9. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

10. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy II)

Policy II requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

11. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy II)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 &
M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

12. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

3. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and... the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

4. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
2. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I object to the local plan as a whole, as the Borough has failed to provide proper evidence of the need for such a large amount of housing and for the appropriateness of most of the development.

I believe the Local Plan 2014 lacks valid research and evidence of need; lacks planning for infrastructure improvement already needed without further development of the area; and is being rushed through using the wrong Regulation (19). It must be properly reviewed and consulted fully under the correct Regulation 18.

I object to removal of Send and other villages from the green belt. This can only be done in exceptional circumstances according to planning law, and none exist in this area. The interests of developers profiting from indiscriminate urban development are not exceptional circumstances.

Any weakening or exceptions to green belt protection will lead to its permanent loss. The green belt must be protected in its entirety, according to current law. It is the lungs of the densely populated south east, and an area that is enjoyed by millions, including valuable tourism from abroad.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Developers must use the many brown-field sites identified in the Borough before any other sites are even considered. Developers (and some Councillors) put profit above every else, leaving the taxpayer to pick up the ongoing bill for inappropriate development and inadequate infrastructure improvement.

We want government at all levels to show vision and innovation in development matters, and to conduct planning with due diligence and integrity, as it is the future of their own families at stake as well.
Having reviewed the Local Plan I want to express my concerns over many aspects of the development included. I feel the Council has ignored objections residents made in the 2014 consultation, showing a complete lack of consideration for the impact such extensive development will have in the local area.

I object to the Council making substantial last minute changes to the plan, such as the Garlick’s Arch development in Send and the addition of a major alteration/enlargement of the junction on the A3 at Burnt Common. There are also many other significant changes to the 2014 plan. This requires a full consultation under Regulation 18, not the limited consultation under Regulation 19 for minor changes.

I think the brief six week Local Plan consultation, placed in summer when many people are away on holidays, is a deliberate act to limit residents’ opportunity to fully review the extensive documentation comprised in the Plan and to then make any appropriate objections if required.

I object to both these developments on the grounds that there was improper use of Regulation 18; no local consultation; that Garlick’s Arch is green belt land which includes an area of ancient woodland and parts of which are low lying and subject to flooding.

I object to the alteration to the A3 junction at Burnt Common, as it has not been part of a full infrastructure review and proper consultation with local residents. It was added to the plan at the last minute to avoid proper scrutiny.
I object to policy A42 - both to the original 45 homes and the 33% increase to 60 homes, as this is on green-belt land; local roads are unsuitable and congested, in particular the A247 Send Road, plus Tannery Lane is too narrow for two way traffic and increased traffic flow. I know that the proposed site in Tannery Lane is subject to flooding, as a resident and walker in the area for many years.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A58 - on the grounds that again it is part of the Green-belt so development is not permitted, and further, that such development is inappropriate when other industrial sites in the Borough have empty space (e.g. Slyfield Industrial Estate) and there is no proven need for further industrial space. I object to the wording 'minimum' replacing 'maximum' of 7000 sq m, which opens up any approved development to unlimited expansion. This is an abuse of the planning process. The residential A247 Send Road is narrow in places, in spite of linking the A3 and M25 to Woking town centre and its mainline station to London, and coach service to Heathrow Airport. It is congested in peak times, carrying heavy vehicle and commuter traffic through the bottle necks of parked cars and the narrow bridge at Broadmeads, which is not wide enough to allow two heavy vehicles to pass over it at the same time. Cyclists commuter into Woking, create further congestion at peak times. Adding to this traffic from hundreds more houses and industrial sites, and traffic from other huge proposed developments at Wisley Airport and nearby Ockham, Clandon and Horsley wards, (policies A35, A37, A38, A39 and A40 - at least 2500 homes) is utterly inappropriate and without evidence of need.

On a daily basis, the A3 from Burpham to the M25 is at a virtual stand-still in both the morning and evening peak times due to the weight of traffic. Any major hold up on the M25 or A3, the traffic can back traffic up as far as the A247 at Broadmeads. Adding more commuter and industrial traffic will only exacerbate this, while changing the junction at Burnt Common is unlikely to improve the situation, and could actually add to the problem.

I object to the local plan, on grounds that much of the development is on Green-belt land. The Borough does not provide sound evidence of need, and does not provide infrastructure improvement already needed and cannot be trusted to ensure sufficient investment in infrastructure to accommodate additional local development.

I object to removal or inset from the Green-belt of Send and other villages in the Borough, or sections of land such as Send Business Park (Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15). This can only be done in exceptional circumstances according to law, for which none exist. This is deliberate erosion of the green-belt by stealth. Any exceptions made to green belt protection will lead to its demise. All green belt land in Britain must be protected in its entirety in perpetuity as the law intended and stands.

Having reviewed the amendments to the 2016 Draft Local Plan under regulation 19, I am deeply concerned to see that the Council has ignored most of the concerns raised by Borough residents in both the 2014 and 2016 consultations.

I am concerned that there are conflicts of interest within both the Council and Central Government, and indirectly some elected representatives at both levels stand to profit from the property market as a result of this unfettered push for development.

Hidden among the amendments in this controversial regulation 19 review, is further extension of the earlier proposed developments, including increased house numbers and expanded business space allocation, and intruding further into protected green-belt land. There is also a blatant disregard for the risks of developing areas in defined flood-zones 2 and 3, with such wording removed from a number of policies. I objected to such proposals in both previous consultations.

There is the potential for demand for housing to decline when Britain leaves the EU, especially in areas like Surrey, and the Local Plan does not take this into account.

There are many brown-field sites in the Borough, and it must be mandatory to develop these before any other sites are even considered, regardless of developers shying away from them.

Our elected representatives at all levels must conduct themselves with due diligence and integrity, for the long term future of all, including their own children, not for the short term profit of a few.

This Local Plan shows no integrity nor validity, just a hidden agenda for development at any cost.

Once again the “revised” Local Plan circulated by Guildford Borough Council is based upon flawed arguments, inaccurate information and in many examples a complete disregard for rational and intelligent thought.

I OBJECT to the Local Plan in its current state in its entirety and have outlined some key areas below.

UNFOUNDED HOUSING NUMBERS

I OBJECT to these statistics.

There is a total lack of transparency concerning the model used for estimating population growth and the required number of new houses to meet this.

The Local Plan is based on a population increase which is almost 70% HIGHER than the official national estimates for population growth in the Borough.

How can an unjustified number like this be used as a basis for a Local Plan? This would mean, for example, a 35% increase in households in West Horsley alone – an area already suffering from aforementioned infrastructure issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

REMOVING THE HORSLEYS FROM THE GREEN BELT

I OBJECT to this proposal.

Policy P3 states that “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt, as shown on the proposals map, against inappropriate development. In accordance with national planning policy, the construction of new development will be considered inappropriate and will not be permitted unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated.”

What “very special circumstances” have been demonstrated that warrant taking the Horsleys out of the Green Belt? The Plan’s projected housing numbers are flawed, whilst the roads, schools and doctors’ surgeries are already overloaded.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is utterly implausible.
Furthermore, the Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away, and once it is gone it is gone forever.

EXTENDING SETTLEMENT BOUNDARIES OF THE HORSLEYS

I OBJECT to this proposal.

There are no concrete reasons why these areas should be extended – other than a sneaky plan to carve out more land for future development.

OVERLOADED INFRASTRUCTURE

I OBJECT to this inevitable result of the Local Plan.

It is obvious that not a single member of the Local Plan’s drafting team has visited the Horsleys in recent years. Roads are full of potholes from the sheer volume of traffic, drains do not work and roads flood repeatedly, schools are oversubscribed and trying to get an appointment at the doctors’ surgery is next to impossible.

How can anyone even dream of making this scenario worse by the addition of new households?

DEFINITION OF STATION PARADE AS A “DISTRICT CENTRE”

I OBJECT to this classification.

I, and many others, argued this point in previous letters and am rather incensed that this is still an issue. Staion Parade is in no shape or form a “district centre” and yet again one must question whether any member of the Plan’s drafting committee has bothered to come here and take a look?

MISUSE OF GUILDFORD TOWN CENTRE AND EXISTING BROWNFIELD SITES

I OBJECT to these proposals.

There is a fundamental flaw in the draft Local Plan, in that there are not enough dwellings planned in urban areas, in particular, Guildford town centre.

There is falling demand for retail space in town centres throughout the country as internet shopping continues to grow (see independent research and CEBR studies). Guildford is a prime example. What Guildford needs is a new focus on speciality high quality shopping supported by a revival of the town’s heritage core, historic visitor attractions and a diverse selection of restaurants.

As an existing urban centre, it should furthermore receive a larger share of proposed new housing by making use of its brownfield sites.

Paragraph 17 of the NPPF states that to “encourage the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land)” is a core planning principle. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy.

I am very upset that the “revised” Local Plan circulated by Guildford Borough Council did not take my comments into consideration. I think it is based upon flawed logic and inaccurate and I would like to lodge my objection accordingly.

I OBJECT to the changes to Policies A36 to A41 (East and West Horsley)

• The number of potential development sites has been reduced by ONLY TWO (A36 and A41, representing a total of 138 dwellings). This leaves four sites (A27-40) which still represent a total of 395 new dwellings.
• Marginal changes such as these would still leave 70% of all new development in the borough built on Green Belt sites. No “exceptional circumstances” or any other justification is advanced for this strange imbalance.
• The deletion of two Horsley sites fails to correct the issue of relative overdevelopment in East and West Horsley, which is both excessive in absolute terms and disproportionate in relation to the rest of the borough.
• The plan fails to mention most of the known sustainability issues and infrastructure constraints affecting the Horsley sites, including public transport, traffic, road safety, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, flooding/surface drainage and shops. These were fully set out in responses to last year’s public consultation.
• The density of new housing on the four Horsley sites is inappropriate, being greater than anywhere in the locality at present. Collectively, the four Horsley sites breach NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the changed Policy A35 Wisley

• The two new slip roads at A247 Clandon Road (Burnt Common) and associated traffic management will not in any way mitigate the impact on Ripley High Street since traffic will need to pass through Ripley to reach Wisley.
• My previous objections therefore still stand for this changed policy concerning the re-inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers to try again. This is disgraceful!
• There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the changes to Policy P2

- Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital.
- It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. No-one argues that we should sell 1.6% of the Crown jewels in order to build houses.
- I object to the changed “insetting” of 15 villages (including Ripley) from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages.
- I am deeply upset that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages (particularly at Send) and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. This is completely unplanned and unmeasured development outside of the OAN.

Draft Local Development Plan - Send, Send Marsh & Burntcommon

I wish to OBJECT strongly against the addition of Garlick's Arch at Burntcommon (site no A43) to this Plan. This area of unspoilt Green Belt agricultural land of some 70 acres, which includes about 12 acres of ancient woodland (some of it dating back to the 16th century) is far too precious to be sacrificed to concrete and tarmac in the form of 400 houses and nearly 2 acres of industrial buildings and warehousing.

Quite apart from losing valuable Green Belt land, I am very concerned about all additional traffic that will be generated by an estate of this size, which will consist of about 800 cars and many HGV's. It will put unbearable pressure on all the roads around the Burntcommon roundabout (A247/B2215), The proposal to create extra entry and exit slip roads from the A3, London bound, off the A247 Clandon Road will only exacerbate the problem. The roundabout and local road system are already under considerable pressure and the proposal to build so many dwellings on the A3 corridor with further slip roads planned for entry and exit from Gosden Hill Farm would seem to be high density development in what is a semi rural location.

As well as the roads being unable to cope with such huge population growth, the local schools and the Villages Medical Centre will also be put under strain.

Please ensure that the Government's Planning Inspector sees this letter.

Comments on the Proposed Submission Local Plan

I have read the proposed submission local plan which GBC have now published for local consultation. I would like to say that I support many of the objectives within the document and fully recognise the need to build additional housing and to share this across the Borough.

However I have three specific areas that I have concerns about where I feel that the document does not address particular local issues or that it makes decisions based on misleading assumptions.

1 Infrastructure – the proposals do not address in any way the current backlog of needs within the Borough and specifically East Horsley and similar villages and seem to assume that development money will fund the major investment in infrastructure (medical centres, schools, roads, drainage etc.) that is required for the new housing planned.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Infrastructure Policies

The section in the Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out a range of infrastructure policies.

A number of these give me cause for concern both generally across GBC where extensive housing development is proposed, but also specifically to East Horsley (and similar local villages). I am the chair of both the East Horsley Neighbourhood Plan Steering Group and the lead for Infrastructure. It is evident that:

• The Medical Centre is at capacity in terms of numbers of patients and difficulty in booking appointment. This is included in HSC5 but is not prioritised within the timescale of the Local Plan and I would support that this be brought within a 0 – 5 year timescale;

• The Raleigh Primary School which is the state school that most East Horsley children attend is currently oversubscribed and has waiting lists for all years. This is not mentioned within the draft Local Plan although currently the school is proposing that it could move to a different site within West Horsley which would permit expansion. I would support that this be included within the Local Plan.

In terms of roads, pavements, and flooding there are regular major problems in terms of:

• Managing the current volume of traffic, especially the HGVs that increasingly use the roads to access the M3 and M25,
• Living with the poor quality and maintenance of current drains that regularly become blocked and flood; and
• Using pavements that are narrow and uneven or damaged so that people in wheelchairs, or pushing pushchairs are unable to safely use them to access facilities.

Appendix C includes one other proposal for East Horsley. LPN25 a traffic management and environmental improvement scheme with no details and the assumption that this will be funded at least partly from developer contribution. This uncertainty about funding means that there will remain uncertainty and difficulty with any forward planning for issues that need to be addressed within a shorter time frame.

An added issue is that the Local Plan does not take account of the impact on a currently overstretched infrastructure of the housing developments within both East and West Horsley and potentially Wisley, as many commuters will use the two railways stations within the village with a consequent impact on roads usage and demand on other facilities.

I would call your attention to a report by McKinsey Global Institute (The Times 27th June 2016) which concluded that Britain has a 0.4% gap between its estimated requirement for infrastructure needs before 2030 and its current spending.
GBC’s Local Plan has a fifteen year timeframe and it seems imperative that it fully addresses the need for investment in infrastructure both to meet the current shortfall and to support further development.

_I accordingly object to the infrastructure proposals on the grounds that they do not address the current need to meet deficiencies in infrastructure. I also object to the proposals in that they do not meet the stated objective of providing infrastructure to support the proposed developments._

Protecting Policies

Local Plan Policy P2 states that “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt.”

However in direct contradiction to this the analysis in the Appendix shows that 65% of the developments proposed in the Local Plan are to be built on land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt.

It has been repeatedly stated within government by different ministers that unfulfilled housing needs does not qualify as a special circumstance and our local MP Sir Paul Beresford has reiterated this in a letter of 21st June 2106 – “that Government Advice is unmistakeably clear – that housing need alone is not adequate grounds for building on the Green Belt.”
This was stated by GBC’s Planning Officer in assessing an earlier application for the Wisley site – “it has not been demonstrated that the benefits clearly outweigh the harm to the Green Belt”.

I therefore object to Policy P2 on the grounds that it breaches central government policy.

Strategic policies - Policy S2 Borough Wide Strategy.

This policy has the objective of adding over 13,000 new homes over the 15 year period, which equates to an annual build of 693 homes per year. This is a net increase of 25% in the housing stock, whilst the ONS is projecting a population increase of 15%. There is no adequate explanation for this discrepancy.

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment, (SHMA) is faulty in that it estimates 517 houses as the demographic starting point which is what the ONS predicts but then adds in additional homes to “support economic growth”, which is already factored into the ONS statistics. A further 31 homes per annum are included to “improve affordability” where the GBC Affordable Housing Policy H2 already includes that most development sites would include 40% of their homes as affordable.

My reading of the document is that GBC are trying to convey that the housing numbers are needed to fulfil the NPPF requirements based on central government policies whereas the numbers are based on local and political aims.

I therefore object to the housing targets set out in Policy S2

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to express my opinions on the above document and its proposals.

I object to the imposition of an unsupportable burden on the drainage infrastructure, the schools, the roads’ network, the medical services, and the parking in the shopping areas. None of these seem to be addressed in the plan.

I object to the high density and large volume of housing planned, as they are unbalanced and will change the nature of the village quite out of character.

I object to the extra volume of traffic that will inevitably follow such a large expansion.

Since the National Planning Policy Framework requires that new residential development must respect the character and density of housing in the area and take into account the infrastructure and local facilities I cannot see how the Plan caters for this.
The Green Belt was set up in law to provide for the maintenance and care of an area of countryside between villages to maintain not only the countryside but also the individualism of the villages. If this is changed then the spread of conurbations will clearly mean the Surrey area ends up being a further extension of the London suburbs.

The well being of the countryside is paramount to the health, economy and lifestyle of many thousands of people now and in the future in Surrey. The loss of habitat will be irreversible and has huge consequences for the ecology of the remaining countryside.

I would be particularly upset to see the development of land in the Northern section (A40) of West Horsley that is alongside our house and is where we keep our sheep.

This provides much character and green space for the wildlife in the area.

The land is commonly under water when there is substantial rain as shown below and housing development would exacerbate those problems.

A stables use the land in the northern half of this plot and clearly further erosion of land available for this sort of recreation puts further pressure on the provision of suitable land for the local population to indulge in healthy outdoor pursuits.

Access to these fields is quite restricted being already surrounded by existing housing. Access required for large vehicles for development would create considerable disruption. The loss of view and amenity provided to all these houses by being adjacent to the countryside would be of huge detriment to these residents who enjoy this outlook, myself included.

I am sure that within the Guildford Borough many more “brown field” and urban sites can be identified rather than creating huge development in the villages of Surrey.

Clearly there are other areas in West Horsley that are considered for development too. All of these areas carry some of the same ill-considered reasoning for development. Overall any large increase in development within the village would seriously strain the facilities and infra structure at present in place.

As a broad outline I object to the large scale increases in building that the Proposed Submission Plan suggests. My wife and I strongly disagree with the removal of the Green Belt Status from the villages of Surrey and in particular that of West Horsley.

Tannery Lane is a narrow and twisty lane unsuited to large volumes of traffic, and its junction with Send Road is already hazardous for vehicles leaving the lane. I OBJECT to building 400 houses and 7000 sq meters of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch.

The industrial space is not needed, but if it were this is not a suitable location for it. There is an established industrial zone at Slyfield, and any additional requirement should be located there.

If 400 houses were built on this Green Belt land the character of the local community would be totally transformed. Existing roads would not be able to cope with the additional traffic – they are already severely congested at peak times – especially if the proposed site at Gosden Hill Farm proceeds plus the proposed new A3 interchange at Burnt Common.

There are already difficulties in obtaining appointments at the local Medical Centre and the local primary and secondary schools are already over-subscribed.

Existing traffic volumes plus proposals for Garlick’s Arch, Gosden Hill Burpham, together with numerous smaller developments in the immediate vicinity, and also the proposed development of Wisley Airfield would result in the quantity of traffic travelling along Send Road to/from Woking becoming intolerable. Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I am writing to object strongly to Guildford Borough Council’s local plan for housing and development. As a resident of East Horsley I am disappointed by the proposals, these will damage the character of the village. There are not enough local services to cope with this.

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

7) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

8) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

9) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

It would seem that GBC is taking no notice of the concerns of residents, and has not made any attempt to explain why it feels that re-drawing Green Belt boundaries is justified. We are therefore voicing our strong objection to the Local Plan, which does not solve the housing problem in a way that maintains the charm of our Surrey village.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Dear Sir/Madam

I would like to object to the proposal to change the Settlement Boundary so that it includes Fangate Manor, thereby removing Fangate Manor from the Green Belt. I am writing because of my concern relating to Green Belt and to Fangate Manor:

1. We OBJECT to the proposal to inset East Horsley from the Green Belt. The proposal to inset East Horsley from the Green Belt will be detrimental to the rural character of the village and should be dropped. The specific changes proposed are not justified under the National Planning Policy Framework rules.

2. We strongly oppose and OBJECT to the proposal to remove Fangate Manor from the Green Belt and include it within the Settlement Boundary. There are no exceptional Planning circumstances to justify removing Fangate Manor from the Green Belt, and changing the Settlement Boundary does not in any way enhance the defensible nature of the Settlement Boundary. It merely involves moving the boundary from one hedgerow to another, but leads to the loss of Green Belt and agricultural land.

3. There is an ERROR in the Land Availability Assessment dated February 2016, and we ask that GBC corrects this. There is a plan on page 299 that appears to show access to Fangate Manor from Manor Close. Manor Close is a private road, and access will not be granted. MCRA would oppose any change to the character of this very quiet road. The road and the verges are narrow and are not suited to any growth in traffic.

Please can you take my objection seriously as I find this to be very damaging to our local area.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

1. per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

While there is a need for additional affordable housing in the borough, selling full price houses in expensive areas where the average house price is £400k at a 20% discount to qualify as “affordable” is in reality not affordable to many first time buyers and key workers. A better strategy needs to be considered in this instance.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.
National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

If there was a need and local support for additional housing, there is an old disused farm on Portsmouth Road, closer to the village that is already for sale with an access road already there that could accommodate additional housing that would not be at risk of flooding, this would be a much better site in Ripley to build more housing, albeit only if school provision and doctor surgery provision was increased to accommodate the rise in housing.

I object to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable, and with existing businesses looking to expand in situ.

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time such as Polesden Lane. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

Ripley and Send schools are now also at full capacity and would require expansion or additional schools being built. There is also no secondary schooling available in Ripley, Send and Clandon without sizable commutes by car due to lack of bus service provisions.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

Furthermore, if Highways England had identified a need for an additional entrance / exit for the A3 near Ripley, they would compulsory purchase the land required to do so in the best location. They have not done this, nor identified Garlick’s Arch as a site to use.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development. There is also an existing industrial site just past the Shell garage that could be extended rather than creating a brand new industrial site in Ripley/ Send.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Large parts of Ripley and Send are in or next to flood zones, further building in the area would increase flood risks due to the reduction in run off areas and fields to absorb water.

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities and do not include infrastructure such as schools and doctors surgeries.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) are in unsustainable locations. They do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

My wife and I met while studying at Surrey University in Guildford. We moved away after university to Essex and then other parts of Surrey for several years before making the decision to move back near Guildford and Woking, settling in Ripley.

We made this decision because we love the area – why – because of its beauty and how rural everything is. Concreting over our countryside to satisfy some arbitrary housing figures would actually remove the reasons we decided to settle and start a family here!

We cannot continue building additional housing forever as it is simply NOT sustainable in the long term.

RESPONSE TO GUILDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL (GBC) DRAFT LOCAL PLAN 2014
I object to the proposals. The scale of development would put significant strain on local infrastructure and services and completely change the character of West Horsley. GBC’s plans to remove land from the Green Belt goes against national planning policy and prioritises ease of development over preserving the environment of the borough for future generations.

POLICY S2: BOROUGHWIDE
STRATEGY: Object
● No evidence is provided for the 13,860 new homes. The need for the proposed 533 extra homes in East and West Horsley seems to be down to the availability of landowners willing to sell their greenfield land for development rather than any consideration that West Horsley is the right place to build this number of homes.
● Brownfield sites must be developed first before any land is removed from the Green Belt.

POLICY P2: GREEN BELT AND THE COUNTRYSIDE: Object
● As our MP, Sir Paul Beresford was told by the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State (Planning) in his letter of 18 June 2014 in relation to the last draft local plan, “most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate and should be approved only in very special circumstances … unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt. … Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances.” Nothing central government has said since has done anything to alter this position. Unmet housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.
● The Green Belt is precious and must be protected for future generations.

POLICY I1: INFRASTRUCTURE AND DELIVERY: Object
● Developments at West and East Horsley and at Wisley Airfield will place considerable strain on already stretched infrastructure, including transport, education, medical services, parking and shops. Local school, childcare, medical and transport facilities are already overcrowded.
● The Draft plan does not provide enough detail on how further strains on resources will be met. No information is provided about how increases in traffic produced by these developments will be managed to protect the health of residents and their safety on the road.

POLICY 13: SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT FOR NEW DEVELOPMENTS: Object
● The developments in West Horsley will increase car use, which is contrary to sustainable transport policies.

In conclusion, I object to the removal of land from the Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances presented to justify this. Development in West Horsley will completely change the character of the village and put more strain on already stretched local infrastructure.

SITES IN EAST AND WEST HORSLEY: Object

● No details are given for the infrastructure planned to deal with this number of new homes.
● The density of new housing proposed is greater than anywhere locally.
● The plan presents no argument or exceptional circumstances for extension of settlement areas into the green belt.

● Proposed developments at West and East Horsley, Wisley Airfield and elsewhere in the borough will place considerable strain on already stretched infrastructure, including transport, education, medical services, parking and shops. The housing increase proposed is not sustainable. All options (including compulsory purchase) should be used to develop brownfield sites before any land is removed from the Green Belt.

● No exceptional circumstances exist which warrant removal of land from the Green Belt. Unmet housing need is not an “exceptional circumstance”.
● Socalled “insetting” of villages from the green belt is simply removal of more land from the green belt. GBC has a duty to use plain English to describe their proposals rather than hiding behind unclear language.
● The Draft plan seems to priorities development on the Green Belt over brownfield sites in meeting future housing need.
The Green Belt land is a precious asset and its loss is irreversible. It is our collective responsibility to protect it for future generations.

● Guildford Borough Council does not say whether the number of homes they want built is more, less or the same as this figure. A housing target is needed for residents of the borough to take a considered view about the proposals.
● Increasing the size of West Horsley as proposed will change the character of the village and put significant strain on local infrastructure.

I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn. The available road infrastructure simply cannot support it. Tannery Lane is far too narrow to take any substantial traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. I object to the proposed industrial site at Garlick’s Arch. There is no need for such a site. The Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 shows a reduction in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If the Council truly believes there is a need for such a large amount of industrial space it should be located at the current Slyfield site.

My son, Luke Botha, age 8 would also like to raise his objection I relation to the proposed development at Garlic arch. As a resident of the area and as the future of our country I think the children should be listened to. They see things simply and as they are and without political bias or financial motivation.

“I think it is a bad idea to build houses and factories at Garlic Arch, because you will chop all the trees down and the air will become more polluted for the people living here. There will also be lots more cars and trucks and they will make lots of pollution too. I think it is a stupid idea because all the trees and bushes will be destroyed and all the animals and birds that live there will die. I don’t think it will be a good place to live because it will be really noisy and dirty living next to the A3. I think the roads are too busy and it isn’t safe for the children to cross the road, like at the school. (Send First school)” – Luke Botha, age 8

I object to the proposed interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common. The interchange will cause the A247 to become a through-road between Woking and the M25. Send is building a new primary school on that particular stretch of the A247. Creating the new interchange, together with the additional school traffic, will cause immediate and virtually permanent gridlock on the A247, which would severely damage village life.

I object to the fact that this site was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously. Full consultation is required.

This interchange will result in significantly increased traffic volume on Send Barns Lane and Send Road as it is the only route from Burnt common to Woking.

I work on the Send Road and am held up in significant and lengthy delays on a very regular basis while travelling a very short distance along Send Road. Crossing this road is already a dangerous action to undertake as cars drive far too quickly down this road and traffic volumes are very high. Cars are parked on the sides of the road making it very narrow and it is virtually impossible to see pedestrians, particularly children, as they emerge from between the cars to cross the road.

Parking is already a problem with cars parking on the pavement in an attempt to avoid blocking the road and to allow two way traffic at all points. This results in people with babies in push chairs having to walk on the raid in the traffic to pass the cars. There are also blind residents in Send who rely on guide dogs who are equally impacted.

Traffic coming off the A3 already drives too fast down Send Barns Lane. The council have only just approved the building of new buildings to accommodate the pupils form St Bede’s on the Send First site. This planning permission did not allow for the additional parking needs that will arise from the increased pupil numbers. There will be many cars parked on Send Barns Lane and many children crossing this road where NO crossing facilities exist. The proposed interchange will bring greater volumes of high speed traffic past the school. This will place the lives of the children and Parents of Send at risk. No interchange is worth the life of a child!

I object in the strongest possible terms to the removal of Send from Green Belt status and to the proposals to build on the Green Belt fields at Gosden Hill, Garlick’s Arch, Send Hill and Clockbarn Nurseries, particularly Sites A25, A35, A42, A44 and A43. NPPF states that the Green Belt should only be altered in “exceptional circumstances.” There simply are no eligible exceptional circumstances expressed in the Local Plan or supporting documents. Guildford’s urban brownfield areas must be identified and utilised instead, not only to protect our countryside but also to limit the impact on road traffic yet provide much-needed access for new housing to transport links such as the rail network.

I object to the approach to consultation that the Council is taking. The Council withdrew the 2014 draft Local Plan following an outcry from residents. During its re-drafting, instead of arriving at a sensible alternative the Council has changed every major site in Send and added a massive new road junction. It beggars belief that the Council could on one hand state that they listened to residents, whilst on the other hand increase the planned housing levels in the village. Either way, the proposed changes are significant and therefore require another full consultation under Regulation 18, not the short-cut of Regulation 19 which the Council is using.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the exaggerated housing need figure in the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment on which the Draft Local Plan is based. The Council has declined to provide any objective evidence to substantiate the projected housing numbers, which in my view is far in excess of reality. In particular, I believe the calculation of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate the housing need. Furthermore, the housing number is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards.

I object to the fact that the impact on infrastructure has not been considered sufficiently. Current infrastructure is utterly inadequate to deal with proposed new housing levels. Roads, doctors and schools will be unable to cope. Yet no tangible resolution has been proposed.

I regularly cycle in and around the villages of Send, Ripley, I object to the development of the 400 houses at Galick’s Arch. It was included in the Local Plan at the last possible moment, with no prior local consultation It is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

I also object to the development of the 400 houses at Galick’s Arch on the basis that the site is liable to severe flooding. The ancient woodland is a particularly sensitive area that must not be disrupted in any way.

I object to the fact that this site was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously. Full consultation is required.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to oppose The Guildford’s proposed Local plans: strategies and sites June 2016. I have lived in West Horsley for over a decade and I am strongly against the plans to change the nature of the village and the surrounding countryside. The National Planning Policy Framework states that any new residential development should be in keeping with the current character and density of housing in the area. This plan does not meet that criteria and it also does not make allowances for how the current infrastructure and local facilities will be able to cope with all the additional people moving into the area.

My specific concerns include:

Education
Currently both the Raleigh and Howard of Effingham schools are full. Local children should be able to go to their local school and not have to travel outside of the village.

Housing Density and the results of this
The infrastructure will not be able to cope with the proposed additional number of houses. There are already issues with drainage when we have heavy rain and Thames Water has advised your council that the current wastewater network will not be able to support the proposed housing developments. Congestion and increase of traffic on roads is also a major concern and will not be helped by children having to travel to school outside of the local area because of the aforementioned issue with over subscribed schools.

Green Belt
I refer again to the point re: changing the whole character of the village which would happen if this plan goes ahead. The National Planning Policy Framework says any change of Green Belt boundaries should demonstrate exceptional circumstances. The law does not state that unmet housing need is an exceptional circumstance. Therefore, the Green Belt boundaries should not be altered. This development would cause irreparable damage to the Horsleys and the surrounding villages and is completely unacceptable. It would be much better to use brownfield sites before destroying the beautiful countryside in the green belt that makes the villages here what they are.

I strongly oppose the Local plan and do not believe that you are complying with the NPFF. Given the overwhelming feeling of local people against this plan I hope you will not seek fit to implement it.

I want to object to the Draft Local Plan (refs A36, A39, 90, 353, 2177, A37, A38, A40, A41, 2292, 350, 1219, 1275, A35, ) affecting the Horsleys on the following grounds:

- Traffic and Parking - our streets are already congested. It is very difficult to park at the Parades on Ockham Road and due to the sheer volume of cars, it is often difficult to see people crossing the road with the consequential accident risk this has. Adding to this pressure and risk with more households which bring at least 2 cars per household on average is simply nonsensical given the potential accident dangers that could follow;

- Pollution - the large increase in the volume of traffic will cause an increase in pollution levels which is already a concern in our area.

- Flooding - the area already suffers from flooding and building in this area will only exacerbate the situation. The soil and drains already cannot cope.

- Schools - local schools are already at capacity. Where will the children of incoming families go to school? Even if the schools were to be expanded, or new schools built, the standard of education for which the area is known will suffer adversely which will ultimately impact the desirability of the area for families. Hence, the development will not lead to families residing the area if the schools are not up to scratch, and therefore the development will not achieve what it set out to.

- Medical facilities - similar point to schools.

- Transport - road and rail links are already busy, if not congested. Our transport infrastructure will be under enormous strain by increasing the numbers of users with the result that there will be failures, poor service, misery for those that travel and ultimately, make this area unattactive for people to move to. Hence, the development will not achieve what it set out to do.
- Green belt land - developing on our countryside will slowly erode the beauty of Britain. There is a reason why Britain is so attractive to live in and this is in part due to the countryside we have here. To build in our countryside will only destroy this beauty and ultimately, make our country and in particular, this part of the country, unattractive.

I object to removal of Brownfield site (A34) from the Plan
Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I continue to object to the development of the Wisley Airfield site including the amendments in the planning appeal. It is ludicrous to require objections to the amendments when there is nothing about the development of this site that is appropriate. The local roads as well as the major roads are a capacity already and it only takes one accident to bring everything for miles to a standstill. The public transport in the area is not adequate nor can it be made to be adequate. RHS Wisley is increasing its visitor attraction and the resulting increase in traffic has not been taken into account. I also object to the fact that the council doesn’t appear to be taking any of the objections previously lodged into account.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan
Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

The inclusion of site A58 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch
GBC’s own reasons for including Garlick’s Arch A43 in the 2016 version were

- The site [A43] location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm,... (site allocation A25) [ than the Burnt Common site did ]”
- The site [A43] provides the employment floorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs”

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) the separation issue is clearly being ignored as BOTH sites (which are almost contiguous) are in the plan; therefore GBC are not following their own guidelines and objectives.

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) more than the “required” industrial space is available there, so there is no reason for Garlick’s Arch to be included.

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)
The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

10. I object to the increase in housing proposed in Tannery Lane (site A42)
This has been increased by a third since the 2016 version of the Plan. This will have a significant impact on the already highly congested local rural road network around Send. This is in contradiction to section 2.14a of the Plan which states "Whilst most local roads are single carriageway, with a lane in each direction, it is at their junctions that the free flow of traffic is most often impeded during peak periods, in some cases resulting in significant delays.” And yet there is no proposals to improve the local roads, only to add more junctions with the A3, thereby increasing congestion on the Trunk and Local road network.

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:

i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and

ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix D: Evidence base
1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement - often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick's Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

<th>1. POLICY H3</th>

<td>I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.</td>
</tr>
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related”. Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I have been a resident in West Clandon for almost 30 years and in the past Guildford Borough Council has listened to the views of the local people. I am appalled that this process is seemingly being overturned with regard to the Local Plan and our opinions not taken into account. How can you ignore the views of many thousands of people who strongly object to these plans?

This is not YOUR town, it is OUR town! You, no doubt like us, moved to this area because we love the fact we have a wonderful town in the Surrey countryside. We have some of the best landscape in the south of England, protected by Green Belt policies which were put in place decades ago to safeguard this lovely area for not just us, but our children, and our children’s children and for generations to come.

You have no right to start chipping away at these Green Belt boundaries – boundaries that you have repeatedly enforced in your decisions to prohibit planning applications in the Green Belt. You are guilty of breaching your own policies by simply re-drawing boundaries to suit housing purposes.

You are the guardians of our town and countryside, you are the elected protectors of this legacy. You should feel ashamed if you, by one swipe of a pen, start taking away our protection that was so passionately put in place for the whole of England to come and enjoy.

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I object to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

1. POLICY P4

I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework.
Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.
The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsustainable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a plan that fails to propose a target number. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.
This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

24.A. Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites is based on up-to-date evidence. The evidence base documents contributing to the preparation of the plan are listed in Appendix D and can be found on our website (links open in a new window).
Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

ANSWER

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.
Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of ”About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.
1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

17. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

18. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

19. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

20. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

21. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

22. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

23. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

24. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

25. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

This is an excessive development, there is already significant traffic issues through Send, the road infrastructure in Send will be unable to cope with inevitable increased traffic. This is a wholesale destruction of the Green Belt in clear contravention of the Government’s stated commitment for Green Belt protection. This principle will also allow for the presumed further development of other Green Belt areas locally.

The development of Homes should be shared around the borough, not so focused around Ripley and Send.

This is designated Green Belt and should not be developed, the woodland is one of the few areas left, that we can walk through and enjoy the Surrey Countryside locally.

Anecdotal evidence suggests this site has previously been a landfill site and not suited to the proposed development.

I strongly object to the implementation of the GBC local plan.

There is NO Plan, that recognizes the existing borough’s settlement patterns, existing business or existing infrastructure. This plan does not create a good blueprint for the future by provides for an economic, social, and environmentally sustainable plan for the future of the borough.

This is a short term plan with an eye fully focussed on the government subsidies to be gained from new homes bonuses from central government and CIL and section 106, it does not plan for the borough in a way our children and our children’s children will thank us for accepting.

villages and Major Previously developed Sites, sustainable Transport for new development

West Horsley is one village and always has been, its not west Horsley south and west Horsley North, where did you get this from? Settlement boundaries exist and do not need to be extended you give no good reasons for this and no exceptional circumstances have been presented. West Horsley only has one small shop, no post office, limited bus service during weekdays only

Homes For all/ Affordable Homes

We don’t have the roads/parking for this increase in traffic, the school is already full to brimming. There is no evidence that we need this many new homes, our own west Horsley survey showed we need 20 properties for local people who want to remain in village (downsizes/ young people). 434 homes in 3 greenbelt sites at much higher densities than currently exist would be totally out of character with existing mix.

green Belt, surrey Hills AONB

I am opposed to you removing the green belt in east and west Horsley. Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-31 doesn’t make any case for siting large numbers of homes in west and east Horsley

WEST HORSLEY,

And generally
At the train station, the car park is already full quite often, where would the extra commuters park? Potentially 1200 extra cars in the village? No way.

The drains on Ockham Road North often get blocked, and back up, there are major problems and another 604 homes in the villages will lead to major problems. The drains have a lot of broken bricks in them I have heard and cannot take any more capacity.

All the traffic stopping at Glensk School is a proven bottleneck in the morning. The private schools already generate far too much additional traffic through the village first thing and last thing, building all these extra homes will make it gridlock in the mornings and afternoons.

The Raleigh School is full in Northcote Crescent, and doesn’t have room for any more classrooms or kids. Any more cars going down there for drop off would cause gridlock.

At The Medical Centre East Horsley, parking is already impossible and almost as hard as getting an appointment, it can’t take any more patients in my view and the small road to it cannot take any more cars.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development." However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as well as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3 100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3).
I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

The proposed development at Gosden Hill Farm will also impact Ancient Woodland.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.
The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income. And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy II requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development." However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as well as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.
Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages.

In particular I object the proposed changes to the settlement boundaries for East and West Clandon.

Neither the residents nor the Parish Councils have been consulted on this and we do not wish our boundaries to be altered.

I also object to proposed infilling. A visit to Hook Heath in Woking demonstrates how a village is turned into a crowded estate very quickly once infilling is allowed.

We wish to keep the rural nature of our villages and infilling, together with proposed development of Gosden Hill Farm, will simply create merged suburbs of the rapidly extending Guildford Urban Area.

Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.
In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I remind you of Guildford Borough Council’s submission to Parliament:

“This Guildford Borough Council supports the fundamental principles of the Green Belt, as set out in PPG2: Green Belts (1995). They are:

1. to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas;
2. to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another;
3. to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment;
4. to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and
5. to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.”

The proposed development of the ‘strategic sites’ in this draft Local Plan goes completely against the Council’s own stated policy.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds.

Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.
This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere;
Unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data.

There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper account of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I would remind you that in 2009 Guildford Borough Council successfully challenged the Government’s South East Plan (SEP) to build 422 homes a year – 100 more than initially recommended by the South East England Regional Assembly – so the figure should be 322 homes a year.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant. The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.
1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.
I have lived in West Clandon for 30 years and in Surrey nearly all my life.

For a large part of that time Guildford Borough Council (GBC) has understood and supported the wishes of its electorate to retain the heritage and natural character of this beautiful part of the Surrey Hills.

Indeed in 2009 GBC successfully challenged the Government’s South East Plan (SEP) to build 422 homes a year – 100 more than initially recommended by the South East England Regional Assembly – led by the Leader of the Council and the Head of Planning.

However, the same Council’s draft Plan of 2014, went completely against this precedent, proposing wholesale destruction of the Green Belt with development and claiming that more than double the number of homes previously rejected as being too many should be built in the Borough.

As the people who pay for the Council’s personnel and services to look after our best interests the overwhelming majority of ratepayers were appalled and said so in the so called ‘consultation’ for that draft Plan.

Of some 22,000 responses the vast majority were objections against the draft Plan and specifically against building on the Green Belt.

So what had changed? The Leader of the Council had changed, and with it, apparently, the entire policy towards development in the Guildford Borough.

With the architect of the draft Plan, appointed by that Leader, discovered to be a fraud and forger, and with so many objections, the draft Plan was withdrawn for reconsideration.

In the face of a new political force – the Guildford Greenbelt Group – those seeking election from the Conservative Party assured residents ‘Conservatives Say the Green Belt to Stay’, as printed on countless pamphlets.

It was with this reassurance that today’s Conservative Councillors were elected, THEY WERE NOT ELECTED WITH A MANDATE TO BUILD MASSIVE DEVELOPMENTS OVER FIELDS AND GREEN BELT.

Now the new draft Local Plan has been published but, far from reducing green field development, it INCREASES the numbers of houses planned for green field development!

So, Guildford Borough Council has ignored the consultation process for this latest draft Plan, and the Councillors who voted for it to go to consultation have demonstrated that they gained election on a falsehood.
Guildford Borough Council DOES NOT HAVE A MANDATE FOR THE POLICIES AND SITES IN THIS 2016 DRAFT PLAN AS THEY WERE REJECTED IN THE CONSULTATION FOR THE 2014 DRAFT PLAN, AND ITS COUNCILLORS WERE ELECTED ON THEIR FALSE PROMISES.

I quote from Guildford Borough Council’s own memorandum to Parliament (see: http://www.publications.parliament.uk/pa/cm200910/cmselect/cmseast/memo/housing/ucm3102.htm)

“5.1 Guildford Borough Council supports the fundamental principles of the Green Belt, as set out in PPG2: Green Belts (1995). They are:

? to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas;

? to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another;

? to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment;

? to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and

? to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

5.2 The Council does not believe that the protection of this designation for the purposes above can be linked to an increase in HMOs. As discussed, the cause of the increase in HMOs relates to many social and economic trends and policies which need to be addressed to attempt to reduce the number of HMOs. Equally, the occupants of HMOs tend to be young, single, transient people who wish to locate in town centres, close to jobs, services and public transport. A rural location would not be preferable for such a use.”

The Council should be supporting this policy.

The current draft of the Guildford Local Plan is without support from the residents it is meant to be for (not those the Council seems to believe it is for – developers), it is unsustainable, deeply flawed, particularly in its evidence base and non transparent SHMA, and is not sound.

My objections are laid out below. Many of these are shared with others, nevertheless they represent my views and I would like my objections registered as responses to each policy and site indicated to go before the Inspector.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”

5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

1. Green Belt, Policy 2, paragraph 4.3.15

The Policy 2, paragraph 4.3.15 changes are clearly intended to provide the option in future to approve further development in and around the existing business park and I object to the proposal, to remove Send Business Park from the Green Belt in its entirety, for the reasons specified below.

1. The business park is already a non-confirming user in an area of outstanding beauty and natural amenity which runs alongside an area of the Wey Navigation rich in wild life. The proposed changes in Policy 2, paragraph 4.3.15 would remove the protection that the surrounding natural area is afforded by the current designation.

2. Tannery Lane which is the only access road for the business park would be unable to cope with even a small increase in traffic irrespective of that being an increase in number of daily vehicles using the road or in the number of industrial vehicles using the road. The road is width restricted in both directions for the majority of its length being single vehicle width and not suitable for the majority of its length for even smaller industrial vehicles to pass each other. The lane

3. The main access point into Tannery Lane is close to recreation area very well used by local children and an increase in vehicles using this area to access Tanner Lane would present a danger to the users of the area in particular children.

In conclusion I object to the proposed local plan and consider it to be unfit for purpose. The changes contained in the current draft which are impacting Ripley, Send Marsh and Send disproportionately, have been poorly thought out in terms of impact on critical factors such as flood control, traffic and local infrastructure, natural habitat damage and reduction in access to natural amenities for the population and critically have failed to provide an ‘exceptional circumstances’ justification for the removal of Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Policy A43

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlics Arch with particular reference to the specific points listed below.

Given the area is classified as Green Belt the A43 changes fail to demonstrate that an ‘exceptional circumstance’ exists which would justify development of this scale on a Green Belt site.

The increased development proposed under the A43 changes exacerbates the disproportionate size of the development in respect of both locality and the contribution to the overall target for new development in the wider Borough being assigned to the area. The number of homes now being proposed for the site represents over-development of the Send Marsh area and would result in the joining up of the villages of Ripley and Send which is fundamentally against ‘Green Belt’ principals.

The land represented in the A43 changes provides a valuable natural flood control in an area that already struggles with a high water table and periods of flooding in winter despite the installation of extensive flood control channels. The proposal to replace this natural area of flood defence with housing on the scale proposed in the A43 changes would further exacerbate flooding in the wider area to the detriment of the local residences and infrastructure and as such is at best a misguided proposal and at worst an irresponsible one.

The local road infrastructure is inadequate to cope with the demand of existing traffic further development as proposed in the A43 changes will overload the existing road systems to the point of gridlock and result in increased pollution exposure for the villages of Ripley, Send Marsh and Send.

I object to the Policy change A58 at Burnt Common with particular reference to the specific point listed below.

1. Policy A58

I object to the Policy change A58 at Burnt Common with particular reference to the specific point listed below.
1. The proposal for the allocation of industrial of warehousing space at Burnt Common was deleted from the 2014 draft as a result of the level of local objection and the A58 changes fails to demonstrate that the re-instatement is justified.
2. The change in A58 wording from ‘maximum’ to ‘minimum’ allocation of industrial or warehousing space is misaligned with the overall decline in demand for industrial land, as evidenced by the fact that the existing and well established industrial and warehousing sites at Slyfield and Guildford remain under-utilised.
3. The 10 hectares of industrial and warehouse space being proposed for Send in the A58 changes is contraindicated by the reduction in demand for land allocated for this purpose published in the 2017 ‘Employment Land Needs’ assessment which showed only 3.9 hectares worth of demand for the entirety of the Guildford Borough. The A58 changes also represent an unjustifiable over allocation of industrial and warehouse land usage into one single Parish.
4. The local road infrastructure is inadequate to cope with the demand of existing heavy goods traffic and the further development as proposed in the A58 changes will overload the existing road systems to the point of gridlock, increase the traffic hazards that local Schools and GP practices already struggle with and result in increased pollution exposure for the villages of Ripley, Send Marsh and Send.

Dear Sir / Madam

Re: Local Plan Objections

1. I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford
2. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick's Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.
3. I object to the exaggerated "housing need" figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated inflates the housing need.
4. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford's urban brownfield areas much closer to existing transport hubs.
5. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because it would be disastrous for Send and the (A247) would be gridlocked all day.
6. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and shows there will be congestion because Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.
7. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

8. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

1. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

2. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because the site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient Trees which existed in the 16th century would be endangered. The site is also subject to flooding.

3. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more.

1. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

2. I object to the large proposed development at of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

3. I object to the fact that infrastructure requirements have not been properly considered and are inadequate to deal with proposed housing Roads, doctors and schools will be unable to cope.

4. I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

5. I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

I am writing to object to the following changes to the local planning proposal for the following reasons.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane Policy A42

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because you have increased the number of houses by 33% which is too much and ignores the hundreds of previous objections made by local people. If this goes ahead it will cause traffic problems in Tannery Lane and worsen the problems at the A247 junction, erode the Green belt in the village and worsen surface water flooding.

Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because there is highly restricted vehicular access along Tanner Lane in both directions, further expansion or development at this location detract from the openness of the Green Belt and will ruin an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation.

POLICY I1

The density of housing proposed cannot be supported by the existing infrastructure, and no provision has been made for the increased pressure on services. In particular the schools which are already over subscribed, and medical provision which can barely accommodate the existing population.

It is regarded as a necessity for households in rural areas to have two cars, more so in an area with a limited public transport provision, the resulting increase in traffic would place an unreasonable burden on narrow country roads, and exacerbate existing problems experienced by residents. The area is promoted as a location for the increasingly popular activity of cycling, which already causes frustration to current residents trying to go about their business.

New development is required to respect the character and density of housing in the area, and be limited by the availability if infrastructure and local facilities, the plan fails to do so.

I object to the methodology of drawing up the plan. Guildford Borough employs consultants who allegedly have planning expertise but have done so without taking account of Surrey County Council highway planners' views, or the costs involved in improving the infrastructure, currently out side their financial capability.

The methodology is also flawed as this plan has been formulated without regard to village Neighbourhood plans. Surely, logic would suggest planning is best formed by a bottom up approach, not top down.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan as it has had no regard to schools required, additional medical or hospital facilities which would make a plan sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have read the plan, and am in general in favour. We also had the privilege of visiting the open day at the Council offices this past Saturday for a very constructive discussion.

In particular, the need for a greatly increased number of affordable housing, and maintaining affordable housing for the future, I see as very important. It is clear that the greatly needed increase in housing needs can only be met by building large scale developments which will also allow the Council to apply infrastructure demands on the developer.

I am in favour of development of the Wisley site - which I know well - and I have long thought it an obvious site for large scale development. Clearly, developments of this scale have large infrastructure needs in particular the A3 and increased bus and rail links. I support these proposals in the plan.

I don't see any plans to reduce car journeys, especially in the town centre, and would favour an increase in parking fees in the town centre, and reduced or no fees on the Park and Ride scheme, and am also in favour of congestion charging. Although I do understand that this is probably politically rather difficult.

All power to you for the plan development; 'keep the faith' and execute well. I will be writing to my MP (Anne Milton MP) to ask for her support for the A3 infrastructure development.

Thanks for the hard work so far.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I especially object to the proposed new building on the areas around Send and Ripley, not least the very recently added proposals for Garlick’s Arch and the new interchange at Burnt Common which do not appear to have had previous consultation. As made clear by many local residents in several consultations, the whole area has very constrained road infrastructure and limited local facilities. Several local lanes are already used as cut-throughs/rat runs both for cars and HGVs despite in many cases being only a single vehicle in width. And most simply cannot be widened. So simply building a large number of new houses without at the same time planning the whole infrastructure is frankly naïve and will only exacerbate existing problems. And in any case, I can find no mention anywhere in the Plan as to how it is proposed to ensure that such houses would indeed be affordable or how existing local residents would be given priority access. Without any such plan, the result would merely drive up the local population at a time when resources such as schools and healthcare are already overstretched.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I wish to register my opposition to the Local Plan.

In general I object to the proposed severe reduction in the Green Belt. This is not justified by the Plan, which includes highly dubious claims about housing needs but which, even if true, could be fully met using existing brownfield areas in and around Guildford which would in any case be much closer to existing facilities and infrastructure. And there is also a significant amount of land supposedly belonging to the University which does not appear to be considered for development, even for student accommodation. To attack the Green Belt now would destroy forever a valuable and attractive rural landscape which also supports essential wildlife and local recreational activity.

As a general observation, I and everyone I have spoken to feel seriously let down by Guildford Borough Council. Rather than serve the local population which has elected them, this Plan seems to have been developed without any mandate or declared manifesto and rides roughshod over local residents’ views and needs. And the fact that the video of ‘local people’ on your website is almost entirely limited to those with a political or commercial vested interest is a clear indication of GBC’s priorities.

Dear Planning Committee

Whilst we completely relate to and understand the dilemma the Borough finds itself in particularly regarding the housing shortage, we strongly object to Send no longer being part of the green belt. We bought in this area because it was green belt and we could enjoy semi rural living and escape the busyness of the Towns and Cities. We cannot possibly understand how it can be justified building near the Wisley interchange, in close proximity to Send, which is already so horribly congested and when there is an accident it is mayhem on the A3, North and South bound routes. Not to mention Ripley high street being used as the diversion route to avoid accidents and rejoin the A3 just before Wisley.

All the wildlife - deer, foxes, rabbits etc - surely these animals need to be protected in all the wooded areas.

We are concerned that all the beautiful oak and other trees will also be cut down to create open spaces, completely destroying the current beautiful Surrey landscape, making it look like a concrete jungle.
We can agree to some increased housing but the scale being proposed is beyond what the existing infrastructure can manage, and any future changes to the infrastructure we believe will be insufficient to manage all the new housing.

Please do not destroy our greenbelt areas in Surrey, surely there are enough derelict brown sites standing empty that can be rejuvenated to cope with affordable housing opportunities and by doing so clean up and improve many ugly areas around Surrey.

Thank you.

There is already significant traffic issues through Send, the road infrastructure in Send will be unable to cope with increased traffic

This is designated Green Belt and should not be developed, especially with so many Homes

We have concerns about the impact such a large industrial development will have, especially HGV traffic and light pollution

Anecdotal evidence suggests this site has previously been a landfill site and not suited to the proposed development.(reference Policy A44 on pages 124 and 225)

I am writing to express my grave concern about the proposed plans for development and removal of the Horsleys from the Green Belt.

My major concerns and objections are as follows:

1) The residents of West Horsley are totally opposed to the village's removal from the Green Belt.

2) West Horsley's Defined Settlement Area boundaries do not need to be extended at any point and no “exceptional circumstances” or justification for insetting these Areas from the Green Belt have been evident.

3) No sound reasons have been given for the proposed changes, which seem to be solely aimed at increasing land available within the settlements for future additional development.

4) The local infrastructure is already in overload. The local schools are full, medical facilities are stretched, the drainage is woefully inadequate and the traffic is already at high levels with roads in a dreadful state of repair.

5) The density of housing in the proposed development sites is several times more than the density of present dwellings.

6) Brownfield sites are not being developed ahead of these proposed new sites.

7) 2 versions of the Greenbelt Purposes Assessment were produced, in February 2013 and April 2014. Between the 2 versions, the score for contribution to the greenbelt was reduced for all sites in West Horsley without any explanation as to why. This seems a deliberate manipulation to the scores in order to downgrade to a low Green Belt sensitivity.

Please consider the above comments before the consultation period ends.

1) I object to the proposed changes of the settlement boundaries of the Horsleys into the Green Belt

2) I object to the proposed removal of the extended village areas from the Green Belt

3) I object to the proposed large housing development sites given that other avenues have not been considered and the local infrastructure cannot support these sites.
4) I feel that it is wholly unacceptable for Guildford Borough Council not to be protecting the Green Belt and putting short term gain before it's preservation for future generations.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Services

Horsley's services are at breaking point already. Getting a prompt appointment at our medical centre can be difficult and their drop-in clinics always seem to be oversubscribed. The village primary school is oversubscribed, with many village children having to travel to other villages already. The proposed number of new houses/residents will have a knock on effect for the Howard of Effingham secondary school which has outgrown its current sight and plans to expand it seem to be being blocked. Such a huge number of new residents cannot be sustained without significant investment in these and other local services.

Infrastructure

Our roads are in an appalling condition already. I have young children and like to walk around the village with a pushchair as much as possible. This is already a hazardous occupation as the pavements are so narrow and letting my children walk, scoot or ride bikes is out of the question in some parts of the village. More people on our roads and pavements will be dangerous and cause accidents.

Whilst parking at our local conveniences is currently adequate, with more local residents this would become a problem.

I understand that you have been advised by Thames Water that our waste water drainage system is already under strain and this can be seen each time we have heavy rainfall. Localised flooding is common as the drainage system is not able to cope.

Huge investment is already required in these areas, before even small housing developments can possibly be considered.

Pollution

My husband and I moved to West Horsley from London in order to escape the pollution levels, we specifically chose a small village for this reason. I object to this small village being turned into a town, being taken out of the Green Belt, and the levels of pollution which would thus ensue

Green Belt

West Horsley is situated within the Green Belt and on the edge of the Surrey Hills, a Site of Special Scientific Interest. Taking the village out of the Green Belt, and building such a huge number of houses, both in Horsley and Wisley Airfield, will have an enormous impact on these delicate areas. The increase in the number of people and in particular dog walkers and horse riders, using the SSSI will have an enormous negative impact on such a special environment.

Number of New Houses Proposed

Whilst we must all take our fair share of new housing to meet the current demand, the number proposed for West Horsley seems vastly out of proportion when the size of the village is considered. I understand that it will be a 35% increase in the number of homes in our small village. This is not sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

There is no way that our already overstretched infrastructure can support the additional population the proposed development will bring in. The roads in the area have not been maintained in recent years and would not support the another in flux of thousands of new vehicles not to mention the destruction caused by heavy goods traffic. Developers traffic has already damaged many of the roads locally.

Schools and medical facilities are already close to breaking point. How are they expected to support a potential 30-40% increase in demand.

I have lived in this village for most of my life. I have watch the village expand slowly. I believe that the huge amount of the proposed development that is planned for this area will decimate this village.

I oppose the removal of the Horsley’s from within greenbelt. The local plan is potentially vague and duplicitous there appears to be very little boundary to the level of development that could happen here. For example, I note that the few shops a centre of the village is designated as a district centre. Horsley is not district it is a village, not only does this suggest that Little attention has being paid to the nature of our community but I also understand it opens the door to further urbanisation and development. I am opposed to the reclassification of this area.

The proposal for building houses within only very few miles of this community, at Wisley airfield, Garlick’s arch, burnt common and Gosden Farm is appalling. This would eradicate all semblance of village life and potentially merge all local villages into Guildford and create a sprawling mass of unaffordable housing.

There is no denying that housing is sorely needed in this country but it needs to be planned carefully with all of the needs of existing and future communities taking into account. There is nothing to suggest that any of this has been considered in the current plan. There is a general lack of transparency there is language used that is vague an ambiguous. There is no explanation for why developers need to build only on virgin Green Field sites besides the obvious one that it’s much cheaper for them to do so. There is little to suggest that any of the housing will be affordable. There is very little to suggest that any new investment will be found to create an infrastructure that would support the huge increase in population and traffic. There is very little to suggest that any of this development Will benefit anyone except those investing the development. As I understand development in Wisley is being operated by an overseas company, so even the profits made from such rash development would not find their way to help the people of this country.
I appreciate you taking the time to read this letter. It serves as my complete opposition to the new local plan. I hope that you consider the points I’ve raised as this is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity there is no turning back once this beautiful countryside has been destroyed it cannot be returned. Please do not continue with this Plan.

I am a homeowner in West Horsley and concerned on the potential impact to our village adding in a further 385 homes, some 35% increase on the current housing stock. I fully appreciate we live in the south east of England and further housing is needed but surely a more balanced approach with consideration to the existing infrastructure/services and built environment of the village is required before the Horsley’s become part of the urban sprawl along the A246.

One of my biggest concerns is that of impact on local essential facilities such as schools, doctors, shops of which there is limited detail. My son has only by the skin of his teeth got a place at the local state school which is a joke being less than a mile away. If all the new homes were built I doubt this would have happened which is ridiculous for a small village. Getting appointments at the doctors is very difficult at short notice and there is no provision for improvement of the current medical facilities. Infrastructure is already poor and congestion would dangerously increase and be a hazard for all users – the pavement provision is very poor and I often have to walk in the road with my two children in our pushchair.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I am totally opposed to the village’s removal from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area Boundaries. This seems madness for ecological reasons and also will change the face of the village for ever. The defined Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) do not need to be further extended. Over development will destroy the character of the area and deter what recreational visitors we have left (cyclists and walkers). Also the Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031, makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in East and West Horsley or indeed the neighbouring villages.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Policy S2 plans for 13,800 new homes in Guildford’s villages. This is massively too high and unsustainable. West Horsley has barely any services and a 22-25 minute walk from the station with a infrequent local bus. How on earth this can be deemed suitable for a 35% increase in housing stock surely cannot be truthfully justified? Policy i3 lacks any substance in this regard and is in commercial reality unlikely to be improved so therefore a major flaw.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Letter objecting to the proposed submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016

I want to voice my objection to the proposed 385 new homes being built in West Horsley in the Guildford development plan. For the village this would mean a 35% increase on the current housing number of 1,111. This is a small village, which does not have the capacity to accommodate an additional 700 cars, another 2000 people all who need healthcare, and schooling and infrastructure to support this level of immigration. As the proposed plan is to build these by 2022, this will radically alter the village and it is unsustainable. This proposal in isolation might not be too bad if we didn't take into account the additional 2000 houses proposed at the Wisley site, which was refused in 2016 by the planning office, the 148 houses proposed for East Horsley, and the large development of 2000 houses just down the road at Gosden farm in Burpham. What you are proposing to do is a travesty; Surrey will no longer be the green belt area it used to be if this plan is allowed to go ahead.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Just because the villages in Surrey have relatively good transport links to London does not mean they should now try to support significantly more people than the infrastructure can handle, at the end of the day we know this is about making money and not about providing affordable housing for the youngsters of tomorrow. Do we want to live in a country like the USA where the ecological consequences of low-density suburban living are becoming more obvious year on year (The House of commons briefing paper Number 00934, 5 January 2016) Tristan Hunt stated that economic factors are significantly depleted by uncontrolled urban sprawl and really is this the legacy we want to give to Surrey in the future?

The Raleigh school has just posted a letter through my door stating that they wish to move to a Greenfield site on East lane, replacing the existing school so that housing can replace the old site. Currently I live adjacent to this school, it is currently a great school on a nice plot that has access to open areas for children to play at break time, and Weston Lea for sports days etc. If this proposed plan goes ahead it will mean the selling off of Weston Lea, so no school sports day facilities, and the site proposed for the new school would mean the whole of East lane would be blocked to traffic during school pick up and drop off times, just like Glenesk school, rendering the whole village a no go zone for all concerned. At least currently it’s only outside of my house on Northcote Crescent that is a real burden on the community. It is true that the school is at capacity and has been for many years, the plan mentions providing additional classes each year to accommodate the influx of pupils by the new housing developments, which the current school cannot accommodate in its current state. If the new houses were given planning permission it would impact both the Raleigh and the Howard of Effingham. There are no details of how traffic will be managed in the plan, improvements to existing roads which are atrocious currently, or any increase in local infrastructure such as doctors surgeries, improvements to water drainage, internet improvement, or mobile phone facilities.

I want to vehemently object to the villages being inset from the green belt.

In the Guildford plan section 4.3.12 it states "Historically all the villages, except Ash Green, and major previously developed sites have been washed over by the Green Belt designation. However, the national planning policy states that only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt. Those that do not should be inset, or removed, from the Green Belt and other development management policies used to restrict any inappropriate development". According to the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF, 2012) there are five stated purposes of including land within the green belt: to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another, to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns, and to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

In fact the UK government encourages local authorities to protect the land around the towns by creating green belts, and not to build on them. By insetting the villages you are effectively disregarding the government policy to protect urban sprawl, not safeguarding the countryside, and not preserving the character of the villages in this area. Who has decided that West Horsley and the other villages mentioned in the plan do not make a significant contribution to the openness of the greenbelt?

This is a village and should remain a village at its current size, and not be inset by the plan to accommodate the greed of the property developer, it should remain in the greenbelt as it is a beautiful village to live in and it should remain so. Lets face it, putting a quarter of the homes designated for development in greenbelt villages in one village is too much and should not be allowed to happen. Please listen to our concerns and not allow developers to make significant revenue for themselves at the expense of destroying village life in Surrey.

I believe the proposed new interchange will add to the traffic using the A247 as a short cut to avoid hold ups which are quite frequent between the A25, M25 & the A3

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt, which provides sanctuary for many wildlife species. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which requires regeneration, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. The election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

1. I object to the proposal to remove the Horsleys from the Green Belt. The so called "exceptional circumstances" required before taking this action have not been demonstrated. Estate development would overwhelm the area, and would not be in keeping with the character of this unique area. With regard to the proposed development at the allocated area A39 site would be unnecessary, as this would add to the already dense overdevelopment in the area, causing an urban "sprawl", affecting Horsley's picturesque image, also the proposed access road on Ockham Road North is inadequate, and would create traffic issues.

1. I object to the proposal to remove the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. This planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee, who cited the same concerns highlighted in this letter.

2. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

5. I object to the huge impact on transport, local roads, road safety and polution. I especially object to:
   * The assumption that the proposed developments will result in a shift from driving to cycling and walking. The FWA development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars. There is also another assumption (and the taken for granted) that the other proposed developments nearer to Effingham Junction and Horsley stations will result in a reduction in car traffic. This will not be the case if people are required to travel regularly to areas around Guildford, Woking and the M25.
* The increased volume of car traffic. The proposed development in these areas would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

* The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to no cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths, and the space to provide them!

* The increased volume in car traffic will increase unnecessary pollution for residents.

6. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

7. I object to the fact that the proposed Local Plan which will affect the local communities has not been taken into consideration, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

1. I object to the impact the Local Plan will have on the already overstretched primary and secondary school places. The Raleigh School and The Howard of Effingham schools are already both at capacity. Surrey County Council has published no plans for creating further school places for children of all ages.

9. I object to the Local Plan not taking seriously the advice that Thames Water has given to Guildford Borough Council that the current wastewater network in this area is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from all of these proposed developments. The foul drainage system all the way to the treatment works north of Ripley, will need to be upgraded to cope. There are serious concerns about these sites which have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I am concerned about the proposed housing targets which has been allocated to Guildford Borough and the South East in general. I appreciate that new homes are needed, and that is the plan up and down the country, but the greenbelt is meant to provide a limitation on the inexorable growth of London. Keeping the greenbelt is so vital and beneficial for all, especially for future generations, to enjoy. I really hope that all brownfield sites take all priority in all areas, before the greenbelt is ever considered.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and the Allocations at the Former Wisley Airfield, A35, A37, A38, A39, A40 and A41, are removed from the Guildford Local Plan with immediate effect.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A35

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Having studied the submission plan, I find it is unsound due to the large number of errors in the plan due to the poor quality, considerable lack of transparency/clarity in the evidence, and the inaccessibility of evidence for those who are not able to open the huge files being sent due to poor internet connections.

I require confirmation that all of these comments together with all my previous comments are passed to the Inspector. I reserve my right to appear at the inquiry and present my evidence.

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for the reasons listed -:

1. It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and the previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the actual location.
2. It is further from railway stations than any other identified site.
3. It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10)
4. Local roads are already at capacity especially when there are roadworks, diversions etc on the SRN.
5. I object to the transport evidence including the SHAR 2016 Highways assessment report which has been criticised by Mouchel for using out of date modelling software and is therefore unreliable
6. I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed the transport assessment to use prescribed vehicle movements from this site with no justification.
7. Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded SRN and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.
8. Any public transport bus services provision to Horsley will hugely impact the safety of the local road network as the winding, partly unlit lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs. The assumption that people will walk or cycle on a regular basis on these lanes is unsafe and unreasonable.
9. There is no evidence of sufficient employment available on the site, therefore almost all residents will have to travel to get to work.
10 The failure to address the impact of increased traffic does not address travelling to Woking rail station.
11. I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts additional heritage assets, including Upton Farm and Bridge End House negatively impacting the setting of these buildings and the wider Ockham Conservation Area.
12. I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.
13. I object to the change of site boundaries as these are not identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16)
14. I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification
15. I object to the change in green belt boundary to the eastern end of the site as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact
19. I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objection from local residents and statutory consultees.
20. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.
21. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation why the council think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.

22. I object to the fact that there is no clear justification for the removal of one strategic site over site A35.

23. I object to the inclusion of A35 as it will not contribute to the 5-year housing projection due to constraints notably in the provision of sewerage capacity.

24. I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.

25. I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed the transport assessment to use prescribed vehicle movements from this site with no justification.

I consider for all the reasons listed above that this plan is unsound and not fit for purpose.

We are calling on the Council to evaluate high-rise, high-density buildings within the centre of Guildford before allowing development in the villages and in the Green Belt. Woking is a good example where multi-story buildings blend in to the city’s life and provide a young and vibrant population.

We are calling on the Council to provide innovative housing accommodation for our young professionals such as purpose-built Multiple Occupancy Houses. Where the Local Plan identifies such accommodation may be created, we ask the council to use the Council’s building company to provide such accommodation for our residents.

We are calling on the Council to provide social housing that addresses our current needs instead of mandating a 40% quota of affordable housing which may well not suffice. The “affordable” housing proposed by the Local Plan is not affordable for most of our residents.

We are calling on the Council to provide accommodation suitable for our ageing population also and include policies that protect the existing bungalows used by our older residents.

We are calling on the Council to ensure decent living standards for everyone by mandating that the 12 Building for Life principles apply to every housing development and only by exception allow developments not to meet these standards

A lot of work has gone into the Local Plan. It is obvious for anyone who has read through the Local Plan that the Guildford Borough Council’s civil servants have done an excellent job with the brief that were given. Unfortunately the brief does not address the borough’s needs adequately.

The situation we find ourselves in and in need to remediate is the result of the short-sighted 13 years of Conservative leadership of the GBC. We are in need of housing, both social as well as for the professionals in low to average income jobs that support Guildford’s borough; nurses, police officers, retail workers, bus drivers and a raft of other professionals struggle to find affordable accommodation within Guildford. This results in most of them living outside Guildford and commuting into town, resulting in part in the traffic gridlock most of us experience on a daily basis trying to traverse the city centre. The policies put forward by the GBC do not address the needs of our Borough.

We are calling on the Council to respect the nature and character of our villages and impose a maximum development target of 20% housing every four years (of the total number of houses envisioned in the Local Plan).

Para 2.5 'pockets of deprivation'. The official definition may well include both income and crime, but they are not cause and effect. I understand that cyber-crime is one of highest incidence in Surrey. The point of this paragraph presumably is to highlight the wide disparity of income in the borough, and which is a major cause of the demand for social housing. These three paragraphs could be reworded to reflect that rather than talk of ‘deprivation’. Some data showing the wide distribution of income across the borough would illustrate the point more effectively.

Policy H1 - Homes for all. There is no explicit mention of bungalows - basically one-storey properties. These are essential for residents with mobility impairment. I suggest the policy includes words to the effect that we will not look favourably on planning applications which seek to demolish a bungalow/s - in order to replace with one or more properties with upper storeys -unless there are genuine and compelling reasons to do so.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 7: Any other comments?
As residents of Normandy for over 30 years, we write to object to the GBC Local Plan 2016 for the following reasons:

- We see no justification or 'exceptional circumstances' for Site A46 to be released from the Green Belt. There has been no explanation why development has to be on this red sensitivity status site.
- The local roads are already overstretched and have been steadily deteriorating over many years. The development will increase pressure on the traffic from Normandy towards and across Guildford on the A3 and other local roads, which is already a nightmare, resulting in longer and longer 'peak' hours at each end of the working day. Public transport never has been or will be an adequate substitute. The railway under and over bridges on Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane are a constraint on the flow of traffic and considered unsafe due to inadequate sightlines.
- There is no current need for a new secondary school in this area and may only be required if the development is permitted to proceed. At present, we are adequately served by the existing secondary schools whereas the primary schools are under tremendous pressure.
- Other amenities in the village would not be able to meet the increased need produced by the additional population.
- There has been no consistent application of considerations of sustainability and sensitivity as applied to Normandy and Flexford. They are treated as one settlement when assessing sustainability but treated separately for sensitivity.
- We have been seeing far fewer species of birds and small mammals over recent years and the proposed additional households means even more dogs and cats in the area, increasing predation of wildlife.

The plan is considered unrealistic and would result in the destruction of our rural environment and we wish our views to be taken into account.

I should like to make the following comments about the local plan and it’s relevance to Send.

1. I object to Send Village being removed from the green belt. The green belt was intended to be permanent, as required by the national planning policy framework, and there are no special circumstances to justify abandoning it. Send’s green belt provide an essential buffer between Guildford and Woking stopping them becoming a continuous built up area. Local councillors and central government gave a clear election promise to protect the green belt and this reneges it.

The points that I raise with respect to traffic problems under "I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common" apply to all of the development proposals above as they will all result in additional cars on the road in and around Send. I would also point out that it is the norm rather than the exception that at peak hour, a commuter into London from Woking will not obtain a seat on a train. It is also common for trains to be delayed due to faults with infrastructure. Season tickets and car park tickets are expensive. I can only imagine how the situation will deteriorate further as a result of the above proposals.

I object to building 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick's Arch, opposite Send Marsh Road. The site is inappropriate because currently it is covered by ancient woodland and because it regularly floods. This proposal represents poor planning and management because existing brownfield sites in Slyfield and elsewhere could be used. Furthermore, I understand that the industrial space proposed is not actually needed. The proposal to build 400 houses seems extraordinary in terms of the lack of transparency over the data that supports building this number of houses in this location. I would be grateful if clear data could be presented to support this plan.

I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. This will have little effect on the traffic flow in the area in terms of dissipating congestion which at peak hours often extends from the A3 through Ripley and up to the roundabout at the Little Waitrose store in Send. Similarly traffic travelling in a south easterly direction towards that roundabout frequently extends all of the way through Send village to the New Inn. I commute to London for work each working day and park my car at Woking train station. This traffic congestion has not always existed but has become worse each year over the last 16 years. The average time of the trip from Send to Woking takes longer each year. Frequently there are roadworks and temporary traffic lights in place. One can only imagine the congestion and damage to infrastructure that will result if 400 homes are built at Garlick's Arch, 45 houses are built at Clockbarn Nursery, 40 houses are built at Send Hill, 2000 houses are built at Wisley Airfield, 200 houses are built at Gosden Hill and 1850 houses are built at Blackwell Farm. Much of the traffic from surrounding areas would travel through Send. Noise and pollution levels would rise and degrade residents' amenity.

I object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was intended to be a lasting arrangement under the National Planning Policy Framework. There are no exceptional circumstances that warrant departing from that arrangement. Send's Green Belt provides an essential buffer stopping Woking and Guildford comprising one conurbation. It is a betrayal of the trust that was placed by residents in local councillors and central government who gave clear undertakings to protect the Green Belt. These proposals represent a breach of representations made to, and the mandate given by, residents who elected them. The Green Belt is a safe haven for a diverse range of wildlife. I have observed over the 16 years that I have lived in Send how this wildlife has been eroded. For example, it is clear that plants and animals such as the English oak, the adder, the song thrush and toads are less numerous than when I first came to live in Send. Removing the village of Send from the Green Belt will further limit the ability of these and other wild lifeforms from using the area as a habitat, if not exclude them from the area altogether. Removing Send from the Green Belt will also result in a loss of amenity to residents, many of whom live in the area as young families or retirees, or who otherwise as residents take pleasure from its semi-rural/rural setting and surrounds. This proposal, if successful, will without doubt result in extensive development that will destroy forever (a) the personality and fabric of the village and (b) in turn, the lifestyles and amenity of residents.

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

1. APPENDIX D

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The "objectively assessed need" figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford.

I object as this local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

I object as a new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

I object as it is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.
I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

I object because Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

I object as the housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and The Clandons are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper or any pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

I object as without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY 12

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen.

I object that the draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

I object as there is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. POLICY ID3

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy ID3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.
The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

I object as Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned.

I object as The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages.

In particular I OBJECT to the settlement boundary put round East Clandon with no reference to the residents or the Parish Council.

Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.
Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)
The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

I object because the housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

I strongly object as these concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

I object as the plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these... adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

I object to the Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly.

I object because the Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

I object because the development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

I object because it is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

I object to the proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) as they will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities. The impact on the surrounding highways and roads will be hugely significant and extremely damaging.

24.A. Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites is based on up-to-date evidence. The evidence base documents contributing to the preparation of the plan are listed in Appendix D and can be found on our website (links open in a new window).

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

ANSWER

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is legally compliant? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites— which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

24.D. Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

• why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
• what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.
The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (

11. In policies SRN9 and SRN10 I note the change in responsibility for delivering new A3 slip roads at Burntcommon from Surrey County Council to either Highways England or developer. I have concerns that if delivered by Highways England alone there would be no local level control over if/when/how the scheme was delivered. This is an existing concern for other schemes including SRN2 and SRN3 (Stoke interchange and M25 J10/A3 interchange), where Highways England have sole responsibility.

12. I also have concerns over the changes in funding in policies SRN2 and SRN3. While I strongly welcome developer ‘funded’ (which implies more financial commitment than ‘contribution’) for road network improvements which are required as a direct result of new housing, I am concerned this may lead to a reduction of the affordable housing percentage delivered (which should be 40% in most cases). This concern is in part due to a change in Section 4.2.40, where there is in our view some softening of the language around the issue of developers needing to demonstrate lack of economic viability of affordable homes in order to reduce their standard quota (40%). This concern applies to other developer funded projects including Wisley cycle networks.

13. Furthermore, given the delivery dates of some policies (scheme E31 talks about widening the carriageways from 2023 at the earliest), and given the current economic conditions, can The community expect the schemes to be delivered on time/at all, and will they already be out of date when realised?
14. I note that the local road strategy allows for 30 electric car charging points, but I would suggest that this is likely to be an underestimate in the coming 20 years, given the rapid increase in acceptance and adoption of electric/hybrid cars in recent years.

8. I object to site A58 Burntcommon, which has now become a ‘Strategic Employment Site’. This is a net gain in traffic and congestion in this area. The proposed insetting of Send Business Park from the Green Belt indicates GBC’s increased emphasis and ambition for growth of this village.

I wish to object to a number of issues in the ‘Proposed Submission Local Plan (2017)’ which have changed since the previous ‘Draft Local Plan 2016’. In addition I would like to state that the original objections to the 2016 plan remain. I still believe that this deeply flawed Local Plan will have a direct and detrimental effect on the amenity currently enjoyed by residents of East Clandon and to the even greater detriment to our neighbouring villages of West Clandon, Ripley, Send, West and East Horsley. The plan erodes the openness of the Green Belt and endangers the beauty and views in and out of the Surrey Hills AONB.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I object to Policy S2 for the proposed provision of the very high overall housing numbers of 12,426 new homes, which is only a small reduction on the previous figure of 13,860. These numbers are still based on an overly high-growth economic development plan which in itself has had no direct consultation with any residents. They remain too high as shown by an objective assessment made by the report made for the Guildford Residents Association (GRA) by Neil MacDonald (independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics).

2. Also in Policy S2 housing numbers, I object to the fact that downward economic pressures (including Brexit) have been adequately accounted for. Additionally in Policy E1, E2 there is too much emphasis is on providing retail and commercial in Guildford town centre, when the pattern of business is changing and more town centre housing is needed rather than retail. This would ease the pressure on housing on the Green Belt.

3. I object to the population growth figures in section 2.3, which have actually increased by almost 5000. By returning to a 2014 evidence base, I feel this does not account for more recent political and economic changes.

4. Furthermore, I object to Policy S2 because I believe the 12,426 homes includes estimated demand from London, and also now possibly from Woking’s perceived unmet need, and I feel Guildford will become a dormitory town for London and the surrounding areas, rather than meeting the needs of residents of Guildford Borough.

5. I object to the fact that in Policy S2, despite the afore mentioned slight apparent reduction in overall housing numbers and industrial space, the reduction is mostly in Normandy/Flexford and the load on the East of the borough is still disproportionate and has even increased.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Transport

The rural location of these sites necessitates the use of a car.

Public transport links within the two villages rely on a very infrequent bus service, and the train line.

The train station has no step-free access for trains running London bound, or returning from Guildford, limiting accessibility to those who find a bridge restrictive (such as the frail or elderly) and preventing access for those in wheelchairs or with small children who require prams and buggies. The advertised step free access route per national rail requires getting off at a stop early (or late) and 'catching a taxi from Clandon'.

Access to private transport, such as a car, is therefore a necessity for anyone in these groups.

Even for those who walking over a bridge is no impediment, the lack of sufficient amenities within the village mean that frequent travel out of the village is required (for food, leisure etc) which undoubtedly will require a car.

Even more significant is the development on Wisley airfield. The site is largely isolated from public transport, without any pedestrian or dedicated cycle routes to the train station. The significant majority of residents would need access to a car.

The volume of additional cars from these planned developments will increase road usage and the following infrastructure improvements would be required as a minimum:

Access to the villages is through two routes: ‘The Street’ through West Horsley and B2039 through East Horsley. Both of these roads have stretches where the road narrows to such an extent that there is not sufficient space for two highway lanes, and road markings disappear. In order to allow the higher volumes of cars pass one-another, the roads will need to be widened to accommodate the increased volume of traffic.

A3 junction. During rush hour (between roughly 7am to 9am Monday to Thursday during term time), the stretch of the A3 northbound between the Wisley junction and the M25 exit frequently ceases to a halt under the weight of traffic. This has a knock-on effect to the northbound side of the A3, with traffic extending south beyond Burpham. Cars joining at this junction and not wishing to join the M25 have to filter across the traffic looking to exit, which contributes to the congestion. The additional high volume of traffic joining as a result of the proposed developments will result in further delays. This junction will need major improvement works to prevent sever disruption to the highways.

Drainage / Sewerage

The sewerage within the village already experiences problems, and investment will be required to accommodate additional discharge from the high density developments. Some improvement works are scheduled but will not commence before the proposed housing development is in place. The proposed plans do not address this issue or how they will prevent any nuisance before or during the improvement works have taken place.

Flooding

There are areas within the village which are within flood zones 2 and 3, measures are required to ensure current housing does not become more prone to flooding, and water can drain freely (see drainage above).

Car parking

Car parking is restricted in the village, often resulting in difficulty to find a space outside the village shops. The extension of an additional 35% housing will require corresponding increases in the car parking provisions within the village (see also the point made earlier that due to limited pavement and transport one has to rely on a car in the villages).

Medical facilities
There are only possible proposals to extend the Kingston Avenue Medical Centre. This medical facility is already extremely busy, and an extension at least in proportion to the increase in residents is required to ensure that all village residents have access to essential healthcare services.

Due to proposed additional residents served by the Royal Surrey County Hospital, a major extension would be required.

Schools

The local plan does not address the additional expansion of educational services required to meet the needs of the extra residents. Currently schools and educational services already experience waiting lists. There is one comprehensive school (Raleigh) within the village which is already full. This will need corresponding investment to enable extension to accommodate the significant number of additional residents.

Given the main secondary school within the area, Howard of Effingham, will have a significant volume of additional houses within its wider catchment area (which is not just limited to East and West Horsley), provisions desperately need to be increased to ensure that sufficient education is available for the larger population.

Development within the green belt

The stringent national criteria for exceptional circumstances for removing greenbelt classification has not been met.

The area is uniquely placed to act as a barrier from the urban sprawl of London, and adjustments to the greenbelt boundaries will result in an additional housing load. This will erode the current green area between the major towns of Woking, Cobham, Leatherhead, and Guildford. I do not believe the reason for removal of green belt status is justified.

This area of rural Surrey attracts visitors to the region, such as walkers and cyclists from outside the county and its importance extends beyond that of the local residents.

Relative size of proposed developments

The level of development proposed within East and West Horsley at 35% is vastly out of proportion to that of the size of developments within the rest of the county. The village cannot accommodate that level of development without major investment in infrastructure and other local provisions.

Village character

The proposed high-density housing sites within the villages are totally out of character with the current low density settlement, and will have a big impact on village life. It may not be the most picturesque of villages within the area, but there are historic buildings within it, and the village has a strong community. New housing developments should maintain the sensitivity of this.

Summary

I welcome the construction of new houses in the area in a sustainable fashion, in line with the sensitivities of the area, and within the capabilities of the village infrastructure and services. As outlined above, the current proposals are inadequate and do not meet the requirements outlined by government. I therefore hope that you will reject the proposals in their current state.

I object to the plan not taking into account the current infrastructure within the Horsleys. Guildford Borough Council’s Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) gives no details. It does not address any of the important local issues which we currently deal with and it does not put forward any suggestions for improving or expanding the local services. The Horsley’s infrastructure already struggles a lot of the time, let alone with any substantial increase in its population.

- Doctors: Horsley Medical Centre is already unable to provide adequate appointments for its current patients, with many appointments having to be made weeks in advance to see a particular doctor. The situation will only worsen if there is a significant increase in registrations.

- Horsley Train station: The car park already gets very full with commuters, but with an increase in commuters this would put a lot of pressure on the parking situation.

- Flood Risk: The plan does not take into account our flood risk. There are many roads and fields in the Horsleys that flood regularly with heavy rain. Only 2 years ago did we see several main roads, such as Ockham Road North and in particular East Lane, which remained flooded for a couple of months due to the continued rainfall. As well as some of the proposed sites being on land that already floods, by taking away fields which currently help to drain surface water, this is only going to make the situation dramatically worse. With the climate change we are currently experiencing, we are seeing more extreme weather events and unfortunately over the longer term, I can only see the flooding situation getting worse. In addition Thames Water has already informed Guildford Borough that our current wastewater system in the Horsleys, which already struggles to cope, will not be able to support any increased demand which would without doubt come with the proposed housing developments.

As a local resident in West Horsley, with 1 child in The Raleigh and myself working locally, we are fully aware of how the Horsleys can struggle to cope with its current residents, let alone if the population were to increase. I have tried to make my points objective and hope you will address them when considering the proposed plan.

I object to The Wisley Airfield Development still being in The Guildford Plan, as this was unanimously refused in 2016 by the planning committee and hence should not have been included. The impact this would have on the Horsleys would be immense.

Station Parade in East Horsley: The plan designates this as a “Rural District Centre”, partly because of Budgens which is described as a large supermarket. Anyone living in East and West Horsley knows that it is a very small supermarket and hence due to its size, is able to open on a Sunday. Parking is already quite difficult and if the potential number of shoppers were to increase, then particularly the elderly and less able residents would struggle to reach the shops when they needed to. This is a total misinterpretation of the local facilities.

The plan in my opinion fails to deal with the following infrastructure issues:

- Schools: The Raleigh school is the main state primary in the area and is already oversubscribed for every year. Currently this means that many children have to travel significantly further to access a state primary school, despite living in walking distance to The Raleigh School. It was only a few years ago that the school had to build additional classrooms to meet the demand for places. The school is already fully enclosed by houses on all sides, so further development is not an option. The Howard of Effingham Secondary School is also at full capacity.

- Roads and pavements: With the proposed number of new houses to be built, this makes for a huge increase in traffic, particularly as most households have 2 cars. All roads running through East and West Horsley already experience high levels of traffic, which results in speeding being a safety concern through the villages. Major congestion is also already seen around the three schools (Raleigh, Glenesk and Cranmore), at both drop off and pick up times. The condition of the roads is currently unacceptable, with major potholes and defects in all of the village’s roads. More cars are only going to exaggerate the situation. The pavements are unfortunately in poor condition too, making walking for the elderly and people with children and buggies quite dangerous at times. The roads around the village are already narrow, so widening is just not an option. Therefore any major population increase is just not compatible with the current roads and pavements.

I would like to take the opportunity to give my considered opinion on the Local Plan Strategy Sites Issues and Options document and in particular how this would affect the Horsleys. Although I understand the need for a major increase in housing stock (I have two daughters who are likely to struggle in coming years to buy a home of their own, without an increase in affordable housing in the area), I believe that the plan, is flawed in many ways.

I object that it doesn’t take into account the current infrastructure within the two villages, which in no way could support a significant increase in population. It is my opinion that the plan does not address the following infrastructure issues:

- There is only one state primary school. The Raleigh school, which serves both East and West Horsley, is over subscribed to every year and has already had to extend the existing building on several occasions to meet demand for places.
- The Horsley Medical Centre which serves both villages and their surrounding areas can not currently meet demand with village residents having difficulty in getting appointments.
- Parking facilities are extremely limited in the shopping areas of both East and West Horsley. A significant increase in population would make it difficult, if not impossible, for many of the older and less mobile inhabitants to reach the shops. It is also wrong and misleading to call the East Horsley parade of shops a ‘District centre’.
- The additional traffic generated by the new homes would be considerable, with most households having at least two cars. Congestion is already seen around the schools (Raleigh, Glenesk and Cranmore) during drop-off and pick-up times and around the shops. The current condition of the roads is far from desirable and although I understand council budgets are under extreme pressure, significant increases in traffic is not going to help this situation.
- Like the roads, the village pavements are in disrepair and can be difficult (and dangerous at night) to use with pushchairs. Although the pavements could be repaired, there is no room for them to be widened in order to handle the increased footfall.
During periods of heavy rain, many of the roads within the village become flooded. This problem would be a lot worse if there weren’t adjacent fields for the water to run-off onto. Building on a number of these fields could potentially lead to significant flooding within the village. The existing waste water system struggles even now and Thames Water has already said that it would not be able to cope with any additional demand.

I object to the plan’s housing figure put forward of 13,860 houses. In addition to questions already being raised about the accuracy of the model used to obtain this figure, it is also pre Brexit, so most likely the figures will need to be reduced significantly. A lesser, more appropriate housing target, could then be accommodated using mainly Brownfield sites.

I object to the proposed disproportionate allocation of new houses across the borough. When looking at the existing numbers of houses in the Horsleys, we would be having an increase of 35%, compared to eg. urban Guildford which is only allocated 11%. Such a high density housing development would completely change the character of our small villages forever.

I object to Guildford Borough Council not looking closely enough for suitable Brownfield sites in urban Guildford which should be targeted first for development. These sites would mean the Green Belt is not destroyed and on a more practical level, they already have the infrastructure in place eg sustainable transport options, to cope with the increased numbers.

1. APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as well as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H3

1. I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy ID3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.
Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I object in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

In particular, as a resident of West Clandon, living on The Street, I am concerned that the infrastructure is not sufficient, in particular the road through West Clandon will not support the additional traffic that development will bring. The road is already dangerous as the number of accidents attest.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.
The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

I am shocked to read about the gerrymandering with established boundaries in, what appears to be, an attempt to make the plans work where they are unworkable under existing and long established village boundaries. It is my understanding that any change in Green Belt boundaries should demonstrate exceptional circumstances. I see no exceptional circumstances to justify the proposed arbitrary changes to the Green Belt.

| There are obvious and real reasons why the plan to ‘adjust’ the village boundaries and cancel large areas of Green Belt to accommodate a 35% increase in local households does not work. In addition the loss of recreational amenities, both for local people and the considerable number who travel, particularly from London would be disastrous. There appears to be a determination to extend the boundaries of the built up area of London through the Horsleys, past Guildford and beyond. Our Green Belt is precious. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding; it is the city’s playground. It is for us to conserve and protect it. I understand that there are five legal purposes for Green Belt as I am certain you are aware, and the area around East and West Horsley is particularly critical in meeting all of these criterial: |
• To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
• To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
• To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
• To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. |
| The concept of limiting urban sprawl, and the requirements for the establishment and maintenance of the Green Belt have apparently been disregarded or completely ignored in the new Guildford Local Plan. |
| May I urge you urgent to reconsider this objectionable and unworkable plan that will result in the loss of the villages and country in which we live. |

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As a resident of West Horsley, I would like to register my objections to the Guildford Local Plan, and specifically the plans as they apply to the villages of East and West Horsley; including the development of some 5-600 new houses in the Horsleys, and a further 2000 within two miles of the villages.

I have read the various documents explaining the details of the Local Plan, and it is clear that you are likely to be overwhelmed with letters of objection. It is very apparent that whole parts of the plans have either not been thought through, and indeed significant areas appear not to have been addressed in any way. It seems that there has been a very superficial attempt to create a solution that is clearly impractical, unworkable, and objectionable on various counts which I am sure will be clearly set out in a great many letters.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I drive to my place of work each day from West Horsley. My route takes in the A3 and M25. I am acutely aware that the local road structure is completely unsuitable for today’s level of traffic. The queues every day on the A3, both north and south, on the M25 access roads, in both directions, and on the M25 itself, are totally unacceptable. It is a vital imperative that the Authorities take immediate and major action to relieve the congestion that is currently choking our roads. This is the situation today, and before any consideration of the significant increase in commuter vehicles as a result of these ‘plans’. I believe that there are further very large developments planned for nearby areas such as Burnt Common and Burpham. I see considerable unemployment and urban degeneration resulting simply from the inability to travel to any place of work.

This is, of course only one area where the infrastructure is totally overwhelmed. Many people, more qualified than me will explain the equally, or probably even more important, impossible situation with regards to schools, medical facilities, shops and public transport and other aspects of local infrastructure. None of these appear to have been adequately addressed.

As far as I can see the changes, so far as they affect West Horsley, while to be welcomed, are very minor and do not materially change the situation regarding the sheer number of houses to be built in the village, and also in the surrounding villages. The very obvious consideration of the complete overload of all the infrastructure in this area remains a clear and total block to the plans. It is quite clear to everyone I discuss this with that shops, schools, medical facilities and all the other amenities which manage to cope with the current population density will become swamped to the detriment of everyone.

The removal of the villages of Send, Send Marsh and Ripley from the green belt which has been proposed by the Council without taking on board the objections and concerns voiced by the locals.

It is also very misleading by using the term 'insetting' for most of the villages as many of the public do not appreciate that this is removing the villages from the valuable green belt which was put in place to protect the sprawling of development.

Although at this stage of the plan the council have only highlighted a few development sites for each village they will be very aware that by taking these important villages out of the green belt there will be a raft of planning applications submitted which will then have a presumption in favour to approve (as the villages are no longer protected by the green belt)

2) I object to the inclusion of the land (A43) at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common as it forms an important green buffer between the A3 and Burnt Common with a large area of Ancient woodland together with wildlife and IT IS GREENBELT. The Council have numerous brown field sites and land which would be better suited for this kind of development. The land is liable to flooding and there has been no FRA (flood risk assessment) carried out. The inclusion of this site would overburden the villages of Send and Ripley.

3) I object to (A43a) the on/off ramps for the A3 at Burnt Common as it would result in an enormous increase in traffic through Send and the surrounding villages which do not have the infrastructure to cope with this volume of traffic. Clearly this link would not be required if Garlicks Arch is not developed and the council could spend the money on more worthwhile road improvements.

I strongly object to policy 4.3.13 which removes a number of villages from the green belt for the following reasons:

Whereas only certain sites have been identified within these villages at this stage of the local plan it will open the floodgates to future high density infilling within the villages which will put pressure on the infrastructure and roads and more importantly destroy historic English villages forever.

There has been little consultation from the council with the public many of whom do not understand the implications of this document.

The Localism Act has been ignored

I object to (policy S2) as the plan is unbalanced with too much proposed in the north east of the borough with large developments in Ripley/Send (A43) Clandon (A25) and Wisley (A35) and will result in the urbanization of these important villages which do not have the infrastructure to cope with such an increase.

I want to object to the Draft Local Plan (refs A36, A39, 90, 353, 2177, A37, A38, A40, A41, 2292, 350, 1219, 1275, A35,) affecting the Horsleys on the following grounds:

- Traffic and Parking - our streets are already congested. It is very difficult to park at the Parades on Ockham Road and due to the sheer volume of cars, it is often difficult to see people crossing the road with the consequential accident risk this has. Adding to this pressure and risk with more households which bring at least 2 cars per household on average is simply non-sensical given the potential accident dangers that could follow;

- Pollution - the large increase in the volume of traffic will cause an increase in pollution levels which is already a concern in our area.

- Flooding - the area already suffers from flooding and building in this area will only exacerbate the situation. The soil and drains already cannot cope.

- Schools - local schools are already at capacity. Where will the children of incoming families go to school? Even if the schools were to be expanded, or new schools built, the standard of education for which the area is known will suffer adversely which will ultimately impact the desirability of the area for families. Hence, the development will not lead to families residing the area if the schools are not up to scratch, and therefore the development will not achieve what it set out to.

- Medical facilities - similar point to schools.

- Transport - road and rail links are already busy, if not congested. Our transport infrastructure will be under enormous strain by increasing the numbers of users with the result that there will be failures, poor service, misery for those that travel and ultimately, make this area unattactive for people to move to. Hence, the development will not achieve what it set out to do.

- Green belt land - developing on our countryside will slowly erode the beauty of Britain. There is a reason why Britain is so attractive to live in and this is in part due to the countryside we have here. To build in our countryside will only destroy this beauty and ultimately, make our country and in particular, this part of the country, unattractive.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

   a. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

   b. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

   c. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

   d. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

   e. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

1. I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heath's Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

2. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

3. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

4. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

"Affordable housing" is a misnomer in any case. Any "affordable" housing in Surrey will only be affordable for the first sale and then the price will immediately shoot up to being unaffordable on the second and subsequent sales.

Affordable housing is needed mainly in town centres and in particular on Guildford brownfield sites and brownfield sites in other Surrey towns.

Affordable housing is needed for people like carers, nurses, firemen and community workers who are suited to living near hospitals and with bus and train services already established. Guildford does not need its brownfield sites for business and retail development. The very nature of shopping is changing as younger generations will do more and more on line. Guildford abounds with retail outlets as no doubt do other towns in Surrey. The Council must provide housing in towns where it is most needed and some sort of control over pricing must be thought through.

Disproportionate housing development would cause chaos to already oversubscribed schools and railway station car parks. There is already a problem with pedestrian and cyclist safety on crowded roads with no pavements or paths. The cycle lanes are just a joke, far too narrow and peter out just as they are most needed at junctions and roundabouts.

There is a lack of local buses and the infrastructure is simply not there.

The number of cars belonging to the owners of the proposed development sites will add to the traffic congestion at an unacceptable level. The small, narrow lanes surrounding these developments are not capable of supporting any more traffic than at present without causing complete jams and grid locks, and will be intolerable and dangerous when there are roadworks or traffic incidents and crashes on the main roads, such as the A3 and M25. The building of the M25 brought about a large increase in traffic and more would be unsustainable. Already huge lorries using satellite navigation are jamming small country lanes and causing damage.

Surrey is a pretty county with important sites of nature and woodland. These must be protected at all costs for future generations ensuring their well being and sanity. It is being understood more and more that being outside, surrounded by nature, is beneficial to everybody's health and mental well being and that in its turn has a direct impact on doctors' surgeries and hospital queues.

I have a very low opinion of Guildford Borough Council's past performance and its complete inability to maintain the safety of the countryside, to provide properly for the inhabitants. Let's hope some common sense will now prevail and there is a good rethink of the unacceptable GBC Local Plan that has been put before us. I object to it in the strongest terms possible.

The protection of the Green Belt, the Lungs of London, has been of paramount importance to generations and should be upheld at all costs.

It is known that pollution from traffic is detrimental to the brains of growing children and no good for the health of anyone. Development on the scale recommended is tantamount to murder. In particular, the building of the A3 Ripley Bypass some 40 years ago was to avoid the blockage and unreasonable amount of traffic going through Ripley. What does the Council think will happen now with so much proposed development to the traffic on our local roads? It is a 'no brainer' except for the very stupid. We will be back to square one, just as we were when a Guildford bypass had to be built to avoid the bypass that was already there.

Parking in Ripley is impossible for residents. As an ageing resident of Ripley I have to walk a mile to get to the shops and am unable to carry anything heavy home apart from the newspaper and perhaps some milk and the odd vegetable. How much longer I shall be able to continue to do this is in the lap of the gods. We have been promised proper parking in Ripley ever since I moved here in 1975 and almost as soon as it was provided it was taken away for development and the smaller car park there now provides parking for the "affordable housing" development recently built on it.

I object to building 400 houses and 7000 square metres of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch – development at existing brownfield site areas rather than over ancient woodland on Green Belt land would be far less destructive and would avoid additional risk of flooding in an area where water drainage and flooding are already issues. Living adjacent and below this planned development and knowing that we are already in a flood risk area I feel this proposed development would cause future problems. Additionally the natural buffer offered by this strip of woodland between the housing in Send Marsh and the ever increasing traffic of the A3 is extremely important for both air quality and noise reduction.

The development of this area, necessitating the loss of an extremely valuable relief of green belt woodland, additional flooding risk and increased traffic local to an already dangerous junction, against, utilisation of existing brownfield sites does not seem necessary or beneficial.

I object to the proposed removal of Green Belt Protection for Send - the Green belt status should be left in place as per the National Planning Policy framework to provide permanent protection against over development and the risk of conurbation and transformation of villages into sprawling areas of mass population.
I object to the building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery – Tannery lane is not a road which can safely accommodate an increase in traffic, further development along this lane will increase existing over-use.

I object to the new development of 40 houses & 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill – unsuitable local access and the use of countryside for development purposes will negatively impact the existing area.

I object to the new A3 interchange at Burnt Common – increased traffic caused by the interchange will cause over congestion and increased pollution in the surrounding villages.

The proposed Local Plan, both generally and specifically as it affects the Send Ripley and Clandon areas of the Borough is fundamentally flawed, appears to be developer, rather than need driven, and has grossly over-estimated the housing and business needs of the borough, disregarded the principle of the Green Belt, and utterly ignored the capacity of the available infrastructure to cope with further development. The housing need for Guildford Borough appears to have been grossly exaggerated, a suspicion not allayed by the refusal of the Council to disclose the basis on which it reached its SHMA. The Council has also not fully utilised "brownfield" sites before considering the greenbelt ones, another indication of this plan being largely developer led, as greenbelt is cheaper and easier to build on. None of the areas now proposed for development in so far as the Send area is concerned in the plan being submitted to the Inspector were in either the original draft plan nor its amended counterpart.

In objecting to the removal of Send and neighbouring villages from the Green Belt, policy P2, proposal to build 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of warehousing at Garlick's Arch, policy A43, and building of 40 homes and 2 travellers pitches at Send Hill, policy A44, I would add the following:

Send has continued to grow over the past few years, and will continue to do so, despite being in the Green Belt. That development has been sensible and sustainable. The old Sex and Sons Foundry has gone and been replaced by about 12 houses in Walnut Tree Place and some additional houses and flats on Send Road by the entrance. Skene Close, comprising 6 detached houses, replaced the former 2 houses that had formerly been on the site last year. Vision Engineering, having shown there were exceptional circumstances, have been allowed to develop a new single storey factory on their Green Belt land between Send Road and the Wey Navigation. In completion of the new factory, the old one is to be demolished and over 40 homes are to be built on the site. Send has thus continued to grow, but in a controlled, sensible and sustainable way. To remove it, and the neighbouring villages. from the Green Belt is unnecessary, and defeats the whole object of the Green Belt and the intention to preserve it in perpetuity. Ripley too, has continued to grow whilst remaining in the Green Belt. Numerous houses have been built on brownfield sites behind the High Street on both sides and in Rose Lane.

I have no objections to such brownfield development. Hence, I would raise no objection to the proposal to build 45 houses at site A42, Clockbarn Nursery, which appeared in the amended Local Plan, but seems inexplicably to have been omitted from the draft plan before you. Why is Guildford so determined to build on green field sites, and remove area from the Green Belt, when there are clearly brownfield sites like Clockbarn available? Interestingly, the amount of houses proposed for Send Hill, policy A44, is 40. Just less than that which was proposed for the abandoned, brownfield Clockbarn site! This illustrates just how little thought has gone into this plan. I cannot comment on other areas of the Borough, but one suspects similar is occurring elsewhere and that your attention will be drawn to clearly unnecessary development, or unnecessary removal of areas from the Green Belt, by those with the relevant local knowledge.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed developments at Gosden Hill, site A25, and Blackwall Farm, site A26. Again, these are predicated on the basis of a "housing need" that has not been satisfactorily proved to exist. Again, the infrastructure in the area is utterly inadequate to cope with the additional need for roads, sewers, medical facilities and schools. My principal objection though is that these, along with the proposed developments at Wisley airfield and Garlick's Arch, would lead to a continuous solid development from the A3 junction with the M25 through Ripley, Send and Burpham to Guildford. Along with the development that is already going to occur in Send, through the building of housing on the old Vision Engineering site when their existing factory is demolished after the new one is completed (permission already granted), we have potentially a nightmare scenario where Guildford is developed to the M25 along the A3, A247 and B2215 corridor. 70% of the identified "housing need" for the Borough in this utterly flawed plan is proposed to be catered for in this area. It is utterly disproportionate, and the villages to the north-east of Guildford are to be destroyed to save Guildford itself. The planners should be identifying brownfield sites within Guildford to build, rather than cravenly caving in to the pressure from developers who want to harvest the low hanging fruit of building on Green Belt land. The legislation was intended in 1947 to avoid precisely this sort of thing taking place.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed development of 2000+ houses and associated infrastructure, essentially a new small town, at Wisley Airfield, site A35. This is predominantly farmland, and the access would be onto an already gridlocked A3. Even the provision of a proposed new junction on the A3 at Garlick's Arch, if built (see above), being some distance south of the proposed development would be unlikely to alleviate the problem, however much the Council hopes it would. It seems clear the Council is running scared of the developers here. They are a nebulous company based in the Cayman Islands. They will however have the money to fight the refused planning permission. The Council clearly wants a reason to grant it. The problem again however, is that as indicated before, there is no clearly demonstrated need for homes for 5000 people at this location. Ockham, the nearest village, or more appropriately hamlet, is very pretty, indeed unspoilt. It would be utterly overwhelmed by this monster. Whilst this was the Vickers development airfield, the only parts of this that could be said to be industrial and are the runway and the hangars. The hangars are long gone, and the great majority of this site is productive, high quality farmland. Development here is utterly inappropriate.

I do not object to the proposed building on site A42, Clockbarn Nursery, behind Send Road and Tannery Lane, on a derelict site, provided adequate access and exit provided by improving the junction between the two roads. I will detail my specific objections below.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to the proposed development at Garlick's Arch, site A43. It follows from what I have said above that there can be no justification, on the grounds of exceptional circumstances, to remove Garlick's Arch, from the Green Belt. I further object to the proposal to build at Garlick's Arch, 400 houses, 7000 sq m of warehousing and a four way junction with the A3. This proposal was not included in the original 2014 draft Local Plan nor in the revised one introduced earlier this year. So if it is so essential, why has it only been introduced as recently as 11th May this year, tacked onto the end of the agenda at a meeting of the Council Executive? This stinks of a developer led proposal, a conclusion that is justified by the owner of the land offering it to the Council free provided he is allowed to build 400 houses. If the Council had thought that development on this site was appropriate, why had they not included it in either of their earlier proposed plans? They knew the land was there - it did not suddenly appear like an Icelandic volcanic island! The first time this was even publicly mooted was 11th May. That allowed less than 14 days to the full Council meeting on 24th May which was intended to adopt the plan and put it to the Inspector. It is manifestly obvious that this proposal must have been in the offing for some considerable time prior to 11th May. The conclusion is clear and inevitable: the Council knew how controversial this proposal was going to be and sought to introduce it in as low key a way as possible allowing virtually no time for residents to object. it was a cynical and underhand attempt to subvert the democratic process and to stifle debate, to ensure that the proposal reached the Inspector rather than being fully considered at a full Council before its inclusion in the proposed plan. The intention clearly was to have a 3 line whip on the members of the overwhelming majority Conservative Group to nod it through - which is precisely what happened. Proper public consultation did not happen, [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered defamatory, derogatory, inflammatory or offensive in nature.]

There is no clear evidence that there is any need for the proposed 13,860 houses in this plan, let alone that 400 of them should be at Garlick's Arch. The almost 14,000 figure of "needed" houses also fails to take account of planning constraints. The Council has refused to disclose how it has reached its SHMA, and there has to be strong suspicion that it has placed excessive weight on the number of students in the Borough, who are not permanent residents, disregarded the number of empty homes in the area, and over-estimated the effects of immigration - which, though they could not have known this at the time the plan was prepared, may now, since "Brexit", be lower even than originally anticipated as indicated at 1) above.

There is no demonstrated need for 7000sq m of warehousing at this location. The Employment Needs Land Allocation of 2015 suggests there should be an 80% reduction in employment floor space. This warehousing was originally intended to go onto the existing Burnt Common site a few hundred yards to the south-west, which at least had the benefit of being an existing industrial site. Garlick's Arch, both as a potential industrial site and for housing, is inappropriate. It is not only Green Belt land, but much of it is Ancient woodland, and as such even more deserving of preservation. The belt of woodland provides a visible and audible barrier for residents on Portsmouth Road, Burnt Common, from the A3. Parts of the site are prone to flooding - and indeed were under water in January this year. If there really is a need for such warehousing, it should be at Slyfield industrial estate off the A320 between Guildford and Woking. That site was originally to be extended, is low quality land with few houses in the vicinity and could have access improved by the provision of a new access road and junction in the Clay Lane area to and from the A3. It simply makes no sense to create a new industrial site, let alone on a green belt site with Ancient Woodland on it, when there is space available at an existing industrial location. Astonishingly, in writing to those acting for the proposed developers at Slyfield, that land was described by the Council as "sitting in a high sensitivity parcel", not to be developed "unless there is strong justification for doing so". Garlick's Arch however, in the same correspondence provided to me, was described as "medium sensitivity". North Slyfield is assessed as "contributing more towards the purposes of the Green Belt" than Garlick's Arch. This is surely astonishing that an area that is both Greenbelt and Ancient Woodland should be so lowly regarded. it seems to me that the Council is deliberately overstating the sensitivity of the land adjacent to Slyfield - poor quality boggy marsh, and understating that of Garlick's Arch because it is determined to build at the latter and not further develop Slyfield. This conclusion is strengthened by the next thing the Council said to those acting for the Slyfield developers... "it" (Garlick's Arch)... "has in addition to the benefits of meeting our industrial need, significant further benefits in that it facilitates a new on/off slip with..." the A3. We also consider that the site is more accessible to the strategic road network compared to the North Slyfield site which will assist HGV access to and from the site with less impact on the local road network and residents”.

The Council's conclusion takes no regard of the effect on people living in Burnt Common, Send Marsh or Send itself, who would have their already overcrowded roads laden with even more HGVs. The proposed junction is the real clincher. This is the real reason the Council wishes to develop Garlick's Arch - to provide a junction that will assist the proposed developments further afield at Wisley and Gosden's Farm. They have not been honest about this, but Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common are to be sacrificed on the altar of developer-led building to allow the Council to reverse its decision to refuse the Wisley airfield proposal. It clearly fears "planning by appeal " given the applicants are a wealthy Cayman Islands based company who can afford to fight the refusal. The junction is not needed at Garlick's Arch and the effect on the area of this proposal is out of all proportion to its supposed advantage. The infrastructure in the area, roads, sewers, medical facilities and schools, are already at full capacity. They simply could not cope with the additional burden imposed by the Garlick's Arch proposal. The proposed junction would not merely service the immediate area. Traffic using the M25 clockwise and intending to go to Woking, instead of leaving at junction 11 or 12, would leave at 10, thus avoiding some of the delays that build up from that junction, travel the short distance, 2 miles, down the A3 to the new junction then leave there and travel along Send Road, already at full capacity morning and evening, adding to pollution and noise.

I OBJECT to the proposed development of 40 houses at Send Hill together with a 2 pitch travellers' site. Again, this is Green Belt land, there are no "exceptional circumstances" to justify taking it out nor to allow development within it. It provides a useful and attractive area of open land between Send Hill and Potters Lane, which at this point, runs parallel to it. The land in question has been used as a dump in the distant past, and is littered with vent pipes. It is highly likely to be contaminated, given that its use for dumping predates more recent environmental legislation. Development here would be potentially hazardous to health. The road itself is very narrow, at the Potters Lane end especially so. It cannot take additional traffic, and certainly could not deal with Transit vans or even lorries towing large caravans. It is an utterly inappropriate area for such a site. I can only assume that whoever proposed this ludicrous idea has not visited the site.

I OBJECT to the "insetting", i.e. removal, of the villages of Send, Ripley and the Clandons from the Green Belt. There is no demonstrated need let alone "exceptional circumstances" for such action and the proposed massive development in these areas. The former Secretary of State, Eric Pickles, emphasised last year that Councils did not need to achieve Government building targets at the expense of the Green Belt. Both the outgoing Prime Minister and Chancellor, David Cameron and George Osborne, reitered this earlier this year. There is no reason to assume that government policy has changed in the light of events over the past week, and indeed "Brexit" may well lead to a reduction of immigration, depending on the terms of withdrawal from the EU that are negotiated in due course. The Green Belt was to remain sacrosanct as a buffer between urban area except for where exceptional circumstances exist. It is abundantly clear from the proposals in this ill-conceived plan that no such circumstances exist as regards the proposed developments on green field sites in the existing Green Belt.

Send in particular, I concede is not a pretty village, at least as far as the central section of it's main street is concerned. Nevertheless the roads off it are predominantly attractive semi-rural and rural lanes, soon running into attractive and largely unspoilt countryside. Send in particular however, has one attribute shared by only one other village, Shalford, in the Guildford Borough Council area: the Wey Navigation runs through it. This provides a beautiful rural corridor through the northern edge of the village, especially from Trigg's Lock south-west of the village to the Tannery Lane Business Park north-east of it. The Green Belt principle has already been breached in this area by the grant of planning permission for the construction of the new Vision Engineering factory adjacent to the Navigation, but it is accepted that exceptional circumstances were shown for the building of the new factory on land owned by the company next to the existing one. That of course is no reason to allow any further development without again demonstrating exceptional circumstances, nor I would argue, to remove this area from the Green Belt. Send, and its neighbours, should remain in the Green Belt to continue the separation of Guildford from Woking and to avoid having what would effectively be one continuous conurbation from the M25 to Woking to the west of the M25, and to Guildford to the south-west. That is what the Green Belt principle was intended to achieve, and which remains its objective, the intention being that the Green Belt should be permanent unless special circumstances are made out. They clearly are not here.

The housing proposed for Send was initially 435, then on the amended plan, (after a sustained and effective campaign by the Save Send Action Group), 185, now on the latest plan, 485 houses. The proposals have changed each time not only as regards the number of houses to be built, but also their location. This suggests the Council has never had a clear plan - rather it smacks of desperately making policy on the hoof. It does not inspire the confidence of residents in the planning process on something that is going to affect them for decades to come. The proposals as regards the Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common area are utterly disproportionate - the areas on the edge of the Borough closest to Woking are being asked to bear an entirely inappropriate amount of the development proposed in the Guildford Local Plan. I do not object to all development in the area, so trust I cannot be accused of "Nimbyism".

OBJECTION TO THE REMOVAL OF BROWNFIELD SITES, A4, GUILDFORD TOWN CENTRE AND A34, BROADFIELD BUSINESS PARK, SHALFORD.

I OBJECT to the removal of these site from the Local Plan. The Council claims to adopt a brownfield first policy. Policy A4, the former Guildford telephone exchange, is now proposed to be used for commercial retail rather than as before, housing. This clearly suggests the Council is failing to properly implement government policy to use brownfield sites first, before going for previously undeveloped land.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
POLICY A42, CLOCKBARN NURSERY TANNERY LANE.

I OBJECT to the proposed change to policy 42, increasing from 45 to 60 the number of homes proposed for this site because:

1) the number proposed, an increase of 33% on this small site, is way too high for the existing infrastructure of the site to cope with. The turn from Tannery Lane onto the A247, Send Road, is already an extremely difficult one, with very limited visibility in both directions along the main road. At busy times of the day it is virtually impossible to emerge from the junction safely, especially if turning right. The additional vehicles using this junction from this proposed development will further exacerbate the problem. Further proposed development in the Send area under this plan will further increase the problems at this junction.

First, by adding to the traffic on the main A247 from:

a) the proposed development at Garlick's Arch, policy A43, 400 houses as present proposed, but likely to increase in due course,

b) Send Hill, policy A44, 40 houses proposed, and

c) the proposed industrial/warehousing development at Burnt Common, policy A58, a minimum of 7,000 sq m, leading inevitably to an increase in commercial and in particular, HGVs, using Send Road to and from the site.

Second, by additional traffic using the junction from Tannery Lane to that using it at present, from one definite, and one potential, source:-

the definite source - being traffic from the Cartbridge Basin Marina in Tannery Lane which is at present in course of construction, the potential source - should Send Business Park be inset from the Green Belt as proposed at paragraph 4.3.15 - clearly this would inevitably lead to further development of this small business park in the very narrow part of Tannery Lane, with the additional traffic generated by it also having to use the junction with Send Road, A247, since the only alternative route being towards Newark Lane Ripley, with even narrower lanes to negotiate. The proposals for Send Business Park will form the subject of a separate objection in due course.

2) The sewerage system in Send is already at full capacity according to Affinity Water. Additional housing will exacerbate this problem - unless there is a proposal to increase sewage capacity. None has been made.

This policy, with its lack of any proposal for infrastructure improvements, is in direct contradiction to the words of the Council Leader, Councillor Paul Spooner, in his introduction to the Local Plan:

"We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the Borough. The delivery of sites allocated in the plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure which is a key theme of our local plan".

So where is the infrastructure upgrade? - simple, there is nothing proposed.
3) This proposal utterly disregards the hundreds of objections made last year to the previous proposal at this location, for the lesser figure of 45 homes.

4) Open views from the Wey Navigation, National Trust land, will be removed by the provision of a housing estate between the Navigation and Send Village.

5) Run-off from the additional houses will add to the existing problem of surface water flooding in Send Road and Tannery Lane - see comments at 2) above.

6) It is already proposed to inset Send from the Green Belt - the subject of a further objection - see post. This proposal will further reduce the semi-rural nature of the village, to its detriment.

It should not be assumed that, by objecting to the additional 15 homes proposed at this location, that I am by implication, agreeing to the original proposal for 45 homes at this site. I am merely confining my objections to what I am permitted to object to at this stage of the process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A43, GARLICK'S ARCH, PORTSMOUTH ROAD.

I OBJECT to the proposed change to policy A43, 400 homes and 6 travelling showpeople's plots. Whilst the number of homes has not been changed since the last draft of the plan, they are part of this policy proposal, the proposal has been amended, so logically they too can be the subject of objection within this amended proposal.

1) This is undoubtedly the most controversial proposal in the entire proposed Local Plan. It did not feature in the initial, nor even the first amendment, of the Plan. It was introduced in an utterly undemocratic fashion at a meeting of the Council in May 2016, then adjourned to the next meeting in June, at which the majority Conservative group was enjoined to vote for the Plan to be adopted and put forward to the Inspector. It is clear that the proposal was known to be controversial, both as regards its content and the manner in which it had been surreptitiously added to the Plan effectively by the back door clearly to limit the public's right to legitimately object. There is clear collusion between the landowner and the Council. This policy utterly stinks.

2) There is absolutely no demonstrated need for 6 travelling showpeople's plots at this location. Policy A50, Whittles Drive, Normandy, provides all the plots of this nature that are likely to be required within Guildford Borough. There is no evidence to show that these additional ones are needed. Indeed in the Plan there is discussion as to how these plots could be used for housing in the event they are not taken up by showpeople - hardly a ringing endorsement of the "need" for them!

3) Within the limited scope for objections provided by the manner in which this proposal was introduced in 2016, there has been massive response from the residents of Send, Send Marsh and Ripley against this proposal last year. This has been totally ignored by the Council, other than to remove the proposal for 7000 sq. m of warehousing/light industrial from Garlick's Arch and move it to Burnt Common, policy A58, and increase its amount to a minimum of 7000 sq. m. Clearly the reason for the removal of the industrial use from Garlick's Arch is to allow space for further house building on this site later - facilitated by the proposed insetting of this site from the Green Belt, along with the rest of Send and Ripley.

4) This is at present, Green Belt land. As such "exceptional circumstances" have to be proved to allow development on it. No such evidence has been provided by the Council, who seem intent on simply insetting the site from the Green Belt to avoid having to show reason to permit development on it.

5) Building on this land will lead to the effective joining of Ripley, Send Marsh, Send and West Clandon, thus entirely defeating the principle of the Green Belt.

6) The land comprises a large amount of formal "ancient woodland", predating the accession of Elizabeth I, 1558. As such there is a strong public interest in retaining it as such.

7) The land currently floods regularly, and is a flood zone 2 allocation. Adding tarmac and concrete will significantly exacerbate a clear existing problem.

8) The proposal for 400 homes on one site is a) excessive and b) disproportionate for Send, Ripley, Send Marsh and Burnt Common.

a) Excessive. The infrastructure in the area being utterly insufficient to cope, roads, sewage, schools and doctors' surgery all being inadequate to cope with probably 1200 additional people and 800 vehicles. No proposal is made in the plan to address this, save for the addition of a new 4 way junction on and off the A3 at Burnt Common - but that not being proposed to be built until after the houses have been built. See the observations made at A) 2) above, re Clockbarn Nursery, policy A42, which are equally applicable here.

b) Disproportionate. Send and Ripley, in the north-east corner of Guildford Borough, have 11% of it's population. Yet the Plan proposes 40% of the development for them, the majority of it accounted for by policy A43, Garlick's Arch. Yet Policy A46, land to the south of Normandy and north of Flexford, which proposed 1100 homes, has been removed in its entirety, whilst Gosden Hill Farm Merrow has its number reduced from 2000 to 1700, and near the Hog's Back, Blackwell Farm's proposed homes has been reduced from 1800 to 1500. This merely emphasises how utterly disproportionate the Garlick's Arch proposals are. Many in the Send area believe it has been punished by Guildford Council for its temerity in electing two Guildford Green Belt Councillors in 2015 - a sentiment this proposal does nothing to dispel.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A58, LAND AT BURNT COMMON. LONDON ROAD.

I OBJECT to the proposed change to reintroduce industrial/warehousing space, class B1c, B2 and B8 at this location.

1) There is no demonstrated need for warehousing/light industrial space of 7000 square metres here, let alone a MINIMUM development in that figure as is now proposed since this policy was removed from Garlick's Arch, policy A43, where it was in the last draft of the Plan. The demand for light industrial/warehousing land has reduced, and there is absolutely no need for any such development in the Green Belt. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment assessed the need for employment land in the entire borough at 3.9 hectares, yet this site alone would amount to 10 hectares. At Slyfield, Guildford, there is an area of land behind the currently developed light industrial site that was planned for further development of the Slyfield Industrial Estate, and was so included in the original 2014 draft Plan. This is poor quality land between Slyfield and the A3 trunk road. Any need for further warehousing/light industrial land should be met from this land initially. It is clearly wrong to take Green Belt land in Send for such use, and again, there is no demonstrable need to develop in the Green Belt under the "exceptional circumstances" rule. Only about half a mile separates Slyfield from the A3. There is not even a need for the previously mooted "Clay Lane Development". A new junction on the A3 and a short stretch of road into Slyfield from it could alleviate queues at the Stoke junction in Guildford and avoid the need for much of the traffic for Slyfield using that junction and the A320 Woking Road to get to and from the Slyfield Industrial estate.

2) Traffic using the route to and from Burnt Common, especially HGVs, will add to the already over-crowded local roads in the Send and Ripley area. This locality is already regularly grid-locked morning and evening.

3) If this proposal goes ahead it will, along with policy A43, Garlick's Arch, lead to the effective joining of Ripley, Send Marsh, Burnt Common and West Clandon into one conurbation, utterly defeating the purpose of the Green Belt.

4) The Council has shown a lamentable lack of consistency as regards this proposal. It was included in the 2014 draft Plan, at Burnt Common as now, then later removed. In the 2016 draft it was to be at Garlick's Arch, but deleted from it in the current proposed Plan, and has now reverted to site A58, Burnt Common, but this time in an enlarged form. The Council indicates by its actions it really has no idea where this industrial development should take place, or even how large it should be. An indication of the Council's confused thinking as regards this site is provided by its own comments in the 2016 version of the Plan:-

"The site, (A43, Garlick's Arch), affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site at Gosden Hill Farm (policy A25), than the Burnt Common Site, (A58) did. A43 (Garlick's Arch), provides the employment floor space needed in the Plan to help meet identified needs"

A year ago, Guildford Borough Council was trumpeting the merits of Garlick's Arch over Burnt Common to such an extent that it had removed Burnt Common from the Plan entirely. Yet a year on, it has returned Burnt Common to the plan. The Council is ignoring its own guidelines on separation as both policy sites A43 and A58 virtually adjoin each other, being separated only by the A247, Clandon Rd.

GREEN BELT POLICY 2 AT PARAGRAPH 4.3.15 - RE SEND BUSINESS PARK

I OBJECT to the "insetting" i.e. removal, of Send Business Park from the Green Belt. This is a long-established non-conforming user in the Green Belt adjacent to the National Trust owned Wey Navigation. There is no justification for its insetting and indeed the Council makes no attempt to argue that there is any such reason. It therefore follows that no exceptional circumstances exist as required by the National Planning Policy Framework and thus that there is no reason to inset it.

- The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more and far too much
- It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people
- It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
- It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse
- It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse
- It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

- It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people, including myself
- There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
- It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no “exceptional circumstances” exist
- It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
- It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
- It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
- It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
- It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
- And finally, as to my initial point It will generate excessive traffic that will block up further the local roads of Send and Ripley

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58.
Now a new allocation for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing
I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

- It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
- The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
- There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
- The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
- It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

I have lived in Send for 13 years and in that time traffic has increased incredibly and I now regularly get stuck coming up Send Barns Lane to Burnt Common and then down to and through Ripley. Getting through Ripley village is hard work with roads that are too narrow already. Local school places are insufficient and getting doctors appointments is getting harder all the time. The amount of expansion these plans would realise is horrendous and I would love for the local councillors to have to live here themselves to see the complete desecration of our beautiful area. We chose to move to a semi rural area, not a town, which is what this village will become. I wrote a long letter of complaint previously, as did many others, and our voices not only have been ignored but the proposals have got even worse subsequently. What are you thinking? PLEASE reconsider.

I object to building 400 houses and 7000 square metres of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch – using existing brownfield site areas for development rather than an ancient woodland on Green Belt land would seem to be far less destructive and would avoid additional risk of flooding in an area where water drainage and flooding are already issues. Living adjacent and at an elevation just below this planned development and knowing that we are already in a flood risk area I cannot help feel this development would only cause future problems. Additionally the buffer offered by this strip of woodland between the housing in Send Marsh and the ever increasing traffic of the A3 is very important for both air quality and noise reduction.

The development of this area, necessitating the loss of an extremely valuable relief of green belt woodland, additional flooding risk and increased traffic loading local to an already difficult junction, against utilisation of existing brownfield sites does not seem necessary or progressive.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
   a. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   b. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
   c. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
   d. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
   e. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
   f. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the exaggerated “housing need” figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated artificially and erroneously inflates the housing need and key methods used to calculate the housing need have been withheld using excuses of dubious legality. The majority of students at the university do not settle in Guildford, are not long term residents - and should therefore be outside the scope of housing figures on the plan. No account has been taken of the “Brexit” factor, which is likely to further reduce demand from housing from non-UK nationals as migration is likely to be more tightly controlled.

2. Demographics would appear to indicate that the Guildford area, and Surrey as a whole, has an ageing population and a lower birthrate. Ultimately this will lead to the housing need being lower as more people will die, with fewer replacing them, so the existing housing stock could be sufficient.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. Specific Objections to the Draft Plan relating to Send

2. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.

3. Garlick’s Arch contains ancient woodland and is subject to flooding already. To build and tarmac over land here would either increase the flooding issue here or move the flooding on to nearby properties.

4. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough. The existing planning permissions within the village do not appear to have been taken into account in the figures set out by the council.

5. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available and with plans for enhanced road access to make it more accessible.

6. The proposed new interchange on to the A3 will increase the traffic problems in the Send/Ripley area. The A3 and A247 are both at capacity (and probably beyond) and any small incident on either road can cause massive disruption on the surrounding roads. An accident or roadworks on the A247 can cause gridlock throughout the roads surrounding Send. The A3 is frequently at a standstill from the University interchange north to Burpham or Burnt Common and often as far back as the M25 in the event of accidents. The Transport Evidence in the Draft Plan is incomplete and shows that the A247 will suffer further congestion as Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.

7. Many of the local roads, including large sections of the A3 and A 247, are in a state of disrepair with the road surface in an appalling condition in places. Further traffic would cause more damage to the surface, and the current practice of patching only increases traffic problems through congestion - but does not relieve them.

8. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford’s urban brownfield areas which are much closer to existing transport hubs.

9. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially - there exists a suspicion that this might be due to Send having had the temerity to elect a councillor from a group hostile to the council’s proposed plans for the Green Belt. If correct and evidenced, then this would be further grounds for prosecution of individuals for misconduct in public office.

10. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic, especially large vehicles. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more, and probably will not be able to cope with what will be generated from those developments already given permission without casualties.

11. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

12. The sewage network in Send is already at overcapacity due to previous development being allowed by the council without due consideration of the amenities. Thames Water or their contractors are regularly called out to the main sewer through Send to unblock it and a number of properties along Send Road (including ours) have had waste spills in the gardens because of blocked sewers.

13. The heavy traffic through Send has been blamed by contractors from Thames Water for collapses within the main sewer along the A247. The increased use of the road by HGV traffic has increased the vibration on the road and the sewer is in sandy substrata which is susceptible to problems from vibration.

14. Any increased risk of flooding in the Send area raises the prospect of houses becoming unusable, uninsurable and unsaleable as a result of the wilful destruction of the delicate Green Belt. This is negligent at best and a criminal dereliction of duty while in public office at worst.

1. The land at Wisley Airfield is adjacent to land with endangered species and any development could harm those species.

1. Legality of Insetting of Villages from the Green Belt
2. Current case law in England is that any removal of land from the Green Belt for any reason and by any means is illegal unless there are special circumstances. This is also set down in the various planning frameworks. Insetting from the Green Belt for the purposes of freeing up land for building without special circumstances has been declared illegal in previous court judgements.
3. No special circumstances are set out in the Draft Local Plan. Proposing or following a course of action known to be illegal should be cause for investigation of those involved for misconduct in public office.
4. I specifically object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford. With no special circumstances given in the Draft Plan, the insetting of Send from the Green Belt would be illegal.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity. Any development of housing should take place within the bounds of the Guildford Urban Area where sufficient public transport exists (the council having cut public transport out to the villages) and could be used by commuters. The very last thing that is needed is housing where the occupiers would require cars for commuting as that will just make the traffic problems in the area worse.

2. I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

1. Highways England have already indicated that the A3 is at overcapacity, having objected to further parking at the Royal Surrey County Hospital on the grounds that it would increase traffic problems on the A3. Any proposed development outside the town boundary will just put further pressure on the local road network.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

1. The allocation of development to Send and the immediate surroundings is out of all proportion to what the area should be allocated for the size of the ward in the borough.

2. The proposed changes affecting Send take no account of the A3 being already at or over capacity. Highways England recently objected to the Royal Surrey County Hospital adding additional parking spaces to the hospital site as the A3 is over capacity and the proposals for Send would create similar or worse numbers of vehicles to that mooted for the holy car park. There are apparently no immediate plans for the next 10 years at least to upgrade the A3 in this area - and given that any incident on the A3 can lead to gridlock on the A247 through Send with the current traffic levels, no development should take place in this area.

3. Any development in and around Send will need to take into account the lack of public transport at commuting times of day and allow for multiple vehicles for each house or development- leading to an exponential increase in traffic in an already busy and over stretched road area and would lead to further instances of gridlock.
4. There is no provision for schools, road improvement or other services such as GP services in the Send area where such services are already at breaking point. Until the services are improved there should be no further development.

5. Surface flooding is already a problem in the Send area. While much of the village is slightly above the current flood plain, this is marginal and roads are subject to surface flooding as a result of existing development. Any further development in and around the village will increase both the flooding and surface water flooding risks.

6. We have recently received notification from the local water supplier that water supplies are under pressure after a drier than usual winter. That is with current levels of building. Any further building and development in the area will both increase the demand for water while increasing the flood risk and decreasing the amount of water entering the ground and thus leading to aquifer depletion and drought risk. Overall, the changes to the Local Plan are disproportionally increasing development in Send and the surrounding area at the expense of the Green Belt while ignoring the large stock of brownfield sites within Guildford itself. Those sites should be used before any development on Green Belt or before removing areas from the Green Belt for development. We strongly object to these changes to the Local Plan and urge that they be rejected and the development moved to brownfield sites, of which the borough has an ample sufficiency.

1. We object to Policy A58 for land at Burnt Common as there has been a decline in demand for industrial land since the original plan, not an increase. There is land already available at Slyfield and in Guildford itself for industrial use of the type proposed so there is no need for this development. The extra traffic from any such development will lead to traffic gridlock on roads that already suffer gridlock at the slightest incident.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as IlI as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.
It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.
Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.
There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students Ire accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations Ire available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.
Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”.

Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity

6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): () development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

We are writing to voice our concerns over the Draft Plan, and in particular Site A40, so we’ll begin with that one. How can it possibly be appropriate to build 120 houses on this site, when very recently Nigel Farley was refused permission to build two small, detached bungalows in Green Lane on the grounds of Inappropriate Development in the Green Belt, copy attached.

Access to Green Lane from the site would be difficult with Green Lane being little more than a single-track lane, extremely liable to flooding – we have had numerous occasions of raw sewage running down the lane - and the prospect of some additional 240 cars using it is unthinkable, along with the increased traffic turning in and out of Ockham Road North, particularly at the spot where local children cross to catch the Howard of Effingham bus. It is unlikely that many residents would even walk to the village shops, given that they’re a mile away with pavement on one side of the road only, necessitating crossing Ockham Road North by Waterloo Farm where traffic is often passing well in excess of the 40 mph speed limit and where tradesmen/delivery drivers/visitors seem to consider the footpath a parking zone.

It is interesting to note that the residents of Oakland Farm objected to an application for nearby dog walking on the grounds that their land was used by many native species of wildlife but don’t appear to care so much now that money is involved, letter attached.
If you add A37, 38, 39 and 40 together, this is an additional 395 houses in a small area which would have an extremely detrimental effect on traffic, schooling, medical centre. In addition, should site A38 also go ahead, the traffic on Long Reach would be much increased and given that during the football season, it is almost impossible to drive down this would cause much local disruption. If Wisley Airfield 2000 house development were also to go ahead, the whole area would be a nightmare.

The road surfaces in Ockham/the Horsleys are appalling. The Drift being spectacularly bad and with the ill thought decision to allow the golf club driving range to be allowed, traffic there and on Effingham Common Road will be disrupted and the roads further ruined.

The area is served by 2 train stations, neither of which have sufficient parking and we cannot believe that most commuters would walk or cycle to either given the narrow width of local road, no footpaths on much of the routes and no street lighting.

In general, we see the estimated population has increased by 4,938 since the last plan – where do these figures come from?? Also where are the increased 4,000 extra jobs coming from?

Traffic generally in the Ockham/Horsley/Ripley area is becoming a nightmare. There seems to be no time of day when there’s not a substantial queue to access the A3 London bound at Ripley. What the combined additional housing in Wisley, Ockham, the Horsleys would add to this is easy to imagine. And I have not looked closely at the plans for Ripley and Send but these would also have a huge impact.

- It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people
- It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction

- It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
- There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
- It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no “exceptional circumstances” exist
- It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
- It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth 1
- It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
- It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
- It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
- It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

The other main objection I have is to the A3 works at Burnt Common. I’m sure that GBC have already analysed the amount of traffic that passes from West Crandon and through Ripley having exited the A3 as it makes it way east through send along to Old Woking. The road is at over capacity during rush hours as it is and to be honest if Burnt Common become and on and off ramp for the A3 the Send Village will become a carpark not only at rush hour but all through the day. One can only imagine the quality of life for those living along Send Barns Lane and Send Road. The noise and pollution from vehicles would be unbearable and no doubt exceed all pollution levels with diesel and petrol fumes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to object to the following elements of the Draft Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016

- Policy P2: The removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt
- The construction of additional housing in West Horsley (sites A38 and A41)

The main aim of Green Belt is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open. Developing sites A38 and A41 will undoubtedly contribute to urban sprawl. They are open expanses of land which give views of woodland and surrounding countryside and should not be altered in any way.

Whilst I understand the need for more housing I object to the high number of houses proposed. West Horsley seems to have a disproportionately high number of houses proposed. This will put an enormous strain on local facilities and infrastructure including:

1. The local primary school is already oversubscribed and the local secondary school for the Horsleys, (Howard of Effingham) also serves Effingham and Bookham and is already at full capacity.
2. There is one medical centre serving the Horsleys and it is extremely busy. Building such a large number of new homes in the villages will put too much pressure on the surgery.
3. There will be increased pressure on the rail service. The parking area at Horsley Station is small, always full on weekdays and has no room for expansion. There is an infrequent bus service through the villages and it is not a practical option for getting to work.
4. There will be a large increase in traffic in and around the village, especially when sites A38 and A41 are enough of a distance from the shops/medical centre and station to suggest people will drive rather than walk/cycle. Ockham Road and East Lane are busy, especially at peak times and are in a poor state of repair already.
5. There are areas in the village which suffer with flooding after heavy rain. Clearly the drainage infrastructure is already under strain and will not cope with so many additional houses.
6. The current state of pavements in the villages are inadequate – not continuous in some places – and are certainly not in a fit state for an increased numbers of residents.

One of the reasons our villages are so attractive and pleasant for both residents and visitors is the rural setting. Changing the density of housing and increasing the number of houses so drastically will change the appearance and feel of the villages forever.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Even without A36 and A41 there is still a total of 2395 houses being proposed in the Horsley/Ockham area and I feel very strongly that this increase in the number of houses in this area is disproportionate and will put local services and infrastructure under tremendous pressure. While I endorse the proposal to provide a rigorous bus service and cycle network from the Wisley airfield site to several railway stations, I feel that there will still be a significant increase in the number of car journeys made to those railway stations from this and the other proposed sites. The proposed developments at A37 and A38 will certainly increase car journeys to both Horsley and Effingham stations where the car parks are already full every day (only A39 and possibly A40 are within reasonable walking distance to Horsley station). There seems to be no proposal for enhancing local bus services, footpaths and cycle paths in the Horsley area to try to mitigate this.

The removal of A41 from the plan is to be welcomed as its possible future use for a relocated and enlarged primary school would represent a better use of the land than more housing and address my reservations regarding the level of primary school provision in the area. However, I assume the existing school site would then be used for housing, offsetting partially or entirely the housing removed from the plan by deleting this site. The removal of this site from the plan will not therefore result in a reduction in the adverse impact of the plan on the roads, medical facilities, shop and station parking in West and East Horsley. I would like to see the removal of this site accompanied by the removal of one of the other sites in West Horsley (A38 or A40) to achieve a genuine reduction in the amount of extra housing imposed on the area.

3. The most contentious issue in the proposed Local Plan is the housing target, which has been set equal to the “10.58 Through a proactive monitoring process it will be possible to maintain and develop understanding of the housing market, building on the outcomes of the SHMA. It will allow the implementation of policies to be tailored to evolving circumstances and inform future policy development.

10.59 Long-term monitoring which addresses indicators of housing need, market signals relating to supply-demand balance, and the housing supply trajectory can inform future development and implementation of planning policies for housing provision.”

The SHMA therefore foresees a need to review, and makes no presumptions as to what adjustments, upward or downward, may be necessary.

1. The Draft Guildford Borough Infrastructure Delivery Plan 2016 is much more positive than the proposed Local Plan as regards review. It states:

“1.2 This draft IDP will be subject to change up to and potentially during the Independent examination of the draft Local Plan. The IDP Infrastructure Schedule is a ‘living document’ that will be reviewed and modified as required throughout the plan period as further information becomes available in order to ensure that it remains up to date.”

1. There has been massive public disquiet concerning the housing target and the consequent need to build on the Green Belt. The OAN itself has been the subject of detailed criticism. My judgement is that the OAN predictions are fragile. They depend greatly on predictions of population growth, and much of this is ascribed net international immigration. In the present political climate predictions of immigration must be subject to much uncertainty.

2. I judge that the proposed Local Plan should include an explicit commitment to review its key targets, especially the housing target, every five years, say. This commitment should use positive wording and should cover all eventualities be they upward or downward.

9. At the very least, the wording of paragraph 1.19 should be amended along these lines

I regret the striking out of the ‘Vision’ box. It is a fine statement of intent and the additional words in 4.4.74 do not compensate for its loss. It should be retained. Furthermore I consider that the Vision should include the new strategic infrastructure necessary to the good functioning of the town, especially the future of the gyratory and bus interchange provision. I would advocate the new bridge proposed by GVG.
The Policy should include a clause on provision of employment floor space: see comment on E2 (1) above. As it stands the Plan is inconsistent here. There should be a Monitoring Indicator for employment floorspace.

I consider that retail need figures for new floor space are over-estimated.

I strongly believe it is misguided to strike out the A&M Vision and TCMP as Key Evidence and to qualify the Town Centre Regeneration Strategy as carrying no weight (see Evidence Base Other Plans and Strategies). The result is that there is no strategic spatial evidence for this, the most important part of the Borough.

4.1.9 Noted that North Street is now included as a Strategic Site.

Housing numbers now given, rising from 450pa to 850pa over the 15 year period 2019 to 2034, totaling 9,810. This leaves 2,616 to be delivered during the four years 2015 to 2019, an average of 654 per year. This looks unrealistic compared with the numbers for the subsequent four years 2019 to 2023, which total 1,900. I do not understand why the table in the LAA shows a target of 654 for the first four years. For all subsequent years the targets follow an upward profile. Why not start at 380, the 2015/16 net completions, and profile up more steeply from there? The early deficit would then largely be removed. The use of 654 for the first four years appears to be highly arbitrary. Furthermore the sudden start of so many sites in 2019/20 seems highly artificial. However I support the general strategy proposed, except that the total number of new homes needed is less than 12,426.

"4.1.9a The figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426 homes.” This is not made obvious: see above.

4.1.9b. It is not clear in the Plan where the crucial evidence is for the rolling five year supply in the short term. A Table roughly like Table 1 should be replaced by a diagram which gives a broad brush picture of how the housing target will be delivered over time (i.e. the diagram in the LAA). Some of the key LAA information should be brought into the Plan.

12,426 homes over 19 years equals an average of 654 homes per year. GRA will contest the need for so many homes. We agree with GRA’s analysis.

There are no proposals in the Spatial Vision to improve transport infrastructure, despite the statement in the Foreword that “The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan.” The Spatial Vision has plenty of site specifics on new housing, and some specifics on new employment land. It should have key specifics on new infrastructure, especially transport. (The subsequent 13 Strategic Objectives are totally non-specific).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wrote in 2 years ago to object to the last draft Local Plan and was delighted that you withdrew it to revise it. However, I am very disappointed to see so many problems reoccur in this new plan. Whilst there are some laudable aims stated, in many cases the plan itself fails to deliver, and I strongly object to this new draft local plan.

1. Housing need calculations

Once again it appears that the data and hence analysis is flawed. Last time you had over-inflated the housing need, and it has got worse not better this time! I strongly OBJECT to the need to create so many new homes. I understand that this has been performed by an external agent, and no basis of calculations have been provided. Moreover, under Brexit, immigration will fall, and so the number of homes required is doubly excessive. I believe that GBC is seeking to maximise the number of homes in order to boost its income rather than actually meeting any rational housing need. As this drives so many of the other unacceptable features of the plan, the LDP should again be rejected and GBC should actually listen to the voices of the residents and plan in a measured, reasonable, and sustainable manner that doesn’t seek to destroy the wonderful heritage that Surrey provides. Do not be the council that presides over the destruction of centuries of countryside at the behest of developers pushing for profit.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Existing villages such as the Horsleys have insufficient infrastructure to provide for the development proposed.

I totally object to the need to expand the villages and I OBJECT to the plan to create new settlements such as that proposed at the Wisley Airfield site. The plans do not have the good road, rail, shopping, education, health and leisure facilities to support the new settlements such as Wisley Airfield.

Moreover, it seems perverse in an age of fundamental shift from physical to virtual (internet) shopping, that GBC are still considering massively increasing the area for retail. Some of the areas earmarked for unnecessary shopping facilities could be far better used to meet the perceived housing need and allow protection of the environment that this draft LDP seeks to change for the worse for ever.

Plans proposed have not considered the infrastructure and are fundamentally unwise

Notwithstanding that these plans go against statutory direction, there are additional reasons why many of the consultants’ proposals are flawed. Real concerns of sustainability and viability, together with almost no real impact studies, show that these plans are constructed to meet a political agenda, rather than rational assessment that would have discounted them. I OBJECT to the plans for the following reasons:

- Flooding

In recent years, flooding has become a severe national problem. In the 5 years we have been in East Horsley, there has been significant flooding on the roads each winter. The water table is high, and the drainage system is quite obviously incapable of handling run-off. Removal of more trees and fields to create dwellings will only exacerbate the problem.

- Transport

Many of the proposed villages for development sites struggle already with road and rail infrastructure. For example East and West Horsley, and the Wisley airfield site, are served by the Guildford via Cobham branch line, which is already creaking at the seams at rush hour. With existing population levels, the morning trains are often full after Effingham Junction, even though 10 car trains have been introduced to cope. It is totally impractical to add significant numbers of commuters to our current load. Moreover, the car parking at Horsley and Effingham Junction is barely adequate now. The rail link is simply so congested that it is impossible to contemplate building 3000 new homes in the Horsley/Wisley area to feed into the currently stretched system, let alone the homes in Merrow that will also make commuters lives a misery on the Cobham line.

In terms of roads, they are narrow and struggle with the existing capacity. The major access link is onto the A3, and Old Lane would be completely overwhelmed by the proposals. While there is, this time, indication of junction modification on the A3 at Burntcommon, it is apparent that even SCC are unaware of whether this can be sufficient in any way. It certainly doesn’t appear to be serving the Wisley site. Hence, for transport reasons, it is totally unacceptable to be recommending such a massive and unsustainable development.

Even if additional access were provided at the Ockham Junction, not all traffic would use that exit – at least 50% would use the Old Lane access either to the A3 or to Horsley/Effingham. Planning to build nearly 3000 new homes at Wisley Airfield, Send and the Horsleys, would yield more than 6000 new cars in the area. This is totally impractical and would overwhelm the existing infrastructure, consisting as it does of very narrow rural lanes. Therefore I OBJECT to the draft plan on the basis of the road and rail infrastructure being total inadequate for the planned development.

GBC should also look very closely at the horrendous traffic problems round the Wooden Bridge area of the A3 and the A25 at Ladymead that occur every working day, and recognise that additional traffic from increased housing would be a disaster.

- Schools and Medical centre

Simply unable to cope with more demand.

Fundamentally Flawed Assessment of East Horsley parade of shops as a Rural District Centre capable to support increased levels of trade from new developments

East Horsley’s parade of small shops is characterised as being 3rd largest in the whole of the Guildford area in terms of size and facilities!, after Guildford town centre and then Ash Vale. This belies that fact that it is no more than a small village facility and certainly not a Rural District Centre (which requires more than 30 retail outlets and we appear to have about 25). Road and rail infrastructure is insufficient; car parking insufficient; space available insufficient to allow any further retail development (if any were contemplated – and it should not be contemplated). Such designation implies relaxation of planning restrictions that would forever change the nature of our village, and I OBJECT to East Horsley shopping parade being classified as a Rural District Centre.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Affordable Housing

GBC is seeking to provide a policy that provides affordable housing, and meets the criteria for 40% of new housing being affordable. But in almost every regard, the LDP fails to deliver this. What is really important is that young people in the GBC area are able to buy their own homes. GBC thinks it is acceptable that rented homes, student accommodation, and travellers pitches can be sufficient. Travellers pitches are needed, but by no means should they count towards affordability measures. Student homes are for transient population, and we need to provide affordable homes for the next generation to settle in our midst – in the villages as well as Guildford town centre.
However, it appears that GBC are more than happy to let developers buy their way out of providing affordable homes for purchase in the rural villages (where they are needed), but committing to build more rented accommodation elsewhere in the Guildford area. GBC should mandate that developers stop building massive homes and provide proper sustainable development – but in keeping with the existing surrounding density, not at the density proposed in the infill locations.

A further issue arises in the LDP in that there is no attempt to address the issue that affordability ratio is over 10 compared to the national average of just under 6.5. This is a serious issue and warrants more extensive consideration and treatment, but is glossed over in the LDP.

1. Green Belt Protection

Green Belt status is a vital protection for our environment, our way of life, and our communities. While GBC is seeking to make massive detrimental changes to meet their perceived but wrong housing need, I believe in any case that meeting housing development need is not sufficient grounds to amend the Green Belt. Therefore, I strongly OBJECT to any changes to the Green Belt being made for housing reasons. Our villages should retain their Green Belt status to preserve the culture, the environment, and provide a barrier against the continual and pervasive over-population of our beautiful countryside.

I would remind GBC that there needs to be “exceptional reason” for any village to be removed from the Green Belt, and that housing need to make up development plan numbers is NOT one of them. Where there is need to add housing, use brownfield and extend the current larger communities such as Guildford and Woking to meet needs – where the infrastructure can support the growth. Please consider refusing planning for future new supermarkets such as Waitrose in Guildford, which was not needed, and build housing to the maximum capacity instead. It is simply outrageous that the plan entails over 65% of the new housing being planned for current Green Belt areas.

It is counter to national policy to remove the highest level of statutory protection and rely on conservation areas and other changeable planning policies. Therefore, I can only conclude that the proposed changes to the Green Belt are being done simply to remove any objections to the future development. Hence, there should be NO CHANGE to the Green Belt status of the villages concerned. The LDP therefore needs to be amended to remove the proposals to remove Green Belt status and remove development plans seeking to build on current Green Belt land.

Concluding remarks

In summary, there are several significant areas of major objection to the LDP that impact on life in the Surrey villages. The LDP appears to have specifically gone against national Green Belt policy that states that meeting housing need is absolutely not a valid reason for re-categorisation of Green Belt. This plan is therefore ill-considered, and needs to be re-worked from the ground-up and taking full account that Green Belt villages cannot be re-designated to get round planning laws. GBC should seek to

1) get accurate (and hence far lower) housing demand forecast, and provide objective evidence for their forecasts
2) find ways to meet this without sacrificing Green Belt nor existing village character and community, and
3) before deciding to recommend plots for development, actually consider the real implications on rural lanes and other infrastructure when the plots are amalgamated

GBC should be protecting the Green Belt, the villages and the way of life that we have all come to know and love. Let’s use the plan to do that, not destroy it in many areas, as seems to be the likely outcome from the current draft plan. You have the power to protect for the next 20 years at least, or the ability at a stroke to destroy forever the heritage we cherish. As councillors and planners, you have this important responsibility – please do not take it lightly on the basis of flawed assumptions.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object in the strongest terms to the local plan for Horsley.

I have lived in East Horsley for over 21 years and it is a lovely place to live and work.

I am in no doubt that if any of the proposals contained within the local plan are followed through then we will lose what makes the Horsleys a vibrant and complete community.
We are a village, and we act like a village and it is worth holding on to this.

Removal from Green Belt

What is the point of the Green Belt if it can be removed on a whim? What are the exceptional circumstances that have been demonstrated for this to apply. I would appreciate a response on this point.

Settlement Boundaries.

This decision too seemed to have no basis. There is scope to build additional houses within the boundary (in much lower numbers) and it is vital that we retain the Horsleys as a distinct village.

Infrastructure

There is no doubt that the infrastructure within the village cannot cope with the number of additional houses proposed. The parking at the station is full to overflowing, there is constant heavy traffic already on our narrow roads - particular problems on Ockham Road South and the drainage system fails every time we have a heavy shower. I do not have personal experience of local schools but I understand they are full and that medical facilities are stretched. We have quite a lot of older people in Horsley and they are a greater burden on the Health Service and deserve to be treated quickly.

Station Parade

The erroneous designation of Station Parade as a District Centre seems to have happened because somebody pressed the wrong button on their calculator. We have a collection of village shops - no more - and the village is not equipped to cope with the development proposed.

Villages at Ockham and Burnt Common

The impact of these proposed developments on our village would be enormous - extra traffic before and after complete and the demand for facilities within the village.

Concern over Housing numbers
It is hard to believe that there is sufficient demand within our area for so many houses. No one objects to "infill" but this is a major change in the shape of our village which seems to have been decided on against all the evidence. Is it true there is sufficient brown field land within Guildford to build a large proportion of these homes? I would appreciate a response to this.

I am concerned that some local businesses are being sacrificed in order to build houses that we do not need. Two local businesses are about to disappear as a result of the new Opera House (construction traffic is already a problem)

While most younger residents work in London there are many middle aged and older people who work locally. It is one of the joys of living in Horsley that friends and neighbours are truly part of the local community. It is important that we retain this balance.

I think that the number of houses allocated to this site is ridiculous, I don't have a problem with houses being built here but the number suggested is far too high. The infrastructure in the area can not cope with that amount of additional cars/people. Where are the children going to go to school? Send CoE is already oversubscribed as is Ripley primary and then it is a whole different ball game with secondary schools - there is just not the availability of places.

Also the access on and off the A3 even if you add an additional junction at Burnt Common to go North Bound, it is going to cause an already busy road to be choked every day. Yes it would relieve the amount of traffic going through Ripley but Send Barns Lane and Send Marsh Road will become a nightmare - especially as the new entrance to Send School will be in Send Barns Lane and both roads are used to cut through to Woking. And if the Wisley Airfield gets granted the whole area is just going to be inundated with cars spoiling an otherwise quiet haven between Woking and the M25.

Please do not grant that many houses on this site!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents
2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near Shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.
The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.
The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.
I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for “overdevelopment”/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students I OBJECT accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be "closely related" Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances." The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere.
Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:
1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

---
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

1. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

2. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

3. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

1. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

2. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

3. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015
21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.
No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.
In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy H3

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.
The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.
The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

"Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market
Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford
until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P4 (FLOOD RISK AND WATER PROTECTION):

Flooding across the country last winter clearly demonstrated the danger of overdevelopment and pressure on local drainage systems. I have concerns that building this number of homes, with much high density development, will lead to flood risk in the local area.

The proposed development in the Horsleys and the Three Farms Meadows (site A35 - the former Wisley Airfield) is unsustainable and will lead to environmental issues both at a local level and in adjoining areas downstream.
The huge scale of proposed development at A35 - Three Farms Meadow will have a huge impact on Ockham, the Horsleys and other surrounding communities. The scale of development will change the nature of these villages irrevocably, creating in effect a new town in a protected green belt area and overwhelming the local amenities, infrastructure and character. The draft Plan has failed to provide substantive evidence of a specific and defined need for large scale high density social housing in the local area.

In conclusion, I strongly object to its proposals as referred to above and believe that the proposed development would seriously detract from the very special character and nature of the green belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Finally, I STRONGLY OBJECT TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD) this proposal should be rejected for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties. There are no “exceptional circumstances” which can justify building on the Green Belt and destroying this area of natural beauty. The Council have sought to misrepresent the site as brownfield – but only 15% of it is developed. The proposals would irreparably damage the rural feel of Ockham and surrounding villages and lead to the creation of a small town – but with no opportunity for commensurate extension of infrastructure and development of necessary supporting facilities (or employment opportunities). This makes the proposals wholly unsustainable – without adequate provision for transport facilities, wastewater capacity and runoff, local schools, medical and other amenities, road capacity and flood prevention.

The development would create an isolated urban development but with none of the benefits of urban living and destroy the rural community. The proposed housing density is excessive when compared with existing development in the villages and the new developments would not blend with the existing developments.

The draft Plan fails to address the collective and hugely destructive impact of this site on a small part of the borough which lacks the infrastructure (particularly transport) to support it. It is disappointing to note that the total amount of new building is totally out of scale with the planned development elsewhere in the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas which are not protected by Green Belt.

The development is unsustainable for all of the reasons outlined above. Ockham is a beautiful, very rural village and the proposed development will utterly destroy the village which will be subsumed in a “new town” urban sprawl. The impact of this development on all neighbouring communities cannot be underestimated. The Council have failed to demonstrate any collective impact assessment on the surrounding area and communities.

I also object to Policy H1 (HOMES FOR ALL) on the grounds that the Policy doesn’t set any constraints on building and the housing mix has been based on pre-Brexit growth and demographic assumptions which are now unproven and should be subject to review.

The draft Local Plan has failed to compel the University of Surrey to use its many planning consents and existing space, such as car parks, to provide required student accommodation. If the University were made to take responsibility for accommodating its students on the land which it already owns but fails to efficiently utilise, this would free up housing stock within the City to be utilised to answer any housing requirements identified by the Local Plan.

The proposals for development contained in the Local Plan impose a disproportionate amount (the majority) in Green Belt land and provides too few new homes in urban areas such as Guildford city centre where transport links are better and work opportunities are greater facilities.

I also object to Policy H3 (rural exception homes) which loosens the criteria by allowing “market housing” and development that changes the housing mix. Developers would be able to override NPPF “exceptional circumstances” and other restrictions to build large houses in the Green Belt.

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Under existing law, an unfulfilled housing need is not an exceptional circumstance. Conversely, the existence of the Green Belt/Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty is a legitimate legal reason for not meeting objectively assessed housing need. The draft Plan fails to demonstrate substantive evidence that other development options have been thoroughly investigated and found to be untenable and therefore I object to any proposal to remove greenbelt designation from East and West Horsley.

OBJECTION TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY) AND POLICY I2 (SUPPORTING DTP’S ROAD STRATEGY): the Council have failed to consider and take proper account of existing and increased pressures on infrastructure in setting out its development plans. The proposed and excessive housebuilding in our rural communities and countryside / green belt land is not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure which is a key flaw in the Plan. The Council have failed to provide any plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone capacity to accommodate the huge increase in demand / burden once thousands of houses are built across the countryside.

Policy i3: Sustainable transport for developers versus finite and inadequate local Infrastructure

I OBJECT TO Policy i3 and the Local Plan’s woefully inadequate provision for transport and infrastructure arrangements to support its housing and development plans. The policy fails to provide any concrete obligation on developers to address weaknesses in transport – and there are practical reasons why this will not be possible in East and West Horsley and the surrounding villages (including Ockham / Wisley).

Road widths will not accommodate increased bus use through the villages and I see no acceptable solution to the need to provide access from the newly developed houses to employment which will, inevitably, be based outside of the village communities. Busses and lorries are frequently forced into the middle of the roads to manoeuvre around bends or avoid tree branches, exacerbating congestion. Pavements are narrow and there is no scope to widen thoroughfares to accommodate the inevitable increase in traffic. Local rail station car parks are already full and rail services are woefully overcrowded, particularly heading to / from London where many of the employment opportunities lie. Road-widths combined with the size of many modern cars and commercial vehicles make commuting by bicycle totally unsafe and there is no room for the provision of cycle lanes. New residents will have few options but to commute to work by car, leading to an unacceptable level of traffic on the roads through Ockham and the Horsleys. The draft Plan fails to recognise that the majority of the infrastructure in East and West Horsley is finite, is not capable of expansion and has no capacity to absorb a large increase in population.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT) as the policy which fails to address the real life constraints and demands of modern life. In failing to recognising employment opportunities (or lack of them) within the local communities, the Council’s proposals are unrealistic and fail to address the commuting pressures of the population who will occupy the proposed new housing developments, frequently located on the village fringes. The majority of people cannot or will not walk or cycle – commuters are in a hurry and many will already face a long commute to work. The elderly, children, people with disabilities or who are unwell or unfit, or simply people carrying heavy shopping will not walk or jump on a bike. Life in a village is very different to life in an urban area and the Council failed to address these differences. Roads in the Horsleys are narrow and in a poor condition making them hazardous for cyclists – pavements switch from side to side or disappear completely, are narrow, often overgrown and not suitable for hugely increased numbers of people (particularly families with buggies / young children).

I to all proposals to remove East and West Horsley from the Green Belt – this would severely damage the very special nature and character of these villages and remove a vital amenity enjoyed by both the London and local population. The importance of our Green Belt as a public and private asset in terms of tourism, leisure, agriculture and heritage have been overlooked. There is no justification to extend the defined East and West Horsley Settlement Boundaries. The Green Belt serves a vital role in providing clean air and combatting pollution and has greater importance and value today than when it was first conceived. The deliberate protection of rural villages from the expansion of Greater London and surrounding towns goes beyond the convenience of developing new homes on green field sites. Our local council has an obligation to consider and exhaust all other exiting development opportunities such as redevelopment of brownfield sites (such as those owned by the University of Surrey), sites already allocated for development (but not yet developed) and should be striving to protect the Green Belt and the historic integrity of local villages. Our Green Belt meets all five legal purposes for Green Belt designation:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.
The Council should look to encourage re-use of derelict sites and for the consolidation of commercial businesses to allow for re-zoning existing commercial or light industrial sites for residential use. The Council has ignored the impact of Green Belt development on flood control and on carbon sink. It has also failed to address the knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change.

The Green Belt provides an irreplaceable habitat for Britain’s declining wildlife which no amount of “newt tunnels” and “bat boxes” can replace. Our native bee population is already in decline and the Local Plan fails to address the impact on biodiversity, wildlife and our natural heritage.

I also wish to OBJECT TO POLICY P3 (COUNTRYSIDE BEYOND THE GREEN BELT) and was very disappointed to note that the proposed draft Plan gives Ash and Tongham more protection than the rest of borough, including existing Green Belt, although these villages do not contribute to preventing London sprawl – unlike East and West Horsley, Ockham etc. Without wishing to be cynical, I would question whether due process has been followed in developing the draft Plan where there appears to be special treatment of a ward represented by the current Council Leader and his predecessor. With questions around political bias, the draft Plan should not be approved as it is currently drawn.

Objection to Policy S1 – Objection to GBC’s plans for “Sustainable Development” within East & West Horsley and Ockham / Wisley Airfield

I object to the proposed development of so many new homes within East / West Horsley and Ockham / Wisley – the proposals are not sustainable and will damage the character and amenity of the villages. The facilities and services in the villages are limited and not extendable. Local schools and medical practice are already over subscribed and the train station car parks at Horsley and Effingham Junction are full to capacity, with no room for expansion. In summary the proposals to build such a huge number of new homes are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops and parking in East Horsley (shops and station) and public transport – with limited capacity for busses on narrow roads.

I would support the relocation and expansion of the Raleigh School in West Horsley onto a new self-contained site within one of the sites designated for housing site A41 being the most suitable for such development. To that end, a new school would amount to “exceptional circumstances” under NFPP guidance – the existing site is constrained and woefully inadequate to provide suitable facilities for the 435 children on the roll. There are substantial waiting lists in every year except reception and the existing school playing field, being separated from the main school, is virtually unusable except on limited occasions when parent helpers can chaperone children across roads and temporary toilet facilities can be hired. The existing draft Local Plan fails to recognise the need for a new school to accommodate existing demand in the Horsleys and surrounding locale.

1. APPENDIX C

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

APPENDIX D

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
   - The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
   - A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
   - The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
     - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
     - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
     - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
   - It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.
It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.
It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity -
only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY II

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure
(Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines.
The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragrapgh 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt.
There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)
The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)
1. I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 2: Legal compliance

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt. ” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

- Local roads are already overwhelmed by rush hour traffic; in the north of the borough in particular the current traffic volumes on commuter routes which are often country lanes are creating long queues through village centres such as Ripley and Send, impacting on the quality of life including the exposure to harmful levels of vehicle emissions.

- Rail services into London where many of the new residents are likely to work are already at or above capacity. The fast services from Woking will be chosen by many commuters living in the new properties planned for Wisley site A35, Garlick’s Arch A43 and those to the east of the A3. This will cause further traffic issues through the villages en-route to Woking.

- Bus services are currently inadequate, slow, declining in number and due in part to the traffic issues above are totally unsuitable to be promoted as an alternative for commuters in the villages outside of Guildford.
- Active travel in the villages will in the main be cycling, this is not an attractive alternative due to the narrow country lanes which cyclists would need to travel on en-route to local stations. Currently cyclists on these commuter routes increase congestion as it is not possible for cars and commercial vehicles to safely overtake them; unless proper provision is created then this is not a sustainable alternative.

I OBJECT ALSO TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD):

Once again, there have been no exceptional circumstances presented for development on the Green Belt. Development of the site would contribute to the encroachment of the London urban area into the countryside. Additionally, the area is not a brown field site as stated, only 15% of it is brown field, and the majority of the land is agricultural land.

The development is close to the A3 and M25, and will contribute to unacceptable air pollution levels and an aggravation in traffic jams at A3 roundabout and M25 Junction 10. There is no existing public transport and so car transport will be required for everyone on the development with access either from the A3 via the junction with the M25 or from to inadequate narrow lanes. No proper traffic data has been provided.

The housing density is far too great, with over 2,000 houses that will swamp and destroy the Ockham conservation area. The development would have a major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys. No assessment has been made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO POLICY A40:

This land is currently Green Belt land used for agriculture and should not be used for housing development. In addition, part of the land is a level 3 flood risk and Ockham Road North, to the east of the development is frequently awash with flowing water following heavy rain.

The winter stream flowing west to east along the southern end of Heatherdene and the school playing field as yet does not overflow in times of heavy rain. However, this stream is not shown in current Environment Agency maps used for planning drainage requirements.

Water seepage, pooling and flooding on Ockham Road North to the north of the railway bridge in East Horsley regularly poses a great hazard to pedestrians due to splashing from cars, coaches and lorries. As the road is not very wide, and pedestrian pavement is only on one side of the road, vehicles often pass very close to the pedestrian making the splashing hazard not just unpleasant but also dangerous, particularly for children. In winter, this stretch of Ockham Road North and the pedestrian pavement are often covered in black ice, even after dry weather, due to the water seepage onto the road and pavement.

This underlying geology of the area is an impermeable layer of clay only about one meter beneath the surface. The Local Plan provides no protection for the existing residents of Heatherdene and Ockham Road North that areas that do not currently flood will not become prone to flooding as a result of development on the adjacent site.

Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to the regular flooding of Ockham Road North to the north of the railway bridge and poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties and inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO ALL POLICIES INVOLVING MOVING THE GREEN BELT BOUNDARIES:

I am opposed to the changes to the Green Belt boundaries. I am opposed to the removal of villages from the Green Belt.

The Local Plan proposes taking a number of villages out of the Green Belt to avoid the restriction on development in the Green Belt. The Government has strongly urged Planning Authorities to follow the National Planning Policy Framework detailed advice when considering whether to permit additional development in the Green Belt. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. No case for exceptional circumstances has been made in the plan. The Government has made it clear that unmet housing need is not an exceptional circumstance in law.

I OBJECT TO ALL POLICIES INVOLVING BUILDING IN THE GREEN BELT:

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states the purposes of the green belt are to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas, prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another, assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, preserve the setting and special character of historic towns and to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. This Local Plan goes against the stated purposes of the green belt.

The Local Plan allows for several large developments along the route of the A3, from Guildford to the outskirts of London, creating a corridor of development between the two – and so does not prevent the unrestricted sprawl of the London urban area into the countryside.

The Local Plan aims to remove a number of villages from the green belt, thus removing restrictions on development within and around the villages – however, the stated purpose of the green belt is prevent urban sprawl by keeping land... permanently open, and consequently the most important attribute of green belts is their openness. Also, the location of the land designated as green belt is fundamental to its purpose – designating alternative land that is located in a more developed area further away from London that is of less interest to developers is not protecting the green belt at all.

The Local Plan permits a disproportionately large amount of development in areas that are currently Green Belt, whilst a relatively small amount of development is planned for the existing urban land. The proportion of new housing within Guildford is far too small, with the development planned for the countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration. This goes against the aim that urban regeneration is encouraged.

Our ancestors had the foresight to create the Metropolitan Green Belt to restrict the outward growth of London. We must protect this for our descendents.

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:

I am opposed to the changes to the settlement boundaries for East and West Horsley. I am opposed to the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt.

The proposed changes to the settlement boundaries for East Horsley and the northern part of West Horsley may result in considerable development within the new boundary in addition to the development proposed in the plan. There is no assessment of the level of additional, as yet unplanned, development that this change may have.

The plan indicates that it is assumed that some of the development in East and West Horsley will be within walking distance of the primary school and the railway station. However, the pedestrian pavements within East and West Horsley are frequently on only one side of the road and often narrow due to encroachment of trees and hedges. The roads often flood or have large puddles making walking along pavements hazardous after heavy rain. The roads and pedestrian pavements are also often poorly lit or not lit at all. This infrastructure would have to be dramatically improved to avoid significant increase in car traffic - but to do this would completely change the character of the villages to be more like an urban area.

The public transport facilities in East and West Horsley consist of a good train service but an infrequent bus service that does not run in line with typical working hours. It is likely that most of the additional transport resulting from the development in East and West Horsley will result in additional car journeys - either directly to the destination or to and from the railway station. The assumption of pedestrian access to the facilities is incorrect.

The proposed amount of new housing far exceeds the local need. The proposed developments would bring a disproportionately large number of new residents to West Horsley, in particular, for whom there a few opportunities for local employment. The employment prospects for these new residents would mostly be outside of the Horsleys. Hence the new developments would be not be providing for local needs, but would allow for people to move out of London and but still commute into London for their employment. This is not a sustainable development and goes against the purposes of the green belt.

The infrastructure of East and West Horsley cannot support such a great increase in the number of houses. The local plan classifies Station Parade in East Horsley as a District Centre, designating it an area appropriate for large development due to the availability of local facilities. There is no assessment of the facilities themselves and whether they could support the proposed development sustainably. The 'supermarket' in East Horsley is not sufficiently large to be subject to Sunday trading restrictions, and as such would not fall into a modern description of a supermarket. The small parades of shops in East and West Horsley can only be described as local shops. However, once again, to develop these areas to provide the additional facilities to support a far greater population would completely change the character of the villages, a result which goes completely against the purpose of the Green Belt.

The proposed housing density is excessive when compared with existing housing density within the Horsleys and would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made and for which there is no local support. The collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough is not considered by the Local Plan and they should not be treated as isolated, separate sites. The total amount of new building in the northern part of West Horsley and the adjoining part of East Horsley is out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, including the less sensitive urban areas that are not protected by the Green Belt.
The Horsleys are characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road and an attribute of openness. The policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed. This goes against the stated purpose of the Green Belt to retain attractive landscapes and the enhancement of landscapes, near to where people live.

The development sites are mostly currently used for agricultural purposes. To use agricultural land for development purposes cannot be considered ‘sustainable’. Also, the key infrastructure is lacking, with poor wastewater capacity and flooding.

The development of the Horsleys would contribute to a significant narrowing of the Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if the neighbouring large developments also occur at Wisley Airfield, Burnt Common and Gosden Hill Farm.

I object to the designation of Station Parade as a 'District Centre' - This results from a misreading of the nature East and West Horsley, Effingham and Ockham as linked but separate communities and a misreading of the nature of the facilities in each community. The new designation would inappropriately focus new commercial development in the 'District Centre'.

I am concerned about the impact this will have on Traffic - The Horsleys are semi-rural, spring-line villages with rural road systems dating back to 14th Century property boundaries - just after the Black Death. The roads are narrow, winding and flood regularly. Assuming that every new house has at least 2 cars, this means potentially more 1100 more cars within the villages, and 6000 new vehicles within a three mile radius of the villages. New residents of Wisley, Ockham and Ripley will need to travel into the middle of East Horsley or to Effingham for train connections. The impact of this increase in traffic on our local road infrastructure will be unsustainable.

I am concerned about the impact this will have on our Schools - Local primary schools are already at capacity and, if news reports are to be believed, there will be a severe shortage of places over the coming decade, even before there is any new development. Only three years ago, pupils from Horsley were told that there were no places for them at the local senior school so special provision had to be made. According to the new plan, despite the large increase in the number of households, no extra school places are planned in the Horsleys. Where are the children of these households supposed to go to school? The primary school places proposed at Wisley Airfield will not be available until years into the project and, as yet, there is no plan for a new secondary school.

I am concerned about the impact this will have on our Medical facilities - We have a very good medical centre where it is, unfortunately, not unusual to have to wait three weeks to see a named GP. The addition of 500+ new households will only exacerbate this problem.

I have already stated that I do not object to development in itself but the current proposals are out of all proportion to the current communities.

Implementation of these proposals would irrevocably alter the nature of the communities.

Implementation of these proposals would overburden the community infrastructure.

Implementation of these proposals would not address the real areas of housing need.

I am concerned about the impact this will have on Flooding - The site behind Ockham Road North in East Horsley is partially a level 3 flood risk area, and local residents are well aware of how much standing water there is on their properties after rain. Building on such land will only exacerbate the problem. Already, local roads are regularly flooded when it rains, no matter how much ongoing work is done on drainage ditches.

Having written to voice my concerns and objections, as an East Horsley resident, during the 2014 consultation period, I now write to express my concerns about the new Guildford Local Plan, particularly as it relates to the Horsleys, Effingham, Ockham and Wisley. I am not opposed to housing development, per se, and, as I live on a council estate, I am not driven by concern about a reduction in the value of my property. I am, however, concerned that, despite the undoubted time and money that has been spent on consultation and map work, the proposals lack coherence and seem to have been driven by an arbitrary mathematical model of projected housing need in Guildford Borough which is well in excess of the official national estimates for local population growth. The proposed scale of housing increase is out of all proportion to the character of these villages. In addition, the proposals also do not seem to cater for a mixed population which, given that it is the youngest and the poorest in our society who have the greatest need of accommodation, calls into question the drive to build so many new, large and very expensive properties unless it is just for profit.

In particular, site A39: Land behind Ockham Road North, near Horsley railway station

I wish to make it clear that I have read and fully support all of East Horsley Parish Council’s comments on the draft plan. I have not repeated them here, but please take that as understood.

I wish to take particular note of plans to build in section A39. My comments are as follows

1) This is land designated as Green Belt and it is not clear to me that a redesignation is permissible under the reasons given in the local plan

2) There is and can only be limited access to the site and any further access will require new road junctions onto Ockham Road North which at certain times of day is already heavily congested

3) There is already a severe problem with drainage in the area and the plot in question regularly floods. The Environment Agency have recorded this risk. Adding residential property to this site will only exacerbate these problems and place both any new dwellings and those existing buildings in the area at greater risk of flooding. This risk does not appear to have been considered in any of the assessments and should at the very least necessitate a pause while the appropriate survey work is conducted.

4) The borough council have already proved themselves to be incapable of maintaining the sewerage systems to a standard that can deal with the level of rainwater run off currently required. Ockham Road North regularly floods. There is no evidence to suggest that this will be any better in future and additional housing stock will only make it worse

5) There is no evidence of demand for this type of housing in the area

As a local resident I object to the 533 houses being proposed.

The impact on both West and East Horsley does not seem to have been considered or at least any plans put in place to handle the additional population.

The station car park is already full every day – where will the additional cars park? There is no space for the car park to be extended.

As mentioned above, the roads are already very busy, particularly with speeding drivers. This will get worse, particularly with the rush to get a parking space.

The medical centre is brilliantly run but how can they be expected to cope with an additional 533 families? What plans are in place to deal with this?

If the other large developments are allowed also such as Wisely airfield, this will have the same impact on the Horsleys.

As I have said before, I am not an expert and cannot comment on the planning policy but it seems to me that there must be other more sensible options that wouldn’t cause such a huge feeling of betrayal by Guildford Borough Council. Surely smaller numbers of houses on the plots and not removing the Horsley from the Green Belt would have been a better option. There must be other brown field sites elsewhere which would be better and not in the Green Belt. And the house prices are so inflated in the Horsleys that the intended purchasers will never be able to afford them anyway.

I hope my comments will be taken into consideration

I live on Ockham Road North in East Horsley in front of the proposed siting of the 100 houses – A39.

I object to this site for numerous reasons. Firstly the field is an enormous flood plain which is either saturated with water or bone-dry and cracked – due to the soil constituents being mostly clay. Our garden is exactly the same. Every time it rains, the water creeps up the garden and threatens to flood our house and my neighbours’ houses. This is also aggravated by the run off from the railway line.
If any houses are built on the site, where will this water go? Our houses will flood for sure. Given the size of the site, how can any flood measures guarantee to handle all the water from 5.7 acres? The small stream between our garden and the site will not be able to handle it all.

Further when it rains the drains running from our houses out to the road are incapacitated and do not allow water to drain so that water comes back up into the house. This has happened this summer and so can only become worse in the winter. With the climate changing in the UK with less frequent but greater downfalls, this can only add to the impact. Adding more pressure to the drainage network is not acceptable. Are the developers prepared to fully indemnify every householder on Ockham Road North for the cost of moving and the loss of value of their house if the flood measures were ineffective?

Demolishing the 2 houses next door but one to us will also result in huge noise pollution as residents from this site drive in and out. We live in East Horsley because it is a quiet village and in the Green Belt. To have an additional 100 houses behind us will change the nature and character of the village.

It should also be noted that, in the mornings and evenings, it is virtually impossible to pull out of our drive. How much worse will it be when there are potentially another 100 cars trying to pull out or turn in at those times?

I strongly object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough (Appendix D) and to the lack of transparency in the evidence for this Plan.

The proposed Plan’s housing growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans. It also seems to be much higher than in any other borough in Surrey, which is amazing. How did this report come to this figure which affects Guildford so much more than any other borough?

Why will the Council not publish the SHMA report? This figure cannot be verified nor discussed as part of the consultation. Was there a Brexit analysis within the report – if so what did it say? There should be a new report and any Plan put on hold until we have a revised analysis (which should also be made public).

This utter lack of transparency (along with the lack of consultation etc. as mentioned previously) is not right and makes for very poor consultation with respect to the proposed Plan.

I strongly object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43) Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it to be removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government states clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch. No consultation took place on this, and GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not even cover Garlick’s Arch. I am appalled that we were not consulted; this is surely inappropriate behavior by GBC. There were reports in the local paper about the meeting at which this proposed Plan was so called “debated” which showed utter contempt by GBC for due process, for considered debate and the gagging of dissenters. This is not good government nor does it appear democratic.

As has been said, no doubt in thousands of objections, the site is not appropriate because:
- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site is liable to flooding
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope with the proposed development.

As previously stated your assumptions need to be looked at again in light of Brexit as well as all these aspects noted above.

The on/off ramp addition will simply draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this route cannot be improved. I noted in 3 above, that I have not seen any modeling on this, but it is common sense that this will just make congestion worse. I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning. In addition there was discussion of more at Slyfield rather than around Burnt Common.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for here decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable. If this plan were to go ahead would the GBC sufficiently help these businesses to move into suitable local alternatives?

I strongly object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that other than a slip road onto the A3 at Burnt Common – to which I object as it will attract more traffic to this area and cause more congestion (although it might reduce traffic going through Ripley towards the A3 junction at Wisley. You are simply moving the problem around not fixing it.

The rural roads in this area are often very narrow, in poor condition and often have no footpaths. It is madness to risk pedestrians lives or health with all these new homes – I believe it means dangerous and unsustainable traffic. I have not seen detailed modelling of the affect of this development on the road infrastructure - how can you proceed without sufficient systematic and scientific evidence and good modelling going through the entire development plan and through to 5 years after completion?

I strongly object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough. Surely someone must have considered that this might be necessary and should therefore be in the Plan?

I have previously objected to the proposed development at Wisley and this new Plan does not address the issues raised.

I strongly object due to the congestion that these developments will most likely cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I believe the A3 and/or the M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. We are advised that Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020.

I am a user of the A3 and M25 and it is often very congested and already typically adds between 15 to 30 minutes of delay at peak times to my commute. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should therefore not take place.

I strongly object due to poor air quality concerns and noise pollution levels (Policy I3)

The huge developments being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion and to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

In addition to air quality the proposed previous development in the fields adjacent to Garlicks Arch noted that the levels of noise from the A3 were high and this would lead to poor quality of life for the new residents. We live on the opposite side of Burnt Common Close – so further from the A3 – and we certainly find the traffic noise can be tiresome, especially in winter when there is less deadening of the noise and the wind direction can carry noise from the A3. Adding the on/off ramp will make air quality poorer and add more noise because there will be more traffic on all roads around this area.

I strongly object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4).

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times and people have identified that under your own assessment criteria Garlicks Arch is not good enough to be included in the plan. I have seen some of the flooding around Burnt Common/Garlicks Arch and it would need to be dealt with IF this Plan were to go ahead, which I sincerely hope it will not.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I strongly object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1).

The nearly 14,000 new houses proposed cannot be sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The road infrastructure is not great in these areas, there are issues with parking, often traffic jams etc. Also Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car, in our own Burnt Common close some homes have 4 or 5 cars which causes parking issues. The proposed Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch, which has had issues of flooding as well as its poor access, but even if the Plan did have some infrastructure improvements I would still object for some of the reasons 2 to 13 below.
I believe the development should be in more urban areas where there is a more sustainable transport infrastructure.

Furthermore I am sceptical of the claimed need for so many new houses and light industrial as we now have the Brexit scenario – likely to have fewer immigrants (and Politian’s claiming those EU citizens here may be sent back to their home countries) and we have already seen an issue with business confidence and with the likelihood of a recession looming, I believe that GBC need to revisit the assumptions under which they have proposed this Local Plan.

I strongly object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey. Why do you need to buck the trend?

The proposed Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there is a lot of development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]).

That is 36% of all the proposed Plan’s new housing proposed within this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing. Is this because the members of GBC do not live in these areas (as has been reported) and so are biased in their decisions?

I write to strongly object to the Guildford Borough proposed local plan (June 2017). The plan seems to have many flaws and affects the north east area of the borough disproportionally and is based on developing many areas of Green Belt land without proven “exceptional circumstances” as required by the National Planning Policy.

The proposed local plan puts almost 41% of housing development into about 10% of the borough, centred around Send Marsh. In addition there are also developments of warehouse/industry capacity, a travelling show people site and a waste management facility in the same area. The use of Green Belt land has been prioritised over Brownfield options (I note A34 and A44 for example and the change of use of A4 from homes to provide more retail facilities), it is totally unacceptable to use green belt instead of brownfield sites (policy P2, particularly around site A43). I also see the proposed plan as an unfair allocation of development in the north east of the borough that has not been well justified. In addition I object to the lack of local infrastructure planning that has been shown in this proposed plan, particularly around A43 and A42, our villages have not got great road infrastructure, nor lots of capacity in schools, doctors or dentists etc.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I summarise the key issues from my perspective as a resident around many of the proposed developments:

• A43, removal of Garlicks Arch from Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances as required by the National Planning Policy for this removal. Building circa 650 houses etc. here is not appropriate.

• A43, 6 travelling show people sites in A34 Garlicks Arch, not required as A50 has an allocation of 14 plots. No “need” extra facility at Garlicks Arch.

• Hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43). I applaud your strategy of deferring some development beyond the period covered by the plan! This results in some 1,100 additional houses being approved in A24, A25, A26 and up to 650 in A43 for development in the future. This sort of shenanigans is bordering on predatory behaviour by Guildford Borough Council, by targeting the north east of the borough.

• A43 and A58. It is clear that the “required” industrial space should more than adequately be provided in A58 and does not need the development within A43. In addition the “separation issue” previously used should be applied to A43 Garlicks Arch as that includes ancient woodland etc. and so should be preserved.

• A58 – Waste Management Facility. This is mentioned in policy 4.423a. This policy does not allow for full and proper consultation and is an inappropriate inclusion in the proposed plan. This provision of these facilities is highly contentious.

• A4, A34, A44. As mentioned earlier, I object to the removal of brownfield sites, or their redevelopment for retail (we already have a lot of that in the borough), if that results in the removal of some area of the Green Belt.

• Increase in A42 housing proposal. The proposal is to increase by a further 1/3rd which will impact the road infrastructure further. It is already pretty bad, with tiny lanes that are unsuitable for large numbers of additional cars, let alone construction traffic and there is no proposal in the plan to improve the infrastructure. I presume it is too expensive and would reduce the profits of the developers (in line with your new policy).

• Removal of Send Business Park from the Green Belt. Why? Its some small businesses – what are the “exceptional circumstances” as required to make this change?

• Lack of infrastructure improvement within the proposal – basically there is no analysis and no proposal to improve the infrastructure, which is unacceptable. This needs to be investigated and agreed before the proposed plan can be implemented. I am sure I have missed many other aspects in the proposed plan, however I hope that this objection will have a positive impact on the proposed plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy 4.2.23, affordable housing. I note that you have clearly sided with the developers – that the developers can pay you off and avoid building affordable homes at all. How does this help young families in the borough? Are you going to use the pay off to build the affordable houses that the developers will not?

Clearly not as that is not in the proposed plan! Perhaps the pay off is not large enough, because it optimises the profit for the developers and does not allow you to commission equivalent affordable housing within the borough.

• Removal of section 4.2.40 from the proposed local plan shows that you are willing to provide developers with the opportunity to make more money from their developments.

• This is an unacceptable policy from local government – clearly we simply don’t count and you wish big business to prosper further. At least you are now being open in your desire to build big business profits at the expense of our environment and us.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We act on behalf of Ewbank’s, and attach our Submissions on the ‘Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites’ (June 2016) for your consideration.

Our objections relate to the omission of the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse as a development site, and propose that it be re-instated in Policy A43 for approximately 100 homes (C3), and at least 7,000 square metres of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8).

1. Introduction

1.1 DMH Stallard act on behalf of ‘Ewbanks’, on planning matters in relation to the Ewbank’s Burnt Common Auction Rooms site, which is located to the south of the settlement of Send Marsh/Burnt Common.

1.2 These representations relate to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites 2016, which covers the period 2018 to 2033.

1.3 Our representations focus on objecting to the proposed removal of the allocation of Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send, for employment and residential purposes. This allocation comprised employment uses of either (or a mix of) light industrial (use class B1(c)); general industrial (B2); and storage and distribution (B8).

1.4 This site allocation was not only in the Draft Local Plan (2014) (Site 74), but also in the Draft Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan considered by the Guildford Borough’s Economy and Infrastructure Executive Advisory Board on 13 April 2016, and in the papers for the meeting of the Borough Council’s Executive Committee. The Report to the Executive stated:-

“Send Marsh/Burnt Common – this site is located in a yellow (medium) sensitivity land parcel. Our Employment Land Needs Assessment identifies a need for industrial land and this site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need”.

1.5 We were therefore astonished that a Supplementary Information Sheet was presented to the Executive Meeting on 11 May 2016 which proposed to remove this site from the Local Plan, and replace it with a site at Garlick’s Arch, with an increased housing allocation from 100 homes to 400 homes, as well as up to 7,000 square metres of employment.

1.6 Our objections focus primarily on the reasons given in this Supplementary Information Sheet, which we submit are not drawn from any of the ‘evidence base’ documentation which has been produced throughout the preparation of the Local Plan. The proposed site allocation at Garlick’s Arch should therefore be deleted from the Local Plan, and the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse be reinstated.

1.7 Section 2 of these objections set out reasons why the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send, should be reinstated as an allocation for employment and housing. Section 3 identifies those Policies in the Proposed Submission Version of the Local Plan which should be amended, and Section 4 sets out the proposed wording of these proposed amendments.

2. Omission Site: Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send

2.1 We submit that this site, which was not only included in the Draft Local Plan in 2014, but also in the draft of the Proposed Submission Local Plan in April 2016, should be reinstated as an allocated site. We submit that the proposed inclusion of land at ‘Garlick’s Arch’ for housing and employment is ‘unsound’ as it is not based on the extensive ‘evidence-base’ for this Local Plan. We will address all of the four reasons for this proposed change, as set out in the Supplementary Information Sheet to the Council’s Executive Committee on 11 May 2016, to demonstrate that these are not ‘sound’ reasons to support the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch. We will then comment on any relevant general policies on the Plan for completeness.

2.2 In the Draft Local Plan 2014 this site was “Site 74” described as being 13.4 hectares in area, with existing uses of storage and distribution (B8) and undeveloped land. It also contains the Ewbank’s Burnt Common Auction Rooms and associated car parking. It was one of the “Land Around Villages” Site Allocations, proposed for:- industrial (B1(c)), general industrial (B2), storage and distribution (B8), or Light industrial (B1(c)), general industrial (B2), storage and distribution (B8) and housing (C3)."

The Plan also included this site in Policy 13: Economic Development, as a new strategic employment site, called ‘Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, Send’, and defined on the Guildford Borough Overview Map (Appendix E of the Draft Plan).

2.3 In the Draft Plan 2014, it described this site as follows: “The site contains and surrounds an existing site of three warehouses. Within the site, land to the east of the existing warehouses is suitable for new homes including at least 45% affordable houses. Land to the west of the existing warehouses is suitable for new employment uses (B1c, B2 and B8). If new homes are not provided, the whole of this site is suitable for new employment uses (B1(c), B2 and B8).”

2.4 This same site was also included in the April 2016 Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan as “Site Allocation A43 – Land around Burnt Common warehouse, London Road, Send”. It proposed: “Homes (C3) (approximately 100) and employment floorspace (B1c, B2, B8)”. In support of this proposed allocation, it states: “Key considerations:— Location of employment uses and houses within the site.— Appropriate green buffer between residential and employment uses.” It is also contained within “Policy E1: Sustainable employment”, where it states: “When developed, the new employment site at Burnt Common will be treated as a Strategic Employment Site”.

2.5 This site was further confirmed in the Report to the Council Executive of 11 May 2016, when it stated that “this site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need”).

2.6 In the light of this consistent approach to the proposed allocation of this site in the Draft Plan 2014 and in the April 2016 Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, and the extensive evidence base supporting these versions, we were astounded to see that the site has now been deleted from the Plan, in a ‘Supplementary Information Sheet’ to the Council Executive of Wednesday 11 May 2016, and replaced with a totally new site to the east, described as ‘Garlick’s Arch’, Send Marsh/Burnt Common, without in our view any valid explanation.

2.7 The reasons given for this ‘last minute’ change are in our view unconvincing, in that they do not introduce any new evidence for allocating this site which would not have been available to the Council officers when the previous (April) revision of this Proposed Submission Local Plan was prepared. Four reasons were given in this Supplementary Information Sheet, and we comment on these in turn. Reason 1: The new site will provide land to facilitate the provision of on/off access to the A3, which will provide significant improvements to the highway network and is fully supported by Surrey County Council. This has been discussed with Highways England and further technical work will be undertaken to address their initial comments.

2.8 At no stage up to May 2016 has there been any reference to the need for the proposed employment and housing at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse to include a link onto the A3. This includes the draft Proposed Submission Local Plan published less than a month before this executive meeting. The discussions between Guildford Borough Council, Surrey County Council and Highways England must have been taking place over several months, if not longer, and at no time were Ewbank’s contacted to discuss this matter.

2.9 We are further concerned that the Council state that this proposed junction works on the A3/A247 may be required to form part of the wider transport solutions for the proposed New Settlement off the A3 on Land at the former Wisley airfield, Ockham (Site Allocation A35 for 2,000 homes approx.). In the “Transport Topic Paper – June 2016”, one of the accompanying evidence base documents for the Pre-Submission Plan, paragraph 5.52 states: “New north facing junctions to the A3 are also proposed at the A247 Burnt Common interchange. These accesses are referenced as SRN9 ‘A3 northbound on-slip at A247 Clandon Road’ and SRN10 ‘A3 southbound off-slip at A247 Clandon Road’ in the Appendix C Infrastructure Schedule. These junctions are being promoted to mitigate the impact of the level of strategic planned growth and in particular the development traffic flows resulting from the development of a new settlement at the former Wisley airfield site (site allocation Policy A35), as well as limiting any increase in traffic joining and leaving the A3 at the Ockham interchange.”

2.10 We submit that the previously proposed Site Allocation at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse has excellent vehicular access, and there is no reason to delete the site on highway grounds, which appears to have been the case. The Draft Plan stated that this site could be developed in the short term (1 – 5 years), and there was no reference to any transport or access constraints to its immediate development.
2.11 The site has excellent vehicular access onto the London Road (B2215) with ample capacity for the traffic which would be generated from the proposed new development on this site. This must have been recognised by the Borough Council in identifying this site for employment and housing, and there has been no change in circumstances since the publication of the Draft Plan in 2014, or the April 2016 Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

2.12 There are also opportunities for road re-alignments directly adjacent to the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse site, which would improve both the vehicular access into the site itself, and also the overall traffic flows in the immediate vicinity of the site. We would be pleased to engage with Guildford Borough Council, Surrey County Council, and Send Parish Council to discuss these opportunities in detail. Reason 2: The (new) site location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, Merrow Lane, Guildford (Site Allocation Policy A25).

2.13 The proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm was also contained in the Draft Plan, and the Borough Council considered that there was a sufficient separation between the two sites at that time. There has been no change in circumstances since the Draft Plan, and so we consider that any concern relating to the separation distances between these two sites is totally without foundation.

2.14 Both at the Draft and Submission Plan stages of the Local Plan the Gosden Hill Farm site has been proposed for a mix of uses, including 2,000 homes; employment uses; education; local retail centre; community and health services; park and ride; and travellers pitches. The Submission Version (page 180) also proposes that part of the site, adjacent to the A3, will need to remain ‘open’ as a ‘green buffer’, in order to ensure that sufficient separation is maintained between the site and Send Marsh. In the Draft Submission Version (April 2016), both of these sites were being proposed for development, and there was no reference to any concern over the proximity of these two sites. There can therefore be no justification for the statement in the Supplementary Information Sheet in May 2016 that there is a need for ‘greater separation’, and to delete the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse in favour of the Garlick’s Arch site.

2.15 The Green Belt and Countryside Study, a major ‘evidence base’ document for this Plan, also confirmed that there are no concerns over the proximity of these two sites from a ‘separation of settlements’ aspect. Volume 2 (February 2013) and Volume 2 Appendix (April 2014) both identify Gosden Farm/Nuthill Farm as a Potential Development Area (Land Parcels C1 and C2), as well as Land around Burnt Common Warehouse (Land Parcel B13).

2.16 To reinforce our submission that this Green Belt Study did not express any concerns regarding the proximity of these two sites, the Environmental Capacity Analysis of the Land at Burnt Common Site (B13) (Volume 3), confirms that this site is a Potential Development Area, and is:—“Surrounded by defensible boundaries including treebelts following London Road and Clandon Road to the north and east, tree cover following the A3 to the south, and hedgerows near the commercial area to the east of the PDA.” This underlines that the Land at Burnt Common is a well screened self-contained site, and that there is no ‘evidence-base’ justification for removing this site from the Submission Plan on the grounds of needing greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, Merrow Lane, Guildford (Policy A25). Reason 3: The Site provides the employment floorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs.

2.17 The Land at Burnt Common, unlike the Garlick’s Arch site, is already an identified employment site. The Draft Plan states:—“The site contains and surrounds an existing site of three warehouses. Within the site land to the west of the existing warehouses is suitable for new employment uses (B1c, B2 and B8)” It also makes reference to the fact that the whole site has potential for new employment uses. It is also significant that the western part already contains the Ewbank’s Auction Rooms and related car parking area. This is therefore an obvious site to retain in the Plan for employment purposes, and no reason is given in the Supplementary Information Sheet for deleting this employment site.

2.18 There will also be a significant adverse impact on the residents of Burnt Common and Send Marsh if the employment allocation is at Garlick’s Arch. All the employment traffic will need to use the existing roads, including the B2215 east of the Burnt Common roundabout, and also through the villages, as there will be no direct access off the A3 from the proposed new A3 junction. No such adverse impact would result from new employment of the Land at Burnt Common, as vehicular accesses already exist from the B2215 London Road.

2.19 It is significant that in allocating the Land at Burnt Common for employment, no concerns were expressed relating to the access arrangements or traffic generation from the site. Therefore there is no reason why this proposed... allocation for employment should be removed from the Plan. On the contrary, this decision will inevitably result in a significant adverse impact on the villages in Burnt Common and Send Marsh

2.20 As has been referred to, the Land at Burnt Common is already an established employment site, with significant buildings and related car parking within the site, well screened from the wider landscape. The Garlick’s Arch site, in contrast, is a totally greenfield site, with no existing employment, and is also prominent in the landscape. It is therefore bad planning to introduce new employment development on this land, when there is an obvious alternative on Land at Burnt Common, which has significant existing employment uses; has substantial built development; and is well screened.

2.21 The Submission Plan confirms the importance of a healthy economy, and that it is essential to provide new employment land of the right type, in the right places, and at the right time. The Land at Burnt Common fulfils all of these aims, and would provide land in the short term, unlike Garlick’s Arch, which would require significant infrastructure works before the employment land would be available. The proposed new slip-road onto the A3 would not be delivered until the period 2021 and 2027, as stated in Appendix C of the Submission Plan (Infrastructure Schedule – References SRN9 and SRN10; A3 northbound and southbound off slips at A247 Clandon Road). The employment land at Garlick’s Arch will not be developed in the first 10 years of this Plan. Whereas the Land at Burnt Common could be developed immediately.

2.22 The Guildford Borough Employment Land Needs Assessment (September 2015) concludes that there could be a need of up to 47,000 square metres of office/research and development floorspace, and 5.3 hectares of industrial/storage land, and that this should be provided through the Plan period 2015 to 2033. The Land at Burnt Common would provide flexibility to provide new employment throughout this period; especially at the early stages. Garlick’s Arch, in contrast, would only be able to provide employment land from the mid 2020’s, and is therefore less able to provide the employment delivery required throughout the period of the Plan.

2.23 In selecting new employment sites in this Plan process, up until May 2016 “Land around Burnt Common Warehouse” has consistently been included. It was in the Draft Plan – Policy 13/Site 74 (2014), and in the Draft Pre-Submission Plan – Policy E1 and Site A43 (April 2016). These plans confirm that the site is suitable for employment development B1c, B2 and B8, either the whole of this site, or in part with the remainder being allocated for housing.

2.24 Even in April 2016, the Executive Report to the Council’s Executive Meeting on 11 May 2016 stated that the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse Send was the only suitable and deliverable employment site that could meet the need for a new employment site. It stated in paragraph 4.19:-“Our Employment Land Needs Assessment identifies a need for industrial land and this site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need”.

2.25 Despite this support for the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse for new employment in April 2016, no mention whatsoever is made of this site in the Council’s Employment Topic Paper June 2016, the ‘evidence base’ for employment allocations despite the consistent support for this site throughout the Plan making process. Instead, there is only a reference to Land at Garlick’s Arch for 7,000 square metres of a mix of light industrial (B1(c)), general industrial (B2), and storage and distribution (B8). We submit that this site selection is contrary to the Council’s own site selection process for new employment sites up to April 2016, and as such is a ‘flawed’ allocation, and should be deleted, and the employment allocation on Land around Burnt Common Warehouse should be re-instated.Reason 4: The site has additional capacity for residential development and can provide these homes in the early period of the plan, assisting with meeting the backlog accrued as early as possible in the plan period.

2.26 The Draft Proposed Submission Local Plan (April 2016) proposed 100 homes on Land around Burnt Common Warehouses as well as the proposed new employment. This proposed allocation was made in accordance with the significant evidence-base in site selection for Potential Development Areas in the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study.

2.27 The reason for the proposed change from allocating this site to proposing to allocate 400 new homes on Land at Garlick’s Arch, is not drawn from the ‘evidence base’, and is therefore flawed. It is not identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study as a Potential Development Area when assessing the Land around Send Marsh/Burnt Common for potential development.
2.28 Our concern over this change in allocation not only relates to the lack of an “evidence base” to support the proposed allocation, but also the proposed scale of new housing in relation to the size of Send Marsh/Burnt Common. The proposed development of 400 new homes at Garlick’s Arch would be totally out of scale with the existing community, and would result in a population increase in the order of 1000 new residents. This would increase the existing population of Send Marsh and Burnt Common, which is currently 1,931 by approximately 50% (Green Belt and Countryside Study Volume 5 “Send Marsh and Burnt Common – Major Village Expansion”). This would not only be out of scale with the existing community, but would also place unacceptable pressure on existing facilities and services, such as the local primary school; nursery; and medical centre.

2.29 Serious concerns over the proposed scale of new housing which would result from the development of 400 new homes at Garlick’s Arch were strongly expressed by local residents at the ‘Local Plan Awareness Meeting’ held at the Lancaster Hall, Send on 14 June 2016. Strong objections were expressed both on the location and the scale of the proposed new housing at Garlick’s Arch.

2.30 This proposed scale of new housing at Garlick’s Arch would also cause significant traffic congestion in Send Marsh/Burnt Common. Much of the new traffic would travel north through the village to Woking, along the A247. The present A247 junction at Old Working, immediately north of the village, is already over-capacity during the rush hour, with significant "tailbacks". This would be accentuated with this additional traffic, resulting in unacceptable traffic delays.

2.31 As well as the issue of “scale”, The Council’s “evidence base” also concludes that the Garlick’s Arch site is less sustainable as a housing site than Land around Burnt Common Warehouse. This is set out clearly in Volume 5 of the Green Belt and Countryside Study (April 2014).

2.32 It is important to note that the only reason that Garlick’s Arch was considered for development (in Volume 5 of the Green Belt and Countryside Study) was that at that time a policy option being considered was to identify major village expansions “Potential Major Development Areas”. This policy option has not been incorporated into the Proposed Submission Local Plan, as Table 1 of the Plan only makes reference to “village extensions”, which is consistent with the allocation of Land around Burnt Common Warehouse.

2.33 In the consideration of the sustainability of both the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse and Garlick’s Arch, the sustainability ranking for Land around Burnt Common Warehouse was higher than the Garlick’s Arch site. The higher ranking of Land around Burnt Common related to:

- walking distance to nearest primary school
- walking distances to the nearest local centre/village shop/post office
- walking distance to nearest healthcare facility
- walking distance to nearest railway station
- average walking distance to nearest recreation facility
- walking distance to the nearest Accessible Natural and Semi-Natural Greenspace walking distance to the nearest community/village hall

2.34 As well as Garlick’s Arch not being as sustainable a site as Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, it also has significant environmental constraints. It contains three substantial areas of Ancient Woodland, including Garlick’s Arch Copse in the northern and western parts of the site, and Oldlands Copse on the eastern part of the site. Development on this site will inevitably increase the risk of these important areas of woodland being adversely affected.

2.35 Garlick’s Arch site is also prominent in the landscape. The land is currently farmland, and slopes away to the south, and as such is very exposed to long distant views and also from the A3 which borders the southern boundary of the site. In contrast, the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse is contained in the landscape, with strong natural boundaries, and is also a site which already contains significant development, including warehouses, offices, the Ewbank Auction Rooms, and related car parking and infrastructure.

2.36 The central part of the Garlick’s Arch site is also designated as a flood risk area, and totally unsuitable for built development, either housing or employment. The whole site is therefore unsuitable to allocate for housing and employment, as it has the obvious characteristics of the countryside, including agriculture, characteristics which are clearly identified in the Environmental Capacity Study (Volume 3 of the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study –
Section 10 and 11). In contrast, the development of the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse would not result in the loss of any good agricultural land, and has capacity to accommodate new development, including employment and housing, as is identified as such in the Green Belt Study.

2.37 In the light of all this evidence, we submit that no justification has been given to replace the proposed housing at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse with Land at Garlick’s Arch. There is no necessity to create new slip-lanes onto the A3, as the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse is more than capable of being developed for housing and employment using the existing road infrastructure. In contrast, the proposed new slip-lanes would inevitably and unnecessarily generate more traffic in Burnt Common/Send Marsh, as the Borough Council state that these new slip roads would be used by existing (and future) users of the Ockham interchange. This level of traffic will therefore increase significantly, due to the increased traffic generated by proposed new development along the A3 especially the proposed development at the former Wisley airfield site.

2.38 We therefore submit that the Garlick’s Arch site should be deleted, and the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse be reinstated. It is not only a more sustainable site more in scale with the existing village, but the whole site has the flexibility to either be developed for a mix of housing and employment, or alternatively to be developed for employment in its entirety. This was put forward in the Draft Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan in April 2016, and should be reinstated in the Plan, and the Garlick’s Arch site deleted in its entirety.

Strategic Policies

3.1 We support the stated need to provide some of the housing requirement in the Borough as Village Extensions. However, any housing allocation needs to be proportionate to the size of the village. We submit that the proposal to allocate 400 new homes at Garlick’s Arch is disproportionate in scale to the existing village, and will increase the population by approximately 50%. It should therefore be deleted, and the housing allocation of 100 new homes on Land around Burnt Common Warehouse be reinstated.

3.2 We support Policy S2 which proposes between 4.7 and 5.3 hectares of industrial employment land (B1(c), B2 and B8). We submit that Land around Burnt Common Warehouse is the most suitable location for such uses, a view consistent with the Borough Council’s own view up to May 2016. We object to the proposed employment at Garlick’s Arch, and submit that the significant “evidence base” which has been published by the Borough Council does not support this proposed allocation, and is therefore “unsound”.

Protecting Policies

3.3 We support the identification of settlement boundaries for those villages that are of a scale and form that enable a boundary to be established with a degree of certainty (para 4.3.25). However, any proposed village extensions, such as at Send Marsh/Burnt Common, should be proportionate in scale with the existing village. We object to the proposed Garlick’s Arch extension of Send Marsh/Burnt Common as it is not only a site which is not supported for development on the Plan’s evidence base, but also is out of scale with the size of the existing village, and would almost double the existing population.

Employment Policies

3.4 We support the proposed requirement for additional land (B1c, B2 and B8) of between 4.7 hectares and 5.3 hectares. We further support the statement in the Policy that there is a need to ensure that there is an adequate supply of employment land over the Plan period.

3.5 We object to the deletion of Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, Send Marsh/Burnt Common as a new Strategic Employment Site, and its replacement by land at Garlick’s Arch. The land at Garlick’s Arch is not supported by any “evidence-base” documentation. In addition, this site is dependent on the construction of the newly proposed north facing slip roads to/from the A3 at Send Marsh/Burnt Common. We propose that the wording in the Draft Proposed Submission Local Plan (April 2016) in Policy E1 be reinstated to read:- “When developed, the new employment site on land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send, will be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.” This would then make this plan ‘sound’, as the allocation of this site would be consistent with the Council’s “evidence-base,” and with the statement in the Executive Report to the Council’s Executive Meeting on 11 May 2016 on the Land around Burnt Common that:- “this site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need.”

Sites
3.6 We object to Site Allocation A43 “Land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common for 400 homes (C3) and employment floorspace (B1c, B2 and B8). The reasons why this proposed allocation is not ‘sound’ is fully set out in Section 3 of this submission. It is not supported by the Council’s extensive “evidence-base”, and should therefore be deleted.

3.7 This Site Allocation should be replaced by Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send, and included as Policy A43 in the Draft Proposed Submission Version of the Local Plan April 2016. In addition, as the site has the flexibility of being able to accommodate employment uses on the whole site, the wording in the policy should be amended to read “at least 7,000 square metres of either or a mix of light industrial (B1(c)), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8)”.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

3. Proposed Amendment – Green Belt Boundary (Policy A58)

3.1 This objection relates to Send Marsh/Burnt Common Amendment No. 2. We propose an amendment to the Green Belt boundary to include Policy/Site A58 Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send. Our objection is that this proposed amendment should also exclude the Ewbank’s site from the Green Belt.

3.2 We submit that by not excluding the Ewbank’s site from the Green Belt, this Plan is unsound. It is not ‘positively prepared’, in that it does not meet objectively assessed development requirements, (in this case, insufficient employment land), and its retention in the Green Belt is not “justified”, as it could be excluded from the Green Belt, in accordance with the Borough Council’s own Green Belt and Countryside Studies.

3.3 The Ewbank’s site, together with the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse immediately to the east, was identified as Site 74 for employment development (B1c, B2 and B8) in the Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan 2014. This followed the publication of Volume 3 of the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study 2013, which was an ‘evidence base’ document for this Draft Plan. It was therefore considered by Guildford Borough to be suitable to be excluded from the Green Belt at that time, and there have been no changes of circumstances in relation to the Green Belt since that time. Of particular relevance is that this site was described in the Report to the Council Executive of 11 May 2016 para 4.19 in relation to need for industrial land: “the site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need.”

3.4 The Borough Council’s Land Availability Study (February 2016) maintained this view. It proposed that the whole of the land around Burnt Common Warehouse, including the Ewbank’s site, an area of 12.75 hectares, be developed for a mix of uses, with the Ewbank’s site, and land adjacent, being suitable for light industrial (B1c), and/or general industrial (B2), and/or storage and distribution (B8). It also made specific reference to retaining the Ewbank’s Auction Rooms use within this overall site. We maintain that as there has been no change in circumstance in relation to the Green Belt in this location, that this whole site should be excluded from the Green Belt, and allocated for employment purposes.

3.5 Ewbank’s Auction Rooms has an urgent need for additional floor space and wishes to remain on this present site given its location, and wishes to continue their expansion. The business commenced in 1990 turnover has grown since they moved here in 1994 by approximately 6 times and employment has risen from 3 to over 30 in the same time. Ewbank’s are Surrey’s leading antique and fine art auctioneers with a saleroom turnover now in the region of £4M. Chris Ewbank is a former chairman and honorary member of the Society of Fine Art Auctioneers and Valuers, former chair of the RICS antiques faculty and a member of RICS governing council, and Founder of the Association of Accredited Auctioneers. The current Green Belt designation of this site constrains the ability of Ewbank’s Auction Rooms to expand, despite having land and car parking available and it is already a predominantly brownfield site. The current requirement is for an additional 700 square metre building (minimum) to accommodate existing expansion needs.

3.6 In support of excluding this site from the Green Belt, we maintain that its exclusion would not harm any of the ‘Green Belt purposes’, as will be explained in the following paragraphs.

3.7 It would not lead to unrestricted sprawl, as it has well defined boundaries, as confirmed in the Council’s own Land Availability Study 2016. It is enclosed by tree belts along its north western boundary and by hedgerows, treecover, and the A3 trunk road along its southern boundary.

3.8 Its development would not result in neighbouring settlements merging into one another. We strongly refute the statement in the Borough Council’s Employment Topic Paper – June 2017 (para 4.55) that the development of the Ewbank’s site would result in ‘perceived coalescence’. The inference is that there would be a risk of coalescence between the Ewbank’s site and the proposed development at Gosden Hill Farm, Merrow Lane, Guildford to the south west. However, this would not be the case, as the two sites are separated by countryside, and also the A3 dual-carriageway trunk road.

3.9 There would also be no encroachment into the countryside. The Ewbank’s site is predominantly ‘brownfield’, as it not only contains the Ewbank’s Auction Room buildings, but also has hard surfaced car parking for approximately 90 cars. The use of this site for employment purposes would assist in maximising the use of this brownfield site for much needed employment development, in a strategic and sustainable location.

3.10 We submit that this Plan can be made ‘sound’ by the exclusion of the Ewbank’s site from the Green Belt, as shown in Appendix B of these submissions.

4. Proposed Amendment – Designation of Ewbank’s Auction Rooms site as part of Site Allocation A58 – Strategic Employment Site (Policy A58)

4.1 The objection relates to Send Marsh/Burnt Common Amendments Nos. 1 and 3. We propose that the Ewbank’s site be included in this site allocation, described as Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send. Its proposed use is as a strategic employment site, for a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). It is listed in Policy E1(8) (Meeting Employment Needs), and described and defined in Policy Site A58.

4.2 We submit that this Local Plan is unsound, as it does not allocate sufficient employment land to accommodate the potential employment needs to 2034, as set out in our submissions on employment land need in Section 2 of these objections.

4.3 This addition would increase the area of this proposed strategic employment site from 9.26 hectares to 12.75 hectares. It would provide the flexibility for a mix of employment uses, including the provision of small and medium size units. It would also accommodate a new building for Ewbank’s Auction Rooms, and related car parking.

4.4 The inclusion of the Ewbank’s site would make this Plan sound, as it would then be ‘positively prepared’, being more able to respond to employment needs in the Borough for the whole period of the plan in a flexible manner. It would be ‘justified’, as it would provide a strategic employment site in a sustainable location, being within easy reach of the strategic road network. At present its limited size would be less likely to fulfil the employment land needs for the period of the Plan in this part of the Borough.

4.5 The site would also be able to be satisfactorily accommodated within the local road network, as demonstrated in the Transport Report appended to these objections (Appendix D). This Transport Report considers the impact of new employment development at the Ewbank’s site and concludes that the traffic generated from the Ewbank’s site can be satisfactorily accommodated on the local highway network.

4.6 The Transport Report includes traffic surveys carried out in July 2017 at four locations near to the Ewbank’s Site. The increased traffic which is expected to be generated by new employment (including the Ewbank’s site) is estimated. The Report then concludes that there is sufficient spare capacity on the local highway network, including local junctions, to accommodate the proposed extension of the A58 Site to incorporate the Ewbank’s Auction Rooms site.

4.7 It is also of particular relevance that this comprehensive site is acceptable to Guildford Borough Council in transport terms even without the new A3 slip roads, as it was in the Draft Local Plan in (2014) as a proposed comprehensive development of the Land around Burnt Common Warehouse (including the Ewbank’s site) for a mix of B1(c), B2, B8 and residential development, without the need for new slip roads onto the A3.

4.8 The Borough Council considers that this site is very suitable for development. In its Strategic Land Availability Assessment 2016 it states that there is no known reason why well designed commercial uses in this location, that take account of the amenities of the neighbouring properties, should have an unacceptable impact.

4.9 The key attributes of the Ewbank’s site for employment uses include:-

- It has an existing employment use on the site, comprising the Ewbank’s Auction rooms and car parking for 90 cars;
- It is on a relatively flat, mainly brownfield site;
- It has an excellent vehicular access off the London Road;
- There are no public rights of way across the site;
- It has strong natural boundaries of hedgerows and tree belts;
- It is not subject to views from the wider countryside;
- It is not subject to any statutory or non-statutory landscape, nature conservation, or cultural heritage designations;
- It is in Flood Zone 1, where development is acceptable.

4.10 In the Draft Borough Local Plan 2014, when the Ewbank’s site was included in this strategic employment site (as Site 74) this comprehensive site was described in the ‘Opportunities Commentary’ Section as ‘suitable’ for new employment uses (B1c, B2 and B8). It was considered to be available in the short term (1 – 5 years), and specific reference was made to its identification as being a ‘potential development area – B13’ in the Borough Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study. This description of the site is an important evidence-base in support of these objections, as there has been no change in circumstances in the suitability of this whole site for strategic employment purposes.

4.11 We therefore submit that this Plan can be made ‘sound’ by the inclusion of the Ewbank’s site as part of Policy A58 land around Burnt Common Warehouse, London Road, Send (Appendix B). This would create a larger and more flexible strategic employment site, with the potential to accommodate a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8).

4.12 We further propose that the allocation of the Ewbank’s site should result in the amendment to the settlement boundary of Send Marsh/Burnt Common, for consistency with the currently proposed strategic employment area. This new boundary would be a natural extension to the settlement, with the defined boundaries of the A3 trunk road and London Road (see Appendix B).

4.13 There is also the additional benefits to the immediate highway adjacent to the Ewbank’s Site. The current access road suffers from significant onstreet parking and is poorly maintained. There would be the opportunity to improve this situation by closing the carriageway along the site edge, which could include incorporating some existing highway land within the whole Ewbank’s site, thus increasing the amount of new employment land in this recognised strategic area for new employment.

5. Conclusions

5.1 We propose that the Ewbank’s site be included within Policy/Site A58 as part of the proposed strategic employment allocation at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse. We submit that the addition of this land will make a significant contribution to the additional land for strategic employment, which we submit is required to provide the flexibility to accommodate strategic employment needs over the period of the Local Plan, to 2034. 5.2 We therefore propose amendment to the following Plans in the Local Plan; all of which are contained in Appendix E of these objections:-

- Send Marsh/Burnt Common – Amendment 1 – Additional Site Allocation A58
- Send Marsh/Burnt Common – Amendment 2 – Green Belt Boundary Amendment
5.3 We also propose that Employment Policy E1(1) be amended to increase the proposed new industrial land (B1c, B2 and B8). This increase should at a minimum, be an additional 3.49 hectares, being the area of the Ewbank’s site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Introduction

1.1 DMH Stallard act on behalf of ‘Ewbanks’, on planning matters in relation to the Ewbank’s Burnt Common Auction Rooms site, which is located to the south of the settlement of Send Marsh/Burnt Common. It is 3.49 hectares (8.62 acres) in area.

1.2 These representations relate to the Proposed Changes to the ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites June 2016’, which covers the period to 2034.

1.3 Our representations focus on objecting to the exclusion of the Ewbank’s Burnt Common Auction Room site from the proposed new Industrial Strategic Employment Site at Burnt Common (Policy E1(8)).

1.4 In our representations on the ‘Proposed Submission Local Plan : Strategy and Sites – June 2016; we objected to the proposed removal of the allocation of Land around Burnt Common Warehouse for employment uses, (including the Ewbank’s site). We therefore support the re-instatement of most of this allocation through the Proposed Amendment to Policy E1(8) and Site Allocation A58, but strongly object to the exclusion of the Ewbank’s site from this Proposed Amendment.

1.5 The ‘Ewbank’s Site’ has consistently been included as part of this proposed employment site in earlier versions of this Local Plan. It was in the Draft Local Plan (2014) as Site 74, and also in the Draft Version of the Proposed Submission Local Plan considered by the Guildford Borough’s Economy and Infrastructure Executive Board on 13th April 2016, and in the papers for the meeting of the Borough Council’s Executive Committee. The Report to the Executive stated about this whole site:- “Send Marsh/Burnt Common – the site is located in a yellow (medium) sensitivity land parcel. Our Employment Land Needs Assessment identifies a need for industrial land and this site is the only suitable and deliverable site identified by the Green Belt and Countryside Study that could meet this need”.

1.6 In the light of this statement, and in the subsequent decision by the Borough Council to re-instate land at Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site, we can see no reason why the Ewbank’s site is now excluded from this allocation. It forms an integral part of this whole site, and we submit that there are no planning policy reasons for its omission from this proposed allocation.
1.7 The suitability of including the Ewbank’s site in this strategic employment allocation was also underlined in the Guildford Borough’s Land Availability Assessment February 2016, where it stated that this ‘combined site would help towards meeting employment need, and there is no known reason why well designed commercial uses in this location should have any unacceptable impact’. We are therefore very concerned to note that in the 2017 Amendment to this Land Availability Assessment, it states that the Ewbank’s site is now excluded from this employment site, without giving any reasons. It states:-

“The sites boundary has been amended from that previously proposed on the site in the draft Local Plan (2014) to exclude a triangular-shaped parcel of land in the southwest corner and the existing distribution centre”.

There is only a brief reference to this change in the Employment Topic Paper – June 2017 in paragraph 4.55:-

“The site has however been reduced in area to that previously identified in 2014 which addresses the issues related to perceived coalescence”.

This statement clearly contradicts the findings of the Borough Council’s own Green Belt and Countryside Study, which gave no such concerns on coalescence, and considered this whole site suitable for exclusion from the Green Belt.

1.8 In objecting to Policy E1(8) we will be making reference throughout these submissions to the relevant ‘evidence base’ documents. These include:-

- Topic Paper : Employment – June 2017
- Topic Paper : Green Belt and the Countryside – June 2017
- Employment Land Needs Assessment – March 2017
- Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013 - 2031
- Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment – February 2016 and June 2017

We will also be making reference to documents related to these ‘evidence bases’ including the Guildford Green Belt and Countryside Studies.

1.9 In the following Sections we will address the following matters in support of our submission that the “Ewbank’s Site” should be included within the proposed Industrial Strategic Employment Site at Burnt Common:-

- Proposed Amendment : New Employment Floorspace - Policy E1(1)
- Proposed Amendment : Green Belt Boundary – Policy E1(8) and site A58
- Proposed Amendment : New Site Allocation – Policy E1(8) and site A58

1.10 In addressing each of these matters, we will set out why we consider that the relevant Policy is ‘unsound’, and what changes to the Plan are required to make it sound.

2. Proposed Amendment – New Employment Floorspace (Policy E1(1))

2.1 This objection relates to the proposed amendment to Policy E1(1), which proposes changes to the proposed employment floorspace as follows:-

- Reduction in new industrial land (B1(c), B2 and B8):-
  - Lower range from 4.7 hectares to 3.7 hectares
  - Upper range from 5.3 hectares to 4.1 hectares

2.2 We submit that these reductions in new industrial land are unsound, and, rather than reducing the new industrial floorspace, it should be significantly increased. We consider that these current floorspace proposals are unsound, as these estimates are not based on a positively prepared planning strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements. Nor is it consistent with national policy, as set out in the National Planning Policy Framework, which seeks to secure economic growth in order to create jobs and prosperity. This is one of the three dimensions of sustainable development, which is seen as the ‘golden thread’ running through plan making.
2.3 This need to provide sufficient employment land for the period of the Local Plan is confirmed in the Guildford Borough Employment Land Needs Assessment - March 2017. In estimating the additional industrial/storage land required in paragraph 7.2.4 of this Assessment, it recognises in paragraph 7.2.5 that:

“Demand for employment land within Guildford could be higher than these and land floorspace forecasts. Employment within the borough has the potential to grow more quickly than currently anticipated, while demand for additional space on the part of businesses already located within the borough could be higher given the extent to which employment densities have risen in recent years”.

2.4 In the light of these comments, the Local Plan should increase these estimates in Policy E1(8), to provide the flexibility to enable an increased amount of employment space to be accommodated in the Borough. This additional employment land should be focussed on identified strategic employment sites. The only strategic employment site east of Guildford town, and within easy reach of the strategic road network is Land around Burnt Common, Send. The addition of the Ewbank’s site would provide an additional 3.49 hectares of strategic employment land, which would provide this flexibility over the period of the Local Plan (to 2034).

2.5 We do not consider that the Borough Council’s Employment Topic Paper – June 2017 accurately reflects the conclusions and recommendations of the Guildford Borough Employment Land Needs Assessment – March 2017, as it limits to proposed employment floorspace for B1c/B2/B8 to the same amount as that stated in the Assessments conclusions, but without providing any allowance for flexibility (paragraphs 4.7 to 4.10). The 2017 Assessment is very clear that demand for employment land within Guildford could be higher than the forecasts, and this should be reflected in the amount of land allocated for B1(c), B2 and B8 employment in this Local Plan. No such flexibility is proposed and the Local Plan currently even proposes a reduction in both the lower and upper ranges of new B1(c), B2 and B8 floorspace, (Policy E1(8)). As such we do not consider that this part of the Local Plan is ‘positively prepared,’ and is therefore unsound.

2.6 These objections incorporate an Employment Statement by Kingstons, independent commercial agents, based in Guildford, who specialise in the office and industrial warehouse sectors in Surrey and neighbouring counties (Appendix C). This Employment Statement provides strong evidence for the need for the Local Plan to significantly increase its proposed new employment land in Policy E1(1). In addition, it explains how the Ewbank’s site is the ideal site for additional employment land, being adjacent to the currently proposed strategic employment site at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse, with the flexibility to provide a range of employment development opportunities.

2.7 In summary, this Employment Statement by Kingstons provides the following reasons why the Local Plan should provide additional employment land.

2.8 It is important that employment land allocations are spread amongst several owners, in order to ensure that there is competition between sites, and there is a mix of new employment developments serving different employment requirements.

2.9 There has been a significant loss of existing industrial sites from employment use, which will need replacement new employment floorspace within the Borough, just to maintain the existing supply. Some of these industrial sites have been of a significant size, of between 25,000 square feet and 10,000 square feet.

2.10 There is a requirement for ‘multiple sites,’ due to ‘single occupier’ take up. A single occupier, such as a major ‘on-line’ supplier, could require in the order of 150,000 square feet, which could take up the whole of the proposed new employment land in one development. This is clearly not a sustainable position, and certainly is not allowing for continuing new employment development throughout the plan period.

2.11 There is a need to provide sites of different ‘shapes,’ which will provide opportunities for small industrial and storage units over the plan period. The Ewbank’s site provides such flexibility.

2.12 One of the important evidence-base reasons for the need for additional new employment land is the significant demand from existing businesses in the Borough, with well over 50% planning to expand their operations.

2.13 Recent evidence of ‘take up’ of new employment land is significant, and the existing strategic employment sites have very little capacity for new employment development. This is clearly demonstrated in the Guildford Borough Employment
Land Needs Assessment, which contains a Schedule of all the Strategic Employment Sites in the Borough. It shows that a vast majority of these sites have no potential over and above existing permissions for new employment development.

2.14 In the light of this evidence, we submit that for this Local Plan to be ‘sound’ in relation to new employment land, the proposed new employment floorspace in Policy E1(1) should be significantly increased. The addition of the Ewbank’s site of 3.49 hectares to the proposed Strategic Employment Site at Land around Burnt Common Warehouse would make a significant contribution to the required additional employment land, to ensure that sufficient land for B1(c), B2 and B8 uses is available throughout the period of the Local Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Normandy and Flexford

As residents of Normandy for over 30 years, we write to object to the GBC Local Plan 2016 for the following reasons:

- We see no justification or 'exceptional circumstances' for Site A46 to be released from the Green Belt. There has been no explanation why development has to be on this red sensitivity status site.
- The local roads are already overstretched and have been steadily deteriorating over many years. The development will increase pressure on the traffic from Normandy towards and across Guildford on the A3 and other local roads, which is already a nightmare, resulting in longer and longer 'peak' hours at each end of the working day. Public transport never has been or will be an adequate substitute. The railway under and over bridges on Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane are a constraint on the flow of traffic and considered unsafe due to inadequate sightlines.
- There is no current need for a new secondary school in this area and may only be required if the development is permitted to proceed. At present, we are adequately served by the existing secondary schools whereas the primary schools are under tremendous pressure.
- Other amenities in the village would not be able to meet the increased need produced by the additional population.
- There has been no consistent application of considerations of sustainability and sensitivity as applied to Normandy and Flexford. They are treated as one settlement when assessing sustainability but treated separately for sensitivity.
- We have been seeing far fewer species of birds and small mammals over recent years and the proposed additional households means even more dogs and cats in the area, increasing predation of wildlife.

The plan is considered unrealistic and would result in the destruction of our rural environment and we wish our views to be taken into account.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

My letter is couched in general terms but nevertheless should not be disregarded as I can see the implications and effects of the proposed plan and to which I OBJECT.

It is quite clear from all the meetings and conversations/reports that I have followed that your plan is deeply flawed, is not impartial, is for economic growth rather than local need and is based on contortions of any ‘evidence’ used to fulfil criteria for these goals.

The primary OBJECTION is to the housing numbers (hotly disputed) for the whole of Guildford area. This has never been substantiated and it appears that the number stated is based on a Strategic Housing Market Assessment which has never been revealed. Only recently have we been advised in the news that demand for housing in recent months has dropped. The inflated number of new houses required in the Guildford area would deal with a population growth higher than official national estimates in the borough with more than a fair share in the Horsleys. There is no explanation of why, since the consultation on the 2013 plan, the target has been raised from 232 homes per year to over 652.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object most strongly to your proposed plan to carry out extensive housing development in the Guildford area, particularly in the Horsleys.

West Horsley's defined Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) DO NOT need to be extended. West Horsley Parish is one of a rich and varied mix of well-established low housing density settlements with a considerable number of historic buildings. Positioned on the north side of the North Downs, partly in the Surrey Hills AONB, it attracts a considerable number of recreational visitors (walkers and cyclists) through the seasons each year.

The number of proposed new homes will swamp the village of West Horsley and change its nature irrevocably. Village expansion is unsustainable. With only one small shop, no post office, a very limited ‘weekdays only’ bus service through the village, it is clearly unsustainable for the proposed high volumes of new housing development.

The development of 385 homes on the 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village settlement and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the village. The homes building proposals are unsustainable in terms of all the above not to mention parking in East Horsley shopping areas and particularly at Horsley station which is virtually full on a daily basis and of course, public transport.

The planned development on Green Belt is therefore unsustainable.

Now that the Council has acknowledged the ‘West Horsley Neighbourhood Area’ (which it did on 8 September 2014 - The West Horsley Neighbourhood Area follows the boundary of West Horsley parish) following an application by West Horsley Parish Council and a six week consultation, it is hoped that the Council will listen to and acknowledge the views of the parish council in future planning matters.

The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven. The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014, identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home.

If this is a “Local Plan” which was has been subjected to extensive consultation and vociferous objection by the electorate of Guildford Borough, why is Guildford Borough Council (GBC) perusing this as it is so clearly unsupported by locals. Are you reacting to and being dictated to by central government? It seems so.

Surely the purpose of a Local Plan is to meet local needs and objectives as set out in the Neighbourhood plan, not those handed down from Westminster.

The planning officers and councillors of GBC have signally failed to listen to the concerns about the destruction of the green belt in West Horsley. The draft local plan would result in the urbanisation of this small hamlet. The infrastructure of both the Horsleys, East and West, would not cope with more than a small increase in housing numbers.

In conclusion, I urge GBC to revise the housing number to a more realistic and required number, and to amend the Local Plan to utilise brownfield or previously used land rather than green field sites. There are plenty of brownfield and previously used land sites within the Borough.

The fact that Station Parade is designated a ‘District Centre’ is totally misleading and has therefore quite incorrectly attracted a spurious need for new houses. Something that again shows a complete lack of local understanding of the village.

This leads to the next most important subject and features of your plan……….”Developing in the GREEN BELT.” Not even in exceptional circumstances can the Green Belt be developed and these have anyway not been demonstrated.

I OBJECT therefore to your policy P2 where although you state that the Green Belt must be protected, you go on to remove parts of West Horsley from it through these needless development proposals.

Apart from anything else, our Green Belt is very precious. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding (which is very apparent in Horsley; especially on at least two of the sites that you have proposed for development); it is for us to conserve and protect.

Once these inflated housing numbers have been discredited, the whole plan falls apart.

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states that the Green Belt boundaries should NOT be changed unless there are exceptional circumstances. Again, unmet housing need is NOT an exceptional circumstance. In addition the existence of the Green Belt or Areas of Natural Beauty prevents such over assessed housing needs and is a constraint against unnecessary development. Moreover, ministerial guidance has been published that makes it clear that unmet housing need should NOT normally be taken as such an exceptional circumstance. No exceptional circumstances have been disclosed. To remove most of the Borough’s Villages from the Green Belt would change the nature of this area of countryside forever and would eventually merge historic and separate villages. Something the Green belt was set up to avoid.

Our drains (both foul and surface water), our water supply, our medical facilities, our schools and our roads cannot cope with our existing population let alone the proposed increase which would follow the planned number of new homes. Building this number of homes will lead to greater flood risk in Horsley and downstream (along the Wey and Thames). Ripley Lane is often flooded after a few hours of rain and impassable in a car near Jury’s Farm as are other areas adjacent to your proposed sites.

There are many brownfield sites available in the Guildford town centre which at the moment is being earmarked for commercial development rather than for housing. These sites would be enough to meet our real needs for affordable local homes. There are enough vacant commercial sites to cope with genuine business need, and we have enough retail capacity already, so urban brownfield/derelict land should be used for housing. Surrey University already has planning permission for more than 1,500 accommodation units on its own brownfield campus but for several years has postponed this development. If the University were to complete this development, much of the town centre affordable accommodation would be available for rental/purchase.

The information in the draft plan and its size may seem too complicated for many individuals to take in but that does not stop ‘us’ understanding the overall policies that you are putting forward. One wonders about the qualifications and experience of the people who have put this plan together. What expertise and experience do they have? What local knowledge have they digested? The fact the Wisley site is still included in the draft Local Plan makes one question the whole ethos of the GBC Executive. The councilors unanimously decided on 14 counts that the site was unsuitable and yet it is still in this local plan.

I Object – Please count my objection

Dear Sir or Madam

I would like you to note my objections to any proposed planning applications and changes to boundaries on the area of Shalford by the bowling green with access to Chinthurst Lane.

1. Green Belt boundaries have been in place for decades and are in place for good reason. There is no valid reason for changing the boundaries. Apparently leaving the EU is going to save all the problems of overcrowding and immigration therefore it will be unnecessary to keep building. The only people to benefit are the already wealthy developers who do not care where they develop as long as it does not affect themselves personally. The council should not be assisting developers by ruining existing villages. The owners of this land have been trying to develop it for years. They can only interested in the profit to be made.

2. A large number of the residents of Shalford object to these proposals. The wishes of the residents should not be ignored.

3. This area of land is elevated and highly visible from the village hall, bowling green and village facilities which are regularly used by all. A housing development on this high elevation will ruin the character and setting. The land is much higher than the Village Green and Pond and will be visible. It is such a high elevation that the surrounding houses will be overlooked. The character of the centre of the village will be ruined and changed forever.

4. Chinthurst Lane is narrow and already dangerous, with many bends, single tracks with no passing places and no pavements. Because of many new developments along the A281 it has become a rat run in recent years. It is a short cut for traffic going to Guildford to avoid the very congested A281. If you listen to Eagle Radio the A 281 through Shalford gets a mention on the traffic news every day. Chinthurst Lane has traffic backed up every morning to as far back as Polar Road and it is getting worse. There is no more room for more vehicles.

5. The existing infrastructure cannot cope. Every morning cars are parked all over the village and left all day as the owners commute to work. Roads are at a stand still. Schools are unable to cope with the numbers of children.

Developments should only be allowed where our old traditional villages can remain unspoilt and where the infrastructure is in place to cope with a large influx of new residents. The importance of keeping the countryside in tact for future generations is obvious. There are numerous brown field sites across Surrey and the South East and within this borough. If development has to happen surely it is those areas that should be used first rather than changing existing boundaries at the expense of village life.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I have lived in Ockham now for 10 years, and have lost track of the number of letters I have had to write to you in objection to large scale development on this site. You seem hell-bent on ruining a part of the greenbelt, planting a totally unsustainable development on the Greenbelt and effectively eliminating the historic hamlet of Ockham. I am particularly distressed to see that since this proposal was last dismissed by the Planning committee, the land has now expanded and moved even closer to the residents along Ockham Lane (including our own house).

In summary then I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

• I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have read the voluminous reports purporting to the above and have several significant objections:

There are too many homes being proposed to be built too fast for a village without the necessary infrastructure to cope with such an expansion.

1) I am totally opposed to the West Horsley village’s removal from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries. There are NO exceptional circumstances other than in a developer’s eyes…!

The policy states that provision will be made for 13,800 new homes over the Plan Period 2103 - 2033; this is far too high and is unsustainable in Guildford's villages.

2) The Key Evidence document makes no case for locating the proposed large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley villages.

3) Village expansion in particular in West Horsley is unviable; there is only one small shop (which is under sale negotiations at the moment and is not guaranteed to remain as a shop), no Post Office, a very limited weekdays only bus service through the village. It is clearly unsustainable to accommodate the high number of homes proposed. The development of 385 propose homes on the 4 sites is with much higher densities than currently exist in the village and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of housing and layout of the village. Also, the need for so many house to be built in West Horsely over the first 5 years of the Plan Period is not proven; the West Horsley Parish Council identified a limited number of about 20 affordable homes for local people (the younger and older residents) who wish to remain in the village.

4) The homes proposal do not take into account the tremendous effect that such a large number of homes and people, as proposed in the Plan Period, will have on an already creaking local infrastructure, in the terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity and maintenance, shops, parking (in East Horsely - the shops and the station) and public transport, or rather lack of it…!!

5) On another point Policy i3 states that developers would be expected to propose and secure travel plans for their developments and contribute to transport and arrangements for the disabled - my experience proves that this is lacking and therefore the policy lacks teeth to impose rather than expect.

6) There is a continuing lack of clarity as to schools in the area and the influx of large number of home and therefore families with children will worsen this situation. The Raleigh school serving East and West Horsley want to move and expand but this is only preliminary at the moment and will take several years to build and complete - otherwise it is FULL. Schools in the area (Glenske and Canmore) also currently provide major difficulties for the road transport system at certain times of the day!! the Definitions and Policy ! Infrastructure and Delivery mentions “schools”; but it is rather vague in the extreme…!!

7) medical facilities at the Kingston Avenue Medical Centre, serving East AND West Horsley, are already stretched and residents experience difficulties in making timely appointments. The planned increase would swamp the current facilities…..!

8) Roads and transport Infrastructure, while again mentioned in the Definitions and Policy: Infrastructure and Delivery, there is no specific mention for West Horsley….While there is a reasonable frequency of trains to London and Guildford during the 7 day week, the station carping is normally full on weekdays, and certainly an increase in the population of the size envisaged would have an unbearable pressure on the station parking and indeed traffic movements in general for work, schools and shopping. Car ownership in village areas tends to be two cars, or even three, meaning journey times on local roads will increase significantly.
There are current, known sewage overflow problems in the Okham Road North/ Green Lane and East Lane areas, Also, Thames Water has advised that the area’s wastewater area in unlikely to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed developments. They advise it will take 2-3 years’ construction to install the drains/pipes etc AFTER planning permission has been granted.

All in all, this does not appear to have been properly thought out for modern times and modern living with significant chances of environmental and social disaster. It is simply too many homes for villages without the necessary infrastructure to cope, and vague in setting out developer’s responsibilities at the outset; the developers will be able to make significant amount of money/profits in high value housing area without due though for the local community(ies).

I trust that these comments will be taken into account when decisions are being considered.

I write in connection with the above.

I object to policy H1.

Having a policy of Homes for All is a complete nonsense when the type of housing that gets built is completely at the mercy of developers driven by profit, and the vagaries of the housing market.

I Object to Policy H2.

There is no point in having a policy for Affordable Homes when their provision will always be at the whim of profit motivated developers and the state of the housing market. In any case the definition of “affordable” bears absolutely no relation to what can actually be paid by people, perhaps in essential jobs, who have to live in this over-priced borough.

It is simply not possible for development of any of the identified sites to ever be sustainable in the terms detailed in the Sustainability Appraisal which forms part of the draft.

Re. The Guildford Plan

I am concerned, and unhappy, about The Guildford Plan.

I object to the proposal to remove Green Belt land from the Horsleys. I also object to the idea of ‘insetting’ the Horsleys. I object too to the proposal of SANGs.

I have major concerns and objections to the proposal to remove East and West Horsley land from the Green Belt. Residents are very worried.

I oppose the proposals to develop Green Belt land for residential development.

There are no justifications for extending settlement areas.
West Horsley's Defined Settlement Area boundaries do not need to be extended. There are not any reasonable, justifiable, nor proven with acceptable evidence, “exceptional circumstances” for insetting these Areas from the Green Belt.

The Horsleys do not have suitable infrastructure for large scale development.

The provision of properties for first time buyers is not a reasonable excuse for building large scale, high density housing on land that should remain as undeveloped green belt land. The Horsleys is not a first time buyers destination of choice. Any argument for creating first time buyers housing is short sighted. Housing would quite easily increase in price very quickly and in just one sale along it could be far higher than a proposed ‘first time buyers’ property, making such an argument utterly ludicrous.

Local schools are full. The current idea that The Raleigh school could be rebuilt is wholly unacceptable as it is being proposed that it be rebuilt on green belt land. The Raleigh School is being used a pawn in the Guildford Plan’s proposals.

The village shops at East Horsley have been incorrectly classified. They are not a significant commerce hub. The village shops are a small row of stores and amenities. As such, they serve the village well, but they are not a significant commercial destination and do not support the proposal of the increased population set out by The Guildford Plan.

The density in the proposed development sites is of a density out of keeping with the Horsleys and is of a density that would have an unacceptable negative impact on the infrastructure.

It is not shown in the Guildford Plan that Brownfield sites are being developed ahead of Green Belt sites. Green Belt sites must only be used for development in exceptional circumstances. There are no proven exceptional circumstances for the developments proposed in the Guildford Plan.

I am concerned and object to the proposals to build on Green Belt land at Long Reach. There is an area of this land that directly backs onto existing residential properties and the existing residential properties would have a loss of privacy by having the Green Belt land developed to their boundaries.

The density of housing being proposed at Long Reach is of an unacceptable high density. The land at Long Reach should remain as Green Belt land.

It has been proposed in the Guildford Plan that Benswood would act as an alternative greenspace. Benswood is already green and the area being proposed for development at Long Reach is already green. How can the development of a Green Belt area be justified by suggesting that it can be replaced by another area that is itself already Green Belt? It is a simple fact of mathematics that ‘two minus one = one’. The Guildford Plan makes the most bizarre proposals that ‘two minus one = no difference, just alternative’. This is an outrageous con and I object to it.

Green Belt land must be protected and persevered. Once it is gone it is gone forever. We must not be the generation that selfishly sold off land and took away the Green Belt. We must preserve and protect the Horsleys Green Belt land for future generations.

Please consider the above comments as concerns and objections to The Guildford Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object most strongly to your proposal to build 135 houses at the so-called Manor Farm Site. We already have high density housing in Long Reach, not only on the road itself but also in the two original council housing cul-de-sacs namely Woodside and Farley's Close. An aerial view of the site would suggest that it could fit in like a piece in a jigsaw. However, there is a noticeable exception and that is the northern boundary which does not follow the line and is indisputably outside the natural envelope of the village. The field contained therein should not be included in the plan and it seems to have been tacked on to make the site more appealing by having possibly two access points. The fact that the road Long Reach is completely unsuitable as an artery seems to have escaped the attention of the planners. I genuinely feel that it's a possibility that no member of the planning committee has ever visited it, certainly not at a weekend!

To attempt to shoe-horn in further cheek-by-jowl housing would create a volume with which the village simply couldn't cope. It's not just the schools, doctors' surgeries, roads, trains, station car parks etc. being ridiculously over-subscribed, it's more than that. The seemingly vindictive attempt to blight West Horsley with this site and all the others would reduce this village to a congested dormitory and change it's character forever whilst the developers can walk away with full wallets leaving the residents to pick up the pieces.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

16. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D). The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Re: Responses to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

I am particularly concerned that more weight should be given to the effect on the existing rural communities, including the local communities of West Clandon, Send and Ripley, with regard to:

1. the effect that increased motor traffic would have on these communities;
2. to the need that any development to existing rural communities should be proportionate to the size and nature of those existing rural communities and should preserve their rural character;
3. the need to maintain the Green Belt; and
4. the need to ensure that the Plan does not set into unstoppable motion an unsustainable programme which does not contain adequate checks and balances to safeguard our existing rural communities.

I am particularly concerned that insufficient weight has been given to the effect that Policy 43a (New A3 slip-roads at Send-Marsh/Burnt Common), Policy 43 (Garlick’s Arch) and Policy A25 (Gosden Hill Farm) will have on the rural communities of West Clandon, Send and Ripley, and particularly WEST CLANDON.

West Clandon is a linear village stretching for approximately 3km or 2 miles from the current A3 Burnt Common southbound entrance slip-road, south along the A247 to the traffic lights at the junction with the A25/A246, just south of West Clandon church. West Clandon has a historic centre with a church, two pubs, a branch of the Royal British Legion, an infant school, an old people's home (Ashley Park), a recreation ground and Clandon Park (a historic National Trust property currently under reconstruction after being damaged by fire). West Clandon has a railway crossed by a hump-backed bridge and a railway station. The southern half of the village is in a conservation area. The village comprises approximately 500 homes.

The A247 through West Clandon, known as “The Street” or at the north end of the village “Clandon Road”, runs right the way through the village. In places it is narrow and windy with significant bends. In parts there is a footpath only on one side and the road is so narrow that it is frequently mounted by lorries. There is a constant stream of broken wing-mirrors left behind as debris evidencing the narrowness of The Street at some sections. Within the last couple of years there has been at least one collision between a vehicle and a building (Summers Barn) at a narrow section. The A247 already has a disproportionate amount of traffic to cope with compared to neighbouring villages because it has a road crossing over (rather than under) the railway line.

Around 100 houses, businesses and amenities have an access directly onto The Street (or Clandon Road). Some of these have very limited visibility (lines of sight), or in some cases zero visibility, of oncoming traffic in either direction, except through the use of mirrors. My own property is situated on the inside of the crown of a narrow bend and we rely totally on mirrors for sight of traffic as we exit the property. We are by no means alone. The approach road to West Clandon railway station and the Onslow Arms pub are two more examples of entrances onto The Street with extremely limited visibility – in the case of the railway station because of the hump-backed bridge, and in the case of The Onslow Arms pub, because the pub building itself is situated on the road and obscures a clear view of traffic approaching from the north. Within the last two weeks there has been a road traffic accident outside The Onslow Arms with one of the vehicles ending up in the garden of Brownlow Cottage opposite the pub. Accidents and near-misses at the junction of Clandon station approach with The Street are extremely common and this is well-known as a dangerous junction with very limited visibility of traffic approaching from the north.

The danger of traffic in West Clandon not only affects vehicles but also pedestrians. The linear nature of the village, plus the fact that the road is only wide enough for a footpath on one side at various points, means that the frequency of passing vehicles can make it difficult for pedestrians to enter and exit some properties at busy times. The same limited visibility from some entrances of traffic on The Street that affects people leaving these properties by vehicle also affects pedestrians. I myself experience this every day as I leave my property on-foot, since my home is located on the inside of the crown of a bend and I rely on a mirror for my only view of the traffic. For an elderly person or a child this would be highly dangerous or impossible. If the volume of traffic increases, the situation will become worse and there is a risk that the difficulties of access would make some villagers in West Clandon virtual prisoners in their own homes.

The A247 splits the village of West Clandon in half. It divides the church on the west side of The Street from its car park on the east side of The Street. It has to be negotiated by elderly residents of the Ashley Park Care Home, children and parents dropping off or collecting from the Clandon Infant School, users of the two pubs on opposite sides of the road, the railway station, the Recreation Ground and The Royal British Legion.

If there is a higher volume of traffic (at whatever speed), it will be harder to find a gap in the traffic during busy times in order to safely cross The Street. Once a certain critical volume is exceeded this will become virtually impossible. For the elderly or infirm and for children it is already very difficult for them to cross from one half of the village to the other with the very limited visibility that exists in some areas. A pedestrian crossing cannot be provided from every house or every business or amenity and there is insufficient room to allow footpaths to be built on both sides of The Street.

Users of several public footpaths crossing The Street, including one on a severe bend near the church, will be put at greater risk. The same is true for pedestrians crossing from the graveyard, Ashley Park old people's home or the church car park, all of which are on the east side of The Street, to the church side of the A247 which has the only pavement at that point.

The number of cyclists that use the A247 as a route to access The North Downs has increased massively following the well publicised use of cycle routes in this area during the Olympics and in national cycle events. The A247 is now a corridor for cyclists accessing the Downs from Woking and beyond. The winding and narrow nature of the A247 makes it difficult for other vehicles to overtake these cyclists. If the volume of traffic increases then this will only make this problem worse and lead to a higher risk of accidents as more vehicles try to overtake cyclists on narrow winding roads.

Many of the above concerns are specific to West Clandon because it is a linear village divided by the A247 which is narrow, winding and in places bordered by a footpath on only one side. Because it winds through the historic centre of West Clandon there is no possibility of the A247 being widened or of additional footpaths being provided alongside the road, or of improvements to visibility for entrances on to or off The Street. For all of these reasons I consider any significant increase in the volume of traffic on the A247 through West Clandon could have a seriously damaging impact on the quality of life of residents of West Clandon including the approximately 100 homes with entrances directly off The Street/Clandon Road, and on users of West Clandon's railway station, pubs, infant school, church, old people's home, Royal British Legion club, recreation ground and public footpaths.

I am concerned that the provision of 400 homes plus industrial, storage and distribution units at Garlick's Arch just to the north east of West Clandon, an additional entrance and exit to the A3 at Burnt Common, and 2000 homes at Gosden Hill Farm, will produce a much greater volume of traffic on the A247 through West Clandon, particularly at busy times. I OBJECT because I do not believe there has been a proper assessment of the likely impact of these three proposals on the volume of traffic though West Clandon and the effect that this will have on that community, or that any assessment has been properly taken into account. I OBJECT because a key consideration should be the effect on existing neighbouring communities, taking into account the specific circumstances of those communities. A key consideration for Policy 43a (New A3 slip-roads at Send-Marsh/Burnt Common), Policy 43 (Garlick’s Arch) and Policy A25 (Gosden Hill Farm) should be the effect of the increased traffic that these policies and the Plan as a whole will have on the community of West Clandon and neighbouring communities of Ripley and Send.

Additionally the scale of the proposed developments in the vicinity of West Clandon are disproportionate to the size of the existing rural community.

Moreover the Plan as a whole is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary. I set out below additional objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

13. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement. There is also very limited visibility from some houses, businesses and amenities for vehicles turning onto The Street or for pedestrians trying to cross The Street (e.g. Clandon railway station approach, Onslow Arms car park, Bull's Head car park, West Clandon church car park).

• 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road
• July 2016 Collision outside Onslow Arms resulting in one vehicle ending up in garden of cottage opposite

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

It is estimated the development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day, and where there are already difficulties accessing properties, businesses and amenities, and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.
Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

14. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it.

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.
Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

4. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3).

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

8. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

9. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

11. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable, much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourist
To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spendi The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

3. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

7. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF. The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

10. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes. The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB.

5. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1).

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians. The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements. The bends and narrow width of the road in West Clandon make the road difficult to access from some of the 100 or so houses, businesses and amenities with entrances onto the road (e.g. Onslow Arms pub, Clandon railway station). The same difficulty is experienced by pedestrians and the fact that there is only a footpath on one side of the road makes it impossible to improve safety for pedestrians crossing the road in many places. These problems will become worse with increased traffic.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable. There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

6. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2) I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network.

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan. There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

3. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2).

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions. Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I do not believe this to be true.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

12. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraint. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013.

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework.
Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

The narrow and windy nature of the A247 through West Clandon and the dangers of entering and exiting the over 100 properties and amenities which have entrances directly onto this road have not been taken into account.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2).

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri- borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt.

It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints.
It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The road infrastructure in West Clandon has the added disadvantage that West Clandon is a linear village and the road through it is narrow in places with many bends and poor visibility for access for pedestrians and vehicles alike. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

1. Questions posed by Guildford Borough Council as part of its consultation. Questions from GBC

Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

ANSWER
I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Question 2: Legal Compliance

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole as legally compliant? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal. As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.
The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

1. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopte

2. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

1. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitment. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involve. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

1. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

2. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

3. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

5. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secure.

6. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough. The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages. This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Policy A25 GOSDEN HILL – My Objections

1) Gosden Hill development of 1700 houses. Reference to a potential link road from the development to the A247. The clear implication is for an access from the development to the A247 with enormous traffic implications for the A247.

2) South bound off- and on- slip roads to service the development and replace the existing off- slip road to Burpham. The only North bound access to the A3 will be via the existing slip road off Clay Lane. (See later, Burnt Common).

3) A 4-entry form secondary school, a primary school, a retail centre and a park and ride for up to 700 cars.

4) When developed, the new employment site at the north side of Gosden Hill Farm (site allocation A25) will be treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site (7000sq.m). This could mean several hundred employees.

5) The development of this site will cause massive congestion in surrounding roads. It will generate many thousands of vehicle movements onto the A3 which is already at a crawl every day during peak periods.

6) The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

7) The proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress.

8) The A247 through West Clandon is not suited to cope with additional traffic for reasons including: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

9) I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too many.

10) There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

11) Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of Green Belt.

12) The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.

13) The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

14) The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion on surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3. The A3 is at a crawl every day during peak periods, and often at weekends as well. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
15) I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress.

16) The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

17) A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

18) The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

Policy A35 – My Objections

79) The Wisley development of a new village / town with at least 2000 houses, 4-entry form secondary school and employment land. The development does not meet the NPPF requirement, namely that developments that generate significant movement will be located where the need to travel will be minimised and the use of sustainable transport modes can be maximised. The provision of slip roads at the A3/A247 junction to relieve the impact of this development on Ripley will have potentially severe effects on the A247.

80) My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

Policy A43a BURNT COMMON SLIP ROADS – My Objections

50) Provision of a northbound on-slip road and a southbound off-slip road to the A3 to join the A247. These are stated to be required to relieve Ripley from the effects of the development of Wisley. It is not clear how this would work unless traffic from Wisley wishing to go south either goes up to the A3/M25 roundabout and comes back down the A3 or (as is claimed by the promoters of the Wisley development), direct access to the A3 southbound is provided at Wisley/Ockham. In either case, slip roads at the A247 seem unnecessary. It is more likely that these slip roads are intended to provide access to the Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments. The slip roads will have the effect of creating an all-ways junction with the A3 at Burnt Common making it a centre for future development and a traffic magnet with clear implications for the A247.

51) If a 4-way junction for the A3 is deemed necessary, the logical place for it would be somewhere else, where it could enable an additional bridge to be created over the Guildford to Waterloo railway line to relieve the narrow A247 and its hump backed bridge from carrying all the north-south heavy traffic which cannot, or chooses not to, pass under the other existing railway bridges.

52) My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

53) The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion, difficulty for people in cars and on foot wishing to move about the village of West Clandon and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

54) I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day.

55) The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.
56) The proposed developments will make it even more difficult for pedestrians to move around West Clandon village crossing from one side of the road to the other, bearing in mind that many properties can only access a footpath by crossing the A247.

57) The proposed plans will make it more difficult for vehicles to exit on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road, particularly in the narrow and winding section of the A247 between Clandon railway station and the A247/A25 crossroads. Many public and private properties on this section of the road have poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station.

58) Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village of West Clandon on the way to the Surrey Hills for the Olympic and the Prudential Ride London route. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local Plan.

59) The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

Policy A58 BURNT COMMON – My Objections

60) Burnt Common strategic industrial employment site for light industry, storage and distribution activities. It is to be designated an Industrial Strategic Employment Site which means that it is a preferred site for industrial development including waste management facilities. The site is 9ha which it is stated allows for considerable future expansion. This will generate large amounts of traffic including heavy vehicles on the A247.

61) The A247 through West Clandon is not suited to cope with additional traffic for reasons including: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer "gaps" between cars); (v) the A247 is
62) The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

63) I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.

64) This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.

65) The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

66) There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.“

67) There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

68) The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over-allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

69) The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607 sq.m. of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750 sq.m. of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357 sq.m. in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

70) 38,357 sq. m. of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. If you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq. m. approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

71) The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357 sq.m.

72) The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

73) It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
74) The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

75) The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

76) The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- Residents are being asked to accept very large amounts of development with little or no detail being provided on measures which would relieve existing congestion and limit future
- Much is made of the need for new infrastructure to support developments and for this to be in place as needed (listed in Appx. C to the Plan). Even if this happens the Plan admits …”we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes”. This will be most acutely felt at junctions but these effects have apparently not been analysed so that we don’t know the location or impact.
- We can be sure however that the cumulative effects of the developments in the north east of Guildford will have a devastating impact on the A247 through the village of West Clandon (and of course on Send). It is hard to see how any of the infrastructure proposals in the Plan (Appx. C) will do anything to mitigate this impact. GBC has little or no control over the plans of Surrey County Council as the local highways authority and it is freely admitted by SCC that they have little money available.
- The Plan now calls for nearly all infrastructure to be funded by developers (see C). I question how realistic it is to expect developers not only to pay for all the infrastructure but also to have it in place in a timely fashion. The Plan says that planning permission will be refused if timely provision of infrastructure cannot be secured. Such refusals will almost certainly be challenged in the courts. Developers’ business models are based on building and selling houses to create the cash required to provide infrastructure. People will be living on the sites well before infrastructure is complete, even assuming there are funds to provide it.
- If development were to be refused the land would still have been removed from the Green Belt and its future rendered uncertain.
- All of these developments will draw very large amounts of additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:
  - children from elsewhere being delivered to Gosden Hill schools and collected
  - the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
  - the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities
- traffic from Wisley wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel south and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the south and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)

- SCC’s business plan for Newlands Corner

I would like to point out that although the A247 is classified as an A road, it has none of the characteristics because it:
- is less than 2 vehicles wide in places. Larger vehicles routinely mount the only pavement.
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has a footpath only on one side of the road in long sections, including sections with pub, care home and church car park
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge over the railway, with poor sight lines
- has other entrances with poor sight lines (eg Onslow Arms, church car park)
- has a dangerous junction to access the station
- has a dangerous and unlit junction with the southbound A3 on-slip road
- has a primary school accessed by narrow pavements
- is largely unlit
- is already very congested at times, more so when delays on the A3 are severe

The A247 is in reality a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

In summary, the A247 is quite unsuited to coping with additional traffic and it is very clear that the developments proposed in the 2017 Local Plan will increase the amount of traffic on this road over and above that in the 2016 draft to which residents strongly objected. There is nothing in the Infrastructure Schedule which addresses this issue. Indeed several of the infrastructure proposals will themselves lead to significant increases in traffic on the A247.

Summary of the Impacts on the A247 – My Objections

All of these developments will draw additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:

- children from elsewhere being delivered to schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities

- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel south and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the south and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)

The A247 although an A road:

- is less than 2 vehicle wide in places. Larger vehicles routinely mount the (only) pavement to pass one another in the narrow sections.
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has a footpath only on one side of the road in long sections, including sections with pub, care home and church car park
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge with poor sight lines
- has other entrances with poor sight lines (eg Onslow Arms, church car park)
- has a very difficult junction to access the station
- is largely unlit
- has a primary school
- is already very congested at times, more so when delays on the A3 are severe, which is common in the evening rush hours (4pm to 630pm) and summer weekends
- cuts through the Conservation Area of West Clandon within which 19 listed buildings are located with road frontage. A further 9 listed buildings are located on the A247 in West Clandon north of the Conservation Area.
The A247 is in reality a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

Increased traffic through West Clandon would make it difficult for people to move around the village both as pedestrians and in cars, a problem exacerbated by the many bends in the A247 in the village and by the long sections where there is only room for a footpath on one side of the road.

In short the A247 is too narrow and has too many bends to cope with increased traffic without compromising safety of cars, pedestrians and cyclists.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy P2 Introduction – My Objections

83) The removal of Green Belt protection from the prison site means that it is likely to come forward for housing development. The nearest feasible access to the A3 is at the A247 junction.

84) My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

Policy P2 – My Objections

The Plan states: “4.3.16 National planning policy requires that Green Belt boundaries are only amended in exceptional circumstances and that this must be undertaken as part of the Local Plan process. We consider that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed and promote sustainable patterns of development.”
The Plan fails to demonstrate that exceptional circumstances exist for each site that is to be taken from the Green Belt. The wording implies that it is legitimate to have a blanket change to Green Belt boundaries to facilitate development. That is not in accord with the NPPF.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

The Local Plan is not sound.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

- The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness on the part of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and will bring increasing traffic congestion, pressure on other infrastructure, noise and pollution and a reduction in the quality of life of residents.
- The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s (SCC) business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the already over-burdened A247 through West Clandon.
- The Plan does not consider the Waverley Borough Council’s approval for the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold. This has the potential to feed traffic, which is trying to avoid congestion around Guildford, onto the over-burdened A247 to access the A3.
- Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over, i.e. without a height restriction, the Guildford to Waterloo railway, north east of Guildford, which doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre and for this reason it is already busy.
- The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous side-entrances giving access to residential dwellings, commercial properties, and side roads. The changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate, and have likely cumulatively increased traffic on the A247, and hence difficulties that will be caused to residents and visitors to West Clandon and its businesses as they seek to turn on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road. If traffic on the A247 was to increase substantially, which seems to be the intention behind the Plan, then this has the potential to create serious difficulties for people accessing the A247 from these side-entrances, whether in a vehicle or on foot. The effect of increased traffic both for pedestrians and people in cars wishing to access the A247 from side entrances along the street would be particularly severe in the section of the A247 from Clandon railway station to the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction, because this is a narrow and winding part of the road accessed by many public and private properties with poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station – all of which have exits with extremely poor sight lines (due to humped back bridge, buildings on the edge of the road and entrances being on the crown of a bend). Numerous other properties along the street have similar issues. This is a problem arising from volume of traffic and insufficient gaps to allow safe egress onto the A247.

- The Plan does not address the difficulties of pedestrians either walking on narrow parts of the A247 where lorries habitually mount the pavement, or for pedestrians wishing to cross the A247 in the village of West Clandon. Since there is no room for a footpath on both sides of the road along a significant portion of the length of the A247 through West Clandon, it is not feasible to address the issue of pedestrians wishing to cross the road by providing pedestrian crossings, which would in any case hold up traffic flow. The narrow and winding nature of the road and poor sight lines particularly in the section of the A247 between Clandon railway station and the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction provide particular difficulties for pedestrians needing to cross the road in this section of the A247. Elderly and disabled residents would become increasingly cut-off and isolated by increasing traffic. In addition to the numerous residential properties that would face increasing difficulties for pedestrian access during longer periods of the day, this would also affect the Onslow Arms pub, Ashley Park care home, West Clandon Church car park and Clandon railway station (when accessed from the south) – all of which are at parts of the A247 with a pavement only on the opposite side of the road. To access these places on foot (the railway station from the south) it is necessary to cross the A247. Again, the village of West Clandon does not and cannot have a footpath on both sides of the street in all sections. There are bends, buildings and a humped back bridge which create poor sight lines in several areas. For these reasons, the additional problems that increased traffic promoted by the amended Plan would cause for pedestrians cannot be addressed by pedestrian crossings, even if multiple crossings were deemed acceptable on an A road. This would leave some residents unable to leave their homes for increasingly long periods during the day.

- The A247 through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

I strongly object re Policy A43 – Land at Garlick’s Arch, Burnt Common and Policy A43a re land for new north facing slip roads to/from A3 at Send Marsh/Burnt Common

1. I object to the late inclusion of this very large development. Does it not require full consultation under Regulation 18.
2. Where is the proof that this amount of industrial space is required, based on the ELNA 2015 and surely Slyfield is a better and already established site.
3. I ask for a re-examination of the real Housing needs and treatment of foreign students in the numbers.
4. I very strongly object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt (Policy P2)
5. I believe that all the local services will be placed under unsustainable strain.
6. The increased traffic flow will severely affect existing residents in terms of volumes, congestion, noise, emissions and change of life of a modest village. Does the standard of life of existing ratepayers not count?

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58

I object to the fact that the employment floorspace which was moved from Garlick’s Arch to Burnt Common has changed from “up to” 7000 sq m to a “minimum of 7000 sq m with a potential for further industrial floorspace to meet future borough needs”. The site at Burnt Common is over 9 ha (over 90,000 sq m). The language of the policy A58 opens this site to unlimited development well beyond what is in the Local Plan.

I write to register my objection to the planned changes to Send and Send Marsh outlined in the revised Draft Local Plan.

The retention of the Green Belt is, I feel, the most vital issue in the Local Plan. It must not be slackened to allow expansion, but kept to protect the character and rural distinctiveness of the countryside and to keep villages as just that, villages and not large sprawling towns.

I object to the proposals to remove Send from the Green Belt, together with site on the Land lest of Winds Ridge and Send Hill (A44). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for Send or the land to be taken from the Green Belt.
Removing the green belt status from Send serves no purpose other than to facilitate the future development of the village and I strongly object to the proposals. It is not acceptable to set in motion through underhand methods the loss of this valuable, heavily used recreational space that the local populace of all age groups currently enjoy.

The loss of significant swathes of greenbelt land will have a very detrimental impact upon the social, leisure and recreational activities that the local population currently use this land for – football, walks, rambling, dog walking, exercise, usage by young people. In particular young people will have less natural open space and green fields within which to exercise and socialise. At a time when childhood obesity is on the rise, allow the insetting of this land and future development will have a detrimental impact on achieving this objective as vital areas for play and exercise will be lost, impacting upon both child and adult health.

Removing the greenbelt status would jeopardise the habitats of numerous species of wildlife. The fields are home to many wildlife species such as bats, badgers, rabbits and many many more, along with wild plants which should all be protected. The council has a duty to protect woodland and the wildlife under the UK BIO Diversity Action Plan.

The NPPF states that new Green Belt boundaries should only be established in exceptional circumstances, for example when planning for larger scale developments such as new settlements or major urban extensions. If proposing a new Green Belt, local planning authorities should:

- demonstrate why normal planning and development management policies would not be adequate;
- set out whether any major changes in circumstances have made the adoption of this exceptional measure necessary;
- show what the consequences of the proposal would be for sustainable development;
- demonstrate the necessity for the Green Belt and its consistency with local plans for adjoining areas;
- and show how the Green Belt would meet the other objectives of the framework.

I question whether the removal of the Green Belt in and around Send has been shown to meet any of the above requirements. There is no evidence presented in the Core Strategy to demonstrate that the proposed strategic extension meets the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy.

The NPPF (para 85, bullet point 6) requires LPAs to define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent. The removal of the Green Belt does not relate to any physical features on the ground and does not fulfil this criterion. The lack of physical features against which the proposed boundary is drawn highlights the inappropriateness of the proposed Green Belt removal and the lack of justification for its insetting.

Whilst I wholeheartedly object to the green belt removal plans, should their inclusion in the Local Plan be forced through, the Council must clearly demonstrate that the new boundaries take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development as required by paragraph 84 of the NPPF. The Council must review the boundaries of those settlements which would be covered by the Green Belt to ensure that sites are identified for development to achieve their long term sustainability and clearly define the reason for the insetting, fully detailing the future usage of the inset land.

Importantly if the Council chooses to continue with the alteration, it is essential when submitting the Core Strategy for examination that it is considered 'sound' in that it is justified with the plan being the most appropriate strategy, when considered against reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence.

Allowing the removal of Send from the Green Belt, and thereby facilitating the future development of the village, will allow the urban sprawl of Guildford and Woking to further encroach on Send. Send is not a suburb of Guildford or Woking and clear separation should be maintained by the retention of the current Green Belt boundary.

The proposed development on Send Hill is within Site of Nature Conservation Interest and is Grade 2 (very good) agricultural land. Access roads leading to the site are already congested, and will be further congested if the proposed A3 entry and exit ramps at Burnt Common are implemented due to the large increase in traffic through the village. This site is not suitable for development.

I urge the council not to consider insetting Send from the Green Belt and set in motion future development of these spaces, but to focus on the numerous unused BROWNFIELD sites that exist throughout the Borough. These would more than meet the current housing demand, once this is properly defined within the Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICIES A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41 (EAST AND WEST HORSLEY) – I especially object on the following grounds:

- The volume of new housing far exceeds local need.
- The impact of these 6 sites on this neighbourhood has not been considered in aggregate. In terms of impact, they are not separate sites.
- The total amount of new building is out of proportion with overall planned development across the borough, and especially excessive when compared with urban areas. As a basic principle, most development under the plan should be in the least sensitive and protected areas.
- The housing density is too high compared with existing development.
- Taken together, these policies would transform the Horsleys into a town, something for which no case is made.
- There is no support locally for this.
- The sites are not sustainable since key infrastructure is lacking and no provision is being made to increase it - eg poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- The policies allow too many settlement boundaries to be extended. The Horsleys are irregularly shaped settlements. These policies allow too many boundaries to be squared off so that green fields can be concreted over on the spurious grounds that they don’t contribute to the Green Belt.

- These policies will damage compliance with NPPF 81 by making cycling too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the setting of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods” etc.

- The Green Belt gap between the Horsleys and next-door settlements would be greatly narrowed, especially if the Wisley Airfield development is taken into account.

- No account is taken of the impact of Wisley Airfield site on the Horsleys.

- Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, because of flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, the ditch running along the street, poor pavements for the elderly and schoolchildren and the road’s increasing use by recreational cyclists.

- Policy A40 is especially impractical because of high water table and poor drainage, causing regular winter flooding.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD) – I object. The Planning Committee has only recently rejected a planning application for an identical proposal, on 14 separate grounds. It was included in the plan just one day before this happened, showing that this policy is biased in favour of the applicants concerned. It may be no coincidence that these investors had already been given months of extra time to refine their planning application. It is probably also not a coincidence that they have close Conservative Party links with the council. This smells very bad.

The policy fails to present any “exceptional circumstances” for developing this site, which is 85% greenfield, not brownfield as often stated. Other objections include:

- The loss of good agricultural land.

- The excessive housing density involved.

- The fact that over 2,000 houses will swamp and wreck the Ockham conservation area, with harm to listed buildings.

- It disregards the conflict with SCC who also want to use the site for a waste facility.

- It is too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA and will harm both.

- So will the proposed SANG, which is next to the SPA and would mean dogs and cats disturbing wildlife.

- There is no existing public transport and the train stations are miles away.
- To get there you have to use very narrow, flooded, unlit, winding country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways.

- This would make the development dependent on private cars (about 3000-4000 of them). But there is no proper data for traffic volumes.

- The extra congestion will certainly make the traffic jams at the A3 roundabout and M25 Junction 10 even worse.

- There will be a dangerous increase in air pollution, as the Wisley Action Group have submitted.

- This is also clay land and the high groundwater table and poor surface drainage not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas in the River Mole basin, which already flood.

- The policy does not consider the major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys where hundreds of new houses are also proposed. The aggregate impact on infrastructure is not assessed.

POLICY D4 (DEVELOPMENT IN URBAN AREAS AND INSET VILLAGES) – I object. Despite the need to meet urban demand, regenerate our run-down town and protect the countryside, there isn’t a high enough proportion of new homes planned for urban areas. There’s no encouragement given to expand social housing or genuinely affordable homes. The aims set out for inset villages would be nullified by the excessive level of new housing to be built there. Once again there is too much encouragement for traditional types of shopping that are now out of date.

POLICY E4 (SURREY RESEARCH PARK) – I object. This seems to have been written by Surrey University’s business arm, in their own private interests. POLICY E5 (RURAL ECONOMY) – I object. This could never be implemented if the countryside is urbanised by building so many houses. The policy lists a number of valid rural activities that would be put at risk by the insetting and extension of settlement boundaries proposed elsewhere in the plan. Encouraging town centre uses in rural locations would also ruin village surroundings and goes against both government policy and the expressed wishes of the public.

There should be a much stronger commitment to high speed rural broadband and mobile coverage. It is shocking in the 21st century that these should not be available just a few miles from central London.

POLICY E6 (LEISURE AND VISITOR EXPERIENCE) – I object. The policy doesn’t seem to have a clear idea of what an ideal visitor experience would look like. It should give some examples. Instead, it is meddlesome and dangerous. We don’t need to encourage developers to build “attractions” that ruin our heritage and countryside. Where’s the case for building new ones?

The policy needs to state clearly that Guildford supports the protection of the countryside as its biggest leisure and tourism asset, and define what powers (if any) the council can deploy to influence the market. Given Guildford’s lack of hotels, why is there no policy against closing rural guest accommodation such as Thatchers Hotel in East Horsley?

POLICY E7 (TOWN CENTRE) – I object. It doesn’t state how important rural surroundings and views are to the whole character of Guildford town centre. It doesn’t say anything about the Town Centre Master Plan, GVG proposals or redevelopment plans for the train station.

A major defect is the lack of any list or audit of brownfield sites that could be redeveloped in the town centre. As a result the percentage of total housing planned for the centre is astonishingly low compared with the huge new housing estates the council want to plonk in the countryside. This will only damage and delay the regeneration of the town, which is overdue.

There are no concrete measures to support small, independent shops – and too much encouragement of old-fashioned department stores and chain retailers. These would ruin Guildford centre’s character.

Fortunately, they will never be built because shopping is moving online and the vision of the high street presented in this policy is already obsolete.

POLICY H1 (HOMES FOR ALL) – Object because this policy doesn’t set any limit on building. Again, the housing mix is based on pre-referendum assumptions and a defective SHMA that the public weren’t consulted about and which was never scrutinised by Councillors.

This policy should make Surrey University provide all its students with accommodation by using thousands of planning permissions it already has and by using its existing space more efficiently (eg its half-empty surface car parks). That would free up many units of housing in the best possible place for the very people who need them most.

POLICY H2 (AFFORDABLE HOMES) – I object. There’s nothing “affordable” about the way these homes are defined. They just mean more development. It also makes it too easy for developers to claim they can’t be built because they’re not commercially “viable”.

If Guildford builds 13,000 new homes it will make zero difference to house prices, so why try to manipulate the market with this policy? Poorer people will have to continue to move to cheaper parts of the country. Is that necessarily a bad thing? Labour mobility is Government policy, not local autarky.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY) – I object. Adequate infrastructure should be a precondition of the whole plan, not a footnote buried away deep in the plan as it is here. This policy can’t hide that there are no funds of plans for the infrastructure needed to support the overambitious plans for big housing estates spread across the Guildford Green Belt.

Why not spare the countryside and build in town instead? I just don’t believe that not enough brownfield urban sites exist. First of all because the council hasn’t bothered to catalogue it. Secondly because this policy does nothing to prioritise its use through the CIL structure.

Developing brownfield sites is so much easier and cheaper for the public because much of the infrastructure already exists. But this policy kow-tows to developers who find green fields cheaper.
There are no contingency plans here for the traffic increase caused by the planned thousands of houses across the countryside. Because housing and road planning are sequenced back to front, Green Belt will be lost before road are improved – if indeed they ever are, since there is no funding.

POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT) – I object to this pious and overoptimistic list of measures. They are just not rooted in the realities of living in Guildford. Sustainability should set a limit on development – not (as here) assume that it can be magicked up to support excessive housebuilding.

The assumptions about walking and cycling are totally unrealistic. These modes of travel will not be used by most of Guildford’s population. Many are increasingly pressed for time, old, frail and obese. Others are too young, unwell or carrying heavy loads.

Not enough attention is given to transport in the countryside, where there is little public transport and no chance of funding its expansion. It disregards the poor state of our roads (the worst county in the country) and the additional problems that will be caused by excessive housebuilding in the countryside.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT) – I object very strongly. This policy should start by stating the council’s support for the Green Belt, in line with the NPPF, statements by Ministers and its own election manifesto commitments. It should then make a fair and balanced assessment of the Green Belt’s positive importance to Guildford as an asset providing amenities and services to the public and to private individuals alike. This would allow planners in future to evaluate the cost of development proposals in terms of the damage to natural heritage, views and landmarks, farm production, leisure and tourism, biodiversity, flood control, water catchment, carbon sink capacity, public health and wellbeing, public open spaces (eg parks, SANG, burial grounds, recycling areas), mineral extraction, other rural businesses etc, etc…

The amount of new building planned to be located in the Green Belt is beyond all reason. It’s out of proportion with the relatively minor amount destined for the urban areas, where most people would prefer to live. It discriminates against the less well-off by dumping them in remote ghettos in the countryside where there are no jobs, no transport and no social infrastructure. It discriminates against rural residents who’ll have their environment ruined. Actually, it even discriminates against town dwellers who will never see Guildford regenerated.

2000 residents made all this clear in the last consultation and the Conservatives promised to protect the Green Belt, but this plan is a major assault on it, just like the last version, piloted by the infamous Monika Juneja. Nothing has changed.
Why can’t the urban and rural settlements simply adopt new development in proportion to their size? That would mean Guildford town accommodating 20 times the number of new homes compared with the next biggest settlement, East Horsley. People would accept that.

I find it offensive for councillors to say that there is a percentage of Green Belt that should be “sacrificed” to development when this isn’t necessary. It doesn’t matter what the percentage is – this approach isn’t supported by any government policy. We’re being told we can’t stand in the way of progress. That’s what they said about asbestos – and Communism.

Who says Guildford’s rural villages don’t contribute to the “openness” of the countryside and should be “inset” (ie kicked out)? Only the consultants that some unauthorised civil servant hired to draw up the defective Green Belt and Countryside Study, which has never even been vetted by councillors. It’s all too subjective as a basis on which to wreck the lives of thousands of rural residents.

This policy doesn’t refer at all to the requirements in NPPF para.17 and the effects that major development in the Green Belt would have in this regard.

Any impartial observer can see that removing most of the villages from the Green Belt is a very dubious move, especially given the lower economic and population growth following Brexit.

Village settlement boundaries would be extended in a major way, allowing great blocks of house building on green fields and changing forever the rural character of our villages. There is no argumentation or case made in the plan for doing this, and it is unjustified.

As a young resident (23) I don’t want my heritage sold off by people who won’t live long enough to see the consequences. The Green Belt has survived several generations already and should continue to be protected down the ages. The council has misjudged young voters like me if it thinks a vain attempt to manipulate short-term house prices is going to win our support.

POLICY S1 (SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT) – I object, since it doesn’t define what it understands sustainable development to mean, doesn’t peg this to the NPPF’s Core Planning Principles and doesn’t give decision-makers any guidance for applying it in practice to planning matters. It fails to say how economic, social and environmental impacts should be balanced. Amazingly, it doesn’t even mention the Green Belt, the most important example of sustainable development policy in Guildford, and it doesn’t undertake to protect it.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

POLICY S2 (BOROUGH-WIDE STRATEGY) – I object, since the EU referendum has now throw all the growth and population assumptions up in the air. The council doesn’t tell us how the housing figure has been worked out because it doesn’t know itself: the formula is protected by private intellectual property. So the plan can’t show it’s objective. We are nevertheless told that the 13,860 figure is an “objectively assessed number”. It isn’t, as Cllr David Reeve has demonstrated beyond doubt.

Even if the OAN were objective, it cannot be the same as a housing target, which by definition is not objective but is a policy intention. We just aren’t told how many houses the council plan to build, taking all the usual constraints such as the Green Belt into account. This isn’t a plan: we are instead being asked to give the council a blank cheque to build however many houses it decides.

Why are you using an artificial Housing Market Area that’s much too small? This ignores next-door districts that thousands of people travel to and from on a daily basis for work, shopping and study. Just because it’s been used before doesn’t make so-called West Surrey (Woking, Waverley and Guildford) a market area in real life. If it were Rushmoor, Mole Valley and Guildford instead, the numbers would be different.

13,000 is far too many: they would turn us into an urban extension of London, like Croydon. Why does Guildford have to build twice as many large new housing estates as the rest of the county put together?

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
The following comments relate to my local area that features in Sites A36-41 (East and West Horsley):

- The latest version of the plan reduces the number of development sites here by 2, but 4 remain, representing 395 new homes. This is too many in absolute terms, and disproportionate in relation to the rest of the borough. In my view, the plan is unsound in failing to assess the aggregate impact of these sites, along with the 2,000 homes planned for Site A35 only 2 miles away, in effect leaving the Horsleys as vulnerable to piecemeal planning applications as they are without a local plan in place. By not setting any development boundaries, the “plan” fails to plan this important part of the borough’s future size or shape in a useful or meaningful way.

- The inspector needs to be aware that Horsley residents believe this is the result of political bias on the part of a Council leadership overwhelmingly representing the other end of the borough, who wish to push development away from their own wards.

- The plan fails to mention most of the known sustainability and infrastructure problems affecting the Horsley sites, which were fully explained in the public responses to the 2016 consultation. These include public transport, traffic, road safety, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, flooding/surface drainage and shops.

- The density of new housing on the four Horsley sites is too high, being greater than anywhere in the locality at present.

- Sites on the edge of existing development in the Horsleys trespass on surrounding open countryside and require big extensions in settlement boundaries. The plan presents no arguments for this which, contrary to NPPF paragraph 79, will promote creeping urbanisation by squeezing the corridors separating the Horsleys from next-door settlements – one of the main reasons the Green Belt exists.

- Taken together, the 4 Horsley sites conflict with NPPF para. 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value. This has been an outstanding success story in the Horsleys, as detailed in response to the last consultation. Assets include a dense public footpath network, parish parks, sports fields, a campsite of international standard, Britain’s newest rural opera theatre (opened this summer) and the popular Olympic cycle route. In order to survive, these assets require a local plan that protects the Green Belt, maintains its openness and beauty and avoids urbanisation and traffic congestion. Sites A35-41 are inimical to this.

The council plans for the town and employment (E1 & E2) take no account of modern trends highlighted in previous consultations. The public seem better informed than the council and its consultants about these. The council want to waste space with low-value and land-hungry enterprises, such as warehouses, that employ few people and just add to heavy traffic, ignoring Guildford’s comparative economic advantages of a well-educated labour force and location for high-value businesses, which will therefore go elsewhere. They also want to fill the town with shops, ignoring the general global trend away from town-centre shopping and the opportunity to regenerate the decaying town centre with low-cost housing, as has happened in central London. The plan fails to make any arguments for putting commercial development instead on green-field sites such as Burnt Common, which is introduced for the first time in this version of the plan without any supporting rationale.

  - The plan still contains a multi-pronged assault on the Green Belt. It is often assumed that young people like me prioritise building new homes over the countryside and that Green Belt protection is just an issue for NIMBYs. I’d like to point out that concreting over the whole of Guildford borough would have zero effect on house prices, since it would make no impact on the national supply/demand balance, the local overhang from London or the availability of cheap credit, e.g. to overseas buyers. On the contrary, it would disincentivise the regeneration of urban areas where young professionals like me want to live (while damaging the natural environment that matters more to my generation than that of our borough councillors). If the Guildford local plan wants to put 70% of new homes on green fields, therefore, the onus should be on the council to explain why – why some of the biggest proposed developments are on remote Green Belt sites rather than in places with existing infrastructure and amenities, what “exceptional circumstances” justify this under the NPPF, why most of the borough’s rural villages need to be taken out of the Green Belt, why so many apparently random infills and settlement boundary extensions are proposed in the countryside, and why there is no Policy that systematically evaluates the alternative – the use of urban, brownfield sites. The plan’s silence on these issues is one of its biggest flaws.

- The arithmetic behind the housing numbers in the SHMA remains a complete mystery and can’t be tested by either the public or the government because the council refuses to reveal it. The mistakes in the SHMA have been amply explained in at least 2 independent studies which the inspector will have seen, but the SHMA methodology is still taken by the council to produce an “objective” housing number assessment. This has been lifted wholesale into the plan as a policy proposal, when it is merely part of the evidence base and should be assessed and debated critically and transparently. I suspect this would produce a target about 60% lower than the 12,000+ proposed and would immediately solve a lot of objections about building on the green belt etc. I also don’t think the inspector should trust the figures as a fixed target, given the council’s contradictory noises about how development will be phased and infrastructure and other constraints applied. This leaves the final housing number so up in the air as to render this part of the plan useless as a practical policy tool for officers responsible for day-to-day planning. No-one knows for sure what number the council is heading towards or how this aligns with public opinion or government policy. This cannot be deemed “sound”.

I believe that the Objectively Assessed Need figure of 693 homes per annum for future housing is excessive and based on flawed calculations within the SHMA, as highlighted by DRA’s independant consultants.

Guildford's OAN should also, like all other Council's in Surrey, take account of constraints. For Guildford, inherent constraints include:

the lack of infrastructure (particularly transport infrastructure) affecting road travel and causing serious congestion within the Borough

I am fully supportive of the responses submitted by the Guildford Residents Association about the above.

I wish to emphasise my concern about:

the lack of suitable infrastructure for the massive increase in housing and town expansion proposed. Current infrastructure is already woefully inadequate, and the provision of new should be binding and phased in advance of expansion. I strongly support the concept and full investigation of the GVG’s additional bridge over river and railway. Any new station development must address this.

I believe that the evidence used for population growth (an OAN of 12,426) is incorrect, giving a major overestimate of likely future housing needs. This is in part due to under-recording of students leaving after finishing their studies and due to an unacceptably low proposal of the proportion of students who should be accommodated on campus.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the Plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43), which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this Plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure, or other constraints. The Plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development”. However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council has received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The Plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft in 2014. The Inspector considering the Plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition, since it was produced the EU referendum decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as well as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt, as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations, all represented constraints that should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard my objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly, I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that its decision-making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt, then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances that are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the Council has appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year, and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:
  - Failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is, I believe, inaccurate. It inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers and is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and West Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure for development.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch, give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used, and is recognised by borough and county councils as being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

2016:

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burnt Common and M25 J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 June 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital - Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Green Belt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space, and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement every day and through Send and Ripley, which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is gridlocked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council may have been influenced by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sqm of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to make the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site?

There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.
National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream that runs through the site is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that could be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which is protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hour, no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition of north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 would go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.
The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this Policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The Policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The Policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this Policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location, remote from any facilities of any kind, and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site. The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

The Policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable, (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the Policy should recognise that in many rural areas, new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example, the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this Policy the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors numbers do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this Policy the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead the Plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the Plan needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E7
1. POLICY E7

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The Policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal Policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The Policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The Policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings, or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The Policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The Policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The Policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all

Numbers aside, all the Policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections, and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.
It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this is a Trojan horse policy

It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This Policy means building anywhere and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the Policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this Policy, permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available. The Policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The Policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.
The Policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the Policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The Policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance, school children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.

The wording of the Policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. For example, housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this Policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection. The introduction to the Policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the Policy itself, and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box Policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY II

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.
With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements, as they have to do to pass at narrow sections.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green Belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements, as they have to do to pass at narrow sections.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green Belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the Plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This Plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key constraint, the Plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send, will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this Policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft Plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This Policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is... the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough). I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this Policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This Policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch so there is no evidence base to support including this site. Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

<th>1. POLICY S1</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)</td>
</tr>

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The Policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The Policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The Policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The Policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this Policy virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long-term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this Policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This Policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and West Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA); the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.
It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general, and this policy in particular, does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy, which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.
2. SHMA figures, which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.
3. The recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 2: Legal compliance

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

   1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

   2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

   3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

   4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
19. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green Belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsustainable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.
24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.

9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.

11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.

12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.

13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. APPENDIX D

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarns Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents
2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital  Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until the A3 reaches the A320 Stock Road.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.
The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)
The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved. This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. POLICY D3

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

1. POLICY D4

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY E1

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. POLICY E2

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.
There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. POLICY E5

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY E6

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for “overdevelopment”/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H1

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.
It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H2

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY I1

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable...
(and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. POLICY I2

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).
Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. POLICY I3

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions I-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.
This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

1. POLICY P4

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY S1

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

1. POLICY S2

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.
The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Questions posed by Guildford Borough Council as part of its consultation.

24.A. Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

The Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites is based on up-to-date evidence. The evidence base documents contributing to the preparation of the plan are listed in Appendix D and can be found on our website (links open in a new window).

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

ANSWER

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

24.C. Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not sound and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. I do not believe the draft plan accords with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.
14. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not itself a very special circumstance justifying an indiscriminate removal of sites from the Green Belt. Having properly calculated a housing needs number, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt and AONB. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be considered on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances, and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt, can the proposal proceed. The draft plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
15. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
16. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

- why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and
- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

ANSWER

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the 2016 draft Local Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have carefully considered the Proposed Submission Local Plan which Guildford Borough Council has published for public consultation.

My comments are set out below.

1. The Proposed Submission Local Plan includes the statement “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt” however GBC appears to be in breach of this same policy as some 65% of developments will be made on land that is currently Green Belt.

2. I do not agree with the scale of the house building programme which is being proposed by GBC. The target outlined represents a 25% increase in the housing stock of the borough. The Office of National Statistics projects a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

3. I am also concerned that the infrastructure proposals are inadequate even to meet the needs of what is there at the moment, let alone the proposed developments in the Local Plan.

I therefore OBJECT to the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

POLICY A43 - Proposed development at Garlicks Arch

I object to the proposed development for the following reasons:

- This area is Green Belt land. Government guidelines state that this should only be built on in exceptional circumstances. An exceptional need for this huge proposed development has not been demonstrated.
- The location is completely unsuitable for a development of any size, as no transport infrastructure exists apart from the local roads, which are already up to capacity. All that would result would be gridlock from the huge number of additional cars caused by a new development, as well as the increase in danger to local children and families from the extra vehicles and resulting increase in air pollution.
- Local schools and medical services are already oversubscribed. A new development would further exacerbate the traffic problems as people are forced to travel further afield to access these and other services.
- Electrical, telecoms and sewerage infrastructure in this area are not capable of supporting a development of this size.
- The ancient wooded area that would be destroyed is important and extensive, and irreplaceable flora and fauna would be wiped out.

To summarise: a development of any scale in this location is completely inappropriate, and would serve only to produce homes that would make no contribution to the community, as it would worsen the quality of life for all concerned.

I object to this development and ask that the application be rejected.

POLICY A44 - Proposed Development on Send Hill

I object to the proposed development for the following reasons:

- This area is Green Belt land. Government guidelines state that this should only be built on in exceptional circumstances. An exceptional need for this development has not been demonstrated.

- The land is registered as having been used for landfill in the past and its contents are unknown. Any excavation is a potential health risk to local residents and wildlife, and could result in contamination of neighbouring farmland.

- The road is a narrow country lane, and any increase in traffic cannot be justified. This would inevitably increase pollution and traffic hazards for local families.

- The wooded area that would be destroyed is long-established, and flora and fauna would be wiped out or displaced.

- Whilst the community is aware of the Council’s obligation to provide sites for travellers within the borough, the access to Send Hill from Potters Lane is steep and narrow, and this location is wholly unsuited for vans, caravans and trailers.

- This is a popular area for walkers, and as no footpath exists, would substantially increase the dangers from traffic for people on foot.

- The other access to Send Hill from the village passes St. Bede’s School, which is already a bottle neck at busy times. More traffic increases air pollution and the risk of collision for children attending this school, and also for Send First School in nearby Send Barns Lane.

- The sewer infrastructure on Send Hill is already under strain. Adding so many new houses in this location, where the only outflow is down the hill towards the village, would push it to breaking point.

- Telecoms and electrical services and plant are also inadequate for a development of this size in this location. Upgrading would involve excavation of the road or verge the entire length of Send Hill, as no services of these types exist at Potters Lane. I assume the developers would not be obliged to make reparations to the local residents for the noise, disruption and inconvenience, assuming the works were even carried out.

To summarise: health, environmental and ecological considerations are compelling on their own. The simple fact is that this development would result in homes that would be unfit for purpose. They would make no contribution to the community, as their only function would be to make life worse for all residents of Send Hill in particular, and Send in
I object to this development and ask that the application be rejected.

I object to the Policy A42 change for the following reasons:
- The 33% increase from 45 to 60 homes is excessive
- This flies in the face of hundreds of objections already made by local residents
- It will only worsen traffic congestion, air pollution and dangers to residents and their families in Send, Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
- It will set a precedent for further erosion of Green Belt in the village and surrounding areas

I object to the Policy A43 change for the following reasons:
- No ‘exceptional circumstances’ to justify this use of Green Belt land exist
- It ignores the thousands of previous objections already made by local residents
- The site is ancient woodland from the time of Queen Elizabeth 1 and cannot be replaced
- The development would effectively join up the villages of Send and Ripley, defeating the very purpose of Green Belt land
- It is currently a Zone 2 Flood area and development will make matters considerably worse
- It will generate massive amounts of additional traffic that the local road network simply cannot cope with

I object to the Policy A58 change for the following reasons:
- It was deleted from the 2014 draft as a direct result of the huge number of objections made previously
- The parameters of allocation of land for industrial or warehousing use has changed from "a maximum of 7,000 sq m" to "a minimum of 7,000 sq m" in the 2016 plan
- Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and units. There is no need for this development in the middle of Green Belt land
- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for the whole borough
- Hence, an allocation of over 10 hectares just at Send in Green Belt land is utterly unnecessary
- The increase in heavy traffic would cause gridlock on local roads, and an increase in air pollution and danger to local residents and children

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt for the following reasons:

- It is an old site that should not be further developed because of its location within Green Belt land on the Wey Navigation
- The road network is narrow and restricted, and totally unable to service any new expansion
- Road links to the A3 and elsewhere go directly through the village, which would increase traffic pollution and danger to local residents and children

To summarise, all these developments in Green Belt land have attracted many thousands of objections from local residents - they are not wanted, but more importantly, they are simply not needed. There are many brown field sites throughout the borough that have not been taken advantage of, only because they would not yield as good a profit for developers.

Housing is needed, but it must be built in the right places, not just the most convenient or most profitable, and be accompanied with investment in local services for the huge increase in numbers of people that would come along with the proposed construction. The real tragedy is that were these developments in Send, Send Marsh and Burnt Common allowed to go ahead, the quality of life for existing and new residents alike would be much poorer than it is now. Local roads, schools and medical facilities are already fully stretched. There would be a considerable human cost for hitting government targets.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In particular the proposed development of green belt sites in and around the village of East and West Horsley.

I would like to express the following objections and concerns:

- This would involve building on green belt land which is protected from development by national legislation. Exceptional circumstances must exist for development of this land to be justified. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated.

- Loss of green belt land will increase the risk and extent of localised flooding by decreasing the ability of surface water to drain away. The changes in our climate, as we have recently witnessed, have meant an increase in rainfall and flooding. Decreasing the ability of surface water to drain away by building on green belt land will exacerbate this problem.

- In particular, the houses in Nightingale Avenue and Nightingale Crescent, West Horsley, will be at high risk of flooding if the proposed development goes ahead. Due to the incline of the land, surface water naturally drains onto the land proposed for development at the rear of Ockham Road North.
• Flooding in this location would be further increased by sewage overflow problems, which are already an issue in the Ockham Road North/Green Lane area. The proposed development would increase the volume of sewage in the sewer network resulting in a serious capacity issue.

• Such a rapid large increase in population density in East and West Horsley cannot be supported by the current infrastructure or amenities.

1. The local schools are at full capacity. The village primary school, The Raleigh School, is already heavily oversubscribed and cannot fully accommodate the existing number of children in the village.

1. The village medical practice would also be unable to cope as it is already very busy and difficult to get an appointment.

1. Parking in the village is currently difficult. The proposed development would worsen the situation.

1. The existing narrow roads cannot cope with the increase in volume of traffic which would be inevitable with such a population increase.

1. The current traffic on the A3 is very congested, particularly at peak times, as is the M25 around the A3 junction. The proposed development can only exacerbate these problems as there is very little industry or businesses in the immediate vicinity and residents of the development will have to travel to work, or at least travel to the nearest railway station, which themselves have inadequate parking for current usage levels.

• Such a large increase in population density in a small village would drastically change the character of the village and has not been demonstrated to be necessary or desirable for this location.

In considering these objections I would be grateful if you could answer the following questions:

What special circumstances exist to justify building on green belt land in this instance?

What is the justification for such a large increase in population density in the small village of Horsley?

What provisions would be made for schooling, medical care and other such essential services and amenities?

What changes would be made to the infrastructure to accommodate these developments?

Would more green belt land be destroyed for access roads and/or facilities to be put in place?

What would be done to address the issue of flooding which would be increased due to loss of drainage onto green land and an increase in sewage in the sewer network?

What are the proposals to address the issues of increased traffic and congestion?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Increased housing

The plan to place 35% more homes in Horsley will impose an unsupportable burden on the infrastructure, schools, road network, medical services, shopping, parking and public transport. The local services are already very stretched. The drainage is also a concern as the network is unlikely to be able to support this increased housing developments.

The increased density for West Horsley will dramatically change the character of the village and the increase in extra cars will block the roads and parking will be a massive concern.

Wisley Airfield

The proposal for 2000 houses proposed for Wisley Airfield site has been refused by the Planning Committee 2016. This proposal remains on the Guildford plan. The removal of more Green Belt in order to build is a huge concern. The increased use of highways together with the problems of the infrastructure within Horsley not being capable of withstanding the increased numbers this would inevitably be a worrying threat in both the short and the long term.

The proposed plan does not protect the Green Belt and 65% of the proposed new developments will be placed on land that is currently Green Belt. According to the National Planning Policy Framework para 87, it is stated that ‘As with previous Green belt policy, inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstances’. The housing need has already been turned down as an exceptional circumstance.

My objections to your proposal to build so many houses in the Horsley area are:

The houses are not going to be affordable for our young people to buy and that is our only need in this area is one and two bedroom houses, flats and bungalows for our elderly, I do not want the Raleigh school to move and to be rebuilt, I do not want the Raleigh school to get any bigger. I want the Horsleys to stay in the green belt.

You don’t take into consideration the extra traffic and air pollution, you don’t seem to care about ripping out hedges and felling trees and woods. You don’t care about our wildlife that need all of these things just to try and survive these days is a struggle for them. These are my reasons to saying no to this development in my area.

We are vehemently opposed to any changes to the current Green Belt and to the proposals identified in this letter which radically alter the character and nature of existing settlements, increase the pressure on already stretched local infrastructure or create entirely new developments in current rural locations effectively “urbanising” existing countryside.

Specifically we reject the whole concept of “inset” villages. If villages are currently "washed over" by the Green Belt, they should remain in the Green Belt and their settlement boundaries should remain unaltered to preserve their current character. We also object very strongly to any suggestion that a wholly new development should be permitted at the former Wisley Airfield site. This development would create massive challenges to surrounding roads and infrastructure and would be completely out of keeping with the rural nature of the surrounding countryside and be a massive encroachment into the openness of the existing Green Belt south of the 43. More generally, the focus on the three new strategic sites to the north of Guildford on either side of the 43 (up to 5,100 dwellings) and the numerous "inset-facilitated" developments in the Horsleys, Send and Ripley (up to 991 dwellings) effectively creates an urbanised corridor which radically alters the character of the Borough and should be rejected.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We strongly object to the following specific policies on which we feel able to comment due to their proximity to our home and our use of local facilities, infrastructure and countryside.

- Policy A35 - former Wisley Airfield
- Policy 436 - Hotel, Guildford Road, East Horsley
- Policy A37 - Bell and Colvill, Epsom Road, West Horsley
- Policy A38 - Land to west of West Horsley
- Policy A39 - Land near Horsley railway station
- Policy A40 - land to the north of West Horsley
- Policy A41 - Land to the South of Horsley
- Policy A42 - Clockbarn Nursery, Send
- Policy A43 - Land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley
- Policy A45 - Land at Rear of the Talbot, Ripley

As indicated above in totality these Policies create an undesirable level of increased development in essentially rural areas and small local centres.

Individually none of the above policies should be contemplated if a pre-requisite for approval is removal of the identified sites from the green belt.

The very fact that the Plan has identified major highway improvement requirements and the necessity of a significant public transport bus service on wholly inadequate rural roads indicates the complete impracticality of this proposal. The infrastructure works that will occur as a result of the Wisley airfield site development indicate the disruptive and inappropriate nature of this proposal.

The A3/M25 section of highway is already heavily congested at peak times. The increased traffic levels arising from the proposed development would be intolerable.

We are adamantly opposed to this proposal. The creation of what is effectively a new town in the middle of the Green Belt close to existing heathland and extensive open space is completely contrary to everything that the Green Belt stands for. The scale of the proposed project is massively disproportionate and as already pointed out will place severe burdens on road infrastructure.

The inevitable traffic increase will completely change the nature and character of Ockham village. It will also impose create excessive demands on the nearby stations of Horsley and Effingham Junctions where car parking is already under pressure and where car access is not straightforward. Other local resources such as schools and local health services will also inevitably come under pressure from such a sizable development. It is also worth mentioning that constant reference to the site as being a former airfield seems to seek to imply that any development is taking place on previously developed land. As any visitor to the site will appreciate this site remains primarily agricultural.

It is only the concrete runway, which should have been torn up on closure of the site as an operating airfield after a short period of use, which hints at any form of previous development. The developers constantly overplay this idea of the land being previously developed and it unfortunate that the draft plan does not call out the primarily greenfield and agricultural nature of the site.

We would like to take this opportunity to register our support for the Wisley Action Group's stance on this development and would entreat the Borough to reconsider this aspect of the draft plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The plan refers to various villages being currently washed over by the green belt and goes on to say that "the national planning policy states that only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt" (4.3.12) With no further justification or discussion the Plan then states that 14 villages are summarily inset from the Green Belt (4.3.13). This is wrong, arbitrary and seemingly in conflict with what has been expressed in previous drafts of the Local Plan which stated

"....The Government attaches great importance to the Green Belts and there is a general presumption against new development in the Green Belt."

"...National Planning Policy requires that Green Belt boundaries are only amended in exceptional circumstances and that this must be undertaken through the Local Plan process"

We consider that the Plan has completely failed to make the case that such exceptional circumstances exist and that as such no amendments to the boundaries should be made around the village settlement boundaries or specifically in relation to the proposed massively inappropriate free standing settlement at the former Wisley airfield which also requires land to be taken out of the Green Belt. We consider in particular that the open character of the East and West Horsley and Effingham villages does make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. Specifically we think that the openness of the Green Belt along the A246/A3 corridor is of critical importance, and has the added benefit of buffering the Surrey Hills AONB. We also consider that the current openness of the Green Belt to the west of the Leatherhead/Fetcham/Bookham extended settlement and south of Cobham plays a key role in preserving the character of the Green Belt. As such we think the preservation of the Green Belt status of the historic villages running from West and East Clandon to West and East Horsley and on to Effingham and Ockham is massively desirable and entirely in keeping with national guidelines.

Similarly to create a massive new settlement south of the 43 at Wisley, further compromises the openness of the Green Belt.

We are grateful for the opportunity to Comment on the Draft Plan and are supportive of certain aspects in relation to the development in the sustainable locations of Guildford Town Centre and urban areas and on other land such as countryside beyond the green belt and on urban extensions to Guildford, Ash and Tongham.

We believe that the current plan to deliver 1,386 new homes fails to take into account the additional infrastructure and other supporting resources that would be required.

We are completely opposed to any of the suggested changes to the Green Belt and any proposals to inset villages and increase settlement boundaries. Specifically we reject the proposals for the development of the former Wisley airfield site.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the proposed development at Normandy and Flexford.

Secondary School

The proposed 7-entry form secondary school as proposed in the plan is not needed. The local secondary schools reveal that the secondary schools nearest to Normandy and Flexford have capacity to include more children as they are undersubscribed. In addition the Guildford County and St Peter Secondary have land available for development, have approved plans for expansion. This would accommodate even more students. The council must recognised that the proposed secondary school is definitely NOT required. Without the requirement for a new secondary school there is no justification to removing the Green Belt status.

Roads and Transport

The local lanes around the proposed development are classified as D roads. These would be unable to cope with the increased traffic of the proposed 1100 new residences representing at least 1100 more vehicles in the area. And the twice daily traffic for the dropping off and collecting children from the proposed secondary school would further compound the traffic congestion.

Even now, it is difficult to both exit Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane onto the Aldershot Road in the mornings, peak hour, and attempt to cross or turn on to Aldershot Road in the morning and evening rush hour. With school drop off and pick up added to the current traffic this area would be a parking field rather than moving traffic.
Other than traffic the council seems to have no interest in maintaining the quality of the roads. There are ever growing potholes in Glaziers Lane, Westwood Lane, Flexford Road. If it rains for just one night half the road can be flooded forcing drivers to swerve around these new water masses.

Glaziers Lane has a narrow railway bridge not suitable for high volume of traffic and not strong enough to endure heavy delivery lorries needed for the multiple constructions in this plan. There has been no mention in the plans for funding to reinforce or replace or even repair this bridge and the roads leading to it. Westwood Lane has a low single lane railway bridge which would not be suitable to large lorries.

Medical services

The current medical surgeries at Glaziers Lane and the Fairlands Surgery are not able to service the current population. Waiting time for appointments has increased and patients are waiting weeks to be seen. The development plan does not address how further services will be supplied to a large population.

Flooding / Sewerage

Flood risks have not been considered and certainly have not been addressed by the Guildford Borough Council. Rain water flows down the Hog’s Back chalk into Flexford / Normandy area causing a high water table. Drainage of the sewers is inadequate in this area. During the wet season residents in Glaziers Lane have raw sewerage flowing in their gardens. If Thames Water has not addressed the sewerage infrastructure capacity for current residents they will not be able to keep up with the demands from a growing population with the proposed development.

A46 Fails or even breaches the National Planning Policy Framework whilst ignoring rights of local residents.

The council has been neglecting their responsibility to rate payers as there has been no consultation by council with local residents. There has been no council early and meaningful engagement with local neighbourhood organisations. This is a developer driven rather proposal based on ease of throwing up buildings en masse for their greater profit and convenience for the council to work with only one supplier.

The council should be addressing the use of brown space rather than destroying Green belt.

This development is a threat to the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. The green belt is for the benefit of all, not for the one off profits of a small group. The green belt must be preserved – these are ancient woodlands supporting deer, badgers, birds, bees and butterflies. Biodiversity is needed, even in England, to support human life.

Once gone there is no more wilderness.

This development should not be approved as there is no proven need for the proposed secondary school. The council has not provided sufficient justification or special consideration for building on this Green Belt.

I object strongly to the proposed development.

GBC needs to acknowledge that for expediency of getting their plans through they are bending the rules.

Removal of site A46 and A47 from the plan.

I support the removal of these sites from futures plans as the infrastructure does not support the current community:

1. a) The roads are poorly maintained. There is a serious lack of maintenance of roads in the local area. The roads are too narrow for the volume of traffic. The narrow angled bridge at Wanborough is barely safe for the current traffic due to the lack of visibility coming to the crest.
2. b) There is frequent flooding and back up of sewerage into gardens. If there is more than a few hours of rain the drainage on these roads is unable to cope. Further roll off from driveways and covered paths from the development will further exacerbate the flooded roads. The flooding makes it difficult to drive safely.
3. c) Health and Medical provision for the area is insufficient. The Fairlands Clinics are unable to provide appointments with short notice.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Removal from the Green Belt of homes in Guildford Road, northern end of Glaziers Lane, Flexford, Walden Cottage and Palm house Nurseries traveller site.

The GBC has not provided exceptional circumstances for changes to the Green belt.

I object to the changes to Policy P2 because the council has not addressed many of the 32000 comments made about the 2016 plan.

Policy P2 fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Green belt and that it needs to be permanently protected. The intention of the Green belt is to check unrestricted urban sprawl.

I object to the statement in the submission Local Plan under Green belt Policy P2 (4.3.13) which claims that Normandy, Flexford and a further lists of 12 villages are “now inset from the Green belt.” This is untrue as GBC is proposing to “inset” these villages. No decision has been made by an Inspector, therefore these villages remain in the Green belt.

I am writing with regard to the proposed Draft Local Plan Strategies and sites June 2016.

I have many concerns regarding this new plan the most unacceptable aspect of the proposal is the proposed increase in housing for West Horsley. The proposed 35% increase in 6 years is clearly ludicrous. No plans for local infrastructure have been shown. The roads are already overcrowded and the drainage systems are at bursting point. The village designation as a Rural District centre is also inappropriate. The proposed increase in housing will make the local amenities unuseable due to the fact that I already struggle as disabled drivers to park. I also struggle to receive doctors appointments as the surgery is oversubscribed.

The parish council offered a sensible proposal i.e. a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home. This would enable the current community spirit and ethos to remain and allow the village to thrive as a part of proper rural England. This would then respect the NPPF policy which requires that new residential development must respect the character and density of housing in the area and be limited in quantity by the availability of infrastructure and local facilities.

I note also that the designated green belt land which I have always been assured would remain as such, has now become prime building land. I understood in 2014 that it is possible, under exceptional circumstances to change green belt land to enable development. I now understand that this will be obtained by “Insetting”

Can the council demonstrate that all of the required process has been adhered to and recorded and that these circumstances legally allow such re-designation.

Can the council also confirm that all possible brown-field sites have been prioritised for development prior to the green-field being used?

With regard to the proposed development at Manor Farm. I am extremely concerned about the extra road traffic this proposed development of some 135 homes would produce. New residents needing to use the A3 to Guildford or London will chose the shortest route to the main road. This will create traffic down the narrow Long Reach road, which includes a very sharp blind bend towards its North most end. This could easily result in a future accident.

I live in Northcote Crescent and already have problems with our garden flooding during periods of high rainfall. The Manor Farm development lies on land higher than where I am. The large area of impermeable land that will be created by the development will without doubt contribute to this problem.

With regard to the surface water run off from this development at present this runs into a pond at the back of the proposed Waterloo farm proposed development. The area of land around Ockham Road North in this area is already a high risk flood area. These two proposed developments will also add to this problem unless a very major surface water alleviation project is to be undertaken. I look forward to seeing the promised hydraulic modelling which is only the start of design development work. The feasibility of this flood alleviation work, together with a design and budget costs should be investigated prior to consideration for actual residential development. Normal SUDS schemes will not be sufficient to alleviate this problem which needs to be sorted now let alone following extra new development.

In summary our concerns are as follows:

• Inadequate flood prevention planning for Northcote Crescent and Ockham Road North.
• Inadequate road access for long reach to A3 links.
• Inadequate facilities at station parade shops and surgery.
• Inadequate school facilities in area.
• Inadequate consideration for the use of brown field sites.
• Inadequate exceptional circumstances to change green belt land to enable development.
• Inadequate consideration for population growth prediction figures.
• The complete lack of consideration for the National Planning Framework requirements

I object to the housing number of 693 homes per annum for the duration of the Plan, as detailed in the current SHMA.

I deplore the fact that GBC allegedly has no information as to the mechanism by which G L Hearn arrived at this figure. If this is so, how can GBC or the general public assess whether or not the figure of 693 is reasonable. I think GBC has been both naïve and irresponsible in placing a contract with GL Hearn which did not allow them full access to the method used for the calculations or, supposedly, the data which were used.

I welcome that Cllr Spooner has said, as stated in the Surrey Advertiser of 15th July 2016, that the SHMA will be revisited by GBC, as part of the consultation, and I hope, in light of this, that they will then adopt a more sensible lower figure.

Regarding the proposed Keens Lane development, this will be unacceptably close to Whitmoor common, thus raising real concerns about the impact on the resident wildlife.

Keens Lane is unsuitable for coping with increased traffic movements because the road is very narrow – single track at the Gravetts Lane end.

I object to the proposed developments at Flexford, Normandy and Keens Lane, Worplesdon.

In both cases these developments will place even greater strain on traffic movements on the A 323, which is already seriously overloaded at peak times. In addition the private application to develop the Roker golf course at Fairlands with a secondary school and 370 houses (16/P/01397) cannot be ignored in the context of the Local Plan. If approved, this development would discharge its traffic directly onto the A323, with wholly undesirable consequences.

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

I object to the removal of land from Greenbelt for the provision of two traveler pitches on Puttenham Heath Road to 'enable delivery'. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force. The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

I object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy  Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2. This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from attempts to rig the housing market. This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is difficult to understand, since no such networks are available locally.

I object to policy D3 Historic Environment

This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites. This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the “reasoned justification”, the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes. Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages This policy that does not address the opportunity for building in the urban areaThe plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be “affordable”, but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called “affordable” homes or pay an “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand). The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a glaring need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead. This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure. The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is hard to justify because the sector is in rapid and continuous decline.

THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY

Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land.

In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief.

Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space.

GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years.

GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership.

I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC.

The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes. See details on GGG website - Guildford Greenbelt Group

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I object to policy E1 sustainable employment. I note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015.

I have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF. I also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC.

I am concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space. No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research.
undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area. GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning. What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8. The lack of appreciation as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. E.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below). Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan. Little regard is given to the opportunity of B1 b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub. I note that the past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033. I support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires. We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. So I should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space. I object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt. The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%). The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis. The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%. The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%. There is currently 14% expansion space already available. The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required. The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%. The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher. Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university. A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space would be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

I object to Policy E3 maintaining employment capacity I object to the ill-informed policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land. It is also contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential). I believe that the existing government policy which has recently been made permanent of allowing change of use from B1a to C3 is sound. Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic. The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations. (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015) To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes. To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised. London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another early example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to policy E4 Surrey research Park. I support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. I object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. I believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University. I believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. I object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary. Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise. There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises. I hope the Surrey Research Park in Guildford remains focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing. Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created. Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments. Support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m. Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept. Object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park or within the footprint of the park. The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker. The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis. The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%. The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%. The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

The consultation process was not well publicized; many Parish Councils had no idea of this. The emphasis on voluntary efforts and greater community efforts is far removed from reality for this 'solution' was presented for almost every aspect of rural life from managing crime to looking after elderly to education and more besides. Villages by nature are usually small and the percentage of the population who are able to do voluntary work is smaller still. The solution is therefore unworkable. The results of the consultation were not publicized but were instead collated and summarized and bore no resemblance to the submissions I had sight of.

I object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience. I believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back.

The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. Re-branding walks, such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town. There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms. There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to RHS Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead. THE TOWN CENTRE OPPORTUNITY I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration and to attain a thriving night time economy is more residential development. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity to provide significantly more than this.

I object to policy H1 Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. I support higher density development but not high-rise development (ie over 10 floors) in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes' walk of Guildford railway station. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required above it, with parking beneath. Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to policy H2 Affordable homes. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people. In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit. I question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally in enormous debt (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes will be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and by the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed in the plan might influence the market in a more remote part of the UK, but not here. This policy's version of “affordability” is just a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy H3 Rural Exception Homes  This is a type of Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix”, this can include “market” housing – i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means expensive executive homes. This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy I1 Infrastructure and delivery Most of the borough’s infrastructure is antiquated, congested and straining to accommodate even current needs and organic growth. Yet this plan’s commitment to building housing estates across the Guildford countryside will mean either major infrastructure investment that no-one is prepared to pay for or else a catastrophic and simultaneous collapse in transport, educational, medical, energy, water and communications services. The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield and will reduce or negate developer's obligation to sell a percentage of homes at 20% below market value. The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing infrastructure needs in this area is inadequate, identifying only the tip of an iceberg of existing congestion. Compton Village is already close to tipping point, yet it will see a significant increase in traffic volume, will be completely congested and yet no plans exist to mitigate the problem. The schemes referred to in this policy barely solve existing congestion and are inadequate when development takes place. The full impact on local road networks has not been fully considered. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that involve demolishing property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process. Compton Village will actually incur increased traffic flow as a consequence of A3 widening according to the study, yet as was pointed out above, no solutions are in place to improve the situation. Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy 11. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan makes too many assumptions, not least being the verbal promise that development will not take place without infrastructure preceeding it. It is not clear how this will happen and is not in the Plan, as it should be, if it is achievable. The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints. The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model. Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods. Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan. The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network. It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below. In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service E and F that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4.4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places, such as Compton Village, worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario 5...indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’ and makes no mention of the impact this will have on pollution, which is already a known problem at the A3 end of Compton. The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”. Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided. The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR: Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road / Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSCH through the development (para 4.7.3)Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8). Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para 4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14) Normandy/Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Road is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Westwood Lane, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/Millbrook junction. Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (traffic will move to the next junction). Slyfield – there are no remark relating to SARP, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane. Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

The B3000 will be severely affected by development schemes and will not benefit from road improvements. It is essential that the impact of all change to road networks are looked at in conjunction with one another for any survey to be meaningful. The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

I object to policy i2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy” This policy is too vague and unrealistically optimistic. Decisions by Highways England on improving the strategic road network (the M25 and A3) are still years off. The Council have suggested a very expensive tunnel under Guildford, but there is no evidence to show that this is a realistic option. Even if Highways England accepted this (which is highly unlikely in the post-Brexit public spending climate) it would not be built until the end of the plan period at the earliest. Other, less expensive A3 improvements, and changes to the Junction 10/Heathrow stretch of the M25, will also take years to agree and complete. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is foolhardy. Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. This policy will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone). This is a major development constraint that should have been applied to the OAN to constrain the housing target.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments This is another aspirational policy, not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport. The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are too slow anyway for busy people. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths. The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK. The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times. Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town. I like the idea of water buses but have concerns over the reality. The Wey is narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services. The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented. Ie. Cost of housing will increase.

I object to policy I4 green and blue infrastructure. This policy is a box-ticking exercise with no teeth to it. It sits oddly with the plan’s onslaught on the Green Belt. The plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will cancel out any benefits from extending the principle of enhancing biodiversity beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting. ABSENCE OF POLICY ON RIVER WEY I object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that: It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest;The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved;Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved;Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations. The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved GREEN BELT SITES I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.” This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. This amounts to a war of attrition by the Council in conjunction with developers, since many busy residents are tired of repeating the same comments as it appears to be a waste of time and effort. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated. Much of my concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example:“All proposals will be considered against whether they…”“All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities”Terms such as “considered” and “expected” are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins:“Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits…”This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. I believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: “There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF.” In addition to the weakness of the language, I am also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself. I believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted: “The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered” “Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable” In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate. Finally, I would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. This should include Blackwell Farm which was recently reviewed by an Independent consultant and deemed worthy of inclusion as a candidate. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy P2 green belt. This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” This is a misleading statement. The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away. Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood control
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations. It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat. I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors. To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

I object to the removal of over 400 hectares of Green Belt land in and around Blackwell Farm to facilitate further development of Surrey Research Park and for 1800 homes. Over 60 hectares were removed from Green Belt 12 years ago for the same developer (Surrey University) who has yet to fulfill their planning obligations. This valuable land has been squandered with over 17 acres of surface car parking and as one of the key features of Green belt is its 'permanence' this second request for yet more Green Belt land to be released in such a short space of time, with all the outstanding issues that remain makes this all the more objectionable.

Furthermore I object on grounds of the impact this development will have in terms of congestion on our highways, these issues have been highlighted under 'infrastructure'.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P3 Countryside (i.e. beyond the Green Belt) This is more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt, so is anomalous. I am not in favour of building on this area, since urban, brownfield areas are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There is no need to build on any green fields if brownfield, previously developed land is used efficiently (without garden-grabbing). This policy refers to the countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). This area does not justify stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent it should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should by definition have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas. It should also be noted that Ash and Tongham lie beyond Guildford far away from London and therefore make no contribution to controlling Metropolitan urban sprawl, that is presumably why Ash and Tongham are not in the Green Belt already. This policy, however, attaches higher priority to preventing the “coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot” than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl. I agree to the prevention of coalescence but this should apply to all villages including East and West Horsley and Flexford and Normandy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside. I strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

I do not support building directly on (as opposed to over) flood plain as the land is effectively a soak away, but intelligent architecture has been dealing with this problem for many decades in other parts of the UK and the globe.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to Policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development. The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts. The promise “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area” omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is without value. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline. The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high.

I am very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole. Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.” Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt.”

This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement. However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum. The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan. The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald. He is an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit. NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth.

The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that:

The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area.

There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further.

The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast. A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA

The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:

1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.
2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.
3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.
4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction. Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target. The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards. It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed. The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

THE NEED TO APPLY CONSTRAINTS

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.
2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.
3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014 70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply.
Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements). Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN).

However, this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500. In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN, of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council. This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015) The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office. Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Key parts of the evidence are still missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach, and the Transport Assessment is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

The Plan excludes the Town Centre Master Plan, which plays a pivotal role and fails to address the results of infrastructure difficulties, or use these and Greenbelt to constrain the level of development.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment

I object

This document omits many important points that are to be addressed at a future stage. The information is, however, very relevant and necessary and without it the document is weak on evidence. The overview given does not assess the capacity of existing supply to accommodate future growth. The paper acknowledges that almost 9% of commercial premises are empty and this somewhat flies in the face of arguments to vastly increase the volume until the reasons are understood. Around 30% of businesses are considering leaving Guildford (congestion being cited as a reason). There are also issues with planning permissions being granted to convert office space to residential, whilst at the same time it is argued that more offices are needed? The contradictions appear to indicate that policies related to this need firming up and that the evidence is incomplete.

I disagree with 40% of land in the town centre being given over to retail as there is no evidence that Guildford will 'buck the national trend' in terms of declining high-street sales, as has been suggested by Cllr Furniss. Guildford urban area ranks no 1 in terms of being the most sustainable location in the borough and, as housing is a priority, there should be more than 1,172 residences in the town centre.

I object to Policy E4 (expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Blackwell Farm) The existing Research Park has been built at a very low density (25% plot ratio), which is very low for an urban extension. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of only 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has acres of surface car parking, which provides it with the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing density of the neighbouring academic buildings on the university campus at Manor Park, which is five times higher.

Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density, the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university, without utilising additional land.

Infrastructure

I object

The infrastructure schedule makes reference to 'improvements' without saying what they are. It includes a junction at the Guildford end of the A31, and another junction at Tongham. No evidence or traffic modelling data is available to demonstrate whether these 'improvements' will indeed improve anything at all given the additional traffic that will be generated by the new developments included in the plan. The Highways Assessment indicates that, even with these 'improvements', the level of congestion on the A3, A31, the B3000 and A25 will leave these roads over capacity and congested.

Constraints should be applied to the housing need/number as a full application of the overinflated number will have a severe detrimental impact on our road network. Smaller housing estates may be more difficult financially, but they would have less impact on infrastructure and could be considered where infrastructure already exists. The borough has many acres of surface car parking which, if replaced by multi-storey versions, and combined with current Brownfield sites, would free up enough land to build housing where it is wanted and needed and not on valuable Green Belt. There would be no need to build high-rise style development in Guildford town, which we don't support, but we do believe that buildings of 6-10 storeys (with underground parking) would be in keeping in some urban areas (where they don’t impinge on important vistas). [Some existing buildings already reach 5-7 levels in height].

The traffic maps omit the area south of Guildford borough completely and the lack of detail about impact on the B3000, a strategic route, is highly questionable, particularly as there are no solutions in place to deal with the impact. I am particularly concerned that, after the main highways routes of M25, A25, and the A320, the B3000 will incur the greatest increase in flow as this road is already close to capacity, with tailbacks at peak times. The road is no longer fit for purpose and modelling shows that developments planned, and the introduction of a new westerly route through Blackwell Farm, will severely worsen the situation, whether major work takes place on the A3, or not.

The Highway Assessment

I OBJECT

The strategic highway assessment requires a great deal more work and hence I OBJECT to the inclusion of this as evidence.

The B3000 runs through Compton, a small village with many listed buildings, most of which are very close to the road. The road already carries in excess of 5 million vehicles a year with average flow rates exceeding most A roads. It is the only settlement area in the borough where pollution levels exceed EU regulations and it is close to capacity now, with tailbacks at peak times, which add to the pollution problem. [see legal section]

The study is highly misleading. It refers to a figure of zero additional traffic from scenario 3, which includes the traffic from the strategic sites, one of which is partly in Compton. The assessment does not make it clear that the modelling is extremely limited and only includes impact on developments within the immediate area. Blackwell Farm is excluded from Area 107 (part of Compton) as false boundaries have been set. I believe that the impact from the strategic sites will be far-reaching and will most certainly impact Compton and beyond. Each village needs to be able to see the impact that development will have.

The Highways Assessment concentrates on peak time traffic only and gives no indication of overall volume increases or traffic type using specific routes outside peak hours. Understanding of the overall increase is important, as there is a bridge on the B3000 between Artington and Compton, which has a width restriction and may also require a weight restriction as it needs replacing within the next 2 years and no funding has been set aside for this. Instead Network Rail, SCC, GBC and Waverley BC continue to battle over responsibility for, and scope of, the project.

It appears that traffic data has been collected at different times of the year and over varying time scales in order to provide averages. This method of data collection can underestimate measurements by at least 30%.

Furthermore, I have been told that the person responsible for ratifying traffic data at Surrey County Council (SCC) has been off sick for over a year and that, whilst the daily data boxes continue to collect data, that data has not been collected or analysed for 2015. The data put forward for Compton's B3000 was based on a 3-week period in January and, as this was not representative, we understand it was removed. That said, the year-on-year data is for different periods and different times, varying from a few weeks in winter to longer periods over many months. I would like a more robust approach to traffic data collection.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission Local Plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway improvement schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. We question the conclusion that the developments would have An acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF. We do not believe that the impact on the B3000 will be acceptable, as it is already operating beyond capacity, and this situation will be made much worse following the mitigation proposed for the A3.

The Highways Assessment is limited to 30 results. Roads have been omitted from the report and it is unclear whether findings for the B3000 (also referred to as The Street B3000) are in fact from the Street or the roundabout from which there is a feeder road to Godalming via Priorsfield Road.

The table comparing scenarios and the impact on traffic is difficult to decipher. Scenario 1 includes current planning permissions plus Waverley's strategic sites. This shows an increase of just 9 vehicles per hour at peak times on the B3000. The next scenario 2 is the same, but includes GBC's strategic sites. Given that there is a strategic site in Compton of 1,800 homes and another of 1,000 at Normandy, the expectation would be for the volume to be not only higher, but considerably higher. The result is however, ZERO. We understand that this is because the impact measured is only from the immediate area and, as Blackwell Farm has been removed from the village for modelling terms, this does not give a realistic result. The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan and its impact on the roads further diminishes the integrity of this Highways Assessment.

Even without the full impact being understood, it is clear from the scale of development on the west of Guildford (1,800 homes at Blackwell Farm, 1,000 homes at Normandy, 1,300 homes at Ash, 3,800 homes in the Aldershot urban area, 1,200 homes at Borden) that the increase in traffic on the B3000 and other main routes would be severe.

The Highways Assessment shows that as a result of the proposals put forward in this draft of the Local Plan the B3000 will suffer the highest increase in flow rates at peak times (after the M25, A320 and A25. It also reveals that traffic flows would increase if the A3 was widened, as the A3 would then attract more traffic via the B3000. Despite this, there are no solutions planned to mitigate the situation and we are therefore strongly objecting to the level of development and in particular strategic development at Blackwell Farm as outlined in the Local Plan.
The proposal to introduce a new route to Guildford town centre from the west via Blackwell Farm has been ill thought out. The volume of traffic that will use this new ‘rat run’ through the new development and the university campus/business park, has been underestimated. There will be problems for traffic wishing to exit the new development in both directions during peak hours - traffic is frequently queueing for miles along the A31, and the Tesco roundabout is one of the worst bottlenecks in Guildford. The knock-on effect on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction would impede emergency vehicles getting to and from the hospital.

The 4-way junction on the A31 has no detail at all and the concern is that permission in principle will be given to the site in the hope that these problems are surmountable. If they are insurmountable, which I believe they are, then enormous amounts of Green Belt land within the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB will have been sacrificed for nothing. The 4-way junction, if it goes ahead, is likely to be huge and, due to its elevated position, will cause significant harm to the AONB in terms of landscape and light pollution.

The Highways Assessment has many limitations, not least being the absence of the Town Centre Master Plan, which includes potential road closure and re-routing. Compton is likely to be very much affected by any reduction in road capacity in the town centre and it is important that we are presented with the whole picture.

The Assessment acknowledges that not all impacts of proposed Blackwell Farm development have been modelled and that, due to the emphasis on the A31 and the A3, not all roads were included.

The report concludes that the improvements to the A3 are necessary to maintain adequate flow rates on the strategic network. Further work is needed to determine what impact any widening or junction improvements will have on local roads, and what will be done to mitigate against the increased flows through Compton, particularly given that a section of the B3000 though the Village is anticipated to become an Air Quality Management Area. GBC has resisted requests by members of the PC to have the northern end of The Street made an AQMA, but readings of nitrous oxide in this area are well above EU legal limits.

There is little information about the tunnel but the map indicates that one access/egress point will be in Compton near the A3, although no land has been safeguarded for this purpose. This is likely to have the same impact as the improvements to the A3, i.e. increased traffic (and pollution) through Compton.

The Spatial Hierarchy

The spatial hierarchy, which outlines Guildford's preferred strategy, does not match up with the proposed plan. The hierarchy places Brownfield sites (including those on Green Belt) as a priority, but the Plan has 66% of development on Greenbelt and only 34% on Brownfield. The hierarchy lists Guildford town and urban areas as a priority followed by inset villages and identified Green Belt villages. A relatively small percentage of housing is allocated for Guildford town (the most sustainable location) and Green Belt areas, such as Blackwell Farm, with high sensitivity have been classified as within the 'Guildford urban area' when they are in fact in the open countryside. We are told that only 1.6% of the 89% Green Belt has been earmarked for removal and that the 6% removed via insetting doesn't count as these villages are already developed. If this is the case, why list them in 4.1.16 of policy s2 - Spatial Strategy?

4.18 The preferred options cannot accommodate all that Guildford 'needs'. This is untrue. Two specialist consultants have independently critiqued the OAN and both question the level of uplift and the use of ONS data without full correction for changes and anomalies. They refer to 'double accounting' as the uplift is introduced at several stages and the assumptions that result in the final OAN are not explained. See comments on Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA).

Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA)

I Object

The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the SHMA method should be changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects of students on the figures.
The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

Two additional reviews of the SHMA reach similar conclusions, one having been produced by CPRE and the other by Cllr. David Reeve.

The Land Assessment

I object

The exclusion of sites of 5 dwellings or fewer from the list might make administration easier, but the addition of these sites plus windfalls and outstanding (but current) permissions gives rise to a higher number of dwellings than is actually needed. There is therefore no justification for release of all the Green Belt put forward.

The criteria used to include or exclude sites because of this study lack consistency, with many sites excluded as 'unsuitable' with no further explanation offered (many of which were in the urban area of Ash). The assessment lacks objectivity and detail.

Green Belt & Countryside Study

I object

GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Study does not value appropriately the “fundamental aim” of Metropolitan Green Belt or look strategically at options for developing in major settlement areas beyond the Green Belt. It is pointless for London to apply constraints to protect its Green Belt if areas within it, such as Guildford, choose to ignore this option. It is the same Green Belt and serves the same purposes, all of which are acutely valuable.

The way Green Belt is parcelled up and scored is invalid: serving 2 Green Belt functions well is as legitimate as serving 3 to 5 functions less effectively. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions. This method also omits purpose one, on the basis that all Green Belt sites encourage regeneration of urban sites. This should not be excluded for it is valid and could even be argued to be particularly valid in areas close to the town. Boundaries used for Blackwell Farm were neither permanent nor defensible.

Proposed removal from the Green Belt of a number of relatively small sites where development of an exceptional nature has taken place, plus adjoining land, has lost sight of the scale at which Green Belt is effective.

Assessment of which villages to take out of the Green Belt does not adequately consider that villages contribute to the openness of the Green Belt, as seen from surrounding AONB.

A key principle of Green Belt is its permanence. The University Consultants stated this 13 years ago when seeking permission to take Manor Farm out of the Green Belt to create Manor Park. They reassured residents that the boundary would not be frequently moved and that Blackwell Farm would be opened up to the public for “informal recreation”. The same Consultant has now repeated this promise in putting forward the University plans to develop on Blackwell Farm, saying that the new boundary would be permanent for at least 25 years!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy, which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level.

The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

The report states that there are no pollution issues in Guildford. This is not true. The A3 end of the B3000 exceeds Eu regulations and this should be flagged in

I object

The 2015/2016 air quality management report has not yet been published and this will/should include an area at the A3 end of Compton, which exceeds the recommended max NO2 reading. One year results for NOx are 48.728 with high's of 68 using National bias adjustment.

Cllr Furniss indicated that the location of the test tubes may have made them invalid, but measurements show that they were positioned correctly and monitored for over a year by GBC environment officers, who have now added additional monitoring devices (See Annex 2 – Correspondence between Cllr Curtis and Cllr Furniss). This area qualifies as an air quality management area (AQMA) and it is disingenuous to omit this from the report or to use an old report on the basis that the 2015 report is not yet published, as the problem is known and recognised by the environment department within GBC.

The traffic survey shows increases in overall flow at the B3000 monitoring point, of values between 5.6% and 16.5%. This would severely impact flow, which is not in line with National Policy as further congestion would exacerbate the current air quality issues as the A3 end of the Street.

I do not believe that a regulation 19 consultation is appropriate. Whilst few changes have been made, additional sites have been included without opportunity for regulation 18-consultation input.

The video used and paid for by GBC and taxpayers is biased towards development, and hence raises questions over the validity and legality of such marketing campaigns. All the individuals featured in the video, with the exception of one nurse have previously spoken in the Council Chamber in favour of house building/building on Blackwell Farm; and there is not a single voice representing protection of the Countryside or outstanding landscapes.

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford’s need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of 'exceptional' is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?
The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green/belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

1. There has been no implementation of the necessary infrastructure to support the proposed increase in housing, particularly as regards West and East Horsley, in terms of roads, school places, drainage, telecommunications, power supply and local amenities. A proposal to put forward this Local Plan to enable developers to move in without having secured these infrastructure increases would be reckless and incompetent planning.

This email contains my response to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016

I strongly object to the above proposed Local Plan on the following grounds:

1. The assumptions behind the projected population growth on which the plan is based are fundamentally flawed, as further explained later. Moreover the result of the recent referendum to leave the EU will have a major impact in terms of decreasing the influx of people into the Borough, and therefore renders out-of-date the projections made before the referendum.

1. It is clear that the increases in population proposed by in the June 2016 Plan will have a major detrimental impact on the lives of the people currently living in the affected areas, and on the surrounding countryside. This loss of protected green belt areas is neither wanted nor needed by the Borough residents and will mean an important loss of the associated amenities for Borough residents.

2. The proposed June 2016 Plan will change irrevocably the character of the affected villages in the Green Belt. There is absolutely no evidence that the residents of these villages want to see such change taking place.

3. It is clear, and has been clear for considerable time, that the residents of the Borough are overwhelmingly opposed to such plans as the June 2016 proposal and its predecessors. It is high time for the Guilford Borough Council to act in accordance with the views of the majority of Borough residents, rather than to continue with proposals that benefit a minority with a vested interest in the proposed major new housing developments.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

To elaborate further, the proposed increase in the population of the areas affected by the June 2016 Plan substantially exceeds any increase arising from “organic” growth of the existing resident population of the Borough.

It is also clear that the primary beneficiaries for removing areas from the green belt protection are not the existing Borough residents but are

1. property developers together with a small number of people with vested interests in such developments taking place, and
2. people not living in the borough who might become potential new residents as a result of housing developments in current green belt areas.

There is absolutely no sound case as to why priority should be given to the interests of groups i and ii over the interests of the existing Borough residents. In fact, clearly the contrary is the case.

It is clear that there is overwhelming support for retaining the protection for our green belt areas in the Borough. The open and accountable local government required these days, demands that the Borough Council follow the views of the majority of the Borough population on the issues of:

1. What sort of size of increase in the resident population numbers we want to have in the Borough as a whole.
2. What sort of percentage increase in housing numbers is acceptable to existing communities within the Borough.
3. What types of housing developments the existing communities want to see in their areas.
4. Which alternatives, Green Belt or other sites, we want to see used for the proposed new housing developments.
5. The committed and Council-funded increases to infrastructure that need to be in place ready to support new housing developments before these swamp existing facilities.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016)

I have lived in West and East Horsley since 1984 and object to the level of development proposed for the Horsleys in the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. Proposal to remove the Horsleys from the Green belt: the ‘exceptional circumstances required before taking action have not been demonstrated.
2. Extension of the boundaries of the settlement areas of the Horsleys: no sound reasons have been given for the proposed changes.
3. Infrastructure is already overloaded: local schools are full, medical facilities are stretched, drainage is inadequate, roads and car parks are overloaded and there is little or no scope for improvements.
4. Station Parade is designated as a ‘district centre’: this designation results from a misreading of the nature of the facilities in the village and would inappropriately target the area for future urban developments.
5. Development of over 2,000 houses at Ockham (Wisley Airfield) under two miles away: the impact of such a huge development on the Horsleys will be huge.
6. Major doubt concerning housing numbers: the estimates of housing requirements used are not soundly based with disproportionate impact on the Horsleys.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered in the consultation on the Guildford Borough Local Plan.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

Attached documents:
I have the following objections to the proposed development at Three Farms Meadows, Wisley, and to the Guildford Borough Council Local Plan. Please confirm that all of these comments together with all my previous comments have been passed to the Inspector.

1. I object to the inclusion of Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for a number of reasons including:
   - It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location.
   - It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.
   - It is close to one the most congested junction in the country (M25 Junction 10).
   - Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing.
   - Any public transport (bus) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs.
   - It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, RHS Wisley, where visitor numbers are increasing every year.
   - There is insufficient employment available locally so that almost all residents will have to travel to work.

1. I object that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB, will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.

2. I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification.

3. I object to the change in green belt boundary to the eastern end of the site as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact.

4. I object to the fact that the Council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite thousands of objections from local residents and statutory consultees.

5. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A Regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.

6. I object to the extension of the plan period by one year as it has not been identified as a major change.

7. I object to the inclusion of a 10% buffer in the housing number over the plan period as unnecessary.

8. I object to the housing number and I believe that the housing number is poorly based and open to legal challenge.

9. I object to the quantity of space allocated for retail in the town centre. This could be much better used for residential development.

I object to the Council wasting the time and money of tax payers and local residents by not following due process and ignoring previous representations. I consider, for the reasons listed above, that this plan is unsound and not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Plan proposals for Horsley, specifically proposed housing development, West of Ockham Road North, ‘Site Allocation A39’

I would like to register three specific objections, summarised below, to the proposal for development of the land adjacent to Ockham Road North (‘Site Allocation A39’) in the GBC Proposal’ arising from the proposal to remove this area from the Greenbelt around Horsley.

The land above, comprising open pasture, is flanked on one side by the Stratford Brook and its floodplain and on the other by the ancient Lollesworth Woods. As such it comprises an integral part of the greenbelt both for Horsley and the wider area. The land is flat, poorly drained, flood prone and unsuitable for application of ‘Sustainable Urban Drainage Schemes’ (SUDS) that would mitigate these risks. Access to the site is also problematic given the drainage problems on Ockham Road North (see below, Objection 1). These concerns and some of the evidence to support them are summarised in the three objections below:

Objection 1. Frequent Flooding on Current Access Road to Ockham Road site

Horsley residents using Ockham Road North, one of the main road and pedestrian routes through the village, are familiar with the hazards arising from overflowing storm drains and standing water that accumulates in this area whenever heavy rainfall is experienced (for example on July 15th, 2016, photography available). There are several areas on Ockham Road North that suffer from inadequate storm drainage, however the most severe appears to be just north of the railway bridge and coincident with the proposed entrance to the A39 site. This common experience of Horsley residents is corroborated by the current Environment Agency (EA) flood maps which also show a high risk of flooding from surface water along this section of Ockham Road North. In addition to these issues on Ockham Road North the only access to the site appears to be via a new road (see GBC A39 map) across land designated as Zone 3 flood risk by the Environment agency (see EA flood map for planning), raising questions about the resilience of this route for access by the emergency services.

Objection 2. Flood Prone Character of Site A39
The land comprising Site A39 is virtually flat. British Geological Survey (BGS) maps and boreholes show that the fields are underlain by a thin (<1m) veneer of sand and gravel above the thick impermeable London Clay Formation (see also Objection 3 for implications of the latter). These sands and gravels comprise the deposits of streams that flowed through the area from the high chalk downland south of Horsley towards the Thames Basin to the north in the recent geological past when climate was somewhat wetter than present. Today, the Stratford Brook which flows north to south across the area is a modern remnant of this older drainage system and is classified as a ‘Main River’ by the Environment Agency.

Environment Agency maps show that ~30-40% of the land outlined in GBC Site A39 (excluding area used for access road to Ockham Road North) comprises the floodplain of the Stratford Brook and fall within the Environment Agency highest Zone 3 Flood Risk classification.

Just as with the poor drainage along Ockham Road North the experience of local residents adjacent to the fields comprising Site A39 confirms the location of flood prone areas suggested by Environment Agency maps. Observations of standing water and additional streams not shown on current maps, both in winter and summer however, suggest the EA maps may actually underestimate frequency of flood events and hence current and longer term risks. Hence the Evidence Base for current evaluation of the local drainage may be inadequate.

Objection 3. Unsuitability of Land for ‘Sustainable Urban Drainage Schemes’ (SUDS)

The land comprising Site A39 is unsuitable for ‘Sustainable Urban Drainage Schemes’ (SUDS) that would commonly be used to mitigate the additional runoff/flood risk associated with development of the site, according to a recent British Geological Survey Report (BGS Report GR_205554/1, September 2014) focussed on this area. The occurrence of the impermeable London Clay Formation at shallow depths (<1m) across the entire site suggests a very high likelihood of persistent or seasonally shallow groundwater. As a consequence, engineered solutions, such as infiltration ponds, to cope with additional runoff caused by development would probably not be satisfactory (see map).

In summary, there are three objection about the suitability of the land adjacent to Ockham Road North (Site A 39) for development and hence no justification for removal of this land from the Greenbelt. Specifically:

1. The approach roads are poorly drained and the single access point crosses an EA Zone 3 floodplain.
2. All of the land comprising Site A39 formed a floodplain in the recent geological past. Approximately 30-40% of land (excluding approach road) now comprises the floodplain of Stratford Brook and has the highest EA Zone 3 flood risk classification.
3. The area is poorly drained and unsuitable for sustainable drainage systems (SuDS) schemes that might mitigate risks associated with development according to the British Geological Survey (BGS)

Significantly, the experience of local residents tends to confirm the accuracy of the current Environment Agency Maps regarding the location of flood prone areas associated with Site A39.

Hence I urge the Council to maintain the current settlement boundaries and Green Belt land around Horsley and reject proposals for development of the land comprising Site A39.

2. I object to the exaggerated "housing need" figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated artificially and erroneously inflates the housing need and key methods used to calculate the housing need have been withheld using excuses of dubious legality. The majority of students at the university do not settle in Guildford, are not long term residents and should therefore be outside the scope of housing figures on the plan. No account has been taken of the "Brexit" factor, which is likely to further reduce demand from housing from non-UK nationals as migration is likely to be more tightly controlled.

1. Demographics would appear to indicate that the Guildford area, and Surrey as a whole, has an ageing population and a lower ultimately this will lead to the housing need being lower as more people will die, with fewer replacing them, so the existing housing stock could be sufficient.

1. Specific Objections to the Draft Plan relating to Send
2. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick's Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually
3. Garlick's Arch contains ancient woodland and is subject to flooding To build and tarmac over land here would either increase the flooding issue here or move the flooding on to nearby properties.

1. I object to the development at Garlick's Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks' notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the The existing planning permissions within the village do not appear to have been taken into account in the figures set out by the council.

1. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick's Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available and with plans for enhanced road access to make it more accessible.
2. The proposed new interchange on to the A3 will increase the traffic problems in the Send/Ripley The A3 and A247 are both at capacity (and probably beyond) and any small incident on either road can cause massive disruption on the surrounding roads. An accident or roadworks on the A247 can cause gridlock throughout the roads surrounding Send. The A3 is frequently at a standstill from the University interchange north to Burpham or Burnt Common and often as far back as the M25 in the event of accidents. The Transport Evidence in the Draft Plan is incomplete and shows that the A247 will suffer further congestion as Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.
3. Many of the local roads, including large sections of the A3 and A 247, are in a state of disrepair with the road surface in an appalling condition in Further traffic would cause more damage to the surface, and the current practice of patching only increases traffic problems through congestion - but does not relieve them.
4. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford's urban brownfield areas which are much closer to existing transport.

5. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 20. Unlike the rest of the borough, Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially - there exists a suspicion that this might be due to Send having had the temerity to elect a councillor from a group hostile to the council's proposed plans for the Green Belt. If correct and evidenced, then this would be further grounds for prosecution of individuals for misconduct in public office.

6. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic, especially large vehicles. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more, and probably will not be able to cope with what will be generated from those developments already given permission without casualties.

1. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

1. The sewage network in Send is already at overcapacity due to previous development being allowed by the council without due consideration of the Thames Water or their contractors are regularly called out to the main sewer through Send to unblock it and a number of properties along Send Road (including ours) have had waste spills in the gardens because of blocked sewers.
   - The heavy traffic through Send has been blamed by contractors from Thames Water for collapses within the main sewer along the The increased use of the road by HGV traffic has increased the vibration on the road and the sewer is in sandy substrata which is susceptible to problems from vibration.

1. Any increased risk of flooding in the Send area raises the prospect of houses becoming unusable, uninsurable and unsaleable as a result of the wilful destruction of the delicate Green This is negligent at best and a criminal dereliction of duty while in public office at worst.

1. I object to the large proposed development at of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including the land at Wisley Airfield is adjacent to land with endangered species- and any development could harm those species.

1. I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity. Any development of housing should take place within the bounds of the Guildford Urban Area where sufficient public transport exists (the council having cut public transport out to the villages) and could be used by. The very last thing that is needed is housing where the occupiers would require cars for commuting as that will just make the traffic problems in the area worse.

1. I object to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

We object to Policy A58 for land at Burnt Common as there has been a decline in demand for industrial land since the original plan, not an increase. There is land already available at Slyfield and in Guildford itself for industrial use of the type proposed so there is no need for this development. The extra traffic from any such development will lead to traffic gridlock on roads that already suffer gridlock at the slightest incident.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Any development in and around Send will need to take into account the lack of public transport at commuting times of day and allow for multiple vehicles for each house or development leading to an exponential increase in traffic in an already busy and over stretched road area and would lead to further instances of gridlock.

There is no provision for schools, road improvement or other services such as GP services in the Send area where such services are already at breaking point. Until the services are improved there should be no further development.

Surface flooding is already a problem in the Send area. While much of the village is slightly above the current flood plain, this is marginal and roads are subject to surface flooding as a result of existing development. Any further development in and around the village will increase both the flooding and surface water flooding risks.

We have recently received notification from the local water supplier that water supplies are under pressure after a drier than usual winter. That is with current levels of building. Any further building and development in the area will both increase the demand for water while increasing the flood risk and decreasing the amount of water entering the ground and thus leading to aquifer depletion and drought risk.

Overall, the changes to the Local Plan are disproportionately increasing development in Send and the surrounding area at the expense of the Green Belt while ignoring the large stock of brownfield sites within Guildford itself. Those sites should be used before any development on Green Belt or before removing areas from the Green Belt for development. We strongly object to these changes to the Local Plan and urge that they be rejected and the development moved to brownfield sites, of which the borough has an ample sufficiency.

Planning permission has already been granted for 64 apartments and a Marina, both of which were widely opposed by the local community. The inadequacy of Tannery Lane and the nearby roads to cope with the additional traffic caused by this unwanted development must not be compounded by adding even more traffic if the Clockburn Nursery development is granted. This over-development must not be allowed to happen if we are to avoid appalling traffic destroying the enjoyment of this quiet village.

I object to building 7000 square metres of industrial space and 400 houses at Garlick's Arch, opposite Send Marsh Road (A43).

The industrial space is not needed and should be either located at the Burnt Common site, that should be restored to its brown-field status, or to the excellent facilities at Slyfield. The housing requirements for Guildford have been grossly exaggerated and not openly disclosed. There are numerous brownfield sites that should be used for future development. Only when these sites have been exhausted should alternative sites be considered.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)
It would be a tragedy to remove Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) as this would result in an urban sprawl that would utterly destroy the character of the area. Successive governments have continually supported the retention of the UK’s Green Belt that is particularly necessary in the outer reaches of London. The alternative would lead to London sprawl extending to beyond Godalming. This must be avoided at all costs. There are more than enough brownfield sites in the Guildford area that should be developed for the Plan.

There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed from the Green Belt, as required by the National Planning Policy (Policy P2).

Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing with regard to the proposed Guildford Borough Draft Local Plan with particular reference to the Horsleys. I strongly object to this part of the plan.

Although I have only permanently lived in West Horsley since the year 2000, my connections go back to the 1950s when my grandparents lived in the village and actually owned and ran the West Horsley newsagents in the 1940s. Over the last fifty to sixty years there have been changes, but not massive ones. The character of the Horsleys has remained roughly the same, although property prices have forced many local youngsters to move on and out of the area.

The local West Horsley Post Office and Newsagents was recently converted into a flat and is currently on the market for £385,000. How many first time buyers could manage this? Are the proposed houses going to be any less pricey? Furthermore, with the Post Office disappearing, local shops for the proposed build on the Bell and Colvill site (A37) are dwindling. There also seems to be an access problem with this site and we received through our door a note from a company, that seem to have acquired the site, called ‘Dandara’ encouraging us to give our support to a development on this site on the grounds that it is surrounded by existing development, on a strategic highway route, on low quality Green Belt land, visually self-contained and protects the use of higher quality Green Belt land elsewhere. Surely this sort of approach cannot be encouraged and if 40 homes are proposed for this site and Dandara build, of what type will they be? The product which “reflects and draws upon the architectural character of the local area” quoted in the Dandara flyer could mean anything.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
A further worry with all sites is that if the plan goes ahead there is unlikely to be much in the way of affordable housing, and consequently there will be an influx of high earning commuters which will continue to change the nature of the villages. This will add to the local traffic problem and on a wider scale the A3 and M25 roads will be subjected to increasing congestion at a time when for parts of the day both of these roads are unable to cope comfortably with traffic volumes. There will be further problems with other amenities. The area is not blessed with unlimited school places, the Medical Centre in East Horsley is fully stretched and it will be necessary to massively improve the drainage system.

The Hotel site (A36) is very near to Horsley Towers and is likely to be extremely visible. The roadway around is potentially dangerous.

The four sites clustered around the Raleigh School area (A38, A39, A40 and A41) would be a total of 445 homes. This would constitute an enormous increase in the size of the village.

It appears that six sites have been earmarked for development, but there are both general and specific problems with each.

A major general concern is that the Horsleys will be removed from the Green Belt. If this occurs it is likely to open the flood gates to all developers and village life will soon be no more. All sites are currently privately owned and probably as a consequence if any go-aheads are given profit will be the driving force rather than sympathy to the locality and current resident population.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Being connected with West Horsley for over 60 years and living in the village since the year 2000, seeing what is proposed fills me with concern. My grandparents, who actually owned and ran the village newsagents in the 1940s, would be dismayed to find that our local shops have dwindled and no longer is it easy to visit a post office or buy essential groceries.

The residents of the 40 new homes lined up for the Bell and Colvill site (A37) adjacent to the old village parade of shops will no longer have the convenience of shopping facilities on their doorstep.

East Horsley would increase massively should the 445 homes clustered around the Raleigh School area (A38, A39, A40 and A41) be built. The infrastructure to cope is certainly not in place.

Difficulties ahead continue to mount if the Draft Plan for the Horsleys is implemented. Local roads are already overcrowded and at peak times the congestion is so bad that an increase in traffic, which will certainly result if the Plan for the Horsleys and other developments in the offing come to fruition, will bring local roads and the A3 to a standstill. Furthermore, the Horsley Medical Practice, which is already under strain, will have to increase its waiting times for an appointment and local schools will quickly fill, resulting in long treks to alternative suitable schools, if any can be found. The entire drainage system will be swamped.

My other comment is that the Plan is based on a "target housing number" which is substantially greater than expected population growth in the Borough. If this is deliberate in order to find a compromise then the whole Plan should be thrown out. Your Plan provides for a 35% increase in houses in a country village like West Horsley. That is clearly wrong on all counts.

population requirements has been promised for years and is yet to be delivered. The planned increase in population will only add to this.

- The Village’s Medical centre already covers a large population over several small villages and the current situation regarding obtaining appointments is unacceptable due to heavy demand. The planned increase in population will only add to this.

As with all proposals within the local plan they are based on providing the best option to housing developers by providing the largest number of dwellings in one block to maximise the opportunity for their profit.

The focus and responsibility of the council must be to meet the housing need in the most sympathetic and sustainable way and ensuring the villages are not lost under new towns and all character is lost. The local plan needs to be re-drafted under these terms and opportunity for small development identified that will fit within the villages and where the village can influence the development rather than the development have a major detrimental affect on the village.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposed Local plan, in particular the proposal for development of 40 dwellings and 2 traveller pitches, in Send Hill, Send.

The number of proposed dwellings is massively in excess of the level of development that the village can withstand and would totally change the nature of the village to the detriment of the existing residents.

As residents of [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] my family would be directly impacted by the proposed development in Send Hill and I object for the following reasons.

- The proposed number of houses on the site is inappropriate for the size of the site.
- The increased traffic from the dwellings will overwhelm the road and the associated Junctions with impact on risk of accidents and delays
- The construction traffic to build the dwellings will cause major disruption and permanent damage to the road and environment including damage to trees and hedges from the large delivery vehicles.
- There are already major problems with the main sewer drainage from properties in Orchard Way and Send Hills which will be compounded by the introduction of 40 new dwellings.
- The area identified is Green Belt and this must be maintained for future generations.
• The number of dwellings proposed would not allow space for sufficient and realistic parking allocations for a rural housing location leading to parking in Send Hill which is already a problem and further adds to delays in traffic and accident risks.

• The inclusion of Traveller pitches will have a detrimental effect on the areas for the following reasons.

[Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it]

[Summary of redacted paragraph: Proposal has potential to result in social, economic and environmental impacts]

Where even a small number of pitch allocations have been provided it often leads to unofficial sites being set up locally and further travellers visit / locate to the area in an attempt to grow the provision and their community.

In these instances it has been seen that councils are either unwilling or unable to take enforcement action leaving it to residents groups to take action to resolve the issues.

The Send Hill cannot accommodate the transport of mobile homes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to draft Local Plan and proposed development in East and West Horsley. Policy P2: Green Belt and the Countryside / Policy P1: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)

The first line of Policy P2 states, “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development.”

We in this country and this county have spoiled many of our villages and towns by over development uncompromising housing built in a sprawl without consideration as to facilities and infrastructure and community. The ‘Green Belt’ saved some of our towns and villages and has meant that there are still many attractive places to live but we now seem set on spoiling those for the next generation. It is no surprise that areas that are not over developed or spoilt by sprawling housing estates and clogged up roads are popular places to live. Surely we must strive to replicate the kind of towns and villages people want to live in rather than spoiling what we have remaining by over development. The Green Belt is key to preserving attractive places to live and prevent overdevelopment and I totally object to changing Green Belt Boundaries which were laid down many years ago by national legislation. Guildford Borough Council have made no sound case to justify changing the boundaries and I cannot believe ‘planners’ have not learn from the errors of the past which instigated the concept of the Green Belt in the first case.

There are no exceptional circumstances or other justification made for the new Green Belt boundaries that will result from the proposed insetting of the two parts of the village from the Metropolitan Green Belt and as such the Green Belt & Countryside Study is flawed.
West Horsley's defined Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) DO NOT need to be extended. West Horsley is positioned on the north side of the North Downs, partly in the Surrey Hills AONB, it attracts a considerable number of recreational visitors (walkers and cyclists) through the seasons each year and if the area becomes more urban and the character changed it will not be enjoyed by our visitors let alone the residents.

In our villages we have convenience shops which are convenient because they are accessible. It is still possible to pop to the shops as parking is available and the traffic manageable. Further development in the village will hinder parking and drive local people to use larger out of town supermarkets as the convenience and ease of access of the local shops diminishes. This scenario is well documented in other area where local shops actually suffer and decline because of development. The Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013/2031 makes no case for siting large numbers of residential homes in West and East Horsley and I would argue on the contrary it may well have a negative impact on the local businesses that exist.

The villages infrastructure with narrow roads limited shops parking cannot sustain extensive additional housing. The village will be spoilt by the kind of high density housing proposed which will ruin the attractiveness and character of the village. The need claimed for so many extra houses has not been proven.

We chose this village to live and bring up our children because of the semi rural fee. This is our home and it is not easy to up sticks and move into more rural surrounds not least because of the prohibiting stamp duty rates but also because of the ties we now have in the village. However the development proposed will alter the character and feel of the village for ever and mean it is no longer the kind of village we choose to live in, a different more urban environment will be forced upon us.

All the local facilities are over burdened including library, medical facilities, station and parking, schools. The villages cannot cope with significant additional housing on Green Belt, even the infill which has been allowed and is being permitted at an alarming rate has impacted the availability of essential local facilities without adding significant additional housing on the Green Belt.

The roads become clogged and key times and additional traffic will cause gridlock. The roads are narrow country lanes with narrow pavements not built to sustain significant volumes of traffic and in many cases there is no opportunity to widen and make it safe for pedestrians and car users.

The Secretary of State has stated and re emphasised that it has to be very special circumstances to justify inappropriate development in the Green Belt and yet Guildford Borough Council have made no case for the special circumstances.

Removing our villages from the Green Belt must not be allowed to occur, we have a duty to preserve the village and country side for our children.

Objections for Policy A25

I object to the proposed wholesale destruction of Green Belt land at Gosden Hill. This must surely be illegal?

I object to the proposal to build 2000 homes at Gosden Hill Farm, Merrow. The infrastructure of the area cannot sustain such a development. Brownfield sites closer to Guildford should be used first. It must make more sense to enlarge a town where facilities already exist, than to erode the countryside which everyone can enjoy.

I object to the 8 Travellers pitches included in this proposal. Eight pitches together would form a separate specialist site. How acceptable would this be to householders nearby owning their own property? Guildford was committed to providing a separate site for all Travellers to their area a number of years ago. What happened to that commitment? [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered defamatory, derogatory, inflammatory or offensive in nature]

I object to the proposal to build 45 houses on Clockbarn Nursery for the following reasons. There could be another 90 odd cars on the road, and the nearest road to join would be the already crowded Send Road. The other roads are narrow country lanes which join up with a network of other narrow country lanes.

Oh! Yes! And these lanes will also be shared with the new marina on the river Wey in Tannery Lane, Send that has already been granted planning permission for 80 berths plus the buildings that will support that project.

I object to the increase in the population (together with other housing proposals) that will put additional strain on the educational and medical facilities in the village.

The next objections are for policy A43 and A43a,

I object to the use of Green Belt land to build 400 houses and some industrial/storage space at Garlick’s Arch. Send would cease to be a village and become a suburb of Guildford.

I object to the creation of new slip roads into the main traffic areas. This would create more chaos to areas already grid-locked at peak travel times.

No need/or surveys to support this statement ... Just try being trapped on these main roads for hours in the blazing heat or freezing cold as already happens!

Objections to Policy A44 the land west of Send Hill.

I object to the Green Belt area in Send being reduced in size or removed altogether. All Green Belt was supposed to be unchangeable by law. When it was set up originally, it was to control urban growth providing at the same time a ‘lung’ around London for the benefit of the people living in the capital. How can the air quality in London be improved if the Green Belt is gradually eroded with bricks and concrete?

I object to the number of houses being proposed ie 40. The site is not large enough. If you take the footprints of the 21 houses shown on one side of Send Hill only and put them on the area owned by the GBC they will not fit, and that is not even allowing for garden space!

I object to the inclusion of two Traveller pitches included on the site as being totally unsuitable both to Travellers and householders sharing the site [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it]

I object to all the extra road traffic that such a project could bring to the village. Every household could have at least two cars and the congestion that that would cause on Send Hill and to the main Send Road, which is the only road to Woking, will bring chaos to an already overstretched system.

I object to the possible loss of a beauty spot which is only accessible at present by footpaths and which is enjoyed by people in the village and visitors.

I object to adding to the increase in the number of residents in the village (as there are other housing proposals throughout the village) because of the pressure on the already stretched medical and educational facilities in the village.

On the other hand a small development without Traveller pitches and in keeping with the surrounding properties could be a possibility

I object to Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15, which proposes to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because
• further expansion or development at this location will spoil the lovely countryside adjacent to the Wey Navigation and the surrounding Green Belt.

I would like to comment on the Draft Local Plan 2017 (Reg 19) as follows and relate to the proposed extensive development in Ash, Tongham and Ash Green.

Of particular concern is extensive development to the east of Ash and north of Ash Green, and I note that Ash Green has effectively been split into two parts, the the northern part (north of the disused railway line) now being subsumed into Ash. Subterfuge on a grand scale.

It is at this point I would like to introduce page 2 from the NPPF. (attached file)

Observations

1. Just how will this plan deliver any of the 3 goals described above. Concreting over valuable green spaces, some of which is arable land, is not going to satisfy any of the three dimensions. In the 2013 Guildford Borough Settlement Hierarchy study Ash Green ranked last -score 31 for Sustainability and score 15 for Functional ranking. Meanwhile Normandy and Flexford scored score 5 and an 1 respectively in the same study. Ash Green had a population in this study of 593 and Normandy and Flexford scored 1794, both 2011 figures. Looking at the proposed development sites A27, A28 and A29 represents a environmental disaster on a grand scale. A29 incorporates part of Ash Green into what is a massive dense urban expansion, totally out of character and sympathy with the existing housing stock. The density of the proposed housing is on a scale that is more suited to inner cities. Tomorrows ghettos in the making. Taking into account the housing proposed around Ash Manor, Ash Green Road and the sites A27 and A28, Ash Green will more than double in size, whilst Normandy and Flexford emerge from this environmental disaster free of any significant development, despite the earlier plan having made provision for some housing which would have "spread the load".
2. When this proposed environmental catastrophe is complete I just wonder who is going to held to account. Not only will this monstrous scheme load the environment for the foreseeable future just how are the basic needs of water, drainage, air quality, services and recreational space to be provided. That most of the area in north of Ash Green is an effective sump to which precipitation drains has not been mentioned. That the soil is predominantly clay with poor infiltration is also conveniently ignored. That run off water will find its way to the Blackwater river, and though a SUDS system might help, the shear density of the housing and geography will make this very challenging indeed. What about the rail crossing on the A323 at Ash that is effectively closed for 23 minutes in every hour. The proposed road over bridge for the rail line is a mere proposal. Until this is realised then any development should be "on-hold" because the traffic load will simply overwhelm the carrying capacity of the road system. Ash Green Road will become the biggest rat run in Surrey, all because the planners at Guildford did not plan. With 1850 + houses planned in the ATUA and Ash Green how is the water supply going to be guaranteed. Add in the 4000 + homes in Aldershot that will be built in the same time frame and this will add a considerable burden to the water supply. Where are the the additional 750 million litres of potable water to be obtained?

3. What about the transport system and the choke points. A31 for example. Miserable at Farnham and Guildford at peak hours. Same for A331 at the A31 and M3 junctions. A323, a total disaster with multiple choke points. A3 in Guildford; a nightmare now, and even worse nightmare in the making. The rail network. Try getting seat at peak times. It is at full capacity now, how will it cope in the future. Since neither Ash, Tongham and especially Ash Green has limited employment opportunities any person living in this location has to travel to a place of work. That means loading the transport system for which there are limited options now and even more limited options in the future.

4. If we look at the future needs for social services, medical services, schools and recreational space these proposals fall well short. There is an acute need for housing suitable for elderly people yet this scheme pays scant attention to the issue. Land plots A28 and A29 would better serve the borough and be more sympathetic with the local area if development were restricted to provision of housing and green space for the elderly. This could be a mix of sheltered and purpose built housing. Current residents in Ash, Tongham and Ash Green have few options to downsize and stay in the area (see 2.2.1 of Draft Local Plan). Providing options to do this will release a variety of properties to the market.

   - Policies A27, A28 and A29 collectively increase Ash Green village by over 100%. Opportunity exists under Policy A28 to provide a village/community hall and recreational area which would provide Ash Green with much needed community and social space and reduce the housing density.

Opportunities (1) Should read: "A mix of homes for older people (C2) would be most appropriate for this site."

Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

1. Policy A29: Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham

I object to the increase from 1200 to 1750 homes as this would result in the coalescence of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and Ash Green Village, since taking into account the development that has already taken place, since the the start of the consultation the net gain in housing in the ATUA will be in excess of 2000 units. This is contrary to Policy P3 (Countryside). Therefore Requirement 6 of this Policy, which attempts to protect the “historic location of Ash Green”, is insufficient and requires a more robust rewording to prevent this increased potential for coalescence.

1. Policy A29: Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham (Cont.)

“Development proposals in the vicinity of Ash Green to have recognition of the historic location of Ash Green village and the intrinsic rural character of its countryside location. The properties along Ash Green Road form part of Ash Green village. Proposals for the land west of this road and to the south east of Foreman Road / White Lane must respect the historical context of this area by preventing the coalescence of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green. Any development as a whole will not be of a size and scale that would detract from the character of the rural landscape. This must include the provision of a green buffer that maintains separation between the any proposed new development and the properties fronting onto Ash Green Road, Foreman Road and White Lane. This will also help soften the edges of the strategic development location and provide a transition between the built up area and the countryside beyond”

- Requirement 8 does not sufficiently protect Ash Manor, a historical farmstead of three listed buildings including a medieval hall house and should be amended as follows:

> “Sensitive design at site boundaries and the avoidance of hard boundaries, in sympathy with the adjacent complex of listed buildings at Ash Manor need to be carefully and robustly implemented. Views to and from this heritage asset, including the approach from White Lane, must be protected.”

Infrastructure before development. Requirement 9 (Land and provision for a new road bridge at Ash Station to enable closure of the level crossing) must be competed before any development of Policy A29 commences.

- Requirement 9 fails to address the other significant transport infrastructure improvements that are required to cope with the increases in traffic generated by Policy A29. Therefore solutions to the following areas are also required before any development of A29 is permitted.

1. The Street in Tongham
2. A331/A323 intersection
3. A31/White Lane junction
• Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area and therefore the ATUA boundary must not extend south of Ash Green Road and Foreman Road.

• Ash Green is not part of the Ash & Tongham Urban Area. The urban boundary of the ATUA is shown extending south of Foreman Road and east of Ash Green Road. This should not be allowed.

• 3.29 Amend to: “Originally consisting of the three small rural villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham, the Ash and Tongham urban area has grown considerably in size and now forms Guildford borough’s second largest urban area. Countryside within the urban area to the south and east is allocated as a strategic location for development. However to make this growth sustainable, suitable infrastructure improvements must be implemented before further development.”

• 3.30 Amend to: “We do however wish to ensure that whilst accommodating this growth, we are able to protect the remaining countryside around it from inappropriate and excessive over-development in order to protect its intrinsic character and preserve the role it plays in maintaining the separate identity of Ash, Tongham and Ash Green.”

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

I OBJECT to Policy A25 Gosden Hill as being totally a inappropriate and unsustainable development of 2000 homes in the Green Belt which will cause coalescence and urban sprawl from Burpham to West Clandon

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the inclusion of strategic site Policy A43 Garlick's Arch and its late substitution in the Local Plan with no prior consultation with the local. This site should be protected as it is agricultural land that is previously undeveloped and within the Green Belt. There is no sound reasoning as to why the Garlick's Arch site was substituted at the last minute on 24th May 2016 in preference to the original site A43 Land at Burnt Common Warehouse which is an existing brownfield site with industrial space, provision for at least a further 7000sqm of industrial employment space and an additional 100 homes which is more in keeping with the acceptable growth in housing numbers for the residents of Send, Burnt Common, Send Marsh and Ripley. The development of 400 homes at the Garlick's Arch site will cause coalescence with Send, Send Marsh, Burnt Common and Ripley thus losing forever the independent identity of each village and hamlet.
