiversity" which is defined in Policy I4 as "biodiversity creation and/or enhancement." Wildlife habitats will be destroyed, existing wildlife corridors eliminated and wildlife impacted by the many stresses placed upon it by a huge development such as that proposed. GBC are required to provide mitigation in the form of Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG), but any SANG proposed for site A46 will use an area which is already greenspace, and which will not enhance or create biodiversity.

Within Normandy Parish there are Statutory Designated Sites, the most important of which is the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (TBH SPA). The heathland of the TBH SPA is also a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI), and there are several areas of Ancient Woodland and Veteran Trees (which have protection under the NPPF and identified in the Biodiversity Plan for Surrey, as being important for biodiversity. There are also several sites of Nature Conservation Importance (SNCI’s), and other important habitats, including BOA’s (as mentioned above). In my opinion GBC have failed to adhere to the principals they have set out in Policy I4 and the Plan is “unsound” in respect of Normandy and Flexford for this reason.

3) I object to Policy A46 for a number of reasons. GBC have failed to recognise the impact that development such as that envisioned in Policy A46 will have upon

1. a) The TBH SPA and the Thursley, Ash, Pirbright and Chobham Special Area of Conservation (SAC; which overlaps with the TBH SPA)
2. b) Other important wildlife habitats within the site itself including Ancient Woodland and upon nearby statutory and non-statutory designated sites.

Re: a) The TBH SPA and the SAC which are European sites under the terms of the “Habitats and Conservation of Habitats and Species Regulations 2010 (as amended)” (Habitats Regulations), are within less than 1 km of site A46. A residential development of this size will have a significant impact upon the unique flora and fauna of this heathland and bog area, both from increased numbers of visitors and their dogs/horses and from various types of pollution from the increased volume of traffic which will result from such a development.

GBC was required to make an appropriate assessment under Paragraph 61 of the Habitats Regulations in respect of the TBH SPA “of the implications for that site in view of that sites conservation objectives.... The authority shall agree to the plan or project only after having ascertained that it will not adversely affect the integrity of the European site.”
In respect of Site A46, I do not agree that the evidence contained in Habitats Regulations Assessment (HRA) for the Plan is either adequate or up-to-date.

It was only when the draft local plan was published in April 2016 that site A46 was inserted as a “strategic site” for development. Prior to that, in the former draft local plan which came out for Regulation 18 consultation (under “The Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) Regulations 2012”), (the Regulations) in 2014, site A46 was only a “safeguarded” site. The initial HRA was produced in July 2014 and it seems unlikely that further research to assess the impact of the huge development proposed for site A46 plus its inevitable consequences, has been carried out during 2014–2016. The same applies to the SAC, part of which also lies within Normandy Parish. Therefore I do not consider this evidence to be up-to-date. Paragraph 62 (2) of the Habitats Regulations states that “Where the site concerned hosts a priority natural habitat type or priority species”, development under a plan or project can only be carried out for “imperative reasons of overriding public interest” and GBC have not demonstrated any such reasons. This leads me to believe that the evidence is not adequate.

Re: b) According to Natural England and the Forestry Commission, the guidance for planning and development produced for the Government entitled “Ancient Woodland and veteran trees: protecting them from development”, published in October 2014 and updated in October 2015, “Development can affect ancient woodland and veteran trees, and the wildlife they support, on the site and nearby”.

Impacts of development highlighted in this guidance include

“Compacting the soil around tree roots

Damaging roots and soil as well as the understorey

Damaging or destroying trees

Polluting the ground

Changing the woodland’s water table or drainage

Increasing the amount of pollution including dust (e.g. construction phase of any development)

Increasing disturbance to wildlife from additional traffic and visitors

Increasing light pollution

Increasing damaging activities like fly tipping and the impact of domestic pets”

The proposed development in policy A46 would be likely to generate many of these types of problem which would have a huge detrimental impact. Insufficient mitigation measures have been proposed to combat these and future attempts to mitigate are considered unlikely to be adequate.

4) Policy P 2, paragraph 4.3.16 states that “National planning policy requires that Green Belt boundaries are only be amended in exceptional circumstances…” GBC make the following contention in that paragraph “We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and promote sustainable patterns of development”. The developer Taylor Wimpey who are behind the decision by GBC to change the designation of site A46 from a “safeguarded” site to a strategic site for development, have said that they will build a 7 form entry secondary school, which GBC say then enables the building of 1100 houses on the site. In my view GBC have failed to prove the need for a secondary school in this location – indeed, the evidence points to there being many vacant places in existing in the West of the borough, as well as proposals to provide additional places in other locations/ existing schools. I have also been unable to find any evidence to support the contention that the need for a school enables another development such as that proposed for site A46. I am not aware of any legal basis for such an assertion. An article by Mark Challis entitled “Enabling development” – “A look at the position post NPPF” (www.buildingconservation.com) states that, “The term ‘Enabling Development’ is not a statutory one, but refers to a state of affairs in which development that would otherwise be considered harmful is considered acceptable because it would ‘facilitate’ (or ‘enable’) benefits that outweigh the harm. Typically the benefits in question are the generation of funds that will be used to pay for work done to a listed building or other heritage asset that is in pressing need of substantial repairs’. How can a school facilitate a huge housing development? Moreover the negative effects of the huge development proposed far outweigh the harm that it would cause.

Accordingly there do not appear to be any “exceptional circumstances” to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries around Normandy and Flexford, and the Plan is therefore unsound in this respect. In addition the proposal to build a school does not meet any local need for education as set out in the NPPF tests of soundness.

5) Policy I1 of the draft local plan deals with infrastructure and delivery, but there is no attempt to address the difficulties which exist around Normandy and Flexford. Surrey County Council has indicated that the roads in this area already suffer from traffic chaos. Roads around the development site and leading away from it to major networks would be unable to cope with the volume of traffic which would be generated by the proposed development. These roads already become heavily congested during peak periods, or due to an incident elsewhere in the Borough. There is a dangerously narrow bridge over the railway line on Glaziers Lane, and a lethal bridge under the railway line on Westwood Lane. The junctions with Guildford Road are also dangerous, and Wanborough Hill would be seriously impacted by the amount of traffic likely to be generated by the existence of a secondary school and associated development. It is difficult to imagine how the roads could be improved to cope with the extra volume of traffic that would be generated by policy A46. Also the B3000 is frequently seriously congested, exacerbated by the access roads to and from the A31, and Guildford Road (A323) and Pirbright Road (A324) are extremely busy during peak periods. GBC do not appear to have addressed of these problems in any way which can be considered adequate or sustainable.

The existing station has very little provision for parking (12 spaces!) and there appear to be no extra provisions included in the Plan. Glaziers Lane is unsuitable for street parking.

The access to the proposed new housing development (site A46) would also create an increased hazard with the increase in the volume of traffic.

Roads around Normandy, particularly the A323 and the A324 are already going to be seriously impacted by the Aldershot Urban Extension (Wellesley) for 3,850 houses etc which are to be built over a 15 year period, which was approved by Rushmoor Borough Council in 2013. GBC’s transport strategy set out in the Plan has not taken account of the impact that this development will have upon our roads let alone the additional impact which would result if the proposed A46 development were to go ahead.

For these reasons I object to the Transport Strategy as set out in Policy I2.

6) As already stated the proposed development contained within Policy A46 was only published in April 2016. In the previous draft of the Local Plan (2014), this area of land between Normandy and Flexford was designated as a “safeguarded” site. Consultations under Regulation 18 of the Regulations took place in 2013/2014 and so residents of Normandy and Flexford have not had the chance of a consultation on these new development proposals under Regulation 18.

Paragraph 150 of the NPPF states that “Local Plans are the key to delivering sustainable development that reflects the visions and aspirations of local communities.” Paragraph 155 of the NPPF states “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential.”

I am not aware of any discussions taking place between GBC and our communities during the preparation stage of the original draft local plan prior to 2014. There is no evidence to suggest that GBC took any notice of representations made during the 2013/2014 consultations, in view of the change that they made to the proposals for Site A46. The Council have not engaged with us to ascertain what our visions and aspirations are for the villages of Normandy and Flexford, and moreover GBC have not given the local community any chance of a Consultation under Regulation in respect of this proposed development. It is my contention, therefore, that GBC have failed to meet the requirement for the Plan to be prepared with the participation of the Community in respect of Policy A46, and accordingly the Plan is Unsound in this respect.
7) I appreciate that the preparation of a Local Plan is complex, and many documents and reports have to be prepared and studied. However, I did find the Plan quite difficult to navigate around and certain parts were confusing and/or misleading. For example, the Policies numbered I1 to I4 could easily be mistaken as being 11 and 14, so that reference to them would have been incorrect. It was also difficult to find some of the documents and reports referred to in the Plan. Unless as an individual one had a lot of spare time to try to unlock the complexities of the document, it would be a very uphill task indeed and probably impossible for many.

8) In summary:

(a) I strongly object to the Proposed Submission Local Plan (the Plan) in relation to the settlements of Normandy and Flexford, in particular, Policy A46, because I do not believe that it passes the Tests of "Soundness" as set out by the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), paragraph 182.

(b) It is my contention that the development proposed in Policy A46 is "unsustainable" and does not therefore meet the policies set out in the NPPF.

(c) I object vigorously to the proposal by GBC to inset the settlements of Normandy and Flexford from the Green Belt. The decision to inset this Green Belt is not consistent with NPPF policy and is therefore "Unsound".

(d) I object to Policies P2, P3 and D4. Where these policies relate to Normandy and Flexford, the Plan is not consistent with national policy set out by the NPPF and is therefore "Unsound".

(e) In my opinion GBC have failed to adhere to the principals they have set out in Policy I4 and the Plan is "unsound" in respect of Normandy and Flexford for this reason.

In respect of the HRA, I do not consider the evidence to be up-to-date or adequate.

(f) There do not appear to be any “exceptional circumstances” to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries around Normandy and Flexford, and the Plan is therefore unsound in this respect. In addition the proposal to build a school does not meet any local need for education as set out in the NPPF tests of soundness.

(g) I object to the Transport Strategy as set out in Policy I2.

(h) GBC have failed to meet the requirement for the Plan to be prepared with the participation of the community in respect of Policy A46, and accordingly the Plan is Unsound in this respect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The significant changes applying directly to Normandy and Flexford are:

1. a) The removal of site location A46;
2. b) the removal of site location A47, and
3. c) the amendment of the Green Belt Boundary (i) to exclude sites A46 and A47, and (ii) to include a plot of land to the south west of Flexford.

1) We are pleased that sites A46 and A47 have been removed from the Plan, because we were of the opinion that such developments did not meet the “Tests of Soundness” and were therefore inappropriate (and with regard to site A47 totally inconsistent with its partial designation as an SNCI). We felt that the insetting of the land concerned from the Green Belt was inconsistent with NPPF policy, and that it definitely contributes to the “openness of the Green Belt”.

2) The amendment of the Green Belt Boundary to exclude sites A46 and A47 follows logically from their removal from the Plan. It is very important that these two areas of land should remain washed over by the Green Belt, as they make an important contribution towards the prevention of urban sprawl stretching from the proposed increase in development to the south and east of Ash and Tongham (Policy A 29) (to the west) to Guildford (to the east), especially in the light of the proposed development at Blackwell Farm (Policy A26). The other amendment to the Green Belt boundaries around Normandy and Flexford to include a plot of land to the south west of Flexford, behind some properties on the north side of Green Lane East, makes less sense until one considers the fact that the majority of this plot of land, comprising a dilapidated bungalow and approximately 0.75 of an acre, is currently for sale. This amendment represents a further encroachment on the Green Belt to enable development without any evidence to show “exceptional circumstances”.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A29

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

3) The other change to the Plan which we would like to comment upon is in respect of site A29, which relates to land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham. The site was formerly allocated for approximately 1200 new homes, which has been increased to approximately 1750 new homes in the new version, an increase of almost 50%. An increase of this magnitude will inevitably have a huge impact upon the villages of Normandy and Flexford, in particular upon the volume of traffic on the A323 and the A324, and other roads in the area. The A323 and the A324 are already heavily congested at peak periods and we do not feel that sufficient consideration has been given to problems arising from the increased volume of traffic generated by the number of houses proposed for site A29. In addition this increase in the volume of traffic will have an impact upon the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area which lies to the north of the A324, and upon Normandy Common SNCI which lies between the A324 and the A323. In this respect we feel that the change to site A29 is unsustainable. In this respect we consider that Policy A29, is unsound.

4) Another change which relates to Policy A29, is the deletion of Policy A30 in the current version of the plan.

Policy A30 allocated land for a new road bridge and associated footbridge to be built near Ash Station to replace the existing level crossing, and to form part of the A323. That this site has been taken out presumably relates to the fact that the boundaries of Policy A29 near the level crossing have been changed to exclude the fields and four permanent traveller pitches which were contained within Policy A30. We assume that this means that currently GBC are unable to allocate land at the level crossing for the proposed bridges. Policy A29 is described as a strategic location for development, and one of the requirements for it to proceed, Policy A29(9), is “Land and provision of a new road bridge…to enable closure of the level crossing…adjacent to Ash railway station”. We believe that consideration should be given to the question as to whether the deletion of Policy A30 makes Policy A29 unsound, because without an allocation of land the requirement for a new road bridge and footbridge cannot be fulfilled. Presumably if land on which such bridges can be built cannot be acquired, Policy A29 will fail in its entirety. However it is unclear whether the requirement for the construction must be fulfilled before any development in accordance with Policy A29 can commence, or just that the bridges must be built at some point within the dates given in the Infrastructure Schedule of Appendix C, LRN21 (ie. Between 2018 and 2024.) In such a case what would be the result if no land became available during the specified period? If, as seems the case, the position is uncertain, how can Policy A29 be implemented, and how can it meet the tests of “soundness”.

For the reasons set out in points 3) and 4) above, we consider that Policy A29 is unsound, and we object to the changes made in respect of this Policy.

5) We believe that it is necessary to provide a SANG to mitigate against impacts on the Thames Basin Special Protection Area (SPA ) from the developments proposed by Policies A27, A28 and A29), but there is no bespoke SANG relating to these. If the SANG proposed at land to the west of Ash Green is intended to cover this requirement, there does not appear to be any indication in the plan that the size of such SANG has been increased to match the increase in the number of houses proposed in Policy A29.

I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA); it is an unrealistic assessment and far too high. The assessment and calculation process has not been rigorous and has been far from transparent. The newly estimated numbers are more than double the figure used in previous plans and have no real justification. Further to this, when directly compared with assessments made by neighboring councils whose future housing requirements must be very similar, the GBC figures are more than 50% greater. The Local Plan must not be approved until a more accurate and realistic assessment of housing needs is undertaken.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Further to this, I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site is one of the few areas along the A3 corridor that serves the vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will essentially create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

I object to the threat the Local Plan and the proposed FWA/TFM development poses to the unique, historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into having a 2,000+ dwelling development in the immediate proximity of the village, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. It is wholly inappropriate for the area and is totally disrespectful to the local residents and surrounding communities.
I object to the Local Plan not including the effect of Surrey University making provision for all its students through building halls of residence on its land. GBC must make this happen and reflect the effect through reducing the housing requirements – it is not fair to exclude this from the housing needs assessment.

I object to the detrimental impact the proposed FWA/TFM development will have on transport, local roads and road safety. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking is quite simply a non-starter. The road infrastructure around the FWA/TFM is what it is – country roads. No one will walk anywhere and and very few will cycle. The development is too isolated for any significant conversion to alternative forms of transport other than by private car.

I object to the increased volume of car traffic that the proposed FWA/TFM development would cause. The proposal of 2,000+ homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads, most of which would be out and about during the peak period where people are going to and from work and to and from schools. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas would make usage of these roads intolerable and dangerous.

I object to the impact that the proposed FWA/TFM development would have on the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25.

I object to the assumption that there will be suitable public transport to accommodate the proposed FWA/TFM development. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the current numbers of people who regularly use them let alone the increase in passenger traffic and car parking requirements this proposed development will bring. Public transport is already at full capacity.

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site and the impact that the proposed FWA/TFM development will have. The site is formally recognized as being part of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA) and is designated as a Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI). Such designations are not to be taken lightly – they are there to protect the fragile and rare ecosystems that exist. The direct proximity of a substantial development of 2000+ houses and all that entails is not compatible with achieving the objectives of the ecological protection directives.

I object to the fact that the impact that the proposed FWA/TFM development will have on air quality have not been taken seriously. Air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is already in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will obviously exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the additional acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact that this will have in terms of permanent habitat degradation.

I object to the fact that the proposed FWA/TFM development does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are access to the countryside and clean air and the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

I object to the continued inclusion of the FWA/TFM as a potential development site in the Local Plan. A formal planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. The continued inclusion of FWA/TFM in the Local Plan is therefore irrational and totally at odds with the wishes of GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency, none of which have seemed to be taken into consideration.

The weight of serious, authoritative evidence against the inclusion of the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows) in the Local Plan is overwhelming. I am dumfounded at its’ continued inclusion in the Local Plan and the intransigence of GBC in not removing it before the revised Local Plan was re-issued. Given this past track record, future decisions made by GBC will undoubtedly come under serious scrutiny. I trust therefore that GBC will take stock, some logical common sense will prevail, all these objections will be fully and diligently considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following reasons:

1) I object to the Council over-riding the protection and rights afforded to villages and land in the Green Belt and which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is sufficient brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated and that can provide housing where people want and need it, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. The fundamental reasoning supporting the existence of the Green Belt Election are being ignored and manifesto promises to the electorate reneged upon.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the draft Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to the FWA/TFM), an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC.

I presume that this is solely because it is anticipated that the number of objections from this area will be lower than others and that a simple numbers game it being played – the less objections from an area, the more likely a development. Adopting this approach is both cynical and unbecoming of a democratically elected organization.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows (formerly, the Former Wisley Airfield), in the proposed Submission Local Plan for many reasons including:

1. It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the draft Plan because of the constraints applicable to this area of Green Belt and nature conservation protected land, and its physical location. I object to its continued inclusion in the Plan.

2. This is Green Belt, high quality, farmland, a nature conservation area in and of itself, and immediately adjacent to an SSSI and SPA. Conservation area Ockham Village, including many listed buildings, borders this area of land.

3. It is surrounded by narrow, winding, weight-restricted, country lanes unsuited to any increase in traffic – let alone the approximately 5000 cars likely to result from a housing development of 2100 houses, or the heavy construction vehicles likely to be needed - over many years – for its construction.

4. It has no infrastructure at all - it is Green Belt, high quality, farmland, and therefore has no gas, water, electricity or sewage connections, and no buildings at all. It is also prone to flooding in parts, making drainage from 2100 houses on concreted over land a particular challenge but one which appears not to have been properly considered.

5. It is remote from railway stations and there is currently no public transport that serves the area, and nor is the area suitable for public transport. These are narrow, winding, weight-restricted country lanes.

6. Local schools, surgeries and railway stations/trains are already full, and there are no obvious local employment opportunities for 2,100 households (assuming 2 adults per dwelling, that equates to 4,200 jobs).

7. It is not clear who would want to live in this new dormitory town, remote from employment, entertainment and any form of infrastructure, where the households would be entirely dependent on their cars.

8. Housing need - and the figures relied upon by the Council – is anything but transparent, despite requests for information about the basis for the Council’s/its agent’s calculations. Housing “need” is a very different thing from the “demand” for housing in Guildford (or in any other place outside London, but within easy commuting distance of London). Despite this, I understand that adjoining boroughs have made very different (and much lower) assessments of their “housing need”.

9. I understand that Surrey University has long had planning permission to build, on its own campus, sufficient accommodation for all of its students, but that it has failed ever to implement that permission. Why? Surely it should have to do this, thereby freeing up housing stock in Guildford town centre - which clearly does have water, electricity, gas and drainage already in place; already has schools and dentists’ and doctors’ surgeries, already has employment and entertainment opportunities, already has public transport, and for many, already has 2 railway stations within walking distance.

10. Guildford town centre – Walnut Tree Close, for example – already has significant areas of former built/industrial development, again with pre-existing infrastructure in place. Sustainable housing development, in its true sense, should clearly be concentrated here.

11. I object to the quantity of space allocated for retail in Guildford town centre. This could be much better used for residential development. I particularly object to the reliance on the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes “demand” for retail space from companies in administration.

12. I object to the fact that the Council has still failed to remove the Three Farms Meadows (site A35) from the Plan despite receiving 1000s of objections to its inclusion - from residents and from statutory consultees.

13. There appears to be no clear justification for the removal of one (other) strategic site from the Plan. Why hasn’t Three Farms Meadows (site A35) been removed? What is the justification for the removal of the other site? Three Farms Meadows (site A35) should now be removed from the Plan.

14. I understand that the Council considers that there should be consultation only on the changes it proposes should be made from the previous version Plan. I object to this. Many people will therefore be discouraged from participating in this consultation, and will not appreciate quite how much has changed from the previous version Plan. Moreover, the complexity and length of reports/documents, many of which are not available in hard copy, further discourages debate and participation in it.
15. I object to the timing of this consultation – yet again in the context of the local plan/proposals in relation to Three Farms Meadows, time limits for submission of comments/objections expire during the school summer holidays – once again limiting debate.

16. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation from the Council as to why it thinks it is appropriate to have a (limited) regulation 19 consultation. I believe the proposed changes to the Plan are major.

17. I object to the proposed increase in the size of site A35 (Three Farms Meadows) as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House, further adversely impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.

18. I object to the fact that the proposed increase in site area, being on the south side of site A35 (Three Farms Meadows) and facing (therefore) the Surrey Hills AONB, will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.

19. I object to the proposed change of site boundaries to site A35 (Three Farms Meadows). Nor are these identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16)

20. I object to the proposed removal of an additional 3.1 ha from the Green Belt that the proposed change of site boundaries to site A35 (Three Farms Meadows) would entail.

21. I object to the change in Green Belt boundary to the eastern end of site A35 (Three Farms Meadows), as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact.

22. I object to the inclusion in the Plan of site A35 (Three Farms Meadows) as it will not contribute to the 5-year housing projection due to constraints notably in the provision of sewerage capacity.

23. I object to the extension of the Plan period by 1 year.

24. I object to the apparent disregard for the impact of in-combination development on the TBHSPA, particularly the damage caused by nitrogen deposition and high pollution levels.

25. I object to the idea – mooted by the Council at one point of this process – that loss of Green Belt land in one part of Guildford Borough could be “compensated” by the re-designation of other land, in another part of the Borough, as Green Belt.

I consider for the reasons listed above and numerous other reasons that this Plan is unsound and not fit for purpose. I urge you now to remove site A35 (Three Farms Meadows) from the local Plan.

POLICY A39: Land behind Ockham Road North, near Horsley railway station

OBJECT. The proposal to build 100 dwellings on a green-field Green Belt site can only be achieved by the proposed western movement of the settlement boundary needed to bring this site within the settlement area. I believe that this is unjustified and contrary to NPPF rules. If so, then the site must remain a part of the Green Belt. I also object because of the strain it would place on current infrastructure as outlined in Policy A36 above.

POLICY H2 – Affordable homes OBJECT. East Horsley has the lowest demand for affordable housing in the borough. Putting 1-bedroom homes in an area where there is virtually no demand is flawed. These properties would represent a great opportunity to East Horsley residents to buy and re-sell at a profit or simply rent out at a high profit. Not the intended purpose. There are also very few employment opportunities in East Horsley so new owners/tenants would be required to travel to work with adverse effects on road usage and the environment. The best place for starter homes would be in the centre of a Guildford where there are more jobs and less need to travel to work.

POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes OBJECT. Any policy that allows homes to be built anywhere near a settlement and ignores all historic planning restrictions is to be resisted. POLICY 11/12/13 Infrastructure and delivery, Supporting the Department of Transport's Road Investment Strategy, and Sustainable Transport OBJECT.

The infrastructure of East Horsley is the main reason for objecting to the Council's proposals. The roads are already congested without the additional new homes and subsequent increased usage. They are generally narrow, with potholes, cracks and other signs of wear. During heavy rains, the drains block and flooding results. The pavements do not run along every road through the village, where they do, they are narrow and often cracked and uneven. The local primary school (the Raleigh) is already at capacity, resulting in local children being sent miles from their homes for schooling. In addition, Horsley Medical Centre is at capacity. How can 593 new homes (from the 11 development sites identified for East and West Horsley) be shoe-horned into such a village without disastrous results? The proposals are unsustainable because they do not meet the objective of providing infrastructure to support the new homes. Regarding Wisley Airfield, it is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and simply call them sustainable. Shifting to cycling and walking discriminates against vulnerable members of the community - the disabled, those with small children, the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill. Alternatives impact on already congested roads or over-subscribed peak hour rail services.

POLICY P2 – Green Belt OBJECT. I object to the proposal to inset East Horsley within the Green Belt. The Green Belt was originally designated to protect areas of largely undeveloped, wild, or agricultural land surrounding or neighbouring urban areas. East Horsley is still a rural village reached by rural lanes (not roads). There are many woodlands, large gardens and open spaces in the village which contribute to biodiversity and reinforce the ideals behind the idea of the Green Belt. I also object to the proposed boundary changes for the village and the removal of Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt on the pretext of meeting the Council's "unfulfilled housing need" - this is not an "exceptional circumstance".

POLICY P3 – Countryside (i.e. countryside beyond the Green Belt) OBJECT. I understand that the identified brownfield areas within the urban area are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets and therefore there should be no need to build more homes in the countryside.

POLICY S1 – Presumption in favour of sustainable development OBJECT. While I support the idea of sustainable development, the policy does not recognise the specific nature of rural areas, where inadequate transport and other infrastructure such as schools and medical services cannot cope with the proposed scale of development. Building new houses on the scale proposed is not sustainable development - it is unsustainable.

POLICY S2 –Borough Wide Strategy OBJECT. I object to the huge scale of the building programme. The proposed 13,860 new homes would represent a net increase of 25% in the housing market of the Borough. That far exceeds population growth forecasts and the effect of Brexit on migration. In addition, the Council has not explained how it has arrived at this figure and so the hidden nature of any calculations used to reach the figure raises reasonable concerns about their legitimacy, especially as the new homes will involve major structural change in a protected area - some 89% Green Belt.

POLICY P2: Green Belt I OBJECT to Policy P2

Policy P2 proposes that East Horsley should be inset from the Green Belt, instead of being ‘washed over’ as it is today. East Horsley is set in a rural location and the village has the look and feel of a rural village. Its Green Belt status has been a key factor in preserving that character. Moreover, being ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt has not been a serious constraint on development within the village. GBC attributes the need to inset East Horsley to NPPF requirements, arguing that the test for remaining ‘washed over’ is that the village should make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. No less than 36% of East Horsley is composed of woodlands, whilst inside the settlement area there is an average housing density of just 8.1 dwellings per hectare (dph). Woodlands and large residential gardens make a vital contribution towards bio-diversity, provide wildlife corridors, and furnish those open spaces which are vital to the character of the greenbelt. There is no compelling case for change so why change it?

Further Paragraph 4.3.16 and Proposals Map: Settlement Boundary changes in East Horsley.

I object to two specific boundary changes, which have been proposed, as follows:

1. a) There is a proposal to move the East Horsley settlement boundary westwards from behind the houses on the west side of Ockham Road North up to the eastern boundary of Lollesworth Wood. This proposal removes over 5 hectares of agricultural fields from the Green Belt, with the justifications seemingly provided in the Green Belt & Countryside Study prepared by the consultants, Pegasus. The present boundary line is clearly defined by a deep and well-maintained drainage ditch which is classified by the Environment Agency as a ‘main river line’ and therefore represents a highly defensible Green Belt boundary. Moving this boundary west to the edge of woodland in no way improves its defensibility. Under NPPF rules Green Belt boundaries should only be changed... in ‘exceptional circumstances’. I do not believe this proposal can be considered as an exceptional circumstance. Clearly the only justification for this change is to bring a large agricultural field within the settlement area in order to provide more housing land. However, under NPPF rules this is not a sufficient justification for changing a Green Belt boundary. As such, I believe it is an invalid proposal and I OBJECT to this proposed boundary change.

b) There is also a proposal to move the East Horsley settlement boundary westwards from behind the houses on the west side of Kingston Avenue up to a tree line running along the Parish Boundary at the western edge of Kingston Meadows. The result is to take all of Kingston Meadows out of the Green Belt. Kingston Meadows is the main public recreational space of East Horsley, comprising various sports facilities and playing fields. The present settlement boundary is clearly defined by a deep and well-maintained drainage ditch running along its eastern side. It therefore again represents a very defensible Green Belt boundary. Moving this boundary westwards to the edge of woodland in no way improves its defensibility. Under NPPF rules Green Belt boundaries should only be changed in ‘exceptional circumstances’. I do not believe that this can be considered as an exceptional circumstance. As such I believe this is an invalid proposal and OBJECT.

INFRASTRUCTURE POLICIES

This section of the Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out details covering a range of infrastructure policies.

POLICIES I1, I2 & I3 I OBJECT to these Policies

These three policies cover Infrastructure & Delivery, Supporting the Department of Transport’s ‘Road Investment Strategy’ and Sustainable Transport. Whilst I support the general policy statements as presented in each case, the detailed infrastructure proposals give me significant cause for concern. I believe there are serious deficiencies and shortcomings in the infrastructure of Guildford Borough as it is today and that the aggressive housing policy as proposed by GBC in the Proposed Submission Local Plan will make this worse. Roads, schooling and health care are given scant firm proposals and the knock on consequences of all these additional house and home is in effect simply flagged as something that will have to be dealt with.

Assuming that every new house has at least 2 cars, this means potentially 6,000 more cars within a three mile radius of the villages. The impact on local roads will be tremendous. Parking at Horsley & Effingham junction stations (which are already full), at the shops, at the medical centre and at the village hall will all be affected. Local schools are already at capacity – where will newcomers go to school? No extra places are planned in the Horsleys.

In respect of the proposals for development at Wisley Airfield and for an upgrade the current A3 junction at Burntcommon to a full 4-way junction, SCC traffic modelling anticipates increased use of Guilleshall Lane, Hungry Hill Lane and Tithebarns Lane for traffic accessing the A3 at Burntcommon in order to travel to Guildford and beyond. The SCC report states that “consequently, it indicates that further thought may have to be given to managing traffic in this area as part of a transport assessment should the development be progressed”. It appears that the Plan is proposing a strategic site at Wisley Airfield without even knowing what improvements to the local road infrastructure will be required.

I therefore OBJECT to the infrastructure proposals on these grounds. I further OBJECT to the proposals for infrastructure in that they do not meet the stated objective of providing infrastructure to support the proposed development.

POLICY A39: I OBJECT to this Policy

Land behind Ockham Road North, near Horsley railway station

Policy A39 proposes a housing development of some 100 dwellings on a 5.7acre green-field Green Belt site behind the houses on the western side of Ockham Road North. As I said earlier, I believe that the proposed western movement of the settlement boundary needed to bring this site within the settlement area is unjustified and contrary to NPPF rules. If this boundary movement is invalid, as I believe, then this site remains a part of the Metropolitan Green Belt.

As such I OBJECT to Policy A39.
POLICY H2: Affordable Homes I OBJECT to Policy H2

I support the general idea that developers should be required to contribute part of their development profit towards the cost of social housing in the borough. However, this ‘one-size-fits-all’ policy is seriously flawed. GBC have taken no regard whatsoever of the differences in affordable housing need across the borough. This has significant consequences in East Horsley, which is the area with the lowest demand for affordable housing in the borough. As East Horsley is not classified as a ‘rural area’ under the 1997 Housing Order and therefore is not exempt from the new ‘right to acquire or enfranchise’ entitlement –a factor which is likely to see affordable houses in the parish being bought up as soon as possible and thereafter lost to the affordable sector. Under Policy H2, 40% of all but the smallest development sites in East Horsley will be required to have affordable housing built upon them, irrespective of whether there is actually demand for more social housing in that area. Moreover, the affordable housing targets proposed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan indicate that the biggest component of affordable housing (40%) should be built as 1-bed dwellings despite the fact that GBC’s own studies show that the strongest affordable demand in the borough is actually for larger 3-bed dwellings. As a result of this policy, a significant volume of social housing is likely to be built in places where it is not needed and offered to tenants who do not want to live there nor have jobs near that location. In an area such as East Horsley this is likely to result in a rapid buying-up of properties for quick re-sale at a generous profit, at which point these homes also become lost to the affordable sector.

Please find attached my comments on the current Proposed Local Plan. I recognise that a great deal of work has gone into this plan but it does seem that many of the issues I and others raised in my last submission are once again cropping up unanswered. I have used analysis from local groups to help me understand what these proposals are and often used their words when I agree with them, and not, where I do not. I would ask therefore that you consider my Objections with due weight.

POLICY S2:

Borough Wide Strategy, I OBJECT to this policy.

This policy sets out the objective of adding 13,860 new homes to Guildford Borough over the 2013-2033 period of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, equating to an annual build of 693 new homes per annum. This represents a net increase of 25% in the housing stock of Guildford Borough, which when the official statisticians at the Office of National Statistics (“ONS”) are projecting a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

I object to the number of proposed new developments in the plan for East and especially West Horsley.

In West Horsley you are proposing an approximate 35% increase in the number of houses which will ruin the village:

- Proposed housing densities are much higher than currently exist and will be completely out of character with the existing village
- Expansion on this scale is not sustainable – the existing infrastructure (schooling, doctors, parking, traffic, public transport, drainage) cannot support it
- West Horsley is a beautiful village, partly in an area of AONB and this development will ruin it and it will therefore cease to attract large numbers of tourists and visitors for walking and cycling etc
- Like many other residents of the village I am opposed to the village being removed from the greenbelt by inserting and extending settlement boundaries. Green belt is there to protect villages like West Horsley. Before we know it, Horsley will be like Walton—just one sprawling line of housing.
- Green belt land should be protected and no exceptional circumstances have been made for developing greenbelt in the Horsleys
- The local schools are already completely over subscribed

I have seen no evidence to support the fact that such a large amount of houses are needed in West Horsley and the Green Belt and Countryside Study which I read seems completely flawed.

Commenting on a specific site which is the plot of land to the south of the A246, bordering the A246 and to the west of Shere Road and also bordering Shere Road – Dandara have an option on this land are our trying to seek approval for housing development. I am against developing this plot for the infrastructure problems (listed above) and because it would be completely wrong as having open space and farm land next to roads is an important aspect of feeling in the country ie that is why this plot is currently Greenbelt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2,100 dwellings

As a resident of Elm Corner, I live directly adjacent to the planned site and have spent the past several years fighting this disproportionate and unfeasible development. My husband and I moved from London to our home in Ockham in order to enjoy open space and to escape the built-up communities that we had previously lived in. We have built a home for our children to enjoy – and also our children’s children. We understand the need for housing – and in particular affordable housing – and we also want the borough to remain a dynamic and growing place to live and work. Both of these goals can be accomplished, however, without the eradication of the protected and very necessary Green Belt. Housing can also be added in areas that will not break an already creaking infrastructure system. As someone who accesses the A3 and the local roads multiple times a day to get to and from my property, I can tell you that a development of this size is simply not sustainable.

Specifically, I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Having lived temporarily in Cobham, I have witnessed firsthand how quickly built-up developments can erode open spaces. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. As previously mentioned, I moved to Ockham specifically for its rural character. This village can not be allowed to be folded into a new “ready-made” town.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars. Estimated cycling times to train stations, etc have been significantly underestimated
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
   • I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
   • I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents.
   • I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/
   TFM, protected. I was personally involved in preparing this document and read every residents’ comments regarding their visions for our community
   • I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land.

- GBC Planning has already rejected planning proposals for this site
- This site has been repeatedly debated for consideration and repeatedly Continued promotion through the local plan leads many to lose faith in the impartiality and integrity of process within GBC. The reputation of the council is at stake.

Removal of Strategic Site

I object to the fact that there is no justification for the removal of the strategic site at Normandy over and above the removal of any other strategic site, and in particular site A35 – most notably on the grounds of sustainability.

I object to the fact that the Council has failed to remove Site A35 from the Local Plan despite the receipt of thousands of objections from local residents and statutory consultees.

I object to the inclusion of Site A35 in spite of unanimous rejection of planning application 15/P/00012 on fourteen separate grounds.

I object to the inclusion of Site A35 because it is the least sustainable strategic site identified both in this version and previous versions due to the constraints of the site and its physical location. From a transport perspective, it is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site. When you do reach them, the closest stations have unsolvable capacity and parking issues.

I object to the inclusion of Site A35 because it is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county (A3) and is very close to one of the most congested junctions in the country (J10). Traffic will only be exacerbated by anticipated increased visitor numbers (500,000) at the adjacent RHS Wisley – the impact of which has not yet been taken into account.

I object to the inclusion of Site A35 because the local road network is not sustainable for the increase in cars – and certainly not for the increases in buses and larger vehicles that will be coming to and from the site.

I object to the inclusion of Site A35 because it remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVOR/DME will be decommissioned. This constrains the site significantly.

I object to the removal of an additional 3.1 hectares of land relating to Site A35 from the Green Belt without justification.

I object to the increased area of Site A35 as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House (in addition to the known impact on Yarne), negatively impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.

I object to the fact that Site A35 will not contribute to the 5-year housing requirement due to constraints, most notably in the provision of sewerage capacity, but also due to other infrastructure constraints already mentioned.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the grossly disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. The lack of suitable public transport. The car park at Effingham Junction station is already full before the end of the morning rush. It is already impossible to park after 10am and sometimes before.

1. I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI). What is the point of sites having these statuses if they are ignored.
2. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution at the M25/A3 junction is already in excess of EU-permitted levels. How can very large amounts of additional traffic in this area be acceptable?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I wish to register my strong objection to the continued inclusion of policy A35, Three Farm Meadows in the draft local plan for the following reasons:

1. The local roads cannot sustain more traffic. The A3 and M25 junction is incredibly congested at all times of the day and the country roads are already very dangerous, there have been at least two accidents at the crossroads between Old Lane and Ockham Lane in the last few months.
2. The roads are not wide enough for the new suggested bus routes
3. Walking and cycling this is unbelievably dangerous due to the narrow twisting roads
4. There is currently insufficient parking at the local stations, and the addition of so many new residents will make the situation a lot worse
5. I object to removing more land from the green belt, especially without any justification
6. I object to para 21 which “limits” development in flood zone 2 and 3. Development should not be permitted in flood zone 2 and 3
7. I object to para 22 as this does not reflect the impact of the buildings on the surrounding area.
8. I object to the inclusion of a 10% buffer in the housing number over the plan period. This is unnecessary.

In summary I consider the draft local plan to be unfit for purpose.

Policy A39 proposes a housing development of some 100 dwellings on a green-field Green Belt site behind the houses on the western side of Ockham Road North. The proposed western movement of the settlement boundary needed to bring this site within the settlement area is unjustified and contrary to NPPF rules. If this boundary movement is invalid then this site remains a part of the Metropolitan Green Belt.

As such and with no ‘very special circumstances’ to justify housing development upon it, I OBJECT to Policy A39.

In this policy GBC have taken no regard whatsoever of the differences in affordable housing need across the borough. This has significant consequences for villages such as East Horsley, which is the area with the lowest demand for affordable housing in the borough. The affordable housing targets proposed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan indicate that the biggest component of affordable housing (40%) should be built as 1-bed dwellings despite the fact that GBC’s own studies show that the strongest affordable demand in the borough is actually for larger 3-bed dwellings.

As a result of this flawed affordable housing policy, a significant volume of social housing is likely to be built in places where it is not needed and offered to tenants who do not want to live there nor have jobs near that location.

I therefore OBJECT to Policy H2

POLICIES I1, I2 & I3

The principal through roads traversing East Horsley are narrow and winding, have a series of pinch points, have sections without any pavements and are generally unlit. In reality “East Horsley has lanes, not roads.” East Horsley’s ‘lanes’ are totally unsuitable for high volumes of traffic, in particular for the volume of HGV’s now using them. It is inevitable that the proposed developments in East Horsley itself and nearby, particularly in West Horsley and the proposals for Wisley Airfield site, will put further strain on the existing infrastructure. There are no proposals at all to cater for this.

I therefore OBJECT to the proposals for infrastructure in that they do not meet the stated objective of providing infrastructure to support the proposed developments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree with the scale of the house building programme which is being proposed by Guildford Borough Council (“GBC”). The target outlined represents a 25% increase in the housing stock of the borough, whilst we note that the Office of National Statistics (“ONS”) projects a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

The Proposed Submission Local Plan includes the statement “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt” a policy which I fully support. However, the Local Plan then proposes to re-define the Metropolitan Green Belt and seeks to inset a number of the villages, including East Horsley. The housing policies set out in the Proposed Submission Local Plan will result in some 65% of developments being made on land that is currently Green Belt. The irony of the statement does not fool anybody and it is tactics such as these that bring politics into disrepute.

I am also concerned that the infrastructure proposals are wholly inadequate to meet the needs of the proposed developments in the Local Plan, in particular the proposed developments in East Horsley and at the Wisley Airfield site. Since almost all of the occupants are unlikely to find work locally they will need to travel further afield to London or Guildford for their jobs. Roads such as Ockham Road North and Ockham Road South, with their pinch points, are already struggling to cope with the existing traffic let alone an additional, say, 2000 households travelling to work. Similarly, there are already occasions when the car park at Horsley railway station is full and therefore it is difficult to envisage how the additional commuters from such massive development in the area (as contemplated in the Local Plan) can be accommodated.

Paragraph 4.3.13: Proposal to inset East Horsley from the Green Belt

Policy P2 proposes that East Horsley should be inset from the Green Belt, instead of being ‘washed over’ as it is today. Currently development is permitted within the settlement boundary, although this area is still considered to be Green Belt with a particular planning regime being applicable.

East Horsley is set in a rural location and the village has the look and feel of a rural village. Its Green Belt status has been a key factor in preserving that character. The large amount of woodlands in the village has preserved the rural character and openness of this village. GBC falsely attributes the need to inset East Horsley to NPPF requirements, arguing that the test for remaining ‘washed over’ is that the village should make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. This East Horsley clearly does.

I therefore OBJECT to the proposal to inset East Horsley from the Green Belt and request that this proposal be dropped from the Local Plan.

Paragraph 4.3.16 and Proposals Map: Settlement Boundary changes in East Horsley

There is a proposal to move the East Horsley settlement boundary westwards from behind the houses on the west side of Ockham Road North up to the eastern boundary of Lollesworth Wood. This proposal removes over 5 hectares of agricultural fields from the Green Belt. Under NPPF rules Green Belt boundaries should only be changed in ‘exceptional circumstances’. The exceptional circumstances before taking this action has not been demonstrated, and I do not believe this proposal can be considered as an exceptional circumstance. Clearly the only justification for this change is to bring a large agricultural field within the settlement area in order to provide more housing land. However, under NPPF rules this is not a sufficient justification for changing a Green Belt boundary. Green Belt rules make it clear that unfulfilled housing need is not normally considered to be ‘an exceptional circumstance’.

The NPPF is clear that every movement in settlement boundaries must be justified by ‘exceptional circumstances’ and no valid exceptional circumstances exist. As such it is an invalid proposal.

There is also a proposal to move the East Horsley settlement boundary westwards from behind the houses on the west side of Kingston Avenue which would have the effect of removing all of Kingston Meadows out of the Green Belt. Kingston Meadows is the main public recreational space of East Horsley, comprising various sports facilities and playing fields. I do not believe that this can be considered as an “exceptional circumstance” as provide under the NPPF rules. As such this is also an invalid proposal.

I therefore OBJECT to both these proposed boundary changes.

When Guildford residents protest at proposed developments such as the re-development near the Guildford Railway station site (which would have resulted in a large number of housing needs to be met) on the grounds that the proposed development is not in keeping with the character of Guildford, their protest is heeded. However, even though many more people have protested at the proposals (in the previous draft of the Local Plan) for more housing in East Horsley and Wisley Airfield site (achieved by the expediency of GBC re-defining what remains within the Metropolitan Green Belt), their wishes are ignored by GBC. This is hardly an endorsement of local democracy in action.

Although more than 20,000 responses were submitted in 2014 in connection with the previous draft Local Plan, most of them opposed to its proposals, GBC has made relatively few changes from the earlier version and none of any materiality. GBC should radically re-assess its own policy objectives rather than force through the Council a Local Plan which clearly does not have the wider support of the residents of Guildford Borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Housing Need:

The fundamental reason for the Green Belt even being considered as potential for Housing by GBC has largely come about as a result of perceived Housing need, in this regard the DRAFT local Plan is predicated on perceived Housing need; in this respect and following Brexit the SHMA surely needs to be reappraised. The current SHMA as drawn up by GL Hearn and Partners calculates that 693 homes need to be built in the Borough each year, this is an eye watering number and to that end the statistical modelling and the basis for the housing figures needs to be rigorously analyzed, has it been done and if so by whom? If not when will it be undertaken and when will the findings be published for all to see and assess?

It is imperative that both the SHMA and ELNA figures are reappraised following Brexit and I hope that GBC will be asking for a detailed assessment as to how the figures for Housing need have been assessed. It is absolutely vital that the SHMA figures and the basis of their calculation are scrutinized by parties other than officers of GBC! Housing need figures are fundamental to Local Government Planning Policy not only today but for many years to come and could form the blueprint for the next 20 years.

The Green Belt is sacrosanct, it is the ‘lung of London’ and should not be compromised whatsoever. Once the Green Belt is built upon it is lost forever, not only those present but for future generations! none of the Green Belt should be lost however small the percentage. The original intention when the Green Belt was established after the second world war was to protect the countryside from urban sprawl, it was intended to be permanent and is enshrined in primary legislation. During Local and indeed the last General Election, some if not all Local Councillors and MPs gave a clear indication that they would protect the Green Belt, indeed the DRAFT local Plan is a fundamental departure from this promise, local residents in Ripley, Send and environs feel very strongly about this hence the election of a number of Green Belt Councillors at the recent Borough elections. We feel we are being railroaded by a Local Authority who do not seem to want to listen to the concerns being raised by local Residents.

Large Scale Housing

Why are Surrey University promoting Housing land at Blackwell Park, do they not have enough land? what is the reason for actively promoting a site for Development of this scale? This on top of potential Housing on a massive scale at Wisley, Gosden Hill and Send/Ripley much of which will have a detrimental effect on the local infrastructure and will completely alter the character of the area. It gets back to Green Belt and protection, the area around Ripley and Send is a pleasant place to live because new Development is protected by Legislation and should not be compromised. All of the aforementioned sites will effectively create a corridor of excessive development along the A3, the result of which will be increasing pressure on infrastructure to the extent that West Surrey will be subject to fundamental change which, in my view will ultimately see the amalgamation of many districts and Villages within the area, not least the ultimate merging of Guildford and Woking particularly when ones consider the impact of further development at Merrow, potentially linking with Ripley (Garlicks Arch) and ultimately with further development in Send, Old Woking and beyond. There really must be a consensus of common sense in relation to the Draft Proposals otherwise the area will merge in the way suburban London has done over the last 30-40 years..

Brown Field Development Insetting of Villages:

I am extremely concerned that GBC have failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear Government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership such as Slyfield Industrial Estate and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents. Constraint should be applied as has been the case in neighbouring Woking Borough, Guildford is a special case with swathes of the Borough subject to AONB and AGLV status, it is a fact that this statutory protection should prevail notwithstanding the perceived need for additional homes in the Borough.

I am against the insetting of Villages albeit I have seen examples of sensible and tasteful development in certain instances and see no reason why Villages need to be insetted when the current planning policies and procedures seem to work well enough. It should not be an easy task to secure Planning for development within Villages that are located in The Green Belt and I see absolutely no reason why ‘any’ Village currently within The Green Belt should be subject to Status change.

In summary I am of the opinion that the DRAFT proposals as set out by Guildford Borough are clumsy, ill-considered and frankly I would question the validity and legality of suggesting that ANY Green Belt should be considered for Housing save in cases of extenuating and extreme circumstances, moreover each DRAFT proposal on a site by site basis should also be subject to a thorough central Government assessment. To conclude, there are numerous urban land opportunities in the Borough with the added bonus of being able to accommodate higher density development with reduced means of car use and these should be exhausted before any Green Belt land is considered as a potential Housing site.

I should like an acknowledgement and confirmation that Guildford Borough Council have received this communication and I should like to be kept informed as to progress.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A35

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

2) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. Recent data confirms that ONS growth figures should have been used and these have been ignored. The recent referendum result will also slow the population growth and this needs to be considered by the GBC.

3) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in the north of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
4) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 164 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

5) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

6) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

7) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

8) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

9) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Limited’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I also hope that the borough’s housing needs are considered in relation to the effect the Brexit vote will have on population growth ie the consensus is that immigration rates will decrease and therefore the demand for housing will also decrease.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
In relation to the specific allocation of site A35, I have a number of objections as outlined below:

1. I object to the inclusion of site A35 as it will not contribute to the 5-year housing projection due to constraints notably in the provision of infrastructure and in particularly the sewerage constraint due to lack of any spare capacity at Ripley sewerage works.
2. I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed that the transport assessment for site A35 uses prescribed vehicle movements from site with no justification. I believe this makes the transport evidence subject to challenge due to bias on behalf of the Council.
3. I object to the inclusion of site A35 as it is the least sustainable site identified in both this version and previous versions of the plan because of the constraints of the site and the physical location which is adjacent to the TBHSPA.
4. I object to this site due to the fact that it is further from the railway stations than any other strategic site and that the nearest stations have unsolvable capacity and parking issues.
5. I object to the inclusion of site A35 in spite of unanimous rejection of planning application 15/P/00012 on 14 grounds.
6. I object to the inclusion of site due to the fact that it is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one of the most congested junctions in the country (J10). The SRN in this location is currently operating significantly over-capacity and the proposed improvements both uncertain in design and timescale. Even with Highways improvements proposed without the impact of this development it is accepted that the A3 is at full capacity and so cannot take the additional traffic from this proposed development.
7. I object to the inclusion of site A35 due to the fact that the local road network is also at capacity and is severely adversely affected when the SRN is not free-flowing at times of accidents, diversion, roadworks etc.
8. I object to the allegation that public transport provision will be able to mitigate the impact of this allocation especially as bus routes to/from Guildford will have to utilise the over-crowded SRN in one/both directions and therefore will be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.
9. I object to the inclusion of site A35 due to the fact that any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley and/or Effingham junction will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not legally wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly when sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted on the same lanes at the same time. This is not only unrealistic but it is also unsafe.
10. I object to the allocation of site A35 due to the fact that the mitigation to address the impact of increased traffic will not address the commuters travelling to Woking station.
11. I object that due to the fact that site A35 is adjacent to the most popular tourist attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where the visitor numbers are due to increase by 500,000 visitors per annum and that the associated traffic increase has not been properly modelled or taken into account; and
12. I object to the fact that nor has any account been taken of the traffic resulting from the regular events at the RHS which attract 1000’s more visitors several times a year in the consideration of the allocation of site A35.
13. I object to the fact that the inclusion of site A35 has not properly taken into account the impact of the changed boundaries of the allocation on the adjoining heritage assets and in general and in particular the impact on the setting of Bridge End House (Grade II) and Upton Farm (Grade II) in addition to the known impact on Yarne.
14. I object to the dismissal of the substantial or less than substantial negative impact on the setting of the Grade 2 listed property Yarne. The requirement is to go through a process supported by statute and is to be given a ‘heavy weighting’ when considering the balance of harm versus benefits of development. As this is enshrined in statute law it is not legal to ignore these effects on Yarne and surrounding historic sites.
15. I object to the fact that the increased allocation at site A35, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hill AONB will further negatively impact the views to and from the AONB.
16. I object to the removal of an additional 3.1ha of land from the green belt without any justification.
17. Furthermore, I object to change of the site boundaries of allocation A35 as these are not identified clearly or correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16).

18. I object to the unjustified change in the greenbelt boundary at the eastern end of the site especially as this now encloses an area of high archaeological interest which will prove difficult to develop in the light of the archaeological finds in the surrounding area.

19. I object to the fact that the impact of the OCK/DVOR has not been properly taken into account in the allocation of site A35. It remains unclear when/if this will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. The constraints on the site due to the DVOR are significant and if it is not decommissioned will severely limit the availability of the site to deliver enough land to make the allocation viable.

20. I object to the fact that insufficient weight has been given to the sustainability of allocation A35 due to the lack of employment available onsite meaning that almost all residents will have to travel to work. As already identified above it is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle to work on narrow unlit local roads on anything more than a very occasional basis.

Despite its relatively close proximity to London and nearby towns Ockham has escaped suburbanisation. It has retained its distinct rural heritage and has not been subsumed within much larger conurbations. It remains a rural parish and retains its identity as an evolution of a collection of medieval hamlets where small houses nestle together in settlements with their own distinct character. The foundation of the local economy remains agricultural based around arable and livestock farming, equine recreation and game bird rearing.
The special character of the built environment in Ockham is acknowledged by the fact that 29 buildings have been listed by English Heritage. Many of the listed buildings are farm houses by origin. Their setting was and remains rural and agricultural. Upton Farm and Yarne are both 15th century farmhouses immediately adjacent to Three Farms Meadow and have views over it. Appstree and Bridge End have land adjoining Three Farms Meadow. The development of high density housing at Three Farms Meadow will cause irreparable damage to the setting of the listed buildings in Ockham and to the Ockham Conservation Area. The development, because of its location on the highest point of the hill and down the south side of the proposed site will overlook the Conservation Area and impact the setting of those precious and ancient buildings in the Ockham Conservation area causing substantial impact. The effect on the distinctive local Lovelace style would be wholly inappropriate.

The particular significance of the Three Farms Meadows is that it creates a meaningful green gap which enriches and strengthens the separate identities of the different settlements of Ockham. Consequently the separation provided by the green gap is a significant asset to both conservation areas and contributes to their character as distinctly separate settlements. The most significant harm caused by the development proposals is that the scale of development overwhelms the historic settlements of Ockham which are quintessentially small in scale and historic in nature. Unlike many ‘commuter belt’ villages these settlements have escaped extensive redeveloped or extensive post-war expansion. Consequently they retain their evolved medieval form as well as most of their rural separation and setting. These are the characteristics which make them special and gave rise to the designations of Bridge End, Church End and Ockham Mill as a conservation areas.

The disproportionate scale of development in the appeal proposals is contrary to the natural evolution and growth which gave rise to the character of Ockham over the last 500 years. The result will be a revolutionary change in the shape and morphology of the Parish settlements which cannot fail to harm their distinct character.

The historic parish currently consists of 163 dwellings. The addition of another 2,100 dwellings a greater than tenfold increase, will irreversibly change the way in which the historic settlements of Ockham areas perceived. Perception will no longer be of an evolved medieval parish in rural surroundings but of a much larger modern suburb with an historic periphery.

Development on this scale has never occurred within the Parish of Ockham or in Lovelace Ward and, even if well designed, cannot assimilate well into the fine grain and historic parameters of the parish settlements. The development fails to respond to the significance of Ockham’s listed buildings, its conservation area or wider setting in any positive way.

NPPF paragraph 137 states that ‘Local planning authorities should look for opportunities for new development within Conservation Areas and World Heritage Sites and within the setting of heritage assets to enhance or better reveal their significance.’

Sections 66 of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990 requires special regard to be given to preserving listed buildings or their settings and section 72 requires special attention to be paid to preserving or enhancing the character or appearance of conservation areas.

Justice Linblom stated that ‘…a finding of harm to the setting of a listed building or to a conservation area gives rise to a strong presumption against planning permission being granted. The presumption is a statutory one.’ As such heritage conservation is to be given considerable weight and importance in the planning balance.

The proposal for the building of in excess of 2000 houses on the former Wisley airfield no way accords with any planning framework. More importantly it fails to meet statutory requirements and the substantial damage to historic heritage properties and the Ockham Conservation Area cannot be adequately mitigated. As such I strongly object to the inclusion in the Draft Local Plan of this site A35 (FWA) and it should be entirely removed from the GBC Draft Local Plan.

XV. I object to the fact that no account appears to have been taken on the impact of pollution on the TBHSPA particularly the damage caused by nitrogen deposition. This will also impact RHS Wisley. It is an undeniable fact that the level of growth proposed by this plan will result in increased traffic movements and by extension increased polluting emissions. Any argument that relies on potential changes to the make-up of the vehicle fleet in terms of fuel source is clearly premature.

XVI. I object to the fact that there is no consideration of the impact of in-combination development on the TBHSPA especially the large proposed developments in neighbouring authorities.

XVII. I object to the fact that there is no justification for the removal of the strategic site at Normandy over and above the removal of any other strategic site and in particular site A35 on many grounds but most notably on sustainability grounds.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the impact of Guildford Borough Council Draft Local Plan on Heritage sites and Conservation Areas in Ockham Despite its relatively close proximity to London and nearby towns Ockham has escaped suburbanisation. It has retained its distinct rural heritage and has not been subsumed within much larger conurbations. It remains a rural parish and retains its identity as an evolution of a collection of medieval hamlets where small houses nestle together in settlements with their own distinct character. The foundation of the local economy remains agricultural based around arable and livestock farming, equine recreation and game bird rearing. The special character of the built environment in Ockham is acknowledged by the fact that 29 buildings have been listed by English Heritage. Many of the listed buildings are farm houses by origin. Their setting was and remains rural and agricultural. Upton Farm and Yarne are both 15th century farmhouses immediately adjacent to Three Farms Meadow and have views over it. Appstree and Bridge End have land adjoining Three Farms Meadow. The development of high density housing at Three Farms Meadow will cause irreparable damage to the setting of the listed buildings in Ockham and to the Ockham Conservation Area. The development, because of its location on the highest point of the hill and down the south side of the proposed site will overlook the Conservation Area and impact the setting of those precious and ancient buildings in the Ockham Conservation area causing substantial impact. The effect on the distinctive local Lovelace style would be wholly inappropriate.

The particular significance of the Three Farms Meadows is that it creates a meaningful green gap which enriches and strengthens the separate identities of the different settlements of Ockham. Consequently the separation provided by the green gap is a significant asset to both conservation areas and contributes to their character as distinctly separate settlements. The most significant harm caused by the development proposals is that the scale of development overwhelms the historic settlements of Ockham which are quintessentially small in scale and historic in nature. Unlike many 'commuter belt’ villages these settlements have escaped extensive redeveloped or extensive post-war expansion. Consequently they retain their evolved medieval form as well as most of their rural separation and setting. These are the characteristics which make them special and gave rise to the designations of Bridge End, Church End and Ockham Mill as a conservation areas. The disproportionate scale of development in the appeal proposals is contrary to the natural evolution and growth which gave rise to the character of Ockham over the last 500 years. The result will be a revolutionary change in the shape and morphology of the Parish settlements which cannot fail to harm their distinct character.

The historic parish currently consists of 163 dwellings. The addition of another 2,100 dwellings a greater than tenfold increase, will irreversibly change the way in which the historic settlements of Ockham areas perceived. Perception will no longer be of an evolved medieval parish in rural surroundings but of a much larger modern suburb with an historic periphery. Development on this scale has never occurred within the Parish of Ockham or in Lovelace Ward and, even if well designed, cannot assimilate well into the fine grain and historic parameters of the parish settlements. The development fails to respond to the significance of Ockham’s listed buildings, its conservation area or wider setting in any positive way. NPPF paragraph 137 states that ‘Local planning authorities should look for opportunities for new development within Conservation Areas and World Heritage Sites and within the setting of heritage assets to enhance or better reveal their significance.’ Sections 66 of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990 requires special regard to be given to preserving listed buildings or their settings and section 72 requires special attention to be paid to preserving or enhancing the character or appearance of conservation areas. XI. I object to the calculations used for industrial space which appear to use a far lower ratio than the industry standard resulting in unnecessary land take which has an impact on the use of green belt land.

XII. I object generally to the poor drafting and apparent lack of proof-reading. An example of this is policy S2 where it states “the figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426” when in fact the figures in the table add up to 9,810. It is impossible for members of the public to understand this kind of error/lack of clarity.

XIII. I object to the fact that a number of policies use words such as “seek” and “request” which would render the policies unenforceable. All of these qualifying words should be replaced without exception with strong verbs such as “require” and “demand”.

XIV. I object to the apparent disregard for the impact of air pollution on residents of the borough and considers that the evidence submitted on air quality is not only woefully inadequate but also misleading.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents
I note that the quality of evidence remains poor and is in some cases out of date and in most cases inconsistent. For example: I object to the fact that there is no comprehensive list of the evidence base. See below:

It is incumbent on the Council to ensure that the evidence base is readily accessible and completely transparent. I am of the opinion that the evidence is neither easily accessible nor transparent. I object to the use of the 1st Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 as these documents are based on false premises (inflated student number for example) and notes that the review by the independent expert Neil McDonald on behalf of the Guildford Residents’ Association questions the soundness of the SHMA. I also object to the transport evidence bases including the SHAR 2016 Highways assessment report which has been criticised by Mouchel, amongst many others for using out of date software and it is therefore unreliable. I continue to object to the use of the highly inconsistent Green Belt and Countryside Study and its numerous addenda as this document is subjective, misleading and inconsistent and therefore unreliable. I object to the ELNA and in particular the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes “demand” for retail space from companies in administration.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Reg 19 Consultation objection and right to comment on broader issues

My first objection is to due process. GBC has claimed a reg 19 consultation. As a result it has requested comments only on changes and referenced to the particular clause. This is a breach of due process because substantial/material changes have been made to the Draft Local Plan including a major change to the OAHN as stated by Councillor Spooner, removal of one of four only strategic sites which impacts all strategic sites, changes (increased withdrawal in many cases) to the greenbelt boundaries and in particular A35 with and without consent from owners, incomplete data sets and a requirement from Highways England as a compromise for their withdrawal of major concerns at the impact of the Plan on Highways on the A3 that infrastructure has to be in place before major developments ‘come forward in advance of critical infrastructure’.

“We note that the delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon a major improvement to the A3 through Guildford. It is essential that the Local Plan provides the planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward in advance of critical infrastructure. As a result of clarification received at our recent meeting, it is now understood how the Local Plan intends to do this. Therefore we wish to formally withdraw our representation to this policy. In addition, the early targeted small improvement schemes Identified to deliver road safety and some congestion relief on the A3 through Guildford. are not committed proposals. Therefore they are not schemes that can be relied upon to be delivered within the plan period.”
All of these changes cannot be considered minor and therefore the request to comment only on the change clause itself is not in accordance with the law. The effect of these attempted changes are that the DLP of 2016 must therefore be considered ‘unsound’ to have caused the major changes and therefore it is not a valid reg 19 consultation.

In that case comments should be allowed to any material aspect of the Plan and not just to particular clauses. Generally, it is disappointing to note that the Council has given very little weight to either the council’s own refusal of the planning application on site A35 or indeed to any of the thousands of representations made by ourselves and other members of the public and statutory bodies.

I am of the view that the current consultation cannot legally constitute a regulation 19 consultation for the reasons outlined by Richard Harwood QC in Appendix 1.

1. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation from the Council as to why they think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes made are major, for example the removal of a strategic site and a reduction in the housing number.
2. I object to the fact that there is no clear explanation why the Plan period has changed particularly as this has not been either justified or clearly identified.
3. I object to the Council wasting tax payers’ and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

I continue to have very serious concerns on the soundness of the evidence base and object in the strongest of terms on the proposed submission plan.

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon of development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43 at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would act as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Cladon, East Cladon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Cladon, East Cladon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Cladon, East Cladon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick's Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Cladon, East Cladon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

• The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
• A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
• The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  ◦ failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  ◦ issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  ◦ flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.
A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150... homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.
I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere.
Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received
20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.
24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

The whole plan is based on a SHMA conducted consultants whose working model assumptions are not revealed in the plan. And on top, GBC have seemingly and arbitrarily, increased their predicted housing need still further for good measure?

Recent events (Brexit and political changes) show just how quick the norm can change. This plan is based on predictions made BEFORE these events and are supposed to take us to 2032! We don't even know what's happening next week, let lone 15 years time! To me, Brexit and any questions around migration fundamental undermine any assumptions made in the consultants SHMA model and as such the whole plan should be scrapped or at least suspended until the post Brexit world is clearer.

The Wisley Airfield proposal for 2000 plus mixed housing units (along with the proposed 533 units in and around the Horsleys) will put enormous pressure on local infrastructure and one of the mitigating actions to counter this is to make some roads around the Horsleys / Effingham one way. This is unacceptable for those of us need access to A3/M25 for our daily commute. Our local schools are already full; our roads congested beyond their means with increasing lorry traffic and hundreds of weekend cyclists; Ockham Village still floods with every rainfall, washing drain waste and field run off into the road making it impassable on some occasions.

For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough, the Infrastructure Schedule identifies infrastructure projects that are required. The proposed growth in the Plan is based on the SHMA report. A conclusion of 693 homes a year as the borough’s requirement is over double the figure of 322 used in previous plans. I consider that the SHMA report methodology is inaccurate; student numbers distort the result and it uses commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed.

This lack of transparency is undemocratic and inappropriate as a basis for consultation on a Local Plan.

Several factors are permitted by the National Planning Policy Framework to be taken into account to reduce the overall housing target - protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints. All of these factors apply to Guildford Borough, yet this local plan and the SHMA number have disregarded these factors.

Under the Plan it is proposed that the Garlick’s Arch site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). However, there are no exceptional circumstances which would permit this land to lose its Green Belt status (Policy P2).

The Plan says that it makes best use of land which was previously developed, yet late in the drafting of the Plan, acceptable brown field sites at Burnt Common, with room for about 100 houses, was taken out of the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. In light of the replacement in the Plan of a brownfield site with a Greenfield site it is staggering that there was no real consultation on this matter. It is clear that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, requiring local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been disregarded for this site. Local residents were only made aware of this issue during a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

With poor and diminishing bus services and no train station within reasonable walking distance development on this site cannot offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

With high risk of flooding according to the Environment Agency, the Garlick’s Arch site should be removed from the Plan especially given that there are other sites which do not present such a high flood risk (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland, containing trees which are subject to Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3). The site is home to a range of important wildlife and development would remove important habitat. In spite of this, no wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site and as a local resident I am concerned that local services (schools, doctors etc. will not be able to cope. (Policy I1)

I object to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I understand that the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site if it was developed. However, in the wider industrial development context the 7,000 sq m of development proposed for a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is small. I note the surplus land available in the existing industrial development just to the south of the site at Burnt Common – easily sufficient to take 7,000 sq m of further development of this type. Given suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, the Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site.

The retention and development of local services and community facilities in our villages is supported by policy E5. Yet the Garlick’s Arch development (A43) would result in four existing successful rural businesses losing their premises. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Ripley and surrounding areas already suffer from severe congestion all day long, especially along Newark Lane and Rose Lane where these junction with Ripley High Street. Any development in and around Ripley, let alone development of a disproportionate scale such as proposed under The Plan will add to this congestion. There is no sustainable strategy in The Plan for enhancing capacity on local roads.

Moreover, country lanes around Ripley and surrounding villages are narrow with road surfaces in poor condition. I object because the development proposed in The Plan will cause more traffic to use these narrow roads with a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

There is already insufficient parking space in Ripley. Development in and around Ripley will result in more congestion and parking problems.

Ripley has been a historic hub for cyclists for some 150 years and is on the iconic “Olympic Cycling Route” used by hundreds of cyclists on the way to the Surrey Hills. Ripley and surrounding villages regularly host vast numbers of cyclists – especially for the annual London-Surrey Classic, with tens of thousands of amateurs passing through the village followed by a top level professional cycle race. It is unbelievable that Guildford Borough Council should propose a local plan which, by increasing road traffic on rural roads, risks increasing road accidents involving cyclists, thereby jeopardising our Olympic legacy.

The rural roads do not have kerbs or pedestrian footpaths. These roads are already dangerous for pedestrians and risk becoming even more so due to increased traffic levels as a result of the proposed levels of development.

The delivery of improvements to infrastructure is required in conjunction with development in accordance with Policy I1. The planning of infrastructure is, in my opinion, inadequate and I have concerns that the planned infrastructure projects will happen at all.

The Garlick’s Arch site (A43) is a major development, but no infrastructure projects are included in the Infrastructure Schedule. The lives of local people will be adversely impacted by the lack of planning for infrastructure improvements prior to development.

In particular, with utilities in Ripley and Send at, or very close to capacity (electrical network and sewers) there should be no major development in or around these villages before such utilities are improved.

It is already difficult to get an appointment at the Villages Medical Centre, Send and I fear that extra housing will result in services being overwhelmed. Police services will also be overstretched if the proposed 13,860 homes are built during the plan period.

Highways England will not even look at improving the A3 before 2020. I have real concerns that development of large residential sites at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will happen before the trunk road network is improved. Queues are already horrendous at rush hour on the A3 & M25 in our area. Development in and around Ripley will make this worse.

The Plan states in paragraph 4.6.27 that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The congestion that will be caused by the significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will not be sufficiently mitigated by travel plans. Residential areas will suffer greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to the proposals to take Ripley, Send and Clandon out of the Green Belt. I also object to the proposed changes to Green Belt status surrounding Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) sites. There are no exceptional circumstances to justify change to the Green Belt boundaries or development on Green Belt land (as required by National Planning Policy).

I note the existence of a brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common which could be developed instead of using Green Belt land at Garlick’s Arch.

Climate change over the long term should be factored into Local Plans under the National Planning Policy - including matters such as flood risk. New development should not increase vulnerability to impacts arising from climate change according to National Planning Policy.

The Environment Agency’s flood map identifies the site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river, with a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. In this context, I do not agree with the Council’s SFRA assessment of the site as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Local people such as myself are well aware that the Garlick’s Arch site and surrounding area flood regularly during winter months, partly due to the soil being heavy clay. It is obvious that the current SFRA is unreliable and needs to be reworked to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Local Plan on the grounds that the proposed development will be unsustainable (Policy S1)

National Planning Policy states that the purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development.

Development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is unsustainable. Ripley and surrounding villages will be adversely impacted – with such impact being irreversible. The proposed developments are not what is needed by the communities of Ripley and surrounding villages and services in these villages will not be able to cope with the extra demand inherent in the level of development proposed.

Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) are not suitable or sustainable locations for development. They are far distant from the nearest railway station and have very poor and decreasing bus services. Residents of these developments will inevitably have to use private motor vehicles for almost all of their transport needs, further clogging up local roads, the A3 and M25 and causing additional air pollution. Ripley in particular already suffers significant traffic congestion and additional development will simply add to the current gridlock.

I note with regret that there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan.

The borough wide strategy proposes 13,860 houses being developed across the borough and in not applying any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure – the only course which would make reasonable sense – has the wrong starting point. No other Borough Council in Surrey has taken this approach.

The Plan places an unfair burden of development on the north east of the borough as a result of major residential sites proposed at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25). It cannot be considered just and equitable to allocate 36% of proposed new housing to just three Wards within Guildford Borough (Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley) – which at present represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough.

The identity of the villages in these rural Wards will be destroyed by the joining up of development all along the A3, from the M25 to Burpham (proposal for 5,036 houses) and beyond.

In addition, the proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a huge, permanent detrimental impact on the communities of Ripley and surrounding villages.

Number of houses.

I find it very difficult, if not impossible, to comment on the housing numbers that are deemed necessary in this Local Plan. This is for the reason that Guildford Borough Council (GBC) will not provide me or any other member of the public with the formulae or any detail of how the housing need figures are arrived at. This despite the fact that the public must be consulted and are entitled to give their views on the Local Plan. One of the main purposes for the Local Plan is to plan for future housing needs. We need to be able to comment on those needs and we must know how they have been arrived at and if they are anywhere near accurate. We are told that we can purchase software that will allow us to do the calculations and that we can obtain data for which we will probably need to pay for from various institutions. This has been made clear to me by GBC Managing Director, Sue Sturgeon and also published in the local press. This applies to Guildford, Waverley and Woking Council areas. It is not right that members of the public should be treated in this manner and our Council should be assisting us in what is a legally backed consultation. So much as I would like to comment on the housing numbers, which I consider to be far too high, I am unable to do so. I am sure that the housing NEED is nowhere near as high as the proposed numbers. This is clearly a complicated matter because surprisingly the Planners at GBC were unable to do it themselves and employed a firm of consultants, GL Hearn. One hopes that GBC members and officers understand what the consultant has done and can explain it in detail to the Inspector. I believe that he should query this obstructive policy on the part of GBC and at this late stage direct this Council to provide members of the tax paying public with the information to which they are entitled without payment or the need to buy special software themselves.

homes. This University must provide a lot more accommodation on its own land for which it already has planning permission. This Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty should be preserved for future generations.

There is no way of stopping many of the new houses being proposed from being bought up by landlords/investors to rent to even more students. This is another good reason for not allowing lots more houses to be built near this University. There is a lack of children growing up in this area due to the number of houses let to students and more accommodation must be built on University land if that organisation wants to keep on expanding in terms of students and as an institution. They must act responsibly and cater for their own needs by doing more building of accommodation for students, thus freeing up houses for families.

Every morning traffic queues across the A31 Hog’s Back and is normally stationary towards Guildford. (I have BBC traffic recordings of this happening on a daily basis). To build just short of 2,000 houses and add this to the mix is a ridiculous suggestion. There are developments going on and planned for the future in the Aldershot and Farnborough areas that will place more traffic on the already busy A31 road and make matters worse. Even more reason not to aggravate the situation on the approaches to Guildford. Currently this traffic problem is driving traffic onto minor roads in housing estates. Future development in this area is unsustainable because of traffic flows even now. There must be massive infrastructure improvements to our road system BEFORE any development takes place.

In connection with any approved development at Blackwell Farm there are proposals to put in a junction just west of the A3 and on the A31 near Down Place. In view of the fact that in the mornings traffic is already stationary, sometimes for miles, a traffic light controlled junction at this location can only just extend traffic queues making matters much much worse.

I further object to Blackwell Farm being included in this Plan as a development site (Policy A26 & Paragraph 4.1.9) which:-

Disregard an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the site merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England's forthcoming boundary review (para. 4.3.8)

Directs more office space to an extended business park (Policy E4), which will increase peak time congestion, particularly around the hospital and A&E which would only add to the current serious congestion of traffic in the area of the A3 and A31 and will affect existing residential areas. Currently in the morning peak traffic period there is severe congestion. Th is hospital is a Major Incident hospital and fast access must be maintained at all times.

Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development (2.1.4a)

Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Another aspect that must not be overlooked is the fact that this is farm land. In 2015 the National Farmers Union expressed alarm that our ability to produce our own food and be self-sufficient had dropped from 80% in 1980 to 62%. Th is will drop to 53% by 2040. As world population grows there is no way that we should be building on good quality farm land. A recipe for disaster. Again you must listen to us.

This is the third time that these and other figures have changed. How were the calculations got so wrong in the first place? Physically nothing has changed. That being the case there was either human error (misjudgement) or the wrong formula was used. Or it was some bargaining stance? How can we trust the current figures which seem far too high and when a lot of the reasoning seems to be done on wishful thinking. I think that I am right in saying that the Blackwell Farm figure was near 3.000 originally and now well down from that! Unless GBC make it known to us all how the housing needs figures were arrived at we can have little faith in the housing need figures. There is clearly physically room for 3,000 or more houses and the way things are the current above figure could be increased down the road.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. 1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received
20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

° The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

° A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

° The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
° issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
° flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
° It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford.
Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching
Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:
2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.
