I OBJECT to Policy A43a, the proposed on/off ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common as this will inevitably cause traffic chaos on the local road network throughout Ripley, Burnt Common, Send and West Clandon, with absolutely no possibility of mitigation due to the nature of our rural roads and lanes.

WE OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)
The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

WE OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is we believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

From our personal perspective this plan is wholly unsustainable within the area. The area of West Clandon is already dangerously insufficient to support the local usage in place and adding more to this is a recipe for disaster. The roads are already dangerously over used by speeding vehicles and vehicles of excessive size. This itself needs to be addressed as a matter of urgency before there is a serious accident and any plans to increase usage disregarded completely.

As a regular footpath user both as a parent and a runner I am fully aware of how close I have already come to being struck by a vehicle when I am on a footpath and am of the opinion it is only a matter of time as to when this happens. Many of the proposals will only make matters worse.

Additionally as a country we need to protect the greenbelt and avoid our landscape becoming a single mass urban sprawl. The only way for this to happen is to respect the greenbelt instead of removing it. There are ample more appropriate sites for development including many brownfield sites that achieve this but are being ignored. Once the greenbelt is removed it is going to be almost impossible to reinstate it and rash decisions now are going to cause serious problems for generations to come.

Whilst these are a few of specific personal areas of objection we fully agree with the many areas also raised by others and include them below also.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day. Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost. There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development. The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London. The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants. The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley. If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.
National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).
This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).
The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)
Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:
1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

We support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Comment ID: PSLPP16/15867  Respondent: 11098369 / Neil & Nicki Covington  Agent:
We object, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. We object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians. The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.
WE OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1).
Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. We have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

WE OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2).

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. We have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

WE OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)
Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

WE OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)
WE OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.
Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

WE OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4).

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well we are aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1).

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

WE OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market. These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green. Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357 sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607 sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750 sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357 sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357 sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

It already takes between 7 and 14 days to obtain an appointment at the Horsley Medical Centre. With no additional medical facilities planned, this will create completely unsustainable pressure on already stretched facilities.

Local Road Network:

It seems that the Plan is proposing a strategic site at Wisley Airfield without even knowing what improvements to the local road infrastructure will be required. If that is the case for Wisley Airfield, then it is almost inevitably true for the proposed developments in East and West Horsley as well. The local roads and parking at facilities such as Horsley station are already under significant pressure.

As a local resident I feel I must make a strong objection to these proposed developments in the Send and Send Marsh areas. I wish to object to the following:

- I object to all erosion of the green belt
- I object to site A43 Garlicks Arch
- I object to sites 43a the on and off ramp at Clandon – this will seriously increase traffic problems through Ripley and Send and not alleviate them
- I object to site A45 The Talbot – I consider this to be over development in a conservation area
- I object to site A57 The Paddocks
- I object to any removal of any villages from the green belt
- I object to the disproportionate amount of development in one area of the borough. The roads around this area are not capable of carrying the amount of traffic which this sort of development would bring; Send is already burdened with traffic and local transport problems. There is also a lack of parking at local stations already without adding additional cars.
- I object to the limited consultation period
- I object to the last minute inclusion of new sites with less than 2 weeks notice
- I object to the lack of evidence for the alleged housing need numbers
- I object to the lack of immediate provision for new schools and doctors surgeries. The local state schools are already oversubscribed and this will only get worse and Doctor’s appointments are already over-subscribed

I AM STRONGLY OPPOSED TO THE ABOVE AND RESPECTFULLY REQUEST GUILDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL PLANNING COMMITTEE TO RE-CONSIDER THIS IN THE LIGHT OF ALL THE VALID ARGUMENTS THAT HAVE BEEN PUT BEFORE THEM.

Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan – Consultation Response.

We write as residents of Ash Wharf having attended the public exhibition at the Ash Parish Centre on Saturday 30th September 2014 and subsequently have examined the emerging local plan in this consultation. It is of considerable relief that the Borough Council has finally decided to progress with a new Local Plan, some 10 years after the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act (2004) first introduced the Local Development Framework style of development plans. The current Guildford Borough Local Plan is woefully out of date and not consistently compliant with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) so any new local plan will be welcomed. However, even after almost 12 years of potential works and drafting, the consultation draft on the Local Plan appears rushed and unduly politically influenced.

As residents of the greater Ash settlement area, we have identified the following issues that have not so far been addressed by the Council in the draft plan and which, if strategically approved at this stage, will leave little scope for further input or changes in approach. We have identified the following areas of concern:

- The Level of residential development to be provided in Ash and the lack of co-ordinated approach to development both in site specific terms and as part of the duty to co-operate with other local authorities
- The impact of development on the local highway network
- The inappropriate provision of Sustainable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG) so close to the Ash Ranges

Each of these points are addressed in more detail in the remainder of this letter.

Residential Development

Ash is in the position of being located on the Guildford, Rushmoor, Waverley and Surrey Heath borders. In its Core Strategy, Rushmoor Borough Council has already identified a large housing development in the Aldershot Military Town. Waverley is currently working on a new draft Core Strategy Local Plan having fundamentally failed the test of the duty to co-operate with other Authorities. This same duty of co-operation appears to be missing from the draft Guildford Local Plan. It is clear that Waverley Borough Council are focusing considerable development onto Badshot Lea. With the planned development at Aldershot and then the suggested housing allocations at Ash and Tongham which have been published in the draft Guildford Local Plan, there appears to be little, if any, consideration of the cumulative impacts on this cross border location.

We suggest that the Council has taken the easy and politically safe option to force high amounts of development on the Ash area and we urge the Inspector to give this apparently unjustified approach some proper consideration when examining the emerging Local Plan for soundness. The promise of additional Green Belt in the Ash/Tongham area is a token gesture aimed at distracting local residents of what the main plans are for the area.

Local Highway Network

The SA identifies the current issues on the road around the existing pinch point of the level crossing at Ash railway station. This regularly causes traffic to tail back almost a mile to the Guildford Road/Pirbright Road junction on the A323. This part of the highway network is already well beyond capacity (as identified within SCC’s Transport Assessment, January 2014 which makes up part of the evidence base for the Local Plan) and therefore any additional traffic will exacerbate the existing problem unless there is a co-ordinated approach to future local infrastructure provision which, in our opinion has to include a new bridge over the railway between the developments to relieve the traffic demand on the existing level crossing.

There are also no guarantees that the highway impact of the proposed Ash housing development can be mitigated and, unless this can be proved otherwise, the LPA could find themselves in the position of not being able to deliver on its housing allocations. Unfortunately, the more likely event is that the LPA will conclude that the houses have been strategically allocated and therefore must be delivered regardless of what associated infrastructure is offered.

The evidence base for the draft Local Plan should be used as a tool to assess what the impact of the proposed allocations should be and then the LPA should assess and plan for the mitigation before any acceptance that the housing allocation should be pursued and formally allocated. This process has fundamentally failed in this instance and the LPA has not completed sufficient work to establish that they can sustainably deliver the quantum of development proposed in Ash. It is further noteworthy that the settlements in the east of the Borough have no road links identified as being over capacity.
All the links over capacity are those where the development is being proposed. We have already alluded to the probable reasons for this.

Allocation A30 suggests a road bridge over the railway at Ash Station, something our earlier representations focused on. This is essential if significant residential development is to be allocated. The suggestion is another 30 seconds per vehicle without mitigation – effectively gridlock. However, how is it going to be delivered? S123 of the CIL regulations refer to pooling and the restriction to 5 sites to contribute towards a pot of S106. On the basis that multiple sites in Ash are going to be allocated, S106 will not be able to deliver the road bridge with genuine concerns that individual developer/land owners will seek to pass-the-puck to prevent paying for the new infrastructure. If the time to produce this local plan is taken as an indicator, the Council cannot rely on CIL to deliver the road bridge in the near future. Surrey County Council’s Strategic Highway Assessment Report (June 2016), 4.5.3 confirms that the mechanism for mitigation must be agreed at Examination Stage. We agree with this, it cannot be left to the developers to deliver the infrastructure. If the footbridge and road bridge are going to be delivered as an allocation of its own right, then how is this to be delivered? It needs to be linked to the development themselves otherwise they could easily fall to the wayside and not be delivered.

Ash Hill Road will reduce to Level E (number 24 northbound). The information is unclear as to what is being proposed to mitigate against this. Again, referring back to 4.5.3, this should be agreed prior to the EIP otherwise there will be no mitigation.

The A323 (Guildford Road) and B411 (Ash Hill Road) suggest traffic signals yet “they are unable to be represented in the strategic SINTRAM”. Why not? This is not explained. It appears an unwillingness to model this.

The A323 Guildford Road in Ash has a Ratio of Flow Capacity (RFC) of 1.18 and a corresponding level of service F (the lowest value possible). In the scenario 3 “do something (2031) the RFC goes up to 1.35 with development appropriate mitigation. This is not providing a do-nothing situation. It is inappropriate to put added stress on a road with and RFC of 1.18 in the first place, let alone with no commitment to mitigation.

If you are putting this much development in Ash, then top of the priority list is understanding the highways implications of the proposal. For instance, as another example, the A323 and A324 junction is forecast to have a 112 second delay increase per vehicle. There appears to be no understanding from the Council of the implications of this level development, let alone how it will be mitigated.

Schools

Ultimately 2,300 new homes are proposed within 1 mile of each other at Ash, Flexford and Normandy. Whilst a new Secondary school is proposed in Normandy/Flexford, no new primary/junior schools appear to be proposed. This is essential with the existing primary schools full in the local area.

Conclusion

We are not against the principle of new residential development in the Ash area and understand that all settlements potentially have a duty to provide more dwellings. That is why it seems unreasonable and unjustified in planning terms that the Borough Council is clearly focusing as much development outside Guildford itself and the affluent villages to the east of the Borough with the focus on development to the western end of the Borough. This is being done with no evidence of satisfying the duty of co-operation with the neighbouring boroughs and clearly following political desire to focus development in the east of the Borough. This has apparently unduly influenced the draft plan to the extent that strategic housing sites are being suggested for allocation in the Local Plan without the appropriate evidence base to back up their allocation or even prove that the impacts of development have been considered. On this basis, it is highly likely that an Inspector will find the draft Local Plan unsound on submission. The LPA has had 10 years to do the required background work and it is alarming that they would be willing to strategically allocate 1200 houses without properly identifying how these will be mitigated on a road network which the Council’s own evidence base shows cannot take any more traffic at peak times. The commitment to the new road bridge at Ash Station is weak and there appears little chance of it being delivered as an allocation in its own right. Developers should fund the whole bridge and there should be no reliance on Network Rail or Surrey CC.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The plan has been based on the intention of adding 13,860 new homes to Guildford Borough over the 2013 - 2033 period, this represents a massive increase of 25% of the housing provision in just 20 years, the need for this huge increase has not been explained or justified, as neither has the basis on which the SHMA has been calculated. It is also the case again without justification that GBC has enhanced this figure to a level which is 70% higher than the official national estimates for population growth than the Borough. The GBC has no mandate from its residents to provide this additional level of housing and therefore has completely departed from the ethos of “localism” in planning policy.

The effect of Brexit will be to reduce the demand for housing nationally and the ability of the building industry to provide it, making GBC’s figures even more extraordinary.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I also object to the Local Plan proposals for any significant increase in the population of the Horsleys, Ockham, Ripley and Send. Notwithstanding the effect of proposed development in these villages the provision of over 2,000 homes on the Former Wisley Airfield will add some 5,000 to 6,000 people to the area and probably 3,000 or more extra vehicles. This new community will need to get to their workplaces and schools and as there is no train station proposed for Wisley Airfield they will have to travel by car either by driving to Guildford or London or to the train stations at Horsley and Cobham. This will involve them accessing the A3 where the 3,000 vehicles would first have to go south to the Ripley/Ockham junction before going east to Horsley Station or north to London and Cobham.
At the present time at rush hour there are often queues northbound between the Ripley/Ockham roundabout and the Cobham roundabout and the addition of a further 3,000 vehicles at this time would cause these roundabouts to seize up and effectively close the A3. Those motorists lucky enough to complete their journeys via the A3 will find that there will not be any spare car parking at either of the stations (where there is no room to extend either the car parking or the platforms) and even if by chance they did find a space in the car park they probably would not find one on the train.

In the villages most of the primary foul water, surface water, electricity, gas, and telephone services are 80 or more years old, close to capacity and near to the end of their effective life. My personal experience of this is that in the six years that I have lived in Ockham Road South East Horsley the electrical supply to my part of the road has failed twice, once for five days and the second time for two days due as the electricity supplier told me, to the age and capacity of the mains cables.

Although new energy saving technologies and elements like sustainable underground drainage systems can to a degree reduce the impact of any new developments ultimately they still have to be provided with services form the existing primary utilities infrastructure which will not be able to cope or be renewed by the monies obtained from the anticipated community infrastructure levies.

Other resources which will be overwhelmed will of course be the local healthcare services (where appointments are already difficult to get) and many will be aware of the near impossibility of parking at Royal Surrey County Hospital. It is also the case that most of the local “country” roads already have difficulty in withstanding the onslaught of potholes following each winter, without the added attrition of 100’s of heavy good vehicles which will be unleashed when any significant development works start.

I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt, and its inclusion in the Local Plan as a site suitable for development. This site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. The proposed removal of this site from the Green Belt by GBC only a few months after Wisley Property Investments Ltd.’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers is totally hypocritical, lacking in logic and integrity, and would seem to indicate the existence of an unduly coercive influence by the associated developers on some council members.

From what I have seen of the Local Plan Guildford’s planners, councillors and external consultants seems to have forgotten (or not be aware of) what gives the Borough and Surrey as a whole its unique character and the attributes which currently make it one of the most desirable places in the country to live in.

The first of these is of course that a good proportion of the Borough and indeed the county is countryside protected by the Green Belt, a piece of planning legislation which has given London its “Lungs” and prevented an unrestricted urban sprawl envied by most of the world’s capital cities.

The second is that quintessential element of the British countryside, small villages dotted about the county each with its own character, vernacular architecture, church and village green and individual communities.

The third attribute is the space that we enjoy by choosing to live in a rural and not an urban environment.

The proposals shown in the Local Plan spell out the destruction of what causes this part of Surrey to be unique and will devalue the quality of life of many of the Borough’s residents particularly in the Horsleys, Ockham, Ripley and Send.

5) For these reasons I also object to the proposed extension of the Settlement Boundaries of the Horsleys.

2) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of the new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are for no good reason being forgotten and ignored.

3) I object to the disproportionate allocation of this new housing in this particular part of the borough which means that over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the paucity of the evidence base. The submission documents are unsound, unreliable and inconsistent. The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to the following factors: the failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows; the way it inflates the requirements of students; and the flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth. The Green Belt and Countryside Study does not look strategically at options for development in major settlements beyond. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions. Exceptional circumstances do not exist to justify amendments to Green Belt boundaries as part of the Local Plan process. It is quite achievable for realistically prepared and identified development needs to be accommodated in Guildford’s urban areas and villages. The Transport Evidence has been produced very late and is incomplete, inaccurate and untested to the extent that the Plan is not ready for a Regulation 19 consultation. It is apparent that the Strategic Highway Assessment shows there will be congestion, even with all the highway schemes in the Plan. The available evidence suggests much of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor cannot be delivered due to narrow roads and pinch points. Evidence on bus travel is compromised because no clear location for a bus interchange is proposed. No information has been provided on the demand for and capacity of rail services, and the main line to London is already extremely busy in peak periods. Information about the town centre as regards traffic, buses and parking is lacking. The Strategic Highway Assessment 2016 is flawed. It is invalid to base this on less traffic growth than the proposed housing growth. The report points to overcapacity use of the A3, M25, A31, A320, Millbrook, Ladymead, Woodbridge Road, York Road, London Road but understates the congestion consequences. Various suggested queue reductions are unexplained. The consequences of major proposed reductions in road space in the town centre (eg closure of Walnut Tree Close, narrowing of Woodbridge Road, reduced capacity of the gyratory) and of developing Burnt Common are not included. The Guildford Retail Study Update lacks credibility and there is no proven case for expanding comparison retail space which is undermined by failure to implement existing retail consents at the North Street development over the last 10 years. The Guildford Retail Study does not take account of changing retail patterns in relation to the threat of the internet and the study also assumes a number of logged retail requirements from companies already in liquidation or with national requirements that exclude Guildford. Key parts of the evidence are missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach and the Transport evidence is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan. The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level. The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement. It is unacceptable to treat Green Belt as a readily available source of development land during Plan preparation. The Mayor of London intends to respect Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level. Releasing Green Belt to fund infrastructure or build on open, previously-developed Green Belt does not pass this test. Opportunities to channel development towards brownfield locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary, linked to sustainable transport, have not been adequately considered. It is not credible to suggest the Green Belt is being treated as permanent when its boundary was changed as recently as 2003 as part of the last Local Plan review. Indeed, land released in 2003 is neither fully developed nor efficiently used. An approach of eroding the Green Belt at each Local Plan review is not sustainable. If there is a case for Green Belt development, it needs to be proven through the application of policy. Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach. The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. It would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 13,860 new homes by 2033. It would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to government policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. I am concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site. The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation. The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.” Notwithstanding that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which is unsound.

For the reasons stated above, I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.” This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

I object to policy A25 Gosden Hill. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below). The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. · Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. · Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland.
(including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”
The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A35 Wisley. I object to the re-inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. However, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision. There is in any case no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

This is not an NPPF “presumption in favour of sustainable development” but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who had already been given many additional months to refine their application before it was rejected. Policy A35 should be deleted from the plan for all the reasons the development was rejected by the Planning Committee, including:

- Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances”.
- Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land: 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.
- Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).
• Proximity to A3/M25 bottleneck and Ripley village and roundabouts.
• Absence of adequate traffic data.
• Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.
• Loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.
• Disproportion of locating of over 2,000 dwellings within the ancient village of Ockham with just 159 households.
• Presence of a Surrey County Council safeguarded waste site.
• Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.
• Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.
• Impact on listed buildings.
• Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA.
• Extreme housing density with tiny garden spaces.
• Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.
• Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).
• Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

I object to policy A42 Clockbarn Nursery. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The site is part of the permanent Green Belt at Send and should remain undeveloped in order to preserve the amenity of the surrounding area. The site has very restricted access along Tannery Lane which is narrow and for most its length only capable of providing access for cars in one direction. Development of the site is not therefore sustainable or practical. Tannery Lane already provides access to a Business Park which generates a considerable amount of traffic at all times of the day including lorries. This narrow country lane cannot cope with any more traffic. Planning consent has already been granted, rather unwisely given the access problems, for 84 flats and a marina. Anymore development at this location would not be sustainable. The junction with Send Road has poor visibility and is dangerous for traffic entering and leaving Tannery Lane.

I object to policy A43 Garlick’s Arch. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. There is a danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in Send, Ripley and Clandon will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. I object to the proposal to build 7,000 sq m of light industrial, general industrial or warehousing on the site at Garlick’s Arch. There is no need to place a Strategic Employment Site in this location when there is plenty of spare space available at Slyfield (40 ha).

The Employment Land Needs Assessment (ELNA) 2015 has been reduced by 80% since the ELNA 2013. There is no longer any need to place industrial development in the Green Belt when there are plenty of brownfield sites available. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces. Many of the affected villages, such as Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1) which requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services. I object on the grounds of the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy 12). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period.
The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a). The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C). The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I object to policy A44 Send Hill There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. The proposed development is not sustainable because of poor infrastructure.
Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site for travellers or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring. The site is a high quality green belt amenity area within beautiful surrounding countryside and would be spoilt by the development. A Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb the water table and increase risk of flooding to surrounding properties. The site was used as a GBC registered landfill site and shown on the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps as “refuse and slag heap”. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons. On the 1971 Ordnance Survey the site is shown as a “refuse tip” prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials. GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well recording methane gas discharge and development of this site would be a health hazard.

I object to policy D3 Historic Environment. This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan. The policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites. This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. Any development close to historical assets which is harmful should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre. I am of the opinion that policy E7 is ill-informed and there is insufficient evidential support to objectively assess the capacity of the existing town centre to accommodate appropriate new development and therefore fails the requirements of Section 161 of the NPPF to assess the real quantitative and qualitative floor space needs. There is no reliable evidence provided that the retail core of the Town Centre needs or can be expanded by 45,000 sq m of retail space at North Street because of lack of demand for retail units in the Town Centre particularly large units. This is due to falling demand for retail space in Guildford and town centres throughout the country evidenced by independent research and the reality of empty shops in many high streets (including Guildford) and the accelerating competition from internet shopping. The failure of the North Street scheme to be redeveloped over the last ten years is a testament to lack of demand which has been so poor that the original planning permission for a large retail scheme became time expired. The reality is that the town centre has enough retail floor space. If more is introduced it will result in the closure of existing shops particularly in locations which are less than 50% of peak Zone A or 100% positions. What Guildford needs is a new focus on speciality high quality comparison shopping supported by a revival of Guildford’s attractive heritage core and a new major visitor attraction supported by restaurants. Guildford needs to become the quality shopping destination for Surrey. The existing site in North Street should be replaced with a well-designed ground floor high quality speciality retail mall and frontage of no more than 40 shops extending to 7,000 sq m with the rear and upper floors providing an additional 500 to 600 homes. The proportion of the above proposed smaller scheme at North Street will be complementary to and not antagonistic to the Upper High Street, Tunsgate, the Debenhams site and the 100% Zone A positions of the Lower High Street. If the existing policy under E7 is adopted the North Street site will remain empty for another 10 year The findings of the Guildford Retail and Leisure Study 25 September 2015 are very pessimistic about retail trends.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to Policy P2 green belt. This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” This is completely false. The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and it needs to be permanently protected. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations. It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages. I am disturbed that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages reflect the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development. I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions. Send is a good example of villages that should not be removed from the Green Belt. Send provides an important Green Belt buffer between Woking and Guildford. The village and the countryside behind the A247 should all be protected.

I object to three particularly vulnerable areas of high quality amenity land being taken out of the Green Belt around Send which include:

- The land behind the schools including playing fields and woodland.
- The land to the right of Cartbridge by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering.
- Land to the left of Cartbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey Navigation.

I object to policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development. The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of “sustainable development” is given.

The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts. The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. I am surprised that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”. This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. Both the NPPF and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. The NPPF also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in “exceptional circumstances”, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements).

Policy A58 land at Burnt Common, London Rd I object to a new allocation of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing which was deleted from the 2015 draft. I also object to the wording of the allocation: the 2016 "maximum" allocation of 7,000 sq m has now been changed to "minimum". There is a surplus of industrial premises in the borough and the requirement for further industrial/warehousing has not been proven. The road infrastructure is inadequate and there are no exceptional circumstances to warrant development on the green belt.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the green belt. The business park fronts the River Wey navigation which is acknowledged as protected corridor. The business park is a historical accident arising from a former historic industrial use. Tannery Lane is too restricted for any increase in traffic and the business park should remain within the green belt to inhibit further development.

- Extending settlement boundaries of the Horsleys
- Overloading already stressed infrastructure
- Defining Station Parade in East Horsley as a “District Centre”
- Using unfounded and inflated future housing numbers

I strongly OBJECT to this policy on the grounds that is completely ignores the need for residential (rather than commercial) development within Guildford town centre and the use of brownfield sites before destroying the Green Belt.

This policy truly makes one wonder whether any member of the Policy drafting committee has recently visited Guildford town centre. A once vibrant and thriving market town, Guildford is now a sad, depressing shell of its former self, populated by empty shops and a growing number of cheap brands. There is falling demand for retail space in town centres throughout the country as internet shopping continues to grow (see independent research and CEBR studies). What Guildford needs is a new focus on speciality high quality shopping supported by a revival of the town’s heritage core, historic visitor attractions and a diverse selection of restaurants.

As an existing urban centre, it should furthermore receive a larger share of proposed new housing by making use of its brownfield sites. Paragraph 17 of the NPPF states that to “encourage the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land)” is a core planning principle. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy. How can this be overlooked time and again??

I strongly OBJECT to the proposal that sites “on the edge” of District Centres will be considered for retail developments.

This is clearly leaving the door wide open for the expansion of retail hubs – which will become necessary to “meet everyday shopping and service needs” of the proposed new housing estates in the countryside.

This is clearly a case of “horse before carriage”. Expanded retail hubs are being proposed in order to sneakily justify expanded house construction in the villages. Yet without proper consideration of the - already existent - traffic and infrastructure problems.

Why not support existing rural shops and services instead? These have far more character and will give the villages back their historic characters, rather than turning them into “High-Street-Wannabies”.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I categorically OBJECT to this policy.

As a start, the Green Belt does not belong to Guildford Borough Council and therefore is not theirs to carve up and dispose of as they choose. The Green Belt totals 89% of the borough and as such must be vigorously protected for existing and, above all, future generations.

Careful and considered development of certain Green Belt areas could be considered – but these must be proportionate to the size of existing developed areas. For example, how can anyone justify that urban Guildford receive less development than semi-rural Horsley? Guildford is in desperate need of regeneration! How can this be overlooked in favour of sacrificing untouched countryside? The revival and repopulation of central London is a clear example that building satellite settlements is an out-of-date approach to planning.

Furthermore, the “insetting” of 14 villages and “infilling” 12 villages from the Green Belt is a completely flawed plan when considering these villages’ proximity to metropolitan London. How can someone argue that these villages fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt? Yet again this is a totally flawed manipulation of incorrect information.

I fervently hope that this time residents’ considerations will be taken into account more and will result in a less “fluffy” version of a Local Plan – one that will be based upon concrete evidence rather than hypothetical approximations and one that will preserve the existence of the Green Belt.

I OBJECT to the changed Policy A35 Wisley

- The two new slip roads at A247 Clandon Road (Burnt Common) and associated traffic management will not in any way mitigate the impact on Ripley High Street since traffic will need to pass through Ripley to reach Wisley.
- My previous objections therefore still stand for this changed policy concerning the re-inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers to try again. This is disgraceful!
- There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the changes to Policies A36 to A41 (East and West Horsley)

- The number of potential development sites has been reduced by MERELY TWO (A36 and A41, representing a total of 138 dwellings). This leaves four sites (A27-40) which still represent a total of 395 new dwellings.
- Marginal changes such as these would still leave 70% of all new development in the borough built on Green Belt sites. No “exceptional circumstances” or any other justification is advanced for this strange imbalance.
• The deletion of two Horsley sites fails to correct the issue of relative overdevelopment in East and West Horsley, which is both excessive in absolute terms and disproportionate in relation to the rest of the borough.
• The plan fails to mention most of the known sustainability issues and infrastructure constraints affecting the Horsley sites, including public transport, traffic, road safety, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, flooding/surface drainage and shops. These were fully set out in responses to last year’s public consultation.
• The density of new housing on the four Horsley sites is inappropriate, being greater than anywhere in the locality at present. Collectively, the four Horsley sites breach NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value.

I OBJECT to the changes in Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

• I am of the opinion that policy E7 is still very ill-informed and there is insufficient evidential support to objectively assess the capacity of the existing town centre to accommodate appropriate new development
• I also object to the continued failure of this policy to provide much needed substantial residential development in the Town Centre which is still only a modest target of 1,300 homes. Only approximately 10% of the total planned for the Borough. There is still a blind over concentration on retail expansion.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the changes to Policy P2

- Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital.
- It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. No-one argues that we should sell 1.6% of the Crown jewels in order to build houses.
- I object to the changed “insetting” of 15 villages (including Ripley) from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages.
- I am deeply upset that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages (particularly at Send) and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. This is completely unplanned and unmeasured development outside of the OAN.

I am writing to express my absolute objection to the latest re-vamp of the Guildford Local Plan.

It is clear that on many levels, you have yet again refused to listen to residents and continue to promote a wholly inappropriate and unacceptable plan.

I have been resident in West Horsley for 21 years and moved here specifically because it was in the Green Belt. It is my understanding that for any authority to remove Green Belt status, “exceptional circumstances” must be demonstrated. This is not the case with the current plan as no “exceptional circumstances” have been given and the proposed extended boundaries appear to be aimed simply at increasing available land for future development.

There seems to be major doubt concerning the inflated and unrealistic number of new houses proposed by a Strategic Housing Market Assessment, calculations from which, are not in the plan and do not seem to be available to Guildford Borough Council either. The target housing number arrived at by the SHMA is further increased by Guildford Borough Council, to a figure that is almost 70% higher than that suggested by official national estimates for population growth in the borough.

385 new homes are being proposed in West Horsley alone between 2018 -2022, which is an increase of 35% on the current number of homes. This is greater than any other single area in the borough and imposes an unsupportable burden on drainage infrastructure, road network, public transport, parking facilities, medical services and schools.

Our 1 remaining Primary school is full and has been for years, the nearest secondary school (which is a half hour bus drive for my children) is also at full capacity, however, there seem to be no plans for creating further school places for children from the Horsleys.
Our roads are in an appalling state and cannot even cope with the current number of vehicles using them, let alone, potentially, an extra 770 cars if we allow 2 per household, which is not unusual nowadays. Every single household in my road has 2 or more cars.

Drainage in the village is an issue and The Street regularly floods during periods of prolonged rain. Apparently, Thames Water has advised Guildford Borough Council that the current drainage network will not be able to cope with the anticipated demand from the proposed new developments.

There seems to be a visible lack of any plans for new drains, roads, schools, Doctor’s surgeries etc, and this is before we even mention the new development of 2000 houses proposed on the former Wisley Airfield, despite the planning application being unanimously refused by the full planning committee this year.

Finally, the National Planning Policy Framework states that any new residential development must respect the character and density of housing in the area and must be limited in quantity by the availability of infrastructure and local facilities. Clearly, this advice is being flagrantly disregarded by Guildford Borough Council with the current proposed local plan for west Horsley.

This current draught of the local plan is unrealistic and unsupportable and does not warrant the time and resources being spent on it.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Gosden Farm Hill development (A25) because the strategy for managing traffic to and from this site involves channelling road traffic via the A247 through West Clandon.

I am concerned that more weight should be given to the effect on the existing rural communities, including the local communities of West Clandon, Send and Ripley, with regard to:

1. the effect that increased motor traffic would have on these communities;
2. to the need that any development to existing rural communities should be proportionate to the size and nature of those existing rural communities and should preserve their rural character;
3. the need to maintain the Green Belt; and

West Clandon is a linear village stretching for approximately 3km or 2 miles from the current A3 Burnt Common southbound entrance slip-road, south along the A247 to the traffic lights at the junction with the A25/A246, just south of West Clandon church. West Clandon has a historic centre with a church, two pubs, a branch of the Royal British Legion, an infant school, an old people's home (Ashley Park), a recreation ground and Clandon Park (a historic National Trust property currently under reconstruction after being damaged by fire). West Clandon has a railway crossed by a hump-backed bridge and a railway station. The southern half of the village is in a conservation area. The village comprises approximately 500 homes.

The A247 through West Clandon, known as “The Street” or at the north end of the village “Clandon Road”, runs right the way through the village. In places it is narrow and winding with significant bends. There is a footpath only on one side and the road is so narrow that it is frequently mounted by lorries. There is a constant stream of broken wing-mirrors left behind as debris evidencing the narrowness of The Street at some sections. Within the last couple of years there has been at least one collision between a vehicle and a building (Summers Barn) at a narrow section. The A247 already has a disproportionate amount of traffic to cope with compared to neighbouring villages because it has a road crossing over (rather than under) the railway line.

Around 100 houses, businesses and amenities have an access directly onto The Street (or Clandon Road). Some of these have very limited visibility (lines of sight) of oncoming traffic in either direction, except through the use of mirrors. The approach road to West Clandon railway station and the Onslow Arms pub are two examples of entrances onto The Street with extremely limited visibility – in the case of the railway station because of the hump-backed bridge, and in the case of The Onslow Arms pub, because the pub building itself is situated on the road and obscures a clear view of traffic approaching from the north. Within the last two weeks there has been a road traffic accident outside The Onslow Arms with one of the vehicles ending up in the garden of Brownlow Cottage opposite the pub. Accidents and near-misses at the junction of Clandon station approach with The Street are extremely common and this is well-known as a dangerous junction with very limited visibility of traffic approaching from the north.

The danger of traffic in West Clandon not only affects vehicles but also pedestrians. The linear nature of the village, plus the fact that the road is only wide enough for a footpath on one side at various points, means that the frequency of passing vehicles can make it difficult for pedestrians to enter and exit some properties at busy times. The same limited visibility from some entrances of traffic on The Street that affects people leaving these properties by vehicle also affects pedestrians. This is particularly difficult for an elderly person or a child. If the volume of traffic increases, the situation will become worse.

The A247 splits the village of West Clandon in half. It divides the church on the west side of The Street from its car park on the east side of The Street. It has to be negotiated by elderly residents of the Ashley Park Care Home, children and parents dropping off or collecting from the Clandon Infant School, users of the two pubs on opposite sides of the road, the railway station, the Recreation Ground and The Royal British Legion.
If there is a higher volume of traffic (at whatever speed), it will be harder to find a gap in the traffic during busy times in order to safely cross The Street. A pedestrian crossing cannot be provided from every house or every business or amenity and there is insufficient room to allow footpaths to be built on both sides of The Street.

Users of several public footpaths crossing The Street, including one on a severe bend near the church, will be put at greater risk. The same is true for pedestrians crossing from the graveyard, Ashley Park old people's home or the church car park, all of which are on the east side of The Street, to the church side of the A247 which has the only pavement at that point.

The number of cyclists that use the A247 as a route to access The North Downs has increased massively following the well publicised use of cycle routes in this area during the Olympics and in national cycle events. The A247 is now a corridor for cyclists accessing the Downs from Woking and beyond. The winding and narrow nature of the A247 makes it difficult for other vehicles to overtake these cyclists. If the volume of traffic increases then this will only make this problem worse and lead to a higher risk of accidents as more vehicles try to overtake cyclists on narrow winding roads.

Many of the above concerns are specific to West Clandon because it is a linear village divided by the A247 which is narrow, winding and in places bordered by a footpath on only one side. Because it winds through the historic centre of West Clandon there is no possibility of the A247 being widened or of additional footpaths being provided alongside the road, or of improvements to visibility for entrances on to or off The Street. For all of these reasons I consider any significant increase in the volume of traffic on the A247 through West Clandon could have a seriously damaging impact on the quality of life of residents of West Clandon including the approximately 100 homes with entrances directly off The Street/Clandon Road, and on users of West Clandon's railway station, pubs, infant school, church, old people's home, Royal British Legion club, recreation ground and public footpaths.

I am concerned that the provision of 400 homes plus industrial, storage and distribution units at Garlick's Arch just to the north east of West Clandon, an additional entrance and exit to the A3 at Burnt Common, and 2000 homes at Godsen Hill Farm, will produce a much greater volume of traffic on the A247 through West Clandon, particularly at busy times. I OBJECT because I do not believe there has been a proper assessment of the likely impact of these three proposals on the volume of traffic though West Clandon and the effect that this will have on that community, or that any assessment has been properly taken into account. I OBJECT because a key consideration should be the effect on existing neighbouring communities, taking into account the specific circumstances of those communities. A key consideration for Policy 43a (New A3 slip-roads at Send-Marsh/Burnt Common), Policy 43 (Garlick's Arch) and Policy A25 (Godsen Hill Farm) should be the effect of the increased traffic that these policies and the Plan as a whole will have on the community of West Clandon and neighbouring communities of Ripley and Send.

Additionally the scale of the proposed developments in the vicinity of West Clandon are disproportionate to the size of the existing rural community.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) because it will further increase traffic on the A247. The site should not be promoted as a distribution hub.

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In particular I OBJECT to the proposal to create a 4-way junction with the A3 at Burnt Common/Send Marsh (site A43a). This will substantially increase traffic on the A247 through West Clandon. This is a narrow winding road with many bends affecting lines of sight with regard to vehicles emerging from entrances onto the A247 in West Clandon. Two examples are the junction between the 247 and Clandon station approach road, and the exit from the Onslow Arms, both of which are the sites of regular accidents and near-misses. The increased traffic will also impact pedestrians in West Clandon severely as there is only a footpath on one side of the road, pedestrians find it difficult to cross particularly where there is limited visibility, and lorries regularly mount the pavement to pass. The road is not capable of significant improvement because it is constrained by buildings.

I OBJECT to Policy A43a for the following reasons...

I OBJECT most strongly to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a). The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount.
the pavement. There is also very limited visibility from some houses, businesses and amenities for vehicles turning onto The Street or for pedestrians trying to cross The Street (e.g. Clandon railway station approach, Onslow Arms car park, Bull's Head car park, West Clandon church car park).

The A247 through West Clandon is a narrow winding road with many bends affecting lines of sight with regard to vehicles emerging from entrances onto the A247 in West Clandon. Two examples are the junction between the 247 and Clandon station approach road, and the exit from the Onslow Arms, both of which are the sites of regular accidents and near-misses. Vision at the junction with the station approach is obscured by the humped backed bridge. Vision at the Onslow Arms is obscured by the pub building being on the edge of the road. The increased traffic will also impact pedestrians in West Clandon severely as there is only a footpath on one side of the road, pedestrians find it difficult to cross particularly where there is limited visibility. This is a particular problem for elderly people and children. The road is not capable of significant improvement because it is constrained by buildings.

- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road
- July 2016 Collision outside Onslow Arms resulting in one vehicle ending up in garden of cottage opposite

Within the last two weeks there has been a road traffic accident outside The Onslow Arms with one of the vehicles ending up in the garden of Brownlow Cottage opposite the pub. On another occasion the gate post of the property next to the Onslow Arms has been damaged. Accidents and near-misses at the junction of Clandon station approach with The Street are extremely common and this is well-known as a dangerous junction with very limited visibility of traffic approaching from the north.

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

There is a constant stream of broken wing-mirrors left behind as debris evidencing the narrowness of the A247 at some sections. Within the last couple of years there has been at least one collision between a vehicle and a building (Summers Barn) at a narrow section. The A247 already has a disproportionate amount of traffic to cope with compared to neighbouring villages because it has a road crossing over (rather than under) the railway line.

Around 100 houses, businesses and amenities have an access directly onto The Street (or Clandon Road). Some of these have very limited visibility (lines of sight), except through the use of mirrors.

The danger of traffic in West Clandon not only affects vehicles but also pedestrians. The linear nature of the village, plus the fact that the road is only wide enough for a footpath on one side at various points, means that the frequency of passing vehicles can make it difficult for pedestrians to enter and exit some properties at busy times. This can be particularly difficult for an elderly person or a child. If the volume of traffic increases, the situation will become worse.

The A247 splits the village of West Clandon in half. It divides the church on the west side of The Street from its car park on the east side of The Street. It has to be negotiated by elderly residents of the Ashley Park Care Home, children and parents dropping off or collecting from the Clandon Infant School, users of the two pubs on opposite sides of the road, the railway station, the Recreation Ground and The Royal British Legion.

If there is a higher volume of traffic (at whatever speed), it will be harder to find a gap in the traffic during busy times in order to safely cross The Street. A pedestrian crossing cannot be provided from every house or every business or amenity and there is insufficient room to allow footpaths to be built on both sides of The Street.
The number of cyclists that use the A247 as a route to access The North Downs has increased massively following the well publicised use of cycle routes in this area during the Olympics and in national cycle events. The A247 is now a corridor for cyclists accessing the Downs from Woking and beyond. The winding and narrow nature of the A247 makes it difficult for other vehicles to overtake these cyclists. If the volume of traffic increases then this will only make this problem worse and lead to a higher risk of accidents as more vehicles try to overtake cyclists on narrow winding roads. Many of the above concerns are specific to West Clandon because it is a linear village divided by the A247 which is narrow, winding and in places bordered by a footpath on only one side. Because it winds through the historic centre of West Clandon there is no possibility of the A247 being widened or of additional footpaths being provided alongside the road, or of improvements to visibility for entrances on to or off The Street. For all of these reasons I consider any significant increase in the volume of traffic on the A247 through West Clandon could have a seriously damaging impact on the quality of life of residents of West Clandon including the approximately 100 homes with entrances directly off The Street/Clandon Road, and on users of West Clandon's railway station, pubs, infant school, church, old people's home, Royal British Legion club, recreation ground and public footpaths.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1).

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements. The bends and narrow width of the road in West Clandon make the road difficult to access from some of the 100 or so houses, businesses and amenities with entrances onto the road (e.g. Onslow Arms pub, Clandon railway station). The same difficulty is experienced by pedestrians and the fact that there is only a footpath on one side of the road makes it impossible to improve safety for pedestrians crossing the road in many places. These problems will become worse with increased traffic.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2).

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2).

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The road infrastructure in West Clandon has the added disadvantage that West Clandon is a linear village and the road through it is narrow in places with many bends and poor visibility for access for pedestrians and vehicles alike. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area. which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Gosden Hill development of 1700 houses. Reference to a potential link road from the development to the A247. The clear implication is for an access from the development to the A247 with enormous traffic implications for the A247.
2. South bound off- and on- slip roads to service the development and replace the existing off- slip road to Burpham. The only North bound access to the A3 will be via the existing slip road off Clay Lane. (See later, Burnt Common).
3. A 4-entry form secondary school, a primary school, a retail centre and a park and ride for up to 700 cars.
4. When developed, the new employment site at the north side of Gosden Hill Farm (site allocation A25) will be treated as an Office and Research & Development Strategic Employment Site (7000sq.m). This could mean several hundred employees.
5. The development of this site will cause massive congestion in surrounding roads. It will generate many thousands of vehicle movements onto the A3 which is already at a crawl every day during peak periods.
6. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. The proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress.
8. The A247 through West Clandon is not suited to cope with additional traffic for reasons including: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume.
(and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

9. The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

10. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too many.

11. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

12. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of Green Belt.

13. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.

14. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

15. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion on surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3. The A3 is at a crawl every day during peak periods, and often at weekends as well. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

16. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress.

17. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

18. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
• The Wisley development of a new village / town with at least 2000 houses, 4-entry form secondary school and employment land. The development does not meet the NPPF requirement, namely that developments that generate significant movement will be located where the need to travel will be minimised and the use of sustainable transport modes can be maximised. The provision of slip roads at the A3/A247 junction to relieve the impact of this development on Ripley will have potentially severe effects on the A247.

• My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):

Policy A43a BURNT COMMON SLIP ROADS – My Objections

50) Provision of a northbound on-slip road and a southbound off-slip road to the A3 to join the A247. These are stated to be required to relieve Ripley from the effects of the development of Wisley. It is not clear how this would work unless traffic from Wisley wishing to go south either goes up to the A3/M25 roundabout and comes back down the A3 or (as is claimed by the promoters of the Wisley development), direct access to the A3 southbound is provided at Wisley/Ockham. In either case, slip roads at the A247 seem unnecessary. It is more likely that these slip roads are intended to provide access to the Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments. The slip roads will have the effect of creating an all-ways junction with the A3 at Burnt Common making it a centre for future development and a traffic magnet with clear implications for the A247.

51) If a 4-way junction for the A3 is deemed necessary, the logical place for it would be somewhere else, where it could enable an additional bridge to be created over the Guildford to Waterloo railway line to relieve the narrow A247 and its hump backed bridge from carrying all the north-south heavy traffic which cannot, or chooses not to, pass under the other existing railway bridges.

52) My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.

53) The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

54) The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion, difficulty for people in cars and on foot wishing to move about the village of West Clandon and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

55) I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day.

56) The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

57) The proposed developments will make it even more difficult for pedestrians to move around West Clandon village crossing from one side of the road to the other, bearing in mind that many properties can only access a footpath by crossing the A247.

58) The proposed plans will make it more difficult for vehicles to exit on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road, particularly in the narrow and winding section of the A247 between Clandon railway station and the A247/A25 crossroads. Many public and private properties on this section of the road have poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station.

59) Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village of West Clandon on the way to the Surrey Hills for the Olympic and the Prudential Ride London route. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local Plan.

- Burnt Common strategic industrial employment site for light industry, storage and distribution activities. - I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site.

- This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.

- The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.

- There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”

- There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.

- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over-allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.

- The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607 sq.m. of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750 sq.m. of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357 sq.m. in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

- 38,357 sq. m. of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. If you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq. m. approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
• The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357 sq.m.
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
• It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
• The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
• The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
• The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. Residents are being asked to accept very large amounts of development with little or no detail being provided on measures which would relieve existing congestion and limit future
2. Much is made of the need for new infrastructure to support developments and for this to be in place as needed (listed in Appx. C to the Plan). Even if this happens the Plan admits …”we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes”, This will be most acutely felt at junctions but these effects have apparently not been analysed so that we don’t know the location or impact.
3. We can be sure however that the cumulative effects of the developments in the north east of Guildford will have a devastating impact on the A247 through the village of West Clandon (and of course on Send). It is hard to see how any of the infrastructure proposals in the Plan (Appx. C) will do anything to mitigate this impact. GBC has little or no control over the plans of Surrey County Council as the local highways authority and it is freely admitted by SCC that they have little money available.
4. The Plan now calls for nearly all infrastructure to be funded by developers (see C). I question how realistic it is to expect developers not only to pay for all the infrastructure but also to have it in place in a timely fashion. The Plan says that planning permission will be refused if timely provision of infrastructure cannot be secured. Such refusals will almost certainly be challenged in the courts. Developers’ business models are based on building and selling houses to create the cash required to provide infrastructure. People will be living on the sites well before infrastructure is complete, even assuming there are funds to provide it.
5. If development were to be refused the land would still have been removed from the Green Belt and its future rendered uncertain.
6. All of these developments will draw very large amounts of additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:
- children from elsewhere being delivered to Gosden Hill schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities
- traffic from Wisley wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel south and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the south and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)
- SCC’s business plan for Newlands Corner

I would like to point out that although the A247 is classified as an A road, it has none of the characteristics because it:
- is less than 2 vehicles wide in places. Larger vehicles routinely mount the only pavement.
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has a footpath only on one side of the road in long sections, including sections with pub, care home and church car park
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge over the railway, with poor sight lines
- has other entrances with poor sight lines (eg Onslow Arms, church car park)
- has a dangerous junction to access the station
- has a dangerous and unlit junction with the southbound A3 on-slip road
- has a primary school accessed by narrow pavements
- is largely unlit
- is already very congested at times, more so when delays on the A3 are severe

The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (i) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

In summary, the A247 is quite unsuited to coping with additional traffic and it is very clear that the developments proposed in the 2017 Local Plan will increase the amount of traffic on this road over and above that in the 2016 draft to which residents strongly objected. There is nothing in the Infrastructure Schedule which addresses this issue. Indeed several of the infrastructure proposals will themselves lead to significant increases in traffic on the A247.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
• Some 295 houses in various smaller developments in West Horsley, 100 in Send and 15 in Ripley. These will generate traffic on the A247 to access the A3.
• My objections to increased traffic on the A247 through West Clandon are outlined more fully elsewhere but include: (i) although notionally an A-road the A247 is narrow and winding in parts and is most unsuited to carrying additional traffic, (ii) the A247 has a single non-continuous footpath in several sections, (iii) a care home, a church car park and a pub, as well as very many houses, are located on the opposite side of the road to the only footpath, making pedestrian access difficult for people moving about the village on foot, especially for elderly and disabled people; (iv) the railway station and other commercial and residential properties have poor sight lines for access onto the A247 and difficulties in accessing the A247 from these properties will be exacerbated by increased traffic volume (and fewer “gaps” between cars); (v) the A247 is popular with cyclists and because of its narrow and winding nature the potential for accidents that additional traffic will cause is clear.
• The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as:
(I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass;
(iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

All of these developments will draw additional traffic to the A247 through the village. It would be naïve to think that the employment sites and schools will serve only the developments themselves. Apart from the normal movements of residents to and from the new sites there will be considerable additional traffic on the A247 generated by:

- children from elsewhere being delivered to schools and collected
- the employees of the offices and industrial sites getting to work and returning home
- the vehicle movements generated by distribution and storage activities

- traffic from Gosden Hill wishing to travel south and returning
- traffic from Slyfield wishing to travel south and returning
- private and commercial traffic originating in the south and accessing Gosden Hill, Burnt Common or the A3 and returning (including traffic from Dunsfold)

The A247 although an A road:

- is less than 2 vehicle wide in places. Larger vehicles routinely mount the (only) pavement to pass one another in the narrow sections.
- does not have continuous footpaths
- has a footpath only on one side of the road in long sections, including sections with pub, care home and church car park
- has several sharp bends
- has a hump-backed bridge with poor sight lines
- has other entrances with poor sight lines (e.g., Onslow Arms, church car park)
- has a very difficult junction to access the station
- is largely unlit
- has a primary school
- is already very congested at times, more so when delays on the A3 are severe, which is common in the evening rush hours (4pm to 6:30pm) and summer weekends
- cuts through the Conservation Area of West Clandon within which 19 listed buildings are located with road frontage. A further 9 listed buildings are located on the A247 in West Clandon north of the Conservation Area.

The A247 is in reality a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside “Summers” which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolition of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over, i.e. without a height restriction, the Guildford to Waterloo railway, north east of Guildford, which doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre and is already busy.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
The Local Plan is not sound.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

1. The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness on the part of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and will bring increasing traffic congestion, pressure on other infrastructure, noise and pollution and a reduction in the quality of life of residents.

2. The Plan does not consider the implications of Surrey County Council’s (SCC) business plan for Newlands Corner to attract 100,000 more visitors a year. A significant proportion of these can be expected to use the already over-burdened A247 through West Clandon.

3. The Plan does not consider the Waverley Borough Council’s approval for the development of 1,800 homes at Dunsfold. This has the potential to feed traffic, which is trying to avoid congestion around Guildford, onto the over-burdened A247 to access the A3.

4. Changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate the problems (particularly of traffic and congestion) raised in residents’ previous responses. Indeed it is now clear that the problems will be made much worse. There do not appear to be any changes which would be of benefit to the Clandons and indeed the cumulative effect of what is in the Plan and some external factors not in the Plan will have a much worse impact on the A247 through West Clandon and Send than the 2016 draft. Note that the A247 is the only road over, i.e. without a height restriction, the Guildford to Waterloo railway, north east of Guildford, which doesn’t involve travelling through the town centre and for this reason it is already busy.

5. The A247 may be an A-road on the map but in reality it is a residential road with numerous bends, narrow sections and side-entrances. The changes to the Plan have done nothing to alleviate, and the cumulative effects have likely increased, traffic on the A247. The road through West Clandon already has numerous accident black spots, such as: (I) the exit from Clandon station which has extremely poor sight lines due to a humped back bridge where numerous accidents have occurred; (ii) the exit from the Onslow Arms pub which is almost blind due to the pub building being adjacent the road - a vehicle has recently ended up in the garden of the cottage opposite; (iii) the narrow section outside ‘Summers’ which is regularly littered with the wing mirrors of cars which have made contact, as well as being a dangerous area for pedestrians due to vehicles mounting the pavement to try to pass; (iv) the winding section outside Clandon Regis and near the primary school which regularly suffers from demolision of gate posts and fences as vehicles leave the road; (v) the bend near West Clandon church which has seen damage caused to the flint wall in recent years.

6. Difficulties will be caused to residents and visitors to West Clandon and its businesses as they seek to turn on to the A247 from the numerous entrances along the road. If traffic on the A247 was to increase substantially, which seems to be the intention behind the Plan, then this has the potential to create serious difficulties for people accessing the A247 from these side-entrances, whether in a vehicle or on foot. Between Clandon railway station and the crossroads at the A247/A25 junction there are many public and private properties with poor sight lines, including the Onslow Arms, West Clandon Church car park, Ashley Park care home, Clandon railway station (poor sight lines due to humped back bridge, buildings on the edge of the road and entrances being close to bends). This is a problem arising from volume of traffic and insufficient gaps to allow safe egress onto the A247.

7. The Plan does not address the difficulties of pedestrians either walking on narrow parts of the A247 where lorries habitually mount the pavement, or for pedestrians wishing to cross the A247 in the village of West Clandon. Elderly and disabled residents would become increasingly cut-off and isolated by increasing traffic. There would be increased difficulties for pedestrians accessing the Onslow Arms pub, Ashley Park care home, West Clandon Church car park and Clandon railway station (when accessed from the south) – all of which are at parts of the A247 with a pavement only on the opposite side of the road. To access these places on foot (the railway station from the south) it is necessary to cross the A247. The village of West Clandon does not and cannot have a footpath on both sides of the street in all sections. There are bends, buildings and a humped back bridge which create poor sight lines in several areas. For these reasons, the increased problems for pedestrians cannot be addressed by pedestrian crossings, which would in any case slow down traffic.

I strongly object to the proposed plans.

There is no exceptional circumstance that has been demonstrated to require Horsley to be removed from the green belt.

Extension of the boundary area of horsley is being attempted with no sound reason for this action.

The local infrastructure is overstretched and the enormity of the proposed developments are infeasible. Projecting a potential future of poorer and few resources for those living in the area.

Secondly, I was amazed to discover that 45 houses are being proposed at Clockbarn Nursery in Tannery Lane and object to this build. Tannery Lane is so narrow and is predominantly a one car lane that will not allow for, and support increased traffic flow. Access is difficult enough as it is and hazardous at the Send junction!

I object to the building of 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick's Arch opposite Send Marsh Road. I feel it would impact on nature in the woodland. Again the road infrastructure and increased volume of traffic would not be acceptable and the impact on local services, which are struggling to cope as it is, would be unacceptable.

Lastly I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. The significant amount of increased traffic would be detrimental to Send. Send Road is already under strain from the volume of traffic and is often gridlocked. It doesn't cope well as it is! Noise and pollution levels would further increase and would have a negative impact on the area.

Being a resident of Send Hill, I object to the proposal of building 40 houses and 2 traveller pitches at the end of my road. First and foremost the one car, single lane country lane at the end of my road is totally inappropriate and insufficient and does not provide sufficient access. I use the road daily at all times of the day and am 9 times out of ten forever reversing back up the road and squashing my car into bushes to allow a car to pass. The volume of traffic is at peak as it is, as much traffic comes off the A3 Slip Road down Send Hill. The increased flow of traffic would also have an adverse impact on street parking. Send Hill is already congested enough at school run times and is hard enough trying to get through the road both ends! The proposed site also contains unsafe landfill waste and it would impact significantly on the nature reverse. Not to mention the impact on local services - you can't even get a same day appointment as it is at the Doctor's surgery!

As a resident of Send Hill having lived here for 13 years, I feel the need to write to you about the proposed development currently being considered in Send.

First and foremost I was shocked, and object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt, I was under the impression that this was always intended to be permanent and do not see any justification in removing it. Send is of significant importance as it acts as a conduit between Woking and Guildford. I feel totally let down upon hearing this as local councilors and the government had promised to protect our Green Belt, and this will clearly open the floodgate for developers to build in the area to saturation point if it goes ahead putting pressure on infrastructure, services, loss of nature etc

I write with my comments and objections to Guildford Borough Council’s Local Plan and request that the Planning Inspector reads this email and is shown these comments so they are taken into account during the decision process. I also request that I receive confirmation reply that this email has been received and read by those with the authority and responsibility to do so.

I also request that these comments are not merely read thoroughly, but also listened to, heard and taken into account as with all the objections from other residents who have taken the time to write to you as you have requested them to do. Finally, that answers are respectfully given to the questions posed below.

I object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt

- As I understand it, the Green Belt was intended to be permanent and required by the National Planning Policy Framework whereby no special circumstances to justify abandoning it could exist. I have been informed that historically local councillors and central government gave clear election promise to protect the Green Belt, so to change this clearly reneges on those promises. Where is the integrity in that? How do you imagine this builds honest partnership with the people who elect you from these communities and trust you to do good for this country?

I object to the building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery

- There is clearly inadequate access for such potential traffic volumes. Tannery Lane is a country lane – the clue is in the name, it’s a lane – and it is absurd to think this road, plus access and exit can cope with such an influx of traffic both during the construction phase and after completion, especially when planning permission has previously been given for 64 apartments at the Tannery and for building the Marina.
- Access onto Send Road from any access point is already hazardous too and this will only exacerbate the situation further.
- Send Road is already too overwhelmed with traffic as a busy cut through from Woking to the A3/Guildford/M25 and reverse – it cannot cope in its current state, so why overload it in this way?
I object to the building of 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch

• I have been advised that this site is subject to flooding so it does not seem an appropriate site itself, nor for the immediate surrounding area
• Also this site is deemed to be of ancient woodland. Our historical woodland is part of the rich history of this great country – I absolutely object to our history and living breathing nature being torn down and destroyed for the sake of more human greed and consumption. Surely there is space at Slyfield for further industrial expansion in an appropriate environment, where it would not impact negatively on ancient woodland and village life?
• This location is also opposite Send Marsh Road, which would likely become a cut through for those heading to Woking on the A247. Already this road is full of pot holes and unsuitable for increases in traffic volume which would be inevitable. The infrastructure is not in place and I absolutely object to this site as part of the Local Plan.

I object to the new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common

• Send would have to take the traffic from the proposed 2000 new houses at Wisley Airfield, 2000 houses at Gosden Hill, Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm. How on earth does Guildford Borough Council think Send can take this? It is not feasible. As previously stated, Send Road is already too overwhelmed with traffic as a busy cut through from Woking to the A3/Guildford/M25 – it cannot cope in its current state, let alone take any further influx during development, construction, completion, nor post phases.
• I also object because this would further worsen the already excessive noise and pollution levels to the village of Send.

I object to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill

• I have been advised the subsoil of the proposed site contains documented unsafe landfill. It is irresponsible of GBC to even consider putting housing on such land and people’s lives at risk – I absolutely object to this.
• Access to the school is on Send Hill, already traffic is overloaded on this road at drop off and collection times. It is also often used as a cut through when there accidents on the northbound A3 – of which happens frequently. Once again the roads cannot take any further increase in traffic, not to mention the additional noise and pollution.
• Additionally this could give rise to making our children more vulnerable to traffic accidents and this is totally unacceptable.

I also object on the following points:-

• I object on the basis that it seems insufficient consideration has been given in general to the infrastructure needs for our villages and the matrix of roads/lanes connecting them.
• I object because I don’t see any provision for increase in bus services to the villages – something our elderly and disabled population would highly benefit from now let alone without further development.
• I object because there seems to be insufficient consideration to the amount of school places required to cater for the influx in housing planned, places and teaching staff currently available and the wide gap between these two figures. George Abbott is a bus ride away – what provisions for secondary school places are being given the go ahead for more locally?
• I object because there seems to be little consideration to the fact that crime may increase with the increase in homes planned – what provision and budget for crime prevention has been made?
• I object because there doesn’t seem to be any increase in funds for fire services.
• I object because what provisions have been made for the increase in demand for health services? The Villages Medical Centre is already overwhelmed and it can take at least a week before being able to see a doctor when trying to make an appointment. This is unacceptable in its current state let alone without further homes being developed in the area.
• Along Send Road (A247) there is a primary and junior school, there is also a playground. Why is Guildford Borough Council willing to make our children more vulnerable by seeking to increase traffic along the A247?

Questions which I believe remain unanswered to the community of Send and the surrounding villages follow:-
• How is the budgeted £150,000 per annum over the next 10 years for the development of the A247 between Woking and I assume the A3 (although could extend further??) deemed sufficient to satisfy the needs in regard to development programmes planned by Guildford Borough Council?

Ø At the last consultation meeting in Send the council representative in charge of infrastructure couldn’t even answer how that £150,000 per annum would be allocated and spent, nor had he even liaised with his counterpart at Woking Borough Council which he admitted during the open forum of the meeting. This seems ludicrous and utterly irresponsible when traffic on the A247 will affect and be affected by traffic flows linked to Woking. See above the proposed amount of houses proposed around Send and it doesn’t take someone even with GCSE maths to work out that is almost 6.5k homes, conservatively there will be 1.5 cars per home and that equates to nearly 10,000 additional cars on our tired roads on a daily basis, solely in this small area. That doesn’t even include visiting/travelling through/industrial traffic. THE INFRASTRUCTURE CAN’T TAKE IT AND WHAT WILL £150K PER ANNUM DO FOR THE SIMPLE A247 – NOT ENOUGH!

• How are the current deficiencies in infrastructure eg road repairs, funding for schools, health professionals, etc going to be addressed before any further housing development is given the go ahead in the area?

• What impact is Brexit imposing on the Local Plan – will the needs change with the changes that are inevitable because of Brexit? What directive has come out from the new National Government re the Local Plan and are these being taken into account?

• Why is 70% of the Green Belt in this area being targeted yet only 30% of Brownfield sites?

• Why is Guildford Borough Council including Send Hill in the proposal and therefore willing to build on unsafe landfill which could potentially put people’s lives at risk?

• Why is Guildford Borough Council prepared and willing to put children’s lives at potential risk by increasing traffic flow by the schools plus recreation ground, without including risk assessment and assurance to prevent this?

• Why will Guildford Borough Council not disclose their calculations for the area’s housing requirements to the public? What are they?

• Why will Guildford Borough Council not disclose the names of development investors to the public? Who are they?

• What provisions and budgets will be granted for services in the community including increases in policing, fire, medical and overall health services?

• How was it possible for the Garlick’s Arch proposal to be included in the latest Local Plan when it had not even feature as part of the previous one – how did this come on to the table and when, at what hour was it brought into the fold and how was it approved as a potential site?

• As the Garlick’s Arch site is subject to flooding - what will the knock on effects to others be eg in Send Marsh?

• What surveys have been and will be done to ensure endangered species of wildlife will not be disturbed and affected, but instead protected as their rights state?

• What surveys have been and will be carried out to ensure ancient trees and land is not destroyed and affected, but instead preserved?

• How does Guildford Borough Council’s plans dove tail with Surrey County Council’s, including highway planning, infrastructure, healthcare, schooling, policing, etc?

I request that satisfactory answers/solutions be provided and demonstrated to the community re these outstanding questions and I look forward to receiving them myself too by return email – thank you.

It only leaves me to say that decent human beings just want to live peacefully and quietly in these villages. Many have worked hard all their lives and contributed greatly in many ways including financially to the good of this country. I was already aware, but really noticed at the last consultation meeting in Send that many of the community are elderly in this village and will have undergone deep sacrifice through war years to survive and hold their lives together – something many of us will not even be able to comprehend. I request that whoever holds the decision on the planning matters truly considers this with their heart.

Receive money from overseas greedy developers who’s primary benefit is themselves, whilst they care little for the impact their greed has on our communities and daily existence. Or choose less greed, less wanting and instead support the great people of this country who have endured hardship and now are just choosing peacefulness and the ability to survive a crazy busy nonsense world. I’m a 46 year old woman also just trying to survive this crazy world and I just want to live peacefully and quietly in the village Send is. We can all do with less and we can all do with going at a slower pace, leading simpler lives – it’s not all about the next best new thing or bowing to what others think we need.

Thank you for taking the time to read this and all other objections and comments submitted. The community you have requested comment from has taken the time to respond, I hope this will be listened to, heard, authentically and respectfully taken into account, and that action is then taken in a manner which upholds our great British values including integrity, honesty, fairness and that living in a democracy benefits those who live in these communities day in day out, not the greed of a small few.

“On most local roads in the urban areas and in the villages there is at least one footway, and usually two.”

This is normal, but implies that there is no problem with footways. This is not true. They are not maintained, most curbing is now ineffective, and they are often too narrow – a problem aggravated by frontagers allowing hedges to encroach across much of the footway. We suggest this sentence is removed.

This is also incorrect. There are some light controlled crossings, but not a single pedestrian priority crossing in the town. Many crossings at places indicated by dropped curbs and tactile paving are actually dangerous. Suggest replace “commonplace” by needed.

“To achieve this we will support...proposals which promote greater use of the River Wey as a leisure and recreational resource without harming local biodiversity or water quality”. Add to this “and which do not degrade the natural and historic character of the riverside”. The Wey is a small navigable river, more akin to a canal, and therefore limited in its leisure potential mainly to walking, cycling, and enjoyment of nature. Other leisure developments are acceptable providing they do not remove the band of green riverside.

We will also take opportunities to reconnect the town centre to the amenity of the riverside”. This implies that the town centre is disconnected from the riverside, which is not true. The High Street is the historic, retail and service centre of the town, the main attraction for visitors, and the “brand” for the town. Its connection with the riverside, via the clearly visible pedestrianised and historic town bridge, could hardly be bettered. We ask that “reconnect” be replaced with improve the connection of.

Policy E7. “41,000 sq m (gross) of additional comparison goods floorspace on the North Street regeneration site”.

As comment on P22 we consider this still to be too large.

Policy E7. “approximately 1,300 new homes”.

While we welcome the provision of some new homes in the town centre we consider this target too high, particularly because of the need to provide much new infrastructure to support it. We ask for the target to be reduced.

Monitoring indicator, 41,000sqm retail.

As P94, we consider this much too high, and unsupported by current predictions.

P37. “A flexible housing stock will help meet the wide range of accommodation needs ...”. The balance of house sizes required is being disturbed by excessive extensions that create overlarge properties. We ask that a clause be added: Large extensions will be refused if they would remove homes from the size groups in most demand.

P43. “Monitoring indicators - Permissions granted for different size and types of housing compared to the identified mix in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment”.

This must include extensions that increase the number of bedrooms in a house, if overall control is to be achieved.

P129. (4) In terms of vehicular parking for new developments:

(a) in Controlled Parking Zones, or component areas thereof, in which the demand for on-street parking by residents of existing dwellings and, where allowed, ‘pay and display’ visitor parking exceeds the supply of designated on-street parking spaces, planning permission for new residential development resulting in a net increase in dwellings will be subject to a planning obligation to require that future occupants will not be eligible for on-street residents parking permits, with the exception of disabled people who will be eligible. We welcome this action to restrict residents parking permits. However we ask that no permits are issued in established residential areas for new dwellings, irrespective of the perceived demand; experience has shown that in most areas the demand is already too much.

P129. “(6) The provision and/or improvement of a car club by a new development will be supported if appropriate.”

Car clubs clearly support reduced car use, by their “pay as you go” system. We ask that the qualification “if appropriate” be deleted.

P130. “(11) The provision of additional public off-street car parking in Guildford town centre will be supported when it facilitates the interception of trips that would otherwise drive through the Guildford gyratory.”

We ask that this be reworded: that would otherwise drive through the town centre or surrounding residential areas. “Rat runs” are increasingly a problem along narrow residential roads, and create safety risks; problems are not limited to the gyratory.

P133. “Monitoring Indicators...Walking, cycling, bus and rail modal share for travel to work journey of Guildford borough residents”.

It is known that a significant proportion of the congestion traffic is caused by children being taken to schools around the centre, and that some are from outside Guildford. We suggest reword as “….for travel to work and school.”

P21. We welcome the reduction in housing numbers, but consider the target to be still too high and unsupported by evidence. We support the analysis provided by Guildford Residents Association, of which our Group is a member.

P22. We welcome the small reduction in the North Street redevelopment retail to 41,000sqm and the increase in dwellings from 200 to 400. However we consider the retail component still much too large, and not supported by current predictions. It would result in retail business being drawn away from the existing centre and its decline; the present town centre is what makes Guildford distinctive and attractive and it must remain vibrant. The increase in food/drink from 3,000 to 6,000sqm is also too large and will have a similar effect; taking account of all these changes there appears to be an increase of total floor area of around 9,000 sqm. for this site. The changes will result in a substantial increase in the amount of building demanded on this site; it will be so cramped that it will be impossible to achieve the quality development required. We ask that the total space requirement be reduced.

18. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed.

There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant... infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

14. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day. Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km. Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/ Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site. The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace at Garlick’s Arch – Site A43 (Policy E2)

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch, when just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
15. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

16. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.
Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house). I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

13. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

19. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

11. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

12. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

3. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.
Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

4. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough. The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Infrastructure: The large number of proposed homes would have a significant impact on the need for road capacity. Burpham already is often swamped by traffic because of blockages on the A3. New roads would be needed on the proposed development sites but the Plan contains no provision for improvements to the A3 or local roads. Development on the Gosden Hill site, for example, would require major drainage provision for which no proposals are given. It would be a major flaw to permit development of the proposed sites without first settling on improvements to the A3, preferably by tunnelling under Guildford.

I object to Guildford Borough Council’s Draft Local Plan, June 2016. From consultation with others I have concluded that the Plan is unsound and unsustainable. My objections mainly relate to Housing Numbers, Infrastructure and Green Belt issues.

Housing: There is lack of evidence to support the alleged need for 693 new homes annually; double the previously quoted calculation and significantly higher than another independent estimate which I am aware of. That would mean about 40% of the total increase being built within a small radius of Burpham where I live. This, I believe, is disproportionately high.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Despite the changes made to the latest plan I am confident that the 20,000 comments made on the previous plan will still be considered and not ignored.

This is especially important as:

- While the numbers of homes to be built has been reduced there is still no evidence to back-up how the figure has been agreed
- The need for Green Belt protection from over development, merging of villages remains – there should be no changes to this policy
- The requirement for infrastructure to be committed before building must be ratified

It was heartening to hear Mr Gove in a speech on 20 July, as Environment Secretary state he has ‘no intention of weakening environmental protections put in place while in the EU’. He even said he wanted post-Brexit UK to be a ‘a setter of gold standards for protecting our natural world.’

My comments for the Regulation 19 Consultation are:

- Removal of sites Policies 46 / 47
- Change to the Green Belt coverage of Normandy and Flexford
- Infrastructure improvements
- Traveller sites in Normandy and Flexford

Removal of sites Policies 46/47

I am naturally pleased that common sense has prevailed – not to double the size of Normandy and Flexford by building 1,100 houses and a school in our precious Green Belt: it’s the wrong place, fed by country lanes, with dangerous railway bridges, is a floodplain and also… Green Belt!

So I support this changes to the plan.

I do hope that the GBC do not go back on this by allowing greedy developers in through the back-door to propose any level of development or to remove Green Belt cover in the future.

Change to the Green Belt coverage of Normandy and Flexford

I am not clear why GBC have ignored the policy of the Green Belt and seem keen to try to find ‘exceptional circumstances’ where it can to build its unsubstantiated housing target.

I object to the change in the plan to remove the Green Belt coverage in settlements in Normandy, Flexford and Walden Cottages marked on the maps in Appendix H. There is no evidence to prove why these random areas have been selected as all contribute, as do the settlement areas not selected, to the openness of the Green Belt and no ‘exceptional circumstances’ have been proved. This openness has in fact been stated by the planning inspectorate in previous planning appeals. The area around these selected settlements do also contribute to the rural economy. They also are close enough to the Surrey Hills ANOB given the geography of the land allowing views that fulfil the Green Belt obligations. The area has already been identified as one of ‘high sensitivity’ yet that doesn’t seem to count when this insetting has been proposed. If this was allowed to happen then there will be pressure in the future to join up the resultant ‘urban islands’ into a wider urban area.

The Green Belt was created to prevent urban sprawl and should be permanently protected.

I also object to the statement under Green Belt Policy P2 (4.3.13) that claims Normandy and Flexford (and many other villages) are now inset from the Green Belt. Its in the Plan to do that very thing - so cannot be right. I also object to any of these villages being changed to be inset from the Green Belt.

Infrastructure improvements

With all the current development and proposed around the area – especially in the sacrificial lamb Ash – the pressure on roads, Doctors etc will only get worse.

It is vital that the infrastructure is agreed and implemented before any large scale development takes place.

The most key are LRN17 Puttenham Hill/A31, LRN24 A323/324 Junction and LNR21 Ash Railway Station flyover and I support the plans - although the ‘likely cost and funding source’ don’t appear to be very robust.

Traveller Sites in Normandy and Flexford

Like the settlement areas in Normandy, Flexford and Walden Cottages, the sites at Palm House Nurseries (Policy 49) and Whittles Drive (Policy A50) are proposed to be inset.

I object to this as it will remove the development restrictions in an area sensitive to residents in the village of Normandy and Flexford and no evidence has been provided for ‘exceptional circumstances’. I can foresee that it will result in even less respect for the planning law.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley North

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As a resident of West Horsley for over 25 years and having now lived in East Horsley for 6 years, I am writing to object strongly to the draft local plan for the following reasons:

GBC has failed to disclose how they arrived at the number of homes needed. Two separate investigations have worked on the figures and shown the number of homes (13,860) to be in excess of the number apparently needed.

I object to a plan which proposes that over 65% of these new houses should be built on Green Belt land. There is a great deal of brown field land that could be used in the Guildford urban area, some of which I understand you propose to reserve for office, retail and industrial use, but obviously developers prefer to start on virgin Green Belt land.

I object to the removal of West and East Horsley from the Green Belt by “insetting” and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries for no apparent and justifiable reason.

I object to the removal of 12 other villages from the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been identified by GBC that would allow allow the use of Green Belt land for a large amount of house building.

I object to the number, density and sustainability of new housing in The Horsleys. Most of the roads in The Horsleys are narrow, many have no pavements. I frequently have to stop and reverse to allow a bus or lorry to pass, or mount the pavement where there is one. When two lorries meet, it often creates a traffic jam, as they struggle to pass one another. This is especially the case in Ockham Road South. Our roads are narrow, rural roads, which cannot be widened and it will surely not be long before a pedestrian is injured by a car or lorry mounting the pavement.

Neither West nor East Horsley offers the prospect of employment, therefore the occupants of these proposed new houses will need to drive or take the train, mainly one assumes to London or Guildford. This will result in many more vehicles on the roads, adding to air pollution. Moreover, by mid morning each weekday, the Horsley Station Car Park is usually completely full, so that parking will become impossible for many of those wishing to commute to London. The Proposed Local Plan makes no provision for additional parking at Horsley or Effingham Junction, nor is there any room for such. Neither does it make any attempt to ease the already severe congestion on the A3 and M25.

GBC apparently voted unanimously against the large scale development on land at the former Wisley Airfield site, yet it remains in the Local Plan. If these houses are built, the parking facilities at Horsley and Effingham stations will be completely overwhelmed and there will be severe congestion from cars attempting to drop off and pick up commuters.

Already, it can be very difficult to park in East Horsley in order to shop, visit the hairdresser or borrow a book from the Library. East Horsley Village Hall has insufficient parking when there is a big meeting in the hall, so all available parking in the village is used by those attending.

It is already impossible to park at the Medical Centre at busy times, so where will all the proposed new residents park and, given how busy our doctors are now, how will it be possible to provide for the vastly greater number of appointments that will be needed to serve a much enlarged population?

I object to the fact that East, and particularly West Horsley, are being asked to take a far greater number of new houses in proportion to the existing number of houses than anywhere else in the borough. Moreover the proposed density of houses planned is far greater than the density of existing housing in the villages.
I object, as stated earlier, to the fact that The Horsleys and 12 other villages are being insetted from the Green Belt, while in Ash and Tongham, new Green Belt is to be created. There is surely more employment opportunity in that part of Guildford Borough.

The Horsleys are attractive to developers because they are such lovely villages to live in. Although a proportion of these houses are supposed to be affordable homes, it is difficult to discover what the cost of an affordable home in The Horsleys would be. There is undoubtedly a need for a small number of smaller homes for local downsizers and young people wishing to stay in or return to their home village. This was established in a survey carried out by West Horsley Parish Council in 2014. Nevertheless, it is unlikely that the demand would be great or the price low enough. If developers can show that there is insufficient demand for affordable homes, they are then allowed to opt out and build expensive and more profitable homes instead. That is the attraction of building houses in The Horsleys, rather than in the urban area or on the other side of the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Over 65% of the proposed housing is planned for land currently in the Green Belt. The Government has stated that housing need is not a reason for protected Green Belt Land being used to provide it.

In conclusion, I object to the Local Plan as it seeks to remove the Green Belt from our villages and places a far greater housing burden on West Horsley proportionate to the current number of houses, than anywhere else in the borough. It provides for no additional infrastructure or facilities and is largely a developers’ charter.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We consider that there is no objectively assessed need for housing yet established, since the figure used is based on a Strategic Housing Market Assessment that is not transparent in its methodology. Whilst the document has been produced externally to the Council, by established practitioners in the field, and claims to have produced a measure of the “objectively assessed needs” we understand that the methodology used by them is (still) being claimed to be confidential. With the lack of opportunity for peer review of the process, let alone public examination of it, the document and its conclusions cannot be considered to be “objective”. Any plan based on this must be considered to be unsound.

In general there are areas of great concern, for example the delays in providing the necessary infrastructure before any increase in housebuilding (congestion on the A3 is not being addressed until well over 5 years time). Public transport solutions would, however, be far more sustainable than proposals to keep upgrading the A3, which are likely to have limited benefits. There do not seem to be co-ordinated plans for improving air quality, reducing CO2 emissions or preventing biodiversity loss. These sections need to move beyond platitudes. The big increase proposed in retail space is also a negative aspect.

Whilst there are good aspects of the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 we consider it to be deeply flawed in critical areas, detailed below. Since so much of the Plan flows from these flawed origins we are not commenting on the detail of the Plan.

We consider the Draft Local Plan is unsound since it fails to recognise the constraints placed on the objectively assessed needs for housing by the Green Belt. It is quite clear in the government guidance on the NPPF that objectively assessed needs are constrained by designations such as the Green Belt.

“The Framework is clear that local planning authorities should, through their Local Plans, meet objectively assessed needs unless any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in the Framework taken as a whole, or specific policies in the Framework indicate development should be restricted. Such policies include those relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest; land designated as Green Belt, .....”

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The allocation of Wisley Airfield for housing is an issue for the Borough Council to determine. However, the RHS does object to the allocation of a 16.98 hectare waste use in the north-west corner of the site as identified within the Surrey Waste Plan (2008). RHS Wisley is internationally renowned and contains rare collections of plants, some of which are extremely sensitive to environmental change. Biological aerosols created by the waste material will be carried in the air and will have a significant detrimental impact on the sensitive ecosystem at Wisley. RHS Wisley is strongly opposed to the provision of a waste facility within such close proximity to the Gardens.

In relation to a new settlement at the Wisley Airfield site, the RHS is cautious of the impact of the proposed increase in traffic movements, pollution to air and groundwater supplies, and development on the Ripley roundabout. In view of the emerging Wisley Masterplan the RHS encourages a thorough assessment of the impacts on existing uses, the highway network and that all impacts are mitigated.

Finally, the RHS is encouraged by the sustainable transport requirements including a significant bus network, detailed in Policy A35 which will help to mitigate impacts on the existing highway network.

Conclusions

In principle, the RHS is largely in support of the policies proposed within the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites, July 2016 document, aside from the comments raised above.

In the context of the importance of RHS Wisley to horticulture, science, education, communities, health and the local economy, we hope that the Council will recognise the benefits of greater flexibility by removing the village and garden from the Green Belt.

The RHS consider this to be a positive recommendation which will help to meet the aims and objectives detailed in the Local Plan whilst aiding the continued development of the Garden and the value it brings to the Borough. We therefore trust that the Council will accept our representations.

Please can you ensure that our details are recorded on the database for future consultation. We also take this opportunity to continue to reserve our ability to appear at the Examination in Public of the Local Plan.

The criteria required for granting planning permission for new development in urban areas and inset villages is supported by the RHS.

At this stage, we would like to reiterate the request for Wisley Gardens and Wisley Village to be included as an inset within the Green Belt.

Aside from the land owned by the RHS at Wisley Village (which is the majority lying east of the River Wey) there are significant other employers and business in the village including the National Trust Regional Offices.

As outlined above, RHS Wisley is the top paid attraction within the Borough of Guildford and is the largest tourist attraction within Surrey.

The vision to continue to develop a high quality visitor experience as detailed in Policy E6 is supported however, to inset the Garden from the Green Belt would provide the planning policy support required to deliver this objective.

We propose that greater prominence is given to Wisley Gardens in the Plan to take account of its Regional, National, and International significance and visitiorship.

RHS Wisley accommodates the main education and research function of the Society and the RHS School of Horticulture is based at RHS Wisley. This offers Diplomas in Horticulture and a Master of Horticulture. As part of its development, the Society is seeking to expand its educational activities further based upon its reputation as a centre of excellence for horticultural research. Volunteers, interns, apprentices and students all benefit from the Society’s work at Wisley through the programme that are run by the Society.

The RHS welcomes the inclusion of the reference to the RHS School of Horticulture at RHS Wisley at paragraph 4.2.16 as one of the further and higher education establishments located within the Borough. The Society see that accommodation for its own key worker staff is included in this category as a result of their staff development programme.

Within the previous representations (September 2014) it was set out that the RHS’s desire is in the long term to be able to provide additional student accommodation within Wisley Village with teaching and research facilities. The investment in student accommodation will complement the society’s aspirations to expand the range of higher education courses it offers. It is appreciated however that additional development is constrained by the TBHSPA and Green Belt policy, which will have to be addressed to enable this development to proceed.

As stated previously, RHS Wisley is the most popular tourist / cultural attraction in the Borough, and is one of the world’s most significant gardens. The Garden is one of the top attractions in England and has approximately 1 million visitors per year with the anticipation of visitor numbers increasing to 1.4 million visitors by 2023.

Enhancing and maintaining the quality of the visitor experience and providing the necessary facilities for these numbers is of the utmost importance to the Society. As part of the recent planning application submissions, forms of sustainable transport were reviewed alongside the exploration of promoting more sustainable forms of transport and how existing parking facilities can be used more efficiently.

Through this process and the ongoing masterplan exercise, all reasonable endeavours will be undertaken to explore sustainable transport methods that can be implemented to mitigate against the potential impacts of increasing visitor numbers. These measures need to be appropriate to the needs and demographic of the majority of visitors to RHS Wisley. It is noted that the number of visitors to Wisley changes through the week and season, but largely fall outside of peak hours where highway network congestion is at its greatest.

Due to the current physical constraints of the site and its rural location, including narrow roads to the north and west and the A3 and M25 to the east and south, providing safe alternative transport methods is challenging. Planned improvements to the M25 Junction 10 would be welcomed.

With that said, the RHS support the aims of Policy 13 and are encouraged that the policy wording incorporates ‘where appropriate’. This acknowledges the difficulties new developments face within rural areas of the Borough.

Both RHS Wisley and Wisley village are located within the Metropolitan Green Belt.

The RHS has been located at Wisley for over 100 years, and Wisley is the RHS’s flagship garden. It is therefore not just a garden but is the headquarters of the RHS. Consequently it contains built development to provide offices, a centre for research, education, an extensive horticultural library, restaurants and cafes, retail, tourism and leisure, and maintenance. All of these are ancillary to the main Garden and are necessary for the RHS to function and thrive. Consequently, these facilities need to have the ability to adapt and evolve in accordance with the primary use and function of the Garden.
Green Belt policy is not an effective way to control development at Wisley. The Garden requires the flexibility to adapt and we therefore propose that part of the Garden is excluded from the Green Belt in previously developed areas where the principle of development is either established or to be established by future planned development.

Policy P2 states:

“We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt, as shown on the proposals map, against inappropriate development. In accordance with national planning policy, the construction of new development will be considered inappropriate and will not be permitted unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated.

Certain forms of development are not considered to be inappropriate. Proposals will be permitted where they are consistent with the exceptions listed in national planning policy and, where relevant, also meet the following criteria:

Extensions or alterations
The extension or alteration of a building provided that it would not result in disproportionate additions over and above the size of the original building.

Replacement buildings
The replacement of a building, provided the new building:

• would be in the same use, and
• is not materially larger than the one it replaces, and
• is sited on or close to the position of the existing building.

Limited infilling
Limited infilling within the identified settlement boundaries of the following villages: Albury, Compton, East Clandon, East Horsley (south), Gomshall, Holmbury St Mary, Peaslake, Pirbright, Puttenham, Shere, West Clandon and Worplesdon.

Limited infilling may also be appropriate outside the inset or identified settlement boundaries, and in the following villages, where it can be demonstrated that the site is as a matter of fact on the ground within the village: Artington, Eashing, Farley Green, Fox Corner, Hurtmore, Ockham, Seale, Shackleford, The Sands, Wanborough and Wisley.”

It is considered that the wording of this policy is not clear and therefore the following alterations to the wording is suggested:

“We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt, as shown on the proposals map, against inappropriate development. In accordance with national planning policy, the construction of new development will be considered inappropriate and will not be permitted unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated.

Certain forms of development are not considered to be inappropriate. Proposals will be permitted where they are consistent with the exceptions listed in national planning policy and, where relevant, also meet the following criteria:

Limited infilling may also be appropriate outside the inset or identified settlement boundaries, and in the following villages, where it can be demonstrated that the site is as a matter of fact on the ground within the village: is contained on at least 3 sides by built development:
Artington, Eashing, Farley Green, Fox Corner, Hurtmore, Ockham, Seale, Shackleford, The Sands, and Wanborough and Wisley.”

Previously, a proportion of Wisley Garden was proposed to be allocated as a Major Previously Developed Site within the Draft Local Plan Strategy and Sites Document.

Since the Draft Local Plan Strategy and Sites Document was published, national planning policy and guidance now refers to limited infilling as an exception to development in the Green Belt. Paragraph 89 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) outlines exceptions to the construction of new buildings as inappropriate in the Green Belt. These exceptions include the following:

“Limited infilling or the partial or complete redevelopment of previously developed sites (brownfield land), whether redundant or in continuing use (excluding temporary buildings), which would not have a greater impact on the openness of the Green Belt and the purpose of including land within it than the existing development.”

The exception of ‘limited infilling’ is incorporated within Policy P2. However, Wisley Garden and Village are not currently proposed to be an inset in the Green Belt in the Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites document. The principle of the exception therefore only applies to land at Wisley that is previously developed and would not have a greater impact than existing development. This does not serve the purpose of the Society. When development is planned at Wisley the need to improve facilities to meet future demand naturally means that development will be larger and therefore a subjective judgement is applied to determine whether this is a greater impact on the Green Belt or whether very special circumstances exist. In order to provide greater clarity, we proposed that the Garden and Village are removed from the Green Belt.

The garden at Wisley is definably a previously developed site, within the Green Belt, which is constantly evolving, reflecting and supporting the work of the Society. On the basis that RHS Wisley has been formerly considered as a previously developed site, we would propose that the gardens and village are included as an inset within the Green Belt within adopted policy. This would allow for limited infilling and the redevelopment of brownfield land within the village and garden.

Land at Wisley Village could provide a potential future housing site. This would reduce the need for development to be directed to the Green Belt and could form a more sustainable option as well as creating a critical mass for a more sustainable community at Wisley.

To support the allocation of land within the village for housing an assessment of the following would need to be submitted in support to inform such proposals. This assessment would consider the following issues:

- Flooding;
- Access; and
- Ecology

A smaller scale of housing of approximately 15 units through infilling could be delivered in the plan period. This approach would aid the delivery of the Borough’s housing targets. With that said, we hope the request to include Wisley Gardens and the Village as an inset within the Green Belt will be supported.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We suggest that the significance of the Society as a contributor to the Borough is given as much prominence in the Plan as for example Surrey University and Watts Gallery that are included. With the volume of staff and volunteers engaged at Wisley the site is a significant employer and generator of financial activity within the Borough.

We suggest that the significance of the Society as a contributor to the Borough is given as much prominence in the Plan as for example Surrey University and Watts Gallery that are included. The charitable purpose of the RHS is to inspire passion and excellence in the science, art and practice of horticulture. RHS Wisley is vital to the ability of the charity to deliver its purpose. The Garden is the most effective tool for educating the public (both adults and children) about horticultural skills for growing food and ornamental plants, science and environmental issues, as well as design It also acts as the base for all its public facing outreach work, including in local communities and schools.

The RHS has recently undertaken a comprehensive masterplanning process exploring the suitability of the existing ageing facilities and infrastructure at Wisley to meet the RHS’s longer term objectives as set out within the Masterplan Vision. This identified improvements to existing facilities at the Garden that are necessary to accommodate the projected increase in visitor numbers, and the Society has publically committed to a major investment at Wisley, alongside a Strategic Investment Programme that will be a step change to the Society’s charitable delivery in coming years. It is a pivotal moment for the RHS.
The following projects have been identified through the masterplanning process as being necessary to accommodate this growth at Wisley:

- Improvement to the garden entrance and retail facilities;
- Enhancement of the Laboratory building;
- A new National Centre for Horticultural Science and Learning;
- New office accommodation for a larger work and volunteer force;
- Improvement to the horticultural support (machinery yard and glass houses); and
- A new staff car park to avoid conflict with visitors.

This masterplan is now in the process of being implemented and the following planning applications were formally submitted to Guildford Borough Council (GBC) in April and May 2016 and are currently being determined by GBC planning department:

- The Barn (application reference: 16/P/00954) – New office accommodation;
- Hilltop (application reference: 16/P/00976) – A new National Centre for Horticultural Science, and Learning;
- Front of House (application reference: 16/P/01080 & 16/P/01081) - Improvement to the garden entrance and retail facilities and enhancement of the Laboratory building; and
- New Substations (application reference: 16/P/01037).

The RHS want to ensure that the Local Plan supports the delivery of the masterplan for Wisley and the continual improvement of the Garden. The GBC Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites document forms the final consultation version of the GBC Local Plan following the consultation of the Draft Local Plan Strategy and Sites Document in the summer of 2014.

Below we set out our representations in response to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites document.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy S2 states:

“During the plan period (2013-33), we will make provision for 13,860 new homes, 37,200 – 47,200 sq m of office and research and development (B1a and b) floorspace and 4.7 – 5.3 hectares of industrial (B1c, B2 and B8) employment land to help meet the needs for new homes, support the economy and supply 3,200 additional B class jobs.

The delivery of homes is expected to increase over the plan period, reflective of timescales associated with the delivery of strategic sites and infrastructure. The housing target each year is as set out below, however, this is not a ceiling, and earlier delivery of allocated sites will be supported where appropriate, subject to infrastructure provision.”
The RHS are supportive of this strategy and the provision of new homes and employment land across the Borough from strategic, allocated and non-allocated sites. Wisley Village provides opportunities for new housing subject to policy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The allocation of Wisley Airfield for housing is an issue for the Borough Council to determine. It is noted that this allocation has increased in size from 93 ha to 96 ha with the inclusion of a further parcel of land. The RHS welcomes the inclusion of mitigation schemes to address issues on rural roads surrounding the site and the requirement for development to have sensitive design at site boundaries that has significant regard to the transition from village to greenfield.

However, the RHS continues to object to the allocation of a 16.98 hectare waste use in the north-west corner of the site as identified within the Surrey Waste Plan (2008) and allowed through appeal reference APP/B3600/A/09/2098568 on 8 March 2010. Here it is important to note that this consent has now lapsed and has not been implemented. RHS Wisley is internationally renowned and contains rare collections of plants, some of which are extremely sensitive to environmental change. Biological aerosols created by the waste material will be carried in the air and will have a significant detrimental impact on the sensitive ecosystem at Wisley. RHS Wisley is strongly opposed to the provision of a waste facility within such close proximity to the Gardens.

Our previous comments remain on the impact of proposed increase in traffic movements, pollution to air and groundwater supplies, and recent information arising from the impending Appeal hearing give greater concern that these environmental issues will affect the garden.

Conclusions

In principle, the RHS is largely in support of the policies proposed within the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites, June 2017 document, aside from the comments raised above.

In the context of the importance of RHS Wisley to horticulture, science, education, communities, health and the local economy, we hope that the Council will recognise the benefits of greater flexibility by removing the village and garden from the Green Belt, given its established nature.

As a Grade II* Registered Park and Garden and an internationally significant scientific collection Wisley garden is at threat from environmental change including local developments that affect the air, temperature, groundwater, and soil conditions, alongside visual impact and noise. The Society seeks protection of this garden, which is of global horticultural scientific importance, with appropriate mitigations from planned developments that affect it and its future.

Furthermore the Society seeks specific recognition in the Plan of its site and the activities that take place at Wisley to the benefit of Guildford Borough Council, and through co-operation, Woking Borough Council.
The RHS consider this to be a positive recommendation which will help to meet the aims and objectives detailed in the Local Plan whilst aiding the continued development of the Garden and the value it brings to the Borough. We therefore trust that the Council will accept our representations.

Enhancing and maintaining the quality of the visitor experience and providing the necessary facilities for the increased number of visitors is of the utmost importance to the RHS. As part of the recent planning consents forms of sustainable transport were reviewed alongside the exploration of promoting more sustainable forms of transport and how existing parking facilities can be used more efficiently.

Through this process and the ongoing masterplan exercise, all reasonable endeavours will be undertaken to explore sustainable transport methods that can be implemented to mitigate against the potential impacts of increasing visitor numbers. These measures need to be appropriate to the needs and demographic of the majority of visitors to RHS Wisley. It is noted that the number of visitors to Wisley changes through the week and season, but largely fall outside of peak hours where highway network congestion is at its greatest.

Due to the current physical constraints of the site and its rural location, including narrow roads to the north and west and the A3 and M25 to the east and south, providing safe alternative transport methods is challenging.

The planned improvements to the M25 Junction 10 are welcomed subject to their detailed design, which is currently being discussed by the RHS with Highways England, with ‘improved access to Wisley Garden’ being a specific aim of the highways improvement. The RHS is opposed to any landtake from their RPG site, and seeks an appropriate local road network to support its operations, as well as a Junction 10 solution.

Policy ID3 has been amended to include requirements for new developments to meet including maximising the use of walking, cycling and public and community transport. This policy now requires developments to meet criteria outlined rather than expect and incorporate sustainable transport modes where appropriate, which is how the policy was previously worded.

Whilst the RHS support the aims of Policy ID3 and seeks to encourage, where possible, sustainable transport modes, it is important that flexibility is applied to new developments within rural areas of the borough where there is reliance on vehicular use.

With that said, we request that the policy wording incorporates ‘where appropriate’ with regards to rural areas of the borough as previously included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We have prepared representations on behalf of our client, the Royal Horticultural Society (RHS), in response to the June 2017 Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (Reg 19). These representations should be read in conjunction with those dated 14 July 2016 submitted against the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (June 2016)) (see Appendix 1), submitted on the 22 September 2014 against the Local Plan Strategy and Sites Draft Local Plan (July 2014) and 27 November 2013 submitted against the Issues and Options Draft Local Plan (October 2013) (Appendix 2) in relation to both Wisley garden and village.

Background

As set out in previous representations, RHS Wisley is the flagship garden for the Royal Horticultural Society. The Society is the UK’s leading horticultural charity and for over 200 years has promoted the Science, Art and Practice of Horticulture. The reach of the RHS is very broad, encompassing gardeners, schoolchildren, the horticultural trade and the science community, all worldwide. These activities and principles have become embedded at RHS Wisley for over a century and the 1905 Laboratory building remains the focus for the Gardens. Surrounding this is approximately 200 acres of formal and informal gardens, glass houses and outbuildings. In addition, Wisley Village is largely owned by the Society and supports the operation of the Garden and in particular the Society’s educational activity by accommodating students and science activities through specialist research buildings and trial fields.

RHS Wisley is the top paid attraction within the Borough of Guildford and is the largest tourist attraction within Surrey, currently drawing in more than 1.2 million visitors a year, and targeted to rise to 1.4m by 2023. This is of national significance, compared with some 0.8 million at the Eden Project and 1.3 million at the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew. The gardens are of international significance through its global reach and proximity to international airports at Heathrow and Gatwick. With some 400 staff and more than 200 volunteers engaged at Wisley the site is a significant employer and generator of financial activity within the borough.

We suggest that the significance of the Society as a contributor to the Borough is given as much prominence in the Plan as for example Surrey University and Watts Gallery that are included. With the volume of staff and volunteers engaged at Wisley the site is a significant employer and generator of financial activity within the Borough.

The charitable purpose of the RHS is to inspire passion and excellence in the science, art and practice of horticulture. RHS Wisley is vital to the ability of the charity to deliver its purpose. The Garden is the most effective tool for educating the public (both adults and children) about horticultural skills for growing food and ornamental plants, science and environmental issues, as well as design. It also acts as the base for all its public facing outreach work, including in local communities and schools.

The RHS has recently undertaken a comprehensive masterplanning process exploring the suitability of the existing ageing facilities and infrastructure at Wisley to meet the RHS’s longer term objectives as set out within the Masterplan Vision. This identified improvements to existing facilities at the Garden that are necessary to accommodate the projected increase in visitor numbers, and the Society has now embarked on a major investment at Wisley as part of a Strategic Investment Programme that is a step change to the Society’s charitable delivery and national profile. It is a pivotal moment for the RHS.

The following projects have been identified through the masterplanning process as being necessary to accommodate this growth at Wisley:

- Improvement to the garden entrance and retail facilities;
- Enhancement of the Laboratory building;
- A new National Centre for Horticultural Science and Learning;
- New office accommodation for a larger work and volunteer force;
- Improvement to the horticultural support (machinery yard and glass houses); and
- A new staff car park to avoid conflict with visitors.

This masterplan is now in the process of being implemented and the following planning applications have been consented:

- The Barn (application reference: 17/P/00796 (approved on 1 June 2016)) – New office accommodation;
- Hilltop (application reference: 16/P/00976 (approved on 30 September 2016)) – A new National Centre for Horticultural Science, and Learning;
- Front of House (application reference: 16/P/01080 & 16/P/01081 (approved on 30 September 2016)) - Improvement to the garden entrance and retail facilities and enhancement of the Laboratory building; and
- New Substations (application reference: 16/P/01037 (approved on 22 July 2016)).

The RHS want to ensure that the Local Plan supports the delivery of the masterplan for Wisley and the continual improvement of the Garden, for itself and as part of the local community. The GBC Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites Reg. 19 document forms the final consultation version of the GBC Local Plan following the consultation of the Proposed Local Plan Strategy and Sites Document in the summer of 2016.

Below we set out our representations on behalf of the RHS in response to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites document.

Policy S2: Borough Wide Strategy

Policy S2 states:
“During the plan period (2015-34), we will make provision for at least 12,426 new homes, 36,000 – 43,700 sq m of office and research and development (B1a and b) floorspace and 3.7 – 4.1 hectares of industrial (B1c, B2 and B8) employment land to help meet the needs for new homes, support the economy and supply 3,200 additional B class jobs. The delivery of homes is expected to increase over the plan period, reflective of timescales associated with the delivery of strategic sites and infrastructure. The housing target each year is as set out below, however, this is not a ceiling, and earlier delivery of allocated sites will be supported where appropriate, subject to infrastructure provision.”

The RHS are supportive of this strategy and the provision of new homes and employment land across the Borough from strategic, allocated and non-allocated sites. Wisley Village and the RHS owned land there, provides opportunities for new housing subject to other policies within the plan. As part of the RHS strategy the village is now being managed to provide increased open market lettings that contribute to housing needs.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.
What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

I have lived in the village of West Clandon for 17 years and during that time traffic congestion has got much worse, with increasing numbers of lorries travelling through a very narrow and restricted road causing risks to pedestrians and to the detriment of village life. Whenever there is a problem with the A3, traffic uses West Clandon as a cut through and it is often impossible and dangerous to try and exit from Oak Grange Road. The proposals in the local plan will only make these matters worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.
It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).
The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.
Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.
There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students I live accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.</td>

| Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 &
M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guilford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brownfield sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set.

Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.
5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I object to the proposal to develop land at Garlicks Arch (Policy A43). The proposed development of industrial and commercial sites would significantly increase the volume of traffic through Send Village to and from the Waking area and beyond. Send Road already carries a high volume of traffic heading to and from the A3 and M25 which causes serious congestion at peak times in particular. The road infrastructure in the village simply could not sustain a further significant increase in traffic.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to Policy A44 (Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill). This policy proposes 40 new dwellings and two travellers' pitches on a site which has not been included in previous versions of the Draft Plan. Send Hill is a narrow road running between the village and Potters Lane and provides the only access to the village. The southern end of the road is very narrow and residents routinely park on both sides of the road. Even with the existing traffic access can be difficult at any time of the day. The addition of vehicles connected with the proposed 40 new dwellings will significantly worsen the situation. Beyond Winds Ridge and the cemetery the road narrows yet further and becomes a twisting, single carriageway road with passing places and joins Potters Lane on a blind corner. The road is not suitable for the increased traffic which would be generated by the new development and is absolutely unsuited to large vehicles such as travellers' caravans and trailers.

1. Furthermore I object to Policy A44 (Land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill) as the subsoil of the proposed site contains documented unsafe landfill and is thus unsuitable for development.
1. I object to the proposal in Policy A44 to include two travellers' pitches in this development. Policy HI (Homes for All) states that traveller accommodation should be included on development sites of 500 homes or more and two pitches should be provided in developments of 500 to 999 homes. Furthermore in the Reasoned Justification for Policy HI it states that "We require traveller accommodation within development sites of 500 homes or more to help create sustainable, mixed communities with suitable housing for all" (4.2.24). It is contrary to this policy therefore to propose two pitches on a development of just 40 houses and I have seen no rationale for deviation from the stated policy. Furthermore Policy HI states that traveller sites must have "safe vehicular access". For reasons stated above access to and egress from the proposed development site onto the narrow Send Hill would not be safe for travellers' vehicles or for other road users affected by their manoeuvring. I understand the requirement to provide pitches for travellers but I suggest that more appropriate sites could be designated closer to the A3 allowing easy and safe access and egress whilst maintaining a similar distance from schools, medical services and shops. I can see no logical reason for placing travellers' sites in such an inaccessible location as the land off Send Hill.

Objections to Proposed Submission Local Plan

I object to certain policies set out in the Proposed Submission Local Plan which pertain in particular to Send and the surrounding area, as follows:

1. The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site is liable to frequent flooding
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved.

1. I object to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

The Garlick’s Arch (A43) proposal would double the built area in the locality, and would irrevocably damage the character of the Ancient Woodland on the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy II)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

I object to removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed, as required by the National Planning Policy.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43).

1. I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

I write to state that I strongly object to the above proposals. This land contributes to the open character of Shalford Village and provides an attractive setting for the village's community facilities. Highly significant is that access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane which is an already heavily congested country lane!

As a Shalford resident since 1969 I urge you to withdraw these proposals.

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 This planning appraisal has been carried out by Batcheller Monkhouse on behalf of Mr and Mrs Neilson, to provide an up to date site assessment of land at Oakland Farm, Green Lane, Ockham Road North, West Horsley in the context of the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan.

1.2 The land at Oakland Farm has been identified for allocation in the Guildford Proposed Submission Local Plan as part of a wider site referred to as Land to the North of West Horsley, under policy A40. The purpose of this report is to address why this proposed allocation site should continue to be included in the final version of the Local Plan and why the site should be removed from the Green Belt.

1.3 This document provides a brief description of the site, designations and restrictions, a brief review of key considerations raised in the Proposed Submission Local Plan and an assessment of the contribution to the purposes of the Green Belt. The previous representations which were submitted to the Council in March also included an assessment of the site in relation to competing sites also identified as housing allocations in the Draft Local Plan.

2.1 Figure 1 shows the area of land owned by Mr and Mrs Neilson outlined in yellow. The land has been promoted as part of a wider development site which is outlined in red has been identified as a housing allocation for circa 120 units in the Proposed Submission Local Plan and is referred to as Land to the North of West Horsley, under policy A40.

2.2 A substantial part of the wider development site is owned by a developer in the form of Persimmon Homes. We have been in discussions with Persimmon Homes relating to the inclusion of their land within the allocation and there is a will on all sides to collaborate if that represents the best outcome for addressing the broader housing needs of the

2.3 The land to the west of the proposed allocation is heavily wooded and this mature landscape boundary is an important feature in containing the site from future sprawl. The woodland to the west of the proposed allocation might be too small to be used as formal SANGS land, however it could be made available to the public to assist with offsetting the perceived impact development may have on the Thames Basin SPA. It should therefore also be included as part of the allocation. There is a permissive path adjoining the woodland.

2.4 To the south west of the site is a lake, with housing development to the south eastern, eastern and northern boundaries. Mr and Mrs Neilson’s land parcel, and the wider site is therefore well contained both physically and visually.

2.5 The land currently lies within the Green Belt and adjoins the village of West Horsley (North). The site, along with all of the other proposed West Horsley allocation sites in the Proposed Submission Local Plan are within 400m to 5km of the Thames Basin Heaths SPA. The Proposed Submission Local Plan however states that Suitable Alternative Natural Green Space (SANGS) is likely to be available in the area.

2.6 The latest survey carried out by West Horsley Parish Council identified a local tolerance of up to 75 new dwellings in the village within the Local Plan. Assuming the entire proposed allocation site at Oakland Farm can be built out, it has the potential capacity for circa 120 units and therefore it could easily provide the required housing numbers within a single, self-contained site.

2.7 There is no relevant planning history for Mr and Mrs Neilson’s part of the identified allocation site beyond a certificate of lawful use or development for a small extension to an existing pool house. This does not affect the area being promoted for development.

2.8 The proposed allocation site has since been assessed as being Suitable, Available and Achievable in the SHLAA June 2014, Ref: 975, 2027, 1. It was also identified in the Proposed Submission Local Plan as a site allocation for new homes and was identified as a potential development area within the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS) Ref: C14-A.

KEY CONSIDERATIONS

The Proposed Submission Local Plan document sets out the site in Policy A40. It identifies the key considerations as:

- Flood risk
- Surface water flood risk
- Access

FLOOD RISK

3.1 The Environmental Agency flood mapping identifies part of the overall site as being within Flood Zones 2 and 3, however only the very north east tip of Mr and Mrs Neilson’s land (being the position of the existing residential dwelling) is shown as being within Flood Zone 2 or 3.
3.2 Persimmon have however carried out their own flood modelling of the site and surrounding area and the results confirm that neither the site nor the access roads are within Flood Zone 2 or Figure 2 below shows the flood modelling carried out by Persimmon which clearly demonstrated that there is no flood risk to the site or the access roads:

3.3 Persimmon have confirmed that their own flood risk assessments stipulates:

‘flood risk as previously identified by the Environment Agency is not as was initially thought. Capita has rated the site as a ‘4’ with regards to flood risk suitability. This score means that the site is of less concern with regards to flooding. The conclusions reached by Capita as part of this SFRA was that “area to the north east of the site is shown to be within the Flood Zone 3. Should development be avoided in these areas, and appropriate SuDS developed on site…..it is likely that the site could pass the technical part of the Exception Test”. The surrounding area of the site is predominately in Flood Zone 1 as identified by Capita therefore there is little or no flood risk with this.

In addition to the work undertaken by Capita, Persimmon has carried out its own detailed flood modelling for the site and the immediate surrounding area. This modelling was carried out on a worst case scenario and the outcome of this was that under this scenario, Ockham Road North and importantly the access into the site remains dry and is not subject to flooding. The modelling work also incorporated climate change allowances in line with newly released Environment Agency/DCLG guidance. This detailed modelling has clearly shown the Environment Agency’s mapped flood extents to be overestimating the actual scenario and further advances Capita’s assessments. Therefore, Persimmon are of the opinion that the unreliability of the Environment Agency data should not be used further and that the more detailed and up-to-date, site-specific modelling carried out as part of our assessments should be relied upon.’

3.4 The flood risk has been addressed through Persimmon’s flood risk modelling and assessment which will be submitted as part of their representations for the wider site.

3.5 It should be highlighted that Mr & Mrs Neilson’s land could be brought forward independently in any event as a stand-alone site.

ACCESS

3.6 Access was also identified as a key considerat Access is however not a risk to the deliverability of Mr and Mrs Neilson’s site as there are two existing vehicular access points that could serve the land parcel. The first is controlled by Mr and Mrs Neilson, and is the access off Green Lane which currently serves Oakland Farm. It should be noted that whilst Green Lane itself is a relatively narrow road, the Highways boundary extends significantly beyond the existing line of tarmac, and can easily be widened. All necessary upgrades would be made to the road, regarding widening and improving its surface, as well as the junction with Ockham Road North. The second is an existing vehicular right of way across the track running west off Ockham Road North, which is being proposed by Persimmon as the principal access to their site. Mr and Mrs Neilson’s land could therefore be accessed without the need for any land acquisition and is deliverable with or without the development of the wider allocation site.

3.7 The site is also well connected on foot, with a permissive path running adjacent to the west of the subject woodland, around the camp site, to Bens Wo This woodland is understood to have been planted in 2001 as a public amenity, with funding through the EU and DEFRA through the Countryside Stewardship Scheme. Further, there are extensive footpaths via Whitehall Lane, which is at the junction of Green Lane and Ockham Road North, being only some 250 yards from the property.

3.8 The site at Oakland Farm is also within walking distance to the station and both the Raleigh School and Glenesk Pre Prep. In addition it is located within close proximity to the nearest accessible natural and semi-natural greenspace, as identified in the East Horsley and West Horsley (North) Sustainability Assessment Walking Distance The site is located one mile away from the centre of East Horsley where much of the local facilities which can serve residents’ day-to-day needs are found. These facilities include a number of local shops, including a Budgens convenience store, a newsagents, post office, pharmacy and bank. The village hall lies to the rear of these shops and is easily accessible from the main high street. The main line rail station is also located close to the high street and this allows access to London Waterloo via a direct train which takes under an hour and includes stops at larger stations such as Leatherhead, Epsom, Wimbledon and Clapham Junction allowing access to large employment areas and facilitating onward travel.
3.9 The settlement hierarchy, published in May 2014 and used as part of the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan, notes that East Horsley has a population of 3,785 (2011) and is ranked as the 3rd most sustainable location within the borough (out of 32). In addition to the highly rated sustainability of East Horsley, the site lies close to West Horsley which is ranked as the 13th most sustainable location within the borough (out of 32).

4 GREEN BELT

4.1 The final key restriction regarding the development of the proposed allocation site at Oakland Farm is its Green Belt West Horsley is a medium sized village which was identified in the Local Plan Strategy Issues and Options to be removed from the Green Belt. The proposed allocation site is completely enclosed and as such the risk of future development sprawl is minimal.

4.2 There are 5 purposes to the Green Belt which have been set out below in relation to this proposed allocation site:

To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas

4.3 The proposed allocation site adjoins the medium sized village of West Horsley which is not considered to be a large built up To the north, east and south east of the site is existing residential development. To the west and south is a mature tree belt and lake, forming natural barriers to future development sprawl. It is therefore considered that this site is not required to be in the Green Belt in order to prevent the village from sprawling.

To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another

4.4 The nearest other settlement to the site is Ockham, some 1.25km away. West Horsley is currently detached from Ockham by Green Lane which runs along the north of the site, as well as a further 25km of open countryside and farms. To the west is Send Marsh, separated by 6.5km of open countryside as well as the A3 and further smaller roads. It is therefore the case that development of the proposed, well contained site, could have little if any impact in respect of the merging of neighbouring towns and there is therefore no necessity for the site to remain within the designation to support that aim.

To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment

4.5 As set out in the two points above, the site is surrounded by existing residential development and a strip of mature woodland. Development of the site would therefore fill a gap in the pattern of existing residential development and would not encroach into the open countryside.

To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns

4.6 West Horsley is not considered to have any special or historic character. Paragraph 86 of the NPPF states that if the character of the village needs to be protected for reasons beyond its contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, ‘other means should be used, such as Conservation Area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.’ This section of the village is not considered to contribute significantly to the openness of the Green Belt and as such it should be excluded.

To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land

4.7 The West Surrey SHMA found that the objectively assessed need was 1,729 homes per annum for the region between 2013 and 2033, 693 of which are to be provided within the Guildford local planning area per annum. It is therefore necessary for the Local Planning Authority to consider a range of sites, both brownfield and green. Of course brownfield sites should be developed first, however the Council has recognised that the existing available brown field sites within the area are not sufficient to meet current housing requirements. There is therefore a clear indication that the Council will need to identify Greenfield land, much of which will be Green Belt if it is to meet housing requirements. On this basis there is a strong case for this identified site to be removed from the Green Belt to allow for beneficial development.

4.8 The proposed allocation site was identified in the SHLAA 2014 as having development potential for circa 114 flats or houses on the basis of a density of 14 dp It was identified in the Proposed Submission Local Plan as an allocation site for approximately 120 dwellings.

5.1 This planning appraisal has been carried out by the professional planning team at Batcheller Monkhouse on behalf of Mr and Mrs Neilson, regarding the land at Oakland Farm, Green Lane, Ockham Road North, West Horsley, to be submitted as formal representations to the Proposed Submission Local Plan Consultation.

5.2 The land at Oakland Farm has been identified as part of a wider site for allocation in the Guildford Proposed Submission Local Plan (policy A40), much of which is owned by Persimmon. The Proposed Submission Local Plan raises key considerations for the site which include flood risk and access. It is considered that both these matters have been addressed in this planning appraisal, with reference made to an independent flood risk assessment and flood modelling commissioned by Persimmon, and confirmation that the vehicular access is already secure. The owners of Oakland Farm are in ongoing discussions with Persimmon, as well as a number of other builders who are keen and willing to develop Oakland Farm.

5.3 This appraisal considers the site in the context of the 5 purposes of the Green Belt and finds that it makes no contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, nor does it contribute to the purposes of including land within the des. The land should therefore remain as an allocation in the final version of the Local Plan and should be removed from the Green Belt as has been proposed. The site would provide a range of good quality houses within the next 1-5 years in a suitable location with minimal visual impact. There is minimal risk of outward expansion of the site in the future, and the site is capable of providing the full housing requirement for West Horsley.

5.4 It is therefore considered that this land is the preferred allocation site for the village and should remain as such moving forward to the final version of the Local Plan. The owners will continue to promote the site for residential development in the immediate term and have substantial developer interest.

The surrounding area of the site is predominately in Flood Zone 1 as identified by Capita therefore there is little or no flood risk with this.

In addition to the work undertaken by Capita, Persimmon has carried out its own detailed flood modelling for the site and the immediate surrounding area. This modelling was carried out on a worst case scenario and the outcome of this was that under this scenario, Ockham Road North and importantly the access into the site remains dry and is not subject to flooding. The modelling work also incorporated climate change allowances in line with newly released Environment Agency/DCLG guidance. This detailed modelling has clearly shown the Environment Agency’s mapped flood extents to be overestimating the actual scenario and further advances Capita’s assessments. Therefore, Persimmon are of the opinion that the unreliability of the Environment Agency data should not be used further and that the more detailed and up-to-date, site-specific modelling carried out as part of our assessments should be relied upon.’

3.4 The flood risk has been addressed through Persimmon’s flood risk modelling and assessment which will be submitted as part of their representations for the wider site.

3.5 It should be highlighted that Mr & Mrs Neilson’s land could be brought forward independently in any event as a stand-alone site.

ACCESS

3.6 Access was also identified as a key consideration. Access is however not a risk to the deliverability of Mr and Mrs Neilson’s site as there are two existing vehicular access points that could serve the land parcel. The first is controlled by Mr and Mrs Neilson, and is the access off Green Lane which currently serves Oakland Farm. It should be noted that whilst Green Lane itself is a relatively narrow road, the Highways boundary extends significantly beyond the existing line of tarmac, and can easily be widened. All necessary upgrades would be made to the road, regarding widening and improving its surface, as well as the junction with Ockham Road North. The second is an existing vehicular right of way across the track running west off Ockham Road North, which is being proposed by Persimmon as the principal access to their site. Mr and Mrs Neilson’s land could therefore be accessed without the need for any land acquisition and is deliverable with or without the development of the wider allocation site.

3.7 The site is also well connected on foot, with a permissive path running adjacent to the west of the subject woodland, around the camp site, to Bens Wood. This woodland is understood to have been planted in 2001 as a public amenity, with funding through the EU and DEFRA through the Countryside Stewardship Scheme. Further, there are extensive footpaths via Whitehall Lane, which is at the junction of Green Lane and Ockham Road North, being only some 250 yards from the property.

3.8 The site at Oakland Farm is also within walking distance to the station and both the Raleigh School and Glenesk Pre Prep. In addition it is located within close proximity to the nearest accessible natural and semi-natural greenspace, as identified in the East Horsley and West Horsley (North) Sustainability Assessment Walking Distance Plan. The site is located one mile away from the centre of East Horsley where much of the local facilities which can serve residents’ day-to-day needs are found. These facilities include a number of local shops, including a Budgens convenience store, a newsagents, post office, pharmacy and bank. The village hall lies to the rear of these shops and is easily accessible from the main high street. The main line rail station is also located close to the high street and this allows access to London Waterloo via a direct train which takes under an hour and includes stops at larger stations such as Leatherhead, Epsom, Wimbledon and Clapham Junction allowing access to large employment areas and facilitating onward travel.
3.9 The settlement hierarchy, published in May 2014 and used as part of the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan, notes that East Horsley has a population of 3,785 (2011) and is ranked as the 3rd most sustainable location within the borough (out of 32). In addition to the highly rated sustainability of East Horsley, the site lies close to West Horsley which is ranked as the 13th most sustainable location within the borough (out of 32).

4. GREEN BELT

4.1 The final key restriction regarding the development of the proposed allocation site at Oakland Farm is its Green Belt location. West Horsley is a medium sized village which was identified in the Local Plan Strategy Issues and Options to be removed from the Green Belt. The proposed allocation site is completely enclosed and as such the risk of future development sprawl is minimal.

4.2 There are 5 purposes to the Green Belt which have been set out below in relation to this proposed allocation site.

To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas

4.3 The proposed allocation site adjoins the medium sized village of West Horsley which is not considered to be a large built up area. To the north, east and south east of the site is existing residential development. To the west and south is a mature tree belt and lake, forming natural barriers to future development sprawl. It is therefore considered that this site is not required to be in the Green Belt in order to prevent the village from sprawling.

To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another

4.4 The nearest other settlement to the site is Ockham, some 1.25km away. West Horsley is currently detached from Ockham by Green Lane which runs along the north of the site, as well as a further 1.25km of open countryside and farms. To the west is Send Marsh, separated by 6.5km of open countryside as well as the A3 and further smaller roads. It is therefore the case that development of the proposed, well contained site, could have little if any impact in respect of the merging of neighbouring towns and there is therefore no necessity for the site to remain within the designation to support that aim.

To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment

4.5 As set out in the two points above, the site is surrounded by existing residential development and a strip of mature woodland. Development of the site would therefore fill a gap in the pattern of existing residential development and would not encroach into the open countryside.

To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns

4.6 West Horsley is not considered to have any special or historic character. Paragraph 86 of the NPPF states that if the character of the village needs to be protected for reasons beyond its contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, ‘other means should be used, such as Conservation Area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.’ This section of the village is not considered to contribute significantly to the openness of the Green Belt and as such it should be excluded.

To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

4.7 The West Surrey SHMA found that the objectively assessed need was 1,729 homes per annum for the region between 2013 and 2033, 693 of which are to be provided within the Guildford local planning area per annum. It is therefore necessary for the Local Planning Authority to consider a range of sites, both brownfield and green field. Of course brown field sites should be developed first, however the Council has recognised that the existing available brown field sites within the area are not sufficient to meet current housing requirements. There is therefore a clear indication that the Council will need to identify Greenfield land, much of which will be Green Belt if it is to meet housing requirements. On this basis there is a strong case for this identified site to be removed from the Green Belt to allow for beneficial development.

4.8 The proposed allocation site was identified in the SHLAA 2014 as having development potential for circa 114 flats or houses on the basis of a density of 14 dph. It was identified in the Proposed Submission Local Plan as an allocation site for approximately 120 dwellings.
5. CONCLUSION

5.1 This planning appraisal has been carried out by the professional planning team at Batcheller Monkhouse on behalf of Mr and Mrs Neilson, regarding the land at Oakland Farm, Green Lane, Ockham Road North, West Horsley, to be submitted as formal representations to the Proposed Submission Local Plan Consultation.

5.2 The land at Oakland Farm has been identified as part of a wider site for allocation in the Guildford Proposed Submission Local Plan (policy A40), much of which is owned by Persimmon. The Proposed Submission Local Plan raises key considerations for the site which include flood risk and access. It is considered that both these matters have been addressed in this planning appraisal, with reference made to an independent flood risk assessment and flood modelling commissioned by Persimmon, and confirmation that the vehicular access is already secure. The owners of Oakland Farm are in ongoing discussions with Persimmon, as well as a number of other builders who are keen and willing to develop Oakland Farm.

5.3 This appraisal considers the site in the context of the 5 purposes of the Green Belt and finds that it makes no contribution to the openness of the Green Belt, nor does it contribute to the purposes of including land within the designation. The land should therefore remain as an allocation in the final version of the Local Plan and should be removed from the Green Belt as has been proposed. The site would provide a range of good quality houses within the next 1-5 years in a suitable location with minimal visual impact. There is minimal risk of outward expansion of the site in the future, and the site is capable of providing the full housing requirement for West Horsley.

5.4 It is therefore considered that this land is the preferred allocation site for the village and should remain as such moving forward to the final version of the Local Plan. The owners will continue to promote the site for residential development in the immediate term and have substantial developer interest.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the site is not large enough to the proposed use.

I object to the proposal int he local plan on the grounds that it would cause adverse impact on street parking.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that send is in green belt. The proposed inset is inappropriate due to its permanent green belt status.
I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that Send Hill is a narrow road result in loss of a turning point for vehicles.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that it would impact the nature reserve nearby. The proposed site is a quality green belt amenity area within countryside and would be spoilt by development.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the existing road and parking infrastructure is already inadequate or under pressure and could worsen with the planned development, reducing quality of life.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that too many houses are proposed to Send/Send Marsh are and the impact on traffic congestion and local services would be unacceptable.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the proposed number of houses potentially could result in 92 extra cars in Send Hill which is already suffering from congestion particularly at school run time.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that this would cause loss of village identity, be detrimental to the community and increased flood risk.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that a Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb water table and increase risk of flooding to my property.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the proposed development site (A44) was used as GBC registered landfill site, not a quarry as listed as reference LLA 2081 in the local plan.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark it as "refuse and sag heap". It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons. I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the 1971 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark it as "refuse tip" prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well recording methane gas discharge.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that a Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN-HCP dated 5 January 2005-Identifies the proposed site as GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/11/LLC with type of waste not identified. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that a Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN-HCP date 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/12 with type of waste identified as "unrestricted2. This causes me concern as to what it does contain and dangers if disturbed .

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both the Envirosearch Report RS 1100201-1-1 dated 1 h February 2004 and historical map data and information from GBC has identified site as landfill and has "areas of potentially contaminative industrial activities". Development of this site would be a health hazard . The recent news reports of a child dying from seepage of contaminated ground following flooding prove that developing any such sites is a danger to health. The Daily Mail has also recently had an article on how dangers of living near landfill site raises cancer concerns. The paper referenced a study published by the international journey of Epidemiology which tracked 242,000 people living near landfill sites in Italy.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both the Envirosearch Report RS 110001-1-1 dated 17th February 2004 identifies "potential risk from landfill gas migrations"which I believe is a health hazard.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that both Envirosearch Report RS 1100201-1-1 dated 17111 February 2004 Concludes "potentially contaminative industrial sites identified from analysis" of Ordnance survey maps.
I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN-HCP dated 5 January 2005 Identifies proposed site as a local authorised landfill site as licences under Part 11 of Environmental protection Act 1990. The proposed site is not a quarry as specified in The GBC Local Plan. Therefore not suitable for the proposed usage.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN-HCP dated 5 January 2005 Identifies proposed site as potentially contaminative industrial land. With usage of "Heap and unknown constituents". This causes me concern as to what it does contain and dangers if disturbed.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN-HCP 5th January 2005 Identifies changes to proposed site could cause potential ground water vulnerability to my property.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the Traveller Accommodation Assessment research, purported to have been undertaken in June-July 2012 by Mill Field Services, cannot be so. The Sittingbourne based market research company was dissolved in January 2011 according to the government companies site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This letter and the accompanying completed consultation questionnaire and comments form comprises the formal written submissions made on behalf of our client, The National Rifle Association (NRA), in response to the content of the Council’s Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (herein referred to as LP1).

Before responding further on LP1 however, we would take this opportunity to once again provide the Council with some general background about our client, the NRA and the Bisley Camp itself. We trust this will provide helpful context to the comments made in this response.

General Background

As set out in the NRA’s response to the Draft Local Plan (the DLP) in September 2014, Bisley Camp comprises an overall area of 79ha. The Camp is the internationally recognised home of world target shooting, owned and operated by the NRA. The NRA is a registered charity with a Royal Charter and serves 30,000 target shooting members and affiliates in the UK. The facilities on Bisley Camp serve the largest range complex in Europe that includes 11 rifle ranges providing targets at distances of up to 1,200 yards, and the UK’s finest and largest clay pigeon shooting complex. Camp facilities include retail premises; visitor and staff accommodation; club houses and catering outlets; storage, service, production and office buildings; museum and armouries.

Bisley Camp hosts a year-round programme of competitions and events that each attract up to 2,500 competitors including many from overseas. The Camp is also the home of the other two major UK target shooting organisations, the Clay Pigeon Shooting Association and National Small Bore Shooting Association; and the ranges are extensively used for training by the armed forces, the police and other organisations.

Shooting is a major sport in the UK with over 600,000 regular participants contributing £2 billion to the UK economy (GVA); Bisley Camp is by far the largest target shooting complex in Europe and has the highest profile and richest history in the eyes of the international shooting community - most shooters have heard of “Bisley”, many aspire to visit Bisley, and tens of thousands shoot at Bisley every year.

Conclusions

The NRA are disappointed by the failure to identify and include the developed area at Bisley Camp as a major previously developed site and thereafter for the developed area to be removed from the Green Belt. Whilst in the earlier DLP Bisley Camp was proposed to remain within the Green Belt it had correctly been identified as a major previously developed site. The NRA therefore consider that LP1 no longer provides the same recognition and support for Bisley Camp and this in turn is to the detriment of the NRA’s own interests and that of the Borough’s.

The NRA are also concerned by the omission within LP1 of the former site specific policy allocation (Policy 83) that was proposed as part of the DLP. This appears to be to the further detriment of the NRA’s existing and future reasonable aspirations to preserve and enhance the facilities on offer. Within the emerging new local plan the NRA consider there remains the need to specifically support the NRA and Bisley Camp as a whole as a significant local employer, tourist, leisure and recreational provider and a nationally (and internationally) recognised facility.

The NRA acknowledge that Bisley Camp must continue to be correctly governed by appropriate national and local plan policies. However, it is considered the apparent failure to acknowledge the developed area of Bisley Camp as a major developed site and the subsequent retention of the site within the Green Belt will result in unnecessary policy restraints in addition to other development management policies that can sufficiently be used to restrict any inappropriate development from taking place, i.e. heritage and conservation protection, biodiversity and ecology protection policies, etc.
On behalf of the NRA we therefore respectfully request the comments made in this written submission be fully taken into account and appropriate supportive amendments be made before the Submission of the new local plan is undertaken.

Section 2: Key Facts about the Borough

The NRA have no concern with the current content of paragraphs 2.1 – 2.35 per se. However, aside from the single reference made within paragraph 2.8 that ‘The tourism and service sectors, commercial services and manufacturing industries are also significant employers in the borough’ there is no recognition of the Borough’s leisure and visitor experience and the significant contribution this makes. Indeed, it is not until Section 4 of LP1 that the leisure and visitor experience is given substantive reference wherein paragraph 4.4.53 sets out the leisure and visitor experience is one of the fastest growing industries in the Borough which makes a significant contribution to Guildford’s economy. Indeed tourism alone is referred to generating over £330 million of income for local businesses and supporting more than 6,000 jobs (in 2014).

The NRA, being a provider and contributor to the Borough’s leisure and visitor experience would encourage greater recognition of the overall leisure and tourism industry within LP1 and for this to be rightly presented within Section 2 of the Plan and its establishment of key facts about the Borough.

Section 4.4: Economy Policies: Policy E5

The NRA endorse the inclusion within the first bullet point of Policy E5 the clear statement that to promote a strong rural economy the sustainable growth and expansion of all types of business and enterprise in rural areas will be supported through conversion of existing buildings and provision of well-designed new buildings of appropriate scale, provided they are in accordance with green belt policies and other policies in the plan.

Section 4.4: Economy Policies: Policy E6: The leisure and visitor experience

The NRA are pleased to see paragraphs 4.4.53 – 4.4.56 provide a summary of the role and contribution that the leisure and visitor experience provides to the quality of life, social and cultural wellbeing of the Borough. The sectors contribution and value to the Borough’s economy is also rightly noted within the text.

The NRA would be pleased if within paragraph 4.4.55 the Council wished to refer to the Bisley Camp and the NRA as another of the Borough’s named recreational and tourism attractions and leisure opportunity.

The NRA consider the wording of Policy E6 is correctly supportive for the Borough’s future leisure and visitor experience and is pleased to see the provision of new and enhanced leisure and visitor attractions and the provision of new and improved accommodation and conference facilities for tourist and business visitors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Section 4.3: Protecting Policies; Policy P2: Green Belt

The NRA note paragraph 4.3.11 reflects the NPPF in stating that the main aim of Green Belt is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open.

Paragraph 4.3.12 states that historically all the villages in the Borough, except Ash Green, and major previously developed sites have been washed over by the Green Belt designation. The text then correctly confirms that the NPPF states that only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included within it. Those that do not should be inset, or removed, from it and other development management policies used to restrict any inappropriate development.

Paragraph 4.3.13 provides a list of villages which under LP1 will now be inset from the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.14 follows and clearly states that although not villages, a similar approach is to be applied to major previously developed sites in relation to whether they should remain washed over or be inset from the Green Belt. Again the paragraph correctly reiterates that the NPPF requires that land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open should not be included in the Green Belt. If major previously developed sites are of sufficient scale and do not possess an open character, it is not considered necessary for them to remain within the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.15 goes on to list the major previously developed sites (MPDS) which will become inset from the Green Belt under LP1. These are: Henley Business Park, HM Prison Send, Keogh Barracks, Mount Browne, Pirbright Barracks, Pirbright Institute and the University of Law Guildford.

The NRA do not object to the insetting of any of these MPDS from the Green Belt. However, the NRA are entirely concerned, and disappointed, by: 1) the omission of Bisley Camp from the list of major previously developed sites within the Borough set out by paragraph 4.3.15; and 2) the according omission of Bisley Camp's developed land area as being inset from the Green Belt and shown to be so on the proposals maps of LP1.

As the Council will recall, in response to the consultation on the DLP in late 2014 the NRA submitted representations on the findings of the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS) which comprised, and still does, part of the evidence base upon which the new local plan and its policies are being developed. It is not our intention to fully reiterate the content of the representations made in response to the DLP in response to LP1. A copy of the complete submission is however included at Appendix 1 of this submission for ease of reference and we invite the Council to review it again as a comprehensive element of the NRA’s submission to LP1, specifically in regard to the content under the section heading ‘Assessment of the Evidence Base’.

As currently written, whether by intention or otherwise, the NRA are concerned that between the consultation on the DLP and the potential, and correct, status of the developed area of Bisley Camp as a MPDS has now been withdrawn by LP1. This is sincerely disappointing given the comparable similarities identified for the Council within the NPPF’s representation made in response to the DLP, specifically regarding the developed area of Bisley Camp and Henley Business Park and The University of Law. The NRA consider that the status of these sites as MPDS support the basis for recognising and establishing Bisley Camp as a MPDS within LP1; and equally for Bisley Camp to be removed from the Green Belt also.

Accordingly, the NRA would like to see paragraph 4.3.15 amended to include Bisley Camp as a specified major previously developed site. The NRA also consider that the boundary of Bisley Camp’s MPDS should be shown on the LP1 proposal maps to the extent shown on the drawing attached as Appendix 2 of this letter.

The NRA also note that beyond the reference to MPDS within paragraph 4.3.15 LP1 does not contain any other policy concerning MPDS. Having spoken with members of the Council’s Policy Team we have been advised that, at this time, it is the intention that a specific policy or set of policies relating to MPDS’s will be brought forward as part of the future Local Plan 2: Development Management Policies (LP2). It is considered this approach is less than ideal for the NRA and Bisley Camp. Firstly, although a MPDS policy could conceivably be delivered via the LP2 given the purpose and intent of MPDS status and its implications it is considered that this matter should be addressed as part of the LP1. MPDS are strategic policy designations and their designation and policy context should be developed and assessed accordingly. Indeed, as currently written in LP1 it would appear that this is what the consequence of paragraph 4.3.15 and the proposals maps are already establishing. The omission of Bisley Camp as an inset MPDS within LP1 is therefore failing to support the future regeneration and potential sustainable growth of the camp as a significant contributor to the leisure and tourism industry.
within the Borough. This would be contrary to paragraph 28 of the NPPF and likewise to the Council’s own stated spatial vision.

The NRA would also acknowledge the Council’s current LDS sets out the timescale for delivery of LP2 which is due to commence with evidence gathering from September 2017. Final adoption of LP2 will subsequently follow, after intervening consultation stages, in late 2018/early 2019. LP2 is clearly someway from the present and this further increases the importance to the NRA of the appropriateness to define the status of Bisley Camp as a MPDS (whether within or inset from the Green Belt) as part of LP1.

In summary conclusion, the NRA consider Bisley Camp should be allocated as an inset major previously developed site. Insetting the site would not conflict with the purposes of including land within the Green Belt (as defined by Paragraph 80 of the NPPF) and, on balance, there is no reason why sufficient defensible boundaries (in compliance with Paragraph 85 of the NPPF) should not be identified. In this regard the NRA would welcome further dialogue with Officers of the Policy Team to discuss and provide additional boundary information. Furthermore, as identified in paragraph 20.8 of the GBCS, if major previously developed sites are not considered appropriate for insetting and are to remain washed over within the Green Belt this implies the open character of the site makes an important contribution to openness. This in turn implies there is limited opportunity to redevelop, or expand the site, without detracting from the openness of the Green Belt. It is evident from an objective assessment of the major developed area at Bisley Camp that the land does not make such an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt nor does it in landscape character terms as identified in the Council’s own Landscape Character Appraisals. It is also evident that Bisley Camp exhibits comparable features with other major previously developed sites in the Borough that are proposed to be inset from the Green Belt and are stated as such within paragraph 4.3.15 of LP1.

Policy P2: Green Belt

The NRA generally support the wording of Policy P2.

However, the 4th bullet point of paragraph 89 of the NPPF clearly states the replacement of a building, provided the new building is in the same use and not materially larger than the one it replaces is one of the stated exceptions whereby the construction of a new building need not be considered inappropriate. Nowhere within the NPPF is it stated or implied that new buildings must also be sited on or close to the position of the existing building.

The inclusion of this requirement within Policy P2 is therefore entirely unnecessary, unduly restrictive and fails to accord with the corresponding Green Belt policies of the NPPF. The inclusion of this requirement within Policy P2 is also unqualified within the supporting text to justify why such a specific additional policy requirement should be included within the Borough’s development plan.

The NRA would therefore support an amendment to Policy P2 so that it reads:

‘…Proposals will be permitted where they are consistent with the exceptions listed in national planning policy and, where relevant, also meet the following criteria:…

Replacement buildings

Bisley Camp is the internationally recognised body/home of world target shooting and the NRA is a registered charity with a Royal Charter and serves 30,000 target shooting members and affiliates in the UK. The NRA wish to express an interest in participating at the Examination in recognition of the importance that the policies of the new local plan will have upon the interests of the NRA specific to the continued success and appropriate potential future improvements of the facilities at Bisley. The importance of the leisure and visitor experience and the significant contribution this sector makes to the Borough's economy should be reflected as part of the Local Plan process. The NRA wish to contribute and engage directly as one provider of a leisure and tourism attraction within the Borough accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

RE: REGULATION 19 CONSULTATION, DRAFT LOCAL PLAN POLICY A29

I write on behalf of Copperwood Developments Ltd, to make specific comments relating to draft Policy A29.

As background information, Copperwood Developments Ltd recently obtained Outline planning consent at appeal for 56 dwellings on Land South of Guildford Road, Ash (Application Ref 14/P/01870).

Following the appeal decision (APP/Y3615/W/15/3135326), dated April 2016, Copperwood submitted a further Outline planning application for 154 dwellings on an enlarged application site (Application Ref 16/P/01679). This application was recommended for approval to the Planning Committee (17th May 2017), who resolved to approve the scheme subject to a
S.106 agreement, which included a requirement for land to be made available for the Ash road bridge as well as a contribution towards the road bridge itself.

It should be noted, that as part of the planning application the applicant’s Highway Consultant submitted extensive reports and data to Surrey County Highways Authority (SCHA) to demonstrate that the proposal for 154 dwellings, on its own, and in combination with other development schemes in the area, would not generate a requirement for a road bridge.

The submitted transport assessment has been accepted by SCHA, who have confirmed that a road bridge is not required as part of my client’s proposal. However, Guildford Borough Council (GBC) continue to insist that a road bridge is required and refers to the emerging Policy A29. The Committee Report, whilst referring to Policy A29 and the S106 road bridge contribution, nevertheless states that the policy carries limited weight at this stage due to its draft status.

My client contends that the requirement for a financial contribution for the road bridge and for my client to gift land to the GBC for the road bridge, fails to meet the tests for S.106 agreements, namely that the requirement is necessary to make the development acceptable in planning terms; directly related to the development; and fairly and reasonably related in scale and kind to the development.

Turning to Policy A29, I would make the following comments:

Policy A29 (1)
We note the requirement for a financial contribution towards expansion of Ash Manor Secondary School for an additional one form entry. It is not clear how these contributions will be sought, and from which developments, particularly as CIL Regulations only enable the Council to seek a maximum of 5 x S106 agreements for a specific infrastructure project.

The policy does not elaborate as to which of the planned development schemes, numbering 1,750 dwellings in total, will contribute towards the secondary school, particularly as some 40% of the 1,750 dwellings have already obtained planning consent without any contributions being payable towards the school.

It is contended, that funding for the secondary school would be more appropriate and equitable through CIL contributions, once the charging schedule is in place.

Policy A29 (2)
It is contended, that seeking financial contributions towards the expansion of existing GP provision in the area, through land and new buildings for a new GPs surgery, is a questionable infrastructure project, particularly as doctors surgeries tend to be privately owned enterprises, owned often by the practice doctors and not owned by NHS England. The contributions towards a doctors surgery could, therefore, be potentially funding a private enterprise.

As noted in the Member and officer discussion during the consideration of application 16/P/01679 (May 2017 Planning Committee), the Council officer responding to a question by a Councillor concerning contributions towards a GP surgery stated:-

“...we are trying to engage with GPs and CCGs but at the moment we don’t have a costed and worked up project by which to take a contribution to.” ”...the Bewley Homes Scheme for 400 secures land for provision of a healthcare facility. If we knew what that was and we knew NHS England were going to fund it and pay for it we could seek contributions towards it. Where we are at the moment is we don’t know who will fund that or provide that. That could be provided privately for a commercial rent and if you take a contribution to it you are funding a private company to deliver something that they are providing. We don’t have enough information on what that project is at this time to be able to justify a contribution towards it. “. “...The answer to that question I think is we don’t have the evidence and there’s not the evidence before you in this committee to link this development to causing an unacceptable impact on local healthcare provision. I appreciate there’s lots of developments that have gone before and anecdotal evidence of GPs’ waiting times is before everybody but to be able to justify reason for refusal you would have to be able to link this development to that breaking point in healthcare provision in the area and we don’t have that evidence. Thank you Chairman”

In the light of the above officer comments to the Planning Committee Members in May of this year, it is somewhat surprising that this Policy (A29 (2)) continues to seek such contributions.
Policy A29 (9)
The policy seeks provision of a new road bridge and associated footbridge to enable the closure of the level crossing. There is no indication within the policy as to how this road bridge will be paid for. The previously superseded draft Policy A30 required developers to cover the cost of the road bridge, estimated to cost £15m to build, excluding the value of the land.

Although in the light of CIL regulations and the limit of 5 x S106 contributions towards a single infrastructure project, there is a strong possibility of a significantly high financial burden being levied against a small amount of development schemes that may come forward in the Ash and Tongham area.

Nevertheless, it is contended that the road bridge is not required to alleviate any highway safety and congestion issues. The application for 154 dwellings (16/P/01679), has shown through the transport assessment and data on queuing in the vicinity of the level crossing during barrier downtimes, that the current proposal on its own, or in combination with other approved development schemes, will not cause a highway safety issue. The proposed road mitigation measures proposed as part of application 16/P/01679, will improve traffic movements on the immediate highway. SCHA have accepted the applicant’s findings and have not raised any objections to the proposal or indeed sought the provision of a road bridge as part of the 154 dwelling scheme.

The policy also requires developers to provide land for the road bridge, with no mention of Compulsory Purchasing the land required for the road bridge or how the land will be acquired.

We therefore contend, that the road bridge requirement of Policy A29 would fail to comply with CIL regulations should GBC seek to fund the scheme through S106 contributions.

“Planning obligations should not be sought where they are clearly not necessary to make the development acceptable in planning terms. Planning obligations must be fully justified and evidenced.”
(Paragraph: 004 Reference ID: 23b-004-20150326 Revision date: 26 03 2015)

It is contended, that the road bridge is not justified or evidenced as being necessary to alleviate pressures on the local highway from proposed new development.

For this reason, it is contended that the above site should be considered for inclusion within the Site Allocations Document of the Draft Local Plan. The site is considered to be a suitably located and sustainable site on the edge of East Clandon.

The site is in the ownership of Clandon Regis Golf Club, the land is surplus to the Golf Club’s requirements, and save for any proposed development scheme maintaining a reasonable buffer between it and the Golf Course, the proposal would not have any negative impact on the Golf Course.

In particular, H1 (9) seeks to make provision for self-build plots and custom housebuilding plots on smaller sites, yet the policy seems to focus and encourage more the provision self-build on strategic housing sites of 100 units and above, where a 5% allocation is sought. It is contended, that more emphasis should be placed on facilitating self-build and custom housing provision of smaller sites coming forward for self-build housing.

You provided me with a written invitation to view and comment on the new plan for the area.

I would like you to note my objection to the proposal to alter the settlement boundary of Shalford which would bring in to projected use fields between the main road to wonersh and cranleigh , and chinthurst lane.

I object to the plan on the basis that any new development in this area will generate additional risk of flooding from drainage issues on Chinthurst hill; additional traffic congestion and risk of accidents in on already busy and narrow roads in the area. The infrastructure of the area with poor road capacity already struggles to cope with traffic that attempts to get in to and around Guildford via Shalford and Chilworth.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the proposed boundary changes for the following reasons:

- GBC should support the expressed view of local residents in protecting the fields behind the village hall from development. They should be retained within the current green belt and kept outside the village settlement boundary. The boundaries are long established and there is no valid reason to change them.
- Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary change only last year. The local community is united in this stance.
- The land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village's community facilities.
- The land’s elevation is 32ft above King’s Road, the highest in the area. Any housing development built on it would tower over the community facilities and surrounding area.
- Access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane, an already congested country lane which acts wrongly as an overflow parking area for Shalford Station and causes back-up on the Cranleigh Road for traffic turning in if cars are proceeding in the opposite direction. There are no passing pull-ins and dangerous reversing is often the only solution to give way.

Re: New Version of Local Plan - Objection to changes to Shalford Green Belt/Settlement Boundary.
I am writing to express my strong objection to plans to move the green belt boundary to exclude the open space behind the Village Hall and Tennis courts, and to include these fields in the settlement boundary. I understand there is much local dislike of the plans, evidenced by a large number of petition signatories who are alarmed by the plan. The space in question is undoubtedly a key part of the local landscape, and contributes to the open character of the village centre. Any housing on this land would detract from the spacious vista enjoyed by users of the community amenities such as the Tennis and Bowls clubs. As a user of the Tennis club myself, I am aghast at the prospect of losing this open space. Finally, and equally damning, access to any significant housing development on the fields would place an unsustainable burden on the traffic capacity of Chinthurst Lane, which is already heavily congested during rush-hours.

I am hereby objecting to any plan to build houses on current greenbelt land. Reclassifying the land is merely sleight of hand. As to 'Affordable Housing', there will never be any truly affordable housing as long as the government (local and central) worships at the altar of Market Forces. Moreover, no normal developer will build affordable houses because:-

a) The price of land (dictated by market forces) represents the majority of the cost;

b) As soon as someone moves into affordable housing, they will think about selling at the market price, thereby instantly converting that house from affordable to unaffordable;

Truly affordable housing requires release of cheap land (not green belt, as this belongs to everybody!), and benevolent developers who can show that they build efficiently, well, and do not make excessive profit.

Finally, the main reason that starter homes are so expensive in the Guildford area, is that so many students live in buy-to-let housing, instead of accommodation provided for them by the University on University land. The University's past practice of selling their land (which they were given free of charge to provide facilities for their staff and students) to commercial developers and speculators, is an absolute disgrace.

There is a large open space in front of Tesco, adjoining the hospital. Apart from breaking up what is already very low density of development this appears to serve no real purpose apart from the occasional balloon launch, and one or two small children’s players. At the time of writing it is just been invaded by gypsies. To my mind this would make a good retail development site Poor possibly a residential one associated with the hospital and University and could stand something reasonably high. The opportunity cost of it sitting there is a considerable number of million pounds. The children’s play Area use could be retained in any new development.

Since we moved here 23 years ago the talk has been of a major retail development on North Street adjacent to the existing Friary Centre. There has been minimal progress, and nothing to see, during this period which is a desperate indictment of how planning policy in the town is implemented. Hopefully the proposed John Lewis store will come to pass whilst hope that your downfall North Street will need to be pedestrianized the same extent that the High Street is i.e. closed to traffic during the bulk of the day.

With regard to power requirements, sustainable solutions close to significant development should be explored such as solar, possibly on the roofs of new dwellings, and the suitability of the Downs as a site for wind turbines, especially perhaps associated with the Research Park and the University area - where a modern and progressive image is appropriate - should be explored. In many senses turbines can be aesthetically beautiful, particularly once what they achieve and what they avoid is known.

All housing should be designed so that it is suitable for all ages by, for example, the inclusion of bar handles or toilet blushing buttons that are not too stiff for old people to use. This would have no adverse impact on younger people in such matters are generally simply an issue with good design. They need not bad to the cost of development they just require a little more thought prior to development in the more detailed specification; if such is required in this area it is likely to extend to other areas of construction resulting overall in a far better product. This is covered at 4.2.4 except that the word all is absent. The plan would be better if it were added.

The 40% affordable housing allocation is not as demanding as it sounds given that only 10% of private units are one bedroom whereas 40% of the social units are one bedroom. I thought the need for social housing was from young families with children. In any event these have a great acclaim to their own home where is young single people are much more capable of living in shared accommodation and can be more mobile. I would be interested to see how are you arrived at your rather convenient demand analysis.

And as to who qualifies for the social housing this is not clear. In London it can, I believe be available to households with a combined income up to £85,000 which is a long way from what most people would expect.

Please take into account the following comments on the local plan.

At the local meeting I went to, Paul Spooner emphasised that all the major strategic development was contingent on major infrastructure improvement. This is not sufficiently clear in his forward to the plan. Paragraph 4, for instance, it should be unequivocal and say something like the existing infrastructure in the borough is under severe pressure: traffic congestion is 12 highest in Europe and there is very little capacity for increased electricity consumption. In order not to exacerbate the current shortcomings no significant new development will be permitted until the necessary finance for increasing the capacity of local roads including in particular the A3 and Guildford town centre one-way system has been secured and implementation timetabled.

This will ensure that the developers have realistic expectations as to when sites can be brought forward and avoid the risk that the proviso to plan gets overlooked in the future.

Paragraph 2.15 is a statement of the obvious. It can take two hours to cross from one side of Guildford to the other which is totally unacceptable and imposes huge diseconomies, social costs and additional pollution. It should be amended to read: “There is an urgent requirement to increase the proportion of trips undertaken on a sustainable basis notwithstanding the anticipated increase in population. The council will encourage cycling, walking and the use of public transport and discourage inefficient use of the private motorcar by all means possible including consideration of congestion charging, encouraging car sharing, discouraging single occupancy use and working with local schools to substantially reduce the number of children dropped off by car, and to explore the possibility of specific school-related traffic management initiatives and, particularly in the morning rush hour, such as short-term one way streets or temporary closure to through traffic of critical residential roads used for the “school run”.

Similarly, 2.22. To say that the infrastructure is experiencing additional stress in no way conveys how overloaded the road system in particular is. There must be sufficient quantitative data to demonstrate just how unacceptable the existing situation is nevermind the possibility of adding to it.

Other terms of the size understanding of Guildford had bypasses created in the 1970’s, 1980s and 1990s. Guilford was introduced in the 1930s since when traffic volumes have increased beyond all expectations. On any objective Analysis Guildford is in need of an additional bypass. In normal circumstances this would take the form of a southern loop to create a circle around the urban area but this is not possible given the attractive and protected nature of the countryside. The idea of the tunnel therefore beneath the existing A3 could be an excellent solution. The notion of simply widening the existing A3 Will have a lot of detrimental environmental impacts. For example, living here we are 2 miles from the A3 but we can still hear the roar of the traffic from the out of town section which lacks sound absorbing tarmac and due to to the prevailing wind direction.

The housing table in the appendix sets out clear housing targets but the fact that these are dependent upon prior infrastructure improvements is not equally clear. It seems to me that there is every possibility that the numbers in the table will be seized upon and the proviso will be forgotten. There is also a very real risk that construction of the houses will be commenced in anticipation of the improved infrastructure which will subsequently be cancelled. This cannot be allowed to happen and this risk must be totally eradicated in the way the plan is written.

Policy A26 outlines extensive development and expansion but does not provide an adequate increase in infrastructure to support it.

Also, this area is currently used for recreational purposes by SRP employees and nearby residents - the allocation does not specifically include recreational space (e.g. parks) to replace the land that is being allocated for development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Regarding policy A26, you have added a secondary school to the allocation, yet I do not believe there is sufficient access to make this sensible.

You have now stated that Gill Avenue is to be a primary access route - this road is already heavily congested due poor access management by the hospital (vehicles for the front and rear of the hospital entering and exiting via different roads instead of one main road).

You have also stated that the link road from the A31 will be access controlled. Assuming people attending the secondary school will not just be living in this area (you have stated this in allocation (9)), how are they supposed to get in? Again you are assuming that all traffic will enter via the already congested Gill Avenue. I can see the link road being of benefit to SRP (I work there by the way) but not to anyone else. There is still no provision for a road joining Aldershot Road to this area without going through Park Barn and Broad Street - you only state "Developer to provide the western route". This should be set out in the plan and not subject to a developer making a mess of it later.

I would also have expected the Park Barn railway station (A59) to have been placed within the A26 area, and to include park & ride via the railway. Buses get stuck in traffic as well and therefore are not suitable for P&R unless the roads are significantly improved.

I am at least glad that you've added a point about pedestrian and cycle access. I expect the access to the north-west of SRP (via the footpath and tunnel under the railway) to be maintained during any work in this area as it is now frequently used.

Further regarding A59, direct pedestrian access to SRP should be added as a requirement (i.e. don't assume access via RSCH). It should also be stated that pedestrian access from SRP / RSCH to Park Barn should be mandatory and available at all times (i.e. not restricted by being "station property" and "not a public right of way").

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Following the last consultation on the draft local plan for Send, the plan was adjusted and we were informed that there would not be further development to the plan. I trusted that this would be the case. The late amendment to the plan came as a dreadful shock. Guildford B.C. have not followed correct process. Since 2014 GBC. has changed every major site in Send proposed for development and has now added a massive new road junction. I object. I object to the proposed housing development at Garlick's Arch and I object to the proposed large industrial site, for the following reasons:

1. Potential flooding which would impact seriously on Send Marsh. I understand that this is a distinct possibility.
   1. Traffic congestion on this already very busy area. The traffic generated by a large industrial site would make life intolerable. The amount of traffic on the Portsmouth Road already makes it extremely difficult for the elderly and disabled to cross the road other than at the crossing in Ripley Village.
   1. Lack of infrastructure to support additional needs for education and medical services of the large number of new residents.
   1. Poor public transport services which obliges residents to travel by car.
   1. Garlick's Arch is home to ancient and irreplaceable woodland.

I object to the proposed enormous housing development at Wisley. If this plan was previously rejected by Guildford Council, why is this proposal now considered viable? What has changed?
I object that there is no proposal to provide access to the A3 for the the development which would seriously impact on Ripley and Send, where traffic is busy at all times and subject to gridlock at critical times of the day.

I object at the sudden proposal to remove Ripley, Send, Clandon and other villages from the greenbelt. The open fields are the lungs of the district, in addition, they do much to ease potential flooding. A most casual glance at the surface water which spreads across the area after rainfall would alert one to the risk of flooding.

The villages provide a buffer between Guildford and Woking, and will become urbanised without the infrastructure and resources needed for support.

What is the purpose of consultation? Consultation is offered, due response is made, draft plans amended, then new and more extensive proposals are offered for consultation. This time there is a short period allowed for consideration of a weighty document which is accessible only with difficulty, by the unprofessional reader who would be affected. I object.

I further object to the disproportionate development concentrated in one area of the borough.

Please reply to this letter and ensure that it is put before the Inspector.

Once again the plan for Send has returned to bring overwhelming dismay and grave concern to the people of this Village. The Planning Committee received 32,000 objections to its proposals, a large proportion of which are from Send. Are they of no consequence? I realise that they come not from powerful corporate bodies, but they do come from families who are council tax payers, who live in, and have regard for the area, and whose lives are most deeply affected by these changes.

I object that the new plan has taken no account of the repeated objections of the people of this Village.

I object that all these proposed developments are on Greenbelt land

Must the people of Send, which comprises some 11% of the Borough, have imposed on them 40% of the development of the whole Guildford Plan? This would see the village become submerged by overdevelopment, at even greater risk of flooding, traffic congestion, an industrialised area conjoined to Woking and Guildford by houses for families for whom no additional provision has been made.

The Government has repeatedly spoken in defence of the Greenbelt. Is Send excluded from this?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
   - The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
   - A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
   - The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
     - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
     - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
     - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
   - It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).
The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.
This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

   Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

   Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

   I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

   Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

   With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

   The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

   The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

   1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

   Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

   1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
   2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
   3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I formally write to convey my objection to your Local Plan. It is really time that Guildford Borough Council start listening to the residents of Guildford and stop decimating our villages. The Guildford Borough Council planning committee are motivated by financial incentives, back handers by any other name in order to pass these outrageous planning applications. A point worth noting is that of the current Vision Engineering factory construction: The planning was passed with the majority of residents OBJECTING and without any special conditions being satisfied but the planning committee accepted financial kickbacks from Vision Engineering in order to pass the application. The planning committee need to learn by their mistakes and realise that these actions are both abhorrent and totally unacceptable behaviour. They should visit this site so as they may learn how to read construction drawings and how an A3 2D site plan converts into the monstrosity that exists today. You can’t keep overloading our villages with more and more houses and with totally unsuitable industrial units, when there are much better locations within the borough, namely brownfield sites. The construction of a new marina is another example of the Guildford Borough Council not listening to local people and the interests of the majority vs. their financial gain.

For the avoidance of doubt:-

1. I OBJECT to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt.
2. I OBJECT to the building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery
3. I OBJECT to the building of 400 houses and 7000 sq metres of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch
There are far more appropriate brownfield sites to build 400 houses and there is industrial space at Slyfield site. Why have Guildford’s housing needs and supporting evidence not been made available?

4. I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill. Yet again the local roads and infrastructure cannot support the development of 40 houses in this inappropriate location.

5. I OBJECT to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. Send village just can’t cope with the traffic now, so what do you think the opening of a new interchange would do to traffic through the village?

Simple Cause and Effect analysis would have highlighted that adding a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common just becomes a magnet for traffic from the proposed 2000 new houses at Wisley Airfield, 2000 houses at Gosden Hill, Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm. The majority of that increased traffic would go through Send causing overload and gridlock. It’s gridlocked into Woking when there are roadworks in Old Woking!

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

- It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation.
- You’ve already allowed a marina to be built and again against local objections.
- There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions.
- Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate.

You allowed both the Vision Engineering eye saw to be built and the building of a marina within Send village green belt when the majority of the residents of Send objected. The council needs to stop accepting financial incentives from developers/owners in order to get planning permission granted. Listen to the residents of Send and STOP wrecking our village. I don’t suppose that any of the proposed building projects are anywhere near those on the council’s planning committee! How would you like a B&Q warehouse (Vision Engineering), marina or caravans located near your home and in your village? STOP!!!!

The roads in Send just can’t cope now, get the council’s planning committee to visit (not during school holidays) Old Woking and see the gridlock of cars in the morning and evening. Does the council’s planning department have access to any traffic analysis simulation tools? These may help them investigate the consequences of their clueless local plan on the roads, resources, green belt and local residents.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more and it was too much at 45 homes so 60 is totally unacceptable.
- It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people! Why don’t you listen to the major of local people that object?
- It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction. This junction is dangerous now!
- It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse. You’ve already got rid of too much STOP now!
- It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse
- It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
• It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

As a consequence of this and since the report and various findings represents a very large proportion of the local plan, the entire proposed GBC Local Plan 2017 as amended, is in my view fatally flawed and should be thrown out. Additionally, if were to consider the so called ‘evidence base’ contained in the proposals in this plan, they are contrary to a large portion of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) particulary applying to the Green Belt and proposals for development and change including the disgraceful proposals (original and amended) concerning unapproved boundary changes and ‘insetting’ designed to allow as much development on the Green Belt as possible.

As an example of how the Green Belt including openness should be protected from inappropriate development, there is a recent High Court judgment in the case of R (Boot) v Elmbridge Borough Council [2017] EWHC 12 (Admin) which provides useful clarification on the approach that local planning authorities should take when applying paragraph 89 of the National Planning policy Framework (NPPF) to applications for development within the Green Belt.

This case concerned a proposal to build a new sports centre which local residents where concerned was inappropriate and would harm the openness of the Green Belt. The details are reproduced here:

The claimant argued that if a new sports facility caused harm to the openness of the Green Belt - even limited harm - it was not appropriate development. Mr Justice Supperstone ruled that the first ground had been made out. The judge said the conclusion of the council that the proposal had a "limited adverse impact on openness” of the Green Belt was not a finding that there had been compliance with the policy that required openness to be preserved. “Accordingly even if the adverse impact referred to at para 95 of the OR [officer’s report] is acceptable for the purposes of DM17 [the council’s development plan policy – Green Belt (Development and New Buildings)], it is not acceptable for the purposes of para 89 of the NPPF,” he said.
The judge also accepted counsel for the claimant’s submissions that West Lancashire Borough Council v SSCLG [2009] EWHC 3631 established that if “a proposal has an adverse impact on openness, the ‘inevitable conclusion’ (see para 22 of the judgment) is that it does not comply with a policy that requires openness to be maintained. A decision maker does not have "any latitude" to find otherwise, based on the extent of the impact.”

In the present case, Mr Justice Supperstone said, the defendant council “concluded that there was an adverse impact on openness, but nevertheless granted permission without giving consideration to whether under paras 87 and 88 of the NPPF there were very special circumstances that would justify it.” The High Court judge rejected the second ground of challenge, saying the two proposals were materially dissimilar. The development of a sports centre is not materially dissimilar to building houses and other buildings in the Green Belt and in no way could it be said that such housing development would not harm the Green Belt.

The GBC Local Plan 2017 in its original form and as amended, is contrary to the following NPPF guidelines: NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 79; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 80; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 81; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 82; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 83;

NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 84; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 85; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 86; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 87; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 88; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 89; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 90; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 91; NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 92; and NPPF planning guideline Paragraph 109.

In addition, I object to policies: A25; A26; A27; A28; A29; A32; A35; A37; A38; A39; A40; A42; A43; A44; A58; A49; A55; A56; A57 on the grounds that all these sites earmarked for development and change detailed on the plans and diagrams, are either Green Belt, green farmland, ANOBs, or wrongly designated as urban land when they clearly are not.

The corresponding proposed housing requirements and all related infrastructure including roads; water; gas; sewerage; refuse collection and treatment and telecommunications assessments etc, are hopelessly flawed, inaccurate and in some cases missing. Additionally, the ‘evidence base’ consisting of thousands of pages of closely written text and graphs/diagrams is so completely incomprehensible to many ordinary people, that most will not even attempt to read or understand it.

It seems to me that real evidence is mistaken for wildly inaccurate assumptions and projections. One might perhaps conclude that this could appear to be a deliberate policy to avoid proper scrutiny, but I am sure this is very unlikely.

In conclusion it is my opinion that the scale and size of development and change as proposed in the Guildford Local Plan is breathtakingly inappropriate and would irrevocably change the whole character and environment of Guildford. Such a plan if approved would allow several ‘medium sized towns’ to be built in the villages and Green Belt areas of the borough. The desire to increase house building and development is not an exceptional or valid reason to build on and destroy the Green Belt land. This has been stated many times in the NPPF and confirmed by several recent legal judgements.

I urge GBC to listen to and heed the views of local people as required by the localism act and reject this ill-conceived and highly damaging proposed local plan.

USE OF PREVIOUSLY DEVELOPED LAND

Section 4 of the Plan under Site Allocations A1 - A58, is split into sections including ‘Previously Developed Land in the Green Belt’.

The Plan proposes the redevelopment of two sites (A32 Surrey Police Headquarters and A33 The University of Law). As highlighted above, the NPPF encourages ‘… the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land), provided that it is not of high environmental value;’

Land at Treetops Boarding Kennels and Loxhill Nursery, Old Portsmouth Road, Guildford was assessed through the 2014 SHLAA (Site 2118) as being suitable, available and achievable for the delivery of residential development subject to a satisfactory relationship within the Green Belt, and in relation to the AONB, conservation area and listed building. The site’s development potential was considered to be in the order of 12 units on 2ha, at a density of just 6dph. The site was confirmed as both available and achievable. An application for the site’s redevelopment for 39 dwellings 17/P/00801 is currently being considered by the Council. It is considered that this application reaches a balance between making most effective and efficient use of available previously developed land whilst still respecting the site’s environmental constraints. The resulting density remains very low at 20dph.

Again, at paragraph 14 of the NPPF, the definition of sustainable development is confirmed:
‘For plan-making this means that:

- local planning authorities should positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area;
- Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change.’

The effective use of such previously developed land will assist the local planning authority in meeting its objectively assessed housing needs and in so doing respond positively to wider opportunities for growth as required by the NPPF.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
i) Site Allocations:
Land at Treetops Boarding Kennels and Loxhill Nursery, Old Portsmouth Road should be added to the list of sites in the Previously Developed Land in the Green Belt category of Site Allocations as follows:
New Site A34 Treetops Boarding Kennels and Loxhill Nursery Shalford Homes (C3)39

ii) Policy P2: Green Belt
Policy P2 should be amended to recognise the potential that previously developed sites within the Green Belt can make to housing delivery. As such an additional section should be added as follows:
‘Use of Previously Developed Land
(7) The redevelopment of previously developed land within the Green Belt is considered to be appropriate provided that it is appropriate to the scale of the locality and has a beneficial impact on the character of the countryside or the local environment in terms of improving the local built fabric.’

Objectively Assessed Housing Need

The West Surrey SHMA 2015 concluded that there was an objectively assessed need for 13,860 dwellings (693dpa) in Guildford Borough. This conclusion was based on drawing together the following threads:
- The SHMA calculated an expected employment growth of 13,860 in the borough over the Plan period 2013-2033 giving rise to 693dpa;
- This figure was then adjusted to include:
  - Affordability pressures - Both across the HMA and in Guildford Borough itself, affordability has long been recognised as a critical issue. The level of households per year that are expected to require support to meet their housing needs and thus be eligible for affordable housing is significant at 455 households per year. A significant proportion of these are younger households. The SHMA responded to this level of need by seeking to improve affordability through adjusting the household formation rates to the 2001 level arising in a need of 668 dpa;
  - Student growth - A higher than anticipated level of growth in the student population than previously assumed in the demographic analysis and taking into account planning assumptions that a greater proportion of students would live in households rather than university managed accommodation; The Guildford Addendum Report, 2017 has been published to the West Surrey SHMA 2015 and has been used to inform the number of houses planned for over the lifetime of the Local Plan 2013 - 2033. The 2017 Addendum concludes that there is a need for 12,426 homes between 2015-2034 (654dpa), some 50 dpa less than the 2015 SHMA Report.

There would appear to be an over-reliance on economic factors affecting the housing requirement in a climate with much uncertainty with Brexit negotiations currently at an embryonic stage. The extent of the impact depends on international negotiations that are yet to take place and the government’s future policy response. This means that any estimates made will be subject to a high degree of uncertainty. The NAO Analysis Report July 2017 confirms that ‘Uncertainty will continue to remain for some time around the forms that trading relationships will eventually take after the UK leaves the EU’.
In the current climate where there is considerable uncertainty over the Brexit negotiations it is far too early to make assumptions about the implications they may have for the economy and particularly housing requirements. Accordingly, such elements as international migration should be set aside until such time as a greater degree of certainty as to the outcome is known.

It is therefore considered that the 2017 Guildford Addendum Report is premature in concluding a reduction in the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough and that these should revert to the 2015 West Surrey SHMA figures.

Further, the NPPF which seeks to promote housing growth. Indeed one of the Core Planning Principles at paragraph 17 of the NPPF states that planning should:

‘Proactively drive and support sustainable economic development to deliver the homes, business and industrial units, infrastructure and thriving local places that the country needs. Every effort should be made objectively to identify and then meet the housing, business and other development needs of an area, and respond positively to wider opportunities for growth.’

More specifically, it should:

‘Encourage the effective use of land by reusing land that has been previously developed (brownfield land), provided that it is not of high environmental value;’

The effective use of such previously developed land will assist the local planning authority in meeting its objectively assessed housing needs and in so doing respond positively to wider opportunities for growth as required by the NPPF.

Objectively Assessed Housing Need

The West Surrey SHMA 2015 concluded that there was an objectively assessed need for 13,860 dwellings (693dpa) in Guildford Borough. This conclusion was based on drawing together the following threads:

- The SHMA calculated an expected employment growth of 13,860 in the borough over the Plan period 2013-2033 giving rise to 693dpa;

- Student growth - A higher than anticipated level of growth in the student population than previously assumed in the demographic analysis and taking into account planning assumptions that a greater proportion of students would live in households rather than university managed accommodation;

The Guildford Addendum Report, 2017 has been published to the West Surrey SHMA 2015 and has been used to inform the number of houses planned for over the lifetime of the Local Plan 2013 - 2033. The 2017 Addendum concludes that there is a need for 12,426 homes between 2015-2034 (654dpa), some 50 dpa less than the 2015 SHMA Report.

There would appear to be an over-reliance on economic factors affecting the housing requirement in a climate with much uncertainty with Brexit negotiations currently at an embryonic stage. The extent of the impact depends on international negotiations that are yet to take place and the government’s future policy response. This means that any estimates made will be subject to a high degree of uncertainty. The NAO Analysis Report July 2017 confirms that ‘Uncertainty will continue to remain for some time around the forms that trading relationships will eventually take after the UK leaves the EU’.

In the current climate where there is considerable uncertainty over the Brexit negotiations it is far too early to make assumptions about the implications they may have for the economy and particularly housing requirements. Accordingly, such elements as international migration should be set aside until such time as a greater degree of certainty as to the outcome is known.

It is therefore considered that the 2017 Guildford Addendum Report is premature in concluding a reduction in the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough and that these should revert to the 2015 West Surrey SHMA figures.

Further, the NPPF which seeks to promote housing growth. Indeed one of the Core Planning Principles at paragraph 17 of the NPPF states that planning should:

‘Proactively drive and support sustainable economic development to deliver the homes, business and industrial units, infrastructure and thriving local places that the country needs. The effective use of such previously developed land will assist the local planning authority in meeting its objectively assessed housing needs and in so doing respond positively to wider opportunities for growth as required by the NPPF.

Duty to Cooperate

Reference is made in the Housing Delivery Topic Paper to the Memorandum of Understanding on housing delivery which was signed by the three authorities in the Strategic Housing Market Area, Guildford, Waverley and Woking. The MoU recognised that there is unmet need within the HMA and committed the three authorities to continued joint working to ensure housing needs across the HMA are met in full.

It is therefore also of some concern that the 2017 Addendum covers only Guildford Borough and therefore looks at the Borough in isolation from the rest of the Strategic Housing Market Area (Waverley and Woking). This has been highlighted through discussions at the Waverley Examination at the end of June 2017. The generally agreed view there was that Waverley were being overly prescriptive in their application of landscape designations and that further housing provision could be accepted as a result. Conversely, Woking, which adopted its Core Strategy in 2012 for the period up to 2027, plans for a housing provision of just 292dpa as opposed to its objectively assessed need of 517dpa. Consequently there is a significant unmet need in Woking Borough which should be addressed across the HMA as a whole. Neither Waverley, nor Guildford appear to be taking the Duty to Cooperate very seriously in this respect, demonstrated by the view expressed in the Topic Paper that Guildford is unable to sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking despite a rigorous justification to support that view, and the 2017 SHMA Addendum considering the needs of Guildford Borough in isolation from the rest of the SHMA. As a result of the debate at the Waverley Examination, it is therefore highly likely that the Inspector will recommend that Waverley takes a significant proportion of the unmet need from Woking, leaving the remainder to be identified within Guildford Borough. Further scrutiny of the constraints and opportunities for accommodating further development within Guildford to meet the overall needs of the SHMA must therefore be undertaken before the Duty to Co-operate can be considered to be appropriately discharged.

Five-year Supply of Housing Land

The 2017 Addendum to the LAA sets out the five year housing requirements 2019 - 2024 and the identified supply. Applying the 20% buffer as a consequence of persistent under-delivery, there is a shortfall over the five year period of some 881 units. Planning for a shortfall in the five year housing land supply at the outset of the Plan period, cannot be considered to be effective and the Plan is therefore currently considered unsound in this respect.

Where there is scope to increase the quantum of development on previously developed land this should be considered and an adjustment made to the proposed allocation sites accordingly.

Soundness

As a consequence, of the discussions above, objection is made to the Plan’s ‘Spatial Vision’ and Policy S2: Borough-wide Strategy, which reduces the delivery of homes from 13,860 to 12,426 in the period up to 2034.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

i) The delivery of housing should be reinstated to at least the level set out in the 2016 draft Plan i.e. ‘at least 693 dpa’ but with a further allowance to cover the current shortfall in housing land supply (881 units) plus a 10% buffer to secure flexibility and resilience across the Plan period.

MODIFICATIONS Sought TO THE PLAN
The Plan is not considered to be either positively prepared or justified. Neither is it considered to be effective in terms of delivering sufficient new homes to meet the objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough. Accordingly the Plan is currently considered to be unsound and the following amendments are sought:

i) The delivery of housing should be reinstated to at least the level set out in the 2016 draft Plan i.e. ‘at least 693 dpa’ but with a further allowance to cover the current shortfall in housing land supply (881 units) plus a 10% buffer to secure flexibility and resilience across the Plan period.

iii) Policy P2: Green Belt
Policy P2 should be amended to recognise the potential that previously developed sites within the Green Belt can make to housing delivery. As such an additional section should be added as follows:
‘Use of Previously Developed Land (7) The redevelopment of previously developed land within the Green Belt is considered to be appropriate provided that it is appropriate to the scale of the locality and has a beneficial impact on the character of the countryside or the local environment in terms of improving the local built fabric.’

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

My objections are as follows:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I strongly object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- The Council has allowed many existing houses, which would be ideal for first time buyers and those with families, to be turned into houses of multiple occupation, in order to house students, who make no contribution to Council Tax, and who are a wholly transient population. The University should be made to house their students in Halls of Residence within the purlieu of its own considerable land holdings, thereby releasing much needed housing stock.
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7. Guildford BC has foolishly encouraged the influx of a large and increasing number of “leisure” cyclists into the Horsleys, who block the roads every day of the week, hold up traffic (increasing air pollution) and impede residents from efficiently going about their everyday business.
   - I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
   - I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
   - I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
   - I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for many reasons including:

1. It is the least sustainable strategic site identified in both this version and in previous versions of the plan because of the constraints on the site and the physical location
2. It is further from railway stations than any other identified strategic site.
3. It is adjacent to the most congested stretch of strategic road network in the county and close to one the most congested junction in the country (J10)
4. Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc)
5. Any public transport provision such as bus services to/from Guildford will have to negotiate the over-crowded SRN and will therefore be unreliable and subject to frequent delays.
6. Any public transport (bus services) provision to Horsley will impact the safety of the local road network as the lanes are not wide enough to accommodate PSVs, particularly as sustainable methods of travel such as cycling and walking are being promoted at the same time. This is totally unrealistic and unsafe.
7. It is adjacent to the most popular visitor attraction in the south-east, the RHS at Wisley where visitor numbers will increase by 500,000/annum.
   - The associated traffic increase from the RHS has not been taken into account.
   - The regular events at the RHS which attract 1000’s more visitors several times a year and the resultant traffic has not been taken into account
8. There is insufficient employment available onsite so that almost all residents will have to travel to work. It is unrealistic and unsafe to assume people will walk/cycle on narrow unlit local roads on a regular basis.
9. The identified mitigation to address the impact of increased traffic will not address the commuters travelling to Woking rail station
10. It remains unclear when/if the Ockham DVOR/DME will be decommissioned as the timetable has already slipped. This constrains the site significantly in terms of building heights etc.
11. The changed “Opportunities” listed in this policy reinforce why this site is totally inappropriate talking of “good urban design”
12. Opportunity (3) should be common to all sites and is not unique to this site
13. I object to the increased area of the site as this now abuts another heritage asset, Upton Farm negatively impacting the setting of this building.
14. I object to the fact that the increased area, being on the south of the site facing the Surrey Hills AONB will increase the negative impact of the views from the AONB.
15. I object to the change of site boundaries as these are not identified correctly on the plan (Appendix H p16)
16. I object to the removal of additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification
17. I object to the change in green belt boundary to the eastern end of the site as this now encloses an area of high archaeological impact
18. I object to para 21 which “limits” development in flood zone 2 and 3. Development should be excluded in flood zone 2 and 3.
19. I object to para 22 as this does not reflect the impact of the buildings on the surrounding area.
20. I object to the fact that the council has failed to remove this site from the local plan despite receiving 1000’s of objection from local residents and statutory consultees.
21. I object to the proposed Submission Local Plan because the significant modifications made to the plan mean that this should not be a Regulation 19 consultation. A regulation 19 consultation needs to be on the totality of the plan rather than the proposed changes.
22. I object to the fact that there has been no clear explanation why the council think it is appropriate to have a regulation 19 consultation when the changes are major.
23. I object to the fact that there is no clear justification for the removal of one strategic site over site A35.
24. I object to the inclusion of A35 as it will not contribute to the 5-year housing projection due to constraints notably in the provision of sewerage capacity.
25. I object to the extension of the plan period by 1 year as it has not been identified as a major change.
26. I object to the fact that the Council have not explained why the Plan is unsound within the original time frame.
27. I object to the Council wasting tax payers and residents’ time and money not following due process and indeed ignoring previous representations.
28. I object to the inclusion of a 10% buffer in the housing number over the plan period. This is unnecessary.
29. I object to the evidence base especially the West Surrey SHMA and the Guildford addendum 2017 which is not transparent and has been challenged by other experts including NMSS.
30. I object to the transport evidence base including the SHAR 2016 Highways assessment report which has been criticised by Mouchel for using out of date modelling software and is therefore unreliable.

31. I object to the fact that the Council appear to have directed the transport assessment to use prescribed vehicle movements from this site with no justification.

32. I object to the housing number and particularly the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe that the housing number is unsound and open to legal challenge.

33. I object to the apparent disregard for the impact of in-combination development on the TBHSPA, particularly the damage caused by nitrogen deposition and high pollution levels.

34. I object to policy S2 where it states “the figures set out in the Annual Housing Target table sum to a total of 12,426” yet the figures in the table add up to 9,810 – what is the significance of the missing 2,616? This is one of a number of glaring examples of why the plan is not sound.

35. I object to the quantity of space allocated for retail in the town centre. This could be much better used for residential development. I particularly object to the reliance on the Carter Jonas study update 2017 which includes “demand” for retail space from companies already administered.

Additionally, the Council has failed to ensure that Surrey University needs to provide student accommodation on its own land, rather than losing valuable, appropriately situated housing stock for Homes of Multiple Occupation, which are the temporary residences of a transient population of students who have no commitment to the communities in which they live, and who make demands on Council services whilst not paying any Council Tax.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am a West Horsley resident and lived here for over 32 years.

I very strongly object to policy 52’s proposal on the development of housing in what is deemed ‘Green belt land’

Sir Eric Pickles stated that the imposition of such developments on Green Belt should only be implemented in ‘exceptional circumstances’. The ONS/DCLG figures in para 158 show the proposed increase as well above the agreed target. The area of the ‘Horsleys’ is recognised as Metropolitan Green Belt, incorporating Areas of Outstanding Beauty.

The proposal to build 2000 dwellings will deeply affect:

1. Roads and lanes around the surrounding area within a 5-mile radius which are already badly maintained and not fit for purpose. This increase will exacerbate the problem.

2. Drainage problems which already exist in what is ancient infrastructure and these dwellings can only increase the problem.

3. School places which are already at a premium.
4 The Medical Centre in Horsley which is at capacity as other medical centres including Effingham have shut. The increasing number of elderly and infirm people is putting further pressure on this facility.

5 The railway stations serving this area which have no further capacity to increase car parking.

I live adjacent to Shalford Village Hall on the Common and I am writing to strongly object to the above new version of the Guildford Local Plan. I have written to the Council before but feel I need to make my feelings clear again by objecting to this proposed extension of the village settlement boundary to include the fields behind Shalford Village Hall.

If this land in question is incorporated into the new village settlement boundary, it will lose its green belt and area of great landscape value (AGLV) status.

This would be a huge mistake as the land would then be open to other further development in the future. Due to the height of the land, which is 32 feet above the Kings Road, any development would be clearly seen and tower over the village community facilities and the surrounding area, detracting from the village feeling of space and open character we have at present. These boundaries have been in place for a long time and there is no valid reason for them to change.

We cannot allow the development of 20 houses on these fields with access via Chinthurst Lane. This would create a disastrous traffic situation where we already have considerable congestion and overcrowded village roads. A further 20 houses on this site would potentially mean a further 40 cars (minimum) using the access road on a daily basis, together with visiting cars. This traffic would be in addition to the already heavily congested country lane we have at present.

The lower end of Chinthurst Lane, leading off from Kings Road, is an impossible drive with the continuous parked cars on one side. Further housing development behind Shalford Village Hall would reduce this road to a standstill. Widening the lane, which I understand has also been proposed, would only further degrade our village from retaining its rural character.

I also object to the fact that the infrastructure has not been properly assessed and is inadequate to deal with current housing levels. The local roads in the area, the schools and local amenities will not be able to cope. Development of this site will surely lead to further areas of beauty being scarred forever.

I believe the proposed boundary change in blue is not correct and it's an accidental mistake. There is a lot of drama surrounding the fields behind the village hall. I think the residents of our part of Christmas Hill have got caught up in this unnecessarily.

The preferred solution would be to leave the boundary unchanged (in red).

As you can see in the map the field at the back of Findon Lodge has changed over time. The garden now extends back the whole way (in between the lime and white lines). The original field would have covered all this area hence the existing red boundary line.

Because of the garden changes I have suggested two alternative boundary lines in lime and white.

The main point here is that the small triangular field needs to remain in green belt please!

Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to these boundary changes last year.

We live in an area of outstanding natural beauty. Although this small piece of land currently has no intentions of being anything else we need to protect it. You just have to look across to Chinthurst Hill to see how badly this would be affected if something bad were to happen.

If the fields behind the village hall were not up for consideration then I'm sure the boundary near us would not be changing either. It's a very small correction.

I'm happy to show you what I mean from my back garden. I'll throw in a cup of tea too. If you'd like to chat then please do call me on [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998.].

I also want to object to the proposed boundary change to the fields behind the village hall. The big danger here is that the current owner wants to build houses on it.

Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to these boundary changes last year.

The elevation of this land and where it sits in the village contributing to the open character of the village should be protected.

We live in an area of outstanding beauty. If these fields become less protected then it's such a great shame. I know we need new housing but I think Station Road has given well above the quota needed in our area!

I refer to the land behind the Christmas Hill properties and Shalford Village Hall.

I see that you are proposing to move the green belt boundary to exclude these fields and extend the village boundary to include these fields, making it easier to develop.

I object to these changes because:

The elevation of this land is 32 ft above Christmas Hill and Kings Road. Any housing development would tower over the village community facilities and surrounding area including the ancient Shalford Common. Any development would be easily seen from Chinthurst Hill, from the Chanuts and the Downs link national trail.

The land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village community facilities.

Access to this land is via Chinthurst Lane, an already heavily congested lane.

Over 700 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary changes last year. The Parish Council also objects to the boundary changes. As you can imagine the issue has united the local community.

If Guildford Borough Council support the express views of the local residents to protect these fields from development, they should retain them within the current green belt boundary and keep them outside the village settlement boundary.

The boundary has been there for a very long time and should remain in place.

There is no justification for the proposed change.

Representations on the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites, June 2016

Representations by Thakeham Homes Ltd

Site: Land to the west of West Horsley – Policy A38

Vail Williams have been appointed by Thakeham Homes Ltd to make representations on Guildford Borough Council Regulation 19 Submission Local Plan, June 2016.

These representations focus on Policy A38: Land to the west of West Horsley. The proposed allocation of this site is for residential use (C3) and this is fully supported.

National Policy & Strategic Policies
The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) contains a presumption in favour of sustainable development, as set out in paragraph 14, and this “golden thread” runs through both plan making and decision taking. For plan making Paragraph 14 states that:

“Local Planning Authorities should positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area” and “local plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change ....”

The second part of paragraph 14 states that, for decision taking, this means:

“Approving development proposals that accord with the development plan without delay ....”

The requirement to deliver sustainable economic development, including homes, businesses and industrial units, infrastructure and thriving local places is further highlighted in Paragraph 17 of the NPPF (Point 3). It is clear there is a significant thrust at national level ‘to boost significantly the supply of housing’ (NPPF para 47.)

The Local Plan polices contained within the GBLP submission document, need to comply with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The plan must demonstrate that it is positively prepared, justified, effective, and consistent with national policy.

Policy S1: Presumption in favour of sustainable development

Policy S1 (Presumption in favour of sustainable development) within the Submission Plan for Guildford Borough Council reflects the requirement of the NPPF and it is welcomed that the Council will take a positive approach that reflects the presumption in favour of sustainable development. It is also supported that the Council will work proactively with applicants, jointly to find solutions that mean proposals can be approved wherever possible. This is a positive strategic policy within the Local Plan, reflecting national guidance, and it is noted in paragraph 4.1.1 beneath Policy S1 that “Local plans must plan positively to seek opportunities that meet the areas’ objectively assessed development needs and be flexible enough to adapt to rapid change”. Given the plan period of 20 years, the requirement for flexibility within planning policy to respond to changes over a long period is important and should be engrained throughout the plan.

Policy S2: Borough wide strategy

Policy S2 (Borough wide strategy) confirms that the Council will make provision for 13,860 new homes over the plan period (2013/2033). These figures represent the latest evidence gathered through the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) September 2015. The policy also continues and identifies other requirements for different use classes; including employment floor space.

Along with the overall housing number, Policy S2 contains a table setting out the indicative annual housing split and this runs from the year 2018/19 to 2032/33. The figures contained within the table increase towards the latter part of the Plan period and the policy states this is “reflective of timescales associated with the delivery of strategic sites and infrastructure.”

The total housing numbers identified within the table total 10,395. This is obviously short of the requirement for 13,860; as identified in the opening sentence of Policy S2. However, it is noted that the indicative annual housing targets start in the year 2018, whereas the Plan period runs from 2013. It is considered this is misleading and the table should cover the whole Plan period, including actual completions in the years preceding adoption. This would provide a clearer indicative annual approach demonstrating how the Council are going to deliver the overall housing requirement for the Plan period. This should also incorporate the required flexibility within the housing figures, to ensure that the overall target is met and sufficient flexibility is built into the plan, as required by the NPPF.

As already mentioned the NPPF contains a presumption in favour of sustainable development and flexibility, it is therefore suggested that within the first sentence of Policy S2 that the words “at least” are inserted in relation to the 13,860 new homes. The figure contained within Policy S2 should not be absolute and any further proposals that are sustainable and in accordance with the NPPF and the development plan, should be approved without delay.
Proposed wording for Policy S2: Borough wide strategy

“During the plan period (2013-33), we will make provision for at least 13,860 new homes…

This proposed wording will also facilitate the Duty to Cooperate, allowing the flexibility to contribute to the wider unmet need within the Housing Market Area.

Policy H1: Homes for all

Policy H1 (Homes for all) provides guidance on housing mix and density, along with specialist housing. The Policy is supported in terms of its aim to deliver a wide choice of homes to meet a range of accommodation needs and that development should provide a suitable mix of housing. It is considered important that site specific characteristics are taken into account and this is identified within both the housing mix section and the density section of Policy H1.

With regard to density, the Policy states that “new residential development is required to make the most efficient use of land whilst responding to local character, context and distinctiveness. Residential densities will vary dependent upon the local area, context and character and the sustainability of the location”. This ability to respond through detailed design to local circumstances is supported as it offers flexibility within the planning and design process.

The Local Plan states that it will consist of two parts, with the current document setting out the vision, aims and strategy for the Borough up to 2033 and the second part (Local Plan: Development Management Policies) containing detailed development control policies. This will provide the Council the opportunity to expand upon the key areas identified within Policy H1 in relation to local character, context, distinctiveness and site characteristics.

For the site Land to the west of West Horsley (Policy A38) this provides the flexibility to deliver at least the number of homes (135) identified, with the potential to respond to local character and ‘make the most efficient use of land’ through the detailed design and application stage.

Policy H2: Affordable Homes

National policy seeks to ensure the delivery of “a wide choice” of homes and to “widen opportunities for home ownership” through the creation of “sustainable, inclusive and mixed communities” (NPPF paragraph 50). Along with Policy H1, which contains details on housing mix, Policy H2 (Affordable homes) seeks to provide “sufficient housing to meet the needs of the borough’s population will ensure that the borough thrives, with mixed, balanced communities” (GBC LP 4.2.33).

Whilst a suitable mix of housing is required and supported through national policy, there is still the overriding requirement to “to boost significantly the supply of housing” (NPPF paragraph 47). Any housing policy, including and specifically in relation to affordable housing, needs to ensure effective delivery over the Plan period and also be flexible enough to respond to changing circumstances.

The delivery of housing, especially affordable housing, continues to dramatically alter with various new proposals seeking to increase the delivery of overall housing numbers. A wide range of housing products are available including: starter homes, shared ownership, shared equity, discount market rent, rent to buy, along with market housing and affordable and social rent.

Given the wide range of housing products available and the constantly shifting economic circumstances, it is considered that Policy H2 needs to be flexible and not overly prescriptive to ensure constant housing delivery over the Plan period.

Policy H2 also, in the first bullet point, states that “affordable homes will be provided: on sites providing five or more homes…” The thresholds, for affordable housing, have been regularly challenged and reviewed recently and the proposed policy is, as currently worded, contradictory to national policy including:
Paragraph: 017 Reference ID: 23b-017-20160519, which states: “Are there any exceptions to the 10-unit threshold? Local planning authorities may choose to apply a lower threshold of 5-units or less to development in designated rural areas...” This follows the Court of Appeal decision (May 2016) where the Department for Communities and Local Government won its appeal over a ruling that planning policy for affordable housing requirements on small-scale developments was unlawful.

Proposed wording for Policy H2: Affordable housing

Along with ensuring the threshold reflects the latest legal and national policy situation, we propose the following amendments to ensure adequate flexibility and continuous delivery over the plan period:

“...The tenure and size of affordable homes provided on each qualifying site must contribute, to the Council’s satisfaction, towards meeting the mix of affordable housing needs reflecting local demand and having regard to identified in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015, or subsequent affordable housing needs evidence. This currently includes a tenure split of at least 70% rented, with the remainder being other forms of affordable housing. Affordable rent must be no more than the maximum level set out in our most recent housing guidance or strategy. Developers will be...”

It is also proposed that the following should be added to the policy to ensure deliverability:

“Proposals that are unable to meet affordable housing requirements will be supported by clear viability evidence to establish deliverability.”

Green Belt and Countryside Study

For Policy A38 (Land to the west of West Horsley), the Green Belt and Countryside Study identifies the area (C14) as low sensitivity. The actual site is referenced as C14-C and it concludes that it is a “Potential Development Area (PDA) surrounding villages”. For site A38, it is agreed that the site is suitable for residential development and it should be inset from the Green Belt.

Land to the west of West Horsley: Land Availability Assessment

The site is identified within the Land Availability Assessment (LAA) site reference 15. The LAA identifies the site to be “located between Bens Wood Nature Reserve (non-statutory) to the north, Northcote Road to the east, East Lane to the south, and Long Reach to the west”. It terms of site character the LAA concludes “the site is physically and visually enclosed by a local undulation, hedgerows and existing residential development”. The site is adjacent to existing roads and vehicular access can be provided.

The LAA identifies that there is a Grade II listed building on site (Manor Farm House), which will need to be preserved as part of any new development. This requirement is recognised and endorsed.

The proposed development will require the provision of Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG) and bespoke SANG will be provided (as detailed below).

It is confirmed that the site and the proposed SANG is under the control of Thakeham Homes Ltd and is immediately available and achievable for residential development. The site is capable of providing at least the 135 residential units (C3) as proposed in the allocation Policy A38.

Attached as part of these representations is a Concept Plan (BMD 14.023.DR.001A) that demonstrates the site is capable of achieving a high quality layout, respecting the listed building and character of the surrounding area, whilst delivering the housing units required in Policy A38. The site boundary includes the bespoke SANG provision to the north and illustrates the proposed access roads from both Long Reach road and East Lane. The overarching conclusions of the LAA assessment, for this site, are supported.
Infrastructure Delivery Plan (IDP)

As mentioned above, the site is required to provide SANG and details are contained with the IDP 2016. Specifically for Land at Manor Farm East Lane, West Horsley, (Policy A38), paragraph 4.23 states that: “we expect the developers of the following sites to deliver bespoke SANGs to mitigate their own developments… Land at Manor Farm East Lane…”

The attached Concept Plan (BMD 14.023.DR.001A), encompasses the whole site including the provision of SANG as required by policy and detailed in the IDP. Thakeham Homes confirm that the site is available and deliverable for residential (C3) development including the provision of bespoke SANG as detailed on the attached Concept Plan.

Policy A38: Land to the west of West Horsley

Having considered the National and Strategic Policies requiring housing development, the proposed allocation A28 identifies requirements (including the listed building and SANG) and opportunities (green corridors and links to the SANG) for the site. The attached Concept Plan (BMD 14.023.DR.001A) demonstrates the site is capable of accommodating at least 135 residential units whilst respecting local heritage and providing, including links to, the bespoke SANG provision to the north.

In conclusion, the site is available for development, is being actively promoted by Thakeham Homes, and there are no overriding site constraints. The attached Concept Plan demonstrates that detailed design is able to respond to site specific characteristics and also provide bespoke SANG. There are no overarching policy or site specific reasons why the site should not be allocated for residential (C3) use in accordance with Policy A38.

The site is available, achievable, and deliverable within the short term and will enable the delivery of much needed housing within the early part of the plan period. The proposed allocation, through Policy A38, of the land to the wets of West Horsley, is fully supported.

Summary and Conclusion

The site (A38) is available and suitable for residential development of at least the 135 (C3) units identified in policy. There is single developer interest, Thakeham Homes, so the site can be quickly progressed and deliver much needed homes early in the plan period. There are no significant infrastructure requirements that would preclude development and the provision of bespoke SANG is achievable; as demonstrated on the attached Concept Plan.

The proposed allocation of Land to the west of West Horsley (Policy A38) is fully supported. It is in the ownership of two supportive landowners who wish to work jointly with Thakeham Homes to provide at least 135 residential units, contributing to the housing requirement early in the plan period.

Examination

Given the importance placed on housing delivery at a national level and within the Guildford Local Plan, and the comments within this representation, we wish to express our desire to appear at examination and attend any pre-examination meetings.

I object to the new version of the Guildford Local Plan, specifically in regard to protection of the fields behind Shalford Village Hall. GBC should support the expressed views of the local residents to protect the fields from development, retaining them within the current green belt boundary and keeping them outside the village settlement boundary. The boundaries have been there for a long time and there is no valid reason for change. The fields behind Shalford Village Hall contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village's community facilities. Further the elevation of this land, which is 32 feet above Kings Road, is the highest in the local area and any housing development built on it would tower over the village community facilities and surrounding area. Finally, with access to this land being via Chinthurst Lane this would further add to an already heavily congested country lane.

I am writing to object to your current proposal of the proposed boundary change next to Shalford village hall:

- Due to their height, these fields contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and any development would be clearly visible from the Village Green. They rise over 32 feet above Kings Road and over 25 feet above the Village Hall.
- These fields contribute to the open character of the village and provide a rural backdrop.
- This land is currently within the Green Belt and AGLV and will lose it’s protected status if it is altered to fall within the new settlement boundary
- Very large developments are already planned both sides of the village so is it really worth spoiling the heart of Shalford by building on this virgin, totally undeveloped site?
- Aerial maps which are being used to help draw the new settlement boundary don’t take into account the particularly high elevation of this land and its protected status.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites June 2016

We are instructed by Mr R Jones to submit the enclosed response to the Proposed Submission Local Plan. This representation relates specifically to the proposed settlement boundary to Chilworth with particular reference to the boundary in the vicinity of Tangley Mere (see plan extract below). We believe that the land outlined on the enclosed plan and shown below in the context of the settlement should be included within the defined boundary and thus removed from the Green Belt.

[TANGLEY MERE]

Tangley Mere is a large detached house situated in extensive grounds located on the south side of New Road. As can be seen from the enclosed Ordnance Survey there is a notable gap in development along the south of the Road. We consider this ‘open frontage’ to New Road should be included within the settlement boundary of Chilworth, thus enabling its future development.

In terms of the principle of additional development within Chilworth, as confirmed by the Settlement Profiles Study July 2013:

“Chilworth has a number of key community services and facilities which makes it one of the more sustainable villages. Subject to suitable sites being available, there is scope for a rural exception site to provide affordable homes for local people and potential for an extension to the village.”

(see Page 18)

Advice regarding the definition of Green Belt boundaries is set out at Paragraph 85 of the NPPF that states:

When defining boundaries, local planning authorities should:

- ensure consistency with the Local Plan strategy for meeting identified requirements for sustainable development;
- not include land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open;
- where necessary, identify in their plans areas of ‘safeguarded land’ between the urban area and the Green Belt, in order to meet longer-term development needs stretching well beyond the plan period;
- make clear that the safeguarded land is not allocated for development at the present time. Planning permission for the permanent development of safeguarded land should only be granted following a Local Plan review which proposes the development;
- satisfy themselves that Green Belt boundaries will not need to be altered at the end of the development plan period; and
- define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent.

In relation to the above, the Local Planning Authority has confirmed that the settlement of Chilworth is sustainable and can accommodate additional housing in a manner consistent with the NPPF. In addition we see no reason why the land, the subject of this representation, is necessary to keep permanently open. Finally, the proposed alteration of the Green Belt boundary sought would retain a clear, defensible boundary. As can be seen from the OS plan, the site is bounded by a large pond to the east which would provide a clear defensible boundary.

- With respect of whether it is necessary to keep the land ‘open’ we consider the impact of development on the five purposes of the Green Belt below and conclude:
- It would maintain the separation of between to Blackheath (to the south) and Albury (to the east)
• It would not conflict with the need to safeguard the countryside from encroachment. In this regard the land beyond the site would continue to form part of the Green Belt where future development (in a manner that conflicts with the purposes of the Green Belt) would be prevented.
• Would not harm the setting of Chilworth.

Finally, it is accepted that the development of the site is constrained by mature trees and vegetation, however we consider this will assist in ensuring that any future development is of a low density maintaining a sylvan setting thus ensuring no harm arises to the character and appearance of the site or surrounding area. Furthermore, the Council have policies in place to ensure that any future development is satisfactory in relation other matters of planning importance including impact on the landscape. These considerations would need to be considered in relation to any future planning application.

We trust you will take the above comments into consideration and should you require any further information please do not hesitate to contact us.

I object to this development on green belt land, Ripley has absorbed many new dwellings over the last few years, this is now starting to create severe parking problems for residents and visitors reducing the attraction of the village and potentially damaging the existing businesses.

I will be happy to provide any further details about my objections to the Draft Plan and hope that consideration will be given to the points raised.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- Local roads are already overwhelmed by rush hour traffic; in the north of the borough in particular the current traffic volumes on commuter routes which are often country lanes are creating long queues through village centres such as Ripley and Send, impacting on the quality of life including the exposure to harmful levels of vehicle emissions.
- Rail services into London where many of the new residents are likely to work are already at or above capacity. The fast services from Woking will be chosen by many commuters living in the new properties planned for Wisley site A35, Garlick’s Arch A43 and those to the east of the A3. This will cause further traffic issues through the villages en-route to Woking.
- Bus services are currently inadequate, slow, declining in number and due in part to the traffic issues above are totally unsuitable to be promoted as an alternative for commuters in the villages outside of Guildford.
- Active travel in the villages will in the main be cycling, this is not an attractive alternative due to the narrow country lanes which cyclists would need to travel on en-route to local stations. Currently cyclists on these commuter routes increase congestion as it is not possible for cars and commercial vehicles to safely overtake them; unless proper provision is created then this is not a sustainable alternative.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the 1/3rd increase in housing from 45 (already unsustainable ) to 60. It will create traffic chaos in Tannery and Papercourt Lanes and is likely to lead to an increase in head-on collisions in these single track roads which are already too frequent. The adjacent water meadows on the flood plain just cope with current rainfall; this development could cause flooding several times a year both at the site itself and to all properties which currently lie at the edge of the flood zone.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to this site being included as well as Garlicks Arch, again this generates yet more congestion and pollution in this area. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the green belt as Slyford and Guildford have empty sites and industrial units. Indeed one of the successes of Guildford in recent years has been in digital technology developments, it is unlikely that there will be a need for a large increase in the number of industrial units in the future.

I object to GBC using amended housing figures (SHMA) based on a flawed housing study which has attracted widespread criticism. I object to GBC making amendments without adhering to the government’s NPPF rules “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”. (NPPF, Section 9, para 80). I object to the amended plan ignoring the government’s NPPF guidelines - “……. local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development. They should consider the consequences for sustainable development of channelling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt or towards locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary”. I object to GBC amending all of the large Green Belt sites and including large Green Belt sites throughout the borough for housing instead of proposing housing in every village and town, on a proportional basis, to meet local needs.

We act for Crimson Project Management. This representation relates to the

INFRASTRUCTURE AND DELIVERY - Policy 11 and INFRASTRUCTURE SCHEDULE - Appendix C.

The Consultation Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan July 2014 identified a need for a new five form entry secondary school to the north of Guildford. A site for the school was proposed to be allocated at Salt Box Road, Guildford.

The Regulation 19 Submission Draft has deleted this proposed allocation. Instead, Item SED3 of Appendix C identifies a seven form entry secondary school allocation at a strategic site at Normandy/Flexford. The proposed new secondary school is to be located close to Wanborough Railway Station. It is stated that only one form of entry would be required to serve the strategic development itself, with the remaining capacity serving the wider area, including the Blackwell Farm strategic site.

Crimson Project Management has recently submitted a planning application for a mixed use development which would include a new five form entry secondary school as part of a sustainable urban extension to Fairlands which is in a significantly more sustainable location to serve the needs of north Guildford, the wider area and any further development that may take place at Blackwell Farm and/or Normandy/Flexford.

Attached to this letter is a comparative analysis of the sustainability merits of the respective proposed locations for both the new school and new housing of the Rokers/Fairlands development and the Normandy/Flexford development. The conclusions of the analysis demonstrate that the Rokers/Fairlands site is a significantly more sustainable location for the new secondary school than Normandy/Flexford.

The results of the analysis show that a substantial portion of the catchment for the new school would be from northern Guildford. In those circumstances, the proximity of Wanborough Station to the Normandy/Flexford site would be of little or no benefit in that pupils would need to travel into central Guildford to get the train back out. Equally, for those pupils travelling on the KITE service, it would make no sense for them to have to travel past the Rokers site on the A323 for several miles to get to the Normandy/Flexford school site.

The Infrastructure Schedule contained at Appendix C should be amended, therefore, to include provision of a new five form entry secondary school on the Rokers site as part of a new mixed use development to include housing, community uses and sporting facilities.

Transport Planning & Infrastructure Ltd has been instructed by Crimson Project Management Ltd to prepare Transport Representations in respect of the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan.

These transport representation focus on the exclusion of the Rokers site at Fairlands Farm, Holly Lane from the Draft Local Plan and seek to justify its The site is currently subject to an outline planning application (reference 16/P/01397) for the construction of up to 370 residential dwellings and a new school/educational facility.

In addition, these representations seek to provide a comparison of the Rokers site against the Normandy/Flexford allocated site A46, demonstrating how the Rokers site benefits from being located in a more sustainable location than Normandy/ Flexford.

Location

This site is located to the south of Normandy, linking the villages of Flexford and It is located within a parcel of land, broadly bound by the A323 Guildford Road to the north, the Guildford - Ash railway line to the south, Westwood Lane to the west and Glaziers Lane to the east. It should be noted that the allocated site does not comprise all of this area, though these broad boundaries constrain the site location. The portion of land is reduced due to residential properties being located along Glaziers Lane, which are outside of the site ownership boundary.

Local Highway Network

The following paragraphs provide a description of the key local roads in the vicinity of the site.
A323 Guildford Road

- The A323 is part of the distributor road network, linking Guildford to the east with Ash and Aldershot to the west. The A323 is a single carriageway road along its length, with a 30 miles per hour speed limit along the length of the road. The speed varies between 30 mph and 40 mph to the west of the site, and includes a section of 50 mph carriageway to the east of Normandy.

- The A323 is subject to high traffic flows, especially in the peak hours. The route represents a key route into Guildford, avoiding the A3 or A31.

Pedestrian footways are located along the southern side of the A323 carriageway through Normandy in the vicinity of the site.

Westwood Lane

- Westwood Lane is a 'C' class route (C16) providing a link on a predominantly north south axis between Normandy and the A31 to the south, in Flexford.

- Westwood Lane is subject to a 30 mile per hour speed limit through Flexford, with sections subject to a 40 mph speed limit to the north and south of Flexford.

- The route is subject to a width and height restriction by way of a bridge under the railway line, which restricts vehicles below 14 feet and 3 inches. This bridge is also restricted to a single lane of traffic, with priority given to southbound traffic movements.

- Pedestrian footways are provided on both sides of the carriageway through Flexford, with only one footway provided between Flexford and Normandy, along the eastern side of the carriageway.

Glaziers Lane

- Glaziers Lane is subject to a 30 mile per hour speed limit, and routes from the A323 in Normandy to Westwood Lane in Flexford, via Wanborough railway. This road is unclassified (060), and is lightly trafficked.

Along the northern section of Glaziers Lane, between the A323 and Normandy Village Hall, footways are provided along both sides of the carriageway. To the south, footways are provided on one side of the carriageway, with the footpath alternating each side of the carriageway on numerous occasions.

Proximity to Bus Services

- The A323 Guildford Road is a bus corridor for the frequent KITE service, linking Guildford and Aldershot at 15 minute intervals in each direction.

- This service would be accessible to the northern portion of the Flexford/Normandy site, with bus stops located in the vicinity of the Guildford Road/Westwood Lane/School Lane crossroads junction and in the vicinity of the Guildford Road/Glaziers Lane/Hunts Hill Road crossroad. Figure 1 provides an indication of the extent of the site that can access these bus stops based on a 400 metre walk distance using the existing road and footpath network. This Figure indicates that only a minimal portion of the site is accessible by bus.

- Additional bus services route along Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane, with the PT5 bus providing a link to St Peters School in the morning and An additional school service, the 694, operates towards Broadwater School.

- The 520 bus service is a variation of the KITE bus service, which includes a loop along Westwood Lane and Glaziers. The timetable for this service is included at Appendix A; there are just two services operating daily towards Guildford and Woking (Woking service operates on Wednesday only), and four services operating (reduces to three on Wednesdays) towards Aldershot.

Proximity to Rail Services
• The site is located immediately north of the Guildford - Ash railway line, with Wanborough railway station located in the south eastern corner of the A summary of services available from this station is provided in Table 1 below.

Table 1 indicates that Wanborough station is served by three rail services routing westbound in the weekday morning peak hour and two services routing in the weekday evening peak hour, three services route eastbound and two services route westbound.

• Summary
  - To summarise the accessibility of the site, Figure 2 provides a public transport travel time plan from the site, highlighting areas that are accessible within 15, 30 and 60 minutes' public transport travel time. This Figure is produced based on public transport options available between 07:00 and 09:00 on a weekday.
  - This Figure indicates that Guildford town centre, in the vicinity of the bus and train stations, is accessible within a 30 minutes' travel time from the site. However, the majority of locations surrounding Guildford are located within 60 minutes' travel.

ROKERS SITE

- The Rokers site has been excluded from the Proposed Submission Local Plan, but is subject to a live planning application (reference 16/P/01397). This application seeks outline planning permission for:
  - Up to 370 residential dwellings;
  - A new school/education facility (proposed at this stage to be a secondary school);
  - A new community hub with children's nursery, community offices, children's play centre and commercial units;
  - Highway improvements to the A323;
  - Landscaped open space; and
  - A provision of SANGS

With this application being a live planning application, it would be considered that if this application is approved, a school at the Normandy/Flexford site would not be required.
The Rokers site was put forward for inclusion within the Local Plan, but has not been suggested as a draft allocation by the Council. In terms of location and accessibility, it is considered that the Rokers site represents a more sustainable location for a school and residential development than others suggested in the plan.

Location

The Rokers site is located on the eastern side of the A323 Aldershot Road, to the east of Fairlands Village. The site is bound to the north-west by Holly Lane, a link between the A323 Aldershot Road and the A322 Worplesdon Road, and to the west by the A323 Aldershot Road.

- Merrist Wood College is located to the north-west of the site, across Holly Lane. The Rokers site therefore provides the potential for an educational hub to be created in the area, with a bus interchange facility provided within the application site to enable bus services to serve both educational sites.

Local Highway Network

- A description of the key vehicle routes in the vicinity of the application site is provided in the following paragraphs. Where relevant, reference is made to a number of automatic traffic counters (ATC) that have been placed on the carriageway in order to record traffic volumes by Each ATC recorded data for a 7-day period between 1st and 7th March 2016.

A323 Aldershot Road

- The A323 Aldershot Road routes on a north-west to south-east axis along the site. At the roundabout junction with Holly Lane, the A323 routes west towards Aldershot. The A323 is an important transport corridor as a county distributor road providing access between Guildford and Aldershot and to the A331 in the vicinity of Ash.

Along the site frontage, the A323 Aldershot Road is subject to a 40 miles per hour speed limit with a pedestrian footway provided along the eastern side of the carriageway. Through the residential areas within the Guildford boundary, Aldershot Road is subject to a 30 mph speed limit and has footways along both sides of the carriageway.

An ATC placed along the A323 between the Holly Lane roundabout junction and Fairlands access junction recorded a two-way average annual daily traffic flow (AADT) of 13,109. This was split 52% westbound/48% eastbound.

Holly Lane

- Holly Lane routes on a north-east to south-west axis to the north-west of the Holly Lane is subject to a 40 miles per hour speed limit and has a shared foot and cycleway along the southern side of the carriageway. This shared foot/cycleway extends along the existing Rakers access road onto Aldershot Road.

An ATC placed along Holly Lane between the existing Rakers access and the Worplesdon Road roundabout junction recorded AADT traffic flows of 10,325 vehicles. This traffic is evenly distributed, 50%/50% between north east and south west bound vehicle movements.

Accessibility to Existing Infrastructure

Proximity to Bus Services

The KITE service routes along the A323 in the vicinity of the site, with services provided between Guildford and Aldershot hot at 15 minute intervals.

- The closest bus stops to the site are located in the vicinity of the Fairlands Avenue/A323 Aldershot Road priority junction, with the bus stop for northbound services located to the north of the junction and the southbound bus stop located to the south of this.
• Figure 3 provides a 400 metre walking isochrone to indicate areas that are located within 400 metres walk of these bus Figure 3 indicates that the majority of the site is accessible within 400 metres walk, based on the existing infrastructure and walking routes, with only the corners of the site located outside of this walk distance.

In comparison, only a small portion of the Normandy/Flexford site is located within walking distance of a bus stop servicing the frequent KITE service, indicating that the Rakers site is more accessible by bus services based on existing infrastructure. This is beneficial as it negates the need for any re-routing of existing bus services or any new bus services to be created, instead increasing the patronage on the profitable KITE service.

In addition, the 17 service provides additional services between Fairlands and Guildford, though less frequent than the

Proximity to Rail Services

• Whilst the nearest railway station to the site is Worplesdon station, the easiest station to access from the site is Guildford railway The KITE service can be used to access Guildford town centre, with no public transport links available to Worplesdon station.

• Worplesdon station is located on the mainline London Waterloo - Portsmouth railway line and is served every 20 minutes towards London Waterloo and half hourly towards Haslemere and Portsmouth in the weekday morning peak hour. During the evening peak hour, services operate every 20 minutes towards Haslemere and Portsmouth and half hourly to London Waterloo

Summary

• To summarise the accessibility of the Rokers site, Figure 4 provides public transport travel time isochrones detailing areas that are accessible within 15, 30 and 60 minutes' travel time from the It should be noted that Guildford town centre is accessible within a 30-minute travel time from the site, with Woking also accessible within this timeframe.

RESIDENTIAL AND SCHOOL COMPARISON

Whilst the above sections detail information on the location and accessibility of the two potential sites, this section will provide more of a direct comparison in respect of access by public transport for the residential and school aspects of each

Residential Accessibility

• For the residential development, accessibility to the local towns is vital, as these are the areas where the majority of residents will work and head for shopping and leisure trips.

• Figures 2 and 4 provide travel time isochrones from each site and enable the allocated Flexford/Normandy site and the proposed Rokers site to be directly

• In terms of accessibility to local towns, Figure 4 indicates that the Rakers site can access much of Guildford town centre within 30 minutes' travel time, along with Ash and a section of Aldershot. In addition, areas of Mayford are also accessible within a 30 minutes' travel time from the site. Woking is accessible within 60 minutes' travel time alongside Godalming, Farnham, Farnborough and areas to the south of Guildford.

In contrast, Figure 2 indicates that the Flexford/Normandy site can access Ash within 15 minutes, and sections of Aldershot and Guildford within 30 minutes' travel time. Within 60 minutes' travel, Woking, Farnborough, Godalming and areas to the south and east of Guildford are accessible.

• To compare the two locations, the areas accessible within a 60-minute travel time are broadly similar, as expected from the relatively short distance between the sites along the The key difference between the sites is the proximity to Guildford town centre, with Rakers accessible to the majority of the town centre within 30 minutes and the bus station within 15 minutes. This indicates that the Rakers site is more sustainably located to residents commuting to work by sustainable modes, with more key locations located within a shorter commuting distance.

School Accessibility

• To assess the accessibility of the school, assumptions need to be made regarding the likely school catchment. This information is not publically accessible, and therefore assumptions have been based on existing school catchment areas and the stated need for a school to the north and west of Guildford.

• As the Rakers site has already been submitted as a planning application, this comparative assessment will make use of the assumptions undertaken within the Transport Assessment for this development. This utilised a gravity model approach to assess the likely school catchment.

• It is assumed that demand for school places would be mostly driven from northern Guildford and surrounding rural area locations towards Ash and Aldershot and north to Mayford and given the difference in residential population between Ash and Guildford, the majority of students are expected to come from the north Guildford area.

• By assessing the locations of the nearest secondary schools to the site and their indicative catchment based on school acceptance criteria for distance from the school, it can be seen that Ash is served by Ash Manor. The north west area of Guildford is served only by small school catchments in Bellfields (Christ's College) and Park Barn (King's College). On this basis, a 65% to 10% split will be assessed between Guildford and Ash for the purposes of this gravity model, with the remaining trips from the outlying areas between Ash and Guildford.

• Census data relating to the number of children per ward has been investigated to provide a more detailed gravity model, with Figure 6.6 of the Transport Assessment included at Appendix B providing the gravity model plan used within this. This indicates that the north Guildford area, and in particular the wards of Westborough, Stoughton and Stoke would represent the key catchment area for the school.

• Figures 2 and 4 provide an indication of the likely travel times from each site in the weekday morning peak hour and these provide an indication of the accessibility of the school catchment area to each.

Figure 2 indicates that Westborough ward and a portion of the Stoughton ward are accessible within 30 minutes' travel time from the Flexford/Normandy site, whilst the whole catchment is accessible within a 60 minutes' travel time. Figure 4 indicates that the Rakers site can access portions of the Westborough and Stoughton wards in 15 minutes, with the entirety of these wards and a portion of the Stoke ward accessible within 30 minutes' travel time to the Rakers site. Again, as with the Flexford/Normandy site, the full catchment is located within a 60 minutes' travel time of the site.

• In terms of accessibility towards Ash and the outlying areas, there is little difference between the two sites, with a large part of the outlying areas accessible within 15 minutes' travel. Ash railway station is accessible within 15 minutes' travel time with the remainder of Ash accessible within 30 minutes of the Rokers site. In comparison, the Flexford/Normandy site provides access to a larger area of Ash within a 30 minutes' travel time, with areas along the route to Aldershot more accessible.
• In it can be seen that the Rokers site represents a more sustainable location for the school based on its proximity to the residential areas.

Summary

• In summary, it is considered that the Rokers site is clearly better in terms of accessibility and location to the Flexford/Normandy allocated. This is due to key areas including the potential school catchment area and workplace areas within Guildford being more accessible from the site, with larger areas accessible within a 15 and 30-minute travel time from the site.

• SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION

  ◦ Transport Planning & Infrastructure Ltd has been instructed by Crimson Project Management Ltd to prepare these Transport Representations against the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local.
  ◦ These representations provide a comparison between the Flexford/Normandy allocated site and the Rokers. The Flexford/Normandy site is included as allocation A46, with the Rokers site excluded from the Proposed Submission Local Plan.
  ◦ The Rokers site is subject to a live planning application for an educational facility and residential development on land to the east of Fairlands.
  ◦ In summary, these representations have identified that the Rokers site is ideally located to key infrastructure, with the majority of the site located within a 400 metre walk distance to the frequent KITE bus. In contrast, the Flexford/Normandy site is poorly located to existing public transport infrastructure, despite the location of Wanborough station in the south eastern corner of the site.
  ◦ In terms of accessibility, the Rokers site is more conveniently located in terms of travel times to local towns and the potential school catchment area, with more key areas accessible within 15 and 30 minutes' travel time compared to the Flexford/Normandy.

On this basis, it is considered that the Rokers site provides a significantly more sustainable location for an educational facility and residential development than the draft allocations.

We act for Crimson Project Management. This representation relates to the TABLE 1- Policy S2 and Policy A35 concerning LAND AT FORMER WISLEY AIR FIELD, OCKHAM.

The proposed allocation of land at Wisley for a new settlement would be incompatible with the Council's decision to refuse planning permission for this new settlement on grounds which, inter alia, seemingly go to the principle of building a new settlement at this location.

The proposed settlement is in an unsustainable location having regard to its geographical relationship to any district or local centres or other significant areas of population and is in an unsustainable location in respect of public transport access. Its location would appear to be dependent upon its relationship to the adjacent motorway and strategic road network which undoubtedly will provide the stimulus for encouraging travel by the private car on already busy roads.

There are more sustainable locations for new housing development in the Borough than Wisley airfield.

INFRASTRUCTURE AND DELIVERY - Policy 11 and INFRASTRUCTURE SCHEDULE - Appendix C.

The Consultation Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan July 2014 identified a need for a new five form entry secondary school to the north of Guildford. A site for the school was proposed to be allocated at Salt Box Road, Guildford.

The Regulation 19 Submission Draft has deleted this proposed allocation. Instead, Item SED3 of Appendix C identifies a seven form entry secondary school allocation at a strategic site at Normandy/Flexford. The proposed new secondary school is to be located close to Wanborough Railway Station. It is stated that only one form of entry would be required to serve the strategic development itself, with the remaining capacity serving the wider area, including the Blackwell Farm strategic site.
Crimson Project Management has recently submitted a planning application for a mixed use development which would include a new five form entry secondary school as part of a sustainable urban extension to Fairlands which is in a significantly more sustainable location to serve the needs of north Guildford, the wider area and any further development that may take place at Blackwell Farm and/or Normandy/Flexford.

Attached to this letter is a comparative analysis of the sustainability merits of the respective proposed locations for both the new school and new housing of the Rokers/Fairlands development and the Normandy/Flexford development. The conclusions of the analysis demonstrate that the Rokers/Fairlands site is a significantly more sustainable location for the new secondary school than Normandy/Flexford.

The Infrastructure Schedule contained at Appendix C should be amended, therefore, to include provision of a new five form entry secondary school on the Rokers site as part of a new mixed use development to include housing, community uses and sporting facilities.

Transport Planning & Infrastructure Ltd has been instructed by Crimson Project Management Ltd to prepare Transport Representations in respect of the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan.

These transport representation focus on the exclusion of the Rokers site at Fairlands Farm, Holly Lane from the Draft Local Plan and seek to justify its The site is currently subject to an outline planning application (reference 16/P/01397) for the construction of up to 370 residential dwellings and a new school/educational facility.

In addition, these representations seek to provide a comparison of the Rokers site against the Normandy/Flexford allocated site A46, demonstrating how the Rokers site benefits from being located in a more sustainable location than Normandy/Flexford.

Location

This site is located to the south of Normandy, linking the villages of Flexford and It is located within a parcel of land, broadly bound by the A323 Guildford Road to the north, the Guildford - Ash railway line to the south, Westwood Lane to the west and Glaziers Lane to the east. It should be noted that the allocated site does not comprise all of this area, though these broad boundaries constrain the site location. The portion of land is reduced due to residential properties being located along Glaziers Lane, which are outside of the site ownership boundary.

Local Highway Network

A323 Guildford Road

- The A323 is part of the distributor road network, linking Guildford to the east with Ash and Aldershot to the The A323 is a single carriageway road along its length, with a 30 miles per hour speed limit along the length of the A323 through Normandy. The speed varies between 30 mph and 40 mph to the west of the site, and includes a section of 60mph carriageway to the east of Normandy.

- The A323 is subject to high traffic flows, especially in the peak The route represents a key route into Guildford, avoiding the A3 or A31.

Pedestrian footways are located along the southern side of the A323 carriageway through Normandy in the vicinity of the site.

Westwood Lane
• Westwood Lane is a 'C' class route (C16) providing a link on a predominantly north south axis between Normandy and the A31 to the south, in

• Westwood Lane is subject to a 30 mile per hour speed limit through Flexford, with sections subject to a 40 mph speed limit to the north and south of

• The route is subject to a width and height restriction by way of a bridge under the railway line, which restricts vehicles below 14 feet and 3 inches This bridge is also restricted to a single lane of traffic, with priority given to southbound traffic movements.

• Pedestrian footways are provided on both sides of the carriageway through Flexford, with only one footway provided between Flexford and Normandy, along the eastern side of the carriageway.

Glaziers Lane

• Glaziers Lane is subject to a 30 mile per hour speed limit, and routes from the A323 in Normandy to Westwood Lane in Flexford, via Wanborough railway This road is unclassified (060), and is lightly trafficked.

Along the northern section of Glaziers Lane, between the A323 and Normandy Village Hall, footways are provided along both sides of the carriageway. To the south, footways are provided on one side of the carriageway, with the footpath altering each side of the carriageway on numerous occasions.

Proximity to Bus Services

• The A323 Guildford Road is a bus corridor for the frequent KITE service, linking Guildford and Aldershot at 15 minute intervals in each

• This service would be accessible to the northern portion of the Flexford/Normandy site, with bus stops located in the vicinity of the Guildford Road/Westwood Lane/School Lane crossroads junction and in the vicinity of the Guildford Road/Glaziers Lane/Hunts Hill Road crossroad Figure 1 provides an indication of the extent of the site that can access these bus stops based on a 400 metre walk distance using the existing road and footpath network. This Figure indicates that only a minimal portion of the site is accessible by bus.

• Additional bus services route along Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane, with the PT5 bus providing a link to St Peters School in the morning and An additional school service, the 694, operates towards Broadwater School.

• The 520 bus service is a variation of the KITE bus service, which includes a loop along Westwood Lane and Glaziers The timetable for this service is included at Appendix A; there are just two services operating daily towards Guildford and Woking (Woking service operates on Wednesday only), and four services operating (reduces to three on Wednesdays) towards Aldershot.

Proximity to Rail Services

• The site is located immediately north of the Guildford - Ash railway line, with Wanborough railway station located in the south eastern corner of the A summary of services available from this station is provided in Table 1 below.

- Summary
  - To summarise the accessibility of the site, Figure 2 provides a public transport travel time plan from the site, highlighting areas that are accessible within 15, 30 and 60 minutes' public transport travel time. This Figure is produced based on public transport options available between 07:00 and 09:00 on a weekday.
  - This Figure indicates that Guildford town centre, in the vicinity of the bus and train stations, is accessible within 30 minutes' travel time from the site. However, the majority of locations surrounding Guildford are located within 60 minutes' travel.

ROKERS SITE

- The Rokers site has been excluded from the Proposed Submission Local Plan, but is subject to a live planning application (reference 16/P/01397). This application seeks outline planning permission for:
  - Up to 370 residential dwellings;
  - A new school/education facility (proposed at this stage to be a secondary school);
  - A new community hub with children's nursery, community offices, children's play centre and commercial units;
  - Highway improvements to the A323;
  - Landscaped open space; and
  - A provision of SANGS

With this application being a live planning application, it would be considered that if this application is approved, a school at the Normandy/Flexford site would not be required.

The Rokers site was put forward for inclusion within the Local Plan, but has not been suggested as a draft allocation by the Council. In terms of location and accessibility, it is considered that the Rokers site represents a more sustainable location for a school and residential development than others suggested in the plan.

Location

The Rokers site is located on the eastern side of the A323 Aldershot Road, to the east of Fairlands Village. The site is bound to the north-west by Holly Lane, a link between the A323 Aldershot Road and the A322 Worplesdon Road, and to the west by the A323 Aldershot Road.

- Merrist Wood College is located to the north-west of the site, across Holly. The Rokers site therefore provides the potential for an educational hub to be created in the area, with a bus interchange facility provided within the application site to enable bus services to serve both educational sites.
Local Highway Network

- A description of the key vehicle routes in the vicinity of the application site is provided in the following paragraphs. Where relevant, reference is made to a number of automatic traffic counters (ATC) that have been placed on the carriageway in order to record traffic volumes by Each ATC recorded data for a 7-day period between 1st and 7th March 2016.

A323 Aldershot Road

- The A323 Aldershot Road routes on a north-west to south-east axis along the site At the roundabout junction with Holly Lane, the A323 routes west towards Aldershot. The A323 is an important transport corridor as a county distributor road providing access between Guildford and Aldershot and to the A331 in the vicinity of Ash.

Along the site frontage, the A323 Aldershot Road is subject to a 40 miles per hour speed limit with a pedestrian footway provided along the eastern side of the Through the residential areas within the Guildford boundary, Aldershot Road is subject to a 30 mph speed limit and has footways along both sides of the carriageway.

An ATC placed along the A323 between the Holly Lane roundabout junction and Fairlands access junction recorded a two-way average annual daily traffic flow (AADT) of 13,109 This was split 52% westbound/48% eastbound.

Holly Lane

- Holly Lane routes on a north-east to south-west axis to the north-west of the Holly Lane is subject to a 40 miles per hour speed limit and has a shared foot and cycleway along the southern side of the carriageway. This shared foot/cycleway extends along the existing Rakers access road onto Aldershot Road.

An ATC placed along Holly Lane between the existing Rakers access and the Worplesdon Road roundabout junction recorded AADT traffic flows of 10,325 vehicles. This traffic is evenly distributed, 50%/50% between north east and south west bound vehicle movements.

Accessibility to Existing Infrastructure

Proximity to Bus Services

The KITE service routes along the A323 in the vicinity of the site, with services provided between Guildford and Aldershot hot at 15 minute intervals.

- The closest bus stops to the site are located in the vicinity of the Fairlands Avenue/A323 Aldershot Road priority junction, with the bus stop for northbound services located to the north of the junction and the southbound bus stop located to the south of this

- Figure 3 provides a 400 metre walking isochrone to indicate areas that are located within 400 metres walk of these bus Figure 3 indicates that the majority of the site is accessible within 400 metres walk, based on the existing infrastructure and walking routes, with only the corners of the site located outside of this walk distance.

In comparison, only a small portion of the Normandy/Flexford site is located within walking distance of a bus stop servicing the frequent KITE service, indicating that the Rakers site is more accessible by bus services based on existing infrastructure. This is beneficial as it negates the need for any re-routing of existing bus services or any new bus services to be created, instead increasing the patronage on the profitable KITE service.

In addition, the 17 service provides additional services between Fairlands and Guildford, though less frequent than the

Proximity to Rail Services
• Whilst the nearest railway station to the site is Worplesdon station, the easiest station to access from the site is Guildford railway. The KITE service can be used to access Guildford town centre, with no public transport links available to Worplesdon station.

• Worplesdon station is located on the mainline London Waterloo - Portsmouth railway line and is served every 20 minutes towards London Waterloo and half hourly towards Haslemere and Portsmouth in the weekday morning peak hour. During the evening peak hour, services operate every 20 minutes towards Haslemere and Portsmouth and half hourly to London Waterloo.

Guildford railway station is located on the North Downs Line, in addition to the London Waterloo mainline, providing additional services between Reading and Gatwick Airport. Table 2 below summarises the rail services accessible from Guildford station.

Summary

• To summarise the accessibility of the Rokers site, Figure 4 provides public transport travel time isochrones detailing areas that are accessible within 15, 30 and 60 minutes' travel time from the site. It should be noted that Guildford town centre is accessible within a 30-minute travel time from the site, with Woking also accessible within this timeframe.

RESIDENTIAL AND SCHOOL COMPARISON

Whilst the above sections detail information on the location and accessibility of the two potential sites, this section will provide more of a direct comparison in respect of access by public transport for the residential and school aspects of each.

Residential Accessibility

• For the residential development, accessibility to the local towns is vital, as these are the areas where the majority of residents will work and head for shopping and leisure trips.

• Figures 2 and 4 provide travel time isochrones from each site and enable the allocated Flexford/Normandy site and the proposed Rokers site to be directly compared.

• In terms of accessibility to local towns, Figure 4 indicates that the Rokers site can access much of Guildford town centre within 30 minutes' travel time, along with Ash and a section of Aldershot. In addition, areas of Mayford are also accessible within a 30 minutes' travel time from the site. Woking is accessible within 60 minutes' travel time alongside Godalming, Clandon, Farnham, Farnborough and areas to the south of Guildford.

In contrast, Figure 2 indicates that the Flexford/Normandy site can access Ash within 15 minutes, and sections of Aldershot and Guildford within 30 minutes' travel time. Within 60 minutes' travel, Woking, Farnborough, Godalming and areas to the south and east of Guildford are accessible.

• To compare the two locations, the areas accessible within a 60-minute travel time are broadly similar, as expected from the relatively short distance between the sites along the A323 and A322 Worplesdon Road. The key difference between the sites is the proximity to Guildford town centre, with Rokers accessible to the majority of the town centre within 30 minutes.
and the bus station within 15 minutes. This indicates that the Rakers site is more sustainably located to residents commuting to work by sustainable modes, with more key locations located within a shorter commuting distance.

School Accessibility

- To assess the accessibility of the school, assumptions need to be made regarding the likely school catchment. This information is not publicly accessible, and therefore assumptions have been based on existing school catchment areas and the stated need for a school to the north and west of Guildford.
- As the Rakers site has already been submitted as a planning application, this comparative assessment will make use of the assumptions undertaken within the Transport Assessment for this development. This utilised a gravity model approach to assess the likely school catchment.
- It is assumed that demand for school places would be mostly driven from northern Guildford and surrounding rural area locations towards Ash and Aldershot and north to Mayford and Given the difference in residential population between Ash and Guildford, the majority of students are expected to come from the north Guildford area.
- By assessing the locations of the nearest secondary schools to the site and their indicative catchment based on school acceptance criteria for distance from the school, it can be seen that Ash is served by Ash Manor. The north west area of Guildford is served only by small school catchments in Bellfields (Christ's College) and Park Barn (King's College). On this basis, a 65% to 10% split will be assessed between Guildford and Ash for the purposes of this gravity model, with the remaining trips from the outlying areas between Ash and Guildford.
- Census data relating to the number of children per ward has been investigated to provide a more detailed gravity model, with Figure 6.6 of the Transport Assessment included at Appendix B providing the gravity model plan used within this. This indicates that the north Guildford area, and in particular the wards of Westborough, Stoughton and Stoke would represent the key catchment area for the school.
- Figures 2 and 4 provide an indication of the likely travel times from each site in the weekday morning peak hour and these provide an indication of the accessibility of the school catchment area to each.

Figure 2 indicates that Westborough ward and a portion of the Stoughton ward are accessible within 30 minutes' travel time from the Flexford/Normandy site, whilst the whole catchment is accessible within a 60 minutes' travel time. Figure 4 indicates that the Rakers site can access portions of the Westborough and Stoughton wards in 15 minutes, with the entirety of these wards and a portion of the Stoke ward accessible within 30 minutes' travel time to the Rakers site. Again, as with the Flexford/Normandy site, the full catchment is located within a 60 minutes' travel time of the site.

- In terms of accessibility towards Ash and the outlying areas, there is little difference between the two sites, with a large part of the outlying areas accessible within 15 minutes' travel Ash railway station is accessible within 15 minutes' travel time with the remainder of Ash accessible within 30 minutes of the Rakers site. In comparison, the Flexford/Normandy site provides access to a larger area of Ash within a 30 minutes' travel time, with areas along the route to Aldershot more accessible.
- In it can be seen that the Rakers site represents a more sustainable location for the school based on its proximity to the residential areas.

Summary

- In summary, it is considered that the Rakers site is clearly better in terms of accessibility and location to the Flexford/Normandy allocated. This is due to key areas including the potential school catchment area and workplace areas within Guildford being more accessible from the site, with larger areas accessible within a 15 and 30-minute travel time from the site.

- SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION
Transport Planning & Infrastructure Ltd has been instructed by Crimson Project Management Ltd to prepare these Transport Representations against the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local

These representations provide a comparison between the Flexford/Normandy allocated site and the Rokers. The Flexford/Normandy site is included as allocation A46, with the Rokers site excluded from the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

The Rokers site is subject to a live planning application for an educational facility and residential development on land to the east of Fairlands.

In summary, these representations have identified that the Rokers site is ideally located to key infrastructure, with the majority of the site located within a 400 metre walk distance to the frequent KITE bus. In contrast, the Flexford/Normandy site is poorly located to existing public transport infrastructure, despite the location of Wanborough station in the south eastern corner of the site.

In terms of accessibility, the Rokers site is more conveniently located in terms of travel times to local towns and the potential school catchment area, with more key areas accessible within 15 and 30 minutes' travel time compared to the Flexford/Normandy.

On this basis, it is considered that the Rokers site provides a significantly more sustainable location for an educational facility and residential development than the draft allocations.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We act for Crimson Project Management. This representation relates to the SPATIAL DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY - Policy S2.

Our clients object to Policy S2 and to the accompanying Table 1 on the grounds that the proposed spatial strategy and the proposed allocations in respect of the provision of housing and educational facilities are inconsistent with the overarching strategic objective of delivering sustainable development and the presumption in favour of sustainable development that is set out at Policy S1.

In particular, the draft plan is deficient in not allocating a sustainable urban extension to Fairlands for a mixed use development comprising a new secondary school, housing, community and other local facilities whilst allocating sites for such uses which are demonstrably less sustainable.

Table 1 should be amended to include the sustainable extension to Fairlands as a village extension that will deliver up to 400 new homes within the next five years.

Please see also representations in respect of Appendix C - Infrastructure Schedule and Policy A46 - Land to the south of Normandy and North of Flexford and the comparative sustainability analysis that is contained in these representations.

Omission Site: Policy A46 - Land to the south of Normandy and north of Flexford

Our client has a controlling interest in a significant part of the land between Flexford and Normandy. In the previous 2016 version of the Plan, the site formed a proposed allocation for residential led mixed use development under Policy A46. It is now proposed to be deleted in the current consultation version of the draft Local Plan. We object to this proposed omission and wish to see the Policy A46 allocation retained.

Consideration of the Council’s Evidence Base and Proposed Green Belt Releases

The proposed deletion of the site is explained by the Council at paragraphs 4.26 and 4.27 of the report to Full Council dated May 2017 which stated:

“Site allocation A46: Land to the south of Normandy and north of Flexford

This site was allocated for 1,100 homes, six Travelling Showpeople plots and a mix of other uses. It is a high sensitivity Green Belt site which was only proposed to be allocated previously on the basis of its ability to provide the secondary school required to meet the development needs arising in the west of the borough. Since the previous consultation, the promoters of Blackwell Farm have now confirmed that they are willing to provide a secondary school on their site. Blackwell Farm is a preferable location in relation to both school place planning and sustainability perspectives, and was only discounted previously on the basis that the site was not available for education provision. Given the site consists of the whole land parcel assessed to be high sensitivity Green Belt, the allocation of this land would result in significant harm to the Green Belt. However great weight was given to allocating a site that could provide an eight form entry secondary school in the west of the borough. Whilst there would continue to be some sustainability benefits associated with the allocation of the site in relation to additional services, given the other harm we do not consider that this is justified without the benefits associated with the provision of the secondary school.”

We object to the Council’s suggestion that our client’s site is a ‘high sensitivity Green Belt site’ and for the reasons set out below note that it actually compares favourably to other proposed Green Belt releases in the Plan. However in any event, we refer to paragraph 24.66 in Volume 5 of the Council’s Green Belt & Countryside Study (April 2014) that states:

‘A PMDA at land parcel H12-A between Flexford and Normandy would be appropriate as a major village expansion due to the established public transport links alongside potential improvements to sustainability credentials, being considered to outweigh the potential harm to the openness and purposes of the Green Belt. A major expansion at H12-A between Flexford and Normandy would generate an additional population of approximately 2,599 and a total population of 4,383, this being very likely to enable a wide range of new facilities with associated sustainability benefits. The location of H12-A between Normandy and Flexford is considered to be particularly sustainable in terms of public transport connections with Wanborough Station located directly to the south within Flexford in addition to the bus services. The PMDA would result in greater settlement coalescence of Flexford and Normandy (Purpose 2). Whilst recognising that any major village expansion will detract from the openness of the surroundings, in this instance, the PMDAs impact will be limited on the wider Green Belt due to extensive woodlands, treebelt and hedgerows, particularly at Waldens Copse and Pusseys Copse within the village expansion site’ (Our emphasis)

It has never been our understanding that our client’s site was included as a proposed Green Belt release due solely to its ability to deliver a secondary school. The reason for its previously proposed allocation is effectively summarised in the above statement.

Land for a secondary school was only proposed as part of our representations upon the proposed safeguarded status of the site in the draft Local Plan published for consultation in July 2014. Accordingly, the offer of land for the school was made by Taylor Wimpey after the Council’s Green Belt assessment (see above) confirming the suitability of developing the site in Green Belt terms, including having regard to the sustainability merits of doing so in locational terms (given the proximity of the site to bus and rail services).

In short the land benefits from sustainability credentials that justify its release, in particular, given its enabling benefit of providing land for a new secondary school to serve needs arising from the western part of the Borough and that the land’s impact upon the Green Belt will be limited due to its existing vegetation. There is therefore a fundamental inconsistency between the Plan’s evidence base and the decision taken by the Council in May 2017. Accordingly, the Local Plan is not justified when considered against its own evidence base in this respect.

With the above findings in mind, our clients instructed CSA Environmental to undertake a detailed review of the Council’s Green Belt evidence base documents. This work includes a comparative assessment of certain of the proposed Green Belt allocations and confirms in relation to the sites as follows:

- The assessment has highlighted some fundamental flaws in the selection of the sites to be removed from the Green Belt and allocated for housing.
- The sites proposed to be allocated should be re-evaluated and the A46 site reinstated as a housing allocation.
- Land at Garlick’s Arch (Policy A43) fails the Council’s Stage 1 Green Belt test and should be removed on sustainability grounds.
- Land at Blackwell Farm (Policy A26) is clearly detached from the existing urban edge and represents significant encroachment into the countryside and the proposed access to the site emphasises its poor relationship to the urban area – with the proposed access road extending approximately 0.75ha through the Surrey Hills AONB and Area of Great Landscape Value. This site should be deleted as a proposed allocation.
- The Former Wisley Airfield (Policy A35) is poorly related to any urban areas and its removal from the Green Belt would represent significant encroachment into the countryside. The linear form of the allocation does not lend itself to a sustainable form of development. The proposed allocation should be removed from the Green Belt.

Overall, the CSA report identifies fundamental failings within the Council’s approach in respect of the proposed release of Wisley Airfield and parts of Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm having regard to their consistency with national policy not least the Green Belt purposes established at paragraph 80 of the NPPF.

When assessed against the paragraph 80 tests, it is evident that paragraph 24.66 of the Council’s Green Belt & Countryside Study was correct and the site performs well when assessed the five purposes.

Importantly the Council’s proposed allocations perform in certain cases poorly when considered against the NPPF paragraph 80 purposes. Accordingly we request that our client’s site is reallocated either in addition to, or instead of other proposed Green Belt releases. As drafted, the Plan is not justified or consistent with national policy, given that the reasonable alternative of allocating land at Normandy/Flexford, that provides a more sustainable and NPPF Green Belt compliant strategy.

On its own merits the actual visual and Green Belt implications of releasing the Policy A46 site for development are not adverse. Moreover, and on a comparative basis, the impacts from allocating the site are comparable to certain of the other proposed releases and better than others (including Wisley Airfield).
Land at Normandy/Flexford (Policy A46) - Site Description

We set below out the site’s respective benefits as a potential residential led mixed use allocation. The site lies mid-way between the towns of Guildford and Aldershot in Surrey. It is bound by the settlement of Normandy to the north and Flexford to the south. The Great Western railway line between Guildford and Reading runs adjacent to the site’s southern boundary, with Wanborough Station located adjacent to the south east corner of the site. To the north of the site lies Guildford Road (A323), with Westwood Lane to the west and Glaziers Lane to the east. The site extends to approximately 69ha and comprises a series of medium to large pastoral and arable fields, several woodland copses and a number of small farm buildings. The logic of the site’s location is appropriate particularly due to its location adjacent to a train station that offers direct services between Guildford and Reading.

Sustainability Considerations

The site is in a sustainable location, adjacent to Wanborough railway station which provides frequent services to Guildford and Ascot via Aldershot as well as some direct services to Reading and Gatwick. Train services connect to the following main employment centres:

- Guildford
- Woking
- London
- Reading

Journey times to Guildford and Woking are particularly appealing, taking just 7 minutes to Guildford and only 23 minutes to Woking during peak hours (total journey time including 1 change at Guildford).

Two bus routes serve the site and there is potential to divert these through the site to make these services closer for future residents, a matter which can be addressed/funded/secured by means of a legal agreement as part of the subsequent planning application. In short, re-routing buses into the site, providing access to the schools and the local centre, will serve to enhance the sustainability merits of the wider area, including for the existing nearby villages.

The site also benefits from good cycle links to Ash and Guildford, which routes could be further enhanced in the form of a planning obligation to be secured at the planning application stage.

As to highway matters, detailed technical highway work has been undertaken by Odyssey Consult who have identified that the surrounding road network has adequate capacity to accommodate the level of proposed development. Access to serve development of the site is proposed from Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane.

Masterplan Considerations

Informed by meetings held with the Council since 2014, our client has undertaken detailed masterplanning and technical work across the entire site so to demonstrate the deliverability and appropriateness of the land for strategic development. Our representations are supported by a number of concept Masterplans as follows:

- Masterplan CSA/2516/110/D – the basis of the policy A46 allocation
- Masterplan CSA/2516/110/F – 1,300 dwellings (omitting the provision of a secondary school)
- Masterplan CSA/2516/120/A – 425 dwellings at Flexford, including a proposed local centre
- Masterplan CSA/2516/121/B – 400 dwellings at Wanborough Stn, including a proposed local centre[1]

Background technical work has been undertaken in order to inform the content of the masterplan, including highway, drainage, landscape and ecology work.

Concept Masterplan (Plan No. CSA/2516/110/D) proposes circa 1,100 dwellings on approximately 28ha of residential development, equivalent to around 37dph which enables the provision of a range of dwellings types in accordance with the findings of the SHMA, including the housing mix at paragraph 4.2.3 of the Local Plan. This Masterplan formed the basis of the policy A46 allocation and shows how the site could deliver strategic benefits for the wider area in terms of supporting infrastructure, consisting of:

- Primary school;
- Secondary school;
- 60 bedroom care home;
- Local centre;
- Playing fields;

[1] Masterplan CSA/2516/122/B shows a comprehensive proposal to include the schemes from Plans 120/A and 121/B

- New children’s play areas; &
- Site for travelling show people.

It is considered that the mix of uses proposed forms a key element in creating a successful and sustainable neighbourhood, which will deliver a range of benefits, as follows:

- A number of community focal points spread throughout the development, with a natural landscape buffer existing between the two villages so to give the development a two village character;
- Convenient access to facilities, providing the critical mass to make the wider area more sustainable (including through increased frequency of public transport services and the provision of local services and facilities);
- Architectural interest created by non-residential buildings, whose status and function will create new local landmarks;
- Opportunity for innovative sustainable building technologies to be used in non-residential buildings;
- Greater opportunity for social interaction due to greater pedestrian activity;
- Substantial areas to be provided for formal and informal recreation; and
- Education opportunities

The Masterplan accounts for the site’s existing environmental features, which include woodland and tree belts (including designated ancient woodland) and a public footpath running between Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane.

The new parkland is envisaged to incorporate multiple functions and uses, including new sports pitches, children’s play areas, new routes for walking and cycling and areas for informal recreation. The existing woodland, trees and hedgerows will form an integral part of the parkland, providing an instant sense of maturity to the new public open space. The areas of ancient woodland will have restricted access to ensure their ecological value is protected and benefit from 15 metre buffers consistent with national guidance. In total the Concept Masterplan accommodates approximately 29ha of green infrastructure.

The local centre, primary school and care home are proposed to be located close to one another in order to encourage residents to make multi-purpose trips to the local centre. A bus route is illustrated to run through the site, enabling all future residents to live within a short walking distance from a bus service. Further the secondary school is purposely sited on the site’s southern side so to facilitate sustainable transport movements via Wanborough station.

Clearly, the above service offer will be further assisted by the additional services that would be constructed as an outcome of the proposed scheme. It is further noted that the provider, Great Western Railway, are presently carrying out upgrades to the train line running through Wanborough, which will result in improved services. Clearly the additional patronage generated by the proposed development will only further support the viability of this service.

As part of this scheme, we can bring the secondary school site forward early on in the development phase to meet current education needs within this part of Guildford Borough. This is of particular importance should there be any delay in delivering a secondary school at Blackwell Farm.

In the alternative, should the Local Plan Inspector be of a mind to support the provision of a secondary school at Blackwater Farm (despite our objections to the allocation of the site), we have prepared a second overarching Masterplan (CSA/2516/110/F) showing how the site could be development for up to 1,300 dwellings without a secondary school.

Additional Masterplans show how smaller land parcels could be developed for circa 400 dwellings (Plans CSA/2516/121/A and 122/A) either in isolation or in combination. This further supports the merits of the land as a flexible allocation to meet the identified need for housing in the early part of the plan period.

Flood and Drainage Considerations

Flood and drainage considerations have also been assessed by Odyssey Consult. The site is predominately located outside the floodplain in Flood Zone 1 and is well positioned to deliver residential development in accordance with the NPPF thus satisfying the sequential approach in the SFRA. A proportion of the site in the vicinity of Walden’s Copse is located in Flood Zones 2 and 3. However, the proposed development footprint will be positioned outside the floodplain in accordance with the Sequential Approach and in order to reduce impact to the floodplain and flood risk downstream.

A drainage strategy will be developed in accordance with EA requirements including proposals to enhance the existing watercourses within green corridors, dry swales and attenuation basins to ultimately discharge surface water runoff at existing greenfield rates downstream of the site. For these reasons, matters relating to flood risk and drainage should not impede the development of the site.

Ecological Considerations

Our client is aware that the proposed residential scheme requires the delivery of a Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace to provide mitigation for potential recreational impacts to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (‘TBH SPA’). Accordingly our clients have agreed an off-site SANG provision 0.5Km to the west of the site at Wyke (see SANG location plan attached). This is linked to the site by way of an existing public footpath and enables the efficient use of the site for residential and associated development, whilst providing new walking areas to the benefit of both new and existing residents.

Initial walkover surveys have been undertaken on both the Wyke SANG and the proposed allocation under policy A46 and show that nature conservation interests within the site are concentrated to the areas of ancient woodland, broadleaved woodland, mature trees, hedgerow and the watercourse that runs through it.

Deliverability

For the reasons discussed in our response to Policy S2, there is an demonstrable need for deliverable sites, such as that controlled by our client in order for the Council to be able to demonstrate a continuous 5 year housing land supply throughout the plan period. Its development credentials have been acknowledged in its previously proposed allocation and the site suffers from no technical constraints to delivery. The site is controlled by a national house builder, who has secured appropriate off-site SANG mitigation land at Wyke (SANG location plan attached) and is undertaking detailed survey work to enable a timely outline submission upon adoption of the Plan. Consequently the site offers the opportunity for material delivery within the 5 year period. We consider the site could deliver 100 dwellings by 2021/22, 140 dwellings in 2022/23 and a further 140 dwellings in 2023/24. Such an approach would assist in meeting the defined and pressing needs discussed above. The re-allocation of the site is therefore necessary so to achieve an effective plan that is delivers housing at the necessary time (i.e. early on it in the plan period).

Alternative Allocation Options

Our clear position is that the site should be reinstated as an allocation under Policy A46 and the Council’s proposal to de-allocate the site is unsound.

However, and notwithstanding, the site at Normandy/Flexford was identified within several volumes of the Council’s Green Belt & Countryside Study, both as a smaller development parcel in the south (adjacent to Wanborough station) of approximately 280 dwellings and a larger development of approximately 1,100 dwellings.

The current iteration of the Local Plan has removed the site as an allocation without reconsideration of a potential smaller allocation. Accordingly, we have prepared 3 no. new masterplans that illustrate how smaller developments could come forward on the site and still provide a material contribution towards defined housing needs. These are described below:

- Concept Masterplan – Wanborough Station (No. CSA/2516/121B) illustrates a proposed scheme on the southern part of our client’s site. This would provide for approximately 400 no. dwellings, a 2 form entry primary school, local centre and large of areas of publicly accessible green space. A direct pedestrian route to Wanborough station is also provided.
- Concept Masterplan – Great Westwood (No. CSA/2516/120A) provides for approximately 425 no. dwellings on the northern part of our client’s site. A 60 bed care home, local centre, community facility, sports pitches and public open space are also provided.
- Concept Masterplan – Combined (No. CSA/2516/122B) illustrates how both of these schemes could be developed, whilst retaining a significant gap between Normandy and Flexford. It is evident from this plan that a self-sustaining community, with a multitude of key services and facilities and good accessibility to public transport can be provided on the land. Such a scheme would enable substantial housing delivery and as set out in the CSA Green Belt Review in a manner consistent with NPPF paragraph 80.

In light of the above and the finding that the Council have failed to review these alternative reduced options, we request that this exercise is carried out by the Council prior to submitting the plan for examination.

Securing a Permanent Green Belt Boundary Beyond the Plan Period

In addition, NPPF paragraph 83 requires that when undertaking a Green Belt Review Council’s should consider the intended permanence of the revised Green Belt boundaries such that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period. Accordingly we refer to paragraph 4.115 of the original draft Local Plan (July 2014) that stated:

‘National planning policy states that when altering boundaries we should have regard to their intended permanence in the long term so that they are capable of enduring beyond the plan period. This includes, where necessary, identifying safeguarded land in order to meet longer-term development needs. We have identified safeguarded land at Fairlands, Send Marsh, Normandy and Flexford, as set out in Site Allocation 118-120 and 123. This land will also ensure that we have the flexibility to meet our current development needs should any of our strategic sites not come forward as envisaged over the plan period’.

Contrary to the above statement, the plan no longer includes proposals to safeguarded any land to meet longer term development needs. Such an approach is inconsistent with NPPF paragraph 83. The safeguarding of additional land would introduce greater flexibility into the Plan so to ensure that if one of the proposed housing allocations does not deliver, safeguarded land could fill the gap without the need for a new Green Belt review. It follows that such an approach would enable a more effective plan.

Summary: Proposed Change

We object to the proposed deletion of our client’s land between Flexford and Normandy (Policy A46) as a housing led mixed use allocation. For the reasons set out in these representations we request that it is reallocated in the form previously proposed.

Notwithstanding the above position, alternative options are also available and we are seeking an allocation for smaller schemes as set out below:

1. Allocate the site but with reduced site boundaries that cover the southern and northern sites, resulting in an overall allocation for approximately 825 no. dwellings.

2. Allocate the Wanborough Station site for a residential led allocation comprising approximately 400 no. dwellings.

3. Allocate the Great Westwood site for a residential led allocation comprising approximately 425 no. dwellings.

4. Identify our client’s site as safeguarded land removed from the Green Belt to meet longer term needs beyond the plan period.

Overall Housing Requirement

Since the previous consultation, the Council have reduced the overall housing target from 693 dwellings per annum (dpa) to 654dpa.

In support of our representations, Turley have produced a critique of the Council’s assessment of objectively assessed need and the associated evidence base.

The Turley report concludes that the Council’s updated OAN is not predicated upon a sound evidence base and fails to adequately assess demographic pressures or apply reasonable expectations in respect of job growth.

In addition, evidence is provided to demonstrate that the Borough suffers from acute housing affordability issues, such that a minimum uplift of 10% should be applied to the demographic projection of housing need to allow for market signals.

Consequently, the Turley report recommends that the Borough’s OAN should be revised to a minimum of 717dpa during the 19yr plan period (2015 to 2034), totaling 13,623 dwellings. For the avoidance of doubt, this proposed level of growth is only to meet needs arising in Guildford.

There is a requirement to fulfil the duty to cooperate having regard to need to address Woking’s unmet housing need. Paragraph 4.6 of Guildford Borough Council’s Housing Delivery Topic paper (June 2017) identifies an unmet need for Woking totaling 3,150 dwellings in the 14yr period 2013/14 to 2026/27. This would result in an additional requirement in excess of the 7171dpa identified in Turley’s assessment (see below).

For these reasons, the proposed housing requirement is not justified upon appropriate evidence and is not effective or consistent with national policy by failing to meet the Borough’s overall market and affordable housing needs.

Unmet Need Elsewhere in the Housing Market Area

In addition to undertaking an assessment of the Borough’s true OAN, the Turley report considers the level of unmet need arising elsewhere in the Housing Market Area (HMA) that comprises Guildford Borough, Waverley Borough and Woking Borough.

As referenced above, Woking’s unmet housing need (the difference between Woking’s adopted Core strategy requirement and the OAN) is 3,150 dwellings for the period 2013/14 to 2026/27. Currently there is no plan-led strategy to meet this unmet need in so far as Woking is currently preparing a Site Allocations DPD to meet the housing requirement in the Core Strategy, not that set out in the SHMA..

The proposed submission version of the Guildford Borough Local Plan makes no allowance for Woking’s unmet housing needs, nor does the submitted Waverley Borough Local Plan (presently at examination). Both plans purport to meet their own OAN in full, without any provision for Woking Borough. Moreover, there is no intention from Woking Borough to undertake a plan review that accounts for this need.

It follows that there is substantial housing under provision elsewhere in the HMA and as a Green Belt authority with no advancing plan review, this trend in Woking Borough shows no sign of resolution in the short or medium term.

Given the clear requirement set out in the NPPF for any shortfall across a HMA to be considered on a ‘collective’ basis this issue cannot be underplayed. It should be remembered that NPPF paragraph 47 requires Council’s to ensure that their Local Plan meets full OAN for market and affordable housing in the entire housing market area, not only within their administrative area.

For the above reasons, there is a need for Guildford Borough Council to increase the housing requirement so to better respond to defined pressing needs for market and affordable housing both within Guildford Borough and the HMA.

As drafted the Proposed Submission Local Plan fails the positive preparation soundness test on this basis.

Within the West Surrey HMA, Guildford evidently exhibits the strongest housing market linkages with Woking when compared with Waverley e.g. the strongest commuting flow from Woking is to Guildford (West Surrey SHMA (Sept 2015) (Para 2.43)).

Given the close function relationship between Woking and Guildford, it is logical to expect Guildford Borough to accommodate a greater percentage of Woking’s unmet need than might be expected to be met in Waverley which is located to the south of Guildford.

On this basis, we are of the view that Guildford Borough should accommodate at least 50% of Woking’s unmet housing needs. This means accommodating an additional 1,575 dwellings in Guildford Borough (Woking’s unmet need of 3,150 dwellings x 50%).

We therefore consider that the overall proposed housing requirement should be revised to make provision for at least 15,198 new dwellings (13,623 + 1,575) (800dpa (rounded)) over the plan period 2015 to 2034.

Proposed Phasing of the Housing Requirement

Paragraphs 6.27 to 6.31 of the Turley report consider the point at which the need for housing occurs within Guildford Borough during the course of the plan period.

Figure 6.1 of the Turley report demonstrates that the sharpest projected household growth in the plan period occurs in the first five years of the plan period (2015-20). This growth then declines throughout the plan period such that it is at its lowest level at the end of the plan period. Conversely, the Council is proposing a phased annual housing target that increases from 450dpa to 850dpa over the lifetime of the plan.

We have reviewed the position and even on an annualised basis, applying the Council’s unsound 654dpa requirement, page 8 of the Council’s Land Availability Assessment (“LAA”) (June 2017) show that the deficit in supply accumulated from the 2015 base-date of the plan period will not be addressed until 2025. This is wholly illogical and will result in a failure to meet housing needs for the first 10 years of the plan period and represents the antithesis of boosting significantly the supply of housing land which position is articulated at paragraph 47 of the Framework.

The above approach is inconsistent with the NPPF and Housing White Paper that require LPA’s to significantly boost the supply of housing now. This is especially relevant in Guildford Borough, that forms a Borough that has been the subject of a long standing housing land supply deficit and has persistently under delivered against identified needs. Consequently we object to the notional annualised housing targets included at in the table included at the bottom of Policy S2, on the basis this approach is inconsistent with national policy and is not justified by failing to reflect the clear evidence that the greatest housing need occurs early on in the plan period.

Five Year Housing Land Supply

Before commenting specifically upon the Council’s proposed housing distribution, we note there is a need for the plan to demonstrate a five-year housing land supply on the date of adoption. Any failure to secure this comprises an issue of soundness in respect of compliance with NPPF paragraph 47 and the objective of significantly boosting the supply of housing land and the requirement to demonstrate a five year supply.

The importance of demonstrating a 5 year housing land supply upon adoption, in order to achieve a sound plan, was noted by an EiP Inspector in examining the Canterbury District Local Plan:
‘The Framework indicates that relevant policies for the supply of housing should not be considered up-to-date if the local planning authority cannot demonstrate a 5-year supply of deliverable sites. As such, I consider that the Plan would be ineffective and not accord with national policy. It would therefore be unsound unless this can be remedied’.

We have commented above that the proposed housing requirement needs to be increased to 15,198 dwellings (800dpa) and that the proposed phased housing target approach is unsound. However, and even if one assesses the Council’s proposed phased housing requirement (from Policy S2) against the Council’s housing trajectory at page 8 of the Council’s Land Availability Assessment (Addendum) (June 2017), it is evident that the Council will not meet the cumulative phased housing requirement until target until 2024/2025 (there is an error in the entries in the penultimate row of the table on pg8 of the Council’s Land Availability Assessment (Addendum) (June 2017))

On the basis of the Council’s phased housing requirement (which approach relies upon a lower target in the first seven years from the anticipated date of adoption (2019 onwards) completions will be significantly below the artificially constrained phased housing requirement until 2024/25.

At the rate of completions assumed by the Council, the cumulative deficit would extend further into the plan period if the unsound phasing of the housing requirement were corrected and the 654dpa annualised target was to be used for monitoring purposes. In addition, any uplift in the OAN to take account of the representations made, including the assessment undertaken by Turley, would compound the position yet further.

We illustrate the position against the Policy S2 phasing approach in Table 1 below:

The position set against an annualised 654dpa on the basis of the Council’s derived OAN of 12,436 dwellings during the 19 year plan period is set out in Table 2 below:

Table 2 shows a cumulative shortfall of 856 dwellings against the 654dpa annualised target within the first 10 years of the plan. Of particularly concern is that the cumulative target is not met until 2029/30. This further emphasises the flawed approach to housing delivery in so far as current needs won’t be met, on the Council’s trajectory for 12 years. The position is even more stark when one applies the Turley OAN of 717dpa or the 800dpa taking into account Woking’s unmet need.

In light of the above findings it is clear that a material housing land supply deficit occurs upon adoption of the Plan and will be sustained for a long time into the plan period. On the basis of the foregoing, the Council is not able to demonstrate a five year supply of deliverable housing land on adoption of the Plan.

Housing Delivery
It is therefore essential that the Plan identifies sites that can deliver within the early part of the plan period in order to secure the soundness requirement to demonstrate a 5-year housing land supply upon adoption. This becomes yet more essential when one considers the past under delivery in the Borough, the resulting impact from this sustained under delivery, is reflected in the Turley evidence (Figure 6.1) that confirms the need for housing is most pressing in the early years of the plan period.

A further consideration of particular standing is that the above positions reflect the Council’s delivery assumptions, which relies upon unreasonable assumptions relating to the delivery of the strategic sites, including Slyfield (A24), Gosden Hill (A25), Blackwell Farm (A26); and Former Wisley Airfield (A35).

Given the inherent difficulties in securing the requisite infrastructure funding and provision for these sites, in particular improvements to the A3 (including new junctions) as well as, in the case of Slyfield, the need to find a site and deliver a new waste treatment works, we are of the view that the trajectories for these sites are too optimistic and unrealistic.

Setting aside our objections to the Wisley Airfield site as a matter of principle, even delaying these sites by only two monitoring years would see the loss of 1,360 dwellings from the Council’s purported supply. This demonstrates the lack of flexibility in the plan to deal with changing circumstances.
We are aware that as a Green Belt constrained authority and one that has failed to have an up to date development plan for many years, the Borough faces a significant challenge in reversing this historic under delivery early on in the plan period. However, it is essential that this under delivery (i.e. the green line illustrated in the LAA above) is rectified as early on in the plan period as possible.

We note that the Borough’s current Local Plan became time expired in 2006. It follows that the Council have failed to plan for housing growth in a proactive plan led manner for over a decade. This is the reason for such substantial under delivery over the past decade and the resulting need for housing in the early part of the plan period, which position we say is acute.

The Borough’s failure to produce an up to date Plan over this period must not be used as justification to delay housing delivery until the latter part of the plan period. Consequently there is an essential need to review whether a revised spatial strategy would enable a greater level of housing delivery in the first 5-10 years of the proposed plan period.

Part of the necessary solution is to identify sites that can provide material boosts to the overall deliverable supply within the immediate five year period. Presently the plan is overly reliant upon sites that have significant lag times associated with them. Our client’s proposal (see representations below) would enable two or more sales outlets to be established on the Normandy/Flexford (Policy A46) site with completions at approximately 60+dpa per outlet.

If one were to apply a base date of say 2019 (from anticipated adoption of the Plan), a minimum of 300 dwellings could be delivered at the Normandy/Flexford site within the 5 year period to 2024. Such deliverability is achievable in part due to the site’s greenfield nature and the fact that it is controlled by an established national housebuilder.

Proposed Changes: Increase the housing target to a minimum 15,198 (800dpa) dwellings over the plan period 2015 to 2034.

Removal of the ‘annual housing target’ table at the bottom of Policy S2.

The NPPF sets out the principal components to be included in local plans. Paragraph 182 requires that in order to be “sound” a DPD should be positively prepared, justified, effective and consistent with national policy.

In order to be justified the DPD must be founded upon a robust and credible evidence base and represent the most appropriate strategy when considered against the reasonable alternatives.

Effective means the document must be deliverable, flexible and be able to be monitored.

The positive preparation test also requires plans to objectively assess development and infrastructure requirements from neighbouring authorities.

For the reasons set out below there are a number of shortcomings with the plan, as currently drafted, that result in the need for amendment. These amendments relate to the need to increase the level of housing provision; a need to meet existing housing needs in the earlier part of the plan period and acknowledgement that the existing supply of housing commitments are insufficient in both quantum and nature to meet these more immediate needs. These concerns require the need to reconsider the proposed spatial strategy and identify additional allocations within the plan.

As mentioned above, our clients have a controlling interest in land between Normandy and Flexford. The site is available, suitable and deliverable to meet important housing needs in the immediate period of the Local Plan. We remain committed to further engagement with the Council to explore the option of a deliverable allocation on this site, such that it can be incorporated into the final version of the Local Plan.

Re: Strong Objection to Blackwell Farm development A26

Dear Sir, Madam,

Beechcroft Drive is located close to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As a Residents Association, we have come to the conclusion that we strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

- The traffic associated with 1800 houses simply cannot be supported by the local road network and will lead to:
  1. Larger congestion around the Royal Surrey County Hospital - ultimately threatening accessibility for emergency
  2. Traffic trying to avoid cathedral roundabout will be diverting to Onslow Village and Park Barn – thus affecting safety, pollution levels, and liveability for residents in a much larger
  3. Further gridlocking of A31, A3 and Farnham Road on daily basis, leading to reduced accessibility of Guildford from the South and West as a whole, with all economic and social Adapting local roads, the A31, A3 and cathedral roundabout to cope with this traffic will be extremely expensive and arguably make the A26 (Blackwell Farm) development financially unviable. This is supported by the Technical Note by the Traffic Consultant RGP as presented by Compton PC.

- Furthermore, infrastructure should be improved prior to any construction; this includes enhancing hospital capacity – which is not planned at the moment - and secondary school. Both are known to be under pressure at the moment.
- The Blackwell Farm area is very visible from the Hog’s Back and as such will destroy the views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, greenbelt and AONB has detrimental impact on setting of the town, availability for future generations and removal of valuable farming land - which is very scarce already in the South-East, seems inappropriate.
- The ancient woodlands (last remainder of Medieval royal deer park of Henry

1. II) play an essential part in the local eco-system of the larger Hog’s Back area. The railway line and building to the North, and the proposed large scale developments in the West, would mean that migration to and from this essential habitat is limited to the The proposed road from the Blackwell Farm to the A31 effectively completes the isolation and cuts natural migration patterns to the woodlands completely. From ecological point, this removes (one of) the largest forests west of Guildford from the greenbelt and places it within the urban area (Figure 1):

- We further support the Guildford Residents Association in its observation (Report Neil McDonald) that the housing needs as per the local plan are overestimated, and as such development plans are over designed (even excluding consequences of Brexit)
- The Blackwell Farm site includes 6 Travellers pitches, which we believe should be sited in more sustainable locations (not within greenbelt). In addition, counting them towards the developer’s quota of affordable housing is a ludicrous method to try to fulfil the obligation of providing affordable We therefore object to them, as well as the rest of the large-scale development being included within site A26.

(Allocation 9)

Adding a secondary school will exaggerate the already unacceptable traffic situation. We refer to the RGB technical note produced for Compton and Worpleydon parish councils dated June 2017.

(Infrastructure 1) Access to this site is along existing congested roads. The 20% uplift on the A3 in 2011 was never addressed, and this will have a similar impact on the A31, and feed roads. This will exaggerate the already unacceptable traffic situation. We refer o the RGB technical note produced for Compton and Worpleydon parish councils dated June 2017.

The two areas proposed are through points
• Southern access is through an AONB
• Eastern Access is through/next to Ancient Woodland

(Infrastructure 3 ) Control of through traffic (turning the new estate in to a run like Park Barn and Wood Street already are) will be unenforceable.

Directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas

Ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]

Adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits.

If expansion is required, the first options would surely to be to increase density. There is a lot of wasted space over Surrey Research Park.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The amended definition does not provide for enforcement or corrections for the previous under provision of student accommodation by the University of Surrey.

Housing targets should include the students, however due to restricted land supply, future expansion (and previous under build to 2003 commitment) should 85% be accommodated on the University campus. We are recommending at a minimum, 4500 student accommodation places to meet the 2003 plan proposals (not provided), plus 1 student place for each additional FTE student attending the University of Surrey.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We do not believe the maths support developer funding the infrastructure and the affordable housing requirements via any method, including CIL. Indeed it is doubtful they would they would add up to a significant part of either infrastructure OR affordable housing costs required. On this point alone the proposed plan fails.

We note that since the previous plan, Guildford has been identified as the 4th most congested town in England.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The A3 tunnel is not funded and now with the logical North/East access now under a housing estate, it seems this proposal is no longer valid. There are no other options / alternatives outlines.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Wording amendments are not specific. We need to manage implications of changes and building on flooding. A modified target of 12426 houses still does not reflect local need or conditions.

Conversely changing the target based on a SHMA document which remains unexplained adds to the accusation that the number is made up, rather than calculated based on a clear set of assumptions.

Guildford is a town of 70000 residents, and we have a University of 14000 students. Under any definition that is a monopoly. The affect this has had on the town, and housing is dramatic.

Guildford residents association (GRA) have employed a professional analyst (Neil MacDonald), and I would defer to his report and conclusions, on numbers and lack of transparency.

PROPOSED SUBMISSION LOCAL PLAN - CONSULTATION REPRESENTATIONS

I am pleased to herewith submit representations to the ‘Guildford Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites’ consultation, ahead of the consultation deadline of 11:59 Monday 18 July 2016. CBRE Ltd acts on behalf of Julian Harris and Nicola Harris, the legal owners of c.14.5 hectares (36 acres – plan attached) of land and buildings known as Land at Bridge End Farm, Ockham, which is promoted through this consultation and these representations.

This letter sets out the background to ownership of the land promoted through this consultation and the representations themselves.

Land at Bridge End Farm

Julian Harris and Nicola Harris (“our Client”) are the owners of freehold land known as Land at Bridge End Farm, Ockham GU23 6NU. The extent of the ownership and land the subject of these representations is outlined in red on the attached plan.

Our Client acquired the Land at Bridge End Farm from their father, Jessel Harris on 27th December 2002. Jessel Harris retains ownership of Bridge End Farm house and lives there today.

Land at Bridge End Farm comprises agricultural land extending to approximately 14.5 hectares (36 acres) in size. The site is made up of a number of agricultural fields and numerous farm buildings and associated hard standing. Access is provided by Hatch Lane off Ockham Lane. Bridge End Farm Land has been run as a cattle farm by a local farmer since 1984.

Previous Promotion

Land at Bridge End Farm has historically been promoted through the Local Plan process in conjunction with other surrounding land, for a strategic allocation at the former Wisley Airfield. This larger land parcel has been assessed by GBC and was considered suitable for release from the Green Belt and allocation as a new urban settlement, through the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan.

Land at Bridge End Farm was originally included within a previous draft Local Plan Strategy and Sites document, but did not feature within the Local Plan Strategy and Sites consultation draft (July 2014). This was partly because Jessel Harris, in response to a letter sent to him by GBC, stated that the Bridge End Farm Land was not available. The reduction in size of the allocation, arising from the exclusion of the Bridge End Farm Land and other neighbouring land, resulted in the potential residential yield of the allocation being reduced from 2,500 units to 2,100 units.

Representations were submitted to the July 2014 consultation, reiterating that Land at Bridge End Farm is available to be included within the Local Plan and that Our Client is promoting the land for inclusion within the wider land parcel, which is crucial for the success of the strategic allocation and development proposals.

At that time, the representations focused on the need for the strategic allocation to achieve a critical mass in relation to size and scale of development, being informed by GBC’s Green Belt and Countryside Study (Volume V April 2014), which forms part of the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan.

Representations

Our Client supports the principle of the strategic allocation around the former Wisley Airfield site, including Land at Bridge End Farm, for the creation of a new settlement. However, it is considered that the draft policy associated with the allocation should be altered to more closely reflect GBC’s supporting evidence based and take advantage of the potential development opportunity in this location. Detailed representations in this regard are provided below.

Context

The National Planning Policy Framework (‘NPPF’) sets out the tests against which Local Plans should be prepared and assessed. Local Plan policies should follow the approach of the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

The principal test guiding policy adoption is that of ‘soundness’, namely that the plan should be (NPPF paragraph 182):

- “Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;

- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;

- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and

- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.”

It is against these categories that the draft Local Plan has been reviewed and against which the following representations have been made.

Site Allocation A35: Land at Former Wisley Airfield, Ockham

The Site Allocation within the Proposed Submission Local Plan now includes a wider area than in the previous draft Local Plan, with associated Policy A35 identifying approximately 2,000 homes to be brought forward along with other employment, retail and leisure uses and supporting infrastructure. The larger allocation reflects previous representations made by Our Client and other landowners bringing forward available and deliverable sites. As highlighted above, Our Client is supportive of the principles of the now expanded allocation for a new settlement in this location. This more closely reflects the scale of land identified and assessed within the supporting evidence base for the Local Plan. However, there are additional comments Our Client would like to make, with several factors to consider, taken in turn below.

Green Belt and Country Side Study

In February 2013, Pegasus Planning Group published a Green Belt and Countryside Study on behalf of GBC, which was later updated with the addition of Volume V in April 2014. This study concludes that land parcel C18 (former Wisley Airfield site and Land at Bridge End Farm) represents an appropriate location for a new settlement and is of a size, and capable of a potential yield, to support a sustainable development in this location.
The Green Belt and Countryside Study identifies a population yield greater than 4,000 people as being capable of comprising a sustainable settlement. Therefore a population of 4,000 is not a ceiling or target, but represents an estimated minimum to assist in creating a sustainable settlement.

Wisley Airfield Outline Planning Application

Outline planning permission for development of a new settlement at the site of the former Wisley Airfield was refused by GBC on 8 April 2016. Refusal was predominantly on the grounds of inability to demonstrate very special circumstances to outweigh harm to the Green Belt, a policy test which will not apply should the proposed allocation in the emerging Local Plan be adopted.

This planning application sought permission for up to 2,068 residential dwellings, up to 100 sheltered accommodation units, retail, leisure and commercial uses as well as other supporting infrastructure. It is clear from the description of proposed uses at Policy 35 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, that this has been largely informed by the scope of the outline planning application at the former Wisley Airfield site, despite the allocated land being larger than that of the outline planning application site.

Green Belt Boundary

The draft Policies Map accompanying the Proposed Submission Local Plan, proposes a number of alterations to the Green Belt boundary. In relation to the proposed site allocation A35, the Green Belt boundary revisions result in a larger area than the allocation being released from the Green Belt. The justification behind this is to utilise physical and permanent features to create a defensible Green Belt boundary, not including land within the Green Belt which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open, and to endure beyond the plan period. This approach reflects policy within the NPPF at paragraph 85 and Our Client is supportive of this approach, recognising appropriate Green Belt boundaries and the possibility for additional land to come forward for development to meet future development needs.

Commentary

In Our Client’s view, the above identified key considerations would suggest that draft Policy A35 as currently worded, does not accurately reflect provisions of the NPPF and the opportunity for sustainable development. Our Client suggests that greater flexibility is introduced to draft Policy A35 to allow for a more significant contribution of development, particularly in relation to residential dwellings, with specific reference to a higher number. The justification for this, as above, can be summarised as follows:

- The supporting evidence base for the emerging Local Plan indicates a minimum population yield that could be capable of creating a sustainable settlement in this location and focus should be for a yield in excess of this, with a larger development capable of delivering more social and community infrastructure and benefits supporting a sustainable development;

- It is inappropriate for the specifics of the allocation to be informed by the outline planning application at the former Wisley Airfield site, which relates to a significantly smaller land area. The inclusion of Land at Bridge End Farm, as well as other land, in the allocation provides the opportunity to enhance the development of a new settlement here and allows for a greater scale of development at appropriate densities, assisting in producing a higher population yield reflecting the supporting evidence base and enabling the creation of a sustainable settlement;

- Although not able to be specified in the allocation due to lack of its promotion, the additional land to be released from the Green Belt by virtue of the proposed Green Belt boundary should be recognised as providing for future development need. Draft Policy A35 should therefore include recognition of this and be informed by the proposed defensible boundary and future development potential.

In addition to the above, planning for sustainable development is enshrined within the NPPF, as well as a requirement to “boost significantly the supply of housing” at paragraph 47.

For the reasons set out above, Our Client considers that Policy A35 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan as currently drafted is unsound, as it is not:
• ‘Positively prepared’ – Additional development brought through the strategic allocation would further assist in meeting the development needs of GBC and neighbouring authorities. The development potential has not been maximised with additional land being promoted;

• ‘Justified’ – As it is not the most appropriate strategy with consideration to the principles of the evidence base and inappropriate reliance on the scope of the outline planning application; and

• ‘Consistent with National Policy’ – As it could do more to boost the supply of housing and promote sustainable development.

Conclusion

The increase in size of the Wisley Airfield allocation following the inclusion of the Land at Bridge End Farm and other neighbouring land has provided the Local Authority with the potential to provide new sustainable mixed-use development.

We do not believe the Local Authority has positively addressed the additional land and would challenge that the 2,000 units as set out in policy A35 is sufficient. Page 124 of the proposed submission plan refers to an ‘approximate 2,000’ homes and this still does not reflect the original Pegasus report 2013 whereby 2,500 homes were deemed appropriate and indeed desired to create a sustainable community.

In order to be found sound we request that the Local Authority amend Policy A35 to state that the site can accommodate approximately 2,500 homes. The exact number can then be determined through proper masterplanning of the site.

I trust that the above provides informative comments to the current consultation. I would be grateful if you could please confirm safe receipt of these representations and for above comments to be considered and included in the submission of the draft Local Plan.

In addition, we request to be kept informed on the Examination proceedings and request to reserve the ability to take part in the Examination Hearings on behalf of our client.

Please do not hesitate to contact me or my colleague Mark Novelle (020 7182 2423) should you wish to discuss any of the above further.

Having reviewed the SA documents prepared by AECOM to support the Plan Bewley Homes has a significant concern regarding the overall approach taken by the Council.

Throughout the SA document there are clear statements that the Council’s chosen development strategy is flawed and will lead to fundamental problems in terms of delivery, particularly in relation to new housing. The key concerns that Bewley Homes has are set out in the bullet points below with reference to the relevant sections of the SA documents:

- Impact on Economy – The SA concludes that there will be significant negative effects on the economy as a result of the preferred option set out in the Plan on the basis that no contribution is being made towards meeting the unmet housing need within the HMA, which is also a FEMA. The SA offers no real justification for why this failing is not being addressed and instead states that the Council is awaiting the views of the Local Enterprise Partnership on the matter (Page 7 of the Non-Technical Summary to the SA refers). This represents a fundamental failure on the part of the Council to proceed with a Plan that has not addressed this key matter and where feedback is still outstanding from a key stakeholder.

- Housing Delivery – The SA documents identify in numerous locations that the Council’s preferred option does not deal with the need for delivery in the early years of the plan period and that ‘question marks’ exist. The suggested approach to dealing with these ‘question marks’ is to leave the matter for debate at the examination. In Bewley Homes’ view this is too little too late. The Council’s poor history in terms of delivery of housing speaks for itself and it is incumbent upon the Council to properly address the matter of delivery in the early years now and before the Plan proceeds to examination. The current approach leaves the Council open to challenge and the real likelihood of failure at the examination, which would be more harmful to the Borough than dealing the submission of the Plan to properly address the matter of housing delivery now.

- Duty to Cooperate – The Council has consciously not sought to address any shortfalls in housing delivery elsewhere in the HMA, particularly in relation to Woking and Waverley. As a consequence there is a real prospect that the housing need across the HMA will not be met. It is evident from the approach that Waverley is currently taking that it will not be seeking to meet all of its OAN through the emerging Local Plan and Woking has already confirm this position. Guildford Borough although constrained does have capacity to accommodate more than its OAN and therefore to take on some of the unmet need in the HMA. This is of vital importance and is a basic legal requirement that the Council has failed to properly address as evidenced by the SA documents. Furthermore and in terms of the proposed Wisley allocation it is clear that the Council has not properly engaged with Elmbridge Borough Council to explore and address its concerns, which in the case of harm to the Green Belt are supported by the Inspector that examined the Elmbridge Local Plan.

- Failure to Consider Alternatives – The SA documents refer to a series of growth options and have considered them against the required criteria. However all of the growth options are predicated on housing delivery from the same sources. In particular relation to the Green Belt no other options beyond those identified by the Council have been assessed. The Council has even removed some Green Belt sites that were considered in the previous draft of the Local Plan purely on the basis that they attracted objection. The failure to consider other site options, particularly in relation to potential Green Belt releases, is a significant flaw in the SA process. Although the SA states that only sites that have scored green or amber in the Green Belt review have been considered this is patently not true because Normand/Flexford is a red site.

The evidence that Bewley Homes has provided in this representations confirms that there are locations in the red areas that are in fact suitable for release from the Green Belt and are less harmful than locations such as Wisley, Normandy/Flexford and Blackwell Farm, which because of their relatively modest scale can make a positive contribution towards the supply of both open market and affordable housing in the early years of the plan period.

The Council’s failure to consider these alternatives has resulted in the progression of a development strategy that is flawed and will fail to meet the development needs of the Borough, particularly in the early years of the plan period.

- The SA approach is therefore flawed and requires a complete review to ensure that as the key supporting document to the Plan it is robust and accords with the requirements of the Framework and the NPPG. The Council cannot proceed to the formal submission of the Plan on the basis of the SA in its current form and to do so would result in the document being found unsound for the reasons identified above.
Policy A26 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified, Effective or Consistent with National Policy:

The Council’s proposed allocation of land at Blackwell Farm, Hogs Back, Guildford cannot be considered as a sound land release for the following primary reasons:

- Development Scale and Sustainability: The Council is suggesting that this proposal as a site allocation will create a sustainable development however including 1,800 dwellings. Although the site is within the vicinity of the city of Guildford it is both physically and visually isolated from the urban area and firmly within the Green Belt.
- The scale of development proposed will dominate this located created a clear and harmful extension of the settlement divorced from the main urban area.
- The site will have little or no relationship with the existing urban area and its relative isolation results in an inherently unsustainable form and scale of development.
- Delivery of Essential Infrastructure: The Council identifies in the policy that ‘interventions will be required to address potential highway performance issues’. Furthermore the Council identifies additional infrastructure that will be required for the scheme to be viable and sustainable.
- Appendix C of the Plan sets out the key infrastructure required to deliver the Plan as a whole and in specific relation to Blackwell Farm confirms the following requirements:

<table>

<th>Cost to Development</th>

<tbody>

A new 2FE primary school with pre-school provision
Developer to provide serviced land and build costs at estimate of £8m

- Even taking into account those items where the Council has attributed a cost it is apparent that a development of some 1,800 dwellings cannot afford to deliver all of the infrastructure that the Council state is required to make it acceptable in planning terms as a sustainable development. The fact that the Council has not been able to quantify the majority of the works that are required also represents a failing in terms of demonstrating that the Plan will be effective in the delivery of those obligations.
- It is therefore hard to see how a scheme for 1,800 dwellings can come forward with the weight of such a heavy burden of Planning Obligations to enable its delivery.
- Impact on Green Belt: The Green Belt study undertaken to inform the preparation of the Plan confirms that this site will result in the loss of ‘yellow and red rated’ Green Belt land i.e. land that is of the medium to highest value in terms of the contribution that it makes to the objectives of the Green Belt.
- The justification for the release of such high quality Green Belt land set out in the SA (Page 27 of the main SA document refers) is that the proposal will deliver new facilities, a railway station and an extension to the Surrey Research Park. This does not amount to an appropriate justification for the release of land from the Green Belt, particularly where other more suitable locations exist that have not even been tested by the Council through its Green Belt study.
- Additionally and as set out above the level of new facilities that the Council require from the scheme is likely to render the development unviable and therefore the benefits identified as the sole justification for the release of the site will not be delivered.
- The Council’s position in promoting this site as a land allocation is therefore, in Bewley Homes’ view, completely untenable.
- The Council’s proposed allocation should therefore be deleted and further land allocated to make up the shortfall in supply.

Detailed Representations in Relation to Land to the South and East of Ash and Tongham

Policy A29 - OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

Bewley Homes is supportive of the Council proposing a strategic land allocation for housing to the South and East of Ash and Tongham, which is considered to comprise a suitable and sustainable location for growth that will assist the Council to meet its housing requirement in the early part of the Plan period.
Bewley Homes is however concerned that the Council has sought to remove areas of land that are for all intents and purposes within the strategic location for growth as defined on the draft Proposals Map.

In particular the areas of land identified on the plan attached at Annex 1 to these representations form an integral part of the strategic development location that can and will make a valuable contribution to the delivery of new housing in this area.

Bewley Homes has a controlling interest in the area identified on the attached plan and is therefore able to ensure its complete delivery on a comprehensive basis as part of the overall strategic development location.

Given the importance of ensuring the strategic development location is cohesive and that the individual development proposals provide connections between the sites and existing urban area (a point that Bewley Homes is particularly supportive of) it is considered vital that the whole of the area covered by the strategic development location is included in the formal allocation.

The inclusion of the areas identified will also provide greater flexibility in terms of the delivery of further housing and affordable housing in a highly sustainable location outside of the Green Belt that will strengthen the Council’s housing delivery strategy.

Bewley Homes is aware of the presence of certain Heritage Assets in the vicinity of the areas identified on the attached plan. It is considered that the presence of these Heritage Assets adds greater weight to the argument that the areas identified on the attached plan should be included within the strategic development location. Their inclusion will ensure that through a comprehensive masterplanning exercise for the area under Bewley Homes’ control the Heritage Assets can be properly protected as part of any future development.

Finally it is important to note that the approach being taken by the Council will bring the areas identified into the defined urban area of Ash and Tongham in any event, wherein the principle of development will become acceptable. It is therefore logical that these areas are included within the strategic development location to ensure proper positive planning of the area rather than leaving their future development potential solely to the Development Management process.

The draft proposals map should therefore be amended to include the areas of land identified on the attached plan within the strategic development location.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

Policy A35 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified, Effective or Consistent with National Policy:

The Council’s proposed allocation of land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham cannot be considered as a sound land release for the following primary reasons:

- Development Scale and Sustainability: The Council suggests that this proposal will create a new settlement (see Spatial Vision) yet the residential component only comprises 2,000 dwellings. A development of 2,000 dwellings is insufficient in terms of its scale to provide a large enough population to sustain the new services and facilities that would need to be provided alongside housing and employment.
- It has been long established in the planning system that the creation of new settlements requires a nucleus of population of sufficient size to ensure that the associated services and facilities can be funded and provided and then maintained in a viable manner.
- Many examples exist of new settlement development and all of those that have succeeded require greater levels of housing than the Council is currently proposing.
- Although a little dated now in terms of its publication date the Town and Country Planning Association (“TCPA”) produced a document in 2007 in conjunction with the DCLG that reviewed Best Practice in relation to Sustainable Urban Extensions and New Settlements.
- The review reached a number of key conclusions those of direct relevance to the Council’s proposal are summarised below:
  - The decision making in relation to the provision of a new settlement is not something that can or should be taken at a local authority level. The strategic nature of such a decision renders it necessary to consider at a more strategic level to ensure that cross boundary issues with neighbouring authorities are properly considered and catered for;
  - New settlements have a long lead in time that is typically 20 years i.e. the whole plan period; and,
  - Significant initial investment is usually required to bring forward the substantial infrastructure that is typically required.
- The Council is therefore proposing a new settlement unilaterally at a local level and without proper recourse to neighbouring authorities (Neame Sutton is aware of a number of authorities that border Guildford Borough that are objecting to this proposal).
- The Council is suggesting that the 2,000 dwellings on the site will be delivered in years 1 -15 (Table 1 refers) yet typical delivery from such proposals is 20 years.
- The scale of the proposal is too low to ensure the necessary infrastructure requirements can be bought forward in a viable manner.
- For these reasons the draft allocation proposal is inadequate in scale and inherently unsustainable.

Delivery of Essential Infrastructure:

- The Council identifies in the policy that ‘interventions will be required to address potential highway performance issues.’ Furthermore the Council states that regard will need to be had to the delivery and timing of key infrastructure.
- Appendix C of the Plan sets out the key infrastructure required to deliver the Plan as a whole and in specific relation to Wisley confirms the following requirements:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Infrastructure Required</th>
<th>Cost to Development</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Improvement works to the strategic road network (SRN1, SRN2, SRN3)</td>

A new two form entry primary school  Land plus significant proportion of £8m cost
A new four form entry secondary school  Land plus significant proportion of £15m cost
Delivery of Bespoke SANG  To be confirmed

- Even taking into account those items where the Council has attributed a cost it is apparent that a development of some 2,000 dwellings cannot afford to deliver all of the infrastructure that the Council state is required to make it acceptable in planning terms as a sustainable new settlement. The fact that the Council has not been able to quantify the majority of the works that are required also represents a failing in terms of demonstrating that the Plan will be effective in the delivery of those obligations.
- It is therefore hard to see how a scheme of 2,000 dwellings will ever come forward on the land let alone within the 20 year time horizon of the Plan that has in effect only 17 years left to run.

Planning History:

- The Council has recently determined an Outline Application on the site for circa 2,000 dwellings, which was refused permission on 08 April 2016 (Decision Notice attached at Annex 1).
- The decision notice confirms the following concerns raised by the Council’s Planning Committee:
  - The scale of development would have a clear and substantial detrimental impact on the openness of the Green Belt;
  - No evidence to demonstrate the scheme would not give rise to severe adverse impact on the safe and efficient operation of the strategic road network;
  - Impact on the viability of existing district and local centres in the vicinity;
  - Impact on safeguarded waste site;
  - The quantum and scale of development is unacceptable;
  - Impact on listed buildings;
  - Impact on air quality; and,
  - A range of matters relating to Planning Obligations.
- It is clear from the decision that the Council’s own Members share the same concerns as Bewley in relation to the viability and deliverability of the development in this location together with raising additional concerns in relation to its impact on the Green Belt and the character of the area.
- If this is the view of Council Members it seems perverse that the Council has continued with the proposed allocation of the land given that the delivery of circa 2,000 dwellings has been tested more thoroughly through the planning application process and found to be significantly lacking.

Furthermore, and as document in the SA (Page 20 of the main SA document refers) neighbouring Local Planning Authorities have also raised serious concerns in relation to the proposed allocation of this site in the Plan. In particular Elmbridge Borough Council has highlighted the vulnerability of the Green Belt in this location as confirmed by the Inspector appointed to examine the Elmbridge Core Strategy.

The Council’s proposed allocation should therefore be deleted and further land allocated to make up the shortfall in supply.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy D1 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared or Justified:

The Council has included this policy within the Plan, which is clearly worded as a Development Management policy. Bewley considers that the inclusion of such a policy is not warranted at this stage given the clear intention set out by the Council to deal with Development Management policies in a separate Development Plan Document.

In any event the wording of the policy is overly restrictive in that it states that developments of 25 dwellings or more ‘must’ comply with all of the bullet point criteria listed. This approach fails to recognise the individual merits of development proposals and the fact that not every scheme will be able to, or indeed should, comply with all of the criteria listed in their entirety.

It is therefore considered that the policy should be deleted from the Plan and included in the later Development Management document in due course. If however the policy is to remain the wording of the introductory sentence should be amended to read as follows:

Residential developments of 25 or more dwellings should’

Policy H2 – SUPPORT WITH RESERVATION:

Whilst Bewley is supportive of the Council’s approach to the identification of an affordable housing requirement and that the level sought (40%) is generally accepted as comprising an appropriate amount having regard to development viability this does further demonstrate the importance of a development strategy that delivers housing in the early years of the plan period. The reason for this view is that the October 2015 SHMA identifies a need equating to some 66% of the total OAN. Where the Council is seeking to adopt a policy requiring 40% on sites of five or more homes the level of affordable housing need identified in the SHMA will never be fully met. Early delivery to help secure affordable provision as soon as possible is therefore vitally important within the Borough.

Paragraph 4.3.13 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

Bewley does support the release of settlements from the Green Belt and in turn the proposed allocation of new housing land in or immediately adjacent to these settlements. However, and for the reasons explained in the representations below, the Council needs to release further land from the Green Belt to meet its housing obligations and ensure flexibility in its development strategy for the whole of the plan period.

The Green Belt and Countryside Study prepared by Pegasus on behalf of the Council in January 2013 clearly identifies significantly more capacity within the Green Belt for land release than the Council has sought to include within the Plan. Furthermore the Green Belt and Countryside Study has taken an extremely narrow approach to the review of the Green Belt boundaries and as a consequence has missed a number of viable opportunities for land to be released for housing that would not cause material harm to the objectives of the Green Belt.

The need for further land release is set out below.

Policy S1 – SUPPORT WITH RESERVATION:

Bewley is supportive of the Council seeking to import the general presumption in favour of sustainable development set out at paragraph 14 of the Framework into the Development Plan. This approach has been followed by many other Local Planning Authorities in the Country and will provide a sound basis for decision making in the Borough if applied correctly at the Development Management stage.

Bewley would however recommend that the Council also includes the reference within the first sentence of Paragraph 49 of the Framework, which reminds decision makers that proposals for residential development should be considered in the context of the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

The addition of this reference would ensure the policy properly reflects the Framework and will assist the Council in proactive decision making during the life of the Plan.

The reason for highlighting the matter of the Council’s extremely poor record in terms of both plan making and housing delivery is that any new Local Plan should place its emphasis not only on seeking to meet the full Objectively Assessed Needs (“OAN”) identified for the Borough but should also look to ensure that a significant proportion of that requirement is supplied in the early years of the plan period.</td>

Plan,

Paragraph 1.3 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

12. The Council states in this paragraph that the Plan contains overarching policies and allocates land for housing, employment, community facilities and other types of development. It goes on to state that the second part of the Local Plan (which is yet to be prepared) will deal with the detailed development control policies.

13. On that basis it is incumbent upon the Council to ensure that the Plan does indeed allocate all land that is necessary to meet its housing and other development obligations.

14. For the reasons that Bewley has set out in this document it is clear that there are fundamental flaws in the Plan as drafted as well as a number of the strategic land allocations that will result in the document both being unsound and unable to meet the development needs of the Borough.

15. The approach the Council is taking in dealing with all land allocations in the Plan is laudable but does therefore mean that there are no second chances in terms of meeting any shortfall created by the failure of any one or a number of its land allocations within the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy S2 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

Bewley is supportive of the fact that the Council is seeking to plan for the whole of its OAN as identified in the October 2015 version of its SHMA. This is the correct approach to take and is in conformity with National policy set out in the Framework (Paragraph 47) and the NPPG in the circumstances where, as is the case in Guildford Borough, the level of constraints do not justify a reduction in delivery against the OAN.

The above positive point within the policy is however offset by the housing trajectory set out in the table that forms part of the policy wording. It is clear that the Council is continuing with its trend of “putting off this year what can be dealt with in future years”.

Given the historic failure of the Council to deliver housing over a sustained period in the 10 years between the expiry of the old Local Plan and the present day and the extremely low level of supply currently in place the Council should be seizing the opportunity afforded by the new Local Plan to proactively deliver housing in the early years of the plan period.

The current trajectory seeks to push the majority of the housing delivery for the Borough in the second half of the Plan period i.e. from 2023 onwards. In fact the trajectory does not provide any delivery figures at all for the first five years of the plan period from 2013 – 2018.
The Council is therefore embarking on a strategy that will push back delivery of much needed housing to the later stages of the plan period.

This approach, which is predicated on the delivery of major development locations that are by their nature slow to deliver, will further exacerbate the current shortfall in supply and fail those most vulnerable members of the community in need of affordable housing. Additionally the major development locations identified by the Council all have significant constraints that need to be addressed before any new dwellings can be delivered.

Whilst the Council has identified that its housing requirement is ‘not a ceiling’ and that earlier delivery of allocated sites will be supported where appropriate such a reliance on the ‘hope’ that sites will come forward rather than positively planning for early delivery is simply unacceptable and fails to meet the test of being positively prepared and in conformity with National policy.

The Council’s development strategy for the delivery of new housing across the Borough is therefore inherently flawed and either a significant change is required that moves away from major development locations or further land is allocated to enable delivery in the early years of the plan period whilst the major development locations come up to speed.

In either scenario further land allocations should be made in sustainable locations, which the Council’s evidence base already confirms are available (see representations below).

It is perhaps rather telling that the Council is aware of the significant shortcoming in its development strategy for the delivery of housing by the fact that Policy S2 is the only policy in the document that is not supported by a reasoned justification. This in Bewley’s view is because there is no reasoned justification for the development strategy the Council is seeking to pursue in the face of the clear and compelling evidence that housing should be prioritised in the early years of the plan and that capacity exists in locations that are capable of delivering in a sustainable manner.

Bewley Homes’ concerns with the delivery strategy that the Council is pursuing are supported by the conclusions of the Sustainability Appraisal (“SA”) undertaken by AECOM to support the Plan. In particular the SA notes (Page 9 of the Non-Technical Summary and Second paragraph of Page 29 of the main SA document refer) that there are question marks regarding the housing trajectory (and in particular the supply of housing in the early part of the plan period). The SA goes on to state that these are detailed matters that will benefit from open discussion during the plan’s examination.

The approach advocated by the SA to leave the debate on delivery until the examination is itself fundamentally flawed. The Council should be in a position where it progresses to the submission stage with a Plan that can deliver the required level of housing consistently across the plan period without any ‘question marks’. Given the significant shortfall in supply currently and the backlog of unmet need in the District certainty of delivery in the early years is paramount to the success of the Plan.

The ‘question mark’ identified by the SA on its own is enough to demonstrate that the Plan fails the tests of soundness and cannot proceed to examination.

The development strategy should therefore be changed to ensure that housing is being proactively delivered in the early stages of the plan period rather than the current approach that will reinforce the Council’s position in terms of failing to deliver.

The housing requirement identified (693 dpa) must be regarded as a minimum and draft Policy S2 must be amended to clearly state this. In addition the Council should be allocating further land on small to medium sized sites that can deliver in the short term to address its significant backlog in need and to rectify the current shortfall in housing land supply. Given the Council’s persistent failure to deliver new housing over the last decade or more the very least that the Council should be planning for is a 20% buffer over and above the total housing requirement generated by the OAN. The SA report currently confirms the Council is planning for a 14% buffer, which is inadequate and, will lead to failure.

A minimum requirement of 832 dpa should therefore be planned for by the Council, which would equate to a total requirement of 16,640 dwellings over the 20 year plan period i.e. an increase of 2,780 dwellings.

Allocation of these additional dwellings on small to medium sized sites, such as that promoted by Bewley Homes, will provide the necessary flexibility to ensure that the Council can maintain a rolling 5 year supply of deliverable housing sites.
and most importantly that it will deliver housing in the early years of the plan period to help rectify the significant backlog of unmet demand.

Table 1 - OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

Bewley Homes objects to the Council’s inclusion of a windfall allowance within Table 1 equating to 625 dwellings over the period 2018 – 2033.

Given the Council’s history of persistent failure to deliver housing it is considered that any reliance upon windfalls in the Plan is unsound. The Council should be planning positively to ensure that sufficient land is identified to meet its OAN as a minimum and should not be relying upon windfalls to make up the numbers where the history of delivery has been so poor.

It is considered that windfalls should therefore be removed from Table 1 and regarded as an additional ‘bonus’ over and above the planned delivery to meet the minimum OAN.

This approach would accord with Government policy contained in the Framework at Paragraphs 47 and 48 and supplemented by the advice in the NPPG at Paragraph: 24 Reference ID: 3-24-20140306.

Detailed Representations in Relation to Effingham

Having provided representations in relation to the Plan as drafted and the accompanying SA (see Part 1 of Bewley Homes’ representations) this section sets out Bewley Homes’ proposal for the allocation of land at Hester’s Yard, Wood Street Village as a sustainable location immediately adjacent to the settlement. The proposal is supported, where relevant, by appropriate detailed technical evidence primarily in relation to the following matters:

- Landscape and Visual Impact and Green Belt
- Highways and Transportation Matters
- HDA
- Motion

As a starting point it is important to highlight that Bewley is supportive of the Council’s identification of Wood Street Village as a sustainable location and as a consequence the proposal to remove the settlement from the Green Belt.
This section focuses on Bewley’s objection to the Plan on the basis that further greenfield housing sites are required to deliver the housing necessary to meet the OAN and most importantly smaller sites should be allocated to enable delivery in the early years of the plan period together with ensuring flexibility.

Furthermore and for the reasons Bewley has identified above there are fundamental flaws in the Council’s proposals to allocate 2,000 dwellings at Wisley and 1,800 dwellings at Blackwell Farm. The removal of these two allocations would place greater importance on the identification of other suitable and sustainable locations in the Borough to meet the overall housing need. Notwithstanding this point there is a need for the allocation of further sites to ensure sufficient flexibility in terms of supply of housing throughout the Plan period and to enable the Council to respond positively to changes in demand and delivery without needing to revert to a review of the Local Plan.

As set out in Part 1 of Bewley Homes’ representations the Council has not undertaken a full review of all suitable and available alternatives nor has its consultants explored other options for release from the Green Belt. As a consequence the Council has simply decided not to make any provision for growth to meet the needs of the community at all throughout the plan period within Wood Street Village.

The Council’s approach in this regard is without foundation and based on flawed evidence.

As demonstrated in the attached appraisals (and explored below) land at Orestan Lane represents a viable location for a relatively limited release of land from the Green Belt to provide a scale of development that is appropriate and proportionate to the size of the settlement, which the Council itself acknowledge as a sustainable location.

As identified in Part 1 of Bewley Homes representations the Council’s current development strategy fails to ensure delivery in the early years of the plan period to meet the needs of the Borough’s population in terms of new housing. There is a need for the release of more modest scale housing sites in sustainable locations, such as Wood Street Village, that can deliver housing in the first 5 years of the Plan period in particular. Equally the Council’s current approach fails the residents of Wood Street Village in terms of meeting their needs for further open market and affordable housing.

As confirmed in the Council’s own Settlement Hierarchy Study (May 2014) Wood Street Village is regarded as a Large Village, which is the third tier in the settlement hierarchy below the Rural Service Centre of East Horsley and the Urban Area of Guildford, Ash and Tongham. Wood Street Village is therefore a suitable and sustainable location for accommodating a modest scale of growth in the manner proposed by Bewley Homes in these representations.

Turning to consider Bewley Homes promotion site. Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham is considered to comprise a suitable location for release from the Green Belt and allocation for approximately 40 dwellings to help deliver the Council’s housing requirement for the following reasons:

Location and Context:

The proposed allocation site is situated immediately adjacent to the currently proposed boundary for the settlement of Wood Street Village and the front section of the site is actually within the settlement and benefits from a direct road frontage onto Oak Hill. As set out above Wood Street Village comprises a sustainable location for growth as identified by the Council in its settlement hierarchy. The Council’s regard for the sustainability of the settlement is reflected in its desire to roll back the Green Belt boundaries in the Plan.

The promotion site itself comprises a variety of commercial uses including open storage, vehicle repairs and servicing. The site is predominantly previously-developed land in accordance with the definition set out in Annex 2 of the Framework.

Given the emphasis that the Council is placing upon the release of previously-developed land to meet its housing requirement this promotion site is considered to comprise just the kind of location that should be allocated in accordance with Paragraph 4.1.6 of the Plan that states:

Our preference is to focus growth in the most sustainable locations, making best use of previously developed land (including in the Green Belt if appropriate).

In both physical and visual terms the site relates well to the settlement and appears as part of the settlement when viewed on the ground.
The site benefits from direct access to local services and facilities as set out in the attached Transport Accessibility Appraisal prepared by Motion.

Contribution to Green Belt and Landscape and Visual Impact:

Having established that Wood Street Village is considered to comprise a sustainable location for growth and that the promotion site is well related to the settlement the next key consideration is the matter of the contribution that the site makes to the Green Belt alongside more general landscape and visual impact issues.

It is relevant to note that the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study undertaken by Pegasus in January 2013 did not assess the promotion site when consideration was given to Wood Street Village. No conclusion has therefore been drawn on behalf of the Council as to the contribution the promotion site may make to the Green Belt.

To address this matter Bewley has instructed its landscape architect EDP to undertake a review of the contribution the site makes to the Green Belt and also more general landscape and visual impact issues. A copy of the review is attached at Annex 2.

In summary the review concluded the following:

‘This review provides a clear indication that the site is entirely suitable for extraction from the Green Belt, without resulting in any adverse effects on the Green Belt function as identified within the NPPF, or on the local landscape character or the amenity of local visual receptors. This results primarily from the clearly demarcated boundary features, existing commercial uses within the site, the enclosed nature of the site and the consequential limitation in landscape and visual effects, but also the way in which the site is severed from the key area providing openness between Wood Street Village and Fairlands.

A development which seeks to address the constraints of the site, would contribute to retaining the openness of the Green Belt by providing much needed housing on a site where Green Belt function would not be comprised, whilst also providing a sustainable and high quality development which links very well to the existing village.’

It is therefore evident that in terms both of the Green Belt and landscape and visual impact matters the promotion site is acceptable and should be released for housing.

Transport and Highway Impacts:

In relation to transport and highway impacts the technical appraisal undertaken by Motion confirms that adequate vehicular access can be achieved to the site from Oak Hill in accordance with the requirements set out in Manual for Streets.

The site is well located in terms of local community facilities that can be accessed via a range of transportation modes in accordance with the requirements of the Framework and the NPPG.

The site is therefore sustainably located in relation to existing services and facilities within the settlement of Wood Street Village.

Flooding and Drainage:

The whole site is within Flood Zone 1 on the Environment Agency’s indicative flood mapping and is not identified as being at risk from any known surface water flooding events. In this respect the site is sequentially preferable in flood risk terms. Furthermore the site is sequentially preferable when compared with a number of other locations such as Land at Wisley and Normandy/Flexford both of which contain land in Flood Zones 2 and 3.

There are no known land drainage issues on the site and in this respect a Sustainable Urban Drainage System (“SUDS”) could be employed as part of any development on the land.

Other Technical Considerations:
Other technical considerations such as ecology, archaeology, arboriculture, noise, etc are not considered to pose a constraint to the development of the site for housing such as to preclude the favourable consideration of the site as a housing allocation.

The Approach to Allocation – Presumption in Favour of Sustainable Development:

Taking into account Bewley's representations that consider the need for the allocation of additional sites to ensure the Council can deliver housing in the early years of the plan period combined with the flaws in at least two of its large scale allocations there is a clear and present need for the inclusion of this site for housing in the Local Plan.

The Government emphasis in national Policy is centre on the presumption in favour of sustainable development. Paragraph 7 of the Framework identifies the three strands of sustainable development as comprising the economic, social and environmental strands. If these can be met then there is a clear presumption in favour that should lead to the natural conclusion the land should be allocated for housing.

Economic – The delivery of new housing on the promotion site will secure local employment in the short term during the construction phase, which is now a well-established and accepted benefit of residential development. Additionally any new residential development will contribute to the local economy in terms of Planning Obligations and via other means such as future Council tax revenues, new homes bonus and indirectly through increased revenue into the local economy. The economic limb is therefore met by the promotion site

Social – As set out earlier within Bewley’s representations there is a clear and present need for new housing in the Borough now to meet the substantial shortfall in supply and to ensure that the OAN can be delivered year on year from the start of the plan period rather than from half way through it. Additionally the Council’s SHMA identifies substantial affordable housing need that cannot ever be met in the life of the new Plan based on the proposed affordable housing policy approach. Finally the Council’s proposed reliance upon strategic development, particularly at Wisley and Blackwell Farm, is likely to lead to failure in terms of delivering the overall housing requirement where the Council is reliant upon every source of supply to deliver in order to meet its OAN.

Therefore any proposals of more modest scale that can deliver a range of open market and affordable dwellings in a timely manner will result in social benefit in terms of helping to meet the clearly identified needs and providing the Council with a buffer of additional housing to help safeguard against non-delivery elsewhere

Environmental – It has been demonstrated through the detailed review undertaken by HDA that the site can be released from the Green Belt without causing any unacceptable harm either in Green Belt or landscape and visual impact terms. Furthermore the site is accessible to local services and facilities, integrates well with the settlement and, will not give rise to any undue adverse impacts on the local highway network. The environmental limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

For all of the above reasons it is considered that Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham comprises a sustainable location for the allocation of approximately 40 dwellings that will assist the Council in ensuring its housing delivery obligations are met and that most importantly delivery of the right level of housing takes place early in the plan period.

Bewley therefore considers that for the Plan to be found sound further land allocations are required and Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham comprises a sustainable option that is available for immediate delivery. The site should be allocated for housing, included within the settlement and removed from the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Neame Sutton Limited acting on behalf of Bewley Homes Plc is proposing a number of additional and/or alternative housing allocations in various settlements in the Borough. Furthermore fundamental objections are raised in relation to the Council’s housing delivery strategy including in specific relation to a number of proposed allocations and, the total number of dwellings it is proposing to provide over the Plan period. Objections are also raised in relation to the evidence base, particularly the Sustainability Appraisal and Green Belt Study.

These are all complex issues that Bewley Homes would wish to address the Inspector directly on at the appropriate Examination sessions.

Spatial Vision - OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified or Consistent with National Policy:

Whilst Bewley is supportive of some elements of the spatial vision such as the proposal deliver 13,860 dwellings over the plan period, which meets exactly with its OAN, there are a number of fundamental issues in terms of the delivery of that requirement in the spatial development strategy that the Council is seeking to pursue.

As a consequence, and for the reasons set out in more detail in the representations below, the Plan has not been positively prepared, is not justified by the evidence base and fails to be consistent with National Policy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A29 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified, Effective or Consistent with National Policy:

2.67 Whilst Bewley Homes supports the allocation of land at Ash and Tongham for housing, as per the previous representations submitted in relation to the earlier Regulation 19 consultation, the revisions made to the policy in the current iteration of the Plan raise a number of fundamental issues, which are explored below.

Housing Numbers Included in Allocation:
2.68 When compared with the previous iteration of the draft policy the total number of dwellings proposed appears, on face value at least, to have increased. This is however not the case when the detail of the approach now being taken by the Council is explored.

2.69 The amendments to the draft allocation reintroduce areas that already benefit from planning consent that were previously excluded from the allocation and therefore the total number of dwellings proposed. When the areas of consented sites are discounted from the total allocation proposed the residual from the allocation is approximately 1,025 dwellings, which compares with the previous allocation figure of 1,200 dwellings. Consequently the Council’s proposed housing provision from this allocation has actually reduced by nearly 200 dwellings.

Current Consented Sites – Ash and Tongham Allocation

| Land South of Ash Lodge Drive | 400 dwellings |
Foreman Park 26 dwellings
Kingston House 35 dwellings
Minley Nursery 55 dwellings
Ash Green Lane West 26 dwellings
Land adjacent to Grange Road 50 dwellings
Land south of Guildford Road 54 dwellings
Land at 109 South Lane 21 dwellings
Warren Farm, White Lane 58 dwellings
TOTAL 725 dwellings

2.70 This does not represent a positively planned approach particularly given the acute need for new housing in Guildford Borough and the fact that the Ash and Tongham allocation comprises the only major area outside of the Green Belt that is sustainably able to deliver further housing.

2.71 In short the Council is not seeking to make the most of this precious land resource, which fails to accord with government guidance and is consequence not justified.

Requirement for New Road Bridge (Criterion (9)):

2.72 The introduction of this Criterion into the policies corresponds with the proposed deletion of draft Policy A30. Bewley Homes raises serious concerns with the introduction of this Criterion for the following reasons:

2.72.1 Not Justified/Necessary – The Council has not presented any evidence either as part of the policy or in any supporting documentation to justify why a bridge over the railway in Ash is required either as part of the housing allocation or in isolation.

2.72.2 The Council has not undertaken any work to determine whether the impact arising from the allocation of additional housing in Ash and Tongham would give rise to a ‘severe’ cumulative impact as required by Paragraph 32 of the Framework such that mitigation to the railway crossing would be required. Following on from this would need to be an assessment of options in the event that mitigation was required. This has not been done.

2.72.3 Not Reasonable/Feasible – In the event that a bridge is required, which the Council simply does not have the evidence to determine, there is no assessment by the Council or the Highway Authority to confirm that it would be feasible either in engineering or practical terms.

2.72.4 Not Viable - The policy requires the delivery of both land and the bridge to be provided via the residential development of the Ash and Tongham allocation. No financial viability has been undertaken to determine how much the bridge would cost to deliver and consequently how much the residential development would be expected to pay to determine whether the costs are reasonable related in scale and kind to the residential development proposed.

2.72.5 As a confirmation of Bewley Homes’ concerns in relation to this point the fact that 725 dwellings have already been granted consent in the allocation area leaving only 1,025 dwellings remaining of which a further 647 dwellings are the subject of live planning applications means that the pool of available dwellings against which the costs of delivering a bridge can be levied via a Planning Obligation is relatively small. No highway concerns relating to the railway crossing have been raised by the Highway Authority in relation to the 725 dwellings already consented and it would therefore appear highly unlikely that the Council would be able to justify the delivery of such a significant piece of infrastructure from the remaining 1,025 dwellings (net of 308 dwellings when existing live planning applications are removed).

2.73 For these reasons the proposal for a bridge as part of this allocation completely fails all of the Statutory tests set out in Regulation 122 of the Community Infrastructure Levy Regulations 2010.

2.74 It is also understood that the Council intends to collect financial contributions for the delivery of the bridge via Planning Obligations rather than Community Infrastructure Levy. Given the number of individual ownerships/promoters all active within the Ash and Tongham allocation area the approach the Council proposes will fail to meet the requirement of Regulation 123 of the Community Infrastructure Levy Regulations 2010 and consequently would be unlawful.

2.75 Furthermore the fact that the Council has deleted draft Policy A30 and not replaced this area within Policy A29 raises significant doubt on whether there is actually sufficient land within the scope of the allocation to deliver a bridge even if all of the above matters can be satisfactorily demonstrated by the Council. There is no justification given for the deletion of draft Policy A30 and given that Criterion (9) does not replicate the deleted policy this increases the doubt on the Council’s case for its inclusion.

2.76 The introduction of this Criterion within the draft Policy at this late stage in the process and its lack of detail in terms of the actual bridge proposal raises a serious issue in that the Council cannot possibly contend the proposal has been the subject of SA. The simple fact is the Council has not undertaken any work to determine whether the proposal is necessary and how it can be delivered against which a credible SA could be provided.

2.77 In this regard this element of the draft policy fails not only the tests of soundness in terms of not being justified, positively prepared, effective or in compliance with National policy but also fails the legal test in terms of not having been the subject of SA.

2.78 The policy therefore needs to be reworded as follows:
1. To remove Criterion (9) because there is no justification for a bridge to be provided;
2. To increase the overall housing allocation in the area to make best use of this highly sustainable location outside of the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A35 – OBJECT: UNSOUND – Not Positively Prepared, Justified, Effective or Consistent with National Policy:

2.79 Given that this Regulation 19 consultation is targeted on the amendments made by the Council Bewley has reviewed the amendments to this policy and all of its concerns as set out in its representations from June 2016 remain unresolved.

3.0 Representations in Relation to the Sustainability Appraisal ("SA")
3.1 On the basis that there is direct overlap between the representations set out in Section 2 above and the SA the comments in this section are limited to Bewley Homes’ specific concerns with the updated SA.

3.2 The SA confirms on pages 26 and 27 that there is an unmet need in the HMA arising from working amounting to 3,150 dwellings. Box 6.8 even confirms the Council’s understanding that ‘there is little reason to suggest that the Waverley Local Plan will provide for any of Woking’s unmet needs.’

3.3 The SA then accepts the need to consider options that meet some or all of Woking’s unmet need, which must be the right approach to take.

3.4 This is of course, for the reasons set out in Section 2 above, completely at odds with the actual approach taken by the Council in the Plan that singularly ignores the unmet need arising from Woking.

3.5 The SA and the Plan are therefore in direct conflict with one another over this important matter, which cannot be considered to meet with the tests of soundness particularly in terms of being justified, positively prepared or in accordance with National policy and guidance.

3.6 Table 7.1 on Page 39 summarises the options the Council has considered and identifies at Option 8 and OAN plus 27% uplift scenario. This option is the closest in terms of alignment with the correct OAN identified in Section 2 of these representations.

3.7 Option 8 confirms the best outcomes in terms of economy and housing, which confirms the suitability of this option to address the needs of the Borough in terms of meeting housing need and sustaining the local economy. The areas where harm is identified in the table relating to Landscape, Transport and, Biodiversity are all matters that are capable of mitigation bought about through the Development Management process and should not therefore be viewed as overriding factors against pursuing Option 8.

3.8 Finally Option 8 scores poorly in relation to the ‘land’ category, which is perhaps of no real surprise given that land is a finite resource and the development of an increase level of housing necessarily results in the use of more land. This is more a function of Option 8 rather than an expression of its sustainability credentials.

3.9 The SA does not therefore identify any specific or indeed cumulative overriding issue that would render Option 8 unviable or unsustainable. Instead the SA confirms the view that Option 8 is the best in terms of addressing the significant housing shortfall in the Borough and ensuring the longevity and growth of the local economy.

3.10 In fact the final bullet point of Paragraph 6.5.26 on Page 35 confirms that Option 8 is both reasonable and would meet half of Woking’s unmet need. This is entirely in line with the approach set out by Bewley Homes in Section 2 of these representations.

With regard to one of the sites the Council now proposes to delete Bewley Homes is supportive of this amendment for the reasons set out below:

Land to the South of West Horsley (Policy A41) – SUPPORT: Bewley Homes supports the proposed deletion of this draft allocation from the Plan by the Council. This site is in a location known for surface water flooding as identified by the Council. As such and in accordance with the sequential approach the Council should be looking at locations where surface water flood risk is not an issue such as Bewley Homes’ promotion site.

Employment Led Uplift:

2.31 The uplift suggested in the Addendum report for employment projections is also considered to be too low. This matter is being dealt with in detail by others and in this respect Bewley Homes does not wish to repeat those detailed representations here.

2.32 In short there is no sound justification for such a significant reduction in the uplift applied to the Council’s figures between the previous version of the SHMA using the 2012 population projections and the more recent 2017 addendum that uses the 2014 population projections. Guildford remains the main town in the Enterprise M3 LEP area as confirmed in both the 2016 SA and 2017 SA. It should therefore remain the case that a similar level of uplift should be applied to the 2014 population projections as was the case in the context of the 2012 based figures.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Introduction:

1.1 This paper sets out representations on behalf of Bewley Homes Plc (“Bewley”) in respect of Guildford Borough Council’s proposed revised submission draft Local Plan Regulation 19 consultation (“the Plan”).

1.2 For ease and consistency these representations are presented in two parts. The first part sets out Bewley Homes’ representations in relation to the Plan as drafted. The second part (see separate volume) provides detail on a proposed alternative housing site that Bewley considers should be allocated at part of the Local Plan to ensure the Council meets its housing obligations over the plan period.

1.3 The individual components of the plan are identified throughout where comments are being made. A separate consultation response proforma has been prepared for each individual representation and is submitted alongside this document.

1.4 In terms of format the remainder of this document identifies the relevant paragraph or policy reference within the proposed submission document where representations are being made and confirms whether Bewley is raising objection or support together with which soundness tests or legal compliance issues are being raised.

2.0 Spatial Planning Context and Housing Delivery

2.1 As a starting point it is considered important to set the background against which the current draft Local Plan is being prepared within Guildford Borough.

2.2 The current adopted Local Plan was adopted on 09 January 2003 and provided a planning framework for the period up to 2006. The adopted Local Plan is therefore time expired and has been so for a period of 11 years.

2.3 The Council’s progress on the preparation of a new Local Plan over this 11 year period has been woefully inadequate. As a consequence of the vacuum created by a lack of up-todate policy within the Borough the Council’s capability to maintain an adequate supply of deliverable housing land has been severely hampered.

2.4 Until recent years and, in particular the publication of its Strategic Housing Market Assessment initially in 2014, the Council has not even been in a position to confirm the state of its housing land supply shortfall.

2.5 The Council’s current stated housing land supply position set out in its Land Availability Assessment (“LAA”) Addendum April 2017 states that it has at best a 2.3 year supply with a 20% buffer. This compares with the position in 2016, which was at best a 2.4 year supply with a 20% buffer. The Council’s poor record in terms of housing delivery has therefore worsened during the course of the last monitoring year and since the initial Regulation 19 version of the Local Plan was published.

2.6 This extremely low level of supply is also only based on an assessment base date of 2013 i.e. it fails to take on board the persistent history of failure over the preceding years since the expiry of the previous Local Plan in 2006.

2.7 The reason for highlighting the matter of the Council’s extremely poor record in terms of both plan making and housing delivery is that any new Local Plan should place its emphasis not only on seeking to meet the full Objectively Assessed Needs (“OAN”) identified for the Borough but should also look to ensure that a significant proportion of that requirement is supplied in the early years of the plan period. The current approach set out the Plan does the exact opposite by including a stepped trajectory that pushes delivery back to the later years of the plan period predicated on the long lead in times from a number of strategic locations.

2.8 This approach is further reinforced by the upward trend in need that is demonstrated by the most recent population data published by the Office of National Statistics (ONS) in February 2017 in relation to migration trends. This data has identified that net long term migration remains high at a level of +273,000. Whilst this does not specifically confirm that further housing will be required in Guildford Borough it is a clear indication that the pressure for new housing across the UK and in the South East region in particular will continue to increase.

2.9 It is this kind of symptom that the Government is seeking to treat through its National policy requirement to significantly boost the supply of new housing and a focus on the presumption in favour of sustainable development.
2.10 Furthermore the Council’s position in terms of affordable housing need as confirmed in its March 2017 SHMA
Addendum increases the importance of the timely delivery of housing across the Borough. The SHMA Addendum records a need of some 517 dpa for affordable housing, which equates to 79% of the total OAN of 654 dpa. This position has worsened significantly from that set out in the Regulation 19 consultation version of the Plan in 2016. The 2016 version identified 456 dpa for affordable housing, which equated to 66% of the total OAN of 693 dpa set out at that time.

2.11 With this background in mind the remainder of this section of the representations provides specific comments on the various paragraphs and policies within the Plan.

Uplift for Student Accommodation Requirements:

2.33 Linked to the presence of the University of Surrey the Addendum report includes an uplift for specific student accommodation. Bewley does not dispute this uplift or the need for it.

Unmet Need in the HMA – Duty to Cooperate:

2.34 The Addendum report makes no reference to unmet need in the HMA and certainly makes no adjustment to the OAN to reflect unmet need.

2.35 Within the HMA there is a substantial unmet need equating to 3,150 dwellings arising from Woking.

2.36 This level of unmet need is acknowledged to exist by the Council in Box 6.8 (Page 27) of its Sustainability Appraisal (“SA”).

2.37 At the recent Examination Hearings for the Waverley Borough Local Plan that concluded on 06 July 2017 the Inspector was presented with clear and unequivocal evidence (see Statements attached at Annex 1) that Woking was unable to deal with any of its unmet need in the current plan period and that in fact its unmet need would be likely to rise during the course of the next plan period due to the level of environmental constraint imposed on the Borough.

2.38 Guildford also sought to advance a case that it would be unable to deal with any of Woking’s unmet need. The Waverley Local Plan Inspector dismissed Guildford’s arguments and expressly concluded that Guildford would need to take ‘its fair share’ of Woking’s unmet need.

2.39 The Inspector went on to conclude that Waverley Borough should take 50% of the unmet need arising from Woking equating to a total 1,575 dwellings over its 19 year plan period i.e. an annual uplift of 83 dpa to its housing requirement.

2.40 This leaves a shortfall of 1,575 dwellings to be dealt with in the HMA. In the absence of any other LPA in the HMA and the fact that Guildford has failed so far to even consider taking any unmet need Bewley Homes considers that as a starting point the whole 1,575 dwellings should be provided in the Plan.

2.41 The current Plan period extends from 2013 – 2034 i.e. 21 years. The remaining unmet need from Woking of 1,575 dwellings therefore equates to an annual uplift of 75 dpa.

2.42 This is considered an entirely reasonable approach to take bearing in mind the clear Government policy set out in Paragraph 47 of the Framework that requires LPAs to meet the entire objectively assessed needs of the HMA in their Plans.

Impact in Terms of Duty to Cooperate:

2.43 The Council’s Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper (“DTC”) notes at Paragraph 4.41 the unmet need arising from Woking equating to a total of 3,150 dwellings. The DTC also references a Memorandum of Understanding between the three constituent local planning authorities in the HMA (Woking, Guildford and Waverley), which states that the authorities will continue future joint working to ensure as far as possible that the housing needs across the HMA are met.

2.44 The Memorandum of Understanding was never signed by all three authorities.

2.45 Furthermore its content does not reflect the current approach being taken by Guildford Borough in relation to the calculation of its OAN that sets a lower figure than the previous iteration of the SHMA. Equally the Memorandum of Understanding is apparently at odds with the express evidence presented by all three authorities to the Waverley Local Plan Examination. It is therefore considered that the weight to be attached to this document is extremely limited.

2.46 The DTC continues at Paragraph 4.50 to state that the Council does not consider it can sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking. This is indicative of the flawed approach the Council has taken because it must first calculate its OAN to meet the needs in the HMA including any unmet need arising from Woking and then test that OAN against the sustainable capacity of the Borough. Put in simply terms the Council has failed to do this.

2.47 Equally Bewley Homes considers the Council has completely failed in its legal obligation under the Duty to Cooperate because there is a clear unmet need arising from Woking that both the Council and the adjoining authority Waverley are protesting cannot be met. Yet neither authority has properly sought to test whether this unmet need (or a proportion of it) can be met. The communication between the three constituent authorities in the HMA appears to be at odds with the Memorandum of Understanding and fails to properly address the needs of the HMA. Consequently the Duty to Cooperate is not complied with in this instance.

Calculation of correct Housing Requirement:

2.48 Based on the above representations it is clear that the Council’s calculation of its housing requirement as based on the 2017 SHMA Addendum is incorrect. The correct calculation of housing requirement for the Borough against which the Plan should be prepared is summarised below:

2.49 The figure currently set out in the Plan of 654 dpa falls well short of the actual requirement for the Borough based on the clear evidence and Government policy/advice on the most appropriate way of calculating OAN together with the importance of meeting all housing need in the HMA.

2.50 Over the 21 year Plan period the above annual requirement equates to 17,241 dwellings, which is an uplift of 3,500 dwellings over the Plan period when compared with the current requirement in the Plan.

2.51 A similar level of uplift appears to have been tested through the Council’s SA under option 8, which unsurprisingly scores the best in terms housing delivery (Table 7.3 on Page 39 of the SA refers). Option 8 only scores low in relation to ecology, landscape and transport all of which are matters that can be addressed via appropriate mitigation delivered by new development and should not therefore be seen as constraints to the provision of the correct housing requirement for the Borough. Further comments on the SA are set out in Section 3 below.

2.52 Bewley notes that the draft policy refers to the housing requirement as a minimum through the use of the wording ‘at least’, which is supported and should be retained alongside any uplift to the current draft figures.

2.53 In the current national policy climate where Government policy and guidance clearly places an emphasis on significantly boosting the supply of new housing it is vital that housing requirement policies in Development Plans are identified as minima rather than maxima.

Stepped Trajectory:
2.54 The current draft wording for Policy S2 includes a stepped trajectory that seeks to push a significant proportion (some 6,800 dwellings) into the period 2025 – 2034. Furthermore the trajectory only commences in 2019 and therefore excludes the period 2013 – 2018. As a consequence the ‘Annual Housing Target’ table only shows a total provision of 9,810 dwellings, which is nowhere near the full requirement even when using the Council’s annual figure of 654 dpa. The sentence in Paragraph 4.1.9a is therefore wrong.

2.55 Aside from the clear factual inaccuracies in the wording of the table and the accompanying text the Council’s use of a stepped trajectory has the direct affect of pushing back delivery to the later years of the Plan period. This approach is at odds with clear Government policy and guidance for the following reasons:

· Reason 1 – The Council has a clear and present need for new housing delivery now as expressed in its significant 5-year housing land supply shortfall;
· Reason 2 – The Council has a persistent history of under provision as evidenced in its Annual Monitoring Reports and confirmed by its voluntary acceptance of the 20% Buffer;
· Reason 3 – The affordability ratio in the Borough is one of the highest in the Country making Guildford Borough one of the least affordable places to live;
· Reason 4 – The affordable housing need in the Borough is massive and cannot possibly be met by the current policy approach and suggested housing requirement;
· Reason 5 – The delays in the delivery of acceptable and sustainable developments have primarily been due to Member intransigence opposing otherwise appropriate development; and,
· Reason 5 – Delay to the delivery of housing in the Borough will only serve to worsen the current housing shortfall.

2.56 The Council’s argument in Paragraph 4.1.9a that the stepped trajectory is necessary because of the likely delivery rates on the strategic greenfield sites is a demonstration that its spatial delivery strategy is flawed and that as a consequence more smaller sites need to be allocated to balance the delivery trajectory. The Council has not properly assessed this approach nor has it sought to plan positively to address identified constraints to the delivery of sufficient sites such that an even trajectory can and should be delivered.

2.57 There is in Bewley Homes’ view no sound reason for taking the approach the Council has in terms of a stepped trajectory that will only serve to make an appalling record of housing delivery worse.

2.58 As confirmed by Sajid Javid in his recent LGA speech: ‘Where housing is particularly unaffordable, local leaders need to take a long, hard, honest look to see if they are planning for the right number of homes.’

2.59 In Bewley Homes’ view this Council has not yet take that long, hard, honest look to ensure that it is planning for the right number of homes and at the right time. The current Plan strategy is flawed and if progressed to Examination will fail the tests of soundness in terms of not being positively prepared, not consistent with National policy, Not justified and potentially in relation to unmet need would fail in the duty to cooperate.

Five Year Housing Land Supply:

2.60 The starting point for the current consultation in terms of 5-year housing land supply is set out in the April 2017 LAA, which identifies at best 2.3 years supply with the inclusion of a 20% buffer. The Council’s starting position is therefore one of a significant shortfall and an acknowledgement of persistent failure in terms of delivery.

2.61 When this starting point is compared with the proposed development strategy and the use of a stepped trajectory that pushes back supply to the later stages of the plan period due to the over reliance on a small number of strategic allocation sites, the Council’s 5-year housing land supply position is only set to worsen. In short the Council’s current approach is set up to fail immediately upon the adoption of the Local Plan.

2.62 The consequence of this approach is that Paragraphs 14 and 49 will continue to be engaged and the policies for the supply of housing in the newly adopted Local Plan will immediately be rendered out-of-date. Setting up a Local Plan to fail in this way is unsound and flies in the face of the plan led system advocated by Government and set out in Statute (S38(6) 2004 Act).
2.63 The Council’s housing delivery trajectory set out in the table on Page 8 of the LAA Addendum (June 2017) confirms that the only way the Council comes close to demonstrating a 5-year supply is with the use of a stepped trajectory and reliance on sites that fail to meet the Footnote 11 test, as confirmed by the fact that the Council’s 5-year supply assessment set out in the table on Page 12 of the LAA Addendum contains different (and lower) annual supply figures. When the correct OAN is applied and the stepped trajectory removed combined with the extremely low supply starting point it is clear the Plan trajectory will fail to sustain a rolling 5-year supply.

2.64 The table below summarises the clear discrepancies in the Council’s approach when either the table on Page 8 or Page 12 of the LAA Addendum is used. In both cases the Council’s position confirms it has set the Plan up to fail in terms of 5-year supply. This is at odds with the Framework and the NPPG in particular Paragraph 033 Reference ID: 3-033-20150327:

2.65 This is a further demonstration of the fact that the Council’s development strategy must be revised to remove the stepped trajectory and seek to allocate further deliverable sites that can contribute to supply early in the plan period. A sustainable spatial strategy can be achieved in Guildford Borough that will enable a return to a plan led system of decision making, which has been sorely lacking for over a decade.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1.0 Detailed Representations in Relation to Effingham

1.1 Having provided representations in relation to the Plan as drafted and the accompanying SA (see Part 1 of Bewley Homes’ representations) this section sets out Bewley Homes’ proposal for the allocation of land at Orestan Lane, Effingham as a sustainable location immediately adjacent to the settlement. The proposal is supported, where relevant, by appropriate detailed technical evidence primarily in relation to the following matters:

- Landscape and Visual Impact and Green Belt HDA
- Highways and Transportation Matters Motion

1.2 As a starting point it is important to highlight that Bewley is supportive of the Council’s identification of Effingham as a sustainable location and as a consequence the proposal to remove the settlement from the Green Belt.
1.3 This section focuses on Bewley’s objection to the Plan on the basis that further greenfield housing sites are required to deliver the housing necessary to meet the OAN and most importantly smaller sites should be allocated to enable delivery in the early years of the plan period together with ensuring flexibility.

1.4 The need for the Council to properly consider the available supply from smaller sites currently within the Green Belt is of vital importance. The level of historic under supply in the Borough is substantial and the current Plan strategy is set up to fail by not even maintaining a 5-year supply of deliverable housing sites across the Plan period. Further the Council’s strategy that is currently reliant on a small number of strategic allocations for delivery has singularly failed to address the clear and present need for housing now. The strategy consciously looks to push delivery back to the end of the Plan period whilst ignoring available, suitable and achievable sites that are situated in acknowledged sustainable locations.

1.5 The Green Belt boundary review undertaken by the Council is woefully inadequate and fails to properly consider all suitable locations, such as the promotion site, that could be delivered in the early years of the Plan period and without material harm to the objectives of the Green Belt as demonstrated by the detailed technical appraisal evidence provided by Bewley Homes.

1.6 The development strategy in the emerging Plan therefore requires fundamental review to enable the Council to address the needs of the Borough’s residents.

1.7 Furthermore and for the reasons Bewley has identified above there are fundamental flaws in the Council’s proposals to allocate 2,000 dwellings at Wisley and 1,800 dwellings at Blackwell Farm. The removal of these two allocations would place greater importance on the identification of other suitable and sustainable locations in the Borough to meet the overall housing need. Notwithstanding this point there is a need for the allocation of further sites to ensure sufficient flexibility in terms of supply of housing throughout the Plan period and to enable the Council to respond positively to changes in demand and delivery without needing to revert to a review of the Local Plan.

1.8 In specific relation to Effingham Bewley Homes’ notes that the Council had previously (at the Sites Issues and Options Consultation stage in October 2013) proposed two locations as potential housing allocations and Green Belt boundary releases at Effingham.

1.9 It would appear from a review of the Green Belt assessment prepared by Pegasus on behalf of the Council that the two proposed allocations were simply removed by the Council purely on the basis that they attracted objection rather than as a result of objective assessment.

1.10 Setting this point to one side and as set out in Sections 2 and 3 above the Council has not undertaken a full review of all suitable and available alternatives nor has its consultants explored other options for release from the Green Belt. As a consequence the Council has simply decided to change from a position whereby housing was to be allocated in Effingham to a position that it now proposes no growth to meet the needs of the community at all throughout the plan period.

1.11 The Council’s approach in this regard is without foundation and based on flawed evidence.

1.12 As demonstrated in the attached appraisals (and explored below) land at Orestan Lane represents a viable location for a relatively limited release of land from the Green Belt to provide a scale of development that is appropriate and proportionate to the size of the settlement, which the Council itself acknowledge as a sustainable location.

1.13 Much of the attached appraisal information was provided to the Council in representations submitted in 2013. This information remains relevant to these representations given that the Council has not acted on or responded to the original representations. Updates and additional information is also included to ensure the appraisals respond to the approach the Council is now pursuing in the Plan.

1.14 As identified in Part 1 of Bewley Homes’ representations the Council’s current development strategy fails to ensure delivery in the early years of the plan period to meet the needs of the Borough’s population in terms of new housing. There is a need for the release of more modest scale housing sites in sustainable locations, such as Effingham, that can deliver housing in the first 5 years of the Plan period in particular. Equally the Council’s current approach fails the residents of Effingham in terms of meeting their needs for further open market and affordable housing.
1.15 As confirmed in the Council’s own Settlement Hierarchy Study (May 2014) Effingham is regarded as a Large Village, which is the third tier in the settlement hierarchy below the Rural Service Centre of East Horsley and the Urban Area of Guildford, Ash and Tongham. Effingham is therefore a suitable and sustainable location for accommodating a modest scale of growth in the manner proposed by Bewley Homes in these representations.

1.16 Turning to consider Bewley Homes promotion site. Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham is considered to comprise a suitable location for release from the Green Belt and allocation for approximately 40 dwellings to help deliver the Council’s housing requirement for the following reasons:

Location and Context:

1.16.1 The proposed allocation site is situated immediately adjacent to the currently proposed boundary for the settlement of Effingham and fronts onto Orestan Lane. As set out above Effingham comprises a sustainable location for growth as identified by the Council in its settlement hierarchy. The Council’s regard for the sustainability of the settlement is also reflected by its initial proposal for allocation options in 2013 on peripheral greenfield sites as releases from the Green Belt.

1.16.2 The promotion site itself comprises three paddocks that are well contained by mature landscape planting and trees. The site is framed by existing residential development to the north (Leewood Way) and development to the south of Orestan Lane and further west along the lane.

1.16.3 In both physical and visual terms the site relates well to the settlement and appears as part of the settlement when viewed on the ground.

1.16.4 The site benefits from direct access to local services and facilities as set out in the attached Transport Accessibility Appraisal prepared by Motion. With regard to the relative accessibility of the site to services and facilities when compared with the two locations that the Council explored in 2013 it is apparent that, using the same methodology as that employed by the Council, the promotion site scores better in terms of its accessibility and is therefore more sustainability located in terms of the existing services and facilities in the village.

Contribution to Green Belt and Landscape and Visual Impact:

1.16.5 Having established that Effingham is considered to comprise a sustainable location for growth and that the promotion site is well related to the settlement the next key consideration is the matter of the contribution that the site makes to the Green Belt alongside more general landscape and visual impact issues.

1.16.6 It is relevant to note that the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study undertaken by Pegasus in January 2013 did not assess the promotion site when consideration was given to Effingham. No conclusion has therefore been drawn on behalf of the Council as to the contribution the promotion site may make to the Green Belt.

1.16.7 To address this matter Bewley has instructed its landscape architect HDA to undertake a review of the contribution the site makes to the Green Belt and also more general landscape and visual impact issues. A copy of the review is attached at Annex 3.

1.16.8 In summary the review concluded the following:

‘If the site were developed it would infill a gap in the existing settlement which has well defined boundaries. The site would not therefore result in the ‘unrestricted sprawl’ of Effingham. Development of the site would not result in the coalescence of settlements. East Horsley is separated from the site and Effingham by a large belt of woodland which physically and visually separates the two settlements and is key to the functionality of these settlements. Development within the site would have no effect on the separation of Effingham and East Horsley…..’

‘In conclusion, the site would form a discrete and appropriate location for residential development in Effingham. The site could be developed without adverse impacts on the Green Belt designation or Effingham Conservation Area. There are strong landscape features on the site which should be retained and would add character and containment to a new development, integrating the site into the existing settlement edge.’
1.16.9 It is therefore evident that in terms both of the Green Belt and landscape and visual impact matters the promotion site is acceptable and should be released for housing.

Heritage Assets – Effingham Conservation Area:

1.16.10 The site is located partly within the Effingham Conservation Area and therefore the impact that any residential development would have on this Heritage Asset needs to be given careful consideration.

1.16.11 This matter has been considered by Bewley Homes’ project team and in particular relation to visual and physical impacts HDA concludes that:

> 'In the context of the Effingham Conservation Area the site has no visual relationship with the historic core of the village and does not affect the setting of any local listed buildings. The site comprises a number of fields in pasture used for grazing horses and as such the impact of the site at present could be described as neutral in terms of its contribution to the character of the Conservation Area, rather than either positive or adverse. Building on the site affords opportunities for enhancement of the Conservation Area, particularly if the new housing development were of ‘modestly sized two storey dwellings set in small terraces or pairs…..together with irregularly shaped plots, visible gardens, trees, open green spaces’. Appropriate development within the site could make a positive contribution to local character and distinctiveness.'

Transport and Highway Impacts:

1.16.12 In relation to transport and highway impacts the technical appraisal undertaken by Motion confirms that adequate vehicular access can be achieved to the site from Orestan Lane in accordance with the requirements set out in Manual for Streets.

1.16.13 The site is well located in terms of local community facilities that can be accessed via a range of transportation modes in accordance with the requirements of the Framework and the NPPG.

1.16.14 The site is therefore sustainably located in relation to existing services and facilities within the settlement of Effingham.

Flooding and Drainage:

1.16.15 The whole site is within Flood Zone 1 on the Environment Agency’s indicative flood mapping and is not identified as being at risk from any known surface water flooding events. In this respect the site is sequentially preferable in flood risk terms. Furthermore the site is sequentially preferable when compared with a number of other locations such as Land at Wisley and Normandy/Flexford both of which contain land in Flood Zones 2 and 3.

1.16.16 There are no known land drainage issues on the site and in this respect a Sustainable Urban Drainage System (“SUDS”) could be employed as part of any development on the land.

Other Technical Considerations:

1.16.17 Other technical considerations such as ecology, archaeology, arboriculture, noise, etc are not considered to pose a constraint to the development of the site for housing such as to preclude the favourable consideration of the site as a housing allocation.

The Approach to Allocation – Presumption in Favour of Sustainable Development:

1.16.18 Taking into account Bewley’s representations that consider the need for the allocation of additional sites to ensure the Council can deliver housing in the early years of the plan period combined with the flaws in at least two of its large scale allocations there is a clear and present need for the inclusion of this site for housing in the Local Plan.

1.16.19 The Government emphasis in national Policy is centre on the presumption in favour of sustainable development. Paragraph 7 of the Framework identifies the three strands of sustainable development as comprising the economic, social and environmental strands. If these can be met then there is a clear presumption in favour that should lead to the natural conclusion the land should be allocated for housing.
1.16.20 Economic – The delivery of new housing on the promotion site will secure local employment in the short term during the construction phase, which is now a well-established and accepted benefit of residential development. Additionally any new residential development will contribute to the local economy in terms of Planning Obligations and via other means such as future Council tax revenues, new homes bonus and indirectly through increased revenue into the local economy. The economic limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

1.16.21 Social – As set out earlier within Bewley’s representations there is a clear and present need for new housing in the Borough now to meet the substantial shortfall in supply and to ensure that the OAN can be delivered year on year from the start of the plan period rather than from half way through it. Additionally the Council’s SHMA identifies substantial affordable housing need that cannot ever be met in the life of the new Plan based on the proposed affordable housing policy approach. Finally the Council’s proposed reliance upon strategic development, particularly at Wisley and Blackwell Farm, is likely to lead to failure in terms of delivering the overall housing requirement where the Council is reliant upon every source of supply to deliver in order to meet its OAN.

1.16.22 Therefore any proposals of more modest scale that can deliver a range of open market and affordable dwellings in a timely manner will result in social benefit in terms of helping to meet the clearly identified needs and providing the Council with a buffer of additional housing to help safeguard against non-delivery elsewhere.

1.16.23 Environmental – It has been demonstrated through the detailed review undertaken by HDA that the site can be released from the Green Belt without causing any unacceptable harm either in Green Belt or landscape and visual impact terms. Furthermore the site is accessible to local services and facilities, integrates well with the settlement and, will not give rise to any undue adverse impacts on the local highway network. The environmental limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

1.17 For all of the above reasons it is considered that Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham comprises a sustainable location for the allocation of approximately 40 dwellings that will assist the Council in ensuring its housing delivery obligations are met and that most importantly delivery of the right level of housing takes place early in the plan period.

1.18 Bewley therefore considers that for the Plan to be found sound further land allocations are required and Land at Orestan Lane, Effingham comprises a sustainable option that is available for immediate delivery. The site should be allocated for housing, included within the settlement and removed from the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1.2 As a starting point it is important to highlight that Bewley is supportive of the Council’s identification of Wood Street Village as a sustainable location and as a consequence the proposal to remove the settlement from the Green Belt.

1.3 This section focuses on Bewley’s objection to the Plan on the basis that further greenfield housing sites are required to deliver the housing necessary to meet the OAN and most importantly smaller sites should be allocated to enable delivery in the early years of the plan period together with ensuring flexibility.

1.4 The need for the Council to properly consider the available supply from smaller sites currently within the Green Belt is of vital importance. The level of historic under supply in the Borough is substantial and the current Plan strategy is set up to fail by not even maintaining a 5-year supply of deliverable housing sites across the Plan period. Further the Council’s strategy that is currently reliant on a small number of strategic allocations for delivery has singularly failed to address the clear and present need for housing now. The strategy consciously looks to push delivery back to the end of the Plan period whilst ignoring available, suitable and achievable sites that are situated in acknowledged sustainable locations.

1.5 The Green Belt boundary review undertaken by the Council is woefully inadequate and fails to properly consider all suitable locations, such as the promotion site, that could be delivered in the early years of the Plan period and without material harm to the objectives of the Green Belt as demonstrated by the detailed technical appraisal evidence provided by Bewley Homes. The Council has missed the opportunity presented by Bewley Homes’ promotion site in this instance given that it comprises previously-developed land partly within the settlement. In accordance with the Council’s spatial strategy the release of land such as this promotion site is a priority for the Council, which has been completely overlooked in this instance.

1.6 The development strategy in the emerging Plan therefore requires fundamental review to enable the Council to address the needs of the Borough’s residents.

1.7 Furthermore and for the reasons Bewley has identified above there are fundamental flaws in the Council’s proposals to allocate 2,000 dwellings at Wisley and 1,800 dwellings at Blackwell Farm. The removal of these two allocations would place greater importance on the identification of other suitable and sustainable locations in the Borough to meet the overall housing need. Notwithstanding this point there is a need for the allocation of further sites to ensure sufficient flexibility in terms of supply of housing throughout the Plan period and to enable the Council to respond positively to changes in demand and delivery without needing to revert to a review of the Local Plan.

1.8 As set out in Part 1 of Bewley Homes’ representations the Council has not undertaken a full review of all suitable and available alternatives nor has its consultants explored other options for release from the Green Belt. As a consequence the Council has simply decided not to make any provision for growth to meet the needs of the community at all throughout the plan period within Wood Street Village.

1.9 The Council’s approach in this regard is without foundation and based on flawed evidence.

1.10 As demonstrated in the attached appraisals (and explored below) land at Hester’s Yard represents a viable location for a relatively limited release of land from the Green Belt on a previously-developed site to provide a scale of development that is appropriate and proportionate to the size of the settlement, which the Council itself acknowledge as a sustainable location.

1.11 As identified in Part 1 of Bewley Homes representations the Council’s current development strategy fails to ensure delivery in the early years of the plan period to meet the needs of the Borough’s population in terms of new housing. There is a need for the release of more modest scale housing sites in sustainable locations, such as Wood Street Village, that can deliver housing in the first 5 years of the Plan period in particular. Equally the Council’s current approach fails the residents of Wood Street Village in terms of meeting their needs for further open market and affordable housing.

1.12 As confirmed in the Council’s own Settlement Hierarchy Study (May 2014) Wood Street Village is regarded as a Large Village, which is the third tier in the settlement hierarchy below the Rural Service Centre of East Horsley and the Urban Area of Guildford, Ash and Tongham. Wood Street Village is therefore a suitable and sustainable location for accommodating a modest scale of growth in the manner proposed by Bewley Homes in these representations.
1.13 Turning to consider Bewley Homes promotion site. Land at Hester’s Yard, Wood Street Village is considered to comprise a suitable location for release from the Green Belt and allocation for approximately 40 dwellings to help deliver the Council’s housing requirement for the following reasons:

Location and Context:

1.13.1 The proposed allocation site is situated immediately adjacent to the currently proposed boundary for the settlement of Wood Street Village and the front section of the site is actually within the settlement and benefits from a direct road frontage onto Oak Hill. As set out above Wood Street Village comprises a sustainable location for growth as identified by the Council in its settlement hierarchy. The Council’s regard for the sustainability of the settlement is reflected in its desire to roll back the Green Belt boundaries in the Plan.

1.13.2 The promotion site itself comprises a variety of commercial uses including open storage, vehicle repairs and servicing. The site is predominantly previously developed land in accordance with the definition set out in Annex 2 of the Framework.

1.13.3 Given the emphasis that the Council is placing upon the release of previously developed land to meet its housing requirement this promotion site is considered to comprise just the kind of location that should be allocated in accordance with Paragraph 4.1.6 of the Plan that states:

‘Our preference is to focus growth in the most sustainable locations, making best use of previously developed land (including in the Green Belt if appropriate).’ (Bold is our emphasis)

1.13.4 In both physical and visual terms the site relates well to the settlement and appears as part of the settlement when viewed on the ground.

1.13.5 The site benefits from direct access to local services and facilities as set out in the attached Transport Accessibility Appraisal prepared by Motion.

Contribution to Green Belt and Landscape and Visual Impact:

1.13.6 Having established that Wood Street Village is considered to comprise a sustainable location for growth and that the promotion site is well related to the settlement the next key consideration is the matter of the contribution that the site makes to the Green Belt alongside more general landscape and visual impact issues.

1.13.7 It is relevant to note that the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study undertaken by Pegasus in January 2013 did not assess the promotion site when consideration was given to Wood Street Village. No conclusion has therefore been drawn on behalf of the Council as to the contribution the promotion site may make to the Green Belt.

1.13.8 To address this matter Bewley has instructed its landscape architect EDP to undertake a review of the contribution the site makes to the Green Belt and also more general landscape and visual impact issues. A copy of the review is attached at Annex 2.

1.13.9 In summary the review concluded the following:

*‘This review provides a clear indication that the site is entirely suitable for extraction from the Green Belt, without resulting in any adverse effects on the Green Belt function as identified within the NPPF, or on the local landscape character or the amenity of local visual receptors. This results primarily from the clearly demarcated boundary features, existing commercial uses within the site, the enclosed nature of the site and the consequential limitation in landscape and visual effects, but also the way in which the site is severed from the key area providing openness between Wood Street Village and Fairlands.

A development which seeks to address the constraints of the site, would contribute to retaining the openness of the Green Belt by providing much needed housing on a site where Green Belt function would not be comprised, whilst also providing a sustainable and high quality development which links very well to the existing village.’*
1.13.10 It is therefore evident that in terms both of the Green Belt and landscape and visual impact matters the promotion site is acceptable and should be released for housing.

Transport and Highway Impacts:

1.13.11 In relation to transport and highway impacts the technical appraisal undertaken by Motion confirms that adequate vehicular access can be achieved to the site from Oak Hill in accordance with the requirements set out in Manual for Streets.

1.13.12 The site is well located in terms of local community facilities that can be accessed via a range of transportation modes in accordance with the requirements of the Framework and the NPPG.

1.13.13 The site is therefore sustainably located in relation to existing services and facilities within the settlement of Wood Street Village.

Flooding and Drainage:

1.13.14 The whole site is within Flood Zone 1 on the Environment Agency’s indicative flood mapping and is not identified as being at risk from any known surface water flooding events. In this respect the site is sequentially preferable in flood risk terms. Furthermore the site is sequentially preferable when compared with a number of other locations such as Land at Wisley and Normandy/Flexford both of which contain land in Flood Zones 2 and 3.

1.13.15 There are no known land drainage issues on the site and in this respect a Sustainable Urban Drainage System ("SUDS") could be employed as part of any development on the land.

Other Technical Considerations:

1.13.16 Other technical considerations such as ecology, archaeology, arboriculture, noise, etc are not considered to pose a constraint to the development of the site for housing such as to preclude the favourable consideration of the site as a housing allocation.

The Approach to Allocation – Presumption in Favour of Sustainable Development:

1.13.17 Taking into account Bewley’s representations that consider the need for the allocation of additional sites to ensure the Council can deliver housing in the early years of the plan period combined with the flaws in at least two of its large scale allocations there is a clear and present need for the inclusion of this site for housing in the Local Plan.

1.13.19 Economic – The delivery of new housing on the promotion site will secure local employment in the short term during the construction phase, which is now a well established and accepted benefit of residential development. Additionally any new residential development will contribute to the local economy in terms of Planning Obligations and via other means such as future Council tax revenues, new homes bonus and indirectly through increased revenue into the local economy. The economic limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

1.13.20 Social – As set out earlier within Bewley’s representations there is a clear and present need for new housing in the Borough now to meet the substantial shortfall in supply and to ensure that the OAN can be delivered year on year from the start of the plan period rather than from half way through it. Finally the Council’s proposed reliance upon strategic development, particularly at Wisley and Blackwell Farm, is likely to lead to failure in terms of delivering the overall housing requirement where the Council is reliant upon every source of supply to deliver in order to meet its OAN.
1.13.21 Therefore any proposals of more modest scale that can deliver a range of open market and affordable dwellings in a timely manner will result in social benefit in terms of helping to meet the clearly identified needs and providing the Council with a buffer of additional housing to help safeguard against non-delivery elsewhere.

1.13.22 Environmental – It has been demonstrated through the detailed review undertaken by EDP that the site can be released from the Green Belt without causing any unacceptable harm either in Green Belt or landscape and visual impact terms. Furthermore the site is accessible to local services and facilities, integrates well with the settlement and, will not give rise to any undue adverse impacts on the local highway network. 1.15 Bewley therefore considers that for the Plan to be found sound further land allocations are required and Land at Hester’s Yard, Wood Street Village comprises a sustainable option that is available for immediate delivery. The site should be allocated for housing, included within the settlement boundary and removed from the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

strategy that is currently reliant on a small number of strategic allocations for delivery has singularly failed to address the clear and present need for housing now. The strategy consciously looks to push delivery back to the end of the Plan period whilst ignoring available, suitable and achievable sites that are situated in acknowledged sustainable locations.

1.5 The Green Belt boundary review undertaken by the Council is woefully inadequate and fails to properly consider all suitable locations, such as the promotion site, that could be delivered in the early years of the Plan period and without material harm to the objectives of the Green Belt as demonstrated by the detailed technical appraisal evidence provided by Bewley Homes.

1.6 The development strategy in the emerging Plan therefore requires fundamental review to enable the Council to address the needs of the Borough’s residents.

1.7 Furthermore and for the reasons Bewley has identified above there are fundamental flaws in the Council’s proposals to allocate 2,000 dwellings at Wisley and 1,800 dwellings at Blackwell Farm. The removal of these two allocations would place greater importance on the identification of other suitable and sustainable locations in the Borough to meet the overall housing need. Notwithstanding this point there is a need for the allocation of further sites to ensure sufficient flexibility in terms of supply of housing throughout the Plan period and to enable the Council to respond positively to changes in demand and delivery without needing to revert to a review of the Local Plan.

1.8 Horsley is a sustainable location for accommodating further growth and the Council has not properly assessed its capacity nor has it considered the detailed technical appraisal information presented by Bewley Homes in its representations to the first Regulation 19 consultation in 2016. This failure on the part of the Council has resulted in the Plan missing the opportunity to allocate further land in a sustainable manner to help meet the needs of the Borough’s residents.

1.11 Turning to consider Bewley Homes promotion site. Land at Foxbury is considered to comprise a suitable location for release from the Green Belt and allocation for approximately 50 dwellings to help deliver the Council’s housing requirement for the following reasons:

Location and Context:

1.11.1 The proposed allocation site is situated immediately adjacent to the currently proposed boundary for the settlement of West Horsley and fronts onto the A246 (Epsom Road). West Horsley comprises a sustainable location for growth as identified by the Council in its settlement hierarchy. The Council’s regard for the sustainability of the settlement is also reflected its proposed allocation of some 485 dwellings on other sites including peripheral greenfield locations.

1.11.2 The promotion site itself is framed by Cranmore School and its grounds to the west, Squires Garden Centre to the east, an area of woodland (within Bewley’s control) to the north and the A246 to the south.

1.11.3 In both physical and visual terms the site relates well to the settlement and appears as part of the settlement when viewed on the ground.

1.11.4 The site benefits from direct access to local services and facilities as illustrated on the attached plan (see Transport Accessibility Appraisal prepared by Motion – Annex 3) and in particular the following key facilities:

- Cranmore School
- Newsagent
- Dentist
- Post Office
- Village Hall
- Bus Stops

Contribution to Green Belt and Landscape and Visual Impact:

1.11.5 Having established that West Horsley is considered to comprise a sustainable location for growth and that the promotion site is well related to the settlement the next key consideration is the matter of the contribution that the site makes to the Green Belt alongside more general landscape and visual impact issues.
1.11.6 It is relevant to note that the Council’s Green Belt and Countryside Study undertaken by Pegasus in January 2013 did not assess the promotion site when consideration was given to West Horsley. No conclusion has therefore been drawn on behalf of the Council as to the contribution the promotion site may make to the Green Belt.

1.11.7 To address this matter Bewley has instructed its landscape architect EDP to undertake a review of the contribution the site makes to the Green Belt and also more general landscape and visual impact issues. A copy of the review is attached at Annex 2.

1.11.8 In summary the review concluded the following:

‘…..the findings of the review undertaken clearly demonstrate that the site could be released from Green Belt without adversely affecting the wider functions in the context of the area of open land between East and West Horsley. The consideration goes further to consider the sustainability issues of the site, and whether the boundaries of the site could provide a long term, defensible, development area, which serves to contribute to Green Belt functions.

In these respects the site is again found to be viable, both with reference to the other Potential Development Areas (PDAs) around the village (as identified within the Council’s Green Belt review of 2015) and also in its own right. The site is essentially a parcel of land contained on all sides by existing strong boundary features (mostly of an urban character), and serves no function in terms of maintaining the open area between East and West Horsley.

In terms of potential landscape and visual effects, the limitation in views available of a proposed development in this location confirms that development on the site would have little, or no, effects upon either sensitive or non-sensitive receptors, with any change limited to those receptors passing along the A246, a small number of adjacent residential dwellings and glimpse views from a nearby bridleway.

In landscape terms the site is not within the AONB or AGLV, and will not be openly visible from either area; indeed it is likely that there will be no views from the AONB, except perhaps distant views from a small number of residences along Shere Road, where views would be in the context of the existing settlement. There will be a change from an open pasture field to one of built development, but even the Council’s own Green Belt study identifies (erroneously) this site as medium density development, indicating the heavily influenced character of the site.’

1.11.9 It is therefore evident that in terms both of the Green Belt and landscape and visual impact matters the promotion site is acceptable and should be released for housing.

Transport and Highway Impacts:

1.11.10 In relation to transport and highway impacts the technical appraisal undertaken by Motion confirms that adequate vehicular access can be achieved to the site from Epsom Road in accordance with the requirements set out in Manual for Streets.

1.11.11 The site is well located in terms of local community facilities that can be accessed via a range of transportation modes in accordance with the requirements of the Framework and the NPPG.

1.11.12 The site is therefore sustainably located in relation to existing services and facilities within the settlement of West Horsley.

Flooding and Drainage:

1.11.13 The whole site is within Flood Zone 1 on the Environment Agency’s indicative flood mapping and is not identified as being at risk from any known surface water flooding events. In this respect the site is sequentially preferable in flood risk terms. Furthermore the site is sequentially preferable when compared with a number of other locations such as Land at Wisley and Normandy/Flexford both of which contain land in Flood Zones 2 and 3.

1.11.14 There are no known land drainage issues on the site and in this respect a Sustainable Urban Drainage System (“SUDS”) could be employed as part of any development on the land.

Other Technical Considerations:
1.11.15 Other technical considerations such as ecology, archaeology, arboriculture, noise, etc are not considered to pose a constraint to the development of the site for housing such as to preclude the favourable consideration of the site as a housing allocation.

The Approach to Allocation – Presumption in Favour of Sustainable Development:

1.11.16 Taking into account Bewley’s representations that consider the need for the allocation of additional sites to ensure the Council can deliver housing in the early years of the plan period combined with the flaws in at least two of its large scale allocations there is a clear and present need for the inclusion of this site for housing in the Local Plan.

1.11.17 The Government emphasis in national Policy is centre on the presumption in favour of sustainable development. Paragraph 7 of the Framework identifies the three strands of sustainable development as comprising the economic, social and environmental strands. If these can be met then there is a clear presumption in favour that should lead to the natural conclusion the land should be allocated for housing.

1.11.18 Economic – The delivery of new housing on the promotion site will secure local employment in the short term during the construction phase, which is now a well-established and accepted benefit of residential development. Additionally any new residential development will contribute to the local economy in terms of Planning Obligations and via other means such as future Council tax revenues, new homes bonus and indirectly through increased revenue into the local economy. The economic limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

1.11.19 Social – As set out earlier within Bewley’s representations there is a clear and present need for new housing in the Borough now to meet the substantial shortfall in supply and to ensure that the OAN can be delivered year on year from the start of the plan period rather than from half way through it. Additionally the Council’s SHMA identifies substantial affordable housing need that cannot ever be met in the life of the new Plan based on the proposed affordable housing policy approach. Finally the Council’s proposed reliance upon strategic development, particularly at Wisley and Blackwell Farm, is likely to lead to failure in terms of delivering the overall housing requirement where the Council is reliant upon every source of supply to deliver in order to meet its OAN.

1.11.20 Therefore any proposals of more modest scale that can deliver a range of open market and affordable dwellings in a timely manner will result in social benefit in terms of helping to meet the clearly identified needs and providing the Council with a buffer of additional housing to help safeguard against non-delivery elsewhere.

1.11.21 Environmental – It has been demonstrated through the detailed review undertaken by EDP that the site can be released from the Green Belt without causing any unacceptable harm either in Green Belt or landscape and visual impact terms. Furthermore the site is accessible to local services and facilities, integrates well with the settlement and, will not give rise to any undue adverse impacts on the local highway network. The environmental limb is therefore met by the promotion site.

1.12 For all of the above reasons it is considered that Land at Foxbury, West Horsley comprises a sustainable location for the allocation of approximately 50 dwellings that will assist the Council in ensuring its housing delivery obligations are met and that most importantly delivery of the right level of housing takes place early in the plan period.

1.13 Bewley therefore considers that for the Plan to be found sound further land allocations are required and Land at Foxbury comprises a sustainable option that is available for immediate delivery. The site should be allocated for housing, removed from the Green Belt and included within the settlement boundary for West Horsley.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

4.0 Changes Sought to Plan and Conclusions

4.1 In order for the Plan to be sound the following key changes are required:

1. Revision to the SHMA and the Plan to correct the OAN to 821 dpa reflecting the calculation set out in Section 2 of these representations;

2. Allocation of further smaller sites to address shortfall in provision in the early and middle years of the Plan period arising from the over reliance on a small number of strategic allocations;

3. Removal of stepped trajectory and replacement with a uniform trajectory across the Plan period;

4. Increase in Ash and Tongham allocation to properly reflect its capacity and status as a sustainable location outside of the Green Belt;

5. Removal of proposal for Bridge over the railway at Ash and Tongham;

6. Amendments to other draft allocations as recommendation in Section 2 of these representations; and,

7. Update to SA to properly consider all of the above matters.

4.2 Without the above changes to the Plan the Council has not only created a document that is unsound but also fails in the duty to cooperate and the legal obligations in relation to the SA. The Plan in its current form cannot proceed to Examination.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Bewley Homes' representations in relation to the Plan as a whole and specific paragraphs, policies and proposals are set out in the attached representations documents that clearly identify those sections of the Plan that Bewley Homes consider to either fail to be legally compliant, are unsound, or fail the duty to cooperate. In relation to the tests of soundness these are identified in bold against each section of the Plan that Bewley Homes is making representations against.

Jacobs Well greenbelt - I object to Jacobs Well and Blanchards Hill being removed from the greenbelt with the resulting presumption in favour of building houses. Firstly, the rural character of the area will be ruined by the removal of the surrounding fields and green areas.

I also object to infilling and adding houses to the Jacobs Well village when there is no other infrastructure to support this. It is already the case that living on Blanchards Hill we cannot be certain of which primary or secondary school our child would be able to attend and this uncertainty would only increase if further houses were to be built. In general if more houses are to be built across the borough then schools designed for the villages (inset or not) need to be built or existing nearby schools expanded. For example, our nearest primary school is Burpham at 0.9 miles but we are highly unlikely to receive a place and children from Jacobs Well village are forced to go to schools all over Guildford which is unacceptable and difficult for working parents. For secondary school the rules are even more ludicrous as the existence of a relatively small Church of England school, Christs College, as our nearest school, which takes 50% of christian faith and then children from several feeder schools first means that our child cannot reasonably be likely to be offered a place at this school in most if not all years. However the "nearest school" criteria used by most other schools (for example our second nearest, George Abbott) then means that we would not get into another nearby school either. Therefore until the schools situation for villages like Jacobs Well is fixed or the local schools are forced to change their admittance criteria so as to cater for people in such villages without them being left to have a place in whichever dire school still has places left each year, then I do not think that further houses should be built in such areas.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Secondly, the area is not well equipped infrastructure wise to deal with the increased traffic and people that increased housing would lead to. Clay Lane, Jacobs Well Road and Blanchards Hill are already extremely busy roads. Blanchards Hill has no footpath and is 40mph making it dangerous for there to be further traffic and pedestrians. Although if it is removed from the green belt then I would expect the road safety to be investigated and a 30mph limit put in place along the road as per most residential non green belt roads

Clay Lane link road

I object to the building of the clay lane link road from Slyfield to Clay Lane. I have previously provided detailed reasons why I object to this but briefly, Clay lane, Blanchards Hill and other local roads are already very busy and dangerous, particularly at rush hour. Blanchards Hill is a rural road with no footpath and would be particularly more dangerous if traffic was to increase. A lot of the houses along all roads are very close to the road and therefore resulting increase in heavy traffic would be detrimental to the buildings as well as causing disruption to the inhabitants. It would also ruin the nature of the area by making it a busy thoroughfare rather than a village where people live.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have been a resident in Send since 1986, joining my husband who has been a Send resident all his life. The village has seen development but nothing on the scale that has been proposed in this 2016 Local Plan. It really has alarmed my family and all our community, at the proposed developments around our home.

I strongly object to Send village being removed from the Green Belt. This is something that has always strengthened our community and enjoyment of our village, having the countryside around and giving us a natural green break between local towns. We are so close to being absorbed into the urban landscape. I strongly object with any erosion of the Green Belt as its design was to be permanent. I voted for the Conservative party at the last election and one of the main reasons was because of the promise to protect the Green Belt. I do hope the Conservative party/GBC do not break this promise.

I strongly object to the Garlick’s Arch site as we as a village were not properly consulted. I attended the last Local Parish Council meeting before the Local Plan was launched and felt the Burnt Common site put forward on the Draft was quite enough to be challenged. I attended this meeting to keep informed and act as a responsible and pro-active member of the Send community. It was very underhanded that the Local Plan Draft was changed at extremely short notice at the GBC special executive meeting, where the Burnt Common site was removed and a supplementary information sheet added to replace it with Garlick’s Arch, a development of over double the housing at 400, as well as 7000sq metres of industrial units!

I object to the Garlick’s Arch site with the change of this land, as it is ancient woodland, of local beauty and also floods, which I have seen. I object to the 400 houses and the 600+ cars that these will add to the local infrastructure. The local roads are already heavily congested at commuting times let alone with so much more added, and also the pressure on local facilities. This local woodland offers an environmental buffer between the A3 and Portsmouth Road, helping absorb the heavy traffic emissions. Without this, the pollution and rainfall will become even higher issues.

I object to the 7000sq metres of industrial units at the Garlick’s Arch site. Is there not space yet at Slyfield or Brownfield sites that are more appropriate for industrial units rather than virgin Green Belt land? Also I believe from the last Employment Land needs Assessment of 2015 that this showed a reduction of 80% in required employment from the previous Local Draft Plan.

I strongly object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. Send will be a cut through and have to take the extra traffic from Woking and Guildford and also the A3 and M25 for the proposed developments at Blackwell Farm, Gosden Hill, Wisley Airfield, and Burpham. Our main road, the A247 is already struggling, with regular crawling traffic/gridlock. The pollution and noise levels are already very high.

I strongly object to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers pitches at Send Hill because some the road is single access and some parts winding and extremely narrow, to add even more traffic to an already struggling road would be dangerous. I have witnessed at least three traffic road accidents on the Send Hill/Potters Lane junction. I have been gridlocked many, many times with traffic unable to pass along Send Hill and then blocking Potters Lane. I have seen horses go out of control because of the narrow and high banks of the Send Hill road (towards Potters Lane). It cannot be walked safely as a pedestrian (on local school trips, out with the Guides, walking to the church someone has to walk ahead to block the traffic coming up to allow the children to walk safely. Also I believe, the land is an unsafe landfill site. It’s a beautiful area of countryside that I walk and enjoy on a regular basis. Also this affects our local cemetery that is a place of beauty and peace; this will be compromised.

I strongly object to the Clockbarn Nursery site with 45 houses because again of the very inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is like many of our Send back roads, very narrow and twisting. It is already very hazardous for traffic from Tannery Lane to join the Send Road (which I had unpleasant experience of when working at Tannery House). Traffic has to dangerously edge out, as there are always parked cars by junction, and often gridlocks Send Road. We already have the marina development going ahead and 60+ apartments, and I feel that this in it's own right will cause enough traffic concerns. Also at this junction is our Send Recreation Ground, which has been highly maintained and extremely popular. I object to any more pressure being put on this road junction as it will be a detriment to our Park, with safety, noise and pollution.

Appendix d I have also read and heard about the GBC's refusal to disclose their housing requirement calculations and that these have been greatly exaggerated. I object to having local plans being suggested without the GBC written evidence to back up the housing requirement. I object to the fact that infrastructure requirements have not been properly thought through, as Send's are not good enough to deal with the proposed housing levels. There will be irrevocable pressure and damage on the surrounding flora/fauna and infrastructure; roads, doctors, schools will not be able to handle this.

Send I do appreciate that housing in the Guildford borough is needed but would ask that GBC put every effort looking into Brownfield sites in the urban area before the open countryside.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send, Policy A.42, Now 60 homes in place of 45 homes previously, I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because the increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is too much- a third more. It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people. It will put pressure on the local infrastructure and worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and Send Road. It will add to the surface water flooding that we already have a problem with. It will further alter the village becoming more urban losing more Green Belt which was to protect natural or semi natural environments and to protect unique character of rural communities.

Land at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh Policy A.43, Now 400 homes and 6 Travelling Showpeople plots, I object to Policy A.43 because It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive. It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt which is to protect natural or semi natural environments, protect unique character of rural communities that might be absorbed by expanding suburbs. It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no “exceptional circumstances” exist, with beautiful bluebell woods, this ancient woodland that existed at the time of Queen Elizabeth I. It is subject to frequent flooding. I object because I do not believe there is a proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people. I especially object because of the pressure on the local infrastructure, on our village services and the excessive traffic that will gridlock the already busy roads of Ripley and Send.

Greenbelt, At Paragraph 4.3.15, Policy.2, Send Business Park now taken out of the Green Belt altogether, I object from this removal from Green Belt because development of this beautiful area is inappropriate as it protects our unique character around the Wey Navigation and the rural part of our community that will be otherwise be absorbed into the surrounding towns/villages. It offers cleaner air, contiguous habitat network for wild plants, and wildlife. All the reason why it was inserted into Green Belt initially. I object because the road access is very bad into and out of Tannery Lane onto the already very busy and congested Send Road.

Development within West Horsley. I think West Horsley should yield a parcel of Green Belt land for appropriate development. 40-homes to the rear of the Lotus dealership would seem an ideal site (A37) and/or one of the infill sites A39 or A40.

Sites A39 and A41 do not appear to be "infill" sites so I would not support any plans in the next 10-years to build on these Green Belt sites.

In summary

GBC should make full use of land within the urban settlements and Council land before allowing development within the Green Belt.

The construction of purpose built whole communities within the Green Belt, such as Wisley (and Dunsfold) should be supported within their respective site boundaries and subsequent "development creep" avoided.

Whole scale areas within villages should not be removed from the Green Belt but communities should be encouraged to yield current Green Belt sites for development and I believe one or two of three sites in West Horsley should be made available. Less than 200 additional properties and the impact should be absorbed by the community, any more than 200 houses will have a detrimental impact on the community and services.

Can you tell me why GBC have ring-fenced Council owned residential properties from further development? I have identified a number of Council houses with large gardens, not in the Green Belt which are suitable for additional development. The Housing Department however, flatly refuse to discuss such development proposals. surely an untenable situation?

The Council do however seem "hell-bent" on development within the Green Belt.

The basic principal of no development within the Green Belt should be upheld. Communities however need to grow so I can support limited and sustained development within the Green Belt on specific infill sites. I cannot support whole scale removal of land from the Green Belt.

Land north of Grange Road, Ash

Thakeham Homes wishes to recommend the site for residential development and as such supports the inclusion of the site within the housing site allocation ‘A29 Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham’ in the Pre Submission Local Plan. The red line location plan for the site has been appended to this representation at Appendix 1.

Availability

The NPPG provides the following guidance in regard to considering whether a site is available for development:

“A site is considered available for development, when, on the best information available, there is confidence that there are no legal or ownership problems, such as unresolved multiple ownerships, ransom strips tenancies or operation requirements of landowners. This will often mean that land is controlled by a developer or landowner who has expressed an intention to develop”

NPPG Paragraph 021 Ref. 3-020-20140306

As highlighted within this representation, the site is controlled by Thakeham Homes Ltd and we will be actively engaging with the council over the coming months prior to submission of a full planning application for residential development. Thakeham is current progressing a reserved matters application for the adjacent site to the north for the delivery of 26 dwellings (Planning application ref 16/P/00663) following the grant of outline consent in December 2013.

Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering a number of high quality residential schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire and will be seeking to deliver circa 20 dwellings on the site with a view to commencing development on site at the earliest opportunity.

Suitability

The NPPG provides the following guidance when considering whether a site is suitable for development:

“Sites in existing development plans or with planning permission will generally be considered suitable for development although it may be necessary to assess whether circumstances have changed which would alter their suitability”

NPPG Paragraph 019 Ref. 019-20140306

The site is located on the eastern edge of Ash village and is within walking distance of the various local amenities of Ash High Street. The Ash and Tongham Urban Area falls on the top tier of the settlement hierarchy and is therefore considered to have a range of services and facilities to meet the needs of the existing community as well as providing key services for surrounding smaller villages. The site has good transport links, with a railway station within walking distance of the site, and there is good access to bus links from Grange Road on the south western corner of the site.

The site has been submitted to and included within the Land Availability Assessment and promoted to the Local Plan, which acknowledges its suitability for residential development.

It is therefore evident from the proposed allocation and the supporting evidence including the LAA, that the site is considered suitable for development within the meaning of the NPPG.

Achievability

In determining whether a site is achievable for development, the NPPF provides the following guidance:

“A site is considered achievable for development where there is a reasonable prospect that the particular type of development will be developed on the site at a particular point in time. This is essentially a judgement about the economic viability of the site and the capacity of the developer to complete and let or sell the development over a certain period”

NPPG, Paragraph 021 Ref. 021-20140306
Given the acute housing need within the Borough and the proposed inclusion of the site within a strategic allocation in the Pre Submission Local Plan, it is considered that there is a reasonable prospect of residential development being achieved on site by 2021.

As stated above, Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering schemes of a similar size and scale throughout Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire, and has the capacity to deliver the development of the site to provide much needed new homes within the first 5 years of the plan period.

Deliverability

For the reasons above, the site is considered to be available, suitable and achievable, and therefore deliverable in accordance with the NPPG. As such, we consider that the site could provide much needed housing development within the plan period and support the proposed strategic allocation A29 Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham.

Conclusions

In conclusion, we consider that an increase in housing land supply is required if the plan is to be consistent with national policy and therefore ‘sound’ with respect to the NPPF.

With regard to the expected shortfall of circa 2,000 dwellings by 2017/18, it is our view that at least a further 400 dwellings per annum are required in the first 5 years of the plan period, to enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA. In addition, we consider that the plan should account for market signals and the duty to cooperate, to ensure a robust and realistic housing land supply.

Given the issues discussed within this representation, it is our view that the council should work proactively to identify and include additional housing site allocations in sustainable locations in the towns and villages and areas of least constraint. This would allow the Council to bring forward housing more quickly in the early years of the plan period in a way that fits the overall strategic vision of the Local Plan.

We have sought to demonstrate within these representations that the site is achievable, suitable and deliverable for residential development which could be delivered within the first 5 years of the plan period. As such, we wish to support the proposed allocation under Policy A29 for development to the south and east of Ash and Tongham, including this site.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Thakeham Homes Ltd are submitting representations to the Guildford Pre Submission Local Plan as local stakeholders. Thakeham are a house builder based in Sussex with a track record for delivering high quality, sustainable schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire. We are progressing a number of potential development sites within this Borough at varying stages of the planning process, therefore our representations specifically relate to the role of the emerging Local Plan in the delivery of the Borough’s housing need over the plan period.

We wish to support the progression of the Local Plan and make comments within our representations on the basis that the proposed housing numbers should be increased in line with the requirements of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) to meet the full, objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough.

We also wish to make representations with regard to the need for a clear and robust supply of housing sites in the first five years of the plan period, including through the identification of additional specific, deliverable sites for residential development. In addition, we also make representations to the proposed affordable housing policies and the need for flexibility to adapt to change. As such, these representations concern Policies S2 and H2 of the Pre Submission Plan and their relationship with the evidence base documents.

Land to the east of Chinthurst Lane, Shalford

These representations are submitted in respect of Thakeham Homes’ interests on land to the east of Chinthurst Lane, Shalford (‘the site’). The site is also known by Land Availability Assessment (LAA) reference 2034, and has been previously promoted to the Local Plan, including to the LAA and was assessed in the Green Belt and Countryside Study.

We support the proposed insetting of Shalford within the Green Belt in the Pre Submission Local Plan, however we wish to promote the land east of Chinthurst Lane for release from the Green Belt to provide much needed residential development in a sustainable location.

We confirm within these representations that the site is available and deliverable within the plan period and that it is set within a highly sustainable location. As such, we wish to make representations on the policies contained within the Pre Submission Local Plan, before addressing how these relate to the site.

Representations relating to Policy S2 ‘Housing Provision’

Since the publication of the NPPF in 2012, the central thrust of the Government’s planning strategy has been to ‘significantly boost’ the supply of housing, including a requirement for Local Planning Authorities (LPA) to meet the full, objectively assessed needs (OAN) for housing within their areas. Policy S2 sets out how the Council intends to meet the housing needs of the Borough over the plan period, therefore these representations relate to the adequacy of this policy in meeting these needs, with particular regard to the issues of the deficit in supply, the need to account for market signals, and the duty to cooperate. We suggest that potential solutions to housing supply could include the identification of additional housing site allocations and an increased windfall allowance to allow flexibility to adapt to changing needs.

Supply Deficit

As stated above, it is important that the plan genuinely addresses the full OAN for the Borough if the Council are to demonstrate a 5-year housing land supply in the early years of the emerging plan period. Significantly, the NPPF requires that where there has been a persistent under delivery of housing, a buffer of 20% should be applied to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planned supply.

We note that housing supply within Guildford Borough has been somewhat low in recent years. The Council’s Land Availability Assessment (LAA) published February 2016 notes that as of the monitoring year 2015/16, there is an existing shortfall of at least 1,351 units, which is expected to increase to 2,019 units by monitoring year 2017/18. Based on the Council’s housing delivery expectations, the emerging Local Plan will not address this shortfall until the year 2026/27.

On the basis of the housing supply identified within the Pre Submission Local Plan, we do not consider that the Council would be able to sustain a 5 year housing land supply into the plan period, therefore it is our view that further sites should... be identified to enable the Council to deliver more housing within the first 5 years. This will enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA.

Improving affordability, having regard to market signals

The NPPF explains at Paragraph 17 that there are certain underlying principles which should be applied when assessing housing need. One of these is the need to take into account of market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability:

“[Local Plans] should take account of market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability, and set out a clear strategy for allocating sufficient land which is suitable for development in their area”

Expanding on this, the NPPG emphasises the importance of providing for relevant market signals in providing the full, objectively assessed housing needs of the area:

“The housing need number suggested by household projections (the starting point) should be adjusted to reflect appropriate market signals, as well as other market indicators of the balance between the demand for and supply of dwellings. Prices or rents rising faster than the national/local average may well indicate particular market undersupply relative to demand.”

NPPG, Paragraph 19

The Council acknowledges the increasing gap between earnings and average house prices, which is higher than the average for Surrey and significantly higher than the national average. The House Price Index (HPI) uses the Land Registry’s dataset of completed sales, and is reported on a monthly basis. In the most recent monthly report on 14th June 2016, the HPI revealed an 8.7% annual increase in house prices in Guildford to £418,806, compared with the national average house price of £224,731. Furthermore, the Index of Private Housing Rental Prices (IPHRP), which is produced by the Office for National Statistics on a quarterly basis, shows a 3.4% annual increase in private rents across the South East, compared to 2.6% in England and Wales as at May 2016.

It is our view that the extraordinary price and rent increases in the Borough are a market signal that additional housing is required in order to meet demand. This is at least a partial consequence of previous under delivery in the first 3 years of the plan period, and will likely worsen throughout the plan unless there is a significant boost to the supply of housing. With this in mind, we would recommend a number of additional housing site allocations to account for market signals in accordance with the NPPF and to enable the Council to demonstrate an ongoing five-year housing land supply.

Duty to Cooperate

The NPPF duty to cooperate requires that LPAs demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts, including the delivery of housing development to meet the full objectively assessed needs of the area:

“Local planning authorities will be expected to demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts when their Local Plans are submitted for examination. This could be by way of plans or policies prepared as part of a joint committee, a memorandum of understanding or a jointly prepared strategy which is presented as evidence of an agreed position. Cooperation should be a continuous process of engagement from initial thinking through to implementation, resulting in a final position where plans are in place to provide the land and infrastructure necessary to support current and projected future levels of development.”

NPPF 2012, Paragraph 181

The NPPF requires Local Plans to seek to deliver “the unmet requirements of neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development”

NPPF 2012, Paragraph 43

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) September 2015 identifies important cross boundary interactions not only within the HMA, but also with neighbouring authorities:

“Although weaker than the core relationships, there are identifiable and important functional interactions with adjoining authorities of East Hampshire, Rushmoor, Surrey Heath, Runnymede and Elmbridge. In the context of the Duty to Cooperate, these authorities in particular should be engaged in strategic housing issues not only in the preparation of the SHMA but also the subsequent development of plan policies.”
SHMA 2015, Paragraph 10.5

There is an unmet need for housing in Guildford’s neighbouring authorities, including Surrey Heath Borough, which has a claimed housing land supply of just 3.67 years, including a backlog of at least 721 dwellings since monitoring year 2011.

In addition, London is expected to have an unmet need of up to 200,000 dwellings over its current plan period (2015-2025). Research carried out by Nathaniel Lichfield and Partners for the consultation on the Further Alterations to the London Plan, indicated that Guildford could be expected to provide up to 2,177 dwellings over this period. At present, there is no indication of making any provision for this wider need within the Pre Submission Local Plan.

It is our view that opportunities still exist throughout Guildford Borough to deliver some or more housing in the most sustainable settlements in line with the objectives of national planning policy and in the spirit of the duty to cooperate. As such, it is our view that additional housing allocations are required to assist in meeting some of the identified need within neighbouring authorities, whilst also supporting the vitality of the communities within the towns and villages across the borough.

We consider that given the above uncertainties and the need for housing delivery in the first five years, a higher windfall allowance is required to enable flexibility in supply and facilitate suitable sites coming forward in the early years of the plan period.

Allocated Housing Sites

The Pre Submission Local Plan provides for the delivery of 13,860 dwellings in the plan period 2013-2033, including a number of smaller site allocations to deliver housing in the period 2019/20 to 2022/23. If delivery is provided in line with the plan, then the LAA housing trajectory estimates that there will be a cumulative deficit of around 900 dwellings after the first five years of the plan period.

There is therefore an additional need for housing within the first 5 years of the plan period. This can be best delivered by identifying a number of further housing site allocations in sustainable locations across the Borough and in the areas of lowest constraint to enable the Council to meet both its own housing need as well as assisting with meeting that of neighbouring authorities.

Representations Relating to Policy H2 ‘Affordable Housing’

The current thread of Government policy is clearly angled towards delivering a wide range of type and tenure of new housing, along with significantly boosting supply. Therefore, it is essential that local plans acknowledge the Government’s ambitions and seek to deliver the required level and type of housing required for their communities. As required through the tests of soundness, Policy H2 needs to be consistent with national planning policy, effective to ensure delivery over the plan period and also flexible enough to deal with changing circumstances.

Recently, the delivery of housing, especially affordable housing, has altered dramatically with various new proposals aimed at increasing the delivery of housing numbers. This wide range of housing now incorporates products such as starter homes, shared ownership, shared equity, discounted market rent, rent to buy and first buy products, along with market housing and affordable and social rent.

It is considered that, given the wide range of all housing products available, planning policy should be flexible enough to allow delivery of the appropriate mix of tenure and type without being overly prescriptive.

In addition we note that following the order of the Court of Appeal dated 13th May 2016 and the subsequent update to the NPPG, the Council need to amend the policy with regard to the thresholds for the provision of affordable housing – which should no longer be required on schemes of 10 units or fewer:

“There are specific circumstances where contributions for affordable housing and tariff style planning obligations (section 106 planning obligations) should not be sought from scall scale and self-build development. This follows the order of the Court of Appeal dated 13th May 2016, which gave effect to the policy set out in the Written Ministerial Statement on 28th
November 2014 and should be taken into account. These circumstances are that:

- Contributions should not be sought from developments of 10 units or less, and which have a maximum combined gross floodspace of no more than 1000sqm”

NPPG Ref. 23b-031-20160519

Land to the east of Chinthurst Lane, Shalford

Thakeham Homes wishes to recommend the site for residential development and as such supports the indicated changes to inset Shalford however we consider that the settlement boundary could be extended to include this site to provide much needed housing towards addressing the Borough’s objectively assessed needs. The red line location plan for the site has been appended to this representation at Appendix 1.

The site is located adjacent to the proposed inset settlement boundary east of Chinthurst Lane. As such, the site is set within a sustainable location, within walking distance of many local services and facilities, including a railway station and an infant school. Physically, the site benefits from few constraints, with a flat topography and good screening provided by trees, offering limited views in from the surrounding area. The site is located within flood risk zone 1, where there is considered to be the lowest risk of fluvial flooding.

This site is set within a highly sustainable location on the edge of the village, and would be suitable as an extension to the existing built area to provide much needed housing to meet the Borough’s needs.

Availability

The NPPG provides the following guidance in regard to considering whether a site is available for development:

“A site is considered available for development, when, on the best information available, there is confidence that there are no legal or ownership problems, such as unresolved multiple ownerships, ransom strips tenancies or operation requirements of landowners. This will often mean that land is controlled by a developer or landowner who has expressed an intention to develop”

NPPG Paragraph 021 Ref. 3-020-20140306

As highlighted within this representation, the site is controlled by Thakeham Homes Ltd and we will be actively engaging with the council to promote the site for the delivery of much needed residential development.

Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering a number of high quality residential schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire and will be seeking to deliver circa 20 dwellings on the site with a view to commencing development on site at the earliest opportunity.

Suitability

The NPPG provides the following guidance when considering whether a site is suitable for development:

“Sites in existing development plans or with planning permission will generally be considered suitable for development although it may be necessary to assess whether circumstances have changed which would alter their suitability”

NPPG Paragraph 019 Ref. 019-20140306

The site lies adjacent to the settlement boundary of Shalford, which is proposed to be inset from the Green Belt within the Pre Submission Local Plan. We support the proposed insetting of the village, and consider that this site could provide an extension to the built area to provide housing. The insetting of the settlement reflects the sustainability of the village and the suitability of the area as a location for some level of growth in the plan period.
As stated above, the site is set within a sustainable, edge-of-settlement location adjacent to the proposed settlement boundary. As such, we consider that the site is suitable for the delivery of residential development and should therefore be removed from the Green belt for this purpose.

Achievability

In determining whether a site is achievable for development, the NPPF provides the following guidance:

“A site is considered achievable for development where there is a reasonable prospect that the particular type of development will be developed on the site at a particular point in time. This is essentially a judgement about the economic viability of the site and the capacity of the developer to complete and let or sell the development over a certain period” NPPG, Paragraph 021 Ref. 021-20140306

Given the acute housing need within the Borough and the relative lack of constraint affecting this site, it is considered that there is a reasonable prospect of residential development being achieved on site within the plan period.

As stated above, Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering schemes of a similar size and scale throughout Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire, and has the capacity to deliver the development of the site to provide much needed new homes within the plan period.

Deliverability

For the reasons above, the site is considered to be available, suitable and achievable, and therefore deliverable in accordance with the NPPG. We have appended to this representation an indicative site plan without constraints to illustrate where development could potentially be delivered on the site.

Conclusions

In conclusion, we consider that an increase in housing land supply is required if the plan is to be consistent with national policy and therefore ‘sound’ with respect to the NPPF.

With regard to the expected shortfall of circa 2,000 dwellings by 2017/18, it is our view that at least a further 400 dwellings per annum are required in the first 5 years of the plan period, to enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA. In addition, we consider that the plan should account for market signals and the duty to cooperate, to ensure a robust and realistic housing land supply.

Given the issues discussed within this representation, it is our view that the council should work proactively to identify and include additional housing site allocations in sustainable locations in the towns and villages and areas of least constraint. This would allow the Council to bring forward housing more quickly in the early years of the plan period in a way that fits the overall strategic vision of the Local Plan.

We have demonstrated within these representations that the land east of Chinthurst Lane, Shalford, is available, suitable and deliverable for residential development in accordance with the relevant NPPG. As such, we recommend that this site is allocated to assist with meeting the Borough’s housing land supply shortfall, as the site is deliverable within the first 5 years of the plan period and provides a sustainable location for residential development.

Representations Relating to Policy I4 ‘Green and Blue Infrastructure’

Thakeham objects to the proposed designation of the site as ‘Open Space’ and the findings of the Council’s Assessment of Sites for Amenity Value document which has informed the designation.

Open Space is defined in the NPPF as follows:

“All open space of public value, including not just land, but also areas of water (such as rivers, canals, lakes and reservoirs) which offer important opportunities for sport and recreation and can act as a visual amenity”

With respect to open space designations in the Pre Submission Plan, Policy I4 states the following:

“Open space (encompassing all open space within urban areas, land designated as Open Space on the Policies Map and all land and water that provides opportunities for recreation and sport) will be protected from development in accordance with the NPPF.”

Pre Submission Local Plan, Policy I4, Page 119

At supporting Paragraph 4.6.55 of the ‘Reasoned Justification’, the Council explain that the identification of Open Spaces has been informed by the Amenity Assessment evidence base document:

“The Council has produced an Amenity Assessment to identify open spaces of public amenity value within villages that are inset from the Green Belt by the plan. This assessment looked at land within proposed village inset boundaries, excluding land where inset boundaries were expanded to take in allocations on the edges of villages. Sites that were assessed as having public value that would be harmed by development are identified as Open Space on the Policies Map and will be protected in line with the NPPF. Open spaces outside inset village boundaries are protected by the Green Belt designation so have not been considered for further protection. Land of public value in the inset villages that is used for sport and recreation is identified through the Open Space Sport and Recreation Study and will be protected in line with the NPPF.” Pre Submission Local Plan, Paragraph 4.6.55

Following a site visit and basic desktop assessment, the Amenity Assessment deemed that the site (GIS Ref. ETH_088) had an amenity value score of ‘High’, accompanied by the following reasoning:

“Site is a grass field which is inaccessible to the public. The site is adjacent to a private sports centre. There is also Public Right of Way along the southern boundary. The site is in an elevated position and offers aesthetic value” Amenity Assessment, Page 118, Site Ref. ETH_088

As the site is private land which is inaccessible to the public and therefore has no amenity value with respect to providing opportunities for sports and recreation, it appears that the site has been designated entirely due to its ‘aesthetic value’ and that as a result the overall amenity value is scored as ‘High’. This is the only basis upon which the site is designated an Open Space within the Pre Submission Local Plan under Policy I4.

The site is well contained by high hedgerow to its southern boundaries adjacent to the public footpath, and is set substantially back from the road frontage of Chinthurst Lane. Due to the location and positioning of the site, there are very limited views towards the site from the public realm on Chinthurst Lane and further afield. The only views into the land are from private properties at first floor level, or from the private sports club. Which although being adjacent has not been identified within this policy.

To demonstrate the minimal visual amenity value of this site, we have appended a series of images at Appendix 2. These images show that the site is not visible from the public footpath, with the exception of over the entrance gate, and that there is very limited visibility towards the site from the public realm on Chinthurst Lane.

We object to the conclusion within the Amenity Assessment that this site is of high amenity value and we consider that the proposed allocation of the land as Open Space should be removed from the Local Plan.

The designation of sites of no amenity value is not consistent with the NPPF and does not constitute positive planning and would seriously compromise the ability of the Borough to provide much needed housing in sustainable locations within the villages and towns.

For the reasons above, it is our view that the Council should review the evidence basis, including the Amenity Assessment, and that the proposed Open Space allocation affecting this site should be removed to ensure that the plan reflects national planning policy.

This site is set within a highly sustainable location in the village, and would be suitable for residential development in the emerging plan period.

Availability

The NPPG provides the following guidance in regard to considering whether a site is available for development:

“A site is considered available for development, when, on the best information available, there is confidence that there are no legal or ownership problems, such as unresolved multiple ownerships, ransom strips tenancies or operation requirements of landowners. This will often mean that land is controlled by a developer or landowner who has expressed an intention to develop” NPPG Paragraph 021 Ref. 3-020-20140306

As highlighted within this representation, the site is controlled by Thakeham Homes Ltd and we will be actively engaging with the council over the coming months prior to submission of a full planning application for residential development.
Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering a number of high quality residential schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire and will be seeking to deliver circa 20 dwellings on the site with a view to commencing development on site at the earliest opportunity.

[Note: The respondent has advised that the above paragraph contains an error and should be amended as follows: “Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering a number of high quality residential schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire and will be seeking to deliver circa 200 dwellings on the site with a view to commencing development on site at the earliest opportunity.”]

Suitability

The NPPG provides the following guidance when considering whether a site is suitable for development:

“Sites in existing development plans or with planning permission will generally be considered suitable for development although it may be necessary to assess whether circumstances have changed which would alter their suitability” NPPG Paragraph 019 Ref. 019-20140306

The site lies within the village of Shalford which is proposed to be inset from the Green Belt. In addition, the site was found to be a suitable location for residential development within the LAA.

The site is also located on the edge of the settlement and is surrounding by existing residential and commercial development on all of its boundaries. There are a number of services and facilities in the local area, including a railway station and an infant school. Physical constraints to development in this location are also minimal. The site lies comfortably within Flood Risk Zone 1, where there is considered to be the lowest level of fluvial flood risk. There are no major ecology constraints and the site lies a significant distance from the Thames Basin Heaths SPA.

Achievability

In determining whether a site is achievable for development, the NPPF provides the following guidance:

“A site is considered achievable for development where there is a reasonable prospect that the particular type of development will be developed on the site at a particular point in time. This is essentially a judgement about the economic viability of the site and the capacity of the developer to complete and let or sell the development over a certain period” NPPG, Paragraph 021 Ref. 021-20140306

Given the acute housing need within the Borough and the relative lack of constraint affecting this site, it is considered that there is a reasonable prospect of residential development being achieved on site by 2021.

As stated above, Thakeham has a proven track record for delivering schemes of a similar size and scale throughout Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire, and has the capacity to deliver the development of the site to provide much needed new homes within the first 5 years of the plan period.

Deliverability

For the reasons above, the site is considered to be available, suitable and achievable, and therefore deliverable in accordance with the NPPG. In summary, we consider that this site has minimal or no amenity value and should not be designated as Open Space, and that the site is deliverable for residential development in the meaning of the NPPG.

Representations relating to Policy S2 ‘Housing Provision’
Since the publication of the NPPF in 2012, the central thrust of the Government’s planning strategy has been to ‘significantly boost’ the supply of housing, including a requirement for Local Planning Authorities (LPA) to meet the full, objectively assessed needs (OAN) for housing within their areas. Policy S2 sets out how the Council intends to meet the housing needs of the Borough over the plan period, therefore these representations relate to the adequacy of this policy in meeting these needs, with particular regard to the issues of the deficit in supply, the need to account for market signals, and the duty to cooperate. We suggest that potential solutions to housing supply could include the identification of additional housing site allocations and an increased windfall allowance to allow flexibility to adapt to changing needs.

Supply Deficit
As stated above, it is important that the plan genuinely addresses the full OAN for the Borough if the Council are to demonstrate a 5-year housing land supply in the early years of the emerging plan period. Significantly, the NPPF requires that where there has been a persistent under delivery of housing, a buffer of 20% should be applied to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planned supply.

We note that housing supply within Guildford Borough has been somewhat low in recent years. The Council’s Land Availability Assessment (LAA) published February 2016 notes that as of the monitoring year 2015/16, there is an existing shortfall of at least 1,351 units, which is expected to increase to 2,019 units by monitoring year 2017/18. Based on the Council’s housing delivery expectations, the emerging Local Plan will not address this shortfall until the year 2026/27.

On the basis of the housing supply identified within the Pre Submission Local Plan, we do not consider that the Council would be able to sustain a 5 year housing land supply into the plan period, therefore it is our view that further sites should be identified to enable the Council to deliver more housing within the first 5 years. This will enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA.

Improving affordability, having regard to market signals
The NPPF explains at Paragraph 17 that there are certain underlying principles which should be applied when assessing housing need. One of these is the need to take into account market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability:
“[Local Plans] should take account of market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability, and set out a clear strategy for allocating sufficient land which is suitable for development in their area”
NPPF 2012, Paragraph 17

Expanding on this, the NPPG emphasises the importance of providing for relevant market signals in providing the full, objectively assessed housing needs of the area:
“The housing need number suggested by household projections (the starting point) should be adjusted to reflect appropriate market signals, as well as other market indicators of the balance between the demand for and supply of dwellings. Prices or rents rising faster than the national/local average may well indicate particular market undersupply relative to demand.”
NPPG, Paragraph 19

The Council acknowledges the increasing gap between earnings and average house prices, which is higher than the average for Surrey and significantly higher than the national average. The House Price Index (HPI) uses the Land Registry’s dataset of completed sales, and is reported on a monthly basis. In the most recent monthly report on 14th June 2016, the HPI revealed an 8.7% annual increase in house prices in Guildford to £418,806, compared with the national average house price of £224,731. Furthermore, the Index of Private Housing Rental Prices (IPHRP), which is produced by the Office for National Statistics on a quarterly basis, shows a 3.4% annual increase in private rents across the South East, compared to 2.6% in England and Wales as at May 2016.

It is our view that the extraordinary price and rent increases in the Borough are a market signal that additional housing is required in order to meet demand. This is at least a partial consequence of previous under delivery in the first 3 years of the plan period, and will likely worsen throughout the plan unless there is a significant boost to the supply of housing. With this in mind, we would recommend a number of additional housing site allocations to account for market signals in accordance with the NPPF and to enable the Council to demonstrate an ongoing five-year housing land supply.

Duty to Cooperate

The NPPF duty to cooperate requires that LPAs demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts, including the delivery of housing development to meet the full objectively assessed needs of the area:

“The Local planning authorities will be expected to demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts when their Local Plans are submitted for examination. This could be by way of plans or policies prepared as part of a joint committee, a memorandum of understanding or a jointly prepared strategy which is presented as evidence of an agreed position. Cooperation should be a continuous process of engagement from initial thinking through to implementation, resulting in a final position where plans are in place to provide the land and infrastructure necessary to support current and projected future levels of development.”

The NPPF requires Local Plans to seek to deliver “the unmet requirements of neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development”

NPPF 2012, Paragraph 43

The West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) September 2015 identifies important cross boundary interactions not only within the HMA, but also with neighbouring authorities:

“Although weaker than the core relationships, there are identifiable and important functional interactions with adjoining authorities of East Hampshire, Rushmoor, Surrey Heath, Runnymede and ELMbridge. In the context of the Duty to Cooperate, these authorities in particular should be engaged in strategic housing issues not only in the preparation of the SHMA but also the subsequent development of plan policies.”

SHMA 2015, Paragraph 10.5

There is an unmet need for housing in Guildford’s neighbouring authorities, including Surrey Heath Borough, which has a claimed housing land supply of just 3.67 years, including a backlog of at least 721 dwellings since monitoring year 2011. In addition, London is expected to have an unmet need of up to 200,000 dwellings over its current plan period (2015-2025).

Research carried out by Nathaniel Lichfield and Partners for the consultation on the Further Alterations to the London Plan, indicated that Guildford could be expected to provide up to 2,177 dwellings over this period. At present, there is no indication of making any provision for this wider need within the Pre Submission Local Plan. It is our view that opportunities still exist throughout Guildford Borough to deliver some or more housing in the most sustainable settlements in line with the objectives of national planning policy and in the spirit of the duty to cooperate. As such, it is our view that additional housing allocations are required to assist in meeting some of the identified need within neighbouring authorities, whilst also supporting the vitality of the communities within the towns and villages across the borough.

We consider that given the above uncertainties and the need for housing delivery in the first five years, a higher windfall allowance is required to enable flexibility in supply and facilitate suitable sites coming forward in the early years of the plan period.

Allocated Housing Sites

The Pre Submission Local Plan provides for the delivery of 13,860 dwellings in the plan period 2013-2033, including a number of smaller site allocations to deliver housing in the period 2019/20 to 2022/23. If delivery is provided in line with the plan, then the LAA housing trajectory estimates that there will be a cumulative deficit of around 900 dwellings after the first five years of the plan period.

There is therefore an additional need for housing within the first 5 years of the plan period. This can be best delivered by identifying a number of further housing site allocations in sustainable locations across the Borough and in the areas of lowest constraint to enable the Council to meet both its own housing need as well as assisting with meeting that of neighbouring authorities.

In conclusion, we consider that an increase in housing land supply is required if the plan is to be consistent with national policy and therefore ‘sound’ with respect to the NPPF.

With regard to the expected shortfall of circa 2,000 dwellings by 2017/18, it is our view that at least a further 400 dwellings per annum are required in the first 5 years of the plan period, to enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA. In addition, we consider that the plan should account for market signals and the duty to cooperate, to ensure a robust and realistic housing land supply.

Given the issues discussed within this representation, it is our view that the council should work proactively to identify and include additional site allocations in sustainable locations in the towns and villages and areas of least constraint. This would allow the Council to bring forward housing more quickly in the early years of the plan period in a way that fits the overall strategic vision of the Local Plan. We trust that these representations will be useful and clear and we would be grateful for confirmation of receipt. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any queries or require any further information.

Guildford Pre Submission Local Plan – Representations
Re. Land to the rear of Greenhill and Burnside, Chinthurst Lane, Shalford

Thakeham Homes Ltd are submitting representations to the Guildford Pre Submission Local Plan as local stakeholders. Thakeham are a house builder based in Sussex with a track record for delivering high quality, sustainable schemes across Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire. We are progressing a number of potential development sites within this Borough at varying stages of the planning process, therefore our representations specifically relate to the role of the emerging Local Plan in the delivery of the Borough’s housing need over the plan period.

We wish to support the progression of the Local Plan and make comments within our representations on the basis that the proposed housing numbers should be increased in line with the requirements of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) to meet the full, objectively assessed housing needs of the Borough.

We also wish to make representations with regard to the need for a clear and robust supply of housing sites in the first five years of the plan period, including through the identification of additional specific, deliverable sites for residential development. In addition, we also make representations to the proposed affordable housing policies and the need for flexibility to adapt to change. As such, these representations concern Policies S2 and H2 of the Pre Submission Plan and their relationship with the evidence base documents.

Land to the rear of Greenhill and Burnside, Chinthurst Lane, Shalford

These representations are submitted in respect of Thakeham Homes’ interests on land to the rear of Greenhill and Burnside, Chinthurst Lane, Shalford (‘the site’). The site is also known by LAA reference 1264, and has been previously promoted to the Local Plan, including to the Draft Local Plan consultation in autumn 2014.

We wish to support the proposed insetting of Shalford within the Green Belt in the Pre Submission Local Plan, however we object to the proposed designation of the site as ‘Open Space’ and the findings contained within the Amenity Assessment, which does not in our view provide sufficient justification for the allocation.

We confirm within these representations that the site is available and deliverable in the short-term, within the first 5 years of the plan period and that it is set within a highly sustainable location. As such, we wish to make representations on the main policies contained within the Pre Submission Local Plan, before addressing how these relate to the site.

Representations relating to Policy S2 ‘Housing Provision’
Since the publication of the NPPF in 2012, the central thrust of the Government’s planning strategy has been to ‘significantly boost’ the supply of housing, including a requirement for Local Planning Authorities (LPA) to meet the full, objectively assessed needs (OAN) for housing within their areas. Policy S2 sets out how the Council intends to meet the housing needs of the Borough over the plan period, therefore these representations relate to the adequacy of this policy in meeting these needs, with particular regard to the issues of the deficit in supply, the need to account for market signals, and the duty to cooperate. We suggest that potential solutions to housing supply could include the identification of additional housing site allocations and an increased windfall allowance to allow flexibility to adapt to changing needs.

Supply Deficit

As stated above, it is important that the plan genuinely addresses the full OAN for the Borough if the Council are to demonstrate a 5-year housing land supply in the early years of the emerging plan period. Significantly, the NPPF requires that where there has been a persistent under delivery of housing, a buffer of 20% should be applied to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planned supply.

We note that housing supply within Guildford Borough has been somewhat low in recent years. The Council’s Land Availability Assessment (LAA) published February 2016 notes that as of the monitoring year 2015/16, there is an existing shortfall of at least 1,351 units, which is expected to increase to 2,019 units by monitoring year 2017/18. Based on the Council’s housing delivery expectations, the emerging Local Plan will not address this shortfall until the year 2026/27.

On the basis of the housing supply identified within the Pre Submission Local Plan, we do not consider that the Council would be able to sustain a 5 year housing land supply into the plan period, therefore it is our view that further sites should be identified to enable the Council to deliver more housing within the first 5 years. This will enable the Council to meet its OAN prior to larger strategic sites coming forward in accordance with the housing trajectory in the LAA.

Improving affordability, having regard to market signals

The NPPF explains at Paragraph 17 that there are certain underlying principles which should be applied when assessing housing need. One of these is the need to take into account market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability:

“[Local Plans] should take account of market signals, such as land prices and housing affordability, and set out a clear strategy for allocating sufficient land which is suitable for development in their area”

Expanding on this, the NPPG emphasises the importance of providing for relevant market signals in providing the full, objectively assessed housing needs of the area:

“The housing need number suggested by household projections (the starting point) should be adjusted to reflect appropriate market signals, as well as other market indicators of the balance between the demand for and supply of dwellings. Prices or rents rising faster than the national/local average may well indicate particular market undersupply relative to demand.”

NPPG, Paragraph 19

The Council acknowledges the increasing gap between earnings and average house prices, which is higher than the average for Surrey and significantly higher than the national average. The House Price Index (HPI) uses the Land Registry’s dataset of completed sales, and is reported on a monthly basis. In the most recent monthly report on 14th June 2016, the HPI revealed an 8.7% annual increase in house prices in Guildford to £418,806, compared with the national average house price of £224,731. Furthermore, the Index of Private Housing Rental Prices (IPHRP), which is produced by the Office for National Statistics on a quarterly basis, shows a 3.4% annual increase in private rents across the South East, compared to 2.6% in England and Wales as at May 2016.

It is our view that the extraordinary price and rent increases in the Borough are a market signal that additional housing is required in order to meet demand. This is at least a partial consequence of previous under delivery in the first 3 years of the plan period, and will likely worsen throughout the plan unless there is a significant boost to the supply of housing. With this in mind, we would recommend a number of additional housing site allocations to account for market signals in accordance with the NPPF and to enable the Council to demonstrate an ongoing five-year housing land supply.

Duty to Cooperate
The NPPF duty to cooperate requires that LPAs demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts, including the delivery of housing development to meet the full objectively assessed needs of the area:

“Local planning authorities will be expected to demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with cross-boundary impacts when their Local Plans are submitted for examination. As stated above, we recommend the land to the rear of Greenhill and Burnside, Shalford, is removed from policy I4 as open space due to its minimal amenity value. We have also demonstrated within these representations that we consider the site to be achievable, suitable and achievable for residential development.

We trust that these representations will be useful and clear and we would be grateful for confirmation of receipt. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any queries or require any further information.

Land to the North of Grange Road, Ash

These representations are submitted in respect of Thakeham Homes’ interests north of Grange Road, Ash (‘the site’). The site is also known by LAA reference 2247, and is included within the proposed strategic allocation ‘A29 Land south and east of Ash and Tongham’. A red line location plan for the site is appended to this representation at Appendix 1.

We confirm within these representations that the site is available and deliverable within the first 5 years of the plan period and that it is set within a highly sustainable location. As such, we wish to make representations on the policies contained within the Pre Submission Local Plan, and support the proposed allocation of the site for residential development.

Summary

The omission of an adjustment for London is a significant flaw in both the SHMA and the addendum, leading to an underestimate of future demographic-led need in both Guildford and the West Surrey HMA. Whilst a sensitivity was undertaken in the West Surrey SHMA, which showed an increase in need in Guildford under the London migration scenario, this was not incorporated into the SHMA's conclusions on OAHN. In the addendum, despite there being no significant change in the evidence, it is concluded that no adjustment is required. This is despite the evidence for Guildford in particular clearly showing that net migration fell significantly in the immediate aftermath of the recession, and has yet to begin recovering.
Overall the addendum has failed to sufficiently demonstrate that an adjustment for London should not be made, and in doing so has under-estimate future demographic-led housing need for Guildford (and the HMA in the SHMA).

Economic Growth

3.19 With regards to employment-led needs, there are two aspects of the relevant section of the PPG (Reference ID: 2a-018 20140306). The first relates to the scale of job growth within the HMA:

"Plan makers should make an assessment of the likely change in job numbers based on past trends and/or economic forecasts as appropriate and also having regard to the growth of the working age population in the housing market area ..."

3.20 The second then relates to the issues associated with areas where there is a mismatch, and refers to the issues of unsustainable commuting patterns and the resilience of local businesses. It states:

"Where the supply of working age population that is economically active (labour force supply) is less than the projected job growth, this could result in unsustainable commuting patterns (depending on public transport accessibility or other sustainable options such as walking or cycling) and could reduce the resilience of local businesses. In such circumstances, plan makers will need to consider how the location of new housing or infrastructure development could help address these problems."

3.21 In determining the overall scale of job growth the SHMA used forecasts from Cambridge Econometrics, Experian and Oxford Economics dated 2015. These sources showed growth of between 0.6% and 1.1% per annum for Guildford, averaging 0.9% per annum (amounting to 17,700 jobs in Guildford) which was applied within the assessment of need. For Guildford, this showed a need for 637 dwellings per annum.

3.22 The addendum applies an updated forecast of growth using forecasts dated 2016, which show growth of 0.7% per annum, amounting to growth of 12,893 jobs over the [new] projection period 2015-34. However, it does not present any analysis to show what the impact of this reduced forecast of growth in Guildford is across the rest of the HMA. It may be the case that lower growth in Guildford is simply offset by higher forecast growth in the rest of the HMA, where the other two Districts (Woking and Waverley) would need to increase their level of housing provision to account for higher levels of job growth. The risks associated with adopting this 'pick and choose' approach are set out in detail above in paragraphs 3.8-3.9, primarily the risk of creating unmet need as the need for more housing elsewhere in the HMA is unaccounted for.

Summary

3.23 The addendum has failed to demonstrate that lower job growth in Guildford is not countered by higher job growth elsewhere in the HMA. The most recent assessment undertaken consistently across the HMA is that within the SHMA, which demonstrated a need for 637 dwellings per annum in Guildford. If the new forecasts show lower growth in Guildford but higher growth in Waverley and Woking, the housing needs in those areas will need to be increased to balance the reduction in Guildford. For Guildford to reduce its OAN on the basis of lower job growth without considering the impact of updated forecasts across the HMA risks creating unmet need in the housing market area, reducing the resilience of local businesses or generating unsustainable commuting patterns.

Market signals

The SHMA and addendum consider a response to market signals has been adequately addressed by making an adjustment to household formation rates for 25-34 age group. However this is wholly insufficient because: - The PPG indicates that adjustments to household formation rates and for market signals are separate stages in the calculation (headship rates in ID 2a-015 and market signals in ID 2a-020); - Modelling household formation as a precise response for market signals doesn't seek to consider what impact it has on improving affordability. Market signals/affordability affects other age groups, and the PPG is clear that the purpose of a market signals uplift is to provide more than the household projections, hence it is necessary for any market signals uplift to be in excess of the figure suggested by the household projections. - Overall uplift in Guildford of 9.0% above demographic/economic-led needs is exceptionally modest in the context of the affordability pressure that exists in the District and unlikely to be a sufficient response to market signals.

Waverley Local Plan- Inspector's Initial Questions

3.25 The approach in the West Surrey SHMA (which is the same as that in the addendum) has already been considered in Waverley. The Local Plan Inspector's Matters and Issues for Examination (ID-3) (April 2017) stated:

"... having considered the written evidence, I do not consider that the OAN adjustment to improve affordability is adequate. Focusing on household formation suppression for one age group results in a vent minor uplift and I have seen no evidence that this would improve overall affordability. The lowest quartile affordability ratio is extremely poor. In evaluating the scale of uplift required to improve affordability it is not adequate simply to benchmark against neighbouring authorities and I do not accept the argument that uplift will not improve affordability; such an approach is contrary to Planning Policy Guidance. Evidences required to demonstrate clearly a link between uplift and improved affordability”.

With the approach put forward in the SHMA already in question by the Waverley Local Plan Inspector it is unlikely that the same approach in Guildford can continue to be considered adequate. As such, an alternative approach to market signals is set out below, reflecting the requirements of the PPG.

Approach to market signals - PPG

3.26 The PPG sets out a clear two-stepped process to addressing market signals within the calculation of OAN:

1 Firstly, to determine whether a market signals uplift is necessary. This is set out in PPG ID2a-019 within the first sub-paragraph as follows:
"Appropriate comparisons of indicators should be made ... A worsening trend in any of these indicators will require upward adjustment to planned housing numbers compared to ones based solely on household projections."

2 Secondly, when a market signals uplift is required, to identify what scale that should be set at with guidance given that it should be set at a level that could be expected to improve affordability. This is set out in PPG ID2a-019 within the second and third sub-paragraphs as follows:
'In areas where an upward adjustment is required, plan makers should set this adjustment at a level that is reasonable ... they should increase planned supply by an amount that, on reasonable assumptions and consistent with principles of sustainable development, could be expected to improve affordability and monitor the response of the market over the plan period."

In respect of the evidence underpinning the Guildford local plan, the first step is not in dispute. The West Surrey SHMA assesses the market signals and concludes that affordability pressures in the West Surrey HMA are "significant" (page 115-key messages), with affordability pressures described as "severe" and that an upward adjustment should be applied (para 7.47). It is the second step that is in dispute, and whether the SHMAs response to this can be viewed to be one that "on reasonable assumptions ... could be expected to improve affordability". As set out above, the Waverley Local Plan Inspector has already stated that the scale of uplift put forward in the West Surrey SHMA is insufficient.

3.28 For clarity, the West Surrey SHMA’s response to market signals is to adjust household formation (‘headship’) rates for the 25-34 year age band, so that they increase back to their 2001 levels (para 7.53), and this adjustment is applied on the employment-led scenario. This approach remains the same in the Guildford addendum, and is considered inappropriate in light of the Waverley Local Plan Inspectors initial comments and the guidance in the PPG, which is discussed in further detail below. The outcome of applying this headship rates adjustment in the SHMA in Guildford amounts to a 31 dpa uplift on the employment-led needs of 637 dpa (equivalent to an uplift of 5%) and in the addendum this amounts to a 52 dpa uplift on the employment-led needs of 579 (equivalent to an uplift of 9%).

The principle of market signals uplift to improve affordability

The purpose of a market signals uplift is to ensure the Government's housing aims (as expressed in the NPPF) are met and to ensure this is reflected in assessments of need by making "upward adjustment to planned housing numbers compared to ones based solely on household projections" (PPG ID2a-o2o) where market signals indicate such an adjustment is necessary. The principle of providing 'more' than 'unvarnished' household projections in England has long been established through successive assessments of the country's problems with lack of housing supply.

A literature review of these assessments is included at Appendix 1. They demonstrate, over a sustained period, a consensus over the need to increase supply above household projections to deliver improvements in housing affordability.
This has continued to underpin successive Governments' approach to assessing housing need, including within the PPG and more recently as recognised within the Housing White Paper. Across these reports, the evidence would suggest that - at the national level- an uplift of between 20.9% and 44.2% above the number of homes implied by household projections alone would be necessary to deliver improvements in affordability.
Under the current planning system, achieving a national outcome for housing supply is the product of implementing a large number of individual local plans. As such it is fundamentally necessary to link any local strategies to the overarching national principles which are driving Government policy (i.e. ‘think global, act local’). Each area will have its role to play in contributing towards the Government's aims; some more than others, based on their circumstances. This is explicitly acknowledged in the SHMA by GL Hearn (key messages, page 115 bullet point 3).

It is acknowledged that housing supply is but one factor influencing the affordability of housing (availability of credit and household incomes being two other key influencers), but the role of the planning system in increasing supply to achieve this is clearly an important lever available to government, and one that it seeks to apply through PPG-compliant assessments of OAN. 3.33 Whilst the above places the market signals uplift within the national context, how this overarching principle, is applied to local evidence in Guildford and West Surrey is considered below.

How do we define an improvement in affordability?

3.34 The PPG states that the ratio between lower quartile house prices and the lower quartile income or earnings can be used to measure affordability and this is the metric around which we have focused our analysis in this paper. Although the PPG (ID: 2a-o2o) sets out that plan maker should "increase planned supply by an amount that ... could be expected to improve affordability", the reference case for that improvement is not stated. The PPG (ID2a-003) requires that the assessment of need "should be proportionate and does not require local councils to consider purely hypothetical future scenarios, only future scenarios that could be reasonably expected to occur." In this regard, any improvement to affordability should be one that is reasonably expected to occur.

3.35 Measuring improvements in affordability should make reference not only to current levels of affordability but also to any forecast change in affordability were housing supply to progress at a level consistent with official projections. This must be set in the context that the lower quartile affordability ratio in Guildford was 12.2 in 2016, and has been steadily worsening in recent years (see most recent data released March 2017 in Appendix 2). 3.36 The Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) produces forecasts of both house prices and wages and analysis on the inter-relationship between the two factors2. • We present analysis later in this note (and at Appendix 3) which applies these assumptions to Guildford; this forecasts that if housing supply increased in line with the OAN for Guildford set out in the addendum (i.e. at 654 dpa over the period 2015-34), the affordability ratio would worsen to 14.4 by the end of the plan period in 2034.

3.37 On this basis, we consider that, any increase in planned supply (as required by the PPG3) should as a minimum be such as to stabilise, and preferably improve given it is above the rest of the HMA, the current affordability ratio in Guildford (12.2). Even stabilising the affordability ratio at the current level would represent a better outcome than the reference case of continued worsening affordability in the District. This is a goal that was recognised by the NHPAU in its work and by the House of Lords Select Committee on Economic Affairs4 both of which we review in Appendix 1.

An evidence based market signals uplift for Guildford and West Surrey

3.38 There are numerous methodological approaches that can be adopted in seeking to quantify an appropriate market signals uplift for Guildford based on local evidence of affordability and market signals in the District and the HMA. The PPG does not set out a single definitive approach. Indeed, it suggests (ID: 2a-020) that the approach is one where- having established that an uplift is required:

1 the adjustment should be one that is reasonable;
2 The scale of adjustment should be related to the relative scale of affordability constraints and other indicators of high demand. The greater the improvement in affordability needed, the larger should be the additional supply response; 3 Plan makers should not attempt to estimate the precise impact of an increase in housing supply; 4 They should increase planned supply by an amount that, on reasonable assumptions and consistent with principles of sustainable development, could be expected to improve affordability; 5 They should then monitor the response of the market over the plan period.
3.39 On the most simple basis, applying the scale of uplifts identified as required to address affordability at the national level of between 20.9% and 44.2% would indicate a housing supply requirement of between 697 and 832 dpa in Guildford (based on addendum's demographic-led need of 577 dpa). Naturally, such an approach assumes other Local Plans would also make appropriate adjustments for their market signals in accordance with Government policy's 3-40 However, it is also clear that we need to look at the circumstances of Guildford in identifying an appropriate scale of uplift, given the greater problems of affordability in that district. We have therefore looked at a range of alternative approaches at the local level, and then draw these together to arrive at a conclusion as to the appropriate uplift.

1. OBR house price forecast and University of Reading model

3.41 The Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) produced Working paper No.6 Forecasting house prices in July 2014. The report identifies the following with regards to future average earnings growth and median house price growth (the components of an affordability ratio) in paragraph 3.42:

"Using some long-run assumptions for real income growth (2.2 per cent a year, including growth in the number of households of 1 per cent a year) and housing supply (keeping pace with the number of households), and assuming the housing discount rate and wage share variable are stationary, the model predicts around 3.3 per cent real house price growth a year in steady state. In addition, assuming consumer price inflation in line with the Bank of England's 2 per cent target implies 5.3 per cent a year nominal house price growth in steady state."

3.42 The University of Reading's affordability model, as set out previously, found a high price elasticity (-2.0) in relation to increases in stock at regional level in England, implying in effect that for every 1% increase in supply, relative prices would be expected to fall by 2%. 3.43 There has been some degree of economic change since July 2014. OBR's March 2017 economic outlook would indicate average house price growth of 4.80% per annum and peak average wage growth of 3.7% per annum over the period to 2022 (the horizon of OBR's economic outlook). Although different in absolute terms to its July 2014 assumptions, the difference between wage and house price growth is the same, i.e. the affordability outcomes under the same assumed rate of housing growth will be the same whether using OBR's July 2014 or March 2017 assumptions.

3.44 Based on the above reports, the District would need to deliver 873 dpa on average over the period 2015-34 to maintain affordability at its current level (12.2) to 2022 (the horizon of OBR's economic forecast), or 987 dpa to maintain affordability at its current level to 2034 (the end of the plan period). This should be seen in the context that affordability within the projection period has already worsened, from 10.9 in 2015 to 12.2 in 2016. Evidently to return affordability to the level seen at the start of the plan period and even greater uplift would be needed. Lichfields' analysis shows that 1,224 dpa would be needed to bring affordability back to the 2015 level by 2034. 3.45 Even then, it should be noted the above modelling assumes a price elasticity of -2.0 which could be seen as cautious. Recent research by generis indicates that at a Local Authority level a price elasticity of -1.0 is more appropriate (1% increase in supply brings about 1% fall in price) and better reflects factors at the local authority level (paras 4.19-4.22). However, this would involve taking a different view to the OBR position.

2. Guildford weighted apportionment of national needs

3.46 Guildford is relatively worse in respect of affordability than the national equivalent, with a lower quartile affordability ratio of 12.2 compared with 7.2 nationally. All other things being equal, to improve affordability across the country, Guildford, and its housing market area peers, would need to make a proportionately greater uplift than those where affordability issues are less acute. If we accept the national position set out above - that the minimum national level of delivery required is c.250,000 dpa (e.g. as in the July 2016 House of Lords Select Committee report - see paragraph 81) - then this would imply a 35,000 dwelling uplift above the 2012-based and 2014-based household projections (both at c.215k dpa). We can then consider how this required uplift should be shared between 320+ Local Planning Authorities across the country in order to seek to hold the affordability ratio (at least at a national level) constant. In doing so, we broadly adopt a localised version of the approach adopted by the NHPAU as summarised in Appendix 1.

[7 Why supply matters: the elasticity of house prices at a local level (January 2016) Regeneris Consultinghttps://drive.google.com/file/d/oB3JZDh2pahPaVJncono2dUg2Tk0/view]
3.47 We have modelled three alternative scenarios for market signals uplifts across the country, with outcomes as follows:

1. Each district with an affordability ratio above the national ratio makes a market signals uplift in proportion to its difference with the national figure - this would see Guildford would address 0.6% or 209 dpa equivalent to a 36% uplift on the addendum demographic led need of S77 dpa;
2. Each district with an affordability ratio above the national ratio makes a market signals uplift in proportion to its difference with the national figure (weighted so%) and its projected household growth (weighted so%) - this would see Guildford address 134 dpa, equivalent to a 23% uplift; and
3. Every district (whether above or below the national ratio) makes a market signals uplift in proportion to its difference with the lowest affordability ratio, Copeland at 2.6, (weighted so%) and its projected household growth (weighted so%) - this would see Guildford address ns dpa, equivalent to a 20% uplift.

3.48 Given a) is simply weighted by the affordability ratio, and takes no account of the baseline scale of growth anticipated in the district, it is considered that using the approach indicated at b) and c) would better reflect the scale of uplift that, when adopted in LP As across the country, could provide sufficient housing to hold the affordability ratio steady in each location. This would suggest an uplift of between 20% and 36% for Guildford.

3. Benchmarking stock increases

Guildford has historically delivered very modest growth in its stock of homes in comparison to other authorities in the South and East of England. It is notable that Guildford, with completions at around 0.48% of stock annually over the period 2001-2016, is below the majority of other areas. Even at the proposed housing requirement, of 654 dwellings per annum, this would reflect growth of c.1.04% per annum, below what many other areas have achieved, even during a period including recession. [Figure 2]

3.50 As illustrated in Figure 2, areas including, Milton Keynes, Swindon and Dartford have all delivered new housing at a rate of up to 1.5% of stock per annum (and in some cases, more if looking at the period pre-recession), and see generally lower affordability ratios. On a comparative basis, this analysis demonstrates that, all else being equal, a greater growth rate in housing stock could help to moderate affordability pressures (albeit clearly it is not the only factor).

3.51 If Guildford were to increase rates of delivery to 1.2%-1.4% of stock per annum, as seen in numerous locations elsewhere, this would be equivalent to a delivery rate of 767-912 (against a 2016 dwelling stock of 57,640 as per CLG Live Table 125). At the lower end this represents an uplift of 33% on the addendum's demographic led needs of 577 dpa and could be seen to be a level of stock increase which could reasonably be expected to moderate increases in affordability to levels seen in those more affordable comparator locations where housing stock has been growing at such a rate.

4. Benchmarking market signal uplifts elsewhere

As set out in Lichfields' previous review, it is considered that benchmarking Guildford against market signal uplifts applied elsewhere in the Country is a relevant and helpful indicator of the scale of market signals uplift considered reasonable against the PPG. At Appendix 3 we set out a table of where Market Signal uplifts are being applied either through current SHMAs or in Inspector's findings on Local Plans. Whilst the position is varied, it does on a general basis confirm two principles:

No substantive changes are proposed to this site allocation other than the deletion of the reference to avoiding development in Flood Zone 2 - this change reflects a factual error and confirms that no part of the A7 site lies with this zone.

However, we note that our other comments on the 2016 PSLP (attached at Annexe 1) have not been taken on board and we remain of the view that these amendments to Policy A7 are necessary to render the policy sound.

Thus, we consider therefore that Policy A7 should be amended to more closely align with the residential capacity potential of this site (i.e. 450 dwellings, rather than 350) and to reflect the ability for the whole of that housing to be delivered in the 'first five years' of the plan (i.e. 2019/20 to 2023/24, rather than the 6-10 years phase).

We also consider that the 'Allocation bullets' be amended to read:

- Improved transport and interchange facilities,
- Approximately 450 homes (C3),
- Additional retail (convenience and comparison) and food and drink offer, and
- Additional complementary offices and assemble & leisure uses.

Finally, we consider that the soundness of Policy A7 also requires the 'Opportunities' section to explain that the improvement of the station infrastructure at Guildford Station, consistent with the Infrastructure Schedule contained at PSLP Appendix C which specifically includes "Guildford rail station capacity and interchange improvements ... [to be] Network Rail and developer funded". Those improvements proposed and funded by SRG, if approved, will be delivered in the first five years, so the time period should be amended to "between 2019 and post 2034" Where such transport and interchange improvements are to be funded through commercial redevelopment, the viability of such development will be affected as a consequence.

Previously this policy in the 2016 PSLP stated:
"New residential development is required to make the most efficient use of land whilst responding to local character, context and distinctiveness. Residential densities will vary dependent upon the local area context and character and the sustainability of the location. Higher density development will be supported in Guildford town centre."

Policy H1 in the 2017 PSLP has, however, removed the above text.

As a consequence, the preamble which previously made reference to the need to use natural resources, such as land wisely, and which recognised that the efficient use of land is "essential", has also been removed.

It is unclear what the justification is for removing this policy guidance given that making effective use of land, particularly that which is previously-developed, is entirely consistent with the NPPF (paragraph 17). Similarly, the removal of this policy guidance is at odds with the priority (stated in the Spatial Vision) to direct new residential to existing brownfield sites by making best use of previously-developed land in order to avoid the use of greenfield sites.

If GBC is serious about these objectives, this policy guidance should be re-instated.

Policy H2: Affordable Homes

The 2017 PSLP Policy H2 remains inconsistent with the NPPF and is unsound because the policy itself does not expressly deal with development viability and deliverability, notwithstanding this is addressed within the reasoned justification to the policy (at paras 4.2.34 to 4.2.44).

The latter (4.2.40) recognises that there may be some circumstances where abnormal costs would make scheme delivery unviable and that, where developers demonstrate to the Council's satisfaction that providing the amount of affordable housing required by this policy would not be economically viable, they will accept a reduction in the overall number of affordable homes.

The draft policy continues to rely upon the 2011 Planning Obligations SPD which indicates that, where it is not viable for a development to meet all the requirements of this SPD (i.e. including affordable housing), a flexible approach will be taken by the Council. We consider the approach to be taken where proposed developments- for whatever reason- are found to be unable to support affordable housing at the prescribed 40% level, should be addressed in the policy itself, given the deliverability requirement of the NPPF.

Policy S2: Borough Wide Strategy

Policy S2 sets out the proposed annual housing target. It is proposed that this is reduced from 13,860 dwellings over a plan period 2013-2033 (693 dwellings per annum) to 12,426 dwellings over a plan period 2015-2034 (654 dwellings per annum). This is substantively based on new evidence the GBC has brought forward in respect of the Borough's objectively assessed need (OAN) for housing.

However, it is considered the proposed plan housing requirement in Policy S2 is not 'sound' as it is not positively prepared (being based on a strategy which seeks to meet actual objectively assessed housing needs) and not justified (being based on evidence which is not robust).

We have reviewed the two main documents which form the evidence base for the Council's housing requirement in the Plan; the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) (2015) and the Guildford Addendum (2017). Our review of these documents (appended at Annexe 2 to these representations) demonstrates that:

1. By selectively updating the evidence base for Guildford when it forms part of a wider housing market area (HMA), the assessment raises inevitable issues of consistency within different parts of the HMA, as it draws upon different demographic and economic assumptions in assessing housing need. In this context, it is important to note that no evidence is put forward in the Guildford Addendum to demonstrate that its new, lower OAN figure will not have an impact on the rest of the HMA; and

2. The SHMA and its Addendum do not reflect the guidance set out in the PPG, particularly with regard to market signals and the likelihood of any uplift improving affordability. The Waverley Local Plan Inspector has recently established that uplift for headship rates (as put forward in the SHMA and addendum) is insufficient, and our analysis shows that an uplift which brings the OAN to a level of circa. 700-750 dwellings per annum is both realistic (in terms of growth rates achieved in comparable areas) and could be expected to improve affordability. It would also help to increase the supply of affordable housing. Once the need for student accommodation is factored in, the full OAN would amount to c.725-775 dpa.

For the above reasons, we consider that draft policy S2 is unsound because the OAN figure used (and subsequent housing requirement in the PSLP, which seeks to meet the OAN) is not in fact the full OAN- is too low. In order to make the plan sound, an increase in the OAN/housing requirement is needed (to c.725-775 dwellings per annum) to ensure that OAN and plan housing requirement reflect the PPG and para 14 of the NPPF.

Furthermore, with respect to Policy S2, we have also reviewed the Land Availability Assessment (LAA) Addendum which has been published alongside the PSLP. The LAA Addendum contains the Council's current position on its five-year housing land supply and concludes it can only demonstrate 2.36 years supply. The shortfall is to be addressed through the adoption of urban sites which are currently allocated to later phases of the plan.
five years" (Footnote 11). This is especially relevant within Guildford Borough Council, where there is a very poor track record of approving major residential development schemes[1].

Excluding sites without planning permission the five-year housing land supply is argued to be a low as 1.47 years (based on our OAN of 775).

On the above basis, we consider that there is a 'serious and significant' shortfall in the Council's five year housing land supply. This should be explicitly addressed in Policy S2, which currently does not refer to expected housing supply with the first five years of the plan period. Accordingly, and alongside our concerns regarding the OAN/housing requirements, we consider that Policy S2 is unsound.

[1] Department of Communities and Local Government figures show that 47% of major residential applications were approved by GBC, compared to the average in England of 81%, in the year ending March 2017.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Vision and objectives

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In defining a Spatial Vision for Guildford, in particular how best to meet housing need, regard should be given to the February 2017 Housing White Paper. The advice given to local authorities in the White Paper states that:

"... the Government asks local authorities to be as ambitious and innovative as possible to get homes built in their area. All local authorities should develop an up-to-date plan with their communities that meets their housing requirement (or, if that is not possible, to work with neighbouring authorities to ensure it is met), decide applications for development promptly and ensure the homes they have planned for are built out on time. It is crucial that local authorities hold up their end of the bargain. Where they are not making sufficient progress on producing or reviewing their plans, the Government will intervene. And where the number of homes being built is below expectations, the new housing delivery test will ensure that action is taken." (Executive Summary) (our emphasis)

It is evident therefore that local authorities should be "ambitious" in making a contribution to the need to increase housing delivery. However, the White Paper also recognises that local authorities should maintain "existing strong protections for the Green Belt, and clarifying that Green Belt boundaries should be amended only in exceptional circumstances when local authorities can demonstrate that they have fully examined all other reasonable options for meeting their identified housing requirements" but at the same time "making more land available for homes in the right places, by maximising the contribution from brownfield and surplus public land." (Step 1: List of Proposals)

Although the draft Spatial Vision confirms that the preferred location for new residential is on existing brownfield sites we note that only 3,000 dwellings (previously 2,800 dwellings in the 2016 PSLP) of the total 12,426 dwellings (previously 13,860 dwellings in the 2016 PSLP) required over the plan period up to 2034 are in the urban areas. This means that despite this stated objective 76% of the new residential is allocated outside of the urban areas. The significant majority of proposed housing in Guildford will therefore not be able to take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services that are provided in urban area or help to reduce the need to travel and offer alternative modes of transport to the private car.

This remains inconsistent with the emphasis placed on encouraging the effective use of brownfield land contained in the NPPF (paras 17 and 111) and the encouragement given “to ‘boost significantly’ the delivery of housing (para 47).

We consider that significantly greater emphasis needs to be incorporated in the Vision to reflect the Government’s national policy imperative contained in the Housing White Paper as identified above. Whilst recognising the challenge of accommodating significant levels of housing within Guildford we would suggest that, as a matter of principle, the Vision should strongly encourage opportunities to maximise residential development within the Town Centre. This will help to ensure that the need to take ‘greenfield’ or Green Belt land is minimised.

We would suggest that this approach would more accurately and appropriately reflect Government green belt policy, which at paragraph 84 of the NPPF indicates that:

"When drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development. They should consider the consequences for sustainable development of channelling development towards urban areas inside the Green Belt boundary, towards towns and villages inset within the Green Belt or towards locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary."

We consider that the Vision should be more strongly expressed to espouse this principle, rather than simply suggesting that existing brownfield sites are the "preferred location". We would therefore suggest, to ensure consistency with national policy and plan soundness, that the following text (underlined) should be added to the third paragraph of the Spatial Vision as follows:

"The plan provides for the delivery of 12,426 additional homes by 2034. As the preferred location for this development is on existing brownfield sites in the urban areas, in particular highly accessible locations within Guildford town centre, opportunities to maximise residential development and make best use of land in these locations must be taken. Over 3,000 units are proposed in the urban areas which take advantage of the existing infrastructure and services, reduce the need to travel and offer alternative modes of transport to the private car......"

In addition given the importance of the Guildford Railway Station within the town centre in terms of being a strategic development site which will improve station facilities, provide a new urban quarter and deliver a significant level of housing we would suggest that specific reference should be made to this site within the Spatial Vision text.

An additional sentence should be added to the text of the Spatial Vision after the paragraph that also deals with the North Street site to read:

"The redevelopment of the Guildford Railway Station site will deliver significant station improvements and assist in increasing station capacity, whilst making a major contribution to meeting housing need on a brownfield site in a highly sustainable location within the town centre."

Part 2: Sites - Policy A13
As stated above, TCG is the owner of the Site allocated under Policy A13 for approximately 100 homes (Use Class C3) which has been the subject of pre-application discussions with your Officers for the redevelopment of the Site to provide residential and / student accommodation.

On behalf of TCG, we support the principle of the Policy which confirms the acceptability of the removal of the industrial use at the Site and the replacement with residential. However, we object to the land use intent of the Policy as we consider that the allocation should not be solely for residential use. The Site should instead be allocated for residential (Use Class C3) and / student accommodation (Sui Generis).

Student accommodation is considered to be an entirely appropriate use given the Site’s proximity to the Railway Station, the Town Centre and in particular it’s easy walking distance to the University Campus. The Site’s constraints (in terms of access, irregular shape not lending itself well for employment use), the Site’s surrounding uses (including student accommodation adjacent to the Site), the nature of the forthcoming uses and the transition occurring in the area also underline its suitability for both residential and student accommodation. This is recognised within supporting text of Policy A13 which highlights the changing character in the area from primarily industrial to residential (including student accommodation).

TCG has considered their options for the Site and concluded that residential and / student accommodation also represents a deliverable and viable development opportunity and as such, seeks that Policy A13 is amended to include the allocation for residential (Use Class C3) and / student accommodation (Sui Generis).

It is important to reference Paragraph 4.2.7 of the emerging Local Plan which confirms that any additional student accommodation built over and above projected need will count towards the general housing requirement. As such the provision of student accommodation (regardless of whether it is meeting an identified need or not) will relieve pressure on the housing market in a location that is entirely appropriate for such a land-use.

Accordingly the emerging Local Plan should be updated to reflect these comments within Policy E3 and Policy A13.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Representation
Part 1: Policy E3 - Employment Policy

Policy E3 of the emerging Local Plan considers employment capacity. This policy protects employment floorspace within the Borough, this includes Strategic Employment Sites, Locally Significant Employment Sites and existing employment sites that are not specifically allocated for employment use. This could potentially apply to the existing Site given the historic and present employment use which remains on part of the Site.

The Policy sets a requirement for a 12 month active and comprehensive marketing period for the current employment use of the site if it is proposed to change the use of the existing employment site. TCG objects to this Policy as it adds unnecessary barriers for the redevelopment of existing employment sites that are more suited for alternative uses.

Sites that are in an existing employment use, but allocated within the emerging Local Plan for an alternative use, should not be protected by this policy and subject to the requirement of a 12 month marketing period as the site allocation confirms the acceptability of the site for the alternative use. In this regard, the Evidence Base’s identification of the Site for alternative use should offer sufficient justification to override the submission of any further suitability evidence. As such, Policy E3 should be amended to exclude the marketing requirement for existing employment sites allocated for an alternative use.
within the Local Plan. The third bullet point of Policy E3 relating to employment floorspace outside designated employment sites should be reworded as follows (our additions):

‘Employment floorspace will be protected in line with latest needs assessment and the loss be resisted outside designated employment sites, unless the site is allocated for an alternative use. Change of use will only be acceptable if evidence is provided of active and comprehensive marketing of the site for its current use (offices, research and development or industrial) for a continuous period of at least 12 months. If the site is allocated for an alternative use within the Local Plan, the marketing period is not required’.

This is considered acceptable as it will deliver sites that have been allocated as suitable for alternative uses and required to deliver the overall plan strategy. It will also ensure the deliverability of the site allocation and the important contribution it makes towards the Plan’s residential targets.

The NPPF (Paragraph 22) highlights that planning policy should avoid the long term protection of sites for employment use where there is no reasonable prospect of the site being used for that purpose. Therefore to ensure the emerging Local Plan is consistent with National Policy in terms of being ‘sound’ (NPPF, Paragraph 182), flexibility should be applied to this policy to allow the release of employment sites where there is not considered to be a reasonable prospect of the Site being used for that purpose.

Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites – Representations on behalf of the University of Law

On behalf of our client, the University of Law (the University), we enclose representations to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites consultation which has been issued for public consultation until 24 July 2017.

Background

The University is the UK’s longest established specialist provider of legal education and can trace its origins back to 1876. The University moved to Braboeuf Manor on the Old Portsmouth Road in 1964. The campus comprises teaching accommodation and the University’s main office functions. The site is currently in Use Class D1.

The Guildford campus has expanded since 1964 to provide additional on-site teaching accommodation. Approximately 700 students are currently educated at the Guildford campus and the University intends to increase the number of undergraduate places in law courses as well as introduce new degrees including business at both undergraduate and postgraduate level and law with criminology over the coming years. Accordingly, it is anticipated that the number of undergraduate and international students at the University will increase over the coming years. Both cohorts expect universities to provide student accommodation.

At present all the University students live off-site. The University does not own its own accommodation but instead has an arrangement with a number of private landlords who are able to offer some accommodation i.e. rooms in a shared house. The quality, type, extent and location of accommodation available in Guildford does not adequately provide for the needs of the University and is severely hampering its ability to attract students and grow in the future. These issues are exacerbated by the high cost of living in Guildford and raising expectations of the standard of accommodation required by students across the UK. It is vitally important that the University students have access to quality accommodation on-campus in the future and therefore the University welcomes the site allocation for student accommodation in response to the submission to the Council’s Call for Sites in January 2015 (Annex 2).

Representations were submitted on behalf of the University to the Proposed Submission Local Plan in July 2016 which welcomed the proposed site allocation on its campus (Policy A33) and inset part of the site from the Green Belt; but raised concerns regarding the height constraints placed on the site allocation essentially limiting development to two storeys. We therefore welcome the revision of the site allocation wording to address these concerns and require future development to have “significant regard to height of buildings with specific regard to the setting of the Grade II listed Braboeuf Manor.” It is considered that this will provide the University with the flexibility to deliver a viable student accommodation scheme whilst ensuring it is appropriate within this sensitive site context.

However, we have further comments on the student numbers specified in the policy wording and site location. We expand on this below.

Student Numbers

By way of background, West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (2015) identifies that the number of students in the borough increased by 4,116 students between 2001 and 2011, of which 3,710 were full time students (excluding 16-17 year olds) equating to a 53% increase. Of this growth 1,329 students (32%) chose to live in halls of residents or other communal establishments, whereas 2,274 lived in the wider housing market area (55%). Students are therefore placing additional pressure on the housing market contributing to acute demand in housing and associated high rental costs for private rented accommodation. This is further exacerbated by the undersupply of housing recognised in the SHMA between 2001 and 2015 relative to the planned need of 419 dwellings per annum.

The provision of on-site student accommodation for the University would therefore contribute to alleviating this pressure on the housing market. Indeed, para. 4.2.18 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan states that “to minimise the pressure on the existing housing stock it is important that new accommodation is provided to meet any significant increase in full time Guildford-based students.”

Since the Proposed Submission Local Plan consultation, the wording of Policy A33 in relation to the University of Law site has been amended to specifically allocate the site for 112 student bedspaces. We understand that this number has been established based on the Council’s assumption on a reasonable level of development within the Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), rather than an assessment of need. It does not appear to have been based upon a detailed assessment of what the site might be able to accommodate in design terms.

Nearly all undergraduate law course providers make accommodation available for first years and most have accommodation for international post-graduate students. In order for it to compete, the University must offer a similar provision. The University is anticipating a considerable expansion of student numbers over the coming years through the introduction of new courses. Based on current projections the total number of students at the campus is anticipated to rise from 713 to 948 students by 2021(see Annex 1), equating to a 33% increase in student numbers which would contribute to increased pressure on the local housing market. Of this, 108 will be undergraduate and international students who will expect on-site student accommodation (see Table 1). However this does not take account of the introduction of the new undergraduate business degree which the University expects to commence in the coming years. Based on the University’s student number predictions for this course, by 2021 there would be a bed space need of approximately 159 bedspaces to accommodate the first year business undergraduates. The allowance for a higher number of bedspaces is therefore necessary to support the expansion and growth of the University, particularly with regards to the introduction of the new undergraduate business degrees.
The proposed policy should be flexibly prepared to enable detailed site capacity to establish the level of development the site can accommodate in design terms for discussion with the Council at the planning application stage. This approach would be consistent with NPPF para. 14 which encourages local planning authorities to positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area. Indeed, draft Policy H1(5) states that “purpose built student accommodation for full time higher education Guildford based students will be encouraged on campus locations where appropriate” (our emphasis added). It is considered that this will provide the Council with sufficient control over the quantum of development on the site with the onus on the applicant to demonstrate that any level of student accommodation proposed in a subsequent planning application is acceptable from a design perspective, particularly in terms of the impact on the AONB.

Furthermore, the University is concerned that limiting the number of bedspaces to 112 could have implications on the viability of future student accommodation schemes. Paragraph 173 of the NPPF identifies that careful attention should be paid to viability to ensure that plans are deliverable. Therefore sites should not be subject to such policy burdens that their ability to be developed viably is threatened. Given that the scheme is still emerging, it is considered that the site allocation should be flexible in its wording to ensure that a viable scheme can be established. The specification of 112 bedspaces in the allocation could be unreasonably restrictive on future development schemes and should be removed to allow and appropriate and justifiable level of accommodation to come forward that will meet future need.

Consequently, it is not considered necessary to identify a specific number of bedspaces within the site allocation itself. Accordingly, we suggest that the policy wording is returned to its previous iteration to state:

Site Location

The site location map appended to the site allocation identifies the development as appropriate within the car park to the north west corner of the University Campus. This reflects the positioning of the most recent schemes for future student accommodation. Nevertheless, the scheme for student accommodation on site is still emerging. Accordingly, it is important that the site allocation is sufficiently flexible to allow potential changes to the scheme in future, including a slightly amended layout, if required. The proposals would be appropriately assessed as part of the planning application process in terms of ecological, visual and heritage impact. Consequently, it is considered that the site allocation map should include the whole campus as subject to the site allocation, in line with that submitted as part of the Call for Sites Form submitted in January 2015 (appended to this submission for reference).

Conclusion

The University has continued plans for expansion including the increase of undergraduate and postgraduate students and the provision of on-site accommodation is vitally importance to support this. Whilst the site allocation for student accommodation is strongly supported, the specification of 112 bedspaces raises considerable concern. Para. 4.2.18 identifies that new accommodation should be provided to meet significant increases in student numbers and it is considered that the site allocation in its current form will not enable the University to deliver this. Draft Policy H1(5) provides the Council with sufficient control on the quantum of the development through the planning application process to ensure acceptability. Similarly, the location of development would also be rigorously assessed as part of the planning application. Accordingly the proposed restrictions in the policy itself are unnecessary.
Land to the South of New Pond Road, Farncombe

The land to the South of New Pond Road was previously allocated for development via the Guildford Draft Local Plan Strategies and Sites document. The land covered by this previous allocation falls within different land ownerships. The western part of the allocation is being promoted by Countryside Properties (UK) Ltd. The eastern part of the allocation is being promoted by BlackOnyx Land Promotions Guildford Ltd. There are two residential properties within separate ownership at the centre of the previous allocation.

Countryside Properties and BlackOnyx are collaborating to bring forward the development of the land to the South of New Pond Road in a co-ordinated and comprehensive manner.

Although separate representations have been submitted, there is recognition of the need to take account of each other's proposals.

If the Borough Council are minded following the current round of consultation to reinstate the previous draft allocation at New Pond Road, we would confirm our intention to work together to ensure that the site is deliverable, ensuring that housing delivery through the plan-making process is achieved through a reliable supply of land for housing over the entirety of the plan period.

Countryside Properties and BlackOnyx will continue to co-operate in the delivery of the wider site and promote its identification as a residential allocation in the emerging Guildford Local Plan.

| We are pleased to see that a requirement of this policy is that the ‘design responds positively to the changing character of this area, whilst being sensitive to the corridor of the River Wey’. However, again the bullet points listed in opportunities should all be reflected as requirements of the redevelopment of the site. |

| In addition, the criteria listed above for Policy A9 would also be applicable to the redevelopment of other sites along the river frontage of Walnut Tree Close and therefore a more detailed set of design principles should be included with this and other site specific policies. |

The same comments apply for this site as for A13. Specifically in both cases, as well as site A9, we note that no mention is made for the desire for these sites to include large areas of green space fronting the Navigations as part of a wider linear park that was original set out in the Town Centre Masterplan document. The concept of a new riverside community park was, and is, supported by the National Trust, particularly the benefits this could bring to enhancing the immediate setting of the Navigations and the opportunity it would provide for more people to access, appreciate and understand the historic significance of the Navigations. It is disappointing to see that such concepts and opportunities developed through the Town Centre Masterplan process are being lost through this iteration of the local plan.

<td>This policy currently makes no reference to the fact that it is sited within the visual setting of the Navigations and the River Wey Conservation Area. The Trust has provided detailed comments separately on the proposed Clay Lane Link Road proposals that are already being progressed, including the current planning application. However, we are disappointed that no consideration has been drawn out in the policy to the need for new development to have regard to the impact on the wider setting of the Navigations from, inter alia, intrusive lighting, increased pollution, noise from vehicular traffic and intensity of use, visual intrusion (from the scale, height, and massing of new development), light pollution, increased risk of flooding and impact on the water table. Given the facilities intended to be delivered on this site allocation, we would suggest that the policy seeks a comprehensive phased approach to redevelopment in line with an approved Masterplan that delivers the priorities listed in the policy, including the additional considerations listed above in respect of the River Wey, alongside more detailed urban design principles as appropriate to the different elements of the site allocation.</td>

This is one of the largest site allocations proposed in the local plan, seeking deliver approximately 2000 homes, employment floorspace, local retail centre, new schools and community facilities, yet it is located within the greenbelt, includes an area of ancient woodland, and borders a Site of Nature Conservation Importance. The site also closely abuts the edge of the Grade II registered Clandon Park Historic Park and Garden. The importance of the landscape was principally recognised as an eighteenth century landscape park by Lancelot ‘Capability’ Brown, although the subsequent late nineteenth century gardens advised by William Andrews Nesfield are also noted.

Whilst the two sites are physically separated by the railway line, the scale, massing height and layout of the development on this site, including the desire for a new railway station, will need to have due regard to the neighbouring historic landscape and the impact on the setting of this valuable heritage asset.

We would also question the approach and detail of the policy wording given the scale of development envisaged. We are concerned at the limited inclusion of any urban design principles or considerations for such a strategic site allocation.

As set out above, the National Trust is an important landowner within the Surrey Hills AONB and as an organisation we nationally support the ongoing protection and enhancement of the Country’s protected landscapes be they National Parks or AONBs.

We are therefore concerned about the proposed site allocation at Blackwell Farm which we understand was recommended in a recent Landscape Character Assessment to be included within the AONB in Natural England’s Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review.

The site allocation will effectively extend the built of area of Guildford, highly visible from the A31 and new access road, having an impact on the setting of the AONB. We believe this allocation should be removed from the draft Local Plan until such time as the Natural England Boundary Review process has been concluded.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
As set out in our previous consultation response, the National Trust objects to the proposal to remove the Law College / Mount Brown sites from the Green Belt to enable redevelopment. This site lies within the AONB / AGLV and within the St Catherine’s Conservation Area. This site is close to the River Wey and is highly visible heading downstream from Shalford to Guildford. The redevelopment of this site would have a potentially major impact on the amenity of the River Wey and the setting of the River Wey Conservation Area, the AONB, the St Catherine’s Conservation Area and the setting of the St Catherine’s Scheduled Ancient Monument. The site makes a significant contribution to the Green Belt and lying on the periphery of the urban area it is crucially important to ensure it remains essentially open in character. Its removal is therefore not in accordance with paragraph 85 of the NPPF.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

This site also abuts the River Wey and Godalming Navigations Conservation Area yet no reference to the consideration of the Conservation Area is made in the policy which is again very disappointing. This part of the Navigations passes through medieval hay meadows, meads and flood plain. It is characterised by its openness and is therefore highly susceptible to a change in character resulting from the redevelopment of this site.

The Trust will seek the preservation and enhancement of important views out of and into Navigations, as well as the preservation and enhancement of the strong sense of openness, natural landscape character and waterway atmosphere at this point along the Navigations.

The draft policy should be updated to address the following considerations:

- The height and scale of new buildings on this site must have regard to the visual setting of the Navigations;
- New buildings must be well set-back from the Navigations, unless historical precedent dictates otherwise;
- New parking and loading areas must not be located adjacent to the Navigations;
- The planting screen between any new development and the Navigations must be strengthened and managed for the long term;
- New building materials and colours must be visually compatible with the rural character of the Navigations;
• New elevations facing the Navigations must be well-articulated, varied in design and respect the site’s historical associations with the Navigations;
• Lighting must not overspill into the waterway environment;
• The existing footpath alongside the Navigations must be retained and surfacing improved to provide improved access for all along the river frontage;
• New development must not result in an increased risk of flooding or an adverse impact on the water table or destabilise the banks of the Navigations.

We wish to continue to be consulted on planning applications on these sites and any others affecting the River Wey.

In respect of All Sites along the Navigations the National Trust will continue to seek to ensure there is:

• a consistency and cohesive design of riverside landscaping, including materials, signage, street furniture and fencing;
• detailed consideration of appropriate materials and surface treatment of the public realm, particularly the towpath, reflecting the historic character of that part of the Navigations to avoid over urbanisation;
• well maintained and visually attractive boundary structures;
• the removal/ avoidance of any visual intrusion into the Navigations from car parking and loading areas;
• no building of structures, whether temporary or permanent, which could de-stabilise the banks of the Navigations;
• appropriate lighting which does not overspill into the waterway environment urbanising the character of the area;
• Opportunities for protection and enhancement of nature conservation along the riverside.

As set out at the start of this letter, we have again appended a copy of the Trust’s ‘Principles for development affecting the River Wey Corridor in Guildford Town Centre’ which we would urge the Council to formally endorse in Local Plan policy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We note that this site allocation has been significantly reduced in area from the previous consultation document which is a positive step forward and welcomed by the National Trust, however, the area to the north is largely green field and open, falling within the setting of the River Wey Navigations.

The Trust will therefore continue to ensure that the special character of the landscape and views are protected or improved in line with Policy G11 of the Local Plan. We therefore request that the ‘requirements’ for the redevelopment of the site are updated to not just require a ‘sensitive design, siting and form of development, given the edge of village/semi-rural location’ but also that the design has due regard to the setting and amenity of the River Wey and the Conservation Area.

We wish to continue to be consulted on future versions of this document and any planning applications on the sites discussed above, or any others, affecting National Trust land and property.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As set out above, the ‘opportunities’ listed under this policy really should be ‘requirements’ of any redevelopment of this site. All development on this site must have particular regard to the corridor of the River Wey Conservation Area. Particularly with regard to scale, height and massing of new buildings in juxtaposition with the neighbouring historic Billings Warehouse buildings which provide the back drop to the Navigations.

The Station has been identified as a major gateway to Guildford within the Town Centre Masterplan, with plans already being progressed for new development options. The draft Masterplan document acknowledges that proposals in the river corridor, Station and around Bedford Wharf and North Street will require a clear rationale in relation to building heights, as these sites are highly visible not only from within the Navigations but also across the Navigations from other historic viewpoints. This should be made clear within the site allocations for the station sites.

The National Trust has commented separately on the current proposals for the station (under planning application reference 14/P/02168) and remains concerned regarding the scale and massing of the proposed buildings in relation to the existing three storey buildings (The Billings Warehouse complex) which face the Navigations and which define the visual setting of the Conservation Area. The transition in building heights between the proposed development sites and those existing buildings which at present define the visual setting and context to the Wey Navigation Conservation Area needs further consideration and this draft policy provides the opportunity for the Council to clarify this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This site abuts the River Wey, towards Dapdune Wharf on the opposite banks of the River. The ‘opportunities’ listed should all form fundamental ‘requirements’ of the policy. In addition to bullet point 3 under ‘opportunities’, more detail on design principles should be included to guide the redevelopment of this site to ensure no adverse impact upon the Conservation Area and setting of the River Wey.

The Trust would seek the following points to be reflected in the policy in respect of the redevelopment of this site:

- Proposals for any increase in building height on existing developed sites adjacent to the Navigations or within the visual setting of the Navigations will be resisted – at this point in the river the character is beginning to become more open and less built up.
- Proposals which bring buildings or other structures closer to the Navigations (unless historical precedent dictates otherwise) will be resisted.
• The redevelopment should deliver increased screening of moving vehicles, parking, loading areas and access roads from the Navigations.
• Proposals for development which are likely to result in an increased risk of flooding or an adverse impact on the water table will be resisted.
• The redevelopment should seek to ensure that existing riverside trees are maintained.

The National Trust fully supports this policy. However since this is the key policy dealing with design in the plan we suggest that the wording of the first and fifth bullet points in the last section is amended to:

All developments will

• respond meaningfully and sensitively to the site, its characteristics and constraints, and the layout, grain, massing and height of surrounding buildings taking into account the context in which they are sited.
• Be expected to use art, materials and landscaping of a nature appropriate to their setting.

We support this policy. In terms of detailed policies for the protection and enhancement of the historic environment we understand that these will be prepared as part of the ‘Development Management Policies’ document and we look forward to contributing to this, particularly regarding continued protection for the Corridor of the River Wey, which we believe is a useful and important policy. We also look forward to assisting with the preparation of any Conservation Area Appraisals that the Council is undertaking which include or affect National Trust property, such as the River Wey, West and East Clandon and West Horsley.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As highlighted within draft Policy D1, we consider that it is fundamental to include appropriate landscaping within the design criteria of this policy. We too often see developments adjoining areas of protected or historic countryside whereby great attention has been paid to the scale, form, massing and materials of new buildings but when the development is implemented a completely inappropriate landscaping scheme is approved (often involving inappropriate planting species completely at odds with the adjoining landscape) which undoes the hard work undertaken in respect of built form as the urbanising impact from inappropriate landscaping, in some cases, can be just as stark.

We would strongly request that the first bullet point of the policy is updated as follows:

Ensures that the layout, scale, form, massing, height of buildings and structures, materials and landscaping relate to the site context and its surroundings.

Vision 2015

We support the draft Vision for the town centre and Policy E7. As owners of the river bed and majority of towpath (but not adjoining land) and as the navigation authority we believe there is great potential to enhance the visual, amenity, historic and nature conservation value of the riverside and to integrate it more fully within the town centre. The implementation of this policy needs to be carried through in the development of proposals, and the determination of applications, for key town centre sites.

We note the Borough will continue to work on its Town Centre Masterplan document and the National Trust, as a key stakeholder, look forward to working with the Council in contributing to this document.

The Trust has prepared ‘Principles for development affecting the River Wey Corridor in Guildford Town Centre’ which consists of 10 bullet points. These were attached to our previous representations and are appended to this letter. We believe that, in line with the emphasis in the Plan on protecting and enhancing the historic environment (Policy D3), on Green and Blue Infrastructure (Policy I4) and because of the importance of the Navigations within the Town Centre, the Council should consider endorsing these key principles and append them to the Town Centre Policy or add them in the supporting text. Site specific considerations for each site allocation have also been highlighted for inclusion in various policies below. The National Trust considers these principles fundamental to the protection of the setting of the River Wey Conservation Area within the town centre.

All land and buildings owned by the National Trust in the centre of Guildford has been declared inalienable under the National Trust Act of 1907 and enjoy special protection.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy ID4
We support this policy in principle and the Trust welcomes the specific reference to the River Wey and our planning guidelines in the supporting text. However, the Trust’s main focus is less about the type of development, residential or commercial, but that any development is mindful of and respects the historic character of the river corridor in terms of scale, design, materials, lighting, location and impact on the water table and the structural integrity of the Navigations.

We note from Appendix E that the Council are proposing that the adoption of Policy I4 will supersede Policy G11 relating specifically to the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations. The National Trust object to this approach and will strongly resist the loss of Policy G11.

We request that either Policy I4 is updated to include the National Trusts Planning Guidelines or the policy considerations listed in the current Local Plan Policy G11, namely that:

“Development within the River Wey Navigations corridor, as defined on the Proposals Map, will be permitted provided that:

• It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest;
• The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved;
• Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved;
• Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations.
• The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved”.

Alternatively, reference to Policy G11 being superseded is removed from Appendix E, leaving Policy G11 in place and extant, until such time as the Council commence work on its Development Management Policies Document. The Trust would be happy to work with the Council to ensure that a suitably worded River Wey Navigations specific policy is included in this document to ensure its long term protection and enhancement as a key heritage asset not just to Guildford but also reflecting its national significance as one of the earliest waterways to be made navigable which, when combined with the Godalming Navigation, currently forms the most southerly operational navigations of the inland waterway network in Britain.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The National Trust own and manage approximately 3932.71 ha of land designated within the Surrey Hills AONB. The distinctive character and natural beauty of Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONBs) make them some of the most special and loved places in England, which is why the National Trust will continue to champion for the ongoing protection and enhancement of the Countries protected landscapes.

The NPPF (Paragraph 115) makes it clear that “Great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty in National Parks, the Broads and Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, which have the highest status of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty”.

The landscape and natural environment of Guildford is one of its greatest assets which should be protected and enhanced through local plan policy. We are concerned about the wording of Policy P1 and the strength of protection such wording will deliver in practice. No specific mention has been made to the ‘Great Weight’ that government policy requires, which we consider needs to be made explicit in any Local Plan policy.

We do not consider that the criteria set out in the draft policy are particularly robust and consider that the policy could be reworded to more closely reflect the policies in the AONB Management Plan and deliver a more consistent policy approach to that taken within neighbouring authorities with adopted local plan policies, who also manage development within the AONB/AGLV.

Activities and developments outside the boundaries of AONBs that have an impact within the designated area are also covered by the statutory ‘duty of regard’, therefore, the draft policy should be amended to make it explicit that development that would adversely impact the setting of the AONB, through either harm to public views into and from the AONB or by some other impact, will not be permitted.

Whilst we acknowledge that Natural England are to undertake a review of the AONB boundary, much of the Areas of Great Landscape Value (AGLV) are identified as Surrey AONB Candidate Areas, therefore, the same policy principles should apply to AGLV as to AONB until such time as the review has been undertaken. Areas of Great landscape Value are an incredibly important buffer to the AONB as well as having their own high quality landscape character and the National Trust do not wish to see such protections undermined.

development should be distributed due regard should be given to the retention of the Green Belt to ensure that communities remain separated and to prioritise the re-use of brown field over green field sites.

Settlement Boundaries

West Horsley

As stated in our previous representations to the Local Plan we object to the removal of West Horsley (south) from the Green Belt. West Horsley is smaller in scale, and very different in form and character from East Horsley and its rural nature and proximity to Hatchlands Park are such that we believe it should be retained within the Green Belt. A future aspiration should be to extend northward the current boundary of the Surrey Hills AONB to wash over Clandon, Hatchlands, West and East Horsley.

Send

We object to the removal of the village of Send from the Green Belt. The scale, form and open, rural character of the village is such that it makes a significant contribution to the openness of the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We understand that the NPPF is underpinned by a presumption in favour of sustainable development and we note that Policy S1 largely replicates that set out in the NPPF. However, we believe that the policy, as currently worded, fails to include a fundamental part of the NPPF policy, namely Footnote 9, and we would urge the Council to amend the latter part of the policy accordingly.

Paragraph 14 of the NPPF makes it clear that for both plan making and decision taking, where the development plan is absent, silent or relevant policies are out-of-date, granting permission unless:

- any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or
- specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.

In practice this means that, where the development plan is unsatisfactory, planning authorities in areas such as, inter alia, AONBs or Green Belt should apply the NPPF policies on AONBs or Green Belt rather than simply apply the sustainable development principles of the NPPF.

Paragraph 14 of the NPPF with its Footnote 9 in effect transfers the starting point for assessment of planning applications in an AONB for example to paragraphs 115 and (if appropriate) 116. Therefore, for the Local Plan to leave out Footnote 9 (or their own version of it, providing it includes all the areas of constraint listed in the NPPF as a minimum) misleads the decision maker into applying the presumption in favour of development when in fact in some cases, as set out above, such a presumption wouldn’t automatically apply.

Furthermore in relation to the above, we would question whether the Council have understood and had regard to the provisions of Paragraph 14 (and Footnote 9) of the NPPF in the process of developing this local plan. We are not convinced that sufficient justification has been provided for the unsustainably high levels of development proposed for the Borough. It would appear that sites have been allocated in the plan to deliver as a minimum the objectively assessed development figures that have been calculated, without any consideration of Paragraph 14 which requires the Council to plan for objectively assessed need unless specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted (such as, inter alia, AONB, Green Belt, SSSI and areas at risk of flooding). With a significant proportion of the Borough subject to restrictive national planning policies, Paragraph 14 of the NPPF justifies the Council not meeting its objectively assessed development needs.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The National Trust is pleased to comment on the draft submission version of the new Local Plan. As you are aware we own and manage several properties within the Borough including the River Wey and Godalming Navigations, Shalford Mill, Clandon House and Garden, Hatchlands and land at Netley Park, Little Kingswood and Hackhurst Down. These properties are of significant historic, economic, social, environmental, and amenity value.

The National Trust has a statutory obligation to ‘permanently protect places of natural beauty or historic interest for the benefit of the nation’. Therefore, any proposals which affect or could affect the River Wey and Godalming Navigations, Shalford Mill, Clandon House and Garden, Hatchlands and land at Netley Park, Little Kingswood and Hackhurst Down will need to have regard to these statutory obligations.

The National Trust has championed a strong, effective land use planning system in England since the 1920s. We strongly believe that planning exists to serve the public’s present and future interests. A robust system is the best way to guide good development to the right place and to ensure that poorly designed proposals and those in the wrong location don’t get built. We believe that good planning is an essential tool for balancing a variety of land use interests in the pursuit of an overriding public one and for ensuring sustainable futures for the nation’s special places.

VISION

Overall we support the Vision for the future of the borough, however, we consider that the Vision should place greater emphasis on building on, and protecting, the historic, cultural and environmental assets that make Guildford special. Whilst mention is made to the need for all new development in the town centre to respect and enhance the unique setting and historical character of the town, no mention is given to the wider historical assets in the borough, which together with other environmental assets are in large part, the foundation of its success. There is great potential to enhance these assets, not only for the amenity, environmental and cultural benefits this would provide, but also for the economic and social benefits that this would bring. The plan does indicate in some of the strategic objectives that the Borough now intends to take such an approach to protect and enhance heritage assets and designated areas, as well as improve the quality of the built and natural environment and we welcome this, but the intent is not always followed through in terms of detail and, for example, site allocations and proposed settlement boundaries. We believe that protecting and enhancing the environmental, historic and cultural assets of the Borough should be made explicit as a fundamental part of the Vision statement, not just within the Strategic Objectives.

I am therefore concerned that it is possible to find ‘special circumstances’ to justify building on protected Green Belt areas and especially in Send?

I am very concerned about the proposed ‘in-setting’ of Send which will mean that the green areas within our rural village will become much more vulnerable to development as they no longer have Green Belt protection? The green areas within Send characterise the rural aspect of the village and to develop them could spoil it!

I object – When our children were at secondary school (George Abbot School) there was often a real problem getting them to school in the morning due to heavy traffic. At peak times Send Road (A247) and the A3 are often congested and sometimes completely gridlocked due to roadworks or simply the sheer amount of traffic.

It should be noted that as well as being a cut through for those who want to access the A3 and M25 from Woking, Send is also the cut through to Woking particularly the station in the other direction. The mini roundabout at one end of Send at Old Woking really does struggle to cope with the traffic going both ways!
It is proposed that just five sites (A25 A35 A42 A43 A44) will provide nearly half of Guildford’s new homes – these sites are in Burpham, Clandon, Send, Lovelace and Horsleys. I am therefore very concerned about how a road system already under such pressure can cope with any more traffic resulting from all these new homes?

I object – The proposal to build additional housing on the Clockbarn site will only add to the traffic and poor access problems in the very narrow single track Tannery Lane with dangerous junctions at both ends. There is already planning permission for 63 houses to be built next to Tannery House, a new Narrowboat Basin is currently being built with access on to Tannery Lane and the proposal to make Send Business Centre into a Strategic Employment Site would mean increased traffic accessing this site as well!

I have often thought that the Clockbarn site with its large derelict greenhouse could be better used as a car park for the village (which has very little parking for its village centre and recreation ground) or even could have a few properties built on it classed as affordable or social housing to help those who cannot afford to live in the village once they have left home. However I feel the number of 60 houses far exceeds what is acceptable on the Clockbarn site.

I object – My previous objections to the building on this Green Belt site as stated in my 2016 response are still relevant. The addition of 8 Travelling Show People plots are a concern to me as surely they have very large vehicles and this site will be unsuitable for them due to poor access from the very narrow lanes, Kiln Lane and Burnt Common Lane? Would they want to be located in the middle of a housing estate with 400 houses and is there a proven demand for these plots?

POLICY A58 Land at Burnt Common, London Road

I object – Originally it could have been a good use of this land at Burnt Common to be used for industrial or warehousing, however I have serious concerns that the allocation of a ‘minimum’ of 7,000 sq m of employment floor-space makes it open to further development in the future. I understood that there had been a decline in the need for land for industrial use? (See ‘Employment Land Need Assessment’ 2017).

We already have a very busy main road through Send, very congested at peak times and by having another site which large HGV have to access and may come through via Send Road from Woking, the current proposal on this site is unacceptable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Borough Planners have consistently ignored the views of experts and local people in respect of developments in Burpham. Local flooding has been the consequence of a lack of improved infrastructure when considering planning applications. Congestion and pollution has been exacerbated by poor planning decisions in respect of infill, housing and commercial development and the growth of a local secondary school with its greatly increased catchment area, necessitating the use of busses and domestic vehicles to convey pupils to and from the premises, combined with HGVs servicing the two superstores, has seen pollution levels climb exponentially. This increases demand on an already overburdened primary and secondary health care service.

The apparently planned 'improvements' to access to and from the A3 not only does not improve the situation of congestion and pollution but increases it, to the detriment of the residents and road users. Witness the now frequent congestion on the A3 around the Cathedral area, this backs up the southbound A3 carriageway and road users divert at the 'Merrow and Burpham Interchange' in the mistaken belief that this will improve their journey time. The reality is that the traffic is stationary or very slow moving through Burpham- and thus pollution is increased. To add to this by requiring any new and additional traffic to travel, from proposed developments, to the Northbound A3 [or Slyfield] via Burpham is frankly mindblowingly stupid. All the evidence points to a conclusion that it will increase the deadly effects of pollution and bring gridlock to the local roads.

The 'Improved' two way junction will do nothing to 'improve' the situation on the A3 and A3100. Any plans to extend 'potential' to 'reality' in respect of the B2234 will further increase the level of traffic and pollution. The proposed 'Sustainable Movement Corridor' along the A3100 is clearly an idea that appears 'good' on paper and has been drawn up by someone somewhat distant from the reality of the situation. Vehicles are becoming physically larger, traffic, as illustrated, is becoming heavier and Burpham's local roads are more and more frequently being used by HGVs, particularly, as mentioned, in the servicing of the two Burpham superstores, the road identified is not wide enough to allow two additional lanes for public transport. Is land and property to be compulsory purchased to fulfil this aspect of the plan? I would, however, agree, that in the event of realistically costed plan to build Guildford Tunnel on this part of the A3 - similar to the Hindhead one - then land does NOW need to be identified by way of forward planning. The Local Plan should, in my opinion, also encompass relevant aspects of the Highway Agency's Plans for this major route as it significantly impacts of the community at Burpham.

Let me first comment that the Borough asserts that it is listening to local views. It is clear that this is not the case. It may be hearing the residents views but it is obviously not listening to them, as it appears to have refused all requests for the calculations and assumptions that underpin, for example, the 'Housing Need Figure' to be made public. I am saddened by the apparent lack of transparency and openness in this respect and, reluctantly, I draw the conclusion that the Borough has something to hide.

A respected and independent analysis of the 'Housing Need figure' clearly shows that the Borough has chosen to overestimate that aspect of the plan and a per annum reduction reduction of around 250 new builds would be adequate to meet need. That equates to 7676 homes and not 13,893 over the period. This figure meets the clearly and carefully researched analysis undertaken by a respected national expert and is a reduction of over 6000 - a medium size village - over the period of the plan.

I live off of Clay Lane in Burpham and pass over the A3 daily and witness the stationery traffic south bound towards Guildford twice a day. This traffic has dramatically increased over a relatively short period of time. The issue of the A3 needs to be overcome before thousands of new houses are built. The suggested tunnel under Guildford needs to be thoroughly investigated before houses are built in this area.

In view of flawed new evidence, Guildford’s proposal for more than 12,426 homes (plus a buffer of 1,155 homes) is excessive and will result in needless loss of Green Belt and green character, and increased congestion, that cannot be justified in our heavily constrained borough.

Lack off evidence for housing need numbers which is more than double the previous figure from in 2012.

there is also a disproportionate level of development in one area of the Borough and there is a real lack of detail regarding the specific details of the essential infrastructure. This includes the need to decision regarding the A3 (widening, extra 4 way intersection, tunnel etc) as well as sewage before, for example Gosden Hill can be ear marked for development

I am emailing to object to the Local Plan on the following grounds:

Massive loss of green belt - how will that affect us?

Development of Gosden Hill would double the size of Burpham without providing additional infrastructure

Increased traffic from developments without specific improvements to roads

Gosden Hill should not be developed at all until the proposed A3 tunnel plans have been confirmed.

Burpham has already seen a large increase in traffic due to Aldi - there is no capacity for more.

Sewage flooding is a regular problem in Burpham. Another 2200 homes on Gosden Hill will surely make it worse.

GBC has not explained how they reached the numbers for so much increased housing. The plan for Gosden Hill is disproportionate for the area

Executive Summary

These representations to the proposed submission Guildford Local Plan have been prepared by Dandara Ltd in the context of their interest in promoting the residential development of land to the west of Shere Road in West Horsley.

The housing strategy contained in the draft Local Plan is considered to be unsound due to an overreliance on large-scale, strategic housing sites which cannot deliver new homes until the middle to end of the Plan period due to associated infrastructure delivery burdens. The implication of this is that upon adoption, the Plan would not be able to reinstate a five year housing land supply due to the imbalance of small to medium scale sites able to deliver new housing in the shorter term compared with large-scale, strategic sites. This will exacerbate past rates of housing delivery shortfall, rising unaffordability and suppressed household formation rates. The main points made within the representations include:

- Guildford Borough has historically failed to meet its housing targets resulting in low levels of housing delivery, rising unaffordability and depressed rates of household formation;
- Over the first five years of the new Local Plan period, the Council expects to accrue a housing shortfall of minus 2,019 dwellings;
- In order to be considered effective and positively prepared, the new Local Plan should therefore be seeking to immediately address housing delivery shortfall experienced during the first five years of the Plan period and beyond, proactively boosting the availability and affordability of housing stock across the Borough;
- This strategy should be supplemented by a review of the SHMA to ensure that past trends of suppressed housing supply, increasing unaffordability and depressed household formation rates are being factored into the eventual objectively assessed housing need figure;
- Instead, the housing and spatial strategy of the new Local Plan disproportionately focuses on the delivery of a small number of large-scale, strategic housing allocation sites which will deliver over 50% of total objectively assessed need;
- Due to the scale of these proposed housing allocation sites, they require significant improvements to strategic infrastructure, including highways, before they can be brought forward;
- The Local Plan expects that these strategic housing allocation sites will not begin to deliver new homes until at least 2021/22 which even then is uncertain due to timescales, costs, sources of funding and viability associated with the accompanying strategic infrastructure improvements;
- This strategy, dominated by large-scale and longer-term housing sites is unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply following adoption of the Plan in direct conflict with para. 47 of the NPPF;
- The imbalance of the housing strategy is demonstrated by the Council being required to deliver in excess of 1,100 dpa towards the end of the Plan period, being significantly in excess of the 693 dpa or any observable historic completion rates;
- This disproportionate reliance on such larger-scale and longer-term housing sites fails to address historic under-supply of housing, present rates of unaffordability and absence of a five year housing land supply meaning that the Plan cannot be considered justified as the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives;
- The evidence base underpinning the housing strategy comprises a Green Belt and Countryside Study which includes a range of Potential Development Areas (PDAs) in which development could be located without undermining the five principal purposes of the Guildford Green Belt;
- These PDAs include smaller and medium scale sites, such as land off Shere Road in West Horsley, which would be able to deliver housing in the shorter term to allow Guildford to reinstate a five year housing land supply and to immediately start addressing historic under-delivery and unaffordability;
- The Council has failed to adequately assess the full role that PDAs could play in delivering much needed short term housing supply by incorrectly and selectively applying a Green Belt sensitivity map as a finite constraint for certain sites located within wider, ‘high sensitivity’ parcels;
- This ’macro scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map should not have been used by the Council to justify not assessing previously identified PDAs which were subject to much more robust, site specific assessment at a ‘micro scale’ which confirmed that their development would not undermine the Green Belt purposes of the wider parcel;
- Land to the west of Shere Road is one such PDA which is self-contained, visually and separately distinct from the wider ‘high sensitivity’ parcel and surrounded by existing urban influences such as the main A246 Epsom Road and housing;
• Land to the west of Shere Road was also assessed within the GBCS as being highly sustainable, the second most sustainable site in the Horsleys;
• By incorrectly applying the ‘macro scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map as a finite constraint for some sites and not others, for example Normandy / Flexford is located in a high sensitivity Green Belt parcel but is proposed for allocation for 1,100 new homes, the Council has developed an unsound housing strategy, unable to deliver sufficient housing over the early part of the Plan period;
• The Sustainability Appraisal recommends that the Council carefully considers options which could deliver in excess of OAN by up to 30% and has yet to test a scenario whereby PDAs surrounding existing villages deliver a higher quantum of new homes;
• By reassessing the potential for PDAs to deliver additional housing, the Council may also be able to consider whether they could assist neighbouring Authorities, particularly Woking Borough and the GLA, in delivering unmet need.

Introduction

These representations are submitted by Dandara Ltd in respect of the proposed submission version Guildford Borough Local Plan dated June Dandara Ltd are promoting land located to the west of Shere Road, south of the A246 Epsom Road and east of Wix Hill in West Horsley for residential development. The site measures circa 3.7 ha and comprises two field parcels which are currently used for grazing under licence. A red line site location plan is included alongside these representations and is reproduced in Figure 1 below.

The majority of the site was identified as a Potential Development Area (PDA) within the Guildford Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS) under site reference E4-B and provided with an indicative capacity of 56 new The site was also included within the Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment 2016 (LAA) and provided with site ID 2025. An extract of the GBCS showing the identification of the majority of the site as a PDA is reproduced in Figure 2 below.

These representations will demonstrate that the current proposed submission draft of the Guildford Borough Local Plan is unsound having regard to the four tests set out at 182 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). It will be demonstrated that the Plan could be made sound if the Council robustly assessed the development potential of all PDAs identified in the GBCS. This would then allow the Council to increase their supply of housing within the earlier part of the Plan period, making up for past housing delivery shortfalls, using small and medium sized sites which are available and not considered to contribute to the five principal purposes of the Guildford Green Belt.

Dandara Ltd are one of the largest independently owned developers in the country and specialise in delivering high quality new homes which are inspired by their context and seamlessly integrate into the local Dandara only promotes sites where the intention is to deliver new homes as soon as possible. If allocated for residential development associated with the adoption of a future Local Plan, Dandara Ltd would look to prepare an immediate planning application with the delivery of new homes within 1-2 years of planning permission being granted.

In addition to making representations to the content of the proposed submission Guildford Local Plan, we will also comment where relevant on the following evidence base documents that have been prepared in support of the Plan:

• Guildford Green Belt and Countryside Study (various);
• Local Plan Sustainability Appraisal (2016);
• Land Availability Assessment (2016);
• West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (2015);
• Housing Implementation Strategy 2014;
• Various Topic Papers including Housing Delivery; Duty to Cooperate and Green Belt and the Countryside (2016).

Plan Preparation

Paragraph 151 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires Local Plans to be consistent with the principles and policies set out in the NPPF including the presumption in favour of sustainable development should inform Plan making by positively seeking opportunities to meet the development needs of the Plan area and meet objectively assessed needs unless the adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits when assessed against the NPPF as a whole.

Paragraph 152 draws this advice together by stating “Local Planning Authorities should seek opportunities to achieve each of the economic, social and environmental dimensions of sustainable development, and net gains across all three”. Importantly, policies in Local Plans should seek to deliver the homes and jobs needed in the particular area and plan positively for the development and infrastructure the area requires to meet the objectives, principles and policies of the Paragraph 182 of the NPPF then goes on to explain that when the Local Plan is subject to Examination, the Inspector will consider whether it is found ‘sound’, assessing the following:

1. Positively Prepared – the Plan is based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements including unmet requirements from neighbouring Authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
2. Justified – the Plan should be the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives;
3. Effective – the Plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic policies;
4. Consistent with National Policy – the Plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with policies in the

Site Description

Land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley measures circa 7 ha and is bounded by Epsom Road to the north, Shere Road to the east, Wix Hill to the west and existing housing to the south. The site was previously promoted to the Council under their LAA ‘call for sites’ for residential development comprising circa 56 new homes. A red line site location plan is reproduced below:

The site is located within the Green Belt and immediately to the south of the existing settlement boundary for West The site is surrounded by existing urban influences including the A246 Epsom Road and housing on Wix Hill, Shere Road and a private road immediately to the south. The site does not fall within the Surrey Hills AONB which is located further to the south, with no visual interconnectivity due to intervening residential properties on Shere Road and Jefferies Road. The site does form part of the much wider Surrey Hills Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV). It is important to note that the site is not proposed to be included within the AONB as part of any on-going review into boundaries currently being undertaken by Natural England with specific focus on adjacent AGLV areas.

Green Belt Context

The suitability of the site to accommodate residential development was originally considered in the 2013 ‘Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study’ prepared on behalf of the Council by Pegasus Planning Group. It is important to note that the Green Belt and Countryside Study did not assess the whole of the site being promoted by Dandara Ltd and excluded the smaller of the two field parcels located adjacent to Wix Hill. However, as explained in the Green Belt section of these representations and within the accompanying Technical Note prepared by specialist landscape and Green Belt consultancy Define, this smaller field parcel is considered to display identical landscape and Green Belt characteristics to the wider assessed site.

The site was identified within the Study as falling within ‘Land Parcel E4’ which was considered, as a whole, to “… provide opportunities to accommodate appropriate development without significantly compromising the purposes of the Green Belt” (Volume 1, 20). In specific reference to site ‘E4-B’, the Study described it on pg. 125 as being “… surrounded by defensible boundaries including hedgerows and tree cover following the A246 Epsom Road to the north, hedgerows bordering Shere Road to the east, rising topography and hedgerows bordering residential properties at Wix Hill to the south and west of the PDA”. The Study then assesses nine environmental capacity criteria which are reproduced below:

Land Use - The PDA is currently used for arable farmland;

Topography - The PDAs are located on the lower slopes of the rising escarpment of the North Downs at White Hill. The PDAs are located on slightly sloping topography from the south to north, between approximately 85 and 90 metres AOD.
Landscape Character - The PDA comprises of two pastoral and arable fields located on sloping ground between residential properties on Wix Hill, Shere Road and the A246 Epsom Road. The fields are enclosed by moderate treebelts between the PDA and playing fields to the east, with residential gardens following Shere Road to the south and west of the PDA. Urban influences are generally provided by residential properties on Shere Road to the east and Will Hill to the west of the PDA.

Landscape Value - The PDAs are located within the Surrey Hills AGLV and approximately 0.2km to the north of the AONB.

Nature Conservation - The PDAs are not subject to any statutory or non-statutory nature conservation designations (n.b. SANGS provided at Long Reach Farm and Bens Wood, West Horsley).

Cultural Heritage - The PDAs are not subject to any statutory or non-statutory cultural heritage designations.

Flood Risk - The PDAs are not identified as land at risk from flooding.

Agricultural Land Classification - The PDAs are predominately located on Grade 3 (moderate/good) agricultural land.

Public Rights of Way and Access - The PDAs could potentially be accessed via Shere Road. There are no PROW crossing the PDAs.

As explained in 3.11 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper (2016), following the publication of the original GBCS, an additional Volume III addendum was prepared in response to a Joint Scrutiny Committee review of the evidence base. This followed concerns raised by Councillors and the public regarding the number of Green Belt sites proposed for development in the earlier draft of the Local Plan rather than specific criticisms of the GBCS methodology from statutory consultees.

One of the main outcomes of this review was the production of a Green Belt sensitivity map which included the site, as part of the wider Green Belt assessment parcel E4 as ‘high sensitivity’ Green The production of this additional Green Belt sensitivity map is assessed in more detail in the Green Belt section of these representations.

Having regard to 541 of the LAA (2016), the site has seemingly been rejected for allocation due to “our spatial strategy and site allocations have been considered through the Sustainability Appraisal and this site no longer accords with the proposed spatial strategy in the Local Plan. The site was identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study but is located within high sensitivity Green Belt”.

These representations will demonstrate that the site should have been further considered for development given its identification as a PDA within the

Sustainability

The site is located in an inherently sustainable location, immediately adjacent to the established settlement boundary of West It is located within short walking distance of a variety of local shops and services including a Londis convenience store and dental practice immediately opposite with an ATM, village hall, public house, playground, playing fields and church within a ten minute walk. The adjacent A246 Epsom Road is served by two principal bus routes being the 479 and 478 which provide regular services into Guildford, Epsom and Leatherhead (no. 478 serves Horsley station).

As per Figure 4 below, Horsley railway station is less than a 10 minute cycle and provides train services into Guildford in less than 15 minutes and London Waterloo in an This part of East Horsley provides additional retail facilities and social and community services including banks, cafes, restaurants, post office, hairdressers, butchers, GP surgery and pharmacy. Land to the west of Shere Road in West Horsley is therefore sustainably located to provide ease of access to a variety of shops, services and public transport modes in accordance with para. 30 of the NPPF which states that “in preparing Local Plans, Local Planning Authorities should therefore support a pattern of development which, where reasonable to do so, facilitates the use of sustainable modes of transport”.

The NPPF advises at 84 that “when drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries Local Planning Authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development”. In response, the GBCS assesses the sustainability of each identified PDA and concludes for both West and East Horsley that land to the west of Shere Road is the second most sustainable site looking both at access to social and community services and recreation facilities.
Availability

In accordance with 47 of the NPPF, land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley is deliverable, with no known constraints to development; being available now; promoted by Dandara Ltd for residential development; offering a suitable and sustainable location for development; and being viable, allowing development to be delivered during the early part of the Plan period.

Green Belt and Countryside Study

These representations are accompanied by a Technical Note, prepared by specialist landscape and Green Belt consultancy Define, in respect of the Guildford Borough Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS). This Technical Note assesses in detail the Green Belt evidence base underpinning the proposed submission Local Plan, raising a number of substantive concerns regarding the methodology and particularly the latter production of a macro-scale, Green Belt sensitivity map which has been applied to land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley as a finite constraint despite the site previously having been individually assessed and identified in the GBCS as a Potential Development Area (PDA). Furthermore, other sites proposed for allocation within the draft Plan fall within the same broad high sensitivity Green Belt designation yet are conversely deemed

Parcel Assessment

Volume I of the GBCS explains how Guildford Borough was divided into various assessment parcels which were then tested to understand how each parcel serves the purposes of the Green Para 1.6 expands upon this methodology by stating that “following the identification of parcels of land, such parcels were scored based upon their current adherence or otherwise to the purposes of the Green Belt. In particular, this included the ability to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas, the prevention of neighbouring towns from merging into one another, assistance in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, and the preservation of the setting and special character of historic towns”.

Land to the west of Shere Road in West Horsley is located within Parcel E4 for assessment purposes within the The Study concludes, having assessed the parcel against the five Green Belt purpose tests included at para. 80 of the NPPF, that “land parcels D6, E4 and E5 provide opportunities to accommodate appropriate development without significantly compromising the purposes of the Green Belt”. In order to understand which parts of the wider land parcels are potentially suitable for development without significantly compromising the purposes of the Green Belt, the GBCS goes on to identify individual Potential Development Areas (PDAs) within each wider land parcel.

Para. 1.23 explains that “the Study has demonstrated that there are a number of areas which provide opportunities to appropriately accommodate development within the surroundings of certain villages across the Borough”. The majority of the land falling to the west of Shere Road in West Horsley being promoted for residential development by Dandara Ltd was identified as PDA ‘E4-B’. The full entry for parcel E4 and PDA E4-B is reproduced below, taken from pg. 20 of Volume I of the GBCS.

The GBCS therefore considered the developability of land in the Green Belt based upon the following four principal stages:

Stage One - Sub-division of the Borough into separate land parcels;

Stage Two - Assessing the degree to which each land parcel contributes to the five principal purposes of the Green Belt established within para. 80 of the NPPF;

Stage Three – Following the identification of PDAs within those parcels considered to provide development potential without undermining the principal purposes of the Green Belt, each of the PDAs were assessed from a sustainability perspective including ease of access to shops, services and social and community facilities;

Stage Four - Assessing the environmental capacity of the land parcels to accommodate appropriate development.

Sustainability and Environmental Capacity
Volume V, Appendix XIV of the GBCS considers the sustainability credentials of each PDA based upon a variety of indicators including distance to shops, services and sustainable transport. The assessment is split into two, the first part looking at the proximity of everyday services and the second part looking at the proximity of recreation facilities. Each PDA is given a score depending upon the distance to each named facility, which are then totalled to give an overall placing out of 44 PDAs.

In respect of accessibility to a range of shops, services and public transport modes, land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley (PDA E4-B) is provided a sustainability score of 25 which places the site 18th most sustainable out of the 44, thus falling within the top 40%. The second part of the assessment, considering accessibility to recreation facilities, gives the site a sustainability score of 9 with equates to an average of 2.25 for each indicator, placing the site as the joint second most sustainable in respect of access to recreation facilities amongst all 44 PDAs.

Looking at the comparative sustainability of all West Horsley and East Horsley (North and South) PDAs, of which there are a total of seven, land to the west of Shere Road (PDA E4-B) is considered to be the second most sustainable in respect of access to shops, services and sustainable transport modes, with a total score of 25. Looking at access to recreation facilities, land to the west of Shere Road (PDA E4-B) similarly performs second best, with a total score of 9 (n.b. the next most sustainable site only has a score of 5).

The site was then subject to Environmental Capacity Analysis within Volume 3 of the The PDA parcel ‘E4-B’ was assessed on pg. 125 as being “… surrounded by defensible boundaries including hedgerows and treecover following the A246 Epsom Road to the north, hedgerows bordering Shere Road to the east, rising topography and hedgerows bordering residential properties at Wix Hill to the south and west of the PDA”. The Study then assesses nine environmental capacity criteria which are reproduced below:

Land Use - The PDA is currently used for arable farmland;

Topography - The PDA is located on the lower slopes of the rising escarpment of the North Downs at White Hill. The PDA is located on slightly sloping topography from the south to north, between approximately 85 and 90 metres AOD.

Landscape Character - The PDA comprises of two pastoral and arable fields located on sloping ground between residential properties on Wix Hill, Shere Road and the A246 Epsom Road. The fields are enclosed by moderate treebelts between the PDA and playing fields to the east, with residential gardens following Shere Road to the south and west of the PDA. Urban influences are generally provided by residential properties on Shere Road to the east and Will Hill to the west of the PDA.

Landscape Value - The PDA is located within the Surrey Hills AGLV and approximately 0.2km to the north of the AONB.

Nature Conservation - The PDA is not subject to any statutory or non-statutory nature conservation designations.

Cultural Heritage - The PDA is not subject to any statutory or non-statutory cultural heritage designations.

Flood Risk - The PDA is not identified as land at risk from flooding.

Agricultural Land Classification - The PDA is predominately located on Grade 3 (moderate/good) agricultural land.

Public Rights of Way and Access - The PDA could potentially be accessed via Shere Road. There are no PROW crossing the PDA.

Addendums

When the Council consulted on their previous 2014 draft Local Plan, land to the west of Shere Road was identified as falling within parcel E4 which was considered to have development potential, latterly refined to include the majority of Dandara Ltd’s site as PDA E4-B. Furthermore, the site was considered to be amongst the most sustainable surrounding existing villages across the Borough and subject to no known The clear recommendation made by the GBCS was that the Council should give serious consideration to the development potential of the site as PDA E4-B.

However, 3.6 of the ‘Green Belt and Countryside’ Topic Paper explains that some additional work was undertaken to the GBCS evidence base “… arising from a resolution made at an extraordinary meeting of the Council on 13th January 2014 which resulted in a special Local Plan Scrutiny Forum, held on 4th March. The enabled the community to share their further views on the evidence base and raise issues concerning methodology and fact”.

Para. 4.18 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper (2016) attempts to explain this additional work in more detail:

“The draft Local Plan (2014) treated all PDAs as reasonable options for development regardless of the extent to which the land parcel within which it sits scored against Green Belt purposes (as shown on the sensitivity map). However, following the feedback from consultation and the new evidence available, we have reconsidered how Green Belt is used as a constraint. The Proposed Submission Local Plan seeks to give weight to the sensitivity of the Green Belt parcel within which each PDA is located. Whilst PDAs have been identified on the basis that they would not fundamentally harm the main purposes of the Green Belt, there would nevertheless be, in relative terms, more harm caused by allocating sites within land parcels assessed as contributing more towards the purposes of the Green Belt than those judged to be of lesser Green Belt value. In giving greater weight to the sensitivity of the Green Belt, we are have therefore sought to ameliorate the consequent impacts on the Green Belt as much as is reasonably possible”.

The production of this latter evidence base identifies the entirety of parcel E4 as falling within ‘high sensitivity’ Green The LAA then seemingly uses the application of this additional evidence base addendum to justify not only the exclusion of PDA E4-B from the proposed submission Local Plan, but also to justify not considering the site for development in any further detail despite the clear recommendation of the original GBCS and the identification of the land as a PDA. These representations raise the following serious concerns regarding the methodology of the composite GBCS, expanded upon in the accompanying Technical Note prepared by Define:

(i) Inconsistencies of Methodology

As explained above, the original GBCS divided the Borough into a series of ‘macro-scale’ Green Belt assessment parcels which were then subject to the five NPPF Green Belt purpose tests to establish their development potential. Whilst the majority of parcel E4, due largely to much of the land to the south falling within the Surrey Hills AONB, was not considered suitable for development, it was recognised that the far north-east corner displayed characteristics of self-containment that justified its identification as PDA E4-B. The GBCS has therefore justifiably started the assessment of each parcel from a ‘macro-scale’, applying the five Green Belt purpose tests set out in the NPPF, prior to then identifying PDAs at a site-specific, ‘micro-scale’ which should be considered further for

The justification of the Council provided in 4.18 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper that “… in relative terms, more harm is caused by allocating sites within land parcels assessed as contributing more towards the purposes of the Green Belt than those judged to be of lesser Green Belt value”, is unjustified and unsound. This is principally because, as recognised in Volume IV of the GBCS, the parcelisation process is not based on ‘quality’ of the Green Belt but defensible boundaries such as roads, railway lines and land forms. On this basis, it is obvious that any parcel, regardless of its overall sensitivity, could contain sites which contribute little to the main Green Belt purposes of the wider parcel.

As recognised by the original GBCS which identified land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley as a PDA, the site-specific features are wholly different from the typical performance of the wider Green Belt parcel in which the site is located (E4) in regard to its sensitivity to the Green Belt purpose. The majority of this wider parcel is open and rolling countryside, and is not adjacent, between, or wholly enclosed by urban features (housing or roads) which is evident for Dandara Ltd’s site. The site is located on rising land that is well structured by housing and vegetation, and as a result has very limited visibility from the wider landscape, a point of detailed assessment highly relevant to understanding likely Green Belt effects. The latterly commissioned ‘macro-scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map simply does not have the ability to recognise or appreciate this level of assessment detail.

It is unsound for the Council to present an evidence base which commences with a ‘macro-scale’ parcel assessment prior to then focusing on individual PDAs within certain parcels which are not considered to contribute to the five principal NPPF Green Belt purpose. To then subsequently apply a latter ‘macro-scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map which is treated as superseding the more detailed ‘micro-scale’ PDA assessments previously undertaken, is neither a robust nor defensible position. The PDA assessments comprised site-specific analysis of whether certain parts of wider parcels were developable and would have included consideration as to whether development of a particular site would have a wider adverse impact upon the parent parcel from a Green Belt purpose perspective. This approach is in direct conflicts with paras. 84 and 85 of the NPPF which advise that when defining boundaries, LPAs should inter alia ensure consistency with the Local Plan. strategy for meeting identified requirements for sustainable development, and not include land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open.

(ii) Absence of Assessment

Despite the identification of land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley as a PDA within the GBCS, with the recommendation that the Council should give serious consideration to the development potential of each PDA in more detail, the Council has used the latter application of the Green Belt sensitivity map to seemingly justify exclusion of the site from the proposed submission Local Plan. Whilst the Council have commissioned a latter Green Belt sensitivity map which places parcel E4 within high sensitivity Green Belt, the Authority has made no effort, unlike the original GBCS, to assess the site further to understand the contribution it makes to the characteristics of the wider parcel that make it ‘high sensitivity’.

Due to poor Plan preparation, one of the most sustainable sites in the Horsleys which is not considered to contribute to the five Green Belt purpose tests as identified within an independent, professionally produced Study has been excluded from consideration due to a line drawn on a map demonstrating in the attached Technical Note and expanded upon above, if the Council had undertaken this work, they would have concluded that land to the west of Shere Road shares none of the high sensitivity characteristics of the wider parcel, applying the NPPF Green Belt purpose tests.

(iii) Inconsistency of Application

The Council has also not been consistent in how the Green Belt sensitivity mapping has informed their decision. Whilst they have used the fact that land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley now falls within high sensitivity Green Belt as the only reason to justify its exclusion as a potential allocation site, land at Normandy / Flexford (Policy A46) was only ever partially identified as a PDA; has latterly been identified as falling within high sensitivity Green Belt; but has subsequently been proposed for allocation in the proposed submission Local Plan for 1,100 new homes.

Furthermore, this proposed housing allocation occupies almost the entire extent of Green Belt parcel H12, which is all of high Green Belt This ‘high sensitivity’ Green Belt classification therefore applies to the entirety of this housing site as being of high sensitivity to Green Belt purposes, and it cannot be accurately claimed (as it can for land to the west of Shere Road and Green Belt parcel E4) that the difference in scale and performance of the wider Green Belt parcel and the site itself has distorted the site’s Green Belt sensitivity and subsequent judgement of its development credentials. As can be seen from Figure 6 reproduced below, the Council is proposing housing allocations in a number of parcels of Green Belt identified as being of high sensitivity (parcels H12, K2 and K9), yet has used the same designation as justification for the rejection of land to the west of Shere Road despite it previously being identified as a PDA.

Draft Allocation Sites

These representations will go on to demonstrate that the Council should revisit previously identified PDAs in order to deliver a more balanced housing strategy capable of reinstating a five year housing land supply following adoption of the Plan. This would achieve a more certain, balanced and equitable spread of housing delivery across the Borough which reduces the current over-reliance on the delivery of large-scale, strategic sites with significant infrastructure burdens. There are also significant landscape and Green Belt benefits to be delivered from reducing the scale of existing proposed allocations alongside increasing the number of smaller and medium scale sites deliverable over the Plan period:

Former Wisley Airfield – Whilst it is acknowledged that part of the site is located on previously developed land, the scale of development proposed at 2,100 new homes will represent a significant incursion into the Guildford Green Belt. Development of this scale will represent both significant encroachment into open countryside and the perception of urban sprawl into an otherwise largely undeveloped, rural part of the Borough. Given the isolation of the proposed allocation, it is recognised that future residents would rely on the use of the private car and regular bus services to access places of employment and higher order centres. This will generate significant movement within a much wider part of the Guildford Green Belt, undermining its rurality and increasing the sense of urbanisation. Furthermore, the scale of the proposed development bears no relationship to the settlement pattern in this part of Guildford which comprises small to medium scale villages and hamlets. The number of new homes proposed will also result in significant pressure upon the existing highway network, immediately adjacent SPA, local infrastructure and nearby habitats. The development, given its scale, will also be visible from the Surrey Hills AONB to the south which has not been taken into adequate consideration during the Plan making process. It is difficult to understand how the allocation of Wisley Airfield accords with the advice in para. 84 of the NPPF that “when drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries, Local Planning Authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development”.

Normandy and Flexford – The Council is proposing to allocate 1,100 new homes in-between the two rural villages of Normandy and Flexford. This part of the Borough comprises Green Belt considered to be of high sensitivity, with development of this scale fundamentally undermining the NPPF Green Belt purposes of protecting the countryside from encroachment, preventing the coalescence of settlements and preventing urban sprawl.

Development of this scale would represent a significant incursion into high sensitivity Green Belt and the urbanisation of an otherwise rural part of the Borough providing relief from the built up character of Guildford, Ash, Tongham and Aldershot and in conflict with para. 84 of the NPPF. It is of particular concern that the allocation is, as confirmed at para. 4.133 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper, to accommodate a secondary school which would serve a catchment extending from Guildford in the east to Ash / Tongham in the west. The extent of this catchment would result in significant daily vehicular movements within the Green Belt crossing some of the most strategic parcels, separating Guildford from Aldershot, undermining its tranquillity and sense of rurality;

Land off East Lane, West Horsley – Due to the Council not giving any substantive consideration to the developability of PDAs, such as land off Shere Road, West Horsley, by virtue of it being located within wider, high sensitivity Green Belt parcels, it has resulted in sites being proposed for allocation which, looking at a site specific level, have a greater impact on the NPPF Green Belt purpose tests. For example, the proposed development of land off East Lane, West Horsley represents both urban sprawl and encroachment into open countryside which would see significant development crossing East Lane to the south which currently provides a clear, defensible boundary in Green Belt terms. In contrast, land to the west of Shere Road is surrounded by existing urban influences such as the A246 Epsom Road and housing and would represent coherent in-fill, rather than encroachment into open countryside.

Green Belt and Countryside Study – Conclusions

These representations have demonstrated that land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley was identified in the Council’s own GBCS as a PDA following an assessment of the wider land parcel against the five NPPF Green Belt purpose It has been shown that the GBCS recognised that the site was self-contained, dominated by urban influences with no visual interconnectivity with the adjacent AONB. The site was also shown to be one of the most sustainable in West and East Horsley with no known landscape or physical constraints to realising development.

Dandara Ltd has commissioned a Technical Note prepared by specialist landscape and Green Belt consultancy Define which concurs with the assessment of the GBCS that the site should be considered further for development as a PDA, applying the five NPPF Green Belt purpose tests:

- Development would not distort the settlement pattern or create urban sprawl, it would resolve the land between Epsom Road and land off Shere Road / Wix Hill, and would have low effect on the Green Belt purpose of checking urban sprawl;
- Development would have a low effect on preventing towns merging, and would effectively act as infill between West Horsley and existing development off Shere Road/ Wix Hill;
- Development would result in a low effect on safeguarding the countryside from encroachment - the site does not appear as being countryside, largely due to being located between the A246 and existing properties off Shere Road / Wix It would form a boundary to countryside to the east, and its eastern boundary would need to reflect the loose character of existing properties off Wix Hill. A combination of rising topography and vegetation structure results in this land having very limited visibility from the local or wider landscape;
- Development would have negligible effects on preserving the setting and character of historic towns as it has no physical or visual relationship with West Horsley, or its Conservation Area, and;
- Promoting urban regeneration is applicable as a general principle, and is not applied on a site-by-site basis.

Despite the GBCS already undertaking a macro-scale assessment of wider land parcels followed by the site-specific, micro-scale identification of individual PDAs, the LPA commissioned the production of additional Green Belt sensitivity mapping following an extraordinary meeting of the Council on 13th January 2014 and the establishment of a Local Plan Scrutiny. This addendum work identified the entirety of parcel E4 as high sensitivity Green Belt which the Council has used to justify not undertaking any further assessment of the development potential of land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley, despite its earlier identification as a PDA.

These representations and the accompanying Technical Note have demonstrated that the Council is unjustified in applying an additional ‘macro scale’ Green Belt sensitivity layer, when the GBCS had already considered whether wider parcels had an opportunity to accommodate development without undermining the NPPF Green Belt purpose. It is unsound for the Council to disregard this earlier evidence and the development potential of a site simply because a much later, ‘macro-scale’ sensitivity map has identified it as falling within a more sensitive wider parcel. This ‘macro-scale’ level of mapping cannot supersede much more detailed ‘micro-scale’ assessment work which identified certain PDAs in parcels which, perhaps being more sensitive overall than others, can nevertheless better accommodate development so as not to undermine the role of the wider parcel in Green Belt terms.

The Council has acted unsoundly in failing to consider the developability of sites identified as PDAs in the GBCS, this being their own evidence base, and recommended for further Instead, the Council has rejected certain sites on the basis of falling within a latter, ‘macro scale’ higher sensitivity parcel despite other proposed allocations, such as Normandy / Flexford, not only being located within a similar higher sensitivity parcel, but with the scale of development proposed covering a significant proportion of that parcel. This approach is inconsistent with paras. 84 and 85 of the NPPF, unevidenced and in order to be found sound, the Council must revisit those sites previously identified as PDAs in the GBCS to consider whether they could deliver housing in the short to medium term to allow the Council to reinstate a five year housing land supply and establish a more balanced housing strategy over the entirety of the Plan period.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Five Year Housing Land Supply

Paragraph 47 of the NPPF states that Local Authorities should “identify and update annually a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide five years worth of housing against their housing requirements with an additional buffer of 5% (moved forward from later in the Plan period) to ensure choice and competition in the market for land”. The PPG advises that “the examination of Local Plans is intended to ensure that up-to-date housing requirements and the deliverability of sites to meet a five year supply will have been thoroughly considered and examined prior to adoption ...” (Para. 033, Ref ID: 3-033-20150327).

The Plan period runs for 20 years from 2013-33. The Council is therefore required to deliver 693 x 20 = 13,860 units based on the current objectively assessed need (OAN) of 693 dpa minus any Duty to Cooperate

Five Year Housing Land Supply– Accumulated Shortfall
Over the first three years of the Plan period, 4.174 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper (2016) confirms that the Council delivered the following:

2013/14 = 136 (-557 shortfall)
2014/15 = 249 (-444 shortfall)
2015/16 = 343 (-350 shortfall)
Total = -1,351 (2013-16)

Over the first three years of the Plan period, there was a shortfall in housing completions of -1,351. The housing trajectory included on pg. 20 of the LAA suggests that during the first five years leading up to the adoption of the new Local Plan, 2013-18, the shortfall in housing delivery will have increased further to -2,109. The PPG is clear that “Local Planning Authorities should aim to deal with any undersupply within the first five years of the Plan period where possible (i.e. Sedgefield methodology). Where this cannot be met in the first five years, Local Planning Authorities will need to work with neighbouring authorities under the Duty to Cooperate” (para. 035, ref ID: 3-035-20140306).

To accord with the guidance set out in the PPG, the -2,019 unit shortfall accrued over the first five years of the Plan period should be added to the five year housing land supply requirement of 3,465 units (693 x 5) to give a housing requirement over the period 2018/23 following adoption of the Plan of 5,484 (1,097 dpa). This will ensure that the Plan is positively prepared in order to ensure a five year housing land supply is reinstated following adoption of the

Five Year Housing Land Supply– Applying Buffer

The NPPF states at 47 that to boost significantly the supply of housing Local Authorities should “… identify and update annually a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide five years worth of housing against their housing requirements with an additional buffer of 5% (moved forward from later in the Plan period) to ensure choice and competition in the market for land. Where there has been a record of persistent under delivery of housing, Local Planning Authorities should increase the buffer to 20% (moved forward from later in the Plan period) to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planned supply and to ensure choice and competition in the market for land”.

The Council acknowledge at 4.169 of their ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper that “… since 2008/09 completions have been persistently less than the original South East Plan housing number (322 homes per year) …”. Furthermore, “for the last seven years, completions have been less than 300 homes per year”. The Council has failed to meet its housing target during any of the past eight monitoring years which is considered to demonstrate categorically the “record of persistent under delivery of housing” required by para. 47 of the NPPF to justify the imposition of a 20% buffer.

As we will consider in detail elsewhere in these representations, the Council’s spatial strategy which relies on the allocation of large-scale, strategic housing allocations which require significant improvements to strategic infrastructure to allow delivery has further worsened the ability of the Authority to deliver sufficient housing to maintain a five year housing land supply.

It is therefore considered that there has been a clear record of persistent under delivery of housing which, applying para. 47 of the NPPF, would require the application of a 20% buffer to the five year housing land supply calculation, moved forward from later in the Plan. The Council has previously accepted that the application of a 20% buffer is appropriate within their October 2015 Annual Monitoring Report. The Council is therefore considered to have a five year housing land supply requirement as follows:

- 693 x 5 = 3,465 units;
- 2,019 shortfall from period 2013/18;
- Total 5 YHLS target = 3,465 + 2,019 = 5,484 plus 20% = 6,581.

Whilst the PPG advises that any accrued housing shortfall during the early part of the Plan period should be made-up as soon as possible within the first five years (Sedgefield methodology), it is expected that the Council will argue that this shortfall should be spread over the Plan period due to the extent of Green Belt coverage across Guildford Borough acting as a constraint to increasing housing delivery over the shorter term (Liverpool methodology). If the Inspector is minded to agree with this approach, the five year housing land supply calculation would be as follows:

- 693 x 5 = 3,465 units;
- 2,019 shortfall from period 2013/19;
- 2,019 shortfall divided by remaining years in Plan period of 15 = 135 dpa (rounded);
- Total 5 YHLS target = 3,465 + 675 (135 x 5) = 4,140 plus 20% = 4,968.

Five Year Housing Land Supply– Projected Completions

Projected housing completions are shown within the housing trajectory on 20 of the LAA. Over the five year period following adoption of the Plan, the Council considers that it is able to deliver the following new homes:

2018/19 = 519;
2019/20 = 863;
2020/21 = 861;
2021/22 = 783;
2022/23 = 1,031.

Total supply over the period 2016/21 = 4,057.

Five Year Housing Land Supply– Position

As calculated above, the Council requires the delivery of either 4,968 or 6,581 new homes over the period 2018/23 following adoption of the Plan to ensure the reinstatement of a five year housing land supply in accordance with 47 of the NPPF. However, due to the Council’s overreliance on large-scale, strategic sites with associated infrastructure delivery challenges, identified supply over the same period equates to a maximum 4,057 new homes. This results in a shortfall in housing land supply over the next five year period of either - 911 or -2,524 depending upon whether the Sedgefield or Liverpool methodology is used to calculate past shortfall.

The proposed submission Local Plan is not currently in accordance with 47 of the NPPF as, following adoption, it would be unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply resulting in a shortfall of between – 911 or -2,524 depending upon whether the Sedgefield or Liverpool methodology is used to calculate past shortfall.

The Local Plan therefore needs to identify additional sources of short term housing supply to ensure a five year housing land supply is able to be reinstated following adoption.

We have demonstrated elsewhere in these representations that there are alternative Green Belt sites, such as land off Shere Road in West Horsley, which are smaller in scale, able to be delivered within five years following adoption of the Plan and have been identified in the Council’s own Green Belt and Countryside Study as Potential Development Areas worthy of further consideration.

However, if, as the Council would appear to be suggesting in 4.171 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper, they are unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply following adoption of the Plan due to Green Belt sensitivity issues, which at the present time is the case even applying the Liverpool methodology plus 20%, then the PPG is clear that “where this cannot be met in the first five years, Local Planning Authorities will need to work with neighbouring authorities under the Duty to Cooperate”. The Council have provided no evidence to date to demonstrate that they have sought to engage with other West Surrey HMA Authorities to discuss the possibility of them accommodating unmet need arising from Guildford during the early to middle part of the new Local Plan period in order to ensure a five year housing land supply is maintained. The emerging Plan cannot therefore be considered to satisfy the ‘positively prepared’ or ‘justified’ test of soundness as set out in para. 182 of the NPPF.

Housing Strategy

In order to be found sound, the emerging proposed submission Local Plan must be shown to be justified having regard to 182 of the NPPF being “... the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence”. Furthermore, it must also be shown to be positively prepared, “... based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements”.

As we have demonstrated elsewhere in these representations, the Council has consistently failed to deliver sufficient numbers of new homes to meet the former South East Plan housing target of 322 dpa with 4.169 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper (2016) recognising that “for the last seven years, completions have been less than 300 homes per year”. Furthermore, housing completions over the first five years of the new Local Plan period (2013-18) are expected to be below the 693 dpa required to meet OAN resulting in a cumulative shortfall of minus 2,019 units. This pattern of consistent under-delivery of housing has resulted in a significant worsening of affordability within Guildford Borough, depressing household formation rates and resulting in an Authority where “affordability pressures in the West Surrey market are severe, with lower quartile house prices over ten times the annual income of young households” (2015 SHMA, para. 7.45).

There is strong evidence that the major pressures facing Guildford Borough surround historically depressed rates of housing delivery which have fed into an unbalanced housing market where the increasingly limited housing stock is unaffordable for the majority of existing and future The new Local Plan provides an opportunity for the Council to proactively address this historic undersupply of housing by accelerating housing completions over the early to middle part of the Plan period in direct response to acute housing need and affordability barriers. However, the housing and spatial strategy proposed by the Council is not currently able to achieve this principal policy objective.

Housing Strategy – Reliance on Large, Strategic Sites

As can be seen from Table 1 of the proposed submission Local Plan, the Council is proposing to allocate a number of large-scale, strategic development sites which, alongside other allocations and sources of housing supply, will allow the Council to meet its housing target of 13,860 new homes over the period 2013-33 excluding any Duty to Cooperate These large-scale, strategic development sites will deliver circa 7,140 new homes or just over 50% of the total comprising:

- 3,940 new homes as part of urban extensions to Guildford town;
- 2,100 new homes at the former Wisley Airfield;
- 1,100 new homes as part of Normandy and Flexford village

However, as can be seen from the housing trajectory produced on 20 of the LAA, none of these large-scale, strategic sites are expected to begin delivering any new housing until at least 2021/22. There is thus an obvious discord between a Local Plan which, in line with NPPF and PPG guidance, should be looking to reinstate a five year housing land supply on adoption, especially given historic under-supply of housing and associated issues of affordability, and a housing strategy where over 50% of supply is reliant on longer term, large-scale strategic sites despite their being alternative / additional sites available. The ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper explains why housing on these sites cannot come forward earlier:

Guildford Urban Extensions – Both Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm require significant improvements to strategic highways infrastructure to facilitate development for new homes. Gosden Hill Farm is required to deliver a new railway station at Guildford East (Merrow) in addition to a new vehicular access off the A3 which must be planned in conjunction with wider Highways England works whilst Blackwell Farm requires an access off the A31 with ongoing work requiring the potential delivery of a new Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station;

Former Wisley Airfield – This site also requires significant improvements to strategic highways infrastructure including upgrading of the A3; a through vehicular link between the A3 Ockham interchange and Old Lane; as well as a series of improvements to the existing highway network including the A3 / M25 junction, Ripley High Street and A3 on-slip;

Normandy / Flexford – Whilst this site, unlike the Guildford urban extensions and the former Wisley Airfield is not dependent upon A3 infrastructure timescales, the quantum of development proposed in an otherwise rural part of the Borough is reliant upon a number of strategic infrastructure improvements including a new local centre; secondary school; SANGS and highway improvements that will delay the delivery of any future housing.

Para. 4.117 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper acknowledges that “the Plan is heavily reliant on the delivery of larger strategic sites to meet OAN, the delivery of which are linked to the necessary improvements to the A3 (with the exception of North Street and Normandy / Flexford)”. Para. 4.130 goes further and suggests that the Guildford urban extensions and Wisley Airfield, despite being shown as delivering new homes from 2021/22 in the LAA housing trajectory, will be unable to deliver new homes during the five year monitoring period following adoption of the Plan due to dependency on A3 infrastructure timescales – “the delivery of this site [Normandy / Flexford] is not dependent on A3 infrastructure timescales, and can start to deliver within the first five years following adoption of the Local Plan”.

Para. 4.5 of the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper (2016) states that “existing road and parking infrastructure is already inadequate or under pressure and would worsen with the planned development ... i.e. A3 and M25 and in particular the A3/M25 junction area”. We also know from the evidence base, including para. 4.117 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper referred to above, that the delivery of the large-scale, strategic housing sites is explicitly linked to, and reliant upon, necessary improvements to the strategic highway network and particularly the A3.

Having regard to Appendices 3 and 4 of the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper, and taking Wisley Airfield as an example, it is evident there is significant uncertainty regarding timescales and funding associated with the delivery of strategic infrastructure improvements required to facilitate the delivery of new homes on the Airfield, the following strategic transport infrastructure improvements are required associated with the A3 / M25 junction; A3 capacity; site accesses; bus network improvements; and cycle network improvements:

1. SRN3 – M25 Junction 10 / A3 Wisley Interchange ‘Road Investment Strategy’ – this is shown as being an ‘anticipated’ improvement costing £100-250 million and funded by Highways England and developer The notes suggest that development at Wisley Airfield would be required to at least fund an ‘interim’ improvement if it is to come forward ahead of the full SRN3 works;
2. SRN9 and SRN10 – Northbound and southbound slip roads at A247 Clandon Road – this is shown as being an ‘anticipated’ improvement costing £20 million in total and funded in full associated with the development of Wisley Airfield;
3. LRN7 - Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at the former Wisley Airfield site – this is shown as being an ‘anticipated’ improvement costing £25 million and funded in full by developer contributions associated with the development of Wisley The notes suggest that the full scope and cost has yet to be determined and will be confirmed as part of any future Transport Assessment;
4. BT3 – significant bus network improvements serving the former Wisley Airfield site – this is shown as being an ‘anticipated’ improvement with the cost to be The notes make clear that “required as part of bus improvements for the site in perpetuity to meet minimum sustainability criteria”;
5. AM3 – off-site cycle network improvements serving the former Wisley Airfield site - this is shown as being an ‘anticipated’ improvement with the cost to be The notes make clear that this is “required to meet minimum sustainability criteria”.

As the Council notes in 4.117 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper, “the Plan is heavily reliant on the delivery of larger strategic sites to meet OAN, the delivery of which is linked to necessary improvements to the A3 (with the exception of North Street and Normandy Flexford)”. This strategy is however a conscious choice by the Council who have chosen to exclude from further consideration previously identified PDAs. Having regard to the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper, informed by the ‘Guildford Borough Transport Strategy’ (2016) and the Surrey County Council ‘Strategic Highway Assessment Report’ (2016), Dandara Ltd has significant concerns regarding delivery, funding and anticipated completion rates associated with the large-scale, strategic allocation sites.

Delivery of Strategic Infrastructure

One of the key tests of soundness for the emerging Guildford Borough Local Plan as set out at 182 of the NPPF is that the policies are ‘effective’ whereby “… the Plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities”. Having reviewed the evidence base, the timescales associated with the delivery of strategic transport infrastructure improvements required to support a number of the proposed large-scale, strategic housing allocations are currently unknown, as are the total costs and sources of funding.
Given the scale of strategic transport infrastructure improvements required, such as A3 / M25 junction improvements, it is imperative that the Council can satisfy a future Inspector that there is a sufficient level of certainty of delivery, funding and timescales in order to inform assumptions regarding housing delivery. The proposed submission draft Local Plan is proposing that just over 50% of total housing delivery is associated with large-scale, strategic housing allocations, many of which can only be brought forward if significant improvements to strategic transport infrastructure are delivered. It is therefore imperative that the Council can demonstrate that such improvements are deliverable and will be in place in conjunction with assumptions made regarding delivery of new homes. At present, Appendix 4 of the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper simply suggests that such improvements are ‘anticipated’ when they need to be firm commitments if the proposed housing strategy in the Local Plan is to be found sound.

Assumptions Regarding Housing and Infrastructure Delivery

Appendix 3 of the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper demonstrates the relationship between the timescales associated with the delivery of strategic transport infrastructure and the delivery of new homes on large-scale, strategic allocation. The Council assume that delivery of strategic transport improvements, necessary to allow new homes to be delivered on a number of the large-scale, strategic allocation sites, will take place in parallel with the delivery of new homes. For example, works to SRN9, SRN10 and LRN7 associated with the development of Wisley Airfield are anticipated to commence 2021/22, the same year as the scheme delivers its first new homes. It is therefore imperative that the Council provides a clear evidence base that demonstrates that the strategic transport network can accommodate additional demand from large-scale sites whilst such improvement works are on-going and that there would be a commitment from the market to deliver.

At present, it is unclear the quantum of new homes that the strategic transport network can accommodate whilst the works are on-going and not. An obvious example relates to the delivery of SRN9 and 10 which provide for northbound and southbound slip road accesses onto the A247 at Clandon Road for the use of future residents of the Wisley Airfield site. These works are shown in Appendix 3 as being undertaken during the period 2021/22 to 2027/28. However, by 2027/28, which is the latest date by which the works are anticipated to be completed, Wisley Airfield is projected to have delivered 650 new homes. It is therefore unclear whether the Council is able to commit to Wisley Airfield delivering 650 new homes by 2027/28 if all or a proportion of associated vehicular movements are reliant upon the delivery of SRN9 / 10, or other such strategic transport improvements, the timescale of which is currently uncertain and could be as late as 2027/28.

Viability

The PPG states that Local Plans should “… pay careful attention to providing an adequate supply of land, identifying what infrastructure is required and how it can be funded and brought on stream at the appropriate time; and ensuring that the requirements of the Plan as a whole will not prejudice the viability of development” (ref: ID: 12-018-20140306).

We have demonstrated above for Wisley Airfield, as taken from the ‘Transport’ Topic Paper and of equal relevance to other proposed large-scale, strategic allocation sites, that there is a significant financial burden associated with the delivery of strategic transport improvements which are necessary to allow the development to come forward. Having regard to Appendix 4 of the Topic Paper, and excluding as yet unknown contributions towards public transport improvements, it is anticipated that Wisley Airfield would fund at least £145 million of strategic transport improvements (£100 million for SRN3; £20 million for SRN9&10; and £25 million for LRN7). Assuming Wisley Airfield delivers 2,100 new homes as per Table 1 of the proposed submission Local Plan, this would require a contribution of circa £69,000 per unit toward strategic transport improvements alone, excluding any other contributions.

In addition to financial contributions towards the delivery of strategic transport improvements, the large-scale, strategic allocations are also expected to contribute towards the delivery of inter alia the following:

- Localised retail;
- Social and community facilities;
- Primary and secondary education;
- Health facilities;
- Sport and leisure facilities;
- SANGS;
- Open Space;
- Pedestrian and cycle networks;
• Biodiversity and habitat enhancements;
• Affordable housing;
• Employment facilities

In order to ensure that the emerging Local Plan is able to satisfy the NPPF ‘effective’ test of soundness in terms of being deliverable over its period, the Council must undertake a robust and thorough viability assessment to demonstrate that the proposed allocations are able to fund the significant range of strategic and localised infrastructure and social and community service improvements which are required in order to ensure the proposed allocations can be sustainably delivered without necessary improvements to strategic transport infrastructure as highlighted above but also requires the delivery of a raft of associated social and community facilities and sustainable transport improvements given its isolated nature. Furthermore, given the chronic need for affordable housing identified within the SHMA and considered elsewhere in these representations, it is also important to ensure that viability considerations do not impact upon the ability of such schemes to deliver much needed affordable housing.

Projected Completions

These representations have previously raised concerns regarding housing being delivered on large-scale, strategic allocation sites immediately following the commencement, rather than substantive completion, of associated improvements to strategic transport infrastructure which is required in conjunction with new homes being delivered. However, concerns are also raised in respect of projected housing completions shown within the housing trajectory set out on 20 of the LAA. There are two principal concerns that the Council should take into consideration:

1. Cumulative Completions – The Local Plan housing delivery strategy is structured in such a way that significant numbers of new homes are expected to be delivered in the latter part of the Plan period associated with the delivery of a small number of large-scale, strategic transport improvements. During the last five years of the Plan period, the Council is expecting to deliver between 1,136 and 1,260 housing completions per annum. Given that the Council has not delivered over 500 new homes during any year over the past decade (2006/16), it is imperative that the Authority is able to demonstrate that the housing market is able to absorb this number of completions which are significantly in excess of the OAN of 693 dpa. This unevidenced completion rate is a further indicator of the imbalance of the Council’s proposed housing strategy which is over reliant on large-scale, strategic allocation sites which deliver later in the Plan period compared with a more equitable spread of small, medium and large scale sites which are able to deliver a more balanced completion rate, closer to assessed OAN;

2. Total Completions – The Council project that the large-scale, strategic allocation sites are each capable of delivering up to 270-290 new homes per annum. The Council should provide evidence, based on schemes elsewhere in the south-east of a comparable scale, that such rates of delivery are achievable, given the associated infrastructure burdens accruing to the sites, and the potential for three large-scale, strategic sites being expected to deliver, and the market support, in excess of 200 new homes per annum each, simultaneously during the last five years of the Plan period (Gosden Hill Farm, Blackwell Farm and Wisley Airfield).

Housing Strategy – Conclusions

The proposed submission Local Plan is heavily reliant on a small number of large-scale, strategic housing allocation sites to deliver their housing target. The majority of these new homes cannot be delivered until the completion of a range of strategic transport improvements, being 2021/22 at the latest. This has resulted in a housing strategy that is unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply following the adoption of the Plan due to the later delivery of housing associated with the proposed allocation of large-scale, strategic housing sites. This is a conscious choice by the Council having chosen not to assess previously identified PDAs in any further detail.

Furthermore, and having regard to Table 1 of the proposed submission Local Plan, over 50% of the new homes to be delivered between 2018 and 2033 are contained within four large-scale strategic allocation sites (Gosden Hill Farm, Blackwell Farm, Wisley Airfield and Normandy / Flexford). These sites all rely on the delivery of strategic transport improvements which are currently uncertain in respect of delivery, timescales and there is a significant risk that the Council is proposing to adopt a housing delivery strategy which is overly reliant on large-scale, strategic sites which are... fundamentally tied to the delivery of transport infrastructure which is inherently uncertain. Furthermore, the majority of these strategic transport improvements are intended to be partly or fully funded by the developments, raising significant concerns about viability.

The Council is aware from its evidence base that past records of under-delivery of housing has resulted in a depressed housing stock, causing rising unaffordability and suppressed household formation rates. The priority of the emerging Local Plan, embodied within the housing strategy, should therefore be to ensure that sufficient housing is delivered during the early part of the Plan period in order to immediately address past shortfalls and accord with the requirement of 47 of the NPPF to boost significantly housing delivery. Instead, the Council is proposing a housing strategy that is unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply or positively address past housing shortfalls due to over-reliance on a small number of large-scale, strategic allocations which are unable to be delivered until at least 2021/22 due to associated and uncertain strategic transport improvements.

The Plan is not considered to meet the ‘positively prepared’, ‘justified’ or ‘effective’ tests of soundness as it does not meet objectively assessed housing need within the early part of the Plan period; is not the most appropriate strategy when considered against alternatives; and is not deliverable over the Plan. Instead, the Council should consider allocating a larger number of small and medium scale sites, such as revisiting PDAs previously identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study, in order to ensure that a sufficient quantum of homes are able to be delivered in the earlier part of the Plan period in order to reinstate a five year housing land supply and to reduce over-reliance on the delivery of complex, costly and uncertain major strategic transport improvements.

The Council suggest at 4.171 of their ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper that it is not possible to meet short term housing need without developing many high sensitivity Green Belt sites. However, as is the case with land off Shere Road in West Horsley, such small to medium scale sites are available, have been identified as PDAs within the Green Belt and Countryside Study and are able to deliver new homes in the early part of the Plan period. As can be seen from Table 2 of the Sustainability Appraisal (SA) Non-Technical Summary (2016), the Council has not considered an Option which looks to increase housing delivery on Green Belt sites surrounding villages – for example, housing delivery numbers for the Horsleys remain at 445 in all eight Options – and therefore do not have the evidence base to demonstrate that earlier rates of housing delivery are not achievable.

Meeting Full Housing Need

Paragraph 47 of the NPPF requires Local Authorities to ensure that their Local Plan “… meets the full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in the housing market area …” as far as is consistent with the policies included in the There are two specific points to consider in paragraph 47 – (i) the NPPF does not simply require Local Authorities to meet objectively assessed housing need but crucially, full objectively assessed housing need, and (ii) the Local Authority should seek to meet full objectively assessed need for both market and affordable housing.

In order for the proposed submission version Local Plan to be in accordance with the NPPF, it must therefore include a housing target that is able to meet the District’s full, objectively assessed need for both market and affordable

Establishing Full, Objectively Assessed Housing Need

In order to establish the full, objectively assessed need for market and affordable housing in Guildford Borough, the Council commissioned GL Hearn, working alongside other Authorities falling within the West Surrey Housing Market Area (HMA), who published their ‘West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment’ in April 2014 (SHMA).

10.37 of the SHMA concludes that the overall need for housing in Guildford Borough over the period 2013-33 equates to 693 dwellings per annum (dpa) being a total of 13,860 new homes over the Plan period. The SHMA concludes that as a whole, the West Surrey HMA, which also includes Waverly and Woking Councils, has a total housing need of 1,729 dpa being a total of 34,580 new homes over the Plan period.

Dandara Ltd recognises that Guildford Borough Council has used the conclusions of the SHMA that the Borough requires a total of 13,860 new homes over the Plan period to inform their housing target contained in Policy S2 of the proposed submission draft Local However, it is considered that there are various aspects of the methodology underpinning the conclusions of the SHMA that warrant further assessment.

In accordance with the PPG, the SHMA uses household projections published by the DCLG as a starting point for estimating future housing need in Guildford and across the HMA (para. 015, ref ID: 2a-015-20140306). The 2012-based DCLG household projections published in February 2015 are considered to be the most up-to-date and are those referred to within the However, the PPG goes on to make three important points with respect to the use of household projections published by the DCLG:

1. The household projection-based estimate of housing need may require adjustment to reflect factors affecting local demography and household formation rates which are not captured in past trends. For example, formation rates may have been suppressed historically by under-supply and worsening affordability of housing (para. 015, ref ID: 2a-015-20140306);
2. Plan makers may consider sensitivity testing, specific to their local circumstances, based on alternative assumptions in relation to the underlying demographic projections and household formation rates (para. 017, ref ID: 2a-017-20140306);
3. The housing need number suggested by household projections (the starting point) should be adjusted to reflect appropriate market signals, as well as other market indicators of the balance between the demand for and supply of dwellings including house prices, rates of development and affordability (para. 019, ref ID: 2a-019-20140306).

These representations will go on to demonstrate that there are various factors underpinning the evidence base that suggest that Guildford Borough Council should consider increasing their housing target in accordance with guidance set out in the NPPF and

Demographic Projections

The SHMA clearly demonstrates that there has been slow growth in the available housing stock within the West Surrey As an example, para. 3.6 states that between 2001 and 2011, the total housing stock within the West Surrey HMA increased by 6.2% which is less than growth observed across both England as a whole (8.3%) and the South East region (8.9%). This comparatively slow increase in the housing stock is most observable within Guildford Borough which experienced only 5% growth over this period. The SHMA concludes that “this is despite indicators of above average demand, and is likely to reflect development constraints”.
The suggestion in the SHMA that the slow observable rates of housing growth across the HMA, and in Guildford in particular, is as a result of development constraints rather than lack of demand is supported by having regard to historic housing completions. 4.169 of the ‘Housing Delivery’ Topic Paper (2016) states that “… since 2008/09 completions have been persistently less than the original South East Plan housing number (322 homes per year … for the last seven years, completions have been less than 300 homes per year”.

What is observable across the HMA but focused on Guildford in particular, is a repeating pattern of low rates of housing delivery set within a context of high demand. This suppression of availability of stock has resulted in Guildford Borough having the second highest median house prices in Surrey / Hants at £320,000 as shown in Table 1 of the SHMA with the average price of a home in parts of Guildford, such as West Horsley, being an untenable £850,890, as shown in Table 2 of the This represents an increase in house prices of 8% across Guildford as a whole during the period 2007/12 with an even more dramatic increase of between 12%-14% for Guildford town and villages such as West Horsley over the past four years.

In such cases, where there is demonstrable evidence of supressed supply resulting in rising house prices and worsening affordability, the PPG is very clear that “the household projection-based estimate of housing need may require adjustment to reflect factors affecting local demography and household formation rates which are not captured in past For example, formation rates may have been suppressed historically by under-supply and worsening affordability of housing” (para. 015, ref ID: 2a-015-20140306).

The SHMA reports that the 2012 SNNP suggests that the population of West Surrey is projected to grow at a rate below that expected across both the region and the country including due to lower levels of in-migration (para. 4.11). Furthermore, historic household growth in West Surrey has been quite modest in comparison with other areas with a percentage increase expected from 2013-33 of only 17.9% compared with 21% for Surrey and 20.8% for the South-East region (para. 4.51). It is therefore important that the Council satisfies itself that, as advised by the PPG, the 2012 SNNP should not be adjusted, potentially significantly, due to a more detailed interrogation of the impact that a historic lack of supply, leading to increasing levels of unaffordability, has had upon population growth, levels of in- migration and rates of household formation in the West Surrey SHMA and especially Guildford Borough.

The SHMA recognises that the 2012 SNNP projections “show some suppression in household formation rates for people aged 25-34” (pg. 66), which is the age at which the majority of UK residents attempt to establish themselves on the housing ladder. There is a clear observable link between the inability of younger age groups to establish new households and a lack of housing supply and affordability which is unsurprising given high house The Council should give serious consideration to the ability to adjust the 2012 SNNP projection to allow for an improved rate of household formation moving forward, based upon a higher housing target delivering additional homes which improves both housing stock availability and affordability within Guildford.

As a final point on the interpretation of the 2012 SNNP, we would support the alternative population projection applied in 4.73 which follows the GLA migration model of taking a rate which is half of the difference between pre-recession migration rates and the trends feeding into the SNNP. Whilst this adjustment does see higher population growth of 14.5% across the HMA over the Plan period compared with 13.6% under the SNNP projection, it does bring the projection more in-line with long term past trends than is the case with the SNNP (para. 4.75). This adjustment ensures a closer relationship to past trends compared with the SNNP which envisages a slower level of population growth than experienced historically, in a context of an undersupply of housing at unaffordable rates.

Affordable Housing

Paragraph 47 of the NPPF makes it clear that Local Authorities should ensure their Local Plan meets “… the full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in the housing market area”. The PPG provides clear advice in respect of how affordable housing need should be considered in terms of Plan preparation stating, “The total affordable housing need should then be considered in the context of its likely delivery as a proportion of mixed market and affordable housing developments, given the probable percentage of affordable housing to be delivered by market housing led An increase in the total housing figures included in the Local Plan should be considered where it could help deliver the required number of affordable homes” (ref. ID: 2a-029-20140306).
The SHMA demonstrates within Table 42 that there is an estimated affordable housing need in the West Surrey HMA of 1,144 dpa which equates to 455 dpa in It is however recognised that this does not demonstrate actual affordable housing need as it does not take into account factors such as the role of the private rental sector (PRS) in meeting housing need or the fact that affordable housing stock will be recycled when families or individuals move from one property to another. The SHMA therefore goes on to look purely at affordable housing need arising from concealed and homeless households which suggests that in Guildford only 403 households require housing.

However, the recommendation of the SHMA that an uplift of only 59 dpa across the HMA would be sufficient to address affordable housing need is not considered to be in accordance with 47 of the NPPF nor advice provided in the PPG for the following reasons:

1. The SHMA excludes all those households that currently rely on the PRS for their affordable accommodation, supplemented by the Local Housing Allowance (LHA). Para.6.72 of the SHMA makes it clear that “the overall estimated number of lettings in the LHA part of the PRS can therefore be seen to be 50% of the total net need derived through the affordable housing needs analysis”. Whilst it is accepted that PRS does, and will continue to, play an important role in affordable housing provision, it does represent an inherently unstable tenure due to the continued availability of funding mechanisms such as the LHA; the role of private landlords and the tenure being available as market housing; the insecurity of the tenure if a landlord decides to re-let or sell the property; and the aspirations of people to own their own home. It is strongly recommended that the Council considers whether a larger adjustment to the housing target should be made to increase affordable housing delivery and reduce such reliance on the PRS sector. This is considered especially important in an Authority such as Guildford where lack of supply and affordability in the owner-occupied sector pushes market demand into the PRS sector which, due to finite supply, then pushes up rents and directly competes with those relying on the tenure for affordable housing;

2. Table 48 does not appear to consider affordable housing need arising from newly forming households which the Council should confirm with GL Hearn, especially in an Authority within which household formation rates have been historically supressed;

3. Whilst the SHMA is correct in ensuring that double-counting does not take place when one affordable home is vacated to allow for occupation by an alternative household in affordable housing need, the Council should satisfy itself that this assumption allows for some flexibility where affordable housing is vacated but is not available for reoccupation due to it being unsuitable for habitation;

4. There does not appear to be an assessment regarding existing affordable housing stock and whether an increase in the housing target could deliver a more appropriate range of unit types and sizes to meet up-to-date housing needs evidence.

Economic Growth

The PPG advises that “Plan makers should make an assessment of the likely change in job numbers based on past trends and/or economic forecasts as appropriate and also having regard to the growth of the working age population in the housing market area” (ref. ID: 2a-018-20140306).

The SHMA reports that for Guildford, workplace employment is anticipated to grow by between 6% and 1.1% per annum between 2013-33. To establish the change in the resident workforce required to match the forecasted number of jobs, the SHMA multiplies the commuting ratio by the amount of ‘double jobbing’ to achieve an adjustment factor. For Guildford, the increase in workforce jobs between 2013-33 of 17,738 equates to a change in the resident workforce of 15,307. The SHMA concludes that “… for the resident workforce to increase in line with the forecast number of jobs would require around 637 homes per annum to be delivered in Guildford ...”.

Whilst the SHMA adopts a ‘policy off’ approach to potential future changes in commuting patterns (para. 21), it is important for the Council to consider the recommendations made in respect of the relationship between future jobs growth and future housing growth, and existing commuting patterns. Para 5.19 of the SHMA explains that “the only area to see net in-commuting is Guildford where there are about 7,800 more people working in the Local Authority area than living there (and are working)”. This evident pattern of in-commuting reflects both the sub-regional economic role of Guildford (especially Guildford town) but also the lack of affordable market housing stock within the This level of in-commuting results in a variety of significant issues for the Borough including highway capacity (especially the A3), traffic congestion (especially Guildford town centre), air quality issues and others associated with significant daily commuting in and out of the Borough for employment. The Council should give serious consideration to whether an upward adjustment should be made to the housing target to not only ensure that the resident workforce increases in line with anticipated jobs growth, but also that there is a proactive policy response which attempts to reduce the level of in-commuting due to an increased number of more affordable homes available for local employees.

Market Signals

As previously discussed, the SHMA demonstrates that average house prices across the HMA are significantly above the south-east average, with entry level house prices circa 11 or more times the typical earnings of younger The SHMA concludes at para. 7.47 that “overall the analysis of market signals and affordable housing needs points clearly to higher affordability pressures in the HMA than in other parts of the country” (para. 7.47).

The PPG advises that “the more significant the affordability constraints (as reflected in rising prices and rents, and worsening affordability ratio) and the stronger other indicators of high demand (e.g. the differential between land prices), the larger the improvement in affordability needed and, therefore, the larger the additional supply response should be” (para. 020, ref ID: 2a-020-20140306).

The response of the SHMA to addressing some of the most unbalanced affordable market housing stock in the country, set against a background of historic under delivery of housing, is to provide an additional 103 homes across the HMA in order to “... return household formation rates of those aged 25-34 to 2001 levels by 2033”. Whilst we consider it robust to apply household formation rates to those age groups most likely to be trying to get onto the housing ladder, it is not considered that seeking to re-establish household formation rates seen in 2001 in 25-34 year olds by 2033 is sufficiently

In Guildford, the adjustment to address some of the worst affordability in the country equates to just 31 additional dwellings per It is considered that there is a real opportunity for the Council to make a demonstrable difference to affordability by not simply trying to re-establish 2001 household formation rates observable in 25-34 year olds by the very end of the Plan period, but significantly before that.

These are households that are unable to get on the housing ladder now and given that 2033 is 17 years away, even those that are 25 years old now, will no longer be in the age group from which the target is A whole decade of Guildford residents will continue to experience unaffordability and the Council should consider whether an increase in 31 dpa is a sufficiently proactive response given the extreme nature of housing need and affordability in Guildford and the wider HMA. One response may be for the Council to consider what the associated housing target increase would be if they sought to re-establish 2001 household formation rates in 25-34 year olds by a mid-point of 2025. The ability of the Council to truly improve affordability is further compounded by the housing strategy being focused on the delivery of longer-term, strategic scale sites rather than focusing upon the delivery of small to medium scale sites which can be brought forward earlier, making an immediate impact on availability of housing stock and associated affordability.

Establishing Full, Objectively Assessed Housing Need - Conclusions

Dandara Ltd is supportive of the Council in seeking to meet full, objectively assessed need as established by the 2015 West Surrey However, in order to ensure that the emerging Local Plan is in full accordance with the requirement of para. 47 of the NPPF to boost significantly housing supply and meet full, objectively assessed need for market and affordable housing, it is recommended that the Council revisit certain aspects of the methodology underpinning the SHMA:

- In respect of the robustness of the 2012 SNNP and whether they require adjustment, the Council should consider in further detail the impacts that historic under-delivery of housing and worsening affordability has had on past and projected rates of population growth, in-migration (domestic and international) and household formation rates and whether these require adjustment;
- In respect of affordable housing need, the Council should consider in further detail whether continued reliance on the PRS to provide circa 50% of affordable housing need in the Borough is justified given the characteristics of the tenure and the increasing pressure placed upon existing PRS properties in Guildford from market renters given affordability issues in the owner-occupied market;
• The Council should consider whether an upward adjustment should be made to the housing target to attempt to reduce rates of in-commuting into the Borough due to a lack of affordable market housing;
• The Council should consider re-establishing 2001 household formation rates earlier in the Plan period to deliver a demonstrable improvement in affordability for the generation that is currently priced out of the housing market.

Duty to Cooperate

Paragraph 178 of the NPPF makes it clear that Local Authorities have a duty to cooperate on planning issues that cross administrative boundaries, particularly in respect of the NPPF ‘strategic priorities’ set out in paragraph 156 which include Paragraph 179 advises that “Local Planning Authorities should work collaboratively with other bodies to ensure that strategic priorities across local boundaries are properly co-ordinated and are clearly reflected in individual Local Plans”. It then reiterates that “Joint working should enable Local Planning Authorities to work together to meet development requirements which cannot wholly be met within their own areas ...”.

The PPG recognises that the duty to cooperate is not a duty to agree but “... Local Planning Authorities should make every effort to secure the necessary cooperation on strategic cross boundary matters before they submit their Local Plans for examination”. The PPG goes on to state that Local Planning Authorities will “... need to bear in mind that the cooperation should produce effective and deliverable policies on strategic cross boundary matters” (para. 001, ref ID: 9-001-20140306).

Housing Market Area

The Council commissioned GL Hearn to prepare a Strategic Housing Market Assessment which, having regard to price trends and dynamics; commuting flows; and migration patterns, concluded that “... all three primary sources clearly demonstrate significant interaction between Guildford, Waverley and Working” to a degree that “... strongly supports defining these three Authorities within the same Housing Market Area” (para. 54).

Para 4 of the Topic Paper entitled ‘Housing Delivery’ (2016) recognises that in respect of housing delivery, “... there is currently unmet need arising within our HMA from Woking Borough Council”. Whilst Waverley Borough Council is currently preparing a new Local Plan which is proposing to meet the Authority’s own objectively assessed housing need in full, Woking Borough “... has an adopted housing requirement of 292 dwellings [per annum] (2010 – 2027) against an objectively assessed need of 517 [dwellings per annum]. There is therefore a shortfall of 225 homes per year between 2013 and 2027, a total of 3,150 homes”.

The SHMA provides evidence of a particularly strong relationship between Guildford and Working Boroughs including in respect of migration where there is an annual flow of almost 1,200 persons between the two Authorities (para. 31) alongside a strong economic relationship where “the strongest commuting flow from Woking is to Guildford ...” (para. 2.43). Having regard to the NPPF and PPG, there is thus a strong case to be made that Guildford should be seeking to accommodate some of the unmet housing need originating in Woking Borough given the particularly strong relationships between the two, evidenced by migration and employment flows between these two members of the West Surrey HMA. The PPG advises that “the aim is to encourage positive, continuous partnership working on issues that go beyond a single Local Planning Authority’s area” (para. 008, ref ID: 9-008-20140306).

Guildford Borough Response

The Council has prepared a Topic Paper entitled ‘Duty to Cooperate’ (2016). It recognises that the Council, alongside Waverley and Woking Boroughs, worked together to commission a SHMA in recognition of strong inter-relationships within the HMA, including housing. As previously discussed, the Topic Paper recognises that “... there is currently unmet need arising within our HMA from Working Borough Council”. In response, the three Authorities are understood to be in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground on housing delivery which “... recognises that there is unmet need within the HMA and commits the three Authorities to continued future joint working to ensure that as far as possible, and subject to the policies in the NPPF, housing needs across the HMA are met in full” (para. 42).

Despite the rhetoric associated with the preparation of a Statement of Common Ground relating to unmet housing delivery within the HMA, the Topic Paper would appear to suggest that, having regard to the Councils Sustainability Appraisal (SA) and policies contained in the NPPF, the emerging Local Plan is seeking to deliver a housing figure which should be considered as the maximum without any scope to address unmet housing need arising within the The Council is clear that “... we do not consider that we can sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking ...”.

Having regard to the Council’s ‘Housing Delivery’ and ‘Duty to Cooperate’ Topic Papers (2016), it is evident that the Council’s position is that the Authority is only able to accommodate the number of new homes required to meet Guildford’s own objectively assessed housing need and that any housing numbers in excess of this, would fundamentally conflict with policies contained in the NPPF and the achievement of sustainable development. The Council is not therefore suggesting a review of the Local Plan following culmination of on-going work to prepare a Statement of Common Ground as their position is clear that the Borough cannot accommodate any additional homes to assist neighbouring Working Borough in meeting their housing need as this would result in fundamental conflicts with NPPF policy and the achievement of sustainable development.

Dandara Ltd does not however accept that the Council has presented robust evidence to demonstrate that the Authority is unable to accommodate any additional housing to assist Woking Borough with meeting its own unmet need for the following principal reasons:

1. Sustainability Appraisal – the 2016 Sustainability Appraisal (SA) tests a variety of housing delivery options ranging from meeting objectively assessed need for Guildford Borough only up to an OAN plus 34% Whilst the SA strongly recommends that the two bookend options are rejected – OAN only and OAN plus 34% - it concludes that “the mid-range options are all associated with pros and cons, and necessitate close consideration” (non-technical summary, Table 3). The Council cannot therefore use the conclusions of the SA to suggest that the Borough cannot accommodate any unmet housing need arising from Woking Borough as apart from the OAN plus 34% option, the SA concludes that all other options that deliver in excess of OAN, including OAN up to 30%, should be afforded careful and close consideration. There is no evidence that the Council has undertaken this additional assessment work in the context of the Duty to Cooperate;

2. Green Belt – It is recognised that the NPPF allows the Green Belt to be taken as a finite constraint when considering the levels of housing to be accommodated within an individual Local Authority area. However, as explained earlier in these representations, the Council commissioned a Green Belt and Countryside Study which in 2014, identified a number of Potential Development Areas (PDAs) within the Green Belt which were recommended for further assessment to establish their development. These PDAs were identified through a robust four stage assessment process which included:

- sub-dividing the Guildford Green Belt into individual land parcels;
- assessing the degree to which each land parcel contributes to the purposes of the Green Belt;
- assessing the sustainability credentials;
- assessing the environmental capacity of the land parcels to accommodate appropriate.

Dandara Ltd’s site off Shere Road in West Horsley was identified as PDA E4-B but has been provided with no further detailed assessment by the Council to justify why it is not proposed for allocation for The only justification provided to date concerns the application of a latter macro scale ‘Green Belt Sensitivity’ layer which is addressed in detail earlier in these representations. The Council’s own evidence base therefore identifies a range of PDAs which have been subject to robust assessment within the independent Green Belt and Countryside Study and recommended for further. These PDAs would allow the Council to consider increasing its housing delivery target to assist Woking Borough address unmet need without fundamentally conflicting with the five principal Green Belt purpose tests. The PDAs were specifically identified as being capable of accommodating development without undermining the principal objectives of the Guildford Borough Green Belt:

“The Study intends to provide the Council with sufficient flexibility to allocate the necessary number of village PDAs and through consideration of the Green Belt purposes score, sustainability rankings and environmental constraints, allows for comparison between those PDAs that have been identified, prior to potential allocation by the Council” (para. 4.9).

Unmet Need from London

The Topic Paper entitled ‘Duty to Cooperate’ (2016) recognises that the recently adopted 2015 FALP is unable to meet full, objectively assessed housing need derived from the London Boroughs, with a shortfall of circa 7,000. The Topic Paper recognises that the West Surrey SHMA indicates “... increased out migration from London into Guildford with an increase of 51 dwellings per year for Guildford above the demographic projection [568 homes per annum]”. It however goes on to conclude that “... given this [51 dpa] is lower than the full OAN for Guildford of 693 homes per annum [including an uplift for economic and affordability factors], no further uplift is required in response to this” (para. 4.33).

The Council would appear to be acknowledging that there is a direct relationship between unmet housing need in London and the ability for Guildford to accommodate a proportion of this need given expected future increases in in-migration from London. However, it is not proposed to apply an uplift to the OAN figure on the basis that the 51 dwellings per year are able to be accommodated within the already uplifted housing delivery figure of 693 dwellings per year, applying economic and affordability factors. This however fundamentally misapplies the methodology underpinning the SHMA.

The 51 dpa need arising from London is in addition to need arising from economic and affordability factors which have been taken into account when calculating the As recognised within the West Surrey SHMA, “... there is a notable level of commuting from ... Guildford to London – with commuting of ... 9,000” (para. 2.46). The 51 dpa does not therefore fall within an adjustment to OAN based on future job creation in Guildford Borough nor to improve affordability for existing residents but rather to assist London Authorities with addressing some modest unmet need. The Council is not proposing an uplift to OAN to reflect unmet need of 51 dpa arising from London which should be given serious consideration taking into account the strong relationship Guildford has with London in respect of out-commuting for work and future in-migration.

Conclusion

The NPPF and PPG are clear that when Inspectors are considering whether a Local Authority has discharged their Duty to Cooperate, they must consider whether such engagement has resulted in the delivery of effective and deliverable policies on strategic cross boundary. The evidence base acknowledges that Guildford sits within an established HMA which collectively is unable to meet full, objectively assessed housing need. In addition, there is also unmet housing need originating in Greater London with which Guildford Borough has an established economic and in-migration relationship.

The Council is suggesting that despite a commitment to enter into a Statement of Common Ground intended to address unmet housing need, the Borough is unable to accommodate additional housing growth on behalf of Woking Borough or London due to finite constraints surrounding Green Belt coverage and the achievement of sustainable. These representations have demonstrated that the SA does not suggest that a higher level of housing growth cannot be sustainably accommodated within the Borough, up to OAN plus 30% worthy of further assessment, whilst the Green Belt and Countryside Study identifies a variety of PDAs which do not contribute to the five main purposes of the Guildford Green Belt and are worthy of further assessment.

In respect of land off Shere Road in West Horsley which was identified as PDA E4-B, the Council has not assessed the potential of the site to accommodate development in any further detail despite evidence provided by Dandara Ltd to demonstrate the limited contribution the site makes to the Green. It is therefore considered that the Council has not satisfactorily demonstrated that additional housing could not be accommodated within the Borough to address unmet need evident within the HMA and from London with both the SA and Green Belt and Countryside Study suggesting additional housing sites could be developed without fundamentally conflicting with policies contained in the NPPF.

At present, the proposed submission Local Plan is not considered to be sound as it has not been positively prepared with an absence of effective and deliverable policies to address unmet housing need within the. The evidence base does not justify why a higher housing delivery figure could not be accommodated within Guildford and as the PPG advises:

“The Duty to Cooperate requires Authorities to work effectively on strategic planning matters that cross their administrative boundaries. The Duty to Cooperate is not a duty to agree and Local Planning Authorities are not obliged to accept the unmet needs of other planning authorities if they have robust evidence that this would be inconsistent with the policies set out in the National Planning Policy Framework, for example policies on Green Belt, or other environmental constraints” (para. 021, ref ID: 9-021-20140410).

Summary and Conclusions

These representations conclude that the proposed submission Guildford Borough Local Plan is currently unsound for the following principal reasons:

- Guildford Borough has historically failed to meet its housing targets resulting in low levels of housing delivery, rising unaffordability and depressed rates of household formation;
• Over the first five years of the new Local Plan period, the Council expects to accrue a housing shortfall of minus 2,019 dwellings; In order to be considered effective and positively prepared, the new Local Plan should therefore be seeking to immediately address housing delivery shortfall experienced during the first five years of the Plan period and beyond, proactively boosting the availability and affordability of housing stock across the Borough; This strategy should be supplemented by a review of the SHMA to ensure that past trends of supressed housing supply, increasing unaffordability and depressed household formation rates are being factored into the eventual objectively assessed housing need figure; Instead, the housing and spatial strategy of the new Local Plan disproportionately focuses on the delivery of a small number of large-scale, strategic housing allocation sites which will deliver over 50% of total objectively assessed need; Due to the scale of these proposed housing allocation sites, they require significant improvements to strategic infrastructure, including highways, before they can be brought forward; The Local Plan expects that these strategic housing allocation sites will not begin to deliver new homes until at least 2021/22 which even then is uncertain due to timescales, costs, sources of funding and viability associated with the accompanying strategic infrastructure improvements; This strategy, dominated by large-scale and longer-term housing sites is unable to reinstall a five year housing land supply following adoption of the Plan in direct conflict with para. 47 of the NPPF; The imbalance of the housing strategy is demonstrated by the Council being required to deliver in excess of 1,100 dpa towards the end of the Plan period, being significantly in excess of the 693 dpa or any observable historic completion rates; This disproportionate reliance on such larger-scale and longer-term housing sites fails to address historic under-supply of housing, present rates of unaffordability and absence of a five year housing land supply meaning that the Plan cannot be considered justified as the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives; The evidence base underpinning the housing strategy comprises a Green Belt and Countryside Study which includes a range of Potential Development Areas (PDAs) in which development could be located without undermining the five principal purposes of the Guildford Green Belt;

• These PDAs include smaller and medium scale sites, such as land off Shere Road in West Horsley, which would be able to deliver housing in the shorter term to allow Guildford to reinstate a five year housing land supply and to immediately start addressing historic under-delivery and unaffordability;

• The Council has failed to adequately assess the full role that PDAs could play in delivering much needed short term housing supply by incorrectly and selectively applying a Green Belt sensitivity map as a finite constraint for certain sites located within wider, ‘high sensitivity’ parcels;

• This ‘macro scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map should not have been used by the Council to justify not assessing previously identified PDAs which were subject to much more robust, site specific assessment at a ‘micro scale’ which confirmed that their development would not undermine the Green Belt purposes of the wider parcel;

• Land to the west of Shere Road is one such PDA which is self-contained, visually and separately distinct from the wider ‘high sensitivity’ parcel and surrounded by existing urban influences such as the main A246 Epsom Road and housing;

• Land to the west of Shere Road was also assessed within the GBCS as being highly sustainable, the second most sustainable site in the Horsleys;

• By incorrectly applying the ‘macro scale’ Green Belt sensitivity map as a finite constraint for some sites and not others, for example Normandy / Flexford is located in a high sensitivity Green Belt parcel but is proposed for allocation for 1,100 new homes, the Council has developed an unsound housing strategy, unable to deliver sufficient housing over the early part of the Plan period;

• The Sustainability Appraisal recommends that the Council carefully considers options which could deliver in excess of OAN by up to 30% and has yet to test a scenario whereby PDAs surrounding existing villages deliver a higher quantum of new homes;

• By reassessing the potential for PDAs to deliver additional housing, the Council may also be able to consider whether they could assist neighbouring Authorities, particularly Woking Borough and the GLA, in delivering unmet need.

In order to be found sound, it is necessary for the LPA to revisit the housing strategy set out in the proposed submission draft Local Plan in order to increase the number of new homes deliverable in the earlier part of the Plan. This would ensure that the Plan is considered to be positively prepared, justified and effective by proactively addressing historic housing shortfalls as soon as possible, ensuring that a five year housing land supply is reinstated. Reducing or supplementing the focus on large-scale, strategic allocations which cannot come forward until the middle part of the Plan period due to associated infrastructure burdens would not only increase supply during the early years of the Plan, but would also allow the Council to realise a more equitable spread of development across the Borough through the allocation of smaller and medium scale sites.

As with land to the west of Shere Road, West Horsley, there are a range of previously identified, sustainable PDAs which do not contribute to the five main purposes of the Guildford Green Belt and are of a scale that would allow their delivery during the early part of the Plan. We would urge the Council to revisit their evidence base and to consider whether there are PDAs, such as Dandara’s site, which offer an opportunity to deliver much needed, short term housing without undermining any of the strategic purposes of the Guildford Green Belt.

A first draft of the Proposed Submission Local Plan was consulted upon during June and July 2016. Following receipt of consultation responses, alongside additional work on the supporting evidence base, the Council has made material changes to the document and are reconsulting specifically on these changes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

These representations supplement, and should be read alongside those prepared by Dandara Ltd for the 2016 Proposed Submission Local Plan.

They demonstrate significant deficiencies associated with the 2017 SHMA addendum which fails to identify full, objectively assessed need for market and affordable housing as required by the NPPF resulting in the Local Plan being unsound. Such deficiencies primarily focus upon excluding two years of housing need, being 2013-15 previously included within the 2015 SHMA, alongside over reliance upon 2016 post-Brexit economic forecasts which significantly divert from those used in the 2015 iteration with little interrogation or sensitivity testing of the inputs which is imperative given the uncertainties surrounding the Brexit process. The addendum also fails to apply an adequate housing uplift to positively address chronic affordability levels and rates of household formation suppression evident in Guildford alongside a rising student population.

The 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan remains fundamentally unsound due to an over reliance on large-scale, strategic housing allocations which are unable to deliver housing until later in the Plan period due to associated infrastructure challenges. This has resulted in the Council being unable to reinstate a five year housing land supply following adoption of the Plan, exacerbating short term housing delivery pressures and increasing unaffordability. Furthermore, it has forced the Council to propose a staggered housing target within Policy S2 of the Local Plan which reduces housing delivery below OAN during the early years of the Plan putting additional pressure on immediate housing supply, affordability and household formation. This is entirely unnecessary and avoidable given the availability of a range of small and medium scale sites including Potential Development Areas (PDAs).

The 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan recognises the desperate need to identify additional short to medium scale housing sites which can deliver new homes during the early part of the Plan period. This includes a commitment to reassessing all PDAs which were previously identified within the Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS) as not fundamentally contributing to the five NPPF Green Belt purposes. Despite the 2017 SA update acknowledging that there are sustainable options to deliver housing significantly above OAN, no serious assessment has been undertaken for PDAs and no additional PDAs have been allocated to boost housing delivery to meet objectively assessed need.

Taking land west of Shere Road in West Horsley as an example, the SA automatically rules out the PDA as a ‘given’ on the basis it was rejected by the 2016 Land Availability Assessment (LAA). However, the reason for exclusion in the LAA was that it was not considered to accord with the preferred spatial strategy, a spatial strategy which the SA update was tasked with reconsidering given a lack of short to medium term housing supply. It was also considered that the site fell within ‘high sensitivity’ Green Belt, albeit identification as a PDA clearly demonstrates the land as making no meaningful contribution to wider, strategic Green Belt purposes.

Finally, the Council attempt to suggest that the Horsleys cannot sustainably accommodate any additional housing numbers above those proposed for allocation in the 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan. This is completely unevienced especially given that the 2016 iteration proposed an additional 138 homes for the Horsleys which have since been removed. If the Council consider that the Horsleys can only sustainably accommodate a finite number of new homes, especially given chronic short term need, this must be fully evidenced alongside consideration of whether any adverse impacts can be mitigated alongside future development.

The Proposed Submission Local Plan is fundamentally unsound by failing the ‘positively prepared’ test which requires objectively assessed development needs to be met, including need arising from neighbouring authorities. Neither can the Plan be considered ‘justified’ as the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives given the availability of small and medium scale PDAs which can assist the Council with meeting a chronic need for short to medium term deliverable housing. The Council must include additional short to medium term housing sites to be found sound, with PDAs shown not to contribute to the five main Green Belt purposes representing an available, deliverable and evidenced source of additional supply.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2.0 Establishing Full, Objectively Assessed Housing Need

2.1 Para. 47 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires Local Authorities to boost significantly their supply of housing by using their evidence base to ensure that Local Plans meet full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in a housing market area.

2.2 The housing target within the 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan has reduced from 13,860 over the period 2013-33 to 12,426 over the period 2015-34. This represents a - 1,434 reduction in housing numbers compared with the 2016 iteration. Para. 2.9 of the 2017 Housing Delivery Topic Paper explains that “this factual update has resulted in a reduced objectively assessed need for Guildford from 693 homes per year (2013-33) to 654 homes per year (2015-2034). Over the Plan period, this has resulted in a reduction of approximately 1,400 homes”.

2.3 The Council consider that the revised housing target of 12,426 over the period 2015-34 accords with para. 47 of the NPPF as representing full, objectively assessed housing need (OAN) as established by the 2017 addendum report to the original 2015 West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA). We consider that there are numerous deficiencies and inconsistencies contained within the 2017 SHMA which demand a reassessment of the OAN baseline.

SHMA Plan Period

2.4 The original 2015 SHMA considered housing delivery over the twenty year period 2013-33. The 2017 SHMA addendum explains at para. 1.2 that the Plan period has been rolled forward to 2034, “... to ensure that it covers a 15 year... period from the point of adoption”. We have no objection to the Plan period being increased by one year to 2034. However, in parallel, and without justification, the start date of the Plan period has been brought forward by two years from 2013 (2015 SHMA) to 2015 (2017 SHMA).

2.5 No justification has been provided within the SHMA to explain why the Plan period, and thus the SHMA assessment period, has been brought forward to commence at 2015, covering a total of nineteen rather than twenty years. We consider that this approach is unsound for the following reasons:

(i) The 2017 SHMA addendum has effectively discounted two years of housing data that was previously assessed within the original 2015 SHMA as experiencing housing need of 693 dpa. The 2015 SHMA acknowledged that the OAN for the two year period 2013-15 was 1,386 homes (693 x 2) which was incorporated into the housing trajectory and five year housing land supply calculations for the original 2016 Proposed Submission Local Plan. The 2017 SHMA addendum has removed these two monitoring years with the only justification seemingly based on the unrelated requirement to extend the Plan period by a single year to 2034 (n.b. achieving 15 years post adoption). The effect of this is that two years of housing need experienced over the period 2013-15 have been removed from the emerging Local Plan, with any shortfall experienced effectively remaining unmet in perpetuity due to the Plan period now commencing from 2015;

(ii) Para. 3.3 of the 2017 SHMA addendum states that “the starting point is the base date for which up-to-date data is available on the Borough’s population and employment base”. However, this explanation does not justify why the SHMA base date of 2013 should be moved to 2015 with the loss of two years housing need data previously included in the 2015 SHMA. Planning Practice Guidance (PPG) is clear that “the 2012-2037 Household Projections were published on 27 February 2015, and are the most up-to-date estimate of future household growth” (para. 016, ref ID: 2a-016-20150227). The most up-to-date population and household projections published by DCLG which provide the starting point when assessing housing need therefore clearly covers the period 2013-15;

(iii) The 2017 Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper explains how Guildford Borough has worked with neighbouring HMA Authorities to prepare a joint SHMA. There is however no confirmation within the 2017 SHMA addendum that Waverley and Woking Councils have agreed to amend the SHMA assessment period from 2013-33 to 2015-34 which will fundamentally impact on the preparation of their requisite Local Plans. Guildford Borough should not unilaterally amend the SHMA assessment period without proper justification and agreement with partner Councils within the HMA. Para. 4.53 of the 2017 Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper recognises “whilst not fully consistent with the NPPF in relation to covering the entire housing market area, it [the 2017 SHMA addendum] nevertheless reassessed the HMA from a Guildford position …”.

2.6 The 2017 SHMA addendum contains no justification to explain why the housing need assessment period has been brought forward by two years to exclude the period 2013-15. Such a change would clearly benefit the Council by reducing the quantum of unmet housing need that has accumulated during the early part of the Plan period. This is a fundamentally unsound approach that exacerbates unmet housing need across the Borough, encouraging further worsening of affordability and suppression of household formation.

Demographic Projections

2.7 The 2017 SHMA addendum updates the 2012 ONS sub-national population projections (SNPP) and 2012 CLG household projections. As recognised by the PPG, “household projections published by the Department for Communities and Local Government should provide the starting point estimate of overall housing need” (para: 015, ref ID: 2a-015-20140306).

2.8 Starting with the ONS published SNPP, Table 3 of the 2017 SHMA demonstrates that population growth is projected to rise to a greater degree applying the 2014-based SNPP compared with the 2012-based SNPP. The up-to-date 2014-based SNPP suggests the population in Guildford will grow from 145,473 persons in 2015 to 167,126 persons in 2034, a rise of 21,652. This represents a population increase of + 2,271 when applying the 2017 SHMA addendum 2014-based SNPP compared with the earlier 2015 SHMA 2012-based SNPP.

2.9 Likewise, the SHMA addendum demonstrates that household numbers are also expected to rise to a greater degree applying the 2014 CLG household projections compared with the 2012 iteration. The up-to-date 2014 CLG projections suggest the number of households in Guildford Borough will grow from 56,843 in 2015 to 67,196 in 2034, a rise of 10,353.
This represents an overall increase in household numbers of +781 when applying the 2014 CLG household projections compared with the earlier 2012 version.

2.10 The 2017 SHMA addendum demonstrates that the 2014 based SNPP and household projections show a clear increase in population and household growth compared with the 2012 iteration which was the basis of the original 2015 SHMA. Following close interrogation of these changes, the 2017 SHMA addendum advises at para. 3.27 that “… we conclude that the 2014-based SNPP for Guildford Borough are technically sound”.

2.11 Whilst the 2014 based SNPP projects higher population growth than the earlier 2012 based iteration, interrogation of the ONS published 2015 mid-year population estimates (MYEs) suggests that the SNPP may be under-estimating growth. Whereas the 2014-based SNPP projected that the population of Guildford would grow by 2,515 persons over the period 2014-15, which itself was higher than the 2012 based SNPP, the MYEs suggest even higher growth at 3,122 representing a difference of +607 persons.

2.12 A consistent pattern therefore emerges of increasing population and household projection growth moving from the 2012-based SNPP and household projections to the 2014-based iterations and then sense checking against the 2015 MYEs.

2.13 It is recognised that the PPG allows for sensitivity testing of the demographic baseline with “… any local changes would need to be clearly explained and justified on the basis of established sources of robust evidence” (para: 017, ref ID: 2a-017-20140306). The 2017 SHMA addendum has therefore considered four alternative population growth projections as set out in Table 7 being:

(i) 2014 based SNPP;

(ii) 2014 based SNPP plus 2015 MYE;

(iii) 10 year migration period feeding into 2014 based SNPP;

(iv) 10 year migration period feeding into 2014 based SNPP plus UPC.

2.14 Looking at projected population growth, there is a very close correlation between scenarios (i), (ii) and (iii) with a difference of less than 750 persons over the period 2015 to 2034 (39 per year).

2.15 There is a similar pattern when the four SNPP based scenarios are converted into household need with scenarios (i) to (iii) all being very similar, projecting a change in household numbers over the period 2015-34 of between 10,350 and 10,849.

2.16 There is a clear discrepancy within the 2017 SHMA regarding the application of scenario (iv) which applies unattributed population change (UPC). Table 7, population growth, shows scenario (iv) as a clear outlier, being a significant 6,437 persons less than the closest next scenario whereas the difference between scenarios (i) to (iii) is less than 750 persons. A similar level of discrepancy is also evident within Table 9 which considers household growth. The 2017 SHMA addendum agrees that this scenario is unrepresentative, with para. 3.53 advising that “adjusting projections fully for UPC has been criticised by Planning Inspectors, is an approach which has been rejected by ONS and there is a lack of clear evidence that it can be fully attributed to an over-estimation of migration and to migration estimates over the period post 2005”. Para. 3.39 is more explicit:

“… this scenario needs to be treated with a degree of caution, it is based on population trends from 2005 onwards and is modelling what is potentially an extreme position where UPC is attributed in full to migration”.

2.17 The 2017 SHMA addendum concludes that “the 2014 SNPP adjusted for the latest MYEs would however represent an equivalent projection to that from which the demographic conclusions in the 2015 West Surrey SHMA were derived” (para. 3.54) with the recommendation that “at the present time, GL Hearn consider that using the latest official projections (including with adjustments such as 10-year migration trends) will provide the best estimates of future needs” (para. 3.77).

2.18 Whilst the conclusion to the 2017 SHMA addendum recognises that applying demographic scenarios (i) to (iv) would give a housing need range of between 521-584 dpa, averaging 552 dpa, it advises that the demographic evidence does not justify deviating from the official 2014-based SNPP and CLG household projections due to there being “… no basis for adjusting recent demographic projections for UPC” (para. 8.6).

2.19 It is therefore evident that scenario (iv) should be excluded not only due to concerns regarding UPC raised within the report but also because the close correlation of scenarios (i) to (iii). We consider that scenario (ii) should form the basis of the demographic baseline for the Guildford Borough Local Plan given the robustness of the 2014-based SNPP coupled with ‘sense checking’ against actual MYEs. This would give an annual housing need of 577 dpa.

Employment Growth

2.20 The 2017 SHMA addendum has considered updated econometric forecasts published in late 2016 by Oxford Economics, Cambridge Econometrics and Experian. Despite applying the same methodology to calculate change in workplace employment – para. 5.9 of 2015 SHMA and para. 4.6 of 2017 SHMA addendum – there are significant differences in workplace employment between the two SHMA iterations which is the largest single contributor to the reduced housing target at Policy S2 of the 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan.

2.21 Para. 4.7 of the 2017 SHMA addendum explains that “… AECOM calculate that workplace employment in Guildford between 2015 and 2034 is anticipated to grow by 12,893. This represents a reduction of 4,845 net additional jobs from the previous version of this calculation (17,738) issued in August 2015 …”. Whilst it is recognised that the Plan period has reduced from 20 years to 19 years, this still represents a dramatic reduction from 887 jobs per annum within the 2015 SHMA to 679 jobs per annum in the 2017 SHMA addendum. This represents a reduction in annual workplace job growth of 23%.

2.22 Despite this significant discrepancy between the 2015 and 2017 SHMA, there is little assessment of the cause of the reduction within the SHMA addendum itself and certainly no sensitivity testing looking at past workplace job growth trends. A summary of the principal changes contained within the 2017 SHMA addendum are explained within para. 4.40 of the 2017 Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper which states “the addendum sits alongside and supplements the West Surrey SHMA. It takes account of the latest population and household projections, the latest post-Brexit economic projections and the latest 2015 mid-year population estimate”.

2.23 The PPG advises that “Plan makers should make an assessment of the likely change in job numbers based on past trends and/or economic forecasts as appropriate …” (para 018, ref ID: 2a-018-20140306). Whilst we do not doubt that ‘Brexit’ will impact upon economic development and job creation, currently there is little certainty regarding the form that Brexit will take from an economic perspective including future trade arrangements with the EU and the rest of the world. In particular:

- Any economic forecasts published in late 2016 will have likely been influenced by the premise of a ‘hard Brexit’ which, following the general election and the failure of the Conservatives to secure a parliamentary majority, may be significantly paired back to ensure a majority is achieved on key votes in parliament;

- It is likely that any firm agreement on economic and trade terms will not be known for some time as negotiations prioritise the status of EU / UK nationals, costs associated with leaving the EU and the Northern Ireland and RoI border;

- There remains little clarity on how the post-Brexit trading relationship with the EU will be structured. A wide range of scenarios remain available from a complete break reverting to WTO rules to maintaining tariff and customs free access;

- There also remains little clarity on potential trade deals with non-EU countries and the impact or rebalancing this could have on economic growth and job creation in the UK.

2.24 We are not suggesting that Brexit should not be considered within economic and job creation forecasts but the 2017 SHMA addendum has solely based workplace employment growth over the period 2015-34 on late 2016 post-Brexit projections. This is particularly concerning not only due to inherent uncertainties regarding the terms of Brexit but also having regard to the significant reduction in projected jobs growth compared with the 2015 SHMA. We consider there to be five urgent workstreams required:

(i) The 2017 SHMA addendum must include significant interrogation of the three post-Brexit economic forecasts used to understand the assumptions they are making regarding Brexit. It is only through interrogation that it would be possible to understand the terms of Brexit that the three forecasts are anticipating and to then consider these terms moving forward as detailed Brexit negotiations proceed;

(ii) In parallel, the differences between the economic forecasts contained in the 2015 SHMA and the 2017 SHMA addendum should be made clear to allow an assessment of the projected main impacts of Brexit on the Guildford economy. Clearly the economic impact of Brexit, assuming this was known, will differ depending upon the make-up of the economy and the extent of trade, labour and import / export links with the EU. As an example, para. 3.73 of the 2017 SHMA update notes that “Guildford sees a lower proportion of EU in-migrants than was the case at a regional / nation level. This would suggest that the migration impact of Brexit might be less in the Borough than other locations …”;

(ii) As with demographic projections, it is imperative that employment and job creation forecasts are sensitivity tested. As an example, it is unclear how the post-Brexit job growth forecast of 679 per annum compares against job growth figures over past recessionary and non-recessionary periods;

(iv) It is important that there is no double-counting regarding the potential impact of Brexit between demographic projections and economic forecasts. For example, para. 3.23 of the 2017 SHMA addendum notes that the 2014-based SNPP projects net international migration to the UK falling from 329,000 in 2014/15 to 185,000 by 2020/12 which is likely to take into account changing EU migration levels associated with Brexit;

(v) It is imperative that the post-Brexit reduction in jobs is considered alongside the objectives of the M3 LEP as well as economic policies contained within the 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan.

2.25 We strongly consider that the approach of the 2017 SHMA addendum to projecting future workplace jobs growth is unsound being based upon narrow post-Brexit forecasts with no critical assessment or sensitivity testing considering both the inherent uncertainties of the terms of Brexit and the large discrepancy between the 2015 SHMA and 2017 update. Box 6.7 of the SA recognises the impact that this has had on the overall Local Plan housing target “the addendum finds a need for a very small uplift of just 2 dpa, which is a considerable deviation from the SHMA 2015 (120 dpa). This is primarily because updated employment forecasts (from Nov / Dec 2016) are lower …”.

2.26 When looking at potential uplifts to the demographic baseline to support economic growth and job creation, para. 4.26 of the 2017 SHMA addendum explains that “the 2014-based SNPP scenarios would support between 12,700 – 12,800 jobs …”. Whilst this closely aligns with the post-Brexit 2016 economic forecasts used within the 2017 SHMA addendum, it is evident that it is significantly below the 17,738 jobs projected within the 2015 SHMA.

2.27 There is a real risk that even if one takes a mid-point between the post-Brexit 2016 projections and the original 2015 SHMA projections, there would be a significant shortfall in housing delivery to support projected jobs growth. This would result in economic growth being stifled by lack of housing supply resulting in exacerbated levels of in-commuting, housing price rises (including rental) and decreasing levels of affordability. We therefore consider that an uplift significantly larger than the paltry 2 dpa proposed above the demographic 2014-based SNPP plus MYE of 577 dpa is required to support economic growth.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Introduction

On behalf of our client, Mr Kevin Soobadoo, we submit representations to the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan (Regulation 19) consultation. Our representation relates to the proposed amendments to the Green Belt boundary at Flexford which affect our client’s property, ‘Westholme’, Green Lane East. A site location plan is attached (see Enc.1). Photos of the site and surroundings are attached (see Enc.2).

We are surprised by the removal of the site from the inset boundary as it had previously been included in the Preferred Options proposals map. Similarly, we are also concerned about the way in which the inset boundary for Flexford has been assessed in the Green Belt and Countryside Study (Volume IV).

Based on national planning policy, and the methodology used by the Council, we consider that the property should be removed from the Green Belt and be included within the revised inset boundary for Flexford.

National Planning Policy

We acknowledge that the Council has made clear reference to Section 9: Protecting the Green Belt (paragraphs 79-92) of the National Planning Policy Framework to assess the Green Belt. Paragraph 79 states that ‘the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and permanence’.

The NPPF goes on to state that ‘Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances through the preparation or review of the Local Plan’ (paragraph 83). ‘When drawing up or reviewing Green Belt boundaries, local planning authorities should take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development’ (paragraph 84).

In addition, paragraph 85 states that ‘when defining boundaries, local planning authorities should:’

- Ensure consistency with the Local Plan strategy for meeting identified requirements for sustainable development;
- Not include land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open;
- Where necessary, identify in their plans areas of ‘safeguarded land’ between the urban area and the Green Belt, in order to meet longerterm development needs stretching well beyond the plan period;
- Make clear that the safeguarded land is not allocated for development at the present time. Planning permission for the permanent development of safeguarded land should only be granted following a local plan review which proposes the development;
- Satisfy themselves that Green Belt boundaries will not need to be altered at the end of the development plan period; and
- Define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to permanent.’

Critique of the Methodology

We consider that the bullet points highlighted bold under paragraph 85 (above) are most relevant to redefining the Green Belt boundary as the other four purposes relate to more strategic matters. However, the newly proposed western extension of the inset boundary (north of Green Lane East and west of Westwood Lane) fails to identify land that achieves these two key purposes. The alterations are therefore inconsistent with national policy as required under NPPF paragraph 182.

To demonstrate our concerns, we have analysed the robustness of the three stage methodology used to assess the contribution in which the open character of a village makes to the openness of the Green Belt.
Stage 1: Assessing the degree of openness within each village through analysis of village form, density and extent of existing developed land

We understand that the purpose of stage 1 was to map the detailed locations of developed and open areas and determine how they relate to the openness of the wider Green Belt. Through site survey and aerial imagery, it was identified that the Local Plan (2003) settlement boundary did not represent the entire village area and that development extending beyond the settlement boundary could be perceived as being part of the same village. It was considered appropriate to map the ‘extent of the perceived village area’ including areas of development located outside of the adopted Local Plan settlement boundary that were reasonably considered to be part of the same village.

However, having reviewed the stage 1 map for Flexford, we have identified that it fails to include ‘Westholme’ in the extent of the perceived village area. Given that all properties along (and accessed via) Green Lane East, except ‘Westholme’ have been included in stage 1, we consider that it would be inconsistent not to include it. As a result, we have categorised ‘Westholme’, as medium density development. This is based on there being several buildings within a medium scale garden plot and that the level of density is comparable to dwellings earmarked at 1G on the Stage 1 map for Flexford.

Our assessment of the level of development has been prepared using the density definitions detailed in paragraph 13.13 of the Green Belt and Countryside Study (Volume IV). We have created an amended stage 1 map to illustrate our interpretation of the perceived extent of the village area and edited the description under 1G (see Enc.3). We consider this to be a much more consistent approach.

Stage 2

The purpose of stage 2 was to survey the extent of defensible Green Belt boundaries within each village.

Paragraph 13.17 of the Green Belt and Countryside Study (Volume IV) states that ‘if land is physically enclosed by topography and/or vegetation there would be little opportunity to observe the land in question, and little opportunity to perceive how such land could significantly contribute to openness in Green Belt terms, thus limiting its opportunity to contribute to the openness of the area to any significant degree or attach any sense of importance’.

It continues by suggesting ‘that in these circumstances...the land will be unable to make an important contribution either literally or perceptually, and therefore can be argued as unnecessary in designation terms and could justifiably be excluded from the Green Belt in accordance with the NPPF’.

For a village to be potentially inset within the Green Belt, it would need to be demonstrated that recognisable, defensible and permanent Green Belt boundaries could be provided that would endure in the long term. Paragraph 13.19 states that ‘recommended boundaries include treebelts, woodlands and hedgerows...such features are clearly recognisable, and with regards to permanence will often be in place as long as, if not longer than, much built development’.

Having reviewed the map for stage 2, we note that the tree belt that makes up the northern boundary of ‘Westholme’ is illustrated. These are dense, coniferous trees and approximately 10m in height. However, the map fails to recognise the permanent hedgerow along the western boundary. To demonstrate this, we include on-the-ground photographs of both the western and northern boundary (see Enc.2).

This images provide appropriate evidence that the property has a permanent and recognisable, defensible boundary along the northern and western perimeter and is therefore in accordance with the way in which Green Belt boundaries should be defined under NPPF paragraph 85. There is therefore no reason why the revised inset boundary should not include ‘Westholme’ in defensible boundary terms.

We have also prepared an amended stage 2 map highlighting the hedgerow along the western boundary (see Enc.4).

We understand that the purpose of stage 3 was to assess the suitability of each village, as a whole, to be inset from the Green Belt. Whilst the village of Flexford is proposed to be inset from the Green Belt, the proposed inset boundary does not reflect the requirements of NPPF paragraph 85 as it continues to include land which is unnecessary to be kept permanently open and does not follow clear, defensible boundaries.
We therefore raise concern about the newly proposed boundary at section 3E illustrated on the map for stage 3. The map states that the village was considered suitable for inserting within the designated Green Belt due to ‘hedgerows and treebelts to the west of Westwood Lane between Green Lane East and the railway line’. However, if the revised boundary were to follow hedgerows and treebelts to the west of the village, then ‘Westholme’ should be incorporated into the insetting of the boundary. This is based on the defensible boundary along the northern and western boundary illustrated on map 2 (see Enc.4).

Furthermore, ‘Westholme’ does not contribute to the openness of the Green Belt. The reasons are as follows:

- The large, mature and dense conifer trees along the northern boundary prevents the land from contributing to the openness of the Green Belt to any significant degree or attach any sense of importance all year round (see Enc.2);
- The western side of the property is narrower than the eastern side. This means that there is less open land which contributes to the openness of the Green Belt (see Enc.2); and
- The land as a whole is surrounded by development - A temporary traveller pitch is located to the north of the property, ‘Tollerton’ is situated to the west and there is high density housing running along the eastern and southern boundaries. The property is not visible from the open part of the Green Belt to the north west (see Enc.2).

It is evident from our research that ‘Westholme’ is surrounded by a clear, defensible boundary and that it does not contribute to the openness of the Green Belt. With properties up to ‘Roffey’ on Green Lane East proposed for inclusion in the insetting boundary, the inclusion of ‘Westholme’ would not result in an irregular anomaly protruding into the Green Belt. It would instead align with ‘Roffey’ to form a clearly defined and logical edge to the revised inset boundary.

We have prepared an amended version of the stage 3 map to illustrate this (see Enc.5).

Inclusion of ‘Westholme’ within Preferred Options Consultation

We have also reviewed the previous consultations and note that ‘Westholme’ was proposed to be inset from the Green Belt boundary in the Preferred Options version of the Plan. However, it no longer appears in the Submission Version of the Local Plan, presumably due to the removal of land to the north east of Green Lane East as a proposed site allocation for four traveller pitches.

However, the inclusion of land to the north east of Green Lane East should not have been a contributing factor in determining whether ‘Westholme’ be inset from the Green Belt. This demonstrates that the Council has reviewed the evidence base for Flexford, particularly the map at Stage 2, and concluded that there is a clear defensible boundary to the north of the site (refer to 2L – hedgerow between Westwood Lane and the railway) and does not contribute to the openness of the Green Belt.

Proposed amendments to policy wording

Following our review of the Submission Local Plan, our client is concerned that the Submission Local Plan is unsound for the following reasons:

The Green Belt and Countryside Study (Volume IV) fails to present the most appropriate strategy for a newly revised inset boundary at Flexford. The Proposals Map for Flexford is therefore not justified.

The newly revised inset boundary at Flexford fails to meet the criteria for defining Green Belt boundaries under NPPF paragraph 85. The Proposals Map for Flexford is therefore inconsistent with national policy.

We request the following amendments are made to the Local Plan:

Redefine the western extension of the Flexford inset boundary as shown on our version of the stage 3 map.

Amend the Proposals Map to accompany Policy P2 - Green Belt.

Re Local Plan

I write to object to Guildford Borough’s Draft Local Plan as detailed below. Please show my comments to the Planning Inspector who will decide about the Local Plan. Please also acknowledge receipt of this letter.

1. General Evidence and Policies
   1. Housing Requirement: I OBJECT to the figure of 693 houses required per annum as being too high. Guildford Borough Council will not publish any details regarding how this figure was derived or to support it. It is therefore impossible to support the sudden increase in housing plans from previous years figures of 322.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
General Policies relating to Send Parish. Sites (A42, A43, A43a, A44)

1. Send Removal from Green Belt: I OBJECT to removal of Send from the Green Belt as this will remove part of the necessary buffer between Guildford and Woking, increasing the risk that a large conurbation will form. There are no exceptional circumstances that justify the removal.

2. Building on Current Green Belt land: I OBJECT to the proposed development sites current Green Belt sites at Clockbarn Nurseries, Garlick’s Arch, and Send Hill since there are no special or exceptional circumstances which justify removal of their Green Belt status.

3. Due process: I OBJECT to the proposed development sites at Clockbarn Nurseries, Garlick’s Arch, and Send Hill since they were not included in the previous Draft Local Plan consultation exercise in 2014. Send sites were all substantially changed without the proper two-stage process of consultation being followed, unlike the rest of the Guildford Borough.

4. Traffic levels and associated environmental issues: I OBJECT to the proposed Burnt Common interchange that will increase both traffic movement levels through the Parish and the level of traffic related pollutants over wide areas in the Parish.

5. Housing Numbers: I OBJECT to development of sites at Clockbarn Nurseries, Garlick’s Arch, and Send Hill since the number of houses proposed (485 + 2 traveller pitches) will increase the number of houses in Send by 25% which is incompatible with maintaining Send’s current rural nature.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

b. Garlic’s Arch and Burnt Common Interchange (site nos. A43 and A43a)

1. Outside current development boundary: I OBJECT since this development lies outside the existing housing outline of the village, and should therefore be deleted to avoid both loss of green belt land and creeping development between Send, Woking, and Guildford.

2. Traffic Infrastructure Capacity: I OBJECT to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common since this would generate significant new traffic movements that surrounding roads cannot accommodate.

3. Traffic Infrastructure Evidence: I further OBJECT to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common since associated transport evidence is incomplete and does not justify additional A3 access at this location.
4. General Infrastructure: I OBJECT to development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses as there is insufficient infrastructure to support the development, including utilities, social amenities, schooling, public transport, and medical facilities.

5. Industrial use: I OBJECT to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is not a sustainable development. It is removed from the major population centres in Guildford and Woking necessitating a large increase in public transport services and/or major additional traffic movements for staff travel and business logistics. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space within the Borough it should be located at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available and where it would be largely welcomed.

6. Flooding: I OBJECT to development at Garlick’s Arch. This area is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher flood risk area than the Council’s own assessment and has flooded many times in recent years. Therefore the Council’s own assessment is invalid and the site must not be developed.

7. Environment: I OBJECT to the destruction of the Ancient Woodland on the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

3. Specific Sites

   1. Send Hill (site no. A44)
   2. Site Access: I OBJECT since this development will increase traffic along Send Hill. This is a very narrow road (or lane) that, for one third of its length, permits only single file traffic. Any increase in traffic volumes must increase the risk of accidents. I have already witnessed several occasions where two cars only just missed hitting each other (i.e. coming head to head). I personally avoid using this road due to the perceived risk of a serious accident. In addition the junction between Send Hill and Potters Lane is hazardous, due to poor sight lines, with numerous accidents observed.
   3. Flooding: I OBJECT since part of the site comprises a bowl formation that has flooded most winters for many years. This, together with a large pond on adjacent land, indicates a high water table in this area. Any disturbance to the site would possibly alter the water table thus causing flooding to adjacent properties.
   4. Site Contamination: I OBJECT since Guildford Borough Council used the site as a refuse tip/landfill site for many years. The site is therefore unsuitable for development on health grounds.
   5. Site Over development: I OBJECT since the site is too small for the proposed uses.
   6. Outside current development boundary: I OBJECT since this development lies outside the existing housing outline of the village, and should therefore be refused to avoid both loss of green belt land and creeping development between Send, Woking, and Guildford.
   7. Increased demand on village services: I OBJECT since this proposed development will add additional houses to the existing village stock, thereby increasing demands on existing village services, e.g. schools and health services. These are already recognised as being oversubscribed. Any development, which further increases demand, must be deferred until after additional investment by the Borough/County has increased their capacities.
   8. Loss of amenity: I OBJECT since the site has been used as a public open space for many, many years. It is understood the timescale is such as to confer the formal status and protection of Public Open Space status to the site, which then prohibits development.
9. Loss of amenity: I OBJECT since the site is part of the rural nature of this part of Send. Adding houses, and associated access/service roads, will detract from this setting, be visible for long distances, and will adversely alter the character of the area. In particular, scenic views to and from the River Way and St Mary’s Church will be adversely impacted

b. Building on Current Green Belt land: I OBJECT to the proposed development of current Green Belt sites at Clockbarn Nurseries, Garlick’s Arch, and Send Hill since there are no special circumstances which justify removal of their Green Belt status.

c. Process: I OBJECT to the failure of Guildford Borough Council to identify sufficient brownfield sites within existing urban areas that should be targeted for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt.

d. Process: I OBJECT to the failure of Guildford Borough Council to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the overall Local Plan.

I am writing with regard to the local plan and am acting for the owners of a plot of land in West Horsley/Ockham. In your previous consultations, we proposed the inclusion of this plot as a potential development site but it was not added. From reviewing the sites that are currently proposed, we still believe that ours has significant advantages over many of those proposed. In particular, it is on one of the main roads through the villages and so it has immediate access to the road network without the addition of additional infrastructure. It is also opposite the houses on Ockham Road North and so residents are used to this aspect as they enter the village.
I attach the original estate agent particulars and am referring to Plot 1 which is 7.85 acres in size (approximately 3 hectares). We would ask that you reconsider this plot with a view to including it in the Plan.

Allowing Green Belt development to pay for transport schemes will simply generate yet more traffic from more homes, fuelling congestion.

I oppose unjustified Green Belt development.

It is irresponsible to squander every last resort greenfield site in a single Plan, robbing future generations.

Brownfield opportunities are being ignored – we need homes in the centre (not 40% more shops), much more accommodation on campus for students, and homes for the elderly to free up family houses.

Site A42 Clockbarn Nursery in Tannery Lane  Flooding is a concern on this site, as it has been flooded in the past. It would also increase traffic along the narrow lane which is already under stress from existing traffic flows. There is no mention of plans to improve or widen Tannery Lane or its junction with the A247

Site A43 Garlick’s Arch will add 400 homes and 7000 sqm of various types of employment space as well as a new 4-way junction for the A3 which is need to enable development of the sites at Gosden Hill and Wisley. This site presents a significant change from the Regulation 18 consultation in 2014, where it was never mentioned or considered - this is a massive change at very late notice. The impact on local services and infrastructure by residents of 400 new homes and additional HGV traffic will be huge and no mention is made of this nor any mitigations

Site A44 Land at Wind’s Ridge and Send Hill, This is, like Garlick’s Arch, is a new addition to the LP and has not been seen before by residents. No consultation has been made - GBC has simply made a proposal, more likely with developers than residents. Anecdotal evidence suggests this site has previously been a landfill site and not suited to the proposed development

Recent developments in Send have clearly targeted the affluent commuter and are well beyond the reach of local residents, causing the break-up of family units as our children cannot afford a home in Send when they leave the family home. The Local Plan is targeting 40% of all new homes to be affordable housing but as Send is not exempt from the right to buy, affordable housing cannot automatically be secured in perpetuity. So that affordable housing will continue to meet local needs it should be allocated to people with a local connection to the parish (through residence, employment or close family), followed by those with a local connection to adjacent parishes within the borough who meet the criteria, and finally those with a connection to the borough of Guildford. The homes should not be affordable only to those who commute to jobs in London and have no connection to the community of Send or local employment.

Under this policy Send will be removed from the Green Belt which means that all areas within the settlement boundary will no longer be afforded Green Belt protection. The GBC suggest that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed. I do not agree that these exceptional circumstances have been proved in the case of Send, when many suitable brownfield / non Green Belt sites remain for consideration.

The GBC survey totals 10395. This annual number is higher that the number which originally raised concern during the 2014 consultation and so it seems that the figure has been raised despite objections and revised evidence. The sites in or adjacent to Send will delivery almost half of this number. The Garlicks Arch proposal was added very late, without any local engagement and without any time for consultation to take place at any level in the drafting of the plan, which I think is unacceptable and undemocratic, denying meaningful consultations with residents in a timely fashion.

I am writing today with some objections to the proposed local plan.

In particular, I object to the density of new housing in the Send area over the next 15 years. I believe that this will damage the rural feel of Send and surrounding areas and the infrastructure in place is not adequate to sustain this increase. I do however support the development of the Wisley airfield area as this would allow for families that live and work in the London/ M25 corridor to travel without having an impact on the A3/ local send roads area. (Number of houses – The GBC Spatial Strategy which plans delivery of 693 homes per year from 2018 for 15 years totaling 10395. This annual number is higher that the number which originally raised concern during the 2014 consultation. The sites in or adjacent to Send will delivery almost half of this number. (reference Policy S2 on page 26)

I object strongly to the removal of Send from the Green Belt area. I believe this will cause an unacceptable build up in the area and again destroy the rural feel of the area (Village will be Inset from the Green Belt – Under this policy Send will be inset from the Green Belt which means that all areas within the settlement boundary will no longer be afforded Green Belt protection. The GBC suggest that exceptional circumstances exist to justify the amendment of Green Belt boundaries in order to facilitate the development that is needed. (reference Policy P2 on page 48)

Full support is given to the allocation of land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham as part of the strategic development area set out in Policy A46. This area and specifically land to the west of The Street and Grange Road, Tongham has much to commend it:

- The area is long recognised as the most sustainable location in the Borough after Guildford;
- It is unconstrained by environmental designations;
- It lies in the area designated as ‘Land Beyond the Green Belt’;
- It has access to the strategic road network, specifically the A31 Hogs Back and A331 Blackwater Valley Route;
- Opportunities exist through sensitive design at the site boundaries to have regard to the transition from urban to rural; provide integrated green infrastructure enabling connectivity of spaces and habitats between land parcels; and provide sufficient SANG land for the needs of development cross boundary.
Notwithstanding this, the provision of SANG in conjunction with development proposals coming forward within this strategic location should also be incorporated within the policy, specifically SANG proposals on land at Tongham Road, Runfold which will provide mitigation for residential development on land to the west of The Street, Tongham as well as additional development within the strategic development site and cross boundary into Waverley.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy H1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( No )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy H1: Homes for All requires new residential development to deliver a wide choice of homes to meet a range of accommodation needs as set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment and should provide a mix of housing tenures, types and sizes appropriate to the site size, characteristics and location. The policy confirms the Council’s support for the provision of specialist forms of accommodation in appropriate sustainable locations and makes specific reference to some of these (students, travellers and HMOs). However the list is not exhaustive and by emphasising some and not others (for instance Custom and Self- build housing) there is a lack of clarity as to what the policy is actually seeking.

The reasoned justification in support of the policy, does refer to Self-build and Custom housebuilding at paragraph 4.2.12 but again, simply refers to having regard to the information on the register when carrying out … planning functions. It is also very broad brush in relation to making provision for Custom and Self- build only at the 4 strategic sites and unspecific in terms of the quantum sought.

It is very important that the Policy and Justification is completely clear on Self Build. It is growing in popularity across the country and in expensive areas will be one of the most affordable ways of getting on the housing ladder. Guildford Borough currently has new builds selling from £500-£700 per square foot with build costs around £160 per square foot. Self-builders qualify for exemption from CIL and government guidance on multi unit Schemes suggests that applicants should consider applying for a phased planning permission. With the relatively high rate of CIL proposed for the Borough this could become a very attractive proposition to landowners looking to increase their returns over what the housebuilders might typically pay for their land. At least some financial modelling should be undertaken to inform the Council’s precise policy and the potential impact for demand for multi unit self-build schemes that could technically avoid CIL contributions.

Without amendment to the reasoned justification the Council’s position is not clear. Would they support Self-build schemes on other allocated sites? If the council would not support Self Build schemes on other allocated sites then it is felt that the existing policy and wording is very restrictive and limits choice.

The Government have been very clear in their message and recent changes to legislation that they want to encourage the self build market as they see it contributing greatly to the country’s housing shortage whilst also helping the many smaller builders. Many councils have been very positive in their approach to self-build and in expensive areas like Surrey it is likely to become a very popular way for many to get on the property ladder. We consider that Guildford’s guidance is currently lacking in respect of self-build and would ask that this is reviewed prior to submission of the Plan to the Secretary of State.

The Council’s previous response to the Reg. 18 consultation stated that:
“Any site that is suitable for market housing is also suitable for self-build or custom housebuilding as this type of housing falls within the same planning C3 use class category”.

However, the justification in local plans also acts as guidance to the policies. In relation to Policy H1, the guidance indicates that self-build plots will (only) be allocated at the four strategic sites listed above.

In order to be completely clear about the council’s Self-build policy and the options available to self-builders and land owners alike it is considered that the reasoned justification at paragraph 4.2.12 should be amended to give clarity to this intent.

Additional comments on the adequacy of the Council’s approach to discharging its duty on Custom and Self-build are set out in the preceding paragraphs, in answer to Questions 1-3 of the Council’s questionnaire.

Accordingly we are seeking 2 key changes to the Plan in relation to Custom and Self-build:

1. A change to Policy H1 to specifically relate to Custom and Self-build;
2. A change to the reasoned justification at paragraph 4.12 in relation to Custom and Self-build; and
3. The specific allocation or safeguarding of one or both of our clients sites at Send specifically for Custom and Self-build to satisfy the demand in the early stages of the plan.

Proposal for a bespoke SANG straddling the administrative boundary between Guildford and Waverley Borough Councils have been submitted within the planning application for residential development in line with Policy A46 to the east of The Street, Tongham. This is a bespoke SANG which is intended to provide for the mitigation requirements of residential development to the south of Tongham (Policy A46). However it also provides additional mitigation capacity for further residential development within a 5km catchment area and is well placed to provide mitigation for the rest of the Policy A29 strategic development area.

The SANG proposal does not appear in the Guildford Infrastructure Delivery Plan as either a strategic SANG or bespoke SANG. Rather, SANG provision is set out in the Infrastructure Delivery Plan with Policy A29 development being allocated solely to the Russell Place Farm SANG whose 5km catchment in any event does not cover the whole of the A29 strategic development area. Recognition should be given to the Tongham Road SANG which will provide the appropriate SPA mitigation and which, following the submission of further details as to the delivery plan, is now expected to receive the support of Natural England. This SANG will also provide additional capacity and flexibility to deliver the necessary mitigation to other sites within the strategic development area as well as those coming forward in Waverley Borough. Its inclusion in the Plan will enhance resilience of the Plan by ensuring much needed residential development is not delayed through non-delivery of either the Russell Place or Ash Lodge Drive SANGS.
Do you agree that the evidence used for the draft Local Plan: Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?

No.

We do not consider that the Green Belt and Countryside Study has adequately assessed the Potential Development Areas (PDA’s) it identified in relation to how those PDA’s fulfilled their greenbelt purposes. The Council has carried out Greenbelt purpose assessments on the larger land parcels and has placed an over reliance on these assessments to inform their spatial strategy. As a result the Council has removed many of the more Sustainable village infill sites between the Reg 18 and Reg 19 draft based on what land parcel they happen to fall within.

The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) has a list of sites that it has discounted for various reasons. There seem to be only two sites on that list that have been considered and discounted as potential dedicated Custom and Self Build sites. We do not feel this is an adequate amount of sites considered.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Question 2: Legal Compliance

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is legally compliant?

No.

We question whether the councils proposed Policy H1 “Homes for All” has full regard to National Policy and Guidance in relation to Custom and Self-build homes. The policy H1 makes no specific reference to Custom or Self-builds and there is limited detail in the reasoned justification under para 4.2.12 which focuses on keeping a Self-build Register and the allocation of some self-build plots within the strategic housing development sites. This is the duty imposed on local planning authorities set out in the Self-Build and Custom Housebuilding Act 2015. There is now also a duty placed on local planning authorities to grant planning permission for enough serviced plots of land to meet demand for self-build and custom house building arising in each base period. Regulations are yet to specify the detail and it is early days in terms of people becoming aware of, being interested in and taking up the opportunities of the provisions. Whilst some provision is made within the Plan within the strategic housing sites, there is no monitoring indicator for this type of housing, nor any reference to targets. In order to ensure that the duty to meet demand and to grant permission is adequately addressed, it is considered that further work needs to be made within the Plan through adding an indicator and target but also ensuring that adequate sites of suitable character are allocated.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is sound?

No.

To meet the Test of soundness, the independent Planning Inspector is required to consider if the local plan has been positively prepared, is justified and effective and is consistent with national policy. These points are considered below.

Has the plan been positively prepared?

In respect of the policy concerning the Custom and Self Builder we do not feel that the plan has been positively prepared for the following reasons;

It would seem that proposing to allocate some plots solely on the four large strategic sites is restrictive to the Custom Builders’ choice and therefore cannot be considered positive. Many custom builders would like an alternative setting to the plots on offer within the large strategic sites and making these available through a variety of smaller sites would comply with national policy through the NPPF to secure housing choice and would be a positive policy.

The Government is very keen to promote the Custom-build route for the aspiring house owner as it is hoped it will contribute greatly to housing numbers as well as employing many of the smaller builders. The Government have been working closely with a handful of councils (known as vanguard councils) to promote the Custom-build market and it is felt that many of their initiatives will be rolled out across the UK. Many Councils across the country have allocated whole dedicated sites for the Custom-build market.

We therefore do not feel that the draft plan has taken into account the Governments’ clear policy on custom and self-build housing as set required in the Housing and Planning Act 2016, Practice Guidance and the Housing Strategy for England.

Chapter 59 of the NPPF states that the SHMA should assess the need for all types of housing for the different groups in the community including people wishing to build their own homes.

The West Surrey Joint SHMAA of Sept 2015 did consider the issue of Custom-build Homes on page 157 however the findings were contradictory and inconclusive and using the information from this source must now be considered out of date when compared to the Councils own Custom and Self Build Register. It is this relatively new register that should be used to inform the Plan through to its final stages.
The Reg. 19 Local Plan Strategy and Sites document now specifically identifies some self-build plots within the strategic development sites but as noted, makes no reference to quantum, monitoring indicator or target leaving it to be resolved at a later date through the strategic sites. This is not considered adequate.

Justified

Again in relation to Custom and Self-build, it is not considered that the Plan represents the most appropriate strategy when considered against reasonable alternatives. As referenced above, we consider that the Plan relies too heavily on the four strategic sites, which in turn rely heavily on central Government infrastructure funding to move forward. The strategic sites will start to come forward towards the end of the Plan period and therefore suitable provision should be made for Custom and Self-build which can be delivered earlier in the Plan period through smaller bespoke sites. A reasonable alternative would be to consider smaller/medium sites as a more appropriate deliverable strategy.

The Greenbelt and Countryside study (GBCS) identified many smaller/medium potential development sites and assessed these against environmental constraints and sustainability criteria. The Study scored potential sites and gave them a sustainability ranking intended to assist in reducing the number of traffic movements and is considered the most justified approach in line with the NPPF’s approach to sustainable development.

Parish Councils could understand the logic and when consulted on The Vineyard site (site 41) in Tannery Lane, Send (Site 41) the parish council stated; ‘it is the most sustainably located near to existing shops, schools and public transport. Sites 56, 57 and 58 are not within easy walking distance of shops and schools in either Send or Ripley and would be certain to generate significant traffic movements.’

The Green Belt and Countryside Study also carried out a Green Belt sensitivity analysis on all land parcels across the Borough. This study is considered to be a more subjective study and has come in for considerable criticism in relation to its methodology and conclusions. It is a very broad brush approach which rejects our clients potential development area PDA B16-A village infill site of 5 acres on the basis that the 500acre land parcel it sits in has been subjectively assessed as being highly sensitive. This approach unnecessarily sterilises much of the Borough’s small/medium village infill sites for the length of the plan quite often depending on which side of the road they are.

We consider that the final selection of sites for allocation has given too much weight to the classification of large land parcels to the determinant of sustainability criteria. This has resulted in many of the most sustainably located village extension sites being replaced by sites much further away from local facilities and which will, as a consequence, result in increased traffic congestion which could be otherwise avoided. This could be easily remedied by assessing the most sustainably located village extension sites as to how they perform against the main purposes of the Green Belt.

Effective

In relation to the delivery of Custom and Self-build housing, we do not consider the Plan will be effective due to over-reliance for provision through the four main strategic sites which are likely to be delivered towards the end of the Plan period. In order for the plan to be effective in relation to the Duty to meet the demand for Custom and Self-build housing, smaller bespoke sites should be identified and allocated.

Consistent with national policy

For the reasons set out above regarding the delivery and sustainability of Custom and Self-build housing, we do not consider the Plan to be consistent with national policy.

No.

We do not consider that the proposed Plan is sound as a whole in relation to the designation of new SANG Land and the implications this has for housing delivery both within the Borough and in meeting any unmet needs of neighbouring districts. In this respect, the Plan is not consistent with national policy; has not been positively prepared; is not justified and will not be effective in meeting objectively assessed needs.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

No.

The actions taken by the Council to conform to the Duty to Co-operate are set out in the Topic Paper Duty to Cooperate, June 2016.

Cross Boundary SANG Provision

In relation to the specific issue of The Thames Basin Heaths SPA ad Provision of SANG, the Duty to Cooperate Topic Paper states at paragraph 4.41 that the Council has worked closely with Natural England to ensure the quantum and distribution of growth identified in the Proposed Submission Local Plan is deliverable by demonstrating there is sufficient SANG available across the Borough’ (my emphasis). Paragraph 4.42 continues that: ‘… we have cooperated with some of or neighbours to explore opportunities for cross boundary SANGs. We will continue cooperating on this matter as appropriate.’

Notwithstanding this, proposals for a cross boundary SANG have been submitted within the planning application for residential development in line with Policy A46 to the east of The Street, Tongham. This is a bespoke SANG which is intended to provide for the mitigation requirements of residential development to the south of Tongham (Policy A46). However it also provides additional mitigation capacity for further residential development within a 5km catchment area. The SANG is cross boundary SANG which straddles the Guildford / Waverley administrative boundary and is therefore well placed to mitigate the development needs of both authorities. The SANG proposal does not appear in the Guildford Infrastructure Delivery Plan as either a strategic SANG or bespoke SANG. Neither does it appear in the Waverley SPA Avoidance Strategy Review, April 2016. No reference is made to any specific cross boundary discussions on the provision of SANG so it is difficult to assess whether the Duty to Cooperate has been adequately addressed in this respect or not.

Provision of Housing within the SHMA
In relation to housing, reference is made to the Housing Delivery Topic Paper which discusses the approach to meeting needs. A Memorandum of Understanding on housing delivery has been signed between Guildford, Woking and Waverley which recognises that there is unmet need within the HMA and commits the three authorities to continued future joint working to ensure housing needs across the HMA are met in full. It states that the Council is committed to continuing to explore with Waverley and Woking those areas which are most likely to lead to positive outcomes. The Topic Paper goes on however, to state that Guildford does not consider it can sustainably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking (or from Waverley should an unmet need be identified in the future).

The Localism Act establishes that the outcome of the Duty to Co-operate should lead to effective policies on strategic cross boundary matters: It is the outcome rather than the process that is critical to complying with this legal obligation. In relation to the requirement that local plans are prepared to meet objectively assessed needs, including unmet needs from neighbouring authorities, this statement is contrary to the Duty to Co-operate as it predicates how a positive outcome can be achieved.

The following comments should be read alongside the Odyssey Markides Technical Note dated July 2016, which accompanies these representations. We have drawn some of the comments within the Technical Note out, but expansions of these points are made within the note.

Two land allocation policies of note in the draft LP are Policy A29 and Policy A30. Policy A29 is a land allocation for up to 1,200 dwellings on land adjacent to that in control of PHTV, between Foreman Road and Harper's Road, as well as other small areas to the west. Policy A30 allocates land which is, in part, under the control of PHTV for provision of a new railway over bridge for vehicles and pedestrians. This new bridge will facilitate the closure of the existing level crossing on the A323 Guildford Road allowing unrestricted movement along the A323 and safer crossing for pedestrians; refer to Drawing NGBC-ASHSTATION.1/04 (Mayer Brown, November 2015).

Having reviewed the proposed railway over bridge it is apparent that it has been designed with some relaxation in Design Manual for Roads and Bridges (DMRB) standards applied, in order to allow the bridge to closely align to the existing route of the A323. A 30mph design speed has been used, with 90m forward visibility provided.

Based on this data it is considered that although implementing a new bridge over the railway line would be effective in reducing delay to the local highway network, it is not necessary in highway capacity terms as the operation of the level crossing would still be within capacity even after the LP developments are implemented.

The new bridge is set out in the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2016 as Local Road Network (LRN) Scheme LRN21 'New road bridge and footbridge scheme to enable level crossing closure on A323 Guildford Road adjacent to Ash railway station'. Its status is 'Anticipated' and its estimated cost is '£15m', with delivery between 2017 and 2026.

Those schemes categorised as anticipated are 'subject to a positive business case, funding can be secured, and planning and statutory approvals are likely to be achieved'.
The GBC Infrastructure Schedule, contained in Appendix C of the draft LP, states that the likely cost is £15m and the likely funding sources will be developer contributions, Local Growth Fund and from Network Rail. This document sets the delivery timescale as between 2018 and 2022.

It is reasonable for some material funding to come from developers of 'Land to the South and East of Ash and Tongham' for 1,200 residential dwellings, as set out in Policy A29.

It is however understood from the Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) that there has been no submission made to the LEP for funding. The latest Expression of Interest (Eal) for the Enterprise M3 Local Growth Fund closed on 31 March 2016. This Eal allows for funding requests for schemes up to the year 2020/21. As the new railway bridge is stated as being delivered before 2026 it is therefore concluded that either (1) the bridge would be funded by developer contributions and Network Rail only or (2) that LEP funding will be requested in future and the delivery of the bridge would occur towards the end of the suggested delivery timescales (i.e. 2026).

It is not clear how much funding Network Rail would be providing for this new bridge. Network Rail would likely have to also fund a new pedestrian cycle footbridge with lifts in order to maintain, or improve, the current level of accessibility for local residents. Relying on pedestrians and cyclists using the new bridge would be contrary to this given the material greater distance to cross the railway line and the steepness of the proposed crossing. The cost of the footbridge with lifts could be £1.5M.

It is therefore unclear why GBC would classify this new bridge as 'anticipated' rather than 'aspirational'. Aspirational schemes are classified as 'a strong business case will need to be demonstrated in order to secure funding as the estimated cost presently exceeds typical funding envelopes and there are significant planning and statutory approvals to be achieved'.

No details are publically available with respect to the vertical alignment of the new bridge; however, it appears that the northbound forward visibility over the bridge would be materially compromised.

This is due to the gradient of the road between Foreman Road and the crest of the bridge, which would likely materially reduce the forward visibility in the vertical plane.

The forward visibility would also be impinged by the actual bridge structure. The bridge would need material safety structures and barriers along the edge of the parapets and embankments for both pedestrian and driver safety. As these would be a solid structure of over 600mm in height it would therefore compromise forward visibility, especially in the northbound direction.

Although it is understood that the location of the bridge was chosen to align as closely to the existing alignment of the A323 as possible, this alignment is not considered feasible.

It is also clear that no discussions have taken place between the parties over the delivery of the wider scheme and there is no common agreement over delivery, timings and funding etc and therefore piecemeal development will continue to come forward in the short term, further impacting upon the aspirational road scheme to come forward.

For those reasons listed above we therefore are of the view that the plan is unsound, because it is not justified, effective or indeed consistent with national policy.

Question 2: Legal Compliance

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is legally compliant? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

- why you consider it is or is not legally compliant and

- what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it legally compliant, explaining why this is the case.

For those reasons set out above we do not believe that the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole is legally compliant. We have set out suggested changes under question 3 below.
Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

why you consider it is or is not sound and what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it sound, explaining why this is the case.

For those reasons set out previously we do not believe that the plan as proposed is sound. Whilst the concept within A30 of a road bridge, is a sound one, it is obvious that the evidence base supporting both its identification and indeed location are fundamentally flawed.

A more appropriate approach would see the complete delivery of land east of Foreman Road for residential development, with land being safeguarded for the delivery of a pedestrian crossing. The road bridge could then be delivered more appropriately within the major development area. This would allow units to be delivered early within the plan period, which as has been shown previously is much needed and more importantly, will allow the delivery of a new bridge, which has been designed properly, is deliverable, appropriate and capable of serving not only existing residents, but also future ones.

It is not considered that the new rail bridge is required at this time, as the vehicle queues at the existing level crossing clear between the time that the barriers are down and as already determined by sec the crossing would still operate within capacity even in 2031 with the addition of the LP sites.

It is however considered reasonable that there is a long-term desire to close the level crossing and provide a bridge over the railway line. It is indeed Network Rail policy to close level crossings wherever possible, in order to improve pedestrian safety and reduce rail related accidents.

If it is accepted that the level crossing should be closed and an overbridge provided in the long-term, it is considered that there is a more suitable location for the new bridge. It is considered that the bridge should be located further southeast. This would then sit across the land between the A323 and the Policy A29 land boundary and within the latter itself.

This has a number of benefits, most notably there would be more land for the road alignment to be designed to allow for sufficient forward visibility, both in the vertical and horizontal planes.

There is also the potential for a new comprehensive link road to be established between the A323 Guildford Road, through the 'Land to South and East of Ash and Tongham' site, to South Lane. This link road would then continue through the 'Land South of Ash Lodge Drive' site, as per their planning permission, to Manor Road.

The northern end of the link road could realign Guildford Road into the 'Land to South and East of Ash and Tongham' site, which could then provide the new bridge within land under this site's control. This could also have the benefit of enabling the parcel of land to the north of the railway line (and west of the new road) to realise a car park or drop-off area for Ash Railway Station.

The new bridge over the railway line could also be designed to have less environmental impact, than the current proposed alignment, as it could be fully designed into the proposed 1,200 residential unit development. The spine road, south of the railway line, would connect south to South Lane and also connect to Foreman Road thus giving alternative routeing options for both development and through traffic.

The principle of a new railway bridge to come forward in the long-term alongside the closing of the level crossing is accepted; however, it has been demonstrated that this is not required in the short-term.

Furthermore, it is considered that in order to realise a suitable design, and thus implementation, a revised alignment would be needed. A more suitable and achievable location for the bridge, and the alignment of the A323 either side of the bridge, would be for it to align through the Policy A29 site. This could enable the bridge to be designed in accordance with DMRB standards with suitable forward visibility achieved.
Question 4: Duty to cooperate

Do you consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate? Please provide the following information being as precise as possible:

why you consider it has or has not complied with the Duty to cooperate and what change(s) (if any) you consider necessary to make it comply with the duty to cooperate, explaining why this is the case.

Please see our comments and responses under question 1. Whilst the council should be applauded for making difficult decisions with regards to the increase in the housing numbers to be planned for and indeed decisions associated with Green Belt releases it is clear that the Duty to Cooperate has not been met with regards to seeking to meet the needs from London for example.

Question 5: Examination

If you are proposing a change to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites, do you wish to express an interest in participating at the Examination?

If you choose yes, please explain why you wish to participate in the Examination.

We would like the opportunity to attend the Examination in Public as we believe that the comments, recommendations and observations we have made need to be discussed in a public arena and so that we can outline the reasons for the emerging plan failing the soundness tests as drafted.

Question 6: The content of the plan

Question 6 of the paper version of this questionnaire asks you to make comments about particular paragraphs, policies or site a/locations in the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites.

Please see our earlier comments as they specifically relate to S2, A29 and A30.

I trust that everything is in order and that the above comments are helpful.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. Objectively Assessed Need

Guildford Borough has an identified (OAN) of 693 dwellings per annum following the conclusions of the West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) produced in September 2015 by GL Hearn. This assessment was carried out as part of the Housing Market Area (HMA) known as West Surrey which included Waverley and Woking in addition to Guildford. Persimmon have concerns that the SHMA may have under-estimated the OAN for Guildford due to migration from London into the borough expected to increase and by downplaying the need for jobs. The most recent population projections produced by Office of National Statistics (ONS) shows that by 2037, the population of Surrey is expected to increase by over 200,000 and this increase is anticipated to be faster than previously considered based on 2012 population figures, which have informed the SHMA which in turn has informed the housing requirement for the new Local Plan. It can be expected that a large proportion of this increase will be in the West Surrey HMA due to its proximity to London, strong rail connections and reputation as being part of the commuter belt and a desirable place to live. It is on this basis that Persimmon believe that the OAN to be inaccurate and should be revised upwards taking into account the increases based on the 2014 projections as opposed to the 2012 figures. This should, in turn, mean that the housing requirements in the new Local Plan should also be revised upwards, taking into account the updated projections; the constant under delivery in recent years and the need to better allow for flexibility within the plan for economic growth reasons etc.

This point is further supported by the established planning principle of seeking to plan for balanced growth in jobs and homes where possible with a view to reducing the need to travel and commuting distances. The SHMA identifies that to support the forecast growth in employment a high level of growth is needed.

1. Five-year supply of deliverable housing land

Paragraph 47 of the NPPF states that there is a requirement for Local Planning Authorities (LPA) to "identify and update annually a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide five years worth of housing against their housing requirements with an additional buffer of 5%...where there has been a record of persistent under-delivery of housing, LPAs should increase the buffer to 20%". It has been established that GBC cannot demonstrate a robust five year supply of deliverable housing land and at best the Council can show 2.5 years supply whilst at worst this drops to 1.4 years. It is also clear that Guildford has persistently and consistently under delivered and therefore those sites, which are capable of coming forward sooner should do, without being fettered by ill conceived policy requirements.

1. Housing requirements within new Local Plan (2013-2033)

The pre-submission version of the draft Local Plan makes provision for the delivery of 13,860 new homes over the plan period (2013-2033). This equates to 693 dwellings per annum which matches the identified housing need through the SHMA. The draft Local Plan states that "the delivery of new homes is expected to increase over the plan period, reflective of timescales associated with delivery of strategic sites". The draft Local Plan sets out the housing delivery in different tranches as below:

The above shows that there is proposed to be an increasing level of delivery over time as the plan progresses through the plan period. On this basis, to ensure the minimum housing requirements are achieved, over the first five years of the plan an average of 693 dwellings per annum are to be delivered. This raises an immediate concern given that GBC cannot demonstrate a five year land supply of any better than 2.5 years. As the net completions table also shows, the first two years of the plan period 2013/14 and 2014/15 have delivered significantly fewer than 693 dwellings per annum. We are concerned that insufficient sites have been identified to deliver this housing provision and concerns particularly over the deliverability of Wisley Airfield. Should the airfield be unable to deliver the allocated 2068 dwellings as proposed, then this number will have to be subsumed in other areas and given the local opposition to this scheme and impact on the highway network the deliverability of Wisley Airfield must be strongly questioned.

It is therefore clear that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy from a housing perspective is not adequate or up to date.

Does the SHMA use the latest housing projections?

In addition, for those reasons above, whilst we recognise that the council has made some difficult decisions concerning some of the large strategic allocations, these are by their very definition slow to deliver units and it is clear that the council are not planning to deliver any meaningful increase in supply in the short term and for these reasons, those sites which are capable of delivering units quickly within the first five years of the plan should be considered favorably; this includes land to the east of Foreman Road, Ash.

With regards to more specific comments, Persimmon Homes are pleased that both policies A29 and A30 identify the site for development, however, we do not believe for those reasons below, that the identification of a road through part of the site is appropriate; feasible or indeed the correct approach. For the reasons set out below it is therefore clear that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is not adequate, up-to-date or indeed relevant.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

This letter constitutes Persimmon Homes Thames Valley's formal response to the above consultation. As part of the Persimmon Group, Persimmon Homes represents one of the largest house builders in the UK and is a significant stakeholder in the Borough with a vested interest in its long-term future.

We have · made a number of comments, but reserve the right to make further comments as appropriate. We are keen to work with the council moving forward.

The comments within this letter relate to our interests at Foreman Road, Ash, which lies on the edge of Ash. The Site has the potential to accommodate circa 120 dwellings.

We have set out some general comments below and have then looked to answer the specific questions raised by the council.

Overview of the site

The site allows for an extension to the existing Ash settlement boundary and provides an excellent opportunity to accommodate new homes. Development of the site, in coordination with the provision of a potential pedestrian crossing to the railway line to serve the area would provide betterment to the local area. The site comprises one large field of approximately 4 hectares and is a grass field bordered by mature vegetation, including scrub, tree belts and mature individual trees. The Site is identified within two specific policies of the plan, namely A29 and A30. Specific comments on both policies will be set out within these representations.

Persimmon Homes have an option agreement with the landowners. The site is available, suitable and deliverable for residential development in the short term (0-5 years).

Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant?
Guildford BC planning context & housing numbers

Guildford BC is currently in the process of producing a new Local Plan which is to cover the period 2013 - 2033 and guide development within the borough and is to be compliant with the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). This representation is in response to the Regulation 19 consultation phase for the pre-submission version of the draft Local Plan. Persimmon Homes are pleased to have been given the opportunity to make representations on this concerning the Site and general planning matters within the Borough. Persimmon are also pleased that Guildford BC has acknowledged the significant challenges that the borough faces in delivering sufficient housing to meet its needs. The previous interim housing figure of 322 dwellings per annum agreed on May 2012 did not take account of up to date assessments of housing need and therefore was not NPPF compliant. The reliance on this figure has meant that Guildford BC has significant under-delivered on their housing requirements over the past five years as shown in the below table:

As the housing completions above show, Guildford has not only been under delivering against the now up-to-date Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) but there has also been consistent under-delivery against the interim housing target, which also needs to be factored into an emerging housing target moving forward.

The most recently produced Annual Monitoring Report (AMR), published in October 2015 for the period 2014/2015 showed that net completions of dwellings in the borough for this period was 242 and that the majority of homes completed in this period are on sites of under 20 homes. As the AMR notes "the number of new homes completed this year (2014/15) is still lower than required to meet our objectively assessed need...contributes to a growing deficit of new homes". The recommendation within the AMR following this states that "housing provision is currently restricted by the lack of available and deliverable development land in the borough....delivery rate is only likely to increase when larger areas of land are suitable and available for development". This shows the necessity for suitable and available sites to be considered and this should apply to all sites within the borough that meet this criteria. Persimmon Homes have control of the Site through an option agreement with the landowners and the Site is available for development. The council also consider the site to be suitable for development, having identified it within the proposed submission Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Five-Year Housing Land Supply

Based on the housing supply trajectory, and after allowing for a backlog of under-supply projected for 2013/14 to 2016/17, the five-year housing land supply in 2017 (assumed to be the year of adoption for the Local Plan) would be equivalent to only 3.1 years’ requirements (a five-year deficit of 2,024) based on an annual requirement of 693 dpa.
The five-year housing land supply in 2017 would be equivalent to only 3.5 years’ requirements (a five-year deficit of 1,476) based on the five-year requirement in the trajectory which reduces the basic requirement for 2017 to 2022 by 522 dwellings (from 3,465 to 2,943) for reasons that are not explained. The relevant calculations are shown in Table 4 on the right.

There are several different assumptions that can be used to calculate a five-year housing land supply. In this case, we have incorporated the past deficit/backlog in the requirement for the following five years (the Sedgefield Method) and have applied a 5% buffer ‘to ensure choice and competition in the market for land’, following NPPF paragraph 47.

We have included the Council’s calculation of housing requirements for 2017-2022 as they appear in the trajectory, but can see no justification to depart from the overall target of 693 dpa. There may be a case for applying a 20% buffer for ‘a record of persistent under delivery of housing’ which would imply an even bigger gap between housing requirements and five-year supply. Further refinements will be possible for the examination of the plan when additional data is also likely to be available.

These problems of housing land supply are not overcome by the Council’s approach to phasing in Local Plan Policy S2, by which the planned delivery of housing is deferred until later in the plan period. As noted above, this approach is not justified in terms of housing requirements, but is solely a response to problems of housing delivery that result from the spatial development strategy. Local Plan Policy S2 is evidently not sound.

For a Local Plan to be found sound, it is essential for the local planning authority to be able to demonstrate that there is a five-year supply of specific, deliverable sites for housing, with an additional 5% buffer, ‘to ensure choice and competition in the market for land’ as well as ‘a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15’ (NPPF, paragraph 47).

In this case, the Land Availability Assessment demonstrates that there is not a five-year supply of housing land. It also shows that the projected supply of housing land will fall short of requirements for the next twelve years. There is therefore no possibility that the Local Plan should be found sound in these circumstances. A different spatial development strategy is required to identify sites for housing development that can be delivered in the early years of the plan period. Suitable, sustainable options will include sites that are closely related to the main urban areas and larger villages, and will entail a more detailed and realistic approach to reviewing the boundaries of the Green Belt.

Conclusions

The need for additional housing land in the early years of the new Local Plan requires looking at a variety of sources and locations, including a more realistic approach to Green Belt Review. Housing need represents one of the exceptional circumstances that can justify alterations to Green Belt boundaries, as described in paragraph 83 of the NPPF. Paragraph 85 of the NPPF sets out the proper approach to defining Green Belt boundaries in local plans, which includes consistency with the Local Plan strategy for meeting identified requirements for sustainable development.’

The Green Belt & Countryside Study states that it was not seen as pre-empting the Spatial Development Strategy, but in practice Green Belt was a major determinant of the Spatial Development Strategy and, as the Green Belt Review was completed before a full, objective assessment of housing requirements in the SHMA, Green Belt and the Spatial Development Strategy have both become constraints on meeting housing requirements, especially in the early years of the plan.

The Spatial Development Strategy (Policy S2) and Green Belt Policy (Policy P2) are not based on sufficiently positive approaches to reviewing the Green Belt and settlement boundaries and do not give sufficient weight to meeting objectively assessed housing requirements throughout the plan period. They do not comply with the NPPF and cannot therefore be considered to be sound. Modifications to the Plan should include sites such as those identified in Wood Street Village as residential allocations within an extended settlement boundary and Green Belt inset, as described above.

The Green Belt Boundary

The inset boundary for Wood Street Village has been drawn very tightly (Map 3 - see end of document) to include only the east of the settlement: along Oak Hill east of Pound Lane and west of Pinks Hill; excluding Wood Street Green, the surrounding areas along White Hart Lane and the whole of Frog Grove Lane to the east and north. It is anomalous that the village conservation area, which helps to define the essential character of Wood Street Village, is outside the proposed settlement inset boundary.

The proposed inset boundary would allow for the development of some small sites in Wood Street Village including: land at 148 Broad Street, a site of 0.32 ha previously used for vehicle sales, maintenance and storage, which the Land Availability Assessment (LAA) of February 2016 identified as suitable for 12 dwellings (Site 115); a previously-developed site of 4.4ha with mixed uses at Oak Hill which the LAA identified as suitable for 22 dwellings (Site 35); and land to at ‘Roundoak, White Hart Lane which the LAA identified as suitable for traveller accommodation (Site 2114). These sites enter into the LAA housing figures, although only sites for 23 or more dwellings are shown on the Proposal Map.

The approach to Green Belt insets needs to comply with paragraph 86 of the NPPF which states:

‘If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt. If, however, the character of the village needs to be protected for other reasons, other means should be used, such as conservation area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.’

Paragraph 85 of the NPPF sets out the proper approach to defining Green Belt boundaries in local plans, which includes ‘consistency with the Local Plan strategy for meeting identified requirements for sustainable development.’ The Council’s Land Availability Assessment (February 2016) demonstrates that the Spatial Development Strategy of Policy S2, is unable to meet the objectively assessed need for housing throughout the plan period, largely because of constraints imposed by Green Belt Policy P2 and related proposals maps. Impacts on housing land supply are considered in more detail below.

The settlement boundary for Wood Street Green appears to have been drawn tightly to restrict development, rather than to allow for housing and other forms of development to take place within the settlement, to meet the changing social and economic needs of the village and the borough.

Not all the open parts of Wood Street Village are important for their contribution to the Green Belt. There are infill sites, such as those previously identified, where development could make a useful contribution to meeting housing needs, consistent with the size and character of Wood Street villages and its local facilities, and without compromising the essential roles of the Metropolitan Green Belt.

The Site of Nature Conservation Interest provides a natural boundary to the south of the village. To the north west of the village, it is reasonable to exclude Frog Grove Lane from the inset areas as it is essentially ribbon de-velopment extending for over a mile from Oak Hill/Wood Street Green northwards to join the Aldershot Road (A323). A flood risk area and an area of registered common land are also constraints on development on Frog Grove Lane. However, the Green is clearly part of the core of the village and there are areas surrounding the Green that should also be included within the settlement boundary and Green Belt inset and should be allocated for appropriate development.

The inset boundary should therefore be extended westwards to include Wood Street Green, surrounding development and the sites previously identified as ‘Potential Development Areas’ (Map 2 - see end of document); to allow for appropriate development.
development within the functional boundary of the settlement in accordance with accessibility to local facilities, existing residential development and natural boundaries that can be defined on the ground, including roads and vegetation that would provide long-term, defensible, natural boundaries for the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Local Plan Policies S2 and P2, in particular, are not sound.

Policy P2 and the related maps of Green Belt boundaries are also not sound as they are based on a review of Green Belt boundaries that does not comply with paragraphs 84 and 85 of the National Planning Policy Framework. In particular, insufficient weight has been given to the need to promote sustainable patterns of development and to the consistency of the policy with meeting identified requirements for sustainable development.

Opportunities for sustainable development for housing and other uses associated within the edges of the main urban areas and other settlements have been overlooked because of an inappropriate approach to review of the Green Belt, based on the boundaries of largely irrelevant land parcels.

The review of Green Belt at Wood Street Village exemplifies these shortcomings, which are explained in detail in the report that forms part of this submission. There are opportunities for sustainable development in the village on sites that were identified as Potential Development Areas in the Green Belt & Countryside Study.

The proposed inset boundary for Wood Street Village is unduly restrictive. It excludes large parts of the settlement, including its Green, Conservation Area and Potential Development Areas which are proposed to remain in the Green Belt. The inset boundary appears to have been drawn to restrict development to previously developed sites.

The inset boundary for Wood Street Village should be redrawn to take account of the need to promote sustainable patterns of development and to recognise opportunities for meeting the identified requirements for sustainable development in the village, within revised Green Belt boundaries that also reflect physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent.

Background

Lightwood Strategic submitted representations on the Local Plan Issues and Options consultation in November 2013 and on the Local Plan Consultation Draft (Regulation 18) in September 2014. Their representations expressed concerns about the Council’s proposed approaches to:

- the objective assessment of housing needs;
- Green Belt review; and
- Settlement boundaries in the larger villages, particularly at Wood Street Village.

Lightwood Strategic pointed out that there are natural infill sites in Wood Street Village (including the two ‘alternative sites’ shown on Map 1 - see end of document) that can provide SANG and are located only a short distance from the village green, shops and other amenities.

The Council identified these two sites in April 2014 as ‘Potential Development Areas’ in its Green Belt & Countryside Study (Map 2 - see end of document). It also undertook analysis of various characteristics of the settlement in its Green Belt & Countryside Study to determine whether it was appropriate to define an inset boundary rather than leave the whole village as ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt.

The Council has modified its approach to villages in the Green Belt, in response to the National Planning Policy Framework (March 2012). In the 2003 Local Plan villages were generally ‘washed-over’ by the Green Belt. New Local Plan Policy P2 provides for Wood Street Village and 13 other villages (as well as several, large previously developed sites) to be inset from the Green Belt. In these villages, Policy D4 (Development in Urban Areas and Inset Villages) allows for limited development within strict environmental guidelines.

Local Plan Policies S2 and P2, in particular, are not sound.

The proposed phasing of housing supply in Policy S2 (Borough Wide Strategy) is not justified and does not seek to meet the objectively assessed need for housing consistently throughout the plan period. It is clear that there would not be a five-year supply of housing on adoption of the plan and there are other doubts about whether housing targets will be met because of restrictions on the release of housing land imposed by Green Belt Policy (P2) and the Spatial Development Strategy.

Housing Needs And The Spatial Development Strategy

Policy S2 of the Local Plan and the Land Availability Assessment of February 2016 (LAA) show that the overall projected supply of housing land (15,116) exceeds the forecast requirement (13,860) over the whole plan period, but that the Council has phased the housing requirement in a curiously uneven way, to reflect constraints on delivery of the required housing supply in the early years of the plan, rather than housing needs.

Even with this unwarranted adjustment to the phasing of housing requirements, the housing supply trajectory (below) shows forecast land supply (the blue line) to be below the forecast requirement (the red line) from 2013/14 to 2018/19 and that the cumulative deficit (the green line) will not be made up until 2027/28; 15 years into the 20-year plan period:

The housing supply trajectory in the LAA also shows that there will not be a five-year housing land supply when the Local Plan is adopted unless there are changes in policy to improve the delivery of housing sites in the early years of the plan. Five-year housing land supply is described in more detail in Section 4.

Changes in the Spatial Development Strategy of Local Plan Policy S2 will be required to increase housing land supply in the early years of the plan to achieve the aims in paragraph 14 of the NPPF:

‘...local planning authorities should positively seek opportunities to meet the development needs of their area’

‘Local Plans should meet objectively assessed needs, with sufficient flexibility to adapt to rapid change...’

and the aim in paragraph 47 of the NPPF:

‘to boost significantly the supply of housing...’

Required changes in the Spatial Development Strategy of Local Plan Policy S2 include the allocation of more small and medium-sized sites in sustainable locations that are associated with the main urban areas and larger villages, where development can progress in the early years of the Local Plan, utilising existing infrastructure such as local schools and other services. Changes in the Spatial Development Strategy will need to be associated with a more detailed and realistic approach to the review of Green Belt boundaries.

No.

The accompanying report points to shortcomings in the Green Belt & Countryside Study as a basis for reviewing Green Belt boundaries and identifying appropriate allocations to meet the objectively assessed need for housing throughout the plan period.

The Land Availability Assessment is not based on a consistent rate of housing delivery that reflects housing requirements and shows a shortfall in housing land supply in the early years of the plan, including the absence of a five-year supply of housing land.

The Local Plan is not sound because of its failure to meet the full objectively-assessed need for housing over the whole of the plan period and its failure to achieve a five-year supply of housing land on adoption of the Local Plan. The Review of Green Belt and Spatial Development Strategy have not been based on giving sufficient weight to meeting the full objectively-assessed need for housing throughout the life of the plan.

The Local Plan has not demonstrated compliance with the Duty to Co-operate. The SHMA Briefing Note says that the strategy’s link with housing needs in adjacent local authorities ‘will be explored as part of ongoing work’. There should be evidence that the duty has been discharged, including consideration of unmet housing requirements in neighbouring local authority areas.

Firstly I would like to quote Councillor Paul Spooner 'I want to keep Guildford as a very special place for all who live and work here'

I feel that this aim has been lost.

2.10a Infrastructure

2.13 – The pedestrian crossings in Burpham add to the very frequent traffic jams as the timings are badly set.

2.14b – You say there is congestion but your plans do not offer a solution, in fact will make it worse.

2.22 – I am concerned that this has been removed because it is vital not to ignore the pressure on existing infrastructure. Every day, including weekends there is congestion in Burpham, not helped by the new supermarket you recently allowed to be built. The plans for Gosden Hill Farm will not improve this difficult situation, in fact they will make it worse. It will have a detrimental effect on the quality of life in the area. Already there are many times, at least twice a day, when it is extremely difficult to drive in or out of the area and, because of the standing traffic the air quality is poor.

Car free new developments are completely unrealistic in this age. It would impact negatively on the neighbouring estates. New housing estates and new retail outlets must be built with sufficient parking.

The changes made to the plan do not seem to address any of the concerns for our local environment and our quality of life. Many of the changes do not clarify but leave much open ended and open to interpretation and indeed leave back doors open for worse.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I strongly object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. Delisting of land in this way makes a mockery of the Green Belt and any environmental and planning legislation or regulation.

- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI). Specifically there are a large number of Red Listed species that either use this site or are the adjacent farmland. All will be affected by this development proposal. For example, there are significant numbers of Northern Lapwing that are either resident (nesting) or migrating through this site each year.

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

• And I most strongly object to the continual destruction of this ‘green and pleasant land’ for short term pecuniary gain. We live on an increasingly overcrowded island and are reliant on imports for most of our foodstuffs. In the long term this is unsustainable and the proposed Local Plan will only exacerbate this dire situation. Building over good, crop-growing farmland is not only absurd but ill-advised given this pertinent fact.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I reside in Orchard Way in Send, Woking and I wish to formally lodge a strong objection to the proposal to build new housing developments on ‘green belt’ land in the Send and Ripley area.

I wish to go on record and formally object to the late amendment to the Garlick’s Arch proposed development that was added to the local plan without sufficient notice for considered consultation, evaluation, and a review of the evidence that a development is necessary.

I wish to formally object to the lack of supporting evidence that demonstrates demand for that such a disproportionately large housing estate on a green belt site adjacent to local country villages.

I wish to formally object to the planned A3 junction adjacent to Garlick's Arch and the proposed changes to changes to the Burnt Common are as this will have a severely negative impact on the local rural area and the surrounding villages that will not be able to manage the significant increase in motor vehicle traffic in already congested single lane rural roads. The proposal will encourage vehicles to join or exit the A3 that will lead to significantly more through traffic passing schools (Send First and Clandon primary) increasing the risk of injury or worse to local school children.

I wish to formally object to additional housing developments when local schools are already at capacity and over subscribed with new applicants. The school in Send where my daughter attends is currently being rebuilt, with no further capacity to take additional children and has not announced plans to expand further to accommodate additional places. There is also insufficient secondary school places in the borough and surrounding boroughs with children already struggling to gain a place at their first choice school.

I wish to formally object to all the additional houses as the local doctors' surgery is already at capacity and this will put additional pressure on the services impacting on its ability to provide an effective and efficient service to the community.

I wish to formally object to the additional vehicular traffic that will use an already congested local network of country roads that pass through the villages in and the surrounding areas, causing further risk to our children as they travel to and from their village school.

I also wish to formally object to the proposed housing development and traveller pitches off of Send Hill. This is completely unnecessary with sufficient pitches already in existence across Surrey and the South East. The geographical layout of Send Hill is insufficient to cope with the potential increased traffic flow as the road is insufficiently wide enough to accommodate such demands. The woodland surrounding the area proposed is also home to bats and local wildlife that would be placed in danger if this unnecessary proposed development was permitted to go ahead.

There are sufficient brown field sites that are prime for redevelopment without the need lose these green belt areas forever. We chose to live in Send and raise out children in the borough of Guildford due to the principles of preserving green belt area in Surrey. To permit these proposals would wholly inappropriate and cause irreparable damage.

The other issue that I wanted to comment on was the issues with traffic in Guildford town. This is a key and major aspect of success for this local plan - there needs to be a realistic and effective plan to manage traffic around the town and from the proposals I've seen so far, they do not go nearly far enough and in some cases look like they might make the situation even worse.

I hope these comments are helpful.

Whilst I spent 11 years trying to get onto the housing ladder in Guildford myself and can completely understand the frustrations of many that they are unable to buy somewhere, we do not have enough land in this county to keep building new houses on without destroying it completely so consideration needs to be given as to where to draw the line and leave housing as it is. Guildford has already become too large ruining much of it's character and overwhelming it's infrastructure. Please stop trying to grow it even more. One way to stop it's out of control growth is to stop building more homes.

I do believe the area could take some additional homes but not nearly as many as are being proposed. I would suggest less than half and even then the drainage will need to be revamped and the traffic situation will need to be reviewed.

I'm afraid I do not have time to trawl through the multitude of documents that have been produced but I wanted to comment on the planned development in Flexford/Normandy. Whilst I appreciate the need for more housing in Surrey, the scale of this development will not work. The infrastructure (in particular roads and drainage) will not be able to handle that many more homes. The idea that a new school is needed in the area is questionable at best and feels like a way of justifying the scale of the development.

In addition to these other concerns, a development of this scale on greenbelt land would be a disaster for Surrey's Natural Beauty taking away some key green belt land that is a key part of the county's charm and appeal. I am concerned with GBC's attitude to Greenbelt land in general within this local plan as many of the housing development areas are in greenbelt land rather than using the many, many brownfield sites available within the county.

River Wey Pedestrian Bridge by the rowing club

- If this had ramps on both sides then cyclists could use it as an extension of NCN22.
- This ramp / cycleway extension might allow a separate cycle route into Millmead and then continue under the gyratory along the western side of the river past The Billings

Wheelchair users, mums with pushchairs could also use it and avoid the A 281

Site 81 Shalford Railway Station

- There is a large area currently used as a commercial self storage facility in both an old railway shed / warehouse and many stacked up rows of shipping containers
- Does this have potential for a park and train facility with maybe a shuttle train to Guildford central and the new proposed east and west stations

Site 168 Land to north of Stonebridge Depot

- The red square identifies a former landfill site - does this have potential for a Park and Ride on the A 281 helping to mitigate any Dunsfold effect?
- Just below the red square is a Police & Ambulance vehicle maintenance site and opposite that is SCC Wey House School - do these have potential for other uses

A 281 Footpath / cycle path

- Shalford suffers in my view by not having a contiguous and paved footpath along the western side of the A 281 between the Tillingbourne Bridge and the war memorial by the church green - meaning that pedestrians have to short cut through the grave yard or cross over the A281 by the Tillingbourne Bridge - difficult and dangerous at any time due to traffic volume. If some of the St Mary Church land could be taken it would allow an upgraded pathway along the western side.
• GBC may argue that pedestrians and cyclists could use an alternative route along Dagley Lane, via the Thames Water Treatment site and the Shalford Park cycle way. In fact many women will not use that pathway as they feel unsafe walking through that wooded area.

Dagley Lane is in turn part of National Cycle network NCN 22 - and in winter time from the area south of Thames Water it is impassible for cyclists due to being unpaved and extremely muddy. An extension of this route to more effectively cross the Shalford Commons and join to the Downs Link would also be of value.

We need road and public transport improvements, a proper bus and train interchange and key infrastructure works carried out along sections of the A3 to help remove traffic from the town centre.

For these reasons, I support the aspirations of the Local Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I would like to make it clear that I am incredibly disappointed in the way that GBC has put this plan forward to residents. The almost complete lack of information is appalling. It is completely inappropriate to only have 3 unpublished drop in sessions. For documents to only be available at council offices during office hours or for local libraries to not even know where the documents are. We had to ask 3 members of staff in Guildford library to see the documents and instead of these being presented in an open and organised manner they were stuffed in a box and hidden at the bottom of a shelf.

I am also thoroughly unimpressed with the manner in which you are asking people to give their opinions. It is again totally inappropriate to expect people who have had to wade through multiple documents to find out what the proposals are to then have to do the same to give their opinion.

In general I support the plans and think that those involved are trying to benefit the borough but the way this consultation has been carried out makes it look like they are ashamed of what they are proposing and want to make it as difficult as possible for people to give their views.

My main concerns with the proposals are the number of car parks that are being proposed as sights for housing and the impact this will have on trade. The lack of any definition as to the community facilities which will accompany new housing projects - these are vital to both new residents and the existing residents who will have to cope with the increase in housing. I am also not happy with the lack of road plans which have been put in place - these need to come first and therefore should be in the forefront and being planned now.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
The proposed number of new houses in the Borough is unrealistically high, and will have a seriously detrimental effect on the Green Belt surrounding Guildford. If such land is built on, it will be lost forever. In particular, the Gosden Hill Farm site should not be removed from the Green Belt. All development should be restricted to brownfield sites.

Because of Guildford’s situation as a gap town, there isn’t room for a significant increase in retail and office development. There are already a sufficient number of shops and offices. All that is needed is a swift redevelopment of the site between North Street, the Friary and Woodbridge Road.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

It is not considered that Policy E3 as worded is sound on the basis it is not compliant with NPPF paragraph 22.

NPPF paragraph 22 states that planning policies should avoid the long term protections of sites allocated for employment use where there is no reasonable prospect of a site being used for that purpose. The proposed current wording does not provide enough flexibility to avoid the forced protection of sites which are no longer considered suitable for employment use.

The third bullet of the policy (which relates to resisting the loss of all employment uses outside of Strategic Employment Sites and Locally Significant Employment Sites, as defined in Policy E1) and requiring evidence of marketing will also cover sites within Guildford Town Centre. This blanket approach is unreasonable and unrealistic, and would serve to prevent prompt redevelopment in response to fast-moving markets demands for ‘Town Centre’ uses that are encouraged and supported by the NPPF. Town Centre uses normally generate employment and other economic benefits in their own right. With the third bullet applying as at present to town centres it will also present a barrier to residential development in a sustainable location which will also support town centre vitality and viability. Re-population of town centres is generally considered a desirable; adding to the activity in the centre, facilitating the redevelopment or re-use of under-used or vacant sites and buildings; in a sustainable location. The NPPF recognises the need for planning policy to react quickly to the changing economic climate, which will be prevented with the policy as currently worded. It therefore runs counter to the NPPF.

As a ward councillor for a town centre ward that will have a high number of new homes, my concern is that we are able to maintain the best in design and detailing, maintaining quality rather than quantity. Any development will add stress and strain to the current over stretched transport infrastructure, so we must make sure that we have assurances regarding the highways/transport improvements. Can we be certain of this before having to commit to developments?

Of course the other concern for all urban residents is that the loss in housing numbers in any of the strategic sites will mean more intensive development in the urban areas unless we can reduce our total housing need.

The supply of a wide range of housing is an essential part of the plan, in all parts of the borough. Villages are in need of new, small, lower cost housing just as much as there is a need in the urban area. The policies appear to cover all styles and types of housing, the key will be when we have planning applications, that we are able to convince developers of our need rather than what will give them the highest return. What can be done to strengthen this? The need for 'affordable housing' is surely known by all, the difficulty is in the supply. As an authority we must continue to build social housing wherever we can, although the cost and supply of the land remains our biggest challenge. Central government policy does not help us in any regard with our housing issues, on the one hand demanding we build to meet our need and on the other proclaiming the need to protect the green belt. To fulfil the first demand destroys the other.

I particularly welcome the comments regarding the importance of the effect of HMOs on surrounding homes.

I strongly object to the inclusion of the Normandy greenfield site(s) and its developer led proposal for the 1000 or so new properties.

Whist progress needs to be made, It is grossly unfair on the village to subject the residents( the people you represent) to the desecration of the villages current character.

As a newer member to the village, I have been overwhelmed by the beautiful - often under rated character of the village. So do not wish for a developer to lead Guildford down this one way street and ultimately Normandy to become an urban sprawling mass of houses as the planning floodgates are opened.

Schooling

I also object to the placement of a large secondary school in the village, it's extremely out of character for the area, I have a young baby who will eventually go to secondary school. Whereby a train or bus to an existing secondary school is, and will not be an issue for us.

Road System

I also object on the matter that the local road system is already saturated to capacity. I suspect many of the potential purchasers of the new homes will commute, with the likely hood of at least two cars per household. This is likely to subject the current and new residents to major traffic issues. Which the council will need to resolve at their expense rather then the developers (that certainly won't be cheaper then a new school).

The main roads are so narrow that a car generally can't pass a cycle without crossing the centre line on the main routes, which is almost impossible anyway when rush hour traffic ensues.

It is sometimes quicker for me to get to London Waterloo then drive a few miles down the road. Which is to say the least, incredible!

This is only going to be made much worse with more cars on the road and no significant overhaul to the infrastructure (who will pay for that?).

Finally:

These large scale (developer led) housing proposals are not what Guildford needs. I believe Guildford is quite different to other urban towns, and is locally unique due to its greater swathes of Greenbelt land which washes over the area. Why on Earth turn it into another urban mass of houses and destroy its identity forever more.

I am sure with additional effort and collaboration a better solution for all would prevail, not just because a developer is building a free school...

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Have previously [2016] entered the strongest objections to this development, on the grounds that it will significantly cross criteria in NPPF para 80 and 84, and most significantly para 109 point 1 “valued landscape” - as the view of the North Downs from the A3 is. There does not seem to be a case here for this substantial Green Belt removal and development except housing need, which by itself has not been supported at Enquiry or in the Courts.
As for the amended proposal here, I note it has gained a major employment activity [7000 sq. m.] at the north [the A3 side] of the site, which, prima-facie, would make commercial buildings -as at Woodbridge flyover – the major impact on the view from the A3.

Much of this section could be ‘unsustainable’ legally as it stands. The text would possibly benefit from a study of the careful drafting of the Building Regulations. An example is the deletion of “that are achievable” in 1(c). That leaves an open-ended requirement that could be taken to mean the wholly closed levels that manned space craft achieve.

Obj – carefully re-draft.
Para (7) would, as written, require new dwellings everywhere [eg the country ends of East Horsley] to be ‘connection-ready’. It has to be understood that ‘connection-ready’ means a sizing of heating systems appropriate for {C}CHP, and so probably unsuitable for whatever is a more suitable method for the location [eg maybe heat pumps].

Redraft?

Para (9) now specifies a carbon emission reduction of 20% on-what? [presumably the Building Regulations, but it should say so].

It remains wholly unclear why this figure was chosen. The supporting papers contain a study which costs the extra works required – this form of study has been carried out multiple times by various authorities, there is nothing unusual about Guildford and there seems no reason therefore why Guildford should have funded a further study, with perhaps its own set of potential errors. In depth studies are always carried out by the Government’s Building Regulation Advisory Committee – most are published and linked research reports are available. Those give reasoned explanation as to choice, and it would obviously be helpful to Members if these were abstracted and made available if members are insistent on going down a particularly pace-setting path.

Meanwhile Members should be aware that there are widespread reports in the industry of building failures arising out of energy conservation requirements running ahead of the ability of the majority of designers and constructors. And of failure, sometimes remarkable failure, to achieve predicted savings, arising out of the inability of building users to use to the full what has been supplied to them.

A graphic, terrible example, is a recent fire in a high block of flats, where externally applied thermal insulation applied to upgrade the energy conservation of that block largely caused a major human tragedy. The most efficient thermal insulation nearly always is highly flammable.

It would be far more sensible, if more boring, to follow national guidance.

The figures for housing in the table come, I believe, from a study by the Council’s Consultant. I have been told that the methodology behind this study is commercially confidential [which is, perhaps, worrying?]. I have now seen the study for EGA by Neil McDonald, which shows, with reasoned argument, a substantially lower set of figures. I regard the McDonald study as the more credible of the two and Obj. in the first instance if it is not taken as the basis of the Local Plan table.

However I understand that the Government is preparing a standardised method of calculating housing demand, will publish shortly, and intends to make it more-or-less compulsory on publication. It seems unlikely that this will remain unchallenged [more particularly since recent figures on immigration, etc, show potentially substantial trend changes].

Any Local Plan publication of Housing Targets should therefore be heavily qualified [eg noted as subject to amendment as more information comes available].

In practical terms, the phasing of the first five years in the Council table seems not radically different from the McDonald study, so the arguments on phasing of site availability are mutual. It is later where there are significant differences.

In passing I do caution about the presentation of final digits in matters such as population predictions. The 4.1.9a sum figure is 12,426 homes. “6” exactly ??? Figures like this really ought to be presented with standard statistical error statements.

The Guildford Vision Group, a group of concerned residents with very relevant commercial and professional experience, was established four years ago to press for reinvigoration of the town centre. Specifically we have called for six objectives:

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre
2. Exciting new public space along a reinvigorated riverside
3.Redirection of vehicle traffic away from the centre
4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

These are not unusual or unique objectives. They are the aim of a multitude of UK towns and cities, where many have taken positive action to bring them about. Many would envy Guildford its magnificent setting and the river running through the centre of town, yet Guildford has failed significantly over the past decades to take full advantage of its potential, especially its river. Riverside areas are taken up by surface car parks, buildings with their back to the water and suffer a legacy of piecemeal, unattractive light industrial development. Walnut Tree Close and Woodbridge Meadows, in particular, should be given over to well-planned housing and the scattered light industrial provision should be relocated to an expanded Slyfield where infrastructure and communications would be better.
We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. There are no substantial coordinated policies or strategies in the Local Plan that will achieve the six objectives above. These objectives have received wide public support, as recognised by:

- Our 2013 document ‘Guildford on the Way’, a Vision for Guildford in 2030 (attached) as articulated by members of the public, Guildford residents and our members
- Comments and feedback from our public meetings over the past four years that have regularly attracted audiences of 200 and above
- Feedback from our frequent Newsletters to our supporters, interested parties and councillors

The council, in response to our lobbying, commissioned a masterplan for the centre. The masterplan was drawn up by Allies & Morrison, nationally-renowned masterplanners. The masterplan was approved by the council in March 2016 but is yet to be adopted. There is little recognition or acknowledgement of the masterplan in either the Local Plan policies, underpinning information or implementation strategies. We understand that the council propose an Area Action Plan (AAP) for the town centre once the Local Plan is adopted. We are concerned that the AAP will be subject to challenge if its aims are not foreshadowed in the Local Plan. We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

Thus all the sites below should form part of a coherent plan, in line with the approved Town Centre Masterplan.

A1: The Plaza, Portsmouth Road
A2: Guildford Cinema, Bedford Road
A3: Land between Farnham Road and the Mount
A4: Telephone Exchange, Leapale Road
A5: Jewsons, Walnut Tree Close
A6: North Street redevelopment
A7 Land at Guildford railway station
A8: Land west of Guildford railway station
A9: 77 to 83 Walnut Tree Close
A11: Guildford Park Car Park
A13: Kernal Court, Walnut Tree Close
A14: Wey Corner, Walnut Tree Close
A15: Land at Guildford Cathedral

GVG is pro—growth and supports good, well designed development. Guildford Town Centre is about to undergo a sustained period of significant development, including creation of an additional 48,000sq m of retail and related space, principally via the redevelopment of North Street. It is hard, if not impossible, to discern from the Local Plan how such considerable development will be served by appropriate infrastructure. It is not clear what public benefits will accrue in the shape of new public space and better public realm. There is no sense of an overarching plan or design ethos that will support and enhance the historic core of the town that makes it so attractive to its residents and to a wide range of visitors.

In a well-meaning, almost obsessive, focus on its sustainable movement corridor and modal shift, the council leaves itself unfortunately blind to the need now for a modern transport interchange in the centre of town around the railway station. Guildford holds a key strategic position halfway between Heathrow and Gatwick airports and should seize all the opportunities that airport expansion will bring. The Local Plan has little if any comment or concrete plans regarding the rearrangement of bus services necessitated by the North St development.

The level and importance of development to the West of the town since 1840 should surely suggest a need for another link. The town centre and Guildford’s health and economy is at a disadvantage from inadequate and imperfect links to key sites such as the Royal Surrey Hospital, Surrey University, the Research Park with its world class and world leading facilities and activities. If large housing development is to be accommodated to the West of the town then there should be adequate provision for the inevitable increase in consequent vehicular traffic from such development, irrespective of the impact of modal shift and sustainable movement policies. Guildford is a gap town, with topographic constraints on solutions such as a ring road. The beauty of its setting also provides constraints.

We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

We made a lengthy response to the Reg 18 consultation nearly 2 years ago. Our comments remain very relevant and are re-submitted for the Reg 19 consultation.

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.
The single, most significant omission regarding the town centre and its infrastructure is a cohesive plan to redirect traffic away from the centre via a new East/West link as proposed by GVG. This was mentioned in our previous Local Plan 2014 submission. A sketch of the link is reproduced here with the new rail/river bridge arrowed:

[see attached file 'GVG bridge route.jpeg']

Such a link would instantly enable wider pedestrianisation of the town centre – specifically Bridge and Onslow Streets – bringing a safer, less polluted environment. The bridge would also enable the reinvigoration of the riverside on both sides, below the bottom of North and High Streets, and the demolition of the ugly four lane concrete Friary Bridge that blights the character of our historic gap town at its very centre.

There is no attempt in the Local Plan to safeguard any potential route for such a new East/West link.

There has been no new town centre East/West link across the railway and river since the building of the Farnham Road Bridge in the 1840s. The Farnham Road bridge capacity is constrained, is rapidly approaching the end of its safe life and is too low for modern rail freight traffic (as set out in the rail ‘Wessex Plan’).

The level and importance of development to the West of the town since 1840 should surely suggest a need for another link. The town centre and Guildford’s health and economy is at a disadvantage from inadequate and imperfect links to key sites such as the Royal Surrey Hospital, Surrey University, the Research Park with its world class and world leading facilities and activities. Guildford is a gap town, with topographic constraints on solutions such as a ring road. The beauty of its setting also provides constraints.

Within a wider pedestrianisation in the town centre there should be provision for better pedestrian routes to the Cathedral and University. The Local Plan makes no attempt to achieve that, to the detriment of the town and its sense of community.

GVG is pro—growth and supports good, well designed development. Guildford Town Centre is about to undergo a sustained period of significant development, including creation of an additional 48,000sq m of retail and related space, principally via the redevelopment of North Street. Sadly the Guildford Vision Group therefore finds the Local Plan unsound, inadequate and unambitious in respect of the town centre.

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

The Guildford Vision Group, a group of concerned residents with very relevant commercial and professional experience, was established four years ago to press for reinvigoration of the town centre. Specifically we have called for six objectives:

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre
2. Exciting new public space along a reinvigorated riverside
3. Redirection of vehicle traffic away from the centre
4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. There are no substantial coordinated policies or strategies in the Local Plan that will achieve the six objectives above. These objectives have received wide public support, as recognised by:

- Our 2013 document ‘Guildford on the Way’, a Vision for Guildford in 2030 (attached) as articulated by members of the public, Guildford residents and our members
- Comments and feedback from our public meetings over the past four years that have regularly attracted audiences of 200 and above
- Feedback from our frequent Newsletters to our supporters, interested parties and councillors

We understand that the council propose an Area Action Plan (AAP) for the town centre once the Local Plan is adopted. We are concerned that the AAP will be subject to challenge if its aims are not foreshadowed in the Local Plan. We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

The Guildford Vision Group would like to challenge elements of the Local Plan at the Examination, and would wish to be accompanied by expert witnesses where appropriate, especially in connection with town centre infrastructure matters.

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre

3. Redirection of vehicle traffic away from the centre
4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

These are not unusual or unique objectives. They are the aim of a multitude of UK towns and cities, where many have taken positive action to bring them about. Many would envy Guildford its magnificent setting and the river running through the centre of town, yet Guildford has failed significantly over the past decades to take full advantage of its potential, especially its river. Riverside areas are taken up by surface car parks, buildings with their back to the water and suffer a legacy of piecemeal, unattractive light industrial development.

Walnut Tree Close and Woodbridge Meadows, in particular, should be given over to well-planned housing and the scattered light industrial provision should be relocated to an expanded Slyfield where infrastructure and communications would be better.

We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

The single, most significant omission regarding the town centre and its infrastructure is a cohesive plan to redirect traffic away from the centre via a new East/West link as proposed by GVG. This was mentioned in our previous Local Plan 2014 submission. A sketch of the link is reproduced here with the new rail/river bridge arrowed:

[see attached file GVG bridge route]

Such a link would instantly enable wider pedestrianisation of the town centre – specifically Bridge and Onslow Streets – bringing a safer, less polluted environment. The bridge would also enable the reinvigoration of the riverside on both sides, below the bottom of North and High Streets, and the demolition of the ugly four lane concrete Friary Bridge that blights the character of our historic gap town at its very centre.

There is no attempt in the Local Plan to safeguard any potential route for such a new East/West link.

Below is the complete Guildford Vision Group Reg 19 consultation submission:

The Guildford Vision Group, a group of concerned residents with very relevant commercial and professional experience, was established four years ago to press for reinvigoration of the town centre. Specifically we have called for six objectives:

1. Wider pedestrianisation of the town centre
2. Exciting new public space along a reinvigorated riverside

4. An integrated transport hub and interchange around the rail station
5. New town centre housing
6. A new and better East-West link

These are not unusual or unique objectives. They are the aim of a multitude of UK towns and cities, where many have taken positive action to bring them about. Many would envy Guildford its magnificent setting and the river running through the centre of town, yet Guildford has failed significantly over the past decades to take full advantage of its potential, especially its river. Riverside areas are taken up by surface car parks, buildings with their back to the water and suffer a legacy of piecemeal, unattractive light industrial development. Walnut Tree Close and Woodbridge Meadows, in particular, should be given over to well-planned housing and the scattered light industrial provision should be relocated to an expanded Slyfield where infrastructure and communications would be better.

We are thus disappointed by the lack of real ambition and aspiration in the Local Plan in respect of the town centre. There are no substantial coordinated policies or strategies in the Local Plan that will achieve the six objectives above. These objectives have received wide public support, as recognised by:

- Our 2013 document ‘Guildford on the Way’, a Vision for Guildford in 2030 (attached) as articulated by members of the public, Guildford residents and our members
- Comments and feedback from our public meetings over the past four years that have regularly attracted audiences of 200 and above
- Feedback from our frequent Newsletters to our supporters, interested parties and councillors

The council, in response to our lobbying, commissioned a masterplan for the centre. The masterplan was drawn up by Allies & Morrison, nationally-renowned masterplanners. The masterplan was approved by the council in March 2016 but is yet to be adopted. There is little recognition or acknowledgement of the masterplan in either the Local Plan policies, underpinning information or implementation strategies. We understand that the council propose an Area Action Plan (AAP) for the town centre once the Local Plan is adopted. We are concerned that the AAP will be subject to challenge if its aims are not foreshadowed in the Local Plan. We believe omission of any mention of the AAP could render the Local Plan unsound in this respect.

We made a lengthy response to the Reg 18 consultation nearly 2 years ago. Our comments remain very relevant and are re-submitted for the Reg 19 consultation.

The Local Plan leaves a real vacuum in respect of the town centre and leaves it vulnerable to uncoordinated, opportunistic development. It will have no credible, well-articulated policies to forestall such development or any distinctive guide for development that will ensure the long run sustainability of the town centre and its economy.

The single, most significant omission regarding the town centre and its infrastructure is a cohesive plan to redirect traffic away from the centre via a new East/West link as proposed by GVG. This was mentioned in our previous Local Plan 2014 submission. A sketch of the link is reproduced here with the new rail/river bridge arrowed:

[see attached file 'GVG bridge route.jpeg']

Such a link would instantly enable wider pedestrianisation of the town centre – specifically Bridge and Onslow Streets – bringing a safer, less polluted environment. The bridge would also enable the reinvigoration of the riverside on both sides, below the bottom of North and High Streets, and the demolition of the ugly four lane concrete Friary Bridge that blights the character of our historic gap town at its very centre.

There is no attempt in the Local Plan to safeguard any potential route for such a new East/West link.

There has been no new town centre East/West link across the railway and river since the building of the Farnham Road Bridge in the 1840s. The Farnham Road bridge capacity is constrained, is rapidly approaching the end of its safe life and is too low for modern rail freight traffic (as set out in the rail ‘Wessex Plan’).

The level and importance of development to the West of the town since 1840 should surely suggest a need for another link. The town centre and Guildford’s health and economy is at a disadvantage from inadequate and imperfect links to key sites such as the Royal Surrey Hospital, Surrey University, the Research Park with its world class and world leading facilities and activities. If large housing development is to be accommodated to the West of the town then there should be adequate provision for the inevitable increase in consequent vehicular traffic from such development, irrespective of the impact of modal shift and sustainable movement policies. Guildford is a gap town, with topographic constraints on solutions such as a ring road. The beauty of its setting also provides constraints.

Within a wider pedestrianisation in the town centre there should be provision for better pedestrian routes to the Cathedral and University. The Local Plan makes no attempt to achieve that, to the detriment of the town and its sense of community.
GVG is pro—growth and supports good, well designed development. Guildford Town Centre is about to undergo a sustained period of significant development, including creation of an additional 48,000sq m of retail and related space, principally via the redevelopment of North Street. Development includes additional new town centre housing, including much needed affordable. It is hard, if not impossible, to discern from the Local Plan how such considerable development will be served by appropriate infrastructure. It is not clear what public benefits will accrue in the shape of new public space and better public realm. There is no sense of an overarching plan or design ethos that will support and enhance the historic core of the town that makes it so attractive to its residents and to a wide range of visitors.

In a well-meaning, almost obsessive, focus on its sustainable movement corridor and modal shift, the council leaves itself unfortunately blind to the need now for a modern transport interchange in the centre of town around the railway station. Guildford holds a key strategic position halfway between Heathrow and Gatwick airports and should seize all the opportunities that airport expansion will bring. The Local Plan has little if any comment or concrete plans regarding the rearrangement of bus services necessitated by the North St development.

Sadly the Guildford Vision Group therefore finds the Local Plan unsound, inadequate and unambitious in respect of the town centre.

I wish to object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft local plan and the continued inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site (Policy A26 & para 4.1.9) in the draft local plan.

Policy A26 offers the opportunity for developers to make profit through delivering new houses but does not require them to sufficiently fund and/or develop and/or maintain the necessary and sufficient infrastructure that would be needed to properly connect the Blackwell farm development with the rest of Guildford and ensure its success. Without such an infrastructure requirement and funding from the housing developers, current local residents of Onslow Village and Compton will be severely impacted, both during the build/development phase and afterwards once the new houses are occupied. The current infrastructure is already inadequate for the current residents and users on the western side of Guildford – adding 1,800 more homes will have a severe impact; developers should not be allowed to benefit at all at the expense of the current community on to which the Blackwell Farm estate will join.

I object to the planned access from the A31 to Blackwell Farm for a number of reasons, and not least because it is situated in an AONB, including the following:

- It is neither funded nor planned in sufficient detail to prevent even more congestion on the A31 and the A31 Down’s Lane Junction which is now severely dangerous during morning and evening rush hour
- the A31 into Guildford from the proposed junction is not capable of handling an increase in heavy lorries, nor is the city centre gyratory For this to be one of only 2 access points, the A31 from the City Centre should be upgraded, or current traffic re-routed off it
- LRN3 (Signalized junction on A31) as defined in Guildford Borough’s 2016 Transport Strategy does not have confirmed funding and is not planned for delivery until Policy A26 has not specified the junction to be complete before the housing development starts which will create a massive impact for current commuters and road users on the A31 as developer lorries and vehicles seek access to the site for the next 10 years. Without a controlled junction, it will be dangerous to access from the west bound carriageway of the A31 and cause even more traffic congestion and pollution than is currently experienced
- LRN3 should not be installed until the A3 development programme has a clear plan and funding, including how any interchange between the A3 and A31 will There is a major lack of both detail and contingency planning on this in the Guildford Borough 2016 Transport Strategy; there is only the un-funded and un-defined A3 widening (SRN2) scheme and the aspirational A3 tunnel (SRN10) scheme and nothing in between.

The creation of homes alone will not help the current or future community in this part of Guildford:

- The retail and community allocations described in Policy A26 are miniscule compared to the need of the planned residents, who will want access to better transport, shopping and community facilities (cinemas, restaurants etc) e. all those facilities located in the centre of Guildford
- 1,800 homes will add an additional 2,000 cars1* to already congested and under-funded roads
- The Council’s suggestion that the new residents of Blackwell farm will not have need to travel outside the area is misguided and ill-informed
- Hence the need to thoroughly define and fund sustainable roads and transport infrastructure in advance of any housing strategy to develop the land

No detail is present in the draft local plan and policy A26 into the way today’s communities will exist in the future, nor are there requirements in Policy A26 to deliver infrastructure that will be suitable for future living. The addition of an “opportunities” paragraph in the latest version of the policy A26 are not requirements and will therefore not be delivered by any developer or involved party:
• where are the specific requirements for cycle lanes and cycle paths to help people commute locally in safety, without having to compete with traffic on the over-congested roads?; the A31 from the top of the Hogs Back into Guildford is a “death-trap” for The current defined “cycle ways” from the Mount to the Hogs Back is a potholed, dirt track which is un-navigable to all normal road and hybrid bikes during winter.

• where are the specific requirements to maintain footpaths for pedestrians to walk into Guildford? The current footpath on the A31 is too narrow, in bad disrepair and too dangerous for pedestrians to use to walk from High View Road into the City Centre.

• the growth in internet shopping and home deliveries This creates more need for better roads and access for online suppliers/delivery firms as well as better/faster online access.

• where is the requirement and commitment/investment to install super-fast broadband (100Mbps+)? The western side of Onslow village stretching up the A31 to Compton currently only gets 1Mbps connection, which frequently fails during peak The OpenReach projects to install superfast broadband for 450 current homes2* are all underfunded and behind their planned project delivery timescales.

The draft local plan and the various other Council strategy documents and policies governing road-use and transportation in and around Guildford are not joined-up. This is a problem throughout the whole governance/government of the areas development.

• The key strategic road is the A3 (and with it trouble-free access in/out of Guildford), although suggested improvements are neither planned nor funded; they are merely wish-list items, and Highways Agency are Without a properly functioning multi-lane highway connecting Guildford to the rest of the South East and UK, Guildford’s inner roads will become more congested than they currently are now, increasing journey times and polluting the environment. The current access on and off the A3 at the western side of Guildford is inadequate and very dangerous in places. Adding more houses will just compound the problem.

• The plan to improve traffic flows through Guildford city centre is not yet agreed or Without such plans, the traffic on the A31 will become more congested than current and the pollution levels will not be brought below the necessary standards.

Policy A26 is not sufficiently funded and not adequately specified to prevent profit taking by land-owners and builders at the expense of the local community and Guildford Council itself. A strategy to build 1,800 homes on a single plot next to Guildford where all infrastructure is already under severe pressure will not work unless all interested parties have their goals aligned.

If such large housing developments are needed – and that is debatable - then I strongly suggest that it is a requirement that no profit should be allowed to be created/distributed from Policy A26 until the impact of the new homes has been experienced and the necessary investment in infrastructure to at least maintain, and ideally improve the whole of the area is secured and delivered. This should be about developing an expanding community for current and future residents, not just about building houses to meet some statistical need.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Housing numbers:

Regarding housing numbers the Strategic Housing Market Assessment has given a housing need of 693 per year, this is far too high and is double the figure given just 4 years ago.

Guildford Borough Council have not given details of how the figures have been calculated, the report is therefore unaccountable so should not be used.

The SHMA is fundamentally flawed, historical errors have not been corrected, there are issues over student housing requirements and errors in the estimation of homes needed to support growth.

By contrast the independent report by Guildford Residents Association comes up with a much lower figure of 510.

All other boroughs have reduced the figure that their SHMA came up with, Guildford have taken the highest number. Why have Guildford not constrained the figure?

The proposed 14,000 homes is a massive increase on the current housing stock, this is overdevelopment and is unsustainable. No justification has been put forward for such a massive increase in one town

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

Gosden Hill Farm:

This massive proposed development will have a huge impact on Burpham, the proposal is to effectively double the size of Burpham. This is a major assault on a village area on the outskirts of town. Burpham is already congested particularly at peak times, adding to this 2000 houses, a 1000 car park and ride, 2 schools and perhaps a station will add thousands more car movements to an already congested road network. The increase in solution is unacceptable.

Gosden Hill is in the Green Belt, the topography of the hill means it is a very visible site when driving on the A3. Development of these green fields will spread the urban sprawl in a very visible manor significantly up the A3.
A large portion of the traffic from this massive site will head towards Guildford via the roads through Burpham, this is already congested and will simply not cope with the increase, moreover the pollution of near stationary cars will blight the area.

Transport:

The evidence on future traffic conditions which has been provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report was produced late and is incomplete. Critical information on congestion has not been given in time to be taken into account in the plan proposals.

The proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor is simple unsound and cannot be delivered due to the narrow roads and pinch points on an already very congested route through Burpham.

Of further note is that the proposed Gosden Hill development of 2000 houses plus offices, school etc will add significant pressure to the already congested London road and New Inn Lane. The increase in solution and noise is unacceptable.

The phasing of the proposed Gosden Hill development is in advance of proposed improvements to the A3. This makes no sense.

The major transport issues around Guildford need to be resolved before any further development is considered, these include the proposed A3 tunnel, new river crossing, a workable central bus terminal and a rail station at Merrow.

The Green Belt:

The National policy is clear in that it attaches great importance to the nature of the Green Belt.

The Plan does not show evidence of exceptional circumstances to justify why the Green Belt land should be used for strategic development.

Brownfield land needs more consideration, surely the decline in the need for retail space means that houses could be built in the town centre instead of more retail units, student accommodation should be constructed on campus even if higher rise accommodation is used.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Having read the revised plan for 2017 I note that you have removed site A46 - 1,100 homes and school and also removed Site A47 - 50 homes. Please note that I support the decision to remove these sites for all the same reasons that I objected to the sites when they were in the 2016 Local Plan.

I also note that you would like to remove from the Green Belt the homes in Guildford Road, northern end of Glaziers Lane, Flexford, Walden Cottages and Palm House Nurseries traveller site. I would like to strongly object to this proposal. The green belt should not be changed at all, the local area could not cope with further development.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. These representations concern land at Send Business Centre, Tannery House, Tannery Lane, Send identified under draft Policy E1 as a “Locally Significant Employment Site”. In broad terms the owner of Send Business Centre (Wey Estates Ltd) supports the allocation of their site under Policy E1. However, objections are raised for 4 separate reasons:

   ◦ Wey Estates Ltd object to the fact that significant parts of the curtilage of the site has been, for some reason, excluded from the allocation (Representations under ‘A’ below).
In view of the importance of the site in strategic terms it should be identified as a Strategic site not a Locally Significant Employment Site (B).

Objections are also raised in relation to the wording of Policy E1 (C)

There is a separate objection to the wording of Policy E2 which is inconsistent with the aims of Policy E1 (D).

In the representations that follow we deal with the main aspect namely the extent of the land to be identified under Policy E1 and then deal with the status of the site within the policy and then the specific wording of the policy.

Policy E1 Sustainable Employment

A. EXTENT OF LAND AT TANNERY LANE, SEND IDENTIFIED UNDER POLICY E1

2. The Proposals Map to the Submission Local Plan appears to delineate only the footprint of the main building complex at Send Business Centre and excludes important other areas which also form part of and are intrinsically linked to the industrial complex. This is at odds with the extent of land which has always been historically associated with the curtilage of the former industrial and present business use of the site. It is also at odds with the way the extent of the vast majority of the curtilage of other allocated sites have been identified under Policy E1. It is also inconsistent with the objectives of the policy itself where the retention and regeneration of these sites is encouraged and intensification where possible will be considered to be appropriate.

3. Set out below we explain why Wey Estates Ltd seek to amend the Submission Local Plan by adjusting the boundary of the “Locally Significant Employment Site” on the Proposals Map to reflect the extent of the industrial curtilage as shown on drg no. 12.067.SITE, (Document 1) an extract of which is set out below. (We deal with the important case for identifying the site as ‘Strategic’ later in these submissions).

4. In this regard it is also relevant to take account of the definition of previously developed land found in the glossary to NPPF. In defining the meaning of ‘Previously Developed Land’, Annexe 2 defines this as:

“Land which is or was occupied by a permanent structure, including the curtilage of the developed land (although it should not be assumed that the whole of the curtilage should be developed) and any associated fixed surface infrastructure”.

For the reasons that will become obvious when considering the close association of the subject land, its appearance, previous long standing and established use in connection to the adjoining factory complex there can be no doubt that the subject land should be recognised as falling within the curtilage of Send Business Centre and that it is vitally important that this curtilage is recognised as such through the Local Plan process to ensure the future prosperity and viability of the Send Business Centre.

Wey Estates Ltd seek to have the boundary of Send Business Centre amended to reflect the red line above

Historical Association of the land from forming part of the curtilage of Send Business Centre.

1. Attached to these representations are the following documents:
• Letter from Hamburger, Director and Shareholder of Wey Estates Ltd setting out the historical association of the land and its industrial curtilage (Document 2)
• Copy of documentation submitted as part of a planning application some 21 years ago in relation to the industrial curtilage (Document 3)
• Representations made some 15 years ago in connection with the first Borough Local Plan also referencing the industrial curtilage of the sit (Document 4)

1. In his Statement dated 6th July 2016 (Document 2), Mr Hamburger sets out the chronology of the use of the site. It is clear from this letter that both the large hard surfaced car park and storage area opposite the main factory complex and the open storage area to the south-west and rear of Cheriton have formed part of the curtilage of the industrial complex for over 55 years (since 1961) and have been continuously used as such for that period of time. The same is true also of the ‘island’ site referred to in Mr Hamburger’s letter although Wey Estates Ltd do not seek to develop this part of the curtilage other than as open land associated with the Business Centre.

2. Hamburger’s statement is corroborated in a number of documents associated with the use of the site. An example (Document 3) is a planning application submitted some 20 or so years ago for the re-use of the factory premises where the ‘red line’ of the application embraced all the land the subject of these representations with the then Chartered Surveyors acting for the owners in their Planning Policy Assessment stated that:

“The site relates to three parcels of land comprising approximately 3.75ha (9 acres) straddling both the River Wey Navigation and Tannery Lane, Send. All three parcels form the curtilage of the industrial complex” (see para 2.01)

1. The site plan attached to the planning application clearly identifies those parcels of land referred to as being part of the curtilage of the industrial complex and is the same as those parcels the subject of these representation

2. Similarly, the owners made representations to the council regarding the status of the industrial site during the formal objection period to the Deposit Draft Local Plan in February 1999 (which eventually emerged as the adopted Borough Local Plan in 2003). In seeking to identify the site as a ‘Major Developed Site in the Green Belt’ the representations referred to the fact that it comprises a major developed factory site that pre-dates both the Green Belt description and the town and country planning system. There is also reference that during discussions with the council there had been agreement that redevelopment would be appropriate provided the advice given in Annex C of PPG2 is taken into account. The plan attached to those representations similarly identify all the land the subject of these representations. (Document 4).

3. All these factors, particularly the first hand detailed knowledge of the site of Mr Hamburger, all point to the fact that the industrial curtilage of the site embraced all parcels of land the subject of these representation

Analysis of the extent of the curtilage of other allocated sites have been identified under Policy E1.

1. The following other sites are identified under Policy E1, either as ‘Strategic Employment Sites’ or, as in the case of Send Business Centre, ‘Locally Significant Employment Sites’:

• 57 and Liongate Ladymead
• Cathedral Hill Industrial Estate
• Guildford Business Park
• Guildford Industrial Estate, Deacon Field
• Henley Business Park, Normandy
• London Square, Cross Lane
• Merrow Lane (incl Perram Works, Bridge Park, Merrow Business Centre, SCC depot)
• Midleton Road Industrial Estate
• North and south of Lysons Avenue, Ash Vale
• Quadrum Park, Peasmarsh
• Riverway, Astolat, Weyvern at Peasmarsh
• Slyfield Industrial Estate
• Surrey Research Park (extended)
• The Guildway, Portsmouth Road
• The Pirbright Institut
• Woodbridge Meadows
• Woodbridge Park, Woodbridge Road
1. By reference to the Proposals Maps, (despite that some are very small scale), it would appear that, bar one exception, all of the above sites are identified by reference to their curtilage rather than the ‘footprint’ of the building. (Three examples are shown below). There is no explanation given as to why Send Business Centre is being treated differently, perhaps it is simply an oversight of the draughtsman. Nevertheless, we believe that this anomaly should be corrected and Send Business Centre be identified by reference to its curtilage as well so that there is consistency in the policy and to enable the objectives of Policy E1 be met in this case.

[IMAGE 2]

[IMAGE 3]

[IMAGE 4]

In contrast Send Business Centre (below) is identified almost exclusively by the building’s footprint ignoring its curtilage

[IMAGE 5]

13. A clue perhaps as to why the Submission Plan has erroneously treated Send Business Centre differently is found in the Topic Paper accompanying the Submission Local Plan. Para 4.51, dealing with the Tannery Lane site says this:

“An undeveloped 1.4ha site in the Green Belt, was identified in the Draft Local Plan to meet the identified employment need. It was proposed Send Business Centre would be expanded on to this site.”

14. Clearly the author of this document is under the mistaken impression that the land in question is “undeveloped” whereas the reality is it has always played an important open storage and hardstanding area role as part of the curtilage associated with the business complex. Indeed, there are already two industrial buildings on it (see photos in Mr. Hamburger’s statement) as well as the rebuilt wharf. The comment that “Send Business Centre would be expanded on to this site” is also misleading since the lawful position is that the land is already intrinsically part of the established industrial curtilage and has been so for over 50 years. Moreover, in accordance with the definition found in NPPF (see para 4 above) the land can lawfully be described as ‘previously developed land’. There is therefore no ‘expansion’ into this area: it has always been associated with and used for industrial/business purposes in much the same way as the curtilage of the other identified business sites identified under Policy E1, some of which are illustrated in the site plans above.

15. It is also important to point out that the in relation to land much further to the west that was identified as a Potential Development Area (PDA), representations made at the time in respect of Send Business Centre were on the basis that the business complex and its curtilage should always be recognised as such in the emerging Submission Local Plan: whether or not the adjoining PDA land was to be agreed.

1. It is for that reason that the conclusions in the Topic Paper that:

“This PDA is located within high sensitivity Green Belt and is therefore no longer considered appropriate. As a result, this site (ie SBC) is also no longer considered appropriate” is based upon a misunderstanding of the site, its curtilage, and its function.

1. The curtilage of Send Business Centre is surrounded on its southern and western sides by extensive landfill sites that were previously excavated quar. Moreover, the council granted planning permission just 9 months ago for new development including two storey workshops and chandlery buildings amounting to over 7,000 sqft (approx. 620sqm) together with a hard surfaced car park for 57 cars on land immediately adjoining the western boundary of the curtilage (ref:14/P/002289, dated 9/9/2015). By no reasonable test therefore could either the curtilage or the immediately surrounding area be accurately described as “high sensitivity Green Belt”.

1. In this regard, it is interesting to note that in considering the recent planning application for the refurbishment of the wharf at Send Business Centre (Ref:15/P/0249) - which is located within the curtilage land - in answer to the following question on the planning application forms “Please describe the current use of the site” the answer given was “Part of the curtilage of Send Business Centre”. Following a subsequent site visit by the officers, the Head of Development Control in recommending approval of the planning application was able to advise the Planning Committee in his Report recommending approval that “There is no material change of use of the land for this application site”.

1. On this basis it would appear that as recently as last year the Planning Officer was of the opinion that the land forms part of the curtilage of Send Business Centre as no material change in use was propo

The Objectives of Policy E1 and Send Business Centre

1. There is an acknowledged lack of suitable and diverse employment sites that we believe discourages investment from new companies in the borough and encourages existing firms to relocate to other parts of the UK or overs. Moreover, the lack of supply is hampering the aspirations of ‘start-up’ businesses. Accordingly, the Local Plan and Policy E1 through its allocations should address the need for a wide range of business and employment opportunities for current and future businesses.

1. The Employment Land Assessment (2013) concluded that the Borough’s employment needs cannot be met within existing sites and established employment ar. It concluded that provision should be made for a net additional increase in B use class floor space of between 10.5 ha (105,000 sq m) and 20 ha (200,000 sq m) to meet the Borough’s identified employment needs. Moreover, it advised that there is not enough supply of employment land to meet future growth needs and the potential capacity does not meet the lower and upper baseline requirements.

1. The Assessment also acknowledged that there is a need to provide a degree of choice and flexibility when planning for future employment needs, to ensure that the local property market can operate efficiently! The implications are that “If we do not provide enough suitable land and enough choice and flexibility, the new Local Plan may not meet the needs of the borough’s businesses. In time, this could lead to existing businesses moving out of the borough and new and small businesses, not being able to establish themselves or invest in the borough”.

1. This background work was updated by later research undertaken by Aecom and instead of expressing the need in Ha, a floor area based figure was given with a range of between 37,200sm – 47,200sqm B1 (a) and (b) sp. In the light of this the council decided to reduce their forecast for the need for B space to be provided within the Borough. We believe that this is a wrong approach and that a more flexible approach adopted bearing in mind of the vagaries of the market, the need to provide a range of B space both in terms of size and location and the fact that this later research could not anticipate the making permanent the GPDO rights to change B1 space to residential. In the period 2013-2016, this amounted to the loss of the sizeable amount of some 12,772sqm of B1(a) space to residential. Clearly this trend will continue as more B1(a) sites come forward as leases end and opportunities for residential conversions increase thus putting pressure to provide more suitable B1 floorspace. The range of proposed floor areas given in the policy should therefore be revised upwards (a consequential change to the floorspace figures given in Policy S2 would also need to be revised).

1. Accordingly it is right to look at potential land, including those sites in the countryside to provide for sustainable development locations and provide enough employment land to meet the expected employment needs of existing and new resid. This is particularly the case where a number of established employment sites in the countryside can provide for expansion without harming countryside interests. In this regard, the earlier published ‘Issues and Options’ paper acknowledged that rural wards accounted for almost half of the new jobs created in Guildford Borough between 2002 and 2008 according to the Guildford Economic Strategy 2011 - 2031.

1. In the short term, the need for employment land may be met through the intensification and redevelopment of existing sites and the protection of employment use on key strategic sites. This relates to both urban sites and established employment sites in the countryside. However, it is acknowledged by the research undertaken by the council that this is unlikely to be sufficient in the medium to long-term and does not allow for any choice for potential occupiers or flexibility within the market. The Plan should therefore provide choice for businesses to start up as well as supporting existing businesses to expand. It comes as no surprise to learn that para 3.35 of the previously published Local Plan Strategy and Sites Issues and Options paper advised “For all of these reasons the Local Plan needs to continue to support job creation and business in rural areas.”

1. Send Business Centre presently provides for the employment needs for a number of start-up and innovative businesses as well as more established companies. It is focussing on the digital sector with a view to creating a hub to meet the demand from the unique local supply chain of companies involved in activities such as studios, video, sound & post production, apps, etc. Moreover, LEP funding in place to improve fibre infrastructure and promote innovation support at the site.

1. An important part of Send Business Centre is Tannery Studios (TS). TS is collaborating with both Enterprise M3 LEP, and Surrey Research Park based start-up incubator ‘Set Squared’ to develop TS’ facilities into a globally significant hub specialising in digital media / creative companies. Successful companies at TS will interact with locally based companies such as EA Games, thereby benefiting Guildford Borough as a whole. However, site capacity within the existing buildings will be reached shortly and there is concern that the emerging Local Plan does not reflect the LEP priority of employment in a sector that Guildford is especially strong in given ACM and ‘Tonmeister’s’ stream of talented graduates.

1. TS already has numerous innovative and expanding companies such as Lifelines Limited, a recipient of the Queens Award for Commerce; My Little Eye Productions, a music video production house; Slik Pictures, a creative start-up that recently re-located from Silicon Roundabout; Tactic Games, the sales agent of the Angry Birds game; Ben Preston, the producer for Rihanna and the Harry Potter films and Roomba, the global leader in automated vacuum technologies.

1. It is for that reason the Send Business Centre is concerned about the adverse economic consequences of the decision to remove parts of its curtilage as a Locally Significant Employment Site or as a Strategic site which the company believes it should be allocated. It is impracticable to suggest that as TS can operate without parking and room for controlled expansion, and is contrary to the LEP’s funding initiative to stimulate employment and will act as a block on growth as TS will have no move on accommodation.

1. The additional land within the curtilage of the Business Centre is suitable for a sensitive expansion in accordance with the requirements of Policy E1 which could create additional business space for these and similar likeminded businesses. The land is available now to meet the employment needs of the Borough and its development can proceed without significantly harming countryside or other interests. As referred to in the statement of Mr Hamburger, planning permission is already in place to carry out road improvements to Tannery Lane in the vicinity of the site.

1. This approach is fully supported in the NP. As para 28 advises:

Planning policies should support economic growth in rural areas in order to create jobs and prosperity by taking a positive approach to sustainable new development. To promote a strong rural economy, local and neighbourhood plans should:

- support the sustainable growth and expansion of all types of business and enterprise in rural areas, both through conversion of existing buildings and well-designed new buildings; (para 28)

Accordingly the Proposals Map should be amended to reflect the established industrial/business curtilage that has been established for more than 50 years so as to allow a planned and sensitive expansion of the site in accordance with the objectives of Policy E1 and at the same time safeguard the existing parking and essential storage facilities on site.
B ALLOCATION OF SEND BUSINESS CENTRE AS A STRATEGIC SITE

1. The Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) acknowledges that Guildford is rated as one of the UK’s top performing non-metropolitan boroughs and is the primary employment centre in Surrey with a GVA of £3bn in 2011. It is a net contributor to the Treasury of around £2bn. Economic growth has come primarily from high value high R&D sectors including ICT, healthcare and bioscience, satellite technology and computer games including high profile businesses Electronic Arts and Media Molecule.

1. We have referred to above that Send Business Centre is focussing on the digital sector with a view to creating a hub to meet the demand from the unique local supply chain of companies involved in activities such as studios, video, sound & post production. Its strategic importance in this field is acknowledged by the Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership where Government funding through the LEP is in place to improve, develop and expand the business opportunities at Send Business Cent

1. Para 4.6 of the Submission Local Plan (under the heading ‘Definitions’) defines Strategically Important Sites as follows:

“The Strategic Employment Sites were identified in the Employment Land Needs Assessment (ELNA). The sites are all larger than 1.7ha and all have more than 7,000 sq m of employment floorspace, most have more than 10,000 sq m of floorspace. Together the sites make up more than 170ha of employment land and more than 580,000 sq m of employment floorspace”.

Send Business Centre extends to some 3.2ha, and comprises over 8000 sqm of B1 and R&D employment floorspace. In addition, para 4.4.3 advises that each of the Strategic Sites account for over 100 jobs. By comparison, Send Business Centre presently employs 195 people. It is therefore well above the minimum parameters for being designated as a Strategically Important Site. Moreover, it is the home of a number of innovative and expanding companies who provide employment and contribute significantly to the local and national economies.

1. Para 4.3 of the Submission Plan also states that the Council will support existing innovation networks such as the high technology clusters that are such a key part of our economy as well as supporting the wide range of other businesses in the borough. As referred to above in paras 27 & 28, Send Business Centre is one such location. Para 4.4.3 of the Submission Plan then continues:

The Corporate Plan supports the Council in playing an active role in Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP), supporting its wider objectives to ensure that our economy remains innovative, well-balanced and socially, environmentally and commercially sustainable.

1. Send Business Centre is a major recipient of The Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) support and Government funding through the LEP. In 2013, the Enterprise M3 LEP Board decided to proceed with two projects as being recipients of a total of £8M funding. Tannery Studios which is an integral part of Send Business Centre was one of the two recipients. The allocated £1.3 million will be used to create a new purpose built 1,900 sq. m Innovation Centre at SBC that will deliver a range of bespoke facilities specifically designed to support the needs of high growth creative companies. The facilities will include three video studios, seven sound studios, one live room, 12 editing suites, 25 innovation units and five offices. Commenting on this project Geoff French, Chair of the Enterprise M3 Board, said:

“I am very pleased to announce that the Enterprise M3 Board has approved a further two projects to receive funding from our Growing Enterprise Fund. These projects are very exciting examples of what both the private and public sector are doing in the Enterprise M3 area to stimulate long-term economic growth.

In our Strategy for Growth, the LEP has identified four key priority areas – enterprise, skills, innovation and infrastructure – that we will be addressing to deliver economic growth in the Enterprise M3 area. Both of these two successful bids that we are announcing today is focused on at least one of these areas and therefore is a very worthy recipient of Growing Enterprise Fund funding.”

1. This all points to the strategic importance of Send Business Centre and reinforces the need for it to be recognised as such. ‘Strategic’ means “Relating to the identification of long-term or overall aims and interests and the means of achieving them”. In this regard the objectives of the Submission Local Plan can in part be met by allocating Send Business Centre as a Strategic Site. Not only does it provide significant floor space and jobs well in excess of the definition found at para 4.4.6 of the Plan but perhaps it is how that space has been and will be continued to be used that justifies its inclusion as a Strategic site. For these reasons we believe that Send Business Centre should be allocated as Strategic site under Policy E1.

C  THE WORDING OF POLICY E1

1. Wey Estates Ltd generally support the wording of Policy E1, but see no real reason why the Strategic Employment Areas are treated differently from Locally Significant Employment Areas in terms of the support given by the policy.

1. Strategic sites are dealt with in this way:

“The seventeen designated sites that together make up the borough’s current core supply of employment land will be protected as Strategic Employment Sites and changes of use from employment to non-employment uses resisted. The retention, intensification and employment based regeneration of these sites is encouraged”

whereas Locally Significant Employment Sites are dealt with in the following manner:

“The Locally Significant Employment Sites will be protected and within these sites changes of use to non-employment uses resisted. The retention and regeneration of these sites is encouraged and intensification where possible will be considered to be appropriate”.

1. We do not believe there should be any difference between the wording; both strategic and local sites are identified as worthy of protection because of their importance to the Borough’s economy. It follows therefore that the retention, intensification and employment based regeneration of both Strategic and Local sites is encouraged. Strategic and Local sites are located in both urban and countryside locations and therefore the policy context of those locations would also have a bearing and be taken into account in considering any subsequent planning applications.

1. Accordingly, we believe that the wording for Locally Significant Employment Sites should be changed by deleting the following text:

“The Locally Significant Employment Sites will be protected and within these sites changes of use to non-employment uses resisted. The retention and regeneration of these sites is encouraged and intensification where possible will be considered to be appropriate”.

and inserting the following text:

“The Locally Significant Employment Sites will be protected and within these sites changes of use to non-employment uses resisted. The retention, intensification and employment based regeneration of these sites is encouraged”.

1. Alternatively, the policy could be recast so that the above insertion applies to both Strategic and Local site.

D OBJECTION TO POLICY E2: LOCATION OF NEW EMPLOYMENT FLOORSPACE

43. The objectives of Policy E2 are inconsistent with the objectives of Policy E In relation to Locally Significant Employment Sites, Policy E1 (as drafted, not what is proposed above) says:

“The Locally Significant Employment Sites will be protected and within these sites changes of use to non-employment uses resisted. The retention and regeneration of these sites is encouraged and intensification where possible will be considered to be appropriate”.

There is therefore a clear indication in Policy E1 that regeneration is encouraged and intensification - where possible - considered to be appropriate.

44. This contrasts with the phraseology of Policy E2 which directs intensification and expansion to strategic sites and where only 200sqm of additional floorspace (an entirely arbitrary and unexplained figure) would constrain the expansion/intensification of Locally Significant Employment Sites Moreover, the policy goes on to say:

“The expansion of existing offices in locations outside town centres and Strategic Employment Sites should be limited and any development not limited in scale is to be directed to sequentially preferable locations”.

45. These sentiments clearly do not align with the Policy support given in Policy E2 is then contradicted with its reasoned justification as expressed at para 4.4.23:

“To ensure the supply of premises is suitable for modern business needs, renewal including redevelopment of existing offices is encouraged.”

46. An informed reader is therefore left with contradictory policy statements as to how a specific site should be consider In particular, the arbitrary limit of increases in floor area of 200 sqm should be deleted. That figure may be appropriate for a small employment site but is a totally unrealistic figure when assessing the needs of a site such as Send Business Centre with over 8000 sqm existing floorspace. Accordingly, Policy E2 should be re-casted to take account of the anomalies identified above.

Further to the local plan submission I would fully support the Church Street, Effingham site, even though it is in greenbelt, it would seem a very sensible infill site. Regarding the other allotted sites I notice Lyons Field, Effingham Common Road has been missed off. Surely this is a site which would again give good infill and ease the burden of housing?

I note with interest regarding Effingham's local plan. I would fully support the Church Street, Effingham site, it seems a good infill site. The glaring omission would be Lyons Field, Effingham Common Road, to me presents an ideal opportunity to ease the housing problem within Effingham.

The "evidence" is largely documents commissioned by the council to support the required outcome. For example, the green belt study nicely explains why each of the chosen areas could be built on, but does not address the impact of such development on the local wildlife or residents. Much of the so-called evidence is subjective and/or out of date and/or poorly constructed.

It seems that “sustainable” is inserted into any sentence involving development with no sustainable credentials whatsoever to make it more palatable.

What is sustainable about building over green-belt sites?

Is the development going to be fully eco-frienly an self-sufficient in power and water? (rhetorical question because of course it's not).

Is development going to be 100% built using renewable or recycled materials sourced from responsible suppliers? (another rhetorical question because of course it's not).

Is the energy input into the materials and development techniques being monitored and developers being held to account? (again, a rhetorical question because of course it's not).

What’s happening about the transport, water, power and telecoms infrastructure to support each development? Is the developer paying for all of this or are we having to fund the expansion of Guildford through our council tax?

I don't believe the housing numbers stated in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 (SHMA) to be accurate. It seems to use foreign students to increase the number of people needing housing and by my calculations, if we have a population increase of 20,000 in the time given in the plan, then the number of homes needed is more around the 8,000 area than the 13,860 the GBC have said. This surely states that a large number of buyers will come from else where and not from this area. While I understand some housing is needed, the number proposed is ridiculous.

4) No Provided evidence for the need of industrial buildings.

As far as I can see, the Guildford Borough Council have not provided the evidence needed to prove that there is a need for employment space as the Employment Land Needs specifies under the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) which shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out by the GBC in 2013. The space in burnt common area is therefor no longer needed!

It was added in an underhand manor and slipped in at the last minute to 'hide it' from local people and there right to comment. The borough councillor's from the Guildford Green Belt Group and Lovelace where treated in a terrible manor due to their rightful objections at the meeting held a week ago and I feel an apology should be given at the least. There is no more housing needed for this part of Garden City Borough Council (GBC) has gone back on their word that they have listened to the people and have decided to take out much of the housing proposed for the Send area in the first version of the local plan. Yet they have now put in an even bigger number of houses that they labelled 'affordable'. These are not affordable to the young members of this community regardless of what the very cleverly questioned statistics provided. I have talked to many of the young first time buyers in this area and not many of them can afford to buy in the village they grew up in. Many are forced to move to the midlands or further afield due to this house price increase. The GBC is obviously aiming for the London buyers and as Woking is the commuter area and a logical area to attract London buyers they have decided to place Send and the surrounding area into a forced plan which will drive out the local residence and drive up the housing market.

I don't believe the housing numbers stated in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 (SHMA) to be accurate. It seems to use foreign students to increase the number of people needing housing and by my calculations, if we have a population increase of 20,000 in the time given in the plan, then the number of homes needed is more around the 8,000 area than the 13,860 the GBC have said.

I'd like to have it on record that I, Christopher James Heath, a resident of Send Village in Surrey, strongly object to the proposed plan in the revised local plan from guildford Borough Council of 400 homes and a factory of 7000 sq m for industrial purpose.

My reasons.

1) Infrastructure

I have spoken to Matt Furness about whether or not there are any plans in place to increase the existing infrastructure of affected areas and have been told that there is not. When I say infrastructure I mean everything from transport (both the roads and the public options like busses and trains) to the already collapsing Victorian sewers, to the medical facilities and schools. The phone net works, broadband, mobile masts, electoral supplies, road widening, shops, pubs etc..

It seems that thousands of buildings across this borough are going to be 'thrown up' with out any consideration for infrastructure. Surely this needs to be addressed before any plans can even start to be consulted on? I would have thought that the first logical step?!

3) The removal of the green belt.

The green belt is a lawful boundary set in place to protect the identities of rural villages and towns. To stop these places merging into one urban area, and for the welfare of the people and wildlife of Britain. This is an historic beautiful country and will be terribly damaged by the removal of its green belts. Below is a statement relating to this.

'Green belt policy in the UK has shown to be highly effective in halting the urban sprawl and improving the quality of life for both rural and urban population. However, the CPRE warns on the so-called developmental threats to green belt policy and emphasizes the importance of protecting the existing green belt areas in their boundaries'.

'The UK government said that it has no intention of changing the boundaries of green belts but the CPRE says that developmental plans and talks about replacing the “lost” green belt areas elsewhere are clearly revealing that the current green belt policy is under threat.

We live in a democratic country. Yet this Government has not listened to the wishes of its people regarding this issue and now we are told that the lawful green belt can simply be removed? This is a legal binding boundary that no developer can question, yet the council can? This should be totally illegal! Our MP for Surrey Sir Paul Beresford stated before his election last year that he wanted the green belt protected. Yet here we are, one year later taking all the villages out of the green belt?!

With reference to the new proposals for two Traveller's sites in Send Hill, I would like to raise the following objections:

1. Having lived alongside Travellers in Berkshire, I witnessed their lifestyle and culture first hand and therefore believe that Traveller’s lifestyle is particularly culturally diverse to that of existing Send Hill residents. When considering culture, ethnicity and diversity, it is important to not only consider the rights of minority groups such as Travellers, but also the rights of existing residents, in regard to their chosen way of life and culture.

1. The road already has very poor infrastructure and is single file traffic alongside the proposed site. The only way the Local Authority could resolve this issue, would be to widen the road and lose the charm that this area of the road affords. I have also noticed that drivers regularly travel too fast in the road and it is only when cars approach from the opposite direction, that traffic is caused to naturally slow as the road narrows. This will also be a concern, if too many additional homes are planned for the road. The infrastructure of the single track road is already exacerbated at times during the rush hour.

1. As so much school traffic uses the road, plus many other daily users who enjoy the walks around this area, it is important for any planning decision to take into account the safety and wellbeing of road users in Send Hill and give consideration to the size of vehicles typically used on a Traveller’s Site.

1. Residents of Send Hill are predominantly middle aged and live quiet, peaceful lives in the main. They are entitled to retain their chosen culture.

1. Travellers that settle are no longer travellers technically and therefore should not be automatically be entitled to the special privileges their culture affords

1. Send Hill is currently an area of beauty, where many walkers come to enjoy the pleasant outlook in the area under consideration as a Traveller site. I believe we have a legacy to retain this landscape and the walks around it, so that future generations can also enjoy it.

I object to Send being removed from the Green Belt.

The village Send provides a green buffer between Woking and Guildford. To develop in the Green Belt requires special circumstances. There are none to justify developing the land in and around Send so Guildford Borough Council have come up with another plan, to remove Send from the Green Belt therefore freeing up the area for development. Guildford Borough Council should not be allowed to abuse the Green Belt in this way in order to just suit themselves. The Green Belt was set up to control urban growth from unscrupulous Councils and Developers permanently. If this is not protected then all of the land in and around the village will be vulnerable to development. This would destroy the character of the village of Send. Guildford would merge with Woking through a series of urban estates.

I object to 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery.

I object to this site because of the inadequate access and traffic volume. In one direction Tannery Lane is very narrow and twisty, being reduced to single lane traffic in many spots with passing places only; in the other the junction onto Send Road is very dangerous and inadequate. Planning permission has already been given for a marina and 64 apartments which will increase the traffic greatly.

I object to the proposal to build 400 houses and 7000sqm of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch.

This site was not included in the Regulation 18 Draft Local Plan so has not had full consultation. The manor in which it has been slipped into the Plan is underhand and unfair. The site is subject to flooding and is covered by ancient woodland. The Industrial space is not needed here and any extra space required should be included in the existing industrial site of Slyfield. The projected housing figures I understand to have been exaggerated, so there is no need for this number of houses to be built in and around Send.

I object to the 4-way intersection. I object to the fact that the road infrastructure through Send has not been thought about and the consequences of putting a large interchange on this site would cause gridlock. The amount of traffic this will create through Send is unfeasible as there is only one two way street that goes through the centre of the village. The intersection would have to take traffic from the proposed 2000 new houses in Wisley Airfield, 2000 new houses in Gosden Hill and 1850 new houses at Blackwell Farm. The traffic form Woking heading to and from the A3 and M25 would come through Send. The traffic congestion is one aspect but there are other considerations such as noise pollution, air pollution levels, weight of traffic on country roads and the damage that will be caused not to mention the destruction of the village and the way of life here.

I am writing to register my objections to the New Local Plan. The Plan does not seem to have a clear design for the whole area. If it does it certainly is not making it clear. Firstly the Transport Plan has been produced very late in the day (only released on the day of publication) and without this infrastructure, none of the developments should take place. It seems that Guildford Borough Council is planning a series of large developments along the A3 corridor but has not thoroughly looked at the impact of this for the surrounding villages. The villages on both sides of the A3 have very inadequate roads to cope with the anticipated amount of traffic and the roads available cannot be improved to the point that will ease the expected congestion. There are many other worries as well, such as environmental concerns, noise pollution, air pollution, flood risks, the sheer quantity of housing and industrial units supposedly required, the list goes on.

I object to the Council not following due process. Since the last Draft Local Plan every site in the village of Send has been changed. Not only locations but also in housing numbers. Even as recently as 5th April 2016 there was a document released giving information on the New Local Plan with links to maps and now there are massive changes, even since the publication of this document. My understanding is that following the rejection of the Draft Local Plan the Council could only push forward under Regulation 19 if there were not significant changes. In Send, None of the 485 new homes was included, the site at Garlick’s Arch was not included, the land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill was not included and the removal of Send from the Green Belt was not included. I object to the changes in Policy A42, Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send because the proposal is now for 60 homes instead of 45. Tannery Lane is not built to cope with a lot of traffic. At one end it is barely more than a one lane track with occasional passing places that floods, and at the other, the junction onto the A247 is not adequate to deal with any volume of traffic. It is a dangerous junction that gets very congested at busy times as it is. The road has surface flooding issues, more than would be indicated from the Councils records, which local photographs show. It is also eating into the Green Belt and will affect the countryside views from the Wey Navigation.

I object to the changes in Policy A43, Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh because now in addition to the 400 homes, which now includes self build and custom plots, the proposal also includes 8 travelling/showpeople pitches where there is no proven demand for plots in this location. It is clearly over development of a village and potentially will join up Send Marsh, Burnt Common and Ripley. At the moment these areas are distinctly separate with great space between each area but this large development will change this. Again, it is on Green Belt land which incorporates an ancient woodland, all of which will be destroyed. The land is subject to flooding and the new development will generate a lot more traffic which the existing local roads cannot deal with.

I object to Policy A58 for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of employment floorspace at Burnt Common, London Road. Originally this site was proposed for development in 2014, this was then replaced in 2016 by Garlick's Arch on the other side of the road so if could include a new road junction onto the A3. Now it is proposed that both sites are used. This is clearly overdevelopment in one area. The traffic chaos this will create in and around the whole area has not been thought through as all traffic heading to Woking (and the main train station) will have to go down the single road through Send. Apart from access to the A all other traffic will have to go through the villages of Send, Clandon or Ripley and will impact on Ockham the other side of Ripley. The wording has also changed from maximum to minimum which would suggest that more square footage is probable. I do not understand the need to build an industrial site here when there are still empty sites and units at Slyfield, Guildford. I would suggest that the 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment should by looked at by the Council as there is a massive over allocation of land in Send for this purpose.

I can understand the problems that Guildford Borough Council face with the development of the Borough especially as so much of it is in the Green Belt. However, more creative uses of brown field sites and existing sites should be sought rather than destroying the Green Belt for future generations. If you use only a small percentage now, then in 2034 another small percentage is used and so on, every 15 years, there will no longer be the 'green lungs' for southwest London.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the exaggerated “housing need” figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated inflates the housing need.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery because of the inadequate access and increased traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and winding, with limited passing places and visibility, to take any further traffic loads. The junction with Send Road is already over-crowded and hazardous both when turning in to Tannery Lane, or exiting on to Send Road. Planning permission has already been granted for 64 apartments at the Tannery and for building the Marina, both of which will already create additional burdens on the tiny lane and its traffic load and further development will only exacerbate this situation.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the building of 7000sq metres of industrial space and 400 houses at Garlick’s Arch opposite Send Marsh Road. The site floods regularly and is covered by ancient woodland, up to 500 years old, which is home to a variety of wildlife. The industrial space is not required and the additional heavy loads of commercial traffic will need to pass through Ripley village in order to gain access to the A3 and M25. There is already provision for commercial space at Slyfield industrial estate and this should be fully developed before additional sites within Green Belt locations are used. With regards to the 400 houses at Garlick’s arch, the currently existing brownfield sites within Guildford and its surrounding areas should be fully utilised before any housing is agreed within Green Field sites. Guildford has refused to share the methodology behind calculating the upcoming housing requirements and therefore no weight should be given to the use of these calculations when planning additional housing capacity.
I further OBJECT to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

I further OBJECT to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan.

I OBJECT to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. Send would need to accommodate the traffic for the proposed 2000 new houses at Wisley Airfield, 2000 new houses at Gosden Hill, Burpham as well as the 1850 proposed new houses at Blackwell Farm. Much of the traffic between these sites, the A3 and M25 would need to pass through the already congested roads in Send and Send Marsh, which are already overloaded with existing local traffic. Noise and pollution levels within Send and Send Marsh are already at excessive levels and the proposed interchange would only worsen this situation.

I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and 2 Travellers’ pitches at Send Hill. <td>I OBJECT to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was intended to be permanent, as required by the National Planning Policy Framework, and there are no special circumstances to justify abandoning it. I OBJECT to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

I OBJECT to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan.

OBJECT to the proposal to inset Send Business park from the Green Belt because it will be situated in an area of outstanding beauty within the countryside adjacent to the Wey Navigation and there is highly restricted access to along Tannery Lane in both directions. Children regularly use Tannery Lane as a cycle route away from the main roads in order to get to Send Park, and this will increase the risk to other road users, especially on bicycles. Further development of this area directly ignores the openness of the greenbelt and the value to which it provides within our community.

I request that my comments and objections are shown to the Planning Inspector and also request a confirmation to that you have received this objection.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because the increase by 33% of homes to be developed, from 45 to 60, is too many for such a small area. It ignores all my previous objections to this proposal and, in fact, has made it worse than before even though I, and many others, objected strongly to this proposal. It worsens traffic issues in Tannery Lane, which is already a small single lane in places, and erodes the green belt. There is increased risk of flooding due to surface run off and it will affect the natural topology and countryside around the area which has already been designated as Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because the site floods regularly (designated as flood zone 2) and is covered by ancient woodland, up to 500 years old, which is home to a variety of wildlife. The currently existing brownfield sites within Guildford and its surrounding areas should be fully utilised before any housing is agreed within Green Field sites. There is no proven demand for traveller sites in the location and the addition of 400 houses in a small area defies all previous objections to this proposal and is a total over-development of the village. It will essentially create a "super-village" by which Ripley and Send are amalgamated in to one and the increase in volume of traffic within the small roads and lanes around the villages will not be able to cope. There are no proposals around the increase in additional services, such as schools, doctors, shops or road improvements for the local village.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because it ignores all previous objections made about industrial land in this location and has been added once again to the proposal after being previously removed due to public objection. The plan has changed the requirements from Maximum to Minimum of 700sq m of industrial land and there is no evidence to support this area being desirable, or necessary, for industrial expansion especially when Slyfield and Guildford still have industrial sites which are not fully utilised. The impact of industrial usage like this on small surrounding roads will be highly significant and will, once again, join Send as a Super Village to the surrounding villages whilst having a damaging impact on the surrounding green belt areas.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Green Belt is meant to be permanently protected, not continually eroded.

I object to the proposed developments in Send, Garlick's Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because there are no special circumstances and the "housing need" figure of 13,860 is excessive - resulting in completely unnecessary development of Green Belt land.

I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt, because the village and its countryside forms a much needed separation between Guildford and Woking.

Furthermore, Guildford's urban brownfield areas are much closer to existing transport provision, and all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in these 'non green belt' areas.
I object to all the proposed development of all sites in Send which were not included in the earlier consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough, Send has not been properly consulted and the proposals for these sites have been changed substantially.

I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common as it would result in Send Road (A247), which is already extremely busy, being constantly gridlocked. In addition, the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and indicates that Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25 causing unrelieved congestion.

I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch which, as an area of ancient woodland, is a site worthy of special consideration and conservation. It includes trees which existed in the 16th century, and these would necessarily be endangered. The site is also subject to flooding.

I object to the development of 400 houses at Garlick’s Arch, because it was without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

I object to the proposal for industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch. This totally without justification as the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment in 2015 shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for a large area of industrial space it should be made available at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site.

I object to the building of 45 houses at Clockbam because of inadequate access for the resulting volume of cars, lorries etc. Tannery Lane is narrow and winding and totally unsuitable for any increase in traffic. The junction with Send Road is already extremely hazardous for vehicles joining the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. This road cannot take any more - ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.

I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill. This Green Belt amenity is within an area of unspoilt countryside which would be irrevocably blighted. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing inadequate and unsuitable access. The subsoil of this area contains documented unsafe landfill waste which is currently vented.

I object to the fact that infrastructure requirements are inadequate to deal with proposed housing levels and have not been properly considered. Roads, doctors surgeries and schools will be unable to cope.

I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt adjacent to the A3. This will ruin the open amenity of the borough, and most importantly, inevitably result in daily gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 - THESE ROADS ARE ALREADY AT FULL CAPACITY.

I object to the large proposed development of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm. This will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and again result in even more congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

Finally, I object to the failure of Guildford Borough Council to acknowledge that there are sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area These should be used for development in the first instance, before open countryside and the Green Belt are destroyed forever. Also, why it has failed to include the 2015 Town Centre Masterplan within it's proposals.

Please confirm receipt of this letter and ensure that my objections are shown to the Planning Inspector.

We object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
- result in rat-running through local roads
- add to Guildford's pollution.

We object to the inclusion of site A46 as a strategic site for development, it should remain as green belt. Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Send

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Re. Policies A25, A35, A42, A43, A43a, A44.

I wish to place on record my objections to the current GBC Draft Local Plan 2016.

1. I strongly object to the 'insetting' of Send, Ripley and Wisley, thus removing the protection afforded by the Green Belt. What remains of the Green Belt should be sacrosanct, held in trust for future generations.

2. I strongly object to the late inclusion of Garlick's Arch in the Plan. There is no justification for putting 400 houses and 7,000 sq. m. of industrial space on this farmland. The site includes some ancient woods which must be preserved. The associated links to the A3 would cause excessive traffic through Send, with which it could not The A247 is already at a standstill in the morning rush-hour. The Council promised to use 'Brownfield' sites and this is what they should do.

3. The addition of 485 houses in Send, plus 2,000 at Wisley will require considerable new infrastructure, school places and Doctors' Surgeries, for which there is no immediate provision in the Plan. I object to the lack of any real evidence for the need for this amount of new housing in this area.

4. I object to the proposal to build 45 new homes on the Clockbarn Nursery site, since this is on the flood-plain. Tannery Lane is very narrow and the increased traffic would cause major problems.

5. I object to the proposal to build 40 homes and 2 travellers pitches on land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill. This Green Belt area is one of outstanding natural beauty which would be totally spoilt by this development. I also understand that the site subsoil contains hazardous land-fill waste, which may make the development economically unviable.

In conclusion, the Plan does not serve the interests of the local residents in Send, Ripley, Wisley and Clandon. The Council is going directly against the stated Conservative Government policy to preserve the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the development of the A35 Wisley Airfield site - also in the Green Belt. The idea of building 2000 homes would completely change the area and is totally inappropriate, particularly as this plan has already been previously rejected.

I object to the very late inclusion of the A43 Garlicks Arch site in the Plan. This is part of the Green Belt and should not be developed. It also has some ancient woodland on it which should be preserved. There is no pressing need for industrial space at this location, which, if needed at all, should be put on the Slyfield industrial estate.

I object to the development of the A45 Talbot site, as this is in a conservation area, which obviously means it must be 'conserved' as it is.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Policy A42, Clockbarn Nursery

The number of proposed homes has increased from 45 to 60, a 33% increase which is too many for this site.

It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction.

It will continue the erosion of the Green Belt around Send which must be protected.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

---

Policy A43, Land at Garlick’s Arch.

This block of land includes ancient woodland and should remain in the Green Belt.

Another 400 homes is far too many for this site and will cause excessive traffic to the local roads.

There is no proven demand for plots for Travelling Showpeople in this area.

There are insufficient schools and facilities to cope with such a large increase in the local population.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Policy A58, Burnt Common Land

This part of the plan was deleted from the 2014 draft, because of all the objections raised. There is no reason why it should now be re-instated.

There is no demand for warehouse or industrial development on this part of the Green Belt when there are empty sites and industrial units at Slyfield and Guildford.

As with Policy A43, the increased traffic will cause gridlock to the already over-subscribed A3 as well as the local roads in Ripley and Send.

Policy P2, Green Belt

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because it is essential to conserve the Green Belt wherever possible. In this case Send Business Park is a non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside close the Wey Navigation, which is cherished by walkers of all kinds and from all parts of the country.

There is extremely restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane, which makes expansion of this site totally inappropriate.

Overall, the Green Belt was designed to provide a cordon of countryside and green fields around London, and should be kept sacrosanct in respect of its original purpose.

I am responding to the proposal at the above location.

I object to the above proposal on the following 3 grounds:

1) I object to Send being removed from the Green Belt. All three of the proposals including the land behind the school and adjacent woodland will affect this.

2) I object to the proposed development at Garlick's Arch. This is a new site and was a late addition to the Regulation 18 draft. The extra traffic has not been mentioned and would be far too much for the site.

3) I object on the grounds that GBC have not followed the correct procedure. Full consultation will not be permitted under the short cut Reg. 19 which GBC are trying to implement. The "last minute" attitude to this proposal should not be permitted.

To whom it may concern,

I object to the above proposal for the following reasons and want this message to be seen by the Inspector.

Firstly, I object to the fact that these proposals were added to the agenda at the last minute in the May meeting of this year. This alone is underhand, not to add reprehensible.

Secondly, G.B.C. have invalidated the whole process by not following the official guidelines and following procedures. A full consultation is required. This is a new proposal involving 400 + houses and warehouses.

I strongly object to the above plan. This is so shocking in every words.

Council cynically pushed through this proposed plan at the last minute.

There is no justification to build 400 homes and some industrial space on this site.

This site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland.

This plan is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and has NOT been consulted upon previously.

I object to removal of Brownfield site (A34) from the Plan

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

I object to the extended development in the Green Belt (Policy P2, Site A43)

I object to Garlick’s Arch (A43) being extended and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being removed from the Green Belt, as required by the National Planning Policy.

I object to the allocation of 6 Traveling Showpeople sites in A34 Garlick’s Arch

The allocation of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots is the designated formula for 150-1999 homes on the same site according to the 2017 Local Plan. There should be no inclusion of any Travelling Showpeople plots in A43 Garlicks Arch as this development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.

I object to the potential and ill-defined increase in housing allocation at A43 Garlick’s Arch

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause coalescence of these villages.

I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

With the removal of site A46 from the Plan (with its proposed 1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the borough the Plan has become even more biased against the North East of the borough. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

Roads, only to add more junctions with the A3, thereby increasing congestion on the Trunk and Local road network.

The inclusion of site A58 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch)

GBC’s own reasons for including Garlick’s Arch A43 in the 2016 version were

1. The site [A43] location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, ... (site allocation A25) [ than the Burnt Common site did ]”
2. The site [A43] provides the employment floorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs”

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) the separation issue is clearly being ignored as BOTH sites (which are almost contiguous) are in the plan; therefore GBC are not following their own guidelines and objectives.

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) more than the “required” industrial space is available there, so there is no reason for Garlick’s Arch to be included.

I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:

i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and

ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

I wholeheartedly object. The fact that there is a site in the first place for these plans to be proposed is bad enough. There is not enough space where it is being proposed and the fact that adding another junction for traffic will severely degrade traffic around Woking & Guildford which is bad enough during rush hour already. Adding many more houses and as well as that many more cars into a congested system will make things far worse. This is a terrible idea when the traffic is already crippled enough as it is. The A3 gets incredibly congested now due to all the people commuting to London and Guildford and this will exacerbate things massively.

While this plan may be 'legally sound', what about the rights of all of the animals that have no legal side or entity which fights against the destruction of their homes? Putting all these buildings, homes and construction there will murder and eradicate many helpless animals that are only trying to fend for themselves in an already overpopulated area. I strongly object to these proposals for the good of not just the community, but for the wildlife community too. Of course, these plans will be conducted 'by the book' and will be legally sound but this is not the point then constructing houses and destroying habitat for the sake of unnecessary homes.

This whole plan is unacceptable. There are already enough houses and in regards to the video and hospitals which are struggling, if it hadn't have been for the unnecessary cuts which have been enforced by our government, people wouldn't be struggling as they are. These plans will disturb an equilibrium with water drainage and cause flooding - look at Guildford over the winter for example, which suffered from flooding when all the water descended on the town. Adding more houses will require more drainage, foundations will be disturbed and this will only lead to even more flooding in the future.
If 400 houses were added and each house had 2 children for example, that's 800 additional children that need to be taught. You might add a school or two, but being able to teach 800 students in 2 schools is not going to be likely. In the end, this will have to be funded by us, the tax payers and the consequences of more houses also means the following:

More crime
More traffic
More pollution (light and sound)
More drugs
More rodents
More litter
Death and killing of many animals

The list goes on but that is just a sample.

Why is the green belt being targeted again?! It is green because it is meant to preserve ecology and encourage the growth of natural wildlife. Building houses has the opposite effect - more houses means more people and humans do what they naturally do (and might not necessarily be allowed to) and reproduce. Having more houses would end up being a catalyst for bringing more children into an already overpopulated world. I strongly object to these plans - the population is high enough already and giving people more space to bring more people in to the world only makes it worse. Do not complete these buildings and junctions.

These plans should not be reconsidered, they should be scrapped because:

- There is too much traffic already in Surrey
- There are enough people in Surrey
- The A3, Woking and Guildford are already under too much strain from traffic
- Building these houses is only going to be another haven for commuters to London where people who don't want to live in London come and Live in Woking/Guildford and go to London for their job. When I was working in London, the traffic coming from Woking was bad enough. Things will only spiral out of control and traffic in Guildford will become as bad as it is in London - it is already on its way to being like that already. Do not complete these plans for the sake of everyone.

The Theatres Trust supports the proposed wording of Policy E6. It clearly aims to promote and protect community and cultural buildings, as guided by para. 70 of the NPPF.

* para. 4.4.57 needs to update the reference to 'policy 14' (from the previous consultation) with 'E6'.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Expansion of the village settlement boundary vs Local Plan 2003 (see attached maps)

- Together with the insetting policy, the proposed expansion of the settlement boundary vs LP 2003 would remove additional undeveloped green spaces from the Green Belt, rapidly hastening village expansion and encroachment on the neighbouring countryside. There is no supportable basis for this expansion which contradicts the NPPF policy that local planning authorities should “define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent” and the above government objective to safeguard the countryside from encroachment.

- I want to specifically highlight the area to the east of The Street currently outside the settlement boundary, including the Village Green and neighbouring undeveloped land which contributes to the village’s rural character, which would not be best served by being included in the settlement.

I challenge the village expansion as a whole and the area of the West Horsley Village Green/neighbouring fields specifically

1. C) Strategic Site Allocations (A38-41)

- 445 houses are proposed on four ‘strategic sites’ within West Horsley in addition to an undefined number of ‘windfall’ small site completions. Excluding the large site at Normandy, this represents 50% of the total proposed housing within inset villages despite representing only 20% of the current population.

- The proposal places a disproportionate burden of future housing provision on West Horsley relative to other villages, the impact of which would be a significant loss of village character and stress on amenities and roads which could be better addressed through a broader distribution of strategic sites across the borough.

In closing, I fully recognise the need for sustainable housing development within the borough to meet the current and future needs of its residents, but believe we must do so while also safeguarding our countryside and the rural nature of the villages which make this area unique.

1) This policy directly contradicts the government’s objective in the NPPF to “assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment”, and that “once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. Normal population growth does not constitute exceptional circumstances which would justify removal of Green Belt status with the associated loss of rural character of the village.

Under the NPPF policy #86, “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt.”

Ref West Horsley: As a minimum, the southern part of West Horsley (south of the railway line) strongly meets these criteria, being characterised by low housing density, open countryside views and bordering directly onto both National Trust and AONB lands, and should remain in the Green Belt with its existing boundaries intact. This area should be considered separately to the northern area of West Horsley which directly adjoins East Horsley and is developed to a greater degree (though still a rural village).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As a resident of West Horsley I write to you with regards the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (Reg 19) 2016 draft which was issued in April, and is now under public consultation.

Having reviewed the submitted document, I am very concerned at the potential implications for the rural village of West Horsley, and challenge the following key points:

1. A) Policy P2: Removal (‘insetting’) of the village from the Green Belt

- This policy directly contradicts the government’s objective in the NPPF to “assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment”, and that “once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. Normal population growth does not constitute exceptional circumstances which would justifiably remove of Green Belt status with the associated loss of rural character of the village.

- Under the NPPF policy #86, “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt.”
As a minimum, the southern part of West Horsley (south of the railway line) strongly meets these criteria, being characterised by low housing density, open countryside views and bordering directly onto both National Trust and AONB lands, and should remain in the Green Belt with its existing boundaries intact.

The evidence base identifies a wide uncertainty range in future housing demand, which may not require the volume of development outlined in the LP. This range has not been acknowledged in the proposed submission LP, which may result in excessive development and non-essential loss of rural sites.

No, not consistent with national policy - interpretation of the NPPF to allow removal (inset) of land from the green belt is highly questionable and will have permanently damaging consequences for the Surrey countryside.

No, not justified - as commented in question 1, this level of proposed development is inconsistent with the low-side housing demand estimates and encourages excessive development.

Policy A 43 Over 400 houses would need an impact assessment on local services ie GP, hospital and schools. There is no need for industrial land at Garlick’s Arch, this should be allocated to Slyfield. Further junctions added to the A3 would created traffic chaos in Send – there is already gridlock daily at rushour. Destruction of ancient woodland (possibly with bat population) would cause runoff down the hill to Send Marsh Road, creating a flood risk.

I would like my comments to be seen by the Inspector.

I object to this plan.

GBC have not followed the correct process in that the plans have been changed and a new junction to the A3 added which will cause major flow problems in Send and which is already gridlocked every rush hour and cannot handle any increase.

Have the council considered the knock on effect on local services like GP, schools and hospital?

The industrial site at Send is not needed and should be on BROWN FIELD site at Slyfield.

GBC's Transport Assessment was not available to councillors when the vote was taken on 24th June.

I object to Policy P3, Policy A43, A44.

The woods at Garlicks Copse date from the sixteenth century. To rip them up would allow water to flow down the slope to Send Marsh Road and put houses in Send Marsh Road at risk of flooding.

Plans need to take into account traffic flows, especially through Send which is already bad during rush hours.

Housing developments need to take into account the knock on effect on local services - hospitals, GP's and schools.

Land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43. Now 400 homes and 6 Travelling Show people plots
I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because:
• It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
• There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
• It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances" exist
• It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
• It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
• It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
• It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
• It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
• It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58. Now a new a/location for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:
• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
• It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I strongly object to this proposal. The site has a particular conservation sensitivity as it is covered in ancient woodland dating from the 16th century. I believe there are bats in this location. There is no need for new houses on top of the 13,860 already proposed for the borough. Building residential homes on this site is crazy. The noise from the A3 will be deafening for the residents. Homes will be very close to electricity pylons.

There will be an unacceptable increase in traffic on the already busy Portsmouth Rd. Send Rd will become gridlocked. The proposed industrial development of 7000 sq m is not required.

I object to this proposal. This site is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously. Development for housing is inappropriate due to its permanent Green Belt status and high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt by any development. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers pitched is inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

I do not believe the plan to be sound because GBC have failed to provide sound evidence in terms of Employment Land Needs assessment 2015 which shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out by GBC in 2013. - The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more and too much
- It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people
- It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
- It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse
- It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse
- It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

Land at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43. Now 400 homes and 6 Travelling Show people plots
I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because:
• It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
• There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
• It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances" exist
• It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
• It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
• It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
• It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
• It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
• It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58. Now a new a/location for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:
• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
• It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

THE FINAL DRAFT LOCAL PLAN (SEND) OBJECTIONS

Please make sure that my views are made known to the Planning Inspector.

Below are the key points I wish to make in connection with the Final Draft Local Plan: Procedural objection

Since 2014 when Guildford Borough Council aired for public comment, nearly every major proposed development site in Send has been changed. Regulation 18 should have been used requiring another full consultation instead of these brief six weeks since there are very significant changes to what is proposed for Send.

I object to the inclusion of major changes to the developments in Send which should receive full consultation instead of six weeks

Green Belt - Policy P2

In the publication 'About Guildford' sent out by Guildford Borough, there is the statement 'Over 89% of our borough is within the green belt'. Why are GBC proposing to remove Send altogether from the Green Belt? Why aren't GBC fighting to keep Send in the Green Belt?

Why has Send been disproportionately hit by development? Is it because the majority of the Councillors/Officials involved live in a different area, rather than in the Send Area? Is there corruption involved with links with building companies?

The village of Send must be preserved in its village identity to prevent there being an urban sprawl between Guildford and Woking.

I object to any erosion of Send's Green Belt status under Policy P2.

Housing Need - Policy A43

In the publication 'About Guildford' it is stated that 'less than 700 homes per year will be built in total'.

Why are most of these homes being built in the Send Area? There are brown field sites which could be developed elsewhere, rather than in our beautiful Green Belt area around Send.
Why has Garlick's Arch suddenly been included at the last minute in the Development Plan? This doesn't match with the statement 'Only 1.6% of greenfield land will be taken and allocated for development' (again in the publication 'About Guildford'). No time has been given for adequate consultation here and it has not been included in previous consultations.

Is all the greenfield land coming from the Send and Ripley area?

The NPPF prevents the merging of settlements without any exceptions. Why has this been proposed?

I object to the proposed development of Land at Garlick's Arch, Burnt Common. Policy A43

However, I have no objection to the development of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane.

Ancient Woodlands

There are ancient woodlands at Garlick's Arch and this area should be conserved. There are trees dating back to the 16th century which could be felled or damaged.

I object to the encroachment on ancient woodland. Policy A43

Industrial and Warehouse Development

Why has industrial and warehouse space of 7000 sq. m. been proposed? There is room at Slyfield which should be fully developed to prevent proliferation of industrial areas in the Surrey Countryside. Keep them all on one site. Traffic would be intolerable for the residents in the Send area. The nature of the village of Send would be irrevocably changed by so much traffic.

I object to the proposed 7000 sq. m. industrial development at Garlick's Arch, Burnt Common. Policy A43

4-way Interchange with A3

I note a new 4-way interchange is proposed onto the A3 at Burnt Common to serve the Garlick's Arch development. Traffic is already bad on the A247 and it is gridlocked every morning. It would become intolerable if this development took place. It is already gridlocked in the morning and traffic would be at a standstill in the area. Send Barns Lane would become a through route for Woking.

I object to the development of the proposed new 4-way interchange from the A3 at Burnt Common. Policy A43

Travellers' Pitches and homes on Landfill area

I also note that there are other new inclusions under Policy A44 for the inclusion of 40 homes and 2 travellers' pitches. This is absolute madness to build on landfill. Breathing pipes are in place to vent the landfill. People who live there would suffer ill health. The lanes around there are far too small to cope with travellers and their caravans. It is a country lane and unfit for development.

In addition, procedural regulations have now been followed. This should have been put out for fuller consultation under Regulation 18.

I object to the development of Land West of Winds Ridge and Send Hill, Policy A44 for 40 new homes and two Travellers' Pitches.

Guildford Green Belt Councillors representing Send
In addition, I wish to protest at the lack of courtesy to our two democratically elected councillors representing our area at planning meetings. Their voices should be heard more attentively. They represent rate-paying members of Guildford Borough Council.

I object to the discourteous treatment of our two Councillors, Susan Parker and Mike Hurdle.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Latest Development Proposals

I OBJECT. Full consultation under Regulation 18 should occur in respect of the new proposed development given the wide divergence from the earlier 2014 and April 2016 identified needs and sites.

GBC evidence of the scale of the proposed development.

The 2015 ELNA Assessment indicates an 80% reduction in employment space requirements from the previous assessment which would mean that industrial space at Burnt Common is no longer needed.

I would question the criteria assessing the need for so many new houses (693 per annum for 20 years) and that in fact actual realistic requirements could be built on Brown field sites without reverting to blighting Green Belt.

I therefore OBJECT.

Proposal to Remove Send and Ripley Villages from the Green Belt

I OBJECT. This will destroy the ambience, amenity and individuality of both and in the case of Ripley a significant piece of history.

Land at Garlick's Arch

This proposal for 400 houses and 7000 sq m of B1c, B2 and B8 Industrial/Storage on this site is new and was not addressed in the Regulation 18 draft. This is Green Belt land permanently protected which is especially significant in the regard because of the presence of ancient woodland. Why another 400 homes? ...there is no need.

I therefore OBJECT.

Sheet 1 of 2

New 4 Way Interchange for the A3 at Burnt Common
This would destroy Send Village: also Clandon. The A247 which runs through the Village would be utilised as a major artery into Woking and would be subject to almost constant gridlock not to mention health issues in respect of exhaust emissions.

I therefore OBJECT.

Land West of Send Hill and Winds Ridge: Proposed Housing and Traveller Pitches

This is protected Green belt land and has not been referenced previously in the Regulation 18 Draft. I therefore OBJECT.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have already objected in previous consultations to the Local Plan but this latest draft has become just plain ridiculous. Why is Send bearing the brunt of development and why isn't there development south of Guildford, where I believe a lot of the councillors live?! To move to detail, here are my objections to the latest proposals.

I object to Policy A42, Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, where the number of houses has been increased to 60, instead of 45. This is just plain madness. The local infrastructure will not support such a huge development, which is 33% more than what was previously proposed, and that was far too much. Traffic will be gridlocked every morning throughout Send, right through Send Road and Send Barns Lane. It is frequently at a complete stand still every workday morning already and it will be impossible to circulate in Send at rush-hour times.

The Green Belt will be eroded and Send will no longer be a village but will become a suburb of Woking and Guildford. The whole atmosphere will be completely changed in the village. The beautiful open countryside views from the River Wey will be lost for ever with this badly planned over-development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because existing objections have been completely ignored and Guildford Borough Council are riding rough shod over the objections they have already received. This area is permanent Green Belt and no proposed study has been done as to why this is necessary. This area is ancient woodland going back to Tudor times and is, again, over-development of Send village. Why, oh why, is Send being penalised in this way? There has been no proper planning and seems to be a whim and a general desire to ruin and destroy the Green Belt and the village atmospheres of Send and Ripley. There will be no separate villages, just one sprawling conglomeration if this development takes place.

Again, all the roads surrounding Send and Ripley will be one big traffic jam every morning and evening and for a large part of the day.

Where is the proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location? What is the evidence for the need of Travelling Sites?

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common and I am a resident very close to this development. Thousands of objections were received previously and it was taken out of the 2014 draft and it now back in but with a possible huge increase in the number of industrial units. There is plenty of room at Slyfield and Guildford where there are still empty sites and industrial units. I understand the 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough so it really is unreasonable to allocate 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt area.

Again there will be traffic gridlock with traffic leaving this industrial site, meeting traffic coming up Send Barns Lane, and the whole traffic circulation will become untenable for residents and traffic passing through the area.

Ripley and Send will again be forced into becoming a sprawling suburb and will lose their village atmospheres and cultures.

I fiercely object to Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15 to remove Send Business Park from the Green Belt. This area should not really exist in the first place as it is in an area of beautiful countryside next to the Wey navigation system. Traffic access will be a nightmare in both directions and further development is completely inappropriate and will ruin the Green Belt.

Since the previous ELNA evidence, there has been an 80% reduction in employment space required, thereby rendering the industrial space proposed at Burnt Common surplus to requirements. GBC have failed to provide sound evidence for the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch and have also exaggerated the number of houses required locally. If population growth is to be around 20,000, then the Borough will only require around 8,000 homes and not the proposed requirement of nearly 14,000. There are plenty of brownfield sites within the borough to accommodate around half of the homes actually needed and thereby negating the need to build on green belt.

Policy A43.

I object to the development of the 30 ha of land at Garlick’s Arch. This refers to a completely new site added to the local plan and was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon. This land is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF that prevents the merging of settlements. There are no exceptional circumstances. In fact the site is covered in ancient woodland and there is no reason to build here as this would be in excess of the already proposed numbers for the Borough. The proposed industrial development would be better served by locating at Slyfield with other industrial units. In fact the company involved would prefer to be at Slyfield as it is more convenient for them. An increase in the junction at Burnt Common would increase substantially the traffic flow in the area, which, when there is a problem on the A3, gridlocks the local roads already. With easier access to and from the A3 this would increase the amount of traffic substantially on local roads, with M25 traffic using the A3/Send route to Woking, and include movement from any proposed housing at Wisley and Burpham if actually built.
Policy A44.

I object to the 1.9 ha of land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill being built upon as this is also a new proposal and was not included in the Regulation 18 draft. It has not been consulted upon previously. This land has green belt status and any development would be detrimental to the area. The land in this area was once land fill waste and the subsoil is therefore unsafe for building upon, apart from the fact that it is serviced by a narrow width single track country road.

I further object on the grounds that there seems to be no thought given to local infrastructure to cope with the proposals.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Policy P2.

I object to Send being removed from the green belt. If the proposals go ahead we lose more green space and this could then open the door for development on surrounding green belt land that will eventually join Woking and Guildford into one large conurbation.

Objection to Proposed Local Plan

Please Note: I want my comments to be seen by the Inspector and please make your responses personal.

GBC have made significant changes to proposed developments in and around Send and Ripley and now seem to propose the building of 485 houses and a full new road junction on the A3 at Burnt Common, but there is no indication of another full consultation. I object to this as GBC have invalidated the whole process by trying to use Regulation 19 rather than the correct course of action detailed in Regulation 18.

I object to Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15, because it is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation. There is also extremely narrow and restrictive access to this area in both directions making heavy vehicular access very difficult. I object to Policy A42 because this amendment is a 33% increase to the original plan putting even more stress on local infrastructure and totally ignoring the hundreds of previous objections made. This increase will also add to already bad traffic problems and is eroding more Green Belt. Apart from impacting on the views from the Wey Navigation it will undoubtedly have a serious effect on already bad flooding in the area.

I object to Policy A43, which is ignoring the thousands of previous objections as well as adding travelling showpeople plots for which there is no proven demand. This is Green Belt land and there are no exceptional circumstances existing to warrant granting permission for this development on exquisite ancient woodland dating back at least to the 16th century. This development will also erode any division between the villages of Ripley and Send and defeats the key purpose of Green Belt. This land currently has a flood zone 2 allocation and therefore unsuitable for habitation, apart from the fact that the soil is contaminated by lead shot and will generate excessive traffic onto already heavily used local roads that are also already in an appalling condition.

I object to Policy A58, because

1. it was deleted from the 2014 draft;
2. is now a minimum instead of the original maximum square meterage;
3. there is no demand for industrial land in the area, which is Green Belt, when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.0 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt;
4. again, this will impact significantly on small local roads creating traffic gridlock;
5. it will also remove the Green Belt land between Ripley and Send, defeating the purpose of Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Forgive the additional comment but I have only just accessed the Strategic Highway Assessment Report Assessment, dated 6 June, which, somehow, I did not have before me on the 7th.

I am unable to ascertain from the report whether projected traffic statistics have been made for actual movement on the Burnt Common roundabout itself, which will have to accommodate increased traffic from many directions under the Plan.

I believe this is a critical point and I assume satisfaction on the ability of the roundabout to cope will be an essential requirement.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object re Policy A43 - Land at Garlick’s Arch, Burnt Common and Policy A43a re land for new north facing slip roads to/from A3 at Send Marsh/Burnt Common

1. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185 in the face of significant local opposition to disproportionately high proposed development in Send. The method of late inclusion of a new very substantial development is of great surprise. Should this not require a full consultation under Regulation 18?

2. Is Industrial space still actually required at Burnt Common since I understand the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows an 80% reduction in employment space need from the previous ELNA. In any event, a full case has been presented for such development at Slyfield which appears a superior choice.

3. I still have doubts about real Housing need numbers and ask you to re-examine the treatment of foreign students in the numbers.

4. I strongly object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt (Policy P2) and also building along the Portsmouth road and the A3 on the Land at Garlick’s Arch. It may not be of marked beauty but it provides a vital role as countryside rather than town and a “breathing space” break for residents and travellers. What are the exceptional reasons for taking it out of Green Belt?

5. I believe the infrastructure of Schools, Doctors, Shops will be unable to cope- have they been consulted? In addition the, recently reduced, bus service is minimal.

6. My major concern is about the huge impact of such a development on Burnt Common Roundabout and the Send Road, A247, which already has high use and peak hour queuing. The plan talks of “quality of life and environment” but the effect of future increased noise, emissions, crowding - all factors to adversely affect existing residents who chose to live here, as opposed to future projected through traffic users - does not seem to be taken into account. Road schemes to try to maintain the same throughput rate on higher volumes does not make life nicer for local residents but is purely an efficiency exercise.

7. If increased car usage from this housing development, with increased heavy commercial traffic from the industrial site, were then added to by developments at Wisley and also Burpham also wishing to use this roundabout and route, then an ugly local environment will have been created.

8. Needless to say, a new changed interchange on the A3 would introduce substantial volumes of changed traffic movement from the M25 and A3 and destroy this pleasant village.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

With reference to my e-mails of 7 June and 16 June below, I wish to record further objections based on additional aspects which have come to my attention:

I object to the fact that, I understand, sites in or adjacent to Send could deliver almost half the number of houses planned to be delivered for the next 15 years in the GBC Spatial Strategy. If true, this is a totally unfair and disproportionate burden to be imposed on the residents of this modest village, involving heavy increases in traffic on the Burnt Common Roundabout and Send Road, which would only be further increased if the new slip roads are created in connection with the Garlick’s Arch development application. Why cannot a system of fair burden-sharing of new development be applied to the existing settlements across the Borough, in proportion to size? Particularly as the developments will lead to vastly increased car use, congestion, overstretched social infrastructure and more greenhouse gas emission, noise and light pollution to affect this community so badly?

I further object to building on green belt because I am reminded that it is an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity. It is truly precious beyond the short term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15 year plan. It benefits public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological health. Chipping away at a natural heritage can only lead to more future cuts to benefit developers and the radical transformation of a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one.

We are writing to object to the proposed development at Garlicks Arch in Burnt Common policy A43. This proposal was added at very late notice after previously being assured by the council leader there would be no significant new changes to the DLP in Send. The use of regulation 19 further adds to the betrayal. This enormous new proposal must require a full consultation under regulation 19. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses was rightly reduced to 185 in April 2016. This late and hasty attempt to push through this plan increases the number to 485! A totally excessive and unneeded number based on inflated projections of population growth by GBC. The proposed light industrial units can easily be accommodated at Slyfield and the proposed 4 way junction to the A3 will cause traffic gridlock, noise and air pollution for local residents. All this without yet mentioning this 100 acre site is GREEN BELT (a word no longer found in the GBCs dictionary). With prime agricultural land, rare enough in Surrey, and ancient 16th century protected woodland within the boundary, this land must be saved. There is a brook running through the middle of the site essential for drainage and the area is prone to flooding already. The site prevents urban sprawl between Ripley and Send vitally important. The villages medical center already extremely busy and local schools cannot cope with the 25% population growth this plan will bring to our village. We have received emails from relevant ministers and Sir Paul Beresford stating government policy is to protect the Green Belt and listen to local residents in these matters. Why does GBC neither protect or listen to those it is elected to represent. Conservative Councillors ran for election on a protecting the Green Belt, not elected they stab us in the back.

Finally we also object to policy A44 West Ridge and Send hill. Again this site is new, not included in the regulation 18 draft and not previously consulted on. This is high quality Green Belt land. The subsoil of the site contains documented land fill waste and is vented, making it totally unsuitable for development. Access is completely insufficient.

Please reject these proposals they are unwanted, unnecessary and have zero local support.

As residents of Burnt Common our area has been threatened with irreversible and excessive development on all sides completely destroying what is left of our rural landscape.

I object to policy a42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because; there has been a 33% increase in planned new homes from 45 to 60 ignoring hundreds of previous objections and adding to traffic congestion at the a247 junction. Contributing to increased surfaced water flooding which already exists. It will impact on the countryside surrounding the river wey navigation and it is greenbelt land which should not be built on.

I object to policy a43 Garlick's Arch;

once again, thousands of previous objections have been ignored and again there is no demand for so many houses or travelling show peoples plots at this location. This land is permanent green belt, and no exceptional circumstances exist for development. It is prime agricultural land and contains ancient woodland that has existed since Tudor times. Again, this area is prone to frequent flooding and contaminated by lead shots accumulated over 50 years. Living in Burnt Common Lane, we will be massively effected by this excessive development and planned new junction to the a3, massively increasing traffic in our area. Once again, this is green belt land that should not be built on, this will also join Send and Ripley into one continuous inhabited area, defeating the purpose of the green belt in separating our villages.

I object to policy a58 at Burntcommon;
it was deleted from the 2014 draft because of objections but now has been re-added to the plan. along with Garlick's arch which previously replaced it. Even worse, the word minimum has been changed to maximum, despite a decline in demand for industrial land. Why plan an industrial development in the middle of the greenbelt, when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty units? The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough, not an excessive allocation of 10 hectares at Send, once again, this is green belt land and should not be built on. The increased traffic caused by this development and the Garlick's arch development and the new a3 junction will choke our village to death with congestion.

I would like to record my objection to the planned local development A44.19ha

I live locally in [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998] and my mother lives on Send Hill, i moved locally so i can look after my mother as she gets older - we moved to Send a few years ago as it is surrounded by a lot of greenbelt which is perfect for walks and running.

We purchased both properties after carefully selecting the area as village life is important, we did not expect a mass of houses to be built right behind my mothers property and certainly do not approve of 'Travellors' being GIFTED land - we have both worked hard and paid a LOT in taxes over many years, [Response has been redacted due to statements being considered contrary to the Council’s duty under the Equalities Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation against persons with a protected characteristic; and to foster good relations between persons with a protected characteristic and persons who do not share it] I feel by allowing this plan to proceed you will place undue stress, fear which would be detrimental to my mothers health.

There is plenty of land far more suitable near the 'Eubanks' auction house between the A3 and the slip road from the A3 towards Send.

Surely you can see the proposed plot A44 is not suitable or fair and therefore i strongly OBJECT to this

1- OBJECT to this development of 7000sq m of the Industrial Units and Warehouses to be built on this Protected Green Belt zone . Let it be somewhere else more industrial-like area.

2- OBJECT to this Industrial Units and Warehousing because development is inappropriate in our area in such a small village the Guildford Borough Council have inappropriately recommended to the developer and approved.

3- OBJECT to the build of new 4-way interchanging traffic onto A3 at Burnt Common. Building this will encourage heavy traffic with tons in weight leaving A3 routing via Send and Ripley, air pollution is increased, trees will be dried, covered with diesel carbon dirt, road will become gridlocked and resident health will be affected.

Please re-consider

I object to Policy A44. 1.9 ha Land west of Winds Ridge and Send hill being designated for 40 homes and 2 travellers pitches. This site is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously. Again, this is green belt and needs protecting. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site and widening this would be destroying our countryside further.

I object to Policy P2. Send should not be removed from the Green Belt. The green belt separates that villages from Woking and Guildford, is essential to local wild life including some buzzards that now live in the fields behind Boughton Hall Avenue and we need the flood plains still to prevent flooding further down the river.

There is no need to be destroying our beautiful countryside and endangering ancient trees, local wildlife and the existing quality of life for current residents. Green Belt is Green Belt for a reason, please respect that.

I OBJECTION TO SEND HILL DEVELOPMENT ,POLICY A44, 1.9 LAND WEST OF WINDS RIDGE & SEND HILL. — late stage without any prior consultation

Dear Sirs

I object to the planning development to the Green Belt status being eroded away , from Send Village , Send Hill Site , It outrageous to put 40 houses and 2 travellers pitch sites ,this is a new site and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and not been consulted upon previously .

Send Hill is a quite very narrow single track lane , peaceful , within beautiful countryside , it is also in permeant Green Belt status , so is totally inappropriate to increase the traffic flow , the junction where it meets Potters Lane is very dangerous indeed,as you cannot see on coming traffic coming round the bend at all , and would cause many accidents.

There are any number of brown fill land site in the borough on which to build ,without destroying the precious Green Belt.

The infrastructure of the village cannot cope with the currant populations requirements , one cannot get a doctors appointment, the schools , traffic congestion etc ,are all under pressure .

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I strongly object to the above propose plan to build 40 homes and two Travellers Pitches.

This site is NEW and was NOT included in the regulation 18 draft and has NOT consulted upon previously.

The development for housing is inappropriate due to its permanent GREEN BELT status and high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside, which would be completely be spoilt by an development.

The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented.

The proposed to include two Travellers Pitches is inappropriate due to the very narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

So with my above comments I would like to say I STURDILY OBJECT

I object to removal of Brownfield site (A34) from the Plan

Site A44 in Broadford Business Park has also been removed. This is another brownfield site that has already been developed. The Council’s claims to “have adopted a ‘brownfield first’ approach” (page 5) but this is clearly not the case, and is contrary to national guidelines.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable.

I object to the extended development in the Green Belt (Policy P2, Site A43)

I object to Garlick’s Arch (A43) being extended and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for this site being removed from the Green Belt, as required by the National Planning Policy.

I object to the allocation of 6 Traveling Showpeople sites in A34 Garlick’s Arch

The allocation of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots is the designated formula for 1500-1999 homes on the same site according to the 2017 Local Plan. There should be no inclusion of any Travelling Showpeople plots in A43 Garlicks Arch as this development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.

I object to the potential and ill-defined increase in housing allocation at A43 Garlick’s Arch

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause coalescence of these villages.

I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

With the removal of site A46 from the Plan (with its proposed 1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the borough the Plan has become even more biased against the North East of the borough. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the 11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The inclusion of site A58 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch)

GBC’s own reasons for including Garlick’s Arch A43 in the 2016 version were

1. The site [A43] location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, ... (site allocation A25) [ than the Burnt Common site did ]"
2. The site [A43] provides the employment floorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs’’

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) the separation issue is clearly being ignored as BOTH sites (which are almost contiguous) are in the plan; therefore GBC are not following their own guidelines and objectives.

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) more than the “required” industrial space is available there, so there is no reason for Garlick’s Arch to be included.

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

I object to the hiding of development by “deferment” (A24, A25, A26, A43)

This version of the Plan has concealed some development planned to take place by “deferring” it beyond the period covered by the Local Plan. This is designed to have 2 effects:
  i) to hide the number of housed actually being built (A24, A25, A26 – total of 1100 deferred, but still being built!), and
  ii) give an excuse for building houses on another site (A43 – 400/650 houses proposed) when they are not needed.

My final and total objection is the creation of the 4 way junction at Burnt Common which really seems to be the crux behind the 400 homes at Garlicks Arch and probably the eventual building of the 2000 homes at Wisley. The road infrastructure cannot cope with this - the A3 is congested EVERY morning as you approach the M25 leading to many cars using Ripley as a cut through - if traffic starts to be able to come off at Burnt Common plus the new homes this is going to lead to congestion the whole day on all the surrounding roads. Many of the roads cannot be improved to take more traffic, and whilst the councillors said the A247 has been earmarked for £1 million pounds investment over the next 10 years - he could not say what they would do with the money. No amount of money can help this road take more traffic - yet it is the only route from all these homes to the Woking Waterloo fast train to London.

I object totally to the new local plan - DONT DESTROY OUR VILLAGES

I don't believe many parts of the new Local Plan are Sound especially all the last minute amendments.

I object to the development at Garlick's Arch for many reasons not the least of which this is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which should prevent the merging of settlements. There is no need for 7000sq m of industrial development based on the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 where a reduction was shown. If there is a need logic would say add it to Slyfield.

The A3, Send and Ripley could not cope with additional traffic generated from 400 + homes plus industrial traffic in this area, it is already congested in rush hour leaving my home on the Send Marsh Estate to drive through Ripley and join the M25. The Portsmouth Road is still used as a "rat run" by A3 traffic leaving the A3 at Burnt Common only to rejoin after Ripley if the A3 is busy. This development can only turn this into a bigger nightmare.

The other land around Send being considered for homes and travellers pitches again were last minute amendments and again are on permanent Green Belt status. I moved from Guildford to this area as I wanted a Country feel to what may well be my final home and Send Marsh was a perfect location between Woking and Guildford where I am close enough for access to both but is still a beautiful countryside location. I object to this being spoilt by building on precious greenbelt!

Policy P2 states Send should not be removed from the Green Belt - many parts of the local plan completely go against this policy and I object to any areas of this vulnerable bit of land being removed from the Green Belt. Send provides a wonderful countryside buffer between Woking and Guildford and this local plan would lead to the whole area eventually becoming an urban sprawl.

I object to these proposed changes as the current proposition is for over thirteen thousand additional houses to be built in the borough of Guildford which is considered enough to meet current projected growth in this area. In addition, this site was not included in the original regulation 18 draft and has not previously been consulted on and it is green belt permanently protected by NPPF which aims to prevent the merging of settlements. This site is covered by ancient woodland is of particular conservation interest. Also, the proposed industrial site development of 7000 sq m is simply not required. We have a recently built small office block on the Send road has just been converted to flats. This is an indication that further industrial buildings are not required in this area. Also, Send village already acts as a through road to Woking and any further building in this area would lead to gridlock and a reduction in life quality for the residents of this area.

I object because the evidence that has been used to arrive at the proposed changes is based on GBC ELNA carried out in 2013. These have been shown to have been reduced over the last 3 years by up to 80%. In addition, the housing numbers have been exaggerated by including students in the population increase to amplify the number of new houses required. Currently in the Send/Ripley area the current infrastructure finds it difficult to support the current population. If this program goes ahead as currently set out it will result in grid-lock on our roads, the possible collapse of the local health services, schools being even more over crowded than present and the disappearance of both villages as separate entities.

A43: I OBJECT to the addition of 8 traveller sites as provision has already been made within the Send/Send Marsh area.

A43A: Given that site A58 has now been changed to a "Strategic Employment Site the proposed A3 slip road at this site is inappropriate and I continue to OBJECT as a more appropriate site would be adjacent to the proposed Send Business Park (site 14) which abuts an underused dual carriageway (London Road) and is opposite land used for a "car boot sale". Plus siting a slip road here would also serve the proposed "Godsden Hill" development. It seems that the bribe of free land outweighs common sense as should A43A go ahead the additional heavy vehicular traffic from site A58 would increase noise and air pollution in the area and will doubtless lead to legal challenge at considerable expense to the GBC. On these grounds I strongly OBJECT to site A43A and suggest consideration be given to a slip road being included within site 14.

I object to the evidence. GBC failed to provide acceptable evidence in the terms of the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015. The industrial space at Burnt Common is no longer needed. The housing numbers from the SHMA are highly questionable. The number of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate the need. The required 13,860 houses in the local plan is exaggerated and far too high. The Green Belt does not need to be built over and brownfield sites should be used. GBCs Transport Assessment was not even available to councillors for the vote taken on 24th May. Infrastructure overload has had little attention.

I object to Policy P2. Send should not be removed from the Green Belt. The green belt separates that villages from Woking and Guildford, is essential to local wild life including some buzzards that now live in the fields behind Boughton Hall Avenue and we need the flood plains still to prevent flooding further down the river.

I object to Policy A43 30 ha Land at Garlicks Arch, Burnt Common, designated for 400 houses and 7,000 sq m of industrial and warehousing. There is no need for any more houses on top the 13,860 already proposed for the borough. This is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements and there are no exceptional circumstances and the area has ancient woodland with trees from the 16th century. Our roads could not take the traffic and would cause long delays and possible frequent gridlocks.

I object to Policy A44. 1.9 ha Land west of Winds Ridge and Send hill being designated for 40 homes and 2 travellers pitches. This site is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted upon previously. Again, this is green belt and needs protecting. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is inappropriate due to the narrow width singe track country road providing insufficient access to the site and widening this would be destroying our countryside further.

There is no need to be destroying our beautiful countryside and endangering ancient trees, local wildlife and the existing quality of life for current residents. Green Belt is Green Belt for a reason, please respect that.

Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Policy A42

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- The plans have increased from 45 homes to 60 homes which is 33% and this is too much
- It ignores all the hundred of previous objections made by local people
- It will increase problems with the traffic in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction
- It will cause erosion of the Green Belt in our village
- It will increase surface water flooding, which is already a problem and is increasing with further development
- It will impact on the open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation

Land at Garlik’s Arch, Send Marsh, Policy A43

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

- It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
- The is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
- It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no ‘exception circumstances’ exist
- It will cause overdevelopment of our village and the number of homes is excessive
- It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
- It will join p Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
- It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
- It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over 50 years
- It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley

Land at Burn Common, London Road, Policy A58

I object to Policy A58 at Burn Common because:

- It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
- The word ‘minimum’ is a change from the previous ‘maximum’ in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in the demand for industrial land
- There is no need to build industrial or warehouse developments in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt
- The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
- It will join up the existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

I wish to object to the plan for further housing development in ash and tongham.

This is green belt land and should stay that way. On top of this there is not enough schools in the area to support this. The roads are all exceptionally busy and badly maintained.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Village expansion is unsustainable. With only one small shop, no post office, a very limited weekdays only bus service through the village, it is clearly unsustainable for the proposed high volumes of new housing development

- The development of 385 homes on the 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village settlement and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the village. The homes building proposals are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops, parking in East Horsley (shops and station), public transport

- The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven. The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014, identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home.

The exceptional circumstances require before taking action to remove the Horsleys from the green belt have not been demonstrated at all.

In conclusion I would as that you revise the housing number and amend the local plan to use brownfield land rather than our now dwindling green belt areas

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy P2
Our Green Belt is precious to all of the residents within Horsley. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding. It is for us to conserve and protect it. There are 5 legal purposes for Green Belt, and it meets them all:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

NO EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES

The local plan proposes additional housing stock to the area, 385 new homes being built in West Horsley (a 35% increase on the current housing number of 1,111) and an additional 148 homes proposed for East Horsley.

I am totally opposed to the village's removal from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries.

Our local doctors surgery cannot cope now with the current resident numbers, with constant difficulty in making appointments.

The Raleigh school which serves both East and West Horsley is full every year and this has been the situation for many years. There is a continuing lack of state primary school places in the village.

Our local waste drainage, our water supply, our medical facilities and our roads cannot cope with the proposed number of new homes. Building this number of homes will lead to further flood risk here and downstream. The planned development on Green Belt is therefore unsustainable.

In conclusion, I must ask you to revise the housing number, and to amend the Local Plan to utilise brownfield land rather than green field sites.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Policy S2 states that provision will be made for 13,800 new homes over the Plan Period 2013 to 2033. The number of homes is too high and unsustainable in Guildford’s villages. The Site Allocations list totals 12,698.

5 DEFINITIONS AND SOURCES

5.1 To review a local plan from a standing start is a big task and has required a lot of reading and detailed research. Along the way I have come across well informed opinion from individuals and organisations and I make no apology for including what I believe are correct and clearly expressed statements regarding the wide ranging issues to hand. I would therefore like to give thanks to others for their valuable contributions. However, I have of course referenced all statements made by retained consultants by GRA and CPRE e.g. NMSS and Green Balance.

5.2 NMSS is a consultancy company specialising in housing demographics whose principal is Neil McDonald

5.3 Green Balance is a consultancy company specialising in housing demographics whose principal is Richard Bate

5.4 On matters of road infrastructure, I have relied on comments by Richard Jarvis of the GRA who was previously a highways consultant with WS Atkins

5.5 On matters of property research, development, planning and valuation I have relied on my own skills and experience as a former Chartered Surveyor and Management Consultant specialising in property strategy and research in the public and private sectors. I have also used some material from my review of the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 which I reviewed for the Guildford Greenbelt Group and which can be found on their website.

5.6 References to “local plan” are intended not to be the previous 2003 Local Plan but to be references to the current Regulation 19 draft local plan prepared by Guildford Borough Council.

5.7 GBC refers to Guildford Borough Council

5.8 SHMA refers to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 prepared by GL Hearn

5.9 OAN refers to the Objectively Assessed Need in relation to housing

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? () is Sound? () is Legally Compliant? ()

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2. EVIDENCE BASE

2.1 I object to the paucity of the evidence base. The submission documents are unsound, unreliable and inconsistent

2.2 Key parts of the evidence base are flawed or based on withheld assumptions.

2.3 The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to the following factors: the failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows; the way it considers students and affordability, and the flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth; the treatment of vacant property

2.4 The Green Belt and Countryside Study does not value the fundamental aim of Metropolitan Green Belt properly or look strategically at options for development in major settlements beyond. The way Green Belt is parcelled up and scored is not valid: serving 2 Green Belt functions is as valid as serving 4 functions. Green Belt is Green Belt, it does not require assessment or qualification. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions.

2.5 Exceptional circumstances clearly do not exist to justify amendments to Green Belt boundaries as part of the Local Plan process. It is quite achievable for realistically prepared and identified development needs to be accommodated in Guildford’s urban areas and villages.

2.6 The Transport Evidence has been produced very late and is incomplete, inaccurate and untested to the extent that the Plan is not ready for a Regulation 19 consultation.

2.7 It is emerging that the Strategic Highway Assessment shows there will be congestion, even with all the highway schemes in the Plan. Many questions remain unanswered. E.g. Why would 1000 homes on Slyfield generate no extra traffic? The report only gives average speeds and information needed to understand how much congestion will occur and where it has not been provided in time to inform Plan proposals or responses.

2.8 The available evidence suggests much of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor cannot be delivered due to narrow roads and pinch points.
2.9 Evidence on bus travel is fundamentally compromised because no clear and workable location for a bus interchange is proposed.

2.10 No information has been provided on the demand for and capacity of rail services. The main line to London is already extremely busy in peak periods.

2.11 Information about the town centre as regards traffic, buses and parking is lacking. It is not credible to proceed without this given existing levels of congestion, the number of transport routes that rely on the town centre to cross the Downs, the shortage of crossing points over the railway and river and the fact that narrow roads and steep slopes make Guildford unsuitable for a ring road approach.

2.12 The Strategic Highway Assessment 2016 is flawed. It is invalid to base this on less traffic growth than the proposed housing growth. The report points to overcapacity use of the A3, M25, A31, A320, Millbrook, Ladymead, Woodbridge Road, York Road, London Road but understates the congestion consequences. Various suggested queue reductions are unexplained. The consequences of major proposed reductions in road space in the town centre (eg closure of Walnut Tree Close, narrowing of Woodbridge Road, reduced capacity of the gyratory) and of developing Burnt Common are not included. More time is needed to assess and refine this crucial 11th hour report which seems incomplete, understates the consequences of traffic overload, shows inconsistencies, and does not supply assumptions or information needed to understand queues at junctions.

2.13 The Guildford Retail Study Update lacks credibility and there is no proven case for expanding comparison retail space which is undermined by failure to implement existing retail consents at the North Street development over the last 10 years. The Guildford Retail Study does not take account of changing retail patters in relation to the threat of the internet and the “clicks and mortar” conflict. The study also assumes a number of logged retail requirements from companies already in liquidation or with national requirements that exclude Guildford.

2.14 I believe that it was unacceptable to stop monitoring air quality, where NO2 emissions exceed limits, on the unrealistic assumption congestion would reduce. Estimates of premature deaths have doubled and issues with vehicle emission controls have emerged. Traffic noise from the A3 should also be reported.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

38 POLICY A25 GOSDEN HILL

38.1 I object to policy A25 Gosden Hill

38.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
38.3 Gosden Hill is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.

38.4 The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.

38.5 The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

38.6 The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

38.7 I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

38.8 The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

38.9 A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

39 POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

39.1 I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm

39.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

39.3 Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.
39.3.1 Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development.

39.3.2 Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years.

39.3.3 Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”

39.4 Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land.

39.5 Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt.

39.6 The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process.

39.7 The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue.

39.8 GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic.

39.9 The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit.

39.10 The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west.

39.11 The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

40 POLICY A35 WISLEY

40.1 I object to Policy A35 Wisley

40.2 I object to the re-inclusion in the plan of Policy A35 (land at Three Farms Meadow, alias the former Wisley airfield, Ockham). Following a huge public outcry, Guildford Planning Committee have unanimously rejected a recent planning application for precisely this development on 14 separate grounds. This deceived many residents into thinking that it has been defeated. Scandalously, the site had been reinserted into the new draft local plan published just 24 hours before the planning decision – a clear signal to the developers to try again.

40.3 There is in any case no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

40.4 This is not an NPPF “presumption in favour of sustainable development” but a predetermined bias in favour of specific applicants, who had already been given many additional months to refine their application before it was rejected.
Residents are disturbed by apparent political links between the ruling Conservative group on the Council and individuals connected to the developers, a shadowy Cayman Islands company.

40.5 Policy A35 should be deleted from the plan for all the reasons the development was rejected by the Planning Committee, including:

1. Green Belt location and absence of “exceptional circumstances”.

2. Misrepresentation of the site as brownfield land: 17ha (less than 15%) is brownfield, it is adjacent to the SPA and therefore within the 400m exclusion zone for housing. The remains of the runway (14ha) are a habitat for rare flora and fauna and has never had any buildings on it.

3. Proximity to RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area (TBHSPA).

5. Absence of adequate traffic data.

6. Further harm to air quality both onsite and nearby (e.g. the Cobham AQMA) and disregard for the health of children at the proposed secondary school.

7. Loss of high-quality agricultural land (55% of the site), in breach of national policy.

8. Disproportion of locating of over 2,000 dwellings within the ancient village of Ockham with just 159 households.

10. Cost of infrastructure required to the detriment of alternative more favourable sites.

11. Lack of local transport possibilities owing to country lanes with no footpaths or cycle ways and the distance to railway stations which have no spare parking capacity.

13. Difficulty of SANG siting and inability to divert residents and their pets away from the SPA.

15. Damage to neighbouring communities of creating a settlement of 5,000 residents, equivalent to East and West Horsley combined, with worse light pollution, noise and traffic, and competition for local amenities and infrastructure.

16. Insufficient information about the impact on the local water table and run-off (see comments on flooding in Horsley above), and the possible aggravation of downstream flooding towards the Thames (e.g. Thames Ditton, which was under water during the winter of 2013/14).

17. Failure to evaluate the cumulative impact of this and nearby development sites on the area.

reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

42.5 The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

42.6 I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in Send, Ripley and Clandon will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

42.7 I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

42.8 I object to the proposal to build 7,000 sq m of light industrial, general industrial or warehousing on the site at Garlick’s Arch. There is no need to place a Strategic Employment Site in this location when there is plenty of spare space available at Slyfield (40 ha). The Employment Land Needs Assessment (ELNA) 2015 has been reduced by 80% since the ELNA 2013. There is no longer any need to place industrial development in the Green Belt when there are plenty of brownfield sites available.

42.9 I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.

42.10 I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

42.11 I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

42.12 Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

42.13 Many of the affected villages, such as Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

42.14 With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.
42.15 The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

42.16 I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

42.17 Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

42.18 Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

42.19 Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

42.20 Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

4.21 I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

4.22 I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

4.23 I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

4.24 It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

43 POLICY A43a BURNT COMMON

43.1 I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a). The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

43.2 The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

43.3 I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C). The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

44 POLICY A44 SEND HILL

44.1 I object to policy A44 Send Hill

44.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

44.3 The proposed development is not sustainable because of poor infrastructure. Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site for travellers or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

44.4 The site is a high quality green belt amenity area within beautiful surrounding countryside and would be spoilt by the development.

44.5 A Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb the water table and increase risk of flooding to surrounding properties.
44.6 The site was used as a GBC registered landfill site and shown on the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps as “refuse and slag heap”. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons.

44.7 On the 1971 Ordnance Survey the site is shown as a “refuse tip” prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

44.8 GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well recording methane gas discharge.

44.9 A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies the proposed site as GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/11/LLC with type of waste not identified. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

44.10 A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/12 with type of waste identified as “unrestricted”. This causes concern as to what it does contain and the dangers if disturbed.

44.11 An Envirosearch Report RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 and historical map data and information from GBC has identified the site as landfill and has “areas of potentially contaminative industrial activities” and “potential risk from landfill gas migrations”. Development of this site would be a health hazard.

45 POLICY A46 LAND TO THE SOUTH OF NORMANDY

45.1 I object to policy A46 land to the south of Normandy

45.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints

45.3 There is unproven demand for secondary school places in the west wards that is being proposed as "exceptional circumstances" to redraw the Green Belt boundary. There is strong research evidence from SCC Education which proves existing under-utilisation in long term of secondary places in the west of the borough.

45.4 There is an incorrect calculation of bespoke SANG since only 10 ha are proposed within site but the new population requires 21 ha. This will impact viability if contained in site (65 ha approx) - there is not an additional 10 ha in currently proposed SANG pre-allocated schedule in infrastructure report (Russell Place Farm)

45.5 There is an incorrect evaluation of contribution of land within and between settlements to Green Belt "openness" -the previous PINS decisions in three appeals asserts "openness". GBC state there is no "openness" yet all land parcels in the site are 'red' sensitivity in GBCS Vol 2 Addendum 1 & 2 and all contribute to the 3 key purposes of the Green Belt.
45.6 There is a failure to engage with Rushmoor under the duty to co-operate rules in regards of traffic impact from Aldershot Urban Extension (3,800 homes) The increased commuting to Guildford plus new local vehicles (1,375 estimated) will take the A323 to over design capacity and produce perpetual congestion.

45.7 The one railway bridge in Glaziers Lane + 1 railway tunnel in Westwood Lane on North Downs line are restricted (tunnel single lane) with poor geometry and have poor safety records with one fatality in last 15 years and there is no plan in the infrastructure report to widen bridge or replace tunnel (Network Rail). This will lock traffic from new development within site to the north of Flexford. C and D class roads are not designed for volumes indicated in Scenario 5.

45.8 The flood risk will be significantly increased when land is developed. The site lies on the Hogs Back spring line and the land is natural SuDS. There is a stream running through the site with flood risk 3a. Civil engineering mitigation is unlikely to be effective.

45.9 The site will introduce 300+ dogs and 250+ cats within 1km of TBHSPA and SANG will not stop increased disturbance and predation on the SPA.

27 POLICY D1 MAKING BETTER PLACES

27.1 I object to Policy D1 Making better places

27.2 I object to the absence of any reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force.

27.3 The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

28 POLICY D2 SUSTAINABLE DESIGN

28.1 I object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy

28.2 Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2.

28.3 This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from futile attempts to rig the housing market.

28.4 This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is meaningless, since no such networks are available locally.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

29 POLICY D3 HISTORIC ENVIRONMENT

29.1 I object to policy D3 Historic Environment

29.2 This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites.

29.3 This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s aggressive reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the “reasoned justification”, the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes.
29.4 Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

30 POLICY D4 DEVELOPMENT IN URBAN AREAS

30.1 I object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages

30.2 This policy that does not address the opportunity for building in the urban area

30.3 The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be “affordable”, but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called “affordable” homes or pay an “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand).

30.4 The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a glaring need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead.

30.5 This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure.

30.6 The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is a sad voice from the past because the sector is in rapid and continuous decline.

30.7 All the stated policy aims for “inset” villages will be negated by the excessive weight of new housing development proposed which would radically change their character forever.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

31 THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY

31.1 Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make 100% use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside.

31.2 Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a zero CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land.

31.3 In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief.

31.4 A head of brownfield should be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space.

31.5 GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years.

31.6 GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership.

31.7 I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact.

31.8 The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for at least 5,000 homes.

31.9 The additional target capacity of 5,000 could easily be provided within the following urban sites which have the capacity for 7,500 homes:

- 2,500 homes detailed in Masterplan 2015 including Woodbridge Meadows which can itself be increased substantially
- 500 homes at North Street
- 1000 homes on current GBC car parks (25 acres) and at the station
- 1000 homes saved in the urban area if 100% of students are accommodated on Surrey University campus (17 ha of car parks)
- 1000 homes at Slyfield on the 40 ha regeneration site
- 1000 windfall infill (50 per annum)
- 500 homes on brownfield sites in villages on sites of max 1ha which do not impact Green Belt

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

17 OLICY E1 SUSTAINABLE EMPLOYMENT

17.1 I object to policy E1 sustainable employment

17.2 I note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015.

17.3 I have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF.

17.4 I also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC. I do not support the policy of creating a Strategic Employment site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) in the Green Belt which is completely unnecessary due to the overall decrease in demand for industrial space which could be easily accommodated at Slyfield.

17.5 I am concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

17.6 No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area.

17.7 GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning.

17.8 What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8.

17.9 The lack of appreciation by GBC as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. E.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below).

17.10 Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan.

17.11 Little regard is had to the opportunity of B1 b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub.

17.12 I note that the past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033.

17.13 I support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires.

17.14 We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. So I should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations.

17.15 We need to promote the idea of new knowledge transfer in incubator units and small premises for new start up enterprises. They need to be on the wave of innovative new technology as opposed to older established businesses.

17.16 I object to the policy of creating a Strategic Employment at Garlicks Arch (A43) in the Green Belt. The stated requirement of 7,000 sq m (B1c, B2 and B8) could easily be accommodated at the Slyfield Regeneration site of 40 ha.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

18 POLICY E2: LOCATION OF EMPLOYMENT FLOORSPACE

18.1 I object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space

18.2 I am of the opinion that all new office and research and development (use Class B1a and B1b) floor space should be within Guildford town centre.

18.3 I object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt

18.4 The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%)
18.5 The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis.

18.6 The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%.

18.7 The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%.

18.8 There is currently 14% expansion space already available.

18.9 The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required.

18.10 The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%.

18.11 The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher.

18.12 Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university.

18.13 I do not accept that the valuable and workable concept of the Research Park should have its integrity and purpose diluted by being converted into yet another Business Park for office users rather than research organisations.

18.14 A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space should be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic.

The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015).

To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes.

To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised.

London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another early example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.

Guildford is in dire need of increasing town centre residential development.

The feared loss of employment will be marginal and impractical to resist. Empty office blocks are not the answer.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

20 POLICY E4: SURREY RESEARCH PARK

20.1 I object to policy E4 Surrey research Park.

20.2 I support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. I object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. I believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University.

20.3 I believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. I object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary.
20.4 Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise.

20.5 There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user.

20.6 Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises.

20.7 The Surrey Research Park in Guildford needs to be focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing.

20.8 Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created.

20.9 Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments.

20.10 I support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m.

20.11 Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept.

20.12 I object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park or within the footprint of the park.

20.13 The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m.

20.14 There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker.

20.15 The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis.

20.16 The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%.

20.17 The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period.

20.18 The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%.

20.19 The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

21 POLICY E5 RURAL ECONOMY

21.1 I object to policy E5 Rural Economy

21.2 In my opinion this policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas which means development of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the green belt.

21.3 Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism that require local people to be consulted and heeded, not ignored. Villages need protecting in terms of both design and scale.

21.4 Most of the economic activities listed in 4.4.44 depend on maintaining the rural character of our villages which would be endangered by the wholesale “insetting”, boundary expansion and house building proposed in other parts of the plan. This applies also to new and projected enterprises in the Green Belt (e.g. Grange Park Opera’s Theatre in the Woods in West Horsley, which requires a protected, rustic setting to be a success, not housing estates and congested roads). Policy E5 is incompatible with the high housing numbers proposed.

21.5 Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This disregards the responses from the 2014 public consultation

22 POLICY E6 LEISURE AND VISITOR EXPERIENCE

22.1 I object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience.

22.2 I believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. Guildford would be wise to model itself on other historic towns like Bath, Chester and York.
22.3 The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. It would be a great mistake if Guildford were to opt for large impersonal department stores and dull high street chain stores at the expense of exploiting its uniqueness and character which would afford greater benefits.

22.4 Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. What GBC needs to do is create a theme such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town.

22.5 There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

22.6 There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to RHS Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

23 POLICY E7 TOWN CENTRE

23.1 I object to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

23.2 I am of the opinion that policy E7 is ill-informed and there is insufficient evidential support to objectively assess the capacity of the existing town centre to accommodate appropriate new development and therefore fails the requirements of Section 161 of the NPPF to assess the real quantitative and qualitative floor space needs.

23.3 Policy E7 is an aspirational voice from the past and is unlikely to benefit the health of the town centre in the future. There is no reliable evidence provided that the retail core of the Town Centre needs or can be expanded by 45,000 sq m of retail space at North Street because of lack of demand for retail units in the Town Centre particularly large units. This is due to falling demand for retail space in Guildford and town centres throughout the country evidenced by independent research and the reality of empty shops in many high streets (including Guildford) and the accelerating competition from internet shopping.

23.4 The failure of the North Street scheme to be redeveloped over the last ten years is a testament to lack of demand which has been so poor that the original planning permission for a large retail scheme became time expired.
23.5 The reality is that the town centre has enough retail floor space. If more is introduced it will result in the closure of existing shops particularly in locations which are less than 50% of peak Zone A or 100% positions. What Guildford needs is a new focus on speciality high quality comparison shopping supported by a revival of Guildford’s attractive heritage core and a new major visitor attraction supported by restaurants. Guildford needs to become the quality shopping destination for Surrey.

23.6 The existing site in North Street should be replaced with a well-designed ground floor high quality speciality retail mall and frontage of no more than 40 shops extending to 7,000 sq m with the rear and upper floors providing an additional 500 to 600 homes. The proportion of the above proposed smaller scheme at North Street will be complementary to and not antagonistic to the Upper High Street, Tunsgate, the Debenhams site and the 100% Zone A positions of the Lower High Street. If the existing policy under E7 is adopted the North Street site will remain empty for another 10 years.

23.7 The findings of the Guildford Retail and Leisure Study 25 September 2015 are very pessimistic about retail trends. Carter Jonas’s recent retail study reports a fairly bad time for retail, the bullets below are direct quotes from the report:

1. Para 3.3 Retail Trends “Town centres, once the principle focus for retail and leisure are now increasingly under threat”

2. Para 3.4 Retail Expenditure “disposable income and retailers’ margins are being squeezed further”

3. Para 3.5 “there has been limited growth in retail (convenience and comparison goods) expenditure per head since 2008”

4. Para 3.6 “the retail sector remains fragile and analysts forecast that some operators and centres will continue to struggle over the short to medium term”

5. Para 3.8 “completed new shopping centre floor space in the UK is currently at its lowest level since the 1990s”

6. Para 3.11 Internet Shopping “New forms of retailing have also emerged in recent years and are becoming established as significant alternatives to more traditional ‘bricks and mortar’ shopping facilities. Over the last 5 years, online sales have increased by 222%”

23.8 Despite the findings about retail we are told “evidence suggests that high quality schemes will continue to prosper.” What evidence?

23.9 Para 3.33 “the latest 2013-14 Javelin VenueScore17 ranks Guildford Town Centre within the UK’s top 50 shopping locations at 33. By contrast, Kingston-Upon-Thames is ranked 17th. Since 2007, Guildford Town Centre has fallen 20 places in the Venue Score ranking”

23.10 Para 3.40 “The growth of online shopping is also impacting on the vitality and viability of many of Britain’s centres and high streets. This is placing pressures on rental growth and market demand in many centres, particularly secondary centres outside the ‘top 100’ shopping locations. This has been further compounded by rising vacancy levels and the loss of key retailers. As a result, the share of non-food retail sales conducted through town centre shops has declined, from 64% in 2002 to just over 40% by 2013. In our opinion, a far more uncertain future awaits the next “wave” of new retail investment and development. The evidence suggests that high quality schemes in the strongest prime shopping locations will continue to prosper.” Is this not an aspirational assumption?

23.11 Para 3.41 “Notwithstanding the threat of online shopping, industry experts still predict that the demand from major retailers for new space will continue as it remains the primary mechanism for retailers to ‘reach’ their customers and grow their businesses.” Who are these industry experts? Is this not an outdated concept and merely an aspiration of the British Council of Shopping Centres (BCSC)?

23.12 Appendix 6 of the Retail Study indicates potentially inaccurate demand data

23.13 Para 5.29 “The latest CoStar Report recorded 64 requirements for Guildford from January 2013 to August 2014; representing a total maximum floor space requirement of 62,208m2 gross (see Appendix 6).”
23.14 The Appendix 6 list of retailer demand looks impressive with brands such as Joules Clothing; Fossil; Comptoir des Cotonniers; Moshulu; Rituals; Princesse tam.tam; Cycle Surgery; Majestic Wine; Game Stores Group Ltd; Iceland. However, if we look closely at Appendix 6 it is an amalgam of old unchecked national high street requirements some of which do not even include Guildford as a destination and the majority are hardly high quality comparison retail. There are also no “big” requirements in terms of space. Where are the big stores?

23.15 GH Pressley & Sons – Watches and Silver- Requirement “They are seeking a flagship diamond store in central London. Target locations include Mayfair, St James, Kensington and Knightsbridge. Brands will include Hans D Krieger and Marco Bicego.” This does not sound like Guildford.

23.16 Oxygen Red Ltd – Ladieswear- Requirement “Oxygen Red is looking to acquire temporary stores in Shopping Centre locations within the M25” Guildford is well outside the M25.

23.17 The data relating to retail demand does not appear reliable. The 62,800 sq m does not translate to real demand for an expansion of 500,000 sq ft. If proper due diligence was applied perhaps 30% of this alleged Carter Jonas requirement would survive proper scrutiny.

24 THE TOWN CENTRE OPPORTUNITY

24.1 I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration is much more residential development. As can be seen from the previous section retail will not work!

24.2 The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity for at least 5,000/7,500 homes.

24.3 The additional target capacity of 5,000 could easily be provided within the following urban sites which have the capacity for 7,500 homes:

- 2,500 homes detailed in Masterplan 2015 including Woodbridge Meadows which can itself be increased substantially
- 500 homes at North Street
- 1000 homes on current GBC car parks (25 acres) and at the station
- 1000 homes saved in the urban area if 100% of students are accommodated on Surrey University campus (17 ha of car parks)
- 1000 homes at Slyfield on the 40 ha regeneration site
- 1000 windfall infill (50 per annum)
- 500 homes on brownfield sites in villages on sites of max 1ha which do not impact Green Belt

25 POLICY E8 DISTRICT CENTRES

25.1 I object to policy E8 District centres

25.2 I object to the proposal that sites “on the edge” of District Centres should be considered for retail developments. This is another Trojan horse policy, allowing retail hubs to be vastly expanded in order to smooth the way for vast new housing estates outside in the countryside (e.g. to meet the “everyday shopping and service needs” of the roughly 1,500 people living in the 600 new homes planned for the Horsleys).

25.3 This is a case of back-to-front priorities. Expanded local retail hubs are being proposed in order to justify more housebuilding in the villages, and in a forlorn attempt to mitigate the serious traffic and infrastructure problems this will bring. The Council have no business preparing the way for new supermarkets in the Green Belt. Rural retail capacity should be left to local demand.

25.4 The policy proposes not a single measure to support existing rural shops and services that are the lifeblood of village communities, e.g. using business rates and other levers at the Council’s disposal.

26 POLICY E9

26.1 I object to Policy E9 Local centres

26.2 I object (for the reasons given under Policy E8 above) to the proposal for retail development adjacent to the 6 rural centres, and sites on the edge of designated centres. This is creeping urbanisation, damaging to the Green Belt and to Guildford town revival as a thriving urban hub. It will contribute to local urban decay and depopulation, just as expansion of the suburbs did to mid-20th century London.

9 POLICY H1 HOMES FOR ALL

9.1 I object to policy H1 Homes for all.

9.2 Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

9.3 The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

9.4 I support higher density development in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes' walk of Guildford railway station. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 6/10 storey blocks (there are currently blocks of this size already in the town) at 50 homes per ha with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

9.5 Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required on stilts with parking beneath.1

9.6 Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

10 POLICY H2 AFFORDABLE HOMES

10.1 I object to policy H2 Affordable homes.

10.2 “Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people.

10.3 In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit.

10.4 I question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper anyway); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes will be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and by the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed in the plan might influence the market in a more remote part of the UK, but not here.

10.5 This policy’s version of “affordability” is just a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

32 POLICY I1 INFRASTRUCTURE AND DELIVERY

32.1 I object to policy I1 Infrastructure and delivery

32.2 Most of the borough’s infrastructure is antiquated, congested and straining to accommodate even current needs and organic growth. Yet this plan’s commitment to building housing estates across the Guildford countryside will mean either major infrastructure investment that no-one is prepared to pay for or else a catastrophic and simultaneous collapse in transport, educational, medical, energy, water and communications services.

32.3 The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

32.4 The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing infrastructure needs in this area is inadequate, identifying only the tip of an iceberg of existing congestion. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that involve demolishing property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

32.5 Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly.

32.6 This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan is based on a wing and a prayer.

32.7 The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints.

32.8 The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model.

32.9 Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods.

32.10 Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan

32.11 The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network.

32.12 It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below.

32.13 In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service E and F that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario5..indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’.

32.14 The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”.

32.15 Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided.

32.16 The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR:

32.16.1 Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road /Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSCH through the development (para 4.7.3)

32.16.2 Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/
B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8).

32.16.3 Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para
4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14)

32.16.4 Normandy/Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Lane is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Westwood Land, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/Millbrook junction.

32.16.5 Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (but traffic will move to the next junction).

32.16.6 Slyfield – there are no remark relating to SARP, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane.
32.16 Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

32.17 The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen.

32.18 The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

33  POLICY I2 DEPARTMENT FOR TRANSPORT

33.1 I object to policy i2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy”

33.2 This policy is too vague and unrealistically optimistic. Decisions by Highways England on improving the strategic road network (the M25 and A3) are still years off. The Council have suggested a very expensive tunnel under Guildford, but this is no more than a dream. Even if Highways England accepted this (which is highly unlikely in the post-Brexit public spending climate) it would not be built until the end of the plan period at the earliest. Other, less expensive A3 improvements, and changes to the Junction 10/Heathrow stretch of the M25, will also take years to agree and complete.

33.3 The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is foolhardy. Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. This policy will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Waverley Airfield alone). This is a major development constraint that should have been applied to the OAN before this consultation, and not left up in the air.

34 POLICY I3 SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT

34.1 I object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments

34.2 This is another vaguely aspirational policy, based on wishful thinking and not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport.

34.3 The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are too slow anyway for busy people. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths.

34.4 The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK.

34.5 The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day, as I used to do. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times.

34.6 Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. Well-off pensioners seem to be the main beneficiaries. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town.

34.7 Forget about water buses. The Wey is too narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services.

34.8 The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented.

12 POLICY P1 AONB

12.1 I object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty

12.2 This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated.

12.3 Much of my concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example:

12.3.1 “All proposals will be considered against whether they…”

12.3.2 “All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities”

12.4 Terms such as “considered” and “expected” are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins:

12.4.1 “Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits…”

12.5 This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. I believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: “There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF.”

12.6 In addition to the weakness of the language, I am also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself.

12.7 I believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted:
12.7.1 “The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered”

12.7.2 “Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable”

12.7.3 In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate

12.8 Finally, I would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

8 THE NEED TO APPLY CONSTRAINTS

8.1 Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014. 3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014

8.2 70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries.

8.3 Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements).
8.4 Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500.

8.5 In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONSTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN. of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council.

8.6 This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure.

8.7 It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015)

8.8 I have recently (9 July 2016) had a meeting with Sir Paul Beresford my own MP for Mole Valley who has kindly assured me that he is in the process of speaking to the Secretary of State to ratify the current government policy of protecting the Metropolitan Green Belt and to instruct the Planning Inspectorate and Local Planning Authorities accordingly. This is in the wake of the recent national referendum and the likelihood of the easing pressure on international immigration over the next 20 years.

8.9 The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister in waiting, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office.

8.10 Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

13  POLICY P2 GREEN BELT

13.1  I object to Policy P2 green belt

13.2  This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” This is completely false.

13.3  The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. It is an inalienable public good. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away.

13.4 Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world.

13.5 Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood control
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

13.6 As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations.

13.7 It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. No-one argues that we should sell 1.6% of the Crown jewels in order to build houses.

13.8 I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 of the borough’s Green Belt villages. I am deeply disturbed that settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are “leggy” in outline, reflecting the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat.

13.9 I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors.

13.10 To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need (especially post-Brexit) and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

13.11 Send is a good example of villages that should not be removed from the Green Belt. Send provides an important Green Belt buffer between Woking and Guildford. Yes, it is true that Send comprises old ribbon development but this should not mean it can be removed from the Green Belt so that Woking joins up to Guildford. The village and the countryside behind the A247 should all be protected.

13.12 I object to three particularly vulnerable areas of high quality amenity land being taken out of the Green Belt around Send which include:

1. The land behind the schools including playing fields and woodland.
2. The land to the right of Cartbridge by the River Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering.
3. Land to the left of Cartbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey Navigation.

same comments to deaf ears. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014.13

37.3 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

38.4 All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

14 POLICY P3 COUNTRYSIDE

14.1 I object to policy P3 Countryside (i.e. beyond the Green Belt)

14.2 This is more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt, so is anomalous and wrong. I am not in favour of building on this area, since urban, brownfield areas are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There is no need to build on any green fields if brownfield, previously developed land is used efficiently (without garden-grabbing).

14.3 This policy refers to the countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). This area does not justify stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent it should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should by definition have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas.

14.4 It should also be noted that Ash and Tongham lie beyond Guildford far away from London and therefore make no contribution to controlling Metropolitan urban sprawl, unlike those villages which, ironically, are to be “inset”. That is presumably why Ash and Tongham are not in the Green Belt already. This policy, however, attaches higher priority to preventing the “coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot” than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl.

15  POLICY P4 FLOOD RISK

15.1  I object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones

15.2  Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

15.3  I strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

16  POLICY P5 SPAs

16.1  I object to policy P5 Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Areas

16.2  This policy is weak. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small as to be meaningless.

16.3  SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial since the sites identified or targeted are already green space. This is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces nearby. There is no actual increase in open space or environmental protection; instead, it is a ploy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds – must also ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the Special Protection Areas.

6 POLICY S1 SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

6.1 I object to policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development.

6.2 The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of “sustainable development” is given.

6.3 The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

6.4 The promise “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area” omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is useless. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline.

6.5 The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies.

6.6 The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

6.7 This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3.

7 POLICY S2 PLANNING FOR THE BOROUGH

7.1 I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn.

7.2 The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high.

7.3 I am very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

7.4 Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.”

7.5 Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”. This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement.

7.6 However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt.

7.7 A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum.

7.8 The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan.

7.9 The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald who we were lucky to find. He is a niche consultant with the right skills and a national reputation. An independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit.
7.10 NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth. The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that: The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area. There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further. The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast.

7.11 A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA

7.12 The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market. 4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction.

7.13 Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target.

7.14 The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards.

7.15 It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

7.16 The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA.

7.17 Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed.

7.18 The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan.

7.19 Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

3. LEGAL COMPLIANCE

3.1 Key parts of the evidence are missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions.

3.2 The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach and the Transport evidence is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

3.3 The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level.

3.4 The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

3.5 It is unacceptable to treat Green Belt as a readily available source of development land during Plan preparation. The Mayor of London intends to respect Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level. Releasing Green Belt to fund infrastructure or build on open, previously-developed Green Belt does not pass this test. Opportunities to channel development towards brownfield locations beyond the outer Green Belt boundary, linked to sustainable transport, have not been adequately considered. It is not credible to suggest the Green Belt is being treated as permanent when its boundary was changed as recently as 2003 as part of the last Local Plan review. Indeed, land released in 2003 is neither fully developed nor efficiently used. An approach of eroding the Green Belt at each Local Plan review is not sustainable. If there is a case for Green Belt development, it needs to be proven through the application of policy.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )
4 WHY THE PLAN IS UNSOUND

4.1 Guildford is physically constrained being a gap town set in the Surrey Hills AONB and in Metropolitan Green Belt. Significant parts are affected by the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area. There are also notable areas of river, surface water, groundwater and surface water flood risk. Constricted road and rail routes converge to cross the downs seeking to avoid both high ground and floodplain. These compete with housing for land and there is no space for road widening or a conventional ring road approach.

4.2 The Local Plan process envisages that the housing target should be lower than the “objectively assessed need” if there are valid constraints. GBC have failed to apply any reduction which makes the plan undeliverable and unsound. I believe it would be harmful to the character, quality of life and economy of Guildford not to reduce the housing figure to a number significantly below 13,860 new homes by 2033. I submit it would be counter to sustainable development as a whole (in particular to living within environmental limits and achieving a sustainable economy) and contrary to policy to develop on the scale currently proposed. I am concerned that insufficient attention has been paid to cumulative impacts with constraints considered separately for each site.

4.3 In view of the extent of physical and policy constraints, the inflated SHMA figure, and the transport evidence indicating that the Plan would lead to congestion, the OAN figure should be 500 homes per annum and the housing target after the application of constraints should be in the range of 250 homes per annum and kept under regular review.

4.4 The extent to which the Sustainability Appraisal fails to test the sustainability of the spatial options in a meaningful way casts doubt over whether sustainability has been assessed. The report treats various major development sites in Green Belt, contrary to the importance attached to protecting Green Belt, as “a given”, fails to consider options that constrain development or that make greater use of brownfield or previously released greenfield land, focuses on a range of options that involve developing on even more Green Belt around Guildford in order to protect Green Belt around Woking does not consider environmental limits or impact on the next generation in terms of weighing demand for homes for the young alongside the use of all possible last resort greenfield options by one generation.

4.5 The National Planning Policy Framework requires that objectively assessed needs should be met unless: “any adverse impacts of doing so would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits, when assessed against the policies in this Framework taken as a whole; or specific policies in this Framework indicate development should be restricted.”

4.6 The specific policies described include several of particular relevance to Guildford including sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives, Sites of Special Scientific Interest, Green Belt, Local Green Space, Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations at risk of flooding. In this situation, is it appropriate for the Appraisal to rule out not meeting needs in full from a sustainability perspective?

4.7 Notwithstanding that the Sustainability Appraisal should be proportionate, strategic and look at significant matters, the assessment appears deficient and biased in the spectrum of alternatives it considers to the point that it is questionable whether it meets the requirements.

4.8 GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

4.9 GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

4.10 GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which is unsound.
4.11 Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. This is too late!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

SUMMARY

I request a confirmation by email from GBC that all of the objections made below are put to the Inspector appointed by the Secretary of State to review the GBC Regulation 19 draft local plan.

I request that once my objections are fully taken into consideration the draft plan is amended accordingly and re-issued.

Guildford is a constrained borough by the reality of having 89% of its area zoned as permanent Green Belt and an out of date road network that is already at capacity. I am concerned that GBC have adopted an inflated OAN of 13,860 homes as a housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance.

The application of constraints to housing need is a sensible and practical approach to development within the borough and is not only what GBC have done in the past in previous plans but is also what its neighbouring local planning authorities have done.

The scale of the housing number proposed in this plan, inevitably increases the onus for the plan to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number of 5,000 homes, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

I am concerned that GBC have failed to grasp the opportunity of following clear government policy to develop in the urban area on previously developed sites. Many of these sites are in their ownership and it would seem a practical and readily achievable alternative which is much more acceptable to local residents.

In my opinion much of the proposed local plan appears out of date. It is like a voice from the past. Current trends in terms of property development such as the marked decline in town centre shopping centres and the need to create modal shift by developing residential uses close to transport hubs appear to have been overlooked.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Appendix D: Evidence base
Do you consider this section of the document: complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1.1 I object to the continued poor quality of the evidence base and lack of sound property market research that relates to the local market in Guildford rather than the continued reliance on generic economic capacity forecasts. As a result many of the submission documents providing key evidence are unsound, unreliable and inconsistent.

1.2 Key parts of the evidence base are flawed or based on withheld assumptions.

1.3 The latest SHMA 2017 still inflates the proposed housing figure due to the following factors:

1.4 An independent review by NMSS of the latest ONS population estimates and projections has found compelling evidence that there are substantial errors in past estimates of student migration flows. It is probable that migration flows out of Guildford, both to other parts of the UK and abroad, have been under-estimated by sizeable amounts.

1.5 Owing to the way in which migration estimates are used to construct population and household projections, the errors in past migration estimates are likely to mean that the latest demographically-based housing need estimates by GL Hearn overstate the number of homes needed by over 25%.

1.6 The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”

1.7 38,357sqm of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is a quite sufficient supply for the plan period and does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.

1.8 The ELNA states “that a large proportion of the net additional floorspace and land requirements for both office/R&D and industrial/storage uses could be met through the permissions which have been consented but which have yet to be implemented. However, there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”

1.9 “There is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward” is patently a weak argument indeed for the proposed industrial development at Burnt Common in the Green Belt and expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Green Belt which has unused consents dating back many years and also the substantial latent potential for an increased density of development. The current plot ratio is less than 25%. The reason that the unused consents have not been used up is simple. There is a proven lack of demand.

1.10 Exceptional circumstances clearly do not exist to justify amendments to Green Belt boundaries as part of the Local Plan process. It is quite achievable for realistically prepared and identified development needs to be accommodated in Guildford’s urban areas and villages.

1.11 The Carter Jonas Guildford Retail Study Update 2017 lacks credibility and there is no proven case for expanding comparison retail space which is undermined by failure to implement existing retail consents at the North Street development over the last 10 years. The Guildford Retail Study does not take account of changing retail patterns in relation to the threat of the internet and the “clicks and mortar” conflict. The study also assumes a number of logged retail requirements from companies already in liquidation or with national requirements that exclude Guildford.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1.1 I object to the changes to Policies A36 to A41 (East and West Horsley)

1.2 The number of potential development sites has been reduced by two (A36 and A41, representing a total of 138 dwellings). This leaves four sites (A27-40) which still represent a total of 395 new dwellings.

1.3 Marginal changes such as these would still leave 70% of all new development in the borough built on Green Belt sites. No “exceptional circumstances” or any other justification is advanced for this strange imbalance.

1.4 The deletion of two Horsley sites fails to correct the issue of relative overdevelopment in East and West Horsley, which is both excessive in absolute terms and disproportionate in relation to the rest of the borough.

1.5 No attempt is made to assess the cumulative impact on the Horsleys – either of the four sites now proposed, or of Site A35 (Three Farms Meadow, alias “Wisley Airfield”), with over 2,000 new homes only 2 miles away. This piecemeal approach leaves the future of the Horsleys at the mercy of ad hoc planning applications, which is the opposite of what a Local Plan should intend.

1.6 The new plan Policies put greater emphasis on the need for adequate facilities and infrastructure to underpin development. But this is not reflected in any new wording on the Horsley sites, thus leaving most local objections unaddressed. Again, this defect curtails the plan’s usefulness as a practical planning tool at a site level and undermines its credibility among residents.

1.7 The plan fails to mention most of the known sustainability issues and infrastructure constraints affecting the Horsley sites, including public transport, traffic, road safety, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, flooding/surface drainage and shops. These were fully set out in responses to last year’s public consultation.

1.8 The density of new housing on the four Horsley sites too is inappropriate, being greater than anywhere in the locality at present.

1.9 Sites situated on the periphery of existing development in the Horsleys encroach on surrounding open fields and require the extension of settlement boundaries. The plan presents no arguments for this which, contrary to NPPF paragraph 79, will contribute to creeping urbanisation by attenuating the Green Belt corridors separating the Horsleys from neighbouring settlements.

1.10 Collectively, the four Horsley sites breach NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value. This has been an outstanding success story in the Horsleys, as detailed in response to the last consultation. Assets include a dense public footpath network, parish parks, sports fields, a campsite of international standard, Britain’s newest rural opera theatre and the popular Olympic cycle route. These examples of positive planning depend on a Local Plan that protects the Green Belt, maintains its openness and beauty and avoids urbanisation and traffic congestion. Sites A35-41 are hostile to this.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? (): is Sound? (): is Legally Compliant? ():

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1.1 I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.

1.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

1.3 Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.

1.4 The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.

1.5 The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

1.6 The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.

1.7 I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

1.8 The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

1.1 I object to the changed policy A26 Blackwell Farm for 1500 homes which is still far too much.

1.2 There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

1.3 Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of Green Belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly.
