• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the proposed development site (A44) was used as GBC registered landfill site, not a quarry as listed as reference LLA 2081 in the local plan.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark it as “refuse and slag heap”. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the 1971 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark it as “refuse tip” prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predate the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.
• GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well recording methane gas discharge.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both Envirosearch Report RS1100201_1_1 dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site as potentially contaminative industrial land. The proposed site is not a quarry as specified in the GBC Local Plan. And is therefore not suitable for the proposed usage.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the 1971 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark it as “unrestricted”. This causes me concern as to what it does contain and dangers if disturbed.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both the Envirosfootprint RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 and historical map data and information from GBC has identified site as landfill and has “areas of potentially contaminative industrial activities”. Development of this site would be a health hazard. The recent news reports of a child dying from seepage of contaminated ground following flooding prove that developing any such sites is a danger to health. The Daily Mail has also recently had an article on how the dangers of living near landfill sites raises cancer concerns. The paper referenced a study published by the International Journey of Epidemiology which tracked 242,000 people living near landfill sites in Italy.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both Envirosearch Report RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 identifies “potentially risk from landfill gas migrations” which I believe is a health hazard.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both Envirosfootprint RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 concludes “potentially contaminative industrial sites identified from analysis” of Ordnance survey maps.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site as a local authorised landfill site as licences under Part II of Environmental protection Act 1990. The proposed site is not a quarry as specified in the GBC Local Plan. And is therefore not suitable for the proposed usage.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site as potentially contaminative industrial land. With usage of “Heap and unknown constituents”. This causes me concern as to what it does contain and dangers if disturbed.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005 Identifies changes to proposed site could cause potential ground water vulnerability to my property.
• I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Traveller Accommodation Assessment research, purported to have been undertaken in June-July 2012 by Mill Field Services, cannot be so. The Sittingbourne based market research company was dissolved in January 2011 according the government companies’ site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A42 building 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery.

Tannery lane is a narrow country lane and not suitable to take any more traffic. The junction with Send road will become significantly more hazardous it will also create rat runs around the network of country lanes around Papercourt and Ripley will become more of a cut through and dangerous. Development of this area would destroy Green Space habitat and destroy the buffer between Send Village and the Tannery Lane business area.

This site must not be developed.

I OBJECT to Policy A43( building 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick's Arch). The site is covered by ancient woodland which must be protected and not destroyed for development purposes. The industrial space is not needed in this area. The housing proposal is excessive and brown field sites must be used as a first priority.

This proposal would create traffic congestion, pollution and an industrial area will generate unacceptable levels of heavy traffic through Send Village this would irrevocably damage the area and environment. Send must not become a Local Rural Centre.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy P2 where Send Village would be removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt is intended to be a permanent area of protection against development, it provides protection for the wildlife and countryside and provides an essential buffer stopping Woking and Guildford becoming one conurbation. Local government gave an election promise to protect the Green Belt and this reneges on it. Once the land is given over to development it will have a negative impact on the area through traffic congestion, pollution and will irrevocably damage the environment.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham, which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

We do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Objection to planning in Keens Lane

I live in Findlay Drive and object to the proposed development

1 No infrastructure regarding roads already a cut through from the Aldershot road and the A322 seeing an increase in traffic flow
2 Green belt no more encroachment joining Guildford to Worplesdon
3 impact on our wildlife at the end of keens Lane
4 Already two developments in this area

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

GBC have not followed correct process. Concerning Send there is a change in the details concerning the 2014 proposed Reg. 18 the short cut to regulation 19 invalidates the whole process.

I object to policy P2. Send should not be removed from the Green Belt. Send is a buffer between Woking and Guildford. All the plans if put into practice will cause even more traffic on A247, increase in heavy goods traffic. The particularly vulnerable areas of land being taken out of the green belt include the land behind the school including playing fields and woodland.

The land to the right of Cartbridge by the river Wey navigation up to the new boundary fence with vision engineering.

Land to the left of Cartbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey navigation.

I object to Policy A44 1.9 ha land west of windridge and send hill.

Designated for A40 homes and 2 travellers pitches. This site is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft has not been consulted upon previously.

Permanent Green Belt status. Housing development inappropriate due to its Green Belt status. Development would spoil an area of beautiful countryside.

The subsoil of the area contains documented unsafe land fill waste.

2 travellers pitches would be inappropriate due to narrow width single track road – causing insufficient access to site.

I object to the changes to Green Belt boundaries, This is not justified by any very special circumstances. 3) Finally, test and challenge the proposed scale of development (hopefully largely reduced through 1) and 2) above) on the smaller communities scattered throughout the borough. Each area has to take some of the strain however large service facilities planted within smaller communities that have no need for the scale of service provided naturally leads to unnecessary traffic, congestion and public aggravation that can be avoided by placing the facilities more centrally to where they are required.

I object to the fact that the housing need has not been substantiated. The model has not been scrutinized and some fundamental assumptions appear flawed.

Thoroughly test whether all brown field sites have been utilized to their full potential. Ask the question; Is the community going to see brown fields developed before precious, and non-returnable green belt is destroyed? The suspicion is that there is a bias towards building on green belt as it provides better financial returns public savings and/or commercial profit) with any hidden costs borne by future generations.

There is also a view that the plan does not take proper account of existing green belt constraints. The fair minded expect the planners to prove, and the Inspector to test, that these are not the case as a successful long term plan does not turn on either price or speed; but what is best for the future community; which the authors of the plan, at least, are meant to serve.

In the main, the revised plan continues to erode the openness of the Green Belt and endangers the beauty and views in and out of the Surrey Hills AONB.

My specific objections to the 2017 Plan are:

1. I object to Policy S2 for the provision of the very high overall housing numbers of 12,426 new homes, which is only a small reduction on the previous figure of 13,860. The figure is too high as shown by the independent report commissioned for the GRA.

2. I object to the population growth figures in section 2.3, which have actually increased by 5000 over the previous plan. Downward economic pressures have not been taken into account in this new assessment.

3. I object to the fact that Policy S2 appears to include demand from London and nearby Woking in its assessment – Guildford should not become a dormitory town for either area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends on. There is no schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43), so the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site. It is therefore not fit for purpose.

We object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. We object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch. No consultation took place on this, and GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not even cover Garlick’s Arch.
The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site is liable to frequent flooding
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved.

The Garlick’s Arch (A43) proposal would double the built area in the locality, and would irrevocably damage the character of the Ancient Woodland on the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

We object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses will lead to even more dangerous conditions and unsustainable traffic.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

We object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

We object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

POLICY A43 Garlick's Arch

I object to the change of Policy A43 because it completely ignores the thousands of objections made by local residents to the previous draft local plan!

I object to the change of Policy A43 because the Green Belt was put in place to keep our villages, Ripley & Send, separate - this Policy defeats that purpose and there is no local need to build on this gorgeous Green Belt land of ours - and no exceptional circumstances apply.
I object to the change of Policy A43 because the number of homes is excessive and will cause over-development of the local area.

I object to the change of Policy A43 because the local infrastructure is already stretched to the limits, particularly local roads at rush hour.

I object to the change of Policy A43 because there are numerous environmental reasons why it is inappropriate, including: the area is ancient woodland, it floods frequently

Site A43 Garlicks Arch

- Housing at this site would be on Greenbelt land.

- The potential increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlicks Arch is extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon, and will cause coalescence of these villages

- The inclusion of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots with associated storage facilities is entirely inappropriate in a rural environment within the Greenbelt and there is no identified need within the Local Plan documentation. The allocation of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots is the designated formula for 1500-1999 homes on the same site according to the 2017 Local Plan and so is out of scale with the proposed development.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to :-

- Send village being removed from the green belt
- 400 houses and industrial space at Garlicks Arch
- 45 houses at Clockburn Nursery
- 40 houses and two travellers pitches at Send Hill New interchange at A3 at Burnt Common

Send road is already overloaded with traffic, it will become gridlocked increasing noise and pollution levels even further.

Proper use of Brownfield sites ie Slyfield mean that this green belt area is not needed. Plans for 64 apartments and a Marina are already in place. A smaller plan for under 50 properties in total should be considered with other villages throughout the Borough accepting similar proposals.

I object to the GBC Local Plan 2016, as it affects Normandy for the following reasons.

Extra pressure on existing roads in the parish, which will be unable to cope with the increased traffic.

Increased flood risk in adjacent areas. Concrete doesn’t absorb rainwater.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick's Arch which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan's proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA Teport methodology is Ibelieve inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham's sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an "aspiration" in the Local Plan is unlikely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.
1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick's Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8).

There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick's Arch site.

There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council's own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy 13).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy 03).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy 14)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy 11)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons run through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common.

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of 'through' traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick's Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick's Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. OBJECT to the loss of rural employment

Policy ES supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor "attractions" and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many "leisure and visitor attractions" already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan's explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

1. To help make Guildford's river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

1. To help private providers market local. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An "English town break" (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge.

1. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council's timidity is a case of "regulatory capture" by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the "mix" this can include "market" housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure.

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclist past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick's Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents' in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.
Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick's Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25

There is no certainty that either A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that "Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health." The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a 'special circumstance' and the land is to be taken from the Green Belt) Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable because they are unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

---

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy

   a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

   b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration.
   These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

   c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey" tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough's residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour, commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre; is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

   These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour's "need". Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey's 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

   It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (Ripley/Send border)
   (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and the merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
My principal ground for objecting to the scheme is the considerable additional road traffic and consequent pollution which will be generated by the scheme and which will exacerbate what is already an unsustainable situation. In addition the present means of access to this area of land via Keens Lane and/or Tangley Lane is totally unsuitable being very narrow and in parts barely passable by two cars. In addition specific areas of the access roads are dangerous as there are blind spots which could easily lead to traffic collisions.

My husband and I have lived on the Keens Park development just off Keens Lane since 1983. We have brought up our two sons during that period and from 1983 to date have regularly travelled to and from Guildford town centre. I can therefore speak with considerable experience and knowledge gained over a period of 30 years of the problems encountered in driving to and from the town centre from this area and how further development cannot be sustained.

It is proposed that there should be 140 homes built on this site together with a 60 bed care home. It is noted that there has been an increase in the number of care home beds since the original proposal in 2014 of 50 beds.

1. The site as shown edged blue on the plan included with the Local Plan document does not give any indication of how access would be gained to the development. The boundary does not appear to be immediately adjacent to the A322 Worplesdon Road and the only roads bordering the site are Keens Lane and the Tangley Lane extension of Gravetts Lane. It is difficult to envisage what interventions the Highway Authority might have to undertake to enable access to the site. Keens Lane is for the most part barely passable by two cars, particularly the section immediately between the turning into what used to be Hones scrapyard and Keen Park Road. I have had my wing mirror shattered by a passing driver who did not slow down to take account of this narrow section and it requires two cars to pass slowly and with care or for one to give way to the other. It also narrows considerably immediately adjacent to the new development at Morgan Close/67 Keens Lane and there would not appear to be scope for widening at the point adjacent to the Findlay Drive/Sime Close intersections as there are existing houses on each side of the road. The narrowing of the road at this point also creates what is effectively a “blind bend”. Those of us who have lived in the area for many years instinctively slow down at this point as the lane is frequently used by horse riders, as indeed is Gravetts Lane. However, drivers who are not familiar with the road and these potential hazards frequently approach this area at speed and it is very likely an accident will occur. Indeed I have witnessed a horse rider who had either fallen off her horse at this point or been affected by a road traffic incident. If there are any large vehicles in the area such as refuse lorries, delivery vans, etc the road either becomes impassable or it may be necessary for cars to mount the pavement to get by. There is also only pavement on one side of Keens Lane. The Gravetts Lane/Tangley Lane extension leading from the mini-roundabout at the top of Gravetts Lane up Tangley Lane to the A322 is also very narrow and bendy with a blind bend immediately beyond the Riding Stables and no pavement after this point either. It would therefore be impossible for 140 homes to be accessed via Keens Lane or via the Gravetts Lane/Tangley Lane extension without considerable redevelopment of these roads and the possible compulsory acquisition of properties adjoining the road to make this possible. The Plan refers to one of the opportunities offered being “encourage cycling and pedestrian movements from the site”. Unless there are major improvements in the access roads mentioned above, i.e. Keens Lane, Tangley Lane and Gravetts Lane then the additional traffic generated by this development will make any form of cycling or pedestrian use particularly hazardous. Many children and their parents use these roads to access the primary school at Fairlands and I have often encountered parents cycling with their small children and attempting to shield them from cars travelling at high speed along these three roads. Cars are parked all along one side of Gravetts Lane adjacent to the houses and these create another “blind area” for vehicles approaching either from the Tangley Lane end or the Aldershot Road end as it is not always possible to see in time when a vehicle is approaching.

1. The 140 homes proposed for this site could potentially mean an additional 280 vehicles will be added to those presently using this part of the Borough. Considerable additional traffic will therefore be generated. If they do not access the proposed site via Keens Lane and/or Gravetts Lane/Tangley Lane they will be using these roads to gain access to the town centre via either the A322 Worplesdon Road or the A323 Aldershot Road. No Park and Ride facility exists on this side of Guildford town centre to alleviate the large number of cars using both the Worplesdon Road and the Aldershot Road and this would have constituted a far better use of this area of land rather than further housing development.
1. In addition to the proposed homes I note that there is to be a 60 bed care home. I do not know if this is intended to be a Council care home or a private home. You will be aware that we already have a 78 bed private care home, Worplesdon View Care Home, run by Barchester Healthcare immediately adjacent to the proposed development. Is it necessary for another home to be sited immediately alongside this existing home? Within a very small radius of Keens Lane there are also other recently constructed private care homes, namely Claremont Court (57 beds) in Harts Gardens, and Queen Elizabeth Park (77 beds) at 1-72 Hallowes Close. A further 60 bed care home is also proposed at Normandy, Policy 46, under the Plan under consideration. Additional traffic will also be generated with residents’ visitors, emergency vehicles, doctors’ cars, staff and trade vehicles. Even allowing for the increase in the ageing population I do not consider it necessary to construct yet another home in this particular area with the consequent loss of the Green Belt land on which it is to be built.

1. In order to understand the complexity of the traffic situation as it presently is before any additional development has taken place I will explain how I am affected. I leave home during the week at approximately 8.20 am in order to go to work. As anyone who lives in the area knows once you turn out of Keens Lane onto the A322 the road to Guildford is generally already at a standstill at this time with the rush-hour traffic. Indeed you can wait several minutes before it is possible to even join the roundabout at this junction because of traffic already on the road, traffic joining from Cumberland Avenue and traffic coming from Guildford towards Worplesdon. The situation has deteriorated steadily over the past 10-15 years and traffic has increased considerably with the development of the Queen Elizabeth Park. It is now so bad that I do not even attempt to take the A322 to Guildford but instead use the A323 Aldershott Road. The problem is alleviated in the Summer months when people are away on holiday and the schools have broken up but from September to early April the congestion is a daily occurrence and a 2.5 mile journey into Guildford Centre can on occasion take 45 minutes or longer. Should any additional incidents occur such as an accident on the A3 or the surrounding roads then complete gridlock ensues. In these circumstances it is virtually impossible to find any alternative route. Motorists will leave the A322 via Keens Lane/Gravetts Lane and also Shepherds Lane to join the Aldershot Road where a similar situation usually prevails. This is because both of these two major roads funnel into the Woodbridge Hill junction with the A3 at the Dennis Roundabout which creates a bottleneck for all traffic coming from the North side of Guildford. This is another reason why a Park and Ride facility should be seriously considered for North Guildford and/or improved public transport links.

1. My own journey to work in Guildford town centre is now undertaken via the A323 Aldershott Road. This is not simply because the A322 Worplesdon Road is virtually at a standstill but because of the problems encountered with both the A322 and the A323 both funneling into the A3 at the Dennis Roundabout as mentioned above. When considering your journey to Guildford from the Worplesdon/Fairlands side of the town this has to be borne in mind and as mentioned previously any incident on the A3 can result in total gridlock and chaos. This is either because traffic is unable to join the A3 heading South on the slip road thereby backing up into the Worplesdon and Aldershot Roads or alternatively traffic may be forced to leave the A3 at the North bound slip road and divert through the town centre causing the same problem.

1. Gravetts Lane has become increasingly busy in recent years. At one time I could drive down this road in the early morning rush hour and not encounter one car coming the other way. However, with the additional traffic on the A322 and to some extent the developments at Morgan Close and Sime Close in Keens Lane the traffic has increased and you will now meet traffic coming in both directions. Many of these motorists are cutting through from the Worplesdon Road to the Aldershot Road and vice versa. At certain times of the day cars are parked all along one side of Gravetts Lane and it is not always possible to see cars coming in the other direction before they are almost upon you. This adds to the danger to pedestrians and cyclists on the road particularly with small children using the road to go to school at Fairlands and horse riders also using the road at quieter times of the day.

1. When I turn out of Gravetts Lane onto the A323 at 8.20 am the traffic is at a complete standstill during the months from September to mid-April. It can take up to 20 minutes to reach the roundabout at Rydes Hill School where I turn off to continue my journey through Park Barn. This is a regular route taken by local motorists to avoid both the A322 and A323 traffic congestion. However, it is not a total answer to the problem because when you reach the Southway/Egerton Road roundabout traffic builds up coming down Park Barn Drive and entering from Southway and again there is congestion and delay. Many motorists now try to avoid this by by diverting via Barnwood Road and Cabell Road in order to have the right of way at the Southway roundabout. This all contributes to the danger to pedestrians in the area. There are two schools, namely Kings College secondary school and Guildford Grove Primary School in Park Barn so there are many children negotiating the immediate roads including mothers with pushchairs and small children. The road in front of Guildford Grove Primary School is frequently blocked by cars parked outside the shopping parade and outside the school and the use of Cabell Road/Southway as a “rat run” must make the likelihood of an accident far higher. In addition, the proximity of the Royal Surrey County Hospital means additional traffic heading for the hospital including emergency ambulances. There has been a slight improvement with the installation of the traffic lights outside the Royal Surrey County Hospital but it is not until this point is gained that any real progress can be made. My point in explaining all this in considerable detail is that the present situation of congestion on the A322 and A323 cannot be avoided merely by taking an alternative route from the North side of Guildford and the existing roads are already at saturation point.

1. The situation is no different when returning home in the evening during the rush-hour. If you take the shortest route out of Guildford town centre via Walnut Tree Close then you first of all have to negotiate the congestion immediately outside the station entrance where there is insufficient room for two cars to pass because parking is allowed outside the flats immediately beyond the station. During the winter months and early Spring traffic grinds to a halt well before the bend near Topps Tiles and you can sit in a jam here for at least 40 minutes waiting to reach the end of the road and gain access to the A3/Ladymead junction. Once caught in this jam there is no way out because of the confines of the River Wey and the railway line. Once you have reached the Ladymead junction it is virtually impossible to turn out into the traffic. Motorists take no notice of the yellow box junction and you have to push your way out into two stationary lines of traffic in order to head towards the A3 and the Wooden Bridge turn off to the A322. The route down Woodbridge Road is similarly busy and then funnels into the same congested two lanes.

1. If you choose to come into Guildford via the A320 Woking Road the same congestion occurs at the Stoke Road roundabout with two lanes of traffic turning right to join the A3/Ladymead bypass. Traffic coming from Woodbridge Hill towards Guildford and turning right into Woodbridge Road is also immediately reduced from two lanes at the traffic lights to one lane in Woodbridge Road (because of the bus lane). This has a further funnelling effect plus numerous incidents of road rage as drivers endeavour to push into the offside lane before the bus lane starts.

1. All of the above points need to be taken into account by the Highway Authority when considering these developments because most of the people living in these houses will require access to Guildford town centre for their work, shopping requirements, schools, hospital treatment, etc. I believe the situation is already worse than it was in 2014 when I previously objected to this proposed development. Other proposals in the new Plan for 1,150 houses at Normandy, Policies A46 and A47, can only make the situation intolerable.

1. Mention should also be made of the consequent considerable pollution arising from roads leading into Guildford being filled with stationary vehicles emitting noxious exhaust fumes. Are we seriously proposing to encourage cycling and pedestrian movements in this sort of environment and is this what we want for our children on their journeys to school? Residents in the Keens Lane/Gravettes Lane/Aldershot Road and Worpleston Road areas will also be subject to months of heavy lorries, cement mixers, noise, traffic delays, pollution, dust and roads being dug up constantly for connection to services whilst these proposed areas are developed should the Council decide to proceed.

I object to the Policy A42 change in Tannery Lane because:

1. No proof of need of sudden increase from 45 to 60 houses.
2. Flooding problems not considered.
3. Traffic situation through Send and Ripley already a major issue.
4. Infrastructure will be unable to cope.

I object to Policy A43 changes at Garlicks Arch because:

1. No exceptional circumstances exist to lose Green Belt Land.
2. This wood dates from the time of Elizabeth 1st and should not be lost in the time of Elizabeth 2nd.
3. No special circumstances exist to justify 400 homes and 6 travelling showpeople plots.
4. Valuable Green Belt land sustains village life, promotes area of natural beauty and defines villages, we do not want to become suburbs of Guildford or Woking.
5. The traffic situation of key times is a major problem in both Send and Ripley. Such a massive development will increase the problem enormously.
6. There is no proof of such a large increase in demand for housing in the area.

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because:

1. The demand for industrial and/or warehouse sites declined.
2. Where is proof of need when Slyfields and Guildford have empty sites and industrial units.
3. Why destroy Green Belt land unnecessarily
4. The traffic impact will be disastrous to the local roads through Send, Ripley and Clandon. Gridlock inevitable.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may well conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted. The Council should also consider the impact that objections (which will inevitably be made) on any planning applications on these sites will have on its capacity to deal with planning matters.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near Shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burnt Common and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 June 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see above and below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained. To allow this would be plain irresponsible.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.
The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infant school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site.
Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.
The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that, whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or no force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. This is another serious flaw in the plan.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. This would have many benefits to Guildford itself.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. This alone makes the overall policy ineffective and capable of challenge.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related”. Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. This will increase the risk of serious accidents.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon where I live, already suffer from intolerable traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy 11. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy 11 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.
Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network, phone and broadband and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital; where is this assessed and remedied?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan. This is clearly a huge flaw in the plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from too often severe congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites— which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Gosden Hill development of 1700 houses. Reference to a potential link road from the development to the A247. The clear implication is for an access from the development to the A247 with enormous traffic implications for the A247.

South bound off- and on- slip roads to service the development and replace the existing off- slip road to Burpham. The only North bound access to the A3 will be via the existing slip road off Clay Lane. (See later, Burnt Common).

A 4-entry form secondary school, a primary school, a retail centre and a park and ride for up to 700 cars.

When developed, the new employment site at the north side of Gosden Hill Farm (site allocation A25) will be treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site (7000sq.m). This could mean several hundred employees.

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Garlick’s Arch development of 400+ houses and facilities for travelling showmen (implies storage yards and long vehicles). This will generate traffic on the A247.

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.
16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Burnt Common strategic industrial employment site for light industry, storage and distribution activities. It is to be designated an Industrial Strategic Employment Site which means that it is a preferred site for industrial development including waste management facilities. The site is 9ha which it is stated allows for considerable future expansion. This will generate large amounts of traffic including heavy vehicles on the A247.

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Although much is made of the need for new infrastructure to support these developments and for this to be in place as needed, the Plan admits …”we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes” and this is assuming all the infrastructure (listed in App. C to the Plan) is in place in a timely fashion. GBC has little or no control over the plans of Surrey County Council as the local highways authority and Highways England for trunk roads. Worryingly, the Plan now has less substantive information about improvements to the A3 South of the M25 from Highways England and it appears that their plans are not yet formed (Policy ID2). In the absence of such information, the infrastructure proposed is specific to each proposed development and does not address cumulative effects. What would be the case with regard to planning approval if SCC and/or HE do not provide timely infrastructure?

The Plan now calls for nearly all infrastructure to be funded by developers (see APP. C). We question how realistic it is to expect developers not only to pay for all the infrastructure but also to have it in place in a timely fashion. The Plan says that planning permission will be refused if timely provision of infrastructure cannot be secured. Such refusals will almost certainly be settled in the courts. Developers’ business models are based on building and selling houses to create the cash to provide infrastructure. People will be living on the sites well before infrastructure is complete. Will GBC prevent development of Gosden Hill until slip roads etc. are provided off and onto the A3? Again, the infrastructure is site specific and does not address cumulative effects.

If development were to be refused the land would still have been removed from the green belt and its future rendered uncertain.

Residents are being asked to accept very large amounts of development with little or no detail being provided on measures which would relieve existing congestion and limit future problems. The cumulative effects of the developments listed below are certain to have a devastating effect on the A247 through our village (and of course on Send) and it is hard to see how any of the infrastructure proposed in the Plan (App. C) will do anything to mitigate the effects of these developments on the A247 and hence our village.

Summary of the Impacts on the A247 – My Objections

All of these developments will draw additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:

- children from elsewhere being delivered to schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities
- traffic from Wisley wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel South and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel South and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the South and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)
The A247 although an A road:
- is less than 2 vehicle wide in places
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge with poor site lines
- has a very difficult junction to access the station
- is largely unlit
- has a primary school
- is already very congested at times

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Non-plan Items– My Objections

Surrey County Council’s business plan for Newlands Corner (not referenced in the Local Plan) to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the A247.

Waverly B. C. has approved the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold which has the potential to feed traffic trying to avoid Guildford, onto the A247 to access the A3 (not referenced in the Local Plan).

Cumulative impact of changes – My Objections

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over the Guildford to Waterloo railway, North of Guildford that doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre.

Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Village life is part of the English culture and heritage. If building on green belt is allowed when it is not absolutely necessary our rural life style and the community nature of our villages, which is very prominent in West Clandon will be removed for ever. The green belt if there partly to stop our country being changed, so I feel strongly that it should be upheld and not built on. I want my children and grandchildren to be able to grow up in a green surrey village in the way that I have.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Having lived in West Horsley for the last 12 years, I have been recently presented with some facts about the suggested Guildford borough plan 2016.

The areas marked for development are vast and clearly inappropriate for the Horsleys. The volume of the housing that could potentially be developed would severely compromise an already struggling village in my opinion.

The majority of the residents in both west and east horsley are retired or elderly individuals and young families. The health center is already at its maximum as are the parking areas in and around the village on weekdays & weekends. Has there been any consideration at all as to the effect a further 500 homes (or 1500 cars) will have on the infrastructure of the village?? How will the existing long standing residents of this beautiful village get around when many have their only means of transport as a car?

6). Increase in Traffic.

The inevitable increase in traffic as a result of more housing in this area will create more pollution in the form of exhaust gases and noise which will have an unhealthy affect on residents.

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that that Plan is amended accordingly,

2). I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2).

Removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt is unacceptable.

These are villages that have always been surrounded by agricultural land that gives them their character. Whilst increasing population requires further housing development, large scale plans such as Wisley airfield and Garlick's Arch are innappropiate in such areas and removing these villages from the Green Belt is just an "underhand way” to allow such developments and more in the future.

3). I object to the congestion that the development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road structure improvement (Policy P3).

The roads around Clandon, Send and Ripley are already congested with frequent long lines of traffic queuing. Narrow roads such as Newark Lane and Rose Lane already struggle with the present amount of traffic.

Crossing the road as a pedestrian in these villages can be dangerous.

Walking from Grove Heath North to the High Street in Ripley requires crossing Rose Lane often between cars waiting in this road turning left or right into the High Street. This crossing of Rose Lane is not pedestrian friendly and one day someone will get hurt or killed. Any further increase in traffic will only make matters worse.

I strongly object to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016) for the following reasons:

1). I consider the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1).

13,860 new houses proposed is too many for this area. It will have a negative impact on villages such as Clandon, Send and my village Ripley. With no railway station in Send or Ripley, limited bus service, developments at Wisley Airfield and Garlick's Arch will require nearly all adults to own or use a car. I am already unable to park my car in Ripley for a short period to go shopping as all parking spaces (often including Ripley Green) are full. The parking area where White Hart Court used to be has been reduced and is always full. How can more cars help this situation?

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Higheotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 June 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.
The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

<tr>
<td>I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.</td>
</tr>

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.
It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY II

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together. with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.
The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Land Availability Assessment (LAA) and Strategy on Sites

It is noted that the land availability assessment was undertaken with the task of reviewing sites which were proposed to be inset from the Green Belt. As a matter of record, there are a number of “discounted sites” which were not considered under the LAA, principally by reason of their not being identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study. It is our view that the LAA can only be assessed as being correct and valid to the extent that the Green Belt and Countryside Study is itself correct, particularly in the context of this objection and representation by reference to the proposed inset boundary for the village of Effingham. We consider that the discounted sites in particular Lyons Field were discounted erroneously on the assumption that the inset boundary were fixed/agreed/correct which plainly they were not and are not until the plan is adopted.

Notwithstanding the above, and having regard to the land availability of sites within Effingham, these are limited to the following:

1. the Barn (site reference 040 (page number 314-317 of the LAA)) (the "Barn") in respect of which land availability was assessed as being available to accommodate 16 homes (net) (17 gross);
2. Church Street (site reference 99 (page number 317-319 of the LAA). This site’s proposed allocation of houses is 22 net (22 gross);
3. Orchard Wells Beach Avenue (site reference 038 of the LAA) which is stated as being capable of providing five new homes net (6 gross).

This assumes a site plan allocation of sites comprising 43 units (net). We have commented on the extent of the inset boundary above, and stated why we consider that Lyon’s Field along with the remainder of the land shown edged pink on the attached plan, should be included within the inset village boundary of Effingham.

If this is the case, then we consider that Lyon’s Field is far more appropriate to bring forward in terms of land availability for housing. Feasibility of the development of this land has been undertaken and it is submitted that this can adequately provide housing of circa 18-24 units (2/3 bedroom). This assessment has been undertaken notwithstanding that part of the land falls within the zone of influence (within the 5k boundary of the SPA at Effingham Common) and development within such zone of influence would only be used to accommodate a maximum of nine units, in conformity with the SANG regulations proposed by the local plan.

Availability of the Barn

In terms of the LAA and its review of the three sites within Effingham above referred, we have the following comments in relation to the Barn.
It is evident that no feasibility study has ever been undertaken as to the suitability for development of the Barn for 16 units as proposed in the LAA. Furthermore, (notwithstanding the comments above referred regarding the sprawl of Effingham westwards, by reference to the proposed inset boundary proposed by the draft plan (to which this letter forms an objection)), it is submitted that the Barn site is not capable of providing 16 net units (even if our objections regarding the sprawl of the inset boundary westwards for which there is no justification, is not upheld).

The reason for this is that access to this site is extremely limited being a single track (currently used on a two-way basis with the six retail units fronting the Street), and which also serves as a footpath/bridleway. This access is not owned by the proprietors of the Barn and therefore cannot be improved and there is limited or no scope for widening. The local highway authority states that not more than five dwellings should be provided from a single point of access. Arguably, this is already provided by the means of access to the retail units and the Barn itself. To extend the use of the single track for an additional 16 units (net) (i.e. 17 units) is not feasible or capable of being achieved without another form of access being provided acceptable in highway terms, and which may necessitate the demolition of two or more additional dwellings in the Street to provide the same. This is not feasible on viability grounds.

Accordingly, it is submitted in our view that the provision of 16 units on this site is significantly optimistic and incapable of being provided. A more objective and realistic assessment of this site in terms of housing would be the provision of an additional four dwellings created by the refurbishment of the Barn building itself, although this will still have delivery issues on highway grounds.

In addition, we would also question the development of the Barn having regard to the historic nature of the Barn building itself. Whilst it is acknowledged that this is not a listed building and was relocated and reconstructed in its current position from an existing Sussex barn in Sussex in the late 1950’s, this building still has an historic interest and value to Effingham. Its walled garden is consistent with a village environment and a classic “English garden” which is synonymous with English villages.

Housing Need

It is evident from the local plan and the LAA that the Council considers that provision within the plan period (to 2033) of an additional 43 dwellings within Effingham is sufficient to meet Effingham’s housing need and to assist the wider borough’s housing supply requirement. This is to be construed with the recent planning permission granted for 6 x 1 bedroomed flats to be built on the A246 near Sibley’s newsagents (i.e. 49 in total).

The Emerging Neighbourhood Plan considers that Effingham’s housing need is in the region of 62 dwellings over the plan period following the undertaking of a local housing needs assessment. The proposal to “earmark” Brown's Lane Field (parcel 1 on the attached plan) for future development post-plan period, is insensitive and not appropriate for the reasons above stated.

It is clear that there may be a challenge on Effingham to provide sufficient dwellings for its residents (in particular, younger residents) within the plan period on the proposals set out in the LAA for reasons above stated. We have severe concerns as to the correctness of this or indeed its ability to meet housing demand in the village. We totally endorse the neighbourhood plan’s proposals for selecting sites in the village envelope although we do not agree that the Barn will able provide the numbers of dwellings to which the LAA infers.

Realistically, and having regard to our comments in relation to the Barn and its capacity for development, the availability for housing in Effingham is as follows:

1. the Barn: 4 units (net);
2. Church Street: 22 units (net); and
3. Orchards Wells: 5 units (net).

Total: 31 units.

According to Effingham Parish Council’s assessment there is a need for 62 units (of which 6 units have already been satisfied (re Sibley’s). Accordingly, there is likely to be a shortfall of required housing need in Effingham of circa 21 units in the plan period - excluding windfalls of which, in Effingham, the opportunities are limited.
It is for this reason we advocate that the land known as Lyon’s Field (shown coloured pink and hatched blue on the attached plan) should be included within the land availability assessment as being suitable for development. It is understood that this land is immediately available for development and feasibility assessments have been undertaken to detail its availability to accommodate anything from 18-24 units. In light of this, we respectfully request that you review the Land Availability Assessment, in particular terms of the feasibility of delivering the number of dwellings suggested for the Barn and also consider in light of the evidence from Effingham Parish Council as to its assessment of housing need within Effingham, that Lyon’s Field is included within the inset boundary and assessed as being suitable for development in terms of land availability to meet housing supply. Furthermore, for reasons above stated, we respectfully would suggest that Brown’s Field (parcel 1) is removed from the inset boundary (i.e. included within Green Belt) and not earmarked for future development post-plan period.

If the Council are not minded to include the land edged pink within the inset boundary then we would respectfully request that they consider including Lyon’s Field within the inset boundary on a safeguarded basis (in lieu of Brown’s Lane Field) as land marked for future development in a post-plan period. However, we strongly argue and object to its exclusion from the inset boundary for reasons above stated.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Effingham

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We have had an opportunity of reviewing the Council’s proposals in respect of the draft local plan (Strategy on Sites 2016) our main comments relate to the impact of the local plan insofar as it relates to the village of Effingham. Accordingly our comments are with reference to:

1. Policy P2: insofar as it relates to Effingham/Green Belt; and
2. The extent of the Inset boundary of Effingham proposed in the draft local plan (Page 338).
3. Policy P2 Green Belt (page 49)

We are concerned with the concept of “limited infilling” and having regard to the proposed designation of Effingham within the local plan as an inset village. We consider that it is important that the inset boundary truly reflects as a matter of fact on the ground, the extent of the relevant village. In our view, the inset boundary insofar as it relates to Effingham, should consider incorporating within that inset boundary all land which is on the ground, within the village and to exclude from the inset boundary any lands which are plainly currently outside the existing village boundary or indeed do not comprise “infilling” in the context of the NPPF, within the current confines of the village boundary.

We are aware of the five essential characteristics of Green Belt which are advocated by the NPPF.

1. Effingham Inset Boundary (Appendix F), (Page 338 Proposed Submission of Local Plan)

The attached plan illustrates the extent of the proposed new inset boundary surrounding Effingham village beyond which is to be designated Green Belt.
We would wish to object and for representations to be made, for those parcels of land which are numbered 1-6 on the attached plan (and coloured yellow) to be excluded from the Inset Area of the village for the following reasons:

- Parcel 1 (Extension of part of Howard of Effingham School)

This land is plainly not within the village and also, still contributes to the fundamental aim of the purposes of the Green Belt (as advocated by the NPPF) in that:

- it prevents urban sprawl and coalescence of Effingham towards Bookham;
- it checks the unrestricted sprawl of the village beyond its natural boundaries;
- it safeguards the countryside (it being opposite to open green space (Effingham Lodge Farm) and adjacent to a continuation of green space with the adjoining land within Mole Valley’s boundary).

If ever it is considered that this land was suitable for redevelopment for the benefit of the school or otherwise, then there is no reason why an application could be considered for development in Green Belt but having the need to prove exceptional circumstances (page 83, NPPF) justifying the development of Green Belt land. There is certainly no prima facie justification for this land’s inclusion within the inset boundary/village boundary of Effingham. Furthermore, it is not advocated in the LAA as land contributing towards the Council’s housing supply. Accordingly it should be removed from being within the Inset Boundary.

- Parcel 2 (Open Space amenity land at the rear of Middle Farm Place)

This was transferred to the Council for open space purposes by the developer of Middle Farm Place back in 1991 by way of a Section 106 planning gain. This parcel also includes the three adjacent dwellings adjoining Oreston Lane.

This land should be excluded as whilst it is a village amenity, it is open space and also checks the unrestricted sprawl of the western boundary of the village westwards where there exists a clear current delineation of the village boundary. It is also advocated to be removed from the inset boundary in order to preserve the setting and character of the village and safeguard the countryside. The maintenance of the village delineation on its western boundary should be retained in its current position to avoid a “creep” into Home Farm and the reduction of this open farm land and visually and historically important aspect to the village, particularly when seen on entering the village from Horsley on the A246. This boundary/delineation alone sets the scene for the village in its current environment.

- Parcel 3 (Agricultural land/buildings at Home Farm) and Parcel 5 (Existing Allotment Gardens)

The comments relating to the Middle Farm Place amenity area (Parcel 2) are equally applicable in respect of Parcels 3 and 5 in terms of ensuring a check on the unrestricted sprawl of the village from its current western boundary delineation. It is not a coincidence that Parcels 2, 3 and 5 are owned by the local authority although their justification to be included within the Inset boundary is completely unwarranted and does not reflect the extent of the village ‘on the ground’. The comments relating to Parcel 2 are reiterated in relation to Parcels 3 and 5 terms of the need to safeguard the countryside, preserve the setting and character of the village and to check the unrestricted sprawl of the village from its current western boundary.

- Parcel 4 (the Barn)

For similar reasons as stated above in relation to parcels 2, 3 and 5, the inset boundary should not be extended into the countryside by permitting this land to be included within the inset boundary and therefore potentially developed.

Our concerns about the ability to develop this land (it is stated as being one of the sites referred to in the LAA as being available) are set out later in this e-mail. However, notwithstanding that it is and comprises a walled garden, it is still an important contribution towards safeguarding the countryside and the sprawl of the western boundary of the village into the existing countryside. Accordingly, we strongly object to its inclusion within the inset boundary.

- Parcel 6 (Brown’s Land Field)

This land has been the subject of recent publicity as being included within the recent Howard of Effingham planning application for housing. It was robustly refused by the local planning authority for development. We are at a loss to explain as to why it has been included as “safeguarded land” within the inset boundary on the premise that it is, in accordance with the local plan policy, being safeguarded “to meet the development needs beyond the plan period”. It is our view that for the purposes of this plan, this land should be removed from within the inset boundary. If, following the expiry of the plan period, a new local plan is introduced and it is considered meritorous at that time that this land be included (whether for housing supply reasons or otherwise) then that will be for a matter of public scrutiny and review on a democratic basis at that time. Currently, this land forms an immediate green aspect when exiting the crossroads at the A246 and the swathe of open land afforded by the KGV playing field. It also is an instrumental aspect of the use by Effingham and Leatherhead Rugby Club which is an important amenity and economic driver for the maintenance of KGV which remains a highly significant and very important aspect and amenity of Effingham village generally.

- Land Edged Pink

Notwithstanding the objections above referred relating to the exclusion of certain areas within the proposed inset area of Effingham village within the initial draft local plan, we are also at a loss to explain why an important aspect of the village has not been included within the inset boundary.

We strongly advocate that the land shown edged pink on the attached plan should be included within the inset boundary. First, it is an intrinsic part of the village comprising St Lawrence School, a former convent, adjacent church and the adjacent British Legion (the latter being a relatively poor quality part of the village but nevertheless part of the village). All of this land ‘in the ground’ forms part of the village! How can the authority advocate including parcels 1–6– none of which are ‘on the ground’ in the village but seek to continue to exclude the land coloured pink which in our view within the fabric of the village, being less than 50 yards to the two village pubs in the village (and in the inset boundary!)

The land coloured pink on the attached plan also includes a small piece of land adjacent to the St Lawrence Primary School Playing Fields, which is wedged between the school playing field and Effingham Common Road, immediately opposite the Leewood Way development. This land is shown hatched blue on the attached plan (Lyon’s Field).

Arguably, this land already comprises “limited infilling” permitted under green belt policy. This land is locally known as “Lyon’s Field” to which we draw reference later in this e-mail as to why it should be included on grounds of suitability and availability. We consider the land shown edged pink on the attached plan is and contributes far more towards the village and is an inherent part of the village than those areas which we have sought to advocate removal. We also advocate the inclusion of that part of the land shown coloured pink and hatched blue as part of the inset plan on the basis that this land can be or could be provided for housing to meet Effingham’s housing requirements in the plan period as advocated by the Emerging Effingham Neighbourhood Plan.

We strongly advocate that the inset boundary is extended to include the land shown coloured pink for the reasons above stated.

Further to reading the new local plan. I wish to express my objections to large parts of it especially the area of Send village which is where I grew up. This is point A40-A44 inclusive on the online plan. I would like to say that this is a rural village and should stay as one and the number of new homes being built within the village and that of Ripley reduced greatly. He traffic will be terrible and I object to the green belt being built upon. We should be preserving these green villages and should look to a lesser amount of homes or an alternative. Also I object to the amount of extra pollution from the amount of cars in the village will produce and also that from the proposed industrial sites. I object to the sheer scale of proposals and would like the green village to remain a green village!

Further points to note are the infrastructure is simply not in place to accommodate such development, indeed the railway bridge on Westwood lane is becoming quite dangerous at peak times and I suspect this will require traffic lights at some point before a serious accident occurs. We also know that Glaziers lane has been used as a "rat run" to the Hogs Back for large heavy goods vehicles and the road is just not suitable for that type and volume of traffic. Having met a HGV coming the other way on the railway bridge by Wanborough station on more than one occasion I can say from experience how frightening the experience is!

The weight of traffic entering Guildford, from all directions, as a result of the Local Plan proposals will greatly worsen what is already a standstill at peak times. The current road system cannot cope with current levels of traffic and much work needs to be completed before more traffic is introduced.

I am writing in response to the proposals of the Local Plan and in particular the amount and distribution of new housing proposed which is grossly excessive.

Whilst I fully appreciate new housing is required I believe there is sufficient brown field sites both in and around Guildford which should be utilised first and foremost and the idea of removing Green Belt from our borough, and indeed county, is one I am strongly opposed too.

This Green Belt land has said status for good reasons and we must protect and preserve it for ourselves and future generations. There is also an abundance of wildlife and much of the Green Belt is very close to Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty which will be diminished should the Green Belt be eroded. The Green Belt land is part of what makes our Borough, and indeed our County, great. Once it is gone, it is gone.

In closing I request that the size of the proposed developments are significantly reduced to more sustainable figures and that brownfield sites are given preference over the Green Belt and green field sites.

Having reviewed the proposals for additional housing in Normandy specifically I feel this is grossly excessive and will serve to dissolve the character of the village. I note two small developments in the area (on Westwood Lane and Beech Lane) which are in keeping due to the discreet nature of their size. Additional smaller pockets of development I have little objection too, as long as they are in keeping with the surroundings and are not excessive, as mentioned above some housing is required and each Borough has a duty to provide some. Although not on the scale proposed and not at the expense of our precious Green Belt.

I am horrified at the suggestion that Guildford Borough Council is even considering building 1100 houses on designated Green Belt Agricultural land. I can think of several reasons why it is inappropriate, but the main ones are as follows:

Lack of consultation with Normandy Village to discover what their requirements are.

The flooding problems which already exist, and which cause raw sewage overflows, creating a health hazard; building on agricultural land which at present provides natural drainage, would cause more flooding as the surface water from the newly concreted development flows downhill to the already overloaded drains.

The supposed need for a Secondary School, which has been denied by all the head teachers of all local schools who say their own schools are undersubscribed, and who could easily cater for the so-called need. Councillor Spooner has said that, should the need for the school be denied, the proposed development would not go ahead.

The increase in traffic from at least 2000 extra cars, all trying to access either the Hogs Back or A323 down country lanes, both of which have hazardous bridges over and under the railway. One minor accident on either the Hogs Back or the A3 causes traffic chaos, and rerouted traffic trying to use the two Normandy lanes. Should the secondary school be built, the extra traffic in the mornings and evenings picking up 900 children would add to the extra chaos.

The adverse effect on the environment. Normandy is in the Green Belt, and provides a welcome country break between the urban areas of Guildford and Aldershot. It also provides a haven for wildlife and the many protected species which exist on the area between the two lanes. In addition, the proposed building site is on non-safeguarded, Red designated Agricultural Green Belt, which according to all the usual safeguards for Green Belt, should not be used for building at all.

Would you please note my strong objections to the proposed development in Normandy.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

Again the infrastructure required does not seem to have been adders in the plan.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants. The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4).

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.
Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a hugely popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

The whole point of “Green Belt” is to provide a buffer from the continual pressure of urbanisation. We must protect these areas for the future, they were created for a reason and that principle is need now more than ever.

I OBJECT fundamentally to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan does not meet the needs of the community nor does it create a sustainable future for those who come after us.

I have set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan below.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The development of thousands of homes in the villages to the north of Guildford is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable infrastructure can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.

6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.

7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.
18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

• I object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt. We were given an election promise by both Government and local councillors that Send would remain in the Green Belt, providing a buffer between Woking and Guildford. There are no special circumstances which would warrant that removal.

• I object to 45 new houses at Clockbarn Nursery. Tannery Lane is narrow and full of bends, and is quite unsuitable for more traffic.

Already it will be overburdened by the planned new houses at the Tannery and by the new marina.

• I object to the planned new houses and industrial development at Garlick's Arch. The site is one of ancient woodland and is liable to flooding.

• I object to the planned development of houses and travellers' sites at Send Hill. The road is too narrow and the actual site contains unsafe landfill material.

• I object to the new interchange with A3 at Burnt Common. All the new housing in the area would generate traffic from A3 M25. Woking and Guildford all passing through the Send Road, which is already impassable at busy times of the day. In particular, people such as myself and my 95 year old husband find the road almost impossible to cross now, and more traffic would render us housebound.

I am writing to object to the local plan. Despite the possible need for more houses to be built in this area, I believe that there are many disadvantages of this plan that far outweigh the benefits.

One of the main reasons I, along with many others, object to this plan, is that the increased number of houses will lead to higher levels of congestion. Even though more roads are being built congestion will still rise. This puts the safety of the children at local schools at higher risk. This backs up my argument as to why I object to the local plan.

A further reason as to why I object is due to the destruction of green belt land. Even if it is in your plans to assign new green belt land, I am sure that in the future this land will also be built on, therefore, it is vitally important to protect the green belt land we have at the moment. I object to the land at Garlick's Arch having 400 houses built on it as it is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements.

Finally I object to the process GBC have taken to try and implement their ideas. The changes made to cut the houses from 185 to 485 have not had another full consultation, which invalidates the process.

Having stated these points, I believe that it is vitally important that the local plan does not take place, and is re-thought out.

Thank-you for taking the time to read this, and I would like this to be passed on to the Inspector.

Firstly, I object to Policy A42 for the change at Clockburn Nursery. The reasons for this statement include: It will create a third more than the previous amount of homes here. This is an unacceptable increase. Tannery Lane is narrow and not designed for lots of cars and this increase in homes will cause a lot of traffic issues. It will become more dangerous for people trying to be fit and healthy, lots of people walk and cycle along here and as a nation trying to encourage exercise and fitness in an age of obesity and health related problems this should be considered not only here but in the rest of the surrounding area where roads are already congested and cycling hazardous. Building into the Greenbelt will impact the local countryside- something that distinguishes this area from that of areas nearer to London and in effect our area will become part of outer London.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Secondly, I object to policy A43 for the change at Garlicks arch for the following reasons. One: There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this area. Two: It will join Ripley up with Send, defeating the purpose of greenbelt, loosing any sense of the traditional villages. Three- It is subject to frequent flooding- this land needs to be there to prevent issues flooding other houses downstream of the river. Four- It will create excessive traffic. Over the last 20 years the traffic has increased dramatically. If it continues to increase the whole area will become a permanently gridlocked.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Thirdly, I object to policy A58 of a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial warehousing because of the change from ‘maximum’ in the previous plan to ‘minimum’ in the current plan despite a decline in the demand. This is proven by empty sights in Slyfield and Guildford which should all be filled first. The 2017 Emplylment Land need assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough so why has Send been earmarked a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in green belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Fourthly, I object to Policy 2 of the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the greenbelt because it there is limited vehicular access and development of this location detracts from the openness of the Greenbelt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
• Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

• 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

• 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions

• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham

• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.
The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)
The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and... general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause... greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy II. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy II requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy P2

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.
The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.
The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a plan that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would require the Council to reassess the situation and the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brownfield sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.
It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together. with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.
The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I also object to evidence and process used for the local plan, an immediate independent review is required, not only have the numbers for the ENLA and SHMA been questioned but since the local plan has been proposed, the vote to leave the European union has significantly changed both economic and population forecasts, any calculations prior to this vote must now be re-assessed.

In summary, the proposals for Send in the local plan must be reassessed, the electorate are not happy and the local plan must be rejected. The plans for Send are not based on an objective view of the village. Send is nowhere near as urban as the issues documents describe and the evidence needs further appraisal. The proposed changes to the green belt and the proposed development sites would have a net loss to nature, local sustainability, the economy, health and well-being of the area. The presumption that Send is capable of sustaining this type of growth with a net gain is ludicrous. The vision for Send is not what the residents want. I would like to remind the council that it is elected to represent the residents of the area and that this lack due care and diligence to the village of Send is an insult.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I also object to the late addition to site A43 at Garlicks Arch Burnt common for development in the Guildford local plan. This is completely unacceptable. It has been submitted late without prior consultation and is simply catastrophic for the area. The proposal is on an unacceptable scale for Send and Ripley villages to remain sustainable. The idea that that access to the A3 would be permitted is a total disaster for the whole area, Send is a settlement predominantly based along the main road of the village – Send Road. If there was access to the A3 at Garlick’s Arch, Send Road would become intolerably congested, unhealthy and unsafe. The A247 already has Send and Clandon schools located dangerously alongside, increases in traffic would risk serious harm to our children. Also the proposal for development on this site is far too large for the area of Send and Ripley to sustain, it will remove ancient woodland within greenbelt and essentially merge the two distinct villages which is the entire essence of greenbelt. Furthermore the local facilities, including, roads, sewerage and school provision are entirely unable to sustain such a development. The proposed size of developments in the plan is incredible; given NPPF 9, “moving from a net loss of bio-diversity to achieving net gains for nature” and NPPF 14, “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole”

I object to the removal of land surrounding Send Village from the green belt, many of the areas proposed in the local plan are particularly vulnerable areas of high quality amenity land, in particular the land to the right of Cartbridge by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering, downstream from Cartbridge in Send. This land is exceptionally important to the setting and appearance of the river Wey and the riverside walkway at this point. It must not be placed at risk of development. As soon as a person descends from the road to the towpath it is quiet, scenic and enshrouded by the woods on the bend on the river. – a huge asset to Send tourism and users of the towpath and river. The woodland in this small area of the southern bank (Send road side) is the largest surviving tree covered area in Send and it sustains a remarkable amount of wildlife, including protected species such as bats, newts and higher order mammals such as deer. This are has an outlook from this site onto open countryside including the Wey corridor and Papercourt SSSI. Significant change in the natural character of the area would occur if any development were to occur. Development along the river Wey definitely contradict NPPF 17, “take account of the different roles and character of different areas, promoting the vitality of our main urban areas, protecting the Green Belts around them, recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside and supporting thriving rural communities within it;” The planning authority also has a duty to consider the environmental impact of this development (NPPF para 7).

I object to policy A58 Land at Burnt Common, London Road. This proposal has been changed repeatedly in the local plan since 2014, there is clear uncertainty over its suitability. This is a large allocation of green belt land for industrial use which fails to follow NFFP, in particular chapt 11: ‘Conserving and enhancing the natural environment’. The impact of increased traffic in the local area from the increase of industrial use on this site will affect the heath and environment of the resident of both Send and Ripley. There are inadequate transport links (e.g rail) and the air pollution and safety on local roads will deteriorate, already the main concerns to local residents of Send and Ripley. Any development on this site will increase these issues.

As a whole the 2017 plan fails to follow NFFP para 17 core planning principals and does not ‘contribute to conserving and enhancing the natural environment and reducing pollution’. There are fundamental errors made in requirements for housing and employment based on the source documents e.g. SHMA and ELNA. The data sources do not show empirical evidence for the changes in the UK’s housing and economic status after it leaves then European Union. The UK population has voted to make a significant change to the country’s economy and population and the impact of Brexit on the local area must be accurately evaluated or else the entire basis of the local plan is flawed.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.
The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down... the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.
The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be "closely related" Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause... greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to this proposal on the grounds that the addition of such a large number of house would significantly effect the quality of life in both Ripley and Send. The major increase in traffic alone makes this proposal unviable. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Needs assessment:

I questioned the scale of housing demand on which the revised draft local plan was based when first published. With the recent decision to leave the EU, and better control over immigration being a key argument in favour of this, I cannot see how the current demand forecasts are remotely reliable. I trust the study will need to be revised in light of the Brexit decision.

Evidence base and Infrastructure:

GBC have failed to provide sound evidence in terms of the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) which shows c. 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out by GBC in 2013. I simply cannot see why industrial space is needed at Burnt Common. With the proximity of the housing and industrial sites to the motorway, I expect that these will not serve the local community but rather be suited to those commuting in (to work) and out (if housed) of Send. This does not fit the objectives of providing housing for future requirements of the local community.

I want to point out that the GBC’s Transport Assessment was not available to Councillors for the vote taken on 24 May 2016, being published on 6 June. The plan does not have enough consideration for infrastructure overload. The road network in the Send area, particularly Send Marsh Road and the A247 linking Portsmouth Road and the A3 to Woking cannot handle any more that it already does. It is impossible at the moment particularly during peak times. The proposal of a 4 way interchange onto the A3 would mean that the roads through Send Marsh and Send would become the main link between the A3 and Woking, completely changing the village into a thoroughfare.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Specific objections to Policy A43 and A43a: Garlick’s Arch / Burnt Common / North Facing Slip Roads:

The proposal is for 400 houses and 7,000 sq m of industrial and warehousing space. I object to this proposal on the basis of the following:

- This site has appeared very recently, it was not included in the Regulation 18 Draft and has not previously been consulted upon
- It falls within green belt permanently protected by the NPPF which prevents merging of settlements
- The site is particularly sensitive from a conservation stand point, as it has ancient woodland with trees dating back to the 16th century
- This will add significant traffic to the local road infrastructure around Send and Send Marsh; these roads are already heavily over loaded, and there is no space to widen given the residential surrounds

No amount of expert studies can replace personal experience; I urge anyone considering these proposals to try and travel on the A247 road through Send at peak times to see how impossible it already is to travel between the A3 and Woking. The B368 through Send Marsh is used as an alternative when the A247 is overloaded, and this will become the next constraint. The surrounding proposed developments such as Gosden Hill Farm will without doubt also want to use the slip road and increase traffic through these already constrained and overloaded village roads.

- Services such as doctors are already overloaded in the Send / Send Marsh / Ripley area. It is close to impossible to get a doctor’s appointment within a 3 – 4 day window at the Villages Medical Practice as it stands with current population; where has this been considered, what is the plan to provide services to this significant addition of people?
- Flood risk: Over recent years the flooding in Send Marsh has become progressively worse with changing weather conditions. As example I quote winter of 2013 / 2014. Adding such as significant amount of development can only make this situation more severe.
- Nature of the village will be forever changed; Send and Send Marsh will no longer be rural villages given the scale of this development.

If there is a need for more industrial space (which I still question particularly in light of Brexit), then why would this not be an extension of the existing Slyfield Industrial Estate?

I trust my objections will be considered.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt (Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15) because:

1. This is an area with prolific birds and wildlife
2. It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation
3. There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions
4. Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

(1) I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

The latest draft plan proposes 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more than previously proposed. This shows a completed disregard for the previous comments and objections of the community.

Now more homes than previously proposed means all impacts previously stated will be greater, including:

1. This is an area with prolific birds and wildlife
2. Future access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
3. Erosion of the Green Belt in our village
4. Surface water flooding, which is already a problem, will become even worse
5. It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

2) I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

This again is an increase in number of houses and now inclusion of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots.

1. This is an area with prolific birds and wildlife
2. There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
3. It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no “exceptional circumstances” have been stated or proven
4. Separation of villages is a key objective of the green belt. This development will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
5. It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation; I personally experienced this during heavy rains on recent years where the entire area is left flooded for days afterward
6. It will generate excessive traffic in an area that is already struggling to cope with the volume of cars on the road

(3) I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

This proposal was previously deleted from the 2014 draft as a result of the objections. I’m unclear as to why these have now been ignored. I object to these changes in the latest draft local plan on the basis that:

1. This is an area with prolific birds and wildlife
2. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when only a few miles away Slyfield and Guildford are under utilised (they still have empty sites and industrial units)

1. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough. The proposal is out of kilter with this demand.
2. The impact on small surrounding roads will create more traffic problems in an area already struggling
3. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

I also object to Guildford Borough Council not taking evidence into account when producing the current plan.

The Employment Lands Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA of 2013. This surely indicates that there is no need for any further industrial space in Send Village. I object to plans for further unneeded industrial development in Send Village.

I have concerns over the assessment of housing need in Guildford. If the population of Guildford is to grow by 20,000 in the planned period this would require 800 new homes, based on the average 2.5 persons per home. How can you justify a need for 13,500 homes while using foreign students to inflate the figure in The Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015?

I am absolutely appalled and wish to object in the strongest terms to the latest plans by Guildford Borough Council for future development in Send Village.

Firstly, as a resident of Send Village, I object to Guildford Borough Council not following the correct process of consultation with Send residents.

In April 2016 the hugely excessive 2014 plan to build 430 houses in Send had been reduced to 185, which was a much more realistic figure in relation to the size of the village. The new plan is now for 485 new houses which is more than twice as many as recommended in the April plan. This should surely trigger full consultation under Regulation 18, as it will have such an impact on the village, rather than Regulation 19 which Guildford Borough Council are trying to do.

Finally, I strongly object to the cynical manner in which Guildford Borough Council has added unnecessary housing and industrial proposals to our Local Plan. I find it difficult to believe that it is legal for the development of a large road junction with such huge impact to the surrounding area to be shoehorned into this plan without proper consultation. I also strongly object to Guildford Borough Council ignoring Government advice that Green Belt land must remain protected except in exceptional need, which does not exist in this local Plan.

With regards to Policy A 43, I object to the fact that this new site at Garlick's Arch was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and so has not been consulted on previously. This is, surely, wrong. How can you justify this?

I object to the proposed development of land at Garlick's Arch for housing and industrial use. We actually need 800 new homes in Guildford although Guildford Borough Council have suggested an outrageous figure of 13,860. There is no need whatsoever to develop Green Belt land, which includes significantly important woodland, to build yet another 400 homes.

I object to the proposal for 7,000 square metres of industrial use and warehousing at Garlick's Arch. It is simply not required, as the ELNA 2015 shows an 80% reduction in employment floor space since the previous assessment. If there is a need in Guildford there are previously approved plans for industrial use at Slyfield where existing infrastructure can support the development. If the Garlick's Arch development went ahead this would include a new 4-way junction with the A3 at Burnt Common that Send Village simply couldn't cope with.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to plans for a 4-way interchange at Burnt Common for several reasons. There is no need to build over Green Belt land to provide this interchange. If this junction was developed it would result in a huge increase in traffic through Send on the A247. The road is already struggling with traffic at peak times and this is only going to get worse when the new schools open in Send Barns Lane. Increased traffic through the village will probably result in calls by groups to restrict parking to allow traffic flow, further impinging on residents of Send and detrimental to local businesses. As a resident living on the A247, I object in the strongest terms to this development which would make our lives intolerable and if the 2,000 houses proposed for both Wisley and Burpham go ahead it will only increase traffic further.

I object to this proposal as Government guidance to planners was that Green Belt should only be built on if there are exceptional circumstances requiring this to happen. There are no exceptional circumstances at Garlick's Arch.

Regarding Policy A44, I object to the plan to develop land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill. Again, this is a new site and has such was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been properly consulted upon previously.

I object to this development of protected Green Belt Land and the impact it would have on our wildlife, including the habitat of some listed birds in the area. This development would have a serious impact on the landscape of Send Hill and Potters Lane.

I object to the plan for two Traveller Pitches on this site. There is no need for any further Pitches in the Borough. The land on this site is old landfill with documented hazardous waste. Government guidance to planners was that Green Belt should only be built on if there are exceptional circumstances requiring this to happen. There are no exceptional circumstances at Send Hill. I also find it surprising that Guildford Borough Council are prepared to make such far reaching decisions when they did not have their own Transport Assessment to guide them. It suggests they want their plan to go through, no matter the consequences to the residents of Send Village. The infrastructure of Send and Ripley will not cope with such a high increase in population as envisaged under these new plans. I fear for the future of the children in our village. Have you even considered how they will all be educated? As for health care, I know as both a patient, but also a former employee of our GP surgery, that this facility could not cope with this huge increase in patients.

With regards to Policy P2, I object in the strongest terms to any suggestion that Send and Ripley are to be removed from the Green Belt. This essential protection stops uncontrolled development filling in the green spaces between settlements. The whole nature of Guildford and its surroundings is a county town surrounded by villages and green spaces for residents and visitors to enjoy. It has been proved that people require green areas for their physical and emotional well-being, with large cities, including London, retaining their large green spaces.

However, you believe it is reasonable to reduce ours. The actions of the Guildford Borough Council have already shown how important it is for Send to remain under the protection afforded by Green Belt legislation. The Wey Navigation is used by thousands of people in boats, on cycles and walking the countryside in this area, which would be detrimentally affected by further building on the land along the canal. There would be significant pressure to do so if protection was removed and, as shown by the approval of plans for a new marina in Tannery Lane, Guildford Borough Council cannot be trusted to follow the wishes of the residents of Send Village. Land in surrounding boroughs is also facing threats of removal from Green Belt protection. There must be a whole landscape approach to development. Current proposals are threatening to cover this part of Surrey with concrete. Guildford Borough Council have made repeated promises to protect the Green Belt but have failed to deliver on them. Taking Send Village out of the Green Belt would put huge pressure on the green spaces within the village for unwanted and unnecessary development.

I object to Policy A42, Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane.

This policy INCREASES previous proposals by a third from 45 to 60 homes. This is far too many. Tannery Lane is very narrow and the junction with Send Road is busy. this proposal will only make that worse.

Thousands of people use the Wey Navigation and its towpath recreationally every year. They do so to enjoy the countryside and views along the canal. This proposal will seriously affect the canal between the Broadmead Bridge and Tannery bridge, already built up on too much on the Send bank.

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because:

It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people

There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location and Guildford has more than enough traveller plots.

It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances" exist to allow development on it. Almost every week in the media Government Ministers state that the Green Belt must be protected and only developed where overarching need is proved and yet Guildford Borough Council seem determined to destroy this area of ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth 1.

It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive. It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt. It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation. It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years. It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

I object to Policy A58 Burnt Common, London Road

It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously

There is already land at Slyfield that was planned to take further industry but this has been ignored. Send is a village, separated from Ripley and Send Marsh by narrow but important areas of green belt and will lose all character if these are built over. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposal Policy2 at paragraph 4.3.15, to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation

There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions

Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate

I object to the insetting of other land within Send. Already developers are looking at building on the School playing fields which, it is proposed, will be removed from green belt protection. They have even asked me my thoughts on selling them part of my garden! This is in addition to all the other proposed building and extra houses recently, currently under review and proposed on residential plots. This is all too much for the small village of Send.

I am writing to object as strongly as I can to the draft Guildford local plan currently out for consultation. It is with some dismay to note that Three Farms Meadows at Ockham, is still included in the new plan for development of up to 2000 plus houses and an industrial estate.

It seems quite extraordinary that having been unanimously objected to by Guildford Borough Council Planners, it is still being considered as appropriate.

The reasons given for the refusal of the Planning Application have not been mitigated to any degree whatsoever and how, in such a short space of time, the Guildford Borough Planners and Politicians can change their minds so completely, is beyond belief.

The reasons for objecting, certainly to that part of the Local Plan as well as many other proposals, are well rehearsed and well understood by the Planners and local Politicians. Green Belt should always be safeguarded as much as possible, which is of course, specifically dealt with in all Government guidelines relating to such things currently in play.

If the local plan proceeds to be issued in its current form, Guildford Borough Council, in particular the Planning Department and the Councillors who support the Draft, will lose all credibility, if any still exists.

I trust my objection will be treated, along with the hundreds of others that I am sure will be received, in such a way as to show the Council that it is time they started to listen to those whom they serve.

I would also like to add that the volume of traffic surrounding the M25/A3 junction and the A3 southbound to Guildford and northbound to London, is proving to be a nightmare for local villages and residents and access on and off the A3, not to mention the noise, pollution and danger.

There are more and more accidents every day and it is becoming a very dangerous area to drive. The local lanes around Ockham, Ripley, The Horsleys, Effingham, Bookham etc are struggling to cope with the traffic today and they are not wide enough for cyclists and cars now, so goodness knows how it will be if we have even more housing and businesses in this area. The A3 will become a static car park, like the M25 in this area, particularly at Junction 10 which is already congested eastbound and westbound at present.

I trust my objection will be treated, along with the hundreds of others that I am sure will be received, in such a way as to show the Council that it is time they started to listen to those whom they serve.

I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford and I particularly to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick's Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances. In fact that area of Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.

In fact I object to all the proposed sites in Send because, not least because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the large proposed development of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

I object to the fact that infrastructure requirements have not been properly considered and are inadequate to deal with proposed housing levels. Roads, doctors and schools will be unable to cope. The local school cannot take any more pupils. The local doctors' surgery cannot take any more patients.

I vehemently object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

I ask that you please take note of the deep concerns of a huge number of Send residents and indeed many others who are connected to the village, pass through it on a daily basis and use this area for recreational purposes.

Please would you acknowledge receipt of this letter.

I object to building 45 houses at Clockham because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. It is a country LANE. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the development at Garlick's Arch for 400 houses, which was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks' notice and without any prior consultation. This has been quite disgraceful. Also this proposed development is simply not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick's Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

I object to the development at Garlick's Arch because the site has particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland. Trees which have existed since the 16th century would be endangered. The site is attractive open countryside and part of the permanent Green Belt, with is protected under the National Policy Framework. It also represents an unrestricted sprawl and goes against the purposes of the Green Belt which include the prevention of merging towns and settlements. Oh yes, and the site is also subject to flooding!

I object most strongly to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and shows there will be congestion because Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25. This would be disastrous for Send and the A247 would be gridlocked all day; just please visit this area during any of the rush hours to understand the significant weight of traffic that already uses the A247 and the minor surrounding roads. The knock on effect up to the small roundabout at Old Woking (where the B382 joins it) will be a really serious problem.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Policy A42
I object most strongly to the changes made to Policy A42
These are my reasons:
I note that the changes you have made actually increase the number of homes from 45 to 60 - a 33% rise which is too much. This ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people - I cannot understand why you have done this. The access and traffic problems that already exist in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction will worsen that is for sure. Erosion of the Green Belt in our village will become worse along with the surface water flooding, which is already a serious problem. The countryside views from the River Wey Navigation that are enjoyed by so many will be spoiled.

Land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43
I object most strongly to the changes made to Policy A43
These are my reasons:
It appears from the changes you have made to the proposal for homes and Travelling Showpeople plots that you have totally ignored the tens of thousands of pernicious objections made by local people. What exactly are the 'exceptional circumstances' you claim exist? Please would you clearly define these? Six Travelling Showpeople plots is excessive and unprecedented especially as there is no proven demand for any whatsoever in this location. Garlick's Arch is a permanent and lovely Green Belt piece of ancient woodland that has existed since the 16th century. Apart from the loss of this unique area of woodland and the fact the Ripley and Send will effectively be joined and therefore defeat the key purpose of Green Belt, this area is subject to frequent flooding and has been given a 'flood zone 2' allocation. Added to this high risk of flooding there is accumulated lead shot in this particular area and it is therefore contaminated. The revised plan for 400 homes will cause an immense over-development of our village - this number of new homes is excessive. Will our doctors' surgeries be able to cope with the demand from the proposed number of new residents or the local schools be able to offer places for the children? Very importantly, the additional traffic that your proposed plans/amended plans would generate would be excessive. There are noticeable rush hours here with to the M25 - I am sure plan would cause heavy roads in the area at least stationary traffic and queues that stretch from Old Woking you must be aware of this current situation. Your changed traffic for many hours each day and totally gridlock all the twice daily.

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58
I object most strongly to the changes made to Policy A58
These are my reasons:
This Policy A58 was in fact deleted from the 2014 draft because of the number of objections and I see that since then you not only reinstated the plan in 2016, despite a decline in demand for industrial land and have also replaced the word 'maximum' with 'minimum'. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough. The industrial and warehouse areas at Slyfield and Guildford have empty sites and industrial units so your immense over allocation of 10 hectares at Send, in Green Belt is incomprehensible to me. I do not understand why this is needed especially as the impact on the narrow surrounding roads already crowded with tail backs in rush hour periods and would most certainly become gridlocked. Creating one mass of clogged roads and over development will completely defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15
I object most strongly to the changes made to Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15
These are my reasons:
I note that Send Business Park is now taken out of the Green Belt altogether. It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation. There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions and further expansion and/or development here detracts from the openness of the Green Belt. It is inappropriate. To me your proposals to build on Green Belt in the Send area are completely unacceptable. In fact it appears that GBC have not only not listened to the tens of thousands of locals' objections and points of view but are set on making life worse for us all! To accommodate all that you would like to do there is certainly an inadequate infrastructure i.e. schools, medical facilities (as required by law) and our already crowded roads which will not be able to cope. And this is aside from the planned decimation of ancient woodland and beautiful countryside enjoyed by so many. To sum up, I find the changes in your proposals completely unacceptable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Sites

I OBJECT. The NPPF states that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate. Planning guidance issued in March 2014 states that unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt enough to constitute “exceptional circumstances”. There is therefore no justification for removing the Horsleys and other villages from the Green Belt and building housing on Green Belt land.

The number of houses proposed for East and West Horsley (533 in total) is disproportionate to the present sizes of the villages. The houses would be at a much greater density than the present houses – for example, the Planning Officer’s report for a road in East Horsley describes it as “[a] semi-rural residential area comprising a series of essentially two storey medium to large properties on medium to large plots. The properties are generally set away from the boundary lines”. Any new development of the numbers and areas proposed would inevitably be quite different and would destroy the special character of the villages.

Problems with lack of infrastructure have already been described above (Policy I1). Schools are already full, the Medical Centre is full, mains water pressure is low, foul drainage is inadequate (I could go on). Parts of East and West Horsley are subject to flooding on a regular basis, and at least one site (A40 – Waterloo Farm) has been proposed on a flood-prone area.
Ockham Road North, which would be the means of access to site A40 (and is also one of the main routes from the Wisley Airfield site – A35) is narrow, winding and dangerous. Cyclists are at risk from the heavy goods traffic and during the winter the road has been closed due to flooding. It is also subject to ice. The pavement is on one side of the road (but changes from side to side – an additional hazard for pedestrians).

There are brownfield sites within a short distance of Guildford town centre which would be just as suitable for housing. An application to build flats in Walnut Tree Close was refused because of potential flooding problems although it is difficult to see why if building on a flood plain in Horsley is acceptable, building in Walnut Tree Close is not.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A35 – Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham

I OBJECT. GBC recently rejected a planning application for this site, so it is extraordinary that they should continue to include it in the Local Plan.

I originally wrote this objection in January 2015. Nothing has changed.

Wisley Airfield is in the Green Belt and has lain largely undisturbed for well over thirty years. It is scarcely a brown-field site and there are no “exceptional circumstances” which would outweigh the harm to the Green Belt were development to go ahead. The site is adjacent to the world-famous Wisley RHS Gardens and to the SPA at Chatley Heath. Destroying a special site and “replacing” it with land elsewhere would be detrimental for the environment, nature and wildlife. The land available at Wisley airfield is not sufficient for the number of houses proposed and there is no prospect of acquiring more. The local roads are not able to cope with the increase in traffic which would result from the development. The main road through East Horsley towards Ockham and Wisley Airfield is Ockham Road South (B2039) which already takes a significant volume of heavy goods traffic. The road is not wide enough for two large commercial vehicles to pass without one ending up on the pavement. Additional traffic caused by development will only make matters worse. The road is dangerous for cyclists – because it is narrow and because it is not maintained adequately, given the volume and weight of traffic it has to handle. Sewerage services, water, gas and electricity supplies are already severely stretched and suffer frequent breakdowns. They cannot cope with significant additional housing. The A3 interchange is uni-directional, allowing traffic to go to and from London and the M25. There is no access to or from the Guildford direction, so traffic will have to go through the centre of Ripley village. The junction of the A3 and M25 already fails to meet European standards on air pollution. Additional housing will only make it worse. The junction of Ockham Road North and the A3 at Ripley, close to the proposed site, is regularly flooded and – not for the first time – was closed for several days last year. Another attempt at drainage work is under way at the moment – there is no reason it will be any more successful in the long term than its predecessors. There is no adequate plan for public transport to the area.

Policy D2 – Sustainable design, construction and energy

I OBJECT. I agree with the definitions of sustainability and I am passionate about the issues. We ourselves have installed photovoltaic cells, rainwater harvesting for use in the house and a ground-source heat pump. The Local Plan seems to be paying lip service to the need for sustainability, but the council’s track record on delivery is woeful.

The traffic resulting from the vast increases in housing will result in more cars on the already congested roads of our villages, increasing pollution levels, noise and damage to the environment.

The references to CCHP appear to have been cut and pasted from the document “Model policies for energy in neighbourhood plans” (https://www.regensw.co.uk/communities/wp-content/uploads/sites/5/2016/05/Energy-in-Neighbourhood-Planning-model-policies-with-context.pdf). Of course, GBC are using it for the Local Plan rather than a Neighbourhood Plan. The Local Plan omits the final section of the document: “Before energy policies are developed for a neighbourhood plan, a clear objective on energy for the NP needs to be established following consultation with the community. Appropriate policies for the area can then be developed through an evidence base gathering and consultation process. These policies need to be reviewed together to ensure that they form a cohesive whole – reinforcing, rather than contradicting each other.”

Should this not have happened already if it is to be such an integral part of the plan?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy E8 – District Centres

I OBJECT. In the previous (2014) Local Plan, District Centres were defined as follows: “[They] have at least 30 commercial units, including a large supermarket and local services such as a bank, and are accessible by public transport. [They] function as district centres because of their number and range of commercial and community uses and their accessibility by public transport.”

- There is no bank in Ripley, and only one in East Horsley.
- East Horsley (Station Parade) has 25 units, many of which are services (library, bank, hairdressers, cafes and take-aways), not retail units. The number rises to 30 only if all the units between Station Parade and the station (Station Approach) are included.
- There is no “large supermarket” in East Horsley or in Ripley. Budgens in East Horsley is small enough not to come under the Sunday trading laws.
- Horsley is served by train from Guildford (4 per hour), Leatherhead and Epsom (2 per hour each), all of which do have large supermarkets accessible from their railway stations. The 478 bus service to the East Horsley village consists of three or four buses per day in each direction (0939,1139,1349,1709 to Leatherhead and 1042,1242,1502 [school holidays only] to Guildford) which run on Mondays to Fridays only. It is very unlikely that shoppers will come by train to shop at a convenience store in Horsley. The 478 is used to travel to Tesco at Leatherhead precisely because there is no large supermarket in Horsley.
- Ripley has no railway station (the nearest one is Clandon, some 3 miles away). It does have bus services (515 about every 75 minutes to Guildford or Kingston, 462 or 463 about every hour to Guildford or Woking).

The only reason to designate these villages as District Centres seems to be to make it easier to approve planning permission for additional development adjacent to the shops. The fact that there are empty shops indicates that there is insufficient demand for the status quo. Providing viable additional shopping facilities will require a large influx of shoppers, which the infrastructure is quite unable to support. Furthermore, in East Horsley, there is no space to expand the shopping area nor to provide the inevitable parking requirements.

Policy H1 – Homes For All

I OBJECT. The proportions proposed in 4.2.3 are based on the same mysterious model used to project the housing demand. There is no transparency in where the numbers come from.

The University of Surrey gets off far too lightly. It has vast areas of surface car parking which could – and should – be used for housing, with parking space either below the housing or in adjoining multi-storey car parks. There is no need for it to build on greenfield sites and it would immediately reduce the alleged housing demand in the borough by a significant proportion. There is already planning permission for a large amount of student accommodation which has not been built, yet the University wants to expand the area of its campus even further.

Policy H2 – Affordable Homes

I OBJECT. Under the usual definition of “affordable” (rented at 80% of market rates), houses in much of the borough – and certainly in the Horsleys – would be unaffordable to anyone on the living wage, even if they did not need to travel, be warm or be fed. The belief that new homes will be “affordable” (to rent or buy) is simply wishful thinking.

The best way to reduce people’s travel times is that they should live fairly close to where they work, and to have good public transport to move them around. This is an excellent opportunity to build in Guildford town centre and its immediate neighbourhood – small flats would be highly sought-after.

Policy I1 – Infrastructure and Delivery

I OBJECT. The infrastructure in the borough – roads, water, sewerage, schools, medical services – is already stretched. There appears to be no plan for providing the necessary infrastructure so that it is ready for the demands which would be placed upon it were the plan ever to be implemented.

Many of the sites – particularly in the villages – are effectively on greenfield sites, with no existing infrastructure. GBC must know that adding infrastructure is not simply a matter of digging a hole and connecting to an existing service. A whole range of services will need massive upgrading to cope with the increased demand, but there is no indication of how this is going to happen.

Policy I2 – Supporting the Department for Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy”

I OBJECT. Road investment plans have a habit of being delayed or cancelled, particularly when projected costs begin to spiral. The two proposals in Road Period 1 (widening of the M25 and improvements to the M25/A3 junction) will probably increase traffic on the A3 and make matters worse around Guildford. The proposal in Road Period 2 for a tunnel under Guildford will never be more than a pipe-dream.

Nevertheless, the Local Plan proposes to build the new housing before these road improvements have been carried out. The lack of completed infrastructure must put severe constraints on what could actually be built, but the Local Plan fails to address this point.

Policy I3 – Sustainable transport for new developments

I OBJECT. It is wishful thinking to imagine that many people will cycle from their new homes to the railway station. Most commuters will not wish to be wet, muddy and cold when they start or finish work and they will not be able to take much with them, for safety reasons. The roads are narrow, congested, poorly lit and poorly maintained, and are a hazard for cyclists. Shoppers will not cycle to the supermarket (how would they carry their shopping home? – or will they have it delivered, so adding to the traffic). The elderly would be unwise to cycle if they are at all unsteady or slow to react. Use of tricycles instead is hazardous – they are wider and less manoeuvrable.

Plans for a new railway station at Merrow (“Guildford East”) have been put forward and rejected many times in the past; there is no reason to suppose that it will be any different this time.

Policy P2 – Green Belt

I OBJECT. The (Metropolitan) Green Belt is not for GBC or any others to play with. There is no justification for inserting East or West Horsley. They are currently washed over by the Green Belt and their character adds to the character and ambience of the Green Belt as required under NPPF guidelines. There is no justification for going even further and then taking additional land adjacent to the villages out of the Green Belt, to allow for more housing development.

The argument that adding “Green Belt” in Tongham and Ash (on the other side of Guildford, away from London) makes up for the loss of other villages is specious. The Metropolitan Green Belt is intended to prevent urban sprawl from London and allow for green space around it – Tongham and Ash are outside the Green Belt because they would make no difference to it. It may just be coincidence that these wards were represented by present and past leaders of the council.

OBJECTIONS TO THE LOCAL PLAN

Policy S2 – Borough-wide Strategy

I OBJECT. There is no supporting evidence for the proposed number of homes (13,860). The assumptions used in the modelling are not given. It may be – as the Director of Development at GBC implies – that the Council does not know what the assumptions are. They are failing in their duty if they do not know. The data – again according to the Director of Development – is widely available, but the Council will not provide it, nor say what it is nor where it came from. There is a complete lack of transparency in the whole process.

It is unclear what the figure of 13,860 represents. The plan says it is the total number of new houses to be delivered by 2033. We do not know what numbers the model actually produced. We do not know why the plan does not take into account the routine small-scale developments and re-developments that already take place all the time within the borough.

The Director of Development wrote to the Surrey Advertiser trying to draw a distinction between the Objectively Assessed Need and the number actually achievable. It is unclear which numbers are being used in the Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the revision of settlement boundaries and the removal of East Horsley from the Green Belt. East and West Horsley are currently washed over by the Green Belt and their character adds to the character and ambience of the Green Belt as required under NPPF guidelines. The NPPF states that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate. Planning guidance issued in March 2014 states that unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt enough to constitute “exceptional circumstances”. There is therefore no justification for removing the Horsleys and other villages from the Green Belt and building housing on Green Belt land.

I OBJECT to the proposal to build approximately 100 new homes on land prone to flooding near Horsley Station and to the development proposals to build over 2000 homes on the former Wisley Airfield site. The removal of sites A41 and A36 may reduce the level of housing proposed for East and West Horsley, but it still leaves too much housing of an inappropriate character in an area with inadequate infrastructure to cope with increases in traffic, demands for utilities and for medical services.

I OBJECT to the (revised) proposed increase in housing stock. Government predictions are for approximately 10% growth in population, which in any case could change substantially depending on the terms of Britain’s exit from the EU. Student accommodation, if required, should be provided by the University of Surrey on its existing sites. Large areas of land, originally designated for accommodation, are at present used to provide surface car parking. The land should be utilised much more efficiently – using multi-storey car parks or building above ground floor parking.

I am writing regarding the fields behind Shalford village hall, and its status within the new local plan.

I note that the land has still not been returned to its former AGLV status and is still included within the village’s settlement boundary. I would like to object to this in the strongest terms.

I am gratified that the land has now been designated as open space, because at least that is a recognition from the council of how important the area is to the life of the village.

As the fields adjoin the tennis club, bowling green and a public footpath, it gives the village an open character and is a huge contribution to the quality of life of the inhabitants. It is no wonder that a covenant had been placed on the field in the past, to try and ensure the landscape of the village is preserved for future generation (a covenant that was lifted in dubious legal circumstances).

However, even though open space sounds nice, I am very aware that ‘open space’ has no definition in law at this stage, so there is no guarantee that this designation cannot be circumvented by a persistent developer. It is a fig leaf that gives no protection to the land in law.

This unease is compounded as the GBC still insist on placing it within the settlement area of the village, despite all the protests thus far. This, I understand, could strip it of its green belt/AGLV status and make is much easier for a developer to propose building on it.

When it was first proposed that his land be placed within the settlement boundary, a petition was given to the council protesting the move. Some 715 signatures were collected from the people of Shalford, which showed the strength of feeling within the community towards the preservation of the land. It seems that the strength of feeling and strength of numbers carries little weight.
There is little need to allow this land to be developed, only the intention of the current landowner and the development company he is in partnership with to make money. The land itself is on the highest point of the village, and would ruin the landscape surrounding it, and would be seen from the whole village. Also, the only access to this site is a narrow track leading out into an already congested road with no pavements. An increase in traffic would surely jeopardise the welfare of families and children who have to walk along the road to get to the local school and the bus and train stations.

To reiterate, there are any number of sites within Shalford that are suitable for development and are being developed. The only reason that this beautiful area of Shalford is the greed of the local landowner who bought the land for next to nothing (as it was protected by covenant at the time) and now wishes to make a lot of money out it.

I hope that this state of affairs can be rectified to the satisfaction of the people of this village.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D).

The Plan's proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through lurpham which is grid-locked every

Burpham's sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an "aspiration" in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick's Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8).

There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).
The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick's Arch site.

There was no proper c onsultatien-in-relatlon to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council's own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy 13).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy 14)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick's Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick's Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy ES supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor "attractions" and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many "leisure and visitor attractions" already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan's explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

1. To help make Guildford's river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value touri To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

2. To help private providers market local This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An "English town break" (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

1. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT (POLICY H1 - Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions., pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council's timidity is a case of "regulatory capture" by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the "mix" this can include "market" housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.
I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick's Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents' in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick's Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.
There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy 12)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that "Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health." The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a 'special circumstance' and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.
The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey" tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough's residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour's "need". Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey's 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Green belts, like the area at the back of Glaziers Lane, and Wanborough station, were designated to prevent urban sprawl. The DCLG suggest that once established green belt boundaries should be altered only in exceptional cases. The outcome of the proposals in this Local Plan will result in the amalgamation of Flexford with parts of Normandy with no green spaces in between. Is this not an exceptional case? Exceptional circumstances have to be demonstrated and it has to be approved by the inspectorate. There appears to be no legal evidence to back up the statement made that a school built on the green belt provides enough 'exceptional circumstance' to remove that land from the green belt.

I write to strongly object to the council's proposal to build all along the A3 corridor. I find it incredible that these proposals have been put forward!!

The A3 itself is a major concern as it is already a very congested major road link often suffering from horrendous accidents most of those often occurring at the wisely interchange.

I don't need to mention the absurd pressures on our local services as I know this is a huge concern to many!!

I also feel that our wildlife is being vastly overlooked we cannot j deep plundering the green belt it is just not on!!!!

I wonder how much of this proposed development will be affordable???? I cannot afford to live in Ripley and I have been a homeowner for 24 years now.

So who will be buying these proposed properties or are they social housing????

I live in Send and We paid a fair price to live a semi rural life. We do not wish to be placed in a new town.

I am writing to you to voice my objection to the new revised local plan in my area, Policy A43 Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh.

I strongly object for the following reasons:

1. It seems that even though there was huge outcry from local residents the last time this was proposed the council have blatantly ignored the feelings of the locals here who already have to deal on a daily basis with increased traffic issues, noise and pollution.
2. The council both at local level and Surrey county council cannot maintain the roads that exist already there is an accident waiting to happen at the end of Send Marsh road at the junction with The old Portsmouth road this junction is always busy every morning with increased traffic from a new development this situation will be even worse than it is already.
3. Send Marsh is a little development in its own right! A new development will merge us with Send on one side and Ripley on the other. We will lose our identity.
4. Ancient woodland CANNOT EVER EVER BE REPLACED!!!
5. Travellers! There are plenty of sites up and down the country that can accommodate Travelling show people (if they actually still exist?). I see no reason for any Traveller plots to be made available, This to my mind is an excuse by the council to make provision for a Gypsy site.
6. I am sure that you hear on a daily basis about the squeeze on services, Well just to confirm if you need to see your GP it is true you do need to book your illness six weeks in advance,
7. I am also convinced that these homes will NOT BE AFFORDABLE TO THE AVERAGE PERSON! This is of course on Ripley's doorstep and we all know that it is more expensive than the average area with regard to property prices, Estate agents and builders will have a certain way of pushing up the prices.
8. Flooding in and around Ripley and all along The Send marsh road are a huge problem during spells of heavy and prolonged rainfall, I am quite sure that as with other developments throughout the years no thought or provision is made for our drain and sewer networks
9. All in All to go ahead with any of these proposals all up and down the A3 corridor would be a TOTAL DISASTER, not only for the already existing residents, but for wildlife, air quality, and general ease of life.
10. Send and Send Marsh and Ripley cannot take the extra strain and so I therefore ask that this objection be taken into account!

In summary I totally OBJECT to this and policy A58 Burnt Common, Industrial warehousing REALLY???? and its right next door to Garlicks arch so basically an expansion of that, again it will cause gridlock on the morning commute then add in the almost daily accident on the already failing A3 and we who need to get to work may as well just simply go home.

I question the necessity for all these extra houses. I am not against the development of the Bell and Colville site A37 if the houses are small and affordable as this will tidy up the area. But there is no need for anything larger than a 3 bed semi detached house, there are plenty of larger houses for sale in the local Estate Agents.

Nearly 500 extra houses for East and West Horsley could result in a possible 1000 more cars on our narrow country roads, fighting for parking spaces at our shops, the station, the doctors and school areas. And if you query the figure of 1000 cars, I assure you that on the estate where I live almost every house has two cars in their drive, some have three.

No provision is made in the plan for extra school places [Raleigh is already full], extra medical facilities [our doctor’s surgery just copes at the moment but it is sometimes impossible to park there], improved public transport [4-5 buses a day through West Horsley at present] and if wanting to use the train service to London will people walk to the station, I doubt it!!

I am writing to object to most of the proposals in the Guildford Plan on the following grounds:

Having lived in West Horsley for 60 years I know only too well the drainage problems we experience, in particular sites A41 and A38 alongside East Lane and site A40 at the bottom of my back garden and almost adjacent to the lake at the Camping Club’s site. ANY MORE CONCRETE will exacerbate the flooding we now experience at times.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

---

As a resident of Normandy, I wholly support the withdrawal of Policies A46 and A47 (the former being the so-called ‘strategic site’ that would have added 1100 extra houses to the village, and the latter being a proposal to build on an SNCl), as these would inevitably have had a drastic effect in destroying the open and green character of our village. These proposals would have also placed a burden on our existing amenities of road and rail transport, for example: increased congestion at the already busy junction of the A31 with with Wanborough Hill/B3000, which is a nightmare at rush hour, with long queues and a frightening propensity for serious road traffic collisions; increased strain upon the limited car parking available at Wanborough Station, increased strain on the one ticket machine in operation at Wanborough Station, which often causes a long queue at peak times. Therefore, I am thankful the GBC has taken heed of the comments made by residents and the Parish Council in response to the previous version of the Local Plan, and taken Sites A46 and A47 out of this version of the Local Plan.
I also support the opening of a new rail station ‘Guildford West’, Site A59, to serve the Park Barn/Manor Park area, as I feel the extra traffic on the Ascot-Guildford South West Trains service this would cause would be justified by the resultant increase in sustainable mobility for residents of the West Guildford suburbs - who currently have little option other than a lengthy walk or to drive into the centre of town. The opening of such a station would also hopefully reduce the congestion around the A3 in the area of The Tesco Superstore/Royal Surrey County Hospital/Stag Hill/Guildford Business Park, where traffic often grinds to a standstill at peak times.

It is my view, in general, that the use of brownfield is sites a much better alternative to new development on Green Belt land. However, this is with proviso that such development should be first and foremost for residential ends, not commercial/retail purposes, as I feel it is of much greater importance to make Guildford a strong human community and a nice place to live, rather than a giant retail park where everyone has to drive into town on highly congested roads. Thus I support the regeneration of sites within Guildford proper (both in the Town Centre and the Urban Area), especially proposals such as sites A20 (community Hub), and A21 (allotments) because this will reinvigorate and enrich living spaces within the town, and provide housing and community amenities that are close to places of employment, thus reducing the strain on already very busy road and rail transport networks.

I would, however, also like to see the development in Guildford town accompanied by better provision of a sustainable transport network, particularly the development of safe cycle routes from the suburbs to the town centre, so as to get more people out of their cars and using less congestive forms of traffic, causing less emissions and promoting good public health. Therefore I support the proposal of Site A10, but would like to see even more plans for development in the field of sustainable transport/movement. This would tie in very well with the already established community endeavour The Guildford Bike Project, with its shop on Southway, which is already providing a much needed service of cheap and effective cycle sales and service, and only lacks a good network of cycle lanes for the residents of Westborough, and the rest of Guildford, to use said bicycles on.

Objections

I am pleased to see a reversion of the proposed Green Belt boundary changes, such that sites A46 and A47 will maintain their prior Green Belt status, and in acknowledgement of the key role these areas contribute to our village’s open character as well as the usefulness of this land for agricultural purposes. However, I am in agreement with the views of the Parish Council, and strongly object to the ‘insetting’ within Green Belt land of the three most settled areas of Normandy and Flexford. My objection has two key components: first, that no case has been made for grounds of ‘exceptional circumstances’ upon which to justify the removal of this land from the Green Belt, therefore the proposal attempts to set a precedent by which further development may not be needed to be justified upon such grounds either (thus opening the door to further attrition of the Green Belt through extensions to the settlement area on adjacent Green Belt land; second, the nature of the existing development within these three areas of most settlement contributes to the openness of the Green Belt land which characterises our village and should therefore remain, as a whole, ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt. This view has been expounded and supported by both the Parish Council and the Planning Inspectors, who are in agreement that the ‘insetting’ of the aforementioned land will cause huge difficulties in sustaining this key openness which is so characteristic of, and beneficial to our village.

I also object to the insetting and making permanent of both the Traveller site at Palm House Nurseries (Site A49), and the Travelling Show-people site at Whittles Drive (Site A50), upon the same grounds as above. Both sites contribute to the openness of Green Belt land, and are rated as ‘High Sensitivity’ in the Sustainability Appraisal 2017, and the view of the Parish Council and myself is that such a classification is contrary to the Local Plan’s intention to inset these sites. This would set a precedent for unjustified insetting and gradual breaking up of the Green Belt land, a matter that surely must be carefully examined and justified on a case by case basis.

Concluding comments

As a young person who has lived all their life in Normandy, many claims about local development are often made on my behalf, such as the need for new homes for young professionals/families, and other services to support these. I recognise the presence of such needs within the community, however I feel strongly about the need for well thought out planning and sustainable development. A key part of this is my firm belief in the value of regenerating brownfield sites, especially within the urban context, so as to reinvigorate our towns and cities with a view to making them more liveable spaces, instead of just sterile retail parks with a shortage local housing. Providing for more residential space within Guildford is a sure way of relieving the pressure on our snarled up roadways. The flip side to this coin is to relieve pressure on Green Belt areas, which are of value in their own right, and in doing so preserve the quality of life for those living in villages which fall within the Green Belt outside of the larger town. I do not think that the solution to the lack of housing is to be found in building more housing developments in satellite villages, as this will only cause a negative knock on effect upon our already congested roadways, and will be extremely harmful to the open and green nature of the countryside which surrounds Guildford.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing again to object to the volume of building that is proposed to be built around East and West Horsley villages. Also no houses should be built on land that comes within the Green Belt.

The local infrastructure could not cope with the amount of development proposed. The roads, schools, doctors surgery and the station car park are overflowing.

I know that the planned properties to be built on the land at Wisley airfield are not included in the Horsley plan but it will also have a detrimental effect on our roads etc.

Our roads are very narrow and not in great condition so more traffic along them would cause more accidents in this already crowded area. Because of the Olympic route for cyclists we have a great many riders around our roads that also cause a dangerous problem.

I do not object to the odd small development of small affordable housing and encourage the Council to make more developers build more of this type of property.

I DO hope that Guildford Borough Council will reconsider this new plan and keep this area the joy that is to live in.

I write to convey my distress at the way in which GBC is proposing to wipe out the Green Belt status of Send Village, and impose huge numbers of houses and industrial space onto the local area of Send and Ripley Villages.

The local community/infrastructure will not be able to cope with the current plans, let alone the loss of Green Belt status, and GBC should withdraw and amend the current Local Plan with immediate effect.

I wish my email to be forwarded to the Planning Inspector to register my objections to the imposition of the GBC Local Plan, and the removal of Send Village from the Green Belt. I strenuously object to each and every one of the Council's plans for the area.

As a resident of Send for 20 years, the appalling plans set out for Send and Ripley by GBC constitute nothing but the total destruction of the Green Belt for Send, and a huge increase in traffic on local roads which are in places simply one car wide.

To remove Send Village from Green Belt status, impose hundreds of houses on the area in addition to industrial space, and further create a massive road junction on already highly congested local roads is insanity. Schools, infrastructure, surgeries, local village lifestyle and the chosen way of life for thousands of people will simply buckle under these new ridiculous plans.

The Council quite simply appear to have thrown every ludicrous idea into a pot and come up with the destruction of village life in Send and Ripley, dismantling the area and covering it in concrete, together with a random number of new-build houses and industrial units which cannot be coped with in any conceivable way.

I wish this email to be forwarded to the Planning Inspector dealing with this completely ill-thought out local plan, and I object most strongly to the Council's obvious intention to wipe Send Village, its Green Belt rating and Ripley Village off the map, to be replaced by a grotesque building site destined to ruin the area completely and cause the utmost disruption to both villages for years on end.

These plans must not be allowed to go through - they are disgraceful, we are Green Belt here and must remain so. This is akin to being punished for wishing to live in the countryside by a bullying Council.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:
- Amount of new housing far exceeds local need.
- Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
- Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
- No local support.
- Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
- Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
- Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor waste water capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys.
- Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.6
Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.

Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods”.

Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.

Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads

1. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
1. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8111 April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

- Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it.
- Proposed SCC waste site ignored.
- Loss of farming land.
- Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA.
- SANG would harm on SPA.
- Unacceptable increase in air pollution.
- No existing public transport and stations miles away.
- No proper traffic data.
- Housing density far too great.
- Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings.
- Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes.
- Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole.
- Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys.
- No assessment made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties. I OBJECT TO POLICY E4 (SURREY RESEARCH PARK):

- Subordinates public planning policy to the University of Surrey’s private, commercial enterprises (not its public academic purpose).
- No cost/benefit analysis of harm to Green Belt involved in extending research park.
- Waters down research purpose of park, turning into a general business park.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY E5 (RURAL ECONOMY):

- Incompatible with high housing numbers proposed for rural areas elsewhere in the plan.
- Insetting and settlement boundary extension endanger appropriate rural activities listed that depend on maintaining rural areas’ character.
- Town-centre uses for rural areas contradict government’s localism policy and need to consult and protect village environments.
- Established commitments to high-speed rural broadband and mobile coverage watered down despite 2014 consultation responses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY E6 (LEISURE AND VISITOR EXPERIENCE):

- Danger of over development: success doesn’t depend on building “attractions” which can harm heritage and rural settings. No case made for creating new ones.
- No policy of opposing reduction in rural hotel capacity.
- No definition of what added value interventions by Council can make to normal visitor market mechanisms.
- No policy of supporting Guildford countryside as its prime leisure and visitor asset, whose value rises as London gets bigger and busier.
- No vision of what the ideal visitor experience of the borough actually is and how to support its various elements.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY E7 (TOWN CENTRE):

- No statement in policy wording of value of Guildford’s rural setting and views.
- No consideration of Town Centre Master Plan, GVG proposals or station redevelopment plans.
- Proportion of new housing in town far too small. Development pushed into countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration.
- No brownfield register.
- Too much big retail, despite online shopping revolution and decline of traditional high streets internationally. Futile to try to turn Guildford into Woking or Kingston.
• No measures to support small, niche retailers in town, e.g. through business rates.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E8 (DISTRICT CENTRES):

• Too much scope to expand rural retail centres to justify major housing expansion across the countryside, despite lack of demand. Will spoil character of villages while harming Guildford’s role as a retail hub.
• No measures to support existing rural shops and services, e.g. through business rates.

I OBJECT TO POLICY H1 (HOMES FOR ALL):

- Policy doesn’t set any constraints on building.
- Housing mix based on pre-Brexit growth and demographic assumptions and unreliable SHMA that wasn’t put out to formal public consultation and wasn’t scrutinised by Councillors.
- Fails to compel University of Surrey to use its thousands of planning permissions and existing space, such as car parks, for student accommodation.
- Lets University off the hook of accommodating all its students, so as to free up houses for the most needy in town.

I OBJECT TO POLICY H2 (AFFORDABLE HOMES):

- Using the official definition of Affordable is a joke. Affordable homes round here are not affordable! Pushing for these homes just means pushing for more development.
- The viability clause lets developers off the hook of providing even these (non-) affordable homes. Too open to manipulation.
- Contradicts government policy to develop less advantaged regions of the UK. People don’t have to live and work in Guildford but should be encouraged to move to cheaper, less congested areas.
- This policy won’t affect market forces or house prices. Guildford is too small and too near London to influence these, however many homes it builds.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road Ispecifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY)

• Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.
• Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
• Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
• Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I2 (SUPPORTING DTP’S ROAD STRATEGY):

• Doesn’t allow for catastrophic increase in traffic resulting from spreading new housing estates across the borough.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT):

- Just a list of generic measures, not related to real life or the particularities of Guildford.
- Fails to treat sustainability as a constraint. Assumes excessive levels of development proposed in the plan can be supported by sustainable development.
- Unrealistic. Most people can’t or won’t walk or cycle – commuters in a hurry, the elderly, children, people who are unwell or unfit, people carrying heavy shopping or other goods. i.e. most residents!
- Town’s eye view of transport. Ignores scarcity of existing rural public transport and commercial unviability of increasing it. Ignores terrible state of Surrey’s roads, potholes, flooding etc. Ignores extra stress to be created by huge new housing estates in countryside.

1. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously- air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, Impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible Impact of the habitat degradation.

2. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village's green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) - Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT):

- No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements.
- No evaluation of value of local Green Belt as a public and private asset: it’s just treated as potential building land with a few inconvenient restrictions.
- Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored.
- Impact on rural leisure and tourism ignored.
- Impact on flood control ignored.
- Impact on carbon sink and knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change ignored.
- Impact on biodiversity ignored.
- Impact on natural heritage ignored.
- Impact on water catchment ignored.
- Impact on room for public space amenities (parks, cemeteries, waste facilities etc) ignored.
- Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored.
- Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored.
- Harm to public health and well being (physical, psychological) ignored.
- Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections.
- Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF.
- Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burden-sharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size.
- Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt. Too few new homes in urban areas where most people (especially the young and less privileged) want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration.
- “Insetting” of most villages disproportionate and unjustified in terms of their contribution under the NPPF to the purposes of the Green Belt. Based on flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. Idea that most Guildford villages do not contribute to “openness” is subjective.
- Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields.
- Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit.
- Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

1. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY S2 (BOROUGH-WIDE STRATEGY):

- Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit.
- No justification given for 13,860 housing figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure.
- 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the constraints into account.
- Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.
- High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Higheotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.
The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E6
I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a South West Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.
This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.
The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. The road (A247) through West Clandon is particularly hazardous as, in a number of places, two large vehicles are unable to pass in opposite directions without mounting the pavement. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion, greater pollution and an increased risk of fatal accidents. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I am writing to register my objections to the above plan which are ill considered and ill thought through. It is ridiculous to think that over 13,000 new homes are needed by 2033, which is an increase of 25%. To facilitate this growth huge areas of the Green Belt will be sacrificed with only around 30% of new homes being built on Brownfield land. Not only that but no thought appears to have been given to what affect all this development will have on the existing infrastructure which will surely be a breaking point with increased congestion and pollution.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 houses being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is not justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.
In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and... foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

- I object to fact that over 20,000 responses were registered to the 2014 Draft Plan and yet this plan is not materially different, meaning that the Consultation Process has not been properly followed.

I object to the fact that new sites have been proposed in this consultation which have not been considered before and is not appropriate at this stage.

I am writing to express my strong disagreement to the latest revisions to the plan.

1) The plan to now provide 12,426 new homes seems excessive and based on erroneous projections and could lead to a needless loss of Greenbelt.

2) If the plan is adopted it could also lead to too much land being developed and potentially providing homes for Woking. Why should Areas of Natural Beauty be threatened to provide homes for Woking? This seems totally unfair and ill thought through.

I object to the principle of any plan that fails to recognise what the traffic problems presently suffering in Send (A247) are created by the extra burden to allow access to the A3 for “Woking” traffic - aggravated by the introduction of so-called “40 ton lorries”.

Has anyone on the committee taken the trouble to see for Him/Her self, traffic conditions in this area on a week day, term time, 08:30 – 09:20+?

I am writing this letter a matter of days since the outcome of the Referendum has been known to us and who will be our prime minister from this evening onwards.

This being so, I find that any writing again to revise objections to many of the points as your intentions showed NOT BE NECESSARY – but as your various schemes enforce, I wonder if your committee has decided that any plan you make whatever the outcome, will somehow slip through unnoticed while we are all fully occupied in digesting the changes in status of this country in relation to Europe.

For GBC to attempt to make radical changes to the Green Belt reads to me like unmitigated arrogance, and indeed shameful.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Go back to the drawing board with and don’t just fiddle with bits and bobs – re-think your whole plan.

And I’m not necessarily using the roads at peak times – thousands are!!

Simply ticking boxes is not planning!

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I am writing with my objection to the new local plan. I'm objecting on the grounds of transport links, access to medical and educational facilities, as well as the complete disregard for the greenbelt. Firstly, the Tannery Lane proposal of 45 homes would bring the already grid locked Send Road (at peak times) to a halt as a potential 90 additional cars turning onto Send Road would cause traffic chaos. The site at the top of Send Hill also has no capacity for additional traffic. Both of these roads are accessed by Send Road or tiny lanes with few passing points. The lack of decent public transport in Send means that cars are essential with a lot of families needing 2 or more vehicles. The entrance on to the A3 is something that is required already. Adding 400 homes to Garlicks Copse will no longer alleviate the existing traffic burden and will add extra local traffic on Portsmouth Road / Send Road which you will still have to get across to get to the new junction. There is no possibility of scaling up the capacity of either the doctors surgery or the school to accommodate the proposed volume of new residents.

Development of this part of Send will result in even more traffic on the heavily congested A247. Furthermore, Tannery Lane is a country lane that was never designed to cope with the levels of traffic that 60 additional houses would bring. I objected when it was 45 (along with hundreds of other objectors). How upscaling this by a third, without improvement to the infrastructure (and flash flooding situation during heavy rain) could even be considered is truly alarming.

I object to the proposal to take Send Business Park out of the Green Belt because it is located in an area of beauty next to the Wey Navigation. Developing in this area feels like an insidious move to completely remove Send from the Green Belt, while there are industrial spaces in Guildford this should not even be considered. This would further amplify my point re: traffic above in Tannery Lane.

FIELDS BEHIND SHALFORD VILLAGE HALL

As a resident of Shalford and a member of Shalford LTC I wish to make known my objections to the current version of the local plan which removes the fields behind the Village Hall and Tennis Club from the Green Belt and puts them in the Shalford settlement boundary.

Although these fields have been classified as “open spaces” there is no explanation or confirmation to say that this would give them the same degree of protection as the Green Belt from housing development.

Any Construction on these fields which are 25ft above the village hall would tower over the tennis courts and bowling green and totally destroy the Green lung of the village.

The considerable traffic from a development would have to exit on Chinthurst lane not only adding to the traffic chaos and pollution but increasing the potential for an accident.

By implementing a small adjustment back to the 2003 boundary GBC could protect these fields and ensure they remain open spaces.

Thank you for your letter of June 2nd

I have read your “Proposed Local Plan” and I am now replying with my views.

My objections are:- the removal of send from the green belt. A large area of beautiful countryside will be lost to thousands of people so I object to the huge number of houses that are planned to be built. I object to the Garlick’s Arch policy (A43), which will include the filling of very ancient trees, to build to proposed 400 houses, light industry and storage space on Green Belt. I object to new slip roads at Burnt Common (A43a).

The A247 is already a very busy road and a dangerous one for pedestrians to cross. At peak times the traffic is at a standstill.

I object to the proposal to build 40 new houses and two traveller pitches on Send Hill (A44). The number is far too large. The area is a formal refuse sight, but now is a part of beautiful countryside and totally out of keeping for your proposal.

The number of extra people in Send would create a huge problem for the medical centre. There are currently over 7000 patients on record.

Also the schools are already full and parking to deliver and collect children on Send Hill causes a huge problem to local residents so I object to these proposals. I object to the wholesale destruction of Green Belt in the area. It would be a sad day for many people.

I also understand that, with the boundaries of the villages being enlarged, they are to be taken out of the green belt, a move to which I am wholly opposed.

I am amazed to see that, despite its having been unanimously rejected by the council, the development at Wisley Airfield has reappeared in the plan. It is totally pointless to have discussions about the proposals for East and West Horsley, without, at the same time discussing these far larger and totally overbearing developments, because whatever additional facilities are built there, the impact on the Horsleys will be far larger than anything in the local plans.

As you are already aware, the A3 is already drastically overburdened and daily comes to a standstill often by 4.30 in the afternoon. To even consider a development at Wisley before this dire situation has been remedied, is foolish beyond measure. This apart, the traffic along Ockham Road North would be greatly increased, as would use of Horsley station itself.

I am, as you will have gathered, totally opposed to the airfield development and I speak as a resident of some 49 years.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to protest most strongly against the New Local Plan for at least 533 more houses proposed for East and West Horsley as the infrastructure would not be able to cope.

It would mean:-

1) an even longer wait to get an appointment with a doctor

2) the local schools would not have spaces an increase in the number of children

3) There would not be enough car parking spaces at Horsley station - the present car park is not adequate for what is required now.

4) sometimes one cannot get into the car park behind the shops - with more houses it would be even more difficult.

5) the exit from Thatcher's Hotel on to the A246 would become even more dangerous.

I OBJECT to the removal of 15 villages, including Ripley and Send, from the green belt. This will lead to wholesale, and often inappropriate developments.

I OBJECT to Policy A43 the proposed development of Garlicks Arch designated for 400 houses and an industrial estate. This is a new site not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has NOT been consulted on previously. It is not only permanently protected green belt but also a site of ancient woodland with some trees planted in the 16th century.

I OBJECT to policy A43.30 the development of new four way interchange onto the A3 which would mean that narrow Send Road (A247) would be the main route for traffic leaving the M25 and A3. It is already crowded and vulnerable to traffic jams. Further traffic from this development would result in permanent gridlock. It simply would not work.

I OBJECT to policy A44 which would see 40 homes and two travellers' pitches on land west of 4 Winds Ridge and Send Hill. This was again a NEW site NOT included in 18 draft and therefore has NOT been consulted on previously. Once again this is Green Belt land partly containing unsafe landfill. Access is by a narrow lane which could never take the volume of traffic that would ensue from travellers' pitches.

In GBC's paper About Guildford you have a feature concerning the Local Plan in which you pose the question: Is your Green Belt under threat? Your answer includes the sentence:

Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan, and the Plan would reject any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.

How can this fit in with your aim to strip 15 villages, including Send and Ripley where I live, of their green belt status? Such an action would allow greedy and unscrupulous developers, (already gathering ready to pounce) carte blanche with our precious countryside.

The duplicity of your supposed reassurance on the matter of the Green Belt and the cynical and underhanded manner in which you are treating your citizens concerning other aspects of the Plan is disgraceful. I therefore protest in the strongest terms against the Local Plan for the following reasons:

I OBJECT to the removal of 15 villages, including Ripley and Send, from the green belt. This will lead to wholesale, and often inappropriate developments.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Policy A42
Now 60 homes in place of 45 previously.

The increase of 45 houses to 60 is 33% more and too much.
It will worsen traffic problems at Tannery Lane (Please note this is a LANE) and at the already dangerous junction of A247.
It will erode the green belt of the village even more.
It will worsen surface water flooding which is already bad.
It will impact on the countryside views from the River Wey Navigation which is enjoyed by many people visiting the county as well as locals.

Now 400 homes and six Travelling Show people plots.
I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlicks Arch because:

It ignores the thousands of previous objections made by local people.
There is no proven demand for Travellers' plots at this location.
It is an ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth 1.
It will join up Ripley and Send defeating the purpose of the Green Belt.
It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently flood zone 2 allocation.
It will generate excessive traffic onto already busy local roads in Send and Ripley.

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58
Now a NEW allocation for a minimum of 7000 sq m. of industrial warehousing.
I object to policy A58 at Burnt Common because:
It was DELETED from the first draft because of all the previous objections and should therefore NOT have been reintroduced.
There is no need to build an industrial development on Green Belt when sites still exist at Slyfield and Guildford.
The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a REDUCTION in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land NOT a huge over allocation of 10 hectares on Send Green Belt land.
The impact on already busy roads will cause gridlock, especially when the A3 is blocked and traffic tries to get down the slip road and through Ripley and Send.

Green Belt Policy 2 paragraph 4.3.15
Send Business Park to be taken out of Green Belt
I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from Green Belt, because:

It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the Wey Navigation. There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery lane.
Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the Green Belt and is inappropriate.
I suspect that none of the members of the Planning Committee live anywhere near Send or Ripley and that their own wards are not being subjected this wholly unnecessary Local Plan of destruction of both our village environment and the precious Green Belt.
As already stated, I and the other 10,000 or so inhabitants of this area find the Planning Committee actions totally undemocratic and unsustainable.
We can only hope that MAYBE this time round our objections will be heard and answered sympathetically. Sadly, given Guildford Borough Council's actions so far, I am sceptical of this happening.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Attached documents:

Comment ID: PSLPA16/2145  Respondent: 10785633 / Penelope Eagle  Agent:

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix F: Policies overview map
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

• Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
• Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
• Bennett Way to Highecotts Lane - 15 incidents
• Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

• 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

• 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.
The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3).

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of £360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

| I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments. The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist. The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist. The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.) The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.) The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included. |What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?|

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt.
There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

The Diocese of Guildford supports draft Local Plan Policy P2 Green Belts in relation to land at Send.

Where appropriate, insetting complies with Section 9 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), particularly para 85 where Green Belt boundaries are defensible and ‘use physical features that are readily recognisable and permanent’.

At Send, the new Green Belt boundary that forms the southern edge of the village consists of a mature, dense belt of trees that gives a strong, defensible natural edge to the village. The Diocese of Guildford supports this new boundary and welcomes the removal of the land and buildings of Send First School and St Bede’s Junior School (and the sports pitches between the 2 schools) from the Green Belt. The land makes little contribution to the five established purposes of the green belt and is not clearly visible to those outwith the school facilities and therefore has limited visual amenity benefit failing to contribute to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt as required by para 79 of the NPFF.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT TO POLICY A42 because you have increased the number of house from 45 to 60, an increase of 33%. There are a lot of objections to the original number were raised so why increase it? I feel this increase is unacceptable and will lead to a considerable increase in traffic on an already extremely busy road.

The Government policy was to protect the green belt which you seem to ignore. The land around Send already floods in winter so where will the water go when it is concreted over? Probably to flood the existing houses.

Send is an ancient village mentioned in the Domesday Book so building on the greenbelt will destroy the nature of the village.

I also OBJECT TO POLICY A43 change at Garlicks Arch because of the number of homes to be built despite previous objections. 6 plots for travelling show people is totally unnecessary as there is no proven demand. It will change the nature of Send and Ripley as two separate villages and will generate excessive amounts of traffic.

It is a flood risk area and is contaminated by lead shot.

I also OBJECT TO POLICY A58 because it was deleted from the 2014 draft due to the number of objections and the word minimum has been changed from maximum, and since 2016 there has been a reduction in demand for industrial land.

Guildford and Slyfield have empty sites and industrial units so this should be used.

The 2017 Employment Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand for industrial land for the whole Borough.

This will generate a huge increase in traffic and cause gridlock on the local roads. The green belt is precious and should be protected. All this development needs new infrastructure such as additional sewage works. Can the Doctors surgery cope with the additional people. Are the schools capable of accepting the additional children. I understand there will be a shortage of places for children above infants schools. What is being done in the plan to cover the situation with Doctors surgery and Schools.

I object to the development of the former Wisely Airfield. This will have a massive and detrimental effect on the present road system. There will be increased congestion at the Ockham roundabout as there is no provision for traffic heading South to access the A3. Traffic will travel through Ripley, and contributes to the times before the A3 by hours.

Increased traffic will lead to further air pollution. Motorists wishing to travel by train from Horsley and Effingham Junction will be unable to park, places are already full.

Road Closures in the Ockham area will create havoc.

The new roundabout at Newark lane and Ripley High St. is not necessary.

I object to this plan. There are no exceptional circumstances to justify building 400 houses and 7000 square metres of industrial and warehousing. This is a site of local pride and interest. It includes ancient woodland and trees that should be protected, being 400 years old. There are already 13860 houses proposed by GBC. These plans were not included in the regulation 18 draft and should be declared invalid.

I object to land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill being designated for 40 homes and 2 pitches for travellers. This also is a new plan not included in regulation 18 draft. Not consulted upon previously. Not suitable for development due to Green Belt status. The existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste.

The narrow single track country road does not provide sufficient access to the proposed site. This makes the whole proposal inappropriate.

Comment ID: PSLPS16/110  Respondent: 10789921 / Kevin Allen  Agent:
The proposed plan for Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to develop the Wisley airfield site (Policy no. A35 on the plan) is inherently flawed and will have a significant negative traffic and infrastructure impact on the surrounding area of Ockham and the Horsleys.

The development is far too large and proposes over 2000 new homes supporting a population of 5-6000 new residents, in an area with an already limited and constrained transport network.

East Horsley, which is 3rd in the GBC settlement hierarchy with 3,800 residents, will be completely overshadowed by this gross proposal.

The expected overall requirement for new housing in the borough can easily be satisfied by an incremental approach, developing several areas over time - rather than a completely new Semi-Urban Village.

Sensitively expanding existing villages via low density developments would provide over 8,000 new dwellings - compared to a single 'lump' of 2,000 at Wisley (ref: Wisley Property Investments (WPI) report prepared by Savills, Nov 2013).

Increased traffic movements via the proposed road access points at the Ockham/A3 roundabout/interchange (65%) and Old Lane (35%), will undoubtedly cause chaos on the local road network. At peak times this interchange/the A3 are already operating at 90-95% capacity.

Proposed public transport improvements - 3 or 4 extra buses? will have little effect on the access to the area for most residents. Commuting to London will realistically need to be via Effingham junction or Horsley Network Rail stations, only accessible via 2 local lanes/roads. These roads cannot possibly support (say) an extra 1-2,000 commuters trying to access the stations by car. The stations themselves have no further capacity for commuter parking, which will impact nearby residential roads.

In summary, my wife and I are completely opposed to the proposed large scale 'Semi-Urban Village' development at Wisley. We believe the documented alternative proposal for sensitive incremental development of existing villages is the option to take. This is in line with policy precedents and will provide over 4 times the amount of dwellings planned at Wisley, as required by the GBC local plan over the relevant timescale.

The updated proposals map for Effingham (Page 380 AND 381 of Appendix F) shows how the village boundary will be inset from the Green Belt and the relationship of this boundary to the Effingham Village conservation area.

We object to the amended Green Belt Boundary to Effingham Village on the grounds that it will lead to the merging of Effingham and Bookham and fails to give full consideration to the requirements of the NPPF in terms of the need to make full use of natural and man made features to create defensible green belt boundaries. The green belt boundary should be amended and the TREG site on Effingham Common Road to the north of the village should be taken out of the Green Belt. The Ancient Woodlands to the North and West should form defensible boundaries to the Green Belt instead of rear gardens to dwellings.

Below is a more detailed analysis of why the proposed village boundary to Effingham is unsound contrary to paragraph 80 and 85 of the NPPF. Attached is our Green Belt Assessment of Effingham Village which examines the character of the Green Belt here in far more detail and should be taken into account in the consideration of amending the Green Belt boundaries here:

Land north east of Effingham Village

- The area to the north-east of Effingham Village currently serves a number of green belt purposes in terms of preventing urban sprawl and keeping land permanently open in accordance with Section 9 of the NPPF. It is unsound to allocate land currently within the Green Belt that serves all of these purposes.
- Land to the North East of Effingham Village currently serves a number of these purposes, more so than other parcels of land adjoining the village, which should be allocated instead. Details are set out below:
  - Purpose 1: ‘To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas’: The parcel of land north–east of Effingham currently restricts the built up area of Effingham and Great Bookham and plays a vital role.
  - Purpose 2: ‘To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another’: This is the prime purpose of this piece of green belt as it prevents the villages of Bookham and Effingham from merging into each other. If this site was built upon then there would be a continuous development from one village to the other and the gateways between the two villages would completely disappear.
  - Purpose 3: ‘To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment’: The allocation of this site for development would lead to significant development encroaching into the Countryside. Unlike our client’s site opposite on Effingham Common Road, there are no natural or man made barriers to the north to prevent the Countryside form further encroachment in the future. This allocation is therefore contrary to advice contained within Paragraph 85 of the NPPF which states that local authorities, should define boundaries which are clear and use physical features.
  - Purpose 4: ‘To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns’: Effingham is an historic village and conservation area. However this site is not immediately adjacent to the historic core and development is unlikely to have a significant affect on the character of the village. Not withstanding this, the sites have an open character and forms a gateway into the village which is currently green fields leading into an historic core will be severely eroded as a result of this allocation.
  - Purpose 5: ‘To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’ This is not relevant here.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

The green belt boundary should be amended and the TREG site on Effingham Common Road to the north of the village should be taken out of the Green Belt. The Ancient Woodlands to the North and West should form defensible boundaries to the Green Belt instead of rear gardens to dwellings.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This policy identifies a need for 12,426 new homes within the plan period (2015-2034) and the revised delivery rate of 450 dwellings per annum (dpa) in 2019/20 rising to 850 by 2033/34.

This development strategy relies on the allocation and development of Wisely Aerodrome, yet this is an isolated location and does not represent a sustainable form of development. Wisley Airfield Aerodrome is located between the settlements of Effingham and Ripley, but due to its location, very close to the A3 and its junction with the M25 people living here will be over-reliant on their car and very unlikely to use public transport.

We object to the allocation of Wisley Aerodrome for development on the grounds that:

(1) This is an isolated location away from shops and services and this does not represent a sustainable form of development. The scale of development proposed (2000 houses) is not sufficiently large to support a sufficient number of shops and services in its own right and therefore residents will need to rely on the car to access other local shops, primarily in Ripley;

(2) The site comprises a designated Special Protection Area (SPA), Important Bird Area, Local Nature Reserve and Registered Common Land is also located to the north of the disused airfield within Ockham Common. The northern part of the site is within the 400 meter SPA buffer where residential properties cannot be accommodated.

(3) Approximately 17 ha of the airfield to the north west is safeguarded under the Surrey Waste Plan and should be preserved for this important strategic facility.

(4) Aerodromes by their very nature have an open character and are within isolated locations and the character of this site, including its linear and open character does not lend itself to development.

(5) The site currently serves a number of green belt purposes in terms of keeping land permanently open in accordance with Section 9 of the NPPF. It is unsound to allocate land currently within the Green Belt which serves these purposes for the following reasons:

Purpose 3: To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment. The allocation of this site for development would lead to significant development encroaching into an isolated open Countryside location where there is currently very little development. It would have a detrimental impact on the open character of the area and countryside.

Purpose 5: ‘To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land’. The former runway represents previously developed land, but it has an open character in an isolated countryside location. Development here has the potential to make alternative regeneration sites within Guildford less attractive to developers and potentially less viable.

A far more sustainable form of development would be to release green belt sites adjacent to large villages which already benefit from existing shops and services and are within a short distance to an existing train station.

Effingham is a sustainable location for development, yet the revised Local Plan fails to allocate any significant sites for development here despite it being within cycling distance from Effingham Junction railway station and containing a number of shops and services.

We support the areas around villages as sustainable locations for housing development and suggest that more housing is allocated in these areas as this is preferable to the allocation of Wisley Airdrome.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

The Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study and SHLAA and LAA are unsound as set out below:

Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment AND Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment

- We set out our case for consideration of a ‘sustainable mixed use development’ on a green belt sites in Effingham (Land West of Effingham Common Road (Presumed Site Ref. 1408?) in submissions made to Guildford Borough Council (GBC) on 15th October 2010 and 19th January 2011 (copy of covering letters enclosed in the appendices) as a result of Guildford’s ‘Call for Sites’. In both cases we submitted planning and landscape appraisals, constraints plans, Transport and Ecological Assessments and schematic master plans. We also submitted an assessment of each sites Suitability, Availability and Achievability in line with the SHLAA Practice Guidance. We confirmed that both sites could be delivered within 6 – 15 years and we requested due consideration in the ongoing review of the SHLAA and Green Belt and Countryside Study.

- However the SHLAA failed to include an assessment of the site submitted. We set out further concerns and copied our original submission to GBC in a letter dated 10 September 2013. Yet the updated (2014) SHLAA still failed to include an assessment of this fringe site and the published report offers little robust justification as to why this is the case.

- The Guildford Borough LAA (2016 and Addendum 2017) does include a list of 'Green Belt, Discounted Sites'. We can only assume that our site is included as Site Ref: 1408 'Land West of Effingham Common Road';

- Regulation 18 (3) of the Town and County Planning (Local Planning (England) Regulations 2012 places an obligation on GBC to consider all representations to the Local Plan. This states that "in preparing the Local Plan, the planning authority must take into account any representations made to them". Having reviewed all documentation in detail, our submissions to the SHLAA ‘Call for Sites’ are and remain ‘invisible’.

- Normal practice is for all sites offered in the SHLAA ‘Call for Sites’ to be assessed. This allows an objective and consistent appraisal to be made initially of each site, unconstrained by (but still mindful of) existing local polices. This establishes what land supply there may be available to meet development needs and provides a transparent comparison of options available to meet these needs. This initial appraisal of sites then further be tested for allocation through the Sustainability Appraisal process.

- The SHLAA sets out the sources used to identify sites and confirms that this included information from the Green Belt and Countryside Assessment (GBCA). However the SHLAA itself provides no real justification for the methodology followed and it appears that the GBCS has had an overbearing and unjustified influence on the SHLAA assessment criteria. When we questioned officers directly, GBC provided the following justification for the exclusion of certain sites in the SHLAA by stating (email of 2nd November 2011, Heather Sandell to Martha Covell). ‘Please be aware that the SHLAA is being informed by the Green Belt and Countryside Study. ……It is not possible to obtain the SHLAA assessment sheets as the work on the SHLAA is still in progress. For sites outside of the village settlements and urban areas, the Green Belt and Countryside Study is effectively the assessment sheet. If sites are not identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study as potentially suitable for residential development, no further assessment work is required.’ A further email on 22 August 2013 states ‘All land in the Green Belt cannot possibly be suitable for development, if it were, it would of course undermine the whole purpose of the Green Belt. We have used our GBCS to test suitability of land suggested to us that is in the Green Belt.’

• The NPPG (6/3/2014) sets out the methodology that should be undertaken in preparing housing and economic land assessments. In relation to Stage 1 ‘How should sites/broad locations be identified? It states: ‘When carrying out a desk top review, plan makers should be proactive in identifying as wide a range as possible of sites and broad locations for development (including those existing sites that could be improved, intensified or changed).
Sites, which have particular policy constraints, should be included in the assessment for the sake of comprehensiveness but these constraints must be set out clearly, including where they severely restrict development. An important part of the desktop review, however, is to test again the appropriateness of other previously defined constraints, rather than simply to accept them. Plan makers should not simply rely on sites that they have been informed about but actively identify sites through the desktop review process that may have a part to play in meeting the development needs of an area.’

• Whilst the SHLAA does not allocate sites, there can be no justification for the rejection of sites from further assessment within the SHLAA, based solely on their inclusion within current green belt boundaries, which as the Local Plan Issues and Options version, confirms in paragraph 6.5, establishes the special circumstances to require the green belt boundaries in the Borough to be reviewed. It remains our view that the GBCS and SHLAA evidence conflates the distinctive roles of each and contrary to the purpose of each study.

• On this basis, the Local Plan process fails to comply with Regulation 18(3) and the emerging plan is unsound as there is no evidence that GBC have had regard to any of our submissions and made an appropriate assessment of all sites, including fringe sites. This is contrary to guidance contained within the NPPG.

Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study

• GBC’s methodology is that if sites are not identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS) as potentially suitable for residential development, no further assessment work is required and the site is excluded also from the SHLAA. Hence the Green Belt Study is critical. Despite the significance of the document, GBC have not consulted on the study (unlike Mole Valley who consulted on the GB Review methodology) and the weight that can be attached to it is therefore limited. We object on the grounds that the Council have failed in their legal duty to co-operate in this respect.

• Paragraph 1.3 of the 2013 Summary Report confirms the key requirement of the study is to inform Local Plan options by assessing ‘sustainable locations for green field release’. Whilst ‘sustainability’ is the golden thread running through plan making and decision taking process (Paragraph 14 of the NPPF) the methodology adopted in the GBCS gives little weight to the five main purposes of the green belt as set out in the NPPF (paragraph 80).

• We acknowledge there is no statutory guidance and methodology for undertaking a green belt review. But since the commencement of the Guildford Green Belt Study in 2009, there has been a considerable quantity of emerging practice to illustrate a sound approach.

• The Gloucester/ Cheltenham/ Tewkesbury (GCT) Green Belt review for example contains an examination of practice much of which is endorsed as being soundly based. This review identifies parcels of land for assessment purposes and then assigns a significance rating to the contribution of each parcel against each green belt purpose.
It makes no further technical assessment.

• This approach differs greatly from the Guildford GBCS, which judged each parcel against the Green Belt purposes on a Yes or No basis, rather than a comparative rating. It then identifies potential development areas based on environmental capacity and accessibility, the latter offering no quantifiable evidence. Further more the parcels of land assessed are large and in themselves have a diverse character. The parcels pay little regard to physical features that can define green belt boundaries and therefore the assessment is contrary to paragraph 85 of the NPPF and is unsound.

- The approach blurs the distinction between the Green Belt assessment process and decision-making. Such considerations are better dealt with as part of the testing of potential development areas, when a wider range of factors can be taken into account within the remit of the sustainability appraisal.

- It is clear that the failure to apply a significance test to the review of parcels in the GBCS has resulted in many parcels all scoring well in green belt terms and hence undermining the reviews principle purpose. A yes/no judgment is an unsound approach and ‘scoring’ parcels which the GBCS mistakenly has done, does not enable any differentiation between the significance of parcels and hence the impact of development on green belt purposes.

- This is illustrated for example throughout the commentary on Potential Development Areas (PDA) in Volume 1 of the GBCS, which repeatedly states that green belt purposes are not significantly compromised (e.g. Table 1.27 “D10 and E9 provide opportunities to accommodate appropriate development without significantly compromising green belt purposes). No test of significance has been applied in aggregate to the green belt purpose of each parcel and hence renders the exercise ineffective and this point is acknowledged in GBCS Vol. 1 paragraph 1.8: “If the high scoring parcels were removed from consideration it would have meant a number of villages could not have included a PDA...it was considered that to initially exclude villages from being able to accommodate a PDA as part of this Study may conflict with subsequent spatial strategies identified by the Council”. Similar points are also made in Volume 3 paragraph 10.2 and 10.3.

- Parcel E9 and the identification of PDA E9-B is a good example of the unsoundness that results from the approach adopted.

- The Environmental Capacity Analysis for Effingham, as contained within Volume III provides inconsistent analysis of the settlement gateways and the existing and proposed ‘defensible green belt boundaries’. It states:

‘Open ground is located to the north of Leewood Way and Lower Road. Access to the open ground to the north of Leewood Way (TREG consulting site) is limited and potential development is considered to conflict with the perceived settlement ‘gateway’ on Effingham Common Road. Open ground to the north of Lower Road and the horticultural nursery is framed by mature tree belts and woodland at Thornet Wood’.

- This analysis is incorrect for three reasons, namely:

  - (1) the open ground located to the north of Leewood Way (TREG Consulting site) benefits from direct access off Effingham Common Road and also direct access from some of the rear gardens off Leewood Way;
  - (2) The master plan proposals developed by TREG Consulting show that the proposals could preserve and enhance the ‘perceived settlement gateway’ due to the high embankments, established tree belts and sensitive design features;
  - (3) The mature tree belt to the north, east and west of the Leewood Way site (TREG Consulting site) is not identified, even though it comprises ancient woodland to the east, a road to the west and a mature tree belt and embankment to the north. This compares with the Lower Road site, which gives Thornet Wood considerable weight and allocates it as a potential ‘defensible’ green belt boundary.

  - Secondly the analysis in Volume III identified two ‘settlement gateways’ to the north and east of Effingham, yet the analysis is given different weight as the site adjacent to the eastern gateway is identified as a PDA and the site to the north is not. Indeed the analysis of the eastern gateway (Lower Road) confirms that this gateway plays a more significant role than the northern gateway (Effingham Common Road) as this comprises open ground and is within the Effingham Conservation Area. It states: ‘East: The perceived settlement gateway is located along Lower Road and the A246 Guildford Road to the east of the village.... Open ground to the east of the village maintains separation between Effingham and Little Bookham to the east. This open ground is also located within Effingham Conservation Area’.

  - Volume IV of the GBCS starts to define new Green Belt boundaries. Stage 2 ‘Assessing the locations for potential Green Belt defensible boundaries surrounding each village within Guildford Borough’ lists defensible green belt boundaries ‘which provide physical and/or visual separation to the wider Green Belt’ but the features listed are very inconsistent and the assessment is subjective. For example in the Effingham Assessment, the boundary ‘2R’ is a fence line. But in reality this is a very low fence at the end of residential properties and has been taken down and includes gates in some situations. The edge of the urban area is very ‘raw’ and evident in landscape terms here and this is not actually a very defensible green belt boundary. In contrast, the fence lines and boundary walls near to ‘2B’ on the opposite side of Effingham Common Road have been disregarded. Instead Thornet Wood ‘2A’ a considerable distance to the north, has been taken into account.

◦ The TREG Consulting site, on the west side of Effingham Common Road has tree belts/woodland surrounding it to the north, east and west yet these, with the exception of the woodland, have all been disregarded.

◦ We have also noted inconsistencies in the GBCS e.g. the assessment of development impact on village ‘settlement gateways’. Of the 37 ‘settlement gateways’ identified in the GBCS, only one gateway to the north of Effingham on Effingham Common Road, adjacent to TREG Consulting site, has been assessed for development impact. Either such an assessment (which as we have set out, we consider strays beyond the scope of a GB review) is made against all ‘settlement gateways’ or not at all. As it stands, this is clearly an inconsistent use of evidence and wholly unjustified.

◦ We have undertaken our own Green Belt Assessment of Effingham based on testing significance and have submitted copies with this representation.

◦ On the basis set out above, we consider Volumes 1 to 5 of the GBCS are unsound and lack sufficient robust justification for the identification of Potential Development Areas within the Green Belt. To make the GBCS sound we recommend the adoption of the significance test as we have outlined and submitted in reviewing the published green belt recommendations.

Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment AND Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment

• We set out our case for consideration of a ‘sustainable mixed use development’ on a green belt sites in Effingham (Land West of Effingham Common Road (Presumed Site Ref. 1408?)) in submissions made to Guildford Borough Council (GBC) on 15th October 2010 and 19th January 2011 (copy of covering letters enclosed in the appendices) as a result of Guildford’s ‘Call for Sites’. When we questioned officers directly, GBC provided the following justification for the exclusion of certain sites in the SHLAA by stating (email of 2nd November 2011, Heather Sandell to Martha Covell), ‘Please be aware that the SHLAA is being informed by the Green Belt and Countryside Study. ……It is not possible to obtain the SHLAA assessment sheets as the work on the SHLAA is still in progress. For sites outside of the village settlements and urban areas, the Green Belt and Countryside Study is effectively the assessment sheet. If sites are not identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study as potentially suitable for residential development, no further assessment work is required.’ A further email on 22 August 2013 states ‘All land in the Green Belt cannot possibly be suitable for development, if it were, it would of course undermine the whole purpose of the Green Belt. We have used our GBCS to test suitability of land suggested to us that is in the Green Belt.’

• The NPPG (6/3/2014) sets out the methodology that should be undertaken in preparing housing and economic land assessments. In relation to Stage 1 ‘How should sites/broad locations be identified? It states: ‘When carrying out a desk top review, plan makers should be proactive in identifying as wide a range as possible of sites and broad locations for development (including those existing sites that could be improved, intensified or changed). Sites, which have particular policy constraints, should be included in the assessment for the sake of comprehensiveness but these constraints must be set out clearly, including where they severely restrict development. An important part of the desktop review, however, is to test again the appropriateness of other previously defined constraints, rather than simply to accept them. Plan makers should not simply rely on sites that they have been informed about but actively identify sites through the desktop review process that may have a part to play in meeting the development needs of an area.’

• Whilst the SHLAA does not allocate sites, there can be no justification for the rejection of sites from further assessment within the SHLAA, based solely on their inclusion within current green belt boundaries, which as the Local Plan Issues and Options version, confirms in paragraph 6.5, establishes the special circumstances to require the green belt boundaries in the Borough to be reviewed. It remains our view that the GBCS and SHLAA evidence conflates the distinctive roles of each and contrary to the purpose of each study.

• On this basis, the Local Plan process fails to comply with Regulation 18(3) and the emerging plan is unsound as there is no evidence that GBC have had regard to any of our submissions and made an appropriate assessment of all sites, including fringe sites. This is contrary to guidance contained within the NPPG.

- I am not at all happy regarding the proposed development in Normandy.
- 1) Green Belt land, which is known for its wildlife - birds, deer, foxes and wildflowers will be ruined.
- 2) roads, the village is known to set gridlocked when the A31 or A3 is blocked. What will happen if you add another 2000 cars. Vans, lorries on the roads, the junctions at Guildford Rd Glasier lane and Westwood Lane can be a problem now.

- During rush hours its difficult to turn right from willows Park.
- 3) Condition of the Glasier lane and Westwood lane surface of roads is poor now. Future?
- 4) Doctors surgery- can be difficult to get an appointment now. 2000 people will overwhelm the surgery.
- 5) Do we need another secondary school? We have 5 in Guildford Borough already.
- 7) Damage to woodland by construction work- knock on effect on wildlife.
- 8) Flooding Normandy is known for its high water table, more buildings and concrete will not help.
- 9) what percentage of new homes will be social housing? We do not have enough in the village. Normandy will lose its appeal as a village to settle in.

A big building plan will be detrimental to the area and should be stopped.

Please stop and consider local Brownsites not Green Belt land.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

With reference to your letter of the New Local plan which will influence planning decisions in the Borough, and will have a massive impact on East and West Horsley. I wish to object most strongly.

East and West Horsley have always been in the Green Belt and should continue to remain so. Both villages’ roads are overflowing now with traffic schools are full also the doctors surgeries (and the royal Surrey).

We do not need more houses or more residents.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The large number of previous objections made by the local people has been ignored.
- The increase from 45 homes to 60 homes is too high.
• It will make worse the traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction.

Land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43

I object strongly to the Policy A43 change at Garlick ’s Arch because:

The proposed number of 400 homes is excessive. We do not have the schools and medical services large enough to cope with this influx of at least another 800 people.

There is no proven demand for Travelling Show people plots in this location.

Ripley and Send will be joined up.

Thousands of previous objections have been blatantly ignored

It is ancient woodland and needs to be protected at all costs.

It is currently a flood zone 2 allocation and subject to frequent flooding.

Fifty years of shooting has resulted in contamination by lead shot.

The traffic in the area is already excessive, with long delays occurring in Send Marsh Road and Send Road at peak times. The proposed increase in housing will only exacerbate the situation.

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because:

- There is absolutely no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt. There are empty sites remaining at Slyfield and Guildford.
- Because of all the objections made previously, this was deleted from the 2014 draft.
- The 2016 plan has changed the word "minimum" to "maximum" and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. In fact, the 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough, NOT a huge over-allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
- The traffic, which is already too heavy, will be vastly increased.
- The existing villages will be joined up and the Green Belt lost.

I strongly object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

- Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate.
- The vehicular access along Tannery Lane (in both directions) is extremely restricted.
- It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation.

I sincerely hope that my objections will be sympathetically considered and that common sense prevails. Once the Green Belt has been lost and our beautiful villages spoilt there is no turning back.

The infrastructure of our villages is not able to support a substantial increase in population and traffic. The houses will not be affordable because in this area nothing is affordable. This can be seen by the 5 bedroom executive homes that are built on any bit of land that does become available. The only people who will benefit from these plans are those who will be involved in the building, thereby increasing their bank balances.

I was astonished to read that East Horsley is regarded as a Rural District Centre. There is a variety of shops in the Village centre but no more than might be expected in a rural, not urban, Village of its size. To state that Station Parade has a large supermarket is simply not true. There is a convenience store, Budgens, but it certainly cannot be described as a large supermarket. Furthermore the car parking arrangements in the Village centre are very limited and in the vicinity.

Thank you for your invitation to take part in the consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan. I have considered this carefully and find that there are several aspects that are unacceptable and to which I object.

First and foremost I object to the incursions that are proposed into the Green Belt. Changes to the boundaries of the Settlement Area, development of Green Belt sites outside the Settlement Area and insetting of East Horsley, which is essentially a rural village, all remove land from the Green Belt. This can only be accepted if they are necessitated by exceptional circumstances -which have not been demonstrated.

A very considerable increase (over earlier plans) in the proposed annual number of houses to be built appears to be without evidence of any justification for the need. Any increase of this magnitude would place unacceptable burdens on the local Infrastructure. For example the Horsley Medical Centre is seriously overloaded as evidenced by the difficulty and delay in making appointments to see doctors. This can only become worse if there is a significant increase in the number of residents.

Vehicular traffic already places great burdens on local roads, in particular Ockham Road which is used by numerous heavy vehicles as a convenient cut through from the A3 to the A246. This should be discouraged since cars or lorries frequently need to mount footpaths in order to pass with consequent damage to gullies, verges and paths which are not designed for such loads and consequently break down. The hazards to pedestrians and cyclists are considerable. Any substantial increase in housing, and therefore residents and cars, will exacerbate an already dangerous situation.

As an ex-resident of [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] (1968-1989) I was flooded twice and narrowly missed the flood on the third occasion. I realise new flooding relief was constructed remembering that the original flood water came from the 'GARLICK ARCH' side of the Portsmouth road- the building of a concrete town of 400 houses will ensure the accelerated run-off of storm water into the lower 'WIMPEY ESTATE'.

ALL the above development will invariably increase the load on the schools and the medical facilities- already heavily overburdened.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

REASONS FOR OBJECTION:

1. Site A46 is Greenbelt land. Government policy is to protect the greenbelt. Exceptional circumstances have to be proved in order to justify releasing greenbelt land for development but this has not been done by GBC.
2. The proposal of a new secondary school on site A46 does not constitute those exceptional circumstances as existing secondary schools can accommodate the increase in pupil numbers which might be generated by the proposed housing development. To attempt to justify the housing development in terms of the alleged need for a new secondary school, which in fact is not needed, is a spurious and circular argument in GBC’s plan.
3. Site A46 is a sensitive site of agricultural and ecological value. Other developers have suggested other sites which are less sensitive but GBC has overlooked those in its proposed local plan.
4. The local infrastructure is unable to cope with the consequences of the proposed development in terms of traffic flows. The country lanes which bound it are already overstretched at peak times. From where I have lived for nearly 50 years it is already a risk every time to access Westwood Lane by the single lane under the railway bridge.
5. Also the local infrastructure is unable to cope with surface water and is subject to flooding. Concreting over site A 46 can only exacerbate the problems already existing. Building in a flood plane is not sensible policy.
6. It is a principle of planning (NPPF) that local people have a critical input into planning policy. Why should I and I suggest nearly all the local people of Normandy and Flexford have their views disregarded by a developer-led plan of GBC?

At the April 13th GBC Planning Meeting, Normandy I [text unreadable] named as a 'strategic site' when only 6 weeks [text unreadable]. We were assured that this land between Flexford and Normandy had red sensitivity.

I see too that you wish us to have a '60 bedroom Nursing Home'. We want neither the Nursing Home nor the volume of traffic' it would generate. Please stop allowing bungalows to be ruined by building a second [text unreadable] thus rendering them unsuitable for elderly residents who also not wish to leave the village, yet are perfectly able to live alone and have neither need or wish for a nursing home. People who wish for a house should not buy a Bungalow!!!

Retail space? Do not bother. Normandy had many shops but one by one they have closed because everything is cheaper in town or on line.

Transport - have you, in the past few years had a hospital; or other appointment for 9am? Unless you leave Normandy at 7.30 you will be late!

As you can see, I live in the Paddocks, I am disabled, my Doctors Surgery is at the lower end of Glaziers Lane. I have a buggy but dare not try to go to the surgery in this. There is, until past the surgery, only 1 footpath in Glaziers Lane, either on the east or the west side, involving crossing the road twice at the two most dangerous points, one on a blind bend with no lowered kerb, the other close to the north side of the railway bridge where traffic speeding from the south side just does not see you until they are on top of you - oh - the pavement of the north side of the bridge is slipping away and tries to tip you over. The traffic is bad at the moment (sat no directions). We cannot cope with more traffic!

Six traveller pitches - be fair! We already have more than our share - who incidentally, flout your rules constantly.

Secondary School for 1500 students! Why? We all are well aware that the existing local schools are under subscribed. Are they to hold classes overnight? They won't be on time for 9 O'Clock. Extended railway station car park - I suggest an airfield would be more [text unreadable] then there would be much more hope of arriving on time.

1,100 new homes! Choke the Green Belt between 3 Hamlets! I fully realise that people need homes but in the Guildford area there are many other villages, hamlets and areas of scrub land (not nature habitats) that could well share the burden of development. I am also aware that developers want arable land, not scrub land as it is much more profitable, but what happens when oil runs out and food is not so cheap to transport? We shall need arable land.

I am very concerned that these plans were made public so close to the time that we were assured that we were a 'Red Preservation Area' in the Green Belt, forcing us all to believe that negotiations were already taking place with Taylor Wimpey.

Finally, a village green! How dare Taylor Wimpey or yourselves imply that such a thing is necessary, Normandy has a very friendly community and many times during the year we have organised events on our excellent village green, including the excellent children play area. It seems that what it being planned is not just Normandy taking a fair share of development but (considering the meaning of the word 'rape' means inserting a foreign body into an unwilling recipient) the 'rape' of Normandy.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.
The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highecotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.
The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.
The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.
Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.
I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary. My wife and I currently experience considerable traffic congestion on the A247 through Clandon and on the A3 between Ripley and Guildford. Just in recent days this has caused us:
- To be late for work
- To be delayed returning home (including taking 30 minutes to travel the last mile home on the A247).
- To miss appointments
- To get caught in traffic jams on the A3 for routine shopping trips
- To lose a wing mirror, knocked off by a large truck passing through the narrow sections of the A247 in Clandon

The further substantial congestion that would be caused by the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield, Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm is unacceptable and unsustainable.

In addition, we strongly oppose the proposed changes to the Green Belt and the insetting of villages. There are no specific exceptional circumstances to justify amendments to Green Belt boundaries. Proposed developments in supposedly protected areas are in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.
I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.
Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These new need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
3. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
4. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.
5. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
6. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.
2. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt.
3. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
4. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
5. Local roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). An example of severe congestion for much of the day is the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
6. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration of the road surfaces and additional parking problems.
7. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians and also bicycles, which have become a serious traffic issue since the Olympics.

8. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

9. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

10. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes.

11. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
5. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
6. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
7. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
8. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
9. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.
10. I object to the potential impact of para 4.4.23a on Burnt Common with its over allocation of industrial zoning is subterfuge for a waste management facility which is a dishonest and underhand approach to planning and proper consultation.

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have been through the Guildford Local Plan and have the following high-level comments to make:-

Infrastructure must come first and delivered in the appropriate order. Due cognisance must be afforded to the work being undertaken by Highways England with regards the A3 prior to any other major roads being considered (such as the CLLR). As part of any infrastructure work constant monitoring of air quality must be paramount as Guildford has a poor record in this area.

I am also concerned that with so many new homes being planned, detailed studies are undertaken to ensure that services such as sewage, water and power are adequate to support the growth. Obviously we must build new homes where viable but GBC must ensure that a high proportion of these new homes are affordable or social housing to ensure that our young people can live in the borough.

GBC must pay due regard for the green belt, our environment and the preserving of AONB. I am totally opposed to the insetting of our villages (e.g. Jacobs Well) and removing them from the green belt.

GBC must also pay due regard and preserve our flood plains. They are there for a purpose and have served Guildford and Surrey well for hundreds of years. There should be no building of houses or roads on designated 3B flood plains or building in areas where the water tables and streams will be affected. It should be noted that AECOM high-lighted SARP as a project with significant flood risk.

With regards the many traveller pitches in the plan, for Guildford Borough, GBC must ensure that DCLG Planning Policy for Traveller Sites (August 2015) is applied.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We have read the objections and comments made by the East Horsley Parish Council and agree with their observations. We however wish to add the following:

- We object to any building on good quality green belt, which was set up in the first place to provide open spaces for recreation and to enhance residential areas.
- Effingham Junction station, which is nearest to our house, is exceptionally busy in "rush hour" indeed the car park is full. Trains are very congested.
- The M25 which would provide access to other areas for work by any new inhabitants, is normally at a standstill in the rush hour period. The A3 north to London in rush hour is very full. The A3 by-pass round Guildford needs enlarging.
- The local school - The Howard of Effingham - may be moving to a new site and we understand doubling in size. Some 3000 pupils we understand. Surely this really is too large as the local roads have enough difficulty delivering the current number of pupils to the school. So new schools and roads will be required. Will the proposed primary school/secondary school at the Wisley proposed development be adequate?
- With house prices being what they are in the local environment will the teachers be able to acquire accommodation?
- Will new build house prices be capped so that new joiners to the housing market can afford them?
- There appears to be no provision for council houses.
- The Royal Surrey is our local hospital - it is working at full stretch. So are Frimley and Epsom. A new hospital is required.
- There is a totally inadequate local bus service.
- The local roads are inadequate for the proposed developments

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to building 45 houses on Clockbarn Nursery because of the inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is a quiet single lane country road and is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The traffic volume has increased dramatically since the Business Park has grown and it is very dangerous. I have seen six cars backing up each way to get around a bend on many occasions. The junction to Send Road is also extremely hazardous for vehicles trying to access the main road. Planning permission has been granted for 64 homes on the Tannery Site and a new Marina both of which will generate heaving traffic.
There are also bats on the site which are a protected species. We also see Lapwings and Cuckoos every Spring and early Summer. All these endangered species will disappear. Every winter we get flooding in our garden, so badly that we have to pump out the water to stop incursion into the house. Building on this area will increase this risk.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the new interchange on the A3 with Burnt Common because Send would have to take the traffic from the proposed 2000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2000 houses at Gosden Hill, Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm. Much of this traffic to and from the A3, M25, Woking and Guildford would go through Send. Send Barns Lane and Send Road are already overloaded, and quite often gridlocked during the morning and evening peak hours. This is would make this road impossible and would increase pollution and noise levels, which are already excessive. This must be avoided.

I OBJECT to building 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick's Arch, opposite Send Marsh Road. The site floods and is covered by ancient woodland. The industrial space is not needed but if it were it should be at Slyfield. Guildford's housing needs have been grossly exaggerated and they have refused to disclose their calculations. With proper use of brownfield sites this Green Belt site is not needed.

I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and two travellers' sites on land opposite Winds Ridge on Send Hill. It is an inappropriate development because the road is a single width country road providing insufficient access. The site was previously land- fill and contains documented unsafe landfill waste registered with Guildford Borough Council. Any development will spoil a high amenity area set in beautiful countryside.

I OBJECT to Send, Ripley and Clandon being removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was intended to be permanent, as required by the National Planning Policy Framework and there are no special circumstances to justify abandoning it. The Green Belt around the three villages provides an essential buffer stopping Guildford and Woking becoming one huge suburb. Local councillors and central government gave a clear election promise to protect the Green Belt and this reneges on it. Developers will be quick to take advantage and there will be nothing to stop them.

I object to Policy A42 change at Clockbarn Nursery Tannery Lane, Send, because:

a) There is an increase of 33% in the number of homes from 45 to 60. This is far too many for this rural area.

b) The traffic along Tannery Lane and at the junction to the A247 (Send Road) is already very busy during rush hour. The increase in houses and therefore traffic will make it intolerable

c) Severe water surface flooding will be made even worse.
d) It will have a greater impact on the countryside views from the River Wey.

e) Hundreds of previous objections from local people seem to have been ignored

I object to the Policy A43 Change at Garlick's Arch because:

1. a) It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
1. b) It will generate excessive traffic that will block the local roads in Send and Ripley
1. c) There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots on this location
1. d) It will cause over development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
1. e) It is a beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances" exist
1. f) It will join Ripley up with Send and defeat the object of the Green Belt
1. g) It is an exquisite ancient woodland that existed in the time of Elizabeth 1
1. h) It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently in a flood zone 2 allocation
1. i) The land has been contaminated by lead shot for over fifty years

I object to Policy A58 Land at Burnt Common Send because:

1. a) It had been deleted from the 2014 draft There Local Plan because of all the objections previously made.
1. b) There are empty sites and industrial units at Slyfield and Guildford therefore there is no need to build warehouse or industrial development in the middle of the green belt.
1. c) The impact on the small surrounding roads will be intolerable and create traffic gridlock. It is like this most of the time anyway especially if there are problems on the A3 or M25.
1. d) The employment land Need Assessment (2017) shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares in Send on the Green Belt.
1. e) The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since then there has been a decline in demand for industrial land.
1. f) This over development will join up existing villages and defeat the object of the Green Belt.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

1. b) Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is totally inappropriate
1. c) It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation canal and the Wey.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am a resident of East Horsley village and have been for the past 9.5 years. My husband and I moved out of London because we wanted to live in the countryside and wanted our children to be brought up in a quiet village without the pollution, noise or close proximity of others as you would expect in a town or city.

It has been brought to my attention that Guildford Borough Council have put forward an amended Local Plan proposing to build over 2000 houses on Wisley Airfield, nearly 600 new houses in East and West Horsley and to take East and West Horsley completely out of the Green Belt.

I do not agree to any proposal to take the Horsleys out of the green belt. It is essential that green belt land is maintained at all costs for the sake of flora and fauna. The beauty of the Horsleys is the countryside that surrounds it. It is vitally important to protect the beauty of our green land and the natural habitats it protects. Wisley Airfield is on your Guildford Borough Sites of Nature Conservation Importance and is therefore one of the areas you have promised to protect from Developers. I understand that the "exceptional circumstances," required before taking this action have not been met.

I further object to any attempt to extend the settlement boundaries of the Horsleys or to the re designation of the Station Parade as a District Centre.

In my view it is not possible for the existing infrastructure in the villages of Ockham, West and East Horsley to accommodate the increased volume of housing proposed. In particular:

1. The villages have narrow roads which will not accommodate constructions traffic and traffic from the increased population.
2. The rail services are already strained with commuters having to stand to Waterloo on certain trains.
3. Existing problems with flooding and sewerage systems will be exacerbated.
4. The doctors' surgery will not be able to cope with any increased population numbers.
5. The local school in West Horsley could not accommodate any further increases in population. I also object to the proposals being made for a new primary school to be built on existing green belt land.

Please do not go ahead with any of the proposals for new housing in the Ockham, West and East Horsley villages as this will only destroy the character of the villages I love so dearly.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

Whilst I recognise that each Borough has a responsibility to provide housing I object to the way that the plans have become biased against the north east of the Borough. This has been achieved as a result of the removal of site A46 from the Plan (1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the Borough. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the 11,350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Ripley, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the Borough.

Equally importantly, the north east of the Borough is not a major source of employment and does not have good transport links, public or otherwise. It is therefore inevitably that already congested road infrastructure will become even more crowded with resultant environmental issues — something which will effect existing and new residents alike.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4 and A44) from the Plan

Faced with an excess of housing planned for the Ripley area I am unable to understand why site A4 in Guildford has been removed from the Plan. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail — thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to:

“have adopted a ‘brownfieldfirst’ approach” (page 5)

but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the potential and ill-defined increase in housing allocation at A43 Garlick’s Arch’

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause coalescence of these villages.

Moreover, the inclusion of the site A55 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch). The Borough Council’s reasons for including Garlick’s Arch A43 in the 2016 Plan were:

a) The site [A43] location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, ... (site allocation A25) [than the Burnt Common site did ]”
b) The site [A43] provides the employmentfloorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs”

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan the separation issue is clearly being ignored as BOTH sites (which are almost contiguous) are in the plan; therefore the Borough Council is not following their own guidelines and objectives. There is no justification for this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)
This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:

1) to hide the number of houses actually being built (A24, A25, A26 — total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!); and ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 — 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object the change in policy on affordable homes (Policy 4.2.23)
The previous version of the plan stated that:

“Developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value”.

The 2017 version says:

“Off-site provision or payment in lieu is expected to enable the same amount of additional affordable housing as would have been delivered on site.”

So the developer doesn’t even have to provide any ‘affordable’ homes, just to make a negotiated payment to the Council. This is very unlikely to result in the construction of these ‘affordable’ homes. Moreover, in my time in Ripley, I have seen the results of the Borough Council’s laxness on affordable housing whereby a developer was allowed to increase the number of bedrooms in the houses he was building with the result that potentially affordable houses became too expensive.

POLICY D1 Making better places

PART SUPPORT, PART OBJECT

We support the emphasis on views, natural features, local distinctiveness, and layout of surrounding buildings.
There is no reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas and we object to the absence of this from this policy. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines which are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force.

The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design – should it not result in better designed buildings?

POLICY D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy

Generally OBJECT The emphasis on energy and waste hierarchies and reduction of carbon emissions as part of building design are welcomed. However, the emphasis on CCHP (Combined Cooling Heating and Power) and communal heating networks seems curious – no such networks are currently locally available. There is an element of “Greenwashing” – the imposition of aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the simple fact that building dormitory towns is environmentally unsustainable. These all require increased car use and will lead to increased congestion and so air pollution and higher carbon dioxide emissions and a few solar panels on roofs will not compensate for the considerable environmental cost.

POLICY D3 Historic environment

PART SUPPORT, PART OBJECT The policy appears reasonable. However, conserving and enhancing the historic environment may be damaged by supporting ancillary development. In historic locations (Chilworth Gunpowder Mills, the NT sites like Clandon Park or Hatchlands, Guildford Castle, Guildford Museum, etc.) this policy needs to have an overriding emphasis on protection rather than supporting development. The emphasis on supporting some development – in the context of an authority that has already set in place aggressive reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre – should be viewed with some caution. The reasoned justification seems reasonable but it must be noted that it is the wording of the policy, rather than the associated explanation, that must be key.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages

OBJECT There are effectively two separate parts to this policy, both are flawed, and in the case on insetting, fatally flawed. In the case of urban development there are numerous flaws, including:

- The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be affordable, but this does not provide any accommodation for low paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy “affordable” homes, nor can they pay the so-called “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors.
- The number of homes planned in the urban area is too low – there is a need for regeneration in some areas, but this is ignored and instead the plan concentrates on building homes on green field sites, which does not meet the needs for housing within the town, especially with the centre. This is not a sustainable policy as building outside the town has a disproportionate effect on road traffic.
- The plan envisages a large expansion of the traditional “bricks and mortar” retail sector, but this is a sector in long term decline.

POLICY E1 Meeting employment needs

OBJECT because

• the evidence base is unreliable
• there is unclear differentiation between B class uses
• only high added-value business uses are desirable, not low grade, low employment warehousing which is land hungry
• industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (e.g. Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
• the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate

POLICY E6 The leisure and visitor experience

OBJECT Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions”. Overdevelopment of countryside is a risk.

Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, Guildford is distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. Guildford would be wise to model itself on other historic towns like Bath, Chester and York. The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town.

Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford being a stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. The countryside can offer high quality tourism – including cycling, National Trust sites, open countryside and cultural events including theatre and opera – which is lucrative. This is not recognised fully.

POLICY E7 Guildford Town Centre

OBJECT. There should be much more residential use of the town centre. There is limited need for further retail, which will disadvantage existing retailers as well as using valuable land inefficiently. Existing niche retailers should be supported, but this does not mean further retail expansion which could be counterproductive. There is an urgent need for a brownfield register and to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. CIL strategy must promote brownfield redevelopment. Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. It would be a great mistake if Guildford were to opt for large impersonal department stores and dull high street chain stores at the expense of exploiting its uniqueness and character which would afford greater benefits.

POLICY H1 – Homes for all

OBJECT. The housing mix is based on the assumptions set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which has not been scrutinised or evaluated and so we must object overall. I support high density development in the urban area. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up suitable family accommodation in the urban area. Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs and this should be taken into account when evaluating need for travellers.

POLICY H2 – Affordable homes

OBJECT. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions means homes which are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even at 70% rented this means that these homes will not be cheap, and starter homes will not be made available for local people. There is a viability clause (4.2.40) which means that in practice this could be unenforceable. We would be losing countryside for no local benefit.

POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

OBJECT. This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (this includes agricultural land and the AONB). These homes could be homes for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

OBJECT. This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (this includes agricultural land and the AONB). These homes could be homes for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development). Village facilities

The infrastructure of the West Horsley, as well as East Horsley cannot support a potential effective doubling of the households and residents.

The villages are extremely rural in character. East Horsley has one public house, a church, a hotel, very few shops, and not one state school. The two boys only private schools already produce significant traffic problems at each end of the school day on Ockham Road North and the A246.

Secondary school places are limited at the Howard of Effingham School and other secondary schools are a greater travelling distance from the village.

West Horsley alone includes no less than 41 listed buildings, some dating back to the 15th century. West Horsley has one shop, no post office and one highly over-subscribed school.
The single medical centre shared between East and West Horsley is similarly over-subscribed and residents have difficulty in getting appointments. Such a massive increase in population as proposed would stretch this service to beyond breaking point. The planned population increase for the Borough would also mean a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to allow it to cope.

Parking facilities are extremely limited in the shopping areas of East and West Horsley, as well as Horsley station. The impact of such a large increase in population as proposed would overstretch these facilities. It would make it difficult if not impossible for many of the older and less mobile inhabitants to reach the shops, and most importantly the medical centre and chemist.

Roads

Traffic generation from the proposed development would be considerable, with most households having two cars, many with three.

The Street, which constitutes the only entry to West Horsley from the A246, is very narrow, and it would not be possible to widen it. This road is already often perilous, particularly when large lorries, buses and tractors pass through. To increase such traffic, which would result if the proposed developments were to proceed would be wholly irresponsible.

Transport

- West Horsley’s bus service through the village is extremely limited and only operates two/three times per day Monday to Friday.
- The bus service running from Guildford to Leatherhead travels along the A246 at the southern end of the village and is really only of use to residents living within a maximum of eight to ten minutes walk from the bus stops at the Bell and Colvill roundabout.
- Parking at Horsley station is limited and sometimes full on a weekday. There is no land to create additional parking for the increased need that the proposed expansion would bring.

POLICY II Infrastructure and delivery

OBJECT Various aspects of Infrastructure are acknowledged as congested, inadequate for the existing population and not able to accommodate much growth. However, greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – are targeted in order to generate CIL income for the council. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

The Council’s methodology assessing traffic and roads infrastructure needs is inadequate. It identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration.
Some proposed locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

POLICY I2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy”

OBJECT This policy is concerned only with the strategic road network – the A3 and M25 for which the responsibility and decision-making lies with Highways England. It is only reasonable that the council will work closely with Highways England to ensure that the Local Plan does not utilise land in a way that limit the scope for future improvements.

However, the proposals for the A3 are undecided and the council has suggested a very expensive tunnel proposal that, even if HE decided to go ahead with it, is unlikely to be delivered until the end of the plan period. Less expensive alternative A3 improvements would not be delivered before implementation of the current draft Local Plan and would deliver a massive growth in traffic. The road improvements are likely to lead to massive disruption to traffic during the construction phase on top of an already overloaded road network. It would be folly to make matters worse by committing to a massive housing number and the only logical conclusion is that a very significant traffic constraint should be applied to the OAN for this Local Plan.

POLICY I3 Sustainable transport for new developments

OBJECT We support the concept of sustainable transport but object on the grounds that the practicalities have not been properly considered.

It is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and call them sustainable. Not everyone can cycle all the time.

How can large developments outside the town centre maximise sustainable travel? This is a matter for the planning process – the further from the town centre, the less sustainable the development will be.

Reliance on cycling discriminates against vulnerable members of the community. How can the disabled, those with small children, or the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill, cycle outside the town in order to commute, or even inside the town? Only some people cycle –and Guildford has some steep hills, especially going out of town. Park and rides are slow – how can those with a three hour commute add one hour to their journey from using park and rides?

The only sustainable mechanism for new developments is to have them in the town centre close to the railway and the main shopping links where a “hoppa bus” can provide satisfactory links for those who cannot walk or cycle.

While we welcome the intention to encourage rail travel by adding two new stations (subject to negotiation with Network Rail) there could unintended consequences.

Impact on Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty

The impact of the proposed housing estates would be to blight the surrounding areas of outstanding natural beauty. Many of the proposed sites are so close to such areas that it would no longer be appropriate to refer to these as such, as they would become reducing areas of green countryside, surrounded by urban sprawl.

Most of the areas proposed for potential developments are contiguous with AONB and it is my understanding that statutory protection is afforded to areas contiguous with AONB.

Impact on Wildlife

The impact on wildlife in the Horsleys would be devastating. In my own garden, I have had grass snakes, hedgehogs, weasels, toads and deer and have observed red kites and woodpeckers. These species would be under threat form loss of habitat, and in some cases, predatory cats, the population of which would increase with the proposed rise in homes.

OBJECT The Policy shows concern for conserving and enhancing biodiversity, which is welcome. We also note and welcome the intention to extend the principle beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. The Council needs to completely rethink its priorities and very carefully consider the views and requirements of the borough’s residents. We need a less contentious and more viable plan, which proposes a sustainable and suitable level of development. The use of brownfield sites should be high on the agenda.

Therefore, I object to Policy P2 and the other policies as referenced below in the strongest possible terms.

I have outlined below why this is the case based on my specific local knowledge of the area where I live. I have also included my general objections to various policies within the plan.

Policy P2: Green Belt Status

There is no justification or believable rationale that the land in question can be removed from the green belt. This view is the opinion of the local residents, which will be evidenced by the number of letters you have already received on this subject, plus a petition and strength of local opinion against the proposed development. The residents are overwhelmingly disappointed with those they have elected to represent them, and are horrified that they have agreed to adopt such policy.

National policy on the Green Belt, as set out in the National Policy Planning Framework, makes clear that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate and should only be approved in very special circumstances. Planning guidance also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt.

- Amongst other relevant factors, the National Framework states:
- The core planning principles that underpin plan-making include both protecting the Green Belts and recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside.
- Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances.
- The purposes of the Green Belt include checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, preventing neighbouring towns merging into one another; and assisting in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.

Therefore, the Council’s plan is at completely at odds with the Government’s national policy, and alternative, more suitable and logical action should be taken – e.g. the National Framework does allow for redevelopment of previously developed sites (brownfield land) – although again, under certain guidelines.

- The large number of houses (385 homes on Green Belt land in West Horsley alone) identified for potential development in West Horsley would be totally out of character with the existing make-up and layout of the village.
- The village settlement is comprised of low density housing with a considerable mix of ages and housing styles, including a good number of historic buildings
- The need for so many houses in Guildford borough, never mind West Horsley, has not been proved in the Consultation documents.
- Through a 2014 housing survey, West Horsley Parish Council has confirmed a limited need for 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village.

I write with regard to the above. There are proposals to put 70% of the new housing on either Green Belt or on countryside beyond the Green Belt - i.e. most of the new homes are not being put on urban brownfield sites. To do this, will require the insetting of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and the proposal that infilling is acceptable within a further 12 villages within the Green Belt. I am also concerned that “infilling” is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Essentially, all the villages within the Green Belt are now vulnerable to extensive further development.

Green Belt is supposed to be protected as a matter of national and local policy, but this policy seeks to justify development in a supposedly protected area, in breach of local manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation.

Taking my local villages of East and West Horsley as examples, the plan indicates 533 new houses. This will completely change the character of the area forever, which is unjustified and unnecessary – like the vast majority of the overall plan.

Therefore, I object to Policy P2 and the other policies as referenced below in the strongest possible terms.

I have outlined below why this is the case based on my specific local knowledge of the area where I live. I have also included my general objections to various policies within the plan.

Drainage /flooding

The land between Silkmore Lane and Ripley Lane is frequently subjected to such serious flooding that Ripley lane becomes absolutely impassable several times per year. This land slopes significantly towards Ripley Lane, and during periods of sustained rainfall, flooding always occurs. Severe flooding also frequently occurs on The Street, East Lane, and Long Reach, to the extent that these roads, and in particular the hill under the railway line often become impassable.

This is also the case in the road where I live – Green Lane. There is already an under-capacity of existing drainage, sewers and treatment works to cope with heavy rainfall. When heavy rain does occur, the water in the toilets in our house rises alarmingly, and the drains and sewers flood the road and our garden, requiring several visits from the water company to clean and sanitise the ground. The current infrastructure is unable to deal with the requirement.

POLICY P3 – Countryside (i.e. countryside beyond the Green Belt)

OBJECT. This seems more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt which is anomalous. I think that the brownfield areas within the urban area are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There should be no need to build on any green fields if brownfield (previously developed) land is used efficiently. (That does not mean garden-grabbing!).

However, I do not think this area justifies stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. This policy refers to the area of countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent this area should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should – by definition - have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas, which is not the case with this policy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Drainage /flooding

The land between Silkmore Lane and Ripley Lane is frequently subjected to such serious flooding that Ripley lane becomes absolutely impassable several times per year. This land slopes significantly towards Ripley Lane, and during periods of sustained rainfall, flooding always occurs. Severe flooding also frequently occurs on The Street, East Lane, and Long Reach, to the extent that these roads, and in particular the hill under the railway line often become impassable.

This is also the case in the road where I live – Green Lane. There is already an under-capacity of existing drainage, sewers and treatment works to cope with heavy rainfall. When heavy rain does occur, the water in the toilets in our house rises alarmingly, and the drains and sewers flood the road and our garden, requiring several visits from the water company to clean and sanitise the ground. The current infrastructure is unable to deal with the requirement.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY P4: Flood risk and water source protection zones

OBJECT. There are aspects of this policy which are acceptable; it is sensible to protect groundwater source protection zones, provided that the maps are accurate.

However, urban development on hardstanding does not create increased flood risk, especially where there is the capacity for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high value brownfield land which may not be used for housing because of this policy. The footprint of existing buildings should not be the limit of future development, but the extent of existing hard standing. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, but some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the train station, provides an exciting opportunity for real urban regeneration which could protect the surrounding countryside.

POLICY P5: Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Areas

OBJECT. This policy is weak. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small and negligible as to be meaningless.

SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial; the sites identified or targeted are already green space. To create SANG is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces. There is no actual increase in environmental protection; it is a policy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds - must ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the special protection areas.

POLICY S1 – Presumption in favour of sustainable development

OBJECT. While this wording is based on the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) – which is binding - this policy fails to recognise that development in rural areas, with inadequate transport and other infrastructure, cannot cope with the proposed scale of development. It is unsustainable. This should represent an absolute constraint on development.

POLICY S2 – Borough Wide Strategy

OBJECT. 13860 homes are proposed. This number has not been scrutinised by councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden. It is not reasonable to produce unsubstantiated numbers in order to justify major structural change in a widely protected area (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB, approx. 75% protected by SPA).

It is inappropriate to allocate this housing number, either over the plan period OR across projected sites, when the number itself is unsubstantiated. External consultants and members of the public have provided detailed criticisms of the model. If the housing number were substantially lower, and only met housing need, there would be no need to build on Green Belt or open countryside.

The number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permission, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds 13860. Guildford residents would not accept building homes on open countryside to meet Woking’s designated “need” but this seems to be implied.

PART SUPPORT, PART OBJECT We support the emphasis on views, natural features, local distinctiveness, and layout of surrounding buildings. There is no reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas and we object to the absence of this from this policy. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines which are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force. The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design – should it not result in better designed buildings?

- the evidence base is unreliable

- industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (e.g. Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
- the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate

We do NOT support consideration of sites on the edge of district centres for town centre uses.

OBJECT. The housing mix is based on the assumptions set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which has not been scrutinised or evaluated and so we must object overall. I support high density development in the urban area. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up suitable family accommodation in the urban area. Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs and this should be taken into account when evaluating need for travellers.

OBJECT. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions means homes which are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even at 70% rented this means that these homes will not be cheap, and starter homes will not be made available for local people. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The Council’s methodology assessing traffic and roads infrastructure needs is inadequate. It identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place.

OBJECT Various aspects of Infrastructure are acknowledged as congested, inadequate for the existing population and not able to accommodate much growth. However, greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – are targeted in order to generate CIL income for the council. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT We support the concept of sustainable transport but object on the grounds that the practicalities have not been properly considered,
It is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and call them sustainable. Not everyone can cycle all the time.
How can large developments outside the town centre maximise sustainable travel? This is a matter for the planning process – the further from the town centre, the less sustainable the development will be.

Reliance on cycling discriminates against vulnerable members of the community. How can the disabled, those with small children, or the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill, cycle outside the town in order to commute, or even inside the town? Only some people cycle –and Guildford has some steep hills, especially going out of town. Park and rides are slow – how can those with a three hour commute add one hour to their journey from using park and rides?
The only sustainable mechanism for new developments is to have them in the town centre close to the railway and the main shopping links where a “hoppa bus” can provide satisfactory links for those who cannot walk or cycle.

While we welcome the intention to encourage rail travel by adding two new stations (subject to negotiation with Network Rail) there could unintended consequences.

OBJECT
This policy is much weaker than previous protection. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. Note that this welcomes housing development. The Surrey Hills needs much more substantial protection. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated.

WHAT CHANGES (2016)/FURTHER AMENDMENTS (2017) DO YOU SUGGEST SHOULD BE MADE TO THE DOCUMENT?

ATTACHED DOCUMENTS:

Comment ID: pslp171/509  Respondent: 10799169 / Neal Basson  Agent:
Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy P2

I write with regard to the above. There are proposals to put 70% of the new housing on either Green Belt or on countryside beyond the Green Belt - i.e. most of the new homes are not being put on urban brownfield sites. To do this, will require the insetting of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and the proposal that infilling is acceptable within a further 12 villages within the Green Belt. I am also concerned that “infilling” is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Essentially, all the villages within the Green Belt are now vulnerable to extensive further development.

Green Belt is supposed to be protected as a matter of national and local policy, but this policy seeks to justify development in a supposedly protected area, in breach of local manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation.

Taking my local villages of East and West Horsley as examples, the plan indicates 533 new houses. This will completely change the character of the area forever, which is unjustified and unnecessary – like the vast majority of the overall plan.

Therefore, I object to Policy P2 and the other policies as referenced below in the strongest possible terms.

I have outlined below why this is the case based on my specific local knowledge of the area where I live. I have also included my general objections to various policies within the plan.

There is no justification or believable rationale that the land in question can be removed from the green belt. This view is the opinion of the local residents, which will be evidenced by the number of letters you have already received on this subject, plus a petition and strength of local opinion against the proposed development. The residents are overwhelmingly disappointed with those they have elected to represent them, and are horrified that they have agreed to adopt such policy.

National policy on the Green Belt, as set out in the National Policy Planning Framework, makes clear that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate and should only be approved in very special circumstances. Planning guidance also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt.
Amongst other relevant factors, the National Framework states:
- The core planning principles that underpin plan-making include both protecting the Green Belts and recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside.
- Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances.
- The purposes of the Green Belt include checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, preventing neighbouring towns merging into one another, and assisting in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.

Therefore, the Council’s plan is at completely at odds with the Government’s national policy, and alternative, more suitable and logical action should be taken – e.g. the National Framework does allow for redevelopment of previously developed sites (brownfield land) – although again, under certain guidelines.
- The large number of houses (385 homes on Green Belt land in West Horsley alone) identified for potential development in West Horsley would be totally out of character with the existing make-up and layout of the village.
- The village settlement is comprised of low density housing with a considerable mix of ages and housing styles, including a good number of historic buildings.
- The need for so many houses in Guildford borough, never mind West Horsley, has not been proved in the Consultation documents.
- Through a 2014 housing survey, West Horsley Parish Council has confirmed a limited need for 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1 ABSENCE OF POLICY ON RIVER WEY

We object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that:

1.1.1 It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest;

1.1.2 The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved;

1.1.3 Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved;

1.1.4 Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations.

1.1.5 The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved

2 GREEN BELT SITES

We object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan

We object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints.

The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.” This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013.

This amounts to a war of attrition by the Council in conjunction with developers, since many busy residents are sick and tired of repeating the same comments to deaf ears. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014.13

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF.

The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy A25 Gosden Hill

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt, the site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

If this development proceeds WE believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

WE object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below). The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

We object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.
1.1.1 Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

1.1.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

1.1.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities.

The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB.” We question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils.

Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic. through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

We question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” We consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

We object to Policy A35 Wisley

We object to the re-inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers to try again. There is in any case no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. This is not an NPPF “presumption in favour of sustainable development” but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who had already been given many additional months to refine their application before it was rejected. Residents are disturbed by apparent political links between the ruling Conservative group on the Council and individuals connected to the developers, a shadowy Cayman Islands company. Policy A35 should be deleted from the plan for all the reasons the development was rejected by the Planning Committee, including:

1. Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances”. 2. Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land: 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.

3. Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).

4. Proximity to A3/M25 bottleneck and Ripley village and roundabouts. 5. Absence of adequate traffic data.
6. Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.

7. Loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.

8. Disproportion of locating of over 2,000 dwellings within the ancient village of Ockham with just 159 households.

10. Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.

11. Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.

13. Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA.

15. Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.

16. Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).

17. Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

We object to policy A42 Clockbarn Nursery

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The site is part of the permanent Green Belt at Send and should remain undeveloped in order to preserve the amenity of the surrounding area. The site has very restricted access along Tannery Lane which is narrow and for most its length only capable of providing access for cars in one direction. Development of the site is not therefore sustainable or practical. Tannery Lane already provides access to a Business Park which generates a considerable amount of traffic at all times of the day including lorries. This narrow country lane cannot cope with any more traffic. Planning consent has already been granted, rather unwisely given the access problems, for 84 flats and a marina. Anymore development at this location would not be sustainable. The junction with Send Road has poor visibility and is dangerous for traffic entering and leaving Tannery Lane.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy A43 Garlick’s Arch

There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result. We object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt.

Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in Send, Ripley and Clandon will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. We object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk.

The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well we are aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site. We object to the proposal to build 7,000 sq m of light industrial, general industrial or warehousing on the site at Garlick’s Arch. There is no need to place a Strategic Employment Site in this location when there is plenty of spare space available at Slyfield (40 ha). The Employment Land Needs Assessment (ELNA) 2015 has been reduced by 80% since the ELNA 2013.

There is no longer any need to place industrial development in the Green Belt when there are plenty of brownfield sites available. We object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
We object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600. We object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. We object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces. Many of the affected villages, such as Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested.

Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians. We object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. We have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services. Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable. We object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2).

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. We have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network.

The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse. We object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health. We object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8).

There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2). It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a). The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities.

There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send.

Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through Clandon and Burnt Common.

This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

We object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C). The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We object to policy A44 Send Hill

There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The proposed development is not sustainable because of poor infrastructure. Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site for travellers or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring. The site is a high quality green belt amenity area within beautiful surrounding countryside and would be spoilt by the development. A Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb the water table and increase risk of flooding to surrounding properties. The site was used as a GBC registered landfill site and shown on the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps as “refuse and slag heap”. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons. On the 1971 Ordnance Survey the site is shown as a “refuse tip” prior to when proper licensing/registration was required.

The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. We therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be a health hazard due to the unknown materials. GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well recording methane gas discharge. A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies the proposed site as GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/11/LLC with type of waste not identified. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations.

We therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be a health hazard due to the unknown materials. A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/12 with type of waste identified as “unrestricted”.

This causes concern as to what it does contain and the dangers if disturbed. An Envirosrch Report RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 and historical map data and information from GBC has identified the site as landfill and has “areas of potentially contaminative industrial activities” and “potential risk from landfill gas migrations”. Development of this site would be a health hazard.

This land is located with land parcel H12 as identified in GBCS Vol IV. The land is DEFRA agricultural land Grade 3A and has been farmed traditionally for pasture (sheep and cattle) and for grain (wheat and barley) in perpetuity. The land contains many stands of scheduled Ancient Woodland. It is contended that the land contributes to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt between the settlements of Flexford and Normandy and should remain ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt.

Legal Precedent

We object to the removal of the land allocated to Policy A46 by removal from the Green Belt by “inset” under NPPF para 83 and 84. We believe that current case law militates against the removal of land by the re-drawing of Green Belt boundaries without the express presentation in the written Local Plan of the “exceptional circumstances” proposed to redraw the Green Belt boundary for the land in Policy A46. We draw attention to the following cases:

- Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
- IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J

In the Solihull BC decision in particular

“Exceptional circumstances are required for any revision of the boundary, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt. That is the ratio of Carpets of Worth.

Whilst each case is fact-sensitive and the question of whether circumstances are exceptional for these purposes requires an exercise of planning judgment, what is capable of amounting to exceptional circumstances is a matter of law, and a plan-maker may err in law if he fails to adopt a lawful approach to exceptional circumstances. Once a Green Belt has been established and approved, it requires more than general planning concepts to justify an alteration.”

We contend that no “exceptional circumstances “ for such re-drawing of boundaries have been offered by GBC in the context of the Local Plan process, so how can residents judge the veracity of this proposal?

Guildford Borough Settlement Profiles (July 2013) & Settlement Hierarchy (May 2014)

We object to the use of a 2010 survey of parishes that was not represented to parish councils as to be part of the Local Plan evidence base in an attempt to present the two settlements as one so as to better suit the pre-determination evident in the council officer's thinking even at this early stage in the consultation. It is recognised in the Settlement Hierarchy that Flexford and Normandy are separate settlements, neither rank highly based on their individual sets of community facilities and services (Normandy 13, Flexford 27 sustainability ranking in Settlement Hierarchy report). It is disingenuous to represent them as a combined community. The ward contains five hamlets in a dispersed area. There is no traditional community centre. The incorrect assessment in the Settlement Profile document has been pointed out under Regulation 18 consultation but the council continues to include this flawed document as evidence. It should be discounted and removed from the evidence base.

Use of educational provision as “exceptional circumstances”

We object to the proposed site of Normandy/Flexford (Policy A46) for a new Secondary School; this should be rejected as the need for such a school in the location has not been proven.

In its last submission to GBC (July 2014) Surrey County Council, in its official response, said: "A site within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm, with all necessary access infrastructure built in and a catchment surrounding the site, would be a more sustainable location in transport terms for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford." Why has GBC not heeded this advice?

Every neighbouring secondary school is currently undersubscribed, Kings Manor in particular with 57% of its school places currently unoccupied. The birth rate which rose in 2011 and 2012 has reduced for the last two years, so building new schools now is a mis-direction.

GBC in the Infrastructure Delivery Plan, May2016 indicate that SED 3, IDP p87, a 7-form entry (7FE) secondary school at the Normandy / Flexford strategic development site, requires only 1 FE to serve the development site itself, the remaining capacity would serve the wider area, including Blackwell Farm site (Policy A26). However, given that the proposed Blackwell Farm development is for 1,800 dwellings, on a pro-rated basis of children of secondary school age within the arising population, this would only require a maximum of 2FE. Together, the Blackwell Farm site and the Normandy/Flexford site require only an estimated 3 FE provision. The proposed school is excessive in size, being more than twice as large (7FE) as the estimated need (3FE), and as other information provided here indicates, this is well within the funding and expansion capabilities of existing schools in the western wards of Guildford borough and the western side of the town.

The addition of forms of entry [FE] to current schools will be a much more cost effective and sustainable in the long term if there is a reduction in need – an empty classroom is cost neutral in terms of annual budgets, but an empty school is unsustainable, having spent millions of Pounds of Department of Education capital budget creating it, it would be a huge waste of money.

Adding forms of entry to several existing schools will see the costs absorbed after the initial capital cost needed to create a few extra rooms – but they still only require one headteacher, one set of staff etc. The Head Teacher and Chairman of Governors at Ash Manor School have offered to co-operate with a programme to expand that school, as had the Principal at Kings College - although now undersubscribed significantly, if it needs expansion in the future there is space and a willingness to do so.

If GBC wishes to proceed with this proposal, SCC Education Officers need to demonstrate a clear and undisputed need for such a school at this location, given the current under-subscription of all the neighbouring local secondary schools surrounding Normandy.

It should also set out how such a new school will be financed. If not, the site should be rejected.

Undersubscribed Secondary Schools

Kings College, Guildford

The school is currently 57% undersubscribed. The capacity at the school is 900 pupils, and there are only 389 on the school roll (43% utilised) with 511 vacancies. Kate Carriett, Principal at Kings College has said very clearly: "There is absolutely no need for another school in Guildford, its crystal clear". She also said that when Kings College is fully subscribed, there is capacity on that site to further expand the school, to accommodate more pupils well into the 2020's if then needed.

The New Guildford University Technical College

This is due to open in 2018, and will take 240 pupils from the age of 14 in its first year, and that will double to 480 places, relieving pressure on other schools.

Christ's College, Guildford

This school is already taking 30 more pupils a year than its admission number, because it has the space and capacity to do so, and is willing to take more still as it has further capacity

Ash Manor, Ash

The capacity of the school is 1,050 and it has 940 pupils, so is undersubscribed by 110 places. The Head Teacher and Chairman of Governors are quoted as saying that if needed they are supportive of the school being expanded to take more pupils by 30 places a year (so a total of an extra 150). They also expressed very strong concerns about a new school in Normandy, just three miles from their front door, and the possible negative effects on Ash Manor.

Connaught School

This is near Ash, just over the County Boundary in Hampshire - but is also undersubscribed by 90 places and available to Surrey children.

Hoe Valley Free School, Woking.
This brand new Secondary school only opened last September. It has an intake of 120 per year, with currently 95 pupils, so is undersubscribed in its first year by 25. But it will build up with 120 new places available every year for 7 years - making a total capacity of 840. It has no catchment area, and although will mainly serve Woking, will welcome applications from Guildford parents.

Consequently, there are currently 736 vacancies at the nearest secondary schools serving the western parishes - not accounting for the 480 extra at the new Technical College to open in 2018 - a combined capacity of 1,216. In addition to those, SCC has already approved expansions at the County School, Guildford and St Peters.

The birthrate in Guildford has fallen over the past two years and whilst it’s too early to know if that trend will continue, it is another factor to urge caution, and not to proceed at this time.

The case for a new secondary school in Normandy is therefore not proven. If there is such a need elsewhere in Guildford Borough, we don't believe it is needed in the location proposed at Normandy.

Contribution to the Purposes of the Green Belt

We object to the express overriding by GBC of the contribution the land proposed for Policy A46 makes to the 5 purposes of the Green Belt in response to a developer-led proposal for large-scale house building in the Green Belt.

The evaluation of the ‘land parcels’ in and around Normandy and Flexford is laid out in the tables in GBCS Vol 4. The ‘land parcel’ that contains the land proposed for Policy A46 is H12, evaluated against 4 purposes of the Green belt it performs as follows:

- Checks sprawl of Normandy and Flexford
- Prevents Flexford and Normandy from merging
- Assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment

Guildford Borough Council recognises the contribution the land surrounding and within the settlements of Normandy and Flexford makes to the five purposes of the Green Belt in identifying land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 of particular sensitivity in its re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1.

Contribution to ‘openness’ of the Green Belt

We object to the express rejection by GBC that the land proposed for Policy A46 fails to contribute to the “openness” of the Green Belt.

In the case of Normandy and Flexford, there have been two planning appeals concerning Gypsy pitches (Palm House Nurseries and Green Lane East) where the inspector agreed that land near Flexford and land to the west of Glaziers Lane exhibited ‘openness’. The inspector found in favour of the appellant on other grounds but the opinion on ‘openness’ in those judgements is evidence that the land around Normandy and Flexford is considered by the Planning Inspectorate to exhibit ‘openness’. A third more recent decision at appeal for housing development at North Wyke Farm found that the land contributed to the “openness” of the Green Belt.

- Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
- North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/3002308 Decision date: 14 July 2015

Impact on Surrey Hills AONB

The land designated as AGLV and identified as 12-1 in the Map AONB Boundary Review - Recommended Areas for Consideration and pp28-29 AONB Area of Search Evaluation - Natural Beauty Evaluation, Oct 2013 report to be added to the Surrey Hills AONB reinforces the proximity of valued landscape as it will add the north slopes of the Hogs Back overlooking Flexford settlement to the very boundary of Flexford settlement at Flexford Road.

Further, the land allocated in Policy A46 contains unrestricted view of the Hogs Back, part of the Surrey Hills AONB. Recent case law establishes that views out from open land to an AONB are as important as views into land overlooked by an AONB. Surrey Hills Management Board (of which GBC is a member) has submitted proposals to Natural England for land currently with local designation Area of Great Landscape Value on the north slopes of the Hogs Back above Wanborough and stretching down to Flexford Road at the southern boundary of Flexford settlement to be subsumed into the AONB and is currently awaiting ratification. The future potential presence of in excess of 1,000 houses visible at the periphery of the AONB with associated urbanising infrastructure (e.g. roads, perpetual street lighting, general light pollution, loss of ancient hedges and trees etc.) would do great harm to the views into the AONB from the land between Normandy and Flexford and from the Surrey Hills AONB.

Therefore it is concluded that ‘land parcel’ H12 is Green Belt land that contributes to the ‘openness’ of Normandy and Flexford settlements also contributes to the ‘openness’ of the surrounding country side and adjacent Surrey Hills AONB. Consequently, both settlements should remain ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt as stated in NPPF para.86 “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt”.

Thames Basin Heaths SPA

We object to the assertion that the creation of SANG will protect the rare ground-nesting bird species on this SSSI and Natura 2000 site from major disturbance and predation introduced by the building of 1,100 dwellings that give rise to hundreds of adults and children, vehicles, dogs and cats within 1 kilometre of this internationally important wildlife habitat. Policy P5 is concerned mainly with how to support large scale housing development in close proximity to the SPA than with protecting wildlife habitat and biodiversity. It fails to address appropriate Monitoring Targets for unregulated vectors of disturbance generated from large-scale housing development within the 400m-5km mitigation zone.

Natural England is the government agency that champions the conservation of wildlife throughout England. They have advised the eleven local authorities with land in the Thames Basin Heaths, that new housing within 5km of the SPA may harm the rare bird populations. Larger developments located between 5km and 7km of the SPA may also be affected. This harm can be caused by disturbance to the birds from a growth in the number of walkers, cats and dogs frequenting the heathland, and other recreational uses created by additional housing.

The 2012/13 visitor survey report commissioned by Natural England on behalf of the Thames Basin Heaths Joint Strategic Partnership Board showed not a static or falling number but a 10% increase in visitor numbers since 2005:

- 66% cited dog walking as the main activity
- 80% of interviewed groups had dogs
- 67% of interviewed groups had dogs which were seen off lead
- 39% specifically visited the SPA site was because it was ‘close to home’
- the average distance travelled was just over 2.5 kilometres (80% by car)

Only 1% of visitors accessed the TBHSPA from the Normandy/Flexford direction, so the additional disturbance caused by the building and then occupation of 1,100 homes by 2,000-3,000 residents and 1,250 additional vehicles will be significant. Importantly, the prevalence of dog walking in the visitor survey suggests that the currently available SANG in the borough is ineffective in attracting those wishing to exercise dogs away from the TBHSPA.

Simply claiming that the 2012 visitor study data indicates success of the avoidance strategy in drawing people away from the SPA is no evidence at all. Where is data based on measurement of visitor numbers to the available SANG within Guildford borough? Where is the evidence that SAMM programmes have any impact on the behaviour of residents that are dog owners? This would be more compelling evidence. Without it, a planning inspector has no means of finding the proposal of large-scale housebuilding at these sites sound. In response to an email from NAG, Natural England have admitted that no survey evidence exists of the effectiveness of SANG or SAMM programmes in directing dog-walkers away from TBHSPA in Guildford borough or any of the surrounding local authorities.
A survey of households carried out by a veterinary team at Bristol University in 2010 “Number and ownership profiles of cats and dogs in the UK” published in the Journal of The British Veterinary Association indicates 31% households own dogs and 26% households own cats. Dogs were more likely to be owned by rural households.

Creating 1,100 homes on Green Belt land between the settlements of Normandy & Flexford implies, on average, 340 dogs and nearly 290 cats; all housing to be located within 1 kilometre of the SSSI; for a dog owner, a 2-minute drive or 10 minute walk away.

The proposed SANG schedule in the Infrastructure Delivery Plan, May 2016 (IDP, SANG 13 p84) gives indication of neither the physical size nor location of bespoke SANG for Policy A46 (LAA Site 368); it is estimated that this proposed open space will be unable to cater adequately for 340 additional dogs plus their accompanying owners and there will be significant ‘leakage’ onto the TBHSPA.

We object to the proposal that the land that contains the majority of an SNCI should be proposed for housing development.

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states that “The purpose of planning is to help to achieve sustainable development” and it describes three “dimensions” relevant to this aim: economic, social and environmental. The explanation for how the environmental aspect plays a role includes the statement “…..helping to improve biodiversity, use natural resources prudently…..” This is a quote from point 7 of the section dealing with achieving sustainable development, in the NPPF.

In the section headed “Conserving and enhancing the natural environment” (section 11), it is stated inter alia that planning policy should protect and enhance valued landscapes and minimize impacts on biodiversity providing net gains in biodiversity wherever possible to halt the overall decline in biodiversity, by promoting “the preservation, restoration and re-creation of priority habitats, ecological networks and the protection and recovery of priority species populations…..”.

Guildford Borough Council (GBC) interprets the NPPF through their ‘Policy I4′ which emphasises the commitment to biodiversity stating: "The Council will conserve and enhance biodiversity and will seek opportunities for habitat restoration and creation, particularly within and adjacent to Biodiversity Opportunity Areas (BOAs)".

Proposals for development must demonstrate how they will deliver appropriate net gains in biodiversity. Where proposals fall within or adjacent to a BOA, biodiversity measures should support that BOA’s objectives. The Supplementary Planning Document (SPD) will set out guidance on how this can be achieved. European sites designated as Special Protection Areas (SPAs) and Special Areas of Conservation (SACs), National Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), local SNCIs and Local Nature Reserves are all shown on the Policies Map or as subsequently updated.

Policy 14 goes on to say that "Permission will not be granted for proposals that are likely to materially harm the nature conservation interests of local sites unless clear justification is provided that the need for development clearly outweighs the impact on biodiversity."

The majority of the site covered by this part of the development is designated as an SNCI and lies within an area identified as a ‘Water Vole Alert Area’ as identified by the National Water Vole Database and Mapping Project in 2012.

It is shocking that an SNCI should be considered a suitable site for development, particularly given the statements in the NPPF (Para 109) and Policy 14. We find it a telling insight into the very low value that GBC places on biodiversity and wildlife.

Policy A49: Land rear of Palm House Nurseries, Normandy

Response – GGG objects to this policy

Do you consider this section of the plan legally compliant? NO

Do you consider this section of the plan is sound? NO

Do you consider this section of the document complies with the Duty to Cooperate? YES

We object to the “insetting” of the land proposed for Policy A49. By proposing to ‘inset’ this site an ‘island’ urban site would be created, removing the ‘openness’ of this Green Belt land confirmed in the judgement of the Planning Inspectorate and similarly judged in the evidence of the GBCS Vol.4. We propose this land should continue to be “washed over”.

Legal Precedent

We object to the removal of the land allocated to Policy A46 by removal from the Green Belt by “inset” under NPPF para 83 and 84. We believe that current case law militates against the removal of land by the re-drawing of Green Belt boundaries without the express presentation in the written Local Plan of the “exceptional circumstances” proposed to redraw the Green Belt boundary for the land in Policy A46. We draw attention to the following cases

- Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
- IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J
In the Solihull BC decision in particular

“Exceptional circumstances are required for any revision of the boundary, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt. That is the ratio of Carpets of Worth.

Whilst each case is fact-sensitive and the question of whether circumstances are exceptional for these purposes requires an exercise of planning judgment, what is capable of amounting to exceptional circumstances is a matter of law, and a planner may err in law if he fails to adopt a lawful approach to exceptional circumstances. Once a Green Belt has been established and approved, it requires more than general planning concepts to justify an alteration.”

We contend that no “exceptional circumstances” for such re-drawing of boundaries have been offered by GBC in the context of the Local Plan process, so how can residents judge the veracity of this proposal?

Contribution to ‘openness’ of the Green Belt

There is no legal definition of ‘openness’ but it is specifically expressed in NPPF para. 79 that appears as the first paragraph in “Section 9 Protecting Green Belt Land”; ‘openness’ is matter of opinion and that opinion is often expressed in the decisions of Planning Inspectors when assessing a planning appeal.

In the case of Palm House Nurseries the inspector agreed in 2011 that land to the west of Glaziers Lane exhibited ‘openness’. The inspector found in favour of the appellant on other grounds but the opinion on ‘openness’ in those judgements is evidence that this land around Palm House Nurseries is considered by the Planning Inspectorate to exhibit ‘openness’.

Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011

“Openness

1. The Secretary of State agrees with the Inspector’s assessment of the impact of the proposals on the openness of the Green Belt at IR99-100, and his conclusion at IR101 that there would be considerable harm in this respect. For the reasons given at IR101, the Secretary of State also agrees with the Inspector's conclusion that the development would result in some limited harm to one of the five purposes of including land in the Green Belt identified in PPG2, namely that of assisting to safeguard the countryside from encroachment (IR101).”

Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol. 4

In the Green Belt & Countryside Study Vol 4, Land parcel H10 that contains the Palm House Nursery site was judged the fulfil three essential purposes of the Green Belt

1. Checks sprawl of Normandy
2. Prevents Normandy, Wood Street Village and Flexford from merging
3. Assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy D1
We object to Policy D1 Making better places. We object to the absence of any reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force. The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy

Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2. This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from futile attempts to rig the housing market. This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is meaningless, since no such networks are available locally.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object to policy D3 Historic Environment

This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites.

This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s aggressive reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the “reasoned justification”, the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes.

Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

We object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages

Summary

There are effectively two separate parts to this policy, both are flawed, and in the case on insetting, fatally flawed. In the case of urban development there are numerous flaws, including:

- The plan envisages a large expansion of the traditional “bricks and mortar” retail sector, but this is a sector in long term decline.
- The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be affordable, but this does not provide any accommodation for low paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy “affordable” homes, not can they pay the so-called “affordable” rent. There is a great need for an expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors.
- The number of homes planned in the urban area is too low – there is a need for regeneration in some areas, but this is ignored and instead the plan concentrates on building homes on green field sites, which does not meet the needs for housing within the town, especially with the centre. This is not a sustainable policy as building outside the town has a disproportionate effect on road traffic.

In the case of insetting, the policy is fatally flawed, for two separate reasons.

- Firstly, it is based on an erroneous assumption. GBC justify the policy (in para 4.5.50) by suggesting, without any supporting data, that development in villages washed over by the green belt is at a lower rate than within Guildford town. This is not the case, and statistics from the ONS censuses of 2001 and 2011 show that this is assumption is incorrect. These statistics show that the growth rate in housing was higher in, for example, Effingham, a village washed over by the green belt than Merrow, a suburb of Guildford which is not washed over by the green belt. In fact, the rate of increase in housing stock in Effingham was faster than the average for the borough.

- Insetting has been based on the assumptions set out in the Green Belt and Countryside Study, but this is not referred to as part of the Evidence base. The analysis in this document was flawed to the extent that it is valueless. It has serious flaws in its methodology, includes subjective judgements, and thus its conclusions are flawed. These flaws are so serious that it should be removed from the evidence base that supports the Local Plan. However, removing the reference but retaining the decision process means that the decisions are based on flawed assumptions.

Urban development

There is a fundamental flaw in the draft Local Plan, in that there are not enough dwellings planned in urban areas, in particular, Guildford town centre. This is where the demand for affordable homes is most acute, a fact which is recognised in much of the draft Local Plan. Yet the plan then envisages that most dwellings will be built outside the urban area, so there is no continuity in the plan – if the demand for affordable homes is most acute within the town, then is where these dwellings should be built. There are sites available, for example, various sites in Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close (including the area around the station) and North Street. Yet the focus in these areas is to provide a very limited number of dwellings, with the emphasis on additional retail space and more commercial premises. Given the profound changes in traditional retail, this is not a sustainable policy. There have been many examples of bankruptcies amongst traditional retailers, the most recent examples being BHS and Austin Reed, and previously Woolworths, Comet, etc. The British Retail Consortium forecast that by 2020 up to one third of those now employed in traditional retail could lose their jobs, due to a combination of the move to the internet and higher costs, from business rates and increases in the minimum wage. Recent figures show that online sales are still growing quickly, with more than 13% of total retail sales now made over the internet. Nor does an expansion in traditional retail chime with the objective of attracting highly paid jobs to the area – the majority of jobs in retail are low paid, with zero hours contracts and usually a pay rate based on the minimum wage. So any expansion in traditional bricks and mortar retail would create a greater demand for affordable and social housing – exactly the reverse of what is needed.

Even the major grocery retail chains have been affected by changes in retail habits – Tesco, Sainsburys, Morrisons, etc are closing some stores, with no major large stores planned. Banks and other financial institutions are still closing some branches, so changes in town centres still have some way to go – but none of these changes are recognised in the draft Local Plan, which envisages no limit to traditional retail.

There is another reason why the retail sector is unlikely to exhibit long term growth, and this is consumer debt, which has reached a level that the Bank of England have said could contribute to economic stability. This is likely to have a greater destabilising effect in the event of an economic downturn – and there will certainly be at least two of these during the life of the Local Plan. Retail spending simply cannot be maintained indefinitely at its current rate, and to plan for a large increase in consumer spending is irresponsible.

So there has to be a reappraisal of the urban development plans, with more homes provided in urban areas, in particular in the centre of Guildford, before there is any consideration of building outside the urban area. These are not separate policies to be considered separately, but hang together as part of a holistic plan. As the council own many sites in the centre, these could be made available for development within the first 5 years of the plan, with mixed housing on these sites, including new social housing, which is sorely needed. Affordable housing is simply not affordable to anyone on the minimum wage, there is a need for a considerable expansion of social housing, a need that is not adequately recognised in the draft Local Plan.

In the detail of Policy D4, it suggests that in urban areas and inset villages planning permission will be granted provided that a proposed development:

- “Ensures that the layout, scale, form, massing, height of buildings and structures, and materials relate to the site context and its surroundings;”....
There are several other criteria listed and the Policy then goes on to elaborate criteria specific to inset villages, as follows:

“In addition to the above, proposals for new development within inset village areas will have particular regard to:

- The distinctive settlement pattern of the village and the important relationship between the built development and the surrounding landscape;
- Important views of the village from the surrounding landscape;
- Views within the village of local landmarks.”

There are numerous development sites proposed that mean that the first criterion cannot be met, as the developments proposed do not relate to the scale, form or massing of the site surroundings. For example, in West Horsley and East Horsley, there are number of sites where this does not apply. It is proposed that a total of 3.6 km² should be removed from the green belt, with a total of 533 houses proposed on sites in East and West Horsley on a total of 29.1 ha, an average density of 18 dwellings/ha. These proposed developments are not in scale or proportion to the existing villages, and the housing density is considerably higher than existing housing density. Effectively, if these developments were to proceed, East and West Horsley would merge and become a large urban area in the green belt, totally different in character to the existing villages, with the existing settlement pattern completely lost. Similar considerations apply to other proposed development sites, such as Flexford and Normandy. In this case, 1.3 km² would be removed from the green belt and a total of 1100 dwellings proposed on 67 ha, with an average density of 16.4 dwellings/ha. Again, the scale and form would overwhelm existing hamlets and villages, merging these to form another urban area in the heart of the green belt, with no consideration of the views of the settlements from the surrounding countryside, much of which has been given AONB status.

Thus the words of the policy statement D4 do not match the proposals contained in the draft local plan.

The “Reasoned Justification” for the policy consists of five paragraphs, 4.5.48 to 4.5.52. Of these, 4.5.48 and 4.5.49, 4.5.51 and 4.5.52 are not justifications for the policy, they are simply statements or further information. Paragraph 4.5.50 is the only attempted justification for this policy, but in fact this applies only to insetting. Paragraph 4.5.50 is factually wrong and so the justification for this policy does not bear close examination. Parts of this paragraph are taken in turn below, to show the inaccuracies this paragraph contains.

“Historically, development has been focused in the urban areas of Guildford, and Ash and Tongham only. Development in the villages has been very limited due to the Green Belt designation which previously washed over all but one of the villages.”

This depends on how development is measured. In terms of raw numbers, this may be true, but this would ignore the fact that urban area of Guildford town contains much of the housing in the borough. Taking the increase in housing stock between the censuses of 2001 and 2011 in a specific wards reveals a much more complex picture. The village and ward of Effingham, for example, had a higher rate of adding dwellings than the average for the borough and for at least some of the Guildford urban wards. Using census data collected by the ONS, between 2001 and 2011, the number of dwellings in Effingham increased by 6.6%, whereas for the borough as a whole it increased by 5.0%. Over the same period in Merrow, a ward within the urban area of Guildford, the number of dwellings increased by only 1.2%, whilst in Normandy ward the increase was 2.6%. This analysis has not been exhaustive, but it is sufficient to show that the opening statement in paragraph 4.5.47 is incorrect, and that in some cases, proportionally, considerably more development has occurred in green belt villages. It must be incumbent on GBC to assess the facts before making false statements such as this. Opinions are not facts. ONS statistics are open to all.

In the first three months of 2016, planning applications for 11 additional dwellings in Effingham have been made, in a village of approximately 525 dwellings. One of these applications has been reduced from 6 to 4 dwellings, whilst the other 5 have been approved. This shows clearly that development within villages washed over by the green belt can occur, and that organic growth is possible. There is no necessity for insetting.

“Fifteen villages are now inset from the Green Belt meaning that development is no longer, by definition, considered inappropriate”.

Guildford’s Green Belt boundaries were established in the Guildford Borough Local Plan 1987, so are well established. There has not been any justification for the extensive green belt review that accompanies the insetting of villages, or for the removal of these villages from the green belt. According to the NPPF, paragraph 83, green belt boundary changes should be made only in exceptional circumstances, as follows

“Local planning authorities with Green Belts in their area should establish Green Belt boundaries in their Local Plans which set the framework for Green Belt and settlement policy. Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. At that time, authorities should consider the Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.”

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated, with none given as justification in Policy D4 for the policy of insetting. Proposed green belt boundary changes are on a very large scale, as it is proposed to remove more than 6% of the existing area designated as green belt, and to create new green belt boundaries extending to more than 105 km. This is not a simple revision to the green belt, and a demonstration of exceptional circumstances is required for each change. This has not been done, not for a single proposed change.

Although Guildford Borough Council are in the process of producing a new Local Plan, this in itself is not enough to change Green Belt boundaries; the requirement to demonstrate exceptional circumstances still applies. According to a High Court judgement, Gallagher vs Solihull, issued March 30th, 2014, Case No. CO/17668/2013, there is still a requirement to prove exceptional circumstances – quotations below are from paragraph 125 of this judgement:

“However, it is not arguable that the mere process of preparing a new local plan could itself be regarded as an exceptional circumstance justifying an alteration to a Green Belt boundary. National guidance has always dealt with revisions of the Green Belt in the context of reviews of local plans...... and has always required “exceptional circumstances” to justify a revision. The NPPF makes no change to this.”

“Exceptional circumstances are required for any revision of the boundary, whether the proposal is to extend or diminish the Green Belt.”

Whilst each case is fact-sensitive and the question of whether circumstances are exceptional for these purposes requires an exercise of planning judgment, what is capable of amounting to exceptional circumstances is a matter of law, and a plan-maker may err in law if he fails to adopt a lawful approach to exceptional circumstances. Once a Green Belt has been established and approved, it requires more than general planning concepts to justify an alteration.

Each and every proposed change to the green belt boundary requires that exceptional circumstances be demonstrated, otherwise the changes are not lawful. This has not been done by GBC, not for any proposed change.

From paragraph 130 of this judgement

“...Some might argue that the mere process of preparing a new local plan could itself be regarded as an exceptional circumstance justifying an alteration to a Green Belt boundary. National guidance has always dealt with revisions of the Green Belt in the context of reviews of local plans...... and has always required “exceptional circumstances” to justify a revision. The NPPF makes no change to this.”

“......That, in his judgment, may now be so: but that falls very far short of the stringent test for exceptional circumstances that any revision of the Green Belt boundary must satisfy. There is nothing in this case that suggests that any of the assumptions upon which the Green Belt boundary was set has proved unfounded, nor has anything occurred since the Green Belt boundary was set that might justify the redefinition of the boundary.”

No changes that would warrant an alteration to green belt boundaries have been demonstrated by GBC, their so called “sensitivity analysis” is shallow and subjective, and changes that may have occurred since the boundary was established was discussed. The changes proposed do not meet the standards set in this judgement. Instead, GBC maintain that it is housing need that creates blanket exceptional circumstances for changes proposed to the green belt. However, this is not the case. Following a meeting with local councillors and MPs in early 2014, Nick Boles wrote to Anne Milton MP to clarify the issue of exceptional circumstances and in this letter said:

“The written Ministerial Statement of 1 July 2013 set out the Government’s concern that some recent planning decisions have not accorded the Green Belt the level of protection that was the explicit policy intent of Ministers. It made clear that the single issue of unmet need – whether for conventional housing or for travellers sites – is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt.”

These quotations show that the insetting process has considerable hurdles to overcome, including as it does the revision to Green Belt boundaries that accompanies insetting. Thus the most important questions are – did the flawed Pegasus “Guildford Borough Green belt and Countryside Study” show unequivocally that villages to be inset are not open villages, making no or a minimal contribution to the openness of the Green Belt; and that there were exceptional circumstances (other than unmet housing need) that justify a change to the Green Belt, creating a new boundary around all these villages – more than 105 km of new boundary? The Pegasus study did not do this, and this was just one of its many flaws (cf Annexe)

As shown above, development has occurred within villages, and the NPPF made it easier for additional development to take place within the green belt, via the provisions of paragraph 89, which specifically makes it easier for limited infill to occur and on a larger scale, for affordable housing to be built within villages washed over by the green belt. These provisions came into effect in 2012, when the NPPF was adopted and so the rate of increase in housing within villages is very likely to increase beyond that observed in the period between the 2001 and 2011 censuses.

It is clear from the most recent figures for planning applications to GBC in 2016 in Effingham that the pace of development within villages is changing, even with continued green belt protection. There is no requirement for insetting villages within the green belt, and the desire to increase development within the villages is not an adequate basis for insetting.

The final part of paragraph 4.5.47 is

“In accordance with national policy, the important character of these inset villages should instead be protected using other development management policies”.

This is not national policy, national planning policy is provided by the NPPF, and paragraph 86 of the NPPF is the relevant paragraph, which reads

“If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt. If, however, the character of the village needs to be protected for other reasons, other means should be used, such as conservation area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.”

There is thus no national policy that requires insetting. Instead, a judgement should be made for each village based on its contribution to the openness of the green belt. In fact, many of the villages proposed for insetting exhibit an open pattern of development, and so make an important contribution to the openness of the green belt, for example, Effingham. This has not been considered, other than in the flawed Pegasus report, and the examination of their approach reveals how this analysis was flawed. No further consideration has been given by GBC, and so GBC’s policy of wholesale insetting does not accord with national policy, as claimed.

In itself, there are many issues with insetting, and these include:

• According to the previous draft of the Local Plan, subject to the Regulation 18 consultation during summer 2014, insetting is based largely on the findings of the Pegasus study, “Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study. This report was very poor and various parts of the study criticised by many, including some borough councillors. It is perverse to continue with any recommendations of this study. In particular, a detailed review of this report for Effingham village showed that it was inaccurate and subjective.
• The settlement hierarchy was also subject to a detailed review and again this showed that scoring methods used were inaccurate and subjective.
• Boundary changes are arbitrary, without an adequate detailed survey. There are no checks and balances to this, even though the positioning of the line can change the price of an acre of land from about £15,000 to over £1 million. There is no process to it, simply someone using a computer and a mouse – literally a mouse click can turn some land owners into millionaires. In some cases, the proposed boundary divides semi-detached houses, so that one is still inside the green belt and the other outside. In other cases, the boundary divides gardens, so that part of a garden is in, part out of the green belt. Due care and attention has not been given to producing proposed boundaries.
• In many cases, boundaries proposed do not comply with the requirements of the NPPF, which is given in the NPPF, paragraph 85, final bullet point, which states “define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent”.

Given this NPPF definition, treelines, hedgerows, woodlands, etc should not be considered as potential Green Belt boundaries. In fact, in some cases proposed boundaries cross open fields, with no discernible features whatsoever. These are entirely inappropriate as a green belt boundary.

It should also be noted that GBC implicitly recognise that insetting is likely to lead to more development within villages on sites that are not identified in the draft Local Plan. But there is no recognition of this in the housing target. As is noted, insetting would mean that the rate of windfall development would increase, but GBC have not provided a proper analysis of windfall development (such as that provided by Mole Valley District Council) and they have failed to recognise a higher rate of windfall development in showing how the housing target will be met – even though, via Policy D4, they are planning for it. Windfalls should be deducted from the housing target, and the need for additional sites would thus be substantially reduced. Windfall development should be properly assessed and identified within the housing target, with an appropriate increase in the rate of windfalls in any villages that are inset.

THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY

Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make 100% use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a zero CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land. In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief. A head of brownfield should be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space. GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years. GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership. We do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for at least 5,000 homes. The additional target capacity of 5,000 could easily be provided within the following urban sites which have the capacity for 7,500 homes:

◦ 2,500 homes detailed in Masterplan 2015 including Woodbridge Meadows which can itself be increased substantially
◦ 500 homes at North Street
◦ 1000 homes on current GBC car parks (25 acres) and at the station
◦ 1000 homes saved in the urban area if 100% of students are accommodated on Surrey University campus (17 ha of car parks)
◦ 1000 homes at Slyfield on the 40 ha regeneration site
◦ 1000 windfall infill (50 per annum)
◦ 500 homes on brownfield sites in villages on sites of max 1ha which do not impact Green Belt

Critique Update: Revisions to Green Belt and Countryside Study

Pegasus Study: Vol IV (dated 17/04/14)

Changes to this volume (Volume IV, which deals with insetting of villages) were made because of earlier criticisms of the study, particularly with regard to Effingham. Changes were summarised as follows:

• “Re-consideration of how woodland / tree belts etc impact upon openness of the villages in Green Belt terms;
• Reference has been removed to the specific development footprint calculations, due to the complication previously generated in the interpretation of such data; and
• Re-consideration of the appropriateness of insetting Effingham, due to part of the settlement lying in adjoining authorities.”

In this revised version, a three stage approach was still used and the stages were given as:

“Stage 1: Assessing the degree of openness within each village through analysis of urban form, density and the extent of developed land;
Stage 2: Assessing the surroundings of, and potential new Green Belt boundaries at each village within Guildford Borough; and Stage 3: Assessing the suitability of each village for insetting within the Green Belt and defining potential Green Belt boundaries.”

There is a very slight change to the wording of Stage 2, but no change of any substance to these 3 stages between the original and the revised version. However, in this new version the only reference to the previous method used in stage 1 was to justify the removal of

“the specific development footprint calculations, due to the complication previously generated in the interpretation of such data.”

The only complication was created by Pegasus using the data they generated in a bizarre way. As the previous critique showed Pegasus was interpreting their data incorrectly, so they have simply dropped any reference to it. However, this was at least an attempt to show objectivity in their methodology. This means that the entire revised process became subjective and opaque. As this is such a controversial and important topic – the removal of villages from the green belt - this type of methodology is simply not acceptable. The data that was previously generated pointed towards different conclusions from the conclusions drawn by Pegasus – and this was probably the real reason for the data being excluded in a revised report.

A fair and robust methodology would ensure that anyone else performing the same task would get the same or very similar results, and this is best achieved by using objective methods that are visible and transparent. However, if different independent groups were set the same assignment using the methodology employed by Pegasus, because of the subjective nature of the tests, it is highly unlikely that the same conclusions would be reached. For an undertaking of such importance, the methodology used was entirely inappropriate and so the results from this study are unacceptable. The data that was previously generated pointed towards different conclusions from the conclusions drawn by Pegasus – and this was probably the real reason for the data being excluded in a revised report.

Although Pegasus claimed the methodology was changed, previous results have not changed – in other words, their conclusions have not changed. Consequently, the criticism of the methodology previously used still stands. Methodology used in Stages 2 and 3 has not changed and the previous critique is still valid for these stages.

The “new” methodology for Stage 1 in this later issue of Volume IV is discussed below.

Stage 1 Assessing the degree of openness within each village through analysis of village form, density and extent of existing developed land
The map used to illustrate this is exactly the same as that previously produced, with the same areas marked out, so it is not reproduced here – it is in the earlier critique. In this stage Pegasus use (as before) the concept of “perceived” village area, to justify the inclusion in the “perceived” village area of housing that is in Mole Valley – but they have not included any open areas such as Rolls Farm to be within the “perceived” village area. In fact, their concept of perceived village area is one that would be created only by viewing the area from space, or using aerial maps without boundary markings, with a determination to include as many buildings and as little open farmland as possible. On the ground, the boundary between Guildford Borough and Mole Valley is clearly marked, along the A246. So “perceived village area” is clearly a very subjective concept.

In this revised report, Pegasus have attempted to justify their subdivision of areas into high, medium, low housing densities, as well as open areas, and their definitions are given below, with relevant paragraph numbers:

“13.13 Through site survey, aerial imagery and detailed OS base mapping at 1:5000 scale, areas of high, medium and low development density were identified within the village area. Such categorisation assumes development associated with a village, rather than other areas, so for example, high density areas identified would not be classed as high density within a town or city environment. The areas were defined as follows:

• High Development Density – generally includes areas of flats, terrace, detached, semi-detached or singular buildings within densely distributed clusters with enclosed street frontages, small scale garden plots enclosed by fencelines, hedgerows and other buildings. Built development forms the dominant characteristic;
• Medium Development Density – generally includes areas of detached, semi-detached or singular buildings within closely distributed clusters within medium scale garden plots, small holdings, open spaces or small fields. Built development is the prevalent characteristic interspersed with visible open areas; and
• Low Development Density – generally includes singular detached buildings that are sparsely distributed within large garden plots, country estates or open farmland. Open areas form the dominant characteristic interspersed with infrequent buildings.

13.14 Once areas of high, medium and low development density had been mapped, detailed comments regarding village form, density and openness were identified and annotated on the Stage 1 assessment map using a 1A, 1B, 1C, etc prefix.”

Pegasus persisted in not providing a numerical guide to housing density, which would be a normal approach when attempting to classify densities. This means they can classify areas in any way they see fit, without regard to actual densities. They have deliberately chosen not to use an objective approach, which would be numerical. This is evidence for an approach with a predetermined outcome – Pegasus avoided using numerical data even when it is a standard approach for this type of analysis.

However, an analysis of several areas will serve to illustrate the nonsense in their application of this classification – some analysis was given in the earlier critique and this is still valid, but more details are given below, starting with the first area, 1A, described as “High density two storey detached residential development located on Effingham Common Road within medium to large scale garden plots enclosed by Thornet Wood to the east.”

The Google earth snip shows that this description is a fantasy – the houses are not enclosed by Thornet Wood, Thornet Wood is 190m approximately north from the end house of the 6 houses. The boundary to the west is Effingham Common Road with the end house (Meadow Cottage) facing the rear garden of the first house in Leewood Way. To the north is open farmland, bordered by Thornet Wood, 190m approximately north of the other end house, Terriston. To the east is open farmland, Effingham Lodge Farm. To the south is St Lawrence playing field and another field, all open and undeveloped. The single storey St Lawrence school building is 183m to the south.

The actual density is easily calculated. The 6 houses are set in an area of 1.73 acres (0.7 ha) so the calculated density is 3.5 houses/acre, or 8.6 dwellings/ha. Under no circumstances could this be considered as high density, or as enclosed. The description provided by Pegasus was inaccurate and can best be described as a fantasy, developed to ensure a predetermined conclusion was reached.
Area 1K. “High density two storey detached and semi residential development located on Orchard Gardens, Mount Pleasant, Norwood Road, Norwood Close, Strathcona Avenue, Woodlands Road and Links Way. Properties located within small scale garden plots enclosed by fencelines, hedgerows and buildings.”

The area shown is 23.9 ha, 59.1 acres, and has approximately 434 buildings in total, predominantly residential but including several commercial buildings. Thus the density is 18.2/buildings ha, or 22.7/acre. This density is lower than being put forward in Effingham’s Neighbourhood plan by the Parish Council, and much lower than developments in villages given planning permission by GBC during 2013/14, at 71 dwellings/ha. So although high by comparison to most of the rest of Effingham, density in this area would be considered low to medium by current standards. The highest housing density in the Berkeley Homes proposal was 31.2 dwellings/ha, and this was described as low density.

The north eastern boundary of this area is the A246, but across that road are the open areas of Browns Field, King George V playing fields and recreation area, as well as (to the west) an open field on Rolls Farm. The southern boundary is open farmland, and the western boundary Effingham golf course. This means that even in this area, there is a sense of openness and connection with the green belt beyond the village, which is obvious in the Google earth snip given in Figure 2.

Note the disparity between these two areas, both described by Pegasus as high density – in area 1A, the actual density is 8.6/ha but in 1K is 18.2/ha. Even in their contrived categorisations Pegasus were not consistent.

Finally, a third area, to further illustrate how poor and subjective this analysis was – area 1I, housing on Manorhouse Lane.

Area 1I “Medium density single and two storey detached residential development on Manorhouse Lane with medium to large scale garden plots enclosed by hedgerows and treebelts to the east of King George V playing fields.”

There are 8 houses in this area, an area of 1.53 ha, 3.8 acres, so that the density is 5.2 houses/ha, or 2.1/acre. Pegasus would have had to come from a strange parallel universe to believe that this could be described as medium density housing. To the north, the boundary is a hedge beyond which is the extensive gardens of Manor House school; to the east the boundary King George V playing fields. Spring gales showed just how fragile the treeline in this (and other areas) is – one tree was taken down by the gale and another felled as it was unsafe. To the west is the lane, and beyond the lane, open farmland. The short southern boundary is the A246. So this area is not enclosed, there is a very strong connection to the open green belt beyond the houses – and their hedges.

Of the 14 areas defined on their stage 1 map, Pegasus identified 3 as high density – but again without any numerical definition of high density. Analysis above shows how misplaced these definitions were. 7 areas were classed as medium density – and again, an example above shows how misplaced these were. Three areas were classed as low density, and just one as open farmland. Note that Browns Field and King George V playing fields were classed as low density. A detailed analysis of all areas should not be needed to show that in many cases (if not all) the categorisation was wrong. But in the parallel universe occupied by Pegasus, three areas defined as high density were enough to decide that the whole of the perceived village area exhibited a high density of development. This was a conclusion that even George Orwell’s Ministry of Truth would have found questionable.

It was wrong because Pegasus had an outcome in mind, and mere facts were not going to prevent their fixed conclusion from being reached.

In the Stage 3 insetting criteria, the only change was that the reference to the calculation of the built area was dropped, no doubt because this was clear evidence of bias in their analysis. No other changes were made, so that the “score” remained the same – one plus and two negatives for Effingham, so they were able to reach the conclusion that Effingham should be inset. Pegasus did inset a suggestion that this should be done only after consultation with the neighbouring Local Authority, Mole valley District Council. No notes of any such meeting have been provided.

The actual position remains the same as in the earlier critique – Effingham is an open village, with a great deal of open space within the village. There are strong connections to the green belt beyond the village and so the village makes an important contribution to the openness of the green belt.
In reaching the conclusion that Effingham should be inset, Pegasus had to totally ignore reason and fact, and produced a report that was shameful in its bias. It is highly likely that this same bias was evident when recommending other villages should be inset into the green belt, so that the real contribution other villages make to the openness of the green belt is unknown. Preconceptions throughout this report are evident, and the kindest thing that can be said about it is that its determination to ignore facts in order to reach the destination of fixed conclusions is heroic. However, it is a discreditable report, and it should have no place in the Evidence Base that informs the Local Plan process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We OBJECT because

- the evidence base is unreliable
- there is unclear differentiation between B class uses
- only high added-value business uses are desirable, not low grade, low employment warehousing which is land hungry
- industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (eg Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
- the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate

Full response

We OBJECT to this policy.

We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. We believe Guildford should target high added-value small and medium sized enterprises or the headquarters of larger corporations, but not provide low added value warehousing and industrial space.

GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning.

No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC without any attempt at real market demand apart from vague references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents. (See definitions of B classes at end of this policy response).
What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 (mostly local office use/R&D) generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8 (distribution and warehousing).

This draft Local Plan is partly based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015 [Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015]. This includes the recasting of the ELNA by Aecom in 2015 which updated the ELNA 2013 prepared by GBC. We have had regard to the evidence base provided by Aecom in the 2015 ELNA and find it a more reliable evidence base for overall projected employment in the borough over the plan period in overall numbers than done previously by GBC in 2013. However, we have concern that the survey work by Lambert Smith Hampton is in the form of high level free property research that is used for the purposes of marketing their services over a wide area not specifically commissioned for the borough of Guildford and undertaken for ELNA purposes.

However, we are concerned that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

The lack of appreciation by GBC as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. We support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the wealth necessary to fund the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires.

We need to promote the idea of new knowledge transfer in incubator units and small premises for new start up enterprises. We need to be on the wave of innovative new technology as opposed to older established businesses. High value-added industry is desirable; low tech, land-hungry older businesses which will increase congestion are not desirable.

We have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes. This is unclear in terms of market evidence required to inform effective planning. There is a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs within the relevant area as required under Section 160 of the NPPF.

Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan.

Little regard is had to the opportunity of B1b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub.

We do not support the policy of creating Strategic Employment sites outside the urban centres.

Some of the strategic industrial sites would be better classified as brownfield land suitable for use as a residential area, eg Woodbridge Park, Woodbridge Road and Merrow Lane.

This study varies very significantly from the previous Guildford Borough Council ELNA 2013, which after two years has been completely re-written. This leads us to question the reliability of the evidence base here which has been used to justify the assumptions and plans; it is unclear that the current evidence base is any more reliable than that used previously. This calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC.

DEFINITIONS:

B1

Business
B1 building use is use for all or any of the following purposes:

(a) as an office other than a use within class A2 (financial and professional services),
(b) for research and development of products or processes, or

(c) for any industrial process, being a use which can be carried out in any residential area without detriment to the amenity of that area by reason of noise, vibration, smell, fumes, smoke, soot, ash, dust or grit.

General Industrial

B2 building use is for the carrying on of an industrial process other than one falling within class B1 above or within classes B3 to B7 below. (Note: B3-B7 relates to very heavy industry such as oil refining, smelting etc).

Distribution or Storage

B8 building use is for storage or as a distribution centre.

We note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015. We have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF.

We also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC. We do not support the policy of creating a Strategic Employment site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) in the Green Belt which is completely unnecessary due to the overall decrease in demand for industrial space which could be easily accommodated at Slyfield. We are concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area. GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning. What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8. The lack of appreciation by GBC as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. E.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below). Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan. Little regard is had to the opportunity of B1 b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub.

We note that the past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033. We support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires. We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses.
So we should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations. We need to promote the idea of new knowledge transfer in incubator units and small premises for new start-up enterprises. They need to be on the wave of innovative new technology as opposed to older established businesses.

We object to the policy of creating a Strategic Employment at Garlicks Arch (A43) in the Green Belt. The stated requirement of 7,000 sq m (B1c, B2 and B8) could easily be accommodated at the Slyfield Regeneration site of 40 ha.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We OBJECT to this policy as it stands. We are of the opinion that all new office and research and development (use Class B1a and B1b) floor space should be within Guildford town centre. We do not support the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and we do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt

- The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m
- There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%)
- The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis
- The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%
- The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period.
- The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%
- There is currently 14% expansion space already available
- The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required
- The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%.
- The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher.
- Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university.
- A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space should be on other existing sites close to housing and a convenient transport hub

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to Policy E3 maintaining employment capacity

We do not support the policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land and is contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential).

Full response

- We believe that the existing government policy which has recently been made permanent of allowing change of use from B1a to C3 is sound
- Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic
- The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015)
• Office space is available and the turnover of office space in Guildford is slow, which would seem to indicate that there is excess office capacity relative to demand
• To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes
• To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised
• London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another early example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.
• Guildford is in dire need of increasing town centre residential development
• The feared loss of employment will be marginal and impractical to resist. Empty office blocks are not the answer.
• We regard the evidence base (Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 and the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-31) as flawed and inconsistent and therefore unreliable evidence
• In relation to the targets and monitoring indicators, we do not consider that the targets are desirable or sound, and therefore do not consider that the monitoring indicators are valid. Why should Guildford target 3200 additional B class jobs when it has almost full employment? Why should no employment floorspace be lost, when some of it is inappropriate and not fit for purpose? Why is it desirable to increase B1/B2/B8 floorspace?

Comments on Guildford Borough Transport Study 2016

Page 2 – “address the historic infrastructure deficit” - developers are not required to do this?

Page 2 – It is wrong to claim that the cycle infrastructure along the A25 is good – and many cyclists are not careful, so putting them in contention with pedestrians is not a good idea.

Page 5 – The decision on Heathrow or Gatwick has yet to be taken but airport expansion in the south-east cannot be regarded as sustainable development and, although GBC has no control over such external decisions, its own growth agenda will drive a need for that expansion.

Page 6 An additional weakness is alternative “road closure diversion” routes for the SRN on the LRN

Page 6 Are the “Committed Improvements” actually committed and guaranteed to be delivered?

Page 7 The rail strategy does not provide for Wisley (residents would drive to stations)

Page 7 How long will it take to deliver Crossrail 2? “We hope that Crossrail 2 could be operational by 2030, but we are in the very early stages of planning and no decision to build it has been made.”

Page 7 Guildford platform capacity still many years away if ever.

Page 7 The rail strategy anticipates many improvements that have not been secured and may have unintended consequences if they proceed (see above)

Page 7 The Southern Rail Access to Heathrow ##(see the feasibility study dated December 2015 – although other proposals may be put forward (e.g.by Hounslow))## is still in its early stages and would have significant impacts on open space beyond our Borough. For example, all options in the feasibility study would use Staines Moor SSSI and Option 4 would use Bedfont Lakes Country Park (a Local Nature Reserve and SNCI).

The various options would use existing commercial, residential and highways land in varying degrees. It seems unlikely that a solution will be delivered within the Plan period and removal of highly valued open space with high biodiversity (wherever it is in South-east England) cannot be regarded as sustainable.
Page 10 and 13 There is a stark contrast between the plans for the town centre which involve encouraging a reduction in traffic by reducing roadspace and the plans for the SRN and parts of the LRN which involve increasing capacity. While increasing capacity may reduce some areas of congestion in the short term, history suggests that traffic will rapidly grow until the improved roads are congested once again. This can hardly be regarded as sustainable. A sustainable option would be to apply a very substantial traffic infrastructure constraint on the housing number.

Page 10 While the A3 Guildford Tunnel aspiration has some environmental advantages over widening (in particular for residents living close to the A3), the environmental burden of the construction phase will be far higher and aspects such as location of ventilation stacks and their local effect (in all weather conditions) do not appear to have been considered.

Page 14 Under Weaknesses the point about A roads in Guildford Town also applies to surrounding areas in the Borough and beyond. The anticipated improvements ignore existing congestion to the south and east of Guildford – presumably because SCC’s transport assessment methodology only identifies the tip of the iceberg. The current Plan will see increased congestion and a resultant reduction in air quality in many areas beyond the town centre.

Page 16 “Largely commercial bus services” is seen as a strength whereas it should be seen as a weakness with a trend to reduced subsidies and the provision of bus services, especially in rural areas, being increasingly dependent on commercial gain. It is difficult to see this changing under the current Government cuts philosophy. The point “Subject to business case including funding” under Aspirations demonstrates this point.

Page 18 We welcome the aspiration to “Expand the public realm through significantly extended pedestrian-priority areas”

Page 19 Guildford is well behind other areas in monitoring air quality let alone attempting to reduce it.

The introduction talks about reductions in some pollutants. This may be the case for pollutants such as Sulphur Dioxide, which contributed to the visible London smogs, but it is not true of diesel vehicle emissions which have increased as a result of Government policy including its aggressive growth agenda and population increase through immigration.

30 accessible electric vehicle charging points are only an aspiration and will be nowhere near enough if there is a real shift to electric vehicles.

It is clear from the “Strategy outcomes” that GBC would prefer not to follow other areas in pro-actively tackling air quality.

Page 22/23/24 The timescales indicate that the main rail improvements (Including the two new stations) are unlikely to be delivered until the end of the Plan period or even later. The sites that are supposedly justified by their inclusion will generate a major increase in road traffic in the interim and it may be more difficult to achieve this aspect of modal shift in the longer term. The same can be said about the other traffic infrastructure proposals. Residential development is being scheduled before the infrastructure that it will need.

Page 24 Monitoring – “Increase” needs to be in proportion to population growth as otherwise failure will be taken as success. “An Increase in average vehicle speeds” is inconsistent with the desire to reduce the number of persons killed or seriously injured. For example, some A roads pass through residential areas where pedestrians, including schoolchildren, are trying to cross the road at peak times. It is noted that increases in vehicle speeds is only desired in the morning. Going home from work does not seem to matter !

NPPF and NPPG The Plan ignores the points concerning Green Belt and protecting the environment. GBC have tried to get round this by spinning their messages and using misleading statistics including a major understatement of the area of Green Belt to be removed.

Planning Update (March 2015) – The point in this update concerning Green Belt has been ignored

Monitoring Indicators :

Ten years is far too long to wait for information on whether the approach is working or not. The target requires only an increase. This would permit an increase less than that in line with any population growth to be regarded as success. The bar has been set well within the failure range.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy E4 Surrey research Park.

We support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. However, we do not believe that there is a need to expand the Research Park into a larger Business Park. We believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University. We believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. We do not believe the inclusion of B1c uses is appropriate or necessary.

- Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise.
- There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user.
- Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises.
- The Surrey Research Park in Guildford needs to be focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing.
- Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created.
- Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments.
- We support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m.
- Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept.
- We do not support the policy of a new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park.
• The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m
• There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker
• The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis
• The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%
• The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period.
• The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%.

Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved.

In relation to the Target there is no evidence of a justified need for additional B1a and c use. We consider that the existing land, used efficiently, will accommodate realistic expansion of B1b uses for high tech added value purposes. Existing planning permissions must be built before any additional green belt land is earmarked for development. The target of 35,000 sq metres of additional employment land are not justified by the evidence base.

We regard the evidence base (Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015) as flawed and inconsistent and therefore unreliable evidence.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E5

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy E5 Rural Economy

This policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas which means development of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the green belt.

Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism which mean that local people should be consulted – and heeded (not ignored!). Villages need protecting both in terms of design and in terms of scale.

Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This is disregarding the responses from the previous consultation.
It should be noted that the NPPF “provides a framework within which local people and their accountable councils can produce their own distinctive local and neighbourhood plans which reflect the needs and priorities of their communities.” (NPPF 1).

Guildford becoming a Growth Hub was NOT in the election manifesto. This policy was mentioned only tangentially in the corporate plan. Given Guildford’s poor transport links, noted congestion and the problems that this is perceived to cause for existing businesses, this does not seem an appropriate decision.

This radical, unsupported policy change is apparently in order to generate "growth" - although the possibility is that too much building over the areas that make Guildford Borough attractive will actually generate damage and stagnation, and cause a net decline in local affluence and growth. This risk has been highlighted by some local business leaders in the press.

In addition to NPPF 1, the Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF 17 include, as the FIRST (and therefore most important) principle, that “planning should:

• Be genuinely plan-led, empowering local people to shape their surroundings, with succinct local and neighbourhood plans setting out a positive vision for the future of the area”.

Furthermore, if this were not enough, in the section on Plan-making, NPPF 155 states:

“Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. [It is not clear that early collaboration with prospective developers is either required or legal]. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made”.

Local People are supposed to be represented within the NPPF, and any plan which does not meet with the consent of local people is arguably unsound. The failure to amend a plan following consultation, and to take the points made into account, is arguably in breach of NPPF and is therefore at risk of consequential challenge. A policy that is unsupported by the local community should be considered to be unsound.

It is arguable that GBC is arguing aggressively for a pro-development strategy in relation to villages and the Green Belt and mis-stating national policy as a result.

Many of the proposed “main town centre” uses would not be appropriate either to the Green Belt or villages within it - indoor bowling, casinos, warehouses etc. would not be appropriate for most villages in Surrey.

The provision and take up of reliable and high speed broadband, and the increased impact of home working and smart working are welcomed. Access to high speed broadband as a priority is welcomed and this is one of few aspects of the LEP’s policy that is welcomed in relation to the rural environment.

In this context, it seems entirely inappropriate that a monitoring indicator is net additional employment floorspace completed by category. “Smart” and home-working do not involve incremental floorspace and to evaluate incremental economic growth by the size of floorspace allocated is an inappropriate measure in the Green Belt. By definition such work uses do not require space. It is important to recognize – as this Local Plan does not – that the main employment within the countryside is related to that countryside, whether due to agriculture, tourism (so that “unproductive” or open space land has a positive economic impact too), film, or ancillary activities related to the above, and that to reduce the countryside footprint by building sites is to reduce economic land. The only use of land that has no ongoing positive impact for the community is to use it as a building site, whereupon it is lost in terms of ongoing economic benefit to all except the future owners.

NPPF 17 requires that local authorities “always seek to secure high quality design and a good standard of amenity for all existing and future occupants of land and buildings”, and that they “take account of the different roles and character of different areas, promoting the vitality of our main urban areas, protecting the Green Belts around them, recognizing the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside and supporting thriving communities within it”. To appraise building within the Green Belt merely in terms of numbers of buildings or net additional floorspace does not meet the requirements of those principles.

The rural areas currently have a vibrant and strong economy, and building should not be regarded as a major objective. Existing agriculture, food production, tourism and film industries rely on our existing countryside, and to substitute these by building warehouses, commercial space or even processing space for ancillary agricultural processing will be to damage the environment for no economic gain. The loss of agricultural land is to be avoided; food security is an increasingly important factor in a congested island with an increasingly population based in the temperate zone so that it can supply food without climate stress; as noted by Cambridge University we will need more food producing land, not less, over the next few decades (see study attached to previous submission, disregarded).

Villages should be protected; new building in villages should be within the existing settlement boundaries, and new settlement boundaries should only reflect the historic changes of the settlement areas; building should not extend into the open countryside of the Green Belt; and new building should focus on brownfield sites within the urban areas.

We support the proposal for high speed broadband but are disappointed that the previous reference to this specifically “Provision and take-up of reliable and high speed broadband has been a major issue reported by rural businesses. Access to key services vital for economic growth is often poor in rural areas. Slow broadband and inadequate and slow mobile phone coverage are constraints to economic development” has now been modified to refer only to “provision of internet services where needed in rural areas and enhance digital inclusion in such areas”. This must be modified to read “provision of high speed internet services and reliable mobile phone coverage to all rural areas etc”. In the prior consultation, a matter that was warmly welcomed by most respondents has now been significantly weakened.

We agree that high speed broadband is a desirable attribute for the wider economy, and that this is particular lacking in the rural areas of Guildford. However, its introduction should lead to an increase in smart home-working, rather than the building of additional employment space. The policy needs to include a commitment to get superfast broadband accessible by all residents in the borough as this will provide much greater support to rural industry than anything else.

In this context, a monitoring indicator of “Number of sq m of B Class floorspace permitted and completed in rural wards” is fundamentally wrong; the indicator used for monitoring should be independent of land use, or this creates a perverse incentive to build on land. It should be related to real economic growth – for example, incremental corporation and personal tax income generated by businesses and individuals based within the borough.

Furthermore, as ever, the urban-guided planning philosophy also entirely fails to recognize the real phenomenon of rural employment. Some of this is genuine “smart” growth of the kind that the council ought to be promoting, and states that they are keen to encourage. Faster broadband, where it exists, is a genuinely useful tool which allows remote working for the highly educated populace. The University of Surrey generates a significant proportion of this highly skilled group. It also boasts about the highly skilled external population and the high calibre of local residents in its publicity material. The Surrey Hills AONB is proud to be classified by government as an “Elite Employment Enclave” where a high proportion of around 40% of households include a company director; such groups can often work flexibly. However, too much industrialization, commercialization and physical building in a rural environment will result in a change in the environment that attracts these flexible and affluent members of the community, and would result in these same groups moving to a more desirable and pleasant location. This would have a negative impact on the local economy. This consideration, while noted in public meetings in relation to the Surrey Hills by the Surrey Hills AONB board, has a general application to the borough as a whole.

In addition to smart-working among an educated group, and its economic upside, there is the fact that the rural area is founded on an agricultural framework that has persisted for two thousand years and is a viable, successful and profitable series of businesses. The land on which GBC proposes to build is viable and profitable agricultural land which supports existing businesses. Some of these are simple farms, producing food which our country needs. This should not be underestimated. The University of Cambridge has noted a significant decline in the UK’s food security or ability to feed itself – a significant factor in an era of increased climate change and global insecurity. This report, produced in conjunction with a number of other groups including CLA (Country Landowners’ Association), NFU (National Farmers’ Union), Sainsbury’s, Asda and Nestlé noted that the UK would require up to 7 million hectares more agricultural land to meet the country’s needs for food by 2030, roughly the period covered by the plan. To replace valuable and necessary agricultural land with storage depots or warehouses which will make the environment unpleasant for residents, destroy viable agricultural businesses, and that are likely to remain empty and unprofitable unless they undercut existing viable depots elsewhere, seems to benefit only those who build the depots.

While there is ostensible recognition of the importance of agriculture, this is subverted by suggesting that the provision of new and larger buildings is essential to agriculture and forestry. We would dispute this contention.

In addition to the essential business of food production, an increasing number of our farmers are engaged in high added value food processing and delivery, which is also an extremely profitable business and of growing local interest. This does not, however, necessitate large scale building. The Surrey Hills label is helpful in this regard, as is noted in the context of the policy. Silent Pool gin and sparkling wine, The Tillingbourne Trout Farm, the Kingfisher Watercress beds, the raising of beef, lamb, pork, and poultry in the Surrey Hills at Drydown Farm or Manor Farm; the Hog’s Back brewery, fruit grown throughout the borough and many other businesses are of enormous significance to the borough and should be encouraged. It will be harder to cultivate a label advertising premium quality organic food from the North Downs if Guildford becomes known principally as a storage or warehousing area.

Economic growth is indeed needed by the country. Some of that growth is perhaps needed in Surrey, although we already produce a disproportionate share of the national wealth and are the most densely populated rural county. Many would argue that this is not an appropriate destination for economic pump-priming and that areas which have more need of employment, (for example in the Black Country, the North West, the North East or Wales) would be better recipients of public finance to encourage economic growth. We don’t particularly want it; we don’t particularly need it; and we are trying to cope with the organic growth we have, we certainly don’t need to stimulate it further. The unelected and undemocratic M3LEP has a stated agenda, evidenced by its minutes (subsequently expurgated), of actively influencing government policy in relation to housebuilding; and this is perhaps because housebuilders sit on the Land and Property Group of the M3 LEP. This constitutes an unacceptable conflict of interest.

The ability to generate wealth is not related to the size or number of warehouses built. This is unintelligent and old thinking – wealth is not related to the size of storage space. The monitoring of sq m of B class floorspace completed in rural wards is entirely inappropriate.

The Key Evidence summary notes that the evidence base includes the Guildford Borough Rural Economic Strategy which is yet to be published and therefore (by definition) cannot have informed this policy or the decisions which have been taken in order to arrive at it. To determine a policy on the basis of a non-existent evidence base, which is only provided (or indeed drafted) post hoc, must be legally indefensible.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We object to Policy A6 as it stands. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor attractions and facilities – and these may undermine the area. Overdevelopment is a risk especially in the countryside.

- We believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic parts of High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. Guildford would be wise to model itself on other historic towns like Bath and York. The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors of the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a centre for people to live in and visit. It would be a great mistake if Guildford were to opt for large impersonal department stores and dull high street chain stores at the expense of exploiting its uniqueness and character which would afford greater benefits.

- Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. What GBC needs to do is create a theme such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town.

The importance of tourism and leisure within the borough is acknowledged by GBC, and thus far this policy is welcomed. Thus far, the principles underlying this policy are given measured and qualified support. However, the emphasis however on development in order to facilitate tourism seems fundamentally misguided, and, as in other areas of the plan, seems to regard both the planning function and local government as a whole as the marketing and sourcing department of the building and civil engineering industries. This is inappropriate and therefore this element merits objection on an overall basis.

It should be noted that Tourism is one of the major industries in the country. Visit Britain notes: “Since 2010 tourism has been the fastest growing sector in the UK in employment terms, responsible for one-third of the net increase in UK jobs between 2010 and 2012.

The report forecasts that the tourism economy will be worth around £127 billion this year (2013), equivalent to 9% of the UK’s GDP, supports over 3.1 million jobs, that’s 9.6% of all jobs and 173,000 more than in 2010. The sector is predicted to grow at an annual rate of 3.8% through to 2025 - significantly faster than the overall UK economy (with a predicted annual rate of 3% per annum) and much faster than sectors such as manufacturing, construction and retail.”

In the context of the importance of the tourism sector, it is deeply shocking that there is so little care attached to this section of the local plan. The part of the local economy is likely to grow more quickly than any other sector of the economy, and the damage to the UK economy that could result from unrestricted promotion of housing estates and warehouses should be calculated before growth is seen as a motivating force for development.

This area of England is important, and it is visited by tourists and visitors, not primarily because of tourist centres nor even because of sites of significance such as Hatchlands Park, important though that National Trust sites may be.

The importance to the borough of the countryside qua countryside, embodying rural tourism, rural agriculture and its related impact on the local economy cannot be overstated. The contribution of the outstanding countryside in the borough (which is highly valued by walkers, cyclists and many others) has been disregarded.

In this part of England agriculture is prosperous and prospering; and the importance of the countryside to the country as a whole is enormous.

Set out below are extracts from the submission to the Issues and Options consultation by the Burrows Cross Area Residents’ Association which indicates, just for the villages within the ward of Shere, some of the tourist sites which are of historic, cultural and tourist interest. are illustrative only, and many other areas within the borough have equivalent points of local and regional interest. This is indicative of the level of information that should be considered for all areas throughout the borough, and that greenfield and Green Belt sites should be avoided wherever possible on these grounds, quite apart from any other environmental factors. It indicates some of the tourist significance of the sites were overdeveloped. Walks along the nationally important North Downs Way or Pilgrims’ Way are of enormous popular importance to all sections of the community. These do not need “facilities” except the informal facilities of cafes, pubs and restaurants that exist in the villages.

Furthermore, it should be noted that the cycle trips that are of increasing national importance rely heavily on the Surrey countryside. The Olympic cycle route routed through the Surrey villages, through or past Ripley, Ockham, Clandon, Shere and Gomshall; subsequently followed by Ride Prudential, is regarded as the archetypal illustration of the English countryside at its best for an international audience.

Lack of development is in itself a key element of the attraction to tourists, and this should not be disregarded as a key element of the planning process, which should constrain inappropriate development as much as it should promote development which is socially and environmentally desirable (e.g. in the renovation of brownfield sites).

Appendix:

Extracts from BCARA submission to issues and options consultation as an illustration of the level of tourist activity and areas of interest in rural areas:

NPPF 132 notes an obligation to restrict development in the vicinity of heritage assets. It has already been noted that heritage assets are significant in the villages of Shere (Norman church (1190), mediaeval village buildings (The Old Forge, The Old Prison, Weaver’s House, Wheelwright Cottage), many other listed buildings including the restaurant of Kinghams in a mediaeval building or The White Horse pub, filmed in The Holiday (tourism, local business)) and Gomshall (17th Mill, Tudor houses including the King John House, NT property and land at Netley House). The area also has bronze age hill forts, a Roman temple, High House Shere (1630, Grade 2 listed).

This brief history of Shere (incorporated in full by reference) gives an indication of its historical importance: http://www.sheredelight.com/history.html

This website also gives an indication of the importance of the undamaged nature of the villages and the surroundings to an important local industry, which is filming. See http://www.sheredelight.com/films.html. It should be noted that NPPF enjoins local authorities to consider the impact of development on any existing business, and that if this is adverse, then they should not give permission. The impact on the film industry of any development in this area should not be underrated. This would have a significantly negative impact on the local economy of the borough as a whole.

Gomshall’s history is summarised usefully on the Wikipedia site: (incorporated by reference): http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gomshall. It notes that the Manor of Gumesele was a Saxon feudal landholding; that Gomshall appears in Domesday Book of 1086 as Gomeselle, held by William.

In 1154, Henry II of England divided the Manor of Gumesele into three: West Gomshall (granted to an abbey in Netley so known as Netley after 1240), East Gomshall (granted to an Abbey in Tower Hill in 1376 so now known as Tower Hill) and Somersbury (now Gomshall). This demonstrates that the current boundaries of the village are recognizable from the Domesday book, and that this is in itself of cultural importance. To develop on land adjacent to these boundaries would be wholly inappropriate since that would be to alter the village boundaries that have lasted on a very long term basis as permanent and established features of the landscape, as required by NPPF.

Local industries developed based on the plentiful and constant water supply of the River Tillingbourne. Leather tanning is a historic industry, now gone. Gomshall Mill was the corn mill. Some other businesses based on the Tillingbourne survive, and would be damaged by over development. These include watercress growing (at the Kingfisher Watercress Beds in Abinger) and trout farming (between Abinger and Gomshall, in the area bounded by this study – for both of which clean water is a particular essential ingredient. Damage the water supply you will kill the business). In addition to these food suppliers, many of the local fields are farmed organically and contribute to the Surrey... organic food brands (beef, lamb, pork). The importance of the agricultural industry should not be ignored; it is not reasonable to perceive that building a house is “Growth” or “development” while destroying a farm or an agricultural business (which of course economically is negative growth). Those farms have a hugely positive tourist impact too.

The AA has prepared a walking guide of historical sites associated with Romans and Celts in this parish. http://www.theaa.com/walks/the-romans-and-celts-at-farley-421068

The area of Abinger Roughs and Netley Park is listed on the NT website; this link is incorporated into this section by reference: http://www.nationaltrust.org.uk/abinger-roughs-and-netley-park/how-to-get-here/?findPlace=Abinger%20Roughs%20and%20Netley%20Park&type=&view=map. The guide to the locality from the NT (see web link incorporated by reference) is relevant in the context of local wildlife, which are abundant throughout this parish not just in the area identified by the NT. http://www.nationaltrust.org.uk/es/Satellite?blobcol=urldata&blobheader=application%2Fpdf&blobkey=id&blobtable=MungoBlobs&blobwhere=1349108282364&ssbinary=true

NPPF 126 notes that local authorities have a duty to recognise that heritage assets (and their setting) are an irreplaceable resource and that they have a duty to conserve them.

NPPF 123 notes that planning decisions should protect areas of tranquillity which have remained relatively undisturbed by noise and are prized for their recreational and amenity value for this reason. In this locality the most prevalent noise is that of birdsong. It is not appropriate to consider this as a possible area for development.

NPPF 118 notes that planning permission should be refused for development resulting in the loss or deterioration of irreplaceable habitats.

The NT guide to Netley Park and the Abinger Roughs notes in the context of local wildlife: “Lots of birds can be seen and heard on the Roughs. Near the rhododendrons is a good spot - look out for: goldcrests, woodpeckers, wrens, treecreepers, song thrushes, chaffinches and dunnocks.” Some of these species, and also the other species noted by the NT such as noctule bats, are of conservation importance and should not be disturbed. (Source: http://www.nationaltrust.org.uk/abinger-roughs-and-netley-park/wildlife/).

NPPF 115 notes that “Great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty in National Parks, the Broads and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty”. It is not acceptable to destroy any part of this area, protected over the last two millennia and substantively unchanged, in order to make a short term developmental profit even for a tourism related project. It further comments that the conservation of wildlife and cultural heritage are important considerations in all these areas. NPPF 116 notes that planning permission should be refused in these areas except in exceptional circumstances. This should be incorporated into the local plan.

Overriding force should be given to the Green Belt provisions of NPPF 88 and 89 which generally notes that substantial weight should be given to any harm to the Green Belt and that the construction of new buildings is generally inappropriate.

GBC should be reminded that the AONB has status equivalent to that of a National Park.

Interestingly in National Parks, the National Park authority has overall responsibility for planning policy. For the South Downs National Park, the guidance is of relevance http://www.southdowns.gov.uk/__data/assets/pdf_file/0013/123232/Agenda_Item_8_Appendix_1_20101203.pdf. This states:

“National Parks have two statutory purposes which must be taken into account when considering planning proposals that could have impact upon a National Park.

To conserve and enhance their natural beauty, wildlife and cultural heritage

To promote opportunities for the public understanding and enjoyment of these special qualities.

If there is a conflict between these two policies then the first must take precedence.”

Other guidance is worth noting. The National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act 1949 legislated for the designation of AONBs and National Parks. Their purpose was to be similar – to conserve and enhance natural beauty. The Countryside Commission defined the purpose of AONB designation in a statement of 1991.

Purpose of AONB Designation

AONBs and National Parks are recognised in England to be on a par legally because of their nationally important landscapes. The National Planning Policy Framework confirms that AONBs are equivalent to National Parks in terms of their landscape quality, scenic beauty and planning status.

The statutory duty enjoined upon GBC is not to seek to develop but to protect this area – “to conserve and enhance natural beauty”. This appears to have objective seeking growth which is in conflict with the requirements to protect. This is already covered by NPPF in relation to Green Belt status, which is in itself glossed by ministerial guidance, as previously noted (Eric Pickles, Brandon Lewis and others).

Development within the AONB of any form is likely to be damaging. In addition to the overriding restriction on such development under NPPF, the following statement referred to by Natural England is of significance:

“The United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) has recently drawn attention to studies finding that although developed land covers only a small proportion of North America’s land base, it has a large impact on ecosystem services. For example, roads occupy just 1% of US land area, but they alter the ecological structures and functions of about 22% or more of the land. In US regions with rapid ‘exurban’ (or extensive residential) growth, species richness and endemism diminish as urban cover increases, threatening biodiversity. The fragmentation of natural habitat threatens more than 500 endangered US wildlife species with extinction. It also provides new entry points for invasive species already introduced through other pathways”. 13.Source: United Nations Environment Programme, Global Environment Outlook GE04 – environment for development , 2007, p.259 at Box 6.30, itself quoted by Natural England.

In other words, seeking growth of any kind within the AONB is inherently undesirable and in conflict with the overriding principles of biodiversity, and therefore sustainability.

| Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): | () | We object to this policy. There should be much more residential use of the town centre. There is limited need for further retail, which will disadvantage existing retailers as well as using valuable land inefficiently. There is an urgent need for a brownfield register and to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. CIL strategy must promote brownfield redevelopment. |
The government committed to legislating for a ‘brownfield register’ of ‘land suitable for housing’ in the Queen’s Speech 2015 and the 73 councils piloting the brownfield register were announced in March, 2016. Section 151 of the Act permits regulations requiring LPAs to keep a register of particular kinds of land, of which the brownfield register will be one. There is no reference to a brownfield policy within the policy for Guildford Town Centre, which is a major flaw.

Retail

Policy E7 is ill-informed. The evidence base fails to assess the capacity of the existing town centre to accommodate appropriate new development objectively. Paragraph 161 of the NPPF requires the LPA to assess the real quantitative and qualitative needs for economic activity including retail and leisure development, and we consider that this requirement has not been met.

Policy E7 is unlikely to benefit the health of the town centre in the future. There is no reliable evidence provided that the retail core of the Town Centre can support expansion of 45,000 sq m of additional retail space at North Street. There is a lack of demand for retail units in the Town Centre particularly large units.

There is falling demand for retail space in Guildford and town centres throughout the country (as evidenced by independent research and the reality of empty shops in many high streets (including Guildford) and the accelerating competition from internet shopping – see CEBR studies).

The North Street scheme has repeatedly failed in various redevelopment proposals over the last ten years. This is evidence of a lack of demand, such that the original planning permission for a large retail scheme became time expired. A number of major developers have studied the proposals in detail and then withdrawn from negotiations because the proposals are not economically viable.

The reality is that the town centre has enough retail floor space. If more is introduced it will result in the closure of existing shops particularly in locations which are less than 50% of peak Zone A or 100% positions.

What Guildford needs is a new focus on speciality high quality comparison shopping supported by a revival of Guildford’s attractive heritage core and the historic visitor attractions supported by restaurants.

The existing site in North Street should be replaced with a well-designed ground floor high quality speciality retail mall and frontage of no more than 40 shops extending to 7,000 sq m with the rear and upper floors providing an additional 500 to 600 homes. The proportion of the above proposed smaller scheme at North Street will be complementary to and not antagonistic to the Upper High Street, Tungsgate, the Debenhams site and the 100% Zone A positions of the Lower High Street. If the existing policy under E7 is adopted the North Street site will remain empty for another 10 years.

The findings of the Guildford Retail and Leisure Study 25 September 2015 are very pessimistic about retail trends. Carter Jonas’s recent study reports a bad time for retail. GBC’s own evidence base demonstrates that there is limited demand for additional retail space. The bullet points below are direct quotes from the report:

- Para 3.3 Retail Trends “Town centres, once the principle focus for retail and leisure are now increasingly under threat”
- Para 3.4 Retail Expenditure “disposable income and retailers’ margins are being squeezed further”
- Para 3.5 “there has been limited growth in retail (convenience and comparison goods) expenditure per head since 2008”
- Para 3.6 “the retail sector remains fragile and analysts forecast that some operators and centres will continue to struggle over the short to medium term”
- Para 3.8 “completed new shopping centre floor space in the UK is currently at its lowest level since the 1990s”
- Para 3.11 Internet Shopping “New forms of retailing have also emerged in recent years and are becoming established as significant alternatives to more traditional ‘bricks and mortar’ shopping facilities. Over the last 5 years, online sales have increased by 222%”

Appendix 6 of the Retail Study indicates inaccurate demand data.
Para 5.29 “The latest CoStar Report recorded 64 requirements for Guildford from January 2013 to August 2014; representing a total maximum floor space requirement of 62,208m² gross (see Appendix 6).”

This looks in the main unpersuasive with brands such as Joules Clothing; Fossil; Comptoir des Cotonniers; Moshulu; Rituals; Princesse tam.tam; Cycle Surgery; Majestic Wine; Game Stores Group Ltd; Iceland. But if we look closely at Appendix 6 it is an amalgam of old unchecked national high street requirements some of which do not even include Guildford as a destination and most is hardly high quality comparison retail. There are also no “big” requirements in terms of space. Where are the big stores?

GH Pressley & Sons – Watches and Silver- Requirement “They are seeking a flagship diamond store in central London. Target locations include Mayfair, St James, Kensington and Knightsbridge. Brands will include Hans D Krieger and Marco Bicego.” This does not sound like Guildford

Oxygen Red Ltd – Ladieswear- Requirement “Oxygen Red is looking to acquire temporary stores in Shopping Centre locations within the M25” Guildford is well outside the M25

Game Stores Group Ltd have apparently a requirement for a store in Guildford dated 2012 but the company entered administration on 26 March 2012, and 277 of Game’s 609 UK stores were closed immediately, resulting in 2,104 job losses. Are they really looking?

The data relating to retail demand does not appear reliable. The 62,800 sq m does not translate to real demand for an expansion of 500,000 sq ft. If proper due diligence was applied perhaps 10% of this Carter Jonas requirement would survive

Brownfield redevelopment

We must make full use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 17 of the NPPF states that to “encourage the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land)” is a core planning principle. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy.

In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief.

- GBC needs to accelerate residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 1 to 5 years
- GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership
- A brownfield-first policy should underline all planning decisions and the default for non-brownfield land should be rejection
- Failure to promote brownfield-first is unsustainable and is contrary both to the policies of the Metropolitan Green Belt (still in force) and NPPF paragraph 80 and 84.

Our recommendation is for a new Brownfield Policy for the town centre:

“We are committed to a brownfield-first initiative. All applications on previously developed land within the urban settlement area will be given fast-track priority. Development of urban brownfield land will be prioritised for residential and employment purposes to satisfy the needs of local people.

In parallel a zero-CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on urban brownfield land in order to meet the NPPF requirement for urban regeneration. Brownfield sites in the urban area should be identified as soon as possible. The register should be public, with full details of ownership. All brownfield sites owned by Guildford Borough Council, Surrey County Council or other government entities should be considered as available development land within the first 5 years of the plan.”

Residential
We do not believe that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for urban housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town. This will help to sustain the retail core. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield. It must include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. We consider that the Town Centre has the capacity for the higher of at least 50% of the total or at least 5,000 homes. At present, the plan is to impose 70% of new residential development on greenfield and Green Belt land.

We object to policy E8 District centres  We object to the proposal that sites “on the edge” of District Centres should be considered for retail developments. This is another Trojan horse policy, allowing retail hubs to be vastly expanded in order to smooth the way for vast new housing estates outside in the countryside (e.g. to meet the “everyday shopping and service needs” of the roughly 1,500 people living in the 600 new homes planned for the Horsleys).

This is a case of back-to-front priorities. Expanded local retail hubs are being proposed in order to justify more housebuilding in the villages, and in a forlorn attempt to mitigate the serious traffic and infrastructure problems this will bring.

The Council have no business preparing the way for new supermarkets in the Green Belt. Rural retail capacity should be left to local demand.

The policy proposes not a single measure to support existing rural shops and services that are the lifeblood of village communities, e.g. using business rates and other levers at the Council’s disposal.

We object to Policy E9 Local centres

We object (for the reasons given under Policy E8 above) to the proposal for retail development adjacent to the 6 rural centres, and sites on the edge of designated centres. This is creeping urbanisation, damaging to the Green Belt and to Guildford town revival as a thriving urban hub. It will contribute to local urban decay and depopulation, just as expansion of the suburbs did to mid-20th century London.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy H1 Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. We support higher density development in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes’ walk of Guildford railway station.

Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 5-6 storey blocks (there are currently blocks of this size already in the town) at 50 homes per ha with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan.

In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks).

If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required on stilts with parking beneath. Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

“Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people.

In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit.

We question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper anyway); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes would be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed might influence the market in more remote parts of the UK, but not here.

This policy allows “affordability” to be a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

In the draft Local Plan affordable homes is a misnomer, a designation that could have come straight from George Orwell’s Ministry of Truth. It refers to houses that are expected to go onto the market at 20% below the “market” price, or available at a rent of 80% of the prevailing “market” rate. Some of these are built to lower specifications than neighbouring houses, so that they remain profitable for builders. But when house prices and rents are high, so-called affordable homes are not affordable to those with low paid jobs or on benefits. “Affordable” homes are not the same as social housing, or old style council housing, and are not a replacement for any social housing that is sold off. Across the borough, according to the most recent data from the ONS, in Feb 2016, there were 5,696 housing benefit claimants.
These “affordable” homes will be of no use to these people, or others on benefits, or on low wages. There is nothing in this policy for these people, many of whom need social housing, which has historically truly been affordable.

The Policy Statement (blue text in the Strategy and Sites document) refers to working “to increase the number of affordable homes in the borough and meeting identified needs.” But there is nothing in this plan that will meet the needs of those on benefits, or on low wages.

The Policy goes on to say that on sites “providing five or more homes, or sites of 0.17 ha regardless of the number of homes, at least 40% of the homes must be affordable homes.” A site of 0.17 ha is only 0.4 acre, and many single homes are built on plots of this size. This is a very low threshold. No exemptions are given – for example, what about self-build housing, or shared ownership, etc? This policy does nothing to encourage various paths to property ownership, other than the affordable housing route – which for many people is simply not an option. It is poorly thought out and is based on data which is not accurate, including the West Surrey SHMA, which in any case should be revised because of the poor understanding of the borough’s population statistics that underpin the study and the Brexit vote.

In the wording of the text supporting this Policy there are many errors of fact, errors through omission and exaggerations in the introductory text to this policy. As an affordable homes policy should be a cornerstone of the Local Plan, some of these are reviewed in depth below.

Paragraph 4.2.30

The final sentence of this paragraph reads: “High demand and limited supply have resulted in one of the least affordable areas of the country to live in”.

This is a profound statement, but one that was made without any supporting analysis, so it appears to be based on supposition, not on fact. Relevant analysis would consist of looking at demand for housing through, for example, population growth; then at the supply of new homes and the balance between these – and then compare this with property price increases. Then a similar analysis should examine other areas too, to assess if Guildford Borough is different from other local authorities within the south east. Obviously, this type of detailed analysis is not possible in a submission on the draft Local Plan, but the fact that this statement was made in paragraph 4.2.30 without any supporting information is a major concern, as this unsupported statement in itself could be considered to be the driver for housing policies within this draft Local Plan.

There is no question that property prices are high within the borough, but this is largely a consequence of being close to London, with a reasonably fast train connection. A Local Plan is supposed to focus on local needs, not the needs of those who wish to move out from London. All of Surrey and the home counties have high prices and recent statistics show that the rate of price increases in the East has been higher than in the South East. High prices are not a phenomenon unique to Guildford. This is shown in Figure 1, which shows that price increases in Guildford are mirrored in Woking and Dorking, which are in neighbouring boroughs. In fact, this shows that over the last two years price increases in Dorking have been higher than in Guildford. This figure was generated on the Zoopla website.

It is also incorrect to suggest that high prices are a consequence of an imbalance between supply and demand – there are many factors that have an impact on property prices; the supply and demand balance is only one of these. Although it is not appropriate to have a detailed critique of why housing costs are high, as one of the declared goals of the Local Plan is to increase affordability it is appropriate to comment on other factors that affect house prices, and this has been done in Annex 1. This also provides a borough wide analysis of the supply of housing between 2001 and 2011 and the demand for new housing, using census data.

This shows that the population of the borough increased by 7,482 persons, of whom 3,723 were full time students aged 18 and over. A few of these may have been Guildford residents but the vast majority would be new to the area. Some students find accommodation in student halls, and as this accommodation expanded during this time period, it has been assumed about 40% of the increase in student population would find accommodation in student halls, leaving 2,234 that would need accommodation in the town. With 4 students per house, this need would be equivalent to 559 houses.
Census data for 2011 revealed that the average household in the borough was 2.42 persons, so the increase in demand for housing caused by the increase in population (excluding students), assuming 2.42 persons/household, was 1,553 new houses.

Thus the total number of new dwellings required by Guildford’s population increase between 2001 and 2011 was 2,112 (559 plus 1,553). In fact, the census reveals that the number of new dwellings was 2,692 – so supply actually exceeded demand by a considerable margin, about 28%. Yet over this period Land Registry data shows the average house price in Guildford borough almost doubled. As supply exceeded demand, other factors beyond the supply and demand balance affected house prices. This means that the underlying premise behind the Local Plan is incorrect; house prices have not increased because of a supply/demand imbalance. At the very least this means that the 31 houses added to the housing target to promote affordability should not be included, but in fact the whole of the SHMA and Local Plan should be revised, to include a more accurate picture of the housing market, which is currently poor.

However, there has been no detailed analysis by GBC of housing needs, this was contracted out to a consultant, and the housing model used by that consultant has not been subject to any scrutiny. The SHMA did not examine fundamental reasons for house price increases, nor did it properly examine the historic supply and demand balance across the area. Consequently, the SHMA is not fit for purpose, as no understanding of the fundamental workings of the housing market was shown in this study. Had a proper analysis been carried out it would have shown that in 2015/6 across the borough there were 2,510 housing transactions, and analysed the price bands of sales. Of these, 713 housing transactions were below £300,000, which is approximately what a couple on average earnings in the borough could borrow. A more detailed breakdown is given in Annexe 1.

Paragraph 4.2.31

In paragraph 4.2.31, the text of the opening sentence reads “The West Surrey Strategic Market Assessment 2015 indicates that approximately half of the Guildford households over the plan period will not be able to afford to buy or rent a home that meets their needs on the open market without subsidy.”

This sentence is plainly nonsense. The census data of 2011 showed that 66.6% of Guildford households either already owned or were in the process of buying their home. If the sentence refers to new households being formed in Guildford during the plan period, it should say so. If that were the case, it would not be surprising – the statistics on which the housing projections were based included a large increase in the number of full time students, a fact which was ultimately overlooked by GBC consultants, despite this being noted in several places in the SHMA. As shown in Annexe 1, census data shows 50% of the increase in population from 2001 to 2011 were students – and very few of these would be seeking to buy in Guildford, but are unlikely to take up a place at the university unless they had adequate funding, including the means to pay their rent.

Paragraph 4.2.32

Paragraph 4.2.32 discusses affordability in more depth and provides the ratio used by GBC to assess affordability. There are many definitions of affordability in use by different organisations and frequently this is a ratio between pay and house prices. GBC have decided to use a ratio which is of very limited value – the ratio of the lowest 25% of earnings to the lowest 25% of house prices. The higher this ratio, the less affordable the housing. This is a remarkable ratio as at the peak of home ownership in the UK, home ownership was just over 70% of total households. This is not because the remaining 30% did not want to own a house, although some did, but because in many cases home ownership was not a suitable option. This would apply to students, to migrant workers who wish only to work in the UK for a short time; people who do not want the responsibilities that comes with home ownership; people with temporary employment contracts, armed forces personnel, etc, etc. But GBC have chosen to consider affordability using the lowest paid – a group that have never been able to afford home ownership, or who may have no desire for home ownership. It is a bizarre ratio to use and is completely inappropriate to assess affordability in the borough.

It is more normal to consider the ratio between average pay and average property prices, though this is not an especially good ratio either, as average pay gives a certain weight to the lowest paid, who have never been able to afford home ownership. Average house prices are not a good measure either, as the sales of a few high cost properties will tend to push up average prices and distort the affordability ratio. It is much better to use the median property price in an affordability ratio. Another more relevant ratio is to use the average pay of first time buyers and the median price of properties purchased.

The text in the paragraph goes on to use government figures from 2013, quoting GBCs affordability ratio (bottom 25% of wages to bottom 25% of house prices) of 10.92 which was said to be “higher than Surrey’s ratio of 10.89”.

The difference between these two ratios was 0.03, or in percentage terms, 0.28%. In others words, given that affordability ratios are estimates, there is no significant difference between these numbers. So it was nonsense to infer that property in the borough was less affordable in 2013 than in the rest of Surrey.

The text also states that the most recent data for this affordability ratio is from 2013, but in fact up to date information is provided by way of an interactive map which shows that Guildford Borough has a better affordability ratio than all but one of its neighbouring boroughs. In other words, housing is more affordable in Guildford than in most neighbouring boroughs. Data provided by the ONS was from Q3 2014 to Q3 2015, as full details for 2015 were not available. This map (and a supporting spreadsheet) provides 2 ratios, for median earnings to median house prices and GBC’s preferred measure, lower quartile earnings to lower quartile house prices. These are given in Table 1, and on GBC’s preferred lower quartile measure, Guildford is the most affordable of 6 of the 7 authorities listed, with only Rushmoor more affordable. On the more appropriate ratio of median pay to median property prices Guildford and Surrey Heath were essentially the same, with only Rushmoor again more affordable.

This data shows clearly that GBC were incorrect to say that up to date affordability data was not available and more importantly, that of the local authorities that share a boundary with Guildford Borough, housing in Guildford Borough is actually more affordable than in almost all neighbouring local authorities.
Another indication of Guildford’s relative affordability was provided by an article in the Daily Telegraph3. This was about a couple who had been resident in London, but had moved to Guildford so that they could save for a deposit, but who were considering a move back to London. A comparison was made of the costs of living in Guildford or London, including travel costs to work in London, which showed that annual costs in Guildford were lower by an estimated £3,052; about 16% cheaper living in Guildford than in London. This is why people are moving from London to Guildford – and is why if houses were built as per the Local Plan target, they would mostly be bought or rented by Londoners, not by residents of the borough.

Paragraph 4.2.23

This paragraph refers to sufficient housing to meet the needs of the borough’s population – but the proposed minimum of 693 dwellings a year is well in excess of the needs of the borough’s residents. The data used in the SHMA ignored the effect of full time students and so the housing number is very considerably in excess of the needs of the resident population. If this housing is delivered it will cause an increase in Guildford’s population that is considerably more than recent population growth – almost 5 times the rate of population growth during the period between the censuses of 2001 and 2011.

The final part of the paragraph is nonsense “…..ensuring people with a wide variety of occupations in the borough and potentially reducing travel to work journeys.”

Housing proposed in the Local Plan is mostly in the countryside, with about 70% of the housing proposed on land that is currently in the Green Belt. These locations are some considerable distance from employment centers, many of which are located in central Guildford – so journeys to work will increase, not reduce, and congestion will get much worse. This issue is considered in detail in Annexe 2, which shows clearly that building new homes in the countryside will result in many more traffic movements than building homes within Guildford.

Annexe 1

Housing Supply and Demand Balance Analysis in Guildford Borough: 2001 to 2011

As census data is considered by the Office for National Statistics (ONS) to be their “gold standard” this analysis uses only census data. Although data for subsequent years is available, this is based on many estimates and so analysis is more subjective.

Across the borough, during the 10 year period between the two most recent censuses4, the number of dwellings in the borough increased by 2,692, an average of 269 dwellings per year. During the same period, the population of the borough increased by 7,482 persons, but a high percentage of these were full time students, aged 18 and over. Some of these students may have been local, but as this was probably a small number, it was ignored. This data is summarised in Table 2, below.

Some of the increase in students would have found accommodation in students halls of residence (for example, the development in Manor Park opened in 2005) it is assumed that about 40% of the increase in student numbers were in student halls of residence, leaving 2,234 to find accommodation elsewhere. The majority of these would have found rooms in privately rented houses, categorised as “Homes of Multiple Occupation”. Assuming 4 students per house, the increase in student numbers would have needed 559 extra houses. The remainder of the population increase, the “permanent” resident population of Guildford, increased by 3,759 people. As the average number of people per household was 2.42 in 2011, a further 1,553 dwellings were needed for this increase in population. So to house the overall increase in population, including students, about 2,112 additional houses were needed – but 2,692 were built. Thus the number of houses needed in Guildford to house the population increase was actually substantially lower than the supply available; so the balance between supply and demand was not responsible for the increase in house prices over this period, when average property transaction prices across the borough almost doubled.

During the financial years 2001 to 2011, average property transaction prices across the borough are shown in Table 2. This includes average and median property prices for transactions in the years shown. In any given year there may be several high priced transactions which distort an average, and so the median price is also given – the median is the mid-range price, so that 50% of transactions were below this price with 50% above. It is a better indicator of the movement of prices than averages. Also shown is the number of transactions for each year.

The data in Table 2 shows that prices increased very rapidly from 2001/2 to 2007/8, and that the number of transactions was quite constant, at about 3,050±200. This represented a turnover of about 5.6% of all of the dwellings in the borough (53,388 in the 2001 census). Then in 2008/9, prices fell, and stayed low for two years. If the balance between supply and demand were the only factor influencing house prices this would suggest a huge increase in supply – but this did not occur. It can be seen from this that the balance between supply and demand must have had a minor impact on house prices. In fact, determining factors were the availability and cost of credit, and the demand for housing outside London. Credit was freely available and credit costs (in real terms) were low, consequently house prices increased rapidly from 2001/2 to 2007/8.

Data from Table 2 is shown in graphical form in Figure 1, and the impact of the recession of 2008/9 is clear. It interrupted the increase in property prices – but the reduction in interest rates that accompanied this recession, which provided very low credit costs, resulted in property prices increasing again in 2010/11. Credit costs continue to be very low and when combined with the huge expansion in credit from quantitative easing, the price of assets increased sharply. Again, this had little, if anything to do with the supply and demand balance for housing.

This picture of supply of housing exceeding demand across the borough is similar to the national picture. According to an article in the Guardian newspaper, across the nation between the years of 1997 and 2007, “the housing stock grew by 10%, but the population only grew by 5%. If house prices were a function of supply and demand, they should have fallen slightly over this period. They didn’t. They rose by more than 300%.”

So the issue of high prices is a national issue, not confined to Guildford Borough, and is not solely because of the supply and demand balance. Building more houses to increase affordability within the borough will not have the desired effect. This conclusion (based on data) is at variance with the Local Plan, and shows clearly that the evidence base underpinning the Local Plan is suspect, and that the analysis in much of this data base, especially the West Surrey SHMA, is inadequate.

The cursory analysis above also indicates the severe impact of having an additional 693 dwellings coming onto the housing market. At the beginning of the recession, in 2008/9, there were only 1,481 property transactions across the borough. Adding 693 dwellings to this would create many problems for any existing householders who wished to sell. As new build housing would be attractive to anyone moving from London, and is more expensive than equivalent “used” housing, the average price for housing would probably not fall – but householders would be forced to reduce their selling price in order to sell.

Given that the number of domestic property transactions in 2015/16 was 2,510, adding 693 houses to this mix would mean that redevelopment projects would not proceed. Existing run down areas of Guildford would become more run down – there would be no incentive to revitalise them under this proposed plan. Green field sites outside Guildford would provide the bulk of new dwellings – so large areas of Guildford would simply be left to decay. This is contrary to policies within the NPPF, specifically those policies that protect the Green Belt.

Figure 2 also shows that the median price is increasing more slowly than the average price, a clear illustration that the average price is not a good indicator of the housing market, due to the impact of a limited number of high value transactions.

A true picture of the housing market has not been presented in this Local Plan. A more accurate picture (for 2015/16) is given in Table 3, which shows, for example, that there were 183 housing transactions at a price equal to or lower than £200,000 during 2015/16.

According to other ONS statistics, average earnings for Guildford residents in 2015 was £33,557 per year. A couple, with both on average earnings, using a multiple of 4.5 times earnings, could take out a mortgage for just over £300,000. According to the 2015/16 Land Registry data they would have had a choice during 2015/16 of at least 713 properties. This suggests that the affordability issue in Guildford has been exaggerated in order to promote a pro-development agenda.

Factors that Affect House Prices and Affordability

Across the UK, much of the planned increase in house building is related to the issues of high house prices and affordability – building more houses to increase the supply has been the approach adopted by the government, even though this policy is high risk, for example, consider the collapse of the housing markets in Spain, Ireland, etc in 2008/9 as a consequence of their massive house building programmes. There has been no risk analysis associated with the policy, either nationally or locally in the borough. House building appears to have been put in place as a strategy to drive economic growth, so that a great deal of effort (and government subsidy) has been devoted to this policy, to the detriment of other important policies, such as regional and industrial.

Affordability is not just a question of increasing housing supply, it is much more complex and a proper analysis should examine associated questions such as: why have real wages in the UK increased so slowly? Slow growth in wages means that house prices have outstripped the growth in real wages, and so affordability ratios have fallen. A sound, sustainable economy will not be built by housebuilding alone and to pursue this path is to embark on a policy that could well end in ignominious failure, with a housing bust similar in scale to that experienced in Spain and Ireland. But what other factors are important in determining house prices and affordability?

When considering this issue of affordability, and the approach of building more dwellings, there is an implicit assumption that the only determinant of house prices is the balance between supply and demand. But this is a nonsensical assumption. In 2008, when house prices in many regions of the UK (and across the world) started to crash, this was not because of a sudden massive increase in supply. Many other factors were clearly at work. Other factors that are important in determining house prices include:

- The cost of credit – the interest rate: effectively this is set by government policy via the Treasury and then by the Bank of England. This has been extremely low for 5 years, and is set to remain low for the foreseeable future. Even before the reduction in the Bank of England rate to 0.5%, the real cost of credit had been low for many years – largely because the governments preferred measure of inflation, the CPI, does not include a measure of housing costs. The current very low cost of credit means that mortgage payments as a percentage of take home pay are lower for first time buyers than during previous property booms of 2005-7 and 1989-90. House prices are set by what people can afford to pay, and so property prices have climbed.

The availability of credit. At the very least this is regulated by government, but in practice it is effectively set by government policy, for example, quantitative easing has resulted in huge credit expansion leading to asset price inflation, including house price inflation. Current high house prices are a direct consequence of the economic policies of successive governments, spanning a period of at least 20 years.

Various schemes to assist buyers such as “Help to Buy” have enabled house builders to increase or maintain prices, so that much of the subsidies government pays ends up as builders profits. This is because, for example, equity loans are available only on new build properties.

Housing subsidies paid by the government. In 2015, about £24 billion was paid out as housing benefit, of which about £8.8 billion was paid to private landlords. Consequently, housing benefit has largely driven the buy to let boom. With a secure rental income, buy to let landlords can bid up the price of houses, beyond the reach of other buyers.

The growth of “buy to leave”, which is driven largely by money from overseas, some of which comes from the black economy and illegal activities in overseas countries. Overseas buyers effectively use a house in the UK (predominantly London and its environs) as a safe deposit box in the sky. This has led to a significant number of properties in London being sold to overseas buyers, who have no intention of living there – but their investment is safe and likely to appreciate in value. In the years 2015 and 2015, Asian buyers alone paid $24 billion for UK property, of which $20 billion was in London. This forces London residents to move out to the suburbs and beyond, pushing up prices across the whole of the south east. Brexit and associated financial instability is likely to have an impact on this, and it may create a downturn in the London housing market.

Taxes – not just stamp duty but other taxes contribute to the high final cost of a house. Taxes and levies on the excavation of raw materials from quarrying coupled with high landfill taxes increase the final cost of every house built, so that stamp duty is just another layer of tax – the icing on the taxation cake for government. What extraction taxes and energy policies have done is force the closure of British brick plants, cement makers, etc. Now that there is a construction boom, building materials are being imported from all over Europe – bricks from Germany and further afield, roof tiles from Belgium, cement from France, etc. This leads to large increases in prices when there is an increase in construction – over the 5 years to 2016 brick prices increased by 25%, cement by 17%. The living wage will increase the pay of unskilled workers, such as labourers. Even in the recent past, a construction boom was a major stimulus for the British economy, but this is no longer the case because so much building material (and workers) are now imported. In 2015, the value of total imports of building materials from EU countries was £4.9 billion.

In addition, the Landfill Tax ensures that land is not used efficiently – it is cheaper to build large surface area car parks than to excavate and build car parks underground so that even when multi-storey car parks are built, they generally have no basement – because of the high cost of excavation due to high landfill taxes.

Guildford town is a classic example of inefficient land use, with large surface car parks at the university; park and ride car parks, at the railway station, and at employers throughout the town. This is a grossly inefficient use of land, but this inefficient land use is a consequence of government policy.

Profit margins of developers, which are currently somewhere between 20 to 30% on the cost of a house, even after high, exorbitant salaries are extracted from the companies for company executives.

As an example, Berkeley Homes has in place the most generous bonus system ever put in place by a British company, with £1 billion due to be distributed to company executives if certain targets are met – and the company is en route to meet these targets, mainly because of its ability to set and maintain high house prices. The chairman of Berkeley Homes was one of the highest paid persons in the UK in 2015, with his benefits amounting to more than £22 million for the year.
Profit margins enjoyed by housebuilders would not be tolerated in government regulated industries such as utility companies, or in food retailers, etc. It applies to the most expensive purchase the vast majority of purchasers will ever make, and it shows clearly that the housing market model used by the government (supply by the private sector only) is working only to benefit developers. It is functioning as a free market – but it is not a true free market because of the other factors that determine house prices such as government subsidies, including housing benefit. These create a win:win housing market for developers. The ability of developers to control housing supply is a major problem with the housing market – it is not the planning system that limits the supply of new dwellings, it is developers ensuring that they can maximise their profit margins by drip feeding new builds onto the market. The Local Government Association stated that there are potentially 400,000 dwellings with planning permission but construction had not been started. So the problem is in the operation of the market, not in the planning process. Reforms to the way that the housing market operates are long overdue, for example, through a large social housing programme, managed by a national housing executive.

Government regional policies also have an impact on house prices. This is evident in the way that property prices have or have not recovered after the property price crash in 2008. Not all regions currently have higher house prices than their 2007 peak values: This is clear evidence of an ineffective regional policy, and shows the publicity around creating a “northern powerhouse” is hyperbole. One strand of an effective regional policy would ensure that a genuine free market was allowed to run its course, so that as building in London and the south east became more difficult and expensive (due to strong planning policies protecting the Green Belt and countryside) development would be pushed to other regions, ensuring these regions grew. Instead, the government seek to make it easier for developers to build in areas with the highest growth, by weakening planning policies, so that development is concentrated in London and the south east, especially in the countryside. The effect of this policy (in reality the lack of an effective regional policy) means that demand for development of all types continues to grow in and around London, so that house prices can be increased and controlled by developers. This increases the wealth gap between the London plus the south east and other regions, and limits employment growth in these areas.

Immigration has a major role in the supply and demand equation – if the rate of immigration were not so high, the demand for housing would be substantially lower. Migration Watch have estimated that at least 40% of the housing demand is due to immigration, but their estimate was based on a lower number of migrants than the current level of immigration, and does not include the impact of the children of migrants, nor does it include the demand from illegal immigration. Thus the government’s immigration policies have had a major impact on the demand for housing. Immigration also has an impact on pay – it helps keep pay levels low, so that employers are not forced to pay more to help with recruitment. This has an impact on affordability ratios. Although there is a construction boom, with a supposed shortage of skilled workers, pay within the construction industry has not increased as rapidly as it has done in the past. This is because employers can recruit immigrants, who will work for lower rates of pay, for example, 50% of sub-contractors working for Berkeley Homes are from eastern Europe. So not only does this policy have an impact on the supply part of the housing equation, but it also has an impact on the ability to afford housing by keeping pay rates lower than they would otherwise have been. A recent estimate by employers was that pay rates for skilled workers in construction have increased by 6%. Historically, this is a very low increase for pay rates in the middle of a construction boom. If immigration policies change as a consequence of the Brexit vote, the pressure placed on housing supply by immigrants will fall, and this should be reflected in revised housing policies.

Contribution to Traffic Movements and Air Pollution

The Local Plan proposes building a minimum of 693 houses per year, of which 2,400 (17%) will be built within Guildford. The remainder (83%) will be built in the countryside. This is very much against advice from the Institute for Air Quality Management. Intuitively, it seems likely that this spatial distribution of housing would increase car and van journeys with a consequential increase in air pollution that is related primarily to vehicle emissions. This paper examines statistical evidence to assess the impact on vehicle journeys within the borough.

Spatial Vision

The spatial “vision” proposed in the Local Plan is the reverse of that recommended by the Institute for Air Quality Management, who said
“The pattern of land use determines the need for travel, which is in turn a major influence on transport related emissions. Decisions made on the allocation of land use will dictate future emissions, as many people and businesses will make significant use of road transport for journeys between places that form part of their daily lives.”

This has not been recognised in the spatial planning within this plan, which proposes that a large majority of new dwellings should be in rural areas, some considerable distance from the urban centre and employment centres. It is a plan that could have been written specifically to increase road traffic.

This report also suggested that

“This ideally, air quality should be a prime consideration for long term planning, so that land is used and allocated in ways that minimise emissions and that reduce the exposure of people to air pollution.”

This has not been part of spatial planning, but it should have been, even though there is no statutory requirement to do so. However, there is a statutory requirement to declare an air quality management area (AQMA) in areas that are known to have high pollution levels, but this has not been done within the borough. This is despite requests to the council to set up an AQMA following air quality tests that show high pollution levels in at least one village which has high traffic levels.

Sustainability

To examine the claim that the draft Local Plan contributes to sustainability several areas could be analysed. One of these is the impact on traffic, to assess the impact of adding additional housing in the countryside rather than in Guildford centre. This can be gauged by comparing the likely impact on car ownership of building housing in a rural location as opposed to an urban area of Guildford. Effingham has been chosen for this, but it could be any of the rural villages in the borough, and the impact of additional housing in this village is compared with additional housing in an urban area, Walnut Tree Close/Station area. This can be done using census details, taken from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) publications, so that availability of cars and vans can be compared as well as methods of travelling to work.

What have traffic levels to do with sustainability?

Traffic is a major contributor to air pollution, and air pollution has a significant effect on health. In April 2014, Public Health England produced a report9 that reconfirmed the estimate by the Committee on the Medical Effects of Air Pollutants that approximately 29,000 deaths per year in the UK could be caused by pollution from man-made particulate matter. This report estimated that there were 55 deaths per year in the borough attributable to air pollution. Particulates are very small air borne particles and transport is the single largest contributor to particulate pollution.

But air pollution is not limited to air borne particles - it includes many other pollutants, and one group that affects human health, especially that of children, is the gaseous oxides of nitrogen, nitrogen dioxide (NO2) and nitrogen monoxide (NO). When taken together these are usually called NOx. Nationally, almost half of these gases are produced by transport. In a submission to the House of Commons Report “Action on Air Quality” published in November 2014, Dr Ian Mudway of King’s College, London said:

“We have also found effects on infant mortality rates, on pre-term birth and on cognitive performance in children. There is some interesting data emerging on traffic proximity, diesel emissions and traffic potentially autism spectrum disorders… The evidence over the last three or four years that children growing up near traffic in areas with high NO2 and primary particle emissions have stunted and impaired lung development is incredibly strong.”

As well as health aspects, road safety is also important – increased traffic levels means more congestion, more delays, more stress, and inevitably, more accidents.

Areas in London exceed the EU limits for various air- borne pollutants, in particular, NOx. This has been on a scale that will result in the imposition of substantial fines on the UK government – and the UK government has expressed a desire for this to be passed to local government in areas that are out of compliance. Although Guildford Borough has a very limited air pollution monitoring regime they have one station that regularly exceeds limits – that at Wisley. Even though this is very poorly sited (meaning that the actual NOx concentration in this area is considerably higher than that being... recorded) it has consistently been above EU limits. Thus the borough’s taxpayers may have to share in the costs of the EU fine.

Since traffic has a major impact on air pollution, and as air pollution has a significant on health, especially that of children, it is an important element in sustainability – so the impact on traffic levels of housing policies should be assessed, in detail, before making claims that housing policies are “sustainable”.

Detailed Traffic Comparisons

Levels of car ownership vary substantially, as can be seen from the figure, taken from the data in Table 1. This data is taken from 2011 ONS Census data, as published in the series “Neighbourhood Statistics”.

The average number of cars or vans per household is highest in Effingham, with an average of 1.9 cars or vans per household in Effingham in 2011, compared to an average of 0.93 cars or vans per household in Woodbridge Meadows/ Walnut the Station. This suggests that plans for high levels of development in the countryside go against all the ideals of achieving sustainable developments as car and van availability is an indicator of how often those vehicles will be used.

In Effingham, there are very few households that do not have a car or van available, at 4.7% of total households, compared to 34.2% in Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station. Given the limited range of shops and services available in rural villages this should not be surprising. Most residents have to drive to be able to access basic health services, and for all but the most basic of shopping needs, employment opportunities, etc. This shows very clearly that it is very likely that there would be increased traffic on the roads throughout the borough as a consequence of additional housing in the countryside, and that this increase in traffic would be lower if additional housing were built in the centre of Guildford.

Experienced city planners such as Lord Rogers have called for increased density in towns and cities as a way to provide extra housing, provided increased density is accompanied by improved amenities and sensible traffic management plans. This is because of the benefits of increased density – towns and cities work better, with better public transport, better access to services, and a reduction in car journeys. Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station are ideal locations for increased population density – the railway station is within walking distance, as is much of the town centre. This is recognised to a limited extent by the Masterplan prepared for Guildford Borough Council, but does not seem to have been recognised in the 2016 draft Local Plan.

As the 2011 census had details of the methods used to travel to work, it is possible to test if traffic implications are in line with these expectations.

Methods of travel to work illustrate differing patterns of car and van use, with the details given in Table 2. In Effingham, only 14% of employed people who travel to work use public transport and almost 75% travel to work by car or van. Only 8% of those who travel to work walk or use a bicycle in Effingham, whereas in the Woodbridge Meadows/Station area the comparable figure is almost 33%.

Differences are illustrated in the figure showing the proportion of people who travel to work using public transport, walk or by bike. Building more houses in the countryside will result in many more car journeys – just to get to work. Many more would also be necessary, for residents to shop, to access financial and health services, etc. This shows clearly that car journeys would be minimised if new housing was concentrated in urban areas of Guildford.

Sensible planning should seek to improve the ability to use these modes of transport and the impact on the number of car or van journeys is very clear from the comparisons made here.

This type of analysis should be a feature when choosing to claim an option is “sustainable”, but it has not been a feature of the draft Local Plan. Claims made that building housing in rural areas is a sustainable option do not stand up to simple scrutiny, even without the consideration that it is proposed to build housing on the limited resource that is farmland.

Conclusions

The spatial planning in this draft plan will increase traffic movements and consequently, air pollution. Air quality should be a constraint used to limit the housing target. Even with a lower housing target, instead of what is proposed a higher proportion of housing developments should be within Guildford town. This could be achieved by recognizing that an expansion in retail and warehousing and distribution within the urban area is not sustainable, and the land set aside in the town centre for these uses instead to provide housing. GBC should also have used the local plan to set targets for air quality, with proposals to reduce noxious emissions, for example, through the use of LPG fueled public service vehicles, as is happening in other areas, such as Birmingham. This has not been done; there is no proposal to tackle existing air pollution or to alleviate the pollution caused by adding approximately 24,000 cars and vans to those already in use within the borough, based on car ownership levels in a rural village and an urban area in Guildford. This is the approximate number of vehicles that the proposed housing additions would bring, thought his number would vary, dependent on where the additional houses are located. If all the proposed housing were within Guildford, then instead of 24,000 about 13,000 cars and vans would be added to the existing total. In the census of 2011, the total across the borough was just under 54,000 cars and vans.

The comparisons made above show that traffic and air quality has not been considered in the spatial allocation of housing. Sustainability claims have not been analysed in drawing up the housing proposals featured in the draft Local Plan. A simple comparison of only one aspect of sustainability, car use (with its associated air pollution), shows very clearly that building extra housing in Effingham (a typical rural area village) is the least sustainable option. As a method of travel to work, car use in Effingham was shown to be much higher than in an urban area of Guildford, so to limit increases in traffic and emissions from traffic, housing should be provided in areas closer to employment opportunities and with access to good public transport. This does not mean that no additional housing should be provided in the countryside, but this housing should be limited in quantity, in keeping with its Green Belt status.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )
We object to this policy which allows potential development OUTSIDE settlements even in Green Belt and includes wording to propose extension of this policy for Market housing. This is a Trojan horse to allow development where it would not otherwise be permitted. Ensure it is made clear, as part of the policy (blue box), that this is an exceptional scheme only and that the overriding requirements of the NPPF, especially NPPF 87, 88 and 89, will apply in the administration of this policy so that it will only apply in exceptional circumstances. Far from being exceptional, this policy seeks to introduce a scheme where housing could be built anywhere, with no restriction, other than the general link to some form of connection with the Guildford housing list.

Re rural exception sites, the NPPF deals with this in NPPF 54 which states: "In rural areas, local planning authorities should be responsive to local circumstances and plan housing development to reflect local needs, particularly for affordable housing, including through rural exception sites where appropriate". This clause makes it clear that housing in rural locations should reflect local needs particularly for affordable housing. In this context local should imply with a direct connection to the local community only, not the wider community within the borough.

The following extract from the National Planning Policy Guidance is relevant:

Paragraph: 034 Reference ID: 3-034-20140306

Can unmet need for housing outweigh Green Belt Protection?

Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

Revision date: 06 03 2014

In fact it is clear that Guildford Borough Council sees rural exception housing not as an exception but as a normal mechanism for supply while disregarding the constraints of the Green Belt.

It uses existing and projected affordable housing within the villages not in order to meet local needs but as a response to the general housing list., This, per the NPPF, is inappropriate. It is symptomatic of the manner in which Guildford Borough treats the rural area – although containing 50% of the population of the borough- as merely ancillary to the needs and desires of the town.

This is arguably in contravention of the requirements of NPPF where housing development in rural areas should reflect local (not borough-wide) need. Such lack of earmarking has two potential problems. One is that there is increased pressure to consider too many rural exception sites which properly would not and should not be required. The preferred response to this would therefore be to earmark affordable housing within villages for demonstrable local need.

The other, which should not be overlooked, is that it has the capacity to create a rural poverty trap. In Gomshall, for example, (the site of a significant number of new affordable homes currently being built by GBC) the cost of a single bus fare to Guildford is currently £3.50 and the cost of a single train fare to Guildford is £3.80. This is likely to prove a significant obstacle in seeking employment or the facilities needed by most members of a community (cheaper food from supermarkets; hospitals; dentists; secondary schools; junior schools (none of these are present in Gomshall)). Such a rural poverty trap is likely to be of less impact for those with family in the immediate area or those who work in the area; but for those on the general housing list it is inappropriate housing. So if the affordable housing within villages is allocated to those with local connections, the need for the rural exception scheme falls away. It should be noted that the NPPF requires the policies under which limited affordable housing for local need to be set out in the Local Plan; this should not set out the circumstances either of where these policies should apply, nor to whom they should apply – both would seem to be required.
One particularly shocking – developer led – initiative is the proposal which suggests that the rural exceptions scheme should be utilised to grant planning permission in the Green Belt OUTSIDE settlement boundaries for market housing. This is completely in contravention of NPPF.

The detail of this provision indicates that this will override all guidelines as to appropriate zones for development within the plan. It is wholly unacceptable.

NPPF 89 notes that “a local planning authority should regard the construction of new buildings as inappropriate in Green Belt. Exceptions to this are:… limited affordable housing for local community needs under policies set out in the Local Plan”. New market housing does not meet this criterion and should not be permissible. This is in clear breach of the requirements of NPPF and of planning law (St Albans, Gallagher homes) and should be deleted. There are no circumstances where it could or should be permissible to build market housing under the rural exceptions scheme.

Concerns have been expressed previously that the ordinary rural exceptions scheme could become a “Trojan Horse” policy allowing development that should not otherwise be permissible. This expression of that policy emphatically seems to embrace this concept.

This policy is much wider than the NPPF requirement that rural exception sites should be restricted to the local (i.e. parish level) need. The wording of this policy- “contribute to meeting… local needs” means that GBC plans to use these to meet its normal housing list - the “local” is defined by GBC as meaning “current or former residents of the borough or have a family or employment connection”. So these would not really be local housing at all.

This policy requires radical revision in order to articulate the requirements under which the rural exception scheme might be permissible, making it clear that

- it will not be permitted except where there is demonstrable unfilled local need which cannot be met elsewhere?
- make it clear what the requirements are to qualify for the scheme?
- ensure it is made clear, as part of the policy (blue box), that this is an exceptional scheme only and that the overriding requirements of the NPPF, especially NPPF 87, 88 and 89, will apply in the administration of this policy so that the provision of rural exception sites will only apply in exceptional circumstances.

Under no circumstances should the rural exceptions scheme be used to accept market housing.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We object to policy I1 Infrastructure and delivery

We OBJECT to this policy as it stands. Various aspects of Infrastructure are acknowledged as congested, inadequate for the existing population and not able to accommodate much growth. However, greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – are targeted in order to generate CIL income for the council. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

The methodology commissioned by the Council to assess traffic and the corresponding roads infrastructure needs is inadequate for the purpose of the Local Plan and identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Under the growth proposed some locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. Even the A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

With regard to SANG provision, GBC has demonstrated that it has no genuine interest in conserving and enhancing biodiversity and clearly regards the Thames Basin Heaths SPA as an obstacle to be overcome rather than a valued asset. This is underlined at the end of the Policy wording which indicates that the council is more interested in meeting its legal responsibilities than actually protecting wildlife. GBC is failing to take account of existing biodiversity at sites selected for SANG provision.

Some infrastructure, as identified in Figure 1 of the draft IDP- is within the control and remit of Guildford Borough Council – they have some influence in relation to planning – but much is under the control, and is the fiscal responsibility of, Surrey County Council or Highways England.

It is not realistic to assume that car use can effectively be replaced for all or even many users. Those who are disabled or infirm cannot easily substitute car journeys with bike travel: the elderly; the disabled; those caring for young children (particularly uncertain bike users and those with multiple children to care for); those wishing to use cars for supermarket or other bulky shopping; those who wish to commute to work and have no facilities for showering or changing on arrival; those who have lengthy and tiring commutes at present, for which the car is the final (short) element of a long journey (for those commuting into London from outside Guildford, a daily 3 hour commute is typical; this cannot realistically be extended by extensive cycling). All these factors mean that the replacement of the car with cycle use is likely to be overstated by many studies, particularly given narrow roads which do not allow effective or safe bike lanes.

Funding is not the only - nor the main - obstacle to improving infrastructure within the borough, and this seems not to be recognized. Guildford is a gap town, set in a bowl within the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty to the south of the borough, and with large sections of the borough affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area to the north. There is a ribbon through the middle of the borough which contains rail and road links to London, but is already heavily congested, is Green Belt, AONB, SPA or more than one of the above. Very little of the borough is available for extensive development of infrastructure or any building. Do we really want solutions that involve driving new roads through our remaining countryside – including the AONB – at huge cost in financial and environmental terms. Such solutions may be the only ones left when the inadequacies of this proposed Local Plan are realised after the event.

Policy indicates note an intention to pool Community Infrastructure Levy from most new build development and to use CIL receipts to assist in provision of infrastructure needed to support the delivery of the plan. As with other aspects of planning, there is a failure to recognize that out of town settlements in particular have particularly high requirements for additional new basic infrastructure in order to exist at all – roads, sewers, water provision, electricity, gas, telephone and broadband links will all need to be provided and in many cases the links to existing services will need to be upgraded before these can be implemented. The ability to divert funds from CIL to other uses will be inherently limited, not least that otherwise the proposed settlements will not be able to function. The Council strategy of taking CIL from new build in the Green Belt seems to be to pay for roads within the town centre, as indicated in the policy which notes that legislation prevents the use of planning obligations to fund existing infrastructure deficits.
In the reasoned justification, it is indicated that the council will be prepared to negotiate if an applicant claims that the infrastructure requirements for their development make it unviable. This means that some developments will go ahead anyway and worsen the infrastructure deficit. The Policy claims that infrastructure needed “should” be provided and available when first needed but we have no confidence in the council enforcing this.

The absolute constraint on developmental capacity within the borough represented by the infrastructure limitations cannot be swept aside, but the council has ignored this and failed to apply a constraint on the housing number.

We are not convinced that the extent of existing traffic congestion has been fully recognised by the SCC transport assessment because the methodology employed waters down the level of traffic observed. This has knock-on effects when modelling the various development scenarios. The result is that the requirements identified (expensive though they may seem) are the tip of the iceberg. One of the easiest issues to understand is the use of average peak hour flows for the baseline data. SCC acknowledge that that this is “typically lower” (see Transport Assessment 4.13.4 but GBC prefer the averaging approach with some eloquent wording in their Headline network metrics (3.9). A much better solution would have been to collect reliable baseline data that allowed for the effects of queuing and modelled each hour (or a shorter time period). Such an approach would have cost more but GBC seem unwilling to go the extra mile for reliable evidence while being content to spend large sums of money on propaganda exercises such as their one-sided video. There are other more technical reasons why the transport assessment methodology fails to fully identify current and planned congestion.

Planned developments for Guildford and Waverley Boroughs were modelled together but growth for the rest of the UK was allowed for only using the DotT forecasts. As a result it is not clear whether adequate allowance has been made for significant developments planned for Woking and other neighbouring Boroughs. This represents an inconsistency in approach with the West Surrey SHMA.

Many of the results for the PM peak are missing (TA 4.1.11 states that “these can be set out in an addendum report at a later date”). We believe that those who need to travel on the roads in peak hours will be every bit as interested in their future journeys home as they are for going to work. Publication of the Transport Assessment was delayed until the start of the consultation period so perhaps the non-inclusion of many PM results was simply a result of running out of time.

The Model Development Validation Report does include some interesting baseline data that may be of interest to residents in terms of local knowledge of traffic.

We are not convinced that it would be practical or desirable to end up in a position where the only solution to traffic congestion is to build many more new roads as by-passes through the Surrey countryside, or turn existing roads into dual carriageways, or demolish buildings (some of which may be historic) in order to accommodate higher capacity junctions in built-up areas.

It is noted that the infrastructure Development Plan was developed using hotspots identified in “OGSTAR” (the previous Transport Assessment used for the 2014 consultation) as a starting point. (See Transport Topic Paper (5.56)). However, the site list used for OGSTAR was not even compatible with the former draft Local Plan let alone the current one. Despite this, the Key Evidence mentions the June 2016 TA but not OGSTAR.

Appendix C (Infrastructure Schedule) is lacking in detail concerning what work will actually be carried out for most of the Local Road Network projects and the cost estimates are clearly at the guesswork stage suggesting that these schemes have not been fully thought through or checked for viability. If more detail is available then why not provide it.

It is not clear whether CIL will be received in time to put the required infrastructure in place for each development – or what penalties will be applied for late payment.

The Monitoring Indicators rely entirely on annual CIL receipts and spending. Surely they should look at actual infrastructure delivery and any changes in its adequacy.

The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

We OBJECT to this policy as it stands. This policy is concerned only with the strategic road network – the A3 and M25 for which the responsibility and decision-making lies with Highways England. It is only reasonable that the council will work closely with Highways England to ensure that the Local Plan does not utilise land in a way that limit the scope for future improvements.

However, the proposals for the A3 are undecided and the council has suggested a very expensive tunnel proposal that, even if HE decided to go ahead with it, is unlikely to be delivered until the end of the plan period. Less expensive alternative A3 improvements would not be delivered before implementation of the current draft Local Plan and would deliver a massive growth in traffic. The road improvements are likely to lead to significant disruption to traffic during the construction phase on top of an already overloaded road network. It would be folly to make matters worse by committing to such a large housing number and the only logical conclusion is that a very significant traffic constraint should be applied to the OAN for this Local Plan.

Funding for prospective road improvements has not been secured.

The wording of this policy is far too vague. Terms such as “working with” Highways England, to “facilitate” improvements, “to take account” of “emerging proposals” mean that this policy is, in effect, meaningless. Typographical errors – such as the misspelling of “licensed” – must also be corrected.

The Road Investment Strategy phase 2 (RIS2) for the period post 2020 is currently in the research stage. Until the research is completed it is impossible to prejudge what impact this will have on the Strategic Road network. However, the Strategic Transport Assessment does state “4.8.6 It should be noted that despite these improvements, Figure 4.7 shows the A3 is still operating overcapacity with resulting impacts on congestion.” and “4.5.10 Currently it is unclear why some minor roads in or just outside Guildford town centre are showing increases. These include roads such as Nightingale Road, Denmark Road and Tormead Road. However, it could be related to re-routing occurring as a result of the improvements to the A3 through Guildford attracting drivers to both join the A3 and remain on the A3 at Guildford and weaving through local streets.” Also, at 4.8.3 “At the same time, average vehicle speeds increase not just on the A3 but across the network within the borough as a whole. However, despite this it should be noted that although the average speed across the network in Scenario 5 is higher than in Scenario 1 (the Do-Minimum), there are differences within the network with average speeds on A roads and minor roads lower than in Scenario 1.” In other words, traffic congestion on the local road network is predicted to be worse under this draft Local Plan.

It is possible or indeed probable that no further funding will be available, or that any funding will not meet projected full costs. If this funding is unavailable in full, then this policy should clearly state that projects cannot be developed.

RECOMMENDATION:
We propose that unless guaranteed public funds are available to cover costs in full, there should be no development of any individual sites of more than 10 homes outside the urban areas.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments This is another vaguely aspirational policy, based on wishful thinking and not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport.

We support the concept and aim but OBJECT on the grounds that the practicalities of sustainable transport have not been properly considered, it is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and call them sustainable. Not everyone can cycle all the time.

How can large developments outside the town centre maximise sustainable travel? This is a matter for the planning process - the further from the town centre, the less sustainable the development will be.

Reliance on cycling discriminates against vulnerable members of the community. How can the disabled, those with small children, or the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill, cycle outside the town in order to commute, or even inside the town? Only some people cycle – and Guildford has some steep hills, especially going out of town. Park and rides are slow – how can those with a 3 hour commute add 1 hour to their journey from using park and rides?

The only sustainable mechanism for new developments is to have them in the town centre close to the railway and the main shopping links where a hoppa bus can provide satisfactory links for those who cannot walk or cycle. While we welcome the intention to encourage rail travel by adding two new stations there could be unintended consequences.

Once again we see the word “expect” used which means the policy has no teeth. The word “expect” must be replaced with the word “require” so that this policy is enforceable.

There are a number of problems with this policy.

Congestion is a widely recognised factor in the local area of Guildford, and this is a major factor in the public response to the proposed housing numbers, which represents more than a 25% increase in housing numbers in a borough that is already profoundly congested. [Source: SHMA p61: itself sourced from ONS for 2013.] Residents recognise that to increase the population by this level within the existing transport provision is not feasible, and this informs much of the public response to the proposed level of housing accommodation.

It is not clear that this recognition, which is widespread through the borough, is shared by those who have drafted the Local Plan.
Guildford is a commuter town, which (compared to London) offers better quality of life and lower house prices, so it will continue to be a commuter town for the foreseeable future. As a result, access to the stations for commuting is of significance. It is not realistic to assume that traffic to stations for commuters can be replaced either by bus services (slow, intermittent, expensive, and in many cases absent completely) or by cycle. There is a capacity issue of car parking at the station, which effectively creates an absolute constraint on the feasibility of commuting from Guildford.

Cycling is attractive, and, for the urban young, especially students, it is both practical and cheap, and can be quick. However, as noted, those en route to work cannot be assumed to be able to cycle in working clothes. Elderly members of the community, those transporting small children, and the disabled cannot participate in cycling except to a limited extent. Effectively the "average" person deemed to be capable of cycling to substitute for car trips is an able-bodied adult not travelling to somewhere where smart clothing is required, not needing to arrive clean (or with showering facilities on arrival, not provided by all employers); this is not sufficiently widespread in terms of the local demographic for travellers that it should be allowed to determine policy – and of course, not needing to transport, for example, supermarket shopping after the trip. What about the disabled? the elderly? those looking after more than one child? Are they to be housebound? This is not a reasonable strategy. Before transport and buildings are determined on the basis of such a policy, it is also imperative that safe cycle routes are implemented through the borough. Cycling in winter on rural roads is inherently more dangerous. Upgrading these roads would not be feasible in terms of cost nor desirable in terms of local character.

Cycle lanes which disappear into normal traffic lanes, which travel over potholes and which allow cyclists to be threatened by HGVs are not conducive to wider cycle usage, nor should wider cycle usage be encouraged until it can be demonstrated that it is safe, which currently, locally, it is not. The A25 cycle corridor scheme (Part of LRN1) will exchange the risk between cyclists and vehicles sharing space for the risk between cyclists and pedestrians sharing space. Much of the A25 has no pedestrian area anyway outside the urban space. Many cyclists travel at high speed and they will be put into conflict with pedestrians including mothers with very young children and schoolchildren many of whom need to cross the road and hence cross the cycleway. This is likely to lead to accidents and pedestrians are being disadvantaged.

Road capacity reduces as average speeds come down due to congestion. Where proper cycle lanes or off-road lanes are not provided then it is inevitable that safe driving will lead to reduced average motor vehicle speeds and gap development in the traffic stream. Both these effects act to reduce the capacity of our local road network. This loss of capacity has not been recognised in the Transport Strategy.

The concept of the park and ride with access into the town limited for those who live outside the town, is similarly flawed. Park and Ride is expensive, cumbersome and slow. It should be noted that in Oxford it has had a disastrous impact on small local retailers which is a retail segment that it is important to retain and support.

Use of park and rides increases the use of the strategic road network by local users, which is not what it is designed to do. This proposal is combined with aggressive exclusion from the town of those who are living in peripheral communities, which will increasingly resemble housing estates. This is a strategy for sink estates through Surrey instead of the Green Belt - this is not a strategy for growth. Head offices will choose to go elsewhere, because highly skilled staff and management in the cutting edge industries that GBC wants to encourage, will not choose to live in a dense housing estate.

The existing extent of traffic congestion has not been fully recognised. As a consequence the impact of the various development scenarios has been understated and the infrastructure costs are an understatement.

The transport studies are incomplete and unpublished and this should have led to deferral of consideration of the Local Plan consultation process until it was possible to revise the plan post publication of the studies. This matter was raised by a number of councillors at the Full Council meeting on 24 May 2016 when the consultation was approved, but a motion to defer was overturned by the majority party.

Cross-subsidy in terms of infrastructure is envisaged. The infrastructure deficit needs to be resolved before there are large numbers of new residents exacerbating the current congestion. The funding of the new developments through CIL and S106 is expected to contribute to the transport impacts across the borough, and there is negligible concern for the transport problems created within those new developments or in areas adjacent to them. This is not acceptable to existing residents and is likely to cause some problems with the future residents too, who may arguably feel aggrieved that the road funding associated with their developments is being subverted to other areas. While this may be permissible under the revised CIL... regulations it is questionable whether it is morally acceptable to grant planning permission to build on the Green Belt in order to cross subsidise the building of roads or other infrastructure in the town centre or elsewhere across the borough or outside it.

Insetting of villages and the proposed relaxation of planning restrictions anywhere outside settlements (Green Belt or not), implied in P2, will lead to substantial infilling that will not require traffic assessment but will contribute a highly significant amount of additional car journeys overall - by a more insidious process than the large developments proposed.

Costs for rail or bus travel could be substantially reduced and would incentivise their use; but these are outside the remit of GBC and so cannot be encouraged by them.

It remains to be seen whether the proposed new stations will be delivered as they are not entirely within the council’s control. While we welcome the intention to encourage rail travel by adding two new stations there could be unintended consequences as the roads local to both sites are heavily congested. If parking facilities are inadequate this could lead to a need for onerous parking restrictions on roads nearby – possibly affecting small businesses adversely.

If parking facilities are adequate this will encourage more traffic onto local roads and commuters tend to be hurrying to catch a train or anxious to return home after a day at work. That does not bode well for the safety of pedestrians needing to cross those roads. House prices near to stations tend to attract higher prices and this will increase the profit motive to developers wanting to build on greenfield sites nearby. It will also mean that so-called affordable housing will be even less affordable at these sites. It may also lead, over time, to an undesirable loss of social-rented housing in the vicinity. A minor issue is that stopping at the additional stations will increase the train journey times to and from Guildford town centre on the lines affected.

Detail in Policy wording – flawed drafting:

The policy begins and ends with the weak and totally ineffective word, in planning terms, “expect”.

Contributing through CIL will not necessarily address needs local to the development concerned, and created by it, but may involve solving existing problems elsewhere in the Borough.

Bullets 4 & 5 – improvements to park and ride facilities imply increased car usage from outside the town and the parking provision acknowledges that most journeys will be by car.

Bullet 6 - Has the Vehicle parking Supplementary Planning Document been published? It is not listed as key evidence but the policy refers. How can a policy have been determined with reference to a non-existent part of the evidence base?

Bullets 7,8, 9 & 10 are weak & aspirational with let-out words such as “facilitate the use of”, “wherever possible”, “contribute” and “where appropriate” (and poorly bulleted!). How will the use of ultra low emission vehicles be facilitated? This is such a vague aspiration as to be meaningless.

The policy only “expects” new developments to contribute, demonstrate adequate provision, etc – it should enforce them. A transport statement AND assessment ought to be a fixed requirement – not a matter for negotiation – while the policy implies that this might be waived even for sites that generate significant amounts of movement.

The construction traffic, noise and pollution generated by meeting the proposed housing number will be excessive. It will have a highly significant impact on the amenity and health of those residents living close to the development sites and those who live on the routes that will be taken by the construction traffic.

The last paragraph says nothing new in planning terms but does mean that the Local Plan has not fully and properly considered the traffic impacts of the proposed sites. We have experience of how misleading the TAs produced by developers can be – using averaging techniques and understated baseline figures, days when schools are not operating and many other devices to pull the wool over the eyes of planning authorities. This aspect is a denial of responsibility by GBC. The result is that Green Belt and countryside will be released for development when fuller consideration of traffic impacts at the Local Plan stage should have prevented that. If the planning authority is taken in by developers’ TAs then wholly unsuitable developments will be permitted.
Introduction:

The spatial development strategy (paragraph 4.6.20 and Policy S2) does not address the development needs of the borough ensuring distances are practical; this is certainly not the case with all the development sites. For example, the Wisley airfield site will generate a massive increase in vehicle journeys; developments in West Horsley will lead to greater car use, as will the proposed developments at Garlick’s Arch and in Send. The obvious site choice for sustainable development would be on brownfield sites in the town but the Local Plan proposes allocating those sites to the declining retail industry instead.

Paragraph 4.6.21 suggests that sustainable transport is promoted. Far from providing sustainable transport this Plan will generate a massive increase in motor vehicle journeys. The Plan cannot force residents to ride bicycles or walk everywhere.

Justification:

Paragraph 4.6.22 seeks to set out a reasoned justification and alleges that development should offer real travel choice by sustainable transport modes. There is little sign that this is being taken seriously enough now.

Paragraph 4.6.23 proposed to bring forward a Vehicle Parking Supplementary Planning Document. It is not clear what to make of this. Failure to provide off-street vehicle parking will not prevent residents owning cars and finding somewhere else to park but it may make life difficult for key workers to commute to their place of work. How can a consultation take place relying on non-existent background documents which are key parts of the Evidence Base? How can anyone comment on non-existent documents, and even if brought forward part-way through the consultation, any comments will be prejudiced by the absence of this informing the start of the consultation.

Paragraph 4.6.24 refers to the Sustainable Movement Corridor. Bus services are aspirational but economic reality may mean that they fail to persist. There is not enough detail published on how the SMC will be delivered – suggesting that it is aspirational rather than fully thought through.

Paragraph 4.6.26 refers to reviewing existing transport facilities and likely transport generation as part of assessing the amount of incremental travel demand. That consideration should have taken place in a robust and detailed manner on a site-by-site basis before the sites were allocated in the Local Plan. It is not sufficient to leave that until the planning application stage as intended by GBC and SCC, given that all sites will be subject to “permission in principle” under the Housing and Planning Act 2016 and so will not be capable of subsequent rejection on these grounds.

Paragraph 4.6.27 notes that Development must mitigate its transport impacts. The measures described rely entirely on people taking them up and not dumping their travel information packs in the nearest bin. It is clear that GBC, in response to concerns about elderly and disabled people failing to be coerced into riding bicycles are now suggesting tricycles to overcome this obstacle to their aspirations. They should be aware that while tricycles may help with balance issues they are heavier and harder to ride uphill. While the policy (unusually) notes that mitigation must be provided, in fact this is then diluted to suggest that facilities for electric car charging points and encouragement to car-share can be sufficient; all are optional and therefore meaningless.

However well designed a development is it will make matters worse during construction and if on a greenfield site, it is hard to see how it will achieve environmental benefits. On the other hand, replacing inefficient buildings on a brownfield site could lead to benefits in the long term.

Paragraph 4.6.28 notes “Developers should have regard” to the “Infrastructure Schedule at Appendix C”. The only thing that developers have regard for is forcing their application through and maximising their profit – that is the business they are in. Appendix C is lacking in detail. It notes, for example that there will be new town centre bus facilities at a cost of £5-10 million – such vagueness make it clear that no real costing or analysis of proposals has been prepared, and that the Infrastructure improvements proposed have not been properly considered. Having regard to fluid and uncertain proposals is effectively meaningless as a constraint or a requirement.

Paragraph 4.6.29 requires that applications need to address the transport implications of the proposed development. Experience with recent planning applications suggests that developers will do everything in their power to understate transport impacts and we have no faith in GBC and SCC taking a sufficiently robust line on this.
Key Evidence is missing or inadequate.

The Strategic Transport Assessment (SCC 2016) is listed as “forthcoming”, but this plan has been produced in the absence of any strategic transport review.

There are further inadequacies in the Evidence Base, highlighted in the following annexes, which include examples of deficiencies, ambiguities and inadequacies in the transport and infrastructure evidence. This is not a comprehensive list of deficiencies, but serves as an illustration of the poor evidence on which decisions have been based.

Comments on Guildford Borough Transport Study 2016

Page 2 – “address the historic infrastructure deficit” - developers are not required to do this?

Page 2 – It is wrong to claim that the cycle infrastructure along the A25 is good – and many cyclists are not careful, so putting them in contention with pedestrians is not a good idea.

Page 5 – The decision on Heathrow or Gatwick has yet to be taken but airport expansion in the south- east cannot be regarded as sustainable development and, although GBC has no control over such external decisions, its own growth agenda will drive a need for that expansion.

Page 6 An additional weakness is alternative “road closure diversion” routes for the SRN on the LRN

Page 6 Are the “Committed Improvements” actually committed and guaranteed to be delivered?

Page 7 The rail strategy does not provide for Wisley (residents would drive to stations)

Page 7 How long will it take to deliver Crossrail 2? “We hope that Crossrail 2 could be operational by 2030, but we are in the very early stages of planning and no decision to build it has been made.”

Page 7 Guildford platform capacity still many years away if ever.

Page 7 The rail strategy anticipates many improvements that have not been secured and may have unintended consequences if they proceed (see above)

Page 7 The Southern Rail Access to Heathrow #[]see the feasibility study dated December 2015 – although other proposals may be put forward (e.g. by Hounslow)## is still in its early stages and would have significant impacts on open space beyond our Borough. For example, all options in the feasibility study would use Staines Moor SSSI and Option 4 would use Bedfont Lakes Country Park (a Local Nature Reserve and SNCI).

The various options would use existing commercial, residential and highways land in varying degrees. It seems unlikely that a solution will be delivered within the Plan period and removal of highly valued open space with high biodiversity (wherever it is in South-east England) cannot be regarded as sustainable.

Page 10 and 13 There is a stark contrast between the plans for the town centre which involve encouraging a reduction in traffic by reducing roadspace and the plans for the SRN and parts of the LRN which involve increasing capacity. While increasing capacity may reduce some areas of congestion in the short term, history suggests that traffic will rapidly grow until the improved roads are congested once again. This can hardly be regarded as sustainable. A sustainable option would be to apply a very substantial traffic infrastructure constraint on the housing number.

Page 10 While the A3 Guildford Tunnel aspiration has some environmental advantages over widening (in particular for residents living close to the A3), the environmental burden of the construction phase will be far higher and aspects such as location of ventilation stacks and their local effect (in all weather conditions) do not appear to have been considered.

Page 14 Under Weaknesses the point about A roads in Guildford Town also applies to surrounding areas in the Borough and beyond. The anticipated improvements ignore existing congestion to the south and east of Guildford – presumably because SCC’s transport assessment methodology only identifies the tip of the iceberg. The current Plan will see increased congestion and a resultant reduction in air quality in many areas beyond the town centre.

Page 16 “Largely commercial bus services” is seen as a strength whereas it should be seen as a weakness with a trend to reduced subsidies and the provision of bus services, especially in rural areas, being increasingly dependent on commercial gain. It is difficult to see this changing under the current Government cuts philosophy. The point “Subject to business case including funding” under Aspirations demonstrates this point.

Page 18 We welcome the aspiration to “Expand the public realm through significantly extended pedestrian-priority areas”

Page 19 Guildford is well behind other areas in monitoring air quality let alone attempting to reduce it.

The introduction talks about reductions in some pollutants. This may be the case for pollutants such as Sulphur Dioxide, which contributed to the visible London smogs, but it is not true of diesel vehicle emissions which have increased as a result of Government policy including its aggressive growth agenda and population increase through immigration.

30 accessible electric vehicle charging points are only an aspiration and will be nowhere near enough if there is a real shift to electric vehicles.

It is clear from the “Strategy outcomes” that GBC would prefer not to follow other areas in pro-actively tackling air quality.

Page 22/23/24 The timescales indicate that the main rail improvements (Including the two new stations) are unlikely to be delivered until the end of the Plan period or even later. The sites that are supposedly justified by their inclusion will generate a major increase in road traffic in the interim and it may be more difficult to achieve this aspect of modal shift in the longer term. The same can be said about the other traffic infrastructure proposals. Residential development is being scheduled before the infrastructure that it will need.

Page 24 Monitoring – “Increase” needs to be in proportion to population growth as otherwise failure will taken as success. “An Increase in average vehicle speeds” is inconsistent with the desire to reduce the number of persons killed or seriously injured. For example, some A roads pass through residential areas where pedestrians, including schoolchildren, are trying to cross the road at peak times. It is noted that increase in vehicle speeds is only desired in the morning. Going home from work does not seem to matter!

Annexe 2

NPPF and NPPG The Plan ignores the points concerning Green Belt and protecting the environment. GBC have tried to get round this by spinning their messages and using misleading statistics including a major understatement of the area of Green Belt to be removed.

Planning Update (March 2015) – The point in this update concerning Green Belt has been ignored

Monitoring Indicators:

- Ten years is far too long to wait for information on whether the approach is working or not. The target requires only an increase. This would permit an increase less than that in line with any population growth to be regarded as success. The bar has been set well within the failure range.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Response type: OBJECT

The Policy shows concern for conserving and enhancing biodiversity, which is welcome. We also note and welcome the intention to extend the principle beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. However the current plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will have the opposite effect. The Policy appears therefore to be a box-ticking exercise with no real teeth to it.

There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting.

There is no mention of the impact of the plan on food production, or monitoring the loss of agricultural land.

“The natural world, its biodiversity and its constituent ecosystems are critically important to our wellbeing and economic prosperity, but are consistently undervalued in conventional economic analyses and decision-making” (Biodiversity 2020 page 11)

“As a public authority in England you have a duty to have regard to conserving biodiversity as part of your policy or decision making.” (Government Planning Guidance)

Part of the problem is that “Biodiversity benefits are unpriced” and so not valued by those who look only at the more obvious and simplistic economic benefits.

We have some concerns that “enhancing” the River Wey in the town centre will avoid using the available brownfield land around Walnut Tree Close and Slyfield for urban regeneration and sustainable housing that could otherwise be used.

The policy on Green and Blue infrastructure is broadly supported with an important and major caveat; and if disregarded this should count as an objection.

However, it is noted that the largest areas of industrial brownfield land within the borough are near to or adjacent to the River Wey, particularly in the Walnut Tree Close area and in the Slyfield industrial area.

These areas could support much more housing than the relatively small numbers indicated in the policy on the town centre, under a town centre regeneration scheme. This would have huge benefits for the community as a whole since relatively run down areas would be subject to regeneration, the river banks would be cleaner and more attractive.

It is vitally important for the town as a whole that the run-down Walnut Tree Close area is used for well-designed housing, as indicated by the Mastervision document first draft compiled by Allies and Morrison. John Rigg of Savills and Guildford Vision Group indicated to the Scrutiny Committee of GBC that initial commercial projections indicated that the Walnut Tree Close area alone could provide 4000 homes. This is significantly in excess of the current GBC proposals. Both Allies & Morrison and GVG initially indicated that they believed that this site could be available for regeneration within the critical 5 year window required for the local plan. It is therefore essential that nothing in this policy should jeopardise anything that could lead to the Walnut Tree Close area being a regeneration zone.

As has been noted elsewhere, for reasons that are not altogether clear but appear to be connected to central government direction and a desire to maximize the Community Infrastructure Levy, there is an aggressive desire to push development on to the Green Belt at all costs, ignoring or eliminating for other reasons sites which could be used in the town for residential purposes. This has informed recent planning decisions (both the Aldi site and the Waitrose site were originally zoned for residential purposes and were eminently suitable for this) and this bias seems to be informing the Local Plan.
As a result, it is important that the desire for Green and Blue infrastructure does not become an excuse for preventing regeneration of Walnut Tree Close. It is noted that the Council has stated that “The Council is keen to protect the watercourses from inappropriate development that would spoil their character”. The bus station adjacent to the River Wey, and the empty car parks associated with empty factory space, are hardly attractive development – well designed mid height (3-4 storey) apartment blocks would be a great improvement to the river corridor, offer major scope for sustainable regeneration, and would prevent the need for any incursion into the Green Belt to meet reasonable housing needs.

That regeneration zone would be highly sustainable, because it would be within 1 mile of the railway station, adjacent to the A3, and would eliminate an area of huge congestion in the town because if the industrial sites were replaced by housing then the residents would commute by train or walk to work rather than having to drive in to an industrial estate.

It certainly does not seem appropriate to create substantial new parkland on current hard standing. The protections to which this policy refers largely describe existing open space, which is of great importance. But to determine not to utilize brownfield land for residential use at an appropriate density in order to force building on to the Green Belt would seem to be in contradiction of the principles of use of the Green Belt applied in the Gallaher Homes v Solihull court of appeal case, where the hierarchy of use is clearly defined, with urban brownfield required to be used as a first option.

So there is some considerable support for the residential element of this policy, with the note that this should be explicitly amended to permit construction of a regeneration zone on the brownfield areas surrounding the river in the middle of the town, and that this should not be held up pending yet more transport studies (Guildford’s track record on brownfield utilisation is poor), but should be implemented with immediate effect.

It is not clear what form the “parkland” along the River Wey will take but the images available in the Town Centre MasterPlan suggest mown grass similar to the area around Millmead. This misses an opportunity to enhance biodiversity and enable town centre residents to engage with wildlife. Engagement with wildlife should mean much more than throwing bread at ducks and chasing pigeons. To achieve a wildlife corridor through Guildford, that can also benefit the health and well-being of residents living close by, the green space retained beside the river should be managed with the needs of wildlife in mind.

Responses to policy notes:

4.6.33 Villages are generally permeable to wildlife. The lower density of housing and presence of gardens (especially larger gardens) provides a corridor for movement across the residential area. Insetting of villages and the relaxation of planning restrictions in the Green Belt implied by Policy P2 will lead to infilling, “garden grabbing” and consequent loss of biodiversity. It will replace connections and corridors between habitats with barriers and lead to further fragmentation of our natural infrastructure.

4.6.34 In the past Guildford Borough Council recognised the role that wildlife gardening and management of parks and open spaces for wildlife could play in enhancing biodiversity. There seems to have been a shift away from this. These aspects should be recognised in the Plan as well as the importance of BOAs and although 4.6.35 goes part way towards this we have yet to see the GREEN AND BLUE INFRASTRUCTURE SUPPLEMENTARY PLANNING DOCUMENT.

4.6.36 This is long overdue and should include the way that our lanes are managed. The current approach is unsympathetic, sometimes damaging tree roots and scarce native plants. It seems to be oriented towards encouraging faster traffic rather than recognising the traffic-calming effects of natural vegetation (See the original Quiet Lanes Initiative) – management of open spaces and lanes

We await the Countryside Vision with interest.

4.6.37 It appears that Policy I5 has been omitted.(We think this meansP5 – more evidence of slapdash work)

4.6.38 We agree with this statement but public access is frequently damaging to biodiversity – the more obvious examples being dogs out of control in the vicinity of ground-nesting birds and trampling of grassland habitats. Public open space must be protected for the reasons given but wildlife needs undisturbed (or at least less disturbed) space too if it is to thrive.

Responses to definitions:
This section starts with a definition that is not a proper definition and is followed by statements that are not definitions at all, apart from the last – suggesting that this part of the document has not been thought through or checked.

4.6.42 “Biodiversity creation and/or enhancement” is not a definition – it requires definition.

Do you mean that you will create new species or encourage them to evolve? Or do you mean that you will increase the number of species living in the Borough, or the population of each species, or both?

The points made are aspirational that have no enforcement to back them.

We support the use of green roofs and walls.

However, building on the countryside and increasing the population by such a large amount will not help vulnerable species. It will put added pressure on remaining habitats and increase light and air pollution, degrading the ability of the borough to support wildlife.

4.6.43 Arrangements with developers have no guarantee of success or longevity. They involve partial mitigation and overall loss of the original biodiversity interest of a site.

4.6.44 This appears to be saying that you will deliberately put playing fields, sports facilities and other leisure activities in BOAs – but these are land uses that reduce biodiversity!

4.6.45 Our understanding of SANG is that it is intended to reduce pressure on Special Protection Areas by providing an alternative area for people to walk their dogs – and hope that they do not prefer to use the SPA. In other words they are intended to attract the type of user that is damaging to vulnerable species such as ground-nesting birds. In the desperation to find SANG land Guildford Borough Council are making use of existing open space that will not attract people away from the SPA and you are ignoring the impact on existing wildlife. For example – GBC decided to include the towpath in the Parsonage Meadows SANG as a way of also facilitating a cycle route. Encouraging cyclists and dog-walkers to use the same narrow path will not encourage dog-walkers to use it rather than the SPA. At Effingham Common GBC plan to designate an important area for wildlife and ground-nesting Skylarks. GBC is riding roughshod over the opinions of the Commoners and local residents. GBC used to put up signage warning dog-walkers not to disturb the Skylarks during the nesting season – but these signs were not put up until well into the nesting season this year and only then after complaints and harassment of Skylarks by out-of-control dogs.

In allocating sites as SANG, GBC has ignored the requirement to consider existing biodiversity and clearly have little or any knowledge or understanding of the issue. The issues relating to Russell Place Farm have been pointed out by a qualified Biologist. Many invertebrates are dependent on the dung of grazing animals and this aspect of our countryside is being steadily driven out of our Borough).

4.6.46 We welcome this acknowledgement of the damaging effects of the proposed building developments. This also has relevance to the manner in which the green spaces next to the River Wey are managed.

4.6.47 We welcome the proposals but are concerned that these may be no more than good intentions. How will GBC ensure that they are carried out fully – and paid for by the developer?

Reasoned Justification:

4.6.50 As the emerging strategy for Surrey and the Green and Blue Infrastructure Supplemenary Planning Document (GISPD) are not yet available the plan should not be proposing sites that will be jeopardised. The implication is that this aspect of the plan is not being taken seriously and will carry no weight in site selection despite the guidance in the NPPF.

4.6.51 In fact some GBC contract mowing and lane management is not in line with a strategy that is meant to protect biodiversity.

KEY EVIDENCE

Guildford Borough Policy Statements are statements – not evidence.
Additional evidence should include:

Existing SNCI surveys, including those that took place in 2004-2007.

Biodiversity evidence emerging from Neighbourhood Plans.

Evidence obtained by requests to local naturalists and natural history societies including those with a specialist interest.

MONITORING

Simply maintaining open space will not be enough for a significantly enlarged population.

Providing more open space to meet existing shortfalls or the needs of a much larger population will reduce the area of land currently in food production or providing wildlife habitat.

SANG delivery is harming existing biodiversity

It is not clear how you will measure a change in biodiversity just by looking at planning applications. “Net gains in biodiversity provided by development” is a contradiction in terms. There may well be a few examples in England where low density housing has been combined with manufactured habitat at the expense of loss of agricultural land with no surrounding habitat damage - but we see no evidence of that in the Local Plan. Even when a housing development replaces agricultural land it increases pressure on the surrounding countryside. A simple example is where houses border woodland and residents dump their garden rubbish (and often worse) over the garden fence. Increased leisure use on nearby countryside also has an adverse effect on biodiversity.

There is no guarantee that mitigations listed in an application will be carried out and their effectiveness is not guaranteed either. GBC would need to carry out follow-up ecological surveys on all sites. Who would pay for these? Are there enough consultants to carry out the work in sufficient detail? What aspects of biodiversity will be measured?

How frequently are surveys by Natural England intended to take place? How will GBC ensure that NE carry them out? A baseline of existing surveys against which changes will be monitored should be included within the plan and it must be comprehensive for monitoring to be effective.

How frequently will SNCI surveys be carried out? At what expense? The last survey published in 2007 made recommendations for an increase in the size of the Wisley Airfield SNCI and stated that this should be taken into account for planning purposes. This was overridden in the recent planning inspector’s report and the Local Plan includes this particular SNCI as a building site. This is clearly a case of hypocrisy and suggests that the Council has no genuine intention to maintain biodiversity let alone enhance it.

We believe that a survey of SNCIs is currently taking place but that it is limited in scope to the previously known sites. This prevents other sites, where genuine biodiversity enhancement has taken place (often as a result of volunteer community effort), from being recognised in this way. While every stone is being turned over in the quest to find green space to build on, no genuine effort is being made to identify biodiversity hotspots that may have been overlooked in the past. In other words the approach being taken is one that intends to make no net gain, and possibly even reduce, sites of nature conservation interest – in contradiction to the stated aims.

If an existing SNCI (or one proposed on grounds of biodiversity but not formally accepted in a Local Plan) is found to be in poor condition the action taken should be to bring it back into good condition – not to remove its status and build on it.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We object to Policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty

Whilst the Guildford Greenbelt Group welcomes the inclusion of a policy to protect the AONB within its submission draft of the Local Plan, we strongly object to Policy P1 and its supporting text, which we consider has weakened the protection of the AONB and the AGLV from the previous draft Plan.

Much of our concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example:

“All proposals will be considered against whether they...”

“All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities”

Terms such as “considered” and “expected” are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage.

Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins:

“Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits...”

This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. GGG believes that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: “There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF.”

In addition to the weakness of the language, GGG is also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself.

GGG believes that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted:

• “The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered”
• “Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable”
• In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate

Finally, GGG would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. We consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.
It has been noted that CPRE have proposed alternative wording for the AONB Policy 1 in their own submission, and this wording would be a more appropriate protection for the AONB than that offered in this current policy wording.

As this stands, the wording is far too weak and does not comply with the requirements of the NPPF.

We request that the objections made below are put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 draft local plan. A spokesperson (not a councillor) will be pleased to speak in respect of this issues. We request that once all objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued. Guildford is a constrained borough by the reality of having 89% of its area zoned as permanent Green Belt and an out of date road network that is already at capacity. We are concerned that GBC have adopted an inflated OAN of 13,860 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The application of constraints to housing need is a sensible and practical approach to development within the borough and is not only what GBC have done in the past in previous plans but is also what its neighbouring local planning authorities have done. The scale of the housing number proposed in this plan, inevitably increases the onus for the plan to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number of 5,000 homes over the plan period, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole. We are concerned that GBC have failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents. In our opinion much of the proposed local plan appears out of date. Current trends in terms of property development such as the marked decline in town centre shopping centres and the need to create modal shift by developing residential uses close to transport hubs appear to have been overlooked.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We object to Policy P2 green belt

This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” We do not accept this statement.

The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. It is an inalienable public good. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away.

Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood contro
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations.

It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. No-one argues that we should sell 1.6% of the Crown jewels in order to build houses.
We object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages.

We are deeply disturbed that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are “leggy” in outline, reflecting the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat. We believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors.

To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. We cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need (especially post-Brexit) and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to this policy, taken in the light of the other policies proposed within the local plan.

There is huge emphasis on provision both of services and of additional Green Belt in Ash and Tongham. We object to this policy. It is not clear why new Green Belt should be designated here, while the Green Belt is being rolled back in all other areas of the borough. The only notable fact is that the Leader of the Council and other Executive members are based in this area and the question of impartiality does need to be raised.

Note that in the recent judicial review in relation to Ashdown Forest, the SANG zone for the Ashdown Forest SPA was 7km, and this gave rise to a lower housing number than that proposed by this local authority.

The urban areas of Ash and Tongham are indeed of importance within the borough, creating a barrier between the countryside of Guildford and the urban towns of Aldershot and Farnborough.

However, as noted, it does not seem entirely appropriate to seek to reduce Green Belt designation everywhere else in the borough, on the grounds of overwhelming housing need (which is itself not an exceptional circumstance) – including land within the Green Belt and the Thames Basin Heath SPA, but then to propose designating additional Green Belt in this particular area.

If the planning policy is sufficiently aggressive as to disregard existing Green Belt, to propose significant development in that area, then it is inappropriate, and in contravention of existing planning law, (Gallagher Homes v Solihull as determined by the Court of Appeal) to consider proposing new areas for Green Belt. It is unclear why the strategic gap that separates the Ash and Tongham urban areas from neighbouring Aldershot is of greater significance to the borough as a whole, than other threatened Green Belt villages and fields.

The desire to protect the strategic gap between Ash and Tongham and Ash Green is welcomed, and provided that this does not arise because of a loss of Green Belt land elsewhere, the proposal to include some of this land within the Green Belt is welcomed too. However, Green Belt boundaries should not be traded off. One village community should not benefit to the detriment of another. The proposed extension of Green Belt designation to Ash and Tongham is unlikely to succeed, because it is not inherently better at serving the purposes of the Green Belt than other areas threatened by development, and a similar attempt in Solihull was wholly unsuccessful. The Court of Appeal decision will represent a precedent in this regard.

As noted in Gallagher Homes v Solihull, the NPPF is based on PPG2 which is quoted in a similar context to this proposal:

“If such an alteration is proposed the Secretary of State will wish to be satisfied that the authority has considered opportunities for development within the urban areas contained by and beyond the Green Belt.”

In other words, before altering Green Belt boundaries (to use for building), land beyond the Green Belt should be considered as building land first; and first of all, brownfield urban land should be used. Provided that the Green Belt is not subject to the wholesale assault then this extension might be acceptable to the wider community within the borough. It will not be acceptable as a trade-off for loss of the Green Belt elsewhere.

Policy P3 States that ‘development will only be permitted provided it:

• “requires a countryside location or where a rural location can be justified, and
• is proportionate to the nature and scale of the site, its setting and countryside location, and
• does not lead to greater physical or visual coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot”.

We would like to know what the rural justification of proposed housing has for Ash and Tongham and how Guildford Borough Council proves that contributes to the rural economy? In the Local Plan, Guildford Borough Council refers to these Eastern Borough proposals as ‘extensions to urban boundaries’. Developments of 1241 and 91 homes cannot possibly meet the necessary term ‘rural justification’ (The site allocation maps show different figures of 1200, 62, 58 homes)

As far as we can tell with the corresponding maps, the proposed developments in Ash and Tongham will create a greater coalescence between the separate villages to combine them into one urban area with a slither of green space between it and the A331/Aldershot.

Designation of Green Belt does not guarantee a barrier between Ash and Ash Green as Guildford has demonstrated the urge to move the Green Belt boundaries in communities elsewhere. We would suggest removing the allocation of further Green Belt designation as it does not follow NPPG Policy. There are no exceptional circumstances to allow changes in Green Belt Boundaries in Guildford.

It is also not clear what the impact will be of designating SANG in this area, and whether this will be used to permit building on Green Belt or land otherwise protected because of the Thames Basin Heath SPA designation elsewhere.

Ash and Tongham have countryside designated Ancient Woodland, AGLV and SNCI and a sensitive historic site which must be protected. This, together with a focus on using existing brownfield within the urban settlement area and a more realistic housing number, should succeed in protecting the valuable countryside around Ash and Tongham, while the attempt to adjust Green Belt boundaries seems doomed to failure and therefore will allow wholesale overdevelopment in this area.

We object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones

Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design.

Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented.

It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

We strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

We OBJECT to this policy. This policy is weak. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small and negligible as to be meaningless. SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial; the sites identified or targeted are already green space. To create SANG is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces. There is no actual increase in environmental protection; it is a policy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds - must ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the special protection areas.

Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (TBH SPA; see Map 1, Appendix 1), is a statutory designated site and designated for its rare and vulnerable birds, specifically nightjar, Dartford warbler and woodlark under the EC Birds Directive. This site also forms part of the Thursley, Ash, Pirbright and Chobham Special Area of Conservation (SAC), a statutory designated site and designated for its North Atlantic wet heaths, European dry heaths and peat bogs.
We believe that the Plan is unsound as the Habitats Regulations Assessment prepared for GBC does not take sufficient account of the impact seven proposed developments will have upon the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (TBH SPA) which is a European Site (as defined under the Habitats Directive and Conservation of Habitats and Species Regulations 2010 (as amended).

The seven proposed developments are less than five kilometres away from the TBH SPA and in some cases not much beyond the 400m exclusion zone, occupying an area between under 1km to just over 2km from the TBH SPA. It has been indicated that the cumulative effect of further residential development up to 5 km from protected heathlands will have a significant adverse effect on the heaths. The TBH SPA is an internationally important habitat for three rare species of bird - the Dartford warbler, woodlark and nightjar. The latter two are ground nesting and therefore particularly susceptible to disturbance from people and animals. In fact Natural England believes that recreational use of the heaths arising from housing developments up to five kilometres away from a SPA will create disturbance to rare bird populations.

A survey in 2008 showed that more than 83% of visitors to the SPA arrived by car and that 70% of those had come from within 5km of its access point. A very large proportion of the TBH SPA visitors are dog walkers, many of whom visit a particular site on a regular basis. A follow-up survey in 2012 found that there was a 10% increase in visitors to the SPA.

A survey of households carried out by a veterinary team at Bristol University in 2010 “Number and ownership profiles of cats and dogs in the UK” published in the Journal of The British Veterinary Association indicates 31% households own dogs and 26% households own cats. Dogs were more likely to be owned by rural households.

Applying this analysis for all new housing at the listed strategic housing sites in the draft Local Plan within the 400m-5km mitigation zone of TBHSPA (in total 7,000 new homes), the cumulative impact of dog ownership (up to an estimated 2,200 new dogs within 5 km of TBHSPA) with dog-walker incursions on the rare bird species habitat of the TBHSPA will be a devastating increase. No amount of SANG nor SAMM programmes will change human behaviour and the draft Local Plan evidence base contains no studies or data to prove otherwise, it contains only unproven assertions. Natural England can provide no survey evidence of the effectiveness of SANG or SAMM programmes in attracting dog-walkers and other visitors away from TBHSPA.

protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline. The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy suggests that “We will work proactively with applicants jointly to find solutions that mean that proposals can be approved wherever possible, and to secure development that improves the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This does not appear to accord with the requirements of NPPF 10 which notes that “plans and decisions need to take local circumstances into account so that they respond to the different opportunities for achieving sustainable development in different areas”.

Furthermore NPPF 14 notes that specific policies within the framework may require development to be restricted, and in this context, decision taking should not imply that development proposals should be approved in all circumstances.

NPPF 17 notes further that there are 12 planning principles which should be applied to underpin both plan-making and decision-taking and so these should be taken into account in the framing and the administering of the Local Plan. These include:

- "empowering local people to shape their surroundings"
- "take account of the different roles and character of different areas, promoting the vitality of our urban areas, protecting the Green Belts around them, recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside and supporting thriving communities within it" [note in this context that Guildford is in the Metropolitan Green Belt surrounding London and, therefore, that all users of the Green Belt within London are stake holders for the purposes of this assessment]
- "support the transition to a low carbon future" [hardly promoted by increasing commuter dwellings]
- "contribute to conserving and enhancing the natural environment and reducing pollution"
- "encourage the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land) provided it is not of high environmental value"
- "conserve heritage assets in a manner appropriate to their significance"
- "actively manage patterns of growth to make the fullest possible use of public transport walking and cycling and focus significant development on locations which can be made sustainable"

Of the 12 core principles set out in NPPF 17, Policy S1 seems to be disregarding at least 7 of these. These core principles must be taken into account in order to meet the requirement to comply with NPPF 17.

There is grave concern about the statement in the policy that “Planning applications that accord with the policies in this Local Plan (and, where relevant, with policies in adopted neighbourhood plans) will be approved without delay, unless material considerations indicate otherwise.” This is too flexible and too permissive and open to subsequent abuse. Policies should be structured as part of local plan so that they will be enforceable for the duration of the plan. Furthermore, the presumption in favour of all applications, as stated in this policy, fails to recognise the requirement for constraints which should be agreed and implemented as part of the Local Plan process. The proximity of the SPA, for example, should preclude development (which is a major factor for a large proportion of the borough); most development in the AONB should be severely restricted (which is another major factor); and Green Belt should act as a substantial constraint on development. The Birds and Habitats Directive is a further major issue.

Astonishingly, there are no Monitoring Indicators to ensure the achievement of this core requirement set out in paragraph 14 of the NPPF.

In the context of assessing sustainability it is worth quoting from the response of David Roberts who is a retired civil servant who was, from 2005-08, in charge of the British Government's international policy on Sustainable Development (SD).
“The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking[1].” Standing at the head of the draft plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given[2]. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The promise “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area” omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is useless. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17[3].

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high! We are very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound.

A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole. Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.” Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”.

This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years.

It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement. However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing.

At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum. The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan. The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald who we were lucky to find. He is a niche consultant with the right skills and a national reputation. An independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit. NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth. The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that:

- The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area.
- There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further.
- The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast.

A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA

The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:

1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.
2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.
3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.
4. The use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction.

Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target.

A further study is attached which is included within this section by reference. It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA.

Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. We have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed. The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt. Appendix: Report prepared by David Reeve in relation to the SHMA (attached as this is a separate document but included within this section by reference).

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

“the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

1. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.
2. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014
70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements).

Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500. In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN. of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council.

This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015)

Whilst we have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan we applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” We believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

valid: serving 2 Green Belt functions is as valid as serving 4 functions. Green Belt is Green Belt, it does not require assessment or qualification. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions.

Exceptional circumstances clearly do not exist to justify amendments to Green Belt boundaries as part of the Local Plan process. It is quite achievable for realistically prepared and identified development needs to be accommodated in Guildford’s urban areas and villages.

The Transport Evidence has been produced very late and is incomplete, inaccurate and untested to the extent that the Plan is not ready for a Regulation 19 consultation.

It is emerging that the Strategic Highway Assessment shows there will be congestion, even with all the highway schemes in the Plan. Many questions remain unanswered. E.g. Why would 1000 homes on Slyfield generate no extra traffic? The report only gives average speeds and information needed to understand how much congestion will occur and where it has not been provided in time to inform Plan proposals or responses.

The available evidence suggests much of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor cannot be delivered due to narrow roads and pinch points.

Evidence on bus travel is fundamentally compromised because no clear and workable location for a bus interchange is proposed.

No information has been provided on the demand for and capacity of rail services. The main line to London is already extremely busy in peak periods.

Information about the town centre as regards traffic, buses and parking is lacking. It is not credible to proceed without this given existing levels of congestion, the number of transport routes that rely on the town centre to cross the Downs, the shortage of crossing points over the railway and river and the fact that narrow roads and steep slopes make Guildford unsuitable for a ring road approach.

The Strategic Highway Assessment 2016 is flawed. It is invalid to base this on less traffic growth than the proposed housing growth. The report points to overcapacity use of the A3, M25, A31, A320, Millbrook, Ladymead, Woodbridge Road, York Road, London Road but understates the congestion consequences. Various suggested queue reductions are unexplained. The consequences of major proposed reductions in road space in the town centre (eg closure of Walnut Tree Close, narrowing of Woodbridge Road, reduced capacity of the gyratory) and of developing Burnt Common are not included. More time is needed to assess and refine this crucial 11th hour report which seems incomplete, understates the consequences of traffic overload, shows inconsistencies, and does not supply assumptions or information needed to understand queues at junctions.

The Guildford Retail Study Update lacks credibility and there is no proven case for expanding comparison retail space which is undermined by failure to implement existing retail consents at the North Street development over the last 10 years. The Guildford Retail Study does not take account of changing retail patters in relation to the threat of the internet and the “clicks and mortar” conflict. The study also assumes a number of logged retail requirements from companies already in liquidation or with national requirements that exclude Guildford. We believe that it was unacceptable to stop monitoring air quality, where NO2 emissions exceed limits, on the unrealistic assumption congestion would reduce. Estimates of premature deaths have doubled and issues with vehicle emission controls have emerged. Traffic noise from the A3 should also be reported.

The evidence base is not up to date or adequate.

The documents of the evidence base were subject to continuous change without notification and it has been impossible in some cases to track the changes in order to identify significant and material change, making it impossible to evaluate if the change makes the document adequate or relevant. The evidence base was and is not ready for public consultation if there is no way to track what was said previously in so many documents of the evidence base, therefore no basis on which to judge adequacy and relevance to the current draft local plan.

For example, GBCS Vol 4 tables of scores for the contribution of each land parcel to the five purposes of the Green Belt showed one basis of evaluation in the version published in February 2013 and where this failed to support the pre-determination of GBC, the basis of evaluation was changed in the version published in April 2014 reducing the perceived Green Belt protection of the land parcels, making it easier to argue for their qualification as land for housing development. This does not make the document up-to-date as the basis of measurement and evaluation has changed; this is ‘moving the goal posts’ not improving ‘up-to-date-ness’.

The Habitats Regulation Assessment and Sustainability Appraisal were released after the plan was approved by the full council on 25 April 2016. The lateness and content demonstrate the inadequacy with which this plan has dealt with environmental matters. Neither document was immediately available on the website, so early responses sent to the council before these were released could not have taken account of the environmental issues. The Sustainability Appraisal is written by a commercial development company with worldwide reach AECOM and fails to be critical in any way and the document reads more like a public relations release.

The draft SHMA for Guildford has been proved inadequate. A study of the work of GL Hearn in compiling the housing forecasts to provide Objectively Assessed Need [OAN] by NMSS (sponsored by Guildford Residents Associations indicates shortcomings in methodology and lack of rigour in assessing available ONS statistics and misinterpretation of market signals. Therefore, any Policy that claims its content as evidence for the Policy is immediately thrown in to question and suggests it is unsound.

The Settlement Hierarchy evidence has been changed three times, with a second questionnaire submitted to Parish Councils to better record available services. Attempts to conflate settlements as defined by 2003 Local Plan settlement boundaries into small, medium and large villages was abandoned after the methodology was revealed by residents for the sham it was. The transposing of the new questionnaire content has been poor, with errors remaining. Now that the new data fails to match the pre-determination required by the council, the evidence has been quietly shuffled aside and not referred to in detail in the current draft. However, it remains in the evidence base.

The whole process has been one surrounded by obfuscation, with residents having to resort to Freedom of Information requests to obtain essential information freely released by other LPAs e.g. what constitutes ‘exceptional circumstances’. This does not bode well for the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be submitted for examination in public.

Releasing Green Belt to fund infrastructure or build on open, previously-developed Green Belt does not pass this test. Opportunities to channel development towards brownfield locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary, linked to sustainable transport, have not been adequately considered. It is not credible to suggest the Green Belt is being treated as permanent when its boundary was changed as recently as 2003 as part of the last Local Plan review. Indeed, land released in 2003 is neither fully developed nor efficiently used. An approach of eroding the Green Belt at each Local Plan review is not sustainable. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We consider that the Local Plan is unsound. Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach.

The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction. We consider this makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. We believe it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford to apply the housing figure to a number of 13,860 new homes by 2033. We submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. We are concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 500 homes per annum. After application of constraints the target should be in the range of 250 homes per annum and kept under regular review.

The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation.

The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.”

The specific policies described include several of particular relevance to Guildford including sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directive, Sites of Special Scientific Interest, Green Belt, Local Green Space, Area of Outstanding Natural...
Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations at risk of flooding. In this situation, we would question whether it is appropriate for the Appraisal to propose meeting needs in full from a sustainability perspective.

Notwithstanding guidance that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which we consider is unsupported. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. This is too late.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

GBC has failed to take account of the creation of 3,800 dwellings in the Aldershot Urban Extension [AUE]. Aldershot is the source of many employees for retail and health sector jobs in Guildford. Many choose to commute into Guildford by car along the main routes between the two towns (A323, A324, A31). Apart from a passing acknowledgement of traffic data in the vehicle movement simulations, there appears to have been no attempt to acknowledge the impact of AUE or attempt to synchronise development schedules or combine approaches to central Government on infrastructure developments with Rushmoor Borough Council that would affect all Guildford’s western wards. Simply ignoring Rushmoor BC because GL Hearn deem it not to be in the same strategic housing market is perverse. The Hart, Rushmoor and Surrey Heath SHMA 2014 carried out by Wessex Economics states that the major outward commuting flows are as follows:

- The largest outward commuting flows from Rushmoor are to Surrey Heath, Hart, Guildford, and Waverley. There are significant in flows of workers to Rushmoor from Surrey Heath and Guildford.
- The largest proportion of Surrey Heath’s residents commute to Rushmoor and Guildford. There are in flows of workers to Surrey Heath from Hart, Rushmoor and Bracknell Forest.”

Woking BC covered in the same West Surrey SHMA as Guildford has recently concluded a £6million funding for part of its affordable housing requirement to be built in Rushmoor under the Duty to Cooperate, obviously considering Rushmoor to be of strategic significance and being willing to work with this neighbouring council. Not so Guildford BC and this omission will have a serious impact in western wards as AUE is built out.

1. We assert there is unproven demand for an 8FE secondary school within the western wards of Guildford and therefore, we wish to present the statistical evidence for that assertion at the Examination in Public.

2. We assert that Policy A49 is unsustainable in its current form and open to challenge. NPPF para 83 & 84 require the council to define in the local plan documentation available for consultation the “exceptional circumstances” required under to change the Green Belt boundary; this is affirmed by the following legal judgements:

NPPF 83

- Gallagher Homes Ltd v Solihull Borough Council [2014] EWHC 1283 (Admin), Hickinbottom J
- Carpets of Worth Limited v Wyre Forest District Council (1991)
- IM Properties Development Ltd v Lichfield DC [2014] EWHC 2440 (Admin), Patterson J

and therefore, we wish to present our arguments at the Examination in Public for this site to continue to be ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt, because if this land were ‘inset’, it would create an island of urban land with no connection to similar land

1. We assert that the disregard of the contribution to the “openness” of the Green Belt made by the land parcels H10, H12, H13, H14, H15, H16, J16 and J17 identified as of particular sensitivity in the GBC re-evaluation of the land parcels in the Green Belt & Countryside Study, Vol 2 Addendum, Appendix 1 and 2, reinforcing the evaluation in GBCS Vol 1, is in direct opposition to observations confirming the “openness” of land around the settlements of Normandy and Flexford made by planning inspectors during consideration of planning appeals in three cases as follows:

- Palm House Nurseries GBC 09/P/01851, Application 12 November 2009 APP/Y3615/A/10/2131590 Decision 24 Feb 2011
- Green Lane East GBC 10/P/00507, Application 8 March 2010 APP/Y3615/A/10/2140630 Decision 14 June 2011
- North Wyke Farm GBC 14/P/00779, Application 17 April 2014 Appeal Ref: APP/Y3615/W/15/3002308 Decision 14 July 2015 and therefore we wish to make our representations concerning these observations by PINS inspectors in opposition to GBC disregard of “openness” of these land parcels at the Examination in Public.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Vision and ambition

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
We consider that the vision underlying this Local Plan is inadequate and that the ambitions proposed are inappropriate.

The vision is to build 693 dwellings a year, an inflated housing target, produced by using a “black box” model that takes no account of anomalies in the ONS statistics for the borough that underpin this model. One such anomaly is the increase in the number of university students during the base years used to generate ONS population projections. Consultants used by GBC ignored this, so the housing target is far in excess of the needs of residents. This housing target will result in the borough’s permanent resident population increasing at 4.5 times the rate of population increase during the period 2001 to 2011, as measured by the censuses in these years. Given the existing strain on infrastructure in the borough the “vision” in this plan will create a nightmare for existing residents.

The only ambition in this plan is to build on a scale across the borough never before seen, driven by the ambition to “roll back the green belt”. There is no regeneration programme for urban areas of Guildford, and instead of using the Local Plan as an opportunity for redevelopment within Guildford’s deprived areas, the focus is on large developments outside Guildford, mostly in green belt. The plan has nothing for low paid workers in Guildford, and very little for young people who wish to live in the town. It is a plan to benefit developers, not residents; a plan rooted in the past, but without learning lessons from the past.

There are many contradictions within this Local Plan, and a few of examples of these are given below:

- The plan proposes a major increase in traditional “bricks and mortar” retail in the town centre, as well as an expansion in warehousing and distribution. Workers in these sectors tend to be among the lowest paid, at or just above the minimum wage. The plan places an emphasis on the provision of “affordable” housing, but those on the minimum wage cannot afford “affordable” housing, it is a misnomer. Workers in these sectors need social housing, but there are no plans for a significant expansion in Guildford’s social housing.

- As well as an increase in town centre retail, etc it is proposed to locate new employment sites in or close to the urban area of Guildford. Only 20% of the housing proposed is to be within the town, with the remainder outside Guildford town. This means that if employers take up the buildings in the centre of the town (this is a big if, as in surveys many employers complain about congestion) workers in these employment centres will have to live outside the town. Inevitably this means they will rely on cars and vans to get to their place of work. This is not sustainable, Guildford already has a problem with congestion and air pollution.

- The rate of growth (averaging more than 693 dwellings a year to 2031) means if employment is to be provided locally (for about 1,200 new adult residents a year) Guildford’s economy would have to expand at a rate well above anything seen in the recent past, and be sustained at this rate for 16 years – a period when history indicates there will be at least two national/international economic downturns. This sustained growth would be unprecedented. Without an expansion in local employment, Guildford will become a dormitory town for workers commuting long distances to other areas. This is not sustainable.

- The delivery of housing is entirely in the hands of private companies that currently enjoy record profits due to their control of the delivery of new homes. These companies will simply not build if anything has a major impact on their profitability, be it a global economic downturn or a local oversupply of housing, whatever. Similarly, much of the infrastructure required has to be built by private companies, over which GBC have no powers. In effect, GBC are proposing a Local Plan over which they have minimal control. They have no powers to force the delivery of their targets in that plan. They have no powers to force the delivery of their targets in that plan. This means the plan is an exercise in fantasy, but a fantasy that blights the lives of thousands of people, especially those who live close to proposed development areas.

These examples serve to illustrate inconsistencies within the plan. Other specific points addressing the declared “Vision and Ambition” are detailed below.

Spatial Vision

A plan that will increase car journeys as much as this one will, especially in an area that already suffers from heavy congestion with associated high levels of air pollution, could not be described as a “vision”. It is more of a nightmare than a vision. The Metropolitan Green Belt was established to prevent the urban sprawl that has blighted many countries, such as the USA, but the goal of this plan is to set aside the protection offered by the Green Belt, and to create urban sprawl, with large extensions to the urban area of Guildford and the creation of urban areas in the countryside.
A contributor to the nightmare vision is the ongoing lack of investment in infrastructure, which will be exacerbated by this plan. In terms of infrastructure, the Surrey County Council Infrastructure Plan estimated that the borough would need investment totalling £2.5 billion, based on the provision of about 9,300 dwellings through the period of the plan. GBC plan for at least 13,860 dwellings, most of them outside the urban areas of Guildford and so infrastructure needs will be higher than estimated. Of the £2.5 billion, SCC estimated that £2 billion would be available from various sources, leaving a shortfall of £0.5 billion. In an address to a council meeting, Mike Murray, speaking on behalf of Wisley Property Investments estimated that the developments outlined in the Local Plan would raise £100 million for infrastructure investment. This leaves an obvious shortfall of £400 million – but in fact the shortfall will be much greater than this, due to the housing target in the Local Plan being about 50% higher than in the Surrey County Council estimate, and because of probable changes to the Community Infrastructure Levy. This means that the borough cannot possibly meet its infrastructure needs, which is not recognised in the infrastructure plan that forms part of the evidence base of this Local Plan.

Another contributor to the nightmare vision is the lack of recognition of the air quality problem in some areas of the borough. That there is an air quality issue is illustrated by nitrogen dioxide (NO2) concentrations that are higher than the legal maximum. One of the proposed development sites is close to one of the “official” NO2 measuring stations, at Wisley, and this reveals that nitrogen dioxide concentrations have been higher than the legal maximum of an annual average of 40µg/m³ for several years. Other measurements have been made in villages that have roads that serve the A3 and have high traffic levels, and these have shown concentrations well in excess of the legal maximum concentrations, to the extent that one village has formally requested that their village be designated as an air quality management area. This has not been put into effect, and the whole issue of air quality has been entirely ignored in the Local Plan, specifically in the spatial vision. The spatial “vision” proposed in this plan is the reverse of that recommended by the Institute for Air Quality Management, who said “The pattern of land use determines the need for travel, which is in turn a major influence on transport related emissions. Decisions made on the allocation of land use will dictate future emissions, as many people and businesses will make significant use of road transport for journeys between places that form part of their daily lives.” [1]

This has not been recognised in the spatial planning within this plan, which proposes that a large majority of new dwellings should be in rural areas, some considerable distance from the urban centre and employment centres. It is a plan that could have been written specifically to increase journeys by road.

This report also suggested that

“Ideally, air quality should be a prime consideration for long term planning, so that land is used and allocated in ways that minimise emissions and that reduce the exposure of people to air pollution, so that land is used and allocated in ways that minimise emissions and that reduce the exposure of people to air pollution.”

This has not been part of spatial planning, but it should have been, even though there is no statutory requirement to do so. However, there is a statutory requirement to declare an air quality management area (AQMA) in areas that are known to have high pollution levels, but this has not been done. The spatial planning in this draft plan will expose more people to air pollution. Instead of what is proposed, more housing developments should be within Guildford town, which could be achieved by recognising that an expansion in retail and warehousing and distribution is not sustainable, and the land set aside in the town centre for these used instead to provide housing. GBC should also have used the local plan to set targets for air quality planning, with proposals to reduce noxious emissions, for example, through the use of LPG fuelled public service vehicles, as is happening in other areas, such as Birmingham. This has not been done; there is no proposal to tackle existing air pollution or to alleviate the pollution caused by adding approximately 30,000 cars and vans to those already in use within the borough. This is the approximate number of vehicles that the proposed housing additions would bring.

There are many areas where the text within the “spatial vision” section does not accord with reality, and a few examples are given below:

- The opening text of the Spatial Vision reads

“The Local Plan: strategy and sites makes provision to meet the identified growth needs of the borough in terms of housing, employment and retail and leisure. This is achieved by maintaining the extent and function of the Green Belt in such a way as to protect the existing character of the borough through maintaining the clear distinction between urban and rural areas and safeguarding the natural built and historic environment”.

If this were what is planned, there would be little room for complaint. In fact, the clear distinction between urban and rural areas will be very considerably blurred with large holes punched into the Green Belt. More than 6% of the Green Belt will lose that designation.

The plan calls for a very large, high density development at Wisley, close to the boundary of the borough, in what is currently open countryside in the Green Belt. Another large development is planned at Garlick’s Arch, less than 3km south on the A3, and within another 3 km another at Gosden Hill Farm, all of which are in the Green Belt. When considering the view from the A3 the current appearance of open countryside from the junction with the M25 to Guildford along the A3 will be lost, replaced by two large developments in open countryside and a large extension to the urban area of Guildford, extending into the countryside. Thus the extent of the Green Belt will not be protected.

- Two of the villages to be removed from the Green Belt are East Horsley and West Horsley, with a total of 363 ha (3.6 km2) to be removed from the Green Belt. The justification for insetting of villages is given in Policy D4, and this is to increase housing density within villages. From some of the plans given in the Local Plan showing proposed sites it is clear that it is expected that the provision of a number of development sites and the insetting of these villages is designed to lead to the coalescence of villages, such as East and West Horsley, and Normandy and Flexford. As the housing layout and style in these villages is an open pattern of development, they both make a contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, and this will be lost because the housing density for the developments proposed (averaging approximately 18 dwellings/ha) is considerably higher than the average density in these settlements.

It is not clear why new Green Belt will be created in and around Ash and Tongham to prevent Ash and Tongham merging with the village of Ash Green, when the result of removing East and West Horsley from the Green Belt together with together with several new development sites will be their coalescence. If it was important to prevent existing villages from merging then both East and West Horsley would remain in the Green Belt, and proposed developments would be smaller, in proportion to the existing villages.

- Similar considerations apply to the settlements of Flexford and Normandy. The area to be inset is approximately 134 ha (1.3 km2) including a very large 67 ha development site, located between the two settlements. This will result in the coalescence of the settlements of Normandy and Flexford. As both make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, they should not be inset, and this development site is inappropriate development in the Green Belt. Again, if it is important to prevent existing settlements of Ash and Tongham merging with Ash Green, then similar considerations should apply to these settlements, especially given that they are in the Green Belt, whereas Ash and Tongham are not.

The Spatial Vision goes on to say

“The plan provides for the delivery of 13,860 homes by 2033. The preferred location for this development is existing brownfield sites. Over 2,800 units are proposed in the urban areas to take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services, reduce the need to travel and offer alternatives modes of transport to the private car.”

Or, to put it another way: 11,060 homes are proposed on sites which cannot take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services, which will increase the need to travel and which cannot offer alternatives modes of transport to the private car.

The low proportion of housing within the urban centre is because there is so much emphasis on providing employment sites within the urban area, for example, by expanding retail premises, etc but not enough on using these sites for housing – to take advantage of the benefits defined in the above quotation. There is no emphasis on using land in the urban area efficiently, for example, by replacing existing land hungry surface car parks with multiple level car parks, thus freeing up land for housing development. A few employment centres have multi-level car parks and this should be encouraged in other centres, and all new employment centres should be required to have multi- level car parks, ideally with several levels underground. Steps such as this would increase the availability of brownfield land within the urban area, and permit higher levels of housing provision. Another step would be to encourage the University of Surrey to do the same, to be more efficient in their land use, and to house a much higher proportion of students within the university campus – as they previously agreed to do. There is adequate space for this within the existing campus, especially if surface car parks were replaced by multi-level car parks. This would free up many houses within Guildford which would then be available to residents, either to rent or purchase.

The Spatial Vision refers to the need to the economy and steps planned to support local employers. However, one of the major issues that employers have with Guildford is severe traffic congestion, and this is not addressed adequately in the plan, and the Spatial Policy outlined will make it much worse. As stated above, a very considerable shortfall in funds required for infrastructure has been highlighted by Surrey County Council. Proposals for many of the changes to local roads are light on detail, and the funds suggested as being required (which in fact are unlikely to be available) fall well short of what is actually necessary to effect an improvement in congestion.

The Local Plan includes the provision of additional sites and premises to meet employment needs across the borough, as well as 120 houses per year for new workers for new employers in the borough. However, the rosy picture painted in the employment report by the authors AECOM does not adequately reflect the actual condition of the local economy. The strength of the local economy as painted in the Employment Land Assessment Report[2] was exaggerated through the careful selection of supporting statistics. As an example, in the section with the heading Policy and Socio-Economics (page 1) the increase in employment within the borough was given as 4.1% during the period 2010 - 2013. This was a period when Guildford was still emerging from a recession, and so employment growth was strong, but not typical of a full business cycle. Employment growth over a longer period should have been given, to give a more accurate picture of the local economy. Using NOMIS statistics the number of residents employed in 2005 averaged 68,000 and this had increased to an average of 68,500 in 2015, so that the growth in employment over this 10 year period was less than 1%. Note too that the average employment in 2015 was considerably lower than peak employment reached in 2007, when it was 74,400.

According to NOMIS statistics there has been very considerable variations in the number of residents employed and this is not captured by the Employment Land Assessment report. Although the NOMIS statistics refer to employment by residents of the borough rather than jobs within the borough (a similar time series for these is not readily available), jobs available locally should be reflected in the employment of residents. In fact, NOMIS statistics also reveal that the average weekly pay of residents in the borough is significantly higher (6% in 2015) than pay for those employed within the borough, suggesting the local economy is weaker than neighbouring economies. Residents commute outside the borough to get higher pay.

It is simply astonishing that the Local Plan suggests that jobs can be created over a 15 year period at a rate well in excess of anything that Guildford has seen in the past. It is simply a nonsense to add an additional 120 houses so that additional workers will come to the borough. The housing target of a minimum of 693 per year will result in an additional adult population of about 1,200 potential employees per year, and the local economy will not be able to supply employment for these people. Historical employment data provides no evidence that over a 15 year period an additional 18,000 jobs will be created within the borough, given that the number of residents in employment increased by only 0.7% in the 10 years from 2005 to 2015. Consequently, a large majority of new residents will be forced to commute out of the borough to find employment, adding enormously to traffic congestion and air pollution.

There are many other instances of selective use of statistics in the Employment Land Assessment Report, far too many to elaborate on. As the report concludes there is a need for additional land for employment premises, and because a large part of this land set aside for employment is within Guildford town, it is worth commenting on a few more instances of the use of statistics. This is because this land should be used for housing within the town, which is where the need for housing is, not in the countryside beyond the town. In Section 6.6 of this report2, an explanation of employment forecasts were given. Data was used by AECOM from 3 separate forecasting organisations for employment growth between 2015 to 2033, namely

- Cambridge Econometrics
- Experian
- Oxford Economics

These forecasts exhibited a very wide range – in the case of office employment the range was 0.55% to 1.18% per annum, so the highest forecast was 2.1 times the lowest. This may be acceptable in a short range forecast, but is wholly unacceptable for long range use. Similarly, the forecast for employment in the industrial/storage category ranged from 0.58% to 1.14%, so in this case the highest forecast was 2.0 times the lowest. Again, this range should be unacceptable for use in long range forecasts. These individual forecasts were averaged by AECOM to provide a number used to project the requirement for floor space for these respective employment categories. In this case, with forecasts from various sources exhibiting such a wide range, averaging is not appropriate. As an example of the dangers of averaging consider a human with half of their body in a deep freeze, at about -25°C, and the other half in an oven at 100°C. Their average temperature would be 37.5°C – an ideal body temperature, but that would be irrelevant because they would be dead. Averaging must take account of the range, etc and this has not been done. In fact, the variation given in these separate forecasts indicate that the quality of the forecasts is very debatable, given that they are all for the same variable, and over an extended period of time each forecast would result in a very different outcome.

In addition, the emphasis on these two employment categories is unwise as the total employment market is important – it is likely employment in some employment categories will fall, so if there is growth in any employment category it must serve to mop up unemployment as well as create new opportunities. Finally, statistics given for actual changes within Guildford cover the period 2004 to 2012 – but this should be unacceptable for a report published in September 2015, data up to 2014 must have been available at the time of publication.

A final example of the selective use of statistics is from section 6.11.2, in which the OPDM Employment Land Reviews Guidance Note is quoted. This was used to provide a ratio of land to premises on that land, over one storey, so that the area required for industrial land could be calculated. Quoted ratios ranged from 1:0.35 to 1:0.45 (ratio of land : premises) for manufacturing and from 1:0.40 to 1:0.60 for warehouse uses. AECOM used the average of the median of these to provide a ratio used in producing forecasts for land requirements, namely 1:0.45. However, using an average of the medians was inappropriate in Guildford – land costs are high in the borough, and a large part of the borough (89%) is designated green belt and so using this average ratio betrayed a lack of ambition to use land efficiently. An ambitious goal would be to do better than the best, and this would be provided by using an average ratio slightly beyond the range given, for example, 1:0.60. This could be achieved, for example, by ensuring that all car parking was provided by underground parking, beneath buildings, so that open space could be retained, and by building several storeys above ground where this is possible. Surface car parking and single storey buildings are inefficient in their land use. Using an average land to premises ratio, as AECOM did, showed a total lack of ambition to use land efficiently. Using land efficiently would mean there would be no requirement for additional land to be set aside for employment purposes – and this land could be used instead for housing.

Overall, the Employment Land Assessment displayed a selective use of statistics to give an inaccurate overoptimistic picture of the growth potential in local economy as well as displaying a complete lack of ambition to use land efficiently. Consequently, its conclusions regarding land requirements for employment use should be disregarded.

In the paragraphs devoted to transport, there is a statement

“During the plan period Guildford will experience significant improvements to transport infrastructure including new stations at Guildford West (Park Barn) and Guildford East (Merrow).”

This is presented as a factual statement. However, Network Rail has made no commitment to approval of these stations, despite having recently published a study that examines investment needs on this route up to 2043[3]. In this study, the possibility of these new stations is mentioned, but only as a response to the consultation that preceded the publication of the report. Details given of proposed projects that will be included in their next spending plans (to cover the period 2019 to 2024) include no provision of any description for these new stations, and in fact the emphasis is on increasing the number of trains per hour during peak periods. Adding a further two stops would reduce the ability to add additional trains, and so goes against the need to increase capacity on the line by adding trains. Thus it seems highly unlikely that these new stations would be provided within the time frame of this Local Plan, if ever. In addition, it is clear from the Network Rail report that changes to platforms in Guildford Station will not be made in the next budget period (up to 2024) and that the inclusion of this project in the next budget period (after 2024) is dependent on further studies. Similar timing constraints apply to the electrification of the North Downs Railway. So the delivery of many of the infrastructure improvements, particularly the new stations, within the timeframe of the Local Plan is, at best, doubtful. To present their provision as a certainty was simply dishonest.

Finally, according to the Spatial Vision, the delivery of housing as described in the plan is predicated on the delivery of infrastructure, yet there is no monitoring system in place to ensure that infrastructure is delivered, with necessary services provided. As an example, consider the need for GP services. It is possible to build a doctor’s surgery, but there is a national shortage of GPs, so there are considerable problems in recruiting doctors needed to man existing surgeries. Thus building premises are no guarantee that services will follow, even assuming funds are available. No monitoring systems or programmes are described in this spatial vision and so one has to assume there are none in place to monitor this programme to ensure that services, as part of necessary infrastructure, are actually delivered. No red lines for specific developments have been provided, so that it is clear exactly what infrastructure must be provided before a specific development can be started. As no monitoring systems are in place, there is nothing in this vision to suggest that the promise made by Councillors, that infrastructure will be delivered before additional housing is built, will be honoured.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford.

1. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.

1. I object to the exaggerated “housing need” figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated inflates the housing need.

1. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford’s urban brownfield areas much closer to existing transport hubs.

1. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because it would be disastrous for Send and the (A247) would be gridlocked all day.

1. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and shows there will be congestion because Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.

1. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

1. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

1. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

1. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because the site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland. Trees which existed in the 16th century would be endangered. The site is also subject to flooding. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more.

1. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.
1. I object to the large proposed development at of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

1. I object to the fact that infrastructure requirements have not been properly considered and are inadequate to deal with proposed housing levels. Roads, doctors and schools will be unable to cope.

1. I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

1. I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

Finally we also object to policy A44 West Ridge and Send hill. Again this site is new, not included in the regulation 18 draft and not previously consulted on. This is high quality Green Belt land. The subsoil of the site contains documented land fill waste and is vented, making it totally unsuitable for development. Access is completely insufficient. Please reject these proposals they are unwanted, unnecessary and have zero local support.

As residents of Burnt Common our area has been threatened with irreversible and excessive development on all sides completely destroying what is left of our rural landscape.

I object to policy A42 change at clock barn in Tannery Lane because; there has been a 33% increase in planned new homes from 45 to 60 ignoring hundreds of previous objections and adding to traffic congestion at the a247 junction. Contributing to increased surfaced water flooding which already exists. It will impact on the countryside surrounding the river wey navigation and it is greenbelt land which should not be built on.

I object to policy A43 garlick's arch;

once again, thousands of previous objections have been ignored and again there is no demand for so many houses or travelling show peoples plots at this location. This land is permanant green belt, and no exceptional circumstances exist for development. It is prime agricultural land and contains ancient woodland that has existed since tudor times. Again, this area is prone to frequent flooding and contaminated by lead shots accumulated over 50 years. Living in Burntcommon Lane, we will be massively effected by this excessive development and planned new junction to the a3, massively increasing traffic in our area. Once again, this is green belt land that should not be built on, this will also join send and ripley into one continuous inhabited area, defeating the purpose of the green belt in seperating our villages.

I object to policy a58 at Burntcommon; it was deleted from the 2014 draft because of objections but now has been re-added to the plan. along with garlick’s arch which previously replaced it. Even worse, the word minimum has been changed to maximum, despite a decline in demand for industrial land. Why plan an industrial development in the middle of the greenbelt, when Slyfielf and Guildford still have empty units? The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough, not an excessive allocation of 10 hectares at Send, once again, this is green belt land and should not be built on. The increased traffic caused by this development and the Garlick’s arch development and the new a3 junction will choke our village to death with congestion.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the green belt because there is highly restricted vehicle access along Tannery Lane, which is very narrow. I am formally writing to express my concerns and objections to Keens Lane (site A22) inclusion in the draft GBC Local Plan for the proposed development of 140 homes and a care home.

Keens Lane is a narrow road and could not cope with the additional 140 plus vehicles, perhaps more in this age of two cars per family! Widening of the lane would be difficult due to already congested surrounding areas. What (if any) plans do GBC have to ensure better and safer traffic conditions?

The Worplesdon area is surrounded by common and woodland, some of which are sites of scientific interest and an abundance of wildlife. The open nature of Worplesdon should be kept safe. Areas for families and children to discover nature and relax are becoming less and less with more emphasises from councils on making money and securing businesses and less on community, family and welfare.

I wish to register my strong objection to this proposed development

The roads which will service this development already struggle to cope and when there are any incidents on the A31 and the area is used as a diversion it becomes a complete nightmare, Westwood Lane has a low bridge restricting the height of large vehicles and Glaziers Lane has a railway bridge which frequently shows a crack across the brow, quite aside from the extra load it would put on the A323, clearly you have never seen the traffic hold ups that are common with the smallest problems.

The footpaths are non existent in places and where they do exist they are in such a poor state of repair both underfoot and overgrown with foliage.

My drive along with many others has correct drainage but frequently floods because the main drainage cannot cope. I have recently reported what I thought was a water leak as water is bubbling up through the surface but the water board ensure me that it is merely surface water bubbling up, and you are considering putting a huge further stain on the already poor drainage.

The doctors are buckling under the strain, you have to give notice of an illness due to the time it takes to get an appointment much the same as the Royal Surrey hospital.

The area has been registered as green belt and you already allow travelers to set up unauthorized sites and then give up any enforcement regardless of the effect on existing residents and rate payers.

If police are seen in the area the assumption is that they are lost as they are so under manned how on earth would they cope with this increase in residents.

This type of development would turn a nice rural area into a sprawling area similar to Park Barn.

Clearly in even considering this you have no regard for existing residents.

It would be very easy to go on and on but I realize that people very quickly switch off to objections and disregard them.

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

There is no schedule for Garlicks Arch (A43); the plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and therefore it is not fit for purpose

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

The Environment Agency classifies the site at Garlicks Arch (A43) as being in a higher risk than the Council's own assessment. The plan does not take adequate account of the flood risk as required by National Planning Policy, especially as this area has flooded many times in recent years

I object to the local plan as the development proposed is not sustainable

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars. I live in the hamlet of Hatchford and the narrow and winding Ockham lane route to Cobham is not suitable for any increased use by the additional cars set out in point 6b.
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements. The initial proposals for development of the Former Wisley Airfield proposed a bus route from the development to Cobham via Ockham Lane. This appeared ill thought out with no regard to the safety of walkers and cyclists along the route.
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.
   6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:
7. I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have 4 key reasons for objecting to these plans:

I OBJECT TO THE LACK OF SOUND EVIDENCE BEHIND THE LOCAL PLAN

• I OBJECT to the proposal to build 4,485 new homes as planned in the policies listed above. Housing numbers from the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 (SHMA) are highly dubious. These include an inflated number of foreign students and an unsubstantiated demand for new homes within the local area. This is even before the EU referendum result, which will inevitably impact on demand for housing in the area.

• I OBJECT to the lack of transparency in justifying the requirement for both new homes and the industrial developments. There has been no public scrutiny of the SHMA and even local councillors and Parish Councillors have not been able to review the numbers. In fact, the SHMA model has been calculated by a contractor on behalf of GBC and that the resultant commercial sensitivity of this data prohibits wider review. This lack of transparency builds mistrust in the basis for the GBC numbers and suggests that they may be based on unrealistic data.

• I OBJECT to the inflated demand for housing in Send and Ripley. The total of 13,860 houses in the local plan is exaggerated. Even with a population growth of 20,000 in the plan period, based on a supposition of 2.5 people per home, the number should be no more than 8000. This suggests that GBC are intending that the Borough will be building homes to meet the need of other areas, such as Woking. Rather than destroying the Greenbelt, other brownfield sites should be sought in urban areas, even if they are outside the Borough. If not, Send and Ripley will become a conurbation of Woking and Guildford.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to the Guildford draft plan and its impact on the villages of Send and Ripley. In particular I object to plans a25, A35, A42, A43, A43a, and A44. There are many reasons for objecting to each plan individually, but in fact they should be considered as one entity since they will have a detrimental effect on the villages in their entirety.

I OBJECT to the proposed developments opposite Winds Ridge (policy A44) and Clockbarn Nursery (policy A42) due to the impact that the additional traffic will have on small local roads. The first of these will increase the traffic leaving Send Hill onto Potters Lane at what is already a dangerous junction on very narrow lanes. Meanwhile, Send Road is already frequently blocked by HGVs trying to turn into Tannery Lane; this can only be made worse by additional traffic using the same road.

I OBJECT TO THE IMPACT ON THE INFRASTRUCTURE AROUND THE VILLAGES

- I OBJECT to the impact of the Local plan on the local infrastructure. The roads around Send and Ripley are already congested and cannot cope with the current needs. The Local Plan does not incorporate a detailed transport infrastructure strategy that would demonstrate how the road network would support the additional pressure on the roads and other amenities if the proposed development went ahead. The plans to improve the A3 are years off (2025 – 30) and, even if they were implemented, would be preceded by years of gridlock on the local roads. Plans to improve local roads (ref LRN20, specifically Send Road and Send Barns Lane) through an investment of £1.5m will be woefully inadequate to cope with the increased traffic. Additionally, increased traffic through the villages will increase the hazards along the main roads, particularly pedestrians, especially children (using the Send School or catching buses to Guildford schools) and the increasing number of cyclists. This will be exacerbated by HGVs accessing the planned industrial units at Garlick’s Arch.

- I OBJECT to Policy A43a (Land for North facing slip roads to/from A3 at send Marsh/Burnt Common) This would necessitate a 4-way junction at Burnt Common and would inevitably increase the amount of traffic using the local roads in Send. This junction would worsen the problem of drivers using Send as a cut through from Guildford to Woking on local roads that are just not intended for this purpose. I OBJECT TO THE IMPACT ON THE GREENBELT STATUS OF THE VILLAGES

- I OBJECT to GBC’s plan to remove Send and Ripley from the Greenbelt. The precious Greenbelt is not just a ‘nice to have’, but is an inalienable public good including space for rural leisure and tourism activities, flood control and benefits to public health. Once the greenbelt is built on, it will never be reinstated. The Local Plan seems to be prepared to ‘ride rough shod’ over the Greenbelt, even to the extent of losing ancient woodland at Garlick’s Arch.
- I OBJECT to GBC’s plans to allow ‘insetting’ the villages from the Greenbelt and infilling within village boundaries. This will erode the pockets of Greenfield sites around Send and Ripley and will result in an urban sprawl, effectively linking Woking and Guildford. I understand, and support, the appropriate use of brown field sites to build additional housing as required for the local population. However, the Local Plan appears to be taking the easy and cheaper option, of eroding Greenbelt, rather than actively searching for opportunities within urban Guildford where the infrastructure is already in place to support the resultant increase in population.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- I OBJECT to GBC adding Garlick’s Arch to the plan at only 13 days before the 24th May discussion of the Local Plan by GBC. The fact that this was ‘last minute’ was admitted by Mr Spooner at the Send Parish Council Meeting on June 14th. This site presents a significant change to the regulation 18 consultation in 2014, and therefore should have been fully debated, rather than accepted through a shortcut of Regulation 19. The fact that GBC have been ‘gifted’ the land to build the slip road to the A3 (policy A43a) in return for the inclusion of Garlick’s Arch leads to cynicism and doubt that due process is being followed.
- I OBJECT to the disregard that GBC have shown to the concerns of local residents through previous ‘consultation’ processes which suggests that this one will be no different. Since 2014 GBC have changed every major site in Send proposed for development and now want to add a massive new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 and has now gone up to 485. This is in spite of a huge amount of effort by local residents to give the requested feedback to the previous plan. Naturally people are tired of repeating the same objections on seemingly deaf ears, but GBC should not conclude that the proposals have public support.

I OBJECT TO THE FACT THAT GBC HAVE NOT FOLLOWED THE CORRECT PROCESS

- I OBJECT to GBC adding Garlick’s Arch to the plan at only 13 days before the 24th May discussion of the Local Plan by GBC. The fact that this was ‘last minute’ was admitted by Mr Spooner at the Send Parish Council Meeting on June 14th. Overall, I OBJECT to the Local Plan. I would like these comments to be seen and considered by a planning inspector.
I urge you to reconsider and to listen to the voices of those of us who have lived here for many years and understand the full implications of what is being suggested. The residents of Send do not deserve to be treated in such a cavalier and irresponsible way by GBC.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Policy A42

Now 60 homes in place of 45 homes previously

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more and too much
- It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people
- It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
- It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse
- It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse
- It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

Land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43.

Now 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

• It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
• There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
• It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no “exceptional circumstances” exist
• It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
• It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
• It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
• It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
• It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
• It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58.

Now a new allocation for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt

Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15

Send Business Park now taken out of the Green Belt altogether

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

- It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation
- There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions
- Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate

Please stop and consider again, the Plans you a proposing, if followed through, can never be undone and the damage to our environment will be permanent.

The plan fails honestly to define Guildford, which is a part of London's hinterland, refuses to explain the basis on which "housing need" has been assessed, and is attached to dishonest claims to protect the Green Belt. Complexity of argumentation disguises the reality that the Plan clears the way for massive development in the Green Belt.

The evidence base has been hidden from the citizenry on the crucial issue of housing need assessment. For Garlick Arch no evidence worth the name has been provided. The recent commitment by the UK Government to exit the EU and to impose substantial controls on migration must fundamentally change any assessment of housing need in the South East.

Requirements to properly consult have been overridden; no consultation whatsoever has been possible, for example, in the last minute inclusion of the Burnt Common "Garlick's Arch" estate. The duty to consider use of Green Belt land only in exceptional circumstances has not been met. No assessment has been made of the impact on water, sewerage, power, transport by road and rail, schooling, medical facilities, footpaths and road safety, all of which would be severely affected adversely.

A sound plan would start by correctly identifying the geographic and social context of Guildford and its villages. The methodology of this Plan could be used to concrete over the entire Green Belt, and, the South East of England could become a megapolis.

A sound plan would take account of the massive response to the previous flawed Plan in 2014.

A sound plan would look at the constraints imposed by the nature of a gap town, as well as of the infrastructure which is itself constrained by those physical hills and rivers.

A sound Plan would set out practical and legal reinforcement of barriers to unwanted development on Green Belt land, SSSI and AONB.

A sound Plan would press the University of Surrey to accommodate its students within existing planning permissions.

The reason for objecting are that the local roads, including the A3 and M25 are already too congested and the proposed development will add further to the current level of congestion and pollution. The smaller roads through West Clandon, Ripley and Send cannot cope with the increased level of traffic that such developments will bring.

I object to the evidence provided in terms of Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA). The number of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate the need.

I object to evidence of infrastructure assessment. Infrastructure overload is a major concern. Unnecessary road deaths have occurred at London Road South B2215 due to inadequate road management, maintenance, etc... GBC is culpable and to increase traffic load with such poor management standards risks further unnecessary road deaths. Congestion during rush hour, inclement weather, road obstacles, etc. drives the entire area into gridlock.

I object to proposed inadequate assessment of infrastructure solutions. Our property on London Road already suffers from the volume and scale of traffic causing damage to the structure of the property. The noise and pollution already adversely affects my small children. This is unacceptable.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The change represents an increase of 33% in homes and this is excessive for the area
- It ignores the hundreds of objections made by locals previously
- Further increase in housing development will negatively impact the traffic problems in the area. Traffic on the A247 junction is already an issue.
- Further increase in housing development will negatively impact the Green belt
- Further increase in housing development will negatively change the character of our village to worse
- Further increase in housing development will impact the views from the River Wey Navigation
- Further increase in housing development will impact the local school. More places will be required in a school that has little capacity.
- Further increase in housing development will impact negatively on local population health. The Villages Medical Centre is already maximised and can’t deal with more demand.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A43 proposed change at Garlick’s Arch because:

- The amended plan ignores the thousands of previous objections from the local population.
- There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location in the amended plan
- This area is a beautiful Green Belt area with many old mature trees. No exceptional circumstances exist.
- An area where wildlife and plants can grow preserving our heritage.
- It is land between the A3 and the village and protects the local residents from increasing noise and pollution from the A3.
- Green Belt is part of our village setting, it is what makes our village a village. Send residents live in a village as this is the setting Send offers: living close to protected Green Belt and not in a town.
- 400 homes and 6 Travelling showpeople plots will impact the village character of Send. Woking and Guildford are nearby to offer town amenities if required. The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots are an excessive increase to Send / Ripley and this will result in overpopulation with more traffic impacting local roads and village.
- The area around London Road / Roundabout at Shell Garage / Portsmouth Road / A247, already has high levels of traffic in all directions, not just at peak times in the morning / evening but throughout the day / night.
• This area is particularly congested between 7:15 - 9:00 AM and 16:30 - 18:30 mainly by passing through traffic, impacting the local area. These roads serve as an alternative to the A3 leading to this congestion. Often the traffic is standing still during these hours.
• The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots will impact traffic on these roads. These roads / junctions are unable to cope with more traffic. This will require more funding to rectify and impact locals with ongoing road works.
• The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots will impact the local schools - the local Send school has just been extended and does not have sufficient capacity for more. This will require more local funding.
• The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots will impact healthcare. The Villages Medical Centre does not have sufficient capacity at present, let alone for a substantial increase in residents. This will require more local funding.
• The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots will impact local air quality, water resources, ground pollution. Wildlife and flora are impacted. As the land is so near the A3 health for residents could be affected by asthma etc.
• The proposed 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots will impact the flooding situation in the area. The area is already suffering from flooding.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A58 change at Burnt Common because:

• It was deleted from the 2014 draft due to multiple previous objections
• The work minimum is a change from the previous maximum in the 2016 plan. Since then there has been a decline in the demand for industrial land.
• Slyfield/Guildford has vacant sites to accommodate industrial / warehouse demand.
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand so no need to develop Burnt Common site.
• The proposed industrial / warehouse development will impact the Green Belt of the villages Send / Ripley. It will change the character of the villages and not preserve the heritage and Green Belt of this area.
• The proposed industrial / warehouse development will impact local traffic. The roads around the Shell garage roundabout are already severely congested and this development will impact this even further. The U-turn on London Road near the proposed site is already dangerous, accidents have occurred as the traffic coming from the A3 onto the London Road is travelling at minimum 50 mph. The proposed industrial / warehouse development will increase traffic on this junction.
• The proposed industrial / warehouse development will impact noise in the area. Noise is already an issue being so close to the A3 and the London Road / A 247 itself are noisy with traffic. Lorries parked on the London Road are already contributing to this noise day & night.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because

- There is vehicular restriction along Tannery Lane in both directions.
- Further development will impact the Green Belt and the openness of the area.

I would like my comments noted please on the below points.

I strongly object to the following proposals:

The development of over 2,000 houses planned for Wisley Airfield. This will impact on the infrastructure already existing in the Horsleys, Ockham and even as far a field as Cobham. Two thousand homes planned brings with it more families which cannot be accommodated in the surrounding villages to Wisley. Already we have to wait several days for doctor appointments at Horsley. Local children cannot get school places at the nearest secondary school in Effingham. And planning permission to increase and move the secondary school has been objected. Roads around Wisley are congested enough as it is without a further 2,000 cars on these narrow roads. Local roads around Wisley suffer terribly with drainage and flooding and no scope for improvements, this will be exasperated if more homes are to be built.

I strongly object to the removal of The Horsley’s from the Green Belt and the extension of the boundaries of the settlement areas. The exceptional circumstances required before taking this action have not been demonstrated. The proposals seem to be aimed at increasing the land available within the settlements for future additional development. Horsley is a village by definition and we want to keep it as such and within the existing green belt. The additional houses planned increase the population of West Horsley by a staggering 35% which is far greater than any other single area in the Guildford Borough. How can this be right ?? And it is for this reason I object strongly to the proposal.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to voice my objection and concern for the proposed development of circa 400 houses in Send.

In short the local infrastructure cannot cope with the current population growth let alone another 1000+ people. The doctors surgery is creaking and requires a one week plus waiting list. The local school is probably one of the worst in the county with several friends pulling their children out and having to suffer the financial burden of private schooling despite paying taxes for state education. Roads in the area incredibly congested and at times during rush hour the queue from the Old Woking roundabout is often past the end of Potters Lane. On that subject the traffic from the A3 through Potters Lane is horrendous with very few adhering to the speed limit. Lorries follow the satnav down a totally unsuitable road. I genuinely think it is only a matter of time before a child is killed on the road.

It’s worth mentioning specifically the junction on Potters Lane where Send Hill, Church Lane and Vicarage Lane meet. With the increased traffic volumes this has become incredibly dangerous. As one example my sister in law was pulled out... on and wrote her car off with a 6 month old baby in the back (it was incredibly lucky there were no serious injuries). I have had to brake suddenly and take avoiding action on numerous occasions. These are country lanes that form a large part of the roads in the area, they simply will not cope with increased traffic volumes.

It’s worth pointing out at this stage therefore that the idea of 40 more homes in Send Hill is just ridiculous from a traffic and infrastructure stand point. Also why are two travellers sites required? I have seen no evidence to suggest that they are required and none provided by the council?

Also Send is a wildlife corridor with several endangered and rare species (bats, newts, Owls etc) relying on this piece of rare green belt. Clearly I also object to the ridiculous idea of another industrial estate, do we not have enough in the area already? We have a duty to our children to retain green areas and protect the intimacy of the village environment.

Flooding is another yearly issue that seems to go un discussed, I’m sure the residents of Old Woking will be very glad of 500 extra homes as they flood for the third year in a row.

Frankly the fact that these proposals have come up again after being turned down is depressing.

I object to the lack of evidence base for the level of overall housing identified in the Plan

I object to the use of poor data in predicting the actual numbers of houses needed in the Plan. This is based upon 693 houses per year needed primarily due to predicted increases in student numbers e.g. at the University. Let me tell you now as a professor at the University we will not be seeing anything like that growth especially considering the impact on EU recruitment via Brexit. The whole evidence base via the Strategic Housing Market Assessment seems ill informed.

I object to traffic congestion that will results from the development of the Wisely Airfield / Three Farms Meadows into a 2100 dwelling housing estate

I object also to the proposed plans for development of the Wisely airfield at the Ockham A3 junction into a 2100 dwelling housing estate. There is simply not the local infrastructure in place – primarily transportation infrastructure – to support this development. I live right on Ripley High St and can tell you we have grid-lock every morning in both directions. I invite you to visit and see the long queues, in both directions. 2000 new homes many of which will commute South on the A3 to nearby villages will create massive amounts of new traffic, and it will all go through Ripley's 1 main road - the High Street to get to the A3 southboard sliproad at Send. As experienced local planners you must already be aware of 2 examples of local precedent to mitigate critical traffic levels in Ripley in the recent past:

1) The relevant local section of the A3 is called the "Ripley Bypass". It was built to divert the massive amount of traffic going down Ripley High St (the "Portsmouth Rd.") around Ripley. This is going to happen again if you build 2100 new houses next to Ripley without letting them use the Ripley bypass. Now you may say they can just go via A3 North, and around the M25/J10 roundabout, but in the morning that is even more seriously gridlocked and it is obvious that faced with a queue 40 mins there or just driving through Ripley then commuters will do the latter.

2) Prior to consideration of the Wisely airfield being used for housing, it was given permission (on Sec. of state appeal) to be a large waste composting plant. This was a huge concern to the late Cllr. John Garrett and he demanded several planning conditions put in place, one of which was a ban on the lorries using the plant driving through Ripley. He understood the problem of increasing the already serious levels of traffic through Ripley and the damage it could cause to the village's character not to mention the safety issues. As you probably know we have 2 schools and a lot of elderly residents in Ripley.

I object on grounds of preservation of the environment to the development at Garlick’s Arch (proposed housing, industrial estate, and A3 junction)

The historic and ancient woodland at Garlick’s arch will be destroyed for housing and industrial needs completely against the basic tenants of the Green Belt. The response of Guildford Council is to delete Send from the Green Belt. I would argue a better solution would be to build the housing somewhere outside of the Green Belt.

I object on grounds of flooding to the entire development at Garlick’s Arch (housing and junction)

The area of the A3 junction is also in a 1 in 100 chance of flooding zone making it inappropriate for development to which I raise a further objection,

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object on grounds of local traffic congestion to the development of the A3 junction at Garlick’s Arch

I object that you are proposing to build an A3 junction at Send / Burnt Common due to a further 400 housing plus industrial estate being planned for Garlicks Arch. But this will do nothing for all of the 2100 houses who will send their ~2000 cars south through the village of Ripley on their commute to Guildford. Indeed it will attract traffic through Ripley where congestion is already a massive problem in the mornings as people use Ripley as a cut-through from the M25 to Woking. You will not see just a slight increase in congestion, literally the route will be at a standstill unusable for this Wisley housing.

It seems to me that the choice to site the junction at Garlick’s Arch is opportunistic – not strategic. Free land to build the junction has been offered by the farmer land-owner in return for him being allowed to sell his land to build the 400 houses. Surely the better strategic option would have been to build the junction near the 2100 new houses at Ockham, not near the 400 houses at Send? It seems a no brainer.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done to handle the resulting traffic. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield, Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill are not strategically viable.

I object to the impact on air quality that both the Wisely development and the Garlick’s Arch development will have

I object to the developments in Ripley and Send also on the grounds on air quality which is sure to be harmed by the massive influx of traffic from 2500 homes in the area which will likely bring about 5000 cars to the area. This will be particularly acute in Ripley – a village of only around 2000 people, you are tripling the size of without any supporting road infrastructure leaving stationary grid-lock e.g. on the Ripley High Street where I live, no doubt reducing the already poor air quality.

I object to the removal of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Greenbelt, and general failure to protect the Green Belt in the Plan.

I strongly object to the removal of several of our rural, historic villages from the Green Belt, including Send, Clandon and my own village of Ripley – as well as the ancient woodlands and green belt meadows at Wisley Airfield and Garlick’s Arch. Once removed from the Green Belt they will be gone forever. The villages, particularly Ripley, are ancient with a rich history, character and significance as recognised, for example, by the Ripley conservation area and Ripley regularly appearing in the media as an archetypal English village. The Green Belt was one of the major planning triumphs of the last century, safeguarding uncontrolled development and urban sprawl. The government itself has reiterated that Green Belt should not be violated for housing needs, which is exactly the motivation for removing these villages from the Green Belt in the Plan – there is no “exceptional reason” for insetting these villages or sites other than housing targets. The net effect will be a sprawling extension of Guildford north along the A3, destroying woodlands, open spaces and the character of local villages with clear deleterious effects. The villages will be infilled with housing and merge into one destroying their identity forever. I understand that there are brownfield sites even within these villages that can be developed instead e.g. south of Burnt Common. Clearly we should be developing those and other brownfield sites in the borough instead of destroying virgin Green belt.

I object to the scale of development for Ripley and Send in the Plan

I object to the balance of new housing being shouldered primarily by Ripley and Send. There are virtually no employment/jobs in these villages but much of the borough’s housing target is being deployed in these two villages via Garlick’s Arch (400 houses) and the Wisley Airfield (2100 houses). Surely it makes sense to rebalance this allocation so that most of the housing is local to Guildford where people will want to work or catch a train to work from (there are no practically accessible stations near these proposed developments). There are other available options such as the University owned land that could have been used to develop a new quarter of Guildford fulfilling much of the housing target – why has this not been identified in the strategic plan?

I object to the poor communication of the revised Plan and limited time available to comment

The draft local plan including its accompanying volumes is 1800 pages long and we have had only 6 weeks to digest it and comment on it. Indeed I was unaware of the Plan until a couple of weeks ago due to limited notification of the Plan to residents by the Council. Indeed some evidence on which the Plan is based such as the SHMA plan is not even published so it is not possible to properly examine the Plan.

It is unreasonable to expect working people to read a 1800 page document in 42 days (that’s 42 pages of reading per night on an unsustainable nightly basis) let along digest its content. The website hosting the local plan is in my professional opinion as a computer science academic and chartered software engineer, one of the worst I have seen in terms of its accessibility and comprehensibility.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

1. Policy P2 – Green Belt: I object to this significant erosion of the Green Belt with the proposals for large towns being developed on Green Belt land thereby removing the openness of the Green Belt. We note in particular the huge developments proposed for the North East quadrant of the borough which will adversely affect our amenity, but also unfairly targets our tranquil rural villages because we can provide ‘dormitory’ facilities for commuters to London. These developments directly affecting our villages are the proposals for various farms and tracts in the Horsleys and Garlicks Arch at Send.

1. We object to Policy S1 not offering sustainable development as regards roads and rail infrastructure which currently does not cope with demand, congestion on the A3 in particular, but also other A roads in the area such as the A247, the A246 and then there is the already overcrowded and slow train system for those already living in the borough and needing to commute to London. No pre-emptive planning has been made to alleviate these real problems which will be much exacerbated by large increases in housing.

1. Continuing with Policy S1 (Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development) I object that this is not being met and that GBC are contravening this when it is clear that no fixed plans are available to improve the provision of shops, medical facilities, schools in our immediate area (besides roads and rail already mentioned) to service us.
If the GBC were serious about improving the infrastructure and sustainability of our communities, they would have secured plans and funding to ensure these facilities are available and not just at the behest and hoped-for goodwill from the developers. Further, how will developers be held accountable to their promises to build infrastructure? Stories are legion of developers reneging on commitments as the ‘money runs out’ even though vast profits will be made from turning agricultural and Green Belt land into highly valuable housing land.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan as follows. I believe the Local Plan will have a direct and detrimental effect on the amenity currently enjoyed. It erodes the openness of the Green Belt and endangers the beauty and views in and out of the Surrey Hills AONB.

I object to Policy S2 for the proposed provision of the very high overall housing numbers of 13,800 new homes (690 new dwellings being built every year for 20 years) and we object on two grounds; these housing numbers have been imposed with no real consultation being undertaken with the residents. Secondly, the housing numbers are based on a high-growth economic development plan which in itself has had no consultation with residents.

I object to the fact that GBC have not met the requirements of the NPPF Paragraph 155 which imposes an explicit obligation to have early and meaningful consultation. This has not been met in a number of areas by GBC. I have not had a meaningful consultation on imposing a settlement boundary on East Clandon, on the absence of meaningful economic and population growth figures for Guildford showing various scenarios with high, medium and low growth scenarios being offered.

I request that there should be a significant challenge to the GBC scenario planning and the housing and growth numbers should be revised especially in the light of uncertainty and change which will accompany Britain’s withdrawal from the EU.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Village facilities

The infrastructure of the West Horsley, as well as East Horsley cannot support a potential effective doubling of the households and residents.

The villages are extremely rural in character. East Horsley has one public house, a church, a hotel, very few shops, and not one state school. The two boys only private schools already produce significant traffic problems at each end of the school day on Ockham Road North and the A246.

Secondary school places are limited at the Howard of Effingham School and other secondary schools are a greater travelling distance from the village.

West Horsley alone includes no less than 41 listed buildings, some dating back to the 15th century.

West Horsley has one shop, no post office and one highly over-subscribed school.

The single medical centre shared between East and West Horsley is similarly over-subscribed and residents have difficulty in getting appointments. Such a massive increase in population as proposed would stretch this service to beyond breaking point. The planned population increase for the Borough would also mean a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to allow it to cope.

Parking facilities are extremely limited in the shopping areas of East and West Horsley, as well as Horsley station. The impact of such a large increase in population as proposed would overstretch these facilities. It would make it difficult if not impossible for many of the older and less mobile inhabitants to reach the shops, and most importantly the medical centre and chemist.

Roads
Traffic generation from the proposed development would be considerable, with most households having two cars, many with three.

The Street, which constitutes the only entry to West Horsley from the A246, is very narrow, and it would not be possible to widen it. This road is already often perilous, particularly when large lorries, buses and tractors pass through. To increase such traffic, which would result if the proposed developments were to proceed would be wholly irresponsible.

Transport

- West Horsley’s bus service through the village is extremely limited and only operates two/three times per day Monday to Friday.
- The bus service running from Guildford to Leatherhead travels along the A246 at the southern end of the village and is really only of use to residents living within a maximum of eight to ten minutes walk from the bus stops at the Bell and Colvill roundabout.
- Parking at Horsley station is limited and sometimes full on a weekday. There is no land to create additional parking for the increased need that the proposed expansion would bring.

Drainage /flooding

The road where I live, Green Lane, has an under-capacity of existing drainage, sewers and treatment works to cope with heavy rainfall. When heavy rain does occur, the water in the toilets in our house rises alarmingly and they cannot be used, the drains and sewers flood the road and our garden, requiring several visits from the water company to clean and sanitise the ground. This happened again this week (23rd June). The current infrastructure is unable to deal with the requirement.

The land between Silkmore Lane and Ripley Lane is frequently subjected to such serious flooding that Ripley lane becomes absolutely impassable several times per year. This land slopes significantly towards Ripley Lane, and during periods of sustained rainfall, flooding always occurs. Severe flooding also frequently occurs on The Street, East Lane, and Long Reach, to the extent that these roads, and in particular the hill under the railway line often become impassable.

Impact on Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty

The impact of the proposed housing estates would be to blight the surrounding areas of outstanding natural beauty. Many of the proposed sites are so close to such areas that it would no longer be appropriate to refer to these as such, as they would become reducing areas of green countryside, surrounded by urban sprawl.

Most of the areas proposed for potential developments are contiguous with AONB and it is my understanding that statutory protection is afforded to areas contiguous with AONB.

Impact on Wildlife

The impact on wildlife in the Horsleys would be devastating. In my own garden, I have had grass snakes, hedgehogs, weasels, toads and deer and have observed red kites and woodpeckers. These species would be under threat form loss of habitat, and in some cases, predatory cats, the population of which would increase with the proposed rise in homes.

<td>Generally OBJECT The emphasis on energy and waste hierarchies and reduction of carbon emissions as part of building design are welcomed. However, the emphasis on CCHP (Combined Cooling Heating and Power) and communal heating networks seems curious – no such networks are currently locally available. There is an element of “Greenwashing” – the imposition of aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the simple fact that building dormitory towns is environmentally unsustainable. These all require increased car use and will lead to increased congestion and so air pollution and higher carbon dioxide emissions and a few solar panels on roofs will not compensate for the considerable environmental cost.</td>

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

PART SUPPORT, PART OBJECT The policy appears reasonable. However, conserving and enhancing the historic environment may be damaged by supporting ancillary development. In historic locations (Chilworth Gunpowder Mills, the NT sites like Clandon Park or Hatchlands, Guildford Castle, Guildford Museum, etc.) this policy needs to have an overriding emphasis on protection rather than supporting development. The emphasis on supporting some development – in the context of an authority that has already set in place aggressive reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre – should be viewed with some caution. The reasoned justification seems reasonable but it must be noted that it is the wording of the policy, rather than the associated explanation, that must be key.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT There are effectively two separate parts to this policy, both are flawed, and in the case on insetting, fatally flawed. In the case of urban development there are numerous flaws, including:

- The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be affordable, but this does not provide any accommodation for low paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy “affordable” homes, nor can they pay the so-called “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors.
- The number of homes planned in the urban area is too low – there is a need for regeneration in some areas, but this is ignored and instead the plan concentrates on building homes on green field sites, which does not meet the needs for housing within the town, especially with the centre. This is not a sustainable policy as building outside the town has a disproportionate effect on road traffic.
- The plan envisages a large expansion of the traditional “bricks and mortar” retail sector, but this is a sector in long term decline.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT because

- the evidence base is unreliable
- there is unclear differentiation between B class uses
- only high added-value business uses are desirable, not low grade, low employment warehousing which is land hungry
- industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (e.g. Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
- the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate

OBJECT Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions”. Overdevelopment of countryside is a risk.

Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, Guildford is distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. Guildford would be wise to model itself on other historic towns like Bath, Chester and York. The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town.
Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford being a stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. The countryside can offer high quality tourism – including cycling, National Trust sites, open countryside and cultural events including theatre and opera – which is lucrative. This is not recognised fully.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT. There should be much more residential use of the town centre. There is limited need for further retail, which will disadvantage existing retailers as well as using valuable land inefficiently. Existing niche retailers should be supported, but this does not mean further retail expansion which could be counterproductive. There is an urgent need for a brownfield register and to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. CIL strategy must promote brownfield redevelopment. Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. It would be a great mistake if Guildford were to opt for large impersonal department stores and dull high street chain stores at the expense of exploiting its uniqueness and character which would afford greater benefits.

OBJECT. The housing mix is based on the assumptions set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which has not been scrutinised or evaluated and so we must object overall. I support high density development in the urban area. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up suitable family accommodation in the urban area. OBJECT. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions means homes which are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even at 70% rented this means that these homes will not be cheap, and starter homes will not be made available for local people. There is a viability clause (4.2.40) which means that in practice this could be unenforceable. We would be losing countryside for no local benefit.

OBJECT. This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (this includes agricultural land and the AONB). These homes could be homes for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT. Various aspects of Infrastructure are acknowledged as congested, inadequate for the existing population and not able to accommodate much growth. However, greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – are targeted in order to generate CIL income for the council. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

The Council’s methodology assessing traffic and roads infrastructure needs is inadequate. It identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT This policy is concerned only with the strategic road network – the A3 and M25 for which the responsibility and decision-making lies with Highways England. It is only reasonable that the council will work closely with Highways England to ensure that the Local Plan does not utilise land in a way that limit the scope for future improvements.

However, the proposals for the A3 are undecided and the council has suggested a very expensive tunnel proposal that, even if HE decided to go ahead with it, is unlikely to be delivered until the end of the plan period. Less expensive alternative A3 improvements would not be delivered before implementation of the current draft Local Plan and would deliver a massive growth in traffic. The road improvements are likely to lead to massive disruption to traffic during the construction phase on top of an already overloaded road network. It would be folly to make matters worse by committing to a massive housing number and the only logical conclusion is that a very significant traffic constraint should be applied to the OAN for this Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT We support the concept of sustainable transport but object on the grounds that the practicalities have not been properly considered,

It is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and call them sustainable. Not everyone can cycle all the time.
How can large developments outside the town centre maximise sustainable travel? This is a matter for the planning process – the further from the town centre, the less sustainable the development will be.

Reliance on cycling discriminates against vulnerable members of the community. How can the disabled, those with small children, or the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill, cycle outside the town in order to commute, or even inside the town? Only some people cycle – and Guildford has some steep hills, especially going out of town. Park and rides are slow – how can those with a three hour commute add one hour to their journey from using park and rides?

The only sustainable mechanism for new developments is to have them in the town centre close to the railway and the main shopping links where a “hoppa bus” can provide satisfactory links for those who cannot walk or cycle.

While we welcome the intention to encourage rail travel by adding two new stations (subject to negotiation with Network Rail) there could unintended consequences.

OBJECT The Policy shows concern for conserving and enhancing biodiversity, which is welcome. We also note and welcome the intention to extend the principle beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. However the current plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will have the opposite effect. The Policy appears therefore to be a box-ticking exercise with no real teeth to it.

There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting.

There is no mention of the impact of the plan on food production, or monitoring the loss of agricultural land.

OBJECT This policy is much weaker than previous protection. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. Note that this welcomes housing development. The Surrey Hills needs much more substantial protection. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I am writing concerning the local plan, as I object to the large majority of the proposals contained within it. It is unacceptable to build 70% of the new housing on either Green Belt or on countryside beyond the Green Belt, and not to build more on urban brownfield sites. It is also unacceptable to remove 14 villages from the Green Belt, and to propose that infilling is acceptable within a further 12 villages within the Green Belt. This means that huge swathes of the Green Belt are now vulnerable to extensive further development. All completely unacceptable and contrary to national and local policy.

The plan shows 533 new houses in East Horsley and West Horsley. Should this go ahead, it will change irrevocably the character of the area, for the worse, which is unjustified and unnecessary.

I object strongly to Policy P2 and the other policies as referenced below.

I have outlined below why this is the case based on my local knowledge of the area where I live. I have also included my general objections to various policies within the plan.

Policy P2: Green Belt Status

There is no justification or believable rationale that the land in question can be removed from the green belt. This view is the opinion of the local residents shown in a petition and demonstrates the strength of local opinion against the proposed development. The residents are overwhelmingly disappointed with those they have elected to represent them, and are horrified that they have agreed to adopt such policy.

National policy on the Green Belt, as set out in the National Policy Planning Framework, makes clear that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate and should only be approved in very special circumstances. Planning guidance also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt.
Amongst other relevant factors, the National Framework states:

- The core planning principles that underpin plan-making include both protecting the Green Belts and recognising the intrinsic character and beauty of the countryside.
- Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances.
- The purposes of the Green Belt include checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, preventing neighbouring towns merging into one another; and assisting in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment.

Therefore, the Council’s plan is at completely at odds with the Government’s national policy, and alternative, more suitable and logical action should be taken – e.g. the National Framework does allow for redevelopment of previously developed sites (brownfield land) – although again, under certain guidelines.

- The large number of houses (385 homes on Green Belt land in West Horsley alone) identified for potential development in West Horsley would be totally out of character with the existing make-up and layout of the village.
- The village settlement is comprised of low density housing with a considerable mix of ages and housing styles, including a good number of historic buildings.
- The need for so many houses in Guildford borough, never mind West Horsley, has not been proved in the Consultation documents.

Through a 2014 housing survey, West Horsley Parish Council has confirmed a limited need for 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village.

OBJECT. This seems more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt which is anomalous. I think that the brownfield areas within the urban area are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There should be no need to build on any green fields if brownfield (previously developed) land is used efficiently. (That does not mean garden-grabbing!).

However, I do not think this area justifies stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. This policy refers to the area of countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent this area should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should – by definition - have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas, which is not the case with this policy.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
OBJECT. There are aspects of this policy which are acceptable; it is sensible to protect groundwater source protection zones, provided that the maps are accurate.

However, urban development on hardstanding does not create increased flood risk, especially where there is the capacity for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high value brownfield land which may not be used for housing because of this policy. The footprint of existing buildings should not be the limit of future development, but the extent of existing hard standing. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, but some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the train station, provides an exciting opportunity for real urban regeneration which could protect the surrounding countryside.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT. This policy is weak. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small and negligible as to be meaningless.

SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial; the sites identified or targeted are already green space. To create SANG is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces. There is no actual increase in environmental protection; it is a policy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds - must ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the special protection areas.

OBJECT. While this wording is based on the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) – which is binding - this policy fails to recognise that development in rural areas, with inadequate transport and other infrastructure, cannot cope with the proposed scale of development. It is unsustainable. This should represent an absolute constraint on development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

OBJECT. 13860 homes are proposed. This number has not been scrutinised by councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden. It is not reasonable to produce unsubstantiated numbers in order to justify major structural change in a widely protected area (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB, approx. 75% protected by SPA).

It is inappropriate to allocate this housing number, either over the plan period OR across projected sites, when the number itself is unsubstantiated. External consultants and members of the public have provided detailed criticisms of the model. If the housing number were substantially lower, and only met housing need, there would be no need to build on Green Belt or open countryside.

The number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permission, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds 13860. Guildford residents would not accept building homes on open countryside to meet Woking’s designated “need” but this seems to be implied.

The Council needs to completely rethink its priorities and very carefully consider the views and requirements of the borough’s residents. We need a less contentious and more viable plan, which proposes a sustainable and suitable level of development. The use of brownfield sites should be high on the agenda.

I have (believe it or not!) studied the Draft Local Plan which I fear has been designed to be totally inaccessible and incomprehensible on purpose for many local people to even wish to read. It is incredibly lengthy and overlooks the fundamental principle that there exist many brown field sites within the borough which are not being developed upon.

The insetting of local villages such as East and West Horsley, Ripley, Send, Clandon, to name but a few is just, it seems to me, a tactic to their removal from the Green Belt allowing increased and inappropriate development thereon.

Green Belt by its very name is defined as "an area of open land around a city" -there will be no open land around Guildford if the local plan is ratified.

I Object to the 2016 Local Draft Plan

I wish to record my strong objections to the Draft Local Plan which is out for public consultation currently.

I live in West Horsley and worked hard to be able to afford to purchase a house in this gorgeous part of the world. I enjoy my rural lifestyle. walking at Sheepheas with my family and dog and being surrounded by green. open space. Had I wished to live in an urban location I would have bought a property within Guildford itself, Inner London or any other built up part of the world.

I wish to protect the Green Belt from erosion by possible future disproportionate development. particularly at this development for housing is based on a housing need which has little or no evidence to support it.

Lack of evidence of the housing need in the borough;

Insetting of villages thus allowing increased development into the future;

The proposed erosion of the Green Belt in any way, shape or form;

The length, complexity and most specifically the absurdly short time frame for consultation of the Draft Local Plan;

The council ignoring the existence of the numerous suitable brownfield sites within the borough which could be used for future development;

The proposals for the A3 will not answer the infrastructure problems or needs of Guildford. We need a tunnel to go under Guildford, removing the impact of through traffic and leaving the existing A3 to provide an additional route across Guildford for local traffic.

I appreciate the need for housing. However, developers will choose the easiest sites to develop (to maximise their profits) and these are the greenfield rather that the brownfield sites. As housing needs may drop due to Brexit, there is a risk that the greenfield sites will be lost and the unsightly brownfield sites remain undeveloped (eg the Portsmouth Rd site). I would like to see a system to ensure that NO greenfield sites are released until the brownfield sites are used.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Proposed Submission Local Plan: Policy A35, land at former Wisley Airfield, Ockham
This letter is further to my letter of 19 June concerning the Proposed Submission Local Plan and provides additional comments on Site Policy A35, ‘land at former Wisley Airfield, Ockham’.

I strongly OBJECT to this proposed policy for the reasons detailed in this letter.
1. The proposed development represents a fundamental breach of Metropolitan Green Belt rules;
2. This site does not meet acceptable levels of sustainability:
3. The site will have a severe impact on local traffic & infrastructure: and
4. The development is totally out of keeping with local character, context & distinctiveness.

Taking these points in turn:

The proposed development represents a fundamental breach of Metropolitan Green Belt rules

The site forms part of the Metropolitan Green Belt. Under NPPF regulations, development on such Green Belt land is only permitted under ‘very special circumstances’. GBC’s Planning Officer, in assessing a previous planning application from the developer of this site, rejected their application, arguing that: It has not been demonstrated that the benefits of the proposal amount to very special circumstances such as to clearly outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and the other harm identified.

Ministerial guidance has repeatedly confirmed that unfulfilled housing need does not qualify as a very special circumstance. Removal of this site from the Green Belt is totally against its rules, regulations and underlying spirit. The site location at the edge of the M25 circle represents a ‘first line of defence’ against metropolitan encroachment into the Surrey countryside. If this site is developed then it becomes only a question of time before Guildford itself is absorbed into the sprawling London conurbation.

Accordingly, I OBJECT to Policy A35 as a fundamental breach of the Metropolitan Green Belt rules.

This site does not meet acceptable levels of sustainability

The site has poor sustainability:

- There is currently no infrastructure whatsoever at this site, meaning that all water, electricity, gas and phone services will need to be newly established;

- New large-scale sewage disposal will be needed, a fact recognised by Thames Water, indicating it may take 3+ years to provide adequate sewage handling facilities for this site;

- There are presently no schools, medical services or shops within walking distance of this site;

- There is presently no local employment at this site and little after the development is completed;

- There will be a significant destruction of agricultural land arising from this development;

- There will be significant environmental damage from this development;

- There is no public transport currently serving this location;
The nearest train stations are Horsley and Effingham Junction, both around 3 miles away - too far to walk. Neither of these stations currently have significant parking capacity available.

Travel from this site will be primarily dependent upon motor vehicles. Any new site so dependent upon motor vehicles for transport cannot be considered as being ‘sustainable’;

New access roads will be needed and significant changes proposed to the surrounding road network, leading to further pressure on over-crowded rural roads and increase in the traffic congestion in nearby settlements;

Accordingly, I OBJECT to Policy A35 on grounds of its unacceptable sustainability.

The site will have a severe impact on local traffic & infrastructure

The proposed development will have a severe adverse impact on road traffic in the surrounding area. This includes East Horsley where high volumes of additional traffic are likely from the residents of this new settlement accessing East Horsley’s two stations, shops and nearby schools. Many of these roads that will carry this traffic are without pavements for large stretches, whilst the principle through-roads of Ockham Road South and Forest Road pass along unlit residential areas so narrow that two buses cannot cross in many sections.

The road closures and junction changes being proposed to accompany this development will only serve to increase traffic volumes through the village centres of East Horsley, Cobham and Ripley, and around the station at Effingham Junction, all of which suffer from traffic congestion at peak hours.

Neither Horsley nor Effingham Junction railway stations currently have any significant spare parking capacity. The suggestion of the developer that large numbers of cyclists from Site A35 will daily cycle 3 or 4 miles along busy roads in order to access one of these two stations lacks credibility. Other village facilities in East Horsley, such as the medical centre, are also likely to suffer adversely from a substantial increase in users as a result of this proposed development.

Accordingly, I OBJECT to Policy A35 on grounds of its severe impact on local infrastructure.

The development is totally out of keeping with local character, context & distinctiveness

In the 2016 Proposed Submission Local Plan, GBC’s first housing policy, Policy H1, requires that development should: “make the most efficient use of land whilst responding to local character, context and distinctiveness.” However, Policy A35 fails to do this.

With its proposal to build some 2,100 homes, Policy A35 will create a new settlement larger than any other in Guildford Borough, outside of Guildford itself. The current and historic village of Ockham has merely 159 dwellings. It will be completely swamped by a development on such a scale.

Moreover, the design and density of the proposed development will be completely out of context with its surrounding area.
East Horsley, just three miles from this site, is the largest settlement in Guildford borough outside of Guildford town, with some 1760 homes. East Horsley presently has an overall density of 8.1 dph within its settlement area. Therefore, the proposed development of Policy A35 is six times as dense as the nearest settlement of a comparable size. The proposed development under Policy A35 therefore utterly fails to respond to local context and as such is in breach of GBC’s own housing plan policy H1.

The density of 49 dph proposed under Policy A35 is effectively an urban density appropriate for a metropolitan location. It is to be achieved by building apartment blocks of five stories in height, according to the designs previously presented by the developer. For a setting within the middle of rural Surrey this is completely out of character.

Other settlements close to this site are small rural villages such as Ockham, West Horsley and Ripley. These villages have grown up organically over a thousand years. They contain many historic, listed or otherwise protected buildings as well as a range of residential housing, predominantly detached two-storey houses or bungalows. They are all picturesque villages with charm and character. Visitors come to the area to enjoy some of the prettiest villages and countryside in southern England, all within easy access of London. The character of this whole area would be irreparably destroyed if this development goes ahead.

Accordingly, I OBJECT to Policy A35 on the grounds that it is out of keeping with local character, context and distinctiveness, and therefore breaches emerging GBC Policy H1.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Comments on Proposed Submission Local Plan
I have carefully considered the Proposed Submission Local Plan which Guildford Borough Council ("GBC") has now published for public consultation. My comments are set out in this letter.
I have strong concerns about the Proposed Submission Local Plan and the evidence and assumptions which support it. I have three major concerns:

1. The scale of the housebuilding programme. The target outlined by GBC represents a 25% increase in the housing stock of the borough. The Office of National Statistics ("ONS") projects a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

2. The destruction of the Green Belt - I note that the Proposed Submission Local Plan includes the statement "We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt". GBC is in breach of this policy through the housing policies it has set out in the Proposed Submission Local Plan, whereby some 65% of developments will be built on land that is currently Green Belt; and

3. Infrastructure - the infrastructure proposals are inadequate even to meet the needs of what is there at the moment, let alone the proposed developments in the Local Plan.
I therefore OBJECT to the Proposed Submission Local Plan.
These comments are developed in more detail below.

1. STRATEGIC POLICIES
Policy S2: Borough Wide Strategy
This policy sets out the objective of adding 13,860 new homes to Guildford Borough over the 2013-2033 period of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, equating to an annual build of 693 new homes per annum.
I have serious concerns about the enormous scale of this building programme, which represents a net increase of 25% in the housing stock of Guildford Borough. The justification of this number, when the Office of National Statistics ("ONS") is projecting a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period is not given.
Some explanation for this mismatch may partly be found in the conclusion of the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment, ("SHMA"), which looks at how the annual housing target of 693 homes is comprised. It estimates that 517 homes per annum arise from ‘the demographic starting point’ – effectively what the official statisticians at the ONS and the Department of Communities and Local Government ("DCLG") are predicting Guildford will require based upon their population and household forecasts. To this is added in the SHMA another 120 homes per annum in order to ‘support economic growth’, a further 31 homes per annum to ‘improve affordability’ and 25 homes due to ‘student growth’, all of which totals up to 693 homes per annum target.
I cannot understand this analysis. Economic growth is already factored into the statistics produced by ONS and DCLG, so what GBC are proposing actually comes on top of the official household growth forecasts for the borough. Moreover, the GBC Affordable Housing Policy H2 is proposing that all development sites (other than the very smallest) will be required to have 40% of their homes offered as affordable housing, so why another 31 homes per annum is needed as affordable housing on top of this 40% ratio is quite incomprehensible.

One of my particular concerns in reviewing the Proposed Submission Local Plan is that the impression is conveyed upon the reader that GBC’s housing targets are effectively needed to fulfil NPPF requirements or because of central government policy – in other words that GBC has no real choice but to put forward these projections, unpalatable though they might be. However, the reality is very different. GBC has voluntarily chosen to pursue a policy of aggressive civic and economic expansion

I therefore OBJECT to the borough housing targets set out in Policy S2.

3. PROTECTINGpolicies
This section in the Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out policies concerned with protecting the environment across Guildford Borough, including the Metropolitan Green Belt.
POLICY P2: Green Belt
Local Plan Policy P2 states that: We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt.
Unfortunately, GBC is in breach of this policy itself through the housing policies that it has set out in the Local Plan. The analysis included in the Appendix shows that around 65% of the developments proposed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan are to be built on land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt. This is an outrageous outcome.

Under NPPF rules, GBC is permitted to make allowance for factors which may constrain the delivery of new housing, such as the need to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt or the restrictions required to protect the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty ("AONB") which is offered protection under the NPPF comparable to that of a national park.
Although these areas make up a large proportion of the land area of Guildford Borough, GBC makes no attempt to reduce its housing delivery in order to take account of such constraints. This is incomprehensible. I therefore OBJECT to the proposals to build on the Green Belt.

6. INFRASTRUCTURE POLICIES

This section of the Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out details covering a range of infrastructure policies. The detailed infrastructure proposals for Guildford Borough which give me cause for concern. There are serious deficiencies and shortcomings in the infrastructure of Guildford Borough as it is today and that the aggressive housing policy as proposed by GBC in the Proposed Submission Local Plan will exacerbate this problem.

In East Horsley today:
? Roads across the parish are in poor condition with many potholes. Many roads are unable to sustain their current levels of traffic, particularly the increasing levels of HGV traffic;
? The principal through roads traversing East Horsley are narrow and winding, have a series of pinch points, have sections without any pavements and are generally unlit;
? Many of the drains are blocked or otherwise in poor condition giving rise to frequent surface water flooding when it rains;
? The pavements are in poor condition. As well as being narrow, they are often uneven and/or cracked making it difficult, for example, for people with pushchairs or prams or in wheelchairs;
? There are insufficient school spaces for the number of local children needing them;
? The Medical Centre in East Horsley is already at capacity in terms of its number of patients...

In respect of East Horsley, there are only two specific proposals in Appendix C:
LRN 25 - East Horsley and West Horsley traffic management and environmental improvement scheme. It is not clear what is proposed here, and its timing and funding have to be considered uncertain. It is stated that funding will, at least in part, come from developer contribution. However, it is not at all clear what development is likely to give rise to such a contribution, but it certainly implies that funding could only come if there were a development; and HSC 5 - Expansion of East Horsley Medical Centre to provide additional capacity and services for future population in years 5 – 15 of the plan.
There are no proposals in respect of all the existing problems with for example roads, pavements, drainage, and schools.

Furthermore, it is inevitable that the proposed developments in East Horsley itself and nearby, particularly in West Horsley and the proposals for Wisley, will put further strain on the existing infrastructure. There are no proposals at all to cater for this. Although an expansion of the Medical centre is proposed in the Infrastructure Schedule, this is not until years 5 – 15 of the Plan. Given that it is already at capacity, EHPC believes that this needs to be done earlier. The failure to address the inadequacies of the existing infrastructure to meet the needs of what is there already is a serious deficiency in the Proposed Submission Local Plan.
I accordingly OBJECT to the infrastructure proposals on these grounds. I further OBJECT to the proposals for infrastructure in that they do not meet the stated objective of providing infrastructure to support the proposed developments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. HOUSING NEED

The revised policy proposes a target for new housing in Guildford borough of 12,426 homes, a reduction from 13,860 homes proposed in the previous draft local plan. This is a fall of some 10.3% in the total number, although the annualised figure of 654 dwellings per annum represents a reduction of only 5.6% because of the different time periods considered by the revised plan.

This revised target for borough housing is still excessively high - the conclusions of the revised SHMA are seriously flawed.

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment: Guildford Addendum Report, 2017 (‘SHMA Addendum’) issued by consultants GL Hearn in March 2017 provides an update on the previous SHMA issued in 2016. Much has happened in those 12 months, particularly the imminent prospect of Brexit, which is likely to result in major changes in population trends, migration patterns and the economic development of the UK.

GL Hearn attempts to address this prospective uncertainty by presenting four alternative scenarios for their models, based upon different assumptions over the basic population projections utilised. Their four scenarios result in projected overall growth of Guildford borough housing needs over the plan period (based upon demographic trends) which is estimated at between 10.4% and 15.3% dependent upon the scenario assumed.

The lowest of these figures, 10.4%, is derived using projections based upon a 10 year migration trend and making an UPC (‘Unattributable Population Change’) adjustment as proposed by the ONS in order to take account of various statistical anomalies in sampling sizes, etc. This forecast population growth of 10.4% leads under their analysis to an annualised housing need for Guildford borough estimated to be 521 dwellings per annum. For reasons that are not explained GL Hearn recommends that GBC adopt the higher end figure of their scenarios, resulting in a proposed demographically-based housing need of 559 dwellings per annum, which is the figure adopted in the Local Plan.

As in their 2016 SHMA report, GL Hearn then proceeds to increase this figure further through a series of adjustments to reflect high levels of projected economic growth, additional student housing demand and the needs for more affordable housing. This approach is nonsense. Economic growth factors are effectively already included within the household growth projections put forward by the Department of Communities & Local Government. GL Hearn have increased their proposed overall housing need figure to 654 dwellings per annum, an increase of 95 dwelling over their own (upper end) demographic trend figure. GL Hearn’s justification for this increase is primarily to address affordable housing needs within Guildford borough and to a lesser extent to make extra provision for student housing. This adjustment makes no sense.

Under GBC’s Affordable Housing policy 40% of all dwellings at new developments must be built as affordable homes – therefore with a target housing figure of 12,426 new homes, that means that almost 5,000 new affordable homes would be built in the borough under this policy. Why a further adjustment is needed on top of this figure is hard to understand. Moreover, it begs the question: if more affordable housing is built above the 40% policy target, just who precisely is going to pay to subsidise this construction?

The net result of GL Hearn’s analysis is a projected housing need of 654 homes per annum, which if built would represent an overall increase of 22% in the housing stock of the borough. This compares to the ONS projection for population growth over the plan period (based upon a 10 year migration trend and making the ONS-proposed UPC adjustments) of just 10.4%. GBC are therefore proposing a housing figure which is more than twice this level of projected population growth. This is clearly unjustifiable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

GBC fails to make any allowance for planning constraints, particularly the Green Belt

The housing need projections of GL Hearn are taken by GBC directly as the housing targets proposed in the Local Plan. They therefore fail to take into account any of the significant constraints which limit the supply of housing across the borough, in particular the large proportion of land which currently falls within the Metropolitan Green Belt. They also fail to allow for the already over-stretched infrastructure.

Other local plans across the country have adjusted their housing targets to reflect such constraints. However, GBC chooses to ignore them. This is despite having a revised Green Belt policy P2 in the Local Plan which states that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”.

In order to meet its high housing targets, GBC proposes to remove large swathes of land from the Green Belt for use as housing. This is contrary to ministerial guidance and planning inspectorate decisions which continue to support the position that unfulfilled housing need does not constitute the ‘very special circumstances’ needed to justify building on Green Belt land.

The majority of the land being proposed by GBC for development under the revised Local Plan is currently part of the Metropolitan Green Belt.

Throughout the Local Plan consultations many thousands of residents across the borough have written to object to GBC’s approach towards this fundamental issue – there were over 25,000 comments in the 2016 consultation, mostly opposing the plan. Judging by the revised 2017 Local Plan these voices have again been ignored by GBC.

I am strongly opposed to GBC’s position on this issue and accordingly:

I strongly OBJECT to the borough housing targets set out in Policy S2.

1. POLICY P2 Green Belt Policy

The revised Green Belt Policy P2 continues to make the hollow promise that “The Metropolitan Green Belt will continue to be protected”. However, despite minor changes it has failed to revise Paragraph 4.3.13 which proposes to inset the village of East Horsley from the Green Belt.

There is no justification for this approach. East Horsley is a rural village. Its housing density is low - the average density of housing is just 8 dwellings per hectare. East Horsley makes an important contribution to the Green Belt of this area, providing openness, picturesque green spaces and wildlife corridors which support a rich biodiversity.

If East Horsley is inset from the Green Belt, as proposed in the revised Local Plan under Policy P2, then important Green Belt planning protection will be lost over land currently within the settlement area. This will inevitably lead to increased development within this area and the loss of openness, destruction of trees and hedgerows, diminished biodiversity and the impairment of picturesque views of this rural village.

Accordingly:

I strongly OBJECT to the insetting of East Horsley proposed as part of Policy P2.

1. SETTLEMENT BOUNDARY

I also note one new change made to the proposed settlement boundaries of East Horsley under the revised 2017 local plan, as detailed in the accompanying Appendix H maps for East Horsley (South). The Amendment 4 on this map addresses land in the southern part of the village designated as being within ‘the identified boundary of the village’ and which is currently Green Belt land outside of the settlement area. However, under Amendment 4 the settlement boundary is to be extended further south to encompass all of this area.

This is land which is close to and in some parts directly adjacent to the Surrey Hills AONB. It is a very low density part of the village located in a highly distinctive rural setting including in Chalk Lane a sunken chalk lane, a single track road that dates back for many hundreds of years.

There is no justification to bring such land within the settlement area of the village. This area of the village has benefitted from Green Belt protection for many years but this proposed change would have a significant adverse impact and lead to the destruction on its character. Accordingly:

I strongly OBJECT to the movement of the settlement boundary proposed under Amendment 4 in Appendix H map of East Horsley (South), proposed as part of Policy P2.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Guildford Borough Proposed Submission local Plan 2016 ("local Plan")

Below are my objections to the Local Plan proposals for West Horsley:

1. Removal of West Horsley Village from the Green Belt

I object to the removal of West Horsley Village from the Green Belt on the following grounds:

- The Local Plan is taking West Horsley out of the Green Belt yet the Local Plan Policy 2 contains the statement "we will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt" - this statement is contradicting the proposal
- West Horsley is a distinctive rural village in a rural setting with many historic buildings and The village's green belt status is essential to ensuring the character of the village remains
- Government guidelines require exceptional circumstance for removing the village from the green belt which cannot be justified on the basis of unfulfilled housing- what is the exceptional circumstance for this proposal?
- There is no explanation as to why West Horsley has been chosen to be removed from the green belt and no justification for doing so.
2. Objection to the Number of Houses being built in West Horsley

I object to the 4 Proposed Sites - Policy A41/Policy A40/Policy A38 and Policy A37

- The Local Plan has suggested a 35% increase in housing for West Horsley by 2022 and yet only a 11% increase in Guildford town. What is the justification for this?
- The Guildford Borough Economic Strategy document makes no case for locating large numbers of new homes in West Horsley- this is a village with no shops, no post office, no petrol station, no train station, no medical centre and a very limited bus. It also offers no employment opportunities for residents.
- The National Planning Policy Framework requires that new residential development must be limited in quantity by the availability of infrastructure and local facilities- this policy has been ignored in the Local Plan.
- The density of houses on the proposed sites is completely out of keeping with the rest of the village and will change the character of the village forever.
- The National Planning Policy Framework requires that new residential development must respect the character and density of housing in the area- this policy has been ignored in the Local Plan.
- About 10 houses on East Lane (mine included) currently back onto and look out onto open fields green belt land. Policies A38 and A41 allow 135 homes to be built directly behind these houses and 90 directly across the road from these houses- this will completely change the character of the village.

- The proposal for the 4 sites do not respect "the character and density of housing in this area".

1. Policy A41

Specifically object to the Proposed Site - Policy A41

- The Local Plan has included a new site - Policy A41 with a proposal to build 90 homes.
- This site is open fields green belt land and the land is one of the most important rural aspects of the village.
- The Policy will irrevocably destroy the character of West Horsley village as one of its most important rural features is that on the entry roads to the village (mainly Long Reach in this instance) there is a vista across fields as there is only development on one side of the road.
- The fields included in Policy A41 do not satisfy the criteria for development- they do not abut the currently defined village settlement on any side and so cannot be considered an extension of the settlement or infill.
- Development on a current site of open fields in green belt land surrounded by undeveloped countryside is in breach of the government's guidelines on building in the green belt.
- Residents on East Lane have previously had their planning applications refused on the basis that it interferes with the green belt contained in Policy A41- why has this now changed?

I urge you to consider these objections seriously and reconsider your plans for West Horsley under the Local Plan.

1. I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough as being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

Garlick’s Arch is and should be protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which justify its removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government states quite clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states its preference to use previously developed land, but GBC has removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common and replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

How can GBC justify not including this large brownfield site? This area is not suitable for large scale development due to poor transport provisions, a lack of school places, medical facilities and utilities.

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43) when there is an existing industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. This site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning. This again shows a lack of foresight and total disregard for the local community.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt, and there does not appear to be any justified exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt

Last minute The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency (see objection 4.). There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hour no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Why do we need an additional north entry ramp for the A3 at Burnt Common when there is a perfectly adequate entry ramp in Ripley? This will only exacerbate the traffic issues that will be created by the massive house increase within the Send and Ripley areas. Furthermore there has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I object to the extra congestion that these developments will cause to our local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our roads are struggling already in our local villages and this plan will exacerbate the amount of traffic in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no proposed plans to improve the current roads.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition, unlit and have no pavements. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

1. I object to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

This part of Surrey is already at capacity. The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even consider improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan, so the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) should not even be considered until a viability plan has been entered into.

I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). This action does not meet National Planning Policy which requires for an exceptional circumstance to justify Green Belt boundaries to be altered or for development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances.

Furthermore as council tax payers we rely on Guildford BC to protect our environment and standard of living, not just to surrender large areas of Green Belt land without due thought as to its being done and for appropriate consideration as to whose interests are being served.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43).

I believe that a number of assessments have graded the flood risk as low, which I really find, literally, unbelievable.

Although I’ve lived in this area “only” since 1997, I’ve witnessed many years of flooding with varying degrees of impact.

Clearly the 2013/14 floods were particularly bad, with both Portsmouth Road & Send Marsh Road severely impacted, along with much of the surrounding land much of which is encapsulated within your plans, especially the proposed Garlick’s Arch development.

I object most strongly to GBC’s proposed submission of Local Plan June 2016. My reasons are as follows:

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable or viable as it will damage local communities by over development, particularly Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities do not need extra housing. There are no railway stations at Garlick’s Arch or Wisley Airfield and inadequate bus services, therefore most adults will have to have a car. The Plan does not contain any provisions to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch. It would make more sense for the developments to be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

The lack of “near by” employment opportunities and inadequate public transport would mean that even if developers were to build this type of housing (extremely unlikely), they would be unsuitable for the people they were built for.

It would make more sense for the developments to be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal to build 13,860 new houses without proper constraints in order to reduce the overall housing deficit differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is biased and not fairly spread across the borough. There is too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). Why is 36% of all the Plan’s new housing being proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% greater than previous Plan, which itself was too
- It will seriously worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction, which is currently bad at peak times. This is likely to push more traffic down the narrow lanes and towards Papercourt Lane
- It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse
- It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse – something that all climate change forecasts suggest will become a major issue if removal of flood plain and run-off areas are removed
- It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

- It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
- There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
- It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances” exist
- It will cause over-development of our village, with the proposed 400 additional homes being excessive
• It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth 1 – when its gone its "gone" for good, and the Council has an obligation to preserve and protect for future generations
• It will join up Ripley and Send, thereby further eroding our separate identities, and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
• It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
• It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
• It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley. The traffic at peak times is already excessive, and is organically getting worse even before any development
• Other infrastructure will also be placed under excessive strain – from medical facilities to schools, as well as power, water and sewage – all of which have shown signs of strain in recent years.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock. The Old Portsmouth Road is regularly breaking up, and additional HGV traffic will exacerbate this, especially when couple with the other parts of the Plan
• It will join up existing villages, further reducing local identity and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt (Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15) because:

• It is effectively an old non-conforming use in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation
• There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions. Previous points regarding traffic impact on Tannery Lane, Papercourt Lane and the A247 apply here, and the addition of more HGV traffic will cause significant impact and generate a "ticking time bomb" for accidents
• Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate

I wish for all my objections to be taken into consideration.
Whilst not specific to a particular Plan clause, I would also like my strong objection registered to way that the Council has yet again handled this process, and how you continue to fail Guildford residents by failing to apply proper planning process.

Furthermore, and despite Send being responsible for a high number of the 32,000 objections to the 2016 plan, the Council appears to have ignored all the opinions of Send residents and proposed a plan which clearly ignores the norms and conventions of the local planning process. This should have seen a revised plan that took those opinions & objections into account, however the 2017 plan clearly shows the opposite and forces our area to disproportionally shoulder the burden to meet the understandable need for more housing.

This new plan targets valued green belt and completely ignores the inadequate infrastructure which is incapable of supporting such a large expansion of the settlement. The Council, in choosing to consistently ignore the ultimate and inevitable impacts, has shown at the least a woeful disregard for the resident’s needs, and worst an active and vindictive attitude towards Send.

I object to the increase from 1200 to 1750 homes as this would result in the coalescence of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and Ash Green Village. This is contrary to Policy P3 (Countryside). Therefore Requirement 6 of this Policy, which attempts to protect the “historic location of Ash Green”, is inadequate and would need rewording to prevent this increased potential for coalescence.

"Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road have historically been considered to form part of Ash Green village. Whilst this land is now proposed to be included within the Ash and Tongham urban area, Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane must respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This should include the provision of a green buffer that seeks to maintain a sense of separation between the any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond"

• Requirement 8 does not sufficiently protect Ash Manor, a historical farmstead of three listed buildings including a medieval hall house and should be amended as follows:

"Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected."

• Infrastructure before development. Requirement 9 (Land and provision for a new road bridge at Ash Station to enable closure of the level crossing) must be competed before any development of Policy A29 commences.
• Requirement 9 fails to address the other significant transport infrastructure improvements that are required to cope with the increases in traffic generated by Policy A29. Therefore solutions to the following areas are also required before any development of A29 is permitted.

a) The Street in Tongham
b) A331/A323 intersection
c) A31 /White Lane junction

• Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

I have lived in my current house for 50 years and wish to make a plea re the fields, trees and hedges surrounding the village, which provide habitat for the abundant flora and fauna remaining and should be protected.

Nightingales migrated here annually to nest in the black [illegible word x2] until the late 1960’s, when activity – lorries etc. for the development of Old Cross Tree Way Estate, disturbed them, never to return.

Hedge-hogs are still resident here, (a declining species national), and many other birds, animals and reptiles, which I could list, but too numerous for this note.

Quality of life for humans, depends on wild life, greenspaces, and less traffic, congestion and pollution.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I write to you in respect of the Guildford borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy & sites and include my comments and objections specifically relating to Ash Green.

Policy P3-Countryside and A29 (land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham.

Ash Green IS a rural area. We are next to Ash which is urban. Looking at the Ordnance Survey map you can see how built up Ash is. We are at extreme risk of loosing our rural identity as Ash is expanding with ever increasing development. With the proposed A29 policy this will merge the two areas of Ash and Ash Green together and we WILL loose part of Ash Green. How can it even be possible to take away part of the community area or divide a village?

Looking at the draft map where the blue line has been drawn, it segregates the greenest part of the village into the Ash and Tongham Urban Area (ATUA). This will destroy the rural part of Ash Green and we will loose that part of the countryside.

Ash Green is not part of the ATUA and the boundary must not extend south of Ash Green and Foreman Road.
Ash Green also has historical importance. The area of Ash Manor was originally a historical farmstead called Manor Farm and on old maps this was and should still be in Ash Green. The local plan even lists in it’s key considerations “the historical location of Ash Green”.

I have recently attended an open surgery with our local MP for Surrey Health, Michael Gove. We raised our concerns to him of the threat to our community by the GBC’s proposed Local Plan and the divide of Ash Green. He appeared very interested and assured us he was going to look into this further.

Aware that Mr Gove is also Environment secretary we stressed our concerns to him at the threat of loss to Ash Greens’ intrinsic rural character of it’s countryside location. We are also very close to the Surrey Hills Area of outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB).

To quote Michael Gove in June 2017 (Channel 4 news) on his new role as environment secretary.

“as environment secretary to do a job at the heart of government to enhance one of our greatest assets, which is our countryside.”

Our countryside does need protecting, we are slowly losing it to development. I am fully aware of the need for more housing and accept smaller scale and appropriate development in this area but even the council (as documented in their draft plan) suggests the need to support rural communities and to protect the remaining countryside.

I would like to object to the current wording in your policy of P3 and A29 (land to the south and east of Ash Tongham) as it does not give us any protection. I totally understand the need for new housing but it needs to be affordable for key workers and currently there are many new builds not being sold and in my opinion too expensive for such workers. Myself and my partner are key workers and would not afford the current prices of these new builds.

Please include in your Local Plan these revised paragraphs (as suggested by Ash Green Residents Association) for Policies P3, A29, and requirements 6 & 8 to protect Ash Green as a rural community from over development, ensuring appropriate infrastructure and recognising it’s historical location and intrinsic, rural character

4.3.29 Amend to: “Originally consisting of the three small rural villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham, the Ash and Tongham urban area has grown considerably in size and now forms Guildford borough’s second largest urban area. Countryside within the urban area to the south and east is allocated as a strategic location for development. However to make this growth sustainable, suitable infrastructure must be implemented before further development.”

4.3.30 Amend to: “We do however wish to ensure that whilst accommodating this growth, we are able to protect the remaining countryside around it from inappropriate development in order to protect its intrinsic character and preserve the role it plays in maintaining the separate identity of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green.”

Policy P3 Amend to: (1) (c) should be amended to read “does not lead to greater physical or visual coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area, Ash Green and Aldershot. ”

Objections to Local Plan

I object to this plan because the Council has no mandate to allow development in the Green Belt. The controlling Conservative group was elected in 2015 on a promise to protect the Green Belt.

I object to the removal of Ripley, Wisley, Clandon, Send, the Horsleys and many other villages from the Green Belt which will lead to the destruction of our rural villages.

I object to the plan because Guildford Borough Council shows little understanding of the countryside and of the heritage of the borough.

I object to this Plan which would damage the environment and character of the Borough.

I object to the disproportionate number of houses proposed for the locations North and East of Guildford.

I object to the lack of evidence for the proposed housing numbers -13860 -693 per year for 20 years. The assumptions on which the consultants prepared the SHMA have not been given to the public or to councillors.

I object to these housing figures as they were prepared pre-Brexit and must now be revised downwards. Independent assessments suggest some 300-325 houses per year would be adequate.

I object to Surrey University not building 2000+ units of student accommodation [for which it has permission] on its campus. This would free up family housing in the town.

I object to the proposed numbers also because the recognised constraints [eg 89% Green Belt, inadequate infra structure] have not been applied.

I object to the excessive density proposed for the major strategic sites.

I object to the impact of poor air quality on many of these major developments in breach of Air Quality Directives.
I object to lack of detail on financing of massive infrastructure eg roads and schools, which would be needed from Surrey County Council and the Highways Agency.

I object to the lack of information on how the new Hospitals and GP surgeries which will be needed will be funded.

I object to any villages being taken out of the Metropolitan Green Belt and swamped by significant housing development.

I object to the increased traffic congestion which will be caused on the M25, A3, other A roads and small rural roads.

I object to the ludicrous suggestion that many will resume walking and cycling-most journeys will require a car and public transport from the villages is poor.

I object to Three Farms Meadow [former Wisley Airfield] being removed from the Green Belt and included for housing. It is totally illogical to include this site which was comprehensively rejected for some 14 significant reasons earlier this year.

I object to developments at Blackwell Farm, Gosden Farm, Garlicks Arch and Wisley as this effectively merges all the villages along the A£ from the M25 to the Hogs Back with no provision for improvements to the A3 or local roads.

I object to the proposed SANG at Long Reach West Horsley which would be used to support some 1000 homes in a very small village.

I object to all sites in West Horsley where more than 5 houses are planned

I object to these sites within West Horsley

Manor Farm A

Bell and Colvill A37 –already rejected by the planning committee

Land at Ockham road North A39

Land at East Lane –A41

I object to these sites in East Horsley

Ockham Road North A39

Thatcher’s Hotel A36 –already rejected.

I object to these plans for the Horsleys which seem to be an attempt to create a small town.

I object to the failure of GBC to follow a “brownfield first” policy.

Finally I object to the document. In the form of 1,800 pages it is not user friendly and is out for consultation for only 6 weeks during the summer holiday period.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to the building of 400 houses and the use of several thousand metres of land at Garlick's Arch as industrial space. This is an area of ancient woodland, and is susceptible to flooding. Industrial outlets should be placed in a more suitable area such as Slyfield.

I object to this policy change for the following reasons, This is an area of permanent Green Belt where no "exceptional circumstances" exist. This is an area of ancient woodland, and will become even more susceptible to flooding if hundreds of houses are built on it. Where is the proven need for Travelling Showpeople at this location? This is a further attempt to over develop our village, causing the Green Belt that seperates Ripley from Send to disappear, defeating its very object. Excessive traffic would be an obvious problem for our local roads.

1. It has ignored thousands of objections about Roads and Schools the school situation getting worse this summer many NOT GETTING ANY OF THE SIX SCHOOLS APPLIED FOR this year.

1. Since when has there been a demand for Travelling Showpeople the heavy traffic this will bring through our village small roads many places it is impossible for two large vehicles to pass.
1. This is a working greenbelt land there are a lot more brown land available also gives work to people if you get rid of all greenery between villages it will become a concrete jungle and grind to a halt on our roads.

1. We will be destroying our history as this ancient woodland that has been there since Elizabeth 1.

1. It has overhead cables which I believe is dangerous to build under plus it is prone to flooding.

6. The extra traffic will bring our small roads to a standstill as there is no room for widening and as pointed out already there are places two large vehicle can't pass

7. As for an on off access to the A3 it is on a bend and will cause many accidents that is the the reason Burnt Common Lane was blocked off many years ago

8. The A3 was built to bypass our villages and help to relieve us of this congestion this will be going backwards and build this excessive amount of houses we will come to a stand still.

I object to this "revised" policy. Having been deleted from the earlier draft in response to all the objection made, I most strongly object to this new application with the change of wording from “maximum” to “minimum” this policy would give free rein to planners to create another "Slyfield". While the aforesaid has plenty of sites and industrial units empty. Furthermore the Employment Land Need Assessment of 2017 shows a REDUCTION in demand of 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the WHOLE borough not this vast over allocation of 10 hectares at SEND, A GREEN BELT AREA. There would be an intolerable overload on our small roads, not to mention the accompanying increase in pollution, which is already at excessive levels.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Firstly I am not happy at the fact that the word ‘Green’ of Ash Green was crossed out, even if it was an ‘error’. As part of the Ash Green community it has made me feel like we are worth nothing and our identity can be changed just like that. Well we can’t. We chose to live in ASH GREEN for a reason, because it is beautiful and like the name states ‘GREEN’. It is full of trees, greenery, wildlife. It is not Urban and it is not Ash.

As residents of Ash Green Road, we have deeds dating back to the early 1900’s with Ash Green clearly documented. The Ash Parish may have dealt with deeds but my legal, binding documents and deeds historically have Ash Green on them. That is because we were and are part of Ash Green.

Where the blue line has been added along the map of the area to draft a separation of Ash Green to ATUA it seems to have put the built up section of Ash GREEN into ‘Ash Green’ and the fields, trees, orchard, old farmsteads, rural part of Ash Green into ASH. It doesn’t make sense. Wouldn’t it make more sense to leave Ash Green as it originally was, a rural community with rural history. As already drafted in the Local Plan it needs to support the rural community. Even on page 213 of the local plan it lists in it’s key considerations ‘The historical location of Ash Green’.

Lets keep it that way, don’t chop it in half. Hundreds of us that live in this community are desperately worried that we will be segregated. It needs a more defining border that incorporates Ash Green Road and Ash Manor.

This objection may have strong undertones in it but the reason for this is, along with all my neighbours and fellow residents of Ash Green, we feel absolutely passionate that where we have been drafted, we should be put back into the original Ash Green. Please don’t separate us. We are a strong community, who love our village. As residents under the Guildford Borough Council, I would feel severely let down if where I live is put into an Urban area.

My next objection is to Policy A29: Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham.

On this policy I want to object to the increase in the proposed number of homes of 1200 to 1750. Doing this will certainly join Ash Green Village to ATUA. This completely goes against Policy P3.

It also goes against the NPPF which identifies that there should be a limit to development in the countryside and that the rural communities should be supported. I therefore ask for the requirement 6 of this policy, which looks at protecting the ‘historic location of Ash Green’ is not good enough and needs to be reworded to give Ash Green more protection.

“Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road have historically been considered to form part of Ash Green village. Whilst this land is now proposed to be included within the Ash and Tongham urban area, Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane should respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This should include the provision of a green buffer that seeks to maintain a sense of separation between the any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond”

To add to the amendments of policy A29, requirement 8 does not give sufficient protection to Ash Manor which is a historical farmstead constituting of 3 grade 2 listed buildings, of which the main house Ash Manor is a Medieval moated house dating back over 1000 years and is connected to Henry VIII.

It is also clearly stated in the NPPF of the need to conserve and enhance the historic environment and to recognise heritage assets as irreplaceable and protect them against any threats such as development.

To give this historical farmstead and heritage asset more protection there should be amendments to requirement 8 as follows.

“Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

It must be made a priority that there is adequate infrastructure in place before any development is allowed to proceed. This applies to Requirement 9, the proposed road bridge at Ash Staton and closure of level crossing.

This requirement also fails to address other infrastructure improvements in relation to transport that are needed to cope with increase of traffic that would be generated from any developments of A29. Solutions must be drawn up to address The Street in Tongham, A331/A323 intersection and A31/White Lane junction before any development of A29 can go ahead.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Suggested amendment to:

Requirement 6:
“Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road have historically been considered to form part of Ash Green village. Whilst this land is now proposed to be included within the Ash and Tongham urban area, Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane should must respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Requirement 8:
“Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

I’d like to firstly object to Policy P3, Countryside.

Ash Green is not part of the Ash and Tongham Urban Area (ATUA). It is a rural community and historically always has been. Many old maps such as the Tythe Map and Ordnance survey maps dating back as far as 1871 shows the original Ash Green incorporating Ash Green Road and Ash Manor.

Ash Green is a rural area, you get that sense when you live, walk or drive around it. The roads, especially down Ash Green Road are narrow and rural. Ash Manor is indicated in Ash Green on the historical maps. This used to be a farm called Manor Farm. Also drafted into the ATUA and yet originally part of Ash Green, is the Old Farmhouse just down Drovers way. This was originally called Ash Green Farm. When looking at it all with historically 2 farms and farms are generally part of the countryside, this shows we are rural and must stay that way.

So as part of the countryside policy I would like to ask for the following amendments to 4.3.29, 4.3.30 and policy P3 as follows to keep Ash Green as a rural area and to not be dissolved into urbanisation.

- 4.3.29 Amend: “Originally consisting of the three small rural villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham, the Ash and Tongham urban area has grown considerably in size and now forms Guildford borough’s second largest urban area. Given its relative sustainability, Countryside to the south and east of the urban area within the urban area to the south and east is allocated as a strategic location for development. However to make this growth sustainable, suitable infrastructure must be implemented before further development.”

- 4.3.30 Amend: “We do however wish to ensure that whilst accommodating this growth, we are able to protect the remaining countryside around it from inappropriate development in order to protect its intrinsic character and preserve the role it plays in maintaining the separate identity of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green.”

- Policy P3 Amend: (1) (c) to read “does not lead to greater physical or visual coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area, Ash Green and Aldershot.”

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

4.3.29 Amend: “Originally consisting of the three small rural villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham, the Ash and Tongham urban area has grown considerably in size and now forms Guildford borough’s second largest urban area. Given its relative sustainability, Countryside to the south and east of the urban area within the urban area to the south and east is allocated as a strategic location for development. 4.3.30 Amend: “We do however wish to ensure that whilst accommodating this growth, we are able to protect the remaining countryside around it from inappropriate development in order to protect its intrinsic character and preserve the role it plays in maintaining the separate identity of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green.”

Policy P3 Amend: (1) (c) to read “does not lead to greater physical or visual coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area, Ash Green and Aldershot.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
2. Policy A29: Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham

- I object to the increase from 1200 to 1750 homes as this would result in the coalescence of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and Ash Green Village. This is contrary to Policy P3 (Countryside). Therefore Requirement 6 of this Policy, which attempts to protect the “historic location of Ash Green”, is inadequate and would need rewording to prevent this increased potential for coalescence.

1. Policy A29: Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham (Cont.)

“Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road form part of Ash Green village. Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane must respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This must include the provision of a green buffer that maintains separation between any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond”.

- Requirement 8 does not sufficiently protect Ash Manor, a historical farmstead of three listed buildings including a medieval hall house and should be amended as follows:

“Sensitive design at site boundaries with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor. Views to and from this heritage asset, including their approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

- Infrastructure before development. Requirement 9 (Land and provision for a new road bridge at Ash Station to enable closure of the level crossing) must be completed before any development of Policy A29 commences.

- Requirement 9 fails to address the other significant transport infrastructure improvements that are required to cope with the increases in traffic generated by Policy A29. Therefore solutions to the following areas are also required before any development of A29 is permitted.

1. The Street in Tongham
2. A331/A323 intersection
3. A31/White Lane junction

- Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

Firstly, my wife and I together with many local friends and neighbours are hugely shocked and dismayed at the sheer extent of the proposed developments across the various sites in our immediate area; quite apart from the massive implications to the old Wisley airfield site which will also affect our villages. This last matter seems to have been raised again, notwithstanding your reservations.

We have lived in West Horsley for 34 years, schooled our children locally and have both worked locally too. We are members of various local care related organisations and commit much of our spare time to local charities as well as our Church. You could say that we have invested many years of time and energy into the well being of our local community, which we value hugely.

The proposed several developments of some 533 (plus a recent add-on of 60) houses together with 2100 houses plus service/leisure businesses at Wisley, is quite out of proportion to the nature of this area and far outside the scope of the the existing and developable infrastructure of roads, water services, drainage, schooling, medi-care. local amenities and the huge increase in traffic demands it would create. Roads and the narrow lanes serving the area, drainage and the other services are already at maximum capacity.

The proposal at Garlicks Arch for 400 houses will produce far too great a strain on the existing medical services which are stretched now.

The new Send school which will be for children from 5 - 11, is planned to absorb a specific number of children already in the area and will be unable to contend with the proposed population.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I wish to object to the proposals laid down in the local plan:

We cannot absorb the population resulting from the planned development/s because:

The road system is at present stretched to accommodate traffic from the M25/A3/Ripley to Woking, using Sendmarsh Road and Send Road. The proposal of 400 houses & industrial units will mean the road to Woking will be permanently grid-locked and the condition of the roads will deteriorate. Traffic will use the roads which have proved they frequently need repairing now and so be a greater strain on Guildford financial sources.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I refer to my e.mail of 12th June which received an acknowledgement but no reply. This e.mail referred specifically to my objection to the local plan at Garlicks Arch and the proposed 400 houses & industrial area, on land which I understand is possible flood risk for the Sendmarsh area.

I wish to object further:

To the removal of Send from the green belt.

Starting with A42 Tannery Lane

I object to the proposal to increase dwellings from 45 to 60.

You gave permission for the marina and we presumed this would mean an amount of extra buildings but NOT 60. The narrow roads from Send Road or Polesden Lane to access the proposed building land are completely unsuitable - services are stretched to bursting point and traffic which is at present extremely heavy will become impossible.

More objections are covered by A43.

For starters, I say Travellers and I MEAN travellers - [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered defamatory, derogatory, inflammatory or offensive in nature]. Don't try and dissuade me from this idea, I have lived in this area since 1965 and several times travellers have had to be evicted from the locality. [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered defamatory, derogatory, inflammatory or offensive in nature].

Now, 400 homes?? Where are all their vehicles going to be able to access the main roads, A3 and Portsmouth Road?

Where are they going to be able to sign on at a medical centre? This is stretched at present serving existing patients. Where are their children going to school? Send has a very nice new school, able to cope with children from the ages of 5 - 11 - EXISTING NUMBERS. Where do you propose the 400 new homes children learn?

East horsley map I moved to East Horsley as a child, more than 30 years ago, and it was an idyllic village in which to grow up. During the intervening years, there have been huge changes and a great deal of development. The population has grown, and this has put pressure on the schools, doctors surgery and parking in the village and at the stations in East Horsley and Effingham Junction.

Now raising my own children in the village, the area is already very different and already much busier with large amounts of traffic shortcutting through the village roads to access the A3 and M25. Increasing the number of houses to this extent will create a lot more traffic and pollution. As the mother of a child with asthma, this is of huge concern to me. I do not believe there is any benefit for our community in building on our beautiful green spaces.

A35 I object very strongly to building of any kind on the Wisley Airfield site. This is a location of historical interest, it is a haven for wildlife and building here would cause many problems for the local environment. This location has no immediate local facilities to support the new "community" which will be created. This will mean more overcrowding at the railway stations in East Horsley and Effingham Junction. More traffic and congestion on local roads and especially on the already crowded A3 and M25.

I believe we are custodians of the countryside and we have a duty to maintain them for our future and the welfare of our future generations.

Please do not allow building on our Green Belt.

P2 I object to the villages of East Horsley and West Horsley being removed from the Green Belt. Having reviewed the proposed new plan I must reiterate my objection made previously in 2014. This does nothing to alleviate my concerns.

Swamping horsley worth over 500 new houses and continuing to push for a further 2000 homes on nearby Wisley airfield remains wholly inappropriate.

The village does not have sufficient access or amenities or character to cope with this increased demand and it would be irresponsible of Guildford council to approve it.
