APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford.
Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching
Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.
If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)
The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.
This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

POLICY D3

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burspham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.
It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY I I

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I I)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I I. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).
Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages.

In particular I OBJECT to the settlement boundary put round East Clandon with no reference to the residents or the Parish Council.

Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.
The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.
The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike
These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.
In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 2: Legal compliance

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.
The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

RE:GUILDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL - LOCAL PLAN: STRATEGY AND SITES.

I write further to the publication of the above document and write to express my objection to elements of its contents.

My principle overarching objection is the proposal to take a number of Surrey villages out of the Green Belt, and East and West Horsley in particular. This proposal in particular will have "urbanisation" implications far beyond those envisaged by the mantra that more houses must be built in the Borough. Whilst I fully accept the need to provide additional housing in the Borough, I do not agree with the drastic actions of removing the Green Belt status in order to be able to provide large scale developments that would otherwise be subject to far greater planning scrutiny.

I. Your proposal to remove a number of classic Surrey villages that currently give the area its charm, beauty, character, history and overall appeal is outrageous.

1. I object to your proposal to remove the I-Iorlseys from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was established for a very defined purpose by statute. It was designed to prevent urban sprawl and to a large extent has succeeded in doing this. It is there for the benefit of not just our generation but those that succeed us. This area not only contains many areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty but also Sites of Special Scientific Interest. The Green Belt enables these areas to be protected in order that the Guildford/Leatherhead/Dorking area does not become a suburban sprawl such as Hersham/Weybridge/Walton on Thames.

1. Large numbers of people visit the Surrey Hills area because of its stunning beauty, villages and leisure opportunities. These visitors in turn support many businesses both large and small whose livelihood depends upon the area retaining its rural charm. You simply have to remember that these people are your citizens, your ratepayers and your electorate and changing the nature of their environment will potentially destroy the uniqueness of their businesses.

1. I object to the volume of housing, and associated density of construction, which is currently proposed in the Horsleys. It is completely disproportionate to the housing stock currently in existence. There has not been any detailed study undertaken proving the need for this level of housing in these locations, the size and style of the proposed houses or the impact on the surrounding infrastructure.
1. I object to the proposals as many of these sites do not reflect the level of infrastructure in place to support such a volume of housing, from schools to medical facilities, shops, bus services, train station parking and drainage. We have seen how many villages in the area have been blighted by the bolt on Council Estates of the post war years - dumped on village back land with no regard to the architectural merits of the development, the local amenities on offer or the employment of the proposed residents. Each site should be considered on its own individual merits under the existing planning regime which has been designed to protect the environment of our rural life and given its particular circumstances.

1. I object to the proposal to build 100 houses on site A39 in East Horsley as it is fundamentally flawed. The plan already recognises that the site is in a flood plain and notes that the flood risk needs to be reduced and that accordingly there is to be no greater flood risk to anywhere. Surely by interfering with the flood plain in this location can only transfer the flood plain impact somewhere else? That may be downstream of the site or onto adjoining properties. If there is no interference with the flood plain at the site doesn't become viable for 100 houses. The existing proposal by Cateby Land to develop 100 affordable homes here simply does not sit comfortably with any sustainable, accessible or employment rationale. It is building the wrong types of houses in the wrong place.

1. I also do not believe that the Council has given sufficient regard to where all these new inhabitants are going to work. There is little or no employment in these villages, there is very little bus transport, the railways are currently crammed in rush hour with no room for extra capacity and the station car parks are not big enough to cater for more cars. And yet how are people meant to get to work in Guildford, Woking and London as the primary employment centres? The answer will be by car, whether this be by way of a short journey to the station (where they will end up parking on the streets) or a full journey into Guildford (which is already rammed in rush hour). I cannot see how this can sit comfortably with the Council’s Green agenda. The Council certainly will not be able to force the bus and train companies to extend their services as these are now privately owned businesses operating for profit.

1. I object to the Council’s failure to unlock the development potential of brownfield sites and the volume of currently unoccupied residential properties in the Borough should be given a greater priority in the search for developable land and before ruining the environment, livelihood and well-being of a unique area of Britain.

Remember, there will be no opportunity to undo any development resulting from these proposals. You will not be able to wind back time.

I re-iterate my unreserved objection to the proposals as set out in the above document.

No consideration has been made in the revised proposals for the principle enshrined within the NPPF that exceptional circumstances must be demonstrated in order to develop within the Greenbelt. The proposal to inset the village of East Horsley has not been justified by exceptional circumstances. No account appears to have been made in the revised plan to the overwhelming body of public opinion that objects to the development of the greenbelt and which advocates the development of brownfield sites as priority.

I object to the development of new accommodation on the Greenbelt and to the proposal to inset the village of East Horsley and others.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

On Policy A39 arbitrary wording has been added to include self-building or custom building plots within the allocation of 100 dwellings in order to make the policy compliant with national legislation as opposed to what is appropriate for the site. The allocation of 100 dwellings on this site contravenes Policy D4 which inter alia states that:

"Ensure appropriate densiiv to make the most efficient use of the land whilst responding to local character and context". 100 houses on a 5.7ha site does not respond to local character and context given the nature of the immediately surrounding houses and the general established density of development in the village of East Horsley.

The inclusion of self-build or custom build plots will not enable this density to be achieved as these type of developments will require a greater plot size to make them viable.

I therefore object to the inclusion of Policy site A39 as a site for 100 homes as this is not a site that is capable Of sustaining this number of dwellings lithe principles of Policy D4 are to be observed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
On infrastructure, the revised plan proposals do not address the additional strain on infrastructure despite the overwhelming objections on this subject in response to the previous consultation. In particular the wording of Policy IDI has been amended to give the impression that provision of adequate infrastructure will be enforced. However, this is not within the gift of GBC. but, in the case of the road network, by Surrey Highways and Highways England both of whom will be influenced by budgetary constraints elsewhere within their jurisdiction. Equally traffic impact assessments will be prepared, and paid for, by applicants and not by GBC and will therefore present a biased outcome in support of any development.

I object to the inclusion of all sites other than brownfield sites oil basis that that GBC will be unable to secure or enforce the provision of the requisite infrastructure provisions either by negotiation with developers or through other government agencies. Any development must be in current urban or brown field site areas where there is already an appropriate infrastructure provision.

The development of the former Wisley airfield is clearly at odds with revised policy 1D3. We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the distinct lack of evidence as to the alleged housing need numbers. We all know that there is a shortage of affordable housing locally and that most local young people are forced to move away from this area in order to be able to start out on the property ladder, given the exceptionally high house prices, however one cannot be expected to agree to a Local Plan without any robust evidence of what volume and what type of housing is required, within what timeframe.

Bell & Colvill Garage (Ref. To add a further possible 40 houses, so perhaps 80 more vehicles into this already busy area is in my view absurd and irresponsible. There are children who are forced to walk down Shere Road, where there are no pavements, or street lights, or central marking, and they already have to dodge the fast paced traffic, then cross the main A246 to catch their school bus (to the nearest secondary state school). To exacerbate the traffic volumes is making an already bad situation worse.

There are very many brown field sites locally, not least the old disused, unsightly and barren Wisley Airfield site, which has for over 20 years been included in various planned projects, then turned down, only to appear again under a different project banner. The site is on a major inter-section, where access could be provided for those wishing to commute into London and surrounding towns. Were the infrastructure and facilities within that site (school, GP, shops) built responsibly this site could solve very many of the borough's housing requirements into the future. Wisley Airfield along with other brown field sites must be considered for any proposed housing over and above the small villages which surround that area.

I object whole-heartedly to the erosion of the Green Belt and in particular the village where I reside, West Horsley. I strongly object to the proposal that Ripley, Wisley, Clandon, Send and most particularly East and West Horsley are to be removed from the Green Belt. The proposal to "inset" any Surrey villages is preposterous and will open the door to unlimited future development and the destruction of our rural communities and villages. Once we allow the erosion of the Green Belt, it will be lost for ever, radically changing the characteristic green and rural landscape in which we reside. I strongly object to the village areas within the proposed boundaries being altered in any way or being removed from the Green Belt.

If you Google "Green Belt" the definition is: an area of open land around a city, on which building is restricted. Surely by removing the villages from the Green Belt you are then questioning the merit of a Green Belt I can find no one locally who agrees that the erosion of the Green Belt, or the removal of West Horsley from the Green Belt is a good idea; far from it, locals all agree that this is a fundamentally wrong proposal.

I have only referred to the above six main development sites within two villages and I am acutely aware that there are many other smaller sites too. East & West Horsley have a combined community numbering 7,000 (as per 2011 census) and to propose to add an additional 533 properties within this small area is preposterous. Guildford Borough covers a huge area - such proposals are not surely realistic, clustering so many additional properties and inhabitants within already busy villages. Please note that I object to the disproportionate level of development in this one area of the borough.

I Object to the 2016 local Draft Plan

I wish to record my strong objections to the Draft Local Plan which is out for public consultation currently.

I cannot comprehend how the council seriously considers that local residents, communities, interested parties are going to be able to read through, analyse and subsequently comment comprehensively on a document in excess of 1,800 pages (which is not user-friendly in the least) within a six week period! This is totally ridiculous and cannot be considered to be a "fair" consultation in my view, particularly given the massive impact that this plan will have on the borough's planning decisions right through to 2033.

Allocation A36-A41 – East and West Horsley

I OBJECT to the inclusion of these sites. It seems that the plan is to create a mega-village and residents of the Horsleys feel victimized. The 6 sites should not be considered individually but for their cumulative impact on the villages which are closely connected.

Building 533 new houses on these 6 sites is excessive in and disproportionate relative to the rest of the borough. It will destroy the rural character of the villages.

These sites will put unsustainable strain on local facilities including public transport, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, surface draining and shops. The proposed housing can only harm the local environment and not improve it.

Sites situated on the periphery of existing development in the Horsleys encroach on surrounding open fields and require the extension of settlement boundaries for which the plan presents no arguments. Contrary to NPPF paragraph 79, this will contribute to creeping urbanisation by weakening the Green Belt corridors separating the Horsley from neighbouring settlements.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Allocation A35

I OBJECT to the re-inclusion of this site in the Local Plan. This application was unanimously rejected by Guildford Planning Committee on 8th April 2016. This is a Green Belt location and under the NPPF no exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated to remove it from the Green Belt.

It has been misrepresented as brownfield land – less than 15% is brownfield, it is adjacent to an SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway are a habitat for rare flora and fauna. It is close to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Health Special Protection Area. It is also an SSSI and SNCI. There will be a loss of high quality agricultural land (55% of the site) in breach of national policy.

It poses an unacceptable threat to the historic rural village of Ockham and will blight the properties there. There are some 159 residences in Ockham with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses.

Air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution at the junction of the A3/M25 is already in excess of EU permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation impacting the health of current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

It will have a detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. This location is isolated and therefore residents will be reliant on private cars. There is already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25.
There is a lack of suitable public transport. Railway stations at Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

The neighbouring villages of West and East Horsley are already at capacity. The local schools are oversubscribed, the medical centre overstretched and the local roads could not cope with extra volume of traffic. Parking is restricted and very difficult at times and there is little or no scope for improvement.

Serious concerns have been raised about this site by Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

This site should be immediately withdrawn from the Draft Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Site A39 – I OBJECT to the proposed development on this site on the grounds of access. It is on a stretch of the Ockham Road North which narrows as it approaches the railway bridge. Traffic at present has to slow down at that point particularly if there is a lorry on the same stretch of road. The pavement at that point is narrow and is regularly used by school children, commuters and shoppers. There is no viable way of widening the road to improve pedestrian safety.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Site A40 – I OBJECT. Waterloo Farm is a high quality campsite which is used by many foreign tourists. Surrounding this with 120 new houses would make this rural campsite unviable. There is an unacceptable flood risk from a combination of a high groundwater table and the lack of surface water run-off. Floodwater from new development would accumulate and back up onto existing properties nearby. This problem will only get worse with the increase in extreme weather events associated with climate change.

Access has not been addressed. Ockham Road North regularly floods. A new development will introduce more hazards to a stretch of road where there are already safety issues. Speeding is a problem and local residents have failed to get the speed limit reduced from 40 mph to 30 mph and introduce traffic calming measures. Data collected in 2015 show that traffic has doubled over the last 15 years. This is only set to increase as time goes on.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

POLICY P2 – GREEN BELT

I OBJECT. This policy states that the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained. This is not true.

The Green Belts forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond a 15 year local plan. It is a solemn legacy to future generations and an asset and amenity that belongs to the whole nation. Once it is gone, it is gone forever and it is not the Council’s to give away.

This policy omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. Building on it includes an irreversible loss of Agricultural production
Rural leisure and tourism
Water catchment
Flood control
Biodiversity
Natural heritage
A carbon sink for air pollution
Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
Profitable film locations such as Shere
Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views
Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological
These assets should be protected at all costs.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the ‘insetting’ of 14 villages from the Green Belt and at ‘infilling’ 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages. The NPPF prevention of urban sprawl is ignored. It is all too easy to square off boundaries of villages by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development claiming it contributes nothing to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt status. It goes against NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of ‘empowering local people to shape their surroundings’.

Site 2177 – I OBJECT to the proposed removal of Fangate Manor from the Green Belt and its inclusion within the Settlement Boundary. There are no exceptional planning circumstances to justify removing it from the Green Belt and changing the Settlement Boundary in no way enhances the defensible nature of the Settlement Boundary. It just means moving the boundary from one hedgerow to another and leads to the loss of Green Belt and agricultural land.

There is an ERROR in the Land Availability Assessment dated February 2016, page 299, which shows access to Fangate Manor from Manor Close. Manor Close is a private road and access will not be granted. The road and verges are very narrow and not suited to any growth in traffic.

Horsley is a lovely pair of green villages and while a modest amount of development is acceptable on sites such as Thatchers and bell & Colville, it is wrong to destroy irrevocably any part of the Green Belt in Horsley. The latter would be a rape of the area causing excessive pressure on the schools and health service in the locality.

Please imagine that YOU lived in such a great village and found it under this appalling threat! Then vote to KEEP the Green Belt as it is please....

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2.3 This population growth is speculative and based largely on increased student numbers and migration from the Greater London area. No account is taken of the UK leaving the EU. What policy allows Surrey University to grow its student population with carte blanch? The underpinning NPPF means that increased numbers just have to be catered for without any discussion over the merits of growth. The Borough is short of unprotected land so obviously there has to be a limit to growth at some point. What is this limit? It has NEVER been established nor even discussed.

2.13 & 2.14 Many communities are NOT well served by bus and given the low density housing of most of the Borough are NEVER going to be. Therefore outside of urban areas car ownership is going to be >100% and road network should allow for this. Buses might be better if they were more local targeted at linking with rail stations (currently hardly served by bus). Shorter routes could mean they could be more frequent and reliable.

2.19 What are the growth targets they do not seem to be mentioned in the plan only that it must "respond positively to wider opportunities for growth"

2.21 Drive rents and prices down by properly taxing Buy-to-let owners and having realistic interest rates.

2.22 " stress caused by planned growth must be addressed" Where is the growth target laid down?

<td>This development will be a dormitory town unless proper access to AND FROM Guildford is provided; an on slip at Old Lane is not sufficient. Existing access is of course fine for London and M25. Also a new A3 on slip road will attract additional traffic and has to be allowed for on Old Lane and Forest Road. Ockham Road North is already prone to flooding near the roundabout (and elsewhere) and so perhaps is not best suited as the PRIMARY access road. The provision of so much housing will stress the adjacent villages. Provision has to be made to provide additional parking at Horsley and Effingham rail stations OR to provide proper connecting bus services. These need to be shuttle services with a frequency of 10 minutes or less or timed to properly interface with rail services or people will not use them. Otherwise there will be significant increase in traffic congestion especially at East Horsley with its role as &quot;District Shopping Centre&quot;. The proposed 2000(!) dwellings is in fact LARGER than all of East Horsley and should even a small percentage of households be attracted to East Horsley to shop will totally change the nature of the village. Then perhaps it will become the suburban centre that the Council has been keen to designate it. Might it not be better for the new development to be the district centre and adequate retail units provided?</td>

<td>In principle this seems an ideal site but there are 3 considerations: as one drives through East Horsley on the A246 there appear to be few dwellings (because most are tucked away from the main thoroughfares) and so a large development on this corner plot could destroy that illusion and alter the observable nature of the village; Horsley Towers is immediately in the background of this plot so that any development ought to be low rise; the replacement of hotel accommodation with housing would appear to be at odds with Policy E6 to preserve visitor accommodation. The use of this site would appear to blur the distinction between East and West Horsley. Since East Lane and the roads from it are all in West Horsley and your own designation has it that this site is in East Horsley that would appear self-evident. Therefore use of this site would appear to be against the policy for the inset villages of retaining a distinct identity. Presuming that access will be from Ockham Road this site should be reduced to provide a green space boundary between the new development and Heatherdene of at least 75m.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Policy D4 is a death knell for the low density character of many of the villages. With land values so high it is inevitable that there will be a large amount of infill building as large garden plots are divided and developed. The wording of the policy is so vague and subjective that the planning process will offer no firm barrier to development at all. e.g. "relate to the site context" or "has no unacceptable effect". Who is deciding these, certainly not the people living there? Consider re-wording this

4.4.15 The fact that bus 478 goes close to Horsley station 4 times a day does NOT make Horsley a transport interchange. Bus 478 runs Leatherhead to Guildford and therefore competes directly with the train and achieves little benefit from interchanging with rail, which is why most of the service goes down the A246. You need to address the basic nature of the bus services if you wish to have real interchanges at these stations.

4.4.17 It is the lack of other transport infrastructure at stations like Effingham that prevent them from being interchanges not their "remote" or "rural" location. It is likely that significant traffic from the proposed WISLEY development will use Effingham as a commuter station rather than any other transport. Just as lack of A3 connection will prevent them from travelling to Guildford directly. You should take care not to confuse "interchange" with work destination. This paragraph implies that employment locations are to be considered within 500m of certain stations. This may be but that is separate from a "transport interchange". What is important is how much office development should be allowed within this radius without altering the nature of the local environment.

4.4.22 Once again we have unrestricted "growth" that has to be accommodated. Why is that?

Policy E3 is laudable in that it seeks to mitigate the creation of a "dormitory" town. However, this does nothing to alleviate the pressure on housing by restricting potential supply. Perhaps policy H2 should be altered to have a higher content of affordable homes? Are statistics available that show the breakdown of employment location for each class of dwelling? This could form a basis for % affordable homes in H2.

4.2.36 should be reconsidered. Developers will almost always seek to pay in lieu or to build off site. Both of these make it LESS LIKELY in practice that the affordable homes will be built and IF they are encourages "ghettoisation" and should be avoided. The taking up of this provision should be discouraged by requiring a HIGHER number of affordable homes to be delivered e.g 15% more. This could included in the formula referred to in 4.2.37

- development around villages (including some expansion).

This is entirely CONTRARY to the purpose of the Green Belt, i.e to prevent suburban sprawl.

Policy S" This plan is based on growth projections agreed by whom? Just because there is an expert report stating this projected population growth does not mean that we, the voters, want it. UK exiting the EU surely makes a nonsense of the projected inflow from Greater London. Why does the University have carte blanche to increase its student population?

Spatial Vision Para 5

"a significant increase in accessible public open space across the borough. Over 250ha, equivalent to more than 350 football pitches," An additional 13860 homes means approx 35000 persons so that's 100 persons per "football pitch". This is hardly a SIGNIFICANT increase.

SOCIETY Strategic Objective 1

"sufficient sustainable development" should be defined.

SOCIETY Strategic Objective 4

This plan does not maintain the separate character of East & West Horsley or Merrow

INFRASTRUCTURE Strategic Objective 1

Define sustainable development

INFRASTRUCTURE Strategic Objective 2

The issue of leisure cyclists should be addressed. Since 2012 the vast numbers of cyclists renders average speeds to less than 15mph, esp at weekends. On most routes it is difficult to pass these due to insufficient forward visibility.

I also object to the proposal to move the village settlement boundary which has existed for several decades and when there is no justifiable reason to move it other than to make a smoother line on the village map! The boundary follows the readily recognisable boundaries of mostly residential properties on the edge of the village and a public footpath. Again, why on earth would you do this? Who benefits?

Furthermore, the Council do not appear to be listening or supporting the local residents’ wishes, which was reflected when over 700 local residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary change last year. This issue has widespread support throughout the entire local community, with old and young, clubs and societies all uniting behind our passionate belief that these fields should be left as they are, outside the settlement boundary.

These fields contribute to the rather unique, open character of the village and lie at the heart of village life and our community facilities which are open for all to use. The elevation of this land is the highest in the area, rising to over 32 feet above Kings Road, and so any potential development on it would dominate the entire local area and tower over the local houses and village community facilities.

The proposal for ‘open space’ in the current version of the plan does not retain the same long term protection as if the fields were left as they are (based on opinion I have had from planners and lawyers), both outside the settlement boundary and within the green belt. We know that developers have already been working on a plan to develop the land, so I therefore challenge why the council would then make the above proposed changes as this would then result in this precious land losing its protection and being open for development?

While I appreciate the Council are, by this classification of ‘open space’, acknowledging that this land is of unusual significance to the entire village, but nobody in the village has yet to receive a meaningful planning or legal explanation as to why or how ‘open space’ could possibly be a better classification. I suspect this is because one doesn’t exist! I am therefore asking for your support in not making changes for the sake of it when the entire local community are united behind their desire to keep this attractive and open land protected, and the settlement and green belt boundaries left as they are in relation to these fields.

I am writing to object to the proposal to move the green belt boundary such that the open fields behind the Shalford village hall lose their green belt protection. Why on earth would you do this? Who benefits?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

30 years ago I remember sitting in a geography lesson learning all about the green belt. How wonderful I thought, a system put in place to prevent urban spread and preserve the green spaces around rural villages. However, it appears Guildford Borough Council's local plan has no idea what a 'green belt' means. 500+ possible new builds around East and West Horsley, they are proposing. What a farce, they should be ashamed of themselves for even considering this. It will destroy our villages and rural way of life and I fear, if one plan goes ahead, it will just go on and on until there are no green spaces left for future generations to enjoy. As a family of 18 years residency in East Horsley we REJECT, ARE AGAINST, DO NOT SUPPORT AND THEREFORE STRONGLY OPPOSE the plan outright.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I wish to object to the entire draft local plan, particularly as it affects West Horsley, its residents and countryside. It is extremely frustrating and disappointing that the overwhelming objections to the previous draft plan, not only from residents but also from our elected representatives, have been ignored, with just 66 houses removed from the previous proposal. No evidence has been produced to support the increase in housing and population which underpins the proposals. The methodology of the Strategic Housing Market Assessment on which the plan is based is a secret, not known apparently even to the Council and has resulted in a population forecast 70% higher than national forecasts.

It is unacceptable that public policy be shrouded in commercial secrecy and therefore the SHMA should be categorically rejected. Proposals with profound long term consequences for our village should not be produced without the ability to challenge and scrutinise them in detail. This lack of transparency means that residents are fully justified in being suspicious about the motivations and interests behind the draft plan.

No ‘exceptional circumstances’ as national planning policy requires have been found to justify removing West Horsley from the Green Belt and building on Green Belt land. The proposed sites closest to where I live cover all but 40 of the proposed houses at a density much greater than the existing settlement and are out of character with the area. We face the prospect of 5 years’ of living in the middle of a building site without evidence or justification for such a massive change. It feels like we are being besieged by greedy developers.

Other reasons in support of my objection include:

- The existing infrastructure of roads (which were designed for the age of the horse and cart) parking, transport, water, drainage and sanitation are inadequate for the population as it is now so would not cope with a 35% increase in the population.
- The local medical centre, shops and schools are already stretched.
- The car park at Horsley railway station is already full on weekdays with no capacity to increase the number of spaces. The station entrance is always congested at peak times with cars collecting and dropping off rail passengers.
- Expansion of the peripheral areas of the Borough would have a detrimental effect on Guildford town centre adding to the congestion and pressure already experienced in a centre designed for a population of 8,000.
- Housing and population expansion which ignore water supply and consumption cannot be sustainable given that the South East is an area of severe water stress.

My objection includes the other large proposals such as the 2,000 house development at Wisley Airfield which despite being rejected by the Planning Committee only this year is included in the draft plan. This makes no sense.

The draft plan must be withdrawn and replaced by transparent plan based on sustainability and national planning guidelines.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy H1 (Housing)

1. I object to the changes to Policy H12 because the 32,000 objections from the last consultation have been largely ignored. The reduction in proposed housing numbers does not come anywhere near to addressing the concerns or the sustainability issues of such an expansion.
2. I object to the flawed population forecasts on which the numbers are based, at twice the rate of the ONS’s forecasts.
3. I object to the proposals for an additional 400 houses in East and West Horsley at a density far above the present level which still take no account of the constraints of traffic and parking on an already congested and poorly maintained road network that floods regularly, water (the South East is an area of severe water stress) and sanitation, and local facilities such as healthcare, schools, shops and Horsley rail station where there is no additional space for parking on weekdays and congestion occurs at peak times for picking up and setting down passengers.
4. I support the Guildford Greenbelt Group’s conclusion:

Collectively, the four Horsley sites breach NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value. This has been an outstanding success story in the Horsleys, as detailed in response to the last consultation. Assets include a dense public footpath network, parish parks, sports fields, a campsite of international standard, Britain’s newest rural opera theatre and the popular Olympic cycle route. These examples of positive planning depend on a Local Plan that protects the Green Belt, maintains its openness and beauty and avoids urbanisation and traffic congestion. Sites A35-41 are hostile to this.)

1. I object to the continuing inclusion of the proposal for 2,000 houses and other development in Green Belt at the former Wisley Airfield, for all the reasons given in 3 & 4, by a Cayman Islands registered company whose owners are unknown (a disturbing lack of transparency), all the harder to understand since the original application was rejected by the Council.
2. I object to there being no proper consideration of meeting housing needs by high density development of apartments in Guildford town, of student accommodation on campus, and the prioritising of shopping over housing.

Housing & Green Belt

The Metropolitan Green Belt has been a planning policy success and is intended to be an asset that is held in trust permanently for future generations. It is disingenuous to pretend to protect the Green Belt while at the same time proposing to remove large areas of the Borough from it. No case has been made for building on the Green Belt for which national policy requires exceptional circumstances. There are 400,000 units with planning permission in England not yet built and about 300,000 plots in developers’ strategic land banks. According to the CPRE (www.cpre.org.uk 2 November 2016) between 1.1 and 1.4m homes could be built on brownfield land. According to the Telegraph:

(https://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/2017/02/03/number-empty-homes-hits-highest-rate-20-years-calling-question/ 3/2/ 2017), the UK has 1m more houses than households, the highest in 20 years and between 200,000 and 300,000 houses empty for more than 6 months. There is no housing shortage and no case for building in the Green Belt. It is the better and more efficient management of existing housing and land which is required.

Policy P2 (Green Belt)

1. I object to the changes to Policy P2 because the 32,000 objections from the last consultation have been largely ignored.
2. I object to the new para (1) “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected” because the Policies Map by effectively ignoring huge areas of Green Belt protection both contradicts and makes this new para (1) meaningless.
3. I object to the omission of any assessment of the Green Belt in Policy P2. The Green Belt has valuable natural assets, including grazing and farmland, and a source of biodiversity and wildlife as well as recreation and health benefits.
4. I object to the statement that the proposed loss of Green Belt is 1.6% This is inaccurate as the percentage may be higher and is not consistent with national policy which does not specify any acceptable percentage.
5. I object to the continued proposed ‘insetting’ (removal) of West & East Horsley and other villages from the Green Belt and the expansion of the settlement boundaries.
6. I object to the false statement P2 (4.3.13) that these villages are ‘now inset from the Green Belt’ when this is only a proposal.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43
I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded. Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch, The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43).

The site is not appropriate because:

• There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
• The site is liable to frequent flooding
• It has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
• There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope. A43

  There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Standing at the head of the draft plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2) GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to any building on the Green Belt because it is essential to maintain its openness and permanence. This is part of para 79 of the National Planning Policy Framework.

2. I also object to any change in Green Belt boundaries, as there have not been any special circumstances proven to require boundary changes.

3. I totally object to the scale of the proposed increase in housing in the Borough, which is disproportionate, unjustified, and based upon flawed and unsubstantiated calculations of housing need. Any proposed growth in housing in the borough must be based on properly verified and substantiated forecasts which have been thoroughly and independently verified, and agreed at all levels. the Borough should not seek to accommodate or attract the overflow from areas such as London.

4. I object to additional housing because the current infrastructure (roads, schools, doctors etc) is already overcrowded and either at or over capacity, and additional housing will simply make the situation worse. There has been no proper assessment of the ability of the existing infrastructure to cope with the increase.

5. I object to the fact that additional development in the proposed Green Belt sites will not meet the criteria for sustainability and accessibility. These proposed Green Belt areas have little access to public transport, and any residents will therefore be very dependent upon the motor car for shopping, getting to work, travelling to school etc etc. Local rail services are already severely overcrowded, station parking is very limited, the A3 at peak times is at a standstill, as is the A3/M25 junction. Additional housing development, once the need is proven, should be placed where public transport is available, and not in locations where the motor car is essential for residents' daily needs.

6. I object to the use of brownfield land for unnecessary commercial development and retail expansion. This means that Green Belt land would be unnecessarily used for housing development. If extra housing is required, then brownfield land should be the first choice.

7. Finally, I object to taking any of the Borough's villages out of the Green Belt as this would change their nature forever.

Plan (A36) to convert the Thatchers Hotel on the Guildford Road in East Horsley to 48 Residential Houses

This part of the plan is not sound. It is based on flawed evidence which fails to recognise that the volumes in visitors to RHS Wisley are set to double from 2011 to 2021. (1.1 million increasing too 2.2 million. The evidence used presents no relevant visitor data later after 2011. The current growth at Wisley is highly relevant as its annual visitor numbers exceed the combined total of all other Guildford attractions listed in the evidence.

In this part of the plan there is no evidence of recent adequate collaboration with RHS Wisley or the National Trust. Visitor numbers to Polesdon Lacey are rapidly increasing (10% growth from 2013/14 to 2014/15). There is also no evidence of collaboration with Mole Valley (where for instance Polesdon Lacey is located) to discuss impact and mitigation of the reduction in availability of hotel bedrooms.

I object to the Thatchers Hotel site being converted to housing. The site should be retained for hotel and leisure use for the wider economic benefit of the area and to provide future accommodation for business and leisure visitors.

Prior Key Evidence (including The Surrey Hotel Futures Summary 2015) and simple on line research clearly shows pressure is increasing for more hotel rooms in the vicinity of Guildford. This is particularly important to the North to accommodate the growing number of visitors to Wisley.

The proposal A36 to convert the Thatchers Hotel in Horsley to residential housing runs completely contrary to the growing need for additional hotel accommodation in the Guildford area. Closing the Thatchers hotel removes 87 rooms from the market representing a 30% cut in the number of rooms available in the Borough outside Guildford centre. This is clearly ludicrous when the number of visitors to North Guildford (Wisley) is set to double (i.e. increase by over 1 million visits) during this decade to 2020.

If the current hotel owners do not find the Thatchers hotel to be profitable enough they should be encouraged to improve or sell to a more suitable hotel or leisure facility operator and not be allowed to convert the site to residential use. Whilst I certainly recognise and accept the need for some additional affordable property in Horsley I believe that replacing a hotel with a housing development is short sighted and not to the long term overall benefit of Guildford Borough or Surrey.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (Yes)

The sources are used in this document are very limited and the data presented in terms of the anticipated visitor demand is consequently weak, out dated and misleading. The dramatic level of growth in visitor numbers to the Guildford area is completely underplayed and the pending severe shortage of hotel rooms outside Guildford town centre is ignored. Consequently the document provides an inadequate basis from which to develop planning policy for hotels outside the centre of Guildford.
The study fails to mention the rapid growth in visitor numbers to the Guildford area from 2011 to 2016 to visit attractions in Guildford and nearby areas. The true and actual picture is one of rapid growth in numbers to visitor attractions with numbers set to double in the decade from 2010 to 2020.

For instance, visitor numbers for RHS Wisley presented in the referenced document do not go past 2011. Wisley has more visitors annually than all Guildford’s other attractions combined. In 2011 there were about 1.1 million visitors to Wisley. In 2015 visitor numbers were actually over 1.7 million (see RHS annual report available on line from the RHS). This represents an annual growth rate of 10% for each year since 2011.

No mention is made that Wisley are in fact planning to increase this by another 0.5 million over the next 5 years taking this number to 2.2 million as part of RHS development plans. By 2020 the number of visitors will have doubled from that stated in 2011. This has caused and will continue to cause increasing demand for hotel rooms outside Guildford a pertinent fact which is not mentioned in the document.

Furthermore, the report fails to consider that Guildford hotels also host visitors to nearby attractions near to but outside the borough such as the National Trust’s Polesdon Lacey. Polesdon Lacey attracted 346,000 visitors in 2014-2015 a 10% increase over the previous year and is being developed as NT’s flagship destination in Surrey.

This overall situation is alluded to but not explicitly documented in The Surrey Hotels Future Study 2015. This study should however be cited as Key Evidence in the 2016 Plan as it is more pertinent evidence than the Visitor Strategy. It states for instance:

• “there is significant market demand and developer interest in the provision of further tourist and business visitor accommodation”

• “the borough is becoming an increasingly popular place to visit, and the number of overnight stays rising, it is vital that more accommodation is provided”

• “the financial and employment benefits associated with tourism and leisure mean that any planning policy supporting the visitor and leisure experience should be closely aligned with the borough’s planned economic growth”

• “there is an undersupply of visitor and business accommodation in Guildford”

• “there is market potential and hotel company interest in luxury country, 4*, boutique and budget hotels and serviced apartments in the Guildford area, …there are not thought to be any live development proposals”

• “failure to provide additional accommodation could limit the borough’s ability to host future events and reduce its appeal as a business and visitor destination, thusstemming the growth of the visitor economy. Conversely, the recent trend in conversions of guesthouses and hotels to residential and other uses may worsen the existing undersupply of bed spaces in the borough”.

This information should be updated in the Plan so that key decisions such as whether to allow the conversion of an existing hotel in the north of the borough to housing can be better informed.

<td>This development implies over 5000 new residents in the area. This development is larger than East Hosley and must be planned like a new town from the outset. The infrastructure requirements that flow from this must be fully anticipated within the boundary of the Wisley development itself. Otherwise the development will not be environmentally sustainable and will cause undesirable and illegal rise in traffic volumes, congestion and consequent CO2 emissions.</td>

2. Plan to inset East Horsley and West Horsley from the Green Belt.

I object strongly to the plan to take the Horsley villages out of the Green Belt. The plan is illegal and unsound. The Green Belt is there to protect the openness of the country side by restricting the building of new houses and limiting the extending of existing homes to a proportionate extent. The green character and openness of the Horsley villages has been preserved as a highly desirable and intended consequence of the Green Belt legislation. The geography of the Green Belt was defined by Parliament in 1952.

Removing the Horsley’s from the Green Belt is unsound and will gradually destroy the open character of the Horsleys and cause the villages to become over developed loosing the openness of the rural village. The benefit of building circa 500 new houses that are planned in Horsley (after its removal from the Green Belt) is outweighed by the disbenefit arising from the potential loss of green open space that the Green Belt is intended to provide to the 7000 or so residents of the Horsley villages and the 10 million residents of London.

3. Extending the Settlement Boundaries south of the A246.

I object to extending the settlement boundaries at the southern end of East Horsley to the south side of the A246 covering Chalk Lane and the Warren. The proposal is unsound.

The evidence on the character of Settlement areas failed to note that East and West Hosrely (and Chalk Lane in particular) are adjacent to the SSSI of the Sheepleas. Chalk Lane is also very close to two areas of outstanding natural beauty and is the beginning of the Surrey Hills. Chalk Lane was a rural holiday area. It is situated in a uniquely attractive chalk and limestone cutting has abundant wild flora and fauna. Chalk Lane is still a beautiful tree lined lane which is gradually recovering its former impressive canopy after the devastation of the 1987 storm.

Chalk Lane is a popular green route used by walkers and cyclists to access the Sheepleas and Surrey Hills from Horsley and the A246. It is rural and not urban in character. Swallowing this area up into the settlement of the village will lead to undesirable encroachment of the village of East Horsley on the rural south side of the A246. It will give a green light to unsuitable and forms of urban development and become a prelude to future removal of this area from the Green Belt and further loss of openness and Green Belt.

I fully support the removal of new housing planned on site A36 Ramada Thatchers Hotel from the draft Local Plan 2017. Increasing numbers of visitors to Guildford Borough will need the hotel space. This hotel provides accommodation with relatively easy access to RHS Wisley the largest growing visitor attraction in the Borough. It also provides welcome employment for young people in the Borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (Yes)

The evidence supporting the forecast demand for housing in Guildford to 2034 is out of date and now significantly over estimates the likely population growth and therefore housing need in Guildford Borough. The cumulative population growth forecast of 15% to 2034 is driven in Guildford (according to the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment Sep 15) by settlement of international migrants age 20-30 years. Other factors affecting population growth and decline are largely in balance and taken together will not lead to significant overall growth according to the evidence in the report.

This forecast was published before recent changes were made to Government policy on immigration which during the period considered will directly limit the ability of international migrants (especially students) to come to and permanently settle in the UK including in Guildford. If Government immigration targets are wholly or partially taken account of in the Evidence Base then the forecast growth in local population to 2034 should in fact be in the region of 3% - 8% total. Consequently the demand for new housing units is likely to be in the region of 2500 to 7500 and not 12496 as set out in the Plan.

See the attached file which provides comments on the evidence in the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment September 2015. It provides more detailed comment and quantified estimates of revised population growth forecasts based on the Government's latest policies for international migration following the BREXIT referendum in 2016 and including the Conservative Government policies as set out in the 2017 election manifesto.

For the above reasons the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment Sep 2015 is already out of date. The population forecasts therein relating to Guildford must be updated to take account of revised immigration forecasts to Guildford Post BREXIT before the local plan can be based on it. The 2015 forecasts used in the local plan are based on immigration patterns arising from Government policies pre BREXIT and pre 2017 election. Therefore as they stand both the Evidence and the Local Plan are fundamentally flawed.

Comment on Guildford Local Plan regarding Evidence base for Population from West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment September 2015

The evidence base underpinning the 2017 GUILDFORD LOCAL PLAN is out of date and fundamentally flawed. The NPPF requires Guildford to base its development plan policies on up-to-date and relevant evidence. The population of 167126 quoted for 2033 in section 2.3 is an overestimate. It is more likely to be in the region of 150,000-156,000 if government targets on immigration are taken into account for the reasons below.

The housing requirement to be met (with 12,496 new homes) in the Guildford 2017 Plan is based on population forecasts set out in the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment September 2015 (WSSHMA2015) covering Guildford, Waverley and Woking. This report was compiled before the BREXIT referendum took place in 2016 and before the consequent decision ratified by UK Parliament to leave the EU. The report therefore does not take into account the likely impact on Guildford’s population growth of BREXIT or the Government’s subsequent commitment in its 2017 election manifesto to reduce migration into the UK to “the tens of thousands”.

The summary conclusion in table 13 of section 4.12 of the WSSHMA 2015 is that Guildford’s population will grow by 15% in the 20 years from 2013 to 2033. Following the BREXIT decision this projected growth is likely to be a very significant overestimate.

The WHSSHMA 2015 report section 4.24 shows that all of the growth in Guildford’s population can be accounted for by projected levels of international migration, averaging circa 1240 per year (circa 0.9% per annum) for the 20 years from 2013 to 2033. Figure 18 of section 4.27 shows that this is mostly due to net in-migration of people aged between 20 and 30 years old (e.g. students) settling in Guildford. Other effects on the population of Guildford such as natural growth (births less deaths) and internal net out-migration are projected to balance each other out.

The WSSHMA 2015 report’s forecast of population growth due to international in-migration is in line with UK immigration before BREXIT. For example between 2005 and 2015 gross immigration in the UK averaged 0.9% being circa 570,000 per annum on a population of 62 million. The UK Government’s declared target following BREXIT is to reduce immigration to tens of thousands.

If this target is just achieved and immigration falls to an average of 99000 post BREXIT then the growth due to immigration would fall from 0.9% per annum to 0.15% per annum. Even if the Government’s target is only partially met with an immigration reduction to say 300,000 per annum then this would equate to 0.46% population growth per annum. If these national immigration percentages applied to Guildford (as the WSSHMA Sep 2015 report indicates they would) then the cumulative growth in population in Surrey by 2034 for these two scenarios would be:

1. 0% growth by 2034 if Government target met (e.g. gross immigration of 99000 /yr)
2. 6% growth by 2034 Government target partially met (gross immigration of 300,000 /yr).
The Planning Practice Guidance issued by the Government in March 2014 indicates that the “scale and mix of housing ……..should cater for housing demand of the area and identify the scale of housing to meet this need”. Applying this guidance together with BREXIT population growth projections would indicate that Guildford housing need would be between 2500 and 7500 new units over the next 15 years to meet the above growth projections.

Evidence that this reduction in population growth is now happening has come with 1) substantial drop in applications to UK Universities including Surrey University from foreign students in 2017 and 2) with immigration statistics for 2016 showing the first substantial reduction in net migration in the last decade. In summary the requirement for 12500 new homes in the next 15 years is not likely to materialise.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (Yes)

The population of Guildford will not grow 15% by 2034 (see my comments on the Evidence Base). The population is likeley to grow less than half this amount as the number of international students migrating into and settling in Guildford declines in line with the revised government policies following BREXIT. Therefore assuming government migration targets are even just partially met only 2500 to 7500 new houses will be required over the next 15 years. It is therefore not necessary to build circa 12500 new homes in the Guildford Bourough over the next 15 or so years and the required new stock can be build without encroaching on existing Green Belt land.

I now therefore object to all new housing sites set out within the report that are on land currently designated as Green Belt. I particualrly now object to proposal for 2000 homes on Wisley Airfield and to removing much of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt. This scale of encroachment onto the Green Belt would be wholly disproportionate to the true need.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored. 2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. 3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans. 4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC). 5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCl).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I am writing to object to the proposal in the new Guildford Local Plan to remove Green Belt protection from a number of villages such as Chilworth and Shalford.

I think it is important to preserve these villages as they are, while I also believe that the infrastructure, in particular the roads, cannot cope with any additional volume that any further development would invariably create.

Merrow

Merrow Ward is centred on the old village of Merrow, on the north-east border of Guildford Town. It is bounded to the north by the Guildford to Effingham Junction railway line, to the east by the National Trust estate of Clandon Park and the southern edge provides entry into the North Downs. A substantial area of Merrow in the south-east is comprised of two golf courses; Guildford Golf Club, the oldest golf club in Surrey, and Clandon Golf.

The main route between Guildford Town and Leatherhead (A246, Epsom Road), passes directly through Merrow and links to the A25 to Dorking via a tight, narrow bend between St John’s Church and the Horse and Groom Inn. These roads become seriously congested at peak commuting times. A Park & Ride facility has been provided on the Epsom Road, just to the east of the developed region of Merrow; this provides some alleviation of Town Centre traffic and congestion but does not help reduce traffic bound for Merrow itself, much of which is associated with local schools.

Merrow has a population of approximately 8000 in 3300 households within an area of 440 hectares. There is a mix of housing types including terraces and purpose-built flats but a predominance of detached properties. Over seventy percent of households own their accommodation either outright or with a mortgage. A council-owned estate was built in the 1950s (Bushy Hill) but since the 1980s many of these properties have passed into private ownership; social rented housing in the Ward now amounts to around 450 households. A further large estate (Merrow Park) of several hundred houses and flats was constructed in the mid-1980s between the Bushy Hill estate and Clandon Park. While much of Merrow fits well with the affluent majority of Guildford borough in the least deprived quartile in England, there is nevertheless an area within Merrow that qualifies as one of the 66 most deprived areas in Surrey.

There is a frequent bus service linking Merrow to Guildford Town Centre and out towards Leatherhead, some of the services looping around the two largest housing estates. The nearest rail station is just within walking distance of the western edge of Merrow but most residents would require transport - bicycle, bus or motorcar - to reach a station.

Merrow is served by three small retail centres; two of them are in close proximity to Merrow schools and one of these two lies opposite a doctor’s surgery, leading to serious parking and traffic congestion problems during term-time. The third and largest retail centre lies on the main Epsom Road and includes a petrol station with grocery outlet, and two restaurants. There is a performing arts school and a collection of small industrial units behind the shops plus an 80-lot allotment garden nearby. Parking availability for this concentration of activity is inadequate and this regularly leads to congestion and dangerous parking practices.

There are five schools located within Merrow, one being a large secondary Catholic faith school with 1250 pupils (St Peter’s), shortly to expand by more than 100, another being a primary Catholic faith school, and there is a large comprehensive school of nearly 2000 pupils just over the Ward boundary in Burpham. Many pupils travel a considerable distance to these and other local schools by car or school-bus which causes serious congestion from both moving and parked vehicles during term-time. This problem has been exacerbated over the past decade by significant expansions of the schools without commensurate improvement to the road network or parking areas.

There is a small business park at the northeast corner of Merrow, comprising a mix of trade, light industrial and some office units. Adjacent to Merrow Business Park is a Surrey County Council depot, accommodating approximately 200 staff. Access to these sites is far from ideal, being located adjacent to a sharp bend in the road and a very narrow railway bridge.

The Merrow Residents’ Association has been in existence for over 40 years and continues to provide a focus for Merrow on environmental, planning, historical and local issues and has an active membership of over 600 people. It is served by a voluntary committee that acts in an apolitical manner to ensure that Merrow retains its present unspoilt and attractive appearance.

The Merrow Residents’ Association is an active member of the Guildford Residents Associations and wishes to be associated with its response to this consultation.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Summary Comments and Objections

The Merrow Residents’ Association is disappointed that so little time has been allowed for responses to this consultation not least because totally new and incomplete documents on transport infrastructure were released at the same time as the 6 week consultation period commenced.

- Chapter 3- we object to this chapter as it is unsound since it contains no town centre masterplan and because too much space has been allocated for retail use that could be used for housing.
- Policy S1- we object to this policy as it is unsound as it does not reflect the requirements of the NPPF.
- Policy S2- we object to this policy as it is unsound as the G L Hearn OAN is too high and should be set at no more than 510 new homes per year in accordance with the advice of NMSS.
- Policy S2- we object to this policy as it is unsound as the housing target has been inflated; the housing target should be corrected.
- Policy S2- we object to the policy as it is unsound as it does not follow the NPPF, the PPG nor the advice of Ministers in the DCLG on constraints.
- Policy H1- the University of Surrey should be required to provide accommodation for more than 60% of their eligible students.
- Policy H2- the policy should require that a proportion of smaller houses should be built as well as smaller apartments.
- Policy P1- we have made some drafting suggestions in the AONB policy wording.
- Policy P2- the policy is unsound as it does not follow the NPPF or the advice from DCLG Ministers.
- Policy P5- the policy will have to be reviewed as a result of the UK’s decision to leave the EU.
- Policy E9- we support this policy on the Local Centre in Epsom Road, Merrow.
- Policy I1- we object to this policy since the additional traffic generated by the proposed developments would increase traffic congestion.
• Policy I 3- we object to the proposed development of the Sustainable Movement Corridor as it is neither cost effective and nor is it realistic to expect the corridor to deliver the benefits described.

• Policy I 4- we have made some drafting comments but support the drift of this policy.

• Policy A25- we object to this policy as it is unsound as it is not positively prepared.

• Policies A43- we object to the inclusion of policy A43 in the Local Plan as the site is at high flood risk.

• Policy A43A- we object to this policy on the basis that there must be a four way junction north of Potters Lane at Gosden Hill Farm and therefore there is no need for slip roads onto the A3 at Garlick’s Arch.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Policy A25 – Gosden Hill Farm

The proposals in the draft Local Plan for Gosden Hill Farm are bound to have a serious impact on Merrow and are incomplete and premature. The MRA Executive Committee have spent a great deal of time considering these proposals with Associations and Councils in Burpham and Clandon and are agreed that this development should not be in the Local Plan at all as it is a key area of the Green Belt around Guildford which in turn is intended to prevent urban sprawl and to safeguard the countryside from encroachment.

We are reminded that the landowners applied for outline planning consent for homes, industrial units, a railway station, a new rail bridge and a perimeter road in 1982 and 1984 and the application was refused by GBC and went to appeal. The landowners lost the appeal in 1985. It is informative to reflect on the case put to the Inspector by experts for the Council when they said that ‘the development of the site would constitute an urban encroachment into the surrounding countryside situated within the Metropolitan Green Belt and would prejudice the long established principle of endeavouring to prevent the coalescence of settlements’ contrary to Government advice. Nothing has changed since 1985 and since the Metropolitan Green Belt was established after the Second World War. It is also informative to note that the application included a four way junction with the A3 on the site.

If Policy A25 were to be retained in the Local Plan - against our wishes - we have the following comments:-

- There is an aspirational suggestion on page 25 of the Transport June 2016 Topics paper that a tunnel might be built to relieve pressure on the A3 but we await proposals from Highways England. We are advised that any upgrading of the A3 or construction of a tunnel could not commence until at least 2021/22.

- If a tunnel were to be proposed and built it would have to have an entrance on a considerable area of land on Gosden Hill Farm. No land has been identified for this purpose but only for an A3 south bound intersection.
• We take the view that any further consideration of the development of Gosden Hill Farm should be held back until the plans of Highways England are known for the A3 as it would be ridiculous to go ahead with the plans for the development of this site and for utilising land close to the A3 that might be required for an A3 tunnel.

• We are absolutely clear that there must be a four way junction with the A3 on the Gosden Hill Farm site north of Potters Lane. Unless such a junction is in place the development should not take place. It is totally unacceptable that traffic for London from the site will have to go into and through Burpham to join the A3 to go north. Burpham is already a traffic hot spot and is frequently swamped with traffic and this additional traffic and the traffic from the new Slyfield development would make the situation in Burpham chaotic and totally unacceptable to everyone that lives in or needs to have access to Burpham. Put another way the existing road structure in Burpham couldn’t cope with this additional traffic - in all honesty traffic congestion in Burpham, at times, is quite awful now as many residents of Merrow know only too well.

• The draft Local Plan addresses the timing of infrastructure construction at Gosden Hill Farm but the wording is woolly in Policy A25 and too loose and any developer worth his salt would drive a coach and horses through the wording. The necessary infrastructure must be built at the same time as the development and the four way junction with the A3 must be open before the first house is occupied. Preferably the infrastructure should be in place before the development commences but this may not be realistic.

• The wording at Policy A25 should be amended to state, in terms, that no development may commence at Gosden Hill Farm until agreement is reached for a four way junction with the A3 and no homes or retail space or the Park and Ride may be occupied or in use until the four way junction has been completed and is open.

• The proposed rail station at Merrow is also an aspiration and has been for decades. The draft Local Plan is devoid of any detail nor is it clear as to where the main buildings would be erected. We could assume that they would be on the Merrow Depot site. The traffic implications with a new station at the Merrow Depot would be serious. Not only is there the increased traffic due to 2,000 new homes at Gosden Hill Farm together with a Park and Ride and two schools, there would be a large volume of additional regular, daily traffic going to and from the station. The small lane that leads up to Merrow Depot is only just wide enough for two cars and with the new, added ‘pinch points’ it is even narrower in some parts. The junction going into the lane is too small for large volumes of traffic and struggles even with the existing levels. This would cause more accidents and even longer traffic jams. The railway bridge and junction are inadequate for the new housing development let alone the addition of the anticipated additional traffic going to and from the station daily, day and night. We would also suggest that there is potential for a bus service also to be added increasing the problems. If this station were to be built, the bridge from Merrow to Burpham would have to be re-built to expand the carriageway which would be extremely costly. Whatever the GBC thoughts are on potential plans for the station, very careful consideration needs to be given to parking and access. We would suggest that separate access and parking on the Gosden Hill estate and access from there via a footbridge would ease congestion at the bridge junction leaving the lane only for access by the businesses, staff and for disabled passengers only. The other alternative would be to site the station itself on Gosden Hill Farm.

• This proposed development is covered in the Burpham Neighbourhood Plan which has now been adopted and covers part of the Gosden Hill Farm site. Appendix 3 site 2 and site 3 describes the ‘Green Cathedral’ in Merrow Lane which is protected as it is common land under section 38 of the Commons Act 2006. This is the strip of land running down Merrow Lane between the Merrow Lane and Gosden Hill Farm. It does not form part of Gosden Hill Farm.

• It is unfortunate that in July 2014 Network Rail used an old gateway to cross this strip of Common land to get access to and maintain their substation on the rail track. They relied on a permission that had been granted to the landowner since 1967 for the purpose of clearing the track and to improve the drainage. This detail is contained in an email from the GBC Managing Director of 9th September 2014.

• The email from the Director General reads ‘With regards to the second question we have carried out a review as follows. The access track was unused for a period of twenty years. There was an existing gate that was in evidence before Network Rail entered the land and the landowner has confirmed this. The access track in question forms part of a Lease Agreement dated 16 June 1967, made between Guildford Borough Council who are the owners of the adjoining land and the then tenant. There is a line in that Lease map that clearly denotes the access track being in evidence at the time of the Lease. As part of the Lease we granted the right to the tenant and his successors in title the right to “cut and fell timber and other trees, pollards, saplings and underwood” and to “grub up underwood” in that area. Improvement works have also been carried out to the culvert that is currently there. As part of the Lease Agreement we granted the right to lay water mains etc. in that area. Therefore it seems at present we granted the right to carry out the work to clear the access track, and improve the drainage.

- Network Rail did not have consent to use this gateway but they used it nonetheless and have placed metal gates in the gateway which gives the impression that this gateway could be used to access any development that might take place at Gosden Hill Farm.

- We therefore request that Policy A25 is amended to make it clear that the Common land in Merrow Lane is protected and may not be used for access to any development in Gosden Hill Farm

- There is an unfortunate contradiction in this policy in that in the allocation section it is proposed that there will be both a primary and secondary school whilst in the infrastructure section it is stated that the need for a secondary school will be determined at the planning application stage. We find this totally unsatisfactory because if no secondary school is required then the size of the plot on page 181 can be reduced to the site that was proposed in the earlier draft plan removing the added area on the north east of the site.

- All in all, it is impossible to support the proposals for this site not least because too much critical information is missing and far too much is aspirational and has to be taken on trust.

- We object to Policy A25 as it is unsound and has not been positively prepared for the very many reasons described above.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A43 and Policy A43A

We have noted that Policy A43 and A43A were introduced into the draft at very short notice and without any consultation under section 18 of the Local Plan Regulations 2012.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding.
We object to the inclusion of Policy A43 in the plan due to the high flood risk associated with this site and we conclude that this aspect of the plan is unsound.

The Transport June 2016 topic paper suggests on page 25 that the slip roads in Policy A43A could provide a four way junction for Policy A25 Gosden Hill Farm. We note that this is only an aspiration and for that reason this suggestion does not appear in the draft Local Plan. We have explained on page 7 that there is an over-riding need for a four way junction north of Potters Lane at Gosden Hill Farm if that development is to go ahead. That being the case, there is no need for slip roads onto the A3 at Garlick’s Arch and therefore Policy A43A should be deleted.

We object to the inclusion of A43A in the plan on the basis that there must be a four way junction north of Potters Lane at Gosden Hill Farm and therefore there is no need for slip roads onto the A3 at Garlick’s Arch.

Policy H1 - Homes for All

The University of Surrey - should be required to build sufficient student accommodation for those of their students who wish to live on campus therefore relieving pressure on rented accommodation in Guildford where so many students now live. The recommended figure of 60% of students having their own accommodation on campus in Policy H1 in the draft Local Plan is too low and should be raised. This in turn would release accommodation onto the open housing market. It is disappointing to note that the University currently has planning permission for student accommodation to house 2,120 students which it has not built and yet does not appear willing to use these permissions and it is understood that they only plan to house 42% of its students on campus. It calls into question whether the University is really concerned about the future of Guildford and its surroundings or more concerned about the business case to develop Blackwell Farm to raise money to develop the University.

We recommend that the figure of 60% of University of Surrey students having their own accommodation on campus should be raised.

Homes for All - Care Homes - this policy, inter alia, covers care homes although there is no specific reference to care homes in the policy itself. Mention is made of the need for 242 registered care bed spaces at paragraph 4.2.3- this being derived from the SHMA- and also in paragraph 4.2.10 in the reasoned justification section.

The need for care bed spaces is reflected onto page 18 of the LAA where it states that 51 bed spaces should be provided at 179 Epsom Road, Merrow (LAA site 2235) whilst the same site appears on page 183 of the LAA and is described as a vacant care home where there is a planning application for 24 dwellings which has been refused and is going to appeal

We recommend that page 18 of the LAA be amended to reflect the position described on page 183.

Policy H2 - Affordable Homes

We fully understand and support the comment from many of our residents that affordability is critical to allow our youngsters to get a foot on the ownership ladder. We also appreciate that the term has a restrictive definition in the NPPF. However, the Local Plan must require a proportion of smaller houses as well as a realistic proportion of one and two bedroom apartments as well as smaller houses into which older residents may downsize. This should appear in the Local Plan at policy H2. We appreciate that smaller houses may not deliver the level of profitability associated with the sale of 4 and 5 bedroom houses but they must still appear in the housing mix irrespective of the views of developers.

We challenge the implied conclusion that building more houses will bring down house prices, thereby making them more affordable. The analysis excludes the impact of being within commuting distance of London, which pushes house prices to undesirably high levels. There is also clear evidence in Guildford that developers make more money from larger and higher value houses which underpins our argument that building more houses will not have any real effect on house prices. What we need is a wide range of house sizes and prices - this would address the needs of the market.

Conclusion - the policy should require that a proportion of smaller houses should be built as well as smaller apartments.

Policy I 1 and Appendix C - Transport Infrastructure - this has been reviewed in detail by Richard Jarvis BSc, MS, CEng, FICE, FCIHT, who is a qualified civil engineer, and expert in transport planning and his comments appear on the GRA website http://www.guildfordresidents.co.uk/

We can do no better than to quote from his report:-

1. The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have ‘an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF’.

2. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the proposed submission local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

We are also very disappointed that nothing is said in the Local Plan about the need for a bus interchange so that anyone entering the town centre by bus can change from one bus to another without having to walk more than a few yards. This omission must be corrected.

We must also be mindful of other new development in the borough that may put additional pressure on our roads- for example the proposals from Surrey County Council for the expansion of Newlands Corner- a proposal that is hotly disputed by residents in Merrow.

Conclusion - we object to this policy since the additional traffic generated by the proposed developments would increase traffic congestion. This is unacceptable.

Policy I 4 - Green and Blue Infrastructure

This policy is particularly important to residents in Merrow who value the Green Belt on the entrance from the East of the borough, Clandon Park, Merrow Downs and the SSSI in the quarry on the Clandon Golf site are equally important in addition to other areas in Guildford described in the policy.

These must be protected to preserve our attractive, accessible countryside, gardens, allotments and natural open spaces, retain the green character of the edge of Guildford, and its approach roads, make the green corridor along the river more of a feature, protect views throughout the borough and ensure that new developments contribute to creating distinctive places and a sense of community and provide well designed spaces for vehicles to reduce the dominance of parked cars on our streets.

We have noted that the wording of Policy I 4 in paragraphs 5 and 6 is subtly different and we suggest that the wording in the fifth paragraph should follow the wording in the sixth paragraph and state that ‘development will not be permitted within or adjacent to national sites unless clear justification is provided that doing so would not be harmful to the nature conservation interests of the site.’

Green Spaces - The PPG17 Audit identified an overall deficiency in open space of 96.37ha in 2005. With the exception of Christchurch ward (in which Stoke Park is situated), all urban wards in Ash and Guildford show a deficit of open space per 1000 population. Although there is a surplus in some more rural areas (the wards of Effingham, Lovelace, Normandy, Shalford, The Pilgrims and Tillingbourne), it is outweighed by the deficit in the more urban areas, particularly Ash South and Tongham, Stoughton, Westborough, Onslow, Merrow and Friary and St Nicholas. Most settlements, with the exception of Flexford, Puttenham and Send Marsh were found to have access to a playing field, park or amenity open space for informal play or recreation.

It is unfortunate that so little is said in 4.6.38 of the policy on the value of these Green Spaces although it is said that these spaces should be protected. That is a weak statement and should be reinforced and placed within the policy itself at I 4.

Policy P1 - Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

We are generally content with this policy as it follows the NPPF. Although we would like to see a definition of ‘major developments’ in the Local Plan we are aware that no such definition exists.

However the wording of the paragraph about the AGLV review is misleading and it would be more accurate to say that the boundaries will not be amended until the review is both completed ‘and its conclusions implemented’.

We also suggest that the wording in 4.3.5 which states that ‘all development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance the special qualities’ should be moved and placed within the policy itself.

The wording of Policy P1 only refers to conserving and protecting the views of the AONB whereas Government Policy is very clear that all land that forms the views into, and out of an AONB, should be protected. In its March 2014 Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment - Landscape the Government emphasised the importance of protecting the setting of AONBs and National Parks. This affects proposals on land outside an AONB that might adversely affect its setting.

We therefore suggest that the wording of the first bullet point should read ‘conserve and / or enhance the setting of the AONB and the views into, within and out of the AONB’

Policy P2 - Green Belt

We are content with the first four paragraphs of the policy as this follows the NPPF.

That said, we fail to understand why the draft Local Plan goes against the explicit provisions of section 9 of the NPPF and proposes large scale development in the Green Belt across the borough and also goes against the provisions of the PPG and advice from Ministers in the Department of Communities and Local Government. If GBC persists in removing large chunks of land from the Green Belt it must explain why it is proposing to do so in the reasoned justification of this Policy.

The Green Belt is intended to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open in accordance with the NPPF and to safeguard the countryside from encroachment but a quick look at the map of the proposed new developments on the north east side of the borough would indicate that the continuous green ribbon along the A3 will have been destroyed by the development at Wisley, Garlick's Arch and Gosden Hill Farm and that we really would have continuous development from the M25 down the A3 into Guildford. We take the view that this is totally unacceptable.

We are struck by the fact that GBC seems to consider the Green Belt as a ready supply of land for development whilst at the same time they are not considering all the sites in the Town Centre that are available for development. Put another way a small amount of Green Belt was lost in 2003 whilst a far greater amount is being identified for removal from the Green...
Belt in this draft - when will this erosion of the Green Belt stop? To make matters worse some of the land removed from the Green Belt in 2003 is still undeveloped - that is very difficult to explain. Paragraph 83 of the NPPF states that Green Belt boundaries should be permanent and should endure beyond the plan period. It does appear as if GBC have lost sight of this requirement.

We have read the Green Belt and Countryside Topic paper with some care in the hope that it would explain why so much Green Belt land has been identified for removal from the Green Belt and for development. In the Topic paper it is suggested by GBC that ‘our evidence base identifies a high level of need for market and affordable housing (including traveller accommodation) and employment. Given the extent of Green Belt across the borough (89 per cent) and the lack of sufficient suitable and deliverable sites located outside the Green Belt, to not amend boundaries would lead to a significant undersupply of homes compared to the identified needs – approximately half. The consequences of this within Guildford would be to exacerbate the existing affordability issues and have an adverse impact on economic growth in the area, which would lead to unsustainable commuting patterns.’ It is clear that GBC have taken a view that some building in the Green Belt may be necessary but they have been unable to substantiate the extent of this proposed development which would be harmful not only to the Green Belt itself but also to the borough.

The paper concludes that the affordable housing and economic need in Guildford is so severe that some Green Belt must be sacrificed. To make such large inroads into the Green Belt needs very careful examination and explanation and we are not convinced that such a case has been made. The views in the paper are entirely subjective based on a SHMA where we have argued that the OAN is too high (see the arguments on page 4 that the OAN should be not more than 510) and also on the affordable housing need where we argue that this need is not being adequately addressed by the Plan which is far more aligned to the demands of developers who make the highest profit from the sale of large four and five bedroom houses built on open land unencumbered by existing structures. GBC is relying solely on the need for new houses derived from the SHMA and has not given sufficient weight to the harm to the Green Belt that the proposed developments would cause.

As we understand current procedures the approach should be that the council works out what housing need is and then, when drawing up the housing target, determines whether environmental constraints (e.g. Green Belt) will hinder the ability to meet that housing need and allows therefore that housing target to be adjusted to something which is deliverable without having to rip up such environmental constraints.

The NPPF is clear that local planning authorities should, through their Local Plans, meet objectively assessed needs unless any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole or specific policies in the Framework indicate development should be restricted. Such policies include those relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest; land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space; an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty; designated heritage assets; and locations at risk of flooding or coastal erosion.

The PPG states that unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

We are also aware of clear Ministerial guidance on building in the Green Belt - ‘the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt’ - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

“...we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

“Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014.
We are also aware of the guidance given by the DCLG to their Inspectorate in December 2014 that the outcome of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment is untested and should not automatically be seen as a proxy for a final housing requirement in Local Plans. This is just what GBC have done.

When one considers all these arguments when put together, we conclude that GBC has not made a convincing case that so much land should be removed from the Green Belt for development.

We object to Policy P2 as it is unsound and does not follow the policy established in the NPPF nor the advice from Ministers in the DCLG.

Policy S1-Presumption in favour of sustainable development

The second sentence of the first paragraph states that applications will be approved ‘wherever possible’. This is an unwarranted and unwelcome extension of the wording of the NPPF and we request that this must be corrected to bring the policy in line with the NPPF. Therefore the words ‘wherever possible’ should be deleted from the policy.

We object to this policy as it is unsound as it does not follow the requirements of the NPPF.

Policy S2- Planning for the Borough

Evidence Base - The Strategic Housing Market Assessment

This policy is key to the whole of the Local Plan and underpins all the plans for development. The MRA has commented on the earlier SHMA and has attended numerous meetings to evaluate every element of the SHMA. We have always been troubled by the very high OAN in the SHMA and fail to understand why the figure is so high leading to a housing target that is so much higher than the housing target that has been set by the Council of GBC in recent years.

We commented at an earlier stage of the development of this draft Local Plan as follows:

“The assessment of housing need in the current draft SHMA is not justified by an analysis of the data. A new joint local authority SHMA is being prepared but will only be available for scrutiny after this consultation has been concluded. Meanwhile new ONS statistics predict the population of Guildford will be just under 5000 people fewer than assumed in the draft Guildford SHMA, greatly reducing the need for additional housing. The MRA believes that even these new ONS figures overstate the likely population growth as virtually all the growth to 2021 is predicted to come from net international migration. This prediction is based upon the net international migration over the past 5 years which is highly unlikely to be repeated. It should be noted that the draft SHMA does explain that student international migration associated with the University will only present a very limited housing need.”

Subsequently the Guildford Residents Associations (GRA) commissioned a review of the SHMA and the OAN by NM Strategic Solutions Ltd (NMSS) and GBC will, we are sure, be aware of the detail in that report which the GRA will be taking forward to the Examination in Public of our Local Plan. This report appears on the GRA website http://www.guildfordresidents.co.uk/.

The OAN suggested by NMSS is 510 and this is a figure that we can support. We understand and accept that ‘standing still’ is not an option and that an OAN must be set for the Borough of Guildford to follow the guidelines in the NPPF and the PPG. This is exactly what NMSS have done to meet the demands for new housing, business and schools in Guildford. We do not intend to repeat the detailed arguments from NMSS in this response except to point out that the report does meet our concerns about international and student migration to which we have referred in previous responses to GBC and the OAN appears far more sensible and reasonable than the figure in the West Surrey SHMA of September 2015.In summary NMSS suggests that the September 2015 West Surrey SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows, issues with the way it considers students and affordability and flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

We are aware that CPRE has also commissioned an independent review of the SHMA and the OAN by Green Balance and they recommend that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 to 481- a figure that is independently and remarkably close to the figure from NMSS.

We conclude that the OAN for Guildford should be set at no more than 510 new homes per year in accordance with the conclusions of the report from NMSS.

Housing Target- We are concerned not only at the high housing target that appears in Policy S2 but also at the way that the numbers have been presented in both the draft Local Plan and also in the Land Availability Assessment. It is suggested in Policy S2 that the housing target for the period of the plan is 13,860 but a detailed examination would indicate that it is either 15,116 as this figure appears in the LAA on page 17 or 15,060 being the figure that can be calculated from table 1 on page 28 of the draft Local Plan after adding the numbers in the table to the homes with planning permission taken from the text in the LAA. This is confounded by the fact that the table in the LAA on page 17 adds up to 13,708 and the Local Plan table on page 28 to 13,652 and although very similar are not identical - when they should be exactly the same.

We object to the way that the housing target has been inflated in this way to a figure that is significantly in excess of the OAN. The Local Plan commentary states that the number of new homes is greater than the figure in the policy to allow for flexibility but as with most figures in this plan, that figure is open to a different interpretation.

We conclude that the housing target in the draft Local Plan is confusing and should be corrected.

Constraints - The housing target of 693 does not reflect the fact that there are real constraints in the borough, that we are a gap town and that constraints should be applied to the overall housing target as well as on a site by site basis in accordance with paragraph 14 of the NPPF and paragraph 044 of the Planning Guidance. Further comment on this appears on page 7 et seq. This is a serious failure in this draft Plan. In particular the Green Belt is a real and valid constraint and has not been given sufficient weight in the draft as described above.

We conclude that the draft Local Plan does not follow the NPPF, the PPG nor the advice of Ministers in the DCLG.

We object to Policy S2 as it is unsound and unsustainable on three counts, described above.

Chapter 3 - Our Vision and Ambition

The Local Plan should not go forward for public examination when we do not have a town centre masterplan. It is axiomatic that a significant level of new housing could and should take place in the town centre on brown field sites.

So far as the town centre is concerned too much retail space has been identified for development when the amount of retail space required in the town centre, as in all other town centres, is diminishing over time. The plan lacks any assessment of retail trends and a strategy for delivery simply proposing that there should an increase by 40% in retail space. It is unacceptable and a waste of space for such a large percentage of the town centre to be allocated for retail use. Some of this land should be used for housing and not for retail. We do not wish to see the reputation of Guildford's shops being diminished in any way but a quick walk round the town centre would indicate just how many shops are empty. This trend is likely to accelerate.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• We set out extensive and strong objections to the Gosden Hill Farm proposals in our response to the 2016 draft Guildford Local Plan, covering both general and specific concerns. In our view, these concerns have not been adequately addressed in the changes made in this version and so continue to stand as a critical part of the overall submission for the Inspectors' review. The additional comments from the MRA on this Plan now focus on the changes bought forward and should be read in conjunction with previous comments.

• We find it extremely difficult to make any definitive comment on many aspects of this policy since there is so little detail currently available. All internal design, infrastructure and transport connections for the Gosden Hill Farm site remain open - so are both impossible to sensibly comment on and a continuing area of risk. Increased reliance on the developer to cover major costs for infrastructure including the Sustainable Movement Corridor, A3, Park and Ride and Merrow Station adds additional risk – both on the timing and the completeness of the necessary infrastructure delivery and that so much of the proposed development is now to be funded by the developer. This underscores the need for more detail to appear in the policy so that the developer cannot wriggle out of his obligations at any planning application stage.

• In the context that Policy A25 has been retained, in our view quite inappropriately, we make the following comments on the revisions:

• We note the new requirement for a minimum of 1700 homes during the Plan period. Given the uncertainties around growth projections over a period of this length, the recognised economic challenges from Brexit and other UK macroeconomic circumstances and the still open questions over the local housing need, we recommend that this rate of development must be reviewed and challenged periodically through the plan period. The rate of housing growth contained within the revised Plan remains very high and gives great concern for the sustainable development and maintenance of the current Guildford way of life without significant detriment.

• In addition, we must comment that although the number of new homes to be built has been reduced during the lifetime of this Plan that there is a clear intention that more houses will be built on this site after the Plan period and therefore there is no real reduction in the number of houses to be built on this site. This can be quite properly described as a smoke and mirrors presentation which fools no one.

- We made some very specific comments in the July 2016 submission reflecting the views of Richard Jarvis BSE, MS, CEng, FICE, FCIHT who is a qualified Civil Engineer. He now comments that the improvement to the A3 is obviously critically important to the Gosden Hill Farm development. We do not have the benefit of analysis of the proposed new slip roads giving access off and on to the A3 southbound carriageway nor an understanding of the implications of the Sustainable Movement Corridor for the allocation of highway capacity on the local roads. What is self-evident is that the pressure on local roads in Burpham is already intense in peak periods, and these roads are clearly not suited to carrying large volumes of traffic. Under the Plan, congestion is very likely to be worse than today. The proposed Policy A24 Slyfield development will also add demands on the A320 and roads in Jacob’s Well.

- We strongly support the recognition and explicit requirement to improve the A3 road junction and connection to the Gosden Hill Farm site. However, this covers only the southbound carriageway and still leaves the new development very inaccessible either off or onto the northbound carriageway. This makes very little sense and feels like short-term planning for this very significant development. This can only exacerbate the already well recognised traffic pressures in the area. We believe that the Gosden Hill Farm development should only go ahead with a four-way junction connection to the A3; and that this should be part of the explicit pre-planning required as the preconditions for the development. This would seem to us to be an absolute fundamental element of the Local Plan.

- We object to Policy A25 for the reasons explained above. The policy is unsound and if it is to be retained in the Local Plan must include a four-way junction onto the A3. If no four-way junction is to be provided then there... should be no development at Gosden Hill Farm - this being the publically stated view of members of the Guildford Borough Council Executive Committee.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We are disappointed at the very weak amendments made to the draft Local Plan on student accommodation. In the first place the need for student accommodation is being overstated as the independent report from NMSS makes clear.

Secondly the wording in policy H1(5) has now been weakened in that it is no more than an aspiration that 60% of full time students will be provided with accommodation on campus.

We take the firm view that this figure should be a requirement and that a figure in excess of 60% should be incorporated in the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Whilst still appreciating the need for affordable homes, we still take the view that the Local Plan must require a proportion of smaller houses as well as a realistic proportion of one and two bedroom apartments.

Our view on the need for smaller houses has been underlined by recent developments in Merrow where there was no provision for smaller two bedroom houses even though these had been offered by the developer. It remains the case that many smaller families would prefer to live in a house with a garden rather than an apartment and that clear need should be addressed in this Local Plan.

• We made some very specific comments in our July 2016 submission reflecting the views of Richard Jarvis BSE, MS, CEng, FICE, FCIHT who is a qualified Civil Engineer. Once again, we reflect his views on this version and in summary these are:

• “In terms of its transport aspects the Plan cannot be regarded as sound. GBC has provided vivid descriptions of the conditions on the network today and the evidence is that these will be as poor, and in some cases worse, at the end of the plan period, even with the mitigation measures. Growth and infrastructure have to be better aligned. While the level of growth in homes in this latest draft plan is somewhat lower than that in the 2016 version, it is still substantial and growth is also planned outside the borough. The evidence provided indicates that congestion will be widespread on much of the highway network in peak periods, even with the proposed highway schemes and with the measures to encourage the use of public transport in place.”

• In particular and in addition we are concerned at Policy ID1 in that it states that the delivery of development may need to be phased to reflect the delivery of infrastructure and that the delivery of the infrastructure will be secured by planning condition and planning obligation. It is our clear view that this provision is far too weak and is a watering down of previous assurances provided by senior councillors.

• At the very least, the Local Plan should make it clear that the development of a site may not proceed until all elements of the infrastructure are agreed by Guildford Borough Council, that the developer has agreed and provided a satisfactory guarantee that these conditions will be met and that the essential elements of the agreed infrastructure will be in place to ensure that any additional traffic will not cause severe congestion in the locality.

• We object to Policy ID1 for the above reasons.

We are disappointed at the changes that have been made to Policy P1 and that much of the earlier detail has been removed on conservation, public enjoyment, support of the rural economy and public access. This has reduced the impact of this policy and the deleted words in Policy P1(1) should be re-instated.

As we indicated in our July 2016 submission, we are clear that government policy states that all land that forms the views into and out of an AONB should be protected.

We believe this specific provision should be included in Policy P1(3).

MRA has commented on the earlier drafts of the SHMA and voiced its objection to the OAN. We now wish to comment on the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment: Guildford Addendum Report 2017. We dispute the revised OAN. Even though the housing target figure has been reduced to 12,426 homes (558 pa), we believe it is based on a fundamentally flawed analysis of the demographic and economic need figures that have been produced by GL Hearn.

GRA commissioned a review by NM Strategic Solutions Ltd (NMSS) of the Addendum Report as well as the original SHMA. Their detailed reports and the credentials of Neil McDonald who prepared them can be found on the GRA website.

The NMSS study established through a thorough analysis that there are a number of serious defects in GL Hearn’s Report which cast grave doubt on the reliability of their OAN. In particular, GL Hearn have seriously over-estimated the population growth for Guildford which can be largely attributed to significantly over-estimating net migration into Guildford in student age groups, most probably as a result of the under-recording of student migration out of Guildford. If plausible adjustments for the outflow of students in the period 2001-15 are made, this would reduce the demographically-based estimate of the number of homes needed for the period 2015-34 from 558 to 404 pa based on student figures alone. Furthermore, trust in the OAN is also undermined by GL Hearn’s totally flawed estimates of the number of homes needed to support economic growth.

We consider that the significant shortcomings in GL Hearn’s Reports highlighted in NMSS’s Review make it impossible for GBC to make an informed, evidence-based decision on the housing figure. Consequently, in common with many other Guildford organisations and individuals, we have no confidence in the SHMA and OAN produced by GL Hearn to the extent that the Local Plan should not rely or depend on them.

We therefore object to Policy S2 and the OAN in GL Hearn’s Report which should be disregarded.

hope that they can narrow the gap with particular reference to the students that leave Guildford on completion of their studies which, clearly, has a very considerable impact on the demographically-based estimate of the number of homes needed for the period 2015-34.

Growth should be in response to local need and not randomly imposed with disproportionately high numbers of houses built in a relatively short time. I remain unconvinced of the assertion that there is evidence to support the increase in housing. I have no confidence in a population forecast that has been arrived at by methodology that is not open to scrutiny and is 70% higher than national forecasts.

Why the lack of transparency? It is natural to conclude that the motivations and interests behind the draft plan are highly suspicious.

Other reasons for my objection:

- The existing infrastructure of roads (which were designed for the age of the horse and cart) parking, transport, water, drainage and sanitation are inadequate for the population as it is now so would not cope with a 35% increase in the population.
- The local medical centre, shops and schools are already stretched.
- The car park at Horsley railway station is already full on weekdays with no capacity to increase the number of spaces. The station entrance is always congested at peak times with cars collecting and dropping off rail passengers.
- Expansion of the peripheral areas of the Borough would have a detrimental effect on Guildford town centre adding to the congestion and pressure already experienced in a centre designed for a population of 8,000.
- Housing and population expansion which ignore water supply and consumption cannot be sustainable given that the South East is an area of severe water stress.

No ‘exceptional circumstances’ as national planning policy requires have been found to justify removing West Horsley from the Green Belt and building on Green Belt land. The proposed sites closest to where I live cover all but 40 of the proposed houses at a density much greater than the existing settlement and are out of character with the area. We face the prospect of 5 years of living in the middle of a building site without evidence or justification for such a massive change. It feels like we are being besieged by greedy developers.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changes to Policy H1. Again the 32,000 objections from the last consultation have been largely ignored. The reduction in proposed housing numbers is insufficient and does not address residents’ concerns or the sustainability issues of such an expansion.
2. I object to the flawed population forecasts, (twice ONS’s forecasts).
3. I strongly object to proposals for an additional 400 houses in East and West Horsley. The density far above the present level, takes no account of infrastructure. There is already traffic congestion on the roads which are poorly maintained and flood easily; the South East is an area of severe water stress; water, sanitation, healthcare, schools, shops and Horsley rail station cannot cope with an increase in numbers. Additional development would adversely affect the villages’ character.
4. I support the Guildford Greenbelt Group’s conclusion:

Collectively, the four Horsley sites breach NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value. This has been an outstanding success story in the Horsleys, as detailed in response to the last consultation. Assets include a dense public footpath network, parish parks, sports fields, a campsite of international standard, Britain’s newest rural opera theatre and the popular Olympic cycle route. These examples of positive planning depend on a Local Plan that protects the Green Belt, maintains its openness and beauty and avoids urbanisation and traffic congestion. Sites A35-41 are hostile to this.

1. I object to the continuing inclusion of the proposal for 2,000 houses and other development in Green Belt at the former Wisley Airfield by a Cayman Islands registered company whose owners are unknown, all the harder to understand since the original application was rejected by the Council.
2. I object to the lack of consideration for the objections of residents of surrounding villages with regard to proposed developments on Green Belt land.
3. I object to the lack of consideration of high density apartment development in Guildford town to meet the town’s housing need.
4. I object to the suggestion that more student accommodation is required off campus rather than on campus.
5. I object to the prioritising of shopping over housing.

1. I object to the changes to Policy P2 which largely ignore the 32,000 objections from the last consultation.
2. I strongly object to the new para (1) "The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected" because the Policies Map by effectively ignoring huge areas of Green Belt protection both contradicts and makes this new para (1) meaningless.
3. I strongly object to the omission of any assessment of the Green Belt in Policy P2. The Green Belt has valuable natural assets, including grazing and farmland, and a source of biodiversity and wildlife as well as recreation and health benefits.
4. I object to the statement that the proposed loss of Green Belt is 1.6% This is inaccurate as the percentage may be higher and is not consistent with national policy which does not specify any acceptable percentage.
5. I strongly object to the continued proposed ‘insetting’ (removal) of West & East Horsley and other villages from the Green Belt and the expansion of the settlement boundaries.
6. I object to the false statement P2 (4.3.13) that these villages are ‘now inset from the Green Belt’ when this is only a proposal.

The selection of strategic sites should take account of the need for development to be sustainable. In my opinion the developments in East Horsley and adjacent parishes, West Horsley and Ockham, do not take account of the strain which the increased numbers of people and cars will place upon the local infrastructure, particularly the roads in to and through East Horsley, which are already overloaded. It has not been demonstrated that these roads are capable of being significantly improved.

The Housing requirement figure (SHMA) is an outrageously high number, not justified in any way. Produced by a firm who specialise in providing distorted numbers for housing developers. Objections to the basis of Guildford Borough Council Local Plan

- The basis of the calculation of SHMA for Guildford Borough is yet to be made available for examination. It would seem that we are supposed to trust the numbers generated by GL Hearn and their confidential model. The council members themselves are divided on the validity of the SHMA. (ref A Review of the Guildford Objectively Assessed Housing Need (as documented in the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment, Final Report, September 2015) by Councillor David Reeve). GBC should make the basis for the 700 new homes per year in the borough available for public scrutiny and ensure that the model is validated independently.

- It would appear that GBC have not applied the relevant constraints to the required housing target to take into account Greenbelt, Surrey Hills AONB, Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area, etc, preferring to pursue a “maximum growth” agenda. This is in contradiction to the local Conservative Party's election pledge of protecting the green belt, so cannot be a reflection of the views of local people. I think that GBC should apply the constraints available to them (due to the specific environmental factors) to reduce the housing numbers.

- The GBC policy of strategic sites rather than smaller, more proportionate developments with each ward taking its fair share appears to be unjustified and could be viewed as engineered to skew the impact to a few voting members of the council. The policy of strategic sites seems to make a mockery of local democracy.

I acknowledge the need for more housing, but I would prefer to see the re-development of brown field sites and smaller developments distributed around the villages. I think this would better preserve the character of the borough as a whole.

I hope that my views will be taken into account as part of the public consultation process.

Objection to proposed Strategic Site A46 (Land Between Normandy and Flexford) and Comments on Guildford Borough Council Local Plan

Objections to Site A46 (Land Between Normandy and Flexford)

I object to the proposed strategic site (A46) between Flexford and Normandy and the development of this green belt land for a school, housing and commercial use.
I believe this proposal is in contradiction to the government's strategy of protecting the green belt. In addition, local residents were assured by Guildford Borough Council (GBC) in February 2016 that this green belt land is of “red sensitivity” and therefore only to be considered for development as a very last resort. The NPPF requires “early and meaningful engagement “ with neighbourhoods and local organisations. It is hugely disappointing to discover that GBC have been engaged with Taylor Wimpey to develop this proposal since 2014 without input from local community groups or residents.

“Exceptional Circumstances” must be proven in order to remove land from the green belt according to the National Planning Policy Framework (ref Strategic Site A46)

• The need for a new secondary school located between Normandy and Flexford has not been demonstrate A number of the secondary schools in the west of the borough are under- subscribed (most notably Kings College which is currently 57% under-subscribed). I understand that a circular argument has been used in an attempt to justify a new secondary school – ie the removal of Site 46 from the green belt for housing is generating the demand for the proposed school, to be built on the same site.

GBC has not demonstrated the demand for a new secondary school based on the current population, nor the predicted future population of the borough. GBC needs to reference legal precedent for releasing green belt land for housing development based on estimated future demand for school places.

• The land between Normandy and Flexford is not a sensible choice for a secondary school even if the demand could be demonstrated in the A site closer to the urban population centre would be a more logical and sustainable choice. It would seem that Site A46 is an entirely developer led proposal to create a new urban centre.

• It seems unethical for a developer to obtain the right to develop a green belt site that would otherwise not be considered for housing at the current time by offering future provision for a secondary school.

The collaboration with the developers to create a commercial proposal for this site seems to be a key part of releasing this land from the green belt.

Destruction of Rural Environment , Impact on Wildlife, Sustainability and Infrastructure ( ref Strategic Site A46)

The proposal to build 1100 homes plus a 1500 pupil secondary school on this site would mean a doubling of the combined size of the Normandy and Flexford hamlets. It is disproportionate and would radically change the character of the area.

This “developer led” proposal would destroy the open space between Normandy and Flexford, which are two distinct settlements, and would significantly add to the creeping urbanisation of the west of the borough. This land plays a key role in the separation of Normandy, Flexford, Ash and Ash Green.

Development on this scale would have a devastating affect on wildlife in and around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford, fragmenting ancient woodland , destroying hedgerows and increasing light pollution. The Taylor Wimpey Concept Masterplan leaves very little open land for birds of prey to hunt in and the required “green corridor” looks extremely thin due to the developer's proposed high housing density. I have personally seen several species of birds of prey (including Red Kites and Peregrine Falcons) hunting and soaring over this land.

• GBC make unsubstantiated claims that development of Site 46 will “lead to an improvement in services for existing residents”. GBC has not provided evidence that existing residents would like to be urbanised in this way.

• Draft Local Plan Policy A46 states as a requirement “Create a sustainable and inclusive community, that can meet its day to day needs within the community”.

Given that most new residents will have to commute to work and only a fraction of those journeys will be practical / cost effective by train, this statement is ill-defined. No evidence has been presented that demonstrates the current residents' behaviours regarding train usage. I have little confidence that a shop would be viable, based on anecdotal evidence from similar developments.
• Policy A46 also states “The secondary school to be located in close proximity to Wanborough railway station, encouraging sustainable travel movements” I would like to question the alleged “sustainability” of locating a 7 form entry secondary school north of Fle Pupils are unlikely to use the train due to the lengthy distance they are likely to have to travel from the outskirts of Guildford to a Guildford station (including the new proposed station near Park Barn) and the prohibitive cost of the fares. Similarly for pupils from Ash and Tongham. It will be cheaper and more convenient for them to be driven. GBC has not proposed any measures to encourage or ensure that pupils travel to the school by public transport, particularly by train, to justify this policy.

• GBC are proposing to improve the Christmas Pie Trail “to a level that would be attractive and safe for the average cyclist”. I am familiar with this route into Guildford, some of which is under a significant depth of water in the winter mont I am concerned with the lack of detail regarding such improvements and what impact such measures would have on the environment and wildlife.

• An increase in population of this size would also pose a significant threat to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area which is approximately 1km away from this site. Does such a development satisfy the requirements of the National Planning Policy Framework? Is there any evidence that the provision of 10ha of SANG ( Taylor Wimpey Concept Masterplan) will provide adequate (or any) protection?

• The local minor roads are unsuitable for such a large development and the associated traffic. Wanborough Hill is often queuing back from the junction under the A31. The junctions of Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane with the A323 are bottlenecks and accident hotspots. Glaziers Lane is a D Class road with narrow sections, a hazardous hump back bridge and a hair pin bend. The junction of Flexford Road with Westwood Lane is also hazardous due to limited visibility as it is on the brow of a hill. Westwood Lane is little better as it is restricted by the single lane section under the railway bridge. It is difficult to see how these roads could be improved sufficiently even if budget were unlimited.

GBC has not defined any road improvement proposal to accommodate the additional traffic from 1000 plus homes and a secondary school, nor have they considered how any improvements would be in keeping with the character of the area and respectful of the quality of life of existing residents.

• Normandy and Flexford residents already suffer from floodi The area is on clay, there are several natural springs and the water table is often only approximately 20cm below the soil surface in the winter months. Covering a large area with concrete will make matters worse. It would appear that GBC’s Surface Water Management Plan is inconsistent as it has excluded the land north of Site A46.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
I SUPPORT the REMOVAL of proposed Strategic Site A46 from the revised Local Plan because, in summary:

“Exceptional Circumstances” must be proven in order to remove land from the green belt according to the National Planning Policy Framework, these were not provided

The proposed need for a secondary school was not justified

In any event, site A46 was a poor choice to locate a secondary school as it is too far from main urban centres and therefore would have lead to an unsustainable traffic increase

The proposed Site A46 was not proportionate to the size and character of the existing settlements of Normandy and Flexford

Development on this scale would have a devastating affect on wildlife in and around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford, and have a negative impact on the nearby Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area which is approximately 1km away from this site

The local road network is severely limited and would not support the additional traffic that would accompany such a development, even if funds were made available for improvements

Normandy and Flexford already suffer from flooding issues being sited on clay and having many natural springs, development of this magnitude would increase the problem

Please refer to my email to Guildford Borough Council of July 2016 (sent from [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]) in response to the 2016 draft Local Plan for my original comments and further details.

Changes to Green Belt Boundaries

(Reference Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (2017) Appendix H Maps, Normandy and Flexford)

I support the re-instatement of the land between Normandy and Flexford to green belt status (formerly the proposed Site A46). This land was examined and judged to be high sensitivity green belt and in my opinion it makes a significant contribution to the openness of the west of the borough.
I object to the removal of the Flexford and Normandy settlements (and additional small settled areas) from the green belt. I understand that the NPPF requires that changes to green belt boundaries can only be made if “exceptional circumstances” are demonstrated. These proposed changes to the green belt do not appear to be justified and may lead to future attempts to remove adjacent land from green belt status to allow development.

The removal of Normandy and Flexford settlements from the green belt could lead to piecemeal over development of plots to the detriment of the openness of the area between Guildford and Ash without any particular long term vision or plan for infrastructure.

I hope that my views will be taken into account as part of the public consultation process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Raleigh school which serves both East and West Horsley is full every year and this has been the situation for many years.

There is evidence that the existing drainage infrastructure is not capable of dealing with current surface and waste water problems and this situation would be considerably exacerbated by concreting over large areas of green belt land to build the proposed new homes.

The local roads already get congested due to everyday local traffic and the proximity to the A3 and M25; the increase generated by the proposed new housing estates would be considerable as most households would have 2 cars, many 3.

Parking at East Horsley’s shops, Public Library, Medical Centre, railway station and village hall is getting more and more difficult and would be much worse if the villages’ population is increased by the occupants of 533 new homes.

Kingston Avenue Medical Centre, serving all of East and West Horsley and areas beyond, is always very busy and making appointments can often be difficult. The planned population increase (in excess of Government ONS forecasts) would put further pressure on these services

Horsley station car park is always full on weekdays. An increase in village population will increase pressure on station parking and associated traffic to and from the station by commuters and drop off and pick up of school children going to and from schools in Guildford, Leatherhead and sometimes beyond

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant... infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.
Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am a resident of Flexford, which is one of the Hamlets that makes up the Parish of Normandy (there are 6 in all).

I am writing with my objections to site A46, land proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt to construct 1100 properties. My reasons for objecting are as follows.

1. Fails National Planning Policy (NPPF)

   The proposal for site A46 is inappropriate as it will change irrevocably the rural environment of Flexford and Normandy and urbanise it. Very few people moved to Flexford or Normandy in the hope that one day that it would become like Ash and Tongham (once villages now soulless urban areas).

   Site A46 fails the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) guidance, in that the ‘needs and priorities’ of the local populace of Flexford and Normandy have not been decided by them but are being imposed. The NPPF ‘provides a framework within which local people and their parish councils can produce their own and distinctive local and neighbourhood plans reflecting their needs and priorities of their communities’. The NPPF 155 states that ‘early and meaningful’ engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations is essential’. There has been no meaningful engagement from Guildford Borough Council (GBC) and the local communities in Flexford and Normandy. Quite the opposite in fact, GBC have been in discussions with Taylor Wimpy for the last 2 years and documentation for Site A46 was submitted on behalf of Taylor Wimpy to GBC approximately two years ago. No engagement with the local community or representatives had taken place at this stage. One has to wonder in that engaging with a developer and excluding the local community, are GBC in breach of NPPF.

   1. No proven need for a secondary school
The whole premise of developing site A46 is on the basis of the need for a secondary school, however all the evidence suggests that local schools in GBC area are undersubscribed, therefore the justification of taking land out of the Green Belt doesn’t stack up.

In its last submission to Guildford Borough Council (July 2014), Surrey County Council, in its official response, said: "A site within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm, with all necessary access infrastructure built in and a catchment surrounding the site, would be a more sustainable location in transport terms for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford."

Why has Guildford Borough Council not taken heed of this advice from Surrey County Council?

The birth rate has fallen in the past 2 years and secondary schools to the west of the Borough are undersubscribed as stated below from direct research by Councillor Keith Witham of Surrey County Council.

Undersubscribed Secondary Schools

Kings College, Guildford.

The school is currently 57% undersubscribed. The capacity at the school is 900 pupils, and there are only 389 on the school roll (43% utilised) with 511 vacancies. Kate Carriett, Principal at Kings College has said very clearly and I quote: "There is absolutely no need for another school in Guildford, its crystal clear". She also said that when Kings College IS fully subscribed, there is capacity on that site to further expand the school, to accommodate more pupils well into the 2020's if then needed.

The New Guildford University Technical College

This is due to open in 2018, and will take 240 pupils from the age of 14 in its first year, and that will double to 480 places, relieving pressure on other schools.

Christ's College is already taking 30 more pupils a year than its admission number, because it has the space and capacity to do so, and is willing to take more still as it has further capacity

Ash Manor, Ash

The capacity of the school is 1,050 and it has 940 pupils, so is undersubscribed by 110 places. When Cllr Keith Witham met the Head Teacher and Chairman of Governors he was told that if needed they are supportive of the school being expanded to take more pupils by 30 places a year (so a total of an extra 150). They also expressed very strong concerns about a new school in Normandy, just three miles from their front door, and the possible negative effects on Ash Manor.

Connaught School

This is near Ash, just over the County Boundary in Hampshire - but is also undersubscribed by 90 places and available to Surrey children.

Hoe Valley Free School, Woking.

This brand new Secondary school only opened last September. It has an intake of 120 per year, with currently 95 pupils, so is undersubscribed in its first year by 25. But it will build up with 120 new places available every year for 7 years - making a total capacity of 840. It has no catchment area, and although will mainly serve Woking, will welcome applications from Guildford parents, no catchment area, and although will mainly serve Woking, will welcome applications from Guildford parents.

So there are currently 736 vacancies at the nearest secondary schools serving the western parishes - not accounting for the 480 extra at the new Technical College to open in 2018 - a combined capacity of 1,216. And In addition to those Surrey County Council has already approved expansions at the County School, Guildford and St Peters.
1. Essential characteristics of the Green Belt

The main aim of the Green Belt is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open to check the sprawl of the urban areas. ‘The essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and permanence’ (NPPF). GBC is ignoring previous verdicts from planning inspectors that the green fields that make up site A46 contribute to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt and panoramic view of those green fields to the Surrey Hills AONB.

Green belt in planning practice guidance states ‘Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the ‘very special circumstances’ justifying inappropriate development on a site with Green Belt (NPPF).’

1. Traffic Chaos and detrimental health issues

GBCs unrealistic plans for growth will force more traffic onto already stretched A roads and minor roads. Should this development go ahead, it will put extreme pressure on the roads that link up Normandy and Flexford. (These roads are classified at C16, Westwood Lane and Wanborough Hill plus Glaziers Lane, D60 unclassified road.

Construction traffic and, continual noise and pollution that will arise by the construction work will be excessive. The planners have not fully considered the implications of the location of this site and the traffic impact that site A46 will have on a rural community

If Normandy and Flexford is fully developed approximately 800 traffic movements will occur each hour. This will significantly increase the pollution levels in the hamlets, in particular for those who border site A46. No regard seems to have been given to the health and wellbeing of those people. Studies have shown that approximately 5% of the population die prematurely from poor air quality from traffic pollution.

Comments on: Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan – Strategy and Sites June-July 2016 Consultation

I wish to comment on the strategy set out in the revised consultation document and the potential development proposals for the sites in East and West Horsley. I STRONGLY OBJECT to the proposals, which would:

- take East and West Horsley out of the Green Belt - Major Development Sites in West Horsley are all on current Green Belt Land.
- Increase housing in West Horsley by up to 385 extra homes in the next 5 years, resulting in a housing density significantly higher than the present – infrastructure to support this is inadequate, and it will completely change the character of the village
• considerably enlarge the two village Settlement Areas – without justification, and potentially leading to further, unsustainable, future expansion of housing.

8. I object in detail to the application of the policies to Site Allocations: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:

• The amount of new housing far exceeds local need, and the housing density is excessive when compared with existing development.
• The proposed building would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, and no case for this is made.
• There is no support for this in the local area, and the collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough are not considered – the six should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
• The total amount of new building is out of scale with the planned development elsewhere in the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
• The sites are unsustainable: key infrastructure is lacking, and there is no adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
• The extension of settlement boundaries is too permissive, allowing possible claims that the area does not meet Green Belt “openness”.
• The Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements is hugely narrowed.
• Site allocation A40 is especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding. Safe access and egress at Site A40 is unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists.

9. Summary

The above summarises some of my concerns about the basis and assumptions of the Local Plan, specific objections about the Green Belt, and the approach being taken for East and West Horsley (and other villages). Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

4. Comments relating to Villages and Major Previously Developed Sites, Policies E8 (District Centres) and E9 (Local Centres), and Policy I3: Sustainable Transport for New Developments

I OBJECT to the Plan’s approach of applying the same evaluation criteria for all villages, and the combining of part of West Horsley with East Horsley – when West Horsley is clearly an independent small village – is inappropriate:

For West Horsley, there are errors and inappropriate assumption in these sections of the Plan, particularly with respect to infrastructure; the access to, and availability of, local facilities; and sustainability. In particular:

- West Horsley is wrongly classified as two villages, West Horsley South and West Horsley North. The Defined Settlement Area boundaries do not need to be extended, and no “exceptional circumstances” or justification have been presented for insetting these areas from the Green Belt.
- With only a very limited bus service, on weekdays only, and only one shop and no post office, expansion of the village is unsustainable, and it cannot accept significant numbers of new housing development. More details are needed for the possible infrastructure improvements listed in documents LRN22 and BT2.
- There is already only very limited parking, particularly for the one small grocers’ shop at the southern end of the village, and the proposed significant increase in population will make parking in the village even more difficult.
- Even developing one site to its declared potential based on target housing density would have a significant effect on the village services and character; development of all sites would significantly increase the number of homes in West Horsley and could double the population.

The sites identified in the Plan for development in West Horsley are currently described as agricultural land and once lost that land cannot be reclaimed. The sites are important for wildlife, and the open character of the village, with some being close to areas designated as SSSI, SPA or SNCI. Those in the lower lying areas have a very high water table and development of that land will impact on the drainage of surrounding property in wet weather and water retention in times of drought – conditions which the consultation expects to become more challenging.

Each of the sites has its own character and needs, and each should be evaluated on an individual, case-by-case basis. For example, the land near Waterloo Farm, to the north of West Horsley (potential development site A40) is partly within Flood Zones 2 and 3 (medium and high risk). The surface is frequently flooded in that area, and it is not suitable for development.

For both East and West Horsley, the areas identified for potential development, with expansion on Green Belt land and beyond agreed settlement areas, are disproportionately large, and other available land, such as that owned by the developer Dandara, alongside the Epsom Road (A246) in West Horsley have not been considered.

In East Horsley, Station Parade has been inappropriately designated as a “Rural District Centre”, apparently partly because it has a “large supermarket”. This must refer to Budgens, which is not large, and in fact under the Sunday Trading Act 1994 is classified as a small shop or convenience store.

5. Comments relating to Policy H1: Homes for all

I OBJECT to the proposals in the Draft Plan, which would result in a considerable number of additional homes, all on Green Belt sites, and at much higher densities than currently exist. This would be totally out of character with existing housing styles and layout, and unsustainable in terms of drainage, road capacity, schools, shops, parking and public transport. The supposed need for so many houses over the Plan period has not been proven.

In my opinion, the Plan has not adequately evaluated the nature and extent of housing needs, nor adequately considered (a) brownfield sites, (b) empty properties (c) use of sites where planning permission has already been granted but development has not started/completed, particularly within the central Guildford area.

I agree that a proportion of affordable housing is needed, but the term affordable is not adequately defined in the local context, and I believe that the best approach for all areas is a mix of housing sizes and types.

The strategy proposes encouraging the development of homes for an elderly population. This should be supported in locations near facilities in the centre of villages and towns, thereby enabling release of other properties for family use, and is preferable to the development of additional family homes.

6. Comments relating to Policy H2: Affordable Homes

I OBJECT to the conclusions in the Plan for this area (see also comments relating to Policy H1, above), because West Horsley Parish Council has determined (from a 2014 survey) that there is only a limited need for up to 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. young people or elderly people downsizing.

7. Comments relating to Policy II: Infrastructure and Delivery

I OBJECT to those parts of this Policy which relate to East and West Horsley:

Item 4.6.1 of the draft Local Plan states: “The timely provision of suitable, adequate infrastructure is crucial to the well-being of the borough’s population, and of its economy.” I completely agree with this, but the Plan does not adequately recognise the currently already overloaded infrastructure in West Horsley, nor suggest remedial action. These limitations mean that any further significant increases in housing are not acceptable.

Rather than increase housing, further investment by GBC (and partners such as Surrey) is needed in the Horsleys, in schools, medical facilities (the Medical Centre is at the limit of its capacity), roads, drainage, water supplies, public transport, car parking and youth facilities.

Schools

The 3 schools in the Horsleys already cause considerable traffic problems and a further increase in school population cannot be supported. The local state primary school (The Raleigh School) serves East and West Horsley and is oversubscribed - even children living in the Horsleys cannot all obtain a place. The Plan does not take account of the Raleigh’s current proposal to relocate to the site A41, already identified in the Plan, which seems entirely appropriate.

Similarly at secondary age the Howard of Effingham School is oversubscribed. The Surrey County Council is very aware of the problems there have been in allocating Horsley children to places, but the Plan also does not address the Howard’s proposals for relocation. If it were not for a number of children attending independent schools, the situation would be even more critical, but these independent schools contribute considerably to local traffic congestion at each end of the day. Youth facilities are also very limited.

Road, Rail and Public Transport

The two roads through the Horsleys are narrow, without complete pavements, and are appropriate only for the current size and nature of the villages. Any significant increase in population would exacerbate transport problems - access to, and progress along, the A3 and A246 is slow especially during school term times. Further development in West Horsley would also exacerbate access problems to the A3 and M25. Congestion is already shown to impair air quality.

There is reasonable rail transport to London or Guildford, but at peak times it is necessary to stand for much of the journey to/from London and when there is disruption, passengers joining at Vauxhall or Clapham Junction may not even be able to board the train. Although South West trains is extending capacity this will quickly be overwhelmed if there is further housing development. Bus services in the Horsleys are extremely limited.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In more detail:

1. Green Belt and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty

With reference to your Policy P2: Green Belt and the Countryside, and Policy P1: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty: it appears that decisions have been made by GBC that over 70% of new housing should be built within the Green Belt, and to ‘inset’ East and West Horsley and several neighbouring villages from the Green Belt. I STRONGLY OBJECT to GBC’s decisions on this, and this is supported by others, see below:

- The “exceptional circumstances” required before taking this action have not been demonstrated.
- West Horsley residents oppose the village’s removal from the Green Belt.
- The (independent) National Trust, in its comments on the Local Plan, states: “... we object to the removal of West Horsley from the Green Belt. West Horsley is smaller in scale, and very different in form and character from East Horsley and its rural nature and proximity to Hatchlands Park are such that we believe it should be retained within the Green Belt”, and in fact recommends northward extension of the Surrey Hills AONB to wash over Clandon, Hatchlands, and West and East Horsley [consultation comments of 8 September 2014 to GBC from John Gibson, National Trust].
- In its 2012 Planning Policy guidance the government said “The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.” It also made clear that the construction of new buildings should be regarded as “inappropriate” for the Green Belt. Although some exceptions were set out, none cover the nature or extent of the proposals made by GBC. The Green Belt and Countryside Study is therefore flawed.
- The Key Evidence document ‘Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031’ makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages – it makes more sense to provide additional housing where new economic development sites are proposed, on the opposite side of the Borough.
- Given the proximity of these villages to the A3, removal of Green Belt protection will, over time, jeopardise containment of development leading to neighbouring villages merging into one another and further encroaching on the countryside, defeating one of the fundamental long-term objectives of the Green Belt.
- As you will be aware, our MP, Sir Paul Beresford, has repeatedly echoed these concerns in his Press Releases, and stated that the Government is not requiring any local authority to review their Green Belt.
- Significant development would adversely affect the beauty and character of the villages: West Horsley alone has 41 listed buildings. As the proposed development sites are on the outlying boundaries of the village they will inevitably increase the need for use of car(s) even for facilities in the village, with consequent traffic and parking problems.

2. Comments relating to Policy P3: Countryside (i.e. outside the Green Belt)

- I OBJECT to the fact that the Plan gives Ash and Tongham more protection than rest of borough, including existing Green Belt, even though they don’t contribute to preventing London sprawl. (Could this be politically biased special treatment of villages represented by current Council Leader and his predecessor?!).
- A minor extension of Green Belt in one place does not justify its major destruction elsewhere (the inset villages).

3. Comments relating to Policy S2 : Planning for the borough - our spatial development strategy

I OBJECT fundamentally to the whole basis of the proposal to build 13,860 new homes, which is non-transparent and undemocratic:

- No justification is given for the 13,860 housing figure, which is based on a non-disclosed formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. The Council has failed to seek disclosure of the formula.
- The 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target, and no definite housing target is given. How can we comment when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build?
- The figures are based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: why should Guildford need to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.
- The high numbers involved would transform the character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.
- Over the time period of this Plan, Brexit may affect the numbers related to growth and demographic data.

Policy D4 states some vague guidelines for permitting development in urban areas and inset villages. The proposed monitoring indicator is the number of appeals allowed. This is monitoring the wrong thing; instead it should be monitoring the absolute number of appeals, as this is a better indicator of the quality of development proposals. This is a good example of the plan ignoring the needs of local communities outside Guildford and I object to the plan overall.

Policy E1 seeks to provide an additional 3,200 jobs by 2033. I agree with the need to provide jobs, but it seems inconsistent to provide 3,200 jobs whilst seeking to construct 13,860 new homes over the same period. This implies either that the housing need is overestimated or that it is expected that the majority of workers will travel outside the Borough with a consequent increase in traffic and use of public transport. The travel infrastructure is inadequately addressed in the plan and, as previously stated, policy P2 is based on flawed housing needs. Accordingly, I object to the local plan.

Policy E7 proposes increasing the retail space in Guildford. As noted above, policy E2 proposes focusing employment on Guildford. I object to the focus on improving Guildford whilst houses are added to the surrounding villages. This leads to an even more unbalanced community. I also object to the presumption that more retail space is required. As shopping trends change to move online, retail will decline. The space should be used for housing and the money should be used to improve transport and other infrastructure.

Policy H1 states a principle of homes for all and states that ‘Residential densities will vary dependent upon the local area context and character and the sustainability of the location’. I object to the way in which this policy has been applied. For example, West Horsley is proposed to increase by 35% and this is on top of development in Clandon, East Horsley and Wisley airfield. This is a completely inappropriate density and is not sustainable (for reasons covered in more detail below). The policy states that ‘certain areas can accommodate higher densities provided there is no adverse impact on the character of the area and the infrastructure is able to cope’. I agree with this statement, but sadly there is inadequate consideration of how the infrastructure will cope in those areas with the highest density of proposed development.

I object to Policy H2. Neither the policy nor the supporting Green Belt papers give any coherent justification for the proposed changes to the Green Belt. Indeed, policy H2 refers frequently to the quality of the countryside within the Borough. There are no exceptional circumstances that justify building the majority of the proposed new houses on Green Belt land or for insetting villages from the Green Belt.

Policy I1 states that infrastructure ‘will be secured by planning obligation, planning condition, or from other infrastructure funding, including the Community Infrastructure Levy’. There are some significant problems with infrastructure:

- As previously noted, a significant proportion of the Borough’s housing development is focused on Wisley, Clandon and Horsley. Relevant proposed road improvements are focused on the A3 and £1 million for ‘East Horsley and West Horsley traffic management and environmental improvement scheme between 2019 and 2023’. Given the number of new houses proposed in Horsley and significant impact of nearby development in Wisley and Clandon, it is clear that the plan has insufficient consideration for the traffic consequences in the neighbourhood. For example, Ockham Road North is already busy and narrow so could not accommodate more traffic without jeopardising vehicle and pedestrian safety.

- There are no suggested changes required to mains water, waste water, flooding and education in the Horsley area.
  I find it difficult to believe that all of these services have 35% spare capacity to cater for the proposed increase in housing.
- There is a vague hope that developers will contribute to resolving some of these issues at Wisley airfield at some point in the next fifteen years.
- It is proposed to expand Horsley Health Centre in 5 – 15 years from unidentified funding. How will health needs be met in the meantime?

This is all the equivalent of crossing one’s fingers and hoping it will somehow resolve itself through unknown contributions to CIL. I object most strongly to a plan that completely ignores significant infrastructure issues especially in those areas with the most proposed development.

In summary, I object to the plan for the reasons set out above. In particular I object to the extent of the proposed development in Horsley. This is exacerbated by extensive development nearby in Wisley and Clandon and does not provide adequate consideration for all aspects of the infrastructure.

Finally, I also note that the plan is very similar to that proposed in 2014 and ignores most of the comments received from the consultation at that time. I trust the Council will listen this time.

Policy S1 Presumption in favour of sustainable development. I agree with a presumption in favour of ‘secure development that improves the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area’. I object that the local plan does not demonstrate that this policy is met, as it proposes a lot of unsustainable development with no consideration of infrastructure and consequent environmental impact. I note that this is the very first policy stated in the plan, so it is disappointing that the plan does not address this fully. Paragraph 2.10a clearly states that ‘pressure on infrastructure must be addressed’. However, there has been no substantive change in the Infrastructure policies to address this. Specifically, nothing has been put forward since last year’s consultation to improve the sustainability of the West Horsley development sites and thus meet National policy requirements. Every home on the West Horsley sites will need a minimum of one car to enable residents to get to shops, medical centre, library and Horsley Station, regardless of how much pressure is applied to adopt cycling and walking as the preferred means of travel. Additionally education and health care provision will need to be expanded. There is no provision in the plan for any of this other than through a hope that the CIL will enable this. However, the CIL will not raise enough to do this.

I cannot comment on legal compliance and duty to cooperate as these are technical requirements and it is not reasonable to expect a member of the public to comment on these items.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The definition of sustainable development in policy S1 is flawed as development also needs to be consistent with the infrastructure that is available (transport, education, health services, flood prevention, utilities).
1. The reduction in the number of new homes proposed in the Green Belt after the 2016 Consultation is welcomed but does not go far enough in reducing the still very large number of new dwellings proposed on Green Belt. The changes also mean that the eastern side of the Borough is now scheduled to take an even greater proportion of new homes in the Green Belt.

2. It is totally unacceptable that Guildford is choosing not to constrain its overall housing growth, as many other types of Council have done to protect Green Belt. The objectively assessed housing target, though reduced since 2016 to 12,426 homes, will by 2034 (the end of the Plan Period) mean that Guildford has grown by nearly 25%. This is nearly double the Office for National Statistics prediction for the growth of Guildford.

It is disappointing that comments made on the 2016 consultation are largely ignored. Indeed the summary of the changes made states that ‘most changes are relatively minor that do not alter the intention of the policy’. If the consultation is to be meaningful, then the comments received should be considered and not just ignored.

1. The reduction in the number of new homes proposed in the Green Belt after the 2016 Consultation is welcomed but does not go far enough in reducing the still very large number of new dwellings proposed on Green Belt. The changes also mean that the eastern side of the Borough is now scheduled to take an even greater proportion of new homes in the Green Belt.

2. It is totally unacceptable that Guildford is choosing not to constrain its overall housing growth, as many other types of Council have done to protect Green Belt. The objectively assessed housing target, though reduced since 2016 to 12,426 homes, will by 2034 (the end of the Plan Period) mean that Guildford has grown by nearly 25%. This is nearly double the Office for National Statistics prediction for the growth of Guildford.
3. I cannot comment on legal compliance and duty to cooperate as these are technical requirements and it is not reasonable to expect a member of the public to comment on these items

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objection to proposals regarding the fields behind the Shalford Village Hall in the Guildford Borough Local Plan 2016

I strongly object to the proposed changes to the Green Belt designation and the change to the Settlement Boundary with regard to the fields behind the Shalford Village Hall for the following reasons:

- A slightly amended existing boundary following clearly defined boundaries would be more logical excluding this and other open land from the Settlement Boundary. Removing the Green Belt protection means there will inevitably be an application pursued at length by developers. The current boundary is clear, physical, readily identifiable and has proved eminently defendable to date.

- The wording in the consultation is too unclear to be consulted upon; there is no definition in the Glossary of any of the documentation of ‘Open Space’ and I do not understand the possible consequences or meaning of “currently being updated to include assessment of villages following insetting”. Why is it proposed to change the AGLV boundary to cover all of Shalford? At very short notice it is now proposed to designate the fields as “Open Space (currently being updated to include assessment of villages following insetting)”, this proposal arises from a report dated June 2016, hence the feeling of all being done in a possibly ill-thought through hurry as the Local Plan consultation covering ‘000s of pages began on June 6th. Although a Surrey County Council footpath runs past the land (Shalford PFP266) there is no public access to the fields and it is not clear how the Council could utilise the land as Open Space. It is strongly believed the arguments for changing the settlement boundary and removing the Green Belt protection are not justified by this opaque designation as “Open Space (currently being updated to include assessment of villages following insetting).”

The unkind might suspect it is a process to facilitate development, as once the Settlement Boundary is changed and the Green Belt protection removed it will be eminently possible for developers to undermine the Open Space designation, which seems to be unrealistic/unachievable.

Developers have a contractual obligation to spend significant sums of money seeking planning permission to develop this land and the uncertainty and lack of clarity in the consultation paperwork is potentially opening the door to them. If the Green Belt protection is removed the presumption would be in favour of housing development and the current confusion would open the door to the developers to this land.

There is no logic in making the proposed changes and then designating the fields as “Open Space”. If the Council wishes to avoid the inevitability of a development on this land then the best thing would be to keep the Green Belt protection, not include the fields within the Settlement Boundary and further, declare it Local Green Space and subject to Special Protection. Calling it Open Space is, as currently proposed, unclear and likely to be easily overturned by the developers.

- The strongly held views of significant numbers and proportion of Shalford residents (as evidenced by the petition signed by over 700 residents in 2014) and those of the members of the Tennis and Bowling Clubs and Village Hall Committee together with the Parish Council, which is an important voice of the local community, all object to this proposal. The expressed view of the local community is that this land should be left undeveloped. Therefore this intention would be best met by retaining this land in the Green Belt with its additional AGLV protection and outwith the Settlement Boundary. It is understood it could still then be declared Open Space if this is possible and appropriate. It is possible that many local residents probably think there is now no longer any threat of the land being developed and therefore are not writing to object.

- The history of the fields and the intention for them to be left for the benefit of the people of Shalford and the local community and the basis upon which the covenants originally imposed by the donor were released. This land was originally protected by mutual covenants including the Shalford Parish Council as a Trustee for the Village Hall. The land which includes the Village Hall was given for the benefit of the people of Shalford and the local community in 1985 and suitable covenants imposed on the surrounding land. The current owner of the fields in question would never have been able to purchase them without agreeing to the covenants.

Subsequently, the covenants were released when the Village Hall and Tennis Club wanted to expand and also build the bowling green. At the time the Parish Council was mindful of, and comforted by, the facts the fields were: outside the Settlement Boundary, part of the Green Belt, and designated an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV).

Chinthurst Lane is not wide enough to accommodate more traffic. The low key, rural character of the roads and lanes that form the boundaries of this area need to be preserved. If these fields are available to be developed it would inevitably require upgrading, widening and imposition of formal highways, street lighting and fences which would suburbanise a semi-rural part of the Village. The consultation documentation recognises the inadequacy of the current infrastructure. If there is to be any further housing development in the Guildford area, with regard to Shalford the A281 needs relief and not more traffic joining an already congested road. If, as is widely anticipated, the Broadford brown site development proceeds this will test the stretched infrastructure and should not be compounded by development on the fields behind the Village Hall. Chinthurst Lane is a rural lane without footways. Many residents, including children, those with pushchairs, walkers and runners are forced to use the carriageway. The traffic generated by additional houses would exacerbate the current vehicle/pedestrian conflict in the lane and be at odds with its attractive semi-rural character. Since land adjoining the carriageway is in private ownership, in part registered common land and the provision of footways would spoil Chinthurst Lane's character, the absence of footways will continue to exist. The consultation paperwork divides Shalford into a North and South. South Shalford and in particular that area south of the railway line is not urban in character and the proposed changes to the fields behind the Village Hall will jeopardise this.

- It is understood there are legal difficulties with access being gained to the fields behind Shalford Village Hall, from Chinthurst Lane.

- These fields contribute to the open character of the Village and rise 32 feet above King’s Road. Buildings of any height would change the skyline of Shalford and tower over and detract from the enjoyment of the many users of the Tennis and Bowls Clubs and the Village Hall. The report provided to the Council in 2007 in the Landscape Assessment Study by Chris Burnett and Ass. is in my view very persuasive and the conclusions drawn regarding Shalford were correct and well informed. A semi-rural aspect does still exist to the east of Chinthurst Lane and any development on the fields would inevitably require the Lane to be widened and upgraded. Is it really the case the trees bounding the Common at the King’s Road end of Chinthurst Lane will be sacrificed along with the current characteristics of the area, as described above, to allow a developer to exploit the two fields behind the Village Hall?

This open land is inappropriate for insetting from the Green Belt and being included within the Settlement Boundary of Shalford. It is possible that Council officers and members are trying to accommodate the wishes of the local community with the Open Space designation. It is submitted that all three designations should be included in the Plan; Green Belt, AGLV and Open Space for these fields and thus avoid a lengthy process while developers overturn the wishes of local residents and build on this land to the local community’s detriment.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. No lawful access to the proposed site.

The proposed access road would have to cross registered common land and a public footpath. Only the Secretary of State has the power to give or withhold consent to an access being constructed following consideration of objections possibly at a public inquiry. Making an application for the construction of a road across the common would conflict with the reasons the Council gave the Land Registry for seeking guardianship in the public interest through ownership of the land. The County Highway Authority, or in dispute the Secretary of State, has to determine the necessary formal Footpath Stopping Up Order, possibly following a further public inquiry.

1. The real threat of development

Shalford residents were very concerned indeed to discover from enquiries recently made at the Land Registry that the owners of the land have been paid £20,000 for the grant of an option in favour of a large property development company enabling them to buy the land for development. The option imposes a contractual obligation on the developers to spend tens of thousands of pounds on lawyers and other professional advisers in trying to obtain planning consent for the land. It is clear therefore that the landowners and the developers will make very concerted efforts to develop the land and overturn any watered down protections given to the land in the local plan. It is clear therefore that the current status and protection of the land is already under attack. It is a clear and present danger.

If the developers are contractually committed to spending substantial sums of money over the next few years on getting planning consent they must believe that by removing the land from the Green Belt there is every prospect that development will be permitted. The land needs to have the fullest possible protection from this immediate and current threat and a clear message sent to the landowners (one of whom it is understood now lives abroad and therefore has no interest whatsoever in protecting the local community) and the developers that the Council will never ever permit the land to be developed.

The Local Plan is primarily built upon the outcome of the "West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), September 2015". From the resulting housing numbers, flow the needs for land, infrastructure, schools, medical facilities etc.

However, it is not possible to assess, analyse or in any way critique the basis for any of this because the SHMA analysis is confidential. This is a ludicrous travesty of the consultation process and a corruption of democracy. Guildford residents are effectively being given an answer, with no opportunity to understand or challenge how it is derived, and then consulted on the detail of how it is to be delivered.

For the above reason, it is not possible for the consultation process to determine whether the needs have been objectively assessed or whether the Plan is sound.

My Major Objections

We must not loose the green belt it was made for a purpose that has not changed I have not seen any “EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES”demonstrated that are required before taking this action

I do not object in principle to affordable housing in reasonable numbers but the scale of this proposal is alarming

There is no infrastructure planned----- our schools are full the medical centre is full the water companies have already said they will not cope

Where will all these extra people work there is no local work

How will they get to any work we have no transport to speak of and the train car park is full at times and no room to expand

The roads are inadequate they are village roads and already full especially at weekends with many cyclists making them dangerous How many of these cyclists need to be injured or killed

The number of pot holes and bad surfaces on most of the local roads already will only increase with extra pressure of traffic

All these extra house holds would have an enormous impact on our village

I have already objected once to this proposal but it seems no-one is listening and all we are doing is making way for greedy developers

There is also the development proposed for wisely airport which would completely ruin the villages and the environment and strand a number of housed holds without cars as there is no transport that end of the villages and the roads too narrow for double traffic

All the above objections apply

APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents2015
- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 June 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.
Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. Currently, a two-way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost. There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime, given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly, any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

POLICY D3

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floor space (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floor space will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floor space to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion. The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF. The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular, a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly, no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition, the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2-bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income. And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price? As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers.
under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.
This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5 states that “... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition, I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.
The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy. The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study.
On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.
This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.
1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites - which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.
The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Comment ID: pslp172/4394  Respondent: 8826369 / Tim Madge  Agent:
| 1. | I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site. |
| 2. | This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously. |
| 3. | The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt. |
| 4. | There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357 sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.” |
| 5. | There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units. |
| 6. | The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt. |
| 7. | The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607 sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750 sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357 sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.” |
| 8. | 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common. |
| 9. | The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357 sqm. |
| 10. | The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock. |
| 11. | It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt. |
| 12. | The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common. |
| 13. | The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space. |
| 14. | The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate. |

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Site 110. Broadstreet and Backside Common. SANG

Commons are already publicly available land. The public have the right to walk over the commons via s193 of the Law of Property Act 1925 and the CROW Act (Countryside and Rights of Way) 2000. It is, therefore, inappropriate to designate the commons as SANG as it does NOT provide any new additional recreational space.

We do not want artificially contrived SANGs when we already have natural common land.

Natural England’s report NECR136 para 3.58 dated 13 February 2014, indicates that there is no evidence to suggest provision of a SANG reduces the number of visitors to the SPA. Contrary to the NPPF – para 118.

Rather than providing numerous SANG sites, policy constraints should be applied to the SHMA – the figure of 652 houses per year needs to be reduced in recognition of the planning constraints in Guildford (Green Belt, SPA, SSSI, SNCI, infrastructure deficiencies)

Site 112. Russell Place Farm.

This land is good quality agricultural land. It is currently used for grazing cattle. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there is greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country.

The land abuts Broadstreet and Backside Common and therefore is an inappropriate and unnecessary place to site a SANG. We do not want artificially contrived SANGs when we already have natural common land nearby.

The public already has access to this field because of existing footpaths.

Rather than providing numerous SANG sites policy constraints should be applied to the SHMA – the figure of 652 houses per year needs to be reduced in recognition of the planning constraints in Guildford (Green Belt, SPA, SSSI, SNCI, infrastructure deficiencies)

Site 113. Stringers Common. SANG

Commons are already publicly available land. Residents have the right to walk over the commons via s193 of the Law of Property Act 1925 and the CROW Act (Countryside and Rights of Way) 2000. It is, therefore, inappropriate to designate the commons as SANG as it does NOT provide any new additional recreational space.

Site 118. Land adjoining Fairlands. Safeguarded

This land is located within the Green Belt and meets the following purposes of the Green Belt which are to: check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas; to prevent the coalescence of Fairlands with the town; to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of our historic town. Very special circumstances would be required to justify the loss of such sites given their proximity to Whitmoor Common SPA, SSSI, LNR.

The safeguarded land could provide for just over 500 houses and two traveller pitches almost doubling the existing size of this satellite suburb and would completely change the character of Fairlands leading to the urbanisation and destruction of the village environment.

The local road network is already at capacity. The A323 experiences significant delays during the rush hour with a particular pinch point at Rydes Hill roundabout. These delays represent a significant loss of income in terms of the local economy. The cumulative impact of development in Aldershot, Farnborough, Ash, Tongham, Normandy and Pirbright will greatly exacerbate the existing problems.

Any development at Fairlands would increase vehicle movements on the A322 which would have a detrimental impact on air quality which in turn would have a detrimental impact on Whitmoor Common, SPA, SSSI, LNR.

C15, the road that runs through Wood Street Village, which is already used as a rat run to the Research Park, University, Hospital and Tesco is at capacity. Any development at Fairlands would have a knock-on impact on the traffic using the road through Wood Street Village.

Both Wood Street Infant School and Worplesdon Primary School are already oversubscribed – the proposed expansion of Worplesdon Primary School to 540 places will only address the existing need. St Joseph’s has been expanded and Stoughton Infants is being expanded to deal with existing need.

Whilst primary school places are being increased at St Joseph’s School, Aldershot Road to take account of current demand, there will also need to be an increase in senior school places. The proposed site in Salt Box Road is inappropriate.

There is only one way in and out of the Estate. There is a significant increase in the volume of traffic entering and leaving the Estate during school drop off and collection times. The road network within the Estate could not possibly cope with the increase in traffic that a new development would bring.

The existing sewerage system cannot cope – major sewage leaks have been experienced on Broad Street Common (SNCI) twice in the last 12 months. On days when there is sudden, heavy rainfall raw sewage leaks into the gardens in St Michael’s Avenue.

The water table in this area is very high, whilst the land itself is low lying. Surface water flooding in Fairlands is an issue that is recognised within the Surrey Flood Risk Strategy and the Guildford Surface Water Management Plan. Any additional development would make the risk of household flooding worse.

Fairlands is located at the end of a particularly long power transmission network. Due to overhead lines and the length of the network the Estate suffers from frequent power outages. We do not believe that the existing network could cope with a housing development here.

Such a development would have a detrimental impact on Littlefield Common SNCI, which provides habitat for a number of protected species including nightjars and bats.

This particular land contributes to a vital wildlife corridor which links Whitmoor Common SPA/SSSI, Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill, Common, Broad Street and Backside Commons to the Hogs Back AONB.

There are remnants of the cultural landscape associated with the medieval Royal Deer Park within the Rydes Hill/Fairlands rural-urban fringe. It is important that the separation of Fairlands from the historic settlement of Wood Street Village is maintained. Large scale development at this location would be wholly inappropriate.

There is an existing problem with the no right turn out of the Estate being abused. Any increase in the number of vehicles using the entrance would correspondingly increase the risk of a serious or even fatal accident occurring on the A323.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. Site 62 Liddington Hall. 625 houses and 2 Traveller pitches.

This site has been proposed and turned down several times in the past. I am sure the reasons are still valid.

This site falls within the Metropolitan Green Belt and meets 4 of the 5 purposes for Green Belt land. Very special circumstances would need to be demonstrated to enable development to take place on this land. Development of this site would result in the coalescence of the town and Fairlands.

Rydes Hill ridge is 150ft above the general level of the rest of Worpleston and is visible from much of the parish. The development would be strikingly visible, as if Guildford is coming over the hill, housing being visible on the skyline. It is therefore particularly important to preserve these fields.

The site is located within 400m – 5km of Whitmoor Common SPA, SSSI and forms part of a vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common SPA, SSSI, Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside commons (SNCI) to the Hogs Back AONB.

In 2003 Natural England objected to the proposed development of this site.

There are a number of endangered and red list species that inhabit this site including: Badgers, bats, cuckoo, house sparrow, barn owl (RSPB amber list), great spotted woodpecker, green woodpecker. Red kites and buzzards are also known to use this site.

This site is proven to be contaminated with cyanide –

“Cyanide burials at Liddington Hall Farm

During the last war, Martin Harper had a works on the northern edge of the Farm. Amongst other things, they made barrage balloon hoists which they case-hardened with cyanide, a process which produced highly-toxic slurry. It was disposed of in a succession of burial pits in unknown locations spread across the site. This took place monthly during the period 1940-47, so there may well have been 100 burial pits. It is a fair assumption that they would be well spaced out.

A remaining presence of cyanide was verified by sampling in 1983 (Guildford Borough Council News, No. 452, 18th May 1983). Cyanide degrades over time but Professor Jim Bridges, Professor of Toxicology at Surrey University has said, “If cyanide is combined with certain metals, as it is in case hardening, and if it is buried in soil, it can be longer lasting”. Furthermore, the depth and precise location of the burials is unknown.
In 1983, Norman Payne, Guildford Council’s Head of Personal Services said: “The levels of contamination do not on all the information before me present a hazard to the public SO LONG AS THE GROUND IS UNDISTURBED.” (These are Mr Payne’s block capitals.)

This site could not cope with the proposed level of traffic that would be generated by 625 houses. In previous planning appeals traffic has played a major part in the planning appeals being dismissed and the traffic situation has deteriorated since then due to the high level of housing built in Stoughton.

North West Guildford has serious traffic problems already, as the A322 and A323 funnel into the Dennis roundabout. This factor has been cited previously in the rulings in three failed development proposals.

In 1976, Davis Estates proposed a large development between Holly Lane, Gravetts Lane and Tangle Lane. It was refused. Davis Estates appealed. The appeal failed, the Inspector stating:

“The proposed development, in my opinion, would further impair the efficiency of both the A323 and A322 which, as principal roads connecting Guildford to the M3 and the major growth area, must be safeguarded as part of the Nation’s primary network of roads”.

In 1983, Liddington Hall Farm was identified for building in the Draft Local Plan of that time. The County Engineer wrote to the then MP, the Rt. Hon. David Howell, concerning the Surrey Structure Plan:

“Accordingly the County Council as Highway Authority will seek to prevent the grant of any planning permission which would significantly increase traffic to the south of Liddington Hall”.

In 1985, in spite of the above, an attempt was made by the County Council to build on Liddington Hall Farm, which at that time they owned. The Inspector recommended:

“In my judgement, the discharge to A322/A323 of traffic from 700 dwellings additional to that arising from expected development at Tilehouse, Stoughton and from general growth of traffic would add unacceptably to prevailing congestion and danger on the main framework roads.”

In 2003, the Farm appeared again in the Deposit Draft Surrey Structure Plan 2002. Surrey County Council’s Officer Report to the Executive stated:

“The findings thus far suggest that the transport impacts associated with the North West community [the Liddington Hall site] would be significant and difficult to resolve.”

The site was dropped from the plan.

There are two ponds on the site – Great crested newts are known to exist in the vicinity.

Rights of Way over the eastern fields – Footpath no’s 576, 577, 578, 579 and 580 have recently been added to the definitive map for Worplesdon in accordance with the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 section 53.

The western fields are subject to prolonged and significant flooding during the winter months.

The existing infrastructure system cannot cope with the proposed number of houses. The local schools are over-subscribed, the sewerage system cannot cope. Man-hole covers are regularly blown in Gravetts Lane and the main sewers on Broad Street Common have burst over the past three winters causing environmental damage and considerable inconvenience.

Also in Key Facts, para 2.7, you note the high car ownership and levels of movement. We have the A323, A322, and A320 through our parish all of which suffer from significant congestion at present. A large increase in houses, let alone 71%, would not be sustainable with these roads.

Paras 2.20 and 2.21 sound very reasonable “… to look to a controlled realignment of the Green Belt boundary and development of a small number of strategic sites to allow us to provide for mixed and inclusive communities supported by new infrastructure” until one looks at what you are actually proposing for Worplesdon – strategic developments, which include a 71% increase in housing, a care home, a cemetery, a park and ride, a secondary school and community football ground and a great many traveller sites. All this in just one parish.

Site 61 Keens Lane. 140 houses and a care home.

By your own admission part of this land falls within 400m of the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and partly within 400m – 5km of the Thames Basin Heaths SPA. Therefore as this land is so close to Whitmoor Common its development should not be countenanced.

The roads adjoining this site, Keens Lane, Tangley Lane and Gravetts Lane, are very narrow rural lanes with only the width for a single car in places. Therefore again this site should immediately be dismissed from consideration.

It almost goes without saying that this is also Green Belt land for which exceptional circumstances must be shown to permit development.

The site forms part of a vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common, SPA and SSSI, with the Hogs Back, AONB, via Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside Commons (SNCI).

Water voles (a protected species) have been recorded on Pitch Place Green, which abuts the site. I understand the Great Crested Newts have also been found on the land.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Site 65. Land north of Salt Box Road. Secondary School.

It is extraordinary that this site is even being considered for development as a school. Whilst I do not doubt that an additional school is required, this site is totally inappropriate. Why not use site 46 the former Pond Meadow School?

The site is within 400m of Whitmoor Common which forms part of the Thames Basin Heath, Special Protection Area (TBHSPA), Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI), Local Nature Reserve (LNR). Therefore it is protected by European Legislation. In terms of the Borough Council’s own policy no development should take place on this site. Regardless of any review of the Borough Council’s SPA Avoidance Strategy this site is inappropriate for development of any kind.

Salt Box Road is a busy rural “C” road. There are currently no footpaths along Salt Box Road. Pedestrians invariably have to walk in the road due to trees/shrubs growing right up to the kerb.

There is a low bridge (being the main Portsmouth/Waterloo line) near Mount Pleasant. It is extremely difficult and dangerous for pedestrians/equestrians wishing to pass underneath the railway bridge. Any increase in commercial or non-commercial traffic would exacerbate the current situation. There have been a number of personal injury accidents at the bridge.

There is a known surface water flooding “wet spot” beneath the railway bridge as recognised by Surrey County Council within their Flood Risk Strategy. If the bridge were to be lowered it would increase the risk of ponding beneath the bridge with associated issues for pedestrian access and black ice – made worse by the road bending at this point.

Traffic approaching from the Woking Road (A320) direction would be blind to commercial and other vehicles entering/exiting the development until they have passed under the railway bridge. This would push delivery lorries onto adjacent rural roads where a number of fatal accidents have occurred (Burdenshott Road/Goose Rye Road/The Avenue).

Public bridleway (PB) no: 434 crosses Salt Box Road to the western side of the railway line and continues up Mount Pleasant. Any increase in traffic would have a detrimental impact on equestrians and pedestrians using Public Bridleway 434.

There is no street lighting along Salt Box Road. Given that Salt Box Road runs along the edge of Whitmoor Common SPA/SSSI street lighting would be inappropriate as it would create light pollution.

Existing traffic issues in Grange Road and Salt Box Road would be made worse.
This site forms part of a vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common SPA, SSSI, Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside commons (SNCI) to the Hogs Back AONB – paras 113, 117, 118 and 119 of the NPPF refer.

Noise is known to have a detrimental impact on the rare ground nesting birds that inhabit the Common (RSPB). The increase in traffic generated by the school run would be considerable.

I would also point out, with relation to Site Allocation A26, that the objection comments made in my 16/9/14 submission in relation to Site 60 are still relevant even if the details of the proposal have been somewhat amended.

SUBMISSION dated 16/9/14:

All points listed should be treated as Objections to the Plan

1. In the Foreword to the Plan, page 7, Monika Juneja states that “We have sought to select sites carefully and in a way which does not over burden any single area of our borough and ensure that the right infrastructure is in place”

   I am a resident of Worplesdon parish in which I therefore take a particular interest. Worplesdon currently has 3577 dwellings. The proposed housing developments in Worplesdon are Blackwell farm, of which at least 1000 houses will fall within the parish, Fairlands (safeguarded) 773 houses, Liddington Hall 625 houses and Keens Lane 140 homes. This totals 2538 homes which would be an increase of 71% to housing in the parish. In a Green Belt area with only minor roads this is in direct contradiction to Ms Juneja’s statement and is without a thought for the local infrastructure which is already overburdened before a single new house is built.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. Site 60 Blackwell Farm. 106 hectares of farming land to be used for 2,250 houses, offices, 8 Traveller pitches, school, shops, railway station and community facilities.

The land at Blackwell Farm fulfils all 5 functions of the Green Belt: (NPPF para 80)

- To prevent urban sprawl from London.
- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas.
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another.
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns.

Therefore for the above reasons and those below the development should be refused.

NPPF para 79 states that:

“The Government attaches great importance to the Green Belt. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of the Green belt are their openness and their permanence.”

NPPF para 83 states that:

- “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in “exceptional circumstances”
- “Inappropriate development is by definition harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstance”

Part of this area to be built on is registered as an AONB. GBC would have to show “exceptional circumstances” in order to build on an AONB in the Green Belt. It would have a devastating impact on the AONB from an aesthetic and environmental perspective.

The site is located within 5km of Whitmoor Common - an SPA and SSSI - and forms part of a vital wildlife corridor linking Whitmoor Common with the Hogs Back via Chitty’s Common, Rydes Hill Common, Littlefield Common (SNCI), Broad Street and Backside Commons (SNCI)

The panoramic views from the Hogs Back form an important part of Guildford’s landscape heritage – you can see the cathedral from here.

There is an ancient woodland that would be affected by these proposals.

Blackwell Farm has many public footpaths and bridleways which offer extensive walking, horse riding and bicycling to local residents and visitors to Guildford.

The Hogs Back is the only steep, north-facing chalk ridge in the southeast and is home to some rare plant species and many protected animals and birds. There are a number of endangered (red list) species which inhabit the Hogs Back, including skylarks, little owls, yellow hammers and curlews.

Blackwell Farm is a working farm. It is good quality agricultural land. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there will be greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country in the future years.

This land is formed of chalk and currently soaks up a significant amount of surface water. If it is developed and concreted over, this surface water run off would exacerbate existing flooding problems in Wood Street Village and Fairlands.

The A31 is already a congested road where it joins the A3 and an extra 5,000+ cars generated will make the problem worse.

It would be controversial to build roads across an AONB and an exit road through to the Research Park / Tesco roundabout would add enormously to the traffic congestion already experienced at this junction – the ambulances would not be able to get through to the RSCH.
Thames water does not have sewerage capacity to cope with a development of this scale.

In addition to all the above, no further development should be allowed by the University when they have not met their 2003 commitments relating to Manor Farm. They promised to have built 4,700 homes by 2011, yet even now they have only built 1,665 – that is a shortfall of 3,125. If those houses were built it would reduce your already inflated requirement of 13,040 homes down to 9,915. It would be a scandal should they be permitted to undertake further Green Belt destruction when existing permissions have not been taken up.

I do however wish to make one further objection and that is in relation to Site Allocation A46. To locate 1100 homes plus a secondary school plus a care home and 1200 sq m of office and retail facilities would generate a very large number of additional road users. The roads in the area, particularly those in the direction of Guildford, are unable to sustain anything like such an increase. Furthermore this is Green Belt land which should only be built on in exceptional circumstances – which have not been demonstrated.

When I look at the map identifying the proposed developments in the North-West periphery of Guildford ie sites 60, 61, 62, 63, 64 and 65 it is clear that you are allowing Guildford to sprawl outwards thereby substantially diminishing the green space separating Guildford from the outlying villages. This is precisely what the Green Belt was designed to prevent. With the exception of site 63 (Slyfield) I therefore object to all these developments.

1. Policy 17.

I am particularly concerned with the transport infrastructure and what plans you have to address the serious traffic problems that already exist in the borough even before any additional houses are built.

You say that the key infrastructure needed to support plan delivery is provided in an infrastructure schedule at Appendix B. However when I look at Appendix B and in particular section 4, Rest of Guildford, the detail on transport intervention required is incredibly sketchy, bordering on non-existent. There are 7 interventions listed with no detail attached whatsoever. None of the interventions address the A322 or A320 or the B and C roads in the north-west sector of the borough which will be significantly impacted by the proposed developments in that area. It seems that the consideration given to the road infrastructure is totally inadequate for a Plan of such huge import.

1. Site 110. Broadstreet and Backside Common. SANG

Commons are already publicly available land. The public have the right to walk over the commons via s193 of the Law of Property Act 1925 and the CROW Act (Countryside and Rights of Way) 2000. It is, therefore, inappropriate to designate the commons as SANG as it does NOT provide any new additional recreational space.

We do not want artificially contrived SANGs when we already have natural common land.

Natural England’s report NECR136 para 3.58 dated 13 February 2014, indicates that there is no evidence to suggest provision of a SANG reduces the number of visitors to the SPA. Contrary to the NPPF – para 118.
Rather than providing numerous SANG sites, policy constraints should be applied to the SHMA – the figure of 652 houses per year needs to be reduced in recognition of the planning constraints in Guildford (Green Belt, SPA, SSSI, SNCI, infrastructure deficiencies)

1. Site 112. Russell Place Farm.

This land is good quality agricultural land. It is currently used for grazing cattle. With the proposed increase in population in the South East there is greater pressure on food resources so we need to protect our ability to provide food and crops for this country.

The land abuts Broadstreet and Backside Common and therefore is an inappropriate and unnecessary place to site a SANG. We do not want artificially contrived SANGs when we already have natural common land nearby.

1. In Policy 9 you are seeking to take parts of a large number of villages out of the Green Belt. As a resident of Wood Street Village I have naturally looked at your proposal there and I do not understand what you are seeking to achieve by this change.

The settlement boundary has been extended mainly to the north and west. At the north-west corner you are now insetting light industrial buildings and small businesses – would you really want to kill off local employment for the sake of a few additional houses? Surely not, you should be encouraging local businesses to flourish. You are also now insetting all the houses along the north side of Oak Hill. Is your aim to allow residents to sell off their gardens for development? Surely this should not be encouraged. At the north-east corner you are also insetting light industrial buildings and small businesses. As stated earlier you should be encouraging local businesses to flourish. Their employees will tend to be local which will reduce the number of commuters to Guildford. All changes of the settlement boundary to the south merely inset common land and therefore could not be used for building of any sort.

NPPF para 83 states “Local planning authorities with Green Belts in their area should establish Green Belt boundaries in their Local Plans which set the framework for Green Belt and settlement policy. Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.” You give no indication of what these exceptional circumstances are and therefore I do not see the benefit to GBC from making this change. Why don’t you explain in the Plan what your purpose is? Without understanding further I strongly object to the change.

I am most dissatisfied that only 6 weeks have been given for the public to read, consider and reply to the latest version of the Local Plan. In contrast Guildford Borough Council have taken from September 2014 until June 2016, approximately 21 months, to consider the responses to the last Plan and formulate the new Plan. Not only that, but the 6 weeks we have been given comes during the summer when there is so much else going on.

I for one do not have the time to plough through all the documentation again. The best I can do is to repeat the comments I made last time – as most of them are still relevant, although of course all the paragraph numbers have changed.

Therefore I set out below a copy of my comments made last time in my submission dated 16/09/2014.

I do however wish to make one further objection and that is in relation to Site Allocation A46. To locate 1100 homes plus a secondary school plus a care home and 1200 sq m of office and retail facilities would generate a very large number of additional road users. The roads in the area, particularly those in the direction of Guildford, are unable to sustain anything like such an increase. We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

- I object to the proposals relating to number, density and sustainability of new housing in West Horsley. The 385 homes on the four proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist within the village and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the village. For West Horsley this would represent a 35% increase in the number of houses within 3-5 years of a plan being adopted. The home building proposals are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops, parking and public transport.

6. Additional Objection

I object to the continued inclusion in the Local Plan of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 6th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

3. Infrastructure- Transport (Policies 11, 12 and 13)

The words "Roads and Transport Infrastructure" are mentioned in Definitions under Policy I1 (Infrastructure and Delivery), but no detail for West Horsley has been found in any of the Local Plan documents, including the Infrastructure Delivery Plan.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). 5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of the identities of the villages. There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in West Horsley, East Horsley, Normandy, Ockham, Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that. The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses in such a small area means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

2. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Under the current economic climate, it is unlikely any additional funding will be made available for new capital projects. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan.

3. Policy I3 provides that developers "will be expected" to propose and secure travel plans for their developments and contribute to transport arrangements for the able and Legally, this is meaningless- this proposed policy lacks 'teeth' and is unrealistic where development and major housebuilding companies are involved.

4. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy 13). The huge developments being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion and to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health. It has been shown that Wisley already has NOX levels above the EU legal limits and by law a school cannot be located in this area as a result.

5. Whilst Horsley station has frequent trains to London and Guildford seven days a week, the station car park is normally full on An increase in village population will increase pressure on station parking and traffic movements to/from Horsley station, to drop off/collect travellers to London and school children going to Guildford and Leatherhead.

4. Infrastructure- Schools and Medical Facilities (Policy 11)
I object to the lack of coherent proposals relating to schools and medical facilities for the Horsleys.

- There is a continuing lack of state primary school places in The Raleigh School which serves both East and West Horsley is full every year and this has been the situation for many years. Secondary school places are limited in number at the Howard of Effingham School and other secondary schools involve a much longer journey of time and distance from the Horsleys to reach them. Glenesk and Cranmore private schools are well supported by many families living in Guildford and other villages up to 14 miles away. Each of these private schools during term time, receives high volumes of traffic going to and from each school at each end of the school day, on Ockham Road North and the A246 respectively.
- Kingston Avenue Medical Centre, serving all of East and West Horsley and areas beyond, is always extremely busy and residents experience difficulty in making The planned population increase (in excess of Government ONS forecasts) for the borough will require a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to cope.

5. Infrastructure - Waste Water (Policy I1)

I object to the lack of coherent proposals relating to waste water infrastructure for the Horsleys. These words receive a mention in Reasoned Justification under Policy 11, but no detail for West Horsley has been found in any of the Local Plan documents, including the Infrastructure Delivery Plan.

- There are known sewage overflow problems in the Ockham Road North I Green Lane
- Thames Water has advised Guildford Borough that the area's wastewater network is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed The foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will need to be upgraded to cope. Thames Water advises 'a 2 to 3 years lead-in period' to install the necessary waste water network and treatment capacity after planning permission for a development is granted.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016)

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. Green Belt (Policy P2)

   The Local Plan contains no rational, reasonable or credible justification for building on the Green Belt as proposed. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances, and the Local Plan neither demonstrates, nor discloses, any such exceptional circumstances. Unmet housing need is NOT an exceptional circumstance in law. It is clear, therefore, that the Green Belt boundaries should not be changed, and that this policy is flawed and should be amended.

   In the last consultation just six individuals, out of the c. 7,000 of those who took part in the consultation, supported the policy. Another 20 comments of support were from organisations such as: the University of Surrey, local councils (including Guildford), consultants (e.g. Savills) or landowners. But of the 1,371 who commented on the green belt policy, 1,332 (97%) were against.

   Over 70% of the proposed housing is planned for land currently in the Green Belt. Housing need is not a reason in law for protected Green Belt land being used. It is perverse for so much housing to be planned for the Green Belt. Clearly, the Green Belt has not been used as a constraint as clearly set out in Government advice, planning policy guidance, the NPPF, case law, election manifestos and Ministerial letters to MPs.

   I also object to the proposed removal of West Horsley from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries, and no exceptional circumstances or other justification is made for this proposal. The Green Belt & Countryside Study is flawed and the Key Evidence document 'Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031' makes no case for locating large numbers of new homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages. The number and density of housing proposed is not in keeping with the local area and is therefore against policies within the NPPF.

2. Number of new houses and density (Policies S1, S2, H1 and H2)

I object to the proposals relating to the number of new houses and the density of such housing.

- The housing numbers proposed across the borough are for 13,800 homes over the Plan Period to This number is too high and unsustainable in Guildford's villages. The model used to calculate the number has not been seen or the assumptions tested by the Council or any of its officers. It has been, on numerous occasions, shown to be flawed by various third parties. This housing target will result in the borough's permanent resident population increasing at 4.5 times the rate of population increase during the period 2001 to 2011. This population growth, by definition, is excessive and unsustainable for a gap town with many environmental, physical and infrastructure constraints.

- In West Horsley, the 385 homes on the four proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist within the village and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the For West Horsley this would represent a 35% increase in the number of houses within 3-5 years of a plan being adopted. The home building proposals are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops, parking and public transport.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of the Horsleys, Ockham, Ripley and Send.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

It is clear that development along the lines provided in the Local Plan is completely unsustainable, as well as a betrayal of the whole concept of the Green Belt. Many residents do recognize that there may be a need for a limited amount of additional housing, but the current draft Local Plan is absolutely not the way to address this requirement. There is no alternative but for the Council to revise the housing number down significantly, to amend the Local Plan to make greater use of brownfield/previously used land rather than green field sites (of which there are significant amounts of the former within the Borough), and to propose credible, evidence-based plans for how the sustainability of any development will be achieved.

1. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents' in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

1. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that "Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health. The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

1. I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I strongly object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Glandon from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. It also states that providing more housing is not considered 'exceptional circumstances'. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a detrimental impact on existing local communities by over development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and Glandon. 1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough.

The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Glandon & Horsley. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles.

The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

Objection to the Local Plan

As a resident and small business owner in Ripley I strongly object to the Local Plan.

My business is located in a village and I object to this plan as it will destroy the last remaining villages between Woking and Guildford, and especially one with such historic importance to the County of Surrey.
I object to the erosion of the Green Belt in this area generally and I specifically object to the removal of Ripley and Send from it. Maintaining what little countryside we have left is imperative.

I object to the amount of development proposed for this small area of a large Borough.

I object to the lack of consideration given to the infrastructure, roads, schools and general practitioners, all of which are already under serious pressure.

I object that the Garlick’s Acrh site was added at a very late stage and that there was no consolation in it being added.

I object that the Send Hill and Winds Ridge land was added at a very late stage and that there was no consolation in it being added.

I object to the lack of evidence provided to show that the number of houses needed is in fact the case.

I object to industrial development being proposed for this area when the industrial area of Slyfields still has areas that can be developed and are suitable for such development.

I object to the housing development being proposed.

I trust that the strength of the objections all around heeded.

I writing to raise my objections to the Guildford Local Plan.

Firstly, I object to the accuracy of the Objectively Assessed Housing Need as outlined in Strategic Housing Market Assessment. Analysis supporting the conclusions for the OAN has not been made available to the public to review. I believe the OAN of 693 homes is excessive and the method of prediction is flawed. This is supported by reports issued by David Reeve, a Guildford Borough Councillor, and Neil McDonald, an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. In addition the recent referendum for the UK to leave the EU will probably have a negative effect on the housing need and should be taken into account. The Council’s primary responsibility is to those already living in the Borough and their children not to those predicted to migrate into the area. I would suggest the Council should be trying to limit migration into the area. Those migrating from London will generally be in the higher salary bracket and seeking larger houses, which is not what should be built. What is needed is affordable accommodation, close to existing areas of employment and transport hubs for the younger generations who already live in the area.

Thirdly I object to the Local Plan and the proposed developments as it will have a significant impact on existing infrastructures which are already at their limits particularly at peak times. Train stations and their car parks are already full to capacity and the road systems are full at peak hours. The B roads that run through the Horsley villages are not designed to take the existing levels of traffic and the proposed developments will only make this worse. The proposed development at the Wisley airfield will not provide affordable housing for those that need it as the prices will be driven by existing housing in the area. The proposed changes to the infrastructure are inadequate and will not address the issues created by this very large development.

The revised Green Belt Policy P2 states that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”. However, despite minor changes it has failed to revise Paragraph 4.3.13 which proposes to inset the villages of East Horsley and West Horsley from the Green Belt. In addition the Guildford Green Belt group have estimated that some 57% of all the new housing proposed in the 2017 GBC Local Plan is to be built on land which is currently Green Belt, this indicates that the Metropolitan Green belt will not be protected.

I object to the villages of East Horsley and West Horsley being inset from the Green Belt and I object to so much proposed housing being built on the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I have previously challenged the Objectively Assessed Housing Need as outlined in Strategic Housing Market Assessment. These numbers have been amended, but not significantly and I still challenge the Housing Need (Letter dated 15th July 2016), particularly as the original number is flawed. If the housing need number is flawed that challenges many of the other requirements laid out in the “Proposed Submission Local Plan”.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

Housing Needs Numbers

I OBJECT to the housing needs numbers included in the local plan as far too high.

An annual build of 693 new homes per annum represents a net increase of 25% in the housing stock of Guildford Borough, a remarkable rate of increase for a borough in the English Home Counties. It is even more remarkable when the official statisticians at the Office of National Statistics are projecting a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period. In particular over 23% of this new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys, totally out of proportion to the population living there.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Wisley Airfield Policy A35

I OBJECT to the inclusion of Wisley Airfield development in the local plan. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for its removal from the Green Belt. This proposal has also been unanimously rejected by GBC’s planning committee because of grave concerns including traffic congestion, air pollution, lack of suitable public transport, unsustainability, the inappropriateness of an urban style development in this rural area, the major impact on local villages. These are all still relevant objections.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

Infrastructure

In many aspects the infrastructure of the Horsleys is already overloaded. Local Schools are full, the medical centre is stretched, drainage is inadequate. Traffic and parking are already an issue and at high levels. There is little scope for improvement currently and the scale of development proposed is completely out of all proportion to the facilities available and the ability to increase those facilities. I note that in the proposal for 2000 houses on Wisley airfield they identify Horsley station as a transport link. Anyone who has bothered to visit Horsley will know that the station car park is already at near capacity. There is no provision in the Local Plan to improve this infrastructure in proportion to the proposed building.

I urge the Council to revisit the housing number, utilize brownfield sites for housing not commercial development rather than green fields and to live up to their election commitment to protect the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Proposal to inset East Horsley from the Green Belt Policy

I OBJECT to the proposal that East Horsley should be inset from the Green Belt, instead of being ‘washed over’ as it is today. East Horsley is set in a rural location and the village has the look and feel of a rural village. Its Green Belt status has been a key factor in preserving that character. Moreover, being ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt has not been a serious constraint on development within the village. Woodlands and large residential gardens make a vital contribution towards biodiversity, provide wildlife corridors, and furnish those open spaces which are vital to the character of the greenbelt. Removal of the Horsleys from the Green Belt would require exceptional circumstances and these have not been demonstrated. There is no consideration in the plan of the effect of such insetting upon the villages and this is required by the National Planning Policy Framework.

Changes to the Settlement Boundaries

I OBJECT to the proposed Settlement Boundary changes in East Horsley. GBC are proposing to make a number of changes to the boundaries of East Horsley and so expand the settlement area, as set out in the Proposals Map. The changes to the settlement boundaries in the Horsleys appear to have be done purely on the basis of including additional Greenfield sites which can then be built on. I can see no reasons given for the proposed changes and therefore the boundaries should remain as they are.

Firstly I want to register my disappointment that Guildford Borough Council has taken so little notice of the comments made by the public in the initial consultation on the local plan. There is little point asking for comments if they are then to be ignored.

1. APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wild life areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

• Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
• Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
• Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
• Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

• 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

• 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford
Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY 12

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.
The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them. I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)
The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Questions from GBC

24.A. Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites is based on up-to-date evidence. The evidence base documents contributing to the preparation of the plan are listed in Appendix D and can be found on our website (links open in a new window).

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

ANSWER

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up-to-date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

24.B. Question 2: Legal Compliance

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is legally compliant? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be reassessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.
The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick's Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

0 The ‘objectively assessed need’ figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

0 A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan's proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Glandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Glandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.
The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of WEt Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data: 2010 -2014 from Crashmap data

- Glandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents 2015
- 21 Oct 2015 - P2.47 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street - P2.47 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Glandon London bound between P2.47 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Glandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the P2.47 through West Glandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Glandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices Factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Glandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham's sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Glandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Glandon towards East Glandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an 'aspiration' in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Glandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick's Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.
The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Glandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development on this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A2.47 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick's Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current 'soft' edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick's Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (BS). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick's Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site?

There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council's own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy 13). The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development.
I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Development in urban areas and inset villages.

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick's Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. His unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development. If developed, the new employment site at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Bumi Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick's Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick's Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace.

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick's Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment.

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E6
I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment.

Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor 'attractions' and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment 'Disneyfication'. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many 'leisure and visitor attractions' already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan's explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford's river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high value. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An 'English town break' (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre.

The policy "vision" describes protecting the Guildford's unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council's own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group's proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford's character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 - Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council's timidity is a case of 'regulatory capture' by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an 'affordable home' is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will 'affordable homes' be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 - Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the 'mix' this can include 'market' housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove 'exceptional circumstances'.

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being 'closely related'. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be 'closely related'. Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.) The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection). The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove ‘exceptional circumstances.’ The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure.

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the K2.47 through West Glandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Glandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Glandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough's infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan's determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.
The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council's methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy 11. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough's infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic.

It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council's control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that 'Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.' The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt.

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council's to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of "only" 1.6% of the borough's Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an 'acceptable' percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.
The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council's growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers' hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of 'About Guildford' (published by the Council) on page 5 states that '... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.' This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the "insetting" of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them. I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the 'openness' of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed "insetting" and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17's aim of 'empowering local people to shape their surroundings' and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that 'the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.' I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called 'strategic sites' of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick's Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages( as mere housing does not constitute a 'special circumstance') to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding.

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development.

However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk offlooding.

The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance offlooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development 'should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.' As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of 'sustainable development' is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long term impacts.

The policy states that it aims 'to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area'. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as 'sustainable', in breach of the NPPF's most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy.

should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications 'wherever possible' and 'without delay' reveals the pro development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy.

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey" tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough's residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour's 'need'. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey's 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford's OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered 'sound'.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is 'deliverable' and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council's cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission.

Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important. The plan cannot be considered 'deliverable'. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected 'windfall' sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a 'plan' that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London's commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brownfield sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Glandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick's Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Glandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Glandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Glandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Glandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. 'Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.' Summer 2016 edition of •About Guildford' (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road i National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt
   Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.
5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council's The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer's business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
9. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
10. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

11. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

12. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

13. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Glandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

16. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

17. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council's refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement 'Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay', the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.
The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below),
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.</td>

<td>I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.</td>
</tr>
<td>11.</td>
<td>I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.</td>
</tr>
<td>12.</td>
<td>I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.</td>
</tr>
<td>13.</td>
<td>I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.</td>
</tr>
<td>14.</td>
<td>I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.</td>
</tr>
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Specifically, the Keens Lane site nominated for development has major disadvantages in terms of being –
- on Green Belt land
- in close proximity to the Special Protection Area of Whitmoor Common and its wildlife corridor with Broadstreet Common
- already a congested area during morning and evening rush-hours, where any additional traffic can only result in gridlock.

Although an increase in the availability of new homes within the GBC boundaries would be welcome, no justification for the actual numbers proposed has been provided despite frequent requests for it to be published. Without access to these data the assumptions underlying the plan cannot to be scrutinised.

It is apparent therefore, that any advantages that may accrue from the proposed developments will be far outweighed by their disadvantages.

More generally, GBC should ensure that its planning proposals are in line with the character and history of local communities. It is essential that local residents and their elected representatives have the opportunity to scrutinise the assumptions underlying any plan and have an opportunity to assess the impact that the proposed levels of development will have on the environment and surroundings where they reside. Those whose seek to benefit from housing developments should not be allowed to do so to the detriment of the long term residents of any community.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object most strongly to the proposed developments within the Local Plan, in particular in and around East and West Horsley.

1. The existing Green Belt policy has been completely ignored, with no apparent discussion with local groups.

1. The amount of additional housing proposed is far in excess to that which would blend in with the present environment. The roads in this area are narrow and in poor condition and will not be able to cope with the increased traffic which any development will inevitably produced. Parking near the shops will be impossible and Schools will not be able to cope with the additional pupils. Over development on this scale will damage local communities forever. The attraction of these villages will be replaced by congestion and pollution.

1. I understand Brown Field Sites are available within the Guildford area and should be used for housing in preference to the Green Field Sites.

In conclusion, I ask you to revise the housing numbers, and to amend the Local Plan to maintain the existing character of the Horsley’s.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the calculations by Guildford Borough Council (GBC) on the number of homes that will be required in the coming years (13,860). The number of new houses arises from a Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) that was generated by a consultant’s mathematic model that has not been revealed. This target has then further been increased by GBC to give a population increase that is almost 70% higher than the official national estimates for population growth in the borough. The old adage ‘if you build it they will come’ seems very apt here. The M25 was built to ease congestion and now it is referred to as the countries biggest car park. The results of the Brexit vote should now be seriously considered and a downward revision of the numbers should take place.

I object to the disproportionate number of houses being built in the Horsley’s – a total of 385 homes on four sites within West Horsley parish boundaries (this being a 35% increase to the current number of homes within the parish). A further 100 homes are proposed on a near by site in East Horsley, adjacent to the West Horsley parish boundary. This is greater than any other area within the Guildford Borough that would totally destroy the current unique character of the village. The Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031 makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages, so why are so many homes planned for this area? Who is going to live in them? Why are the urban areas not being developed proportionally?

I object to the development of an over 2,000 house village at Ockham (former Wisley Airfield) as this will have a fundamental impact on the Horsley’s with such a huge range of mixed housing, retail, commercial and traveller sites. This along with the extensive developments at Burnt Common and Gosden Hill Farm (Burpham) will put an enormous strain on the road infrastructure on this side of Guildford.

I object to the density of the proposed housing as this is not in line with the current village design and character that is one of low density and a varied housing stock which has evolved over the years. The village also contains a considerable number of historic buildings. I believe it is possible to reduce the planned density within the rural areas of the borough by providing higher density homes and student accommodation within Guildford town. Students are less likely to want gardens and parking compared to those in rural communities. This would free up housing stock without having such an impact on the rural communities. New well-designed low-rise developments within the urban setting with good landscaping would be ideal and desirable for students and first time buyers/renters.

Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development (Policy S1), Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2), Homes for all & Affordable Homes (Policies H1,H2)

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires that new residential development MUST respect the character and density of housing in the area and be limited by the availability of infrastructure and local facilities.

I object: I do believe there is a case for some low cost housing to keep some people in the village but I see no sense in re-locating those already struggling to find housing/employment in other areas of the borough and placing them in a situation which makes getting a job harder because of access to employment or transport links. I believe it could become a sink estate for people being moved out of the metropolitan area. The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey (May 2014) identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish to downsize to a smaller home- which in turn would free up larger family homes and allow flow in the property market.

‘Affordable’ homes, under national definitions, mean homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even at 70% as proposed will put these homes well out of the reach of most people’s means and starter homes will still not be available to local people.

I object to the large number of proposed homes within the parish boundaries on a number of grounds, as the numbers are too high and unsustainable for the future. A thriving population will only survive if the correct infrastructure is in place to start with. The areas of infrastructure required are, not limited, to the following:

Schooling: There is limited state primary schooling in the Horsley’s with the Raleigh School over subscribed with a waiting list even for children within the village. Secondary school places are limited at the Howard of Effingham School. There are private primary schools available but families outside the village boundaries also support these. Adding to congestion on the main arterial roads.

Medical facilities: The medical Centre in Kingston Avenue is always busy and it has been difficult making appointments in the past. The increase in population will only add to this pressure. Parking at the Centre is also limited. The nearest main hospital – The Royal Surrey, would also require major expansion to cope with the increased population within the borough.

Access to essential facilities: There is one small grocers store at the southern end of the village, which may close later this year due to retirement of the owner. However, even now the parking is limited.

Many people use the shops and library in East Horsley that has been designated in the plan as a ‘District Centre’. This is a complete misreading of the facilities in the village centre. Parking has already become increasingly difficult and these facilities will be woefully inadequate to support the proposed increase in population.

Roads and Transport Infrastructure – Policy I1, I2 and I3

Transport: Listen to the local traffic news any day of the week and there are issues on the A3 into Guildford. As someone who travels up the A3 daily to Teddington, I can speak from experience to say the road is busy from Ockham Park up to the M25 at 6:30 every morning. Where do you think all these extra people are going to work? The majority of them will travel on the A3 in either direction causing extra congestion. The condition of the local roads which will need to support this extra traffic, Long Reach, Ockham Road North and the A246 are in need of repair and Long Reach in Particular is in no state for extra traffic and would be difficult to widen due to the established trees along its length.

Whilst the trains run a frequent service to both London and Guildford, access to the station car park is hazardous and the parking on a weekday can be limited.

We are a two-person household but can sometimes have three cars at the property when the work vehicle is being used. We do have sufficient parking for this to be possible on site. However, looking at the density of the proposed build this amount of off-street parking is unlikely to be available to the new builds and the extra vehicles will add considerable pressure to the local roads. Parking on my road has become crowded and unsightly in the 3 years we have lived at the property. This is only likely to get worse across the village with the proposed developments.

Waste Water Infrastructure is inadequate with frequent flooding of gardens and roads. It takes me approximately 30 minutes to drive to work in good conditions. However, on Christmas Eve 2013 it took me 4 hours to get back due to flooding. The flooding remained a problem and delayed my daily commute for more than a month.

- Thames Water has advised Guildford Borough that the area’s wastewater network is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed developments. The foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will need to be upgraded to cope. Thames Water advises ‘a 2 to 3 years lead-in period’ to install the necessary wastewater network and treatment capacity after planning permission for a development is granted.

I object to the impact it will have on a village that is positioned on the north side of the North Downs and partially within the Surrey Hills AONB and attracts a large number of recreational visitors throughout the year including walkers and cyclists. Within the village area are a number of important wildlife habitats that I believe should be preserved for future generations. Furthermore, I believe it will change the dark skies within the area affecting both wildlife and enjoyment of the night sky. Additionally, one of the proposed sites wraps around the local camping site, which welcomes visitors from around the world who use it as a base to visit Guildford, The Surrey Hills, RHS Wisley, Polden Lacey, Hatchlands, Clandon, Hampton Court and day trips to London. Any proposed development on this site is likely to deter such tourism and cause further negative impact on the village.

I object to the insetting of 14 villages from the Green Belt. The Green Belt is supposed to be protected by both national and local policy (ref 2003 local plan). Removing these villages from Green Belt protection sets a precedent that no doubt will expand. It is highly likely to alter the current character of the various villages it protects. The national Planning Policy Framework, para 87 states “As with previous Green Belt Policy, inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved expect in exceptional circumstances”. The current local plan sees 8,202 (64.6%) of all proposed new homes are to be built in the Green Belt. I do not believe these exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated.

I object to the building of 400 houses at Garlick’s Arch. These are not needed in Send or the borough and the proposal was announced at the last minute without any prior consultation.

   1. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch. It is not needed and there is already an available site at Slyfield where it can be built.

   1. I object to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch because the site is home to ancient woodland which should be conserved and it is also subject to flooding.

I object to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch as it is part of the Green Belt and helps stop merging of towns and settlements. This is the main purpose of the Green Belt. I believe it needs to stay as such.

I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because Send would then be used as a cut through to the A3 and the M25. Already Send Marsh Road is being used as a cut through to Ripley/A3 and is causing daily congestion at peak times. Very heavy traffic would cause daily chaos and bring the surrounding roads to a standstill.

I object to the very large proposed development of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will wipe out large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land. It would also prove to be catastrophic to the surrounding small roads, which would not be able to cope, and on the A3 and M25 interchange nearby.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach”(page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn Nursery in Tannery Lane for the following reasons:

1. There has been an increase in proposed building of houses from 45 to 60 – this is ridiculously too many for our area.
2. This totally ignores hundreds of previous objections by local residents.
3. Access to Tannery Lane at the A247 junction is not viable for the amount of traffic that will be incurred.
4. Tannery Lane itself is not capable of being used by large or numerous vehicles – it is a Lane.
5. This will be eroding even more of the Green Belt.
6. There is already bad surface water flooding in this area. This can only increase the problem.
7. This has been increased by a third since the 2016 version of the Plan. This will have a significant impact on the already highly congested local rural road network around Send. This is in contradiction to section 2.14a of the Plan which states "Whilst most local roads are single carriageway, with a lane in each direction, it is at their junctions that the free flow of traffic is most often impeded during peak periods, in some cases resulting in significant delays." And yet there are no proposals to improve the local roads, only to add more junctions with the A3, thereby increasing congestion on the Trunk and Local road network.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Policy A43, land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh for the following reasons:

1. This totally ignores hundreds of previous objections by local residents.
2. There are no ‘exceptional circumstances’ as required by the National Planning Policy to take this area out of the Green Belt.
3. This will remove ancient woodland which cannot ever be regained.
4. Ripley and Send villages will merge, therefore defeating the purpose of the Green Belt.
5. The number of homes proposed is excessive. Send is a village. This is over-development to the extreme.
6. The area is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a Flood Zone 2 allocation.
7. The excessive traffic that will be generated will totally cause mayhem on the Send and Ripley roads. Already whenever there is a road closure nearby or traffic accident (almost a daily occurrence on the A3/M25) in the vicinity – the main Ripley, Send Marsh and Send roads are ridiculously congested or at a total standstill.
8. There is no proven demand for Travelling Show people sites in this location. This development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.
9. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

The Foreword to the plan by Paul Spooner includes on page 5:

"We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the borough. The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan".

The lack of any plan for either physical or green infrastructure improvement clearly contradicts this in respect of both A43 Garlick’s Arch and A42 Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Development of these sites without the contingent infrastructure would therefore be contrary to the stated aims and themes of the Plan, and should not go ahead.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Policy A58, land at Burnt Common, London Road for the following reasons:

1. This was deleted from the 2014 draft plan because of all the objections previously made – therefore why has it been included again?
2. There has been a decline in demand for industrial land since the previous draft plan but the 2016 version uses the word ‘maximum’ a change from ‘minimum’ within it – this does not make sense.
3. There are already empty sites and units at Slyfield and Guildford and therefore no need to build new industrial and warehouse developments in our area. I can only envisage these will end up being empty too.
4. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand for industrial land for the whole borough to 3.9 hectares. This policy is a huge allocation of 10 hectares for Send alone. Totally unacceptable.
5. The small roads around this area are already often at gridlock. This can only make the problem worse.
6. The merging of existing villages (which will occur) defeats the purpose of the Green Belt.

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned in policy 4.423a and does not allow for full and proper consultation. This is unacceptable.

I object the change in policy on affordable homes (Policy 4.2.23)

The policy says: Off-site provision or payment in lieu is expected to enable the same amount of additional affordable housing as would have been delivered on site.

This means that the developer doesn’t even have to provide any ‘affordable’ homes, but just to make a negotiated payment to the Council. I doubt this is likely to result in the construction of any ‘affordable’ homes.

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Site Allocations

SUPPORT. The OMISSION of Liddington Hall and Fairlands from the plan is CORRECT, for many reasons, including those given below for the neighbouring Keens Lane site.

Site A22- Land to the north of Keens Lane

OBJECT.
1. It is in the Green
2. Keens Lane is in close contact with the Whitmoor Common SPA and forms part of an integral wildlife corridor to the Broad Street Common SSS1 and to the Hogs Back AONB and to the country side beyond and as such provides a green ribbon to prevent a corralling in of the local wild I can see no satisfactory way to provide alternative land which would be of use to wildlife to compensate for blocking the corridor.
3. Traffic from the Keens Lane site would expect to be able to access the A322 from Tangle Lane. However, there is a continuous flow of traffic from the A322 towards the A323 using Gravetts Lane as a rat run on a daily basis. Traffic is a daily problem in Guildford and is particularly bad on the Aldershot Road (A323). The traffic queues back beyond Fairlands Village each morning and there are four particular bottlenecks before the Dennis roundabout: firstly the roundabout at Holly Lane on the A323 which is signed as a route from the A3 through Jacobs Well to the A323 and the western route into Guildford; secondly the mini roundabout at Rydes Hill where the road from Wood Street joins the Aldershot Road and is used by motorists as a rat run to avoid the queues at Fairlands and which takes precedence over Aldershot Road traffic at that point; thirdly the meeting with the Worplesdon Road (A322); and fourthly the Dennis roundabout itself. A Park and Ride could provide some amelioration, but it would need to be well back from Fairlands towards Normandy so as not to exacerbate the daily problems experienced. It would need to be in place before any extra housing is considered. Furthermore, it is my understanding is that your preference is for any Park and Ride in the area to be on the A322, which is more of an arterial road.

Surely you can agree that Keens Lane should be taken out of the Local Plan for any kind of development.

OBJECT. This is an appalling desecration of the AONB and its surroundings. It is good Green Belt (see Q3). The University should get on with the planning permissions it already has. However, the Surrey Science Park and the University expansion together with the re-positioning of the University playing fields (with any future floodlighting) and the proposed new university accommodation blocks on the present playing fields has already wrecked the view of Guildford from the Hogs Back. I am not sure the Blackwell Farm development could spoil the AONB more than it has already.

Policy H1 - Homes for all

OBJECT. Firstly, I would like to examine the reason why we need to provide so many new affordable houses. Surrey University was allowed to expand the number of students without providing sufficient accommodation on campus so that many of the affordable houses available in the surrounding area were bought up as 'buy to let' for students. No regard was taken for those residents who needed them in order to remain living in Guildford, their home town. The University is still expanding with the new Vet School - will more 'affordable' houses be bought up for student use? This expansion can only make the few affordable houses further out of reach for our children. Student houses do not pay council tax so the residents of Guildford are subsidising the landlords. If you truly wanted to keep houses in reach of key workers, you would insist that this expansion of the University does not take place without the required student accommodation.

OBJECT. There is a hopeless mismatch between the housing aspirations and infrastructure. Apart from a few hopes around the A3 junctions, nothing is suggested that might help in any material way. This is true throughout Guildford but particularly in the NW sector. In 2011, Guildford was labelled the 42nd most congested city in Europe. There are already serious problems with the A3 and the local roads, of which the northwest sector with the A320, A322 and A323 is probably the worst. But still there are sites in the plan for this sector. See in particular site A22, Keens Lane.

OBJECT. The whole SANG concept is deeply flawed. There is a fundamental requirement in European law that developers and the Council must have convincing, objective evidence that developments have no adverse impact on the SPA (Waddenzee judgement, case no: C-127-02). This does not appear to have been done for a number of sites. The SANGs put forward are mostly already in public use, further away from the planned developments, and irredeemably less attractive than the sandy heaths of Whitmoor Common. This is even more important with the hugely expanding housing being proposed.

Policy A22: Land north of Keens Lane, Guildford – OBJECT

I object to the increase of housing for this site in the revised 2017 Local Plan and which was considered unsuitable on previous occasions and an increase in numbers will only exacerbate the problems which we, as local residents, already suffer from.

Traffic on the A323 and the A322 is already in a state of stationary congestion on these two major routes which provide access to the centre of Guildford, to the A3, the A31, access towards The Royal Surrey County Hospital, the University of Surrey, The Science Park and the Guildford Business Park where the A332 joins the access roads on and off the A3. Keens Lane and Tangley Lane traffic from any new development will pass directly onto the A322 or will join Gravetts Lane at the three-way junction and join the A323. There is no other way for the traffic to leave the site.

Both Tangley Lane and Keens Lane are so narrow that it is impossible for two cars to pass without one car becoming stationary. Combine this with a Z bend and no pavements on Tangley Lane and with both lanes being sunken with high hedges and blind bends then extra traffic will be a serious health and safety issue for pedestrians which will be impossible to ameliorate.

Any increase in housing is untenable – in my opinion, as a resident of over 40 years who continually has to use these lanes, then the fewer houses the safer the local residents will be.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to

  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,

  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

* Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
* Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
* Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
* Tithebarns Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

* 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

* 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
* 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
* 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until the A3 reaches the A320 Stock Road.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.
There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)
Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.
Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.
Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to other towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers... under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the larger residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London.
I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood... risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including...
Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared... with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in... the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. I do not believe the draft plan accords with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

14. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not itself a very special circumstance justifying an indiscriminate removal of sites from the Green Belt. Having properly calculated a housing needs number, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt and AONB. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be considered on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances, and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt, can the proposal proceed. The draft plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

15. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

16. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

1. It is a beautiful Green Belt area for Residents to enjoy & we do not require an enormous housing estate & school etc: to change our rural village into a suburb of Aldershot & Guildford. This Green Belt area is vital for every type vegetation, animals, insects & all human households in Normandy. Over many years it has been valued greatly & has been preserved by many Nature Conservation Societies.

1. All the roads, both main roads & small roads in this area get very congested. There is often a problem on the A3 or the A31 & this causes chaos in Normandy. To have such a large increase in traffic with the proposed plan would need a big road building plan to cope, & it is not clear where this road would go.

There are two railway bridges which provide very narrow access to the area of planned building between Glaziers Lane & Westwood Lane. Both these D & C roads are unsuitable for an increase in heavy traffic.

I understand that Guildford Borough needs to build more houses although I also understand that it is not clear how the stated requirements were reached. In the original draft 430 houses were proposed for Send; this went down to 185 in April of this year but has suddenly gone up again to 485 houses. This cannot be right. It is not also sensible to build these houses where the infrastructure is poor & where the roads cannot cope.

Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites 2016” Regulation 19 Consultation

I am very concerned at the way in which the new revised Local Plan has been developed & therefore object to it. Having waited an inordinate amount of time since the previous draft was thrown out in 2014 due to so much opposition throughout the borough, I fail to understand why you would accept a submission for the Garlick’s Arch development at such short notice. This was after the revised plan was submitted in April & enabled you to approve it a few days later at the extraordinary meeting on 24th May without anyone having a chance to comment on it. Why was an amendment needed at the last moment when this new plan has been two years in the making? It also seems that this plan is even worse than the 2014 draft plan & certainly ignores the majority of the comments that were made at the time.

I particularly object to Policy 43 - the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch which has significant implications for the local villages. The site has extensive ancient woodland which should not be destroyed. Previously the council has turned down development in this area due to the detrimental effect it would have on the Green Belt. Now the council proposes to go against its own advice. Small scale development was thought to be inappropriate & the council itself said, “There are no special circumstances which outweigh the substantial harm to the Green Belt…” so how can large scale development now be appropriate? The council needs to take notice of its own advice!
The scale & type of development is totally inappropriate for this area. The proposed 7000 sq. metres of industrial space would be much better situated at Slyfield. As the site floods, it is not suitable for this development nor the proposed 400 new houses. I do not believe that there is demand for so much commercial & industrial space. When premises have been made available previously through development in the village, it has proved very difficult to let or sell these sites. If there is demand, I do not know why the council removed the proposed plans for the North Slyfield Site from the local plan at the last moment.

In addition, the infrastructure cannot cope with large scale development. Local transport is extremely poor; bus times make it difficult to use buses to commute to the stations or to work in the towns & stop very early at night so are not suitable for evenings out, nor for young people going into the towns. Whole families have to rely on cars.

I object to Policy 43 - the proposal to build 400 new houses at the Garlick’s Arch as the site already floods and this would be made worse if the site was developed. In addition, the house called Oatlands in Burnt Common Lane had a proposal for 25 houses turned down a couple of years ago so how can it now be right to allow 400 houses? This increase in population would completely change the village & create lots of additional problems.

I also object to Policy 43A - the proposed changes to the A3 junction at Burnt Common. Traffic in the area has got a lot worse over the last five years & this proposal, if implemented, would make it significantly worse. The traffic already queues along Send Road & up Send Barns Lane to the Burnt Common roundabout in the morning rush hour. In the evening this is reversed as it queues back along Send Barns Lane & right through the village to Old Woking. This would be significantly worse if the proposed junctions were built & even worse if the development at Garlick’s Arch & the others which are proposed at Gosden Hill Farm & Wisley were to go ahead. Indeed Send would be grid-locked for much of the day, as it is currently when there is an accident on the M25 or A3.

I also object to Policy 44 - the proposed development on Send Hill, which was also not included in the draft plan, as the road narrows considerably where the proposed development is planned. Any development there would spoil this area which is set in beautiful countryside & should be protected as it is Green Belt. The site is also unsuitable as a travellers’ site as it is over a mile from the amenities of the village centre in a very quiet area.

You have broken the promises that were made at the last election and I am sincerely disappointed in the actions of the councillors on Guildford Borough Council. I sincerely hope that you will take note of my comments & revise the recommendations in the Local Plan. If you do not, then Send will be changed forever.

Please pass this letter on to the Planning Inspector as the significant changes you have proposed require another full consultation.

I object particularly to the threat to remove land from the Green Belt throughout Guildford Borough. I do not think that you should be considering changing the boundaries of the villages. The Green Belt was meant to be permanent & the government confirmed in 2014 that it did not expect councils to be developing plans such as this one. It has also stated its commitment for Green Belt protection. Once the land is out of the Green Belt, it is only a question of time before it is built on.
The whole point of the Green Belt is to prevent the countryside between villages & towns being built on & to prevent urban sprawl. The villages throughout the borough currently enjoy rural or semi-rural positions & they should not be changed into suburbs or towns. Send’s Green Belt provides an important buffer between Guildford & Woking which needs to be kept.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockburn Nursery as it increases the number of houses planned. I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because I am concerned at the addition of travelling/showpeople pitches as this seems inappropriate alongside houses. I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common which is a new addition to the previous plan despite being removed from the 2014 plan due to the large number of objections. It wants to add a minimum of 7,000 sq m with a potential for further industrial floorspace to be developed in the future. This would create an unacceptable volume of traffic on roads which are not suitable for large lorries. Traffic is already gridlocked through Send during the rush hour. In addition there is now evidence stating there has been a reduction in demand for industrial land in the borough NOT a huge increase! Building here would defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy P2

I am very concerned at the amendments which have been made to last year’s Local Plan. The Local Plan has been years in the making yet with each version, the proposals would make the environment in & around Send even worse. This is despite Send raising at least a third of the objections to the previous plans. The council is treating the villagers in contempt & is taking no notice of their valid & justifiable concerns. Therefore I object to the amendments in the latest version of the local plan.

I am very disappointed in the attitude of the Guildford Borough Council. They seem determined to take Send out of the Green Belt which is so important to keep it as a village & stop it merging with Guildford &/or Woking. This is despite the Government pledging to “maintain the existing strong protections on designated land like the green belt”. They have said that development on that land can only be permitted under “exceptional circumstances”. I do not believe that there are exceptional circumstances as Tom Fyans, director of campaigns and policy at the CPRE has said: “Green belt is being lost at an ever-faster rate, yet the type of housing being built now or in the future will do very little to address the affordable housing crisis faced by many families and young people.”

I do hope that you will finally take note of all the objections to your proposed development in Send. The Green Belt is precious in the SE where urban sprawl is an issue & should not be built on when there are “no exceptional circumstances.” Please add this letter to the letter that I wrote in June 2016 & pass both onto the inspectors

I object to the draft local plan on the grounds that Normandy does not need a secondary school.

A46 Strategic site was not proposed in previous documents and whereas it was “Safeguarded” it is still greenbelt land.

Keith Witham’s painstaking work of visiting all the nearby schools and discovery without doubt that they all have vacancies, 736 in fact, shows that a school is certainly not needed, in particular in a rural area on the edge of the borough in the middle of nowhere. Not to mention the 480 places which will be available at the new technical college in two years’ time. Over 1000 vacant school places already. A school in Normandy would be an empty embarrassment for GBC. There are no exceptional circumstances to justify the development of this greenbelt.

I object to the local plan because any development on A46 would hugely exacerbate the local traffic issues, Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane are just that, LANES. There is no way these 2 access lanes could be enlarged to carry double the amount of traffic. They are narrow, poorly maintained and with 2 dangerous railway bridges already the cause of accidents, one fatal, the village would be gridlocked in twice daily rush hours. This was proven this week while road works were being carried out on the A323 causing long tailbacks and bus delays of up to 40 minutes.

The fragility of these lanes is illustrated by our cracked drain in Glaziers Lane for the second time and still awaiting repair.

Water pressure can vary and is poor in times of high demand

Drainage: The sewage system is inadequate for the existing population and overflows in the lane after heavy rain, polluting the stream.

Doubling the population in the west of a building development would be disastrous.

I object to the local plan in the grounds of sustainability. A46 is too close to the Thames Basin special protection area. Such a large development would have serious deleterious effect on the wildlife in the area.

Flooding. I object to the plan because most of Normandy is subject to flooding. (See Flood Farming meeting minutes) The fields in question in A46 form a safety ‘Sponge’ for the village. Many have rushes growing indicating they are permanently wet. The churchyard immediately to the worth is frequently waterlogged and graves have to be pumped at times to permit burials – very unpleasant. Any Development in A46 would mean the ground water would be forced elsewhere and that means back onto existing dwellings. It has to go somewhere and in winter the ditches are often full.

Guildford Borough Council need to show they are ensuing ALL their brownfield land for building housing and building offices which stand empty.

They should convert existing empty commercial space to housing with a change of use.

History shows small planning applications for 1,2 or more small developments within the village have been consistently turned down by planning. These should be allowed to provide more housing in a more appropriate form where they are actually wanted.

This would have no impact on the infrastructure and would not rob us of our greenbelt.

It is quite obvious that site is cheaper and easier for planning to permit a few massive developments rather than lots of small ones. They should listen to what people actually want and if that had been happening for the last few appears the housing crisis would be less accurate.
A46 is the Metropolitan Greenbelt, it is not ours to destroy. It is what gives Guildford its green and pleasant surroundings. And we need to preserve it as was originally intended.

Many of the strategic sites e.g. Wisley Airfield and Garlick’s Arch, are in unsustainable locations. They do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. I object on the grounds that these sites are not sustainable.

National Green Belt Policy says in section:

* 2.6 It also states that villages should only be included in the Green Belt if the open character of the villages makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt (paragraph 86). ?

* The Horsley's should NOT. be removed from the green belt because they DO make an important contribution to the openness of the green belt and clearly is of open character. As far as I can gauge your voluminous planning documents are full of subjective judgements, not the least of which in relation to the Horsley's. Note the positioning of St. Mary's church (12th. Century historically important building and West Horsley Place, both still in the green belt and not included in your arbitrarily drawn village boundaries. In my opinion anyone viewing the Horsley's from a helicopter above the church would be hard pressed to prove that they do not make an important contribution to the green belt and open character.

* So I object to the removing of the Horsley's from the green belt on the basis of a judgement error made by your planners.

* I have some sympathy to the need for more housing but have the opinion (as your planning objectives also do) that the provision of these should NOT detrimentally change the character of the existing village. Many of the village population, many elderly inhabitants have lived there precisely because of its beauty and green openness and relatively rural nature. Dealing specifically with the three development sites in West Horsley north of the railway line, the plan is looking for the provision of more than triple the number of existing homes in that area. The density should be no more than the density of the existing area OR the character of the existing area is detrimentally changed. Big time!

* I object to the number of homes planned in these three developmental areas on the basis the village character will be detrimentally affected and disturb the wellbeing of the inhabitants.

* I also object to the density of the housing proposal on the basis that, if developed, the increase in population will overburden an already struggling road infrastructure and service providers like schools, medical centre and halls.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I again object to this new Plan insofar as it affects West Horsley:

Although the number of new houses has been modified the new number is still far too many to reasonably maintain the village character.

The density of new houses is about twice the density that exists and will totally transform the nature of West Horsley. Your planning objectives require you to maintain the general character of villages so planned new housing density should be halved to bring it more into line with existing.

Halving the density will also reduce the pressure on existing infrastructure and amenities which are already at capacity. The current Plan is therefor not sustainable but halving the number of new houses MAY be sustainable. To my mind it is a question of balance.

I also object to the removal of West Horsley from the Green Belt, the logic for so doing is flawed.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:
- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt increase tail backs on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

Having written in September 2014 to object to the original Draft Local Plan, I am deeply concerned about the 2016 Plan which seems virtually unchanged and containing the same flaws. Namely:

- The wholesale removal of rural villages, in particular Ripley, Wisley, Clandon, Send and E & W Horsley, from the Green Belt;
- The monster building proposals at Wisely, already rejected by the GBC as unsuitable, Burnt Common, Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm;
- As well as the proposed 385 new homes in my village, West Horsley, which is completely disproportionate to the 1,100 existing homes in the village - an expansion of the size of the village by nearly 40%;
- The evidence for this scale of new housing number, namely 14,000, is just not there; nor is the infrastructure in terms of shops, schools, doctors' surgeries, railways and car parks.

The proposals in this Plan are completely disproportionate and unjustified, and are a disservice to the need for a properly controlled expansion of our housing stock in the UK. I hereby register my objection to the 2016 Draft Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Whilst the number of new homes proposed for West & East Horsley have apparently been reduced, this still leaves over 500 new homes. This remains a disproportionate increase, particularly for West Horsley of roughly a third both in terms of village character and wider infrastructure.

4) The Wisley Airfield proposal for over 2,000 homes remains and again is completely disproportionate in terms of what the local infrastructure can accommodate and what is allowable on a brownfield site. Whilst some of the old hangar and office areas may qualify as 'pre-developed land' the old airfield and supporting roadways certainly do not.

I therefore register my objection to the Proposed Submission of the Local Plan on the above grounds, namely: a faulty forecast of housing growth, no changes to the proposed withdrawal of the above villages from the Green Belt and the completely disproportionate housing development proposals at West & East Horsley and Wisley Airfield.

A3 Highway Infrastructure

I OBJECT to the inclusion of land for new on/off slip roads at Burnt Common. These would draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic from the area and funnel it through the A247 through West Clandon and or the Ripley Road from East Clandon via HM Prison Ripley and Tithe Barns Road. Both these routes are narrow and dangerous and the addition of traffic to them to gain/leave A3 access would be seriously detrimental to both villages, in terms of road safety, road damage and air pollution.

Policy D4

I OBJECT to the insetting of villages a.k.a. removal of villages from Green Belt protection. I OBJECT to the insetting of West Clandon, Send, East Horsley and West Horsley which will have a detrimental impact on the openness of the Green Belt and the views in and out of the AONB.

These neighbouring village developments will result in higher density development, additional road traffic and use of infrastructure in our area.

Policy H3

I OBJECT to Rural Exception Homes that would be allowed to be permitted where the site adjoins or is closely related to a defined or a non-defined rural settlement on the grounds that this gives permission for development of these types of buildings in any area near existing dwellings. The wording of the policy is far too wide and as drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

Policy P2

I OBJECT to the many proposals that do not protect the Green Belt in the Borough. The Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and the local plan proposes that two thirds of the housing and industrial development is to be built on Green Belt land. The Green Belt was established in perpetuity to protect valuable countryside from the type of development now proposed. The proposals are not occasional, exceptional developments on Green Belt for special circumstances but development on the Green Belt on an enormous scale over various sites in the North East of the borough. By any measure the proposed developments on Green Belt are excessive and unsustainable.

I OBJECT to extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. The scope for development on the perimeters of Green Belt villages will result in inappropriate encroachment into the countryside.

I OBJECT that in 14 Villages in the Green Belt, “Limited infilling may also be appropriate outside the inset or identified settlement boundaries” as this will encourage large numbers of developments on village edges in the Green Belt which will inevitably impact the openness of the Green Belt.

I OBJECT to the enormous impact on the Green Belt of the proposals for large scale developments on Green Belt land at Wisley Airfield, Gosden Hill Farm, various sites in East and West Horsley and Garlicks Arch at Send. These proposed developments will have a huge impact on our local roads, rail services, medical facilities, shops and other infrastructure and will adversely affect our amenity and our tranquil rural village.

In regard to the proposed extension of the West Horsley village boundary into green belt land on the West side, I would like to register my strong disapproval.

If allowed, this extension would potentially allow development onto agricultural land that would seriously encroach onto the open outlook over a designated conservation area and National Trust land.

It is also an area susceptible to water flooding and so would adversely affect all existing houses in this immediate area.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]

adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the Council presenting this local plan without making amendments as proposed at the May Council meeting and subsequenwltly.

it must be pointed out that the majority of comments concerning the last draft were objections to over development but the Council wrongly claims these were in a minority. More honesty is required as part of the democratic process.

The SHMA is obviously too high. Although the GGG objections were partially inaccurate, Councillor Spooner stated that he would support a revision of the SHMA with amendments yet rejected the opportunity to do so when given - the SHMA needs to be reassessed properly without bias in favour of those who are likely to gain: this is fully documented.

Specific Revisions

Removal of Blackwell Farm entirely from the Plan. The access road is clearly not viable. This is part of the Hogs Back and crucial to the preservation of the Green belt and the AONB.

70% of the proposed new development is on Green Belt, this is in contravention of government guidelines, as previously documented and demonstrated. The situation has not changed to allow this over development.

The western extent of the Built zone should be the ancient woodland that borders Manor Farm (Manor Park) and Blackwell Farm, in the interest of retaining the integrity of the environment.

The University of Surrey has occupied much land with surface level car parks, land which should be used more efficiently.

The proposal to build on Wisley Airfield is erroneous because it is in crucial Green Belt and would subject infrastructure to unbearable pressure.

3. I Object to the development site allocation at Blackwell Farm site not having taken into account a more recent Landscape Character Assessment (LCA) carried out by consultant landscape architects that concludes much of the site should be included within the AONB in Natural England’s Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. The LCA was only published in May 2016 after the Local Plan was drafted and represents a change of circumstances that need to be addressed.

In light of this LCA it would seem to be prudent for any continued site allocation of this land to be qualified in the policy and supporting text to ensure that any development does not commence until completion of Natural England’s AONB Boundary Review and provided no part of the site is included within the AONB. The Plan should also provide for the development site allocation to be reviewed should the Boundary Review include any part of the site within the AONB.

Currently, no information is available for an AONB assessment to be made as to whether the proposed road access works and landscape changes proposed within the AONB would conserve its landscape and scenic beauty in accordance with Government policy. It would appear the works could damage the AONB significantly. If no sufficiently detailed drawings are available before the Local Plan EIP and an opportunity is given for a proper assessment to be made of the landscape implications, the Plan should make the allocation subject to the Council being satisfied, after taking advice, that no harm would be caused to the AONB, that no feasible alternatives are available or that any harm would be outweighed by the planning benefits arising from the proposed development of the site.

4. Objection 3 - Blackwell Farm site allocation

The Borough Council has reduced the extent of the site allocation for development of Blackwell Farm with the best of landscape intentions. The proposed vehicular access has moved from a high position on the Hogs Back that would have entailed significant engineering and road works and lighting within the heart of the AONB to a location on the edge of Guildford’s built up area and AONB. These changes are welcome but the revised proposed access creates new AONB implications.

At the time of writing no information is available as to the physical works within the AONB necessary to meet the substantial traffic flows to be the main access to serve the proposed development and provide an additional access for the Research Park and Hospital. It would seem that within the AONB there would be a new signals junction, new bridge over the A31 slip road onto the A3 and a new road running parallel and on higher land to the private driveway before crossing the drive to run parallel to it on the other and eastern side. The width of the bridge over the A3 would limit the scope for queuing lanes into the traffic signals junction and thereby its capacity. A roundabout might be better in highway terms but room does not appear to be available.

The works would involve substantial tree clearance and earthworks together with lighting at a high level visible in the wider landscape to the north. It would have the effect of extending the built up area of Guildford westwards. They would also open up to public view the proposed development from the A31 and those passing along the proposed new road having a degree of impact upon the setting of the AONB.

Government Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment – Landscape at paragraph 3 deals with proposals outside the boundaries of an AONB that might impact upon its setting. It refers to Section 85 of the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000 requiring councils, amongst other public bodies and persons to “have regard” to the purposes of AONBs. It goes on to state the following:

“This duty (to have regard) is particularly important to the delivery of the statutory purposes of protected areas. The duty applies to all local planning authorities, not just national park authorities. The duty is relevant in considering development proposals that are situated outside National Park or Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty boundaries, but which have an impact on the setting of, and implementation of, the statutory purposes of these protected areas.”

The Surrey Hills AONB Management Plan 2014-2019 contains a similar policy as follows:

“Policy LU5 - Development that would spoil the setting of the AONB, by harming public views into or from the AONB, will be resisted.”

The Landscape Character Assessment carried out by Hankinson Duckett Associates in connection with Natural England’s (NE) proposed Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review recommended a candidate area for possible AONB designation adjacent to the south west corner of the Blackwell Farm allocated site and west of the proposed access road. That would not only include landscape that they as specialist landscape consultants considered would meet NE’s latest criteria of natural beauty for inclusion within an AONB but in so doing would avoid the lack of any physical features the existing northern boundary line follows. That same latter thinking did not extend to the large rectangular field on the eastern side of the proposed access road north of the existing AONB boundary passing through the middle of an open field and abutting the southern boundary of the Blackwell Farm allocated site. Every prospect therefore exists that the inclusion of this northern part of the field would be included within the AONB in the Boundary Review. If that were to happen the whole of the southern boundary of the Blackwell Farm would abut the AONB and its allocation would further have to be considered against paragraph 3 of the Planning Practice Guidance on Natural Environment – Landscape, regarding not harming the setting of AONBs.
Since this draft plan was prepared the affected Parish Councils have commissioned a Landscape Character Assessment (LCA) of the area covered by the site allocation. Their consultant landscape architects assessed the allocated development site on the same basis that Hankinson Duckett Associates did in informing Natural England (NE) in preparation for the Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. They used NE’s latest criteria of “natural beauty” for inclusion in an AONB or National Park. The LCA concluded that much of the site should be included within the AONB in Natural England’s Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. Being published in May 2016 the LCA was unavailable to the Council in preparing this Local Plan and therefore is a change of circumstances that now needs to be addressed.

In light of this LCA it would seem to be prudent for any continued site allocation of this land to be qualified in the policy and supporting text to provide for any development not to commence until and provided NE do not include any part of the site within the AONB in its final Boundary Review. The Plan should also provide for the development site allocation to be reviewed should the Boundary Review include any part of the site within the AONB.

Notwithstanding the concern expressed above about the excessively high level of development growth, the plan has a built in buffer for some allocated sites, possibly including Blackwell Farm, to be later deleted if included within the AONB or at least not come forward for development during the plan period.

5. Objection 4 - Proposed Travellers Site, Valley Park Equestrian, East Shalford Lane, Shalford.

The site has already been granted permission for 3 pitches and the Local Plan proposal to increase the pitches to 5 would add to the harm caused to the appearance and character of the Surrey Hills AONB.

The site is located adjacent to the Reading to Redhill railway line on the side where there is very little development. Shalford is beyond to the west. The Royal Grammar School's playing fields are to the south and the built up area of Chilworth is to the south east. To the north east is a Pressure Reducing Station but since its structures are small and mostly dark olive green they are not conspicuous in landscape views. Further to the north is a sawmill and fencing contractor's yard on lower ground that has been long established probably before planning control.

The most important AONB consideration is that this is a generally unspoilt stretch of the railway line affording to rail travellers wonderful views of the Surrey Hills AONB towards The Chantries. The existing gypsy dwelling currently significantly detracts from that view. Further dwellings would be additionally incongruous.

The existing dwelling is noticeable and interrupts views of The Chantries from the close and well used public footpath abutting the south of the railway line. The site is not visible from the AONB to the north.

Whilst the difficulties encountered by local Planning Authorities in accommodating gypsies are appreciated, AONBs should be one of the last locations of search or considered to be acceptable for traveller sites. Policy LU1 of the Surrey Hills AONB Management Plan 2014-2019 where specific reference is made to development plan land allocations reads as follows.

"That in balancing different considerations associated with determining planning applications and development plan land allocations, great weight will be attached to any adverse impact that the proposal would have on the amenity, landscape and scenic beauty of the AONB."

Chilworth already has gypsy pitches to the east. Therefore the locality is already playing its part in accommodating the pressure for traveller sites.

6. I object to the omission of any qualification at the end of Policy E5 - Rural Economy that small scale rural offices and small scale rural development should accord with other policies in the plan. The supporting text to the policy should include reference to rural employment development only being acceptable where

- it would support local community facilities,
- it would assist the wellbeing of local communities,
- it would support the continued viability of the agricultural landscape, and
- where unacceptable additional traffic on unsuitable rural lanes would not be generated, and
- the landscape and scenic beauty of the AONB would be respected.

7. Objection 6 - AONB/AGLV rural economy considerations:

Surrey Hills AONB Management Plan 2014-2019 Policy LU4 includes development assisting the economic and social well being of residents. It reads as follows:

“Policy LU4 - Proposals that would assist in the continuation of direct agricultural and forestry businesses or benefit the social and economic well being of residents, including small scale affordable housing, will be supported, providing they do not conflict with the aim of conserving and enhancing the natural beauty of the landscape.”

The last sentence in Policy E5 – Rural Economy states without any qualification “the sequential approach will not be applied to applications for small scale rural offices or other small scale rural development."

Just as the first bullet point in the policy includes a qualification so it is asked that the words “provided they accord with other policies in the plan” be added to this last sentence.

It will be for the Council and Inspector to consider the approach to be taken to development associated with the rural economy outside the AONB/AGLV. However, a section along the following lines would be applicable to the AONB/AGLV and could be adapted to take into account other rural areas as well. Consequently, the supporting text to Local Plan Policy E5 on the Rural Economy should include the following.

“In considering whether employment generating development might assist the rural economy in the AONB/AGLV account will be given to the degree to which the development would contribute towards supporting local community facilities and the continued viability of the agricultural landscape. New employment not assisting the well being of local communities but generating jobs likely to be occupied by those needing to commute by private car and along unsuitable rural lanes, will be avoided. Employment generating development that would not conserve landscape and scenic beauty will not be permitted.”

As the Planning Adviser to the Surrey Hills AONB Board I would like both to support and raise concerns on various AONB aspects of the Plan on behalf of the Board. As I understand to be required at this stage of the Plan’s preparation the concerns are expressed in this document as objections.

1. Summary.

I Support the general avoidance of development allocations involving sites within the Surrey Hills AONB arising from the welcome priority the Council gives to conserving the landscape and scenic beauty of the AONB.

1. I Object to the wording of Policy P1 – Surrey Hills AONB as, unintentionally, it would give unclear and weak control over development affecting the AONB and is a retrograde step from the AONB Policy in the Draft Local Plan 2014. Revisions to the policy and supporting text are suggested for it to accord more closely with Government advice and the adopted Core Strategies of 3 of the 4 other Surrey Hills constituent planning authorities and emerging Draft Waverley Local Plan.

2. Objection 1 - Policy P1 - Surrey Hills AONB and AGLV.

Policy P1 is considered to lack sufficient guidance to those contemplating development and to the Planning Authority in determining applications. The policy also seems not to comply with the great weight Government policy requires to be given to conserving the landscape and scenic beauty of an AONB. Both of these problems are probably unintentional as it appears that the Council wishes to avoid development within the Surrey Hills AONB. Additionally, the Surrey Hills AONB Board considers there should be consistency in approach to managing development within the AONB amongst its constituent Planning Authorities. Of the 5 District and Borough constituent Planning Authorities, 3 have adopted Core Strategies with similar AONB and AGLV policies. The AONB/AGLV policy in this Guildford Local Plan should equally be similar to those 3 adopted Core Strategies. Lastly, the policy title should include reference to the AGLV as the policy includes reference to the management of development within the AGLV.
The suggested changes below are intended to strengthen and clarify Policy P1 and supporting text and to be more consistent with Government advice and the AONB/AGLV policies in the adopted Core Strategies in 3 of the other 4 constituent Surrey Hills planning authorities. They are also more in line with the emerging AONB/AGLV policy in the Draft Waverley Local Plan to be published in August 2016 which is the last local plan from a Surrey Hills Planning Authority.

The shaded text below is that in the Draft Plan with recommended additions underlined and the location of deletions indicated by words in brackets such as: (delete first sentence in current Draft Plan). As numerous changes are suggested to Policy P1 only the suggested text is set out below without any indication of the deletions and additions.

3. Objection 2 - Longer term harm to the Surrey Hills AONB and AGLV likely to result from the proposed high level of development.

Both the Local Plan and the Sustainability Appraisal have taken the objectively assessed needs housing figure from the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) as being the minimum amount of development to be provided for in the Local Plan. Moreover, the Local Plan has built in a buffer through providing for more than this calculated figure derived from the SHMA in case any sites do not come forward for development within the plan period. The Local Plan’s proposal to increase the Borough’s housing stock by 13,860 and population from 137,183 in 2011 to 162,188 in 2033 does not appear to have taken into account the approach set out in Government policy in NPPF paragraph 14 that states that local plans meet this figure unless specific policies (e.g. Green Belt, AONB and flooding policies) indicate development should be restricted.

The relevant part of NPPF paragraph 14 reads as follows.

“Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change, unless:
- any adverse impacts of so doing would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole; or
- specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.”

In the NPPF document the last qualification above relating to specific policies has a footnote listing those specific policies which include as examples AONB, Green Belt and flooding areas that are constraints directly applicable to Guildford Borough. This point was made in the Board’s submission to the draft Local Plan and no Council response can be found that the Council has addressed or rebutted it. In the meantime the Plan appears to conflict with Government policy.

The report of a consultant recognised in the field of SHMAs and acting for the Guildford Residents Association has been seen. The report seems to be an authoritative analysis of the SHMA and indicates that the resultant housing figure is too high. The scaling down of the SHMA housing figure would be very much welcomed from an AONB aspect.
Whilst the only housing site allocation having some effect upon AONB interests is for Blackwell Farm, no consideration seems to have been given to the pressures on the Surrey Hills AONB of such a substantial increase in population over a relatively short period of time and the potential harm this would cause. The Surrey Hills AONB is already subject to immense recreation pressures from residents and visitors that threaten its integrity as a natural landscape and one of scenic beauty. The Surrey Hills AONB is reaching the limit whereby it can take more human interference and still justify being designated a natural landscape of national importance.

The general avoidance in the draft local plan of allocations of land for development in the undeveloped parts of the AONB and AGLV is welcomed and supported. This also accords with the core planning principle set out in NPPF paragraph 17 which states that allocations of land for development should prefer land of lesser environmental value.

The NPPF requires great weight to be given to protecting the AONB within the Borough. The Council is therefore asked to give that same great weight to its responsibility towards the future protection of the Surrey Hills AONB as a national asset in tempering the level of development growth in the local plan. With so much of the Borough subject to restrictive national planning policies, NPPF paragraph 14 gives the Council the justification for not meeting its objectively assessed development needs. This may accord with most of the expressed views of the local communities in the previous draft plan, which if is still the case, would suggest that this level of development does not have local support.

Through providing so much development in this local plan the Council is building up future problems. This is because there would be a substantially higher population and greater numbers of people employed that would generate their own propensity to grow and need further development. Future local plans would then have to cater for even greater pressure for further additional development on a compound basis leading to about a doubling of the Borough’s population by the end of the century. In short, the more this local plan provides for employment development and the population of the Borough to grow, the more development future local plans are likely to have to facilitate. There would be little choice but for the built up areas to extend outwards into protected countryside. From an AONB aspect this will put the Surrey Hills AONB and its setting under greater pressure for development. There has to be a limit to which further development growth can be accommodated all things considered. There is no evidence this has been considered.

Although, the Council may consider its draft local plan meets the needs of the present population, it will compromise the ability of future generations to meet their own quality of life needs. Future generations and businesses will increasingly value the AONB setting of Guildford and enjoyment gained from beautiful landscapes of the Borough offering relief from the stresses of modern life. Consequently, proposing so much development over a relatively short period of time probably does not meet the accepted international definition of sustainable development.

The significant contribution the Surrey Hills AONB makes to people’s quality of life, is not just for the local population but being a national landscape designation, for a much wider and growing population in London and for other visitors.

The Sustainability Appraisal seems merely to have set out to justify the proposed level of growth and has not critically appraised it or even considered that a lower level of growth might be more sustainable. The Appraisal is therefore considered to be flawed and inadequate, and has not properly considered the protected landscape implications of the proposed very high level of growth. A local plan with a more balanced and sustainable approach to development would appear to be more appropriate and the Inspector is asked to refer the plan back to the Council for reconsideration in line with the approach set out in national planning policy set out in NPPF paragraph 14.

6. Objection 5 - Proposed extension to the Area of Great Landscape Value:

It may seem odd to express concern about a proposal to extend a protected landscape but the proposal to extend the AGLV across the intensively developed areas of Shalford seems to serve no useful purpose and would devalue existing AGLV. Policy P1, both as in the Submission Version and as suggested in this document, refer to protecting the distinctive character of the AGLV itself. But these built up areas are so intensively developed that they do not have any landscape relevance or share similar distinctive landscape characteristics of neighbouring countryside designated as AGLV. It appears therefore this proposal may be a drafting error.

8. Objection 6 - Extension to and replacement of buildings in the Green Belt and AONB/AGLV

There has been concern that within the Borough larger house extensions and replacement buildings have been permitted in the AONB/AGLV than in other constituent Surrey Hills planning authorities. Some of these have harmed the landscape and scenic beauty of such areas. It appears that if the proposal meets the Council’s interpretation of national and local Green Belt policies the development should be permitted without giving sufficient weight to any harm to the AONB/AGLV.

Reference is made in paragraphs 4.3.20 and 4.3.22 to a forthcoming Green Belt Supplementary Planning Document that would cover extensions to dwellings and replacements. That may be some time off. In view of the concern expressed above, the additional sentence to the reasoned justification for the policy at paragraph 4.3.11 set out in section 2 of this submission is asked to be included. It reads:

“4.3.11 Whilst a proposed development, including to extend, alter or replace a building may meet Green Belt policy, the vigilant exercise of development management powers to ensure that the landscape and scenic beauty of the AONB is conserved may result in the development not being permitted.”

Finally, it is hoped the Council can revise the relevant texts of the Submitted Version Local Plan to take into account the above concerns and suggestions. Otherwise, the Inspector is asked to recommend the requested changes.

The Council is thanked for its positive responses to most of the changes the Board suggested to this section of the Local Plan and its recognition of the national importance given to protecting the character of the AONB landscape.

The volume of additional housing and the accompanying loss of Green Belt land required to accommodate this is a brutal over-reaction to genuine planning needs. These latest proposals appear to be cruelly based around some artificially drawn numbers already challenged without adequate reply in response to earlier consultations on this matter. The methodology employed for the SHMA remains a complete mystery and its subsequent handling by GBC is beyond reason. The only clear impression that leaves is of a design that simply seeks to identify all green spaces adjacent to existing housing and calculating the number of new dwellings that could be sited using a standard model to produce a number. We do not need a complex planning process and the use of expensive private consultants to reach such a flawed outcome. Any number of residents in the Horsleys could identify the selected plots if asked.

I write to express my total opposition to the Horsleys and surrounding villages being removed from the Green Belt at a time when pollution is as high if not higher than seventy years ago when the Green Belt was conceived to act as the "lungs" for London. Traffic on the M25 and A3 is frequently at a standstill with diesel and petrol fumes pumping out and similarly on local roads at peak times. Now is not a time to be surrendering our wonderful green spaces so carefully protected over the years. Irrespective of concerns over pollution it is irresponsible to plan such major housing development without proper consideration for improved infrastructure to support this growth. As things stand I see no evidence to suggest that such essential supporting planning has been considered. The Horsleys and surrounding villages cannot possibly cope with such large scale as that proposed. With the Government now having a re-think about population growth post Brexit should GBC not be doing the same?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1) At peak times in particular, movement on local roads, being no more than country lanes, is thoroughly congested. Travel between villages can be very time consuming and I am sure I do not need to draw your attention to the wider problems with the A3 and M25 which frequently can be locked to a standstill even at weekends.

2) Over recent years we have seen regular flooding along the Ockham road. While in other years we have experienced near droughts and hose pipe bans. Who will guarantee the water supply and drainage for the enlarged villages?

3) Parking at the local shops and GP surgery is already a problem.

4) The local Raleigh school is already full to bursting with pupil numbers.

5) Many of these overcrowding problems would be made much worse still if the proposed development of Wisely Airfield were to go ahead.

6) An absolute priority if any additional new housing is to be approved must be to agree on a new, larger, better suited location for the Raleigh school. The school has completely outgrown its current site after many years of expansion. The school's separate sports field off East Lane is little used because of its detachment. I have suggested in previous planning consultations that an ideal location for a new enlarged school would be to build on land at Manor Farm adjacent to the Horsley football club pitches. There is an opportunity here for sharing of the sports facilities (many of the Raleigh school pupils are already members of the club) plus a tennis court and an excellent nature reserve in Ben's Wood. The location could provide easy access and parking away from key roads and any concentration of housing. I have recently seen a document proposing to site a new Raleigh school building within the open fields along East Lane. I believe this to be a much inferior choice of location to that which I am proposing for all the reasons given.

One further point concerning any new location for the Raleigh school would be how to make best use of the residual land. I'm sure others will have views as regards new housing on the Northcote site. I will confine my views to the playing field off East Lane. I would expect this to be surrendered as part of any agreement to relocate the school and would accept that this could provide land for additional housing. If this were to happen, it would give an extremely beneficial opportunity to provide an alternative pedestrian route from East Lane to the Railway Station avoiding the use of the Ockham Road. With rain, the latter is frequently running like a river because of inadequate drainage creating a water splash from passing vehicles that is difficult to avoid. Commuters in the dark evenings are especially vulnerable. The speed of passing vehicles, many of commercial size, can also be of concern given the limited width of the road.

I hope you will find these views helpful.

The key evidence document "Guildford Borough Council Economic Strategy 2013 - 2031" makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in West or East Horsley.
Any village expansion is unsuitable as there is only one small shop, no post office and a very limited weekday only bus service.
The homes building proposals are totally unsuitable in terms of schooling, medical services, water supply, drainage, roads capacity, shops parking in East Horsley and public
There are no more school places left in the State Primary School which serves both West and East Horsley and this has been the situation for the past few. The Raleigh School is now seeking to move to larger premises in order to expand and lose the twice daily school run with parking clogging up a small residential road when even the parents have parking difficulties let alone the residents.
The private schools in Horsley are well attended with many pupils travelling in by car which only adds to the worsening traffic situation.
The Medical Centre is always very busy with residents experiencing difficulties in obtaining their preferred appointments and a car parking.
Car parking at East Horsley shops, Station, Library, Post Office and the Medical Centre is now becoming more and more. Any increase in the area, particularly the large population addition proposed will make parking and movement into and through the village a real problem which has not been given any consideration under this plan.
The entire infrastructure is already at bursting point and no details of any proposals for West Horsley have been found in any of the Local Plan.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

POLICY I 1 AND APPENDIX C – INFRASTRUCTURE AND DELIVERY

As anyone who driven on the roads around Guildford in peak times can see, the cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in draft Local Plan will be to increase congestion even with the proposed highway schemes in place. I therefore dispute the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that would be caused by the growth anticipated in the draft Local Plan. Congestion would only worsen; the network would lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents; and minor roads would have to cope with a lot more traffic for which they are wholly unsuitable.

I therefore object to this policy since the additional traffic generated by the proposed developments would increase traffic congestion to an unacceptable level.

POLICY 13 AND APPENDIX C - SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT FOR NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The proposals that I have seen are likely to cause gridlock in Burpham if Gosden Hill Farm is developed as proposed. It would only increase traffic congestion as the roads to be used cannot take cycle and bus lanes in the way proposed without having a detrimental effect on vehicle movements due to the narrowness of the roads that it is proposed would be included. Vehicles that would still need to access the town centre would suffer serious delays.

I therefore object to the proposed development of the Sustainable Movement Corridor as it is neither cost effective and nor is it realistic to expect the corridor to deliver the benefits described.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The proposals in the draft Local Plan for Gosden Hill Farm would have a serious adverse impact on Merrow and not just Burpham itself. This development should not be in the Local Plan as it is a key area of the Green Belt around Guildford.

I am aware that the landowners applied for outline planning consent for homes, industrial units, a railway station, a new rail bridge and a perimeter road in 1982 and 1984 and the application was refused by GBC and went to appeal. The landowners lost the appeal in 1985. The case put to the Inspector by the Council’s expert representatives said that ‘the development of the site would constitute an urban encroachment into the surrounding countryside situated within the Metropolitan Green Belt and would prejudice the long established principle of endeavouring to prevent the coalescence of settlements’ contrary to Government advice. Nothing has changed in this respect since 1985 and before that since the Metropolitan Green Belt was established after the Second World War. It is also interesting to note that the application included a four way junction with the A3 on the site.

If Gosden Hill Farm were to be retained in the Local Plan, I have the following comments:-

There is a suggestion that a tunnel might be built to relieve pressure on the A3. Proposals are awaited from Highways England. Any upgrading of the A3 or construction of a tunnel would and could not be constructed until the 2020’s at the earliest. If a tunnel were to be built it would probably have to have an entrance on a considerable area of land on Gosden Hill Farm. No land has been identified for this purpose but only for an A3 south bound intersection. Any further consideration of the development of Gosden Hill Farm should be postponed until the plans of Highways England are known for the A3.

There should be a four way junction with the A3 on the Gosden Hill Farm site. Unless such a junction is in place the development should not take place. It is totally unacceptable for traffic for London from the site having to go into and through Burpham to join the A3 to go north. Burpham is already a congested traffic hot spot and is frequently overwhelmed by traffic. Additional traffic from this site and additional traffic to and from the new Slyfield development would make the situation in Burpham impossible and totally unacceptable to everyone who currently needs access to and through Burpham.

The wording in the draft Local Plan dealing with the timing of infrastructure construction at Gosden Hill Farm is too vague and a licence for developers to manoeuvre round it to the detriment of local residents. The necessary infrastructure must be built at the same time as the development and the four way junction with the A3 must be open before any houses are occupied.

The proposed rail station at Merrow is also an aspiration and has been for decades. The draft Local Plan is devoid of any detail nor is it clear as to where the main buildings would be erected. If they are to be on the present Merrow Depot site, the traffic implications would be serious. Not only would there be increased traffic from 2,000 new homes at Gosden Hill Farm, there would be a large volume of additional regular, daily traffic going to and from the station. The small lane that leads up to Merrow Depot is inadequate and the junction going into the lane is too small for large volumes of traffic and struggles even with existing levels. The railway bridge and junction are inadequate for the new housing development let alone the addition of the anticipated additional traffic going to and from the station daily, day and night. There is potential for a bus service also to be added increasing the problems.

This proposed development is covered in part by the Burpham Neighbourhood Plan. Appendix 3 site 2 and site 3 describes the ‘Green Cathedral’ in Merrow Lane which is protected as it is common land. This strip of land running down Merrow Lane between the Merrow Lane and Gosden Hill Farm does not form part of Gosden Hill Farm. It should therefore be made clear that the common land in Merrow Lane is protected and may not be used for access to any development on Gosden Hill Farm.

POLICY A25 – GOSDEN HILL FARM

The proposals in the draft Local Plan for Gosden Hill Farm would have a serious adverse impact on Merrow and not just Burpham itself. This development should not be in the Local Plan as it is a key area of the Green Belt around Guildford.

If Gosden Hill Farm were to be retained in the Local Plan, I have the following comments:-
There is a suggestion that a tunnel might be built to relieve pressure on the A3. Proposals are awaited from Highways England. Any upgrading of the A3 or construction of a tunnel would and could not be constructed until the 2020’s at the earliest. If a tunnel were to be built it would probably have to have an entrance on a considerable area of land on Gosden Hill Farm. No land has been identified for this purpose but only for an A3 south bound intersection. Any further consideration of the development of Gosden Hill Farm should be postponed until the plans of Highways England are known for the A3.

There should be a four way junction with the A3 on the Gosden Hill Farm site. Unless such a junction is in place the development should not take place. It is totally unacceptable for traffic for London from the site having to go into and through Burpham to join the A3 to go north. Burpham is already a congested traffic hot spot and is frequently overwhelmed by traffic. Additional traffic from this site and additional traffic to and from the new Slyfield development would make the situation in Burpham impossible and totally unacceptable to everyone who currently needs access to and through Burpham.

The wording in the draft Local Plan dealing with the timing of infrastructure construction at Gosden Hill Farm is too vague and a licence for developers to manoeuvre round it to the detriment of local residents. The necessary infrastructure must be built at the same time as the development and the four way junction with the A3 must be open before any houses are occupied.

The proposed rail station at Merrow is also an aspiration and has been for decades. The draft Local Plan is devoid of any detail nor is it clear as to where the main buildings would be erected. If they are to be on the present Merrow Depot site, the traffic implications would be serious. Not only would there be increased traffic from 2,000 new homes at Gosden Hill Farm, there would be a large volume of additional regular, daily traffic going to and from the station. The small lane that leads up to Merrow Depot is inadequate and the junction going into the lane is too small for large volumes of traffic and struggles even with existing levels. The railway bridge and junction are inadequate for the new housing development let alone the addition of the anticipated additional traffic going to and from the station daily, day and night. There is potential for a bus service also to be added increasing the problems.

This proposed development is covered in part by the Burpham Neighbourhood Plan. Appendix 3 site 2 and site 3 describes the ‘Green Cathedral’ in Merrow Lane which is protected as it is common land. This strip of land running down Merrow Lane between the Merrow Lane and Gosden Hill Farm does not form part of Gosden Hill Farm. It should therefore be made clear that the common land in Merrow Lane is protected and may not be used for access to any development on Gosden Hill Farm.

Too much critical information is missing from this proposal and far too much is aspirational and therefore has to be taken on trust which I am not prepared to do.

The University of Surrey should be required to build far more than 60% of accommodation for those of their students who wish to live on campus thereby relieving pressure on rented accommodation in Guildford where so many students now live. This would then release accommodation onto the open housing market. Student accommodation should be an equal priority with the development and expansion of the University itself.

In paragraph 4.2.3 the need for 242 registered care bedspaces is mentioned. On page 18 the LAA provision for 51 bedspaces at 179 Epsom Road, Merrow (LAA site 2235) is highlighted. However, on page 183 of the LAA the site is described as a vacant care home where there is a planning application for 24 dwellings which has been refused and is going to appeal. It seems more likely than not that at some stage in the future the former Redwood Care Home will make way for residential development and the relevant document should be amended to accurately reflect the position.

As anyone who driven on the roads around Guildford in peak times can see, the cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in draft Local Plan will be to increase congestion even with the proposed highway schemes in place. I therefore dispute the conclusion that the developments would have ‘an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF’. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that would be caused by the growth anticipated in the draft Local Plan. Congestion would only worsen; the network would lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents; and minor roads would have to cope with a lot more traffic for which they are wholly unsuitable.

The proposals that I have seen are likely to cause grid lock in Burpham if Gosden Hill Farm is developed as proposed. It would only increase traffic congestion as the roads to be used cannot take cycle and bus lanes in the way proposed without having a detrimental effect on vehicle movements due to the narrowness of the roads that it is proposed would be included. Vehicles that would still need to access the town centre would suffer serious delays.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The draft Local Plan breaches section 9 of the NPPF by allowing large scale development in the Green Belt across the borough. This is also in conflict with the provisions of the NPPG and advice from Ministers in the Department of Communities and Local Affairs.

According to para 79 of the NPPF “The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.” The proposed new developments on the north east side of the borough at Wisley, Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm would result in continuous development from the M25 down the A3 into Guildford and destroy the green ribbon along the A3. This is totally unacceptable.

Whilst GBC have taken the view that extensive building in the Green Belt may be necessary, they have been unable to justify such development which would be harmful not only to the Green Belt but also to the borough itself. I consider the case for making such large inroads into the Green Belt has not been substantiated as it based on a SHMA in which, as argued above, the OAN is too high The Plan’s approach to the Green Belt is more aligned to the needs of developers who naturally would prefer to built on open land without any existing structures. The Plan does not give sufficient weight to the harm to the Green Belt that the proposed developments would cause.

The NPPF provides that local planning authorities should, through their Local Plans, meet objectively assessed needs unless any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole or where specific policies in the Framework indicate development should be restricted. Such policies include those relating to land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty and locations at risk of flooding.

As I understand it, the council should assess its housing need is and then, when drawing up the housing target, determine whether environmental constraints e.g. Green Belt, will hinder the ability to meet that need, and so reduce the target to a number which is deliverable without having to ignore environmental constraints.
The NPPG provides that unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt. I am aware of clear Ministerial guidance on building in the Green Belt e.g.:-

“the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

“...we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

“Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014.

I am also aware of the guidance given by the DCLG to their Inspectorate in December 2014 that the outcome of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment is untested and should not automatically be seen as a proxy for a final housing requirement in Local Plans. This is just what GBC have done and I do not consider that GBC has made the case for so much land being removed from the Green Belt for development.

I object to this policy as it does not follow the NPPF, the NPG nor the advice of Ministers in the DCLA on how constraints should be applied.

This policy is based on the Evidence Base of the Strategic Housing Market Assessment. The housing target of 37,200 new homes during the plan period is obviously too high and based on OAN data in GL Hearn’s report that many organisations in Guildford have questioned e.g. new ONS statistics for a lower predicted population of Guildford; and high net international migration which is wrongly associated with the University and is now much more unlikely as a result of BREXIT.

The housing target does not reflect the real constraints in the borough, that Guildford is a gap town and that constraints should be applied to the overall housing target as well as on a site by site basis, in accordance with paragraph 14 of the NPPF and paragraph 044 of the Planning Guidance. In particular the Green Belt as a critical constraint has not been given sufficient weight.

POLICY S2- PLANNING FOR THE BOROUGH

I object to this policy as it does not follow the NPPF, the NPG nor the advice of Ministers in the DCLA on how constraints should be applied.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

These comments are in addition to my previous email of objection dated 4/7/2016 which is attached for convenience.

I also attach a map of the parcel of land in question, which is the triangle of land behind Findon Lodge, 1 to 10 Christmas Hill and the 6 premises on Milkwood. Ashley house is incorrectly shown on the map.

I have researched the census records in the late 1800s and have established that properties 1-10 Christmas Hill were built prior to 1881. I suspect both Findon Lodge and the dairy on Milkwood were built then too.

It is no accident that the properties were built where they were.

Because of the ridge that runs behind these houses and is the current settlement boundary (West-East) the properties cannot be seen from the south (for example Chinthurst Hill).

The ridge immediately behind Findon lodge has been dug out at some point so that the ridge is now some metres south of the original line ------ but it is still there.

I believe the existing settlement boundary behind Christmas Hill and Shalford Village Hall should not be changed. There is no reason to change it.

If GBC decide the land behind the Village Hall is to be included in the settlement, I propose the new boundary should be as indicated by the white line shown on the attached map. The new boundary would be the ridge behind the Christmas Hill properties and the ancient path that runs from Chinthurst Hill to Shalford Common to the west of the land in question/

I refer to the land behind the Christmas Hill properties and Shalford Village Hall.

I see that you are preposing to move the green belt status for these fields and extend the village boundary to include these fields, making it easier to develop.

I object to these changes because

The elevation of this land is 32 ft above Christmas Hill and Kings Road. Any housing development would tower over the village community facilities and surrounding area including the ancient Shalford Common. Any development would be easily seen from Chinthurst Hill, from the Chantry and the Downs link national trail.

The land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village community facilities.

Access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane, an already heavily congested lane.

Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary changes last year. The Parish Council also objects to the boundary changes. As you can imagine the issue has united the local community.

If Guildford Borough Council support the express views of the local residents to protect these fields from development, they should retain them within the current green belt boundary and keep them outside the village settlement boundary.

The boundary has been there for a very long time and should remain in place.

There is no justification for the proposed change.

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, and that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously.

I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield) where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Committee. Serious concerns have also been raised about this site by a number of authoritative sources, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the former Wisley Airfield, Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan.

I object to the detrimental impact on transport. The local roads are small, narrow country roads, already threatened by the current level of traffic through Ockham, the Horsleys, Ripley and Effingham. Adding another several thousand residents to this road infrastructure would be totally unacceptable in terms of safety, pollution and added congestion. Walking and cycling along the roads would be even more dangerous than it already is. In addition, the local rail stations of Horsley and Effingham cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking.

I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated without having to encroach on Green Belt land. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. It is obvious that residents of rural villages have made a choice to live in a rural, rather than semi-urban setting, and it is thus far preferable to plan large housing developments in areas that are already urban or semi-urban. Most residents of these villages understand and accept the need for some degree of housing development, but it must remain proportionate to the size of those villages, so that they can maintain their character, and the local infrastructure does not become overwhelmed.

2. It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.
3. It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10)
4. Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc). There are no plans to alleviate the sudden increase in traffic on these narrow country lanes that would result from this new development.
5. Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded SRN and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.
6. Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe.

7. It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000/annum.
   - The associated traffic increase from the RHS has not been taken into account.
   - The regular events at the RHS which attract thousands more visitors several times a year and the resultant traffic has not been taken into account.

8. There is insufficient employment available onsite so that almost all residents will have to travel to work. It is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle on narrow unlit local roads on a regular basis. Parking facilities at the Horsley and Effingham stations are totally unfit to accommodate the onslaught of new vehicles from this proposed development.

9. I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House negatively impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.

10. I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification.

11. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation why the council think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.

12. I object to the fact that there is no clear justification for the removal of one strategic site over site A35.

13. I object to the inclusion of a 10% buffer in the housing number over the plan period. This is unnecessary.

14. I object to the housing number and particularly the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe that the housing number is unsound and open to legal challenge.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

I write to OBJECT to the Local Plan presented by Guildford Borough Council.

The inclusion of the Former Wisley Airfield site is unrealistic in its size and location. All the roads in this area are narrow, unlit and do not have footpaths. How can we envisage that residents will walk or cycle two miles to the nearest station, or that children will be allowed to cycle four miles to school on narrow country lanes? This plan is unworkable. The impact on traffic on the A3 even if the M25 junction 10 is improved, would be huge and unworkable. The traffic would also impact on an already poor air quality in this area.

The proposed Wisley Airfield site is in the Green Belt and not appropriate for housing, the local plan should ensure that affordable housing is located into the future in town settings where workplaces are within walking and cycling distance.

The impact of extra housing so close to the TBHSPA will have an adverse effect on the protected site, both by numbers of people, air quality and increased traffic. The present airfield has many priority and protected species of birds which feed on the arable fields, which are the main areas on the old airfield site, the hardstanding is less than 15% of the whole site.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

The local plan seeks to add approximately 5,000 new houses in an area within a 5 mile radius of East Horsley. This number of new houses is unsustainable in this small area – it will almost double the number of houses currently in the villages of East and West Horsley. I object to the inclusion of such a large number of new houses in this area and consider that the local plan should be amended to take out any sites which are on Green Belt land.

I wish to object to the local plan, particularly in regard to the former Wisley Airfield site which I believe is allocation A35.

The site is in such a position where local roads are very narrow and have no footpaths or cycle paths or indeed any way of adding them. Any housing on this site would be reliant on cars and could generate at least 4,000 car movements a day, the A3 and J10 of the M25 cannot cope with this additional traffic, even with the proposed changes to J10. When events are held at Wisley RHS gardens the roads are solid and they intend to increase visitor numbers by 500,000 per annum.

The site is greenbelt, it is farmland and it adjacent to the TBHSPA which would be over run by dog walkers and further affected by already high pollution levels.

Current studies show that young people and downsizers want to live in towns where they can walk to work, walk to train stations and out in the evenings to leisure facilities. All households on this site would need to drive daily for both work and leisure. The site is in isolated green belt farming country. For the developers to suggest that people could walk or cycle to the station is nonsense, this site is in the wrong place for development.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix D: Evidence base
Housing Numbers: these are the key drivers of the draft Plan. The numbers coming out of the strategic housing needs assessment and feeding into all the work underpinning the draft Plan ought to be ones which have been thoroughly analysed, tested and widely discussed and agreed amongst all GBC councillors. Quite inexplicably, this has not happened. As I understand it, part of the analysis and process to produce the numbers has been less than transparent; and the numbers are not fully endorsed by councillors as the best available.

This is extremely concerning and not how ratepayers expect their Council to be conducting themselves in dealing with such an important issue. There should have been a fully open and democratic debate about what are key inputs to the planning process.

As the detailed Clandon submission points out, with Guildford being so close to London, the potential for growth could be unbounded: if we provide more houses, more people from London will come to live here. We need to be sure that our housing requirements make proper provision for the organic growth of our community and are not set to suck in additional growth from the London area. It is concerning that Guildford seems to be planning significantly more development than other boroughs in Surrey. Local people want sensible growth but not hot-house growth which positively seeks to attract many thousands of new people and jobs into the area and destroys the rural/urban balance which makes our area such an attractive place to live.

In any event, post-Brexit, the housing numbers will surely need to be revisited as both immigration and economic growth are expected now to be lower in the future than they would have been. This will give the Council the opportunity for a fully open debate about the figures and how they have been pulled together.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Infrastructure: the draft Plan asserts that provision of appropriate infrastructure is at the heart of the Council’s strategy and that all new development will have appropriate supporting infrastructure. Yet this is manifestly not the case. There is no way that the A3, as it currently is, can take the strain of extra traffic from 4000+ new houses. It is already seriously over-congested and traffic slows to a crawl at several points during each day. The draft Plan talks about requiring developers to fund improved access for traffic from their new developments but the A3 is national, not local, infrastructure and the traffic demands of the developments proposed require very substantial new investment in a major traffic project, not just a few extra roundabouts. It would be irresponsible to press ahead with the Gosden Hill and Wisley developments without a firm commitment to major improvements to the A3. The draft Plan makes clear that, while such a project is on the Department of Transport long list, it is not yet a firm commitment and we won’t know before 2020 whether it will get on the next list of firm commitments and what the timing might be. With expectations of lower national growth and lower revenues for central government now, post-Brexit, projections for 2020 and beyond must be very uncertain. If there is to be any development along the A3 corridor it should be shelved until there is a firm commitment from DoT for a major upgrade. Otherwise, you condemn this area of the borough to about 20 years of gridlock.

The proposals for Garlick’s Arch are another example of where infrastructure concerns have not been properly examined. The idea of making a 4-way junction here off the A247 is seriously flawed. There is no way that the A247 through Clandon village could be a sensible feeder road for a junction of this size. There is a serious pinch point in the centre of the village which is unpassable if 2 lorries are coming in opposite directions. Lorries regularly mount the pavement which is well-used at certain times of day with children being walked to the village school. It is already an accident waiting to happen and the Council is aware from e-petitions and protests about the strength of concern in the village about it. To propose actually increasing traffic through the village is unthinkable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• Strategic Balance: the draft Plan stresses the importance of the Green Belt but then proceeds to eat into it in a completely unbalanced way. This area of the borough (Clandon and Send) is taking a disproportionate share of the new building requirements over the Plan period. Together with Wisley, we end up with an urban swathe running from the M25 through to Burpham. This will completely change the nature of the whole of this part of the borough. It is not what local people want, as has been very clear from responses to previous consultations.

I am a resident of West Cladon and I have strong objections to parts of the proposed 2017 Plan. I fully support the very thorough arguments set out in detail by the Cladon Society which will also have been repeated by a great many local residents. The proposals will have an extremely serious impact on our village, putting unsustainable and dangerous pressure on the A247 main road and effectively embedding West Cladon in a corridor of urban extension/sprawl spreading from the A3/M25 interchange to the edge of Guildford.

You will be aware that there is a lot of serious concern amongst the residents of West Cladon about the proposals in the Plan for the reasons set out above. Our village will be overwhelmed with traffic, as will other parts of this area of the borough. The changes in the proposals for Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common between this version of the Plan and the previous one, on top of the proposal for a 4-way junction, have only made the impact worse.

- Housing Development: the overall, cumulative impact of the Gosden Hill, Burnt Common, Garlick’s Arch and Wisley developments means that there is almost continuous urban development along this bit of the A3. In other areas of the borough, positive steps have been taken to avoid coalescence through new developments. Yet here the opposite approach is being proposed of sacrificing Green Belt land and creating a solid swath of development.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
• Road Infrastructure: the draft Plan acknowledges that new developments have to be supported by appropriate infrastructure but the cumulative impact of the developments mentioned above on both the A3 and the A247 is not recognised.

A247: there are already serious traffic issues in our village, notably at the pinch point in the heart of the village (and only a 100 yards or so from the school) where two cars can pass but not wider vehicles. Residents of the village have been vociferously urging traffic calming measures for some years now. The road cannot realistically support any significant increase in traffic, let alone the very major impact from the Burnt Common and Garlick’s Arch developments which will inevitably send a lot more traffic through the village, increasing both domestic and more particularly commercial traffic given the nature of the new proposals for Burnt Common. Some of the commercial traffic will be very large vehicles given what is proposed for the latter site and will be dangerous when negotiating the pinch point. The 4-way junction being considered for the A3 at Burnt Common will not alleviate any of these problems but simply further increase traffic through the village, in particular from the Gosden Hill development which is to be linked directly to the A3.

A3: the draft Plan recognises the pressure already on the A3 through Guildford, although it seem to seriously underplay the throttling impact this road has on the town on a regular basis – only today I have spent half an hour in gridlocked traffic for no apparent reason other than the volume of traffic feeding into the 2-lane section. Getting developers to finance the local infrastructure to join up developments to the A3 is not going to improve the flow of traffic on the A3 itself: it can only increase the pressure on it. It is hard to believe that 4 major developments are being proposed along a road which is already over-stretched.

There should be no commitment to such a huge increase in traffic volumes unless there is a correspondingly firm commitment from Highways England to a major upgrade to the A3 to support the development and to ensure that Guildford is not overwhelmed with traffic delays.

Attached documents:
I refer to the land behind the Christmas Hill properties and Shalford Village Hall.

I see that you are proposing to move the green belt boundary to exclude these fields and extend the village boundary to include these fields, making it easier to develop.

I object to these changes because:

The elevation of this land is 32 ft above Christmas Hill and Kings Road. Any housing development would tower over the village community facilities and surrounding area including the ancient Shalford Common. Any development would be easily seen from Chinthurst Hill, from the Chantry and the Downs link national trail.

The land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village community facilities.

Access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane, an already heavily congested lane.

Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary changes last year. The Parish Council also objects to the boundary changes. As you can imagine the issue has united the local community.

If Guildford Borough Council support the express views of the local residents to protect these fields from development, they should retain them within the current green belt boundary and keep them outside the village settlement boundary.

The boundary has been there for a very long time and should remain in place.

There is no justification for the proposed change.

Attached documents:

These comments are in addition to my husbands ([name redacted]) previous email of objection dated 4/7/2016 which is attached for convenience

I also attach a map of the parcel of land in question, which is the triangle of land behind Findon Lodge, 1 to 10 Christmas Hill and the 6 premises on Milkwood. Ashley house is incorrectly shown on the map.
I have researched the census records in the late 1800s and have established that properties 1-10 Christmas Hill were built prior to 1881. I suspect both Findon Lodge and the dairy on Milkwood were built then too.

It is no accident that the properties were built where they were.

Because of the ridge that runs behind these houses and is the current settlement boundary (West-East) the properties cannot be seen from the south (for example Chinthurst Hill).

The ridge immediately behind Findon lodge has been dug out at some point so that the ridge is now some metres south of the original line ------- but it is still there.

I believe the existing settlement boundary behind Christmas Hill and Shalford Village Hall should not be changed. There is no reason to change it.

If GBC decide the land behind the Village Hall is to be included in the settlement, I propose the new boundary should be as indicated by the white line shown on the attached map. The new boundary would be the ridge behind the Christmas Hill properties and the ancient path that runs from Chinthurst Hill to Shalford Common to the west of the land in question/

I am writing to object to the planned development in Normandy/Flexford proposed in the GBC New local Plan to turn a large expanse of green belt land in Normandy over to a developer to build 1,100 houses on.

The government had pledged to protect the green belt, once gone we can never get it back, and this rural area will for ever be blighted with a massive housing development that is completely out of character with our current rural environment and will almost double the size of our village. I ask that you fight to honour the government pledge to protect the green belt!

To support this I’d like to flag a number of serious concerns with the draft proposal especially when brown field sites in and around Guildford appear not to be being developed.

The local plan cites the need for a school in Normandy. As it stands Normandy does not need a school, there are very few children of school age and most of the ones I know of get the train into Guildford to go to school. On top of this the information we have suggests that there are plenty of unused school spaces at existing schools in and around the Guildford area, more than sufficient for the future, so why build another school that will be underutilised!

The road infrastructure is really not suited to such a large increase in traffic:

In Glaziers Lane in the last 12 months we’ve had 2 sewers collapse and a water main leak. At least some of this has got to be down to the increase in car and lorry traffic. I know we’ve seen higher traffic volumes even since we moved here 6 years ago. On top of this if the A31 is ever congested, then Normandy becomes a ‘‘rat-run’’ to try and get into Guildford, which just brings everything in the village to a standstill.

There are two railway bridges that constrain the free movement of traffic. One on Westwood Lane, where traffic is limited to one lane to pass the bridge plus one on Glaziers Lane, there are two lanes here, but they are very narrow and angled slightly from the main road direction. At some point a lorry or other large vehicle will cause a major accident here as they, due to the angle find it almost impossible to stay on the their side of the road as they cross the bridge. I’m sure we’d all prefer to avoid such an incident rather than perhaps an innocent pedestrian walking to the station being hit.

In addition there is a 90 degree right hand bend where Flexford Road and Glaziers Lane join, another narrow, dangerous, unsighted corner where larger vehicles can only get around it on the wrong side of the road.

The north end of Glaziers Lane is also very narrow, if you stood on the corner for 10 minutes at pretty much any time of the day you will witness cars unable to keep to their side of the road as they come around the corner. Worse still buses or lorries entering the road cannot turn the corner without veering onto the wrong side of the road due to lack of room, many a time you have to stop in advance of the junction to let a large vehicle negotiate the road entrance. This dangerous situation will only get worse if the level of traffic increases.

The road cannot be expanded as there are houses on both sides of the corner, and it is also very close to two bus stops so pedestrians will also be at risk on the pavement.

At peak traffic times the road already has extensive queues which will only be exacerbated by adding in 1,100 houses and at a conservative level 1,500 cars. This will have a knock on impact on the Aldershot Road and traffic into and out of Guildford, as well as encouraging yet more traffic to clog the Northern and Southern access points of the village.

Adding a School will only bring more cars into the area from all the parents, staff and service vehicles causing even more chaos. Further congestion will be caused by the fact that Westwood and Glaziers Lane have no parking areas other than in the road and so just maintaining a flow of traffic is likely to be an issue, something we’ve seen here the last couple of months with a couple of small road works that have been in place, and the resulting traffic queues.

There appears to be no provision for expanded or additional roads to ease the congestion in this proposal, and even if there were it is likely that such improvements will encourage more drivers off of the Hogs Back and creates even more of an issue for the Aldershot Road.

Our rural environment will be massively impacted by this, the last swathe of green between Guildford and Aldershot. We moved here to be in a more rural area, with a better quality of air, less noise and light pollution. As of today we can walk from our house in almost any direction into green fields. All of this will be irrevocably changed by such a proposal.

Noise and light pollution will increase significantly as will exhaust gasses damaging the countryside and therefore driving our wildlife away.

Wildlife in the area will be forced away by the building process and the loss of natural habit, once lost it will never return. We regularly get hedgehogs, bats, 2 different types of woodpecker, foxes to name but a few animals in garden, all of this will be changed by such a development. It is inevitably going to have an impact on them, not least the loss of their natural habitat.
The land in this area is supposed to be safeguarded, how can it now suddenly not be so?

As Grade 3 arable and pastoral land this should be protected.

It’s also an area where water naturally settles from the Hogs back and the North as Normandy is the low point of the area. Fields regularly get water logged and flooded in the winter. Adding yet more houses will have a knock on impact on not just this water table (forcing it into a smaller space and no doubt causing it to rise further as it has less space to occupy), but also overloading the local sewage system that is already stretched to capacity and issue for some houses in Glaziers Lane with one way valves needed to protect the houses at times of wetter weather.

There is increasing high density urbanisation around Ash and Pirbright Heath we need to protect our green space as supported by planning inspectors as our green fields contribute to the “openness” of the Green belt and from the Hogs back maintain the panoramic view of our green field, as a part of the Surrey Hills AONB.

Due to the points I have raised, I would urge you to remove the proposed development in Normandy, from the local plan for Guildford Borough. Conversion of empty offices in Guildford Borough and development of brown field sites would protect the green belt land before it is irrevocably lost. Guildford Borough would be a much poorer place to live in and less attractive to businesses if this development was to proceed.

Also of major concern is the calculation and quantification of the number of houses proposed in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA): a target number that was generated by an external consultant’s mathematical formula of which no qualification or calculation is to be made available. As if this wasn’t unacceptable enough, the consultant’s unsubstantiated calculation has been further massaged by Guildford Borough Council to such an extent as to provide for a population increase across the Borough which is almost 70% above the official national estimates for population growth. WHY?

Furthermore, these unquantified numbers are obviously pre-Referendum / Brexit calculations and as such now need to be recalculated if they are to be meaningful? Furthermore with Theresa May becoming the new Prime Minister, time MUST be given for her to provide a clear policy statement on her plans for the Green Belt which, hitherto, she has long sought to protect.

I OBJECT to 4 of the 6 proposed development sites numbered included in A36-41 which either intentionally or inadvertently will create a town at the cost of losing two separate villages. Quite why GBC should have selected West & East Horsley in this way, as compared with the exceptionally generous treatment of most other areas is, at best, exceptionally disappointing.

Whatever their merits as development sites, the 6 Horsley sites should not only be considered individually but for their cumulative impact on the contiguous villages of East and West Horsley.

Building 533 new houses on these 6 sites, plus at least another 90 on small sites is (a) excessive in absolute terms and (b) disproportionate relative to the rest of the Borough. It will destroy the rural character of these communities and put unsustainable strain on local facilities and infrastructure, including public transport, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, surface drainage and shops. The open nature of West Horsley was a significant factor that led to the 2012 Olympic cycle races passing through the village and this same route has since been adopted by the annual Prudential Ride 100 Cycle Ride. Furthermore, the housing NEED in both West & East Horsley (per recent research) is for SMALL houses / FLATS so that (a) young people can get onto the housing ladder and (b) older residents can downsize.

I OBJECT to both the inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham) and the proposal to build 2000 new homes on it. The impact on the nearby villages of West & East Horsley (less than 2 miles distant) and of course Ripley of an additional 5,000 cars (plus associated additional traffic such as couriers, supermarket deliveries, buses etc) would be catastrophic. There is no room to park NOW in either of the Horsley villages or at the local stations in Horsley and Effingham and so a development of this magnitude would be calamitous.

Furthermore, the impact of an additional 5000 cars, all using the Ripley Roundabout for egress and access (not to mention an additional 5000 from the site proposed at Gosden Hill Farm (Policy A25), would simply magnify exponentially the major traffic flow problems that exist NOW. The nearest railway stations to this proposed site are those of Horsley and Effingham Junction; both of which are full to overflowing NOW and have no space available for enlargement. As is already evident NOW, anybody who attempts to drive towards the A3 / M25 from West / East Horsley, Send or Ripley during the rush hour faces a daunting proposition because not only is the A3 slip road (going northwards) at a virtual standstill but so is the A3 to the extent that the A3 traffic coming from the Guildford direction will be backed-up for several miles. Equally, the local village shops of Ripley and East Horsley have major parking problems NOW and would not be able to cope with the additional cars associated with this proposed development.

Following a major public outcry, GBC’s Planning Committee rejected unanimously a recent application for this development on numerous grounds yet, for no apparent reason, it has been included in the new Draft Local Plan – a clear invitation to the developers that they should try again. This is not a NPPF “presumption in favour of sustainable development” but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who have already been given many additional months to refine their application prior to its rejection. It is therefore my opinion that this development should be removed from the new Draft Local Plan for all the same reasons that it was rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee on 6th April 2016. These include:

- Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances”.
- Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land. 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.
- Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).
• Proximity to A3/M25 bottleneck and Ripley village and roundabouts.
• Absence of adequate traffic data.
• Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.
• Loss of high-quality agricultural land (35% of the site), in breach of national policy.
• Disproportion of locating 2,000 dwellings within the village of Ockham’s 159 households.
• Presence of a Surrey County Council safeguarded waste site.
• Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.
• Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.
• Impact on listed buildings.
• Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA.
• Extreme housing density with tiny garden spaces.
• Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.
• Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).
• Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

In closing, permit me please to thank you and your colleagues for providing me with the opportunity to respond to this new 2016 Draft Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Site A36: Thatcher’s Hotel, East Horsley (48 houses)

Of the 6 sites (36-41), this is the least impactful as it only proposes the addition of 48 new houses. However, the main issue regarding this proposal is one of road access and safety because, as will be known, Thatcher’s Hotel sits between two very sharp bends and includes an already very busy junction, particularly in the mornings due to (in particular) people going to work and primary school traffic. Additionally, the nearby village shops of East Horsley are in two separate ribbon-strips but both already have inadequate car parking facilities (as does the railway station) and there is no land available for the expansion of either.

Equally, the very limited shops in West Horsley are served by nothing more than a small lay-by which has no room for expansion. These are problems NOW before any additional houses are built which will bring an additional 120 cars based on an average of 2.5 cars per property. For these reasons, I hold SIGNIFICANT RESERVATIONS against this proposal but do not object to it.

Traffic flow, due to a combination of regular daily traffic combined with access and departure from Cranmore School (450 pupils), has long been a major problem and any additional homes and associated cars in this immediate vicinity will cause havoc. Similarly, the very limited shops in West Horsley are served by nothing more than a small lay-by with no room for expansion. I OBJECT to this proposal because, quite apart from the fact that the land is on the flood-plane, development is totally impractical because of the hugely inherent dangers that will be caused by as many as 250 new cars entering the narrow Ockham Road North from this site.

This is a 'line of sight' issue because safe access from the development onto Ockham Road North will be blocked by the railway bridge. I am well aware that a prospective and seemingly well informed / confident developer, has already purchased one house (the one nearest to the railway line) and holds an agreement to purchase the second house should planning permission be granted. However and irrespective of where an access road is positioned, there will be significant road safety issues particularly with young children making their way along the narrow pavement to either Glenesk Pre Preparatory School or The Raleigh School. It should also be noted that at drop-off and collection time at Glenesk, many parents park their car towards the railway bridge and then walk down to collect their children which will cause additional road safety issues for cars pulling out of this proposed development.

Furthermore, Ockham Road North (and South), given the narrowness of their width (having been built more for the pony & trap or stagecoach era than today's motorcars which, inevitably, means wide 4x4's, long wheel-based couriers and supermarket vehicles), already carry far too much traffic of which a significant number of drivers completely ignore the speed limit of 30mph. The nearby village shops of East Horsley are in two separate ribbon-strips but both have inadequate car parking facilities (as does the railway station) NOW and there is no land available for expansion.

I OBJECT to this proposal at Waterloo Farm because this particular tranche of land for a number of reasons which include the fact that this land is subject to an unacceptable flood risk from the combination of a high groundwater table a lack of surface water run-off. Ockham Road North was closed for several weeks in 2014 because of flooding, and indeed still floods regularly. This site is on flat land with clay soil on the downhill side of the Horsleys where floodwater from any new development will simply accumulate and back up onto existing properties nearby. Furthermore, the envisaged development misjudges the problems of safe access which are definitely not simply limited to flooding. Nor will they be overcome by the proposal to extend the existing 30mph zone past the site entrance. Worthy of note is that repeated attempts made by Ockham Road North residents to extend this zone have been turned down by the local authorities, Highways England and Surrey Police: this despite the fact that data collected in 2015 clearly demonstrated that traffic volume had doubled in the past 15 years and that the average speed in the 40mph section of this road is 52mph, with maximum recorded speeds of over 80mph. No traffic calming measures have so far been permitted and additional housing of this magnitude (120 houses / 300 cars) will merely add to the existing hazards along this narrow and already dangerous stretch of road.

Again, traffic congestion and road safety are of major concern given that an additional 90 houses will produce somewhere in the region of 200+ cars. East Lane (where this site is situated) is a tight two-lane road that was built for the pony & trap / stage coach era but which already carried a significant volume of traffic with people turning off the Ockham Road and/or the Drift into East Lane to go to The Raleigh School and/or make their way towards Guildford and other environs. The fact that The Raleigh School is served by East Lane means that some young children make their way to school on bikes / scooters etc and any additional cars will only increase the risk of tragic accidents. The village shops of East Horsley are in two separate ribbon-strips but both already have inadequate car parking facilities (as does the railway station) and there is no land available for expansion. Inexplicably, the new Draft Local Plan (which provides for 5000 new homes within a 5-mile radius of the Horsleys) has designated Station Parade, East Horsley, as a ‘District Centre’ which demonstrates a complete and utter misreading of the area because there are but a handful of local shops of which some have flats above. Such a designation / classification would merely encourage future urban development.

I OBJECT because "Affordable Homes" by their very definition, means those sold or rented at 80% of market value which, given the high value of land in West & East Horsley, will effectively mean they are UN-affordable. Inevitably, the building of such homes is effectively a placebo to developers who will be 'here-today' and 'gone-tomorrow' with absolutely no concern for the countryside.

All of our local Schools are already full, our Medical facilities are already overstretched and our village Parking facilities (including the railway station and local shops) are already inadequate with no space for improvement. All local roads are narrow and were built at a time when the stage coach / pony & trap were the typical mode of transport rather than today’s 4x4’s, long-wheel courier vans and supermarket delivery vehicles. Much of the Horsleys are built on clay with the consequence that drainage is inadequate.

I OBJECT because this policy lessens the protection that exists currently whereas I believe most strongly that GBC should be looking to reinforce it. As it is envisaged in the 2016 Draft Local Plan it would seem that any major development in the AONB could be permitted if exceptional circumstances were to be demonstrated. The word 'exceptional' is of course the key here and needs to be urgently defined and clarified by GBC?

I OBJECT to the proposed removal of West & East Horsley from the Green Belt because the requisite "exceptional circumstances" required have NOT been demonstrated in any way and such a dramatic change would adversely impact on the streetscene and rural ambiance of the two villages. Indeed, in Paragraph 79 of the government's own National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), it states:-

The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.

Furthermore, under paragraph 82 of the government's NPPF document, it states:

The general extent of Green Belts across the country is already established.

New Green Belts should only be established in exceptional circumstances, for example when planning for larger scale development such as new settlements or major urban extensions. If proposing a new Green Belt, local planning authorities should:

- demonstrate why normal planning and development management policies would not be adequate;
- set out whether any major changes in circumstances have made the adoption of this exceptional measure necessary;
- show what the consequences of the proposal would be for sustainable development;
- demonstrate the necessity for the Green Belt and its consistency with local Plans for adjoining areas; and Furthermore, I fundamentally disagree with the Draft Local Plan’s wording that "the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained". The Green Belt (including the Metropolitan Green Belt) is an invaluable asset and amenity, not just to those that live within it but to the nation as a whole and any erosion to its boundaries now will make it so much easier for others to denude it further and further as the years go by to the extent that it will be gone forever. Unconscionable as that is to me, the dilution and destruction of the Green Belt when brown field sites are not only preferable but available, indicates a disappointing lack of concern and responsibility by Guildford Borough Council.

Per the Draft Local Plan, GBC’s intention is to inset no fewer than 14 villages which will inevitably have a dramatic and hugely damaging impact on the Borough. Furthermore, an approximate calculation from the information provided in the Draft Local Plan, indicates that as much as 7% of the Green Belt will be lost. Equally, slightly over 8,000 houses are planned to be built on current Green Belt designated land, of which only 14% is earmarked for Guildford.

OBJECT because the NPPF (Paragraph 14) states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development "should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking" yet no definition of "sustainable development" is contained within the Draft Local Plan which, by inference, suggest that any future development will seemingly qualify as "sustainable", thereby failing to meet the NPPF's most important guideline.

Included among my OBJECTIONS are the removal of West & East Horsley from the Green Belt and the unpalatable and surely unnecessary addition of 385 houses in West Horsley which equates to a staggering increase of 35% on this essentially rural village which currently comprises 1,111 homes. This proposed increase is infinitely greater than that proposed in any other village across the whole Borough and leads to the supposition that West Horsley is being discriminated against.

All of our local Schools are already full, our Medical facilities are already overstretched and our village Parking facilities (including the railway station and local shops) are already inadequate with no space for improvement. All local roads are narrow and were built at a time when the stage coach / pony & trap were the typical mode of transport rather than today's 4x4's, long wheel courier vans and supermarket delivery vehicles. Much of the Horsleys are built on clay with the consequence that drainage is inadequate.

Inexplicably, the new Draft Local Plan (which provides for 5000 new homes within a 5-mile radius of the Horsleys) has designated Station Parade, East Horsley, as a 'District Centre' which demonstrates a complete and utter misreading of the area because there are but a handful of local shops of which some have flats above. Such a designation / classification would merely encourage future urban development.

Also of major concern is the calculation and quantification of the number of houses proposed in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA): a target number that was generated by an external consultant's mathematical formula of which no qualification or calculation is to be made available. As if this wasn't unacceptable enough, the consultant's unsubstantiated calculation has been further massaged by Guildford Borough Council to such an extent as to provide for a population increase across the Borough which is almost 70% above the official national estimates for population growth. WHY?

Furthermore, these unquantified numbers are obviously pre-Referendum / Brexit calculations and as such now need to be recalculated if they are to be meaningful? Furthermore with Theresa May becoming the new Prime Minister, time MUST be given for her to provide a clear policy statement on her plans for the Green Belt which, hitherto, she has long sought to protect.

Following a major public outcry, GBC’s Planning Committee rejected unanimously a recent application for this development on numerous grounds yet, for no apparent reason, it has been included in the new Draft Local Plan - a clear invitation to the developers that they should try again. This is not a NPPF "presumption in favour of sustainable development" but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who have already been given many additional months to refine their application prior to its rejection. It is therefore my opinion that this development should be removed from the new Draft Local Plan for all the same reasons that it was rejected by GBC's Planning Committee on 5th April 2016. These include:

- Green Belt location and absence of "exceptional circumstances".
- Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land: 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within 400m exclusion zone for The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.
- Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).
- Proximity to A3/M25 bottleneck and Ripley village and roundabouts.
- Absence of adequate traffic
- Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.
- Loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.
- Disproportion of locating 2,000 dwellings within the village of Ockham's 159
- Presence of a Surrey County Council safeguarded waste site.
- Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.
- Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity
- Impact on listed buildings
- Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA
- Extreme housing density with tiny garden spaces
- Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure
- Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).
- Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

I OBJECT because even though the reduction in the number of new homes proposed in the Green Belt following the 2016 Consultation is welcomed (90 in West Horsley, 1100 in Normandy and Flexford) it simply does not go far enough in reducing the still very large number of new dwellings proposed on the Green Belt. As a consequence, the eastern side of the Borough is currently scheduled to take an even greater proportion of new homes in the Green Belt. This, despite having a revised Green Belt Policy P2 in the Local Plan, which clearly and categorically states that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”.

I OBJECT because it is totally unacceptable that Guildford is choosing not to constrain its overall housing growth, in the way that many other Councils have done by which to protect the Green Belt. The objectively assessed housing target, though reduced since 2016 to 12,466 homes will, by 2034 (the end of the Plan Period) mean that Guildford has grown by nearly 25%. This is nearly double the Office for National Statistics prediction for the growth of Guildford.

I OBJECT because the ‘housing needs projection’ of GL Hearn have been adopted by GBC without question or analysis for the purposes of the Local Plan and they therefore fail to take into account any of the significant constraints which limit the supply of housing across the borough: in particular the large proportion of land which currently falls within the Metropolitan Green Belt. Furthermore, they also totally fail to make appropriate allowance for the already overstretched infrastructure whereas other Local Plans across the country have sensibly adjusted their housing targets to reflect such constraints whereas GBC have elected to ignore them. This, despite having a revised Green Belt Policy P2 in the Local Plan, which clearly and categorically states that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”.

I OBJECT because flawed evidence continues to be relied upon by GBC to justify overexpansion.

I OBJECT because GBC has seemingly completely disregarded the huge number of extremely valid objections raised by residents in regard to the 2016 Consultation and GBC’s intention to inset both West and East Horsley from the Green Belt. In total, this would mean approximately 57% of all new housing proposed in the 2017 Local Plan would be on land
Currently designated as Green Belt. This, despite having a revised Green Belt Policy P2 in the Local Plan, which clearly and categorically states that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”.

Having moved to the quiet hamlet of Normandy over 20 years ago and raised a family here I am objecting to the proposed local plans being put forward by Guildford Borough Council. I would make two critical points in objection to your plan:

1. Your plan to remove a considerable chunk of the village from the classification of the Green belt without demonstrating the 'exceptional circumstances' required to do so is unfathomable. Any impact on the Green belt is to be abhorred but to do this with no consideration to the impact on the local biodiversity and natural environment which have been highlighted as important in National, County and Borough council policies over the years in unacceptable. I cannot understand how a council that has supported the protection of the green belt is now so keen to destroy it whilst there are more appropriate alternative locations inside the borough that could be given up to development.

1. The road infrastructure within Normandy and the environs is already at capacity. The impact of building over 1,000 new homes and a school will double the size of the village and bring with it further problems with the associated peak time traffic. An already congested route into Guildford will become another logjam AND the associated pollution will have its impact on our natural environment. The feeder link to the Hogs Back (already difficult to traverse during peak times and an accident black spot in the winter) via Wanborough Hill will need complete redevelopment to open up the access. It will also cause further traffic to be forced through the village to avoid the constant snarl-ups that occur on the northbound A31 and A3 junction in Guildford at peak times. What is already a slow crawl into Guildford in the mornings will become a car park. Current infrastructure, such as the tunnel under the railway at Westwood lane, and the junction of the Aldershot road with Glaziers Lane and Hunts Hill road will not adequately handle the increased level of traffic your plan will bring. All the roads in the village will need substantial redevelopment if you plan goes ahead causing yet further impact on the natural environment. Any thought that the majority of people will travel from Normandy into Guildford from Wanborough station is seriously deluded. The car park at Wanborough railway station does not have the capacity to handle more cars so will only be suitable for the small minority people who can walk there.

The plan to double the size of the village in one go is contrary to normal planning advice that limits acceptable growth by 10% because of the detrimental impact. From your plan I do not see that any proposed benefits will outweigh the overwhelming impact on our village and my family and I object most strongly to your plan.

I object to this proposal. Greenbelt land should remain as is for our future generations. When it's gone, it's gone. The fact that Guildford borough has such a high proportion of greenbelt land is no justification for encroachment. If developments sites cannot be found on brownfield sites then let neighboring boroughs develop.

I object to this strategy. The SHMA figure is shrouded in secrecy. This fundamental calculation is at the heart of the local plan and appears excessive. The proportionately large number of students housed off campus means less housing for local people.

I am writing to voice my objections to the Local Plan. I live in West Horsley.

OBJECTION 1: REMOVAL OF WEST AND EAST HORSLEY SETTLEMENT AREAS FROM THE METROPOLITAN GREEN BELT

I strongly object and am horrified that the revised draft Local Plan proposes to remove West and East Horsley from the Metropolitan Green Belt. Building on the Green Belt will have a devastating impact on the environment, beauty and well being of wildlife and people who live in the area. The Green Belt is sacrosanct and if building is allowed, the Green Belt and quality of life in this area will be forever compromised.

OBJECTION 2: FLOODING

In the storms two years ago, there was flooding in West Horsley. Roads were impassable for weeks for pedestrians, cyclists and cars. Further building in the area will only exacerbate the problem especially as more impermeable surfaces are constructed that impede water from soaking into the ground and the current drain system cannot cope with the existing housing population.

OBJECTION 3: PARKING

Parking is already constrained in the village. Currently, builders, visitors, people making deliveries, etc., park on pavements, obstructing the use of pavements by pedestrians and cyclists. This creates creating potential dangers because pedestrians and cyclists are having to go onto the road as the pavements are blocked by cars and trucks.

This situation continues to worsen with the number of houses currently in West Horsley.

OBJECTION 4: TRAFFIC

The increased traffic as a result of the further developments will result in increased conjunction and further compromise the quality of life in the area.

OBJECTION 5: INFRASTRUCTURE

The current infrastructure, with respect to roads, public transport, schools and medical services (to name a few) can’t cope with current level of housing. What is being proposed will only exacerbate the situation.

The proposed development at Burpham should not be built because:

1. The site is totally within the Green Belt.
2. The Road access on to the A 3 is unlikely to be constructed by the Government. Further, The Developers have not given any evidence of their willingness to pay for the said access or the construction of a New Railway Station.
3. The Development at Burpham on the proposed scale, which is Green Belt Land, is going to destroy the villages of both Burpham and Merrow. Plus, Increasing the volume of traffic on feeder roads that are already overcrowded.
4. How can the Borough approve development on Green Belt without Central Government Policy changing? The Local M P’s have stated that there has been No Change in the current administration’s attitude. The construction of any building on Green Belt Land is therefore Illegal. Which has recently been confirmed by the relevant Minister.
5. Once again the current Council has felt fit to rail road their predecessor’s original proposals, for a Draft Plan, without proper consideration of the local residents wishes.
6. The Plan has not taken the Referendum Vote, Namely the Country’s wish to substantially reduce the number of immigrants to Great Britain, into account.
7. With a new Leader of the Government, the Country’s Housing Policy is likely to change dramatically, therefore this Draft Plan should at the very least be cancelled until the Central Government Minister reviews the Housing Policy for the South of England.
8. The Councillors heading the now revamped scheme, were not acting in the interests of the Residents, and must have been aware of its unpopularity. Further they have not taken into account the views of the Borough’s M.P.s
9. The Current Counsellors like this Draft Plan can be removed. For the heart felt felling of the Residents of the Neighbourhoods within the area of the Draft Plan is total hostility. Which will be reflected in the Next Ballot Box.
10. This Draft Plan is a Total Waste of Rate Payer’s Money; I believe the councillors should be ashamed.
11. The development of the former Wisley Aerodrome site has already been turned down, which was far less intrusive, to both adjoining residents and access roads, than the latest Guildford Borough Draft Plan.

A Further access onto the A 3 at Burnt common, travelling north, will only increase the traffic particularly at rush hours travelling towards the M 25 intersection. Currently West Clandon’s Street is unable to cope with any volume of traffic. This proposal will only increase the problem.

The promise of the Developers of Garlic Arch, have not provided any financial proof of their ability to fund the substantial infrastructure, envisaged.

First, we note that the extent of this allocated site (Policy A7) broadly reflects the SRG site and that that the land to the west of Guildford Station is, appropriately, the subject of a separate site allocation (Policy AB).

As a matter of principle SRG supports the proposal for the "Comprehensive mixed use development" on its Station site....incorporating "improved transport and interchange facilities"

Policy A7 states that mixed use redevelopment is to include "approximately 350 homes (C3), 500 sqm of comparison retail, 700 sqm of convenience retail and 1,500 sqm of Class A3 and 1 gym (D2 use), but the evidence underpinning this is unclear beyond the derivation of these figures from estimates in the LAA.

The SRG planning application proposes 438 homes, 3,642 sqm of station retail/financial & professional/ food and drink and leisure floorspace (Class A1/A2/A3/Sui Generis and D2 uses) as well as 2, 104 sqm of office space (B1 use). However,

The 350 dwelling capacity has been arrived at from the application of a range of suitability, availability and achievability factors, including a consideration of the site by planning officers, in the 2016 Land Availability Assessment. The LAA also, inappropriately identifies the delivery of this draft allocation within the next 6-10 years, when there is a reasonable prospect that the site will be fully redeveloped within the 0-5 years period of a Local Plan adopted in earlier 2018.

Given the need to make efficient use of land (draft Policy H1 and Policy A7 'Opportunities') and noting the preferred location for new homes is on most sustainable locations making the best use of previously developed land including within Guildford Town Centre (Spatial Vision/Policy S2), we consider that the SRG site, informed by the design-led approach of the SRG application scheme, has the potential to provide circa 425 to 450 dwellings.

We concur that the improvements to the station and its interchange facilities should include improvements quantitative and qualitative improvements to the associated retail offer, as well offices and assembly and leisure uses, as part of a comprehensive redevelopment. However, whilst the amount of additional floorspace is appropriate for the station location on the edge of the town centre, there is no evidence to support the scale of each element in the Council's 2014 Retail and Leisure study evidence base.

We consider therefore that Policy A7 should be amended to more closely align with the residential capacity potential of this site and that the 'Allocation bullets' be amended to read:

- Improved transport and interchange facilities,
- Approximately 450 homes (C3),
- Additional retail (convenience and comparison) and food and drink offer, and
- Additional complementary offices and assemble & leisure uses.

There is only an opportunity to do so through the site's redevelopment. This site allocation should recognise that the delivering of significant station improvements will be funded through the commercial redevelopment whose viability will be affected as a consequence.

We also consider that the soundness of Policy A? requires the 'Opportunities' section explain that the improvement of the station infrastructure at Guildford Station, consistent with the Infrastructure Schedule contained at Appendix C which specifically includes "Guildford rail station capacity and interchange improvements", will be funded through the commercial redevelopment whose viability will be affected as a consequence.

Finally, the last bullet point under Requirements section, seeking to avoid development within zone 2, is unnecessary given the preceding flood risk requirements. It should therefore be deleted.

We consider the above amendments to Policy A? are necessary to render the policy sound.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As currently expressed, we do not consider Policy D3 to be consistent with the NPPF (paras 126 - 134) as the distinction between development that leads to "substantial" harm of a heritage asset as opposed to "less than substantial harm" is not made clear.

Paragraph 2 of draft Policy D3 states that works which would cause harm to the significance of a heritage asset, whether designated or non-designated, or its setting, will not be permitted without a clear justification to show that the public benefits of the proposal considerably outweigh any harm to the significance or special interest of the heritage asset in question.

Where there is "substantial" harm to a heritage asset the NPPF makes clear that the relevant test is whether the substantial harm is necessary to achieve substantial public benefits that outweigh the harm. However, where there is "less than substantial harm" the NPPF advises that the decision-maker should weigh the harm against the public benefits of the proposal.

We would suggest therefore that this distinction should be reflected in Policy D3 so that the second paragraph reads:

"Heritage assets are an irreplaceable resource and works which would cause substantial harm to the significance of a heritage asset, whether designated or non-designated, or its setting, will not be permitted without a clear justification to demonstrate that substantial harm is necessary to achieve substantial public benefits that outweigh the harm. Where the harm is assessed to be less than substantial this harm will need to be weighed against the public benefits of the proposal."

We consider the policy itself provides the appropriate strategy for the town centre, but requires some amendment to be internally consistent with other parts of the LP and increase consistency with the NPPF.

We therefore suggest introducing an additional bullet, consistent with the site allocation for one of the centre's key strategic sites, to read:

- "an improved railway station and interchange, facilitated by a comprehensive residential-led mixed use redevelopment of the Station site"

We would also suggest that bullet point 3 should be amended as follows to reflect our comments above:

- A minimum of 1,172 new homes, particularly on upper floors as part of mixed use developments;

Policy H1: Homes for All

Policy H1 confirms that, new residential development is required to make the most efficient use of land and that densities will vary dependent upon the local area context and character and the sustainability of the location but higher density development will be supported in Guildford town centre. The policy's reasoned justification (at para 4.2.8) confirms that there is a responsibility to use natural resources, such as land, wisely and that efficient use of land is "essential."

SRG supports the above, particularly given that the draft Local plan currently envisages 80% of new dwellings being delivered on 'greenfield' and/or Green Belt land (Ref: Table 1: Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033), recognising such an approach to be consistent with the NPPF.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Draft Policy H2 is inconsistent with the NPPF and unsound because it does not expressly deal with development viability and deliverability, notwithstanding this is recognised within the reasoned justification to the policy (at paras 4.2.39-40).

The latter recognises that there may be some circumstances where abnormal costs would make scheme delivery unviable and that, where developers demonstrate to the Council’s satisfaction that providing the amount of affordable housing required by this policy would not be economically viable, they will adopt the following cascade mechanism to assist with delivering a scheme:

- vary the tenure mix of the affordable housing (for example, more intermediate housing and less rented housing), size, and/or type of homes to be provided; and
- reduce the overall number of affordable

The draft policy itself, like Policy H11 of the saved 2003 Local Plan, is recognised to then rely upon the 2011 Planning Obligations SPD which indicates that, where it is not viable for a development to meet all the requirements of this SPD (i.e. including affordable housing), a flexible approach will be taken by the Council. We consider the approach to be taken where proposed developments - for whatever reason - are found to be unable to support affordable housing at the prescribed 40% level, should be addressed in the policy itself, given the importance of deliverability within the NPPF.

We would therefore suggest that the following text should be added after the second paragraph:
"Where developers demonstrate to our satisfaction (informed by an independent expert critique) that the amount of affordable housing proposed is the maximum amount a scheme can afford, as a consequence of abnormal costs or other circumstances, this Policy will treated as being satisfied, subject to agreement to the introduction of a 'cascade mechanism' within the S106 planning obligation so as to contemplate alternative provision should development viability so allow in the future..."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We support the LP's intention to ensure that the necessary infrastructure is in place to support the development needs. We support the approach of this policy, save for the priority given to the Thames Basin Heath SPA over all other site specific contributions, as this absence of flexibility is inconsistent with the Council's approach to all other S106 obligations. It is appropriate for the Council to review its current SPA policy through this LP, in accordance with the NPPF and the weight it attaches to, for example, sustainability, economic considerations and housing delivery.

Draft Policy P5 contemplates situations where the integrity of the SPA may be protected through different liner thresholds or alternative mitigation measures and the reasoned justification to the policy that the Council's established pre-cautionary principle my be reviewed by its JSPB in the future. Furthermore, the legal requirement, enshrined in European Law, may well change as a consequence of the UK leaving the European Union.

We therefore suggest that the fourth para of Policy 11 be deleted.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Spatial Vision

As a general principle, SRG welcomes the Spatial Vision's preference for meeting the identified need for residential development on existing brownfield sites. However, given the emphasis placed on encouraging the effective use of brownfield land contained in the NPPF (paras 17 and 111), we consider that significantly greater emphasis needs to be incorporated in the Vision to reflect the Government's national policy imperative.

The Spatial Vision identifies that over 2,800 dwellings are proposed in the Borough's urban areas which take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services, reduce the need to travel and offer alternative modes of transport to the private car. However it is noted, from Table 1: Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033, that only 1,172 dwellings are, in fact, proposed within Guildford Town Centre - i.e. just 8.5% of the Borough's total.

Given that the Vision goes to confirm that not all of the Borough's development needs can be met within Guildford's urban areas - indeed some 80% of the total residential need is proposed either on 'greenfield' or Green Belt land (Table 1: Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033) we would suggest that, as a matter of principle, the Vision should strongly encourage that opportunities to maximise residential development and make the best use of land in the Town Centre should be taken. This will help to ensure that the need to take 'greenfield' or Green Belt land is minimised.

We would suggest that this approach would more accurately and appropriately reflect Government green belt policy, which at paragraph 84 of the NPPF indicates that:

"When drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development. They should consider the consequences for sustainable development of channelling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt or towards locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary."

We consider that the Vision should be more strongly expressed to espouse this principle, rather than simply suggesting that existing brownfield sites are the "preferred location". We would therefore suggest, to ensure consistency with national policy and Plan soundness, that the following text (underlined) should be added to the third paragraph of the Spatial Vision as follows:

"The plan provides for the delivery of 13,860 additional homes by 2033. As the preferred location for this development is on existing brownfield sites in the urban areas, opportunities to maximise residential development and make best use of land in these locations must be taken. Over 2,800 units are proposed in the urban areas which take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services, reduce the need to travel and offer alternative modes of transport to the private car ..... ."

We also note that the Vision recognises that the growth proposed in the plan is predicated on the delivery of the necessary infrastructure. The referenced Infrastructure Schedule contained at Appendix C specifically includes "Guildford rail station capacity and interchange improvements"; thus recognising that the station improvements proposed in Policy A7 (which SRG propose to bring forward), which form part of increasing passenger capacity at Guildford Station, also make an important contribution to providing the necessary infrastructure to support the planned growth.

By way of commentary, we would note that delivering the necessary infrastructure can also be predicated on ensuring that there is sufficient income producing residential and commercial development. NPPF recognises (para 173) that careful attention must be given in plan making and decision taking to scheme viability including where there are, as is the case at Guildford Station, contributions to infrastructure.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Policy S2 confirms (in the preamble at para 4.1.6) that the preference within the plan is to focus growth in the most sustainable locations, making the best use of previously developed land including within Guildford Town Centre and that 13,860 dwellings will be provided in the Plan period.

However, despite this stated preference, Table 1- Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033 confirms as stated above that only 1,172 units - i.e. just 8.5% of the total dwellings requirement will be directed to Guildford Town Centre.

Consistent with our comments above, we consider that much greater emphasis should be placed on maximising opportunities to meet housing need on sustainable brownfield land with the Town Centre. Such an approach would also be consistent with draft Policy H1: Homes for All - see comments below.

We would therefore suggest that after the first paragraph the following sentence should be added:

"In bringing forward development, there will be a strong preference to focus and maximise growth in the most sustainable locations, particularly within Guildford Town Centre and other urban areas, making the best use of previously developed land."

Guildford Borough Council: Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites

Representation by Solum Regeneration (Guildford) LLP

Nathaniel Lichfield & Partners (NLP) has been instructed by Solum Regeneration (Guildford) LLP (SRG) to review the above consultation and submit representations on SRG's behalf.

Solum Regeneration in Guildford

Established in July 2008, Solum Regeneration (SR) is a partnership between Network Rail and Kier Property, formed to attract private investment into the rail network. SRG has been formed specifically by SR to deliver the Guildford Station project.

NLP submitted a planning application (Ref: 14/P/02168) on behalf of SRG for the comprehensive mixed use redevelopment of Guildford Station, including significant station improvements, public realm and new homes, in November 2014. Following subsequent extensive consultation and engagement with Guildford Borough Council (GBC), statutory bodies and local groups, revised scheme proposals were submitted to GBC in November 2015.

The SRG planning application was refused planning permission at the GBC Planning Committee on 29th June 2016, principally on heritage and design grounds. SRG is currently considering options for progressing development at the Guildford Station site. SRG remains an important stakeholder in the town centre intent on delivering improvements to Guildford Railway Station (a 'gateway' to the town and a key component of its infrastructure) through the delivery of much needed new housing at this highly sustainable brownfield location.

Representations were previously submitted on behalf of SR in relation to the Guildford Borough Local Plan Strategy and Sites: Issues and Options (2013) and the Draft Guildford Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (July 2014). Further representations are now submitted on the site allocation and other policies and allocations in the Proposed Submission Local Plan, June 2016.

Scope of Representations
We make comments on the following parts of the draft Local Plan:

- Spatial Vision (pages 19 - 21);
- Policy S2: Borough Wide Strategy (pages 26 - 27);
- Policy H1: Homes for All (pages 31 - 32);
- Policy H2: Affordable Homes (pages 38 - 39);
- Policy E7: Guildford Town Centre (pages 84 - 85);
- Policy D3: Historic Environment (page 103);
- Policy 11: Infrastructure and Delivery (pages 108 - 110); and
- Policy A7: Land and Buildings at Guildford Railway Station (pages 140 - 142).

As a West Horsley resident for the last thirty years I am writing to you as I am very disturbed by the proposal to take the Horsleys out of the Green Belt. In addition the proposals to infill parts of the village look unsustainable.

I believe West Horsley currently has approximately 1110 homes and the proposal is to use Green Belt areas and to increase the size of West Horsley by 35%. This will transform Horsley from a traditional village to a town stretching its current infrastructure to intolerable limits. Also some of the proposals seem to suggest housing developments different in character to the rest of the village.

Essential facilities such as shops, medical centre etc will not be able to cope with the additional volumes. Roads, especially the A246, are in a poor state of repair and are subject to heavy congestion at peak times.

I urge you to seriously consider the implications for the current residents before proceeding with the proposal to increase the size of the village so dramatically.

I would like to object to many issues within the Draft Guildford Local Plan.

We would like to object in the strongest of terms to the suggestion that The Horsleys should be removed from the Green Belt. Removing this protection will lead to much development and leave us open to any plans from landowners on additional sites.

We are dismayed to learn that we could lose our designation of Green Belt and yet a patch, further away from London, in Ash South and Tongham will form a new area of Green Belt. It makes no sense because our Green Belt is the Metropolitan Green Belt and it would therefore make more sense to retain this area for the good of the Londoners. The original purpose of the Green Belt was to prevent the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas and to prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another. Dividing the Green Belt up for development will destroy the original purpose.

The Plan, which designates Station Parade, East Horsley, as a rural district centre, will lead to developments totally out of character with the area. We believe this designation was allowed because Budgens was assumed to be a “large supermarket”. Budgens is a small convenience store under the terms of the Sunday Trading Act 1994. It has under 280 sq. metres of floor space and therefore is able to trade all day on Sundays, unlike a “large supermarket”.

According to the Plan, we are bewildered to learn that “jobs in retail are focussed in Guildford Town Centre …….. and particularly East Horsley”. Why should this be since it is a very small shopping parade.

The proposed increase in housing stock for East Horsley, West Horsley and Wisley Airfield totals 2704 new homes. This increases homes in Ockham and the Horsleys by more than 77%. Absolutely absurd. Our villages will be completely swamped by cars, commuters, patients, parking, children looking for school places, etc.

The current infrastructure cannot sustain such a development. Stations, roads and schools, not to mention doctors’ surgeries, etc. will be overwhelmed.

Since it would appear that the projected population statistics, which were used to draw up the Plan, were out of date, it would seem prudent for the Council to re-visit the numbers before agreeing to any major building plan based upon the wrong figures.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I am writing with regard to the proposal to remove the villages of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt which I strongly disagree with. This sets a dangerous precedent and leaves the surrounding countryside in a vulnerable situation for the future development.

The plans for the development of East and particularly West Horsley have not been thought through. It appears no thought has been given to the existing infrastructure when deciding almost 500 homes can be built increasing the population by at least another 2000. If this development is allowed plus the Wisley development is adopted this increases this area by a few thousand and one can hardly believe this is to fulfil the needs of local people.

1. The existing schools cannot cope at present without the increase in future children needing education.
2. There is no mention of how the existing health centre could cope with such a large influx in the population when it is not always easy to get an appointment. An extra burden will also be placed on the already over-burdened Royal Surrey Hospital.
3. The trains during commuting times are already busy and neither would the parking facilities at the station be able to cope with extra cars. Parking in the village is already difficult for shoppers, and visiting the library, without the extra traffic being increased.
4. The local roads were never intended to cope with today’s heavy traffic. I first complained about the state of East Lane, in particular the entrance which is a disgrace, in March of last year and little if anything has been done.
5. We also suffer from flooding in wet weather and neither the drains or sewers can cope now without the increase in population envisaged.

It is far easier and more profitable for developers to build on green fields rather than brownfield sites. Development on the scale envisaged will destroy these two villages forever as well as losing valuable countryside I do hope careful consideration will be given to the above points before development on the scale proposed is allowed to go ahead.

Despite the concerns of many residents living in East and West Horsley about the size of future housing developments little has changed in the present plan.

Still no thought has been given to the poor existing infrastructure to accommodate such a large development.

1. Existing schools cannot cope without the school population being greatly increased.

2. Our Health Centre is already stretched as well as the fact that the Royal Surrey Hospital will find the extra size in population difficult to cope with.

3. Travelling arrangements will be greatly increased and parking in the village is difficult now without the thought of such a large number of extra cars entering the village.

4. The roads in the village have difficulty now coping with the volume of traffic. The thought of the development alone on Wisley Airfield and traffic from there through our villages as well as onto junction 10 of the 25 road is more than worrying.
5. Our local roads in particular East Lane, where I have raised for more than two years about the terrible condition it is in has been ignored. Difficult as it is for motorists to navigate I almost saw a cyclist fall off two days ago. This road also suffers from flooding when we get a lot of rain.

My concern is that once the villages of East and West Horsley are removed from the green belt little by little large developments will happen and future generations will not thank us for allowing this to happen.

I am writing to express my horror and strongest possible objections to the proposed desecration of East and West Horsley villages and in particular with complete disregard of the Green Belt.

The Green Belt was established around major conurbations with the express purpose of protecting the countryside from the urban sprawl that took place between the wars. The Green Belt must be sacrosanct except in very exceptional circumstances. (i.e. national emergency). Population growth is not one of them.

In these days of instant communication there is absolutely no reason why government cannot ensure that increased population is located in areas away from south east England. It just needs the will.

Traffic flow in the area is already too heavy all narrow rural roads never designed for the purpose. Inevitably the intended development will make this situation infinitely worse and will eventually result in widening and urbanising them resulting in desecration of the present environment.

There is already considerable pressure on schools, medical services, drainage, gas and electricity supply, roads and transport etc. and a further population increase that this will cause will only end up with the need for yet further Green Belt land being gob blod up resulting in unacceptable urbanisation.

As regards the Wisley airfield development proposals I have already written to you about this expressing my very strong objections. Together with the proposed expansion of the Horsleys, the result would effectively be a complete new town. This is unacceptable.

Of course minor controlled development has to take place as circumstances change but wholesale destruction of a village environment is totally unacceptable. The response to population growth demands imagination and vision and must not require such extensive change and disruption to existing communities.

I do hope that notice will be taken of my very strong objections to the current proposals.

Please accept this email as my FORMAL letter of objection to the local plan development of housing to the immediate area surrounding Keens Lane in N.W. Guildford. i.e., the inclusion of land off Keens Lane, Worplesdon (Site A22) in the GBC Draft Local Plan for the proposed development of 140 homes and a care home.

The reasons for this objection are ostensibly the same as we have given back to your Council government in many many previous consultations over the last ten years.

In fact, your continued ignorance to address the core issues facing this area of Guildford is incomprehensible. Specifically, all draft plans submitted for new housing development in this region for the last 10 years DO NOT address the fact that the current road & public transport infrastructure can not support any additional vehicular traffic. And yet, for the last 10 years we have continued to pay our increasing council tax fees, and have submitted countless representations to your local government.

How do you justify maintaining a salary based on such a lack of representation of the feedback provided by your residents?

In addition, as you well know, this area is DESIGNATED Green Belt, which should be retained.

Keens Lane is a narrow road and building more homes there, would require the road to be widened, would increase the number of cars and yet this road is already congested. Also, during times of heavy rain Keens Lane is regularly flooded.

The proposed development site is close to Whitmoor Common and a Site of Special Scientific Interest, and would have a damaging effect on ecology and wildlife. It is also bounded by Broadstreet Common.

Worplesdon, Wood Street & Fairlands should be retained as a separate villages and should not merge into GUILDFORD town centre.

In my opinion, until the issues of more public transportation, more north & southbound access to the A3, the persistent congestion/blocking of the Ladymead bypass & the bottleneck caused by all roads leading to Dennis roundabout is addressed, NO FURTHER HOUSING DEVELOPMENT should be considered for this area of n.w. Guildford.

I respectfully request that as our elected representatives, and in the spirit of cooperation, that you reverse the behaviour displayed during the last ten years of ignoring our requests on such core issues.

SITE ALLOCATION

At present there are four sites in West Horsley included as sites allocated for development within the Proposed Local Plan. Two further sites are being proposed for East Horsley, one of which immediately abuts the West Horsley parish boundary, which will no doubt primarily utilise the same local resources and infrastructure.

The four sites allocated within West Horsley are:

1. Policy A37 – Land at and to the rear of Bell & Colvill, Epsom Road, WH (40 homes / 1.4 hectare / 28.6 dwellings per hectare)
2. Policy A38 - Land to the west of West Horsley (Manor Farm, between East Lane and Long Reach) (135 homes / 8.4 hectare / 16.1 dwellings per hectare).
3. Policy A40 - Land to the north of West Horsley (Waterloo Farm at rear of Ockham Road North) (120 homes / 8 hectare / 15 dwellings per hectare).
4. Policy A41 - Land to the south of West Horsley (on East Lane) (90 homes / 4.8 hectare / 18.8 per hectare).

This is a total of 385 homes on 22.6 hectares, at an average density of 17 per hectare.

Furthermore, Policy A39 - Land near Horsley Railway Station (off Ockham Road North and at rear of Heatherdene) (100 homes / 5.7 hectare / 17.5 per hectare) is immediately abutting the West Horsley Parish boundary, however it is not in West Horsley (as referred to incorrectly on page 125 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan) but is actually in East Horsley.

I would reiterate that I am not opposed to new housing in West Horsley per se; however this scale of potential development in and around West Horsley is, in my opinion, excessive. I would strongly question the need for the inclusion of all four sites and certainly not at the densities proposed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

GUILDFORD BOROUGH PROPOSED SUBMISSION LOCAL PLAN: STRATEGY AND SITES 2016 REPRESENTATIONS BY MR M O'HARA AND RESIDENTS OF WEST HORSLEY

I am instructed by the following residents of West Horsley to OBJECT to the proposed site allocation under Policy A41: Land to the South of West Horsley:
• Mr Martin O’Hara & Mrs Janet O’Hara [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mr Julian Colborne-Baber & Mrs Clare Colborne-Baber [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mr Robert Beale & Mrs Clodagh Beale [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mr Richard Wills & Mrs Jenny Wills [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mr Paul Douet & Mrs Nicola Douet [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mrs Patricia Rutter [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]
• Mr Peter Edwards & Mrs Debra Edwards [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]

The above all reside in West Horsley in very close proximity to the proposed site allocation.

Basis of Objection

The inclusion of the proposed allocation of the land to the south of West Horsley under Policy A41 is unsound.

A Local Plan may only be adopted if it is sound. As a matter of government policy, soundness requires a plan to be positively prepared, justified, effective and consistent with national policy[1]. Within these four heads it should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the National Planning Policy Framework (‘NPPF’) and be deliverable over its period.

Consistency with National Policy

The site is presently situated within established Green Belt. The policy on protection for the Green Belt is contained in section 9 of the NPPF, which sets out the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy:

79. The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.

([1] National Planning Policy Framework, paragraph 182)

Policy on development in Metropolitan Green Belt is set out at paragraphs 79 – 92 of the National Planning Policy Framework (‘NPPF’). Inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to Green Belt and the NPPF states that it “should not be approved except in very special circumstances” (paragraph 87). Local planning authorities are advised to “regard the construction of new buildings as inappropriate in Green Belt” (paragraph 89).

Although it is possible for a local planning authority to conduct a review of Green Belt land and consider redefining boundaries which add or take away Green Belt land in order to meet local planning requirements, paragraph 83 of the NPPF states:

83. Local planning authorities with Green Belts in their area should establish Green Belt boundaries in their Local Plans which set the framework for Green Belt and settlement policy. Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.

The paragraph above sets out that a Green Belt review should only happen in “exceptional circumstances”. This concept is further elaborated on in paragraph 82 as being “for example when planning for larger scale development such as new settlements or major urban extensions”.

As the Green Belt in Surrey is established with detailed boundaries, “exceptional circumstances” must be demonstrated to necessitate the change to its boundaries[2]. It is self-evident that a development plan review is not an exceptional circumstance. Paragraph 84 of the NPPF advises:

84. When drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development. They should consider the consequences for sustainable development of channeling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt or towards locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary.

The NPPF therefore requires site allocations to be sustainable development, as defined in the NPPF, capable of being carried out in practical terms and, in the Green Belt, justified by exceptional circumstances. For the reasons set out below, we are of the opinion that the allocation of this site under Policy A41 is not sustainable development and is not justified by exceptional circumstances. We are also of the opinion that the removal of the adjoining field and part of Lollesworth Wood from the Green belt is also not justified by exceptional circumstances.

Justification

In March 2014 the Government published new web-based Planning Practice Guidance to accompany and give further detail about the policies in the NPPF. This guidance sets out that unmet housing need in a particular area is unlikely to meet the “very special circumstances” test to justify Green Belt development:

Unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt[3].

On 4 October 2014 the former Government announced that it had updated its online Planning Practice Guidance. The aim of this was to reaffirm local authorities’ abilities to “safeguard their local area against urban sprawl, and protect the green lungs around towns and cities”. The then Government said that it wanted to make planning policy clear that housing need does not justify the harm done to the Green Belt by inappropriate development. The new guidance reads:

(Do housing and economic needs override constraints on the use of land, such as green belt?

The National Planning Policy Framework should be read as a whole: need alone is not the only factor to be considered when drawing up a Local Plan.

The Framework is clear that local planning authorities should, through their Local Plans, meet objectively assessed needs unless any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole, or specific policies in the Framework indicate development should be restricted. Such policies include those relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, and/or designated as sites of special scientific interest; land designated as Green Belt, local green space, an area of outstanding natural beauty, heritage coast or within a national park or the Broads; designated heritage assets; and locations at risk of flooding or coastal erosion.

The Framework makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan.

Do local planning authorities have to meet in full housing needs identified in needs assessments?

Local authorities should prepare a Strategic Housing Market Assessment to assess their full housing needs.

However, assessing need is just the first stage in developing a Local Plan. Once need has been assessed, the local planning authority should prepare a strategic housing land availability assessment to establish realistic assumptions about the availability, suitability and the likely economic viability of land to meet the identified need for housing over the plan period, and in so doing take account of any constraints such as Green Belt, which indicate that development should be restricted and which may restrain the ability of an authority to meet its need.

In December 2014 the Planning Minister, Brandon Lewis, wrote to the Chief Executive at the Planning Inspectorate about strategic housing market assessments. This letter set out the relationship between housing figures produced as part of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment and those in a Local Plan and how to take into account constraints such as Green Belt land:

“However, the outcome of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment is untested and should not automatically be seen as a proxy for a final housing requirement in Local Plans. It does not immediately or in itself invalidate housing numbers in existing Local Plans.

Councils will need to consider Strategic Housing Market Assessment evidence carefully and take adequate time to consider whether there are environmental and policy constraints, such as Green Belt, which will impact on their overall final housing requirement. They also need to consider whether there are opportunities to co-operate with neighboring planning authorities to meet needs across housing market areas. Only after these considerations are complete will the council’s approach be tested at examination by an Inspector. Clearly each council will need to work through this process to take account of particular local circumstances in responding to Strategic Housing Market Assessments[4].”

The overall extent of development required in the borough necessary to meet the employment and housing needs in the borough as set out at Policy S2 has not been satisfactorily defined having regard to the methodology summarised above.

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) assesses an Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) of 693 dwellings per annum “but does not take into account land supply, policy or other constraints to development” (paragraph 1.2, Guildford Summary Report – October 2015). This figure is acknowledged as including upwards adjustments to support growth in student numbers and higher migration levels than are shown in the 2012-based Population Projections and represents an OAN 23% higher than the need calculated through London sensitivity analysis (paragraphs 4.1 – 4.2, Guildford Summary Report – October 2015).

Policy S2 of the Draft Local Plan applies uncritically this OAN figure to identify a housing requirement of 13,860 dwellings for the plan period (20 years @ 693 dpa). There is no evidence to indicate that in defining this figure the Council has undertaken a careful consideration of “whether there are environmental and policy constraints, such as Green Belt, which will impact on their overall final housing requirement” and which indicate that development should be restricted. The Proposed Submission Local Plan’s proposal to make provision for 62% of this total dwelling requirement on land that is currently Green Belt is not supported by adequate justification. An full explanation should be provided of the methodology used and process undertaken by the Council to reach its housing requirement figure and why the OAN figure has not been moderated in light of a ‘careful consideration’ of the constraints applying in the district.

The burden of meeting what the Council has defined as its development needs is proposed to fall disproportionately on the rural east of the borough. Within this area, West Horsley is allocated to bear an excessive proportion of this development, despite the countervailing reasons put forward in previous consultation rounds by many local residents (e.g. narrow roads; areas of flood risk; access to school places and medical facilities; parking availability at the stations etc.).

The proposed allocation of this site for 90 homes is in addition to 3 other sites proposed for allocation in West Horsley (under Policies A37, A38 and A40). In total, if all four allocations are confirmed, the total number of new houses proposed in West Horsley is 385 homes – a significant addition to the existing village.

Additionally, there are a further 100 homes proposed on the fields behind Ockham Road North and Heatherdene up to Lollesworth Wood (Policy A39) in East Horsley.
Whilst my clients are not opposed to new houses in West Horsley per se, this scale of potential development in West Horsley is excessive and is not supported by the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013 – 2031. West Horsley is remote from the existing centres of employment and the new Economic Development Site proposals which are focussed on the opposite side of the Borough.

Additional Points of Objection

1. The proposed amendment to the Green Belt boundary in this location resulting from the allocation of the site does not have sufficient regard to its intended permanence in the long term or its capability of enduring beyond the plan period (contrary to NPPF paragraph 83)

If the allocation of this site under Policy A41 is adopted, the prospect of further infilling and extension of the settlement on adjacent undeveloped sites south of East Lane and north of Lollesworth Wood will significantly increase, further harming the Green Belt and the purposes for which it has been designated in this area. Development would result in greater risk of encroachment and coalescence between West Horsley (North) and West Horsley (South) and harm to the existing character of the village.

The proposed revision to the Green Belt boundary in this location has been poorly considered and has not been clearly defined using “physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent” contrary to the guidance at NPPF paragraph 85. In addition, the removal of the adjacent field and part of Lollesworth Wood to the south of the Policy A41 site from the Green Belt is not justified by exceptional circumstances.

Allocation of the site will not “promote sustainable patterns of development” and the wildlife / environmental amenity loss of this site is likely to result in significant detriment to the village’s character and harm to the biodiversity and natural environment of the adjoining Lollesworth Wood SNCI (contrary to Sustainability Objective 1 of the Sustainability Appraisal framework set out at Table 4.1 of the GBLP Sustainability Appraisal).

2. The assessment of sensitivity in the context of the five purposes of Green Belt set out in the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study produced by Pegasus Planning Group (see Evidence Base), on which the proposed removal of the Policy A41 site from the Green Belt is based, is flawed. The land parcels used to assess sensitivity are ill-considered and mask significant variations in function and character of different areas within each land parcel. As a consequence, the conclusions drawn are subjective and inconsistent and do not provide a robust basis from which objective decisions can be made. This is reflected in inconsistent conclusions about the extent to which different land parcels fulfil Green Belt purposes as set out in the Sensitivity Table.

3. The parish of West Horsley’s open, semi-rural, character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt in this part of the This is a specific and differentiating characteristic of West Horsley over its neighbour, East Horsley, which the Council has failed to recognise.

This rural landscape character is highly valued by West Horsley residents and is detailed in general terms within the Guildford Borough Council Landscape Character Assessment. In many ways the character of West Horsley is defined by the open views from the roads either entering or passing through the village settlement.

Upon entering the village from any direction roads such as Ockham Road North, Long Reach, Ripley Lane and (to a lesser degree) Shere Road have a clearly defined precedent of the settlement being on one side of the route and there being open vistas across fields / meadows / farmland or into woodlands on the other.

No less important to the village character, however, is the fact that the main vehicular traffic route through the village (along East Lane / The Street) currently benefits from a ‘green gap’ to the north between The Rectory (approximately opposite Northcote Road) to Grovelands Farm (beyond the railway bridge) and to the south between Roundtree Farm and the Railway Cottages (at the railway bridge). This area, centred on the Lollesworth Lane / Long Reach junction, is in many ways the ‘heart and lungs’ of the village.

Allocation of this site is completely counter to the wishes of the West Horsley residents. Its value is confirmed following the West Horsley Household Survey April 2015, whereby 615 village households (out of 1121 households) returned questionnaire results. The survey identified the following consistent strong opinion:
95.55% agreed or strongly agreed (87.68% strongly agreed / 8.27% agreed) that West Horsley should retain its rural character, defined by open spaces, parkland and green space.

92.15% agreed or strongly agreed (80.22% strongly agreed / 11.93% agreed) that West Horsley should retain the open aspect and strategic natural spaces along East Lane, The Street, Ripley Lane, Epsom Road and Long Reach, which reinforce the village’s rural nature.

The findings of the West Horsley Household Survey April 2015 are being used to inform the preparation of a Neighbourhood Plan for West Horsley (the West Horsley Neighbourhood Plan Steering Group has appointed rCOH to assist on working up the Neighbourhood Plan).

This site is essential to the village’s rural identity and character and it is vitally important that this open green aspect is maintained through what is, in effect, the centre of the village. If adopted, Policy A41 would allow this open space to become the only development (existing or proposed) of any significant depth along the whole of the southern side of the East Lane / The Street corridor and would severely compromise this ‘green gap’ between the northern and southern parts of West Horsley, contrary to at least 2 of the 5 essential purposes of Green Belt as defined at NPPF paragraph 80 (namely, to check unrestricted sprawl and to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment – functions which this part of the Green Belt, including the site, is recognised as performing at paragraph 8.2 in the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study).

Development of the site will not be consistent with the distinctive settlement pattern of the village and the important relationship between the built development and the surrounding landscape, and will harm important views of the village from the surrounding landscape and from within the village of local landmarks, contrary to Policy D4 of the Draft Local Plan.

4. This site has not previously been included as a Potential Development Site (PDS) within previous draft versions of the emerging Local Plan and assessment of the site in background studies forming the evidence base for this allocation is based on factually incorrect informa In particular:

In the Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment (LAA) 2016 – Page 388 in respect of site reference 2063 (‘the site of East Lane) it states under ‘summary of land designations’ ~ “Green Belt adjoining settlement boundary”. This is incorrect. The site does not abut the 2003 defined Village settlement boundary at all.

The Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study produced by Pegasus Planning Group, Volume III – Appendix VI – Sustainability Walking Distance Plans for Land Surrounding the Villages refers to the above site, plus the field beyond that the Council now propose removing from the Green Belt (together with a section of Lollesworth Wood) as site D. All the assumed walking paths to (i) Nearest Local Centre, (ii) Healthcare Facility and (iii) Railway station presume that access can be gained to Lollesworth Lane via the (undesignated) field to the south fronting Lollesworth Lane. This field (used for grazing sheep) is owned by one of my clients (Mr & Mrs Richard Wills of Lollesworth Farm) who advise that they would permit no access route across their field.

5. There is insufficient infrastructure capacity to accommodate the allocation of this site, in addition to the other sites proposed for allocation in West Horsley (north) and East Horsley. In particular, there is insufficient capacity both at junior (The Raleigh) and senior (The Howard of Effingham) school level. The Raleigh has recently indicated to local residents that they would permit no access route across their field.

The Horsley Doctors Surgery is already at capacity. The existing utilities infrastructure in the area would be further stretched, probably beyond acceptable limits. Water pressure in the area is already poor and surface water drainage along East Lane is a continual problem throughout the autumn and winter months. The addition of further built environment and associated hard landscaping south of East Lane would only exacerbate the problem. Indeed, as referenced in the Land Availability Assessment (see Evidence Base), Thames Water have commented that the current wastewater network in this area is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from this development. Drainage infrastructure is likely to be required to ensure sufficient capacity is brought forward ahead of the development. The Draft Guildford Borough Infrastructure Delivery Plan 2016 also identifies a significant Surface Water Flooding hotspot in and around West Horsley.
Without the preparation of a drainage strategy to determine the exact impact on the infrastructure and the significance of the infrastructure to support the development, the deliverability of housing on this site is unclear.

Conclusion and Request for Amendment

The inclusion of the proposed allocation of the land to the south of West Horsley under Policy A41 is unsound in that, having regard to the advice at paragraph 182 of the NPPF it is neither consistent with national policy nor justified. I therefore request, on behalf of my clients, the removal of this proposed allocation site from the Local Plan and the retention of this site and the adjoining field and part of Lollesworth Wood within the Green belt.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In particular I would like to STRONGLY OBJECT to the inclusion of Policy A41: Land to the south of West Horsley.

The Policy A41 site is, in my opinion, essential to the village’s semi-rural identity and character and it is vitally important that this open green aspect is maintained through what is, in so many ways, the centre of the village.

If the Proposed Local Plan is adopted, Policy A41 would allow this open space to become the only development (existing or proposed) of any significant depth along the whole of the entire southern side of the East Lane / The Street corridor and would severely compromise this ‘green gap’ between the northern and southern parts of West Horsley. Any development on this land would fundamentally change the character of the village and be harmful to the openness of the Green Belt. At no point does it adjoin the current village settlement boundary, as defined in the 2003 Local Plan and it is, in no way, a natural extension of the village’s current built environment and sticks out like a wart or carbuncle into the otherwise protected landscape.

Any development on this site would not be consistent with the distinctive settlement pattern of the village and the important relationship between the built environment and the surrounding landscape (i.e. development on one side of the route only). In my opinion, it will also harm important views of the village from surrounding landscape (from Lollesworth Lane) and from within the village of local landmarks (of Lollesworth Wood), contrary to Policy D4 of the Proposed Local Plan.

Furthermore, the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study produced by Pegasus Planning Group states in paragraph 13.15 “For a village to be potentially inset within the Green Belt it would need to be demonstrated that recognisable, defensible and permanent Green Belt boundaries could be provided that would ensure they are retained in the long term.” I do not believe that such real boundaries have been identified or used in respect of this site allocation under Policy A41.
The proposed amendment to the Green Belt boundary in this location, resulting from the allocation of the site, does not therefore potentially have sufficient regard to its intended permanence in the long term or its capacity of enduring beyond the plan period. Indeed, in my opinion it is contrary to NPPF paragraph 83 and contrary to the guidance of NPPF paragraph 85, as it has not been clearly defined using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent. In my opinion, the proposed revision to the Green Belt boundary in this location has been very poorly considered.

If the allocation of this site is adopted, the prospect of further infilling and extension of the village settlement defined in the 2003 Local Plan on adjacent undeveloped, but currently protected, sites south of East Lane and north of Lollesworth Wood would significantly increase, raising the spectre of further subsequent harm to the Green Belt and the purposes for which it has been designated in this area. Development of any nature in this location would result in the greater risk of encroachment and coalescence between the two built settlements in West Horsley and would fundamentally harm to the existing open and natural character of the village.

This is clearly contrary to at least two of the five essential purposes of Green Belt as defined at NPPF paragraph 80 (namely to check unrestricted sprawl and to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment); functions which this part of the Green Belt, including this site, is recognised as performing at paragraph 8.2 of the Guildford Green Belt and Countryside Study produced by Pegasus Planning Group.

The proposed allocation of this site will not “promote sustainable patterns of development” as most potential residents, if this site were to be developed, would not walk the mile or so to the local facilities (shops / doctors / station etc.) in East Horsley and would further add to the traffic issues in the vicinity.

In addition, the wildlife / environmental amenity loss of this site is likely to result in a significant detriment to the village’s biodiversity and natural character. This site is immediately adjoining the Lollesworth Wood SNCI.

GBC’s own Proposed Local Plan Policy I4: Green and blue infrastructure; states that “Permission will not be granted for proposals that are likely to materially harm the nature conservation interests of local sites unless clear justification is provided that the need for development clearly outweighs the impact on biodiversity.” Local Sites are earlier defined in the policy as including such Sites of Nature Conservation Importance (SNCI).

Such a proposal will inevitably cause harm to the biodiversity and natural environment of the adjoining Lollesworth Wood SNCI. Indeed, this proposal is, in my opinion, contrary to Sustainability Objective 1 of the Sustainability Appraisal framework set out at Table 4.1 of the Guildford borough Local Plan Sustainability Appraisal.

Finally, I would advise that the assessment of this site, in at least two background studies forming the evidence base for this Site Allocation, is based on incorrect information.

In particular:

1. In the Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment (LAA) 2016 – Page 388 in respect of site reference 2063 (‘the site of East Lane’) it states under ‘summary of land designations’ – “Green Belt adjoining settlement boundary”. This is incorrect. As previously stated, and unlike any of the other three sites proposed in West Horsley, this site currently has no boundary that adjoins the village settlement boundary as defined in the GBC Local Plan 2003.

2. Also, the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study produced by Pegasus Planning Group, Volume III – Appendix VI – Sustainability Walking Distance Plans for Land Surrounding the Villages refers to the above site, plus the field beyond that GBC now propose removing from the Green Belt together with a section of Lollesworth Wood, as site D. All assumed walking paths to (i) Nearest Local Centre, (ii) Healthcare Facility and (iii) Railway Station are presuming that access could have been gained to Lollesworth Lane via the undesignated (save that it has been proposed to be removed from the Green Belt) field to the south and fronting Lollesworth Lane. This field is currently used for grazing sheep and is owned by Mr & Mrs. Richard Wills of Lollesworth Farm and they have advised me and others that they would not permit such access route across their field, therefore the assumption used by Pegasus Planning Group is incorrect, which should have a material effect on their conclusions and lead me to believe that their sustainability conclusions are, at best, suspect.
I would therefore specifically OBJECT to the amendment of the Green Belt boundary in this area, to both the site encompassed by Policy A41 and to the field and wood beyond Policy A41 site, whereby an adjacent field and part of the Lollesworth Wood (SNCI & Ancient Wood designated) to the south, beyond the site allocated under Policy A41, have also been removed from the Green Belt.

I genuinely cannot think of any reason for this amendment, save for as a potential second phase development and surely it cannot be considered to be justified by “exceptional circumstances” when no alternative use is currently proposed and its current and historic use is as pasture?

I believe that the inclusion of the proposed allocation of land to the south of West Horsley under Policy A41 is unsound. Allocation of this specific site and its Policy is neither consistent with national policy, nor is it justified. I believe therefore that this proposed allocation site be removed from the Local Plan and that it be returned to the protection offer by its Green Belt designation. I do not believe that the case for “exceptional circumstances” has been proven for the proposed change in Green Belt boundary here, or indeed in many other locations in and around the borough.

Furthermore, I believe that the proposed removal of the field and part of Lollesworth Wood to the south of the above site from the Green Belt should also be reconsidered and returned to the protection offered by its current Green Belt designation. I do not believe that the case for “exceptional circumstances” has in any way been proven for the proposed change in Green Belt boundary here either.

LOCAL CHARACTER & DISTINCTIVENESS

I consider it essential that West Horsley’s local character, context and distinctiveness is clearly defined and then protected, or indeed enhanced, and reinforced within the Proposed Local Plan. Mediocrity in design or execution of any new housing should, and will, not be accepted.

I therefore SUPPORT Policy D1: Making better places; where these sentiments are reinforced by stating that “All developments will: …be laid out to make the best use of the natural features such as trees and hedges and levels, and enhance views into and out of the site….promote and reinforce local distinctiveness to create a sense of place….be expected to use art and materials of a nature appropriate to their setting.”

Any new development should work to retain existing natural features and trees, rather than being allowed to clear all existing features, such as mature trees or hedgerows, to facilitate the standardised approach of volume house builders.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

High density homes per hectare may be considered appropriate for an urban setting in central Guildford, but is generally inappropriate, and certainly not on this scale, for a village setting. A more appropriate level should be determined for semi-rural villages, in keeping with their existing characteristics, with some limited higher density housing perhaps included for the first-time buyers, elderly or those choosing to downsize, but wishing to continue to live locally. Such properties could include terraced houses and apartments within units designed to look like existing detached properties i.e. with domestic appearance and scale.

HISTORIC ENVIRONMENT

I, like many others, have been proud to have played an active part of the local community of West Horsley. Our village is proud of its 41 listed buildings, including the 11th century St. Mary’s Church and West Horsley Place, and it is therefore essential that we carefully consider what will be appropriate for the well-being of the village, and these listed buildings, whilst planning the next phase of its history and development.

As you will be aware, both West Horsley, and neighbouring East Horsley, benefits from a number of historic individual buildings of quality and character, in particular the use of brick and flint. Any new housing proposed, in any location within the village, be it a larger proposed site or a small, single dwelling redevelopment, should therefore be of high quality design and materials, sensitively woven into the existing grain of the village. Permitting the bland ‘one style fits all’ of the volume house builders would be an unacceptable travesty.

I therefore SUPPORT Policy D3: Historic environment

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Furthermore, I SUPPORT Policy H1: Homes for all, particularly the statements under the heading Housing Mix; that states “New development should provide a mix of housing tenures, types and sizes appropriate to the site size, characteristics and location….. and under the heading Density states that “New residential development is required to make the most efficient use of land whilst responding to local character, context and distinctiveness. Residential densities will vary dependent upon the local area context and character and the sustainability of the location.”

However, if any of the five sites proposed by Policies A37, A38, A39, A40 or A41 (four in West Horsley and one in East Horsley) are ultimately to be included within the adopted Local Plan then very careful consideration should be given to the proposed density of any future developments. I would suggest that a target density of 10 homes per hectare and a maximum density of 15 homes per hectare is more appropriate for such semi-rural village locations, and certainly are more in keeping with the village’s existing character and density.

I would point out that the existing village settlement largely comprises low density housing, with a considerable mix of ages and housing styles. The number of houses proposed on each of the potential development sites in West Horsley, and thereby their densities, are completely out of character with the existing village, where a density of around 10 homes per hectare is much nearer to the norm.

West Horsley requires a balanced mix of homes to meet the community’s needs. In order to plan and preserve a thriving community it is important that housing provision is made for a broad cross-section of society young and old, rich and poor, families and single person households. West Horsley will require some smaller scale (1-2 bedroom) genuinely ‘affordable’ homes, for young people starting home ownership or independent rental, for more elderly residents who wish to have a smaller property in their retirement or once their children have left the family home or for the unfortunately increasing number of single divorcees. I believe that a significant number of the ‘affordable’ housing should be available for shared ownership, enabling younger people and families to gain an increasing foothold on the housing ladder, which they would... otherwise be precluded from by the initial cost of local housing. These younger residents would however contribute significantly to the vibrancy of the local community and would ensure a balanced community of all ages.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

INFRASTRUCTURE

West Horsley is a small village with few local facilities. There is currently just one shop at the southern end of the village, where local car parking is very limited. Most people in West Horsley already have to travel, largely by car, to East Horsley for their day to day shopping, banking and health needs. The existing car parking facilities in East Horsley are already at capacity and any increase in the local population will only add to the existing problems. Any new development would not “support the continued viability” of the existing village infrastructure, as has been said by GBC in the past. In my opinion it would only serve to overload the same beyond breaking point!

State educational provision, both at junior (The Raleigh) and senior (The Howard of Effingham) school level, is already under strain and has been a thorny issue for Surrey County Council and the local community for some years. The Raleigh School, which endeavours to serve both West Horsley and East Horsley, is full every year and has been so for the twenty years that I have lived in the village. Its site is already fully developed and the opportunities for any further expansion are limited.

Personally I also have some doubts as to whether or not further expansion, from two form entry to three form entry into a junior school, is the correct approach for young 5 year old school starters, but perhaps that’s a debate for another day. The Raleigh has however recently indicated to local residents that it does not feel that it can further increase capacity on its existing site and is considering its options for relocating, raising further concern about possible future erosion and harm to the Green Belt.

Secondary school places are already restricted in number at the Howard of Effingham School for children from West Horsley and all other available secondary schools are considerably further afield in either Guildford or Woking. Potential residential development in Effingham and Bookham will only further exacerbate the problems for local West Horsley children, as children from these proposed developments would, by being physically closer to the school, have priority of entry. This, however, could then have the repercussion of pushing West Horsley children out of its potential catchment, with no currently sustainable local alternative.

I note that a new junior school and senior school is now being proposed at the former Wisley airfield development site, although this would not be delivered (if ever) until well into the plan period and certainly significantly after the currently proposed residential development in West Horsley is well underway or, indeed, completed.

In the Independent school sector, both Glenesk and Cranmore private schools are supported not just by local Horsley families, but also by many families from Guildford and other surrounding villages, some travelling quite some distance. In term time each of these schools significantly contributes to the local traffic problems on Ockham Road North and the A246 respectively.
The Horsley Medical Centre is already at capacity, as it serves both East and West Horsley, and any additional residential development would necessitate an expansion of this facility. Possible future extension is mentioned in the Draft Guildford borough Infrastructure Delivery Plan 2016 but sparse detail, save for an envisaged timescale, is given. This is again unacceptable.

Furthermore, the proposed explosion in population (well in excess of Government ONS forecasts) within the borough will also put further strain on the Royal Surrey Hospital and its ability to cope must be questioned too.

Finally, I also believe that the existing utilities infrastructure in the area would be further stretched, probably beyond acceptable limits.

Surface water drainage along East Lane has been a continual problem for many years throughout the autumn and winter months. The addition of further built environment and associated hard landscaping would only exacerbate these problems. The area encompassing West Horsley has already been identified and acknowledged by GBC within the map on page 22 of the Draft Guildford borough Infrastructure delivery Plan 2016 as being, by some distance, the borough’s single largest Surface Water Flooding Hotspot Location. One can only further question the flawed GBC logic of proposing such large numbers of new homes in West Horsley without apparently even addressing the potential flood issues that could be exacerbated by such hard landscaping that would inevitable ensue.

Furthermore, I understand that Thames Water have already advised GBC that the area’s water network is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from all the local developments. Water pressure in the area is already poor.

Finally, I also understand that there may also be a serious under capacity of existing foul water sewers. The foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will, I understand, all need to be upgraded to cope with the increased demand. Thames Water has apparently advised that a two or three year lead-in period will be needed to install the necessary waste water network and treatment capacity after planning permission for any significant development is granted. Unfortunately I’m sure that housing developers will not be waiting that period before they want to build / sell their new houses! This is clearly unacceptable and again shows a flaw in the proposals put out for consultation by GBC.

I note that GBC states in Item 4.6.1 of the Proposed Local Plan that “Timely provision of suitable, adequate infrastructure is crucial to the well-being of the borough’s population, and its economy. Guildford Borough Infrastructure baseline 2013 summarises the capacity and quality of existing infrastructure, including planned improvements. Historically infrastructure provision and upgrading has not always kept pace with the growth of population, employment and transport demands, and in parts of the borough some infrastructure is currently at, or near to, capacity or of poor quality.” I have no doubt that West Horsley must fit into this category.

I was initially pleased to note that Policy I1: Infrastructure and delivery; states its aim as being “To support delivery of this Local Plan, infrastructure needed to support development should be provided and available when first needed to serve the occupants and users of the development... “. However it then goes on to say “where the timely provision of necessary supporting infrastructure is not secured, development may be phased to reflect infrastructure delivery, or will be refused.”

I don’t think that GBC can have it both ways. Either it is to be provided and available when first needed or it’s not. I think that the policy wording proposed should be reconsidered.

I would ask for an AMENDMENT to the first paragraph of the Policy I1: Infrastructure and delivery; so as to read “We will ensure that infrastructure needed arising from a proposed development is provided and available when first needed to serve the occupants and users of the development and so as to ensure that no adverse impact or reduction in capacity is suffered by the existing residents of the settlement. This will be secured by planning obligation, planning condition, or from other infrastructure funding, including the Community Infrastructure Levy.” I would ask that the final sentence of this paragraph be deleted.

TRANSPORT & HIGHWAY CONSIDERATIONS

Any traffic generated from the proposed Site Allocation housing sites in West Horsley and East Horsley will only further contribute to traffic congestion in the area. The existing road system is appropriate for a semi-rural village, such as West Horsley; indeed its appearance and scale are another important characteristic of the village.

Many of the traffic routes are little more than lanes, many with pavements on only one side of the carriageway. When you consider however that many households now have at least two cars, the potential increase in traffic, should the proposed development take place, could easily overwhelm the existing infrastructure and lead to serious, and potentially life threatening, safety concerns.

No specific proposal as to how GBC intend to address these concerns has been detailed in the Local Plan nor in the Draft Guildford borough Infrastructure Delivery Plan 2016. This is clearly unacceptable, given that GBC are making a proposal for such excessive residential development within, and around, the village.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Furthermore, GBC are still championing the creation of a new significant settlement under Policy A35: Land at former Wisley Airfield, Ockham. This is potentially a double whammy for local infrastructure, and in particular local roads, from which it may never recover!

I would therefore also take this opportunity to OBJECT to Policy A35: Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham.

Whilst Horsley station has frequent trains to London and Guildford, car parking at the station is limited and is often full during the week. There is no adjacent land available for additional car parking provision. A significant increase in the village population will obviously increase the pressure on station car parking and traffic movements to and from the station on already narrow and, at times, congested local roads.

There is currently a regular bus service operating along the A246 between Guildford and Leatherhead, however this is really only of use to residents at the very southern end of West Horsley. There is also currently an extremely limited bus service along East Lane and The Street, through West Horsley village, which only operates 2 or 3 times per day between Monday to Friday only. There is no service at the weekends. Any development of new homes at this end of the village would necessitate an improvement in this service for it to be considered in any way sustainable.

In Policy I3: Sustainable transport for new developments; GBC proposes that “We will expect developments will contribute…..We will expect new development to…. We will expect new all applications for …..”. Is that really the best we can hope for? That GBC ‘expects’ things from developers rather than ‘requires’ them! The policy as drafted ‘has no teeth’ and is clearly open to abuse from developers or housebuilders.

I would therefore ask that Policy I3: Sustainable transport for new developments should be AMENDED to state that GBC require these things rather than expect them!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES (INC. GREEN BELT)

In my opinion, the Metropolitan Green Belt and its special natural environment is a defining characteristic of Guildford borough and, indeed, West Horsley. I believe that there should remain a general presumption that it should be protected. It should only be sacrificed as a last resort, as once lost it can never be reclaimed.
As you will be well aware, the national policy regarding protection for the Green Belt is contained within section 9 of the NPPF. Paragraph 79 confirms that the Government attaches great importance to Green Belts.

I am concerned to note that it is still proposed that numerous villages in Guildford borough are threatened with removal from their long established Green Belt designation, including my own village of West Horsley.

Personally, I do not believe that West Horsley’s currently defined Settlement Area boundaries (ref. 2003 Local Plan) needs such a significant extension as is being proposed. In my opinion, there has not been any material change to the village’s circumstances since the adoption of the 2003 Local Plan. It is fair to say that I, and many other local residents, do not therefore agree with the proposals map or its proposed new Green Belt boundary.

In the current circumstances, I’m afraid that I find the opening paragraph of Policy P2: Green Belt; disingenuous. For GBC to state “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt, as shown on the proposals map, against inappropriate development”, feels like some kind of bad joke.

Characteristics of the Green Belt

The main (and some could argue fundamental) aim of national Green Belt policy, which is indeed repeated verbatim by GBC in item 4.3.11, is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of the Green Belt being its openness and permanence.

As the Green Belt in Surrey is long established and has detailed boundaries, “exceptional circumstances” must therefore be demonstrated to necessitate any change to its boundaries. This has been, I believe, clarified by case law in Gallagher Estates Ltd v Solihull Metropolitan Borough Council (2014).

In my opinion, the proposed changes to the Green Belt boundaries in West Horsley generally, and in particular with regard to the area around the site covered by Policy A41, have not been proven by GBC to be an “exceptional circumstance”.

GBC states in item 4.3.12 that “national planning policy states that only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt”.

It is my belief that West Horsley’s open, semi-rural character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt in this part of the borough. That was presumably also the view of our predecessors, as recently as in the adoption of the 2003 Local Plan, when they decide that West Horsley and other villages should be ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt.

You will be aware that the semi-rural landscape character of the village is greatly valued by West Horsley residents and is detailed in general terms within the Guildford Borough Council Landscape Character Assessment.

In so many ways much of the character of West Horsley is defined by the open views, (over hedges, or through fences or gates) from the roads either entering or passing through the village settlement. This is the specific and differentiating characteristic of West Horsley over our more ‘leafy’ (i.e. more trees overhanging the roads) yet more tightly developed neighbour, East Horsley, which I believe GBC and its consultants have failed to recognise or protect.

Throughout the village, stretches of undeveloped countryside on just one side of Ockham Road North, East Lane, Long Reach, Ripley Lane and, to a lesser extent, The Street reinforce this characteristic. The clearly defined precedent is of the village settlement being on one side of the route and there being open vistas across fields / meadows / farmland / horse paddocks or into woodlands on the other. This precedent should be protected not compromised by any ill-advised or inappropriate development.

Furthermore, the fact that the main vehicular traffic route through the village (along East Lane / The Street) currently benefits from a ‘green gap’ of woods and fields to the north (between The Rectory, approx. opposite Northcote Road to Grovelands Farm, beyond the railway bridge) and to the south (between Roundtree Farm and the listed Railway Cottages, at the Railway bridge) reinforces this openness. This natural green area, centred on the Lollesworth Lane / Long Reach junction, is in many ways the ‘heart and lungs’ of the village. I believe that Policy A41 of the Proposed Local Plan, detailed later, directly compromises this important amenity.
Whilst I acknowledge that the Green Belt everywhere is under pressure, I strongly believe that any linear extensions of the existing settlement boundaries should be strongly resisted, particularly where this openness is compromised.

Thus I believe that the parish of West Horsley’s open, semi-rural character does indeed make clear and important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt in this area, and therefore I believe that, under national planning policy it should remain “washed over by” the Green Belt, rather than being “inset from the Green Belt” as proposed.

Development in the Green Belt

Policy on development with the Metropolitan Green Belt is set out in paragraphs 79 – 92 of the NPPF.

Inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to Green Belt and paragraph 87 of the NPPF clearly states that it “should not be approved except in very special circumstances”. Furthermore paragraph 89 advises local planning authorities to “regard the construction of new buildings as inappropriate in Green Belt”.

Whilst I accept that it is possible for a local planning authority to conduct a review of Green Belt land and consider redefining boundaries which add or take away Green Belt land in order to meet these “very special circumstances”, paragraph 83 of the NPPF states, “Local planning authorities with Green Belts in their area should establish Green Belt boundaries in their Local Plans which set the framework for Green Belt and settlement policy. Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.”

This paragraph clearly sets out that a Green Belt review should only happen in “exceptional circumstances”. This concept is further explained on in paragraph 82 as being “for example when planning for larger scale development such as new settlements or major urban extensions”. Clearly, and even though it is currently proposed to expand the number of dwellings within the village by approx. 35%, what is proposed in West Horsley is neither a new settlement nor a major urban extension.

Furthermore, paragraph 84 of the NPPF advises that “When drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development. They should consider the consequences for sustainable development of channelling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt or towards locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary”.

As previously stated, I do not believe that GBC has channelled sustainable development towards existing urban areas and nor, furthermore, has GBC channelled it next towards any towns and villages already inset with the Green Belt.

Furthermore, I would refer you to The Guildford Borough Settlement hierarchy document (May 2014) where West Horsley is designated by GBC as falling into the category of a ‘Large Village’. Whilst I would not agree with this designation per se, even if it were to be correct, then the document states that a ‘Large Village’ is considered “unsuitable for substantial growth, but is capable of accommodating a ‘proportionate extension’”. When you then consider that the borough’s more urban and therefore intensively ‘built-up’ settlements of Guildford Town Centre and Ash & Tongham are only facing, respectively, increases of either 11% or 16% in their housing stock there is, in my opinion, no way that what is currently proposed in West Horsley could ever be considered a ‘proportionate extension’!

I note with disappointment that, within item 4.3.16 of the Proposed Local Plan, GBC states that “We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and to promote sustainable patterns of development.” I do not accept this and would ask that this sentence be DELETED

Revision of the Green Belt boundaries, and removal of any land from the protection of the Green Belt status, should only be allowed after detailed and specific consideration of the individual villages and sites concerned.
I fear that the proposed ‘wholesale’ removal of West Horsley from being “washed over by the Green Belt” to being “inset within the Green Belt” will forever change the nature of our village and, once lost, the character of the village (and others including East Horsley nearby) will be nothing but a distant memory and something which our generation will undoubtedly live to regret.

I would therefore STRONGLY OBJECT to the proposals map and the proposed amendment of the Green Belt boundary around West Horsley in particular. I would ask that the proposals map be rejected, reconsidered and significantly amended.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

HOUSING NEED

I do not consider that the case regarding the need for the proposed overall number of houses in Guildford borough has been proven.

The target house building programme proposed represents a 25% increase in the housing stock of the borough, whilst we have been advised that the Office of National Statistics (ONS) only projects a population increase of some 15% for the borough of Guildford over the same period. Something just doesn’t make sense. Certainly the proposed increase in the number of new houses required has not been proven for the village of West Horsley.

In my opinion the Proposed Submission Local Plan in respect of West Horsley is excessive in terms of the potential residential provision currently indicated. I do not believe that the scale of development proposed, in any way, reflects the actual need, nor that it respects the local character and existing built density of the village.

I therefore OBJECT to the current site allocations and housing densities proposed for all four sites in West Horsley.

I would further make the point that the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013 – 2031 made no such case for siting large numbers of residential units within West Horsley. As previously stated, West Horsley is remote from the existing centres of employment and the new Economic Development Site proposals, which are focussed on the opposite side of the borough.

Furthermore, I understand that in March 2014 the Government published a new web-based Planning Practise Guidance (Housing & economic land availability assessment, Methodology – stage 5: Final evidence base, 6 March 2014) to accompany and give further detail about the policies in the NPPF. This guidance set out that unmet housing need in a particular area is unlikely to meet the “very special circumstances” test to justify development within the Green Belt. It states “Unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt”.

On 4th October 2014, I understand that the Government announced that it had further updated its online Planning Practise Guidance. The aim of this was to reaffirm local authorities’ abilities to “safeguard their local area against urban sprawl, and to protect the green lungs around towns and cities”. The Government said that it wanted to make planning policy clear that housing need does not justify the harm done to the Green Belt by inappropriate development.

The new guidance included the statement that: “The Framework (NPPF) makes clear that, once established, Green belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan.

Do local planning authorities have to meet in full housing needs identified in needs assessments? – Local authorities should prepare a Strategic Housing Market Assessment to assess their full housing needs. However, assessing need is just the first stage in developing a Local Plan. Once need has been assessed, the local planning authority should prepare a strategic housing land availability assessment to establish realistic assumptions about the availability, suitability and likely economic viability of land to meet the identified need for housing over the plan period, and in so doing take account of any constraints such as Green Belt, which indicate that development should be restricted and which may restrain the ability of an authority to meet its need.”

I further understand that on 19 December 2014 the Planning Minister wrote to the Chief Executive at the Planning Inspectorate about Strategic Housing Market Assessments. This letter set out the relationship between housing figures produced as part of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment and those in a Local Plan and how to take into account constraints such as Green Belt land. It contained the following: “However, the outcome of a Strategic Housing Market Assessment is untested and should not automatically be seen as a proxy for a final housing requirement in Local Plans.

It does not immediately or in itself invalidate housing numbers in existing Local Plans. Councils will need to consider Strategic Housing Market Assessment evidence carefully and take adequate time to consider whether there are environmental and policy constraints, such as Green Belt, which will impact on their overall final housing requirement.”

It is my view that the overall extent of development required in the borough necessary to meet the employment and housing needs in the borough and, as set out in Policy S2, has not been satisfactorily defined having regard to the methodology summarised above.

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) assesses an Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) of 693 dwellings per annum “but does not take into account land supply, policy or other constraints to development”, as per paragraph 1.2 of the Guildford Summary Report – October 2015. This figure is acknowledged as including upwards adjustments to support growth in student numbers and higher migration levels than are shown in the 2012-based Population Projections and represents an OAN 23% higher than need calculated through London sensitivity analysis, as per paragraphs 4.1 – 4.2 of the same Guildford Summary Report.

Policy S2 of the Proposed Local Plan then, apparently uncritically, applies this OAN figure to identify a housing requirement of 13,860 dwellings for the plan period (20 years at 693 dwellings per annum). There is no evidence to indicate that in defining this figure GBC has undertaken a careful consideration of “whether there are environmental and policy constraints, such as Green Belt, which will impact on their overall final housing requirement” and which may well indicate that development should be restricted.

Furthermore, I also understand that GBC will not release details of the methodology used by their third party consultants to arrive at the OAN figures used, which, in my opinion, also makes the likelihood of the Proposed Local Plan being considered unsound in this respect highly unlikely.

Given that these OAN figures then play such a fundamental role in many of the Site and Strategy issues (and in particular Site Allocation) I believe that much of the Proposed Local Plan is very much open to challenge, possibly including judicial review.
In my opinion, the Proposed Submission Local Plan’s proposal to make provision for 62% of this total dwelling requirement on land that is currently Green Belt is simply not supported by adequate justification.

As previously stated, in my opinion, a disproportionate burden of meeting what GBC has chosen to define as its development needs is also proposed to fall on the more rural east of the borough. Within this eastern area, West Horsley is then allocated to bear a particularly excessive proportion of this proposed development, despite the numerous countervailing reasons put forward in previous consultation rounds by many local residents (e.g. narrow roads; areas of flood risk; access to both senior and junior school places; medical facilities, parking availability at the station, etc.) If adopted, the draft plan will put an unsustainable pressure on all local resources and infrastructure.

It should be noted that, within the Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan; Strategy & Sites: July 2014, GBC proposed the possible site allocation for a total of 434 houses within West Horsley (plus a further 100 abutting the parish boundary in East Horsley) including 185 homes on Land to the west of Silkmore Lane and no mention of development on the sites now proposed under Policies A37 nor A41.

Many of us objected to the same and, quite correctly, the Silkmore Lane site was removed from the current Proposed Local Plan. We were amazed however to see that, in lieu, site allocations were now proposed for sites A37 and A41 proposing a total further 130 homes on these two sites! It seems to me as though GBC have predetermined that West Horsley should ‘suffer’ approx. 450 homes come what may and, if not on initially proposed sites then on others. Are we truly meant to believe that GBC, having removed this Silkmore Lane site in the village, found that sequentially the next two most ‘appropriate sites for residential development’, within the whole of the borough of Guildford were in the very same village? I don’t think so!!

I cannot, for the life of me, see how any ‘need’ for the proposed number of houses can be proven. This feels like pure opportunism on behalf of GBC and landowners.

I therefore OBJECT to the borough housing targets set out in Policy S2.

Furthermore, I am also concerned that all of the proposed Site Allocation sites are currently designated for years 1 – 5 of the plan which I feel, if adopted, would only exacerbate local infrastructure problems, set out later in this representation. Finally, delivery of whatever provision is adopted should at least be phased so as to control the construction traffic impact. Such prolonged phasing should also assist the developers in their ‘take up’, by phasing the delivery and release to the market.

I therefore OBJECT to the proposed timing of any adopted housing targets. I would ask that they be reconsidered and redistributed so as to phase delivery with reference to delivery of the necessary supporting infrastructure.

SUMMARY

The Green Belt within Guildford borough is a Regional and National asset. It must be protected in so far as is absolutely possible.

Every effort must be made to locate proposed new housing on existing brownfield sites close to areas of employment, before the ‘easy option’ of allowing development of greenfield sites is permitted.

I remain unconvinced that the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy & Sites 2016 has fully exhausted the possibilities for residential development on such land, preferring to reserve many such areas of land for potential employment or education opportunities, which may not fully require the same.

I remain completely unconvinced as to the proven need (OAN) for the full extent of new housing proposed. In my opinion the scale of potential development proposed in West Horsley, in particular, is excessive, disproportionate and inappropriate. For the reasons previously stated I believe that it should be limited in terms of both potential locations for proposed development and permitted density. It is a semi-rural village and any future development should both respect and contribute to its local character, context and distinctiveness, not detract from or, at worse, destroy the same.

GUILDFORD BOROUGH – PROPOSED SUBMISSION LOCAL PLAN: STRATEGY AND SITES 2016 CONSULTATION

I write regarding the above and ask that the following comments be taken into account when considering the same.

The points made in this letter are in addition to the points made by Porta Planning in their separate submission on behalf of myself and a group of neighbours.

As you will note, I live in the village of West Horsley and therefore many of my comments relate to the specific issues relating to that village alone.

GENERAL

I am well aware of the Central Government desire to increase the United Kingdom’s housing provision, particularly in the South East of England. I believe that I understand the pressure on Guildford Borough Council (“GBC”) to adopt a deliverable Local Plan for the borough for the plan period and that housing provision will form a significant part of the same.

One of the fundamental questions which remain to be fully addressed and adopted is where the most appropriate locations for such dwellings will be. I believe that such housing provision should ideally be situated in sustainable locations; ideally located on existing brownfield sites within the borough and as near as possible to the centres of employment. I do not believe that the current document has given sufficient consideration to the same, seeking instead an over-reliance on the proposed utilisation of the currently designated Green Belt land around local villages, particularly to the east of the borough, to meet such needs.

I believe this to be a fundamental flaw in the Guildford borough Submission Local Plan 2016 (“Proposed Local Plan”) as it proposes extensive residential development that will be remote from the existing centres of employment or where indicated within the Proposed Local Plan; these being largely on the opposite side of the borough. Such a policy would be counter to the principles of sustainable development and would undoubtedly put further pressure on the already struggling transport infrastructure. I would wish to see such this approach rejected and more new proposed housing allocated closer to the existing and proposed centres of employment, i.e. within and around Guildford town centre / urban area, rather than in the borough’s outlying, and previously protected, villages.

That said I would also accept that it is unreasonable to expect that semi-rural villages, such as West Horsley, be totally excluded from any future housing provision. Indeed to promote the ongoing vitality of a lively, prospering village I would anticipate some, but what is currently proposed by the Proposed Local Plan for West Horsley and neighbouring East Horsley is, in my opinion, unnecessary & unneeded, unsupported by infrastructure and disproportionate in extent.

I believe that any such new housing provision must only be allocated having considered many factors, including:

1. Environmental Issues (inc. Green Belt);
2. Housing Need;
3. Local Character & Distinctiveness;
4. Potential Development Sites;
5. Transport & Highway Considerations;
6. Infrastructure;

I will therefore set out my views on each topic with regard to West Horsley below, for your further consideration.

National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), paragraph 182, advises that a Local Plan can only be adopted if it is sound. As a matter of government policy, soundness requires a plan to be:

1. positively prepared;
2. justified;
3. effective;
4. consistent with national policy.

Within these four heads it should enable, over its plan period, the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the NPPF.

I have several strong concerns as to whether this is the case within the Proposed Local Plan, as currently drafted, and believe that some of the current policies are neither justified nor consistent with national policy, thereby rendering the same unsound without significant revision.

I therefore OBJECT to the Guildford borough Proposed Submission Local Plan – Strategy & Sites 2016 as currently drafted.

I THEREFORE REPEAT MY OBJECTION TO THE GUILDFORD BOROUGH PROPOSED SUBMISSION LOCAL PLAN: STRATEGY AND SITES 2016, as many aspects of the same, as outlined above, are either ill conceived, unnecessary or unsound.

I trust that these comments will assist in your consideration of the many issues raised with regard to the Guildford borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites 2016.

Attn. Planning Policy Team, Guildford Borough Council

Further to your letter, dated 7th June 2017, inviting me to take part in the targeted consultation on Guildford Borough Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017), I am writing to you in SUPPORT of the specific proposed change to the Proposed Submission Local Plan relating to the deletion of the previously proposed Policy A41.

I am pleased to note that the site, previously indicated for housing under Policy A41, has now been removed from the housing sites allocation and now remains within the protection of the Green Belt designation. May I take this opportunity to express my thanks for your decision to remove the threat of a built development and ‘return’ this important natural area of West Horsley to the protection of the Green Belt area. I trust that it can now rightly remain a most important contributor to the essential open character of the village.

Comment ID: PSLPP16/13864  Respondent: 8835553 / David Pile  Agent:
There is no proposed development of other facilities to accompany the massive proposed increase in houses. Most will probably have at least two cars per household.

- This increase in vehicles will have an adverse impact on already inadequate roads, and other services. The Raleigh School is proposing to relocate to a green field site and, one assumes, (although their information letter does not mention it), to take more pupils. They claim this new location will alleviate traffic congestion, but this will only be in Northcote Road/Crescent, and Nightingale Avenue/Crescent. There will be even more traffic that at present in East Lane and Ockham Road North. (I am interested to read that a recent planning application for a school in Effingham has been turned down).

- These additional householders will generate additional traffic. There is already insufficient space at the railway station for commuters cars, and there is no room there to create additional parking. Where are these commuters to park?

- There is already insufficient space at the shopping precinct for shoppers cars, and there is no room there to create additional parking. Where are these shoppers to park?

- The doctor's surgery will be overwhelmed. I already have to wait one week for an appointment to see a GP, and longer if I wish to see a specific GP.

- The additional housing will create problems with rain drainage. The area is already subject to flooding in the frequent 'once in 100 years' deluges that we now seem to be experiencing every two or three years.

- If the proposed development of Wisley Airfield goes ahead these problems will made even worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
There is talk of only low grade agricultural land being used for building. This is a red herring. Low grade agricultural land is needed to maintain the biodiversity in the area. It is because of additional population pressures that Suitable Alternative Natural Green Spaces (SANGS) are being proposed (although this appears to be a sop so that houses can be built). Their aim is to have fewer people in the existing Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. This low grade agricultural land is needed as land; not as a housing estate.

The Green Belt is sacrosanct, and no land should be removed from it. It is there to protect residents from exactly this sort of development. It has done well to protect the nature of the village in the past, and should be there to protect it in the future.

It is adjacent to Elm Corner Wood and Hunts Copse both Sites of Nature Conservation Importance and in the proximity of a Thames Basin Heaths SPA of Ockham and Wisley Commons Site of Special Scientific Interest. The development would be a disaster for the area 2000 homes would be 6000 people, 12000 feet destroying the area.

The council has already rejected the development proposal for the site for the following reason:

- Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances”.
- Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land: 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.
- Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).
- Proximity to A3/M25 bottleneck and Ripley village and roundabouts.
- Absence of adequate traffic data.
- Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.
- Loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.
- Disproportion of locating of over 2,000 dwellings within the ancient village of Ockham with just 159 households.
- Presence of a Surrey County Council safeguarded waste site.
- Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.
- Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.
- Impact on listed buildings.
- Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA.
- Extreme housing density with tiny garden spaces.
- Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.
- Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).
- Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

But as reported in the national press the CEO of the Cayman Island Company (which have three major player from the Tory party including an former minister connected to it) who owns the land at Wisley, made a donation of £100,000 to the Tory party and then the site is back in the local plan. One can only wonder how this can happen, possible a phone call from central Office to its supports on Guildford Council? The company seem very sure they will get their approval because at the local cinema’s they are showing a short film during the adverts extolling how wonderful the development will be.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A42 Clockbarn Nursery. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The site is part of the permanent Green Belt at Send and should remain undeveloped in order to preserve the amenity of the surrounding area. The site has very restricted access along Tannery Lane which is narrow and for most its length only capable of providing access for cars in one direction. Development of the site is not therefore sustainable or practical. Tannery Lane already provides access to a Business Park which generates a considerable amount of traffic at all times of the day including lorries. This narrow country lane cannot cope with any more traffic. Planning consent has already been granted, rather unnecessarily, given the access problems, for 84 flats and a marina. Anymore development at this location would not be sustainable. The junction with Send Road has poor visibility and is dangerous for traffic entering and leaving Tannery Lane.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, this land is Green belt. It contains two areas of ancient woodland. 50% of the site is subject to flooding and is recognised locally as a FLOOD PLANE. Any work carried to reduce the area flooded would increase the likely hood of flooding in Send Marsh, the Environment Agency undertook work a few years ago in Send Marsh to reduce the risk, but any work on Garlick’s Arch could neutralise the good work done. If the proposed development of 400 houses and industrial buildings takes place where will there surface water go, will it just be spirited away, it will certainly not soak into the ground under such a density of buildings, it will either finish up in the main drainage or the stream. Even if it goes into some form of soak away it will still finish up in the stream after percolating through the soil. I have attached a photograph of the flooding at Garlick’s Arch, when this photograph was taken 50% of the proposed site was flooded.
The ancient woodland on the site has protection under the NPPF section 118 if one locates a development of this size adjacent to woods it can not fail to damage it. I do realise the policy does allow exception for thing of national importance, but this certainly fails to meet that standard. 400 houses would give a minimum of 800 people 1600 feet tramping over the woodland. With this level of development there would be another 800 cars on the roads of Send assisting with the gridlock the council are working towards, I would also like to draw your attention to the fact the draft plan which was circulated for consultation had no mention of this site then by slight of hand two week before the plan went to council for a vote on adoption, this site appeared as an amendment to the circulated documents. This probable has more to do with the council wish to add additional entry points to the A3 and the gifting of the land for this by the owner of this site, Is this the correct way for a council to function? I don’t think so. The previous site proposed in the local plan for the industrial units has been dropped and Slyfield the main industrial area has been totally ignored.

Re: Effingham Residents Association’s Regulation 19 Comments on GBC Draft Local Plan

This letter contains Effingham Residents’ Association’s comments on the draft GBC Local Plan under Regulation 19.

The Effingham Residents Association exists to safeguard and promote the interests of the residents of Effingham. All Effingham Residents are considered members of the Association. There are 1,054 households in Effingham and we have only four residents who have asked not to be members. These comments are based on our members’ views and are largely taken from two surveys of members of the Residents’ Association in August 2014 and July 2016, with the number of respondents 349 and 244 respectively. Summaries of the responses to these questionnaires are attached as annexes.

We are very supportive of a Local Plan being agreed as we appreciate that there are major disadvantages in only having a Local Plan dating from 2003. However, we have some major concerns about some of the policies in the draft Local Plan as they affect Effingham.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Protecting Policies

We support Policy P1 to protect the Green Belt, but are concerned about parts of Policy P2. In particular, our recent survey of Effingham residents showed that 64% were against the insetting of Effingham. According to the NPPF and as quoted in the draft Plan:

“villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt.”

It can well be argued that Effingham’s open character contributes to the openness of the Green Belt, particularly on the northern side, where the older part of the village has open views to the green fields to the north, which significantly contributes to the importance of Effingham’s Conservation Area as confirmed by Historic England.

We understand that insetting would allow some limited development in the village, although we would point out that Effingham has had a higher rate of development over the last ten years than the average for the borough (6.6% against the Borough average of 5%). The same result could be achieved by a limited extension of the settlement area.

If Effingham is to be inset we believe that the proposed boundaries of the inset contain a number of anomalies and technical errors, a number of which have been pointed out to us by residents and which they have commented on in their responses to you. We understand that the inset boundary has to be where there is existing development and must follow natural boundaries that are likely to be permanent. We would therefore like a detailed review of the proposed boundaries, including ours and individual residents’ comments on them.

There are certain areas in the proposed inset that we feel are inappropriate according to the guidelines and should be excluded. These are:
1. The centre of the Conservation Area as it is open to the green fields to the north, including St Lawrence Church, Brown’s and Brown’s Field.
2. The Howard of Effingham School, or at least its playing fields to the east side which form an important green gap between Effingham and Little Bookham and have been classified as on high sensitivity Green B The current proposed inset boundary on the south side of Howard of Effingham Playing fields does not following any natural physical feature.
3. The Allotments, especially as they lack permanent natural boundaries
4. Grove House, especially as it has no physical natural boundary on its western bound
5. The small field used as recreational space for Middle Farm Place, especially as it has no permanent natural boundaries.

The following possible minor anomalies have also been pointed out to us which mainly concern the proposed inset not following permanent natural or property boundaries. This list may not be exhaustive.

1. Inset not following property boundary at 69 Strathcona Avenue
2. Inset not following property boundaries at 1 Beech Close and Orchard Well
3. Inset not following property boundaries from Yew Tree Walk to 4 Middle Farm Close (line appears to go through the middle of a building)
4. Inset not following property boundaries at Moonshine, Effingham Common Road, and all along Lower Road (Old Village Hall, and Sir Douglas Haig cut by inset boundary).
5. Inset not following property boundaries in Barnes Wallis Close
6. If Browns Lane is to be included which we dispute, the inset should run along the west side of Browns Lane and not the east side.

We are also concerned about the intention to remove the land of the former Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt (also in A35). Many Effingham residents objected to the recent planning application on many grounds, but those which they felt would badly affect Effingham were the increase in traffic congestion on local roads which are already dangerously under pressure and the inadequate access to public transport of the proposed development. The proposal for the proposed development’s residents to use Effingham and East Horsley railway stations is untenable as they are already over used. The station car parks are unable to cope with current demand and unable to be extended. The proposed bus service would not be sufficiently used to mitigate against this as has been shown on similar developments. All new large developments should have new train stations and car parking facilities where the nearest ones are at capacity.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
There are three sites proposed in the Land Availability Assessment (LAA) February 2016 in Effingham. In our recent survey 68% of residents were in favour of building on these three sites. However, we would like to express concern at the numbers proposed for one of the sites, land at Church Street. In the SHLAA June 2014 this site was also included with an incorrect site area given of 1.13ha and 22 homes were proposed at a supposed density of 19dph. The site area has been corrected in the current LAA to 0.7 ha but the proposed numbers are unaltered at 22 giving a density of 31dph. This density is unsuitable for the location which is at the centre of Effingham’s historic Conservation Area and close to the Church of St Lawrence and contrary to your policies in D3 for conserving and enhancing the historic environment, policies which we strongly support as a historic village. The density is also atypical of the village. If the density continued to be 19dph the number of dwellings would be a more appropriate 13.6.

We trust that you will take our comments into account.

Housing Policies

We support the mix of housing proposed in the Local Plan and in particular the provision of one and two bedroom properties which are needed in Effingham and across the borough. We are however concerned by Policy H3 which we think could be used to remove a continuous amount of land from the Green Belt in “small affordable housing developments.” This policy needs to be better defined to limit the numbers of houses in such developments and to control the number of such developments in any locality by requiring evidence for the need, taking into account other developments in that locality in the preceding ten years.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Policy P5

We support this policy but believe that all Suitable Natural Alternative Green Spaces (SANGs) must be new green space and not just a redesignation of existing green space which already has public access, as this is a misuse of the policy which is to mitigate against damage to Special Protection Areas (SPAs).

In this regard, Effingham Common was designated a SANG some years ago, although it is registered common land which already had public access. Since it has been registered as a SANG there has been a decline in its important skylark population. This appears to be due to an increase in dog walkers (including some professional) and its management as recreational space instead of as a local nature reserve, which we believe would be a more appropriate designation, and which would encourage wildlife.

There was a proposal in the last draft of the Plan to increase the capacity of the SANG at Effingham Common by building a car park, even though it is illegal to build on common land. Our survey in August 2014 showed that 97% of Effingham respondents were against this. We trust that GBC will respect the status of Effingham Common and that any SANGs required will be located on new green space.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Strategic Policies S1 and S2

Effingham residents are very strong supporters of the Green Belt. We are concerned by the impact that the policies S1 and S2 will have on the Green Belt. We believe that the housing target set is too high and that constraints (in particular the high proportion of the borough that is Green Belt or an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty) have not been properly applied. We do not believe that the figures proposed are justified by the evidence or are sustainable.

However, Effingham residents do like the approach of designating Green Belt by a sensitivity system and in our recent survey 96% supported directing all new development away from high sensitivity Green Belt areas.

My daughters attend schools in Effingham and use the school bus to get to and from school. I believe the increase in housing would place a huge burden on local schools, infrastructure and other essential local services. As it is the local schools are in huge demand as is the doctors surgery. The village roads through the village flood regular during heavy rainfall, as do other areas and it does appear to be on the increase. I am a resident of West Horsley, have lived in this village for 18 years and want to strongly object to the potential removal of West Horsley from the Green Belt leading to the insetting and extending of the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries, in particular with regard to the proposed development site at Manor Farm.

With the potential of 135 new homes to be built on the Manor Farm site, and given that the majority of households on average have 2 + cars and 4 family members the pressure this will create on already under resourced facilities such as schools, the road network, drainage, medical services and local parking and train services is unsustainable. Whilst I understand there is increasing pressure on local housing, I feel there are better sites that do no impinge on the Green Belt.

I believe an increase in housing at Manor will fundamentally not work and irrevocable change the balance in the village to a completely unsupportable and unsustainable level.

I OBJECT to the proposal for Manor Farm laid out in the Local Plan

Habitats Regulations Assessment [HRA]

Response - NAG objects to the HRA and its Appendixes A, B and C

Summary

The HRA omits vital evidence and fails to fully assess the cumulative impact of all proposed development in the 400m-5km TBHSPA mitigation zone.

- It fails to show any base line 'real world' air pollution evidence.
- It pre-determines whether Natural England will act to approve both strategic and "bespoke" SANG submitted for planning approval.
- It demonstrates that Policy S2, H3, P3, P1, E1, E2, E4-9, I3 (13 out of 27 Policies = 50% approx of all policies) have an impact on TBHSPA but this is not referred to in the conclusion.
- It demonstrates that the majority of sites in 400m-5km mitigation zone need special HRA evaluations to be carried out (63 out of 82 sites in total [77%]) but this is not referred to in the conclusion.
- It fails to include an evaluation the most recent visitor survey of TBHSPA 2012/13 (see below)

Key Points of Objection

NAG objects to the omission of 2012/13 Natural England survey of visitor numbers to the TBHSPA report from the HRA. The HRA fails to list the 2012 Natural England Survey of Visitors to the TBHSPA as material evidence (Natural England Commissioned Report NECR136 Results of the 2012/13 visitor survey on the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), First Published 13 February 2014; Natural England Project Manager - Patrick McKernan, Natural England, Guildbourne House, Chatsworth Road, Worthing, West Sussex, BN11 1LD; Contractor - Footprint Ecology, Forest Office, Cold Harbour, Bere Road, Cold Harbour, Wareham, BH20 7PA).
NAG objects to the failure of the HRA to examine the observed visitor trends between the 2005 NE Visitor Survey and the 2012/13 NE Visitor Survey. The 2012 NE visitor survey reports a 10% increase in visitor numbers. This is neither considered nor critically appraised as a contribution to the analysis of success or failure of the TBHSPA Avoidance Strategy 2009-2014 and the implications for Policy P2, P5, E8 and E9.

NAG objects to the failure to present evidence in the HRA whether or not current SANG or SAMMS policies are effective. The HRA fails to assess whether SANG and SAMM current policies and programmes are effective, either independently or in combination, in attracting visitors, cross-country cyclists and dog-walkers away from TBHSPA. On enquiry, Natural England admitted they have no such survey evidence for TBHSPA SANG or SAMM programmes.

NAG objects to the failure to properly assess the potential impact of disturbance and predation rates by newly introduced pet populations (dogs and cats). The HRA fails to assess in detail, with associated numerical calculations and a described methodology that can be independently verified, the cumulative potential impact on disturbance and predation rates within TBHSPA by the introduction of domestic pets (dogs and cats) from new dwellings; the introduction of over 8,000 dwellings within the 400m-5km mitigation zone will give rise to over 19,000 human inhabitants (ONS 2.4 people per household).

A survey of households carried out by a veterinary team at Bristol University in 2010 “Number and ownership profiles of cats and dogs in the UK” published in the Journal of The British Veterinary Association (Veterinary Record 2010;166:163-168 doi:10.1136/vr.b4712 Authors: J. K. Murray, BScEcon, MSc, PhD1, W. J. Browne, BSc, MSc, PhD1, M. A. Roberts, BVM&S, MRCVS2, A. Whitmarsh1 and T. J. Gruffydd-Jones, BVetMed, PhD, MRCVS1) indicates 31% households own dogs and 26% households own cats. Dogs were more likely to be owned by rural households.

Applying this analysis for all new housing at the listed strategic housing sites in the draft Local Plan within the 400m-5km mitigation zone of TBHSPA (in total 8,000+ new homes), the cumulative impact of dog ownership (up to an estimated 2,500 new dogs and 2,000 new cats within 5 km of TBHSPA) with dog-walker incursions on the rare bird species habitat of the TBHSPA will be a devastating increase.

NAG objects to the lack of direct measurable observations of the level of critical components of air pollution in the HRA. The HRA fails to present any actual evidence of current air pollution levels derived from roadside monitoring on critical routes within the 400m-5km TBHSPA mitigation zone (e.g. A324, A320, A321, A323) so as to set an acknowledged and proven base line from which to measure future incremental impacts on air pollution from the proposed housing developments and associated traffic movements; the introduction of associated vehicle ownership with its potential to increase NOX and CO2 in the 400m-5km mitigation zone; and over 10,000 vehicles (ONS 1.25 vehicles per household) in the 400m-5km mitigation zone.

"Section 10.4 Only mathematical modelling of air pollution has been carried out. There has been no physical evidence collected on the main feeder routes so there is no actual physically measured base level on which to judge neither the current nor incremental air pollution impact in the 400m-5km mitigation zone."

Simply modelling air pollution and declaring the model output as actual air pollution levels is irrational and non-sensical. Physical measurement must be carried and the evidence presented for further public consultation.

If applied to the human population, it has been estimated that sources of automotive air pollution account for approximately 5% of premature deaths (The WHO’s health risks of air pollution in Europe (HRAPIE) report put the equivalent mortality increase for NO2 at 5.5%) and among the 19,000 new inhabitants proposed in the this Local Plan in the 400m-5km TBHSPA mitigation zone this represents a premature death incidence over time of some 1,000 individuals.

NAG objects to the lack of detailed assessment of 50% of all proposed Policies and 77% of sites under the Impact Pathways in advance of policy formation. Under the Sustainable Employment Sites (Policy E1) the following sites require special site level HRA but no attempt is made to evaluate this in advance to advise policy formation.

The HRA states "7.2.5 Due to their close proximity to the SPA (or the potential for developments in such close proximity to be facilitated by these policies), the above proposed policies/locations have potential to result in dust deposition, noise and vibration impacts, lighting and visual disturbance and surface runoff during both construction and operation. Projects within 400m of the SPA that are to be brought forward under these policies will therefore need to be accompanied by..."
Habitat Regulations Assessment that will investigate these impacts in detail.”

“These impact pathways cannot be investigated in detail at the Local Plan level as they are related to detailed design and construction method.”

This statement is an avoidance of more detailed consideration of environmental impacts in the construction and operational phase of each site in order to permit residents more appreciation of the impacts. If AECOM can model supposed air pollution levels then AECOM can model the impact of dust deposition, noise and vibration impacts, lighting and visual disturbance and surface runoff during both construction and operation. GBC have failed to undertake suitable briefing of AECOM and have failed to take account of potential environmental disruption in advance of policy formation.

NAG proposes that to remedy these failings the final sentence of paragraph 7.2.5. should read

"These impact pathways will be investigated in detail at the Local Plan level by using appropriate modelling to illustrate the environmental impact of each site during construction and operation. The methodology and assumptions of the model proposed shall be available for public scrutiny. The resulting model output shall report on the following parameters; dust deposition, noise and vibration impacts, lighting and visual disturbance and surface runoff; and be prepared in advance of the Regulation 19 Examination in Public and submitted as part of the Guildford evidence base for the Guildford Local Plan, Proposed Submission."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Normandy Action Group

Normandy Action Group [NAG] was formed in 2004 as a formally constituted association established by Normandy residents who care about the village and wish to address independently any issues that affect the environment and amenity of the local community. Normandy Action Group draws its membership from the local community and works independently with the support and on behalf of residents. Our membership represents approximately 10% of Normandy and Flexford settlements’ households.

In the current consultation process NAG has held a series of public meetings and issued and distributed its regular printed newsletter plus many flyers to help residents understand the Local Plan process and the thrust of the overwhelming and often complex documentation presented in the ever-changing evidence base.

NAG Summary View

NAG believes that Guildford Borough Council [GBC] has promoted an obsession with process and deadlines in order to draw attention away from valid criticism of its pre-determination that can be seen within the evidence base. NAG believes that the basis of this plan was conceived in the period up to 2009 as the basis for a new local plan in 2010 but was deferred due to the then imminent general election. Many of the initial evidence documents were conceived in 2007 and have been hurriedly and poorly updated or have had new volumes added or addenda created to resolve problems for GBC where past evidence does not suit the current pre-determination embodied in the statement by the former lead councillor for the Local Plan, Cllr. Juneja, that this plan would “roll back the Green Belt”. This behaviour has been repeated in the current consultation with extremely late revealing of critical documents in a manner that militates against their evaluation as plausible evidence almost impossible. We believe this is a deliberate tactic by GBC to prevent proper consideration of them.

We believe the previous Regulation 18 consultation that drew 20,000 responses from 7,000 contributors demonstrated where their concerns were focussed, exposing widespread concern with the housing target represented by the OAN in the SHMAA and the determination to site 70% of housing in the Green Belt. Those responses have effectively been ignored. GBC planning officers reduced the analysis of those 20,000+ documents to a simple-minded two-page report on their impact on technical planning policy issues presented to the Joint Scrutiny Committee.

The new West Surrey SHMA is designed to prevent suitable examination in this round of consultation of its numbers and methodology. GL Hearn acting under the direction of GBC has produced a final SHMA that has been shown to be grossly inadequate, based as it is on inaccurate assessment of ONS figures. An analysis of the SHMA produced by NMSS on behalf of Guildford Residents Associations (of which NAG is a member) indicates technical shortcomings in the evaluation of population and economic estimates over the 15 year period and proposes an OAN of 510 dwellings per year. Although available under the NPPF, no restrictions are placed on the OAN in spite of 89% of the borough designated Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% within the 7Km mitigation zone of Thames Basin Heaths SPA.

693 houses per annum is excessive. It forces undue consideration of the agricultural land surrounding villages in the Green Belt. This is a relevant constraint under the NPPF but is being singularly ignored by this council in its plan setting. This number requires review and a significant downward adjustment towards the 322 that GBC fought so hard to establish in the High Court in 2010. There is a blatant disregard of ‘brownfield land’ being proposed for housing in Guildford town in contravention of national planning guidelines.

A plan is required, but a sensible and logical plan that flows from a consistent and stable evidence base endorsed by the residents of the whole borough, in which residents do not believe they are being cheated or conned, in which they harbour no suspicion of motives and from which they can believe this council supports their aspirations and harbours no malice to their lifestyles.

The Consultation Process

The consultation process was designed from the outset to curry a favourable image among the urban young, including UniS students, and the less advantaged residents of Guildford. The consultants engaged to design, implement and report on the community events were specialists in selling the ideas and planning concepts, not to listen seriously to the concerns and reasoned arguments of informed residents that thought the events were designed for them to express their views and have them listed to. GBC have spent £175,000 retaining planning barristers to advise best how to edge this divisive evidence base through a Regulation 19 examination.

Developers and landowners have been actively courted (e.g. G-Live event organised on the 6th May 2014). In contrast, local communities like Normandy and Flexford were offered a single event not even in the parish. It was claimed to have been advertised in the local press but diligent residents could find no evidence. The GBC planning policy department representatives and their consultant helpers outnumbered our residents. When asked questions they could not or were unwilling to answer, these representatives kept referring residents back to the GBC web site and the evidence base or claiming it was catered for under the NPPF guidance. All the way through it has been a ‘selling’ exercise, reinforced by GBC spending £75,000 retaining PR advisers to present a favourable picture of the Local Plan, even to the extent of claiming SANG is planned leisure space.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The site allocations in Normandy ward are reliant upon the land in each site being ‘inset’ from the Green Belt. In every case, there has been no attempt to bring forward the ‘exceptional circumstances’ required to change Green Belt boundaries as laid out by the NPPF. The NPPF and the accompanying NPPG is planning guidance, advisory during the Local Plan process but not planning law. Planning law is set in statute and in the courts. The law concerning ‘exceptional circumstances’ is well founded, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt and GBC have not addressed this requirement and presented their arguments to the “exceptional circumstances” required to re-draw Green Belt boundaries either when proposing “insetting” of settlements from the Green belt that are currently “washed over” by the Green Belt or removing land from the Green Belt for housing development.

In addition, all Site Allocation Policies for land in Normandy and Flexford are within the 5km buffer zone of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area [TBHSPA]. This makes all of them subject to the provision of SANG and there must be due regard to the Habitats Regulations (NPPF para 14 and 119)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This land is located with land parcel H12 as identified in GBCS Vol IV. The land is DEFRA agricultural land Grade 3A and has been farmed traditionally for pasture (sheep and cattle) and for grain (wheat and barley) in perpetuity. The land contains many stands of scheduled Ancient Woodland. It is contended that the land contributes to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt between the settlements of Flexford and Normandy and should remain ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt.

Legal Precedent

We object to the removal of the land allocated to Policy A46 by removal from the Green Belt by “inset” under NPPF para 83 and 84. We believe that current case law militates against the removal of land by the re-drawing of Green Belt boundaries without the express presentation in the written Local Plan of the “exceptional circumstances” proposed to redraw the Green Belt boundary for the land in Policy A46. We draw attention to the following cases

• Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
• IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J
• Calverton Parish Council v Nottingham City Council, Broxtowe Borough Council and Gedling Borough Council [2015] EWHC 1078 (Admin), Jay J
In the Solihull BC decision in particular “Exceptional circumstances are required for any revision of the boundary, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt. That is the ratio of Carpets of Worth.

Whilst each case is fact-sensitive and the question of whether circumstances are exceptional for these purposes requires an exercise of planning judgment, what is capable of amounting to exceptional circumstances is a matter of law, and a plan-maker may err in law if he fails to adopt a lawful approach to exceptional circumstances. Once a Green Belt has been established and approved, it requires more than general planning concepts to justify an alteration.”

We contend that no “exceptional circumstances “ for such re-drawing of boundaries have been offered by GBC in the context of the Local Plan process, so how can residents judge the veracity of this proposal?

Guildford Borough Settlement Profiles (July 2013) & Settlement Hierarchy (May 2014)

We object to the use of a 2010 survey of parishes that was not represented to parish councils as to be part of the Local Plan evidence base in an attempt to present the two settlements as one so as to better suit the pre-determination evident in the council officer's thinking even at this early stage in the consultation. It is recognised in the Settlement Hierarchy that Flexford and Normandy are separate settlements, neither rank highly based on their individual sets of community facilities and services (Normandy 13, Flexford 27 sustainability ranking in Settlement Hierarchy report). It is disingenuous to represent them as a combined community. The ward contains five hamlets in a dispersed area. There is no traditional community centre. The incorrect assessment in the Settlement Profile document has been pointed out under Regulation 18 consultation but the council continues to include this flawed document as evidence. It should be discounted and removed from the evidence base.

Use of educational provision as “exceptional circumstances”

We object to the proposed site of Normandy/Flexford (Policy A46) for a new Secondary School; this should be rejected as the need for such a school in the location has not been proven.

In its last submission to GBC (July 2014) Surrey County Council, in its official response, said: "A site within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm, with all necessary access infrastructure built in and a catchment surrounding the site, would be a more sustainable location in transport terms for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford.” Why has GBC not heeded this advice?

Every neighbouring secondary school is currently undersubscribed, Kings Manor in particular with 57% of its school places currently unoccupied. The birth rate which rose in 2011 and 2012 has reduced for the last two years, so building new schools now is a mis-direction.

GBC in the Infrastructure Delivery Plan, May2016 indicate that SED 3, IDP p87, a 7-form entry (7FE) secondary school at the Normandy / Flexford strategic development site, requires only 1 FE to serve the development site itself, the remaining capacity would serve the wider area, including Blackwell Farm site (Policy A26). However, given that the proposed Blackwell Farm development is for 1,800 dwellings, on a pro-rated basis of children of secondary school age within the arising population, this would only require a maximum of 2FE. Together, the Blackwell Farm site and the Normandy/ Flexford site require only an estimated 3 FE provision. The proposed school is excessive in size, being more than twice as large (7FE) as the estimated need (3FE), and as other information provided here indicates, this is well within the funding and expansion capabilities of existing schools in the western wards of Guildford borough and the western side of the town.

The addition of forms of entry [FE] to current schools will be a much more cost effective and sustainable in the long term if there is a reduction in need – an empty classroom is cost neutral in terms of annual budgets, but an empty school is unsustainable, having spent millions of Pounds of Department of Education capital budget creating it, it would be a huge waste of money.

Adding forms of entry to several existing schools will see the costs absorbed after the initial capital cost needed to create a few extra rooms – but they still only require one headteacher, one set of staff etc. The Head Teacher and Chairman of Governors at Ash Manor School have offered to co-operate with a programme to expand that school, as had the Principal at Kings College - although now undersubscribed significantly, if it needs expansion in the future there is space and a willingness to do so.
If GBC wishes to proceed with this proposal, SCC Education Officers need to demonstrate a clear and undisputed need for such a school at this location, given the current under-subscription of all the neighbouring local secondary schools surrounding Normandy.

It should also set out how such a new school will be financed. If not, the site should be rejected.

Undersubscribed Secondary Schools

Kings College, Guildford

The school is currently 57% undersubscribed. The capacity at the school is 900 pupils, and there are only 389 on the school roll (43% utilised). Kate Carriett, Principal at Kings College has said very clearly: "There is absolutely no need for another school in Guildford, its crystal clear". She also said that when Kings College is fully subscribed, there is capacity on that site to further expand the school, to accommodate more pupils well into the 2020's if then needed.

The New Guildford University Technical College

This is due to open in 2018, and will take 240 pupils from the age of 14 in its first year, and that will double to 480 places, relieving pressure on other schools.

Christs College, Guildford

This school is already taking 30 more pupils a year than its admission number, because it has the space and capacity to do so, and is willing to take more still as it has further capacity

Ash Manor, Ash

The capacity of the school is 1,050 and it has 940 pupils, so is undersubscribed by 110 places. The Head Teacher and Chairman of Governors are quoted as saying that if needed they are supportive of the school being expanded to take more pupils by 30 places a year (so a total of an extra 150). They also expressed very strong concerns about a new school in Normandy, just three miles from their front door, and the possible negative effects on Ash Manor.

Connaught School

This is near Ash, just over the County Boundary in Hampshire - but is also undersubscribed by 90 places and available to Surrey children.

Hoe Valley Free School, Woking

This brand new Secondary school only opened last September. It has an intake of 120 per year, with currently 95 pupils, so is undersubscribed in its first year by 25. But it will build up with 120 new places available every year for 7 years - making a total capacity of 840. It has no catchment area, and although will mainly serve Woking, will welcome applications from Guildford parents. Consequently, there are currently 736 vacancies at the nearest secondary schools serving the western parishes - not accounting for the 480 extra at the new Technical College to open in 2018 - a combined capacity of 1,216. In addition to those, SCC has already approved expansions at the County School, Guildford and St Peters.

The birthrate in Guildford has fallen over the past two years and whilst it’s too early to know if that trend will continue, it is another factor to urge caution, and not to proceed at this time. The case for a new secondary school in Normandy is therefore not proven. If there is such a need elsewhere in Guildford Borough, we don't believe it is needed in the location proposed at Normandy.

Contribution to the Purposes of the Green Belt

We object to the express overriding by GBC of the contribution the land proposed for Policy A46 makes to the 5 purposes of the Green Belt in response to a developer-led proposal for large-scale house building in the Green Belt

The evaluation of the ‘land parcels’ in and around Normandy and Flexford is laid out in the tables in GBGS Vol 4. The ‘land parcel’ that contains the land proposed for Policy A46 is H12, evaluated against 4 purposes of the Green belt it performs as follows:

- Checks sprawl of Normandy and Flexford
- Prevents Flexford and Normandy from merging
- Assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
Guildford Borough Council recognises the contribution the land surrounding and within the settlements of Normandy and Flexford makes to the five purposes of the Green Belt in identifying land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 of particular sensitivity in its re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1

Contribution to ‘openness’ of the Green Belt

We object to the express rejection by GBC that the land proposed for Policy A46 fails to contribute to the “openness” of the Green Belt.

In the case of Normandy and Flexford, there have been two planning appeals concerning Gypsy pitches (Palm House Nurseries and Green Lane East) where the inspector agreed that land near Flexford and land to the west of Glaziers Lane exhibited ‘openness’. The inspector found in favour of the appellant on other grounds but the opinion on ‘openness’ in those judgements is evidence that the land around Normandy and Flexford is considered by the Planning Inspectorate to exhibit ‘openness’. A third more recent decision at appeal for housing development at North Wyke Farm found that the land contributed to the “openness” of the Green Belt.

- Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011
- Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
- North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/3002308 Decision date: 14 July 2015

Impact on Surrey Hills AONB

The land designated as AGLV and identified as 12-1 in the Map AONB Boundary Review - Recommended Areas for Consideration and pp28-29 AONB Area of Search Evaluation - Natural Beauty Evaluation, Oct 2013 report to be added to the Surrey Hills AONB reinforces the proximity of valued landscape as it will add the north slopes of the Hogs Back overlooking Flexford settlement to the very boundary of Flexford settlement at Flexford Road.

Further, the land allocated in Policy A46 contains unrestricted view of the Hogs Back, part of the Surrey Hills AONB. Recent case law establishes that views out from open land to an AONB are as important as views into land overlooked by an AONB. Surrey Hills Management Board (of which GBC is a member) has submitted proposals to Natural England for land currently with local designation Area of Great Landscape Value on the north slopes of the Hogs Back above Wanborough and stretching down to Flexford Road at the southern boundary of Flexford settlement to be subsumed into the AONB and is currently awaiting ratification. The future potential presence of in excess of 1,000 houses visible at the periphery of the AONB with associated urbanising infrastructure (e.g. roads, perpetual street lighting, general light pollution, loss of ancient hedges and trees etc.) would do great harm to the views into the AONB from the land between Normandy and Flexford and from the Surrey Hills AONB.

Therefore it is concluded that ‘land parcel’ H12 is Green Belt land that contributes to the ‘openness’ of Normandy and Flexford settlements also contributes to the ‘openness’ of the surrounding country side and adjacent Surrey Hills AONB. Consequently, both settlements should remain ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt as stated in NPPF para.86 “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt”.

Thames Basin Heaths SPA

We object to the assertion that the creation of SANG will protect the rare ground-nesting bird species on this SSSI and Natura 2000 site from major disturbance and predation introduced by the building of 1,100 dwellings that give rise to hundreds of adults and children, vehicles, dogs and cats within 1 kilometre of this internationally important wildlife habitat. Policy P5 is concerned mainly with how to support large scale housing development in close proximity to the SPA than with protecting wildlife habitat and biodiversity. It fails to address appropriate Monitoring Targets for unregulated vectors of disturbance generated from large-scale housing development within the 400m-5km mitigation zone.
Natural England is the government agency that champions the conservation of wildlife throughout England. They have advised the eleven local authorities with land in the Thames Basin Heaths, that new housing within 5km of the SPA may harm the rare bird populations. Larger developments located between 5km and 7km of the SPA may also be affected. This harm can be caused by disturbance to the birds from a growth in the number of walkers, cats and dogs frequenting the heathland, and other recreational uses created by additional housing.

The 2012/13 visitor survey report commissioned by Natural England on behalf of the Thames Basin Heaths Joint Strategic Partnership Board showed not a static or falling number but a 10% increase in visitor numbers since 2005:

- 66% cited dog walking as the main activity
- 80% of interviewed groups had dogs
- 67% of interviewed groups had dogs which were seen off lead
- 39% specifically visited the SPA site was because it was ‘close to home’
- the average distance travelled was just over 2.5 kilometres (80% by car)

Only 1% of visitors accessed the TBHSPA from the Normandy/Flexford direction, so the additional disturbance caused by the building and then occupation of 1,100 homes by 2,000-3,000 residents and 1,250 additional vehicles will be significant. Importantly, the prevalence of dog walking in the visitor survey suggests that the currently available SANG in the borough is ineffective in attracting those wishing to exercise dogs away from the TBHSPA.

Simply claiming that the 2012 visitor study data indicates success of the avoidance strategy in drawing people away from the SPA is no evidence at all. Where is data based on measurement of visitor numbers to the available SANG within Guildford borough? Where is the evidence that SAMM programmes have any impact on the behaviour of residents that are dog owners? This would be more compelling evidence. Without it, a planning inspector has no means of finding the proposal of large-scale housebuilding at these sites sound. In response to an email from NAG, Natural England have admitted that no survey evidence exists of the effectiveness of SANG or SAMM programmes in directing dog-walkers away from TBHSPA in Guildford borough or any of the surrounding local authorities.

A survey of households carried out by a veterinary team at Bristol University in 2010 “Number and ownership profiles of cats and dogs in the UK” published in the Journal of The British Veterinary Association indicates 31% households own dogs and 26% households own cats. Dogs were more likely to be owned by rural households.

Creating 1,100 homes on Green Belt land between the settlements of Normandy & Flexford implies, on average, 340 dogs and nearly 290 cats; all housing to be located within 1 kilometre of the SSSI; for a dog owner, a 2-minute drive or 10 minute walk away.

The proposed SANG schedule in the Infrastructure Delivery Plan, May 2016 (IDP, SANG 13 p84) gives indication of neither the physical size nor location of bespoke SANG for Policy A46 (LAA Site 368); it is estimated that this proposed open space will be unable to cater adequately for 340 additional dogs plus their accompanying owners and there will be significant ‘leakage’ onto the TBHSPA.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to the proposal that the land that contains the majority of an SNCI should be proposed for housing development.

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states that “The purpose of planning is to help to achieve sustainable development” and it describes three “dimensions” relevant to this aim: economic, social and environmental. The explanation for how the environmental aspect plays a role includes the statement “…..helping to improve biodiversity, use natural resources prudently…..” This is a quote from point 7 of the section dealing with achieving sustainable development, in the NPPF.

In the section headed “Conserving and enhancing the natural environment” (section 11), it is stated inter alia that planning policy should protect and enhance valued landscapes and minimize impacts on biodiversity providing net gains in biodiversity wherever possible to halt the overall decline in biodiversity, by promoting “the preservation, restoration and re-creation of priority habitats, ecological networks and the protection and recovery of priority species populations…..”.

Guildford Borough Council (GBC) interprets the NPPF through their 'Policy I4' which emphasises the commitment to biodiversity stating: "The Council will conserve and enhance biodiversity and will seek opportunities for habitat restoration and creation, particularly within and adjacent to Biodiversity Opportunity Areas (BOAs)".

Proposals for development must demonstrate how they will deliver appropriate net gains in biodiversity. Where proposals fall within or adjacent to a BOA, biodiversity measures should support that BOA’s objectives. The Supplementary Planning Document (SPD) will set out guidance on how this can be achieved. European sites designated as Special Protection Areas (SPAs) and Special Areas of Conservation (SACs), National Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), local SNCIs and Local Nature Reserves are all shown on the Policies Map or as subsequently updated.

Policy I4 goes on to say that "Permission will not be granted for proposals that are likely to materially harm the nature conservation interests of local sites unless clear justification is provided that the need for development clearly outweighs the impact on biodiversity."
The majority of the site covered by this part of the development is designated as an SNCI and lies within an area identified as a ‘Water Vole Alert Area’ as identified by the National Water Vole Database and Mapping Project in 2012.

It is shocking that an SNCI should be considered a suitable site for development, particularly given the statements in the NPPF (Para 109) and Policy I4. We find it a telling insight into the very low value that GBC places on biodiversity and wildlife.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to the “insetting” of the land proposed for Policy A49. By proposing to ‘inset’ this site an ‘island’ urban site would be created, removing the ‘openness’ of this Green Belt land confirmed in the judgement of the Planning Inspectorate and similarly judged in the evidence of the GBCS Vol.4. We propose this land should continue to be “washed over”.

Legal Precedent

We object to the removal of the land allocated to Policy A46 by removal from the Green Belt by “inset” under NPPF para 83 and 84. We believe that current case law militates against the removal of land by the re-drawing of Green Belt boundaries without the express presentation in the written Local Plan of the “exceptional circumstances” proposed to redraw the Green Belt boundary for the land in Policy A46. We draw attention to the following cases

• Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
• IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J
• Calverton Parish Council v Nottingham City Council, Broxtowe Borough Council and Gedling Borough Council [2015] EWHC 1078 (Admin), Jay J

In the Solihull BC decision in particular

“Exceptional circumstances are required for any revision of the boundary, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt. That is the ratio of Carpets of Worth.

Whilst each case is fact-sensitive and the question of whether circumstances are exceptional for these purposes requires an exercise of planning judgment, what is capable of amounting to exceptional circumstances is a matter of law, and a plan-maker may err in law if he fails to adopt a lawful approach to exceptional circumstances. Once a Green Belt has been established and approved, it requires more than general planning concepts to justify an alteration.”

We contend that no “exceptional circumstances “ for such re-drawing of boundaries have been offered by GBC in the context of the Local Plan process, so how can residents judge the veracity of this proposal?

Contribution to ‘openness’ of the Green Belt
There is no legal definition of ‘openness’ but it is specifically expressed in NPPF para. 79 that appears as the first paragraph in “Section 9 Protecting Green Belt Land”; ‘openness’ is matter of opinion and that opinion is often expressed in the decisions of Planning Inspectors when assessing a planning appeal.

In the case of Palm House Nurseries the inspector agreed in 2011 that land to the west of Glaziers Lane exhibited ‘openness’. The inspector found in favour of the appellant on other grounds but the opinion on ‘openness’ in those judgements is evidence that this land around Palm House Nurseries is considered by the Planning Inspectorate to exhibit ‘openness’.

Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011

“Openness"

The Secretary of State agrees with the Inspector's assessment of the impact of the proposals on the openness of the Green Belt at IR99-100, and his conclusion at IR101 that there would be considerable harm in this respect. For the reasons given at IR101, the Secretary of State also agrees with the Inspector's conclusion that the development would result in some limited harm to one of the five purposes of including land in the Green Belt identified in PPG2, namely that of assisting to safeguard the countryside from encroachment (IR101). “

Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol. 4

In the Green Belt & Countryside Study Vol 4, Land parcel H10 that contains the Palm House Nursery site was judged the fulfil three essential purposes of the Green Belt

1. Checks sprawl of Normandy
2. Prevents Normandy, Wood Street Village and Flexford from merging
3. Assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment

There is no reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas and we object to the absence of this from this policy.

Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines which are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force.

The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. We do not believe this policy will result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design.

The emphasis on CCHP (Combined Cooling Heating and Power) and communal heating networks is misplaced when no such networks are currently locally available.

The imposition of aspirational environmental targets ignores the fact that building dormitory communities is environmentally unsustainable. These all require increased car use and will lead to increased congestion with associated air pollution and higher carbon dioxide emissions; a few solar panels on roofs will not compensate for the considerable environmental cost.

This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s aggressive reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation.

Conserving and enhancing the historic environment may be damaged by supporting ancillary development. In historic locations (Chilworth Gunpowder Mills, the NT sites like Clandon Park or Hatchlands, Guildford Castle, Guildford Museum etc) this policy needs to have an overriding emphasis on protection rather than supporting development.

All the stated policy aims for “inset” villages will be negated by the excessive weight of new housing development proposed which would radically change their character forever.

There are effectively two separate parts to this policy, both are flawed, and in the case on “insetting”, fatally flawed. In the case of urban development there are numerous flaws, including:

- The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be affordable, but this provides no accommodation for low paid workers, e.g. those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy “affordable” homes, nor can they pay the so-called “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors.
- The number of homes planned in the urban area is too low – there is a need for regeneration in some areas, but this is ignored and instead the plan concentrates on building homes on green field sites, which does not meet the needs for housing within the town, especially with the centre. This is not a sustainable policy as building outside the town has a disproportionate effect on road traffic.
- The plan envisages a large expansion of the traditional “bricks and mortar” retail sector, but this is a sector in long term decline.

We object because

- the evidence base is unreliable
- there is unclear differentiation between B class uses
- only high added-value business uses are desirable, not low grade, low employment warehousing which is land hungry
- industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (e.g. Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
- the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate

We note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by AECOM in the latest ELNA 2015

We are of the opinion that all new office and research and development (use Class B1a and B1b) floor space should be within Guildford town centre.

We object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt.

The proposal to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required.

The valuable and workable concept of the Research Park should not have its integrity and purpose diluted by being converted into yet another Business Park for office users rather than research organisations.

The Surrey Research needs to be focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, biochemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing.

We do not believe that there is a need to expand the Research Park into a larger Business Park. We believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University.

Class B1b should be the primary use class for the Research Park and applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the Park. We do not believe the inclusion of B1c uses is appropriate or necessary.

This policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas in developments of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the Green Belt.

Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism which mean that local people should be consulted. Villages need protecting both in terms of design and in terms of scale.

Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This is disregarding the responses from the previous consultation.

We object to this policy that implies the “Disney-fication” of rural areas. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions”. Overdevelopment of countryside is a risk. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, Guildford is distinguished as an historic county town.

The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. Guildford would be wise to model itself on other historic towns like Bath, Chester and York. The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford being a stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. The countryside can offer high quality tourism – including cycling, National Trust sites, open countryside and cultural events including theatre and opera – which is lucrative. This is not recognised fully.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The findings of the Guildford Retail and Leisure Study 25 September 2015 are very pessimistic about retail trends. There should be much more residential use of the Town Centre; the reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for at least 5,000 homes. There is limited need for further retail, which will disadvantage existing retailers as well as using valuable land inefficiently.

There is insufficient evidential support to objectively assess the capacity of the existing town centre to accommodate appropriate new development and therefore fails the requirements of Section 161 of the NPPF to assess the real quantitative and qualitative floor space needs.

There is no definition of the Guildford town centre and the vision of enhancing retail experience is contrary to likely economic trends whereby retail will be increasingly based on the Internet. The policy needs to adopt the report from Allies and Morrison in their master vision for the Town Centre.

- Existing niche retailers should be supported, but this does not mean further retail expansion which could be counterproductive.
- There is an urgent need for a brownfield register and to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.
- CIL strategy must promote brownfield redevelopment.
- Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. It would be a great mistake if Guildford were to opt for large impersonal department stores and dull high street chain stores at the expense of exploiting its uniqueness and character which would afford greater benefits.

Expanded local retail hubs are being proposed in order to justify more housebuilding in the villages, and in an attempt to mitigate the serious traffic and infrastructure problems this will bring.

We think it is appropriate that these district centres should support development consistent with the scale and function of the local centre. We think it is appropriate to refuse planning applications for main town centre uses over 100 sq m outside District Centres – although this policy could and should be more clearly articulated. We do not support consideration of sites on the edge of district centres for town centre uses.

The requirement is to meet housing ‘need’ not to meet the SHMA total unadjusted for constraints; it fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density. The SHMA is defective; consequentially Policy H1 objectives so derived are flawed.

The housing mix is based on the assumptions set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which has not been scrutinised or evaluated and so we must object. We support high density development in the urban area.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up suitable family accommodation in the urban area.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs and this should be taken into account when evaluating need for travellers.

“Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people. The viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable.

The capacity to deliver these in the plan period is distorted by the presence of students in market housing that should be available in the affordable sector due to the University of Surrey failing to build over 2,000 accommodation units for which it has existing permissions, forcing students to rent off campus.

The Target and Monitoring Indicator for Traveller pitches effectively sets no upper limit on the number of pitches that might be built after the first Local Plan review. The current plans for traveller and travelling showpeople pitches continue to place undue burden on the western wards of the borough affecting community cohesion.

The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

The Council’s methodology assessing traffic and roads infrastructure needs is inadequate. It identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The local plan states no objective for congestion.

The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

This policy is concerned only with the strategic road network – the A3 and M25 for which the responsibility and decision-making lies with Highways England. It is only reasonable that the council will work closely with Highways England to ensure that the Local Plan does not utilise land in a way that limit the scope for future improvements.

The proposals for the A3 are undecided and the council has suggested a very expensive tunnel proposal that, even if HE decided to go ahead with it, is unlikely to be delivered until the end of the plan period.

Less expensive alternative A3 improvements would not be delivered before implementation of the current draft Local Plan and would deliver a massive growth in traffic.

Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. The road improvements are likely to lead to massive disruption to traffic during the construction phase on top of an already overloaded road network. It would be folly to make matters worse by committing to a massive housing number and the only logical conclusion is that a very significant traffic constraint should be applied to the OAN for this Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic.

The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This is outwith the competence of the borough council and lies with the local highway authority, Surrey County Council, who's budgets have been severely reduced in recent years and make this aspiration impossible to envisage becoming a reality.

The current plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will not conserve or enhance biodiversity, nor extend the principle beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. The Policy appears therefore to be a box-ticking exercise with no real teeth to it. There is no mention of the impact of the plan on food production, or monitoring the loss of agricultural land.

This policy is much weaker than previous protection. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan that welcomes housing development. The Surrey Hills needs much more substantial protection. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if currently undefined ‘exceptional circumstances’ could be demonstrated.

AONB is the equivalent of a National Park. This policy should contain a statement of support for the Surrey Hills Management Board proposals to bring land previously designated as AGLV into the Surrey Hills AONB, recognising the established land management principles and protections.

We object to the insetting of 14 villages from the Green Belt and the proposal that “infilling” is acceptable within a further 12 villages within the Green Belt. We are concerned that “infilling” is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Essentially, all the villages within the Green Belt are now vulnerable to extensive further development. Green Belt is supposed to be protected as a matter of national and local policy, but this policy seeks to justify development in a supposedly protected area, in breach of local manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation.

Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of agricultural production.

It is disreputable to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold

8,086 new houses are planned for the Green Belt but only 1,135 for Guildford urban area. This is disruptive, socially inequitable and unnecessary. It will not only destroy countryside but will also delay and delay much-needed urban regeneration

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This seems more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt which is anomalous. We think that the brownfield areas within the urban area are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There should be no need to build on any green fields if ‘brownfield’ (previously developed) land is used efficiently.

However, we do not think this area justifies stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. This policy refers to the area of countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent this area should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should – by definition - have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas, which is not the case with this policy.

This policy attaches higher priority to preventing the “coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot” than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl.

Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented.

It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

This policy is weak. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small and negligible as to be meaningless. SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial; the sites identified or targeted are already green space.

To create SANG is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces.

There is no actual increase in environmental protection; it is a policy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds - must ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the special protection areas.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

13,860 homes are proposed at a build rate of 693 per annum. This number has not been scrutinised by councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden. It is not reasonable to produce unsubstantiated numbers in order to justify major structural change in a widely protected area (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB, approx. 75% within 7km mitigation zone of SPA).

It is inappropriate to allocate this housing number, either over the plan period OR across projected sites, when the number itself is unsubstantiated. External consultants and members of the public have provided detailed criticisms of the model. Were the housing number substantially lower, meeting housing need, there would be no need to build on Green Belt or open countryside. The number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permission, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds 13,860.

This policy is flawed for the following reasons:

1. it is not subject to the constraints imposed by the fact that 89% of the borough is Green Belt and inadequate infrastructure;
2. it does not require ‘brownfield’ sites to be used first;
3. it does not reflect Government policy to reduce international migration which accounts for the majority of the projected population growth;
4. it fails to require Surrey University to house its own students (if the university built out the land on which it already has planning permission for student accommodation, it would house not only the future growth of student numbers but many of the students occupying properties in Guildford which could therefore be released for affordable housing);
5. it proposes ‘inserting’ 16 out of 24 villages in the Borough and identifies a few very large areas of land to be “strategic sites” without presenting the ‘exceptional circumstances’ required to redraw Green Belt boundaries

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Response: NO
The evidence base is not up to date or adequate.

The documents of the evidence base were subject to continuous change without notification and it has been impossible in some cases to track the changes in order to identify significant and material change, making it impossible to evaluate if the change makes the document adequate or relevant. The evidence base was and is not ready for public consultation if there is no way to track what was said previously in so many documents of the evidence base, therefore no basis on which to judge adequacy and relevance to the current draft local plan.

For example, GBCS Vol 4 tables of scores for the contribution of each land parcel to the five purposes of the Green Belt showed one basis of evaluation in the version published in February 2013 and where this failed to support the pre-determination of GBC, the basis of evaluation was changed in the version published in April 2014 reducing the perceived Green Belt protection of the land parcels, making it easier to argue for their qualification as land for housing development. This does not make the document up-to-date as the basis of measurement and evaluation has changed; this is ‘moving the goal posts’ not improving ‘up-to-date-ness’.

The Habitats Regulation Assessment and Sustainability Appraisal were released after the plan was approved by the full council on 25 April 2016. The lateness and content demonstrate the inadequacy with which this plan has dealt with environmental matters. Neither document was immediately available on the website, so early responses sent to the council before these were released could not have taken account of the environmental issues. The Sustainability Appraisal is written by a commercial development company with worldwide reach AECOM and fails to be critical in any way and the document reads more like a public relations release.

The draft SHMAA for Guildford has been proved inadequate. A study of the work of GL Hearn in compiling the housing forecasts to provide Objectively Assessed Need [OAN] by NMSS (sponsored by Guildford Residents Associations of which Normandy Action Group is a member) indicates shortcomings in methodology and lack of rigour in assessing available ONS statistics and misinterpretation of market signals. Therefore, any Policy that claims its content as evidence for the Policy is immediately thrown in to question and suggests it is unsound.

The Settlement Hierarchy evidence has been changed three times, with a second questionnaire submitted to Parish Councils to better record available services. Attempts to conflate settlements as defined by 2003 Local Plan settlement boundaries into small, medium and large villages was abandoned after the methodology was revealed by residents for the sham it was. The transposing of the new questionnaire content has been poor, with errors remaining. Now that the new data fails to match the pre-determination required by the council, the evidence has been quietly shuffled aside and not referred to in detail in the current draft. However, it remains in the evidence base.

The whole process has been one surrounded by obfuscation, with residents having to resort to Freedom of Information requests to obtain essential information freely released by other LPAs e.g. what constitutes ‘exceptional circumstances’. This does not bode well for the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be submitted for examination in public.

The plan focuses on growth and economic strategy, to the detriment of social equity and environmental protection as required by the NPPF.

Despite the DCLG encouraging ‘brownfield’ registers and ‘brownfield’ land release for housing, there is no ‘brownfield first’ policy. GBC is a major holder of ‘brownfield’ land in the town (Walnut Tree Close and Woddbridge Meadows) and yet has included none of these sites for housing development; Policy P4 is not a sound basis for such an exclusion.

The plan is inconsistent with the NPPF guidance, as 70% of house building is proposed in the Green Belt.

GBC has included no details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has failed expressly to include in Policy P1, H1 and P5 any direct consideration of NPPF para 119.

Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the ‘downs’ seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach.

The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound.

We propose it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 13,860 new homes by 2033.

We propose it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed.

We are concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 500 homes per annum and the housing target after the application of constraints should be in the range of 250 homes per annum and kept under regular review.
GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which we consider unsound.

Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. This is coincident with the start date of some developments and consequently too late.

GBC has failed to take account of the creation of 3,800 dwellings in the Aldershot Urban Extension [AUE]. Aldershot is the source of many employees for retail and health sector jobs in Guildford. Many choose to commute into Guildford by car along the main routes between the two towns (A323, A324, A31). Apart from a passing acknowledgement of traffic data in the vehicle movement simulations, there appears to have been no attempt to acknowledge the impact of AUE or attempt to synchronise development schedules or combine approaches to central Government on infrastructure developments with Rushmoor Borough Council that would affect all Guildford’s western wards. Simply ignoring Rushmoor BC because GL Hearn deem it not to be in the same strategic housing market is perverse. The Hart, Rushmoor and Surrey Heath SHMA 2014 carried out by Wessex Economics states that the major outward commuting flows are as follows:

“The largest outward commuting flows from Rushmoor are to Surrey Heath, Hart, Guildford, and Waverley. There are significant in flows of workers to Rushmoor from Surrey Heath and Guildford.

The largest proportion of Surrey Heath’s residents commute to Rushmoor and Guildford. There are in flows of workers to Surrey Heath from Hart, Rushmoor and Bracknell Forest.”

Woking BC covered in the same West Surrey SHMA as Guildford has recently concluded a £6million funding for part of its affordable housing requirement to be built in Rushmoor under the Duty to Cooperate, obviously considering Rushmoor to be of strategic significance and being willing to work with this neighbouring council. Not so Guildford BC and this omission will have a serious impact in western wards as AUE is built out.

We assert there is unproven demand for an 8FE secondary school within the western wards of Guildford and therefore, we wish to present the statistical evidence for that assertion at the Examination in Public.

We assert that Policy A49 is unsustainable in its current form and open to challenge. NPPF para 83 & 84 require the council to define in the local plan documentation available for consultation the “exceptional circumstances” required under to change the Green Belt boundary; this is affirmed by the following legal judgements:

NPPF 83

- Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
- Carpets of Worth Limited v Wyre Forest District Council (1991)
- IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J

and therefore, we wish to present our arguments at the Examination in Public for this site to continue to be ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt, because if this land were ‘inset’, it would create an island of urban land with no connection to similar land.

We assert that the disregard of the contribution to the “openness” of the Green Belt made by the land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 identified as of particular sensitivity in the GBC re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1, is in direct opposition to observations confirming the “openness” of land around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford made by planning inspectors during consideration of planning appeals in three cases as follows:

- Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011
- Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
- North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/ 3002308 Decision 14 July 2015 and therefore we wish to make our representations concerning these observations by PINS inspectors in opposition to GBC disregard of “openness” of these land parcels at the Examination in Public.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North
I would like to register my strongest possible objection to the Draft Local Plan proposed by Guildford Borough Council. This includes proposed development of an estimated 533 new houses in the current Green Belt designated villages of East & West Horsley.

I also strongly oppose the potential loss of the Green Belt designated status for the Horsleys.

I would like to remind the Councillors that during the previous election campaign in 2015 - it was explicitly stated by the Conservative Party that any development in the Green Belt should only happen under "exceptional circumstances", none of which appear to have been met in this case, especially with brownfield sites in Guildford still available for development.

This scattergun development proposed on the Green Belt agricultural land within the Horsleys includes extension of the village envelope, development in a conservation area and excessive numbers of houses that the local infrastructure simply cannot support, as well as a loss of the fundamental character of the Horsleys which are currently small villages and not designed to cope with these increases in population.

Whilst I understand there is increased pressure on Guildford local council to provide more local housing (to meet an ever changing target), the sheer number of houses proposed across multiple sites in the Horsleys is too high.

Where are the impact assessments and surveys of potential expected road traffic increase (the local roads and pavements are already in poor condition - how will they cope with the additional number of cars, not to mention the traffic delays which are already bad during rush hour?); local schooling (already oversubscribed), doctor's surgery and parking requirements; increased water-usage and power consumption estimates; additional parking space needs at the train station (which is already full); increased noise and reduced air-quality; and environmental considerations that would support such a large development. They have not been provided because they do not exist - increasing housing numbers on such a large scale would create far more problems for the village than would be solved by just housing people.

Squeezing clusters of houses on open land which makes up part of the landscape in and around the Horsleys is a poorly masked plan to maximise house development numbers with minimal consideration on the impact of the infrastructure, local community and the environment.

Considerably smaller clusters of housing have been integrated carefully and over time with success, without overburdening the infrastructure, such as Frenchlands Gate.

In conclusion, I strongly object to the local plan.

I would like to object very strongly to the latest draft of the GBC local plan.

This still proposes to inset East Horsley from the Greenbelt. Development of 100 homes is proposed near Horsley station and over 2000 on the Wisley Airfield. The village of East Horsley (& surrounding villages such as West Horsley, Effingham & Ripley) do not have the infrastructure in terms of transport (roads, parking or rail), schools or medical facilities to meet this increased demand.

57% of new housing proposed is on land that is currently categorised as Greenbelt and this is, quite frankly, shameful as this land was supposed to be protected for future generations.

Since Brexit, forecasts of increasing population numbers have been reduced. The ONS forecast is now only forecasting 10.4% for Guildford, which still intends to increase its housing stock by 22%. This doesn't seem to make sense?

My main objection to the new plans that Guildford Borough Council are building 533 new houses in the Horsley area are green belt and infrastructure. If you continue to build on green belt we shall lose the surrey hills beauty area as our village encroaches onto it. The roads are already over crowded and schools and health centre very full. More pollution more people, we will not be a village any more. Any more houses will have to be built in an imaginative design to fit in with the village. I cannot see this will happen.

I, [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] object to the proposed changes of green belt for the fields which lie behind the village hall in Shalford. These fields should be retained within the current green belt boundary and kept outside the village settlement boundary. These boundaries have been there for a long time and there is no valid reason for change.

This land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village’s community facilities. The elevation of this land, which is 32 feet above Kings road, is the highest in the local area and any housing development built on the land would tower over the village and surrounding area.

Access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane which is already a heavily congested, very narrow country lane.

I write to STRONGLY OBJECT to proposed Policy A46 development in Normandy and Flexford for which there are a myriad of reasons why this proposal should be withdrawn.

Normandy and Flexford should not be inset from the Green Belt.

There is no justification for a new Secondary School. There are others in the area very much under-subscribed. Some are expanding and could develop further as well as the new technical college opening in 2018, and another new school just opened in Woking. I will not quote specific schools and figures, as you will have had those quoted to you elsewhere.

Doubling the population and merging Normandy with Flexford at one stroke, will sound the death knell of current ‘village’ life and character.

The road network, already struggling at times would not cope with at least double the amount of traffic that this development would generate. Access to the A31 (Hogs Back) is difficult via Wanborough Hill and traffic Guildford bound is always stationary at this junction in busy periods and would be compounded many times over. The same would apply to traffic from Guildford and the B3000. Our local roads get used as a rat run when there are problems on either the A3 or A31. Westwood Lane (classified C16) has a height restricted single lane railway arch which limits vehicles, who then have to use Glaziers Lane D60 (unclassified) which has a narrow blind bridge over the railway. The A323 is already busy and would certainly not be able to cope. There is little, if any, scope for improvement of any of these roads.

Air pollution would increase affecting the health and lives of villagers, especially the vulnerable.
Environmental issues

The size of development of A46 will have a detrimental effect on the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). With urban lighting spreading across the village, polluting the night sky and starkly visible from the Surrey Hills. This area contributes to the openness of the Green Belt and view of our green fields to the Surrey Hills.

The land, dismissed as just ‘fields’ is mostly valuable Grade 3 arable and pastoral land

Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area is within the 400m-5km zone, being less than a kilometre away. The development would cause air pollution, recreation use, ie human disturbance and dog walking. Dogs off the lead cause disturbance to ground nesting birds and other species and also to vegetation when owners do not pick up after their dogs I’m not having a go at dog owners as I am one myself. Most dog owners are responsible but there is a significant few who are not.

A46 is surrounded by ancient and semi-natural woodland, veteran trees, hedgerows, farmland and a stream, which connect to other important sites within Normandy Parish and the wider countryside. It has similar habitats and losing these would affect the surrounding areas and have a highly detrimental effect on Walden’s Copse ancient woodland, which would be isolated and consequently have a detrimental effect on its viability. Continual fragmentation of natural habitat causes a frightening decline in our wildlife, affecting even our more common species. Compounded by the increased predation by the inevitable greater number of cats.

Under the NERC (Natural Environment and Rural Communities Act 2006) all habitats in and around A46 are priority. Species include Hedgehogs, Dormice, Great Crested Newts, Barn Owls, Stag beetles, skylarks to name but a few.

I write to object to development of this area of land due to the SNCI designation and the stream being identified as a 'Water Vole Alert Area'.

Water voles are in dire need of help wherever possible as their numbers have dropped enormously over recent years.

This stream is ideal for water voles and considerable damage is bound to occur during the development. Urban envelopment of it, even with 'buffer strips', will sound the death knell of vole habitation.

If development is to go ahead I would suggest that land to the east of the stream is taken out of the plans. This area lies wet anyway and is unsuitable. It would however at least keep the stream open on one side. The development to the west of the stream should be kept well away from the stream and arrangements put in place to prevent any pollution.

In General

I could go on - GBC has not applied any constraints in reducing housing numbers as other council’s in Surrey have. It seems the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), cannot be trusted and the large fluctuating student population distorts the figures anyway. The Office for National Statistics (ONS) downgraded Guildford’s population growth. The unnecessarily large projected increase in retail space when there are already empty shop units. Are brownfield sites being utilised to the full. House more students on the university campus, freeing up houses within Guildford. Tourism and use of the countryside by local people for all sorts of recreational activities is being ignored in favour of development and in the process indirectly and irreparably affecting areas it purports to protect, ie The North Downs, Hog’s Back AONBs, SSSIs the THBSPA etc.

I object to the proposed change that Normandy, Flexford and Walden Cottages should be inset from the Green Belt. There is evidence in past planning appeals (I will not quote numbers as many others will already have) the this land contributes to the openness of the Green Belt. The agricultural land between these settlements falls in the Environment Agency’s BMV (Best and Most Versatile) category, essential it is retained for the agricultural future of this country and suggesting the importance of Normandy and Flexford to the rural economy.

Policy P2 does nothing to acknowledge the importance of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the need for it to permanently protected. There is no assessment of the value of the Green Belt. It is a working environment where people live and work.

I object to the references to villages “now inset from the Green Belt”. This is untrue as GBC is proposing to “inset” these villages. No decision has been made by an Inspector therefore the villages remain in the Green Belt.

I am contacting you to formally object to the proposals in the above mentioned plan to move the green belt boundary to exclude these fields and for them to be included within the village settlement boundary. The proposal to designate these fields as “Open Space” is insufficient to protect these fields which are an essential part of the village life from the imminent threat of development.

I am a retired property and town planning solicitor and my family and I have lived in Shalford for over 40 years.

It is clear that you have already received a very substantial amount of objections to these proposals many of which set out in detail the planning and legal reasons why your proposals are unacceptable and I do not intend to repeat those arguments of which you will be very well aware.

The open space and rural feel provided to the Village Hall, tennis courts and bowling green must be fully protected.

The owners of the fields have granted an option to a large development company under which the developers are contractually obliged to spend many thousands of pounds on lawyers and planning consultants to get planning consent to develop the fields.

It is clear therefore the landowners (one of whom I understand lives permanently outside the UK) fully intend against the wishes of almost the entire population of the village to destroy this open space by obtaining planning consent.

The intention to develop is clearly documented and it is therefore essential that the fields are fully protected under the local plan and a clear message sent to the Developers not to waste their money or more importantly potentially the resources of GBC or the SPC in having to oppose such plans. The Council’s resources can be protected by retaining the existing status for the fields as this will send out a loud and clear message that no development will ever be permitted and much time effort and money will be saved by all concerned.

I object very strongly to a plan that proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Metropolitan green belt when there is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated. Also it is ignoring election manifesto promises.

I particularly object to the inclusion of the former Wisley Airfield where after 14 months of consideration Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April this year on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I also object to the threat the local plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. A 2,000 + dwellings development, with urban-style buildings up to five stories high and a population density higher than most London boroughs will have a detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically point out:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling will not be born out as the development is too isolated and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
2. The narrow rural roads and farm land will be completely incapable of sustaining what would amount to an extra 5000 people and 4000 cars.
3. The increase in the already severe congestion on the A3 and M25, a further planning application at RHS Wisley and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion on the A3/M25 junction as well as on local roads and be a serious danger to local cyclists and pedestrians.
4. There is a lack of suitable public transport in the area and the local railway stations at Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic where car parking is already at full capacity.
5. Air quality concerns have not been taken seriously and there is a threat to wildlife in an area where there are many protected species.

I am writing to register my STRONG OBJECTION to the proposed Local Plan for the following reasons:-

- SHMA. I am appalled that the SHMA figure of 693 new houses per annum has not been scrutinised or checked by GBC. This number is crucial to the development of the entire Plan, yet the Council appears to have accepted without question an assessment prepared by "independent" consultants whose principal activities are working with and for developers. This number is over 100% more than the figure of 322 new houses which GBC fought to retain just a few years ago and G L Hearn should have been interrogated as to how they arrived at such an inflated number. It is a matter of concern that the Council have complacently accepted as many as 693 new houses every year. In particular, the projected student accommodation needs should be reviewed.

- Former Wisley Airfield, Site A35

  a) The flawed GBCS stated that the former Wisley airfield only conforms to two of the Purposes of the Green Belt. This is incorrect. These Purposes are:-

  1. To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas. This site prevents the sprawl of Weybridge/Addlestone/Byfleet towards Guildford and the sprawl of Woking towards Leatherhead.

  1. To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another. Wisley lies between Guildford, Woking and Cobham as well as between Byfleet and Horsley.

  1. To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment. This is precisely why the site should NOT be removed from the Green Belt.

  1. To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns. Ockham is a very ancient Parish comprising of nine separate settlements with the former airfield at its centre. The village has numerous Listed buildings including its Grade 1 church and three Conservation Areas. The site is an integral part of a rural extended village.

  1. To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land. Over 70% of the site is high quality agricultural land which has been brought back under cultivation since World War II, before which it had been farm land for centuries.

  b) I particularly object to the change in the revised draft Local Plan extending the boundary of the former Wisley Airfield site to include land lying to the south of the site bordering Ockham Lane and Hyde Lane. Taking this extra area of land out of the Green Belt is totally unnecessary and is simply a move by the Council to enable the airfield owners to secure planning permission for the massive housing development they wish to build. Not only will the Green Belt boundary now be adjacent to the eastern end of the Ockham Conservation Area but it also borders on another Listed Building, Bridge End House.
The Strategy and Sites document states on page 205 "Setting of listed building on boundary". This is now incorrect as there are TWO listed buildings on the boundary, namely Yarne and Bridge End House.

Ockham Lane is a narrow winding lane with blind bends, no street lighting and limited pavements. It would not be able to cope with increased vehicular traffic from the development.

c) The housing density planned for the development is totally out of character and inappropriate for the Parish of Ockham. It is more akin to the density in an inner city site.

d) The proposal to build four and five storey buildings along the spine of the development is inappropriate bearing in mind that they will be visible for miles around to the east, west and south. Again, this would be totally out of character in a rural community.

e) Part 2 of the Strategy and Sites document proposes that a "bus network to serve the site" ............would be "in perpetuity". Such a statement is unrealistic and unenforceable.

The need for new housing in Guildford Borough is predominantly for affordable housing. The former Wisley Airfield, being a rural site within Ockham Parish, is totally unsuitable for this purpose and there is no guarantee that the developers would adhere to an undertaking to build up to 40% affordable houses. After all, "up to 40%" could be just 3%!

- Housing Target. The NPPF permits SHMA numbers to be reduced to allow for wildlife areas, e.g. Green Belt, SPA and AONB, as well as lack of infrastructure, yet unlike every other Surrey Council, GBC has chosen not to apply any of these constraints leaving the Housing Target at the full 693 SHMA number. This would result in the desecration of the Green Belt as well as numerous infrastructure weaknesses.

- Green Belt Policy. The Prime Minister, David Cameron, has stated that "Green Belt land is extremely precious, protecting the lungs around our cities is paramount". Government advice is that "housing need is not adequate grounds for building on the Green Belt". It is completely unacceptable that GBC has chosen to ignore this advice.

Once land is defined as Green Belt, stated Opportunities and Benefits include:-

a) The retention of agriculture, forestry and related uses. 70% of the land at the former Wisley Airfield site is used for agriculture. There is a large crop of Maize under cultivation there now.

b) The securing of nature conservation interests. The former Wisley Airfield lies adjacent to an SSSI, the Thames Basin SPA, Ancient Woodland and is itself a Site Of Nature Conservation Importance.

GBC has failed to demonstrate the Very Special Circumstances required to remove the former Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt.

I OBJECT to the disproportionate concentration of new housing numbers proposed to the east of Guildford. This would result in massive overloading for schools, medical centres, public transport and local roads. The population of East and West Horsley is currently c. 2800; the draft plan proposes nearly 5000 new houses within a 5 mile radius of Horsley, that is an approximate 80% increase. This is not sustainable.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Append C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The "objectively assessed need" figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows, issues with the way it considers students and affordability and flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan. The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3 100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost. There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.
The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an "aspiration" in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (82) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick's Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council's own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site. National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy 14)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved. This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I object to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1 c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick's Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I Object to the location for new employment floorspace at Garlick’s Arch - Site A43 (Policy E2)

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B 1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick's Arch, when just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I Object to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5) Policy ES supports the retention and development of local Services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor "attractions" and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication ". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many "leisure and visitor attractions" already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order.
   - Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford's river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending.

The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An "English town break" (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 - Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SI-IMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanizing, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council 's timidity is a case of "regulatory capture" by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H3 - Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT nlls is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the "mix" this can include "market " housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions .

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable , unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I oppose to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable. There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3) Paragraph 6.27 of the Plan states that "Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health." The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Polic P2)

I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a 'special circumstance' and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site. Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category.

Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport.

Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey"tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or

On any common sense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough 's residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, Guildford town centre is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used inthe past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour 's "need".

Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey's 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Removing the Horsleys from the Green Belt is completely incomprehensible when you take into account that the Surrey Hills are an area of outstanding beauty.

There are so many Brownfield Sites in Guildford, Dorking and Woking - in fact all the large towns have these plots of land unused and building on these would have a very small impact on the local areas.

It is some time now since as a village we handed in a petition signed by over 700 residents objecting to the proposed settlement boundary change. Having looked at the latest version of the local plan GBC are proposing I am concerned to find that there is still a plan to move the green belt boundary to exclude these fields. Although it appeared that GBC agreed that the site is unsuitable for development and supported the expressed views of the local residents to protect these fields, it would seem logical that this could only be achieved by retaining the current boundary. The current boundary is perfectly defensible and has existed for years. There is no valid reason, as far as I can see, to change this unless the plan is to aid development of this site. By extending the village settlement boundary to include these fields you will do exactly that.

A developer has taken an option on the site and has been having talks with the GBC so money is being spent to attempt to go against the original spirit of the covenant on the land, which deemed that these fields should always be kept as green space for the village to enjoy and should, as such, therefore be protected. I know the covenant has now been broken but this is a lengthy and controversial issue in and of itself.

The sheer elevation of this land makes it unsuitable for development without destroying the open character of the village and urbanising the pretty lane where they are planning an access road. This land has always contributed to the beautiful and open nature of the village. It has been both green belt and AGLV for some time. What possible reason could there be, for removing this protection now? At that part of Chinthurst Lane there are no footpaths and it could not cope with additional traffic without placing pedestrians in danger, including children, who have to walk in the road. There isn’t room to make footpaths apart from the fact that they would spoil the lane’s natural rural character. The planned road would also be between two blind bends and right between two busy houses' drives. It just would not be safe.

Shalford, has undergone a great deal of development over the last 5 years. Station Road is unrecognisable with 3 new developments. The Kings Road has new terrace houses, Dagden Road has a new development and many more houses are planned in this little village but with no plans to deal with the heavily congested roads. There is a feeling in the village that Shalford has done more than it’s fair share of providing new houses and that this central peace of land, these simple beautiful fields which provide the frame to the backdrop of the hills should remain protected and there for all to enjoy.

I do hope you will consider these points and work with the village residents who are deeply concerned, to protect this precious heart of virgin green within Shalford.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. Policy A35 (Wisley Airfield) – Object

1. In breach of the NPPF, which states “Planning permission should be refused for development resulting in the loss or deterioration of irreplaceable habitats, including ancient woodland and … unless the need for, and benefits of, the development in that location clearly outweigh the loss”. There are large negative benefits to the locality if the development was permitted to proceed as outlined below. Irreversible damage to the heathland habitats at Wisley and Ockham Commons will occur if this development is permitted to proceed as outlined below.

2. Pollution is already over legal limits at Junction 10 of the M25, and has been for the last five years! The development can only increase the level of pollution in the area, thus resulting in the severe harm to residents and drivers in the area. Pollution must be reduced to below legal limits before any development could be considered. And must be kept below legal limits after any development.

3. Traffic congestion. Junction 10 of M25 and the A3 already suffers from major congestion. The extra traffic would cause extra congestion. This will result in significant economic loss, not only to the borough, but also to the country.

4. Irreversible damage to Wisley and Ockham Commons through pollution of the ground from nitrate deposits from the traffic fumes. This is contrary to the Councils legal duty to protect SPAs.

5. Loss of biodiversity due to increased visitors to SSSI and SPA sites.

6. Development within 5km of Thames Basin SPA, with totally inadequate mitigation measures in place.

7. Loss of Green Belt land

8. Inadequate access to public transport, such as the railway network. Lack of space in car parks, which are already over-flowing.

9. Increase bus traffic along narrow country lanes, which are unsuitable for such traffic (e.g. BT2 and BT3)

10. Increased traffic congestion along Effingham Common Road, causing unacceptably long travel journeys. Traffic during the rush hour is already very bad.

11. Increased danger to walkers due to massive increase in road and cycle traffic.

12. Increased barriers to wildlife moving between protected sites.

   2. The policy must state what is meant by “small developments” (e.g. five houses), and also must state account must be made of other developments within the area (or plans), within the last ten years.

1. Policy I4 – object
   1. The Policy should provide support for Wildlife Corridors, such as those identified in the Effingham Neighbourhood Plan. The Policy should state that developments will not be permitted that will materially harm designated wildlife corridors.
   2. Para 4.6.45 – Evidence is that designation of a SANG, such as Effingham Common has resulted in the reduction in biodiversity. For example, there has been a noticeable decline in skylarks on the Common due to dog walkers not following designed footpaths and bridleways.
   3. Monitoring Indicators for Policy I4 – object due to inadequate measures.
      1. Surveys of key species groups are required to monitor protected sites, This is the only method to state whether biodiversity is increasing or decreasing over time. Minimum time frame for comparisons is ten years, as used by IUCN for Red Lists.
      2. Survey of abundance of indicator species on the protected sites. There are a number of key indicators used at the national level.

   • Number of new SANGS is not a measure of biodiversity, but a measure of permitted development within 5km of a SPA.

My principal objections to the Local Plan are:

- Loss of Green Belt Land contrary to ministerial statements:

Housing and Planning Minister Brandon Lewis, stated that “demand for housing alone will not change Green Belt boundaries”.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy P2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Policy P2 - object
   1. Whilst I support the Policy in principal, I object to the detail which results in the permanent loss of undeveloped land in the Green Belt.
   2. The statement that 1.6% of land is removed from the Green Belt for development is both incorrect and also contrary to ministerial statements by the Housing and Planning Minister Brandon Lewis, who stated that “demand for housing alone will not change Green Belt boundaries”. The correct value for land removed from the Green Belt is 4% which should be properly reflected in the Local Plan.

3. Inset boundary for Effingham has a number of technical errors. While I reluctantly support the boundary, I disagree on its boundary in a couple of places. Changes required are:
   1. Inset not following property boundary 69 Strathcona Avenue
   2. Inset not following property boundaries at 1 Beech Close and Orchard Wells.

   • Extension of inset beyond settlement area at Grove House (A246). Boundary should run from Pilgrims, The Cottage, and down all the properties on the west side of The Street, Effingham.

   1. The Allotments should remain in the Green Belt.
   2. Inset not following property boundaries from Yew Tree Walk to 4 Middle Farm Close (line though the middle of a building)
   3. Inset not following property boundaries at Wycheim, Orestan Lane (though the middle of a field).

   • Inset not following property boundaries at Moonshine, Effingham Common Road, and all along Lower Road (Old Village Hall, and Sir Douglas Haig cut by inset boundary). Inset should run along south side of Lower Road
   • Howard of Effingham School should be excluded from Inset. In particular it is very important that the Playing fields remain in the Green Belt. These playing fields form a very important green gap between Effingham and Little Bookham. GBC has classified this land as high sensitivity Green Belt. The inset must follow a natural boundary, so therefore must be on the west side of Howard of Effingham School to keep the playing fields in the Green Belt.

   1. Inset on south side of Howard of Effingham Playing fields does not following any natural feature.
   2. Inset not following property boundaries. All properties in Barnes Wallis Close should be included in the Inset.
   3. Inset not following property boundaries. Inset should run along west side of Browns Lane and not east side.

   1. Former Wisley Airfield (policy A35) is a totally inappropriate site for a very large development. The council has already rejected a proposal for this site on a large number of grounds. See further comments below.
   2. Inserting of the Horsleys which extends the settlement area and results in the loss of Green Belt in Policies A38, A39, A40 and A41.
   3. Inserting of Normandy and Flexford, which results in significant loss of the open countryside and Green Belt and joins the two villages either side of the Hogs Back together by Policy A46.
   4. Inserting of Ripley for an isolated site (Policy A57), which is not part of the Ripley settlement.
   5. Inserting of Send Marsh & Burnt Common, which takes a large piece of land out of the Green Belt (Policy A43). The inset boundary is extending beyond the settlement area of Send Marsh.
   6. Inserting of Send for the loss of Green Belt (policies A42 and A44), and extending beyond the natural area of settlement.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. Policy P4 – object
   1. I support the policy in principal to protect against flooding. However, there are insufficient safeguards.
   2. Developments increase hard surfaces, and reduce the amount of land that can be used to hold water in times of flood. Mitigation measures elsewhere must not be necessary. The development must incorporate all necessary mitigation measures.
   3. There must be no cost to the tax payer for permitting any developments in any area liable to flooding.
   4. All properties must be fully insurable using standard commercial insurance against flood damage, both now and for the foreseeable future.
   5. Developments must not increase pollution risk.

1. Policy P5 – object
   1. Whilst I support the policy in principal, there is inappropriate designation of land as SANGs which do not provide mitigations to new developments.
   2. SANGs must be provide new green space, rather than designate land that already has public access as a SANG. In this respect it is inappropriate for the designation of Effingham Common as a SANG as it is already a registered Common, and people already have access to the land, so it is not in any way providing any mitigation for new developments to Wisley and Ockham Commons.
   3. Para 4.3.58. The catchment area for a SANG based solely on size and distance is nonsensical. The catchment area for any site is based on accessibility and attractiveness. A muddy site, with poor access in the middle of winter will divert visitors away to a drier site with better access.

1. Policy S1 – object
   1. The Local Plan is not sustainable beyond 2033, as there won’t be sufficient land available for further development in accordance with NPPF.
   2. Most of the area of Guildford Borough Council is covered by the Green Belt. The southern part is covered by the Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, and the northern part is within 5km of a Special Protection Area. This provides very limited opportunities for development. The draft Local Plan, 2016 proposes increasing the number of houses built per year above current levels. This is not sustainable.

   My principal objections to the Local Plan are:

   [...]
   - Inadequate infrastructure improvements to support already overcrowded roads and railways.
   - Increased traffic congestion and journey times, due to the developments
   - Increased pollution from the traffic and developments causing health problems for residents, and irreversible damage to protected sites (nitrate deposits).
   - Reduction in quality of life, due to increased stress due. For example, large increase in cyclists over the last ten years.

1. Policy S2 – object
   1. The number of houses is too high, which will result in the permanent loss of Green Belt land, and irreversible damage to SPAs.
   2. Constraints imposed by the Green Belt, AONB and SPAs have not been properly taken into account in setting the housing numbers in the Local Plan. If these were properly applied then this would result in a lower number.
   3. I am not convinced by the evidence presented for the number of houses. In particular the Economic Assessment has resulted in an inflated demand for houses. Councillor David Reeve for Clandon & Horsley has produced “A Review of the Guildford Objectively Assessed Housing Need”, July 2016.
   4. Housing needs require reassessment in light of the Brexit vote, and the economic uncertainties that this has caused, which will result in reduced levels of growth, certainly until negations are completed on exit from the EU and new trade deals negotiated. The outcome of these talks won’t be known for at least 5 years and may well take much longer, despite the over-inflated optimism of some politicians.
   5. The housing numbers are unsustainable

1. I OBJECT to the evidence used by GBC to support the Local Plan. GBC has not taken into account the 2015 ENLA which shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ENLA carried out in 2013.
   1. The industrial space at Burnt Common is therefore no longer needed
2. I OBJECT to the way in which foreign student numbers have been used to inflate the housing need in the 2015 SHMA.
   1. The 13,860 required homes in the local plan is exaggerated
   2. If the population grows by 20,000 in the plan period that equates to 8000 homes based on average of 2.5 people per home

1. I OBJECT to the fact that GBC’s Transport Assessment was not available to councillors for the critical vote taken on 24th May this year. It was only published on 6th This consultation should not have been allowed to progress without this key information being made available to councillors. Nowhere near enough consideration has been given to the extra load being placed on infrastructure by the proposed local plan.

I OBJECT to Send being removed from the Green Belt. Our village and the Green Belt provide an essential buffer between Guildford and Woking. This part of Surrey should not be considered for urban sprawl. Particularly vulnerable areas of land being removed from the Green Belt include, but are not limited to:

1. The land behind the school including playing fields and woodland
2. The land to the right of Cartbridge by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering
3. Land to the left of Cartbridge towards the old depot on the Wey Navigation

I OBJECT STRONGLY to Policy A43, the use of land at Garlick’s Arch for the construction of 400 houses

1. There is no need for this housing on top of the 13,860 houses already proposed for the Borough
2. This site is NEW, was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously
3. It is Green Belt protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements. There are no exceptional circumstances to consider any override
4. The site has conservation sensitivity as there are trees on the site from the 16th Century – part of the site is ancient woodland

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT STRONGLY to Policy A43a – land to be used for new north facing slip roads to the A3 at Send/Burnt Common
   1. This is the first time this policy has been tabled. It is a huge potential development with wide reaching implications for local residents, traffic flow across Guildford and Woking Boroughs, the environment, the idea that Send is a village and that we live in a semi-rural community
   2. It is unacceptable that such a major development could be introduced by GBC without much more rigorous evaluation
   3. The introduction of this junction would promote further development – when in fact any new junction should be driven by development need. GBC is putting the cart before the horse.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A44

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT to Policy A44.
   1. This is also a NEW site that was not included in the Regulation 18 draft.
   2. Development for housing is inappropriate due to the area’s permanent Green Belt status
   3. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe landfill
   4. The proposal to include 2 Traveller Pitches is inappropriate due to the narrow road width and restricted access.

I trust that these comments will be given full consideration and that GBC will amend the local plan to remove the proposed developments referenced above that would irreparably damage the villages of Send and Ripley and alter the character of the whole Borough.

GBC needs to develop a Local Plan with significantly less new housing based upon a realistic increase in permanent population for the Borough.

Firstly, I want to make it clear that I wish my comments to be seen by the Planning Inspector.

I OBJECT strongly to the latest version of the Local Plan. My reasons for objection, as a resident of Send and Ripley for 14 years are as follows:

1. I OBJECT to the process that Guildford Borough Council (GBC) has followed in preparing this plan.
   1. Since 2014 GBC has continually changed the sites proposed for development in Send – this has been unreasonable for residents, who are not planning experts, and have struggled to understand the changes being proposed for their village
   2. The number of proposed new houses dropped from 430 houses in 2014 to 180 in April 2016, but at the last minute has been raised to 485 – even more than the original proposal. There is no justification for this increase – it is opportunistic and cynical
   3. At the last minute, just before the new Local Plan was issued for consultation, GBC has seen fit to include a significant change to the junction of the A247 and the A3 permitting Northbound entry and Southbound exit from the A3. Such a significant change to the proposed infrastructure of the village, which would have an enormous detrimental impact to the life of every resident through the elevated traffic levels that would be experienced and cannot be considered in the short timeframes of this consultation.
   4. GBC has sought to use Regulation 19 to make the changes to the local plan. Changes of this magnitude require another full consultation under Regulation 18

What the ……. is so special about Ash and Tongham?

I object to the Guildford Local plan 2016

I object to the fact that Ash and Tongham have 16% of the proposed new homes compared to 35% in West Horsley – why?

At the moment the congestion caused in our little road is horrendous created by the Raleigh school.

In the Winter the amount of surface water from East Lane causes our ditch to fill to capacity when we have all these new homes – where are the cars going – our whole village will be completely overwhelmed.

The loss of our green belt status is critical.

We do not want more homes, people, cars on this place – 435 homes to the north of the railway line compared to 40 to the south.

I have lived here for 66 years – nearly all my life – I have seen a new small housing estate built on what was rough land – the cuckoos used to sing all day – beautiful – now cars, school and people.
We pay high prices to live in West Horsley – the area attracts Londoners for the countryside and attractive homes. We pay for the beauty of the Green Belt, the attractive homes and the countryside – keep it that way.

Once gone, gone forever.

Get your act together.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix C: Infrastructure Schedule

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Infrastructure

I object

The infrastructure schedule makes reference to ‘improvements’ without saying what they are. It includes a junction at the Guildford end of the A31, and another junction at Tongham. No evidence or traffic modelling data is available to demonstrate whether these ‘improvements’ will indeed improve anything at all given the additional traffic that will be generated by the new developments included in the plan. The Highways Assessment indicates that, even with these ‘improvements’, the level of congestion on the A3, A31, the B3000 and A25 will leave these roads over capacity and congested.

Constraints should be applied to the housing need/number as a full application of the overinflated number will have a severe detrimental impact on our road network. Smaller housing estates may be more difficult financially, but they would have less impact on infrastructure and could be considered where infrastructure already exists. The borough has many acres of surface car parking which, if replaced by multi-storey versions, and combined with current Brownfield sites, would free up enough land to build housing where it is wanted and needed and not on valuable Green Belt. There would be no need to build high-rise style development in Guildford town, which we don't support, but we do believe that buildings of 6-10 storeys (with underground parking) would be in keeping in some urban areas (where they don’t impinge on important vistas). (Some existing buildings already reach 5-7 levels in height).

The traffic maps omit the area south of Guildford borough completely and the lack of detail about impact on the B3000, a strategic route, is highly questionable, particularly as there are no solutions in place to deal with the impact. I am particularly concerned that, after the main highways routes of M25, A25, and the A320, the B3000 will incur the greatest increase in flow as this road is already close to capacity, with tailbacks at peak times. The road is no longer fit for purpose and modelling shows that developments planned, and the introduction of a new westerly route through Blackwell Farm, will severely worsen the situation, whether major work takes place on the A3, or not.

The maps have different ratios which can be rather misleading in terms of comparing one with another.

The map for Compton suggests that the dotted pink line is the boundary line for the village when in fact this is just the village settlement area. The wider village includes Priorsfield Road and The Avenue and Down Lane and parts of New Pond Road and the Hog’s Back and Blackwell Farm, all of which are missing. Common land should ideally be marked up. Blackwell Farm is currently shown on a map called ‘Guildford Urban’ which of course does not exist and hence this could be misleading.

ABSENCE OF POLICY ON RIVER WEY

I object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that:

- It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest;
- The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved;
- Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved;
- Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations.
- The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved.

I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that ‘allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.’ This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. This amounts to a war of attrition by the Council in conjunction with developers, since many busy residents are tired of repeating the same comments as it appears to be a waste of time and effort. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014.

All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until 'exceptional circumstances' for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

I object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
• The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel.

• Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in ‘Guildford urban area’ and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm.

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

Purpose 1 - ‘checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas’. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

Purpose 3 ‘assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment’ - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - ‘assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’.

Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, 'The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB'. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a 'candidate area' for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion ‘hot spots’: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.

The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should ‘identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15’. In a footnote to this, it further adds, ‘To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.’ I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be ‘viably developed’.

I object to the removal of land from Greenbelt for the provision of two traveler pitches on Puttenham Heath Road to ‘enable delivery’. The area warrants Green belt status and should remain in Green Belt. Removal is a big step towards the eventual development of permanent accommodation, which would result in loss of the two pitches.

I object to Policy D1 Making better places,

I object to the absence of any reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force.

The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy.

Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, ‘like a golden thread’. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2.

This policy amounts to ‘greenwashing’, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from attempts to rig the housing market.

This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is difficult to understand, since no such networks are available locally.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to Policy D3 Historic Environment

This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to ‘support development’ that might ‘enhance’ heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites.

This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the 'reasoned justification', the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes.

Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages.

This policy that does not address the opportunity for building in the urban area.

The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be 'affordable', but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called 'affordable' homes or pay an 'affordable' rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand).

The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a glaring need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead.

This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure.

The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is hard to justify because the sector is in rapid and continuous decline.

THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY

Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside.

Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, ‘to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land’. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. 'We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land.

In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief
Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space.

GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years.

GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership.

I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact.

The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes. See details on GGG website - Guildford Greenbelt Group.

I object to policy E1 sustainable employment.

I note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015.

I have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF. I also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC. I am concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area.
GBC appears to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning.

What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8.

The lack of appreciation as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. e.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below).

Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan.

I note that the past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033.

I support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires.

We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. So I should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations.

I object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space.

I object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt.

The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%).

The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis.
The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%.

The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%.

There is currently 14% expansion space already available.

The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required.

The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher.

Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university.

A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space would be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy E3 maintaining employment capacity.

I object to the ill-informed policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land. It is also contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential).

I believe that the existing government policy which has recently been made permanent of allowing change of use from B1a to C3 is sound.

Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic.

The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015).
To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes.

To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised.

London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another early example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Key parts of the evidence are still missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach, and the Transport Assessment is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

The Plan excludes the Town Centre Master Plan, which plays a pivotal role and fails to address the results of infrastructure difficulties, or use these and Greenbelt to constrain the level of development.

This document omits many important points that are to be addressed at a future stage. The information is, however, very relevant and necessary and without it the document is weak on evidence. The overview given does not assess the capacity of existing supply to accommodate future growth. The paper acknowledges that almost 9% of commercial premises are empty and this somewhat flies in the face of arguments to vastly increase the volume until the reasons are understood. Around 30% of businesses are considering leaving Guildford (congestion being cited as a reason). There are also issues with planning permissions being granted to convert office space to residential, whilst at the same time it is argued that more offices are needed? The contradictions appear to indicate that policies related to this need firming up and that the evidence is incomplete.

I disagree with 40% of land in the town centre being given over to retail as there is no evidence that Guildford will 'buck the national trend' in terms of declining high-street sales, as has been suggested by Cllr Furniss. Guildford urban area ranks no 1 in terms of being the most sustainable location in the borough and, as housing is a priority, there should be more than 1,172 residences in the town centre.

I object to Policy E4 (expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Blackwell Farm) The existing Research Park has been built at a very low density (25% plot ratio), which is very low for an urban extension. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of only 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has acres of surface car parking, which provides it with the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing density of the neighbouring academic buildings on the university campus at Manor Park, which is five times higher.
Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density, the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university, without utilising additional land.

The strategic highway assessment requires a great deal more work and hence I OBJECT to the inclusion of this as evidence.

The B3000 runs through Compton, a small village with many listed buildings, most of which are very close to the road. The road already carries in excess of 5 million vehicles a year with average flow rates exceeding most A roads. It is the only settlement area in the borough where pollution levels exceed EU regulations and it is close to capacity now, with tailbacks at peak times, which add to the pollution problem. [see legal section]

The study is highly misleading. It refers to a figure of zero additional traffic from scenario 3, which includes the traffic from the strategic sites, one of which is partly in Compton. The assessment does not make it clear that the modelling is extremely limited and only includes impact on developments within the immediate area. Blackwell Farm is excluded from Area 107 (part of Compton) as false boundaries have been set. I believe that the impact from the strategic sites will be far-reaching and will most certainly impact Compton and beyond. Each village needs to be able to see the impact that development will have. The Highways Assessment concentrates on peak time traffic only and gives no indication of overall volume increases or traffic type using specific routes outside peak hours. Understanding of the overall increase is important, as there is a bridge on the B3000 between Artington and Compton, which has a width restriction and may also require a weight restriction as it needs replacing within the next 2 years and no funding has been set aside for this. Instead Network Rail, SCC, GBC and Waverley BC continue to battle over responsibility for, and scope of, the project.

It appears that traffic data has been collected at different times of the year and over varying time scales in order to provide averages. This method of data collection can underestimate measurements by at least 30%.

Furthermore, I have been told that the person responsible for ratifying traffic data at Surrey County Council (SCC) has been off sick for over a year and that, whilst the daily data boxes continue to collect data, that data has not been collected or analysed for 2015. The data put forward for Compton's B3000 was based on a 3-week period in January and, as this was not representative, we understand it was removed. That said, the year-on-year data is for different periods and different times, varying from a few weeks in winter to longer periods over many months. I would like a more robust approach to traffic data collation. Indeed it does not correspond to the statistics generated by the Vehicle Activated Signals which have been monitoring traffic speeds through Compton for a number of years.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission Local Plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway improvement schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. We question the conclusion that the developments would have An acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF'. We do not believe that the impact on the B3000 will be acceptable, as it is already operating beyond capacity, and this situation will be made much worse following the mitigation proposed for the A3.

The Highways Assessment is limited to 30 results. Roads have been omitted from the report and it is unclear whether findings for the B3000 (also referred to as The Street B3000) are in fact from the Street or the roundabout from which there is a feeder road to Godalming via Priorsfield Road.

The table comparing scenarios and the impact on traffic is difficult to decipher. Scenario 1 includes current planning permissions plus Waverley's strategic sites. This shows an increase of just 9 vehicles per hour at peak times on the B3000. The next scenario 2 is the same, but includes GBC’s strategic sites. Given that there is a strategic site in Compton of 1,800 homes and another of 1,000 at Normandy, the expectation would be for the volume to be not only higher, but considerably higher. The result is however, ZERO. We understand that this is because the impact measured is only from the immediate area and, as Blackwell Farm has been removed from the village for modelling terms, this does not give a realistic result. The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan and its impact on the roads further diminishes the integrity of this Highways Assessment.
Even without the full impact being understood, it is clear from the scale of development on the west of Guildford (1,800 homes at Blackwell Farm, 1,000 homes at Normandy, 1,300 homes at Ash, 3,800 homes in the Aldershot urban area, 1,200 homes at Borden) that the increase in traffic on the B3000 and other main routes would be severe.

The Highways Assessment shows that as a result of the proposals put forward in this draft of the Local Plan the B3000 will suffer the highest increase in flow rates at peak times (after the M25, A320 and A25. It also reveals that traffic flows would increase if the A3 was widened, as the A3 would then attract more traffic via the B3000. Despite this, there are no solutions planned to mitigate the situation and we are therefore strongly objecting to the level of development and in particular strategic development at Blackwell Farm as outlined in the Local Plan.

The proposal to introduce a new route to Guildford town centre from the west via Blackwell Farm has been ill-thought out. The volume of traffic that will use this new ‘rat run’ through the new development and the university campus/business park, has been underestimated. There will be problems for traffic wishing to exit the new development in both directions during peak hours - traffic is frequently queueing for miles along the A31, and the Tesco roundabout is one of the worst bottlenecks in Guildford. The knock-on effect on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction would impede emergency vehicles getting to and from the hospital.

The 4-way junction on the A31 has no detail at all and the concern is that permission in principle will be given to the site in the hope that these problems are surmountable. If they are insurmountable, which I believe they are, then enormous amounts of Green Belt land within the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB will have been sacrificed for nothing. The 4-way junction, if it goes ahead, is likely to be huge and, due to its elevated position, will cause significant harm to the AONB in terms of landscape and light pollution.

The Highways Assessment has many limitations, not least being the absence of the Town Centre Master Plan, which includes potential road closure and re-routing. Compton is likely to be very much affected by any reduction in road capacity in the town centre and it is important that we are presented with the whole the picture.

The Assessment acknowledges that not all impacts of proposed Blackwell Farm development have been modelled and that, due to the emphasis on the A31 and the A3, not all roads were included.

The report concludes that the improvements to the A3 are necessary to maintain adequate flow rates on the strategic network. Further work is needed to determine what impact any widening or junction improvements will have on local roads, and what will be done to mitigate against the increased flows through Compton, particularly given that a section of the B3000 though the Village is anticipated to become an Air Quality Management Area. GBC has resisted requests by members of the PC to have the northern end of The Street made an AQMA, but readings of nitrous oxide in this area are well above EU legal limits.

There is little information about the tunnel but the map indicates that one access / egress point will be in Compton near the A3, although no land has been safeguarded for this purpose. This is likely to have the same impact as the improvements to the A3, i.e. increased traffic (and pollution) through Compton.

The ‘objectively assessed need’ figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the SHMA method should be changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects of students on the figures.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.
Two additional reviews of the SHMA reach similar conclusions, one having been produced by CPRE and the other by Cllr. David Reeve.

The exclusion of sites of 5 dwellings or fewer from the list might make administration easier, but the addition of these sites plus windfalls and outstanding (but current) permissions gives rise to a higher number of dwellings than is actually needed. There is therefore no justification for release of all the Green Belt put forward.

The criteria used to include or exclude sites because of this study lack consistency, with many sites excluded as ‘unsuitable’ with no further explanation offered (many of which were in the urban area of Ash). The assessment lacks objectivity and detail.

I object to policy E4 Surrey Research Park.

I support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. I object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. I believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University.

I believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. I object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary.

Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise.

There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user.

Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises.

I hope the Surrey Research Park in Guildford remains focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing

Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created.
Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments.

I support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m.

Consideration should be given to the concept of shared ‘enterprise hubs’ where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the ‘enterprise village’ concept.

I object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park or within the footprint of the park.

The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m.

There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker.

The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis.

The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%.

The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period.

The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%.

The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy E5 Rural Economy.

In my opinion this policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas which means development of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the green belt.

Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism that require local people to be consulted and heeded, not ignored. Villages need protecting in terms of both design and scale and character.
Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This disregards the responses from the 2014 public consultation.

The consultation process was not well publicized; many Parish Councils had no idea of this. The emphasis on voluntary efforts and greater community efforts is far removed from reality for this ‘solution’ was presented for almost every aspect of rural life from managing crime to looking after elderly to education and more besides. Villages by nature are usually small and the percentage of the population who are able to do voluntary work is smaller still. The solution is therefore unworkable. The results of the consultation were not publicized but were instead collated and summarized and bore no resemblance to the submissions I had sight of.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience. I believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a ‘must see’ destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back.

The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit.

Guildford the historic ‘Gateway to the Surrey Hills’ has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. Re-branding walks, such as a new ‘Pilgrims Trail’ similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town.

There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An ‘English town break’ (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to RHS Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

THE TOWN CENTRE OPPORTUNITY

I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration and to attain a thriving night time economy is more residential development.

The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity to provide significantly more than this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy H1 Homes for all.

Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development but not high-rise development (ie over 10 floors) in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes’ walk of Guildford railway station.

Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of ‘regulatory capture’ by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required above it, with parking beneath.

Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy H2 Affordable homes.

‘Affordable’ homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people.

In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit.

I question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally in enormous debt (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes will be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and by the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed in the plan might influence the market in a more remote part of the UK, but not here.

This policy’s version of ‘affordability’ is just a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

I object to policy H3 Rural Exception Homes

This is a type of Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the 'mix', this can include 'market' housing – i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means expensive executive homes. This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove ‘exceptional circumstances.’

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy I1 Infrastructure and delivery.

Most of the borough’s infrastructure is antiquated, congested and straining to accommodate even current needs and organic growth. Yet this plan’s commitment to building housing estates across the Guildford countryside will mean either major infrastructure investment that no-one is prepared to pay for or else a catastrophic and simultaneous collapse in transport, educational, medical, energy, water and communications services.

The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield and will reduce or negate developer's obligation to sell a percentage of homes at 20% below market value.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing infrastructure needs in this area is inadequate, identifying only the tip of an iceberg of existing congestion. Compton Village is already close to tipping point, yet it will see a significant increase in traffic volume, will be completely congested and yet no plans exist to mitigate the problem.

The schemes referred to in this policy barely solve existing congestion and are inadequate when development takes place. The full impact on local road networks has not been fully considered. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that involve demolishing property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process. Compton Village will actually incur increased traffic flow as a consequence of A3 widening according to the study, yet as was pointed out above, no solutions are in place to improve the situation.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly.

This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan makes too many assumptions, not least being the verbal promise that development will not take place... without infrastructure preceding it. It is not clear how this will happen and is not in the Plan, as it should be, if it is achievable.

The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints.

The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model.

Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods.

Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan.

The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network.

It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below.

In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service E and F that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places, such as Compton Village, worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario5...indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’ and makes no mention of the impact this will have on pollution, which is already a known problem at the A3 end of Compton.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have ‘an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF’.

Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided.

The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR:
Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road /Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSCH through the development (para 4.7.3)

Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8).

Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para 4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14)

Normandy/Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Lane is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Westwood Land, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/Millbrook junction.

Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (but traffic will move to the next junction).

Slyfield – there are no remark relating to SARP, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane.

Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

The B3000 will be severely affected by development schemes and will not benefit from road improvements. It is essential that the impact of all change to road networks are looked at in conjunction with one another for any survey to be meaningful. The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

I object to policy i2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s ‘Road Investment Strategy’

This policy is too vague and unrealistically optimistic. Decisions by Highways England on improving the strategic road network (the M25 and A3) are still years off. The Council have suggested a very expensive tunnel under Guildford, but there is no evidence to show that this is a realistic option. Even if Highways England accepted this (which is highly unlikely in the post-Brexit public spending climate) it would not be built until the end of the plan period at the earliest. Other, less expensive A3 improvements, and changes to the Junction 10/Heathrow stretch of the M25, will also take years to agree and complete.

The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is foolhardy. Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. This policy will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone). This is a major development constraint that should have been applied to the OAN to constrain the housing target.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments.

This is another aspirational policy, not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport.

The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general ‘modal shift’ from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are too slow anyway for busy people. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths.

The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK.

The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times.

Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town.

I like the idea of water buses but have concerns over the reality. The Wey is narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services.

The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented. Ie. Cost of housing will increase.

I object to policy I4 green and blue infrastructure.

This policy is a box-ticking exercise with no teeth to it. It sits oddly with the plan’s onslaught on the Green Belt. The plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will cancel out any benefits from extending the principle of enhancing biodiversity beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas.

There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting.

ABSENCE OF POLICY ON RIVER WEY

I object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that:

- It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest;
- The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved;
- Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved;
- Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations.
- The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved.
GREEN BELT SITES

I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan.

I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that ‘allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.’ This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. This amounts to a war of attrition by the Council in conjunction with developers, since many busy residents are tired of repeating the same comments as it appears to be a waste of time and effort. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014.13

All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until ‘exceptional circumstances’ for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty

This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated.

Much of my concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example:

‘All proposals will be considered against whether they…’

‘All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities’

Terms such as ‘considered’ and ‘expected’ are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins:

‘Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits…’

This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. I believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: ‘There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF.’
In addition to the weakness of the language, I am also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself.

I believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted:

‘The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered’

‘Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable’

In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate

Finally, I would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. This should include Blackwell Farm which was recently reviewed by an Independent consultant and deemed worthy of inclusion as a candidate. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy P2 green belt

This policy states, 'the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.' This is a misleading statement.

The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away.

Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world.

Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood control
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations.

It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of ‘only’ 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no ‘acceptable’ percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold.

I object to the ‘insetting’ of 14 villages from the Green Belt. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat.

I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors.

To ‘inset’ two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed ‘insetting’ and boundary extensions go ahead.

I object to the removal of over 400 hectares of Green Belt land in and around Blackwell Farm to facilitate further development of Surrey Research Park and for 1800 homes. Over 60 hectares were removed from Green Belt 12 years ago for the same developer (Surrey University) who has yet to fulfill their planning obligations. This valuable land has been squandered with over 17 acres of surface car parking and as one of the key features of Green belt is its ‘permanence’ this second request for yet more Green Belt land to be released in such a short space of time, with all the outstanding issues that remain makes this all the more objectionable.

Furthermore I object on grounds of the impact this development will have in terms of congestion on our highways, these issues have been highlighted under ‘infrastructure.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P3 Countryside (i.e. beyond the Green Belt)

This is more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt, so is anomalous. I am not in favour of building on this area, since urban, brownfield areas are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There is no need to build on any green fields if brownfield, previously developed land is used efficiently (without garden-grabbing).

This policy refers to the countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). This area does not justify stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent it should not give it preferential status: ‘we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location’. Green Belt and AONB areas should by definition have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas.

It should also be noted that Ash and Tongham lie beyond Guildford far away from London and therefore make no contribution to controlling Metropolitan urban sprawl, that is presumably why Ash and Tongham are not in the Green Belt already. This policy, however, attaches higher priority to preventing the ‘coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot’ than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl. I agree to the prevention of coalescence but this should apply to all villages including East and West Horsley and Flexford and Normandy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones.

Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

I strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

I do not support building directly on (as opposed to over) flood plain as the land is effectively a soak away, but intelligent architecture has been dealing with this problem for many decades in other parts of the UK and the globe.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development ‘should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.’ Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of sustainable development is given.

The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The promise ‘to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area’ omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is without value. Under this policy, any development will qualify as ‘sustainable’, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline.

The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies.

The commitment to approve planning applications ‘wherever possible’ and ‘without delay’ reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents’ groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of ‘double speak’ has led to absurdities such as ‘affordable housing’ which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; ‘safeguarding’ which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and ‘insetting’ which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

‘About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don’t last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life’

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn.

The OAN ‘objectively assessed need’ figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high

I am very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.
Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. ‘It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.’

Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development ‘because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt’. This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement.

However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt.

A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum.

The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled ‘A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford’. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan.

The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald. He is an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit.

NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth. The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that:

- The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area.
- There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further.
- The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast.
A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA.

The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:

1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.
2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.
3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.
4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction.

Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target.

The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA.

Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed.

The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan.

Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the ‘very special circumstances’ justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

THE NEED TO APPLY CONSTRAINTS

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. ‘the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt’ - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

2. ‘we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt’ – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

3. ‘Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt’ – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014.
70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries.

Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements).

Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500.

In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONSTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council.

This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure.

It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015)

The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office.

Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, ‘We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.’ I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

The report states that there are no pollution issues in Guildford. This is not true. The A3 end of the B3000 exceeds EU regulations and this should be flagged in the 2015/16 air quality report which the Council has yet to publish.

The 2015/2016 air quality management report has not yet been published and this will/should include an area at the A3 end of Compton, which exceeds the recommended max NO2 reading. One year results for NOx are 48.728 with high's of 68 using National bias adjustment.

Cllr Furniss indicated that the location of the test tubes may have made them invalid, but measurements show that they were positioned correctly and monitored for over a year by GBC environment officers, who have now added additional monitoring devices (See Annex 2 – Correspondence between Cllr Curtis and Cllr Furniss). This area qualifies as an air quality management area (AQMA) and it is disingenuous to omit this from the report or to use an old report on the basis that the 2015 report is not yet published, as the problem is known and recognised by the environment department within GBC.

The traffic survey shows increases in overall flow at the B3000 monitoring point, of values between 5.6% and 16.5%. This would severely impact flow, which is not in line with National Policy as further congestion would exacerbate the current air quality issues as the A3 end of the Street.

I do not believe that a regulation 19 consultation is appropriate. Whilst few changes have been made, additional sites have been included without opportunity for regulation 18-consultation input.

The video used and paid for by GBC and taxpayers is biased towards development, and hence raises questions over the validity and legality of such marketing campaigns. All the individuals featured in the video, with the exception of one nurse have previously spoken in the Council Chamber in favour of house building/building on Blackwell Farm; and there is not a single voice representing protection of the Countryside or outstanding landscapes.

inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265-hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot ‘buy into’ this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as ‘double accounting’, which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of ‘exceptional’ is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant ‘yet to be discussed’ schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as ‘South West Guildford Urban’ is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included ‘significant changes’ according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not ‘an exceptional circumstance’ and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents’ groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.
The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of ‘double speak’ has led to absurdities such as ‘affordable housing’ which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; ‘safeguarding’ which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and ‘insetting’ which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

‘About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don’t last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life’

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn’t understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

POLICY H2: Affordable homes

The policy states that development of over 0.17 hectare will require 40% of the homes built to be affordable. This appears to be irrespective of demand and not likely to be in keeping with existing housing in the locality.

4.6 Infrastructure Policies

Development on the scale proposed within East and West Horsey would have a significant impact on the infrastructure of the villages.

The road and rail networks cannot sustain the influx of people in such numbers. The roads, as previously stated are effectively lanes, with often limited pavements and the parking at both Effingham and Horsley station is at capacity with no opportunity for expansion.

Flooding is already a concern in the village and comments from Thames Water have raised doubts as the ability to expand the waste water network.

Existing community facilities, such as the Medical centre are at capacity and local schools are over-subscribed. Indeed the development proposals close to The Raleigh School would inevitably mean that significant parts of our community wouldn’t have access to their local primary school.

We object to this Policy.

In conclusion, we believe that our community needs appropriate, demand driven housing, for example to enable older residents to downsize thereby freeing up much needed family housing in the area. A development, similar to Frenchlands Gate would enable this to happen. The Thatchers site would be appropriate but the density of housing stock proposed is significantly in excess of that currently (8.1 per hectare) and so would need to be addressed.

Some housing is inevitable and can be absorbed by existing communities but the scale proposed in our area by The 2016 Local Plan is disproportionate.

POLICY P2: Green Belt

The statement that the Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected does not appear to be adhered to in The Local Plan itself. This is particularly the case in the area close to the villages of East and West Horsley and Ockham with the Wisley site proposal. My previous objection to the Wisley development reflected concerns as to waste and infrastructure, a road network of narrow lanes with limited pavements, inappropriate density of, and excessive numbers of properties, the impact on neighbouring communities, lack of parking at local railway stations, exacerbating existing flooding problems, pollution and part of the site being of National Conservation Interest.

Further, I object to the proposals to: inset the villages of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt (para 4.3.13); disproportionate infilling of the villages, in terms of scale and density of housing and the extending of boundaries (para 4.3.16), the objective of which seems only to incorporate more unoccupied land within settlement.

The villages are rural communities, in keeping with their location within the Surrey Green Belt and ‘its openness’ - changes to their boundaries cannot be considered to be ‘exceptional circumstances’.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As residents of the ‘Guildford Community’ we have been sympathetic to the need for additional housing in the Borough to satisfy quantifiable demand, but feel that this has not been addressed by the 2016 Guildford Borough Council Local Plan.

We believe housing development should: meet the needs of the local community; respect the Green Belt and long established settlement boundaries; be in keeping with existing development in terms of scale and density; have regard to the local infrastructure and be sympathetic to proximity to AONB.

We feel that the number of new homes proposed in the Borough is significantly higher than those that would be required based on population projections of the ONS figures. In addition the location of the developments has little regard to the NPPF rules, particularly in respect of the ‘Horsley Green Belt’ and changes to boundaries.

Our specific objections to The Local Plan Proposals are as follows:

POLICY S2: Borough Wide Strategy
The proposed increase in housing stock in the Borough is 25% which is in excess of the ONS population projections of a 15% increase.

We object to this Policy

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
NPPF

- The National Planning Policy Framework appears to have been completely ignored in this case. NPPF1 ‘provides a framework within which local people and their parish councils can produce their own distinctive local and neighbourhood plans reflecting the needs and priorities of their communities’. NPPF 155 states ‘early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods and local organisations is essential’. There was NO prior collaboration or discussion with the local community before the revised Local Plan was published. We have not been given the opportunity to express the needs and priorities of our two separate communities (Normandy & Flexford). The first local residents knew about the proposals for 1100 dwellings at A46 was when the recent proposed local plan was published by GBC.

- The raison d’être for green belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land protected from development. ‘The essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and permanence’ (NPPF). GBC are ignoring this fact and completely disregarding the view of open fields from the Hogs Back which is part of the Surrey Hills AONB.

- Another purpose of the Green Belt is to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another. Urban development at A46 would bring the towns of Guildford and the conurbation of Ash/Ash Vale/Aldershot/Farnborough much closer together. The planning applications recently submitted by private developers to build numerous dwellings at Merrist Wood, Fairlands and Wood Street combined with the urban development of A46 would result in an uncontained urban sprawl from Guildford to Ash

Secondary School

- There is no convincing evidence to support the proposal that a new secondary school is required in Normandy to meet the educational needs of West Guildford. The birth rate in Guildford is currently falling, partly due to the high cost of housing which is forcing young families to move away from the Guildford area to find affordable homes. This includes our son & daughter in law and several of their friends.

- Kings College in Park Barn, West Guildford and Ash Manor School in Ash are currently undersubscribed and have hundreds of vacant places available for secondary school students. Both schools have offered to increase their intake if necessary to accommodate more pupils.

- Guildford County School on the A31 has recently had expansion plans approved which will create more places in a secondary school on the west side of Guildford within easy walking distance of Guildford Station.

- The Land Availability Assessment projections reveal no identified need for a secondary school during the first five years of the proposed house building programme. A private application for a five form entry secondary school has already been submitted recently as part of a proposed housing development at Rokers in Worplesdon

- If it should somehow be proven that a new secondary school is required in West Guildford, the Blackwell Farm site would have much better infrastructure to cope with the large amount of extra traffic a secondary school would generate and it would be much better placed to serve West Guildford

- Rushmoor Borough Council is proposing to build more schools in Aldershot which will serve the Ash & Tongham communities if required, so there is no need for a new secondary school in Normandy to serve those communities

Highways & Infrastructure

- The proposal to build 1100 dwellings would result in a further 1,375 passenger vehicles (at 1.25 per household as per ONS). The Local Plan proposal doubles the size of the village in one housing development which will have a major impact on the highways and infrastructure.

- No account appears to have taken of the severe inadequacy of the infrastructure in Normandy & Flexford to cope with the increased traffic which would result from the proposed development. There appear to be no plans to improve the infrastructure.

- The communities of Normandy and Flexford are served to the west by a lane classified as C16 (Westwood Lane) which has a narrow low bridge and single lane traffic under the bridge. Large lorries cannot fit under the bridge and traffic queues build up during peak time as drivers wait their turn to use the single lane under the bridge. The communities are served to the east by a D60 lane (Glaziers Lane unclassified) which has a structurally weak bridge crossing the railway line at Wanborough Station. The sightlines for drivers crossing the bridge are very poor and the bend at the top of the bridge results in regular near misses between cars travelling in opposite directions. The bridge was not built to cope with lorries which results in lorries regularly ‘bottoming’ as they cross the bridge and further weakening it’s structure. The Westwood Lane bridge is inaccessible for double decker buses which are the general mode of transport provided to get children to and from school and also used for school trips etc.

- Exiting the A31 westbound to reach Normandy & Flexford (a popular route from Guildford) requires a right turn on to the B3000 at the top of Puttenham Hill with very limited visibility to the left and a blind bend to the right. There are no traffic lights to assist this manoeuvre. There are frequent minor road traffic accidents and near misses at this junction which will inevitably increase if more traffic is accessing Normandy and Flexford.
- At peak times there is always severe traffic congestion on the A31 & the A323 (the only two routes linking Normandy & Flexford with other towns) and also at the junctions with Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane. There are no traffic lights to assist drivers wishing to join the A323. The traffic congestion will intensify if 1100 dwellings and a secondary school are built at A46
- An independent assessment suggests that if the proposal for A46 is implemented there will be an average of an extra 800 traffic movements every hour on roads which weren’t built to cope with this volume of traffic.
- Wanborough Railway Station has no access to the Guildford platform for the mobility impaired. The station has no staff to provide assistance to passengers and only one ticket machine which can result in long queues to purchase tickets during peak times. When the one ticket machine is broken, passengers have to persuade the guard on the train to issue them with a ticket which train guards are increasingly reticent to do suspecting fraud. This puts passengers from Wanborough in a very difficult position.

Flood Risk

- Whenever there is heavy rain, the eastbound A31 access road floods at the top of Wanborough Hill. Cars exiting the A31 eastbound emerge from a sharp bend, find themselves facing a large lake on their side of the road and immediately have to drive on the opposite side of the road to avoid planeing. This creates a serious traffic hazard for drivers approaching the A31 slip road eastbound from both Puttenham Hill and Wanborough Hill. This will worsen if the volumes of traffic into Normandy and Flexford increase due to the proposed housing development.
  - Heavy rain regularly results in flooding in West Flexford Lane & Flexford Road which results in sewage floating in the roads.
  - Heavy rain also causes flooding in Glaziers Lane near the junction with the A323 also resulting in sewage floating in the road and there is regular flooding in Glaziers Lane to the east of Walden Copse.
  - The proposed large housing development will considerably increase the amount of rainfall run off which will greatly exacerbate the flooding issues around the area.
  - The clay soil on which Normandy and Flexford are built also exacerbates flooding problems. Just to the south of the Flexford and Normandy communities is the geological line where clay meets chalk which results in many water springs emerging above ground in the hamlet of Wanborough and flowing north through Flexford and Normandy. Once the clay soil has reached water storage capacity, the groundwater has nowhere to go so the result is flooding.
  - GBC’s Surface Water Management Plan (SWMP) has excluded the land north of land A46. Loss of area 3b to development when this currently acts as a floodplain will considerably impact the surrounding area which GBC has identified as an area at risk of flooding in it’s SWMP.

Environmental Concerns

- There is wide biodiversity in and around area A46. We regularly see hedgehogs, newts, skylarks, toads, lizards, grazing deer, grass snakes & the occasional adder in the vicinity. Fragmentation of habitat will result in declining biodiversity exacerbated by the inevitable increase in the number of cats and dogs living in the area as a result of the proposed housing development.
- Another contributory factor will be the inevitable increase in litter pollution caused by the presence of a large number of households and particularly by a new secondary school in the locality.
- Light pollution will increase and the dark corridor between Guildford and Ash will be lost which will make hunting food sources increasingly difficult for nocturnal wildlife.
- The habitat within and adjoining A46 are priority habitats under the NERC Act and GBC has appeared to ignore this legal obligation in the A46 proposal.
- Policy D4 states: ‘new development within inset villages will have particular regard to important views of the village from the surrounding landscape.’ The urbanisation of A46 will impact considerably on the views of Normandy and Flexford from the Surrey Hills AONB during daylight hours and increase light pollution during the hours of darkness

Health Issues

• The potential combination of major site work at A46 and the proposed A3 road improvements would have a severe impact on Normandy and Flexford’s lanes classified as C16 and D60. Multiple journeys by construction traffic and the constant noise and pollution generated would be harmful to the physical and psychological health of residents living in the vicinity, many of whom are elderly. Planning policy appears to have ignored the location of the site and failed to assess the traffic impact on a semi rural community

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I would like to object to the Draft Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016 for the following reasons:

Policy P2 Green Belt

I object to the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt as this will permit developments which will not be in the character of the existing villages and adversely impact on their rural and peaceful nature, particularly:

- Increased density of housing
- Town centre style facilities eg bars and pubs, night clubs and large retail developments

The additional facilities and additions that the villages require such as improved schooling, infrastructure and medical facilities together with a controlled expansion of housing can be provided without the loss of Green Belt status.

Sites A38, A39, A40 and A41 - Development Sites in West Horsley (North)

The Plan is proposing the addition of 533 homes in East and West Horsley, 445 will be in West Horsley (North) on the above sites. Of these sites, I would like to see sites A38 and A41 removed from the plan for the following reasons:

- The addition of this number of homes will constitute a rapid and excessive increase within a small area and will over-load the infrastructure and facilities in the area. In particular:
  1. Local primary and secondary schools which are over-subscribed
  2. Medical facilities – there is only one medical practice serving both East and West Horsley
  3. Existing roads which have limited capacity and are already congested in peak periods. In particular, East Lane narrows at Waterloo Farm Cottage to a single track road.
  4. Horsley station car park usage has increased in recent years and it is close to full Monday – Thursdays. There is certainly not the spare capacity to accommodate additional vehicles from the proposed new housing.
  5. Sites A38, A40 and A41 are located further than walking distance from shops, railway station and medical facilities. Residents from these developments will cause a significant increase in traffic levels in the area.
- They will not satisfy Policy S1 by providing “a sustainable development improving the economic, social and environmental condition in the area”.
- Development of A41 will result in the loss of rural views along East Lane and Lollesworth Lane and create a dangerous precedent for further infilling. The Plan describes the site as “visually enclosed by hedgerows”. This is misleading as the hedgerows are intermittent and there are fine views from both roads of the enclosed field and surrounding woods over and through the hedgerows. The views from Lollesworth Lane are particularly important to me as this road is the start of a number of countryside walks. Loss of these views is wholly unwarranted and unjustified.
- The construction of such a large number of properties (relative to the number of existing houses) will not meet Policy H1 which requires housing density to “respond to local character, context and distinctiveness”. Inevitably the new housing would have a different architectural style and, as required by the plan, have a much higher density to existing housing which would adversely affect the existing, semi-rural appearance and character of the village. The reason that West Horsley is attractive is precisely because of the current density of housing.

To sum up, I object to the following aspects of the Draft Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016:

- Policy P2 - Loss of green belt status for East and West Horsley
- A38 and A41 - Development on these sites should be removed from the plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions I-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The removal of this site from the plan is to be welcomed as its possible future use for a relocated and enlarged primary school would represent a better use of the land than yet more housing and address my reservations regarding the level of primary school provision in the area. However, I assume the existing school site would then be used for housing, offsetting partially or entirely the housing removed from the plan by deleting this site. The removal of this site from the plan will not therefore result in a reduction in the adverse impact of the plan on the roads, medical facilities, shop and station parking in West and East Horsley.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I would like to see the removal of this site accompanied by the removal of one of the other sites in West Horsley (A38 or A40) to achieve a genuine reduction in the amount of extra housing imposed on the area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Guildford Borough Council New Draft of the Local Plan 2016 for the following reasons:

1. The development is huge, in fact more like another village/large housing estate than an integral part of the current village.

1. The proposal for a new school which could only be justified by the development of the land is not a valid argument. The case for a school without the housing development is also unproven with spare places at most of the local secondary schools and capacity to enlarge should the need arise and therefore to justify the plan for a school because of the new housing development is totally unacceptable and nonsensical.

1. The proposed land is in the Green Belt and no exceptional circumstance has been proved to justify its development or removal from the Green Belt.

1. The roads around the site are already overloaded with traffic and as hundreds of people on this side of Guildford are aware, the Hogs Back (A31) at Puttenham is almost impossible to join in the rush hour with queueing traffic every morning trying to join the A3. The A323 is also a major problem with major congestion.

1. There are many other sites with much easier access to the A3, a major trunk route in and out of London, which would be far more suitable for a development of this nature.

1. If this development were to go ahead, it would have a knock-on detrimental effect on Wanborough and Puttenham as well as other surrounding villages.

1. Although some development is inevitable, this is a semi-rural village in Surrey with only a small buffer left between Ash and Normandy due to the large scale development which has been allowed in Ash.

1. There is a large amount of wildlife in the area which is gradually diminishing but would be severely impacted by a development of this size.
1. I would like to question why certain villages and sites have been removed from potential development in the Local Plan but Normandy has now become a prime target.

1. The fact that a large property developer is involved in this plan is extremely concerning and severely diminishes the moral aspect of this proposal.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the evidence base used to develop the Local Plan, specifically, the inflated housing numbers in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment.

GBC has not released the methodology for how the housing number published in the SHMA was arrived at. It appears that the number of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate need (most foreign students return to their country of origin after their course of study as they do not have automatic right to remain in the UK). If the population is expected to grow by 20,000 in the plan period, that would result in a need of approximately 8,000 homes (based on 2.5 people per home) rather than the 13,860 proposed by GBC in the Local Plan. The level of housing need has been exaggerated.

I OBJECT to the lack of consideration for infrastructure overload in the Local Plan.

GBC's Transport Assessment was not even available to councillors before the vote taken to approve the current draft of the Local Plan. It was only published several weeks after the draft of the Local Plan was approved. The pressures placed on infrastructure by the developments proposed in the Local Plan have not been given adequate consideration. This will severely affect the quality of life of existing and new residents and it is highly irresponsible and unprofessional to develop a Local Plan without appropriate medical, education and transport infrastructure in place.

I OBJECT to the expansion of employment space in the Local Plan.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out in 2013. This means that the addition of new industrial spaces, such as at Site A43, are not needed.

I would like the Inspector to see my comments.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A42
I am writing to OBJECT to the level of development proposed for Site A42, Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Tannery Lane is prone to surface water flooding, and the development of 45 new houses on this small plot of land would result in increased traffic along this narrow lane (single track in parts, without pedestrian pavements along most of its length), which is already under stress from existing traffic flows.

I do not believe that there is adequate space on this site to provide the number of houses proposed and adequate parking for its residents. The lack of sufficient car parking will result in more parking problems in the village. As public transport is poor in the village, it is likely that each of the houses will require one, if not two cars. If we take an average of 1.5 cars per house (which is the average level of car ownership in Guildford Borough, according to the 2011 Census), this would mean an additional 67.5 additional cars from this development. Given a very conservative estimate of one return journey a day for each of those cars, this would result in at least an extra 135 car moments on this already congested and narrow lane.

This level of development is inappropriate for this site and should be significantly reduced.

I would like the Inspector to see this comment.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43

I am writing to strongly OBJECT to the last minute inclusion of the site at Garlick’s Arch in Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43 and A43a) the current draft of the Local Plan. This site is a major change at a very late stage, without prior consultation. Considering the severity of the change, I believe that its inclusion is inappropriate and potentially in breach of procedure. This was included less than two weeks before the draft was presented to Guildford Councillors, with no community consultation whatsoever, and appears to be in breach of Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to engage local communities in determining the Local Plan. Having sneaked this proposal in at the last minute without any consultation whatsoever with the community, the council has allotted a mere 6 weeks to register objections (half the usual time).

In addition to my objections based on procedural grounds, below is a list of objections based on the characteristics of the site, and the level of development proposed.
I object to destruction of ancient woodland (Policy P2, Policy I4)

Looking at the map supplied by GBC, approximately a fifth of the site at Garlick's Arch is made up of Ancient Woodland. It is also adjacent to another large parcel of Ancient Woodland. Ancient Woodland are at least 400 – 10,000 years old. To put this into context, the country is celebrating Elizabeth II’s 90th birthday this year. These woodlands have been in place since the reign of Elizabeth I or long before. According to the NPPF and planning advice on www.gov.uk, “Trees and woodland classed as ‘ancient’ or ‘veteran’ are irreplaceable. Ancient woodland takes hundreds of years to establish and is considered important for its wildlife, soils, recreation, cultural value, history and contribution to landscapes.” GBC should be doing everything it can to protect the small amount that is left in the borough. Ancient Woodlands are the Grade 1 listed buildings of our environment. We wouldn’t demolish a Grade 1 building for new development, we should protect Ancient Woodland in the same way.

I object to development in an area of good quality Green Belt (Policy P2, Policy I4)

This site lies within parcel B14, which according to the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study, fulfils 3 of the 4 Green Belt criteria, that is to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another and to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment. I believe that it is the duty of GBC to protect the Green Belt for current and future residents of Guildford. Building on the site at Garlick’s Arch is contrary to points 79 and 80 of the NPPF which states that “The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.” Planning Practice Guidance issued by the Government in March 2013 (Standard note: SN/SC/934) makes clear that “unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.” I understand that much of this site is in productive agricultural use. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being developed on as required by the NPPF.

I object to inappropriate level of development for Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common (Policy I1)

The proposal for Garlick's Arch site includes 7,000sqm of light and general industrial units as well as 400 houses and a 4 way on/off junction for the A3. This is an absurd level of development for the area will have a significant impact on the semi-rural village of Send. The village will become a significant junction on the A3 with increased vehicular and HGV traffic on the A247, that runs through Send village. The resulting noise and sound pollution as well as traffic congestion, will have a severe negative impact on the health and well being of current and future residents of Send. The current medical and educational facilities are not able to accommodate the large increase in population that would result from this oversized development. The need for additional housing has not been proven and additional industrial development could easily be incorporated at Slyfield.

I object to development in Garlick's Arch which is at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The site at Garlick's Arch has been classified by the Environmental Agency as being at higher risk of flooding than the council's own assessment. It has flooded many times in previous years (please see attached photo of flooding at Garlick's Arch). The inclusion of this site shows that the local plan is not taking into adequate account the risk of flooding as required by the National Planning Policy.

I believe that the improper late inclusion of the Garlick’s Arch site, the inappropriateness of developing a high quality Green Belt site with Ancient Woodland, development on a site with high flood risk, and the significant level of development on the site, must result in the site being removed from the next draft of the Local Plan.

I am writing to OBJECT to the inclusion of Site 44, Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill, in the current draft of the Local Plan. This site is new and there has not been any previous consultation on it as was not included in any of the previous draft versions of the Local Plan. This site consists of 40 homes and 2 traveller pitches and constitutes a significant change and should require a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cute of Regulation 19.

The scale and type of development at this site is inappropriate due to its location in a high quality Green Belt area, within an area of beautiful countryside. I believe that the subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe landfill waste which is currently vented. New houses should not be constructed on this land as its disruption may release toxins which put the health of existing and future residents at risk.

Due to the reasons stated above, Site 44 should be removed from the final version of the Local Plan. I would like the Inspector to see my comments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to lodge several OBJECTIONS to developments and amendments to the Green Belt in the 2016 Draft Local Plan.

I OBJECT to the removal of many villages throughout Guildford, including Send, Ripley, Wisley and Clandon, from the Green Belt by the process of 'insetting' (Policy P2)
The process of insetting is an insidious way of opening up development in rural or semi-rural villages by removing significant areas of land from the Green Belt. To inset two thirds of the borough's rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is highly implausible, given the borough's location on the edge of the Metropolitan London, as well as the ever increasing towns of Woking and Guildford. There are no exceptional circumstances for removing Send, Ripley and Clandon from the Green Belt, as required by the NPPF. These villages are located in close proximity to Metropolitan London, Woking and Guildford and form a vital buffer against the merging of outer London, Woking and Guildford. Insetting will result in overdevelopment in villages which are already struggling to deal with existing pressures on infrastructure. Insetting will change the nature and character of the villages, as well as diminish the effectiveness of the Green Belt as a protective buffer against urban sprawl.

Taking Send village as an example, the insetting proposed will remove the playing fields for the village's schools from the Green Belt. This may result in building over valuable outdoor space for our children. The inset in Send also includes a significant 2km stretch along the picturesque River Wey (a conservation area) from Triggs Lock to High Bridge. It is currently subject to Policy G11 of the Local Plan where the special character of the landscape and views are to be protected and improved. Removing this area from the Green Belt through insetting would have a negative effect on the setting and amenity of the River Wey and is contrary to the policies of the NPPF for heritage protection as well as the stated intention of the local plan to protect and enhance the historic environment. The River Wey is a valuable amenity for all the residents of Guildford and visitors from further afield and should be retained in the Green Belt for the benefit of all current and future residents of Guildford.

I OBJECT to the development of Green Belt land without exceptional circumstances (Policy P2)

The proposals for large scale developments at Wisley (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43 and A43a), Gosden Farm (A25) and Blackwell Farm (A26) and Normandy (A46) would result in wholesale destruction of Green Belt, stretching all along the A3 from the M25 at Wisley down past the A31 at the Hogs Back. These developments will have a significant negative impact on the environment through the destruction of green spaces and increase in pollution and traffic. They will also contribute to urban sprawl by creating significant built up areas which erode the Metropolitan Green Belt by allowing development in a corridor from the M25, along the A3, to the A31.

8,086 new houses are planned from the Green Belt but only 1,135 for Guildford urban area. This imbalance in building on Green Belt sites over brownfield ones will not only destroy the countryside but also disincentives much needed urban regeneration. For example, adjacent to Garlick's Arch (A43), there was an existing brownfield site at Burnt Common (which was included in the last draft but removed from this one) which could have been developed. Instead, this plan proposes building on a site that contains Ancient Woodland, over the development on a nearby brownfield site. This shows the plan does not prioritise the development of brownfield sites over Green Belt sites. The building of dormitory satellite settlements on Green Belt sites will is an out of date approach to planning due to the enormous negative environmental impacts. There are no exceptional circumstances for for development of this Green Belt land, which serves as an important buffer to urban sprawl. The government published Planning Practice Guidance (2014) to accompany and give further detail to the policies in the NPPF. The guidance states that "Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt." Therefore according to NPPF, GBC has not demonstrated any exceptional circumstances to warrant such large scale development in the Green Belt.

Due to the reasons stated above,

I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A25.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A26.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A35.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A43.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A43a.
I OBJECT to the inclusion of site A46.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to OBJECT to several procedural issues in the Local Plan 2016.

I OBJECT to the lack of consultation of residents from Send for sites in the current draft of the Local Plan.

Since 2014, GBC has changed every major site in Send. None of the sites in the current plan have been in previous versions of the plan so residents have not been consulted on them prior to their inclusion in this draft. Most egregiously, Sites A43 and A43a were only included at the last minute, less than two weeks before the draft was voted on and published. These sites are significant (Site A42 includes 400 homes, 7000sqm industrial space, new A3 on off ramp) and should require a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short cut of Regulation 19. This procedural error should invalidate the addition of this site to the local plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to OBJECT to the 2017 version of the Guildford Local Plan. There are several policies that I wish to object to and will list them below. I have sent in objections to previous versions of the Local plan and am baffled to find that despite significant local objections to inappropriate overdevelopment, this version of the plan actually further increases the development around the villages of Send, Ripley and West Clandon, making a mockery of the principles of consultation. Unlike what I might expect from a normal planning process and consultation, where objections are considered and proposals are altered accordingly, Guildford Borough Council (GBC) appears to not have listened at all to the thousands of objections lodged, and have actually increased the level of development in Send, which seems to have been disproportionately targeted with housing and industrial development. The number of homes has been increased from 485 homes to 500 homes, and 2 traveller/show people pitches to increased to 10. The amount of proposed area for industrial use has increased from a maximum of 7,000sqm to a minimum of 7,000sqm.

1) I OBJECT to change of sites and last minute additions of sites

Major sites in and around Send have changed three times. First we had Burnt Common, then Garlick’s Arch and now both of them. GBC appear to have a predetermined agenda to build on the Green Belt and without any reasonable constraints to take account of inadequate infrastructure – roads, schools, medical facilities – as required by law. The traffic and pollution implications of the current proposals will be completely overwhelm Guildford, especially smaller villages like Send, Ripley and West Clandon.

10) I OBJECT to policy change at A25 Gosden Hill Farm

I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon and Send from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the three to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds it will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is already stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon and Send.

I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below). The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
8) I OBJECT to Policy A26 Blackwell Farm

I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane. Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital’s A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,800 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt.

The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, Fairlands and Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat).

2) I OBJECT to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane

I, along with hundreds of other residents as well as Send Parish Council have already objected to the earlier number of 45 homes on this site in the previous version of the plan. Incredibly, the current version of the plan actually proposes to increase the number of homes on this site to 60, a further increase of 33%, showing complete disregard to previous comments. I object to the designation of this site for 60 homes.

This site is prone to surface water flooding and this level of development will only make it worse.

Tannery Lane is a single lane track in points and traffic is already busy on the junction of Tannery Lane and A247. An extra 240 car journeys per day (60 x 2 cars x 1 return trip) from this location will exacerbate existing congestion in this narrow road and in particular on this corner.

This particular plot is within Green Belt and thus development here within Green Belt, or changing the Green Belt boundary will be contrary to one of the important functions of Green Belt which is to provide separation between villages. No 'exceptional circumstances' exist to justify the development of this site.

I OBJECT to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt, Policy A42

This is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation. Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate. It is in a high sensitivity area of Green Belt on the banks of the River Wey, opposite some water meadows, adjacent to a Conservation Area and close to a SSSI. It is not clear why the ‘high sensitivity’ Green Belt designation given to this site in the 2016 version of the plan has been removed in order to inset Send Business Centre and the adjoining land from the Green Belt. I object to the removal of this site from the Green Belt.

There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions. This road narrows to a single lane track in sections and would not be able to cope with any significant increase in vehicular traffic.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
3) I OBJECT to the Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch

This site was a last minute addition to the last version of the local plan and it had received thousands of objections. Its inclusion in this version with increased plots for travelling show people shows a complete disregard for local residents who are already faced with overcrowded roads and medical and educational facilities.

Not only is there no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this area, this site is also not suitable for the provision of such plots according to Policy H1 which provides the strategic policy for the provision of plots for travelling show people where provision is being made for 500 homes or more. This plot currently has an already excessive 400 homes proposed, but below the 500 home threshold for triggering Policy H1. There is also no detail of how these sites will be accessed by the heavy vehicles associated with these plots. I object to the travelling show people plots as unnecessary and inappropriate.

This site is in the Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances" exist to justify its development, especially on the massive scale that has been suggested. It contains areas of Ancient Woodland, which I believe should be given the same protection status as Grade 1 listed buildings. Ancient Woodland are at least 400 – 10,000 years old. According to the NPPF and planning advice on www.gov.uk, “Trees and woodland classed as ‘ancient’ or ‘veteran’ are irreplaceable. Ancient woodland takes hundreds of years to establish and is considered important for its wildlife, soils, recreation, cultural value, history and contribution to landscapes.” GBC should be doing everything it can to protect the small amount that is left in the borough. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site. This includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600 or earlier. After all, we wouldn't tear down a Grade 1 building, why would we allow the destruction of Ancient Woodlands that have been in existence since at least the Tudor era? I object to development on this Green Belt site with Ancient Woodland.

This site is subject to frequent flooding and currently has zone 2 flooding allocation (zone 3 according to the Environmental Agency).

This development would join up the villages of Send, Ripley and West Clandon, defeating one of the key purposes of the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
4) I OBJECT to Policy A 58 change at Burnt Common

This site was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously and there has not been any change in circumstances which would support the reintroduction and expansion of the site.

The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of almost 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt. Given the decline in demand for industrial land in Guildford, there is no need to build industrial or warehouse developments on Green Belt land when there are currently empty sites and industrial units in Slyfield and around Guildford.

The development of a large scale industrial site in this area would create high levels of noise and air pollution from the vehicles using the site, and create traffic congestion on the small surrounding roads. This would be to the detriment of neighbouring residents and many pedestrians who use the nearby stretch of A247 where Send's infant and primary school, as well as medical centre are located.

The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. Policy A58 does not provide an appropriate limit to the scale of industrial development to take place on this site. The previous allocation for employment land at Garlick’s Arch stated that up to 7,000sqm of employment floorspace would be created. No such maximum amount exists within Policy A58, with at least 7,000sqm of employment land proposed on Land around Burnt Common Warehouse. Where previously there was a maximum of 7,000sqm proposed, it is now a minimum of 7,000sqm, opening the site to unbounded levels of development. This is unacceptable as it opens the door to a significant intensification of this site with no limits on this 90,000sqm site. I object to the potential unlimited development on this Green Belt site.

It will join up existing villages of Send, Ripley and West Clandon and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt. There are no 'exceptional circumstances' to justify the development of this land for industrial use and the evidence actually shows a decrease in the amount of industrial land required in the whole borough to 3.9 hectares, not the almost 10 hectares proposed just for this one site. There are no sensible reasons to support the development of this site. There are however many factors that make it a very poor and unsuitable site for the level of development proposed.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

7) I OBJECT to Policy P2

I object to the changes to Policy P2 because they have not addressed many of the 32,000 objections made to the 2016 plan.

I object to the new para (1) “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected as shown designated on the Policies Map, against inappropriate development. In accordance with national planning policy, the construction of new development will be considered inappropriate and will not be permitted unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated.” The words “as shown designated on the Policies Map” should be deleted. The Policies Map has effectively ignored huge areas of Green Belt protection and the new para (1) is therefore a sham.
Policy P2 still completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world.

It is incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. No-one argues that we should sell 1.6% of the Crown jewels in order to build houses.

I object to the statement in the Draft Local Plan under Green Belt Policy P2 (4.3.13) which claims that Send and a further list of 13 villages are “now inset from the Green Belt”. This statement is untrue as GBC is proposing to “inset” these villages. No decision has been made by an Inspector, therefore the villages remain in the Green Belt.

I am deeply disturbed that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages (particularly at Send) and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. This is completely unplanned and unmeasured development outside of the OAN.

Many Guildford villages are “leggy” in outline, reflecting the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development. Send is a good example of villages that should not be removed from the Green Belt so that Woking joins up to Guildford.

I object to three particularly vulnerable areas of high quality amenity land being taken out of the Green Belt at Send which include: 1) The land behind the schools including playing fields and woodland. 2) The land to the right of Cartbridge by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering. 3) Land to the left of Cartbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey Navigation.

Exceptional circumstances must be demonstrated in order to develop the Green Belt. Despite the weight of public opinion against weakening of this policy, 70% of new housing development will be in the countryside, of which, 58% will be in Greenbelt. By definition, this is not an exception and no attempt is made to demonstrate exceptional circumstances, in line with the requirements of the NPPF. Major sites such as Garlick's Arch, Blackwell Farm, Wisley Airfield and Gosden Hill Farm – are in the Green Belt. Previous consultations show that, in line with the NPPF, the public would prefer to use brownfield land in the urban area first.

6) I OBJECT to the Policy S2

The 2017 Local Plan continues to contain some of the unproven assumptions of previous versions of the Local Plan such as housing numbers. The amended policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 12,426 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2017 prepared by GL Hearn has not addressed many of the 32,000 objections made to the 2016 plan. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2017 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA), a group made up of parish councils and residents associations from across Guildford Borough, has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 560 homes per annum to 400 homes per annum. Once other permitted constraints are allowed, that figure could be revised downwards even further. These constraints, in line with government policy to protect Green Belt and make sure development is supported by adequate infrastructure, could correct the OAN by approximately 50%. This is what neighbouring Woking Borough Council have done. I object to the fact that GBC have not used the guidance available to reduce the number of houses they propose, resulting in an unsustainable and inappropriate plan, based on erroneous assumptions.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Finally, I would like to object to the restrictions imposed by GBC on the type of responses to the 2017 Local Plan that they would accept. Only accepting comments on the changes to the previous plan, rather than all elements of the current plan is overly bureaucratic and absurd. It has created very high barriers to making comments about the plan (having to go back and forth between the hundreds of pages of two versions of local plan) and also ignores the objections that residents may have to existing parts of the plan which have not seen changes. For example, Policy A44, Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill, was added to the last version of the plan and had received many objections, which should still be valid for this plan. There has also been a lack of transparency about the evidence base for housing figures and how much influence property developers have had on the inclusion of different sites within the plan.

The 2017 Local Plan shows a lack of consideration for local residents’ opinions, is based on excessively inflated housing needs numbers and does not take into account the capacity of infrastructure such as roads, schools and medical facilities to support proposed developments, or the implications for increased pollution caused by proposed developments. This shows very poor planning practice and contempt for existing residents. It is as flawed as previous versions and not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to the evidence base used to develop the Local Plan, specifically, the inflated housing numbers in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment.

GBC has not released the methodology for how the housing number published in the SHMA was arrived at. It appears that the number of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate need (most foreign students return to their country of origin after their course of study as they do not have automatic right to remain in the UK). If the population is expected to grow by 20,000 in the plan period, that would result in a need of approximately 8,000 homes (based on 2.5 people per home) rather than the 13,860 proposed by GBC in the Local Plan. The level of housing need has been exaggerated.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to OBJECT to the development proposed for Site A42, Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send.

It is unclear whether the houses proposed here are in addition to the existing shed / warehouse based businesses that are here, or instead of.

The site currently has derelict green houses, but this does not mean that the site is brown field – in fact the site is high value green belt land. Any development here should not be to the detriment of the character of the area, and should have particular regard to the Corridor of the River Wey conservation area (which this site sits within, and your plan document titled: Guildford_borough_Proposed_Submission_Local_Plan_-_strategy_and_sites_compressed.pdf fails to mention).

Tannery Lane is prone to surface water flooding, and the development of 45 new houses on this small plot of land would not help. Placing housing here would result in increased traffic along this narrow lane (single track in parts, without pedestrian pavements along most of its length), which is already under stress from existing traffic flows.

I do not believe that there is adequate space on this site to provide the number of houses proposed and adequate parking for its residents. The lack of sufficient car parking will result in more parking problems in the village. As public transport is poor in the village, it is likely that each of the houses will require one, if not two cars. If we take an average of 1.5 cars per...
I am writing to strongly OBJECT to the policy / site at Garlick’s Arch in Send Marsh/ Burnt Common (A43 and A43a) the current draft of the Local Plan. This site is a major change at a very late stage, without prior consultation. Considering the severity of the change, I believe that its inclusion is inappropriate and potentially in breach of procedure. This was included less than two weeks before the draft was presented to Guildford Councillors, with no community consultation whatsoever, and appears to be in breach of Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to engage local communities in determining the Local Plan. Having slipped this proposal in at the last minute without any consultation whatsoever with the community, the council has allotted a mere 6 weeks to register objections (half the usual time).

In addition to my objections based on procedural grounds, below is a list of objections based on the characteristics of the site, and the level of development proposed.

I object to destruction of ancient woodland (Policy P2, Policy I4)

Looking at the map supplied by GBC, approximately a fifth of the site at Garlick's Arch is made up of Ancient Woodland. It is also adjacent to another large parcel of Ancient Woodland. Ancient Woodland are at least 400 – 10,000 years old. According to the NPPF and planning advice on www.gov.uk, “Trees and woodland classed as ‘ancient’ or ‘veteran’ are irreplaceable. Ancient woodland takes hundreds of years to establish and is considered important for its wildlife, soils, recreation, cultural value, history and contribution to landscapes.” GBC should be doing everything it can to protect the house (which is the average level of car ownership in Guildford Borough, according to the 2011 Census), this would mean and additional 67.5 additional cars from this development. Given a very conservative estimate of one return journey a day for each of those cars, this would result in at least an extra 135 car moments on this already congested and narrow lane.

In developing this site in its entirety Guildford Borough Council are missing an opportunity to connect the River Wey Navigation to the village, either via Tannery Lane or Wharf Lane – via footpath or recreation ground – which would provide much needed leisure and fitness opportunities close to nature.

This part of Send has very little or nil street lighting – thus wildlife has flourished due to the adjacent field, hedgerows, meadows, and river Wey. I have seen bats, owls, deer, and many magnificent birds crossing in the vicinity of this plot. I would not like to see this impacted in any way.

The sewer system in Send already cannot cope with the level of housing and the new Vision Engineering factory and several of the newer developments are already pumping out their sewage at night. I don’t see how 45 houses will help the situation.

This level of development is inappropriate for this site and should be significantly reduced.

I would like the Inspector to see this comment.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
small amount that is left in the borough. Ancient Woodlands are the Grade 1 listed buildings of our environment. We wouldn’t demolish a Grade 1 building for new development, we should protect Ancient Woodland in the same way.

I object to development in an area of good quality Green Belt (Policy P2, Policy I4)

This site lies within parcel B14, which according to the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study, fulfils 3 of the 4 Green Belt criteria, that is to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another and to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment. I believe that it is the duty of GBC to protect the Green Belt for current and future residents of Guildford. Building on the site at Garlick’s Arch is contrary to points 79 and 80 of the NPPF which states that “The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence.” Planning Practice Guidance issued by the Government in March 2013 (Standard note: SN/SC/934) makes clear that “unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.” I understand that much of this site is in productive agricultural use. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being developed on as required by the NPPF.

I object to inappropriate level of development for Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common (Policy I1)

The proposal for Garlick's Arch site includes 7,000sqm of light and general industrial units as well as 400 houses and a 4 way on/off junction for the A3. This is an absurd level of development for the area will have a significant impact on the semi-rural village of Send. The village will become a significant junction on the A3 with increased vehicular and HGV traffic on the A247, that runs through Send village. Already the junction of the A247 and Tithebarns Lane is an accident blackspot. The resulting noise and sound pollution as well as traffic congestion, will have a severe negative impact on the health and well-being of current and future residents of Send. Already The current medical and educational facilities are not able to accommodate the large increase in population that would result from this oversized development. The need for additional housing has not been proven and additional industrial development could easily be incorporated at Slyfield. With the addition of 400 houses here, and at some length to the nearest train station, we are going to see a huge increase in local traffic. When the A3 is jammed, the lanes through East Clandon and Ockham become snarled and congested with spill over traffic from the A3.

I object to development in Garlick’s Arch which is at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The site at Garlick's Arch has been classified by the Environmental Agency as being at higher risk of flooding than the council's own assessment. It has flooded many times in previous years (please see attached photo of flooding at Garlick's Arch). The inclusion of this site shows that the local plan is not taking into adequate account the risk of flooding as required by the National Planning Policy Framework.

I believe that the improper late inclusion of the Garlick’s Arch site, the inappropriateness of developing a high quality Green Belt site with Ancient Woodland, development on a site with high flood risk, and the significant level of development on the site, must result in the site being removed from the next draft of the Local Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents: Garlicks Arch Flooding.jpg (133 KB)
I am writing to OBJECT to the inclusion of Site 44, Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill, in the current draft of the Local Plan. This site is new and there has not been any previous consultation on it as was not included in any of the previous draft versions of the Local Plan. This site consists of 40 homes and 2 traveller pitches and constitutes a significant change and should require a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short route of Regulation 19.

The scale and type of development at this site is inappropriate due to its location in a high quality Green Belt area, within an area of beautiful countryside (see attached photos). The proposed density of housing is not in keeping with the surroundings.

I believe that the subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe landfill waste which is currently vented. New houses should not be constructed on this land without a thorough decontamination plan followed by many years of rest.

It is unclear how all of the proposed dwellings will fit on such a plot which is currently an asset to the local community: it is used by wildlife, as a buffer between homes and farmland, and for dog walking.

I believe that the site is too far (1.2km walk) from local shops to be practical for a traveller site.

I would like to point out that this proposal (in combining a traveller site with additional housing, on land which is being inset) contravenes Planning Policy for traveller sites Policy E: Traveller sites in Green Belt which reads:

“14. Inappropriate development is harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved, except in very special circumstances. Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development.

1. Green Belt boundaries should be altered only in exceptional circumstances. If a local planning authority wishes to make an exceptional limited alteration to the defined Green Belt boundary (which might be to accommodate a site inset within the Green Belt) to meet a specific, identified need for a traveller site, it should do so only through the plan-making process and not in response to a planning application. If land is removed from the Green Belt in this way, it should be specifically allocated in the development plan as a traveller site only.”

Due to the reasons stated above, Site 44 should be removed from the final version of the Local Plan. I would like the Inspector to see my comments.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the expansion of employment space in the Local Plan.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out in 2013. Many industrial trading estates such as the Sheerwater Estate in Woking and Watchmoor Park in Camberley have vast units which remain unoccupied. This means that the addition of new industrial spaces, such as at Site A43, are not needed.

I OBJECT to the lack of consideration for infrastructure overload in the Local Plan.

GBC’s Transport Assessment was not even available to councillors before the vote taken to approve the current draft of the Local Plan. It was only published several weeks after the draft of the Local Plan was approved. The pressures placed on infrastructure by the developments proposed in the Local Plan have not been given adequate consideration. Approximately 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt, within 1 to 2km of the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity. This will severely affect the quality of life of existing and new residents and it is highly irresponsible and unprofessional to develop a Local Plan without appropriate medical, education and transport infrastructure in place.

I am writing to lodge several OBJECTIONS to developments and amendments to the Green Belt in the 2016 Draft Local Plan.

I OBJECT to the removal of many villages throughout Guildford, including Send, Ripley, Wisley and Clandon, from the Green Belt by the process of 'insetting' (Policy P2)

The process of insetting is an insidious way of opening up development in rural or semi-rural villages by removing significant areas of land from the Green Belt. To inset two thirds of the borough's rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is highly implausible, given the borough's location on the edge of the Metropolitan London, as well as the ever increasing towns of Woking and Guildford. There are no exceptional circumstances for removing Send, Ripley and Clandon from the Green Belt, as required by the NPPF. These villages are located in close proximity to Metropolitan London, Woking and Guildford and form a vital buffer against the merging of outer London, Woking and Guildford. Insetting will result in overdevelopment in villages which are already struggling to deal with existing pressures on infrastructure. Insetting will change the nature and character of the villages, as well as diminish the effectiveness of the Green Belt as a protective buffer against urban sprawl. It may be that the inset replaces the settlement boundary of the current local plan, but it more than replaces it, it makes the village much larger.

Taking Send village as an example, the insetting proposed will remove the playing fields for the village's schools from the Green Belt. This may result in building over valuable outdoor space for our children. The inset in Send also includes a significant 2km stretch along the picturesque River Wey (a conservation area) from Triggs Lock to High Bridge. It is currently subject to Policy G11 of the Local Plan where the special character of the landscape and views are to be protected and improved. Removing this area from the Green Belt through insetting would have a negative effect on the setting and amenity of the River Wey and is contrary to the policies of the NPPF for heritage protection as well as the stated intention of the local plan to protect and enhance the historic environment. The River Wey is a valuable amenity for all the residents of Guildford and visitors from further afield and should be retained in the Green Belt for the benefit of all current and future residents of Guildford.

I OBJECT to the development of Green Belt land without exceptional circumstances (Policy P2)

The proposals for large scale developments at Wisley (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43 and A43a), Gosden Farm (A25) and Blackwell Farm (A26) and Normandy (A46) would result in wholesale destruction of Green Belt, stretching all along the A3 from the M25 at Wisley down past the A31 at the Hogs Back. These developments will have a significant negative impact on the environment through the destruction of green spaces and increase in pollution and traffic. They will also contribute to urban sprawl by creating significant built up areas which erode the Metropolitan Green Belt by allowing development in a corridor from the M25, along the A3, to the A31.

8,086 new houses are planned from the Green Belt but only 1,135 for Guildford urban area. This imbalance in building on Green Belt sites over brownfield ones will not only destroy the countryside but also disincentives much needed urban regeneration. For example, adjacent to Garlick's Arch (A43), there was an existing brownfield site at Burnt Common (which was included in the last draft but removed from this one) which could have been developed. Instead, this plan proposes building on a site that contains Ancient Woodland, over the development on a nearby brownfield site. This shows the plan does not prioritise the development of brownfield sites over Green Belt sites. The building of dormitory satellite settlements on Green Belt sites will is an out of date approach to planning due to the enormous negative environmental impacts. There are no exceptional circumstances for development of this Green Belt land, which serves as an important buffer to urban sprawl. The government published Planning Practice Guidance (2014) to accompany and give further detail to the policies in the NPPF. The guidance states that "Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt." Therefore, according to NPPF, GBC has not demonstrated any exceptional circumstances to warrant such large scale development in the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan. Every new green belt site reduces the chance that a future brownfield site will be developed.

I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon and Send from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the three to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds it will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is already stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding A247 road through West Clandon and Send.

I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below). The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km minimum distance.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.

The site is dependent on a new access road from the A31 (Hog’s Back) to the Hospital roundabout at Egerton Road, with a new signalised junction on the A31 at Down Place (just east of the A3 slip road). An independent traffic study commissioned by the Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington will see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000, B3100 or Down Lane. Levels of nitrous oxide that are consistently well above the EU legal limit have been recorded at the A3 end of the B3000 over the last 2 years (GBC Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. Compton Parish Council is expecting that this section of the B3000 will be made an Air Quality Management Area soon. Any traffic intervention that increases traffic levels through Compton (such as the proposed access road to Blackwell Farm), will make this situation worse and potentially have an impact on the health of residents.

The development will produce more congestion at the Hospital/Tesco roundabout - This will impede access to the Hospital's A&E unit - a problem was identified by the Planning Inspector who presided over the previous Local Plan and who put a cap on traffic increases in the area of 5%. That cap has been exceeded (despite the University’s claim that construction traffic and buses don’t count). Guildford’s underlying traffic modelling is flawed and simply tweaking the Hospital roundabout and/or providing a new rail halt at Park Barn will not mitigate against the traffic generated by 1,500 homes, two schools, and an extended business park.

The development will result in the loss of nationally important countryside - The new access road would cut through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), uprooting centuries old trees and scarring the north face of the Hog’s Back. It would also pass through an Area of Great Landscape Value and through, or next to, a belt of ancient woodland. The housing development itself and the proposed extension the research park, would harm the setting to the Surrey Hills AONB (the views into and out of the Hog’s Back ridge). The development site includes high-grade farmland and forms 20% of Compton’s green belt. This proposed development will impact Whitmore Common (a European protected habitat).

The development will result in more flooding. The Hog’s Back acts as a soak away for surface rainwater. Once its slopes are concreted over, this water will travel north, adding to existing flooding in Wood Street Village, and Fairlands.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to A35 Wisley Airfield

Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers, who are based in the Cayman Islands and not local, to try again. This is not an NPPF “presumption in favour of sustainable development” but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who had already been given many additional months to refine their application before it was rejected.

There is in any case no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Policy A35 should be deleted from the plan for all the reasons the development was rejected by the Planning Committee, including, Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances” and misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land. 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it. It would result in the loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.

I find this policy contrary to NPPF 84, which encourages channelling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt.

I find this policy contrary to 87 & 88 due to the fact that ‘Very special circumstances’ have not been met.

There is an absence of adequate traffic data. This development would increase air pollution to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school. There is a lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.

Disproportion of locating of over 2,000 dwellings within the ancient village of Ockham with just 159 households. Extreme housing density with tiny garden spaces has been proposed, out of keeping with existing homes in the area. The nature of neighbouring communities would be damaged by the creation of a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.

There has been Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).

I OBJECT to changes to Guildford’s Draft Local Plan, which call for an increase in the number of houses at Clockbarn Nursery from 45 to 60 houses.

I objected when 45 houses were proposed here. More housing has been approved along Tannery Lane (04/P/00576) and has yet to be built. Already the junction between Tannery Lane and Send Road cannot cope.

This particular plot is within Green Belt and thus development here within Green Belt, or changing the Green Belt boundary will be contrary to one of the important functions of Green Belt which is to provide separation between villages.

It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse.

It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation.

Vehicular access to this site is poor, as it is along a narrow section of Tannery Lane.

There are industrial units on this site and it is unclear from this policy’s proposal whether these will stay or go, making the use of this site unclear (poor planning).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch

This site was a last minute addition to the last version of the local plan and it had received thousands of objections. Its inclusion in this version with increased plots for travelling show people shows a complete disregard for local residents who are already faced with overcrowded roads and medical and educational facilities.

Not only is there no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this area, this site is also not suitable for the provision of such plots according to Policy H1 which provides the strategic policy for the provision of plots for travelling show people where provision is being made for 500 homes or more. This plot currently has an already excessive 400 homes proposed, but below the 500 home threshold for triggering Policy H1. There is also no detail of how these sites will be accessed by the heavy vehicles associated with these plots. I object to the travelling show people plots as unnecessary and inappropriate.

This site is in the Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances” exist to justify its development, especially on the massive scale that has been suggested. It contains areas of Ancient Woodland, which I believe should be given the same protection status as Grade 1 listed buildings. Ancient Woodland are at least 400 – 10,000 years old. According to the NPPF and planning advice on www.gov.uk, “Trees and woodland classed as ‘ancient’ or ‘veteran’ are irreplaceable. Ancient woodland takes hundreds of years to establish and is considered important for its wildlife, soils, recreation, cultural value, history and contribution to landscapes.” GBC should be doing everything it can to protect the small amount that is left in the borough. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site. This includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600 or earlier. After all, we wouldn't tear down a Grade 1 building, why would we allow the destruction of Ancient Woodlands that have been in existence since at least the Tudor era? I object to development on this Green Belt site with Ancient Woodland.

The removal in this draft of the local plan of industrial distribution space on this site is welcome.

This site is subject to frequent flooding and currently has zone 2 flooding allocation (zone 3 according to the Environmental Agency). The runoff from this site is channeled into a network of streams and channels through low lying Send Marsh before reaching the River Wey. Any increase in runoff from this site would be detrimental to the roads and houses of Send Marsh.

This development would join up the villages of Send, Ripley and West Clandon, defeating one of the key purposes of the Green Belt, and contrary to NPPF 79.

I find this policy contrary to NPPF 83, since ‘exceptional circumstances’ have not been demonstrated to justify altering Green Belt boundaries. I find this policy contrary to NPPF 87 & 88 due to the fact that ‘very special circumstances’ have not been met.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
This site was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously and there has not been any change in circumstances which would support the reintroduction and expansion of the site.

The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of almost 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt. Given the decline in demand for industrial land in Guildford, there is no need to build industrial or warehouse developments on Green Belt land when there are currently empty sites and industrial units in Slyfield, Sheerwater, and other areas around Guildford.

The development of a large scale industrial site in this area would create high levels of noise and air pollution from the vehicles using the site, and create traffic congestion and wear on the small surrounding roads. This would be to the detriment of neighbouring residents and many pedestrians who use the nearby stretch of A247 where Send's infant and primary school, as well as medical centre are located.

There is also no consideration of the increased surface water runoff which may block the existing exit from the A3 onto the London Road B2215.

The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. Policy A58 does not provide an appropriate limit to the scale of industrial development to take place on this site. The previous allocation for employment land at Garlick’s Arch stated that up to 7,000sqm of employment floorspace would be created. No such maximum amount exists within Policy A58, with at least 7,000sqm of employment land proposed on Land around Burnt Common Warehouse. Where previously there was a maximum of 7,000sqm proposed, it is now a minimum of 7,000sqm, opening the site to unbounded levels of development. This is unacceptable as it opens the door to a significant intensification of this site with no limits on this 90,000sqm site. I object to the potential unlimited development on this Green Belt site.

It will join up existing villages of Send, Ripley and West Clandon and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt. There are no 'exceptional circumstances' to justify the development of this land for industrial use and the evidence actually shows a decrease in the amount of industrial land required in the whole borough to 3.9 hectares, not the almost 10 hectares proposed just for this one site. There are no sensible reasons to support the development of this site. There are however many factors that make it a very poor and unsuitable site for the level of development proposed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy P2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the changes to Policy P2 from the latest draft of the Guildford Local Plan, specifically:

I object to the new para (1) “The Metropolitan Green Belt due to unjustified alteration of Green Belt boundaries within the referred to Policies Map.

Policy P2 still completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater...
London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. These documents should be referenced as Key Evidence in policy P2.

With this draft of the local plan the borough stands to lose 7% of its Green Belt when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. The council’s figure of 1.6% is erroneous.

I object to the statement in the Draft Local Plan under Green Belt Policy P2 (4.3.13) which claims that Send and a further list of 13 villages are “now inset from the Green Belt”. This statement is untrue as GBC is proposing to “inset” these villages. No decision has been made by an Inspector, therefore the villages remain in the Green Belt.

I am deeply disturbed that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages (particularly at Send) and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. This is completely unplanned and unmeasured development outside of the OAN.

Many Guildford villages are “leggy” in outline, reflecting the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development. Send is a good example of villages that should not be removed from the Green Belt so that Woking joins up to Guildford.

I object to four particularly vulnerable areas of high quality amenity land being taken out of the Green Belt at Send which include: 1) The land behind the schools including playing fields and woodland. 2) The land to the north and east of Carbridge (A247) by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering. 3) Land to the south and east of Carbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey Navigation. 4) Land at Send Business Park on Tannery Lane.

Exceptional circumstances must be demonstrated in order to develop the Green Belt. Despite the weight of public opinion against weakening of this policy, 70% of new housing development will be in the countryside, of which, 58% will be in Greenbelt. By definition, this is not an exception and no attempt is made to demonstrate exceptional circumstances, in line with the requirements of the NPPF. Major sites such as Garlick's Arch, Blackwell Farm, Wisley Airfield and Gosden Hill Farm – are in the Green Belt. Previous consultations show that, in line with the NPPF, the public would prefer to use brownfield land in the urban area first.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt, Policy P2, 4.3.15.

A portion of this site, known as Site 67 in the 2014 draft was deleted from all subsequent versions because of all the objections made and there has not been any change in circumstances which would support the reintroduction and expansion of the site.

This Green Field site lies within 5km of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area.

Many of the industrial / office buildings here were built without permission in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation. Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate. It is in a high sensitivity area of Green Belt on the banks of the River Wey, opposite some water meadows, adjacent to a Conservation Area and close to a SSSI. It is not clear why the ‘high sensitivity’ Green Belt designation given to this site in the 2016 version of the plan has been removed in order to inset Send Business Centre and the adjoining land from the Green Belt.

I object to the removal of Send Business Park from the Green Belt, (I cite specifically NPPF 79). I find this policy contrary to NPPF 83, since 'exceptional circumstances' have not been demonstrated to justify altering Green Belt boundaries. I find this policy contrary to NPPF 87 & 88 due to the fact that 'very special circumstances’ have not been met.

There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions. This road narrows to a single lane track in sections and would not be able to cope with any significant increase in vehicular traffic.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The 2017 Draft Local Plan for Guildford continues to contain some of the unproven assumptions of previous drafts of the proposed Local Plan such as housing numbers. The amended policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 12,426 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2017 prepared by GL Hearn has not addressed many of the 32,000 objections made to the 2016 plan. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2017 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA), a group made up of parish councils and residents associations from across Guildford Borough, has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 560 homes per annum to 400 homes per annum. Once other permitted constraints are allowed, that figure could be revised downwards even further. These constraints, in line with government policy to protect Green Belt and make sure development is supported by adequate infrastructure, could correct the OAN by approximately 50%. This is what neighbouring Woking Borough Council have done. I object to the fact that GBC have not used the guidance available to reduce the number of houses they propose, resulting in an unsustainable and inappropriate plan, based on erroneous assumptions.
Thus, I object to the amended policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- Destroy views from the Hog’s Back ridge – a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- Remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- Increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- Result in rat-running through local roads

I STRONGLY object to plans to remove green belt protection from the village of Chilworth. Green belt protection is essential to prevent development sprawl, associated strain on roads and infrastructure and to protect the beauty and benefits for local families of the countryside. I have young children myself and our green spaces are essential for health and mental wellbeing for them and generations to come. Once lost they can never be clawed back.

I have already separately submitted my response by letter to the proposed submission via email and also with a hard copy delivered by hand to GBC at Millmead.

I wish to express an absolute requirement in participating at the examination with the Inspectorate in due course as I have many and varied objections to this 2016 Local Plan with particular reference to policy A43 Garlick's Arch and policy A43a ramps at Burnt Common and the insetting from the Greenbelt of Send Marsh/Burnt Common. These objections are laid out in my letter.

The main basis of my objection being that the late substitution and inclusion of these sites A43 and A43a with no prior consultation and with little or no evidence base for inclusion, renders the 2016 Local Plan as unsound, unsustainable and unworkable.

My objections to Site A43 amendments relate to the provision of 6 residential plots for Travelling Showpeople and the associated buildings and storage facilities. This is entirely inappropriate within this Greenbelt site, which is surrounded by ancient woodland. There is no clear demand for this Travelling Showpeople site and it is in clear contravention of the Regulation 19 which identifies a ratio of 1 traveller site per 500 new housing units, with 500 units being the minimum number to justify the inclusion of a traveller site. Given that the Garlicks Arch A43 site plans for 400 units, I would strongly object to this allocation. In any event, this site is entirely unsuitable for such a large industrial use, with no obvious wide road access and no clear reasoning as to why it is being located in this proposed residential site.

I object to Site A58 as a Strategic Industrial Employment Site. I did not have any objection to an earlier Local Plan provision to utilise this site as part housing and part light-industrial use, given that it is a small brownfield site. However I strongly object to this updated 2017 Site A58 proposal as there is a potential for the inclusion of Waste Management Facilities, which is entirely inappropriate in this location. In addition, I object to the open-ended proposal that the 7000sq metre site has potential to meet future industrial floorspace needs, as this gives no clear indication of the ultimate size of this site, nor its uses.

In essence these proposals would lead to clear coalescence between the villages of Ripley, Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common. The traffic utilising our rural road network is already at capacity during peak hours and simply will not cope with the proposed additional residential and industrial sites, irrespective of the proposed new A3 slip roads adjoining the Garlicks Arch site. Any additional traffic travelling in an East/West direction will not be sustainable, in particular HGV vehicles and the enormous articulated lorries required by Travelling Showpeople.

APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 20 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 June 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital  Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.
I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see above and below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained. To allow this would be plain irresponsible.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.
Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infant school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

POLICY E1

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

   I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

   I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

   The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

   If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.
The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that, whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or no force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. This is another serious flaw in the plan.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. This would have many benefits to Guildford itself.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. This alone makes the overall policy ineffective and capable of challenge.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

POLICY II

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. This will increase the risk of serious accidents.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon where I live, already suffer from intolerable traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements. As I say above my daughter who uses an electric wheelchair and often visits complains about the danger.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.
Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network, phone and broadband and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital; where is this assessed and remedied?

POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan. This is clearly a huge flaw in the plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

The A247 in West Clandon is already used by too many vehicles travelling too quickly and any additional traffic could make it dangerous. My daughter is an electric wheelchair user and often travels between our home and Clandon station. She says the road can be too busy to cross safely.

Similarly in peak times Guildford City Centre is too busy

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.
The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from too often severe congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.
It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may well conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted. The Council should also consider the impact that objections (which will inevitably be made) on any planning applications on these sites will have on its capacity to deal with planning matters.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Gosden Hill development of 1,700 houses. Reference to a potential link road from the development to the A247. The clear implication is for an access from the development to the A247 with enormous traffic implications for the A247.

South bound off- and on- slip roads to service the development and replace the existing off- slip road to Burpham. The only North bound access to the A3 will be via the existing slip road off Clay Lane. (See later, Burnt Common).

A 4-entry form secondary school, a primary school, a retail centre and a park and ride for up to 700 cars.

When developed, the new employment site at the north side of Gosden Hill Farm (site allocation A25) will be treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site (7,000sq.m). This could mean several hundred employees.

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1,700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.</td>

Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well, I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.</td>

| 13. | I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 and M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Burnt Common strategic industrial employment site for light industry, storage and distribution activities. It is to be designated an Industrial Strategic Employment Site which means that it is a preferred site for industrial development including waste management facilities. The site is 9ha which it is stated allows for considerable future expansion. This will generate large amounts of traffic including heavy vehicles on the A247.

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.

2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.

3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented”.

5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units. This is particularly wasteful at a time when our economy is under stress and every effort should be made to be efficient.

6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space”.

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

Although much is made of the need for new infrastructure to support these developments and for this to be in place as needed, the Plan admits …“we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes” and this is assuming all the infrastructure (listed in App. C to the Plan) is in place in a timely fashion. GBC has little or no control over the plans of Surrey County Council as the local highways authority and Highways England for trunk roads. Worryingly, the Plan now has even less substantive information about improvements to the A3 South of the M25 from Highways England and it appears that their plans are not yet formed (Policy ID2). In the absence of such information, the infrastructure proposed is specific to each proposed development and does not address cumulative effects. What would be the case with regard to planning approval if SCC and/or HE do not provide timely infrastructure? It is clearly impossible to go ahead with the proposed developments absent guarantees that appropriate infrastructure is in place.

The Plan now calls for nearly all infrastructure to be funded by developers (see APP. C). We question how realistic it is to expect developers not only to pay for all the infrastructure but also to have it in place in a timely fashion. The Plan says that planning permission will be refused if timely provision of infrastructure cannot be secured. Such refusals will almost certainly be settled in the courts. Developers’ business models are based on building and selling houses to create the cash to provide infrastructure. People will be living on the sites well before infrastructure is complete. Will GBC prevent development of Gosden Hill until slip roads etc. are provided off and onto the A3? Again, the infrastructure is site specific and does not address cumulative effects.

If development were to be refused the land would still have been removed from the green belt and its future rendered uncertain.

Residents are being asked to accept very large amounts of development with little or no detail being provided on measures which would relieve existing congestion and limit future problems. The cumulative effects of the developments listed below are certain to have a devastating effect on the A247 through our village (and of course on Send) and it is hard to see how any of the infrastructure proposed in the Plan (App. C) will do anything to mitigate the effects of these developments on the A247 and hence our village.

Summary of the Impacts on the A247 – My Objections

All of these developments will draw additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:

- children from elsewhere being delivered to schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities
- traffic from Wisley wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel South and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the South and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)

The A247 although an A road:
- is less than 2 vehicle wide in places
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge with poor site lines
- has a very difficult junction to access the station
- is largely unlit
- has a primary school
- is already very congested at times

You will recall that in prior responses I explained that my wheelchair-bound disabled daughter often visits us and travels from Clandon station to our home along the A247 and that any increase in traffic ill increase the danger to her in making that journey. I see no attempt to deal with this point.

Non-plan Items—My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).
Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion and their effects on public health) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made”.

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Following my read of the Draft Local Plan I wish to make the following comments :-

1. I object to the SMHA figure of 693 as this is a significant over estimation of the local need and includes a vastly over allowance for growth, unnecessary inclusion of Surrey University accommodation requirements (these are for the University to deal with as commercial development) which should not be part of the SMHA. The GBC SMHA should be completed again by a different consultant as a means of checking the calculations are correct.

2. I object to the lack of constraints being applied to the SMHA figure when the borough contains such high percentages of Green Belt and AOB. The NPPF provides guidance on applying constraints yet this does not appear to be taken into account during the work to produce the SMHA and the subsequent OAH figure.

16. I support GBC’s desire and work to produce a new Local Plan as I feel it is needed to guide future growth and migration, provide homes and employment for local people and ensuring a vibrant community however this iteration is based on a flawed SMHA that has been put together by a consultant that has looked at everything at its highest end and that no constraints have been exercised. The borough has seen over the last ten years a growth rate of around 250 per year yet this SMHA nearly trebles the numbers which I challenge.

I trust that these objections and supporting statements will be fully considered and that the Local Plan is amended with immediate effect. Please can I have acknowledgement of receipt of my comments.

1. I object to the continued inclusion of a site A35 (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I object regarding A43 as The Garlick’s Arch site was discounted as recently as February and has been included to facilitate the building of the junctions (Policy A43A) at Burnt Common which in turn is there to facilitate the inappropriate developments in Policies A25 Gosden Hill and A35 Former Wisley Airfield.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A43A as there is no promise of delivery, lack of detail from Highways England as to the delivery and timing of any construction. If A43 Garlick’s Arch is included against my objection the plan is to deliver the homes in the first 5 years yet the roads infrastructure is not proposed until years 5 – 10 leading to further traffic congestion and blighting the lives of local people. There are no proposals within the plan to improve the traffic flow on the A3 or M25 so traffic will just sit during the daily commutes causing greater pollution and lead to motorists trying to by-pass the congestion through small and inappropriate country lanes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the loss of Green Belt for development and that insufficient use of urban and brownfield land results in permanent loss of Green Belt as over 70% of new housing being prosed is within the Green Belt. The greater use of urban brownfield sites will produce more homes in the urban areas where people work and will reduce the carbon footprint of those commuting into Guildford as public transport is readily available. This change will improve the environmental impacts of the plan.

2. I object to the distribution of new developments being in the north of the borough in that area which lies outside the AOB although still in the Green Belt. Sites should be made available in the AOB, smaller scale development and in particular Rural Exception would allow these communities to grow and relieve pressure on the other areas. Greater use of Rural exception developments should be made to ensure truly affordable homes for local people in some of the most expensive parts of the county. The target of 90 RE homes is far too low. Rural Exception development should be encouraged across the borough.

I object to the housing number of 693/annum as no constraints have been applied – the GL Hearn methodology has compounded past errors in international migration forecasts and the whole SHMA needs to be re-visited and corrected as a matter of urgency.

I object to the continued use of the Green Belt and Countryside study as part of the evidence base. It is a subjective and inconsistent document that pays no regard to the impact of the current proposals on the setting of the AONB for example.

I object to the Garlics Arch proposal as it uses valuable green belt land and the green space between the settlements at Burnt Common, Send Marsh and Ripley resulting in unacceptable harm to the openness of the Green Bely and the vistas locally and from the Surrey Hills AONB.

I continue to object to the inclusion of the following policies:

A36-A41 inclusive in the Horsleys, A43 at Garlick’s Arch, A42 Clockbarn, and A58 There is no evidence that anyone has considered the cumulative impact of these developments together with the development at A35. The infrastructure proposed is totally inadequate and, as these stand at the borough boundary will have a huge impact on residents throughout the borough and further afield, particularly those who use the A3.

I object to the fact that the land required at Garlick’s Arch is said to be almost 29ha where only 13ha is required at 30dph.

I object to the proposal for the massive development of the former Wisley airfield, the effect on the Horsleys and Ockham would be enormous. How GBC can put this back in the plan when it was unanimously refused just a few months ago is beyond me. It appears your previous decision was worthless?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

- We object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

- After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

We reflect objections from our family and friends who regularly visit us and benefit from the current surroundings and are acutely concerned about the changes proposed.

We trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

- We object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
  - We object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. We specifically object to:
1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

   a. We object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

   b. We object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

   c. We object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

   d. We object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

The Council Leader has promised that no development will take place without improvement in the infrastructure, this must come first. The infrastructure is overloaded, drainage is inadequate, the roads and car parks are overloaded with little scope for improvement. Both the local schools and the medical facilities are full.

- We object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for many reasons including:

1. It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location.
2. It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.
3. It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10).
4. Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc).
5. Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded SRN and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.
6. Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe.
7. It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000/annum.
   - The associated traffic increase from the RHS has not been taken into account.
1. The regular events at the RHS which attract 1000’s more visitors several times a year and the resultant traffic has not been taken into account
2. There is insufficient employment available onsite so that almost all residents will have to travel to work. It is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle on narrow unlit local roads on a regular basis.
3. The identified mitigation to address the impact of increased traffic will not address the commuters travelling to Woking rail station
4. It remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVOR/DME will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. This constrains the site significantly in terms of building heights etc.
5. The changed “Opportunities” listed in this policy reinforce why this site is totally inappropriate talking of “good urban design”
6. Opportunity (3) should be common to all sites and is not unique to this site
7. I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts another heritage asset, Upton Farm negatively impacting the setting of this building.
8. I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.
9. I object to the change of site boundaries as these are not identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16)
10. I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification
11. I object to the change in green belt boundary to the eastern end of the site as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact
12. I object to para 21 which “limits” development in flood zone 2 and 3. Development should be excluded in flood zone 2 and 3
13. I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objection from local residents and statutory consultees.
14. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.
15. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation why the council think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.
16. I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS.
17. I object to the transport evidence base including the SHAR 2016 Highways assessment report which has been criticised by Mouchel for using out of date modelling software and is therefore unreliable.
18. I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed the transport assessment to use prescribed vehicle movements from this site with no justification.
19. I object to the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe that the housing number is unsound and open to legal challenge.
20. I object to the apparent disregard for the impact of in-combination development on the TBHSPA, particularly the damage caused by nitrogen deposition and high pollution levels.
21. I object to policy S2 where it states “the figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426” yet the figures in the table add up to 9,810 – what is the significance of the missing 2,616? This is one of a number of glaring examples of why the plan is not sound.
22. I object to the quantity of space allocated for retail in the town centre. This could be much better used for residential development. I particularly object to the reliance on the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes “demand” for retail space from companies already in administration.

I consider for the reasons listed above and numerous other reasons that this plan is unsound and not fit for purpose.

I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPI) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

The first relates to Three Farms Meadow, Allocation 35. I object on the following grounds:

- This area is currently Green Belt, and I believe that the green belt should be protected. It was established to stop exactly the kind of urban sprawl that the Local Plan is now proposing in Three Farms Meadow.
- The number of houses proposed is many more than any of the local infrastructure can support, even if developed in the ways suggested - including roads, public transport and utilities.
- Ockham is a small hamlet - it will be utterly swamped by the Three Farms Meadow development. We love Ockham because of the wide open spaces and the beauty of the area - a development of this scale and type (urban) would irreversibly change the nature of the village and surrounding area.
- This plan has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

I also object to West and East Horsley and Ripley Villages being removed from the Green Belt. These are beautiful villages that attract visitors to the area. If they are subjected to urbanisation they will cease to be the open, attractive, places they are today. They need to be protected from disproportionate development, not re-classified so that they can become urban extensions of London and Guildford.

Finally, I object to the disproportionate allocation of new housing to this area as a whole - there are a considerable number of houses proposed not only at Three Farm Meadows, but large sites in Horsley and Ripley. This will damage the nature of the area and result in a huge burden on inadequate and already-strained infrastructure and local services.

The Local Plan, as it stands, will turn this part of Surrey from an attractive, sought-after, green and clean place to live into an extension of the London sprawl. We have a responsibility to protect this lovely environment for future generations, or there will soon be none left.

B.i. Policy A25 – My Objections

1) Gosden Hill development of 1700 houses. Reference to a potential link road from the development to the A247. The clear implication is for an access from the development to the A247 with enormous traffic implications for the A247.

2) South bound off- and on- slip roads to service the development and replace the existing off-slip road to Burpham. The only North bound access to the A3 will be via the existing slip road off Clay Lane. (See later, Burnt Common).

3) A 4-entry form secondary school, a primary school, a retail centre and a park and ride for up to 700 cars.

4) When developed, the new employment site at the north side of Gosden Hill Farm (site allocation A25) will be treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site (7000sq.m). This could mean several hundred employees.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

B.ii. Policy A43 – My Objections

5) Garlick’s Arch development of 400+ houses and facilities for travelling showmen (implies storage yards and long vehicles). This will generate traffic on the A247.

C.ii. Policy A43 Garlick’s Arch – My Objections

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

B.iv. Policy A58 – My Objections

8) Burnt Common strategic industrial employment site for light industry, storage and distribution activities. It is to be designated an Industrial Strategic Employment Site which means that it is a preferred site for industrial development including waste management facilities. The site is 9ha which it is stated allows for considerable future expansion. This will generate large amounts of traffic including heavy vehicles on the A247.

C.iii. Policy A58 Burnt Common – My Objections

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

15. I object to the potential impact of para 4.4.23a on Burnt Common with its over allocation of industrial zoning is subterfuge for a waste management facility which is a dishonest and underhand approach to planning and proper consultation.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Policies ID1 & ID2 Infrastructure – My Objections

Although much is made of the need for new infrastructure to support these developments and for this to be in place as needed, the Plan admits …“we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes” and this is assuming all the infrastructure (listed in App. C to the Plan) is in place in a timely fashion. GBC has little or no control over the plans of Surrey County Council as the local highways authority and Highways England for trunk roads. Worryingly, the Plan now has less substantive information about improvements to the A3 South of the M25 from Highways England and it appears that their plans are not yet formed (Policy ID2). In the absence of such information, the infrastructure proposed is specific to each proposed development and does not address cumulative effects. What would be the case with regard to planning approval if SCC and /or HE do not provide timely infrastructure?

The Plan now calls for nearly all infrastructure to be funded by developers (see APP. C). We question how realistic it is to expect developers not only to pay for all the infrastructure but also to have it in place in a timely fashion. The Plan says that planning permission will be refused if timely provision of infrastructure cannot be secured. Such refusals will almost certainly be settled in the courts. Developers’ business models are based on building and selling houses to create the cash to provide infrastructure. People will be living on the sites well before infrastructure is complete. Will GBC prevent development of Gosden Hill until slip roads etc. are provided off and onto the A3? Again, the infrastructure is site specific and does not address cumulative effects.

If development were to be refused the land would still have been removed from the green belt and its future rendered uncertain.

 Residents are being asked to accept very large amounts of development with little or no detail being provided on measures which would relieve existing congestion and limit future problems. The cumulative effects of the developments listed below are certain to have a devastating effect on the A247 through our village (and of course on Send) and it is hard to see how any of the infrastructure proposed in the Plan (App. C) will do anything to mitigate the effects of these developments on the A247 and hence our village.

B.x. Summary of the Impacts on the A247 – My Objections

All of these developments will draw additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:

- children from elsewhere being delivered to schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities
- traffic from Wisley wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel South and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the South and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)

The A247 although an A road:

- is less than 2 vehicle width in places
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge with poor site lines
- has a very difficult junction to access the station
- is largely unlit
- has a primary school
- is already very congested at times

B.i. Non-plan Items– My Objections

13) Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

1. Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to cooperate with the wishes of its own electorate.

Despite the thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Attached documents:
Policies A1 to A57: Site allocations

17.1. For the reasons stated previously I OBJECT completely to Site allocations A35, A38, A41

17.2. I also OBJECT to the total volume of proposed houses if you add together all the following proposals: A35, A36, A37, A38, A39, A40, A41, A42. This total volume is far too high in relation to existing numbers of houses in these rural villages. The increase in West Horsley alone will be 35% which is quite disproportionate compared with other areas of the Borough. Furthermore, the density of housing proposed is far too high and far higher than existing in these villages.

17.3. The proposals for Wisley (A35) will create a mega village that will then soon (when combined with the other proposed building in East & West Horsley) mean that these and other nearby rural villages are lost altogether into a new amorphous mass of tarmac and houses. PRESERVE THE GREENBELT.

Policy H1: Homes for all

3.1. I OBJECT to this policy for the following reasons:

3.1.1. It puts building homes as a higher priority than (a) preserving the Green Belt and (b) making attempts to reduce the growth that feeds the need for new housing.
3.1.2. In the specific case of West Horsley, the numbers of houses proposed are not required, as is proven by the 2014 Housing Survey carried out by West Horsley Parish Council which identified only about 20 affordable homes being required for local people who want to remain in the village.

3.1.3. In the specific case of West Horsley, the proposed housing densities are much higher than the existing layout.

Policy I1: Infrastructure and delivery

13.1. I OBJECT to the Plan making proposals for areas of development without simultaneously having the necessary information on the existing infrastructure (or lack of it) and associated costs of improving it, which is a necessary element of information in the decision making process. Consequently I submit that the Plan is severely flawed.

13.2. When you do eventually gather this information you will find in relation to East and West Horsley that it is already creaking in terms of capacity for school places, medical facilities, parking at the station, drainage, flooding of roads (including Ripley Lane and access to the Ockham/A3 roundabout) and the sewage network (particularly Pincott Lane where we have to call out the sewage company about every 6 months to make repairs to the mains sewage). There are also sewage problems in the Ockham Road North and Green Lane area. Any material volume of additional housing will necessitate major infrastructure upgrades.

13.3. The policy regarding schools is too vague. In West Horsley there is a lack of state primary school places. There are long journey times to secondary schools. There are high volumes of traffic to the two private schools, Glenesk and Cranmore.

13.4. West Horsley uses the “Horsley Station” at East Horsley. This station car park is already full during week days, and will not cope with the increased housing proposed in the Horsley area, but also at Wisley Airfield.

Policy 13: Sustainable transport for new developments

15.1. I OBJECT to this policy to the extent that it has a detrimental impact on the existing Green Belt.

15.2. I also OBJECT to this policy to the extent that it does not include, but should include, compulsory cycle lanes separated from the roads on all new developments.

15.3. I also OBJECT to this policy to the extent that it is too weak in saying only that developers “will be expected to” propose and secure travel Plans for their developments and contribute to transport arrangements for the able and disabled. This proposed policy needs to be made more robust and properly tie down developers and major housebuilding companies.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy P2: Green Belt and the countryside

7.1. I OBJECT to this policy for the following reasons:

7.1.1. It is completely illogical on the one hand to say that “you will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt” when in fact you are proposing to put 65% of all new developments in the Green Belt!

7.1.2. No “exceptional circumstances” are offered in support of removing elements of the Green Belt.

7.1.3. I do not see that the proposals take sufficient account of the use that can be made of existing Brown Belt for housing. Your reasoning seems to be that the Brown Belt will be used for business and industry, and so we must scrap parts of the Green Belt to build more houses. This is weak planning. Put preservation of the Green Belt at the top of the priorities, and plan for less growth overall, then there will be sufficient room on the Brown Belt for housing.

7.2. Consequently I OBJECT generally to the removal or insetting of villages from the Green Belt, and also to the proposed settlement boundary changes, and particularly in the cases of East Horsley, Effingham, Jacobs Well, Ripley, Send, Send Marsh/ Burnt Common, and West Horsley.

7.2.1. The Southwestern part of West Horsley is a small village dating back to the Saxons. It is adjacent to the National Trust Hatchlands Estate, and also has 41 listed buildings. Part of West Horsley is in a Conservation Area.

7.2.2. It now consists predominantly of a number of mixed, and generally quite old, houses along either side of a long road, the Street. There are some small developments, again of mixed housing, on adjoining roads. There are two old traditional pubs, one towards the north (dating back to c. 1500) and the other towards the south (dating back to pre-1800). There are a couple of village shops. Further to the south, Shere Road is again a long road going up towards the North Downs Way, and with a variety of housing either side, pretty well all with direct views to the countryside.

7.2.3. In other words, most of West Horsley is a typical small, old village. Indeed, if from any house you cannot see directly to the surrounding countryside, it is not more than a one-minute walk to enjoy the wonderful rural views.

7.3. I OBJECT to the proposed density and numbers of houses to be built in both West and East Horsley.

7.4. I OBJECT to the proposed “limited in-filling” in the areas near the villages of West Horsley and East Horsley and to the inclusion within this of the areas to the South of the A246 close to these villages.

7.5. I OBJECT to the removal of Wisley from the Green Belt.

7.6. In particular I OBJECT to the proposal to build 385 homes in West Horsley. That would represent a colossal percentage increase in the number of houses in West Horsley South and would completely destroy its rural village nature.

POLICY P4: Flooding, flood risk and groundwater source production

9.1. The GBPSLP2016 says that “Detailed flood risk modelling has not been undertaken in all parts of the borough”. I OBJECT to proposals to remove areas relating to East and West Horsley from the Green Belt when this modelling has not been undertaken. It is clear that flood risk and groundwater source production is not properly under control in these areas and this has not been allowed for in the GBPSLP2016.

Policy S1. Presumption in favour of sustainable development

1.1. I OBJECT

1.1.1. The Ministerial foreword to the NPFF defines sustainable as “ensuring that better lives for ourselves don’t mean worse lives for future generations”

1.1.2. It is clear that the proposed local plan will not make lives better for future generations, because the Green Belt area will firstly be reduced in size and secondly will be built upon. The Green Belt is there for a purpose and the Government’s Planning Guidance document para 81 states that “local planning authorities should plan positively to enhance the beneficial use of the Green Belt, such as looking for opportunities to provide access; to provide opportunities for outdoor sport and recreation; to retain and enhance landscapes, visual amenity and biodiversity; or to improve damaged and derelict land. GBPSLP2016 is in contravention to this guidance.

1.1.3. The proposed developments in West Horsley are not sustainable. We have only one small shop which is shortly to close, and no post office!

Policy S2: Planning for the borough - our spatial development

2.1. I OBJECT to this policy. This policy aims to add 13,860 new homes to Guildford Borough over 2013-2033. This is equivalent to 693 new homes per annum.

2.2. The numbers seem to result from a forced growth policy rather than a reasoned analysis.

2.3. Furthermore, students have not been properly accounted for, and it does not (but should) require the University of Surrey to build the student accommodation that it previously committed to.

2.4. Others far better qualified than me have explained that these numbers are excessive and based upon false assumptions and using a model that the public have not been allowed full access to so that it can be properly verified. Nevertheless, from the limit information provided to some, Councillor David Reeve and Guildford Residents Association (who I believe used an independent expert) have separately identified numerous errors that need correcting and will lead to a reduction in forecast numbers. Furthermore, the economic growth rate forecasts need to be revisited in the light of Brexit which is already causing an economic slow down.

2.5. The SHMA numbers therefore need to be revised downwards.

I OBJECT to the fact that Guildford is choosing not to constrain its overall housing growth, as many other Councils have done to protect Green Belt. The objectively assessed housing target, though reduced since 2016 to 12,466 homes, will by 2034 (the end of the Plan Period) mean that Guildford has grown by nearly 25%. This is nearly double the Office for National Statistics prediction for the growth of Guildford.

POLICY P2 Green Belt Policy
The policy promises that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”. However, despite minor changes I OBJECT to the fact that it continues to propose to inset both the villages of West and East Horsley from the Green Belt. There is no justification for this approach. Both West and East Horsley make an important contributions to the Green Belt of this area. If the villages are INSET then the openness of the area will be destroyed.

West and East Horsley are in the front line for protecting the spread of Metropolitan sprawl outside of the M25, and inserting them will irreparably damage the green belt protection.

Furthermore, I OBJECT to the fact that the Eastern side of the Borough is scheduled to now to have an even greater proportion of new houses in the Green Belt.

I write to object to the GBC new draft Local Plan 2016. My objections are as follows:

1. The proposed development will dramatically increase the size of our village perhaps doubling it in size which is unacceptable in terms of scale and sudden impact upon a rural area.

2. The village and the surrounding roads are already heavily congested both in the morning and evening. To exit onto the A323 from either Westwood Lane or Glaziers Lane is very dangerous particularly if attempting to turn right towards Guildford. The addition of 1,100 homes plus a secondary school will create further heavy congestion and will likely lead to accidents as the traffic tries to negotiate these two dangerous junctions.

3. In addition to point 2, the A31 Hogs Back is already tailed back to the Puttenham junction towards Guildford during the mornings. The additional traffic movements caused by this large scale development will only add to this existing problem. These two roads (A31 and A323) are the two main routes out of the village. How will the additional car/van/ coach/lorry movements (100's if not 1000's of vehicle movements daily) impact upon this existing problem?

4. The case for a new secondary school has not been proven. It is being used by GBC and the Property Developer in an attempt to justify the additional housing of this magnitude. As already highlighted to the GBC by our local councillor the other local secondary schools are either under subscribed and/or have the capacity to enlarge their school places.

5. The proposed land is Green Belt and must have exceptional circumstances to justify any development. I do not believe that such an exceptional case has been made. It may be convenient for GBC to approve this action to ease the burden (both physical and political) on villages to the east and south of Guildford (I note West Clandon was taken out of the plan?) but that is not justification for removing Green Belt land from around and within the village of Normandy. Indeed many of these areas already have better transport links and local facilities, so developing in these places would be equally if not more justifiable as the proposed 'over' development of Normandy.

6. The development on this scale would not just have a detrimental affect on Normandy but also on the surrounding villages of Wanborough, Puttenham and Fairlands.

7. The proposed development will have a detrimental affect on the local wildlife. What analysis has been made of this?

8. Whilst some small scale developments are perhaps inevitable a development of this massive magnitude (in relation to the existing village) is totally unacceptable. Surely the burden for new housing should be spread equitably across GBC and not 'dumped' on the village of Normandy.

9. I am also concerned that this development is being driven by the large Property Developer who, more than likely, has the interests of the potential profit they can make from the development rather than the interests of Normandy residents. Is that also the case for GBC?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Objection to the excessive and unsustainable growth of development proposed that would spoil the attractive character of the Borough and where the infrastructure is insufficient to support it. The Plan should not propose to meet the unreliable forecast figure in the SHMA but take a more balanced approach as set out in paragraph 14 of the NPPF so as to reduce the release of Green Belt land for development.

Further, the Sustainability Report only seeks to support the proposals in the Plan and does not properly appraise the proposals by questioning whether they are appropriate from a sustainability aspect. If it did it would more likely support a lower housing figure as being more sustainable.

Support for the deletion of the previously proposed 174 dwellings off Chinthurst Lane and welcome for the Council's recognition of the serious harm the development would cause to a protected landscape and traffic/ pedestrian conflict in the lane.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objection to the proposed change in the Green Belt/settlement boundary behind Shalford Village Hall and Chinthurst Hill houses. To enclose within the settlement open Green Belt and AGLV designated land on the edge of the village when it is not proposed for housing development, makes no sense.

Whilst the Council's intention to prevent development of the field behind the village hall through designating it as open space is welcome, its designation as a Local Green Space would be more appropriate and give it stronger protection.

The extension of the AGLV across the whole built up area of Shalford may be an error. I object to that proposal as the inclusion of intensive development within the AGLV would devalue existing AGLV. The existing AGLV boundary in the Shalford area should remain where it is and has been for many years.

Support for no development allocations within the Surrey Hills AONB except for the access road and junction to development allocated at Blackwell Farm. Also support for the Council's intentions to protect the AONB and AGLV that could be strengthened in the Plan.

fail to understand how anyone involved in this plan who presumably has been out and visited the proposed areas (hopefully more than once) has realised that the infrastructure of this area simply cannot absorb any more traffic - it is almost a physical impossibility to get through Ripley at certain times of day, the queues which back up from Guildford along the A3 are getting worse almost daily and the more local roads such as mine which is Tithebarns Lane is a race track and as such, extremely dangerous at busy times with cars and lorries driving at speed and using the road as a shortcut to avoid Ripley. The bridge over the stream next to my house is not wide enough to accommodate two vehicles passing and when a school bus, lorry or tractor are involved, it is worse.

The parking at Clandon station is almost impossible - to arrive to a totally full car park is unacceptable. The next station is either London Road or Guildford mainline both of which can take a considerable time to get to and frequently the same problem awaits - where do you propose the extra residents from new houses go? Medical facilities the same - the Villages Medical Centre is very well run and efficient but cannot do the impossible and increase their patient intake and continue to provide the same level of service to the community. A similar issue will arise with schools in the local area.

It appears that when a landowner who owns land alongside a road such as the A3 or in an area that is deemed to need a certain amount of new housing, and essentially has had enough and wants to sell, he works with a developer and they put together a plan that not only has colossal benefits to themselves, they also seem able to come up with a proposal that the council in turn finds irresistible because a promise is made to include something that will "benefit" the community.

I sincerely hope that this Plan may be re-considered and the many points that will inevitably be raised, become resolved.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object to various aspects of the Local Plan. Having attended many meetings and read many documents and reports, there are still many parts which remain unclear.

I fully accept that there is a need for more housing, in particular Affordable Housing which means just that - not houses that are still totally out of reach for many today and the same applies to Social Housing and the lack of it.

However, the Green Belt is vitally important and once destroyed, is obviously irretrievable and lost for ever for present and future generations. It never ceases to amaze me that Guildford Borough Council in particular has been and still is, incredibly strict with regard to all planning issues and the granting of permissions however small which is in keeping with the historic planning restrictions yet when developers submit plans for vast numbers of houses which apparently comprise the "Vision" which seems little more than an urban sprawl stretching over large areas, all restrictions seem to be totally irrelevant especially where Green Belt is concerned. The fact that the Local Plan is amenable to destroying ancient woodland at Garlick's Arch is appalling - why is it that the Brownfield sites are not better utilised such as the one at Burnt Common as opposed to housing at Garlick's Arch.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following reasons:
1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
a. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
b. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
c. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
d. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
e. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
